Death Comes Suddenly to Noted Minister

Statesman Regarded as One of Europe's Foremost

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (Thursday) (AP)—Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann died suddenly early today.

Dr. Stresemann had been in ill health for months but recently he had so far recovered as to be able to participate in the arduous conference at The Hague on reparations and the session of the League of Nations assembly at Geneva.

Dr. Stresemann was one of the foremost statesmen of post war Europe, and with Aristide Briand, French premier and foreign minister, generally was considered one of the most active of the world's peace workers. He was president of the German people's party, a member of the Reichstag, a former chancellor of the German republic, and the most widely known member of the present cabinet, headed by Chancellor Mueller.

In the chaotic conditions that gripped Germany for several years after the World war, Stresemann rose up as an antidote like oil on troubled waters.

It was as if Stresemann stood by while others tried this policy and that without producing anything like a semblance of order and then stepped in to thrust upon the country his own ideas and schemes. And usually he emerged successful. "What he proposed often was at the risk of sacrificing his position in national affairs. His leadership, however, turned these risks into successful events and his achievements made of him an outstanding international figure.

"The greatest post-war statesman of Germany," was a characterization often made of him. It was Stresemann who put an end to the Cuno policy of passive resistance in the Ruhr valley and in its stead instituted a policy of reconciliation with Germany's former enemies.

Together with Chancellor Marx he represented Germany in the London conference that led to the adoption of the Dawes plan and a year later, in February, 1925, suggested the idea of a security pact with France.

He won over Dr. Hans Luther, then chancellor, to the advantages of a non-aggression pact, and with him went to London to help draft the famous Locarno treaties. It was he who secured Germany's agreement to the renunciation of Alsace and Lorraine and finally, he negotiated and steered Germany's entrance into the League of Nations.

All of these events, of tremendous importance in the reestablishment of economic order in Germany, were accomplished by Stresemann long before he was 50 years of age. For his ability to change his political creed and adapt himself to the new conditions, he was noted about by changing conditions, he often was called "the Lloyd George of Germany." How completely he could change in the course of events was indicated by his new attitude toward the republic.

As late as 1923, Stresemann clung to his belief in a "Volksherrschaft"—a monarchy headed by an emperor chosen by the people. Three years later, addressing a convention of German students, he asserted his willingness to "protect the republic with my own body."

Stresemann, twice chancellor and five times foreign minister was born in Berlin, May 10, 1878, the son of a restaurant keeper. He showed promise as a boy and his father, at considerable sacrifice, sent him through the Universities of Berlin and Leipzig. He specialized in economics and political science.

After leaving college in 1901 he became assistant to the general secretary of the Association of German Chocolate manufacturers. Two years later he was chosen general secretary of the League of Saxon Industrialists.

From this vantage point he made his jump into politics, affiliating with the national liberal party. He was elected to the Reichstag in 1907 as a candidate of that party and became a devoted follower of Bassermann, the party's leader and chairman. Ten years later, upon Bassermann's death, Stresemann succeeded to his post as head of the party.

In 1918 he formed and assumed chairmanship of the German people's party. He was married and the father of two sons.

GRINNEB (AP)—Dr. Raymond Cummings Brooks, head of the religion department at Pomona college, will deliver the Gates lectures at Grinnell college from Feb. 11 to 14. He was born at Tabor, Iowa.

Rex, Great Dane, Will Make Debut Homecoming Day

By WILLIAM BARON

Rex Canine, king of the campus, is now a bona fide member of the university. The great dane has repeatedly shown his scholastic intentions by attending classes and frequenting the campus walks now, to give the young fellow a sound start in his university career, he has been enrolled in the basic military class.

When the band first swings through the gates of the new stadium on Homecoming day, Rex will make his debut. Dressed in all the glory of a Peruvian general, he will lead the band around the field to acknowledge the plaudits of the great crowd. A black shawl, with an old gold plume in front and the word IOWA on the back, will cover his head. On his back there will be a black blanket coat with the state seal and the letters R.O.T.C. on one side, and the word "Iowa" on the front.

From the moment of his appearance, he will take his place among the great. Yale has its bulldog, Army has its mule, Navy has its goat, and we have our Rex, lucky dog of the State University of Iowa.

Three Die as Marion Textile Strikers Riot

6 Dying, Many Injured; Officers Accused of Firing First

MARION, N. C., Oct. 2 (AP)—Three dead, six believed dying and 100 others in the hospital here today brought state troopers to Marion for the second time in two months to stop textile strike troubles.

Two men were killed outright and another died several hours later as a result of a riot at the gates of the Marion Manufacturing company cotton mill in East Marion this morning. Who fired the first shot is a question of dispute.

The mill was the scene of a strike of nine weeks' duration, which was ended on Sept. 15, in an agreement whereby the East Marion mill and the Clinchfield Manufacturing company's mill were reopened on a non-union basis. Members of the textile union recently claimed that the argument was not being lived up to by the East Marion management and at 1 o'clock this morning several scores of workers of the night shift walked out in an unexpected strike.

