BYRD SCARS OVER SOUTH POLE

Income Tax, Vane Case, to Open Session

Congress, Still Facing Tariff Bill, Busy to Christmas

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Income tax reduction and the Vane case confronted congressional leaders today as the first points of the program for the regular session began Monday.

These two propositions and the tariff bill will demand all attention until the Christmas recess.

An unsettled future for the senate was contrasted today by a well-defined course for the early days of the house which will begin work with the tax reduction resolution and then turn to the annual bills for government funds.

Returning to his post at the senate, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, found party and program troubles. After a day of conference it was determined only that the question of seating Senator-elect Vane, of Pennsylvania, would come up, by previous agreement, on Tuesday.

Vane Demands Recount

An immediate solution of the three year old dispute over Vane's right to a seat seemed in doubt tonight because of the new demand of the Pennsylvania for a recount of ballots in its counties. His request probably will not be acted upon until next week.

The senate also has the unfinished tariff bill confronting it. By the end of the first week it may have the income tax reduction resolution demanding attention, after hours of debate.

Reorganization of the senate committee among the faction-split republicans majority also is commanding consideration with several important assignments to be made.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, solved a problem in this connection today by announcing he preferred to continue as chairman of the finance committee, rather than become chairman of the appropriations committee, left vacant by the death of Senator Warren of Wyoming.

Senator Jones of Washington, will become chairman of the appropriations committee if he decides to give up his duties as assistant party leader. Senator McNary of Oregon will probably succeed to that office.

The western independents who have been opposing the tariff bill reported to the republicans on the finance committee are demanding representation on this committee in the reorganization, with Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, as their candidate. A lively contest is expected if La Follette is not chosen.

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Thanksgiving Killing

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—A coroner's jury composed of personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Pauley, found shot to death in their Gold Coast apartment Thanksgiving day afternoon, decided today that Pauley killed his wife while temporarily insane and then turned the gun on himself.

The bodies of the socially prominent pair were found by a bellboy who came to remind them of a dining engagement. When his knock was unanswered, he opened the door of the Pauley apartment with a pass key and saw the body of Mrs. Pauley leaning forward in a chair, blood trickling from a wound in her temple.

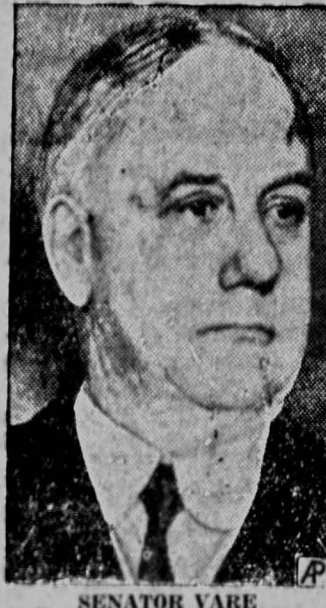

The body of her husband, who was chairman of the board of Miami Coal company, and a well-known clubman, was discovered in the bathroom. Evidence indicated that Pauley had stepped behind the chair of his wife, who was niece of the late Gov. Asa Bushnell of Ohio, and a once famous beauty; fired a single shot through her head as she bent over a cross-word puzzle and then stepped three paces back into the bathroom and shot himself.

Ocean Liner Clears Submerged R. R. Cars in New York Harbor

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Report of an encounter today between the Cunard liner Mauretania and the submerged wreckage of two railroad cars floats which collided with the liner early yesterday was received tonight in a radio message from Capt. S. G. E. McNeil, commander of the outward bound ship.

On the liner's second attempt to clear the harbor for Southampton, the message said, the engine room crew reported that the ship scraped a submerged obstacle as she passed the scene of yesterday's collision with her car floats, which caused the sinking of seven freight cars and damage to the bow of the Mauretania.

Seal Sales Drive Starts

Mayor Will Launch Annual Campaign

Mayor J. Carroll will buy the first Christmas seals Monday, giving his endorsement to the annual campaign conducted by the Johnson County Health association. The general letters with seals and a leaflet on tuberculosis activities will be mailed to the citizens of Iowa City on Monday.

According to William R. Hart, chairman of the sales campaign, a special effort is being made this year to have all business firms cooperate with the movement and fix a "seal ringer" seal to every letter and package which leaves their offices.

Last year the money made as a result of the sales campaign was divided between the Johnson County Health association, the Social Service league and the Visiting Nurses association.

Sheriff's Deputies Search for Crashed Plane in Mountains

INDEPENDENCE, Cal., Nov. 29 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies of Inyo county made a hurried trip into the mountains 17 miles north of here today on reports that an airplane had crashed.

No immediate verification of the report was possible because of the isolation of the territory and it was anticipated that it would require some time for authorities to penetrate the rough country and determine the accuracy of the report.

First rumors that a ship of the Nevada Air lines which flies planes between Los Angeles and Reno had fallen were soon discounted with statements from the company that all of its transports were accounted for.

OFFERED PRESIDENCY

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, has been offered the presidency of the New York Coliseum, it was announced by Coliseum officials today. The offer was made in a telegram to the steamship Vulcania on which Tunney is returning to the United States. Jess McMahon, who was voted out of the presidency at a meeting of the board of directors, is to be retained as matchmaker, it was announced.

Railway Company to Build New Foot Bridge Over River

This Means Taken to Prevent Casualties in Winter Weather for West Siders

A new foot crossing for west side residents will be provided by the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway company on its interurban bridge across the Iowa river in the near future, according to Henry G. Walker, attorney for the railroad company.

With the proximity of winter weather, with its ice and slippery coatings, Dr. W. L. Bywater, adenoma-large, asked that the company aid the city in taking this means of preventing casualties which have threatened many times in the past. The west side, Dr. Bywater points out, has exceeded the expectations of those in charge of the city's bridge program, and since residents of the city are in the habit of using the trestle as a short cut to homes and fraternity houses on the west side of the river, it is essential that this common crossing be made safe for foot traffic.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the company, Dr. Bywater's request was made known, and that body voted funds of $4,300 for the addition to the present structure. In addition to the river cross-

45 Will Wear Badge of Pi Kappa Alpha

Banquet, Formal Party, Climax Installation Ceremonies

Thirty alumni and members of Phi Kappa Rho were initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha national fraternity yesterday and when the ceremonies are completed at noon today 45 men will be wearing the badge of Pi Kappa Alpha. An initiation banquet was held at the Hotel Jefferson last night and a formal party at the Varsity ball room tonight will climax the installation ceremonies.

The charter of Pi Kappa Alpha was presented at the banquet last night and will be formally presented at a ceremony in Old Capitol today. This will be the seventy-fifth chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, and will be known as Gamma Nu.

Program Follows Banquet

Dean Robert E. Rlenow, Prof. Herbert Martin of the philosophy department, E. Raymond Moss, grand secretary of Pi Kappa Alpha, and John P. Paulson, district prince, were the principal speakers on the program following the banquet. H. G. Reuschlein of New Haven, Conn., formerly a student here, presided as toastmaster.

Leo A. Hoegh, president of the Phi Kappa Rho chapter, spoke a few words of welcome to the visitors and alumni, after which Russell Lundy, of Yankton, S. D., spoke on the work of Phi Kappa Rho in obtaining a chapter in Pi Kappa Alpha. He told of the purposes for which the original group was founded and of the ideals it hoped to attain.

Fraternity History Traced

Mr. Moss brought greetings to the new chapter from the national organization. He talked about the history of Pi Kappa Alpha and traced its development from the start.

The chapter was presented by Mr. Paulson to Mr. Hoegh's president of the local chapter. Mr. Paulson also spoke of the national organization and the relations which it is to have to Gamma Nu as the seventy-fifth chapter.

Dean Rlenow discussed the relations of the fraternity to college and university life and the place the college fraternity plays in educational systems of today.

Professor Martin, who was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha chapter at Transylvania college, Ky., talked on the outlook for the fraternity, its beginning of a new series of relationships, and the ideals of scholarship attainment for which the chapter should seek.

Friendship Averts War

He told a story of how a friendship formed by two college students avoided an international embarrassment and caused the United States world tour, to make stops in Japanese ports, after the original line-rary had not listed a single Japanese port as a stopping place.

Several short talks were then given by representatives of other Pi Kappa Alpha chapters and by visitors and alumni of the chapter.

Herb Miller of Des Moines and J. G. Roe of Cedar Rapids, former district officers of Pi Kappa Alpha, were introduced and each gave short talks.

Installation teams from Iowa State college at Ames, Beloit college, Beloit, Mich., and from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, are here aiding in the ceremonies.

Alice Washburn, 68, Star of 1910, Plays Leading Role Again

OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 29 (AP)—The pioneer days of moviedom flickered back today to bring again a leading role to Alice Washburn, one time premiere comedienne.

Miss Washburn, 68 years old, is dead. Forgotten by her townspeople, and those of a thousand cities over the country who once flocked to see her play with John Bunny on the screen, she acted out her last scene in Mercy hospital yesterday.

Some 20 years ago she was at the height of her career with the old Edison company in New York, usually taking the part of an elderly person. Fifteen years ago, broken by the work, she came back to Oshkosh to end her days in obscurity. Five years ago—though few Oshkosh people knew it—she was committed to the county asylum.

There, her mind failing, her thoughts still went back to the early days when movies were a novelty, 2,000 feet films the last word in modernity, and nickel houses took the part now played by monster theaters. Often, attendants said, she would act again the comedy roles which made her the 1910 synonym of a star.

