

FIRE CAUSES $18,000 LOSS HERE

Flames Cause Total Damage of $3,000,000

90 Oil Well Rigs Taken by Flames Along West Coast

SANTA PAULA, Cal., Sept. 17 (AP)—Ventura county's oil field, brush and grass fire, after being subdued over most of the Santa Paula, Ojai-Ventura triangle tract, went out of control in the hills again tonight and additional men were called to the scene.

Oil company buildings, derricks, ranch houses, small school buildings and livestock had been burned, with total damage estimated tonight in the neighborhood of $3,000,000.

The flames were eating through wooded sections east of the Ventura Avenue oil fields, the main portion of the Ventura oil holdings, which had not yet been touched, and were flaring into the mountainous portions of upper Santa Paula canyon, where Ventura county's most valuable watershed is located.

The city of Santa Paula was believed in no danger. The blaze previously had approached within two miles of the city, but was driven back by a hurried shifting of men here from other sections.

VENTURA, Cal., Sept. 17 (AP)—The brush fire in the Santa Paula mountains Ojai valley, was brought under control tonight after destroying 90 oil well rigs and causing damage estimated at $3,000,000, with one death and seven men burned.

The fire endangered the Ventura Avenue oil field and had burned over more than 10,000 acres on a 20-mile front when shifting winds and an hour of steady rainfall halted the flames.

Norman Beems, a national forest service official, collided with a truck while riding a motor cycle along a smoke shrouded highway, and died of his injuries. One other man was seriously burned and six suffered minor burns.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 17 (AP)—Imminent danger of the spread of Oregon and Washington forest fires into Estracada, Ore., and Yaocot, Wash., both imperiled yesterday, was minimized today as hundreds of men, aided by favorable winds, successfully beat back the advancing flames.

While troops from Vancouver barracks were held in readiness to fight the fire should it spread to the Columbia forest, United States district forestry officials here were confident the situation in the two states was well in hand.

A rise in humidity, coupled with dense fogs on the coast, relieved the situation materially.

Fire was reported burning on the outskirts of Yaocot and several outlying houses had been destroyed. The Northern Pacific railroad held an engine and flat cars in readiness in Yaocot in the event a general exodus became necessary. The publicly owned electric light plant was destroyed by fire late yesterday and logging activities in the Larch mountain district were paralyzed. Other than the death of John Roe yesterday, there have been no fatalities.

Youth Who Worked Up to Treasurer of Bank in Jail

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 17 (AP)—Wilbur H. Davis, who started in a Lewiston bank as a youth 27 years ago and finally attained the position of treasurer of the People's Savings Bank, tonight was in jail charged with embezzlement from the bank of funds which officials said would total $79,000.

Davis, according to a statement issued by his attorney, Dana S. Williams, has been "playing the stock market." A receipt for collateral loan of $40,000 issued by the local office of a brokerage house were found among his papers. A number of other receipts were found.

Davis had destroyed all records showing the bank's holdings of stocks and bonds. The 46-year-old treasurer, who received a salary of $3,000 a year was bonded for $25,000. Davis' story of the robbing of the bank by two men as he worked on the books last night, hindering and gagging him aroused police suspicions and led to his arrest five hours after he called the officers.

Faces Contest to Keep Bride

Aged Farmer May Lose Wife in Court

OMAHA, Sept. 17 (AP)—David Delair, 82 years old, blind and wealthy farmer of Oketo, Kan., who eloped to Council Bluffs, Ia., yesterday with Mrs. Rachael Cameron, 69 years old, of Sumnerfield, Kan., to escape a court order forbidding their marriage in Kansas, today was threatened with a court fight to keep his bride.

De Lair's nephew and guardian, C. M. Delair of Oketo, accompanied by Russell Delair, son of the aged bridegroom, arrived in Omaha today with the avowed intention of annulling the marriage and taking the elderly elopers back to Kansas.

Twelve days ago the nephew and son instigated court action at Sumnerfield, charging that David Delair was incompetent and too old to marry. An injunction was granted halting the marriage 15 minutes before the ceremony was to begin. The nephew conferred with county authorities at Council Bluffs today about annulling the marriage and was told he would have to present the matter to the court. He left, presumably to find an attorney.

In the meantime, David Delair made preparations to fight the action. He retained an Omaha lawyer. "All we want is the right to live together in peace as companions for our few remaining years," he said.

Prior to their marriage the bride couple went before a Council Bluffs attorney and signed a prenuptial contract providing neither should inherit the other's property. "They all thought my wife was marrying me for my money," Delair said. "When they see this contract they will realize that all we want is to be left alone."

Columnist to Face Inquiry

Kansas Governor Orders Probe of House

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 17 (AP)—Allegations of Jay E. House, Philadelphia newspaper columnist and former mayor of Topeka, that he was served liquor in 13 of 14 homes in which he was entertained here last winter, today drew official action from Governor Clyde M. Reed, who ordered an inquiry into statements made by House.

