Liquor Probe Will Continue in Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—More and more the attention of senators is being attracted by charges of liquor drinking by those who write the laws of the country. Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart of Iowa, who started his colleagues in September with an account of a dinner to senators at which liquor was served, gave notice in the crowded chamber today that he would "discuss prohibition enforcement in general and Wall street booze parties in particular" soon after the gavel bangs tomorrow. A republican dry, he has been subpoenaed to tell a grand jury Wednesday what he knows about the alcoholic propensities of Washington.

Light-Fingered "Gentlemen"

LAST SATURDAY night, a certain sorority on the campus invited the members of all fraternities to be its guests at the customary "open house." These same fraternity members or some of them at least, repaid the courtesy and hospitality extended to them by deliberately appropriating several articles of valuable silverware, including two cream pitchers, two sets of salt and pepper shakers, and two silver bells.

The articles were valuable not only in themselves but because of being gifts to the chapter. And that sorority is not the only one which has suffered because it has been courteous enough to invite to its home persons who call themselves gentlemen.

Members of the sororities have been heard to say that they found it necessary to look up everything of value in the house before holding "open house."

Emily Post says nothing in her book of etiquette about not stealing the silverware of your hostess when you are invited to her home, because it probably never entered Emily Post's head, nor in fact would it ever occur to anyone with a spark of breeding, that such a thing was possible.

If this practice continues in the future as it has in the past, it is more than probable that the custom of "open house" will of necessity be abolished. That in itself probably wouldn't make much difference to most of us, but the thing that should make supposedly educated and honorable university students hang their heads in shame is the fact that if open-house were abolished it would be because invited guests could not conduct themselves in accordance with ordinary principles of courtesy.

Why the Pushing?

THERE are numerous courses offered in this university requiring thinking. In fact, education is nothing more than conscious and effective thinking. We, the younger generation, pride ourselves on our level-headedness, on our rapid rise from primitive, to a higher stage of behavior and development. We congratulate ourselves on our ability to think clearly and rapidly.

Last Friday after the freshman party some 300 women rushed to the checkroom and crowded up to the window to get their wraps. They were packed like the proverbial sardines in a can. They pushed, they crowded, and they jostled.

Another 250 outside the door tried to push themselves in. There was neither ingress or egress. The business of either coming or going was definitely stopped. Coats were dragged on the floor, the air grew thick with perfume and powder, bits of fur pulled loose and a mob of college women struggled and panted.

Gene was the conscious thinking progress that divides us from our cave-man ancestors. Gene was the polish and breeding that education gives.

To make a comparison: meanwhile the escorts of the young women had lined up and waited in a single line for their wraps. There was no confusion, no jostling, no pushing. Such a scene as has been described is duplicated practically every week-end at different dance halls attended solely by students. Every time the men form a line and every time the women crowd into a small room, lose their heads, and revert to the primitive.

Why push?

Gopher Band May Come

MINNESOTA'S band may be on deck next week-end to help cheer the Gopher team on to victory over Iowa in spite of the university ruling against the band's pilgrimage.

Backed by business men of both St. Paul and Minneapolis and WCCO and KSTP, Twin City radio stations, definite steps toward sending the Minnesota band to Iowa City Nov. 9 are promised.

Dean E. E. Nicholson of Minnesota, laid down a ruling last week that the band could not go under any circumstances because, in going to the Northwestern-Minnesota game, it had already made its official trip this year. According to university regulations only one trip is provided each year.

In spite of the ruling, business men of the Twin Cities headed by the managers of the two radio stations are determined that the band shall be here next Saturday.

Financial backing of the trip is assured, since the funds are already available, and all that is lacking is permission from university officials.

Such a demonstration of loyalty and co-operation merits the sought-for permission. Good luck, Minnesota!

Keep That Spirit

TEN DAYS ago, 2,000 Iowa supporters overflowing with pep descended upon Madison for the Wisconsin game. That famous old Iowa fighting spirit which has been almost dormant among the rooters on this campus for years flamed up that week-end in a will to win that inspired every Iowa rooter in Camp Randall stadium. You know what the team did.

That the same spirit had flamed up on the campus here was evident when another thousand supporters met the special train which arrived in Iowa City long after midnight. That old Iowa spirit, the spirit of the days when Iowa beat Yale and Locke and Devine were all-Americans, sprang into being in that fierce desire to take revenge on Wisconsin.

Don't let that spirit die again! If ever Iowa needed that far-famed fight, she needs it now. This week-end the Hawkeyes face the conquering Minnesota team, fighting for a Big Ten title and burning to revenge their 7 to 6 defeat at our Homecoming last year.

Next week Iowa faces Purdue, the other undefeated Big Ten team. A trip to Michigan the following week is hardly an easy close to the season.

Art in the Middle West

HENRY Seidel Canby, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, in a recent issue of that magazine says, "There will soon be more good art galleries, more good libraries, more literary clubs and a wider distribution of things intellectual and aesthetic in the Mississippi valley than anywhere else in the world."

We of the middle west have been proud of the organization and growth in recent years of municipal art galleries and museums in the more progressive of our cities. Little theater groups and civic orchestras are no longer experiments among us.

Chicago, with its symphony orchestra, civic opera, Field museum, and art institute, is the most brilliant example of what Mr. Canby is predicting for the rest of this section of the country. But even the state "where the tall corn grows" is not behind in the matter of artistic appreciation and expression. Davenport is the backbone and guiding spirit of the Tri-City symphony orchestra, and this very week Des Moines is sending us a production by her community drama association.

Training in the appreciation of art, literature and music has become a part of every educational program from the one room country school to the more elaborate city and private schools. This education, coupled with the wealth from manufactures and agriculture, is placing the middle west in a position where she not only discerns what is best culturally, but is able to command it.

