Lamp Taken From Sigma Pi Fraternity; Others Report Thefts

A table lamp, valued at $35, was stolen again this morning from the Sigma Pi fraternity house some time Wednesday night. The loss was discovered yesterday morning and muddy footprints showed that the thief must have entered the living room by the front door.

A hammered bronze table lamp was also removed from the living room of the Phi Kappa Sigma house, one block from the Sigma Pi, but the thief evidently dropped it or became tangled in the cord, as the lamp with a broken stem-top and a muddy cord was found in the reception hall by members yesterday morning.

Corn Statue Homecoming

Engineers Construct It and "Old Gold" Arch

The corn monument will be erected again this year, Prof. A. H. Holt, chairman of the arch and monument committee for Homecoming, announced yesterday. What shape and design the 1929 structure will take has not yet been decided upon, but according to the senior civil engineers, who are constructing it, it will be in many ways the most elaborate monument that has ever been built. It will stand at the junction of Iowa avenue and Clinton street, facing Old Capitol as it did last year.

Outstanding Crime

Wagoner's crime was one of the most outstanding in banking history. He had messages sent to six New York banks in bankers' codes, signed with the signatures of six Denver banks, authorizing them to draw in one Manhattan bank an aggregate of $500,000 to the credit of Wagoner.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson Refutes College Drinking Charges

By STANLEY WOODRING "The statement that college students are drinking more today than before prohibition, is a lot of tommyrot." Thus declared "Pussyfoot" Johnson, intrepid journalist and globe-trotting journalist when approached on the college drinking question following his lecture at natural science auditorium last night.

As proof of his point "Pussyfoot" referred to the Literary Digest straw-vote of 213 college and university presidents, three years ago. More than 200 of the heads declared that speaking from years of experience it was his opinion that drinking had declined considerably on their campuses since the advent of prohibition, despite the considerable increase in number of students.

"I used to go up to New Haven to the Yale football games," said Pussyfoot, and he paused as a smile twitched his mustache, like a man who talked nothing but prohibition all his waking hours and would just as soon talk football now as declaim on drinking in American colleges. "It was 10 years or more ago and I remember the host of drinkers then."

"Contrast that with few drinkers at games today, in an age when we have three times as many college students as a decade ago." He pointed out that there is admittedly much drinking on the college campuses today and at football games or celebrations, but at the same time a "great number of the old grey headed lads" put in their share.

The prohibitionist indicated the blame for the constant flow of propaganda on drinking in colleges was partly due to groups and organizations that were not informed on their subject.

Police Probe Mystery Cult

High Priestess Held on Theft Charge

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10 (AP)—A handful of intangible clues and a mounting report of deaths and missing persons were all police had today after a week of investigation in the mysteries of the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Elefen.

Clear facts surrounding the disappearance of seven persons were far out of reach and the work of police apparently only has erected a more complex situation. Relatives of the cult leader, Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, who is under arrest on theft charges, requested Los Angeles authorities to search for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blackburn, mother and stepfather of the priestess, who disappeared from Portland, Ore., after the father sold his business there for $30,000 and joined the cult.

The other missing persons, Mrs. Katherine Boig, Mrs. Floyd Miller, Mrs. Harlowe Sartoria, Mrs. Frances Turner and Mrs. Addie McGuffin, apparently have vanished. A Mrs. Turner was buried in San Gabriel, Cal., nearly two years ago. Discrepancies in her death certificate are being investigated as well as the report that the missing woman was placed in an oven of hot bricks to cure a malady and died.

Hauke Escapes Hanging

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—A stay of execution was granted late today to William Henry Hauke, Canadian war veteran, who was to have been hanged tomorrow morning for the murder, in 1925, of Mrs. Isabelle Sheckley. Attorneys for Hauke were granted a stay by Judge Stanley Klarkowski on the ground that Hauke has become insane since commission of the crime.

CHICAGO ARRESTS IOWA GIRL

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Miss Frances Haynes, 21 years old, of Des Moines, was held by police today on a charge of passing worthless checks at a drug store here. She was visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mabel Kluge. The girl was recognized by a delivery boy who notified the police.

Tau Beta Pi's Hold Conclave Sessions Here

Wendell Munro Elected Convention Leader

The Iowa chapter of Tau Beta Pi, engineering fraternity, entertained 60 delegates of the organization at the first day's session of the national convention yesterday.

Wendell T. Munro, G of Marshalltown, was elected president of the convention at the business meeting yesterday afternoon in the sun porch of Iowa Union.

Delegates to the convention were taken on a tour of the campus yesterday morning after which a luncheon was held at Iowa Union.

At a model ceremony held at 7 p.m. at the chemistry building the following men from the local chapter were initiated by the national secretary: Paul and Ernest Arvidson, both E4 of Shenandoah; Frank W. Ashton, E4 of Clinton; Raymond Lentz, E2 of Lone Tree; James W. Newsome, E4 of South English; Joe Hirsch, E4 of Mason City; Harold M. Bakke, E2 of Des Moines; and W. W. Elwell, E4 of Iowa City.

The session ended with a smoker at the river room of Iowa Union.

Today will be devoted to two business sessions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The convention will end with a formal dance tonight at Red Bull inn at 9 o'clock.

Glider Club Elects Officers for Year; Plans Year's Work

Thirty engineers attended the first meeting of the Glider club last night in the engineering building. The Glider club is an organization being started under the direction of Prof. Frank F. Schone, who presided at the first meeting.

The officers of the club are Thomas F. Challis, E3 of Tipton, president; Ramon T. Jessen, E3 of Dyersart, secretary; Leonard P. Meade, E3 of Western Springs, Ill., treasurer; and Alfred R. Cummins, E3 of Uto, storekeeper.

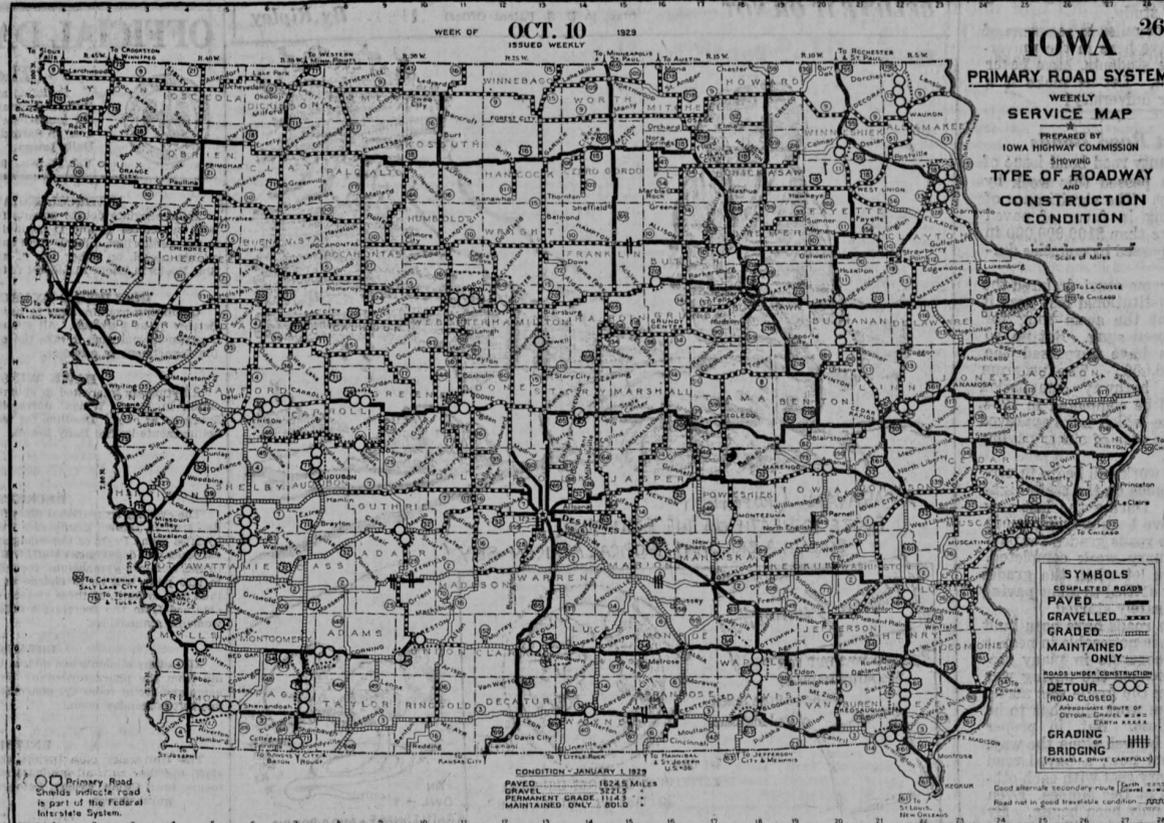

The purpose of the club is to advance the science of aeronautics, its slogan is "Science, discipline, and comradeship."