The governor announced that he had instructed Atty. Gen. William A. Smith, co-operating with Shawnee county authorities, to prosecute if they find, after investigation, any developments, including perjury, that justify such action.

The investigation began at once with issuance of eight subpoenas for persons said to have been hosts to the newspaper man. They included a physician, two newspaper men, a state official, a former county attorney and other Topeka business men. Most of their names had been obtained by reference to files of newspaper published at the time of House's visit.

The House allegations were made in correspondence with the Rev. J. A. McClellan, superintendent of the anti-saloon league of Kansas, who published them. Besides his comment about the number of homes in which he was served liquor, House estimated there were an average of four drinking parties to the city block in Topeka every night of the year, said drinking had increased 1,000 per cent among women in 20 years and added that the younger generation is the ablest in the matter of consumption.

Since publication of the statements Mr. McClellan said he would have House subpoenaed on his next visit to tell all he knows about drinking conditions here.

Mother of Alumnus Plans to Register for Courses Here

A mother whose son completed college work three years ago will enroll as a freshman in the University of Iowa college of liberal arts this week, according to information from Ottumwa.

She is Mrs. Georgia Wisda of Ottumwa. After two decades of office work, she will begin study for a bachelor of arts degree.

Although Mrs. Wisda regards her new life as a respite from the years of clerical routine, she expects to do some clerical work at the university for partial self-support. Her son was graduated from Iowa State college in 1926.

Russia Dissatisfied With Amendments to Railway Settlement

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 (AP)—Soviet Russia tonight served notice on the nationalist government of China through the German embassy that the proposed amendments by Nanking to the projected agreement for settlement of the Chinese eastern railway conflict in Manchuria are wholly unacceptable to Russia.

Thus, border raids and skirmishes by Chinese troops along the Manchurian frontier are thought likely to continue indefinitely.

Illinois Legion Ends Convention Sessions

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—An effort to put the Illinois American legion on record as opposed to the eighteenth amendment failed in the closing session of the two day state convention here late this afternoon.

A resolution condemning the dry amendment was introduced but rejected as out of order by Commander David L. Shellinglaw, presiding. An appeal from his ruling brought a fight on the floor but the commander was sustained in the final vote.

Senate Votes Tariff Change

Amendment Passes by Vote of 40-32

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The viewpoint of the administration group in the senate prevailed today in the first voting on the tariff bill.

By a 40 to 32 vote a committee amendment was adopted requiring that imported articles be marked conspicuously with the country of origin except in certain instances.

The ballot was taken on reconsideration of a previous rejection vote of 38 to 28. Eight republicans joined 30 democrats on the first roll call against the amendment, the eight being Senators Borah, Cutting, Howell, LaFollette, Mc-Master, Norris, Nye, and Reed.

The last named—a Pennsylvania republican—subsequently complained about the part of the amendment relating to place of marking and asked reconsideration on the ground that the majority of the members did not know what they were voting on. Others differed with him.

On the second roll call, six republicans combined with 26 democrats against the amendment, while five democrats joined 35 republicans for it. Senators Reed and Howell were the republicans to change, while Senators Trammell, Fletcher, Ransdell, Broussard and Pittman were the democrats to go over for the amendment.

Much debate preceded the voting, the democrats contending for the phrase "language making it discretionary with the treasurer in excepting articles from the marking requirements and the republicans claiming there was too much discretionary power already lodged with the head of the department.

Hoover Plans to Reorganize Engineer Unit

Appoints Brown Chief of Engineers as Major General

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Administration plans to reorganize the army engineer corps for the vast public works programs were announced today by President Hoover in connection with his appointment of Brig. Gen. Lytle Brown as chief of engineers with the rank of major general.

Three army engineers were slated to assist the new chief in work on important inland waterway projects each of which the president expects eventually to exceed work on construction of the Panama canal. Plans call for selection of men who can carry on over a period of years in order to assure continuity of construction.

Responsible for Flood Work
One of these engineers would be responsible for the whole new flood control and other works on the lower Mississippi river. A second would be charged with the improvement of the upper Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Illinois and their navigable tributaries. The third would be designated to administer the development of waterways of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence rivers.

The appointment of General Brown to succeed Lieut. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, who retired because of age Aug. 7, was instituted with President Hoover's desire to put a man in that post who could remain for a full term of four years.

Brown on Leave
As a consequence, several of the score of eligible officers, who ranked General Brown in point of service were disregarded when Secretary Good made his recommendation to the chief executive.

General Brown, who is in command of Ft. Davis, in the canal zone, is in Washington on leave. He is not expected to assume his new post until his nomination is confirmed by the senate.