Let's Be Good Hosts

THE RUDE reception accorded Iowa football fans at Madison will not soon be forgotten. But can't we profit by the experience?

Next week-end Iowa rooters will be host to Minnesota's team and its supporters. They are coming here in good faith and secure in their loyalty to their own fighting squad. Their loyalty to their team can not be shattered, nor should it. But their faith in Iowa's hospitality can be destroyed.

It is not only becoming to the athletes on the battle field, but it is equally befitting to the fans in the bleachers to be good sports.

If Minnesota triumphs, let her victory remain unblemished by petty squabbling; if Minnesota loses, let us conduct ourselves as honorable victors should.

Win or lose, let's be good hosts!

Chills and Fever

We're all so flustered about this Dad's day week-end that we just can't think of a thing to write. (Editor's note: Read what he offers here and you'll agree with him.)

Dear Pardon, Adeline

You see Adeline called us up the other night via telephone and told us something hot, like advice to co-eds or such, and then we up and forgot the details. Ain't that just like a professor?

Lupino says:

If your cigarette lighter doesn't work—be nonchalant and light a match.

Now THIS is news—

Dr. P.W.O.: Have you heard the latest in Halow'en pranks? Following a sharp explosion at the Phi Omega Pi house Halow'en night, cloud upon cloud of white mist flowed out of a second story window, almost resulting in the calling of the fire department.

No, it was not due to bottled energy. (Anything of that nature would probably be in the basement anyway.)

And no, not one had been smoking. (It being dinner time.)

It was just the peaky old radiator letting off steam.

Sincerely,
Dinah Night.

HOW ABOUT THAT ESSAY? WE'RE PATIENTLY WAITING AND WATCHING FOR THOSE 20 WORD ESSAYS FOR OUR BIG CONTEST WHICH IS NOW RUNNING. GET IN AND WIN WHILE THE WINNING IS GOOD

HERE'S THE TOPIC, FOLKS

Since the university is credited with having equal opportunities for both men and women, why should regulations for men and women be different?

Write a 20 word essay on that and win a prize.

Home is the place the college student visits at holiday time. At other times it is the place to which he appeals for funds.

At these meetings various matters are discussed such as troubles on the playground, order in the room before school begins and similar topics. Ina Mae Hornbeck made 20 words and she won a Halow'en pin wheel. After the games we had refreshments of candy, popcorn balls, cookies and apples.

We are sorry to lose two of our boys, Ronald and Donald Guengerick who have moved to Wellman.

"THE MASKED HOSTESS"

by Blair Stevenson

CHAPTER XXXIV

With the breakfast, which she presently placed out on the table for the woman laid a dish of crackles and a bottle of liquor from which she took formidable drinks before she touched any of the food. Nathalie joined her in the first one but let her drink the second alone. Nathalie looked at her with interest and considered that with all her countenance revealed she was probably quite pretty. She had a slight figure, slim hands and feet, and an extremely graceful way of moving when she stood up or passed back and forth between the room they were in and the little kitchen.

"Lookin' at me?" she inquired and smiled as she returned from the kitchen once after getting more cracked ice. "Trying to figure out what I am? That ought to be easy for you now that I'm fixed up like you was when you were working for Stefano. Sure," she added and helped herself to another stiff drink. "I'm a hostess too. Used to work in a good New York night club. But I ain't working there no more. I wadn't talked too much and I guess that was right. But listen—you must ha' seen some swell sights over at Stefano's when you was looking through your mask at all them swell girls and rich guys all full of Scotch an' red-eye.

"The girl save Nathalie stiffen and instantly apologized. "Excuse me, dearie. Of course you was one of them yourself and not a girl like me. But gee, I wish I had ha' known Stefano needed a hostess. I'd ha' loved a job like you had. I bet I could ha' had it too if I'd seen Stefano first."

"I suppose you knew him very well," said Nathalie, imagining that the girl she was talking to was probably some confederate of Stefano. She had concluded that she had been taken to the house she was in because Stefano and Ferris had not yet come to terms over the money Stefano was to be paid for betraying her. When the terms were arranged, she believed, she would be turned over for trial for passing a bad check.

"Me?" replied the girl in surprise. "I met him once or twice when he was in our night club in New York, that's all." Then she laughed.

"Gee, dearie, I'm awful dumb when I'm drinking. Of course he wouldn't have give me three jobs, he'd ha' wanted to spend you' hope he hasn't all the time to get you there and not on other girl an' then hold out on Jack. That was the play, wasn't it?"

"I'm afraid," Nathalie told her, "that I understand nothing of what you are talking about. I don't know what you mean by a play. And who is Jack?"

The young woman looked at her very steadily and replied toward the bottle again. Then she drew her hand back from it and got up and took it back into the kitchen.

"Listen, dearie," she said as soon as she came back. "Call me Queenie. Listen! If the party that has me in here with you ever asks you if we were hitting it up while we was here, dew it won't you dearie."

Nathalie almost laughed at her "we" for Queenie was doing all the hitting.

"Suppose, Queenie," she asked her,

Telephone Company Official Speaks to Commerce Students

Nathaniel T. Guernsey, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, spoke before approximately 20 commerce students in the geology lecture room yesterday afternoon at 2 p. m. of the "The Bell System."

Mr. Guernsey traced the growth of the Bell system from the time Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, received his first patent down to the present day. Among these developments were the perfection of local service along such lines as room service in hotels, the construction of a long-distance system, and the development of the cable. The speaker pointed out that the cable not only relieved congestion in city streets but was also more dependable than open wire.

One and three-quarter million dollars was the figure Mr. Guernsey set as the sum spent by his company every day for improvements. He stated that it is possible to talk from Iowa City to 85 per cent of all the telephones in the world.

Guernsey Delivers Lecture to Laws

Nathaniel T. Guernsey, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and formerly a member of the Des Moines bar, delivered a lecture on the laws of public utilities to the seniors of the college of law yesterday at 9 a. m.