A week ago she was removed to Mercy hospital, where heart failure caused death. Only a brother and sister were with her.

Court Hears Mrs. Putnam

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—A tiny grey haired woman, an innocent bystander at one of New York's killings, testified today at the murder trial of George A. McManus that she heard a "crash" in the Park Central hotel of the night of Nov. 4, 1928, and saw a man staggering down the hallway a moment later.

The witness was Mrs. Martin A. Putnam, a cafe owner of Asheville, N. C., and a guest in the Park Central the night the state contends McManus lured Arnold Rothstein there and shot him down in retaliation for "framing" a stud poker game against him, a game in which McManus lost $51,000.

Mrs. Putnam described how the man she saw in the hallway was running, testified today at the murder trial of George A. McManus that she heard a "crash" in the Park Central hotel of the night of Nov. 4, 1928, and saw a man staggering down the hallway a moment later.

Writer Sues Author of "Journey's End"; Says He Stole Plot

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Suit for injunction, accounting of profits and $200,000 damages was filed today in United States district court against R. C. Sheriff, author of the war play "Journey's End." Gilbert Miller, producer in association with Morris Brown, and Brentano, incorporated, publishers of the novelized version of the play.

The plaintiff, Katherine M. Burke Sherman, who described herself as a writer of dramatic composition, shot war stories and novellas for children, alleged "that the war play was plagiarized from her copyrighted three act play, 'Flags and Flowers.'" She drew the complaint herself, explaining that "because of lack of funds," she was unable to engage counsel.

Miss Sherman said the plot, the essentials of drama, much of the dialogue and all of the sentiments in "Journey's End" were taken from the manuscript of "Flags and Flowers" and that the denouement and climax of the war play paralleled the second act of hers.

Eavesdroppers Get Convicting Evidence on Liquor Violator

MUNGBIE, Ind., Nov. 29 (AP)—Convicted of liquor law violations on information supplied by neighbors who listened in on her party telephone, Mrs. Grace Hopping today received a suspended six months' sentence to the Indiana women's prison.

Her husband, Lewis Hopping, is serving a term at the state penal farm because of liquor found in his home when it was raided several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Odle, farm neighbors, listened to "nearly all" the telephone calls to the Hopping home, they testified in Delaware county circuit court today, and made notes of these from liquor buyers. The Odles created a sensation in court by revealing names of the purchasers.

DETECTIVES REINSTATED

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Lieut. Phillip Carroll and his four detective squad members were reinstated to the police department today after the murder charge against them was dismissed. The five were co-defendants with four reputed hoodlums, charged with slaying Octavius Granady, Negro politician, on primary day, 1928.

Nation Waits for Outcome of Byrd's Antarctic Flight

Trip More Hazardous Than Pole Trip

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—The outcome of the dash by Commander Richard E. Byrd, for the south pole was watched in the capital today from five distinct points—the scientific, the human, international, spectacular and aeronautical.

The explorer's brother, Tom, of the Tom, Dick, and Harry Byrd trio, the last named being the governor of Virginia, led Washington's watchers in direct interest.

Diplomats watched Byrd's efforts believing they might give rise to the question of title to land in the ice-locked Antarctic. First to come, however, might be the work of the map makers, who visualize a chance to draw more lines upon the globe.

In aviation quarters success by Byrd would mean valuable knowledge in aeronautical construction, navigation and the capacities of ships to perform under severe conditions.

The national geographic society, a sponsor and counselor of expeditions to all quarters of the globe, cooperated with Byrd and looked to his flight for further commendation of the south pole. Six of those instruments, credited by Byrd with a large share in the success of his north polar flight, were carried to the southern area. It was invented by the society's chief cartographer, Albert H. Bumstead.

"The Antarctic undertaking," the society said today in a statement, "is faced with difficulties far different than those encountered by the commander when he successfully flew his plane over the waste and barren reaches of the north pole.

"The north pole is in an ocean while the south pole is roughly in the center of what has come to be called the Antarctic continent, or Antarctica."

Byrd had the word of the society that no human inhabitants and little if any animal and plant life would be found in the bleak area surrounding the south pole, in contrast with the north.

Girl Pilots to Try Again

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29 (AP)—Disappointed but not discouraged by failure of their second attempt to better the world's refueling endurance record of 420 hours, 21 minutes, 30 seconds, Bobbie Trout, Los Angeles, and Elinor Smith, New York, girl flyers, today announced plans for a third try soon. Their biplane was forced down in the early morning hours when the gasoline supply gave out.

Failure to make contact with their nurse ship last night was responsible for the landing after the two women pilots had remained aloft 42 hours and five minutes. The time was a record for women endurance flyers, but was short of the men's mark set at St. Louis by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien. The flight eclipsed their own previous mark of 18 hours, 26 minutes set in the first attempt.

A frosty motor in the refueling plane balked the attempt to make contact, with the nurse ship forced to land in a plowed field. It was considered too hazardous to attempt a refueling with an emergency plane. The girl flyers said their next attempt would be tomorrow.

Stores Open In Evening

Iowa City merchants will open evenings for the accommodation of Christmas shoppers beginning Dec. 18, it was agreed last night at a meeting of the Iowa City Retail Merchants' bureau in the legion building.

This decision together with the agreement that a committee should be appointed to determine on what holidays Iowa City stores would remain open during 1930, came from an open discussion which followed a talk to the bureau by C. A. Gustafson, of Des Moines. Mr. Gustafson spoke on the state's proposal to raise $22,000,000 in taxes during the next two years through other channels than property tax.

A fish dinner was served preceding the meeting.

University Instructors Find Radium Lost From Hospital

Lapp, Waldbauer Locate Metal in Pile of Ashes by Use of Electroscopic Detection

Two University of Iowa instructors have succeeded in locating radium valued at $5,000 which had been missing for several days at St. Lukes hospital of Davenport.

A tube containing 10 needles filled with the precious metal disappeared shortly after it had been used by a member of the staff on Nov. 21. The possibility of it being stolen was slight. The belief of the hospital authorities was that it had been gathered up with the bandages and used gauze and consumed in the incinerator.

All known scientific measures were employed to no avail. The ashes in the furnace were removed and carefully examined. An electro-scope was rushed to Davenport from Chicago. It was an instrument with an indicator charged with electricity, warranted to detect radium when it came within the radius of radiation. The indicator was taken through every part of the hospital. It was thought possible the lost radium capsule might have reached. It was all in vain.

Desperate over the prospect of losing the precious radium, the University of Iowa was appealed to Wednesday afternoon. Two university faculty members, Claude J. Lapp, associate professor of physics, and Louis Waldbauer, associate in chemistry, answered the call.

They thoroughly went over the hospital's ash pile with delicate apparatus consisting of a tilted electro-scope operated in an automobile.

Radium was found in the first portion of ash they examined. The process of detection was continued within the hospital. Bushels of ashes were inspected for radium.

Lapp and Waldbauer found about 80 per cent of missing radium in one bushel. In the incinerator the radium's protective covering had been melted. Other bits of radium were found, widely scattered throughout the pile. It was deemed impractical to attempt to recover the minute particles.

The bushel of ash in which Lapp and Waldbauer detected the precious metal will be forwarded to an eastern chemical company to have the radium extracted. Thence it is to be sent to the bureau of standards at Washington to have its value determined.

The needles, each containing five milligrams of radium, were kept in a tube one and one-half inches long and about as thick as an ordinary lead pencil. At each end was a wide several inches in length, attached as a precautionary measure in its handling.

Hoover Wires Congratulations to Byrd Party

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—The New York Times announced tonight that it had been directed by President Hoover to forward through its wireless station the following message to Commander Byrd:

"Commander Richard E. Byrd, 'Little America,'

"I know that I speak for the American people when I express their universal pleasure at your successful flight over the south pole. We are proud of your courage and your leadership. We are glad of proof that the spirit of great adventure still lives. Our thoughts of appreciation include also your companions in the flight and your colleagues whose careful and devoted preparation have contributed to your great success.

"Herbert Hoover."

Winter Takes Toll in Deaths

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—The icy breath of premature winter blew down from the northwest today, bringing bitter winds and snowstorms, with attendant deaths and suffering.

At least four persons died as a result of the sudden zero snap that centered over the north central states; another, with hands and legs frozen, was thought to be dying in Clinton, Ill., and numerous highway mishaps throughout the western states were attributed to the snow and ice.

Wisconsin Man Frozen

One man was frozen to death in Racine, Wis., and another died in St. Paul, struck by an automobile as he shielded his face from the wind with his hands. A baby died in her mother's arms in Chicago, her head overfrozen by the cold, and an aged inmate of an Oak Park, Ill., infirmary was found frozen to death on the grounds of the institution. An unidentified man was found frozen in Clinton, Ill.

Up in Minnesota woods where the lowest temperatures in the country were recorded, fear was expressed for the safety of hunters unprepared for the severe cold, and farther north, near the cradle of winter, a 30 mile gale drove a blizzard over the Saskatchewan lakes where 50 fishermen were pushing north on a 60 mile trip. They had been gone three days.

26 Below in Minnesota

Thief River Falls, Minn., glanced through frosted window panes at the thermometer that registered unofficially 26 degrees below zero, the equal of White River, Ont., which had the lowest official temperature on the weather map. It was 16 below at Duluth and 20 below at Winnipeg.

