Probe Death of Victims in Plane Crash

Removal of Wreckage Presents Difficulty in Investigation

KANSAS, Kan., Jan. 28 (AP)—Investigation of the crash of a Central Air lines passenger plane in which five persons plunged to death near Fairfax airport here yesterday, including inquiry into the reason for the hasty removal of the wreckage, was ordered late today by Dr. F. Coffin, county coroner.

Air line officials, mechanics from Wichita, Kan., and probably those who removed the wreckage after a deputy coroner ordered it left intact, will be summoned to the inquest called by Coffin for later in the week. The Wichita mechanics are wanted to tell of the condition of the plane when it left Wichita yesterday.

Coffin previously had stated an inquest appeared useless, asserting the evidence which might have showed the cause have been removed by the dismantling of the twisted wreckage.

Officials of the air line denied that there had been any attempt to destroy evidence and defended the action of employees in having the wreckage pulled apart and taken to a hangar shortly after the removal of the burned and crushed bodies of the victims.

Watkins Takes Charge E. A. Watkins, president of the Central Air lines, who arrived from Wichita, Kan., to take charge of the company's investigation, said "It is going to be difficult to determine the cause of the crash," but promised a full report "as soon as the facts can be determined."

Watkins said in his statement that Dyke Laudeman, pilot of the craft, who was killed with his four passengers, one woman, had been flying since 1922 and that he was found to be in splendid physical condition when he received his last regular monthly examination.

Pilot Complained W. H. Ellis, an aviation mechanic and friend of the dead pilot, declared, however, that Laudeman had complained recently that he was tired and had been flying too much. "Everything seems to go all right when my ship isn't heavily loaded and the air is smooth but when I've got a load, it's hell," he quoted Lau-

Coffin confided with County At- torney Fred R. White in regard to possible precaution of the persons responsible for dismantling the wreckage but the latter said he was unable to find any law under which to proceed.

Witnesses said Pilot Laudeman had turned into the wind in landing at Fairfax airport here at the end of his flight from Wichita, Kan., when the plane got out of control and crashed to the ground, immediately bursting into flames.

No Photographs E. L. Slomker, branch manager of the Universal Aviation corporation, who was in charge of salvaging the plane, admitted today that he urged that no photographs be taken of the wreck but denied responsibility for the actions of workers who cursed, threatened and hampered news- paper photographers.

NEWARK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Frank McBrien, "The Jersey Kid," and three companions in the slaying of a motor bus garage cashier in a holdup were sentenced tonight by Judge Dallas Flannagan to die in the electric chair, March 9. A jury of 12 men deliberated for four hours and 37 minutes before returning a verdict of first degree murder.

The others sentenced were Victor Giampietro, Joseph Rado and Louis "Lefty" Malanga.

McBrien admitted firing the shot that fatally wounded George B. Lee, Public Service cashier, in the holdup Oct. 15, 1928.

Naval Parley Nears Active Work on Aims

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Moving slowly but surely the five power naval conference tonight appeared to be nearing the real business of naval disarmament.

Stimson Declares No Crisis Threatens Conference

After the next plenary session at St. James' palace, on Thursday, Secretary of State Stimson hopes to be able to call into action against the definite problems of the conference the American delegation's shock troops of experts and advisors, who have been marking time since the sessions began last Tuesday.

Seventy-eight newspapermen of all nations, including 12 Americans, will file to Queen Anne's drawing room for the meeting, where the Franco-Italian differences will be thoroughly aired in the open. General summaries and interpretations of the work of the conference has done will be furnished as an indication of progress to readers all over the world.

Items will feature the program, brought forward by France, Great Britain, and Italy. By the adoption of the alphabetical order of presentation, which gives precedence to the country proposing a subject, France will lead the list and Italy will have an opportunity of formally laying before the conference her plan for limiting fleets by the global, or total tonnage, system.

Great Britain, who favors another means, will then outline her theory of limitation by categories of ships, and Italy will present her argument for the establishment of fleet ratios among the nations as a necessary preliminary to disarmament.

With Premier Tardieu and Foreign Minister Grandi discussing the differences on the conference floor, there is hope for more progress than during the last week. If the alphabetical order of presentation continues in effect the United States, ranking as America, will be able to bring the cruiser problem into the negotiations at any time that Secretary Stimson and his colleagues find suitable.