Another lecture will be given by Mr. Guernsey at the same hour today.

He wondered again why she had been taken to the remote place where she was and was being held there in mystery and suffering.

"Eyes" for blind flying!

Three new G-E contributions to the conquest of the air

LINDBERGH, flying blind much of the way, hit Ireland "on the nose" as he winged toward Paris. Now, as an aid to air navigation comes the magneto compass, a product of General Electric research, which gives pilots a navigating instrument of extraordinary accuracy.

Meanwhile, two other General Electric contributions to aviation have been developed—the electric gasoline gauge and the radio echo altimeter. The ordinary altimeter shows only height above sea level. The radio echo altimeter warns the pilot of his actual distance above ground or water by flashing green, yellow, and red lights on the instrument board.

Every year hundreds of college-trained men and women enter the employment of General Electric. Research, similar in that which developed "eyes" for blind flying, is one of the many fields of endeavor in which they play an important part.

McLarnin Outslugs Sammy Mandell in Chicago Welterweight Boxing Mix

Welterweight Hopes Fade for Mandell

"Baby Face" Wins Six Rounds of Non-Title Boxing Contest

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Beaten for six rounds and nearly floored in the seventh, Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, was defeated by Jimmy McLarnin, contender for the world's welterweight championship, in a thrilling ten round battle in the Chicago stadium tonight.

The baby faced wallop from Vancouver, by his victory showed that he is a better welterweight than he was a lightweight. He completely reversed the verdict Mandell won over him in their lightweight championship encounter in New York a year ago last May.

The result was a stunning surprise to the 22,812 spectators who paid $102,368 to witness the battle. Mandell going into the ring as a favorite was credited with winning only two rounds, possibly three, while McLarnin was accorded the honors in six, and two were declared fairly even.

Mandell's most impressive showings were in the first and ninth rounds.

Shatters Mandell's Hopes

The defeat virtually shattered Mandell's dream of continuing his conquest among the welterweights, with the championship as his goal. The six pound weight advantage he gave away to McLarnin proved to be too much of a handicap. Mandell weight 137 3/4 and McLarnin 143 3/4. McLarnin was too strong, too rugged and too full of fight at the increased poundage, for Mandell, and his superiority in hitting was evident, from the start.

McLarnin, making a rushing fight of it from the opening bell, paid no attention to Mandell's tantalizing left hands and proceeding to crowd close, whaling away at the body in an attempt to steal the champion's speed, and slow him up for a finishing punch.

Sammy Gambled

Mandell gambled on his marvelous boxing ability to outpoint the tremendous hitting Pacific coast boy as he did in their first engagement, despite the weight handicap in tonight's battle. Mandell gambled and lost, because of his sheer inability to keep the ever-charging McLarnin at a distance.

Mandell revealed his true championship form in only one round, the ninth. The rest of the time he was in full retreat, going from one corner into another, and then backing into the ropes with McLarnin slugging away with both hands.

McLarnin centered his attack to the body, occasionally throwing a long overhand right or a left hook to the chin. He belted Mandell unmercifully in the midsection.

Von Porat Wins

Otto Von Porat, giant Norwegian heavyweight, scored an impressive knockout over Charley Smith of England, in the first round of their scheduled 10-round preliminary. Smith was no match for the Norwegian contender. Von Porat upset him with a left hook for the count of three, and then knocked him out with a right hand smash to the chin.

Von Porat growing heavier, scaled at 202 pounds, with Smith weighing 191 1/4.

Track Men Report for First Practice

First indoor practice for varsity and freshman track candidates will be held tonight at the field house. Broad jumpers, pole vaulters, and high jumpers will start their initial workouts, while other men will continue exercise in the gymnasium until ordered out.

Assistant Track Coach Charles Brookins is attempting to have additional cinders added to the one mile track, before ordering runners to take regular workouts.

"IRON MEN" (1929 MODEL)

Shades of Earl Sprackling, paragon of quarterbacks; Fritz Pollard, great fullback, and Coach "Tuss" McLaughry's original "Iron Men" of eleven durable gridsters, who went victorious through a hard schedule in 1928 with nary a substitution—what about their 1929 successors? Are they worthy of the Brown Bear's best football tradition?

Regardless of what has happened thus far this season, Brown's real football status will not be definitely established until Saturday, when the "Iron Men" (1929 model) play Dartmouth, at Providence, R. I. That will be the familiar and vital contest. Both teams should be at apogee of form and the game should determine the class, or lack of it, of either or both. Brown would rather beat Dartmouth than any other team, not excepting, and the Harvardians in turn take historic joy in trying to flatten any Providence team with New England championship aspirations.

"Tuss" McLaughry will again depend on Capt. Bud Edwards, "Link" Fogarty and "Some" Gull for Brown's scoring punch. Those backs

Big Ten Gridgers Drill for Major Encounters Saturday

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)— Still somewhat bewildered by their defeat by Northwestern, Saturday, the Illinois varsity, along with most of the other Western conference football squads, were spared from even putting on uniforms today, but would rather have scrimmaged all afternoon than listen to Coach Bob Zuppke's comments on the game.

Zuppke charged the defeat to the line, which was outplayed almost man for man. The regulars watched practice in which the reserves and second team scrimmaged, and the freshmen gave a walking demonstration of Army formations.

Chicago's regulars, jubilant over their 15 to 7 triumph over Princeton Saturday, were in suits, but did nothing but kick, pass and limber up. The Maroons came through the game without a serious injury and with the addition of Joe Temple, who has recovered from injuries, will be at full strength for Wisconsin at Stagg field Saturday.

No Iowa Workout

The usual Monday light workout was not for Michigan and Iowa today, both having had open dates Saturday. Coach Harry Kipke of the Wolverines, continued to drill on a defense for Harvard's lateral passes and devoted much time to two sophomore ends, Bill Hewitt, and Norman Daniels, who are expected to be in the starting lineup against the Crimson Saturday.