A promise of abating cold was held out by the weather bureau for tomorrow but only after a night that threatened to be the coldest of the year thus far. Thermometers that stopped their downward run at 1 above zero in Chicago were to descend to 3 or even 6 below tonight. The skies were clear here, but parts of Illinois, the northwest, the Rocky Mountain states and Kansas reported snow flurries or blizzards.

Returns From Air Survey of New Regions

Commander Only Pilot to Make Trips to Both Extremities

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—The New York Times, the St. Louis Post Dispatch, and newspapers affiliated with them in publishing reports from Com. Richard E. Byrd's expedition, announce that Commander Byrd has safely returned to his base, Little America, after a successful flight across the south pole in which he surveyed much adjacent territory.

The flight was without mishap and everything worked well.

Commander Byrd's flight across the south pole has made him the first man in history to fly across both the earth's poles.

In May, 1926, in the trimotored Fokker airplane, the Josephine Ford, Commander Byrd flew from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, across the north pole and returned.

Fly Over Both Poles

That springtime flight required a total of 15 hours and 30 minutes and the round trip covered 1,600 miles. In addition to being the first to fly across the north pole, Byrd was also the first man to fly over it in a heavier than air machine. On that historic flight his pilot was Floyd Bennett, who died April 25, 1928, while attempting to rescue the crew of the transatlantic plane from Greely Island. Bennett was second in command of the Byrd Antarctic expedition and had intended to accompany the commander on the trip.

The flight across the south pole, begun yesterday, was the first attempt he had made to fly to the pole, although previously he had used airplanes in laying sub-bases on the route to the pole and in exploration trips.

Third to Reach Pole

He was the third man to reach the south pole. The first was Roald Amundsen, a Norwegian, who reached it Dec. 14, 1911, and a few days later he was followed by Capt. Robert F. Scott, British explorer. Both of them used overland methods of travel.

Bernt Balchen, pilot for Commander Byrd on the south polar flight, also was a pilot on the commander's transatlantic flight of June 29, 1927. With Bert Acosta and Floyd Bennett, they flew the monoplane America from Roosevelt field, N. Y., to Ver-Sur-Mer, France.

Balchen, chief pilot of the expedition, is a native of Norway and has had experience piloting planes under polar flying conditions. He assisted in all the tests to which the planes destined for the Byrd Atlantic expedition were subjected.

Operators Granted Leave

Harold I. June, radio operator of the flight, is a petty officer and pilot in the navy and was granted a leave of absence to accompany the expedition. He was chief engineer in the famous "billion dollar crew" of the Vanderbilt yacht during the war.

In addition to Balchen and June Commander Byrd was accompanied on his south polar flight by Capt. Ashley C. McKinley, an aerial photographer of St. Louis, Mo., Captain McKinley served from 1917 to 1926 in the United States army corps.

Commander Byrd's expedition reached the Antarctic in December of last year. After various reconnaissance flights from his base, he and his party established winter quarters on the ice barrier about the Antarctic continent. Only recently, with the coming of spring in that frozen territory, activity was resumed.

FLORENCE, Italy, Nov. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Easton Marty, 22 years old, of New York, taking an overdose of a sedative in the shock which followed the sudden death of her young husband last night, died in Vespucci hospital this afternoon shortly before her father-in-law arrived to comfort her.

Her husband, Jemuel G. Mariyn, Jr., yesterday, just after the young couple had eaten their Thanksgiving dinner together, fell down a flight of stairs in a public ballroom and fractured his skull. He died a short time later and his wife collapsed.

China Agrees to Peaceably Settle Crisis

Military Activities Reach Standstill; Russians Withdraw

(By The Associated Press)

Despite earlier emphatic denials by the Nanjing government, dispatches from several sources late Friday asserted that the nationalist government of China had agreed to negotiate directly to settle peaceably the crisis in Manchuria which had resulted in armed conflict.

From Geneva, Mukden, Tokyo and Shanghai, came categorical reports that the nationalist government had followed the lead of its Manchurian territory in making an independent truce with the soviet government, and had consented to negotiations with Russia to end the controversy over control and operation of the Chinese Eastern railway, the cause of dissension.

Military activities in Manchuria by Russian forces that forced this decision to arbitrate, apparently had divided to raiding attacks by soviet bombing planes upon western Manchuria communities. Russian forces are reported withdrawing from Manchuria.

China and Russia having initiated movements for peace, said a Paris dispatch, the United States, France, and other great powers, who had agreed to joint action to pacify the situation by dispatching a note to Moscow, refrained from communicating their views to Russia.

With developments toward peace on her extreme northern border, China's nationalist government gave further attention to quelling the civil war in her southern provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, which has threatened the city of Canton. Nationalist planes dropped bombs upon rebel troops along the Kwang si border and it was reported that Pres. Chiang Kai-Shek planned to take personal command of his troops, of whom 7,000 were reported available.

Central China bandits who took advantage of disturbed conditions to kidnap Mrs. Oscar Hollestad, an American missionary from her home at Sinyeh, Honan province, Thursday, released her after a few hours. Curtiss Backs Young Plan in Initial Speech

German Minister Calls Plebiscite Menace to Freedom

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Surprise even his friends by his aggressiveness, Dr. Julius Curtiss, Germany's new foreign minister, threw the weight of the German government behind the Young plan today in his first speech to the Reichstag since he succeeded the late Gustav Stresemann.

Dr. Curtiss, affirming that the Young plan was a great improvement over the Dawes plan, opposed on behalf of the cabinet the passage of the so-called "law against the enslavement of the German people," which came up for its first reading today.

He asked the Reichstag to reject the proposed law, which was introduced by the nationalists, and declared the recent plebiscite against the Young plan was an attack on the authority of the state.

After reviewing the efforts of post-revolutionary cabinets to explain to the world that Germany was not alone guilty of the war, he said the nationalist proposal for renouncing the German confession of guilt "attempts to run open doors, and is based on senseless assertions that German's foreign policy has been hitherto built on the recognition of her guilt in the war."

"The whole plebiscite demand is based on obvious dishonesty," Dr. Curtiss accused the nationalists of raising false hopes in the German people "as though international treaties could be abrogated and constitutions torn asunder at will by a plebiscite."

"It is nonsense to determine by a plebiscite that a people doesn't want to pay. Of course it doesn't want to pay. The only question is whether it must pay or not. A plebiscite on this question is sheer nonsense."

Tryouts were conducted by several members of Players. Names of the prospective members will be brought before the board of governors. The list of new members will be announced within two weeks.

World War Veterans Watch Comrades' Bodies Arrive

Seventy-five Bodies Returned From Siberia, Will be Taken to Middle West

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Ranks of veterans, fathers of families most of them, approaching middle age, some of them grown stout and a little grey, gathered on a pier in Hoboken today to receive the bodies of the last of their comrades home from war.

There around the flag-draped walls of a baggage room were ranged 74 caskets of American soldiers, back from Siberia after a journey of more than half way around the world.

Over one casket, the seventy-fifth, set apart from the rest and containing the body of a hero whose identity just forever be unknown, prayers were said, an oration was delivered, and soldiers fired a volley. From among 24 unidentified this boy was selected to receive the tribute accorded them all.

More than a decade ago on the dreary Siberian tundra they fought shoulder to shoulder, these veterans of the World War, now, and their sons, and their grandsons, whose remains came back to their own country today.

For more than 10 years these 75 cut down in their youth were to lie in lonely graves along the rivers, that wind sluggishly through the white Siberian wastes until their comrades could go back to get them.

Elizabeth Graves Finishes 4 Year Course in 55 Weeks

Phi Beta Kappa Gives Key to Teacher

Just to prove that college is not merely a matter of four hectic years of "getting by," Elizabeth H. Graves, a Mason City high school English instructor, completed a four year college course and received a B.A. degree last August after having attended five sessions of summer school at the University of Iowa.

This degree was not her only achievement, however, for Thursday, Nov. 21, Miss Graves was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society.

Miss Graves actually attended the university but 55 weeks. The usual college course includes four years containing 46 weeks each year. During the regular nine months while she was teaching, Miss Graves made up the difference in time by taking correspondence courses. Her major subject was English.

Studies have not taken all of Miss Graves' time during those months of preparation for earning a degree, for she has been active in the Mason City grade teachers' association and served for two years as president; she was first vice-president of the state teachers' association for one year, and has served on various committees. Miss Graves holds a life membership in the national education association and is a patron member of the Red Cross.

The Iowa graduate has taught in Mason City since 1908. Before going to that city she taught in rural and town schools since her graduation from high school in 1897.

Georgetown Professor Dies Suddenly in Washington

Noted Earthquake Authority Succumbs While Reading in His Room

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Father Francis A. Tondorf, 59 years old, was found dead in his room at Georgetown university today beside a desk on which there were two open volumes on earth disturbances, a field in which he was one of the recognized authorities of the world.

Father Tondorf, for years director of the university's seismological observatory, had been suffering recently from high blood pressure and a heart attack was believed to have caused his death.

Assigned to study earthquakes by the Jesuit order as a young man, he continued the work after he had shown particular aptitude. At the time of the Japanese earthquake in 1923, scientists generally knew his ability but this disaster brought it sharply to the public attention.

Hours before the cables began to quiver with the news of the catastrophe, Father Tondorf had given the Associated Press the news that there had been strong earth tremors about 6,000 miles from Washington and that Japan was probably near the center of the zone. More than twelve hours had passed and the news agencies in the east had carried no word of the disturbance.

"Oh, you'll hear from it eventually," Father Tondorf said, "for this one was a whopper."