Tuttle tonight announced that subpoenas would be issued tomorrow calling for the presence before a New York federal grand jury of several Denver and Telluride, Col., relatives of C. D. Waggoner, under indictment here in connection with an alleged attempt to swindle six New York banks of nearly $500,000.

Mr. Tuttle said that as a result of information that Waggoner in June transferred property to relatives, subpoenas were issued on Telluride and Denver for several of the banker's relatives, including two sisters whose names Tuttle did not know.

All freshmen who have not done so should go to Iowa Union for their "33" identification buttons. There they will find members of the university reception committee ready to direct them to desired points in the city or to answer any questions.

Naval Parity Question Will Remain Quiet

Officials Seem Content to Await Arrival of MacDonald

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—With American and British viewpoints on the naval limitation negotiations laid before the world, administration officials seem content to await the forthcoming visit of Premier MacDonald before discussing further the Anglo-American agreement in principle on equality of cruiser strength.

Whether President Hoover and the British premier will undertake to adjust the only remaining difference is unknown, but there has been a suggestion that this probably would be left to the five power conference which will be called for early in January.

Dispute Over Cruisers
As explained here, the point of dispute is between three 8-inch gun cruisers and four or five 6-inch gun craft for the United States, in addition to 13 6-inch gun ships and a lesser number of smaller craft.

Dispatches from Tokyo and continental Europe indicated there would be a series of complex problems to be settled before the Anglo-American agreement on parity in all categories of ships could be made operative.

Paris Papers Comment
The reaction in Paris is represented in newspaper comment to the British suggestion that the United States and Great Britain were agreed that they could forego submarines as instrumentalities of war was given special attention here. Since the days of the Washington arms conference eight years ago the French have opposed any limitation on submarine tonnage. This type of ship is regarded by France as its chief sea defence weapon.

The suggestion from Tokyo that the Japanese would ask for a ratio of 70 per cent of cruiser strength, instead of the 60 per cent ratio it accepted at the Washington conference on capital ships and airplane carriers, is a reiteration of the proposition the Japanese put forward at the 1927 Geneva conference.

FIREMEN CONVENE

Blaze Starts in Holman's This Morning

Three Other Business Places Damaged by Smoke

Fire which caused an estimated damage of $18,000 to four business places broke out early this morning in the Holman restaurant, 124 E. Washington street. In addition to the Holman restaurant water and smoke damage was done at the Mad Hatter's tea room, directly over the restaurant, Reich's cafe, and Anderson's barber shop which join on the east on N. Dubuque street.

J. D. Reichart of the Reich cafe, discovered the fire as he was about to lock up for the night at 1:20. Mr. Reichart on going to the kitchen saw smoke issuing through the walls. He immediately turned in the fire alarm and both platoons were called out to fight the blaze which had already gained considerable headway.

Use Four Streams Water
Four streams of water were used fighting the blaze which was made difficult by the dense smoke and the inaccessibility to the kitchen of the Holman restaurant. Firemen ran two strings of hose through the narrow passageway between the Hawkeye shoe repair shop and the Anderson barber shop. Two more streams were thrown on the fire by running the hose through the entrance of the Holman restaurant on Washington street. Fire Chief Amish still had his men on duty at 4:30 this morning guarding against a possible outbreak.

After one hour and 25 minutes of fighting the firemen had the blaze under control at 2:45. Fire Chief Amish stated that the fire which started in the basement directly under the kitchen range was of unknown origin. The fire ate through the kitchen floor allowing the large refrigerator and the range to fall into the cellar.

Closes at 8 o'Clock
J. G. Holman, proprietor of the Holman restaurant, said that he closed up and went home about 8 p.m. He stated that there was very little if any fire in the range when he left the kitchen. An employe of the restaurant cleans up after closing hours and is usually there until about 12 o'clock, Mr. Holman said. The Holman restaurant suffered the most damage, Mr. Holman placing the total at about $15,000, which was caused mostly by smoke and water. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Smoke Does Damage
Mad Hatter's tea room, which had been newly decorated suffered a loss estimated at $1,000, while Reich's cafe, also redecorated, placed the damage at $1,000. The damage at the Mad Hatter's was caused mostly by smoke, while Reich's was due both to smoke and water. Large supplies in the basement of Reich's three feet of water. Both losses were partially covered by insurance.

Anderson's barber shop placed the damage at $300, which was caused both by smoke and water. The basement of the barber shop which is used as a store room for supplies was flooded with about three feet of water. Insurance will cover the loss.

Bremen's clothing store adjoining the Holman restaurant on the west escaped without damage due to a fire wall between the two buildings. Josephine's Hat Shop which adjoins the restaurant on the east was probably damaged some by smoke, while Domy's Boot Shop, Mueller's and Racine's escaped.