This is the part of the work that particularly interests the Americans and the Japanese, who have stood a little to one side during the discussion of the cruiser problem because it is a peculiarly European problem. Secretary Stimson assured a wide audience for the cruiser discussion, when it comes up, by carrying a proposal for opening the conference to as many newspapermen as possible through this morning.

There was no opposition, and it was agreed 78 correspondents should be accommodated. Realities Seem Closer The realities of disarmament seemed nearer tonight as Secretary Stimson in a speech broadcast to America sketched the hopes of the conference. Stimson defined these as elimination of competition in the building of cruisers and destroyers. The abolition or rigid limitation of submarines, and drastic saving on battleship expenditures.

Unless the battleship program is reduced, he said, the United States will be faced with the expenditure of $300,000,000 on these war vessels alone during the next six years. Another such sum would be necessary for the following six years.

STIMSON TALKS OVER RADIO

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—No problems have arisen as yet at the five-power naval conference in London which in any way threaten the ultimate success of the parley. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson told an American radio audience today. The head of the American delega-

Communists Honor Dead

10,000 March 3 Miles in Funeral Parade

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ten thousand persons marched over three miles of wet, sloping pavements today to honor the memory of an obscure dead man.

Steve Katovis' only claim to fame was that he was shot down in a clash between police and striking market workers in the Bronx, but today his body, in a red draped casket, and flanked by an escort of motorcycle police, led a procession 2 1/2 blocks long.

The people in that cortege were communists and communist sympathizers, poor people, some of them a bit ragged, who idealized Katovis as a martyr to their cause. They were orderly enough, though some 400 policemen had been placed in readiness in the event of trouble. Occasionally there would be a banner decrying Katovis' "murder" or condemning imperialism, and now and then the marchers would sing.

"The union makes us strong" they would shout and raise their clenched right fists triumphantly. The police who rode alongside and the throngs that watched from the sidewalks and the windows of office buildings looked on placidly. Many of the latter did not even know what it was all about; they thought it was a parade.

The procession was to have gone through the garment district, but the police refused to allow it, and also put their feet down on a big demonstration planned in Union square, opposite communist party headquarters. Katovis' casket was to have been hoisted up on a platform from which speakers would address the crowd.

But the demonstration simmered down to mere speaking. A score of speakers successively mounted the improvised platforms and gave short talks. The crowd sang the "Internationale" and waited for the casket to be brought out of communist headquarters, where it had lain in state for four days.

Child Runs Naked to Foster Mothers' But Must Stay With Dad

WATERLOO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Despite the affection of John Sulente, 5 years old, for his foster mother, Mrs. Walter Nelson, he must live with his father, Nick Sulente, the district court ruled here today. Turned over to his father a week ago, John ran unclad into the street in 30 below zero weather one night to try to reach Mrs. Nelson's home a mile away. He fell exhausted after running two blocks, but was found by pedestrians. He had lived with Mrs. Nelson since his mother died more than four years ago.

Physicians Appointed to Examine Pantages

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28 (AP)—Superior Judge Charles W. Frick today appointed two physicians to examine Alexander Pantages, convicted of assault, and report tomorrow at a hearing on the wealthy showman's second request for release from jail on bond pending decision on his appeal from a one to 50 year penitentiary sentence. The request was filed by attorneys who presented affidavits from three physicians stating that Pantages was in immediate danger of death from a heart ailment.

News of the Parley

(By The Associated Press) Conference accepts American proposal to open plenary sessions to newspapermen. Big five and committee sessions continue private.

Third plenary session on Thursday will appoint committee of two from each nation to study French proposal of limitation by totals, British proposal for limitation by categories, and Italian claim to parity with France, in that order. Secretary Stimson described yesterday's Big Five meeting as "clearing the underbrush."

Foreign Secretary Grandi tells Pilgrin's society guests that the people demand deeds, not words; reduction in armaments, not merely limitation. French delegates expect generalities to be cleared up in fortnight permitting work on drafting a treaty.

Secretary Stimson tells the home folks by radio of efforts of the American delegation and problems facing the conference.