Membership is to be restricted to faculty and students of the engineering college.

The activities of this scientific group are to be devoted to the building and flying of gliders, and to lectures on theory of flight, aerodynamics, and the designing of airships.

A glider, which was built by the engineers last year, is being loaned to the Glider club for experimental purposes. Coach Charles Kennett gave the club permission to fly from Pinkbine field and he will reserve a place in the stadium to store the glider.

Two more gliders will be built during the course of the year. Flight experiments are to be carried on regularly, and a record of each flight

Iowa City League of Women Voters Will Study Timely Topics

The Iowa City league of women voters will open their series of winter meetings on Monday, Oct. 14, with a general meeting to be held in Youde's inn at promptly 12 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

The present controversy on the new tariff, will be the subject of the talk to be given by Prof. Sidney Miller of the commerce department.

The Iowa City league of women voters is an organization which considers for discussion such national problems as, the pan-American situation, development of the disarmament plan, the city manager plan of government, Iowa marriage and divorce, and other important issues that come before the public from time to time.

A part of the league's program is the monthly luncheon club meeting. Another element of activity is the study group assembly, meeting fortnightly, and discussing such subjects as "Do you approve of the United States maintaining the marines in Nicaragua?" and "Public utility rates in this city compared with rates in other cities of the same class."

All persons who are interested in such activities as the league promotes are invited to attend the first meeting.

Univ. Club Begins Suppers at Union This Sunday Night

The first of the University club's Sunday night suppers will be held Sunday at 6:15 p.m. in the club rooms at Iowa Union.

Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp will give an informal talk on American musicians. Dr. Arthur Steindler, who was scheduled to speak, will be on the next month's program.

Mrs. C. W. Keyser will be official hostess. All reservations should be made with Miss Fisher at the central desk of the Iowa Union before Saturday noon.

Hesperia Society Has Open Meeting

The opening meeting of Hesperia literary society was held in the lounge room of Iowa Union Wednesday evening with one hundred fifty university women in attendance. The welcome address was given by Leone Soehn, A4 of Davenport, followed by a vocal solo given by Elizabeth Russ of Iowa City. A tone dance was presented by Catherine Grimm who was accompanied by her mother. Readings were given by Bernice Hauber, A2 of Iowa City, Evelyn Neese, A4 of Des Moines, announced that there would be a university lecture the later part of October at which time the Women's Forensic Conference will have charge.

Mrs. Nell Givner Bridge for Visitor Mrs. V. W. Nell is giving a bridge tea at 2:30 today at Mad Hatter's honoring Mrs. Harold Boyles of Los Angeles. Mrs. Boyles and daughter, Barbara Joyce, are guests at the Nell home.

There will be tables for sixteen. Mrs. Delbert Warham of Chicago, the house guest of Mrs. Carol Strub, will be the only out of town guest.

Beta Theta Pi Dean Robert E. Rhenow was a dinner guest at the Beta Theta Pi home last evening.

Mrs. H. R. Zimmerli Entertains Club The Coralville club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. H. R. Zimmerli, R.F.D. 1 at 2 o'clock.

Following their short business meeting, the work on the basket weaving was begun. At the end of the afternoon the hostess served light refreshments.

Chi Kappa Pi Chi Kappa Pi announces the pledging of Robert Kirkwood, A1 of Perry; Howard Watson, A2 of Minneapolis, Minn.; Byron Arnold, A3 of Moline, Ill.; Dan Cusack, A2 of Oxford; Everett Heineman, A1 of Ogdin; Clem Cusack, A2 of Oxford; Stewart Taylor, A1 of Highmore, S. Verona Denkmann of Durant will be a guest at the Kappa Delta house this week-end.

Iowa City Women Aided Convention The district D.A.R. meeting which was held in Washington, Ia., Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 9, was attended by four members of Pili-grim chapter of Iowa City. Mrs. W. F. Boiler, state chairman of the "Girl homemakers committee," made a report at the afternoon session. Mrs. Sarah Paine Hoffman and Belle Durant gave reports on the work of the local chapter. After the business session the Washington ladies served refreshments to the 55 D.A.R.'s from different chapters of this district that were present. Mrs. Carrie Wetherby from Iowa City, also attended the meeting.

Iowa Women's Club Meeting The Iowa Women's club met yesterday afternoon at Youde's inn. There were 35 members in attendance.

Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, Iowa City librarian, spoke on new books of the year. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Octave Thanet Octave Thanet literary society will hold their opening meeting Saturday, Oct. 12 at 7:15 p.m. in the women's lounge at the Iowa Union. All university women are invited to attend.

Order of Arts Meets Thursday The Order of Arts, honorary economic fraternity, held their regular bi-monthly luncheon at the Red Fall Inn at noon yesterday. R. E. Westmeyer, of the business research bureau of the college of commerce, spoke on "Experiences in a railroad camp at Minooka, Ill." His address was followed by a business meeting.

Prayer Meetings Begin Thursday Prayer meetings at the Methodist church were resumed with the first meeting Oct. 10 from 7 to 8 p.m. in the northeast room on the main floor of the church building.

Freshman Women Gather to Organize New Freshman Club

The freshman women of the Christian association met yesterday afternoon in the women's lounge at the Iowa Union for the purpose of organizing the Freshman club. Jean Chamberlain, A3 of Humboldt, freshman chairman, Nyle Thompson, A3 of Winfield, and Carmela Donohoe, A3 of Davenport, made up the committee in charge of the arrangements.

A short devotional program opened the meeting after which "get acquainted" games were featured. Hospital work was the project discussed and the women signed up for the department in which they wish to assist.

The work is divided in four groups; general hospital on Wednesday evening, psychopathic hospital on Thursday evening, children's hospital on Friday evening and Oakdale on Sunday afternoon.

Rathryn Martin, A3 of Tripoli, chairman of the hospital committee, assisted by Paula Reinking, A3 of Clarence, and Mildred Dow, A3 of Villisca, took charge of the various departments and explained the work. The groups also planned entertainment for the different hospitals to be given during the coming week.

No leaders for the club were chosen as the women are to be given their offices according to the active ability displayed.

Dr. R. B. Wylie Gets Negatives for Slides

Three hundred negatives to be made into slides were secured last summer for the botany department by Dr. R. B. Wylie. Dr. Wylie spent 10 weeks at the Puget Sound biological station which is located on an island in Puget Sound. The island belongs to the University of Washington and has a campus of 485 acres of western coniferous forest with one and one-half miles of sea coast.

Dr. Wylie was on the staff of the station and also carried on some intensive research work.

Loyalty to the Team

WITH high confidence in the ability of their team, more than 500 University of Iowa students yesterday assembled in front of Old Capitol to shout their approval of the Hawkeyes in the final pep meeting for the Ohio-Iowa game.

Following several rousing yells at Old Capitol, the students, led by the band, marched to the station to "see the team off" and to give further proof of their loyalty. Iowa songs and Iowa yells were again given enthusiastically by the Iowans, many of whom had deserted classes in order to cheer for the team.

That team believes in student loyalty. Sunday at 4:05 p. m. the Hawkeyes will return to Iowa City bringing with them either defeat or victory. Whether they win or lose, loyal Iowa students should be at the station to meet them.

What greeting will they receive? Let's see the entire student body stage the "biggest and best" pep meeting of history!

Help for the Farmers

HUCKLEBERRY FINN once petitioned "the good Lord" for a fishing rod and line, expecting it to drop bait and all from the heavens. A good many farmers seem to have about the same notion. They pray to God for relief, some of them. Others petition congress. But legislation will never solve the ills of oppressed agriculture, though it may afford help.

The means were provided long ago. Like the willow pole and string Huckleberry could have obtained, it merely awaits the taking.

A speaker from this state who wanted to impress a Chicago audience with the importance of Iowa's tall corn crop said it would cover Grant park to the height of the Wrigley building. Graphic language that, and many a farmer's idea of prosperity.

But must the Iowa tillers of the soil eternally depend upon how much they can raise, weather and other factors permitting? Must they raise a banner crop only to find the market flooded and prices down?

There are, thinking farmers say, escapes to the dilemma. Co-operation on generally reduced plantings is not feasible. But smart agriculturists can diversify their products, making use of the wonderful fertility available in glaciated Iowa soil. If there is too much corn, their other products will more than make up for the loss in that direction, and they will not be contributing to a stuffed corn market. Extra high quality products will sell for good money at any time. Instead of raising so much and thus flooding the market, Mr. Farmer can wisely put his time and attention to improving the crop.

There is more than one road to Rome, and the alert cultivator of Iowa soil will seek the less crowded highways which afford the surest path to his destination of success.