Volcanic Ash From Mount Pelee Falls on Two Martinique Towns

FORT-DE-FRANCE, Martinique, Sept. 17 (AP)—A rain of volcanic ash from Mt. Pelee fell this afternoon on the towns of St. Pierre and Morne Rouge. This manifestation of activity caused increased evacuation by the population of St. Pierre, Morne Rouge and Prechereur but the countryside continued calm.

No such disastrous eruption was expected as that of 1902 when 40,000 persons were estimated to have perished. The present disturbance began with a slight eruption of smoke and gas last evening and this morning a crater 150 feet wide was reported to have opened on the St. Pierre side of the volcano. The government proceeded at once to St. Pierre to take charge of relief matters should they prove necessary.

The action supersedes a suit filed last year on similar charges. Mrs. Arbuckle, whose name before her marriage was Doris Dean, is a motion picture actress.

Lawyers and Astronomers

AN INTERESTING discussion has arisen locally about the famous case in which Abraham Lincoln is said to have used an almanac to prove a point in a case in court. Prof. C. C. Wylie, head of the university astronomy department, recently gave a talk before a local luncheon club in which he outlined a few of his views.

His remarks caused an article to be written by a local attorney, G. A. Kenderline, which was published on this page last Sunday in The Daily Iowan's open forum section, "The People Are Saying."

Here is Professor Wylie's reply:

Under the heading in Sunday's Iowan "The People Are Saying," Attorney G. A. Kenderline comments on the famous Armstrong murder case, quoting largely from the recently published life of Lincoln by the late Senator Beveridge. Since the original Iowan article failed to give the entire substance of my remarks before the Kiwanis club, and since on some important points I am in disagreement with Senator Beveridge it is probably worth while to give the readers a fuller statement.

1. Mr. Kenderline writes "Lincoln defended the young man and secured his acquittal by showing that the moon had not risen at the time the witness said he saw the crime committed by moonlight." I am not sure whether he means to imply that I said that, but at any rate what I did say was that the instructions to the jury indicated Lincoln had the case won on a technical point without the almanac.

2. Beveridge states the almanac was a "Jayne Almanac." Some years ago I tried to obtain a copy of this almanac for the year 1857, by writing D. Jayne and Son, but found their early files had been destroyed by fire. I have a photographic copy of the August page in Ayer's Almanac, which Barton favors. The sheriff, James A. Dick, names still another. This is a case where "all we know is that we do not know."

3. Beveridge states that "there was plenty of light at the time of the fight." This point was emphasized at the Kiwanis club.

4. Beveridge gives 12:05 as the time the moon set, which is what was given at the club. It was also stated that the moon was on the meridian, in the position of the moon sun, 7:44.

5. Beveridge states that after the testimony of Allen, Lincoln produced an almanac which showed that "the moon was not in the position named by Allen, but instead, was low in the western sky." In other words, Lincoln merely showed that the witness had failed to guess correctly as to the position of the moon at a certain time on a certain night nearly a year before. He had tried to avoid guessing at all, but Lincoln insisted and even "loaned him words" when he lacked them.

This story does not agree with the statements by Attorney Shaw for the prosecution, Attorney Walker for the defense, Duff Armstrong himself, and others present and interested, who tell us that Lincoln showed there was no moon at all at the time of the fight. The eye-witness accounts agree, as far as I have seen, that Lincoln showed the moon was not above the horizon.

6. To reconcile these seemingly contradictory facts, Attorney Shaw suggested that when Lincoln called for an almanac, two were brought in, one for the year of the murder and one for another year, that Lincoln accidentally picked up and used the wrong one, and neither judge nor prosecution noticed it was not for the same year as the one lying on the table. We must remember that, although this sounds unlikely, Mr. Shaw was present and an interested party, and he is telling a story which reflects on his own diligence.

At the Kiwanis club, some simpler explanations were suggested. With Ayer's almanac, the one favored by Barton, the times for the moon change from rising to setting on the nineteenth of August, 1857. This is at the middle of the page and folding might well blur that line; but such a folded almanac would probably have been admitted as evidence, for the times for the twenty-ninth, the date in question, would be perfectly legible. A person using such an almanac would, however, quite naturally continue reading times below the nineteenth as risings, and read that on the twenty-ninth the moon rose (instead of set) at 12:01, by Ayer's almanac. With such an almanac Lincoln would have been able to prove very nicely that "the moon did not rise until an hour or more after the murder was committed," and the prosecution might well fail to find the trouble, especially if they were a little lax in their examination, as the statement of Mr. Shaw, assistant prosecuting counsel, indicates. Assuming that another, and rather unfamiliar, type of almanac was used, a fuller account which agrees surprisingly well with the eye-witness stories can be reconstructed.

—C. C. Wylie.

But Aviation Will Go On

MUCH COMMENT has been caused in Iowa City by the recent election at Cedar Rapids at which a proposal to issue bonds for a new municipal airport was voted down.