Union officials charged that the first shot was fired by an officer, William Ross, publicity manager for the southern division of the United Textile Workers of America, gave out a statement this afternoon saying that warrants were being prepared charging Sheriff Adkins and Deputy Sheriffs B. L. Robbins, James Owens, T. M. Green, W. G. Biggerstaff and Alley Stepp with murder. Other warrants, he said, would charge Adam Hunt, superintendent of the mill, and John Snoddy, an overseer, with complicity.

Sam Vickers and Randolph Hill, both strikers, were killed by pistol bullets at the mill gate. John Jonas, who Sheriff Adkins charges, started the trouble, died at noon.

Senate Takes Tariff Power From Hoover

Insurgents Side With Democrats; Defeat Regulars

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The senate today ran counter to the wishes of President Hoover and adopted by a vote of 47 to 42 a democratic plan restoring to congress the power to enact emergency tariff rates now enjoyed by the executive.

The proposal, a substitute for that offered by the finance committee, would change the flexible tariff policy adopted by the republicans seven years ago and make congress, instead of the president, the final arbiter of the findings of the tariff commission. As a safeguard against general revision, it would limit congressional action to the rate or rates dealt with in the commission's report.

Setting the republican administration majority in the first major test on the tariff bill in the senate, a combination of democrats and republican independents, which is fighting the measure, showed it had the votes to write its own bill if the coalition remains intact.

Headed by Senators Borah, Idaho, and Norris, Nebraska, thirteen republicans joined thirty-four democrats in overriding the president. It was the third time this session that an almost identical line-up in the senate has voted down an expressed wish of the new executive. The other two occasions were in votes on putting the export debenture plan in the farm bill.

The independents are determined to limit the present revision to increases in agricultural rates and their leaders were hopeful tonight of obtaining this objective as a result of the victory of the coalition today. However, republican regulars were counting on a new line up when particular rate schedules, including increases on many industrial products, are reached.

Proposed Substitute As a substitute for the administration republican group's plan to continue the flexible tariff policy as it exists, the democratic proposal provided that the tariff commission after investigating differences in cost of production of foreign and domestic articles shall report to the president and the congress simultaneously, and that congress shall say whether the rates suggested in the commission's reports are to be made effective.

At present, the president proclaims the rates or refuses to act on the commission's findings. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, proposed the plan as a substitute for an amendment by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, chairman of the committee. The North Carolina senator had accepted an amendment to his plan suggested by Senator Norris and aimed to meet the objections raised by the president that congress could not legislate on single tariff items without opening up the entire tariff law to change. It would restrict congress to action on the item or items contained in tariff commission reports.

Council Meets at Union Last Night

The student council met Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. for dinner at Iowa Union. This was the first meeting of the year. Gerrit Doornward, C4 of Sioux Center, is president of the council, and Verna Bookhart, A4 of Ida Grove, is secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the meeting was for reorganization of the council and for setting dates and appointing committees to be announced later for university parties and class elections.

Prince Albert Pays Visit to Waterloo Dairy Cattle Show

Waterloo, Oct. 2 (AP)—Royalty visited Waterloo today to inspect the aristocracy of the animal world at the dairy cattle congress. Prince Albert de Ligne, Belgian ambassador to the United States, was the honor guest. Tomorrow he will present a silver cup to the best animal, either stallion or mare, in the National Belgian show held in connection with the congress.

Prince Albert came as the personal representative of his cousin, King Albert of Belgium, and is the first of the nobility of his country to visit Iowa. While in the state he is the personal guest of Thomas Holbert of Greeley, Belgian horse importer, who is one of the largest exhibitors at the show. He plans to return to Washington Oct. 4.

Dressed impeccably, the prince was a commanding figure in the show ring during the judging this afternoon. He demonstrated keen knowledge of horse breeding, asking pertinent questions of exhibitors and noting the fine points of the individual animals. Judging of entries of 50 Belgian horse breeders will close tomorrow, after which Prince de Ligne will award a cup to the grand champion and speak at the exhibitors banquet. Judging of jerseys occupied the dairy cattle ring this afternoon, following completion of judging of Brown Swiss in the morning. Exceptionally large entries and uniform excellence of animals made the placing of animals unusually difficult, the judges said.

Governor Acquitted

Jury Acquits Gov. Sampson

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 2 (AP)—The first trial resulting from the recent indictment of Governor Sampson, seven members of his text-book commission and 25 publishers, came to an abrupt end today with an instructed verdict for acquittal of the governor.

Wade Hampton Whitley, commonwealth's attorney, moved for a new trial and when this was overruled indicated he would take the case to the state court of appeals. Its decision is expected to determine action in the other cases.