Iowa, with a chance to wreck Minnesota's march to Big Ten championship honors, divided its time between an offensive drill and a session of defense preparation against Gopher stiff.

Coach Dick Hanley at Northwestern, was pleased with the Wildcats' victory over Illinois, but warned his squad that Ohio State is something else again, and must not be taken lightly. Russ Berghelm was given a rest, the big fullback having been bruised up in his onstagnations against the Illinois line Saturday.

Indiana Has Open Date

Indiana, with an open date for Saturday, and a beating by Minnesota behind them, received a lecture and limbering up session, while Purdue, victorious over Wisconsin, was treated to an easy day before getting down to business for the Mississippi game Saturday.

Coach Clarence W. Spears lectured Minnesota's regulars on faults revealed against Indiana, and finished the session by giving out several new plays to be developed for the invasion of Iowa Saturday. Ohio State received a routine workout.

COFFEE, OHIO STATE HALFBACK SUSPENDED

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4 (AP)—Charley Coffee, Ohio State's brilliant halfback, has been suspended for the remainder of the season for breaking training rules on the Pittsburgh trip last Saturday. Coach Sam Williamson announced today.

Little Hawks Shift Lineup After Draw

A startling shakeup, due to the poor showing made against Grinnell Saturday, was handed to the city high grid team by Coach George Wells in last night's practice session. New faces appeared on the first eleven in both the line and the backfield.

Hull, regular left end, was placed at left half and Gilek, another end, was shifted to right half. Christensen, who has been tossed about from one position to another this season, was drawn from the line and put at fullback, while Moffitt retained his quarterback position.

Mathes remained at the right wing and Redman was taken from the backfield and given the left wing to guard. In place of Hull, Crawford and Golseth were given their chance at the tackle berths while Miller and Callahan assumed duties at the guard posts. Soucek was drawn from his left guard position and assigned to the pivot, which has been his post up until this year.

Only signal practice and a pass defense drill was handed to the men last night. Ability to stop the opposing passing attack has been the weakest department of the Wellsmen this season.

Five men were on the casualty list which included Davis, who received an ankle injury and Isensee, who is nursing a couple of cracked ribs. Vestermarck was given a rest because of an old wrist injury, as were Taylor and Wright. Taylor has an injured leg and Wright has a sore knee which has laid him up for some time.

Fidler to Referee Legion Boxing Card; Boxers in Condition

Alex Fidler of Cedar Rapids, "Iowa's one man boxing commission," and nationally known referee, will be the third man in the ring at the third legion boxing show of the year Thursday night. Fidler should speed up the bouts as he is famous for his relentless persecution of scrappers who attempt to stall.

All of the fighters report to the promoters that they are in excellent shape and if they live up to their promises will produce 30 rounds of snappy action. Pedrie Sullivan, the Durant sledgehammer, who will meet the stiffest competition of his brief career in Snubs Ganaway, a colored mauler from Davenport, reports that he is undergoing a rigorous training routine and will be out to stretch his Iowa City knock-out record to three straight.

Gale Fillenworth is the only one of the performers now working out in Iowa City. He is going through his paces daily under the direction of Roscoe Hall at the American legion gymnasium in preparation for his encounter with Hod Held of Waterloo. Fillenworth is the former heavyweight champion of the university.

Iowa Teams in Rifle Meet

With a rich array of trophies and a national title as objectives, the university has entered two teams in the National R.O.T.C. rifle competition sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, and the Chicago Evening American.

The country has been divided into four sections with the major universities in each section entered in the match. Sectional winners will receive shields while the team that wins the national title, will receive a cup, five gold medals, and a trip to Washington, D. C.

Firing will be done in standing, kneeling, sitting, and prone positions with 22 caliber rifles. All participants will be sent to the commanding general, 6th corps area, in Chicago.

Capt. R. O. Miller, head coach of the university's rifle teams, expressed confidence in Iowa's chances. He has 20 veterans and many promising freshmen from which to pick the teams representing the university. Thirty men are practicing daily for the event.

Triathlon Meet Will Feature for Hawkeye Tracksters

To be the winner of the triathlon is now the goal of each weightman. Daily, from now until the triathlon, to be held sometime in December, the frozen ground will ring as hammers, discs, and shot drop, clatter, and bounce along its surface.

Each man, besides working on his own specialty, is now trying his hand at other weights. All participants in the triathlon must toss all three weights, hammer, discus, and shot.

The individual scoring the lowest number of points is the winner. First place will count one point, second place two points, etc. An all-around mediocre athlete may win over a man who is a star in but one event.

Last year, Oliver Sansen, an average all-around weight man at that time, upset the dope by winning the meet from the specialty stars.

Iowa Harriers to Meet Coe, Gophers in Week End Races

Coach George T. Bresnahan's hill and daleers face a busy week in which both varsity and reserve teams get into action. Thursday afternoon the B team will race Forest Rittiger's fast Coe squad over the three mile Pink-bline course. Saturday the varsity will take a four mile jaunt with Sherm Finger's Gophers.

Time trials will be held today to select the personnel of both the B and varsity teams.

The Gopher and Hawkeye harriers have one thing in common, in that they both were badly beaten by the title-bound Wisconsin crew. Anderson of Minnesota, is probably the most outstanding of the invaders and the man who will trouble the Hawks most. He took first place in the Wisconsin meet of last week and also knocked off fourth place in last year's conference run. The remainder of the Minnesota team is well balanced and can be expected to pull up to the finish together.

On the Hawkeye squad there are no outstanding men, but they run well together and usually finish in a 3 bunch.

Saint Mary's Cagers Down Shop's Team

The St. Mary's high basketball team showed class in downing a larger Rock Island shops aggregation 17-14 in a fast scrimmage last night.