Iowa City has voted by a large majority to issue $70,000 in bonds for purchasing and outfitting a modern airport at Iowa City and plans are going forward now.

There are those who will think that Cedar Rapids is out of the race and will not have an airport. We believe this is untrue. There is already a port at Cedar Rapids, which, although it is not as good as the local port which has been built up by the Iowa City chamber of commerce, is being used daily and is headquarters for several planes.

Refusal of citizens of a city to provide an airport is no indication that there will be no port. It will be a hindrance and will hold back aviation just a little. But an industry which is growing as rapidly as aviation need not wait for those who think in terms of 1905 to build airports.

There were towns which once refused to aid railroads in establishing stations. But did the railroads stop?

Aviation will continue to grow and those who close their eyes to the possibilities will someday realize their mistake.

What is Justice?

NOW WORD comes that Allen Holman, Ohio State backfield star, will be eligible to play football with the Scarlet and Gray another season.

Only the other day in a news story the information was carried that athletes transferring from schools which gave degrees could not compete in the Western conference. It is claimed by Ohio State university that inasmuch as Parsons college, where Holman played his first year, is a "class B" school, his service there does not matter.

They also argue that Holman transferred from Iowa State college at Ames, where he had gone later, of his own accord. The rule says nothing about who took the initiative in causing an athlete to change alma maters. Obtaining proof for its enforcement would be too difficult in that case.

Last year Mayes McLain was ruled ineligible to compete further under the Old Gold and Black of Iowa because he had played for Haskell institute, which is not a regulation school.

What difference is there between the cases which makes Holman free to hold down a backfield position with Ohio State another year?

Stock Market Slips Upward

Call Loan Rate Soars Up to 10 Per Cent

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The stream of credit flowing into the stock market grew unexpectedly sluggish today, sending the call loan rate up to 10 per cent, and once more opening the spillways of stock liquidation. Operations for the advance, which had been resumed yesterday as the recent flood of selling appeared to have subsided, were unpleasantly interrupted.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 1/2 per cent, and the bullish operations were pressed forward enthusiastically during the forenoon, particularly in the utilities. Banks called some $40,000,000 in loans during the day, which sent the call money rate from 7 1/2 to 8, thence to 9, and finally to 10 per cent. Early gains were cancelled or sharply reduced during the afternoon.

Public Service of New Jersey, Columbia Gas and Electric, American and Foreign Power, Electric Power and Light and Southern California Edison were among utilities reaching new high ground, the first named closing up 5 points. United Gas improvement was heavily bought.

A few specialties, notably Cutler Hammer and Foster Wheeler also reached record levels. Columbian Carbon jumped 13 points and closed at the top, and American Can, American Telephone, Fox Film A and Simmons closed 2 or 3 points higher.

WASHINGTON BYSTANDER

Investigation of "Big Navy" Activities Ordered by Senate Promises Much Interest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The investigation of "big navy" activities of William B. Shearer ordered by the senate today is expected to prove a very interesting chapter of Hoover administration history.

Whatever else it might disclose, the admission of various shipbuilding concerns in connection with Shearer's employment as an "observer" of naval limitation conferences served to bring to the surface an aspect of Washington life not much talked of as a rule.

There have been heated and dramatic "lobby" investigations before now, notably that during the Wilson administration. President Wilson had his own troubles with "big navy" or "big army" advocates prior to the time he embarked upon the national defense program of 1916.

He, like President Hoover, boiled over in resentment against lobbyists generally and arranged them caustically. That was what brought on the congressional investigation.

The Bystander does not recall that any very drastic anti-lobby legislation resulted. If it had, the history of the relations of the United States to the League of Nations might have been a wholly different story.

ATTACKED IN GENERAL

President Coolidge always seemed to have a feeling that military propagandists seeking larger appropriations might impair his economy program.

He frequently referred more or less bitterly in press conferences to the activities of "admirals and generals" in that regard.

Even the budget act assumes there will be propaganda for larger appropriations within the various government departments unless checked. It provides that departmental officers may not reveal in any way the figures dealt with in formulation of the budget each year.

And under President Coolidge that clause of the act was held rigidly over the heads of army and navy personnel particularly.

Officers of the two services feared official reprisals if they did any

Wheat Values Take Upturns

Early Losses Change to Gains at Close

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Sudden reverse action turned wheat price losses into gains today after a tumble to nearly 10 cents a bushel below last week's top figures. Upturns in wheat values were helped by United States department of agriculture advices that the world's 1929 wheat yield is about 500,000,000 bushels less than last year.

Earlier in the day, the market was largely swayed by assertions that rain in Argentina had washed the speculative foundation from under wheat.