The jury was chosen during the morning session of court today and after five state's witnesses had arrived all scouts were ready to defend moved for peremptory instructions for acquittal. Judge Ben G. Williams hardly had granted it when a burst of applause came from the governor's friends in the crowded courtroom.

Scouts Hold Annual Meet on Saturday

Iowa City will be the gathering place for Boy Scouts from all over the state Saturday, when they will arrive at the 50th annual camp at the Iowa-Monmouth camp.

This is the third annual Boy Scout day and a larger crowd is expected than in the two years preceding. Iowa Union will be scout headquarters for the day. Immediately upon arrival all scouts will register there where check rooms for their convenience will be established.

The football game between Iowa and Monmouth will take the spotlight in the afternoon. A parade will be formed at Iowa Union, headed by the university band and the Iowa City scouts, which will march to the new stadium.

Boy Scout day at Iowa is a high point in the fall scout program, say state scout leaders.

Billboards Flaunting Sex Appeal Opposed by State Educator

FT. DODGE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction, told delegates of the annual convention of the Iowa W. C. T. U. here today that they must combat billboards that flaunt sex appeal, and cigar advertisements.

The home still has the first chance in educating the child in the right direction, she said, and the home of today too often patronizes bootleggers. Too many automobiles are precariously guided on the highways of the state, she also asserted.

Next to the home, the school has the greatest influence on the children, she continued, and she credited to W. C. T. U. women the material on temperance which has gone into the new state course for elementary schools.

A new propaganda must also be met today, she said, in the radio programs advertising cigarets which fill the air. "Our children are hearing that all the time and seeing such material on billboards."

Legionnaires Name Boston as City for Convention in 1930

Veterans Pave Way for Election of National Commander at Session Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2 (AP)—Executing an about-face from glamorous celebrations, the American Legion went briskly to business today, selecting Boston for the 1930 convention and paving the way for the election tomorrow of a national commander and other officers.

With the end of their parade—the big Bertha of the Legion's period of merrymaking—the delegates settled down to internal politics. In the caucuses three names as contenders for national commander were mentioned.

They were O. L. Bodenhamer, of Eldorado, Ark.; Albert L. Cox of Raleigh, N. C.; and Ralph T. O'Neill, of Topeka, Kan. His uniform already brilliant with emblems of bravery, Sgt. Woodfill stood at attention while Col. S. Zachorski, representing Marshall Joseph Piluski of Poland, pinned upon his blouse two medals commemorative of Polish independence.

M'Donald Will Arrive Friday

Berengaria Forced to Cut Speed Down

S. S. BERENGARIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—For what was said to be the first time in her career, this liner was slowed down on her westward passage today. The speedy ship threatened to arrive in New York too early to fit in with the ceremonial program arranged for the reception of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

Capt. Sir Arthur H. Rostron therefore ordered the rate of steaming adjusted to bring the Berengaria to Quarantine at 8 a. m. on Friday, in ample season before the time set for debarkation of the official party.

Mr. MacDonald today received many messages of good wishes from both sides of the Atlantic. One that caused some amusement in the British delegation came from an eastern American city and read: "Cable your price on commercial exclusive first appearance broadcasting."

M'Kelvie Tells of Marketing Corporation to Begin Work Next Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The information that the prospective farmers' national grain marketing corporation will be unable to function effectively toward the stabilization of wheat prices until next year was given to the senate agriculture committee today by Sam R. McKelvie of Nebraska, wheat's representative on the board.

Formal organization of the corporation is imminent and as soon as this is accomplished, planning of policies will begin. Irrespective of whether all cooperatives and pools are represented the board members said the corporation would be in the field in the attempt to demonstrate that conditions can be improved by orderly marketing.

During the examination of McKelvie, the board's right to loan money to the corporation was challenged by Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa. He contended the farm relief act provided for loans to cooperatives and not to corporations.

Nebraskan Confesses Slaying Young Wife Near North Platte

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 2 (AP)—George St. Clair of North Platte confessed to Sheriff A. J. Salsbury late today that he killed his 18-year-old wife, June, by choking her, near the municipal field here last Saturday night, and then buried her in a grave on a road leading to Tryon, Neb.

St. Clair had previously reported that his wife had been missing since Sunday morning when he left home to go to his work. He told several stories concerning her disappearance, police said.

Accused by Sheriff Salsbury of having killed her, St. Clair admitted he had and immediately wrote out a full confession. He said he choked her to death after she had repulsed his attempts to hug and kiss her.

St. Clair stated in his confession that he accompanied his wife on a shopping tour trip down town Saturday evening. Following the shopping tour, he said they went for a ride in their car and stopped near the airport where he attempted to kiss her. He then said he suggested that they go over to the landing field, but she refused.

1,500 Men in Augusta Fight Raging River

Overflow of Savannah Creeps Slowly to 46-Foot Crest

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 2 (AP)—The determined efforts of more than 1,500 men to hold the Savannah river within the levee that protects this city of 60,000 inhabitants from overflow, appeared tonight to have been successful as the stream crept slowly toward its predicted crest of 46 feet or more.