Within three hours the news began to come from Japan and the story of death and destruction continued for days.

In addition to his specialty, seismology, Father Tondorf was a keen student of physics, pathology, and biology, and headed the department of physiology in the Georgetown school of medicine. He was a frequent contributor to scientific periodicals and was a member of a number of scientific societies. He was a native of Boston.

World's Farm Show Opens Exhibits at 30th Display Worth $5,000,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—The farmers' world's fair threw open its gates today with $5,000,000 worth of exhibits from 35 states, five Canadian provinces, and four foreign nations on display at the thirtieth annual international livestock exposition and hay and grain show. The exposition continues until Dec. 7.

Animal aristocrats from 40 breeds are represented in the 12,000 head of purebred cattle, horses, sheep and swine competing in the livestock divisions and in the hay and grain show, samples of crops from the richest farms in the country are on exhibition.

4-H Club Meets
As an adjunct of the international exposition, the national congress of 4-H club will be in session with 1,500 farm boys and girls from throughout the United States taking part in a variety of contests.

The collegiate and non-collegiate livestock judging contests were the opening events on the program for today and tomorrow. Eighteen states were represented in the non-collegiate contest today and 21 agricultural schools, including the Manitoba agricultural school of Winnipeg and the Ontario agricultural school of Guelph, Ont., are entered in the collegiate event tomorrow.

Many Foreign Entries
Entries in the livestock divisions have been received from England, Scotland, Belgium, and Australia, while Canada is represented by exhibits from British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ontario and Manitoba. Canadian competition is expected to be particularly strong in the sheep and horse departments, and Canadian wheat and grain growers are also expected to make a keen bid for winning back these championships which were won by the United States entries last year.

Enjoy Your Own Rhythm!

Stars swing in circles, seagulls curve on winds, babies walk by balancing. Everywhere in Nature is rhythm, everywhere in art. Rhythm and balance are twins—in walking, dancing, skating, swimming, singing—and in poetry, architecture, painting. Are you conscious of your own rhythm—the dance of life?

Useless Women at Kansas U.

WOMEN on the University of Kansas campus are useless according to Joe McDowell, law student, who recently won the oratorical contest at the above mentioned institution. His subject was one that he had chosen himself and one which he defended in such a manner that the co-ed organizations had no alternative but to present him with a silver loving cup for his well outlined speech.

The points which the speaker emphasized were: is their presence necessary, and do they benefit the university by being here?

The analogy which he used was to the extent that woman lowers herself by coming into the class room and not only that but she serves as a distraction to the general student body. Her place is in social life. And if she does make school work at Kansas a specialty, she does not get her lessons and leaves school with a lot of foolish ideas in her head.

He concluded his speech by saying that the co-eds neither herself nor the university any good while there so therefore she is not helpful to the university.

Of course the young orator did not believe this himself but because of the unusualness of the topic he developed it so as to make it sensational and deserving of the school championship. It is apparent that he did not want to be so cruel as to advocate that women should be left out of state institutions of learning and have to seek an education at boarding schools or women colleges. If he is serious about it, however, he should go to some exclusive men's school.

It is generally expected by all that most men rather like to have co-eds around and their distractions are not so great that the student's scholarship will be lowered. Then, too, there are many women who take school seriously and every now and then one finds them traveling to the library to do a bit of studying and research work.

Yale experts will study the ape for the key to man's behavior. We don't know whether the joke is on man or the ape.

Entertainment Monopoly

MOVING picture industries today enjoy a monopoly of the entertainment in all the cities of the country. This is reflected in the prices charged in the middle western cities for what the public gets out of an ordinary evening's entertainment.

Before the government lifted the amusement tax the same price was charged. Now, there is no tax, yet the price remains the same. We realize that one 50 cents would not make or break a leading moving picture company. It is the mass of half dollars that daily roll in the window that gives us the lavish talking picture productions.

We also understand that with royalties to authors, and songwriters, salaries to actresses, producers, and technicians that all of our money goes to its purpose.

There is one thing that is not understood and as far as we know has never been made clear at any time. Why in Chicago, can you see a lavish stage show, symphony concert, organ recital, and a first run movie for 65 cents, while in Iowa City and other cities just a movie is seen for 50 cents.

It can, thus, be seen that it is the movie houses in the "provinces" that send the profits to the leading companies, only to have the surplus expended luxuriously in the larger cities. The public is ignored when it comes to receiving anything in proportion of what is paid.

Everything moves in cycles—but cycles or no cycles, the Iowa people continue to pay and receive practically nothing.

The men who conceived Soldiers field in Chicago must feel as they look up at the massive grandstands that the man who said—"there's gold in them thar hills" was badly mistaken. The report on the finances of the monster stadium shows a loss of over $100,000 in the first year's operation.

Buy Seals Now!

THE CHRISTMAS seals campaign has started, the purpose of which is to obtain money for anti-tuberculosis work. The goal for Iowa City is $1,200. Say that there are 20,000 persons in Iowa City, divide the goal by the total inhabitants, and the quotient is six cents worth of seals. Only six cents worth for each person. That six cents would go toward the sum for tuberculosis work, and might help save some child.

The seals are in colors of red, gold, and blue. They offer an attractive seal for letters or Christmas packages. Do not stop with buying six seals. One can well afford to buy more for such a worthy cause.

OUR NEXT SENATE

OF INTEREST to political minded readers will be the line-up of the committee assignments in the United States senate at the opening of the regular session which will convene in December. Important changes are sure to follow the committee on committees' report in the upper chamber.

The death of Senator Warren, senior senator from Wyoming, will leave the chairmanship of the appropriations committee vacant. The next in line for this position is Reed Smoot, who is having trouble deciding on whether to take charge of this important group or remain in the chairmanship he now occupies.

Senators Jones and Keyes are next in line for the opening. Both are chairmen of committees at present in which they are interested and it is unlikely that they will drop these positions to assume charge of the appropriations group.

Senator Edge of New Jersey, is another who has dropped important duties as senator to accept a position as ambassador in the diplomatic service. He leaves several prize committee assignments to be divided up among the new senators. The death of Senator Burton of Ohio, long a prominent figure in the republican party, leaves a chairmanship and several assignments vacant.

The situation brings to mind the state of affairs existing at the regular session of the long term in 1925, when the republican party was faced with the dilemma of losing control of the upper house while possessing a strong majority in the lower chamber. The count in the senate showed 48 republicans, 46 democrats, a farmer labor senator and one vacancy.

But included in the republican ranks were: Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa republican who had been censured by the party and denied a seat two years previously; Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., who had lost his committee assignments in the previous session; Norris of Nebraska, who had also been relieved of assignments because he thought independently; Blaine, Nye and other independent thinkers whose actions in the preceding session had brought the wrath of the party down on their heads.

The republican organization was in a real predicament. The nation held it responsible for carrying out election promises and the radical group could block every move unless apologies were offered and committee assignments distributed according to their wishes. The party had no choice in the matter and when the committee assignments were posted the so-called radicals were on every committee of any importance.

This younger element is still strong in the senate. Already their voices can be heard in the pre-session talk concerning committee assignments and no doubt the complexion of the next senate will be determined to a large extent by these men.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Gordon C. Gauss

SCABBARD AND BLADE
A regular blizzard ushered winter to Iowa City Thursday and yesterday the temperature stayed far enough below the freezing mark to convince even the most skeptical that autumn is gone. Pedestrians hurried along the street endeavoring to escape from the nipping cold. Women buried their heads in the warmth of their fur collars, while the men turned up their overcoats and walked with their hands over their ears.

Bad as the weather was on the humans, it was worse on automobiles. At the foot of almost every hill were cars stalled, and wrecking trucks spent the day towing them in. This, however, was not so bad as Thursday night when the cars skidded wildly over the icy streets despite the efforts of the drivers.

One bright spot in the situation was the spirit of helpfulness which prevailed. Many passing motorists aided those in distress by pushing or towing the cars or taking the drivers of stalled autos down town to get gasoline. That seems just a little thing, and it only took a few minutes time, but such acts are certainly appreciated by those in trouble. Who says the world is getting worse?

Residents of Manville heights, and especially the members of the new fraternity colony, feel like giving Dr. W. L. Bywater and the city council a vote of thanks for putting through the project of a foot-bridge along the interurban trestle. It is one of the best safety measures which has been introduced here for years and also will greatly facilitate walking to and from Manville heights.

Yesterday both the Chicago Tribune and the Des Moines Register carried articles voicing the opinion that Iowa will be readmitted to the Big Ten next week without even having to present her application. No authority for the statements is listed, so there is no way of knowing just how accurate is this information.

Nevertheless, it is heartening to Hawkeye fans. It demonstrates that at least someone believes much as we do. The article went on to voice the opinion that only Chicago, Michigan, and Illinois still cling to their "holier than thou" attitude. Other schools, it points out, believe they were a trifle too hasty last May.

We hope the reporter was accurate in his estimate that at least six Big Ten schools have turned to favor Iowa. But no matter what the sentiment of the conference, Iowa should fight to the last ditch for readmission. We do not want our representatives going to Chicago as supplicants pleading for mercy. We have no reason to do that. Rather we want them to battle things out as men fighting for justice. Because that is Iowa's position. She asks no favors; she seeks only her rights.

One man had a real Thanksgiving dinner. He is H. H. Green of Miami, Okla., who was crossing a street when a fat wild duck fell at his feet. Evidently the bird had been flying low and had hit an electric light wire. So the Green family had duck for dinner. Some people have all the luck.