Closing prices for wheat were firm, 1 to 1c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1/2c to 1c up, oats unchanged to 1/4c higher, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Likelihood of frosts tonight in numerous sections of the corn belt, especially northern Iowa, Illinois and Indiana, gave independent strength to the corn market. Leading crop experts said that heavy frosts would undoubtedly do considerable damage. The oats trade showed a good class of commission house buying.

Opening prices for corn were a little lower, but there was an excellent demand on the break, which started short covering, prices advancing more than 1 cent over the close of Monday. Stocks here are extremely small and receipts were not heavy enough to suggest much corn in Chicago today were 122 cars, compared with 67 cars a week ago and 83 cars on the corresponding day last year.

Provisions went higher, sympathizing with hog values and responsive to a decrease in Chicago warehouse stocks on hand. Advances, however, brought about profit-taking and a reaction.

"Now that calm reigns in Palestine, the Palestine Zionist executive and the Vaad Lommi desire to give expression to the deep gratitude felt by Palestine Jewry in regard to the effect help afforded by the units of the British naval, military and air forces in restoring order in the country after the unprovoked attack on the Jewish community during the recent riots, generally protecting life and property."

Mrs. Pantages Takes Stand; Categorical Denial Made by Her

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 17 (AP)—Categorical denial of the state's charges was made today by Mrs. Lois Pantages, on trial for the second degree murder of Juro Rokumoto, while she was testifying in her defense. The state's charge that she was intoxicated when her automobile collided with that driven by the victim was contradicted with the testimony:

"I did not have a single drink of intoxicating liquor the day of the accident."

A startling defense countercharge was thrown into the case by Max Steur, chief of Mrs. Pantages' legal array, soon after her brief testimony ended.

Juro Rokumoto was put to death by administration of the anaesthetic of ether nitrous oxide," Steur asserted. "An absolutely unprecedented procedure in the case of a person suffering from shock."

Woman Gets Three More Months From Judge for Laughing

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Freda Burden, East St. Louis, laughed her way into jail today.

Sentenced to nine months and fined $500, she was asked by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley if she were not sorry for language she was alleged to have used to dry agents.

"Ho, ho, ha-ha-ha-ha," was her reply. "Three months more," said the judge.

"Laugh that off," said an attaché, but she had stopped.

Cook County Coffers Empty; Unable to Pay 4,000 Employees

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Cook county's employes—4,000 of them—may get their semi-month pay checks, but nobody knows just when. One of the guesses, this one by the county comptroller, was that there would be no pay checks for three months.

The reason is that the county is broke. The county treasurer had $50,000 in the till and a half million dollars worth of salaries to meet, not to mention bills which have gone unpaid for months. Bankers have been appealed to, but they profess to see nothing that can be done about it.

U. High Men to Begin Drill

About a dozen men have been reporting regularly to Coach E. H. Handy, new university high mentor. The men started working with the new coach last Thursday and are drilling every morning. Practice will start in earnest Monday with the opening of school.

Wendell Thomas, letter winner last year, has been trying his hand in the backfield in signal drill. Thomas won his letter as a lineman last fall. Wayne Rowe, a dependable end from last year's squad, is on hand. Milo Moore, a guard from the 1928 team, has been going on hand in signal practice.

Bill Lenz, Francis Sook and Ed Fairchild are non-letter men who are expected to show up well.

HUSKERS GET WORKOUT

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 17 (AP)—Things were beginning to take a definite shape around Nebraska Memorial stadium today as the Cornhusker football squad completed its second two-day turn on the gridiron. Coach Dana Bunn spent considerable time this afternoon drilling the backs on fundamentals. For the rest of the week the gates will be locked to spectators.

SOVIET FLEET RETURNS

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Sept. 15 (AP)—All vessels of the soviet battle fleet returned to Kronstadt after recent maneuvers and it was officially denied today that any was damaged. Ingwersen Drills Men in Blocking

Irving Nelson, Gilchrist Report; No Change in Lineup

Two long sieges of blocking and tackling drills, interspersed with signal practice on forward pass formations kept the Hawkeye football squad busy yesterday in their second day of preparation for the grid season. No change in the first string lineup was made although Irv Nelson, the blond quarterback who was missing Monday, arrived to take a berth on the second team.

Reporting with Nelson was John

Harriers Will Begin Practice

First Drill Preceded by Mixer

Action for the University of Iowa's cross country runners is scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon when a squad of more than 25 athletes will head the call of Coach George T. Bresnahan.

The first practice will be preceded Monday by a mixer for all harriers, sponsored by the Iowa Cross Country club. Both varsity and freshman runners will report for workout the following day.

On the official squad list are names of two major letter men, four winners of the minor "I" and nearly 30

REFUSES BIG OFFER

MASON CITY, Sept. 17 (AP)—Pinkie George, local matchmaker, announced today that he had refused an offer of $1,000 for a contract he holds with Frankie Spargo, Mason City boxer. The offer came from Simon A. Kalis, Kansas City promoter, George said.

freshman team members of 1928 and other candidates.