Later this afternoon nearly half of the Southern Railway trestle across the Savannah river here was carried away by the rampaging stream. The remaining three spans, weighted with freight cars, remained standing. Three freight cars loaded with ballast were swept into the turbulent stream by the following span.

Torrential rains cease Torrential rains that beat down along the watershed of the Savannah yesterday and last night ceased early today, and the predicted crest of 47 feet was revised downward slightly.

Last week Hamburg was almost submerged beneath the tawny waters of the river which reached a record stage of 46.4 feet, exceeding by nearly five feet the previous high mark. The inhabitants of the South Carolina village had not had an opportunity to clear away the debris from the rise of last week, when the second deluge came tumbling down the Savannah today.

The only casualty reported in this section was the drowning of a Negro in a ditch near Lake Olmstead last night. It was believed he tried to swim the ditch in an effort to reach Augusta.

Business in the city was almost at a standstill all day, merchants having moved their merchandise above probable high water levels and closed their stores, while their employees joined in the battle to prevent inundation of their homes.

Although cut off from rail and highway communication, the city had ample food supplies.

Conditions similar to those of Friday and Saturday continued in eastern Georgia with roads still impassable, and railroads unable to operate because of bridges carried away by turbulent streams.

Air Mail Week Begins Oct. 7

Intended to Popularize Use of Air Mail

The week of Oct. 7 will be Air Mail week, according to a bulletin received at the local post office yesterday. This week is sponsored by the American Air Transport association and the Direct Mail Advertising association in an effort to popularize and generally increase the use of air mail throughout the country.

The various post offices and airports in cities along the route of the transcontinental airway and the mail route operated by the Boeing System are endeavoring to cooperate with the sponsors in order to assure the success of the week. The dates of Air mail week coincide with those of the international convention of Mail Advertising association which is to be held at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Shradar pointed out that Iowa City is on the transcontinental air route and that besides a regular daily stop of the planes, local air mail is also sent to the Moline port by rail and there forwarded to its destination by air.

Mr. Shradar expresses the hope that with the taking over of the Smith field port by Iowa City, residents will be accorded even better air mail service in the future than at present.

He feels that the importance of its location and nature will prove an incentive to officials to add steps to the present schedule.

"Louder, Marshall, Louder"

CHIEF Justice John Marshall was once in Buffalo, N. Y., on a visit and while in the city was asked to address a large gathering of people, who had assembled in the auditorium for the purpose of seeing and hearing the famous jurist. Marshall assented and went to the hall where he was greeted with tremendous cheering.

He began his speech in his usual eloquent manner—"Ladies and gentlemen, it is indeed a great pleasure to be the guest of the fair city of Buffalo, greatest in all America, and have the privilege—" when some voice in the back of the room shouted—"Louder, Marshall, louder." The procedure was repeated several times. Each time Marshall spoke louder, but still eloquently and firmly, only to have the voice repeat—"Louder, Marshall, louder."

Finally the great judge became incensed. He began again—"Some day the Great Master will gather all his creatures into the great beyond. From the depths of the sea they will come. From the graves, from the bowels of the earth, all the living creatures will be on hand, and they will be gathered to hear the voice of our maker, who has ruled the world.

"Everything will be quiet in that great hall where the entire universe will be assembled to hear the fate prescribed for them by our master. He will come onto the stage and will begin to speak when the peace of the entire multitude will be shocked by some jackass from Buffalo shouting, 'Louder, Marshall, louder.'"

There are persons in almost every classroom who have no more sense of the appropriate than the "jackass" who so disgraced himself during the chief justice's speech. Everyone has been annoyed by the talkative individual who talks out loud during lectures; advances questions which are in no way related to the subject, and who whispers noisily, much to the annoyance of neighbors and instructors.

If you are in that classification, remember what John Marshall said. It is a bad habit and one which should be broken immediately. You are not gaining in popularity with either instructor or classmates. And you might wind up to be the unfortunate individual who will so far lose control as to shout out at the wrong time—"Louder, Marshall, louder."

Legion Comes Into Its Own

ELEVEN years ago a group of the choicest young men in America banded together and formed the American legion, which was to consist of all veterans of American armies engaged in the World war. Today, the eleventh annual convention of the American legion sees a small army at Louisville, where this year's meeting is being held.

Every year that passes sees the legion becoming more closely knit into a solid unit. As time passes, the horrors of war are forgotten and the ex-soldiers become more and more a compact unit of solid, respected citizens, upon whom the nation will rest for some years to come.

They have a worthy heritage to maintain in the work which has been dropped by the Grand Army of the Republic, for years the strongest organization in the country. The G.A.R. boasted worthy enterprises in every little town over the country, as well as afforded the veterans of the Civil war an opportunity to gather once each year to renew acquaintances and meet old friends.