Fraud Sellers Need Muzzles

Professor Says "Blue Sky" Laws No Help

To the tune of about one billion dollars annually, the gullible public will continue to fall prey to the smooth wiles of the fraudulent securities salesman until the federal government muzzles such parasites. So believes Prof. Elmer W. Hills of the college of commerce. State "blue sky" laws, he said, combining security sales permits and dealer licenses, have failed to defeat the crooked promoters, although how all states except Delaware and Nevada have such laws on their books.

With the nimbleness of his kind, the salesman often counts on completing his illegal work and making his getaway before officers discover that he has no permit. If he does operate with this document, usually he has perjured himself in setting forth information required by the state.

Lack of uniformity is another drawback to state laws, according to Professor Hills. A hopeful step in the direction of greater uniformity, however, is the functioning of the Association of State Security Commissioners.

It has been suggested that the government control the situation through the federal trade commission, upheld constitutionally by the United States supreme court, the commission probably could ferret out information to reveal the dishonesty of investment schemes, the university man said.

Fraud has become widespread following the World war, when the American public suddenly turned investor. The desire to own securities was kindled by the Liberty Loan campaigns.

Hearing reports of fabulous dividends declared by some corporations, former conservative citizens believed they saw a road to rapid and permanent wealth. Then entered the crafty promoter, who without even securing a charter, issued ornate gold-embossed certificates in exchange for cash.

Curator of Museum at Colorado College to Lecture Tuesday

Prof. W. W. Postlethwaite of Colorado college will deliver an illustrated lecture Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the chemistry auditorium. The lecture will also include an account of the excavating of important ruins in places such as Chaco canon and Pijoles canon, and a description of the life and customs of the Pueblos.

Professor Postlethwaite is curator of the museum of Colorado college and is in close touch with archaeology in the southwest. He is president of the Colorado Springs branch of the Archaeological Institute and is also connected with several scientific societies.

The purpose of this lecture, which is under the auspices of the Iowa Society of the Archaeological Institute, is to create for the public an interest in the work of the institute in the southwest.

Notre Dame to Make Final Stand in New York Against Army Gridders

Irish Close Season With Cadet Joust

82,000 to Witness Eastern Classic in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—The eastern football season will be brought to a spectacular climax tomorrow by the attempt of Capt. Red Cagle's gallant Army team to check the wild rush of Notre Dame's warriors, undefeated contenders for the national gridiron championship.

The odds tonight were all in favor of Notre Dame, in spite of the fact that the fighting Irish will enter the fray without their star center, Tom Moynihan, who broke his ankle a week ago, and minus the coaching direction of the famous Knute Rockne, kept at South Bend with an infected leg to listen to the game by radio.

To make it a colorful finish to the eastern season, the greatest crowd of the year in this gridiron sector is expected to pack the Yankee stadium to a capacity fixed officially at 82,500.

$400,000 Crowd
At the face value of $4 each, the total for the game will exceed $325,000 but the actual prices paid probably will make the cost of admission pass $400,000.

With the exception of Moynihan, the Irish center, and Dick O'Keefe, star Army halfback who is suffering from a head injury, both squads were reported to be in good condition. O'Keefe will be unable to play and his place will be taken by Jim Glatto, South Dakota product who has developed rapidly this season.

Notre Dame is expected to start its first string line with Nash replacing Moynihan at center, and the second-string backfield, composed of Gebert, O'Connor, Schwartz, and the battering-ram, Joe Savolli, who is considered a more dangerous ball carrier than the first string fullback, Larry Mullins.

Army Starts Regulars
The Army, according to Coach Jones, will start its regulars, with Captain Cagle and John Hertz Murrell, the fullback, supported in the backfield by Glatto and Red Carv, quarterback.

For West Point and Captain Cagle, the contest offers a chance through triumph to redeem a season of disappointments. Beaten by Yale and Illinois, led by Harvard, the Cadets have failed to win a single major engagement so far.

In the struggle of stamina and wits, speed and resourcefulness, the dramatic elements will center about the fleet-footed Cagle, and the versatile Frank Carideo, Notre Dame quarterback, rival candidate for all American honors. Cagle has all American reputation to sustain and Carideo has one to clinch.

Native Hawk Will Return as Coach of Duquesne Five

A native Iowan who starred athletically at Notre Dame will return to the Hawkeye state Dec. 9 as coach of an eastern basketball team.

He is Elmer Layden, former resident of Davenport, who, in 1924, was a member of the famous backfield known throughout the nation as the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame.

Layden now is coach at Duquesne university of Pittsburgh, and will bring his case squad to the University of Iowa field house court to meet the Hawkeyes in the season's first game.

Iowa never before has scheduled an athletic contest with Duquesne. The game is one of two inter-sectional battles in December, the other being the clash with the University of Pittsburgh team, Dec. 16.

Two Texas Teams Clash in Title Game

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 29 (AP)—Texas Christian university and Southern Methodist university, survivors of a grueling season, will clash at Ft. Worth tomorrow in a game to decide the Southwest conference championship. Twenty thousand fans, the utmost capacity of Clark field, will watch the two undefeated eleven scrap it out for frontier honors.

Texas Christian enters the title tilt with a perfect record, nine consecutive victories, four of them over conference opponents. Southern Methodist's cranked young team, which has gained power gradually after a slow start, faces the crucial battle with a record of six victories and three ties for the year.

Young Leads Big Six in Scoring

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 29 (AP)—Three touchdowns by Robert "Red" Young, Nebraska fullback, scored against Iowa State Thanksgiving day in adding his team to a 31 to 12 victory and a Big Six football title, also boosted him into the individual scoring lead of the conference. His total was 30 points scored by five touchdowns.