Though the shooting of the Blue and White five was somewhat erratic at first, it improved considerably toward the end of the game as they overcame a three point lead with a barrage of field goals. The Rock Island shops outfit, while older and more experienced, showed a lack of condition and were several times caught flat-footed by Coach Sweeney's fighting Irish.

The work of J. Grim, star guard, and Gaultcher, sophomore forward, was outstanding for St. Mary's, but the whole team showed good team play and cleverness in handling the ball. Other men who played were: Fay, Knoedel and Shay.

The Rock Island team was composed of Cooney, Semuth, and Brown, forwards; Fay, center, and Kelleher and Pugh, guards.

Muscatine Harriers Meet University Hi

By virtue of their recent win over Keokuk, last year's intercollegiate champions, Muscatine harriers are favored to win the hill and dale prep championship next Saturday. Last year Muscatine placed third in the meet.

The Muscatine aggregation is coached by Jack Hunt, former Iowa cross country captain and co-holder of the Big Ten harrier championship in 1926.

Thomas, Iowa Veteran Fullback, to Remain Out of Gopher Game Saturday

Old Injury Keeps Brice From Lineup

Hawks Show Renewed Interest; Drill Against Frosh

The old "Iowa Fight" spirit was again in evidence in the Hawkeye grid camp yesterday. After a week of much needed rest, Burt Ingwersen's men pulled out of the slump and exhibited some of the pep which has been so prevalent prior to other Big Ten encounters. The Hawks met Minnesota here Saturday in the annual Dad's day contest.

It was definitely announced yesterday that Brice Thomas, veteran fullback, who has been suffering from an injured knee, which he received in the Illinois game, and hurt again in the Wisconsin tilt, will not be in shape to meet the Gopher crew Saturday.

Sansen Replaces Thomas
Oliver Sansen, powerful sophomore flanker, was in Thomas' place yesterday and showed up well against the freshmen.

The Hawk mentor spent a great deal of time in an endeavor to perfect his passing attack yesterday, sending the men through a long scrimmage session against the yearlings. Reedquist and Mastrogany, ends, along with Leo Jensen, Carl Fignatelli and Mike Farroh, were on the receiving end of Captain Glasgow and Nanny Pape's tosses.

Varsity Offense Good
The varsity offense functioned almost to perfection against the frosh, with Pape, Glasgow, Leo Jensen, Mike Farroh and Oliver Sansen ripping great holes in the yearling forward wall and pounding the ends for repeated gains.

Line Coach Frank H. Wickhorst administered individual attention to the two regular tackles, Westra and Ely. The maker of stellar line men showed the giants how to perform on defense.

When the frosh went into Gopher offensive formations and the varsity took up the defense, the regular forward wall held fast and the freshmen were powerless. Freddy Roberts, veteran guard, and Westra and Ely, tackles, threw the first year men for losses on nearly every play. Dennis Myers, regular guard who has been nursing a shoulder injury for nearly a week, was again at his post. It was the first time for more than a week that Myers has participated in active drill.

Change in Uniform
Hauge, reserve back, who has been absent for several drill periods with a minor injury, was also in uniform and took part in the scrimmage.

The Gophers are undefeated to date, and may hold a slight edge over Ingwersen's men. Their easy win over Indiana Saturday, though, may instill overconfidence in them. Coach Clarence W. Spears, Minnesota mentor, lectured to his regulars yesterday on faults revealed in the Hoosier game and wound up the drill with a presentation of several new plays which will be used against the Hawks Saturday.

St. Patrick's High Cagers Hold Short Early Scrimmage

After a one hour session of basketballing and passing the ball, St. Patrick's high school basketball squad closed its practice yesterday with a short snappy scrimmage. Coach T. T. Law used as a first team: Dvorsky at center, Kelley, Donohue, and Welz alternating at the forward berths, and Captain Welch, Meagan and Wallace at the guard positions. The remainder of the squad received a good workout furnishing the competition for the first string.

Dvorsky, at center, looked good in the scrimmage, handling the ball well and playing a good defensive game. He will have more competition for the center berth next week when Sprat returns.

He has been kept out of practice with a sprained ankle received when scrimmaging against the university high football team several weeks ago.

Assistant Coach Cooney will not organize his midweek squad until the regular squad has practiced for several weeks.

BIFF JONES TO SPEAK

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—Capt. L. M. (Biff) Jones, West Point football coach, will go on the air over station WABC New York at 10 o'clock tonight. Speaking for half an hour he expects to refer to the Army-Navy situation and to describe the thrilling 1922 game in which the Army beat the Navy by a 17-14 score.

Los Angeles County, California, now has 54 private and municipal airports.

WILDCATS CLAW ILLINI

Picture shows Moore of Northwestern carrying the ball with Illinois men about to tackle him. Fifty-one thousand watched the Northwestern Wildcats defeat the Orange and Blue of Illinois, at Dyche stadium by a score of 7 to 0.

Whether or not Iowa succeeds in stampeding the Thundering Herd from Minnesota this week, it may be said with some assurance that groups of students from this university will be present in the stands when the Hawks battle Purdue and Michigan in successive Saturdays on foreign gridirons. And with equal surety, it also may be stated that of those students attending the game, 99 per cent will have skipped classes either on Thursday or Friday or both.

There is a rule here at Iowa that attendance at out-of-town football games is, in no measure, an adequate excuse for being absent from prior or after those games. This rule is constantly being disregarded by students who feel that their cheers at the game are far more important than their inarticulations in the classroom.

Both the students and the administration of this university have their arguments pro and con about this rule, each of equal reason. But there have been recent developments which give added strength to the reasoning of the students. Strange as it may seem, these developments have been given impetus by action of the opposite faction, the school administration.