Time has almost wiped out the Grand Army men. They take no active part in the day's activities and their ranks have withered to a mere handful. The legion is just coming into its own. The members are the responsible citizens of every town in the United States. They will be the sponsors and boosters of many worthwhile activities and will carry the burden dropped by the older men.

These men have that common tie of being war veterans, which will bind them together for the common good. Let every American citizen boost for the legion and respect it as the strongest influence in America during the years to come.

What to Do

"WHAT'S to be done about the corn monument?" That seems to be the problem before the Homecoming committee in charge of the plans for decorating the campus for that occasion. In years past the engineering college has donated time and labor to the erection of a corn monument, only to have the structure go up in smoke at the hands of vandals. Seldom has the monument lasted more than one night following Homecoming. As a result there has been considerable sentiment both pro and con regarding the feasibility of building one this year. Is it worth the trouble to erect a monument and have it burned, or is it too much of a tradition to suffer any loss of esteem in the eyes of Iowa sons and daughters because of its untimely demise?

The committee would appreciate a voice from student sentiment and any plans that might be brought forward. Shall the monument be erected and burned at a victory mass meeting? Or shall the traditional monument become a thing of the past? The committee would appreciate hearing from you.

Fire Prevention Week

OCTOBER 6 to 12 has been set aside as fire prevention week. During that time public and private organizations and authorities will make an effort to instruct citizens in the fundamentals of doing away with our terrible fire waste.

In past years the fire rate has always gone down during the week, only to rise again to "normal" immediately after. It is the old case of a lesson going in one ear and out the other.

Fire is perhaps the greatest single menace to progress we must face. Every year it destroys property which, in terms of monetary value would support whole governments, cover the country with paved highways, provide greater educational facilities or do a number of other great services. And on top of this must be placed the still greater destruction of human life.

During fire prevention week, we will learn of the danger of neglected wiring, carelessly disposed of matches or cigars, piles of refuse, poor building construction and so on. But unless our citizens carry the lessons learned through the other 51 weeks of the year nothing will be gained.

Make fire prevention week the start of fire prevention year.

Open House

"MISS SO and So, may I present the 'four Marx brothers?'" "Are you busy next Saturday night?" "Sorry, may I cut?" Etc., etc., etc. The chatter of "open house." For the season of "open house" is upon us once more.

Just like Christmas or the Fourth of July it comes 'round once a year. We can't escape it.

Every fall each sorority takes out the silver tea service and puts the new pledges to work polishing it up for the grand occasion. Dainty sandwiches, made to fit anything but the masculine mouth, are spread and filled with eager thought and tender hands. Floors are waxed and furniture polished, only to be rescratched and remarred by careless fraternity boots and buttons.

Young bodies sway to the sobbing moans of a saxophone; coquettish lashes droop over flirtatious eyes. Last year's "lines" are retired; new "lines" are developed and put to the test; dates are made and broken.

Names are repeated, only to be forgotten. New friends and more than a few enemies are added to an already swelling list. It's a game. But it's all in fun. One's sense of humor is touched, and, perhaps, one's heart strings. But fraternity life wouldn't be the same without the merry season of "open house."

Rocket Planes Will Fly!

GERMAN aviator comes forward with the phenomenal feat of flying six miles in a specially built plane, powered by rockets, which is the most remarkable development in recent years in the flying game. However, most average persons would shy away from flying anywhere in a plane propelled by such a power plant, and they couldn't be blamed.

The present model is very crude and is dangerous in the extreme. But it is an advance and may be the next revolutionary development to be embodied in the planes. Heretofore, aviation has been rather halted by the high speeds necessary to land. With the rocket planes a stabilizer might be attached making it possible to land at very low speeds.

At any rate, it is a step forward and is in sympathy with the trend in aviation—always ahead. The young Tueton daredevil is regarded as a reckless fool, perhaps but he is to be admired for his courage and confidence in his revolutionary idea.

Sidewalks in Town

WITH THE addition of seven new fraternity homes on the west side of the river, all of which were opened to their occupants this fall, the need of cement sidewalks along Templin road is becoming an absolute necessity. At the present time, more than 450 men are residing in the new fraternity section and when the collegiate vehicles fail to respond to the owner, the majority of those students are forced to walk to the campus.

There are no cement sidewalks along the way until Iowa avenue is reached. Cinderpaths are the trails and when it is dry, they are dusty, and when it rains, the walks are sloppy and sometimes muddy.

Some students use the interurban bridge across the river as a short cut. It would seem that university authorities would advise another way for students to travel to and from school by way of walking. The bridge is dangerous and oftentimes some students narrowly escape injury or death by the approach of an electric train.

Senior: "How do you like your new room?" Soph: "Rotten. There aren't half enough chairs to hold my clothes."
—Lemon Punch.