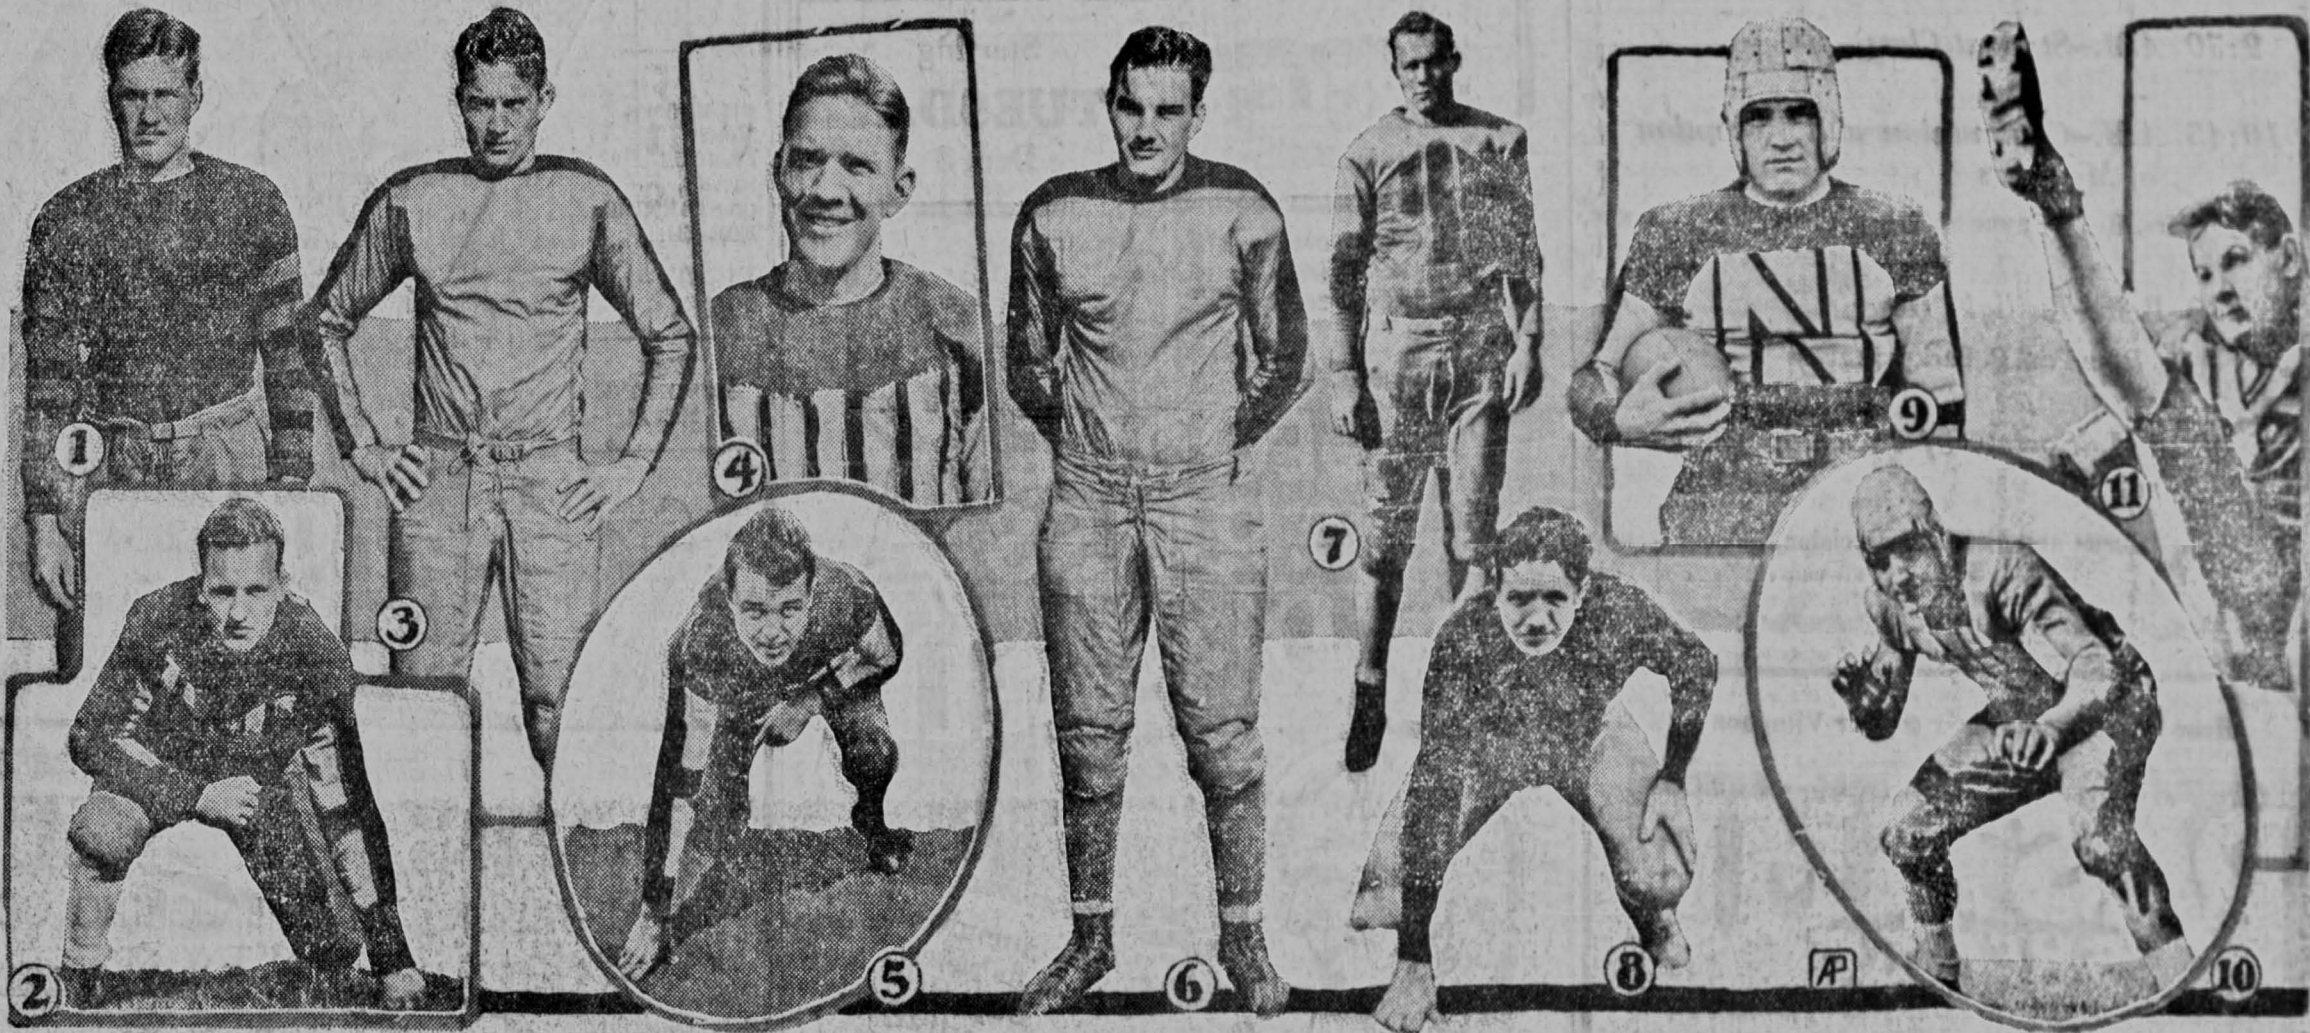

Russell Dills, Missouri quarterback, leaped into second place from comparative obscurity by scoring three touchdowns and adding one point after, in the last two games. Incidentally he scored all but one of the Tigers' points in these games, James Bausch and Cox of Kansas and Warren of Oklahoma tied for third with 24 points.

ROBERTS, GLASSGOW NAMED ON BIG TEN ALL-STAR TEAM

The Associated Press all-star team of the Western conference selected with the advice of coaches, officials and sports writers, includes three of the Purdue aggregation which won the Big Ten championship. Ralph Welch was placed at half, Glen Harmon at quarter and Elmer Sleight at tackle. Three of the Northwestern team were picked—Russell Berghern at fullback, Henry Anderson at guard and Milton Erickson at center. Willis Glasgow of Iowa, was named a half and Fred Roberts, also of Iowa, at guard. Minnesota's Bronko Nagurski is at tackle and Bob Tanner, Minnesota end, also was honored. Wesley Pesler, Ohio end, was selected again this year. Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Chicago did not place a man.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS NAMES BIG SIX ALL-STAR TEAM

Missouri placed three men on the all-star Big Six conference team selected by the Associated Press and based upon the opinions of officials, coaches and sports writers. Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and the Kansas Aggies each landed two places. Ames was not represented. The players are: 1, Ray Smith, Missouri, center; 2, George Atkison, Kansas, guard; 3, Keith Hursley, Missouri, end; 4, Frank Crider, Oklahoma, halfback; 5, Tom Church-ill, Oklahoma, end; 6, John Waldorf, Missouri, quarterback; 7, C. O. Tackwell, Kansas Aggies, tackle; 8, K. C. Bauman, Kansas Aggies, guard; 9, Clair Sison, Nebraska, fullback; 10, Raymond Rich-ards, Nebraska, tackle, and 11, James Bausch, Kansas, halfback.

Weightmen Brave Cold While Mates Work Out Indoors

A little group of ambitious weightmen, clad in sweat suits and parts of Eskimo apparel, braved the rigorous winter weather to take a short, snappy workout on Finkbine field yesterday afternoon. The weightlifters found it necessary to add another little exercise to their routine, for they found it in order to grab a handful of snow and rub it on an exposed ear or nose to bring it back to normal condition.

While the weight tossers were combatting the cold, their track mates were enjoying themselves inside the fieldhouse. Since intensive training will not start until after the Christmas holidays, Coach C. R. Brooks had his charges playing games.

The group was divided into two competitive sections. In the first game, using a football for a baton, a man would run 30 yards, crawl through a hurdle, and heave the ball to a teammate who returned in like manner. Crawling through the hurdle proved to be the downfall of the over anxious and provided entertainment for the spectators.

In the next event, a walking race, the long-legged tracksters had the edge over their fellows; but what the little fellows lacked in size they made up in speed and forced the race into a tie. Passing the baton and a lap around the track completed the practice.

St. Patrick's Cagers Drill for Alumni Tilt

A late practice was held by the St. Patrick's high school cage team last evening during which the Green and White engaged in a short scrimmage with an independent team.

Coach Lew is rounding his team into shape for the traditional tilt with the alumni which will take place Friday Dec. 6. There will also be a practice game with the Beta Psi fraternity team in the near future.

WEARING THE GREEN

There are many "promising" basketballers on Coach Jack Skien's yearling squad, but Morgan Dean Jones is, along with a few others, classed as "very promising." The two story lad from Coralville has an uncanny eye for the hoop, and unusual ability at the game.

This is the fifth year he is playing under Skien. For four seasons he shot baskets for University high quintet coached by Jack. In those years he developed into one of the outstanding prep performers of the state.

For four seasons he was the backbone of Blue and White fives that accomplished things in basketball. Jones was not only good on his own account, but he fired his teammates into action and the opponents invariably saw smoke. He not only consistently scored for U. high but his all-around floor play and feeding the ball to teammates made him a prime factor in the team's success. He is just a "natural" player.

His regime at U. high lasted from 1924 to 1928. He stayed out of school last year and worked at the Iowa City Henery to earn money to enter Iowa this fall.

He does not plan to go out for any other sport, but center his interest on basketball. His future plans are indefinite. He is enrolled in the college of liberal arts. His only ambition is to play basketball for Iowa. He stands six feet three inches and weighs about 170 pounds.

Gym Team Renews Practice Drills

Renewing their practice drills yesterday, interrupted by the holiday, 33 gym team candidates were pushed through their paces by Coach Baumgartner. Of the men who are at present members of the team, 11 are trying out for more than one event.

Three of these athletes are contestants in three events, and include

Sign Pedrie Sullivan for Preliminary of Legion Fight Card

Pedrie Sullivan, the popular Davenport sledgehammer, has been signed by the matchmakers of the fourth Legion fight show to be held Thursday, Dec. 5, to mix with Kid Reedy of Victor in one of the four-round preliminaries. The signing of Sullivan completes the card.

The completed card includes Edie Denison of Cedar Rapids vs. Carl Krieger of Mason City in a six-round headliner, Karl Kaufman of Iowa City vs. Kid Ray of Waterloo and Tex Pancho of Cedar Rapids vs. Jimmy Hamilton of Cedar Rapids. Other preliminaries are Pedrie Sullivan of Davenport vs. Kid Reedy of Victor and Young Stratton of Lone Tree vs. Red Feger of Waterloo.

The headliner will bring together two of Iowa's best middleweights, with Carl Krieger attempting to stop Edie Denison, the Cedar Rapids wildcat.