Undergraduates in good scholastic standing in Harvard college, except freshmen, are not required to attend the last class immediately before, or the first class immediately after a one-day holiday. Harvard has a number of these brief holidays and most of them fall on week-end dates which are scheduled for football games. The cuts from classes, however, are recorded, and, if the student concerned shows an unsatisfactory record scholastically, they will be used in the determination of his standing.

To come closer to home, note the action taken by Drake officials in regard to the Notre-Dame game this Saturday. By formal sanction, several hundred co-eds will journey to Chicago and participate in the festivities in connection with the contest. They, along with men students of Drake fans, will make the trip on special trains.

There is no reason why the Iowa ruling ought not be changed, or rather, improved to allow more leniency regarding class absences within proximity of football games held out of Iowa City. Why not modify the rule along the lines of Harvard's action and send a cheering student body to the games unmolested by thoughts of shaky scholastic standing resulting from unexcused absences. Which change might alleviate much of the prevarication employed by the absentees.

Wisconsin Backers Withdraw the Hammers
Along with the renovated interest and enthusiasm revealed by Wisconsin alumni after the Purdue-Indger game in spite of the latter's defeat, the sour cream of the Badger gridiron situation has lost much of its curdle. Thousands of alumni who, for three successive Sundays, have launched criticism and satire against the team of their alma mater now laud the bitter fight waged by Wisconsin against superior forces. The only critics, then it would seem, are limited to the barber shop and pool room addicts.

Still Riding High
No less than 29 major college and university football teams have slipped this far through the present season, now rapidly approaching its climax, with records yet to be marred with defeat. Leading the pack of 14 unbeaten or untied elevens and 15 undefeated but tied teams, struts Pittsburgh with six straight victories. The Panthers have rolled up 262 points in their triumphs, but must bow to Texas U. and St. Mary's, California, in defensive records, as the latter boast of an uncrossed goal line.

The undefeated and untied teams and their victories are: Pittsburgh, 6; Tulane, 6; Tennessee, 5; Ohio U.; Texas Christian, 5; Western Maryland, 6; Kentucky, 5; Minnesota, 5; Purdue, 5; Notre Dame, 5; Utah, 4; Spring Hill, 4; and Stetson, 3. The unbeaten yet tied teams and their records are: Davis and Elkins, 6 and 1; Texas, 6 and 1; Boston College, 5 and 1; Villanova, 5 and 1; California, 5 and 1; Duquesne, 5 and 1; Rider, 4 and 1; Fordham, 4 and 1; Detroit, 4 and 1; St. Mary's, Cal., 4 and 1; Baldwin-Wallace, 4 and 1; Washington-Jefferson, 4 and 2; Springfield, 3 and 2; and Southern Methodist, 3 and 3.

Freshman Baseball Practice Continues West of Field House

Although freshmen lectures prevented a large part of the regular squad from reporting for practice yesterday, the men who were able to come out received a period of special instruction from Coach Clayton B. Thompson.

Cooper, a southpaw, was shown how to field his position after delivering the ball to the plate, and was taught the art of concealing from the batter the kind of ball that was pitched. Ingram, another left hander, cut loose with some fast ball pitching under Thompson's tutelage.

University Hi to Drill for West Liberty

Failing to upset their jinx in Friday's tussle with Wellman, university high gridmen began training for the battle with West Liberty, scheduled for Armistice day, on Iowa field.

The first thing on last night's program was a council of war called by Coach Handy, in an endeavor to ascertain just what mistakes the men had made in their game Friday, and ways of correcting them.

Injuries which put three of the regulars on the side lines, handicapped the coaches and he placed reserves in the gaps left vacant. Perkins, hefty right tackle, was out with a sore neck, while Sook, who is taking care of the fullback job, has a pulled muscle in his knee. Lenz, pivot man, didn't show up for practice, because of an infection.

Most of the period was spent in signal drill and rehearsing plays to be used against the invaders. Kiehl was replaced by Joe Cannon at left end during most of the session, while the rest of the line was loaded with reserves. Means taking the place of Perkins at right tackle, and Kinde handling the ball from center.

Major Lettermen Back
Other major letter men are: Liddle, Van Horn, Captain Crookham, and Larsen in the crawl, and Harvey Lloyd, a back stroke artist. Nyholm, a veteran diver, Lowell another back stroke man, and Wright in the breast stroke, are the three who were awarded minor letters last year. Mitalvsky, crawl, and Carsen, back stroke of last year's varsity, will also be out this season.

Among the sophomores who will give the veterans plenty to worry about are: Bagon, Brotman, Benson, Criswell, Field, Finfer, McCulley, Mohl, Naylor, and Snell in the crawl; Mohl, Brotman, and Garlock, in the back stroke; Evans, Naylor, McCulley, Naylor, Weld and Weeber, breast stroke, and Lobbell, Smith, Persenfeld, and Rawdon, divers.

Varsity Drills Tonight
Though regular practice for the varsity will not begin until tonight, most varsity swimmers have been working out two or three times a week for the last month and a half in an effort to get in condition for the strenuous training grind this winter. Competition for regular berths in every event, especially the 40 and 100 yard crawl, should be intense, as last year's yearling aggregation boasted several stellar splashers in nearly every event.

At present it appears that Coach Armbruster will be weakened in the breast stroke, as Rollie Evans, the only outstanding man in this event, is ineligible until the second semester. However, there are several varsity candidates who may develop with practice.

Lloyd Battles Mohl
In the back stroke it looks as though Lloyd, letter man last year, and Mohl, a sophomore, who broke the university record last spring, will wage a pretty battle for supremacy, with Lowell, Carsen, and Brotman on their heels.

Boyd Liddle, all-around swimmer and high point scorer last year, seems to be the class of the crawl stroke, although Petersen, Crookham, Larsen, Mohl, Finfer, Field, Snell, Van Horn, Bagon, and Criswell, have all made good times in the sprints, and McCulley, Naylor, and Finfer are promising distance men. Diving should be well handled by Nyholm, a veteran, and Lobbell, Persenfeld, Rawdon, and Smith, star sophomores.