Let's Know Our University

MANY OF our students are here for the first time and amid the rush of scholastic achievement and social functions they often remain in ignorance of all the valuable material we have right here at hand.

How many students have been up to enjoy the pleasures of Ranney library? We who are acquainted here might well profit by acting as guides to the new students, showing them the museum, the various libraries including the Indian collection and bead work, and the rat colony.

The art exhibit in the Iowa Union is well worth examining. The new pieces of statuary would bear study. The chemistry building has some interesting collections. The art department holds many charms for the artistic soul. In fact, there are innumerable departments of the university which would interest the new students.

We have often heard the remark, "Charity begins at home." It would be well to begin our education right here at home—for this is really home during our four years of study.

People travel for miles to see some of the things we have here in the university, that we, the students, have never even heard about. Let us make it a point to know our university!

The Last Road Bonds

THE LAST county road bond issue of the year was passed this week by Allamakee county. The significance of this county voting in favor of paved roads is that more than $100,000,000 in bonds have been passed by counties during this year.

When the supreme court declared the bond issue unconstitutional last year it was thought that the swan song for good roads had been sung. But no, so far the counties have surpassed the original $100,000,000. The program which the state highway commission has laid out will be completed in 1934. Now the counties which have approved good roads will be sure of either paving or gravel in time.

When the new work will begin in certain counties depends on the state highway commission. During the last few years, bridges have been erected, roads straightened, side roads graded for paving, and preliminary work completed. Contracts will be let when the grades have sufficiently settled to allow paving operations to be safely started.

All of the Iowa roads have been built for the future. It is noticeable in nearby states that the concrete in many sections is rough because the paving was laid too soon after the grade was made. At the present the work that has to be done seems endless. But, in proper time, the job will be well along the way.

Five years from now, a paved road will link each county seat with each other and the capital at Des Moines. Even now the job has only been begun. By that time, 1934, contracts will be let for widening heavy traffic arteries, and caring for the increasing auto traffic. But a good start has been made, and Iowa is on its way "out of the mud."

The Best Teacher?

EXPERIENCE is a good teacher, but the experience does not have to be personal. Observation should be as good a teacher, and much less painful. Rules may be made to be broken, but must each person break every rule in order to learn by experience that it is not the best thing to do?

Rules would not be made if they were not for the best. It is a juvenile attitude to adopt that the authorities make foolish rules to deprive the students of pleasure.

It is a foolish student who breaks the rules to defy the faculty. He may learn by the experience, but if he insists on learning from that hard teacher, why not look up the sad experiences of others, and learn from them?

Safety in Flying

MANY ARE the comments that are made on the practicability of the airplane as a means of transportation, and the safety of this mode of travel. Though the American people are coming, more and more, to believe in the possibilities of the plane, there are many who are still unconvinced of the practical side of flying.

Commercial aviation has taken tremendous strides in the past two or three years, not only in the United States but in every important nation of the world. Planes are continuing to carry more passengers as well as freight while accidents to airplane passengers are decreasing.

Statistics of the interstate commerce commission show that during the year 1928, 6,500 persons were killed and 85,560 injured as a result of railroad accidents. During the year passenger trains traveled 521,849,000. It was estimated that planes flew approximately 70,472,000 miles. The total loss of life in civil aviation was 368 and 672 persons were injured. This means that in flying but one life was lost for every 191,500 miles traveled by air, a better record than was made by the railroads, where one life was lost for every 80,208 miles travelled.

Delinquents

THE FIRST batch of delinquents is in the offing.

So far the new semester has glided along rather smoothly. Every one started out with a fresh determination and a clean slate. Some have managed to keep that slate free from black marks and others, either from carelessness or lack of understanding, have made a hopeless smear of theirs.

The first month of classes is, perhaps, the most difficult, especially for newcomers. It has been so easy to say, "I didn't know," or "I didn't understand," and to have excuses accepted. Professors are inclined to be lenient at first.

But now the delinquent notices are coming to bring some students back to earth with a rude jolt. It is too late to alter their verdict now but it is not too late to change next month's report. Why not begin to wipe that old slate clean, starting today?

Another place to study evolution is in the modern quick lunch joint, where orders are relayed as follows:

Patron: "Roast beef hash."
First waiter: "Beef hash."
Second waiter: "Hash!"
And the cook merely grunts.

God helps those who help themselves, but sometimes to a stomachache.

CHILLS AND FEVER

There comes a time in the life of every good man when he wishes he could think of a good excuse for cutting classes and still not feel guilty way down inside.

Out on East Burlington street is material for a good short story. Who will write it? And guess about who.

We are informed that there will be no drinking in fraternities on N. Duquesne street this Homecoming. Draw your own conclusions.

Adeline, oh Adeline. Now where are you and why not? We are looking for some of those juicy contributions which caused this column to squirt in the readers' eyes last summer.

J. J. K. writes that we are not to allow El Mono to write any more sections of this column unless the said column is to be qualified as much as have been the paragraphs of former columns of the "knight of the quod."

All of which we would say contains all the earmarks of a deertly slam.

What the game at Columbus tomorrow, and with a big league game on also, the man who just can't divide his attention must be a busy man. Just who is boss of the radio will probably be determined also.

Down in Messerstown, Tenn., they keep beer on ice and up at Cedar Rapids they keep it in electric refrigerators.

This legend may be inscribed along the banks of the Rock Island R. R. cut near the stadium: "Let Joy Be Unrefined," where as joy will be well confined in the private cars parked on the sidings in the cut during Homecoming. Likewise outbursts of joy natural or otherwise, Federal Agents will stand watch at all entrances to locality, keeping off the more aggressive men—"kill-joys" in a sense, although employed by Uncle Sam. The same tactics will be employed doubtless, as those in use in the U. S. Capitol Building at Washington.

Moral: come to Homecoming in a private car and have it parked in the Rock Island cut near the stadium. No parking restrictions. Otherwise, you may be "pinched" with a pint.

Now wouldn't that make one wonder?

However, this being a place where the people voice their opinions, if any, we wonder just what makes the world go round when this column is not in operation.

And that's that, said she, putting the finishing touches on the t. —Dr. F. W. O. L.

CHAPTER XIII. It would have amazed Nathalie especially—and have allayed the dread which walked with her of being sought by detectives because of her bad check—if she could have known that the man who was financing Stefano was no other than the "dubious person" in the dark suit and derby hat who had followed her to Southampton and missed her on the train coming back. She had been right assuming him to be a policeman in plain clothes for he had been a policeman once and still carried the indelible marks of it in his appearance and demeanor. But he had not come to Southampton to arrest her—but to buy The First from her if he could and, if she compelled him to, pay reasonably well for it. So far as he understood honorable conduct, his intentions toward her were honorable enough. His name was Ferris—Jack Ferris—and he had begun a career which had now grown exceedingly prosperous, "ounding a beat" as a uniformed policeman in New York. He had been shrewd and more than able, and had been quickly promoted out of uniform into detective work. As a "quarter mug" or plain clothes man attached to police headquarters his work had taken him among gamblers, solid business men and thieves on a large scale, and he had learned how money was made. Determining to amass it for himself he grafted without compunction till he had a solid stake and then quit the police for "straight business." His present "one" was suburban real estate, and he had become interested in Nathalie when he learned from a "tip" picked up at a political club that a state road was to go through her property and that Pound was attempting to "hog" it through his foreclosure suit. He did not make the mistake of communicating with Pound. "Well let that nick sleep," he told the associates who were co-partners in most of his deals and the New York bank official to whom he was accustomed to go when his operations required special financing. Instead he examined the foreclosure record in the Nassau county clerk's office and finding that Nathalie had not answered the suit through a firm of attorneys with whom he could get in touch, set out to find Nathalie and talk to her direct. He knew of her father's death and that she was likely to return

"Colombia Emerging From Short Pant Stage"—Hinman

The small boy who puts up a scrap to get out of a trip to the bath tub has his parallel in the citizens of Barranquilla, Columbia. Prof. Jack Hinman of the chemistry department told 75 Rotarians and their guests yesterday noon. Although the size of Des Moines, the South American city under Professor Hinman installed an American water plant is just emerging from the "short pants stage" of urban growth. Hence, pistols were a part of apparel and 20 soldiers were on hand when the plant was opened for operation. Establishing such a plant is no small task in itself. Professor Hinman indicated, stating that in addition he had to convince everybody from mayor to peon as to the worth of his project. Mud Bath for All The need for chemical filtration, which was also introduced. Professor Hinman suggested by mentioning that with three inches of water in a lavatory it was impossible to see the plug. With water like that the Columbians had tried to launder clothing and wash themselves clean of the dust which is typical of Barranquilla. Since few merchants have windows in their stores, the dust penetrates the iron grids and wood shutters to cause rapid depreciation of stock. American Quarter Different Changing conditions in Barranquilla have come through the introduction of a typically American suburb, "El Prado" or "The Meadow." Sewers and paving are being put in for older portions of the city also. In the newly built extension, however, are such strange things—the natives—as sidewalks and gutters. In conclusion the university coined an epigram on democracy.