Judging from the power situation, some of these utility magnets who are making big ones out of little ones may be transferred to work for the government at breaking big ones into little ones.

Exercise Aids in Correcting Physical Ills

"Not only students, but many professors and instructors in the university as well, are very much in need of special and specific training to aid and correct their physical condition."

Such is the opinion of Albert Baumgartner, head of the medical gymnastic classes and an instructor in the department of physical education for the last seven years.

The medical gymnastic classes are a definite step forward in the program of the physical education department and are designed especially for the correction and prevention of physical and psychological handicaps, Baumgartner says.

The student, in the course of the course of his training, is required to know the basic facts concerning his own handicapped condition. He is required to know all exercises prescribed for his case and be able to execute them properly. Examinations are given in which each man explains his exercises and shows what improvement he has made.

Those cases handled most frequently are, foot cases, such as flat feet and broken arches; posture cases, chiefly round shoulders and spinal curvature; undernourishment and underweight; infantile paralysis and post-operative cases. Great improvement has been made in cases of heart ailments.

The final grade is based upon improvement and progress, attendance, behavior, and the final examination.

International Debate Team Joys Told by Herschel Langdon

The joys of international debating were related by Herschel G. Langdon, LL of Gilmore City, Tuesday at Iowa Union as the feature speech of the forensics mixer. More than 90 persons attended.

Langdon emphasized the informality of the English debates, the entertainment provided for the debaters, and the British attitude toward this country. The Iowans won seven of their nine debates.

James Carroll, LL of Davenport, presided as chairman. Other speakers on the program were: Mr. Harshbarger, who encouraged those present to enter the northern oratorical contest; Ellsworth A. Fersch, A2 of Davenport; Edward L. Campody, A3 of Davenport; Velma Bookhart, A4 of Ida Grove; Bailey C. Webber, A3 of Ottumwa; Prof. Giles W. Gray, and Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of debate.

The speakers outlined the debates to be held this year, the importance of freshman public speaking, and the sale of debate "I" books.

Hospital Basement to Be Remodelled

Workmen are busy remodeling a portion of the basement of the university hospital as a site for a sterilizing room. A modern type sterilizing machine has been installed and is now ready for use. Mattresses, bedding, and other articles of a similar nature will be disinfected in the new room. This work was formerly done in the old hospital building on the east side of the river.

V. Stefansson Gives Series of Lectures

Arrangements have been made by Dean Carl E. Seashore, of the graduate college, to bring Vilhjalmar Stefansson of New York, an alumnus of the University of Iowa and also a holder of the degree doctor of literature, here for a series of lectures starting the last week of January and continuing through February.

Stefansson, who is a noted explorer of the Arctic regions, will give one lecture each week. Stefansson whose lectures are based on many years of experience, has made contributions to all of these fields.

The five main lectures will be illustrated with colored still pictures. J. E. Williamson Will Give Lecture On Undersea Life

Tues. Oct. 15 is the date set for the first university lecture of this school year. On that date Mr. J. E. Williamson, who is the originator of undersea photography and motion pictures, will lecture on the subject "Beauty and Tragedy under the Sea."

He has utilized for photographic purposes a flexible metallic tube invented by his father, Charles Williamson. By lowering himself into a large globe-like chamber at the end of the tube which rests on the ocean floor, he takes pictures of the undersea world. Some of these plates are taken in natural colors.

The ocean floor is lit for a great distance by specially designed lights lowered from the ship above. He has photographed coral beds, gully colored fish, and sea monsters, such as the man-eating shark. Mr. Williamson will lecture on these pictures, telling the audience of many of his narrow escapes after descending to the ocean floor in a diving suit.

He has also advanced a tentative plan which has been met with approval for rescuing men entrapped in a sunken submarine.

FOOTBALL FLASHBACKS

THE EXTRA POINT IN SPORTS

by Art Lentz

Ohio Fans Expect Grudge Battle

Over the hill Ohio, and beyond—Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Purdue, and Michigan. To the average football fan a schedule like that spells but one word—"tough"—and the average fan usually is capable of sound thinking. The schedule is tough. No one realizes the fact better than does Earl Ferguson. And if you want proof of that statement, go down to Iowa field. There you'll find the Hawk mentor, more determined than ever, preparing his charges for their advent to the Big Ten gridiron fame at Columbus, O., a week from this Saturday.

That start at Ohio holds more interest to the spectators than its importance as a strength indicator to both coaches. Besides the possible determination of either team's future in the conference, the followers of both elevens may see a bitter struggle for victory. The recent decisions on the Holman case which shifted affirmation of eligibility to ruling of ineligibility and back to the former, have aroused some sentiment among Ohio rooters who feel that Iowa has, in a small measure, been responsible for the difficulty in settling the matter.

Iowa has had nothing to do with the situation whatsoever and it is a certainty that neither of the teams hold a grudge against each other. Yet the circumstances and rumors make good ballyhoo—just what is needed to fill the huge Buckeye stadium.