Armbruster to Build New Swim Team

Varsity Natators to Open Drills for First Session

Around a nucleus of six letter men, three minor "I" winners, and 19 numeral men, Coach David A. Armbruster will attempt to develop a tank team which will bring home a Big Ten championship for the first time. Coach Armbruster issued the official call for varsity swimmers last week.

However, last night the meeting was postponed until today, when Armbruster will talk to his aspiring natators in the field house lecture room at 4:15.

Though the team will be weakened by the loss of Bender, diver, and Hoegh, a breast stroker, and both major "I" men, and Williams, another breast stroke man, their places should be amply filled by a score of tanksters who will come up from the ranks of the freshmen.

Art Petersen, a crawl stroker, and winner of a major letter two years ago, has returned to school and will be another addition to the varsity squad although he will not be eligible until the second semester.

Wheat Values Slip Slightly

Liquidation of Stocks Shows Effect

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Renewed liquidation of securities and an increased visible supply of wheat had a depressing effect on wheat values today. Selling off at the start, wheat was weak throughout the session and closed at losses of 3/4 cent a bushel for the day.

The final prices were: December wheat, $1.24 1/2; March, $1.31 1/2; May, $1.35 1/2.

The opening slump was credited to the stock market weakness, but other market news was added later and bulls found little support in the situation.

The visible supply, instead of showing the anticipated decrease, was 1,239,000 bushels larger and now totals 60,000,000 bushels more than a year ago. The Liverpool market weakened in the late trading and demand for American wheat for export was extremely dull.

Midseason selling pressed wheat prices down to a maximum of 43 cents under the market level, but a reaction wiped out part of the loss. All grades were soft, but the No. 1 soft corn ranged around 1 cent and oats was only a fraction lower.

The conference will make its headquarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania and all medical sessions will meet at the Medical Center, Columbia university.

This meeting will be in joint session with the Association of American universities and through this joint session, opportunity will be given to university executives to exchange views with those who in the final analysis, are responsible for the directing and managing of medical schools. To obtain membership in the association, an institution must have a class A rating.

Prominent speakers will include: Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, and Dr. Burton D. Myers, president of the association.

Iowa Engineers Rate Hit as Entertainers

The Iowa Engineering society earned the title "royal entertainers" at the meeting of the American Water Works association held at Sioux Falls, S. D., last week. The society was given the task of providing diversion for the delegates to the convention and arranged a pheasant hunt for them. The extent to which the hunt was enjoyed by the delegates is evidenced by an editorial which appeared in the Engineers' News-Digest, New York publication. The editor of the magazine apparently was enthusiastic with the pheasant hunting in Iowa. He stated that after having listened to a round of lectures on technical subjects, nothing could have been more refreshing than a tramp through the fields in search of the birds.

Education Professors Speak at Convention

Both professors also took part in the various round table discussions.

Texas Pioneer Goes Back to Home in North by Wagon

By DOROTHY HOLOUBEK
Someone is going back to Wisconsin!

Yesterday Iowa City saw a remnant of the covered wagon creep slowly through its streets. The canvas-covered vehicle was drawn by two bony brown and white horses. The horses were driven by an old man, with a white beard and twinkling eyes.

His name is Eugene Bass. He is 70 years old, and is traveling from the San Louis district of Texas to northern Wisconsin. Twenty years ago, Bass followed the route he is now retracing when he journeyed with the rest of the thrift-seekers into the great spaces of the southwest.

"Yes ma'am! I'm goin' back—there ain't no place in Texas where it ain't dryin' up. All the farm stuff, all the stock is dryin' up. If I stayed there longer maybe I'd dry up," said this pioneer.

He is going to stay with his sister who still lives in Wisconsin. He hopes to find farm conditions improved in that state.

Mr. Bass said that he had been on the road for two months. It will take several more weeks to reach his destination. But the pioneer has enjoyed his trip. His is the stock that settled the West—and now his work is done.

This old fellow carries in his moving house all the comforts of home. Here he has his bed with several blankets. Cooking utensils and some food were also there. A broken rocking chair and a water bucket peeped out from under the mattresses. There is even an old-fashioned stove, a pitch fork, and an axe. With the home atmosphere of a pipe and ashes—Iowa City again set eyes on a covered wagon.

Mr. Bass is fond of this house on wheels. "It has bring this old fellow a long way—and it's a goin' a long way more," said he, speaking of the wagon and himself. He was dressed in overalls and high boots. On his head was a slouch hat, and he wore several coats, the top one a sheep coat, the worse for wear.

Mr. Bass is on the way to his home. He hasn't seen it for many years. Wisconsin will see the return of a covered wagon—but Iowa has beaten them to it.

Engineers Organize Glider Club, F. P. Schone Adviser; to Build Two More Planes

Students Given Lessons in Gliding; Fly From Finkbine Field

Students of the engineering college who are interested in aviation have been doing more than just talking about the subject; they have organized a glider club. The first meeting was held Oct. 10 and the meetings have continued every Thursday night. Prof. F. P. Schone, instructor of aerodynamics, has backed the club and he is instructing the future Lindberghs in the basic principles of aviation. The theory of flight and gliding have been the subjects of his last two lectures.

The university has loaned the organization the use of the glider built here last year, and the men plan to fly it as soon as the joy-stick is repaired and a rubber rope to launch it with is received. Charles Kennett, golf coach, has been another faculty sponsor, and he has obtained quarters for the glider in the new stadium. Snow will not hinder the plans to fly as the skids under the airplane will function at all times. All of the flight experiments will be held on Finkbine field.