Working Way Through College Old Custom; Records Show Student So Engaged in 1654

Working one's way through college seems to be an old American custom. The many university students here so engaged, if not others, will be interested to know the origin of the practice. The records of the federal bureau of Education show that in 1654 Zariah Bridgen, at Harvard, was earning his way through college. The steward's books reveal that on December 31, 1654, there was given him by ringing the bell and waiting £28. 9d." Thus the first American student to earn his expenses did so by ringing the college bell and by waiting on the table in the commons. As a waiter he received 12s. 6d. per quarter for three successive quarters, after which he was paid "one quarter for a scholarship 18s. 9d." and credited "by his wages 50 shillings and a scholarship £3 15s." His college bills included "commens and stinners" (food served together with food and drink ordered from the buttery) "tuition," "study-rente and bed" (room and board), "fyer and candell" (fire and candles), "wood, ect." and a charge for bringing corn from Charleston. Credit was extended to him for "silver," "sugar," wheat," "Malt," "Indian" (corn), "hooge", and "a bush of parsnapes".

Art Group Sponsors Written Contest on Criticism of Exhibit

The College Art Association of America, whose exhibition is now on display at Iowa Union, is sponsoring a contest for art students. The contest is in the nature of a written criticism of the exhibition, 30 words, and must be submitted within two weeks after the exhibition closes. The award will be made after the exhibition returns to New York, at which time all criticisms will be submitted to a jury. The student having the best criticism may select the print he desires from the following list: "Auction" by Peggy Bacon; "Ancient Mariners" by Gordon Grant; "Dusk in Claddagh" by Eugene Higgins. "Industrial Series No. 1" by Charles Sheeler, and "Joseph Conrad" by Walter Tittle. These five prints offered as prizes are hanging in the northwest corner of the Iowa Union exhibit. The association desires to widen its student membership. It offers

Hawkeye Gridders to Add Finishing Touches Before Facing Buckeyes

Iowa Team to Take Light Drill Today

Glasgow May Remain Out of Ohio State Encounter

More than 60 Hawkeyes have been pointing toward the first Western conference grid contest for weeks, and yesterday afternoon 37 of them entrained for Columbus, where they will meet Ohio State tomorrow.

Coach Burton A. Ingwersen will probably run his men through a light signal drill on the Buckeye gridiron this afternoon. The game tomorrow is scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. central standard time.

The Old Gold aggregation may play without the services of Captain Glasgow who piled up half of the team's total against Ohio last year. The Buckeyes are unweakened by injuries and are aided by a stout defense and a line outweighing the Iowa forward wall nine pounds to the man.

It is likely that if Glasgow plays he will be assisted in the backfield by Carl Pignatelli, Mike Farroh, and Bruce Thomas. If Captain Bill is unable to play, Oran H. Pape, fleet reserve half, will go in at right half-back.

Reports from the Buckeye camp Wednesday, indicated that Coach Ingwersen might expect to meet an aerial attack from the Ohio State gridders. It is even possible that Ohio might rely altogether on passes. Dick Larkins was back at tackle Wednesday, but Allen Holman continued to keep out of the action. Both of these men are expected to be on hand tomorrow.

For the last week, the Iowa line and backfield has been tutored on opening holes for Pape and Glasgow. Either of these two, once into the secondary line of defense is most certain to gather sizeable gains for the Hawks. Mike Farroh, a powerhouse of brute strength, will also be there to answer the Hawk's call for ground along with Pignatelli, quarter, and Thomas, and Sansen, fullbacks.

The Buckeyes are confident that their defense is their greatest asset, but the Iowans have yet to learn the strength of their line. Allan Holman is especially dreaded by Iowa. Holman is the Buckeye back who scored the only counter against Iowa in the game last year.

In the all-time series between Ohio State and Iowa, Iowa has won four of six games, Ohio State won one while the sixth was a scoreless tie. See tomorrow morning's The Daily Iowan for the probable lineups.

Boy Scout Troop Sees Movie Reel

Four reels of motion pictures will be shown at the regular meeting tonight of Boy Scout Troop 11 at Children's Hospital. The first reel will be a nature study picture dealing with birds of prey and some of the larger water birds; the second will show the extent of the preparations made by Commander Richard E. Byrd for his trip of exploration into the far south. A reel of world geography, giving a study of the people of Argentina, and a reel of animated comics will also be shown.

A group of freshman students composed of Halsey Klingaman of Eavenport, Neil Mather of Fairbanks, Gilbert Waldron of Hampton, Fred Beck of Mason City, and Edmund Wilcox of Jefferson will be in charge of the program.

Boy Scout handbooks have already been handed out to the boys and the first lesson in scouting will also be given tonight. Troop 11 is composed of boys who are patients in Children's Hospital.

WEARING THE GREEN

He signs his name "Charles W. Rogge," but the boys all call him "Chuck." His football career dates back to 1924 when he entered Ida Grove high school a scrawny little kid, yet good enough to make first team. The coach used him at either guard or end.

His second year he grabbed off a tackle berth, and stayed there two seasons, when the honor of allstate tackle was conferred upon him. His senior year he was taken from the line and placed in the backfield, at full. His teammates elected him to captain then. And for the second successive year he earned mention on the all-state prep team. During Coach's tenure of office the Ida Grove high school eleven lost only three out of 46 games.

His athletic prowess extends to the basketball floor, where for four years he was the mainstay of his team. The coach had him play guard for the first two years. During his last two years he played center and forward alternately. He first saw the great university in 1927 when he came up with other Ida Grove lads to take part in the state basketball tourney.

The Rogge on the varsity team is Chuck's older brother, George. The chunky little Chuck weighs 180 pounds but is only five foot 10 inches in height. He is 29 years old.

Eight Big Ten Grid Teams Face Conference Opponents

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Primed, and ready as nearly a month of work could make them, eight Big Ten football squads today finished preparation for their opening conference struggles Saturday.

Michigan left late today for Lafayette, Ind., to engage Jimmy Phelan's Purdue machine, while Burt Ingwersen and 37 Iowa players set out for Columbus, O., to open their part of the Big Ten schedule with Ohio State.

Coach Dick Hanley took 31 Northwestern Wildcats to Wisconsin and a three-team squad of Hoosiers left for Chicago in quest of Indiana's first victory over the Maroons since 1910.

Before leaving Ann Arbor, Coach Harry Kipke sent Michigan regulars through a final scrimmage. At Purdue Coach Phelan limited his varsity to a signal drill, not caring to risk injuries on the eve of the Wolverine invasion.

Ohio State finished work for Iowa, without having scrimmaged all week. Coach Willman concentrated on offensive drills and expects to show the Hawkeyes something troublesome in the line of forward passing. Both the Buckeyes and Iowa are bothered with injuries to star players, but all are expected to get into the battle at Ohio stadium Saturday. Alan Holman, quarterback, and Dick Larkin, are the Ohio stars who are expected to play only a part of the game, while Iowa will probably use Captain Glasgow and Bruce Thomas, backs, only when necessary.

Stagg's Maroons stuck to work on passes today, both offensively and defensively. The Hoosiers took only a short workout before leaving for Chicago.

Northwestern raced through a brisk dummy scrimmage and a brief signal drill, then left for Madison. Wisconsin received a stiff scrimmage workout, mostly on a defense against Northwestern passes.

Minnesota worked in the rain and Coach Spears shifted his linemen about for a combination against Vanderbilt. Illinois started to taper off for Bradley.

GREENBERG FOULED
MILWAUKEE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Tommy Grogan, Omaha lightweight lost on a foul tonight to Charlie Greenberg, Los Angeles in the seventh round of their 10 round bout. Grogan weighed 134-14 and Greenberg 135.

U. High Harriers Drill for Triangle Meet at Keokuk

Coach M. F. Carpenter's hill and dale men of University high are training strenuously for the triangular meet with Keokuk and Fairfield at Keokuk Oct. 19. Four veterans, Herbert and Homer Dill, Van Epps and Van Phillips are back on the squad, and are expected to pinch places among the first finishers. Time trials will be held the first part of next week to determine just what men will run in the meet.

The other men that have been working out with Coach Carpenter are Robert Woods, Herman Zimmerman, Clifford McGinnis, Fred Dever, Harold Beck, and Paul White. Several of these men have been showing up well and will undoubtedly run in the meet at Keokuk.

Although the loss of their red headed flash, William Cozine, has materially weakened the strength of the Blue and White harriers, they are expected to show up well in the meet. The locals capot last year's meet with little exertion.