Reedy, opposing Sullivan, is an experienced glove-wearer who possesses impressive victories, notably one over Orley Thorrington who was a headliner in the last Legion show.

Previous victors in Legion shows, Jimmy Hamilton and Tex Pancho, will come together in the third six-round bout of the evening, while in a curtain-raiser Young Stratton will attempt to continue his string of Iowa City victories in a bout with Red Feger, a slugger with a powerful left. Alex Fidler, Cedar Rapids, will officiate.

John Snow, and Francis A. Merten, all of whom are trying out for the parallel bars, high bars, and the flying rings. Men who are competing in two events are Herbert C. Geo. Wilford J. Temby, Merlyn A. Lewis, Fred Berger, Howard J. Frantz, Melvin Dakin, Arlo Murphy, and Frank E. Swisher.

Strikes and Snares

The Mississippi Valley Bowling league will hold their fifth meeting in Iowa City Sunday at the Dea's bowling alley, when the six teams will battle for a better place in the league standing.

Iowa City will be represented by the five men who have made the best score on the trips to the other cities. They are: Moffitt, Bailey, Shoupe, Beak, and Irvine. The home team will attempt to bowl Cedar Rapids out of first place to take it themselves, when they meet. Moline meets Davenport while Clinton is tangling with Rock Island.

These should be three very good matches; according to the standings the teams that meet here Sunday will either be winning a new position or bettering their present one.

"Tuffy" Griffith Wins Decision Over Basque Woodchopper in Chicago

Iowa Fighter Slashes Way to Triumph

Young Mauler Sends Paulino to Defeat in Big Battle

CHICAGO STADIUM, Chicago, Nov. 29 (AP)—Jerry "Tuffy" Griffith bounded into the spotlight as a challenger for the world's heavyweight championship tonight, when he won the verdict over Paulino Uguado, the Basque woodchopper, in a grueling 10 round battle in the Chicago stadium.

The verdict of the referee and the two judges was not unanimous, however. Davey Miller, the referee, and W. H. Batty, one of the judges voted for Griffith. The second judge, L. E. Roberts, however, was unable to put either fighter in front, and voted for a draw.

The fight was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 17,000 with receipts in excess of $30,000.

Griffith's greatest speed, his more diversified attack and cleaner punching probably influenced referee Miller's general opinion, however, was the fact Griffith had the shade in five rounds with four for Uguado and one even.

Griffith's greatest speed, his more diversified attack and cleaner punching probably influenced referee Miller's general opinion, however, was the fact Griffith had the shade in five rounds with four for Uguado and one even.

Paulino, for the most part, centered his attack on the body, occasionally cutting loose with a heavy right swing to the head or a sweeping left hook. He called Griffith at least a half dozen times with solid left hooks to the chin, but could not upset him. Uguado forced the fighting from the start by always crowding in close and in the late rounds almost overcame Griffith's lead.

Griffith, a comparatively inexperienced pugilist, was in a heavy weight competition is concerned, traded punches for punches with the rugged Spaniard and showed himself capable of absorbing as many blows as Uguado, who has never been knocked off his feet.

Wounded Army. The general opinion of the referee was bitterly disappointed and angry, believing that he had won eight rounds and had won easily. He complained that the referee refused to let him stay in close to work on Griffith's body and that he was cautioned too frequently for what the referee considered violations of the rules.

Referee Miller repeatedly warned Paulino for using his backhand punches while in clinches.

"I cannot understand the decision," Paulino complained. "I think I won eight rounds. I might have ended the fight if the referee had let me stay in close. Griffith hit me often but he never hurt me, and my body blows hurt him. I know after the fifth round the referee broke me so often I couldn't keep at Griffith's body. I think I won the fight easily."

"Tuffy" Leads Fight. Griffith used his boxing ability to meet the determined charges of the Basque. The youthful Iowan kept poking long lefts into Uguado's face, crossing his right with deadly accuracy and hooked his left to the head and body with excellent results. His punches, however, seemed to make little impression on the durable Spaniard, even when they landed flush on the chin. Paulino always came charging ahead,

Glasgow Named by New York Sun on All-American List

Capt. "Bill" Glasgow, stellar halfback on the Hawkeye eleven, has been awarded a halfback position by the New York Sun on its first All-American team. Glasgow is the second Hawk player to receive a berth on the mythical eleven in the last two years. Westra was selected for a guard position by the Sun last season.

The selection of Captain "Bill" as a full conference halfback has been nearly unanimous by sports critics throughout the country. The Sun is the first paper to make an All-American choice.

Hawk Mentor Scrimmages Iowa Cagers

Reserves, Varsity Lack Efficient Defense; Few Fumbles

Entries on the varsity basketball post Thanksgiving menu yesterday consisted of a half hour of practice at basket shooting, a brief drill on out of bound plays, and an hour of formal scrimmage between the varsity and the reserves. Football tactics marked the scrimmage, in which the subtle technique of basketball was muddled by holding and tackling, and personal fouls were frequent.

In spite of the roughness of the game, it was remarkably free from fumbles, and both sides scored consistently. Nelson dropped some neat ones for the varsity, and the reserves were well represented on the tally sheet by Hildebreth and Simpson. Simpson, especially, proved himself a past-master at arching long ones from the middle of the floor.

Neither group was efficient on the defense. This was due to a lack of practice in that division of the game, and will be well taken care of in formal scrimmages with the blues next week.

The varsity lineup was composed of: Spradling and Nelson, forwards; Lecka, center, and Kinnam and Reinhardt, guards. Hildebreth and Talbert, as forwards; Simpson, center; and Schwartz and Divocky represented the reserves.

Coch Williams has divided his squad into two groups, in order to facilitate scrimmage sessions. All the forwards and the veteran centers and guards have been put into Old Gold outfits, while the inexperienced guards and centers are in white outfits. This division is of no significance as far as playing line-ups are concerned, as no position are etched to date.

Sporting the Old Gold suits are: Spradling, Plunkitt, Nelson, Talbert, Reinhardt, Hildebreth, and Williams, forwards; Benson, Simpson and Lecka, centers; and Kinnam, Constant, David, Reinhardt, Jebens and Mitchell, guards.

The "whites" are Hannum and Hannes, centers; and Klein, Trickey, Hrazt, Schwartz, Arriagno, Musgrove and Divocky, guards. Art Hannes, a sophomore from Council Bluffs, is also being considered as a guard.

They're off. As they yelp in race track pandemonium. They're off! The barrier shoots up this afternoon in the field house and 18 fraternities will be off on the long drive that leads to the interfraternity championship.

Last year's winner of the Greek title, Phi Beta Delta five, goes into action against Sigma Alpha Epsilon entry, with the idea that it is not impossible for a team to annex two consecutive crowns. It is a popular superstition that it can't be done, but the Delta quintet is hankering to do the impossible.

Beta Psi, runner-up in the finals last spring, take the floor against Triangle team. The Betas will be represented by another strong team in this year's race.

Delta Upsilon and Alpha Chi Sigma clash in section 1. In section 2 Phi Epsilon Pi and Phi Kappa Sigma will battle. Delta Chi meets Sigma Phi. Beta Theta Pi takes on Alpha Tau Omega. Alpha Kappa Psi clashes with Phi Kappa Rho. Delta Sigma Pi faces Sigma Nu. Sigma Alpha Epsilon will fight it out with Phi Beta Delta.

"Dad" Schroeder is directing the tourney again this winter. He will be assisted by Bill Glasgow, Freddie Roberts, and John Joseph Fuhrman.

All contestants are instructed to be on the floor on the dot if they entertain any hopes of victory. Participants are to be prepared for battle with today's afternoon.

John Cannon—BIG BERTHA OF NOTRE DAME'S LINE.

When it comes to those stalwart shoulders of a football line—the guards—Notre Dame enthusiasts will readily nominate their own Cannon and their truly arresting John Law as first All-American choices for 1929.

That pair is ideal in most respects—strong, fast-charging rush-line blockers and sure tackles on defense; battering-ram hole openers and superb interferers on offense. No wonder Rockne's "Four Horsemen Plus" shock 'em with both Cannon and the force of the Law up front to blast the way.

But there are fully a dozen guards this season who just can't escape All-American consideration. There's Barrager of Southern California—easily the most admired guard on the Pacific coast for two seasons. Trojan rosters may talk of him as long as Yale men do of Truxton Hare. He's rated considerably higher than Schwartz of California, but those who saw that Golden Bear's play against Penn a few weeks ago can hardly imagine that Barrager or anyone else can be better.

Down south, Florida thinks its Steele is the perfect guard; Tulane raves about Bodenger; Georgia Tech extolls Westbrook; North Carolina sings of Farris; and Southern Methodist has the remarkable Sanders. Illinois has Crane, Iowa its Roberts, and Pitt certainly has aounding pair of shoulders in Dimcolo and Montgomery—"the best set of guards this season with the possible exception of Cannon and Law."

Yale featured a great guard in its captain, Waldo "Firpo" Greene, who quite fittingly wore the number "11" that once adorned the jersey of the very best of Eli's post-war guards, "Cobbles" Sturhan. In what was most of the time a rather second rate line, Greene stood out like a colossus. Conception of N. Y. U. was another great line "shoulder" too.

10 minutes of the scheduled starting line will cost a forfeiture. In case both entrants are not on the floor in time, each team will be accorded with a loss.

The quadrangle kittenball tournament has been finished with the section B team the winner. The section came through the season without losing a game. Section C was second, section A third, and section D last. With the kittenball tourney out of the way the volley ball games will begin early next month.