Thomas J. Kelly, Parnell, and William H. Everingham, Ft. Madison, are the veteran major letter men, and Montague A. Hakes, Laurens, and Byron M. Turner, Anita, are the 1928 regulars who won minor letters. A minor letter man of 1927, Loren J. Cue of Shellsburg, also will be available. John A. Moulton, Council Bluffs, winner of a minor letter two years ago, probably will not run cross country, fearing to alter his stride and cut his speed for the half mile. He has won points in Big Ten title meets in the shorter event.

For the first time in Hawkeye history, the Iowans went through a cross country dual meet season undefeated last year. Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin were vanquished. The only serious loss from that team is F. H. Brady, who did not finish lower than a tie for second in the trio of meets.

City Observes Prevention of Fire Oct. 6-12

Amish Makes Plans for Crusade Here for One Week

National fire prevention week, Oct. 6-12, will be observed in Iowa City by building inspection, school programs, poster displays, and special talks before service clubs. Fire Chief Herman Amish declared yesterday that plans were nearing completion.

A tentative schedule proposes essay contests in local schools on subjects dealing with fire prevention. Special assemblies, stressing fire causes and prevention, led by prominent speakers will discuss the subject before school children.

Store buildings, factories, warehouses, schools, churches, public buildings, fraternal societies and sororities will be inspected for possible fire hazards as in former years. Recommendations for changes will be made where possible dangerous conditions exist and written orders will be given persons who refuse to accept the recommendations.

Rudolph Tersch, Minneapolis fire captain and representative of the Iowa insurance bureau, and H. F. Rogers, local insurance man, will address the chamber of commerce Oct. 7 on fire hazards and prevention. It is expected that other service clubs will have similar programs.

The Iowa City board of Underwriters has appointed a group of three to cooperate with the fire chief in sponsoring the week. These are Ray Baschnagel, Lee Koser, and William Holland. Chief Amish and S. F. Morrison addressed the board Monday on the fire prevention week.

Strub's Use Modern Art in Decoration of Window Display

The formal opening of Strub's autumn window display brings to Iowa City an effective demonstration of modern art as now used in the decorating field. In each window is a built-in screen, and these are original modernistic paintings by J. Paul Fellman, the display manager.

Silver forms a general background with a varying color scheme in different windows providing contrast. The largest window at the south shows a modern conception of an Egyptian court. Silver, brown, blue, and a touch of crimson are combined.

One of the newest features of the display is the employment of indirect lighting. Light always present which seems to issue from nowhere. This has long been a famous stage-lighting trick, but its extensive use in decorating has only come about within the last year.

Mr. Fellman was an art student at the University of Iowa for three years, during which time he contributed many drawings to campus publications. He is a graduate of the Koester school of Chicago, and has been in the service of the Strub company since last February.

Judge Zager Fines W. E. Walsh $100

The second fine in as many days was handed William E. Walsh by Police Judge C. L. Zager yesterday. Walsh was fined $100 and costs for illegal transportation of intoxicating liquors not properly labeled. Fifty dollars of the fine was suspended on good behavior.

Monday he was assessed $10 and costs by the judge on an intoxication charge.

LAND TRANSFERS

Two warranty deeds filed at the court house yesterday recorded the transfer of two city lots and parts of two sections of land in the county.

Harriet Black, et al, transferred two lots on the southeast corner of Gould street and Ferson avenue, west side, to Frank Senska.

John M. Leonard and wife transferred the northeast quarter of section 35, except a school lot, the southeast quarter and south half of the northeast quarter of section 26, township 81 north, range 5 west of the 5 p.m., to Michael L. Leonard, et al.

Regular Republicans Lead in Election in Philadelphia Primary

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Early returns from today's primary election, in which independent forces of the city aided by Mayor Harry A. Mackey attempted to wrest control of the regular republican organization from Senator Elect W. S. Vare, gave the regulars a substantial lead.

Returns from 490 widely scattered election divisions out of 1,590 in the city show that William F. Campbell, organization or Vare candidate for register of wills around which office the hardest battle was fought, had a lead of 46,336 over John P. Dugan, the republican league candidate. The vote was Campbell, 76, 382; Dugan, 30,046.

One-Day Strike Fails to Bring Out Crowd

BESSEMER CITY, N. C., Sept. 17 (AP)—A one day strike called last night by officials of the national textile workers' union in memory of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, 29-year-old unionist, slain Saturday by a mob which sought to prevent her and 22 others from attending a meeting arranged by textile strike leaders at Gastonia, failed today to bring about attendance of a large crowd for the mass demonstration planned, but several hundred persons gathered quietly in the village cemetery to join the woman's five children and her relatives at the funeral.