Varsity Harriers to Drill for Missouri
At four o'clock this afternoon the varsity hopefuls of the hill and dale crew will run a three mile time trial. The men who will compete in the Missouri meet Homecoming morning will be selected by Coach George T. Bresnahan from the results of the trial.

The freshman squad will rest today and compete tomorrow afternoon in the distance runs of the varsity-fresh meet.

Iowa Athletes Certified by Athletic Body

Fuhrman, Kesh Placed on Ineligible List by Council

At a meeting of the Iowa athletic body on December 19, 1928, the report of the eligibility committee was reviewed and certified with the exception of the case of Fuhrman and Kesh, who were barred by the Big Ten council Wednesday evening on charges of professionalism. All those placed on the eligible list were approved by the board.

Hopes for reinstatement of John Fuhrman, guard, on the "minor infractions" ruling, were rudely interrupted when the Big Ten ineligible committee declared yesterday afternoon that they had no power to consider pleas for clearing a man of such violation. The only recourse offered to the Iowa board was that of submitting the petition of reinstatement at the December meeting of the conference council. This kills any expectation of Fuhr-man's playing this year as the meeting will be held after the end of the football season.

Fuhrman, having played several minutes in the Carroll game two weeks ago, is considered as having played a season and because this is his third year on the varsity squad competition, he will be permanently lost to the team. Kesh's case was not appealed to the Big Ten council as he had employed an assumed name when playing with the Dubuque Bears in 1925.

In the report of the eligibility committee was included the list of eligible players as well as the decision rendered on Fuhrman and Kesh.

There was considerable mud about Iowa field yesterday, so Jack Skelin postponed the freshman battle until Monday afternoon, and took the time to explain the purpose of this initial intra-camp conflict.

The purpose is to enable him to better sort out the talent. The best men are being thrown against the varsity. It is hoped that in this game additional talent will crop out. Skelin plans to relegate some of the so-called regulars to Smedley's or Irvin's group and insert some of the players who show up well in the game in the first string outfit. Coach Volmer, ex-cstar of Iowa, will referee the contest.

University High School Gridmen Meet Linn County Outfit in Opener

Coach Handy Prepares Men for Marion

Gives Gridders Chalk Talk on Eve of First Battle

Because of the muddy condition of the playing field, Coach Handy took no chances of possible injury to his men last night, on the eve of their tussle with Marion on Iowa field, this afternoon at 2:30. In place of the regular drill he substituted a chalk talk in which he showed the men the best formations and means of combining the superior strength and experience of the invaders.

There will be little change in the lineup from those men who have been taking the regular assignments in drill sessions. Keil, one of the most promising end discoveries that Coach Handy has made, will start at right end with Means a likely starter at left end. "Husky" Perkins and Zoak will take care of the tackle duties with Prybil and Hurdiska probably starters at left and right guards.

Lenz will hold down the pivot position, while in the backfield, Thomas and Fairchild will sport at halves, Rowe will call signals, with Silvio Moore's regular fullback will undoubtedly see action but will not start as Handy has no desire to lose him through injuries for the whole season. Moore's arm has been improving rapidly, but still inconveniences him somewhat. All of the other men on the squad are in good shape, Brender is back as is Young whose leg is improved to such an extent that he will play part of today's game.

17 Matmen Take Work

Coach Howard Drills on Fundamentals

Seventeen matmen worked out at the field house yesterday afternoon on the many holds of wrestling. Coach Mike Howard drilled the experienced men of last year's team gave the freshmen and sophomores workouts and drills in different holds and positions.

Albert Montgomery who won the Big Ten championship in the 145 pound class last year also appeared at practice. He has had three years of competition and so is ineligible for this year. Montgomery wrestled with "Pat" Righter, a 145 pound man who shows promise.

Others who drilled are: Lawrence Mueller, 152 of Ft. Dodge, a 115 pounder, who wrestled with J. Jones, 125 pounds; H. C. Peer and William Daly, both sophomore 125 pounders; Hal Maley and Edward McComb, both 135 pound men, and M. B. Hunt and Sam Erhardt, both freshmen in the 125 pound weight.

Hunt is from Los Angeles and has had some past experience. L. M. Oliver and William Dull, other freshmen, are showing good form. Loran Poyner, 182, 165 pounds, who won the freshman championship last year is also working regularly.

C. T. Bartlett, R. L. Albrook, Howard Norris, C. E. Gotsman, and P. Traube, all second year men are practicing regularly.

Golf Tourney Draws 100 Entries From 17 Fraternities

More than 100 men from 17 fraternities are scheduled to play in the medal play tournament on Pinkbline field next Saturday afternoon. This is by far the largest number ever to compete in a university golf tournament.

The entry blank of the Phi Delta Theta team was omitted from the list previously published. The Phi Deltas copped both golf championships last year and the following men are eligible for the team again this year:

S. Barber, (captain), F. Blaylock, E. Sellmer, C. Carde, Bill Richardson, Bill Heyerdahl, H. Benson, E. Armstrong, E. Rohlf, and Bill Uaechter.

Matchmakers Arrange Headliner for American Legion Boxing Show

Stars Come Back

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Hollywood Stars defeated in the first two games of the Pacific coast baseball league post-season playoff came back today and swamped the San Francisco Missions 11 to 5.

Davenport fight promoter, is submitting Carothers, a boy who fights in the big money, as a special favor to the local legion.

Pedrie Sullivan, of Durant, who staged a sensational knockout over Don Nieldley in the last legion show, is matched with Kid Cameron for the semi-windup fight. Other preliminaries will be arranged later.

THE EXTRA POINT IN SPORTS

by Art Lenz

Taft Takes a Slap at College Football

The Great God Football, his stadia, and his followers, come in for a slap on the wrist by Chief Justice William H. Taft when he says in a recent magazine article that million dollar football is a menace to the colleges. Taft states that "scholarship has been pushed aside and swayed by a super-importance that has been given to athletics . . . most of our great universities and colleges have professional athletic business managers, trained publicity agents, high-priced coaches . . . the stadium overshadows the classroom . . . athletics have a dollar sign in front of them . . . college alumni are by no means free of their share of the blame." To this attack, Taft adds this statement: "I have personal knowledge of what the real condition is."

There is some truth to Taft's criticism, almost more than is readily admitted. In the last decade, stadiums have sprung up in practically every college campus to keep abreast with the great wave of popularity that attached itself to the gridiron game. Yet Mr. Taft's attack is not wholly warranted by the football of today.

Increase of crowds at the games naturally necessitated the construction of stadiums to accommodate the throngs. Management of ticket sales and the stadium was doubled in every aspect and, this too, meant added work for the already harassed college administrators. To relieve that situation, it was only logical that highly trained men were hired to assure the best administration.

In the matter of hiring professional football players, however, the Justice strikes more nearly at the core of the situation. Crowds, thronging the huge stadiums, demand skilled performances and often, colleges forget about amateurism and filled the team's ranks with "boys who go to school just to play football." Yet, here in the Big Ten, such practices are being frowned on and, judging from the recent investigations and the reactions of certain schools, there will be more right athletic policies adopted.

No, Chief Justice Taft, the colleges are not being corroded by the football commercialism, but rather, they are awake to the menace, as you term it. There is every reason to believe that in the next two or three years, the colleges will be prepared to thwart this threat with a more sane attitude towards football. At least, that is the tendency now.

Oh Yes! The World Series

Aside from the fact that the Athletics are leading the Cubs by a two-game margin in the chase for world championships and appear as the logical titleholders right now, there was nothing to talk about yesterday. The two clubs did not play and the fans, eager for the continuance of the battle, either added or detracted their bets. Others scanned the newspapers for sidelights on the classic. One daily had a little squib about Babe Ruth, who played to jokers, that he was a real journalist by producing a well-chewed pencil stub. By the way, he is writing featured on the series.

The Team Sendoff

The first of a series of sendoffs for Iowa football teams occurred yesterday afternoon. Why weren't you there?

Local Moose Meet Kalona

The local Moose semi-professional football team will meet the Kalona Independents at Kalona Saturday as the main attraction of Kalona's fiftieth jubilee celebration.

The Iowa City Moose have selected a backfield which should prove a scoring threat against the Kalona outfit. With Curry at right halfback, Strickler, at the other half, Brown at quarter and Stevens at fullback, the boys are looking forward to a win.

Field events are to be held on Pinkbline field starting at 2 p.m. They will consist of shot, discus, hammer and javelin.