The engineers hope to build two more motorless airplanes before the year is up. The new gliders will be built in the engineering shops with the club financing the projects. With the enthusiasm shown the first month of its existence, there is no reason to believe that the club will not be an elementary school for some future aeronautical engineers.

The membership has been open only to engineers, but it has not been definitely decided whether students from other colleges will be admitted. Professor Schone and Coach Kennett are the only faculty advisers of the new society.

Following are the names of the charter members: R. E. Griffin, E2 of Iowa City; W. T. Larson, E1 of Sioux Falls, S. D.; A. G. Owen, E2 of Farmington.

PHI KAPPA RHO TO BUILD

New Home on Dubuque Street Will Cost $60,000

The Phi Kappa Rho fraternity, which has been living in temporary quarters on N. Clinton street since its chapter house was destroyed by fire last spring, signed a contract two weeks ago with the Crowl Construction company of Madison, Wis., for a new $60,000 house to be built at 710 N. Dubuque.

Plans for the new "Hillside Manor" were perfected at the semi-annual meeting of the national Phi Kappa Rho association in Iowa City, Homecoming. This is the first building campaign that has ever been launched by a local fraternity on the Iowa campus.

The new house will be of the English Tudor design, constructed of buff sandstone. The trimmings will be of a slightly-tinged limestone and the windows will be marked with small individual panes. The three-story structure will accommodate 36 to 40 men.

The distinguishing feature of the new house will be a spacious court along the north side. The type of stone in the wall of this six-foot addition will be in harmony with that of the house. A tall archway leads to the court on the west side.

The landscape of the west front porch will be marked by a terraced slope. By this porch entrance is made to the wide arched stairway into the house. Back of the court on the north side is a large gabled porch which will enter to the great hall. The hall will have a handsome fireplace and hard oak floors, with built in cornices. The first floor includes also the lounge room, ladies' guest room, cardroom and suite for the housemother.

Nine study rooms are located on the second floor besides the lower of the two dormitories that are built above the north porch. The third floor has eight study rooms and the large dormitory.

The chapter room in the basement extends under the terraced slope on the south of the building. The dining room, kitchen and maid's room are also located on the basement floor.

The five men who have been elected to the local building committee are: Chairman, Clyde James, E.A. '27 of Chicago; treasurer, Dean P. Thomas, E3 of Iowa City; Verne Weber, B.A. '27 of Chicago; David Loetscher, G. of Sibley; and Leo A. Hoegh, LI of Elkhorn.

After the lot was bought last year, the organization joined the Iowa Fraternity Advisory system. At a subsequent meeting it was decided that work on the new structure should begin in the near future so that it would be ready for occupancy at the opening of school next fall.

Phi Kappa Rho was founded by five Iowa men in April, 1923. Since that time the organization has grown until it now includes 40 men on the campus and 60 alumni.

In 1927 alumni members and members of the active chapter were organized into the National Phi Kappa Rho association for the purpose of a more close relation between the alumni and chapter, and to create a building fund. The national meetings are held semi-annually; the first one at Chicago in August, and the second at Iowa City on Homecoming day.

Following are the officers of the active chapter: President, Leo A. Hoegh, LI of Elkhorn; vice president, Ernest T. Olsen, A3 of Grinnell; secretary, Donald M. Mounce, A4 of Urbana; steward, Erwin Kuebel, A2 of Holstein; treasurer, David Loetscher, G. of Sibley.

Iowa Game Lures Nearly Half of Gopher Students

Nearly half of the University of Minnesota student body will migrate from Minneapolis next Saturday with the Iowa stadium and the Hawkeye-Gopher football game as the mecca.

A total of 5,000 tickets now have been sold by Iowa athletic department officials to Minneapolis. After selling 4,000 ten days before the game, the northern university expects to dispense with the additional 1,000 forwarded from Iowa City Thursday.

Never before has demand for stadium seats been as great at the rival university. It is possible that the Minnesota band will make the trip.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman club will meet Wednesday evening on the sun porch of Iowa Union. There will be dancing from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m., followed by a business meeting.

An airport at Los Angeles, now nearing completion, will have parking facilities for 800 cars.

"On Iowa" Recorded in Fox-trot Rhythm

Iowa university's songs, "On Iowa" and the "Iowa Corn Song" have just been recorded in fox-trot rhythm by Ray Miller and his Brunswick orchestra after repeated requests from sororities and fraternities on the Iowa campus.

This is the first time college songs have been recorded in fox-trot tempo by any record company. The songs of Northwestern are on the reverse side of the record.

Holloway Believes "Movies" Have Created "Art of Science"

"This is an art created by science. An art that is consumed by the entire population, it is driving out the drama which has been in existence for centuries," said the Rev. Rupert Holloway, Monday noon, as he addressed the Iowa City chamber of commerce on the subject, "Art in the motion picture industry."

"Here is an art," continued the Rev. Holloway, "that called for a new technique. Actors were required to act without the use of their voices, something which had never been done before. It is a peculiar medium of art because, as in life, and until a little over a year ago it came to us without sound, it was a 'dumb' art."

"It was in 1896 that this new art appeared. What it would be no one knew. It was a great experiment and many persons said of it as they later said of the automobile, it would not work."

"The Birth of a Nation" was considered by the Rev. Holloway as one of the greatest pictures ever produced because it was original. It was not "second hand" as many of our pictures today. Most of the pictures which are shown us are taken from stories of life as presented by novelists.

"Talkies," stated the Rev. Holloway, "have taken the art from the motion picture, which was created to show in silent acting various stories from life. What the motion picture industry will come to in the future nobody knows, because it is the hands of capitalists and they are making this an art primarily for the profits it will make for them."

"The motion picture is an art which appeals to 100 per cent of the people," he concluded. "It caters to everyone and has taken a prominent place as diversion for the entire world."

The Rev. Holloway is pastor of the local Unitarian church.