Such is Fame

Remember when the Galloping Ghost of Urbana, more popularly known as Red Grange of Illinois, flitted down the gridirons of midwest universities, scoring almost at will in a steady succession of spectacular runs? Remember when this self-same half-back carried the ball 80 yards to a touchdown on the kickoff in the now historical Iowa-Illinois game of 1925? You perhaps read headlines after headlines, story after story about this famous red-tatched personage. Well, he's playing pro-football with the Chicago Bears and just last Sunday, his team played to defeat before the Green Bay Packers.

Near the end of the story on the game, a little sentence appears, informing the reader that Grange, once star for Illinois, played two-thirds of the game but gained only about 12 yards in all of his attempts. Such is fame!

The Legion's Fight Card

Tomorrow night, the local post of the American legion makes its debut in the fight promotion game. Thirty rounds of boxing, headlined by the Kid Lehr-Caddy Kelly scrap, make up the evening's program as scheduled by the legionnaires. To make its entrance in the game more impressive, the organization has purchased a regulation ring, complete in the latest mode of construction, and several hundred new chairs. This means that legionnaires will be in their intention to establish boxing in this city. The program, as arranged by Roscoe Hall, and "Doug" Fairbanks, matchmakers, promises to be a good one.

Ty Cobb Decides to Return After Year Out of Majors

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Ty Cobb will return to the baseball wars next season, after a year's vacation from the game. Home again after a summer in Europe with his family, the great Georgian announced today that he had been approached with offers from major league clubs, both executive and managerial. He never will play again.

"The executive end of the game has the most appeal to me now," said Cobb. "I am not ready to say that I would not manage a club again, although, of course, I shall never play again."

"I have found that you cannot spend 24 years in baseball and then forget it, unless you do as I did and go a long way off. I have not felt a yearning for the game this summer because I was in Europe and there was no baseball all about me as there would have been if I had stayed at home, but now that I am back, it is different."

Frosh Squad of Tanksters Show Form

Prospects of the freshman swimming squad were bolstered when Frank Conaway, A1 of Des Moines, reported for the initial practice, Tuesday. Conaway, two years ago, was on the all-American interscholastic swimming team, being rated as one of the best high school breast-stroke swimmers in the country. At present he holds Midwest A. A. U. records in the 440-yard outdoor breaststroke and in the 220-yard indoor freestyle.

Coach Wells Prepares for Des Moines

With the city high grid machine still shy of reliable substitutes, Coach Wells continued his search for reserves last night as he sent his proteges through a long scrimmage. New players were used throughout the entire period.

The Little Hawks are drilling hard in preparation for the East high game to be staged here a week from Saturday. No game has been curded for this week and the scrimmage sessions are pointed toward the invasion of the Des Moines aggression.

Others to get into the play were Horack, halfback, Russell and Goldseth, tackles, and Christenson, fullback. Vestermarck and Taylor were both out of the lineup with minor injuries.

tion, and were the mainstays of last year's team.
Louis Beckerman, Walter Theiss, and Harry Kern, the most promising of the sophomore material, have not returned to school.

Net Prospects Below Average

Stars of Past Season Lost by Graduation; More to Report

None too optimistic about tennis prospects for the coming year, Coach Ernest G. Schroeder viewed his candidates at the first practice session yesterday with skepticism. The material, in his opinion is about average, and only rapid development can bolster Iowa's hopes.

The following men reported for the first varsity practice yesterday, and more are expected in a few days. Capt. Lester Goldman, A4 of Des Moines; Ray Wallace, C3 of Clear Lake; Joe Hartz, E4 of Muscatine; Robert Gordon, A3 of Amarillo, Tex.; Byron Blotcky, A2 of Des Moines; and David Klein, A2 of West New York, N. J. Goldman, Wallace, and Leo Hesse, C4 of Perry are deemed to form the nucleus of the Old Gold netsters.

The loss of Richard Boyles, Paul Mitchell, Iray Albert, Allan McCune, and Robert McCloskey by graduation will be sorely felt. Albert and Mitchell made good records during their three years of compe-

Fields Shades Vince Dundee in 10 Rounds

Welterweight Wins in Main Go of Jack Dempsey's Show

Dempsey, greatest drawing card in the history of boxing, failed to completely pack 'em in his first promotional venture in the historic Coliseum tonight, but the old Manassas mauler, who always gave the best he had when in the ring, presented a card of bouts that left the crowd standing on its head.

In the principal event Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, world's welterweight champion, won the verdict over Vince Dundee of Baltimore, brother of the fighter from whom Fields won the title only a few weeks ago in a 10 round bout that was a sizzler from start to finish.

Fields started out as if he would defeat Vince as easily as he did his brother Joe, but before the 10 rounds were over, Fields was forced to extend himself to the limit to retain the advantage he had gained in the early part of the contest.