East High to Invade City

Little Hawks Ready for Des Moines

With the East Des Moines game only two days away, Coach George Wells gave his Little Hawks a light drill last night as a tapering-off process. Iowa City high has never sent the Bulldogs from the field in defeat, but the Red and White mentor is confident that his gridlers will be able to do so when they meet on Shrader field tomorrow at 2:30. Line fundamentals were the chief drills given and they were topped by a pass and punt defense practice, with Howard Moffitt and Lee Mathes doing the hurling and kicking. Mathes has been doing some good booting during the last week, some punts going for 50 yards. He will probably start at end.

As yet Coach Wells is uncertain as to whom will constitute the Red and White starting lineup against the Red and Black of Des Moines. He intimated, however, that with a few exceptions it would be the same as that which started the last two games.

Shorty Hull will be the left wing with Pinky Vestermark at left tackle and Yaro Soucek at left guard. Lorn Isensee will handle the pivot position while it is not certain who will start at right guard. There are four men who may be chosen to fill this position, being Neal Miller, Jim Christensen, Cle Stimmler and Paul Callahan.

Wedell Taylor will be at right tackle and either Mathes or Lester Glick guarding the right wing. Capt. Don Lucky and Horace Redman will be at their respective halfback positions with Bud Wright at full and Moffitt calling the signals.

Matchmakers Roscoe Hall and "Doug" Fairbanks have matched Harvey Carothers, Moline, with Slick Jesnick, Waterloo, to headline the American legion boxing show Oct. 18. These men are in the 142 pound class and come to Iowa City highly recommended. Duke Barry, at full and Moffitt calling the signals.

Natators Drill on Style, Form

"Ready! Go!" sang out Coach Dave Armbruster and a dozen fresh swimmers splashed into the Iowa pool during last night's drill. Coach Armbruster emphasized starts in the regular Thursday night freshman practice and had every man take several practice starts to help them in getting the correct form in this important phase of competitive swimming.

Although the squad of 25 was smaller than usual, those out already are beginning to show the results of two weeks of coaching, and are going through workouts in a much smoother manner. Trials for the various events have not yet begun, Armbruster wishing to get his men accustomed to the water and well drilled in the fundamentals of swimming before the harder work of competition ends.

Johnson Tells Audience Evils of Barleycorn

Lauds U. S. Prohibition Laws; New York, Paradise

"Pussyfoot" Johnson, internationally known temperance advocate addressed an audience of more than 400 persons, mainly townspeople and faculty members, last night in the natural science auditorium on "Babylon and way stations," a narrative of continual liquor evils beginning 4,200 years ago.

He was preceded by Maj. F. B. Ebbert of Los Angeles, good citizenship promoter, who spoke briefly on drinking by the high school students throughout the country and the flood of anti-prohibition propaganda furnished by liquor interests.

Hits at Base
"Pussyfoot" said that after centuries of failure to get rid of the evils of drink without abolishing the drink, America struck at the base of the evil by prohibiting drinking, through the eighteenth amendment.

New York city, which is supposed to be the wickedest city in the world, is almost a paradise compared to some of the other great cities such as London, Paris, and Munich, according to Johnson. Arrests for drunkenness and immorality, plus deplorable economic conditions in these places exceed, by far, like conditions in the American metropolis.

Visits Babylon Ruins
After having spent several months among the ruins of ancient Babylon, Mr. Johnson has drawn a striking analogy between the downfall of city of the past and our modern decay of the present. He called attention to the fact that the fall from greatness of Babylon might be directly attributed to the prevalence of the use of "light wines and beer."

It was in Babylon, that high born women, courtesans of prostitution, were forced for punishment to carry the beer shops of the city. This is one of the outstanding places in history where immorality and liquor hold a definite connection.

America Leads
America is leading the world in the prohibition movement, according to "Pussyfoot." Finland, Denmark, Lithuania, Bulgaria, and many sections of India, Scotland, New Zealand, England, and Australia are following her example. In fact, only in Spain, Portugal, and Greece, of all the civilized world, is liquor traffic still unrestrained.

Coming back to America, the prohibitionist called attention to the large amounts still being expended by the wets in their battle to win back pre-war conditions. "But America does not crab and crawl back, it never has failed in any of its attempts, but is so far in advance that the people wrote the prohibition law into the constitution, and it is there to stay, by the grace of God, as long as the flag flies over these United States, and that will be a long, long time," he said in conclusion.

Zager Places Fines
Four persons paid fines yesterday in Police Judge C. L. Zager's court for traffic violations. H. A. Fish and Wendal Taylor were fined $1 and costs each for parking without a tall light; C. G. Swain, $1 and costs for falling to stop at a boulevard; and L. H. Fybo, $1 and costs for using the street for storage.

Pythians to Entertain
Announcement was made last night of a card party to take place next Tuesday for the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters. The party will be held in castle hall.

Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and a graduate of the University of Iowa, will preside at the sessions of the twelfth American college life conference to be held in Ames Oct. 17 to 20. Other leaders to appear include L. J. Taber, master of the American Grange; M. S. Winder, secretary of the American Farm Bureau federation; Charles Hearst, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation; Josephine Corless Preston, former president of the National Education association; Dean A. P. Mann of Cornell university; and Mrs. Charles A. Sewell, chairman of the home and community committee of the American Farm Bureau federation.

Wilbur J. Teeters, dean of the college of pharmacy, has received a letter from H. A. Naser, graduate of the college of pharmacy in '25, who is stationed at Kom-Ombu, Egypt. Naser has been given a position in one of the 150 hospitals being organized there.

Naser, upon graduation, went first to Chicago and did pharmacy work there. He then went to Egypt and found this position. The requirements there, however, demanded that he be passed by the pharmacy board in the state where he graduated. Naser returned to Iowa where he passed the examining board in 1926, and then went back to Egypt where he has been given his present position.

Plans Made Against Traffic Homecoming

Traffic routes and arrangements for Homecoming, Oct. 19, are still quite indefinite, according to Police Chief C. F. Benda and Col. Converse R. Lewis, chairman of the university committee on traffic for Homecoming. A meeting between Chief Benda and Colonel Lewis brought about no definite results, although several tentative plans were discussed.

Routes for pedestrians and motorists to and from the stadium present the greatest difficulty. The officials in charge are attempting to route the pedestrians and motorists over different streets in order to avoid accidents during the afternoon rush that characterizes all Homecoming crowds. To afford the pedestrian perfect safety along one route from the stadium to the business district, by cutting off automobiles from that road, and still avoid congestion and slowing up of the motor traffic is a difficult problem. A limited number of bridges to the west side of the river. At present, officials are working on the theory that the safety of the pedestrian is the first essential, and justifies the slowing up of motor traffic.

Yesterday morning the university committee on traffic for Homecoming, composed of Colonel Lewis, chairman; Dean C. C. Williams, of the college of engineering; Dr. E. H. Lauer, director of athletics, and Bruce E. Mahan, director of the university extension division, met to discuss traffic and parking problems, but only tentative plans were decided on. Lieutenants J. B. Neuman and Robert E. Coughlin, of the engineering department of the university R. O. T. C. unit are assisting in the work of making a map of all available parking spaces and the routes for pedestrian and motorists to and from the stadium.

Townpeople will be asked to leave their automobiles at home, and off the street, if possible. During the after-game rush, which will last about a half hour, all heavy traffic will be barred from the business district in order to do away with unnecessary congestion.

Federal Authorities Shatter Prohibition Ring at E. Chicago

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP)—The tentacles of the federal government reached further into the political life of East Chicago today and rounded up more than a dozen officials and civic leaders on charges of conspiracy against the national prohibition law.

Mayor Raleigh P. Hale, Chief of Police James Regan, and Lester Ottenheimer, prominent attorney, all of whom were already under arrest, were re-arrested on the indictments returned by the federal grand jury last week, completing its investigation into alleged political corruption in Lake county.

Along with Mayor Hale and the others, the United States marshals arrested Edward Higgins, president of the East Chicago board of city, which controls the police department. Hyman Cohen, member of the municipal board of works and former city republican chairman, and E. E. Trombley, manager of the East Chicago Dock Terminals company, which controls the lake harbor at East Chicago, were also arrested.

Knights of Pythias Discuss Convention

The Knights of Pythias of Iowa City held the regular business meeting last night and made plans to attend the district convention at West Liberty, Oct. 22. There will be 75 or 80 delegates from Iowa City.

An elaborate program is planned for the district No. 7 convention. Grand Chancellor Clyde C. Gustlin of Ft. Dodge, will be installed at the afternoon session. The evening speakers will be A. F. Greening, district deputy, Ward Ferguson of Des Moines, grand keeper of the seals, and Past Grand Chancellor Jerry Plum of Iowa City. A dance and other entertainment is planned for the evening.

Cavalry to Help With Traffic at Homecoming Game

Troop I of the 113th cavalry, United States army corps, will assist in traffic regulation at the Iowa stadium and field house at Homecoming football game, according to word from Col. Converse R. Lewis, chairman of the university committee on traffic, and Maj. Will J. Hayek, commander of the 3rd squadron of the 113th cavalry.