The international labor defense tonight announced that Sept. 21 and 22 had been set aside for "mass protests" in all parts of the country over the death of Mrs. Wiggins.

Langmuir Talks on Reactions of Gases in Tungsten Bulbs

Irving Langmuir, president of the American chemical society, lectured in the chemistry auditorium last night on the chemical reactions produced by heating tungsten or platinum filaments in gases.

These studies have practical applications in the ordinary light bulb. The fact that a heated tungsten filament is impervious to ill effects from hydrogen has made it possible to use that gas in light bulbs. Mr. Langmuir has found that heat will clean up both tungsten and platinum filaments.

The talk was sponsored by the Iowa and Illinois-Iowa sections of the American chemical society.

INDIANOLA, Sept. 17 (AP)—The annual meeting of the Des Moines conference of the Methodist church opened here tonight with an informal reception and program at which Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit, who will preside at the conference, spoke.

British Favor Conformity to Kellogg Pact

Delegates Make Proposal to League of Nations at Geneva

GENEVA, Sept. 17 (AP)—The delegation of the British labor government, pursuing its energetic program begun at the beginning of the tenth assembly of the League of Nations, launched today two proposals of major importance which treat of matters of direct interest to the United States.

In the political field Sir Cecil Hurst, British legal expert, offered a plan for revising the league covenant so as to close all the loopholes for war and bring the league's charter into conformity with the spirit and content of the Kellogg-Briand pact for renunciation of war.

Would Limit Narcotics
In another sphere and with a view to making progress toward solution of one of the world's most perplexing social problems, Noel Baker, British member of parliament, voiced his government's wish for a conference of representatives of states in which dangerous narcotics are manufactured. The conference would discuss joint measures for limiting production of morphine, heroin and cocaine.

Sir Cecil Hurst's proposal, which was presented in a draft resolution to the committee on constitutional questions, was followed by a Peruvian plan of the same scope.

The procedure recommended in the Hurst draft is to amend those articles of the covenant which leave a gap for the possibility of war, so as to close the gap by renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

Urge Study of Pact
A resolution on parallel lines was offered by Mariano Cornejo of Peru which called for appointment of a committee to study how the Kellogg pact might be embodied in the league covenant.

In the humanitarian and social problems committee, where deep anxiety had been expressed over the present unsatisfactory state of narcotic traffic, there was great rejoicing at the pronouncement of the British delegates toward limiting production of narcotics. It was understood, are concerned with the manufacture of these drugs and now most of them have declared in favor of seeking an international agreement to restrict the output.

One of the manufacturing countries is the United States and naturally the question whether non-members of the league will wish to participate in a conference on this subject is in many minds here. Canada, Italy, Germany, and Switzerland are among those which have indicated agreement with the British position.

DAVENPORT (AP)—With several fair-sized building projects contemplated here in the next two months there is every indication that building activities will total more than $2,000,000 for the year, City Building Commissioner H. S. Muesse said today. Permits issued here to Sept. 1 totaled $1,610,953, and Muesse said he expected an average of $100,000 a month would be recorded for the rest of the year. The number of permits issued up to Sept. 1 was 1,041. Figures this year are far in advance of the 1928 totals. For the entire year only $1,390,709.85 in construction work was reported. There were 1,391 permits issued in 1928. The figures on Sept. 1 last year were only 915 permits and a value of $962,702.

Arguments in Trial of Coed on Robbery Charge Opens Today

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., Sept. 17 (AP)—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers on charges of robbing the Farmers National bank of Buda, Tex., in 1926, was charged tonight and court was recessed until 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning when arguments will begin.

The closing of the present trial marks the fourth time Mrs. Rogers has been brought to trial in connection with the robbery. Once she was convicted and given a 14-year penitentiary sentence. The conviction was reversed, however. The succeeding attempt to try the defendant resulted in both sides being unable to agree on a jury. In an arson trial growing out of the robbery the jury was unable to agree.

The state rested after having called 18 witnesses in an effort to prove the former University of Texas coed was sane when she brandished a revolver in the face of two bank employes and escaped with $1,000. To refute this claim the defense introduced 36, including some of Texas' most eminent alienists.

The hearing was at the Jefferson hotel and continued throughout the day.

Buster Brown With His Dog Tige Will Visit Here Monday

Buster Brown and Tige are coming to Iowa City to entertain the kids. Tige is full of new antics to pull and Buster of things he wants to say. They will appear at the Strand theater, after school, Monday afternoon at 4:30.

There are two prize things the kids will want to know. In the first place, every boy or girl is entitled to a free ticket, which can be obtained at Krueger's Buster Brown shoe store, under whose auspices Buster and his cohort are coming, any time now. And just as important, every boy or girl will receive a souvenir from Buster Brown or from Tige himself.