Knocked to the floor for the count of nine in the sixth round, Dundee picked himself out of the resin, and opened up with a rally that continued until the finish of the fight. Dundee made his best showing in the seventh, eighth, and tenth rounds. He stood toe to toe with the champ and traded punch for punch, while the crowd was in a frenzy for excitement. Fields left the ring with the official verdict, but Dundee won the cheers of the crowd.

The title was not involved as they weighed in at 2 o'clock this afternoon, for the welterweight limit of 147 pounds. Fields scaled 149 1/4 with Dundee tipping the beam at 149 3/4.

Youth Robs for His Injured Sweetheart

MAQUOKETA, OCT. 1. (AP)—Thomas Murray, 19 years old, of Chicago, today began serving a five year sentence in the Anamosa reformatory for grand larceny.

Murray had promised a surgeon here he would get money to pay for dressing injuries received by his sweetheart when the stolen automobile in which they were riding overturned.

He was caught while robbing the cash register in the Rasmussen Motor sales company office, and pleaded guilty to grand larceny.

The physician still is waiting for his fee.

Handy, New University High Coach, Holds Notable Record

Elvin R. Handy, successor to Jack Skien as coach at University high is not at all unknown to followers of Iowa athletics. Matriculating to Iowa in 1922, Handy won his numeral on the freshman football squad, but was forced to abandon hopes of a grid career because of an injury.

Deciding then to specialize on track, he reported to the weight coach, Thomas E. Martin, and devoted his attention to the hammer throw.

He won his major I in that event in 1925 when he placed second in the Big Ten conference meet. He also took third place in the national meet the same year.

Handy was the first consistent weight man who had reported at Iowa since the war.

His record throw was 138 feet, which is not remarkable, except that he was able to make that distance consistently.

In 1926, the year that he graduated from the university, he coached the weight men at University high, and developed two men that took first and second in the Iowa interscholastic meet in the weight events.

Ever since his graduation he has been coach of the high school at Pueblo, Col. In Pueblo he established an enviable record for himself. In the three years that he was there his football teams won 24 out of the 30 games that they played. His record in basket ball was even better. In 1927 Pueblo won 28 games, losing only one. That year his team went into the semi-finals of the state tournament, losing to Ft. Collins, the state champions, by a close score. Last year he won 23 games and lost 3. Coach Handy has also had good success with his track teams. In the two years that he coached track at the western school, Pueblo placed second in the state meet in 1928, and took fourth in 1927.

Handy is now back on the campus for the purpose of getting his master's degree in physical education, as well as coaching University high athletes.

Twenty-five Candidates Report for Workout

While Iowa sport fans have their eyes focused on the football gridiron at present, Coach Clayton E. Thompson's baseball proteges are working out on the diamond west of the field house. Indications now are that the letter men returning to the baseball squad next spring will have a real job cut out for them in keeping rookie candidates from snaring their pet positions.

Twenty-five men, the largest number yet to turnout in a single day, reported to Coach Thompson yesterday afternoon. After the usual batting practice Thompson put two picked teams through a five inning game. With the improved condition of the infield

Police Begin Campaign for Better Car Driving Conduct

Local police, headed by Chief C. F. Benda are beginning a campaign to check careless driving; especially in regard to driving on the proper side of the street, good conduct at street intersections and stop signals, and the correct use of the horn or other signaling device with which the automobile may be equipped. Following is an interpretation of—the state law and the city ordinances in which the proper conduct for all vehicles is set forth:

"All vehicles in motion are to remain on the right hand side of the center of the street and as near to the curb as practical, and no vehicle is to drive on the left hand side of the center of the street under any circumstances. When the driver of one vehicle wishes to pass another, he shall give a signal with the horn, or other signaling device, at which signal the driver in front must pull over to the right and as near to the curb as possible, allowing the driver behind to pass. "If he does not do this, the driver behind is not allowed to cross over to the left hand side of the street in order to pass, but must signal again. If repeated signaling brings no response, he should report the matter to the police. When such a matter is brought up in court, the burden of the proof rests with the man ahead, who must prove to the satisfaction of the court that he did not hear the signal.

"All drivers must come to a complete halt before stop signals and must not proceed until the green light is flashed. When making a left turn at a street intersection, all drivers must go on the right of the center of the intersection.

No Triple Parking

"Triple parking before stop signs, will not be tolerated. Two vehicles may stop abreast but three abreast takes up more room than can be conveniently used in half the street, leads to confusion, and encourages speeding by allowing automobiles to crowd together and try for a racing start when the "go" signal is flashed.

Other offenses for which auto owners will be fined include parking with the left wheel to the curb, parking in the residential district without a tail light, and parking in an alley.

Copies of the motor vehicle law of Iowa are being distributed by Police Judge C. L. Zager and Police Chief Benda to all persons who appear in the police court on traffic offenses, and may be had for the asking by anyone who is interested in careful driving.