The troop partly mounted but with some on foot, will assume charge of the parking situation around the stadium and field house, and other parking spaces designated by the traffic committee.

The object is to provide a sufficient corps of men to handle, in an efficient manner, the 10,000 to 12,000 out of town cars, that are expected.

Troop I at present, consists of 63 men and three officers. Capt. Albert Yanausch is in command, assisted by First Lieutenant John A. Tiedeman and Second Lieutenant Elmer M. Hay. The troop handled traffic Hoover day at West Branch and last June when the good will fair tour stopped here.

Ella Knop, B. A. '29 of Mason City, has been promoted from instructor of English and history in the high school at Athelstan, to principal.

Funeral Service for Earl Karns Will Be Held This Afternoon

Funeral service for Earl Karns, 31 years old, of Iowa City, who died at a local hospital Wednesday as a result of injuries received in an auto accident near Homestead Saturday, will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the home of his uncle, George Karns, in Wilton Junction. Burial will be in the Wilton Junction cemetery beside his mother.

Hutton with four companions was injured when their car collided with one driven by Edwin Anderson of Grinnell. One of his companions,

George Hutton, has been in serious condition at the Mercy hospital but last night was reported as "slightly better."

No responsibility for the crash has been placed as yet.

William H. Griffith Awarded Damages

Damages of $28.50 were awarded William H. Griffith by a district court jury Wednesday afternoon as a decision in his damage suit against the Iowa City Bottling works.

Griffith's suit was a counter claim, filed after the bottling company sought to collect $200 as the result of a collision which occurred in September, 1928. The award to Griffith was for damages to his own car.

Chicago Club Attempts Comeback Against Mackmen in Philadelphia Today

World Series Shifts to East for Big Games

Mack Seeks Record for Four Wins With A's

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP)—After having battered their way through the western front on two successive days with a combination of slow curves, and home runs, Connie Mack's Athletics came back to the old home town today to resume the baseball battle with the Chicago Cubs.

The warring forces meet in the third game of the 1929 world's series tomorrow afternoon at Shibe park with the prospect of another cool and cloudy day, a capacity crowd of about 38,000 and the greatest outburst of baseball enthusiasm in Philadelphia's history.

With the rabid home-town populace to cheer them on, the Athletics, with two straight victories under their belts, renew their charge toward world's championship while the Cubs make a desperate effort to reform their riddled ranks, recover their batting eyes and check the most disastrous rout of the forces of the National league have ever known.

Mackmen Need Two Wins

The A's need only two more victories to settle the series and crown the career of their 67-year-old chief, with a fourth series triumph that would give him a new world's record. No manager has ever won more than three world's series, a mark that the Philadelphia strategist reached in 1913, alone, but later has been forced to share with his two New York rivals, John McGraw, and the late Miller Huggins.

The Mackmen have three possible games on their home grounds in which to settle the issue, with play scheduled tomorrow, Saturday and Monday. At the rate they have been going they may clear it up by Saturday, but they could do it Monday and still concede the Cubs the solace of one victory, which was all that the old Cubs of 1910 were able to get the last time they matched wits with Mack. The Cubs, in other words, must win two of the next three games to send the warring clans back to Chicago.

A's Favored

The A's were favorites at the start, even along Michigan avenue, Chicago, where the American league has its headquarters and where its sway of supremacy since 1926 seems to have been accepted as a fact.

Only one team in world's series history since 1903—the Yankees of 1921—ever lost the title after winning the first two games. That year the Giants came back to beat the Yankees in an eight game series after being shut out in the first two games. The limit this time is seven so that the chances of the Cubs staking a similar comeback especially after their first two performances, seem extremely remote.

The Cubs have used six pitchers so far in the futile effort to stop the rampant Athletics. Mack has used three and all have had the Chicagoans swinging as no group of big series—without results.

Pitchers Doubtful

Pitching selections tonight were shrouded in more mystery than at any time so far but for different reasons. Mack has made a policy of keeping the experts and his opponents guessing right up to about 15 minutes before each game. Joe McCarthy, the Cub manager, has seen so many of his stars parade to the box in vain that he has been delayed by uncertainty from making a definite choice.

General opinion was that Charley Root, who twirled good and at times great ball for the Cubs for the first seven innings of the opening game, would be sent back again. Root allowed only three hits and one run, on Fox's first homer, in the opener, and will have had three full days of rest.

Guy Bush, who pitched the last two innings of the first game, is another prospect while an "inside tip" indicated Sheriff Fred Blake might be the selection. He worked less than two innings yesterday without being scored on.

Quinn May Pitch

Old Jack Quinn is favored to get the last minute nod from Mack, to see whether the veteran's spitballs are as effective as Ehman's slow curves or the speed of Earnshaw and Grove have been. However, there is the chance that Rube Walberg, big southpaw, may get the call, especially since Mose Grove proved that portside speed could dazzle the Cub clouters. Another tip from the feed-box was that Mack again might cross the experts and send back Earnshaw, who lasted less than five innings yesterday but was hit hard in only one.

Track Men to Drill Saturday

Though handicapped by cold and the insecure footing of the wet takeoff, the high jumpers and pole vaulters persisted in their trials for height yesterday. S. W. Stetzel, A1 of Waterloo, was given the most at-

Dakota Team Claims Iowa Rifle Honors

Lt. Col. Converse R. Lewis is being showered with letters from all sections of the state and nation in regard to an ammunition company's advertisement in a national rifle magazine, "The American Rifleman," stating that the North Dakota Agricultural college won the 1929 Intercollegiate team competition championship.

The situation was explained in an official statement sent to the adjutant general at Washington, D. C., yesterday.

Iowa's varsity rifle team was declared national intercollegiate champion last year. The match in which it won this title was shot shoulder to shoulder by competing collegiate varsity rifle teams. North Dakota was not represented at this match.

North Dakota beat Iowa in a gallery match which is a match for R. O. T. C. teams only. This match is shot by teams in their respective colleges and the scores are sent to a central authority.

Any one registered in R. O. T. C. may compete on these teams regardless of classification, while freshmen are barred from the varsity teams. Capt. Roy O. Miller is the coach of the varsity rifle team.

says the resonant Zazz. "If Al gets fresh, I'll bump him off in three!"

Willie Davies soundly trounced Frankie Genaro, National Boxing association flyweight champ, in an "overweight" 10-rounder at Pittsburgh recently and later had Izzy Schwartz on the floor for the count of seven when the final bell ended the bout. When the eliminations for the world's flyweight title are held at New York in November, Davies will be right in line for that crown.

After "My" Sullivan stopped Andy DiVodi of New York in two rounds and outclassed the tough Alf Ros of Algeria in ten, fans began to tab him as the most likely contender for Jackie Field's title. "My" is a pupil of Mike Gibbons. His boxing resembles that of his teacher, the old "St. Paul Phantom." In addition, "My" has a K. O. wallop in his right hand despite his frail looks. He will make his New York debut this winter.

Alumni Pick Iowa Headquarters for Football Contests

Headquarters for University of Iowa alumni and other followers of the Hawkeye football team have been designated at the sites of the four out-of-town games.

At Columbus Saturday, Iowans will rally at the Nell House under the leadership of Harold H. Maynard, '15, according to information received at the alumni association's office here.

The meeting place in Madison for the Wisconsin game Oct. 26 is the New Park Hotel. Robert R. Aurner, '19, is handling arrangements at the Wisconsin capitol. Iowa's delegation at the Badger game will probably exceed 2,500 persons.

H. H. Remmers, '27, has reported that the Fowler hotel at Lafayette will serve as headquarters when the Iowans play Purdue, Nov. 16. Arrangements have not been completed for the Michigan game at Ann Arbor Nov. 23, but the Michigan Union is the likely headquarters with Mrs. Jay J. Sherman, secretary of the Detroit Iowa alumni association in charge.

Athletic officials of Iowa's four rivals have set aside about 5,800 tickets for Hawkeye supporters. In each case, the Iowans will be seated opposite the gridiron's 35 to 50 yard lines.

Dean Seashore Praised by Dr. A. E. Wiggam in Article

In an article appearing in the October issue of the Scientific Monthly, entitled "Fitting the college to your boy and girl," by Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, of New York city, the author gives special recognition to Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate school of the State University of Iowa.

Agreeing with Dean Seashore in the values and benefits that should be derived from a college education, Dr. Wiggam believes that the colleges and universities of today are in dire need of certain radical changes.

"Of the three-quarters of a million students enrolled in our universities today," states Dr. Wiggam, "the greater majority of them are made to fit the college, instead of the college being made to fit them."