The teams have already begun practicing. The teams have not as yet been picked as the captains have not seen enough of their new men to get a line on them. The time of the first games has not been fixed but it will be in time to permit most of the tournament to be played before the Christmas holidays as the basketball tournament is held soon after school is again resumed.

Hundreds Honor William Muldoon on 85th Birthday

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Celebrations from all walks of life paid tribute tonight to William Muldoon, aged "solid man" of sport at a testimonial banquet in honor of his eighty-fifth birthday. There were 850 guests who paid $85 a piece to gather and sing the praises of the veteran member of the New York state athletic commission.

Speeches likewise were limited to 85 words. In a somewhat longer speech of gratitude Mr. Muldoon thanked the celebrants for their thoughtfulness not only to himself but also to the charities which benefited from the banquet subscriptions.

Among the guests, who included prominent bankers, sportsmen, famous industrial leaders, was Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, while Gene Tunney, who succeeded the old Manassa Mauler to the throne, wireless felicitation from the liner carrying him back to the United States from a long stay in Italy.

Little Hawk Season Ends; Good Record

Thursday's game with West Waterloo rang down the curtain on one of the best grid seasons of Iowa City high. Not only did the Turkey day game close the season, but it also brought to a close the high school football careers of 11 Little Hawks.

Under the guidance of Coach George Wells and assistant coaches C. R. Cannon and Irvin Keeler, the Hawks were able to hang up an enviable record of six games won, three tied, and only one defeat. The season opened with West Liberty, playing here on Shrader field. The passing combination of Moffitt and Lueky proved too strong for the West Liberty eleven and they were forced to take a 26 to 0 beating.

Fairfield loses 12-0. A week later, the highly touted Fairfield griders met the Wellmen on the local grid and they too were forced to take the short end of the 12 to 0 score. East high of Des Moines came here the following Saturday in an effort to swamp the locals, but Iowa City rallied in the last few minutes of play to tie the count at 14 to 14. A listless game at Clinton resulted in a scoreless tie.

Washington high of Cedar Rapids, playing here as a feature of the Red and White homecoming, left the field the losers of 14 to 12 game. A last minute rally staved off defeat for the Hawks when they scored the winning touchdown.

Grinnell Gets Tie. The following week found the Wellmen battling Grinnell on the foreign lot. It proved to be slow game with glaring defects in the defense of both teams and as a result the score was shared at 6 to 6.

Muscatine found itself playing against opposition that was too strong when Iowa City played there on Armistice day and swamped them 38 to 6. On the following Saturday Columbus Junction also fell on the count of 13 to 0 on Shrader field.

Then Davenport came here to battle for the claim to the state penn title, the winning team a contender for the coveted laurels. However, the Red and Blue, forced to give all it had to win the game from the fighting Hawks, took the long end of the score for the lone city high defeat.

Last Game Thriller. The Thanksgiving game proved to be a thriller. The Wellmen trailed for nearly four quarters with the count 7 to 0 and with four minutes left to play scored two touchdowns and came off the field victorious, 12 to 7.

The entire team played good football this season. Howard Moffitt, playing at quarterback, gave a good account of himself in every game. His passing proved to be the downfall of many teams that were pitted against the Red and White, and he also was a dangerous man when he started his run with the ball under his arm. His punting was commendable and because of his booting ability, he was enabled to help his mates out of many a hole to place the ball in less dangerous territory.

Mathes Snags Passes. However, there must be a receiver of the pass so Lee Mathes and Capt. Don Luckey snared the ball from all distances. Mathes played equally well on defense at his right wing position and few gains were made around his end of the line. Capt. Luckey, although a good ball carrier, gave most of his attention to running interference.

Jud Soucek, playing either at center or guard, was a specialist at breaking up the opposing pass attack while "Pinky" Yestermark gave a good example of fighting blood at his left tackle berth. It was the superb coaching of Coach Wells that made what appeared to be a bunch of misfits at the start of the season into a fast grid machine that proved itself one of the best teams in the state.

TANKERS HOLD WATER TILTS. This afternoon at 3 o'clock in the fieldhouse pool, two picked teams from the varsity and freshman track squads will do battle in the first of several tilts of water polo. The aquatic sport, which lost caste here for some reason, has been brought back by Coach Armbruster and is being used in the training drill of both the varsity and freshman splashers. The men have been practicing polo for some time, several of them showing remarkable adeptness in handling the sphere.

Building Wave Reaches Crest in November

City Gives 13 Permits Totalling $41,000 for Record

Whether local persons were seeking to follow President Hoover's plea to stimulate business or merely wanted to end the month up right, is not known, but the fact remains that more building permits have been issued the last two days than for the entire month before.

Thirteen permits totalling $41,000 were issued yesterday and Wednesday, the inspector's office being closed only 11 permits for $11,000 had been issued.

Moffitt and Blakesly headed the list with seven permits, all for residences and garages in Kirkwood place addition at an estimated cost of $4,500 each. Two were issued for building on Jewell street, three for building on Dearborn street, and the other two were on Rundell street.

Healy and Bristol were issued a permit for a double garage in Lyons addition. The cost was estimated at $800. Mrs. Jessie Wallen was issued a permit for a garage in the county seat addition at a cost not listed. T. D. Davis received a permit for a garage in the same addition at an estimated cost of $200.

E. C. Houser was issued a permit for a residence and garage on Fairchild in the old town addition at a cost of $4,000.

Love Pact Alleged by Mrs. Hughes in Confession to Police

DURANT, Okla., Nov. 29 (AP)—A love pact in which the mother of three and the father of eight children agreed to kill their spouses, was alleged in a confession made to county authorities here today by Mrs. Mila Hughes. A murder charge was filed immediately after the confession against the woman in connection with the killing of her husband, Will Hughes, last Tuesday night.

Mrs. Hughes, 35 years old, named as her alleged accomplice, A. J. Eastep, 38 years old, who lived near her husband's farm in Bryan county, asserting that upon a prearranged signal she lured her husband to a barn where Eastep clubbed him to death with a motor car spring. Eastep, who is held at the state prison at McAlester, also has been charged with murder.

The statement declared also that Eastep had informed her in October that he would poison his wife and that Mrs. Eastep died three days later.

Senate Plans Quick Action for Tax Bill

Call for One Per Cent Cut of 1929 Incomes Affects 1930 Tax

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Legislative action on the $160,000,000 program for reduction of taxes on 1929 income will be expedited by house and senate leaders in an attempt to get it to President Hoover as soon as possible after congress convenes next week.

Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee, predicted that before the regular session is five days old the house will adopt the joint resolution, which will call for a flat one per cent cut on normal incomes of individuals and corporations.

Quick approval by the senate was forecast by Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, who said he expected only one day would be required for that branch to complete action. He would be willing, he said, to defer consideration of the tariff bill in order to present the tax resolution to the senate quickly.

House Approves—There has been no apparent disposition in either house seriously to oppose the program, which has been agreed upon by the administration and leaders of the majorities and minorities in both branches. Senator Borah, republican independent from Idaho, has intimated, however, that there might be some questions asked with regard to whose incomes would be affected.

The Idahoan said he was opposed to delaying the tariff bill for any legislative proposal before the senate, and would not consent to consideration of the tax resolution unless assured it could be disposed of in one day.

Bill Introduced Wednesday—Given the legislative right of way in the house, the resolution will be introduced Monday by Hawley and be brought before the ways and means committee Wednesday morning for hearings. Hawley plans to seek a special rule to bring the measure up for consideration Thursday.

Under plans he had announced, he intended the hearings to be held Tuesday, but postponed them after being notified that under Secretary Mills of the treasury, who is to appear, would be in New York on that day.

Individual income tax payers under the plan would receive a reduction of about $55,000,000, while the corporations taxes would be cut approximately $92,000,000. It applies to incomes of 1929, and affects the returns in the fiscal year of 1930.

THERE STILL ARE PIONEERS

... and the Dane Coal Company has blazed the way for doing what others said Couldn't Be Done!

The dreams of yesterday are the accomplished facts of today . . . and the practice of tomorrow

When the Dane Company first announced its intention to chemically treat all coal to make it dustless, it was immediately said "It Can't Be Done."

Yet it has been done . . . and, strange to say, all over the middlewest, others are starting to do it also.

The Pioneer always has the same reward . . . first doubt and sometimes ridicule, then a rush to pay homage by accepting the idea.

As with an individual, so with a business. We have been through this before.

The Dunlap company (succeeded by the Dane company in 1923) was the first to put a concrete floor under the outdoor coal pile and the first to use a mechanical unloader. Now it is common practice.

The Dane company was the first to discard horses for trucks; to use labor saving dump bodies. Now these are common practices.

The Dane company was the first in Iowa City and one of the first in the state, to erect a modern coal plant where all coal is kept under cover. Customers do not pay coal prices for rain water and snow.

And what now?

Last summer, the Dane Company installed a dust treating plant . . . the first one in the state of Iowa.

It took some courage to spend the money necessary to treat all of our coal so that it is absolutely dustless.

We heard on every hand, "It Can't Be Done"—"That is advertising bunk"—"Huh! Like to see any coal that has no dust," etc.

That talk is dying away!

The coal is really dustless. It is delivered dustless and stays dustless until the last pound is used.

Last month, when it was zero for three days, others tried to wet coal and found it froze. Dane's coal was delivered clean, dry and dustless.

A trial order has convinced others—it will convince you, too.