College Behind Times
In the main, Dr. Wiggam's article puts forth the thesis that the American college is behind the times; that colleges are not big enough, in that they are built for the aristocracy instead of a democracy; that there are many students in colleges who have no business being there; that not more than one-half of the students enrolled as freshmen ever reach the final stage of being graduated from the institution, and that the great task ahead for improved higher education is to educate each person according to his own endowments and needs.

"These impressions of the present status of a great deal of American so-called higher education are by no means entirely original with me," writes Dr. Wiggam, "but are quite largely the result of several years of friendly acquaintance with Dean Carl E. Seashore, head of the department of psychology and dean of the graduate school of the University of Iowa."

Studied with Seashore
"I have," continues Dr. Wiggam, "also recently spent two entire days with Dean Seashore, devoted to an extensive study of American higher education—a study which he has been carrying on as the field representative of the division of education relations of the national research council. During these five years the dean has visited more than 150 American colleges and universities and has held prolonged conferences with the faculty, going minutely into problems and methods of educational administration and practice, the most extended and important survey of American higher education ever made."

The survey has been published under the title of "Living and learning in the college," by the State University of Iowa, under supervision of Dean Seashore.

At the conclusion of his article, Dr. Wiggam expresses a tribute to Dean Seashore, in declaring that his motto, "Keep each student busy at his highest natural level of successful achievement in order that he may be happy, useful, and good," should be emblazoned over the doorway of every American college and university.

Rhodes Applicants Must Apply Now

Application for the Rhodes scholarship must be filed by Saturday noon. Few students from the university have applied this year. Colleges represented in the applications so far include Central college, Iowa State college, Drake Grinnell, Columbia, and U. S. naval academy.

Information may be obtained from Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, 304 Liberal arts building, or at the president's office.

Women's Gym Staff Plans Future Events

The staff at the women's gymnasium is planning a series of events to take place Saturday of Homecoming. A hockey game will be played at 10 a.m. Saturday, the teams to be made up of returning alumnae, students, and staff. Archery demonstrations will be held at 10:45 a.m.

Open house for returning alumnae will be held at the gymnasium from 11:15 a.m. until noon to introduce the senior majors and the staff.

Lindy's Maya Search Ends

Expedition Successful; Another City Found

A BOARD LINDBERGH'S PLANE, Oct. 10 (AP)—By Radio Direct to Pan-American International Airport, Miami—The Lindbergh aerial archaeological expedition on its last day of search for Maya ruins and already homeward bound, was more successful than on any previous flights.

The crumbling walls of a majestic Maya temple pyramid, estimated to be 60 to 70 feet in height, was the fourth ancient city found by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh within two hours.

Dr. A. V. Kidder, chief archaeologist of the Carnegie institution, described it as a perfect type of Maya empire edifice. It had been the central part of a flourishing city and its mound still rose above the surrounding bush so that it was sighted from a distance of 12 miles. It is situated about 30 miles north of Santa Cruz.

Male of Species Claim New Honor; Old Friends Best

Are boys more prone to stick to the old friends than girls? Or is it just a chance occurrence that there is a house on our campus in which all the students are from the same home town, and these students boys?

Most of the houses and dormitories on our campus are occupied by young men and women from all parts of Iowa, and usually, several from outside the state. Some houses even boast of having students from other countries. But the students living at 526 N. Linn street are all from the same place, and that place is not a city in Iowa, either. There are seven young men in all at this house, and they all hail from St. Louis, Mo. They are: Ed Groepper, A1; Ned Blades, A3; Gilbert Scott; John Graham, E1; Bert Young; Michael Regert; and Ralph Kerchoff. A few others come in for their meals, Margaret Groepper, also from St. Louis, is in charge of the house.

According to Robert E. Rlenow, dean of men, this is the only such house on the campus. He does say, however, that at one time a group of several young men from Algona occupied a house on Church street.

Adelaide Burge, dean of women, says that there is no house on the campus occupied entirely by girls from the same town, nor to her knowledge has there ever been.

Are girls more inclined to strike out for new friends than boys? Or is it just chance that this house is occupied by the "old home town" boys instead of the girls?

Mrs. John Hammill, Recovering, Returns to Britt Home Today

DES MOINES, Oct. 10 (AP)—Mrs. John Hammill, wife of Governor Hammill, has sufficiently recovered from her recent operation and illness to enable her to go to Britt, the Hammill home, today, with the governor. She will rest at Britt for a month before returning to Des Moines.

From Britt Governor Hammill will go to Spencer where he is to make an address Thursday before a Demolay group.

On Friday, Governor Hammill will address Rotary international at Omaha.

Pike Nursery Project Approved by Hammill

MASON CITY, Oct. 10 (AP)—Governor Hammill has approved the proposed Pike Nursery project two miles east of the Clear Lake fish hatchery, thus completing a program sponsored by the Izaak Walton league for restocking the streams and lakes of this vicinity.

H. L. Canfield, superintendent of government hatcheries, La Crosse, Wis., and W. E. Albert, state game warden, drew up the plans and obtained options on the land where the nursery pond is to be placed.

COURT UPHOLDS IOWAN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 10 (AP)—The United States circuit of appeals, in an opinion written by Judge William S. Kenyon, has upheld the decision of a trial court setting aside a property transfer on ground of fraud in the case of E. C. Moen, an Iowa farmer, who traded 485 acres of farm land to a Chicago group for a heavily mortgaged Chicago apartment house in which the owners' equity was worthless.

Porter Will Attend Fourth Conference

Mr. Kirk Porter of the political science department expects to leave Iowa City Saturday for New York, to attend the fourth conference of teachers of international law. The meeting is under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for the promotion of international peace, and will be held at Briarcliffe lodge, a very beautiful hotel and resort about 40 miles from New York city. The conference will be in session four days and an attendance of 40 or 50 persons is expected. These teachers will represent the larger colleges and universities of the United States. There will be round table discussions and conferences to assist with the teaching of international law. The last conference met in Washington, D. C. in 1927.

I. B. LAUGHLIN APPOINTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Hoover has appointed I. B. Laughlin of Pittsburgh, as ambassador to Spain.

He served as charge d'affaires at embassies in London and Berlin and succeeds Ogden Hammond, resigned. At present he is in the United States.

LOCATES OFFICE IN D.M.

DES MOINES, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rep. L. J. Dickinson, Algona, candidate for the republican nomination as United States senator, has announced he has opened headquarters for his campaign in the Fleming building here. Miss Natalie Pearson, his secretary, is in charge of the office. The rooms were formerly used as headquarters of the republican state central committee.

DES MOINES, (AP)—Five thousand blocks of wood, cut from trusses removed from the roof of the White House in Washington two years ago when that structure was remodeled, will be distributed to schools as souvenirs, Miss Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction, has been informed. The wood was placed in the building in 1814, shortly after the battle of Baltenburg, and the sacking of the capitol. The roof which is partially represented by the blocks sheltered 26 presidents. The blocks measure 2 1/2 by 2 1/2 by 4 inches and will be distributed only to principals of schools making formal application to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, Washington, D. C.

Reduction in Size of 1930 Car Licenses

New Plates Have Blue Numbers on White Background

Major changes, including a reduction in size and arrangement of numbers, and colors that are visible for some distance have been made in the 1930 Iowa auto license plates, 10,000 of which arrived here yesterday.

The new licenses will have blue letters and numbers on a white background and will be three inches shorter than the present ones. The reduction in length is made possible by removing the state name and year, which is at present arranged perpendicularly on the left side, and placing them under the numbers designating the counties with larger populations will not be used this year and numbers will be arranged alphabetically. A da r county will lead the list with number 1 and Wright will conclude with number 99.

Johnson county's index number will be thus changed from 46 to 52. Non-resident cars will still be registered as 00.

SCHOOL NEWS

Elementary School

The second grade of the University Elementary school will take full charge of the 9 a.m. assembly program today, and will use "Turtles" as their subject. The arrangement of the program is as follows: Donald Pierce, announcer; Bobby Caywood, piano solo; Marjorie Parsons, "What turtles look like"; Cyrus Beys, "Kinds of turtles"; Marquis Lillick, "Where they live"; Eloise Lapp, "What they eat"; Martha Miller, "How they protect themselves"; Betty Jean Beer, "Turtle eggs"; Helen Beys, "How large turtles grow"; Richard Martin, "What turtles are good for"; and a poem, "Little Turtles" by Sarah Woodward.

Attendance records of the University Elementary school for 1928-1929 show four pupils to have been neither absent nor tardy for the entire year. The first names listed are those holding that honor and the succeeding are names of pupils who have been neither absent nor tardy for two or more six weeks periods. After each name is given the number of six weeks periods the pupil was neither absent nor tardy.

Tom Horn and Patricia Baldwin, fifth grade, and Robert Neff and Lloyd Pierce, sixth grade, have perfect attendance for the year.