(Picture on Page 2) SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Anti-Filipino racial sentiment bobbed up today in San Francisco with the beating of three Filipino youths—Amelio Bautista, Santos Bautista, and Leon Dasias—before a police riot squad could rescue them.

Two other Filipinos, Jose Francisco and Resequeno Peralta, were attacked last night while walking on a downtown street with two white girls, who disappeared during the melee. Francisco told the police he recently married one of the girls.

Former Dubuque Officer Identified as Chicago Robber

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Mathew McMann, former Dubuque, Ia., police officer, who was shot to death during an attempted holdup Saturday night, has been identified as a participant in one slaying and one robbery and kidnaping. Chief of Police Martin Wojciechowski of Cicero, revealed today. McMann, known as "Mickey," was killed by Charles Borowiak, a butcher whom he attempted to rob. Chief Wojciechowski said that Mrs. Joseph Kroupa, Chicago, had indicated McMann as the man who shot and killed her husband after robbing him of $90. Adolph Lymiec, official of a building and loan company, also came to the morgue and pointed to McMann as the individual who kidnaped him and compelled him to unlock his company's safe, taking $500.

Attorney Exonerates Former Convict of Dry Raid Slaying

NASHVILLE, Tenn. Jan. 28 (AP)—A federal investigation into the slaying Saturday near Winchester of Tom Morris, mountaineer, resulted in the exoneration of Buford "Buck" Rader, ex-convict member of a federal raiding squad. A. V. McLane, United States district attorney, declared today. McLane announced after the return of W. B. Shofner, deputy prohibition administrator, from an investigation at Winchester, that no federal action will be taken in the case. He said Morris was known as a moonshiner, that Morris fired first and that Rader, deputized by the prohibition squad, had a right to go armed.

Lawyers Try to Aid Brady

Mental, Moral Decline Laid to Drinking

(Picture on Page 3) AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 28 (AP)—Through the testimony of John W. Brady's wife and three other witnesses, the lawyers defending Brady here against a murder charge sought today to show that within this former jurist there had been a slow disintegration of moral fibre and the decline of a great intellect before Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28 years old, whom he is accused of slaying, was stabbed to death, in November.

They drew out this testimony to lay a predicate for an insanity plea and revealed that Doctors Joe and Goodall Wooten, both alienists, the latter the Brady's family physician, would testify for their cause.

Brady wept when his wife broke down and cried as she described the former jurist as a man once remarkably brilliant, who through excessive drinking, had become excited physically and mentally, had turned away a lucrative practice and had changed everything from their yesterday "when we were very happy."

Mrs. Brady, dressed in black, said they had been married 30 years and that for 29 years he was not addicted to liquor and was "very bright." She said his defeat for a judgeship 10 years ago first started him drinking immoderately and that in the last two or three years he had been using liquor "almost continually."

"Before he began immoderate drinking," she said, "he was a man of high ideals but later his moral principles became very lax. He didn't care what anybody thought." She testified she knew her husband and Miss Highsmith were "having an affair."

One night, she said, she went to Miss Highsmith's room and Brady was there. He told her in substance, "This is ours." Then, she testified, they both said they wanted to "break off."

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Mathew McMann, former Dubuque, Ia., police officer, who was shot to death during an attempted holdup Saturday night, has been identified as a participant in one slaying and one robbery and kidnaping. Congress May Start Probe of Dry Situation

Senate Critics Engage Enforcement Heads in Verbal Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Congressional investigation of prohibition enforcement was being discussed as a possibility at the capitol tonight at the end of one of the world-wide free-foralls in the persisting wet and dry controversy.

The day saw Attorney General Mitchell and Chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement commission, engaged with both proponents and opponents of the Volstead act in congress—with all holding their own at nightfall.

The attorney general denied a statement by Senator Borah of Idaho, an outstanding dry critic of enforcement conditions, that the justice department had investigated the record of prohibition enforcement in the Montana-Idaho district. He also denied that any justice agents had been spying on Borah's office.

The Idaho republican replied that some employee of the government had investigated Herbert and submitted the report on the dry administrator to prohibition Commissioner Doran. He reiterated that his informant had been removed from the city after calling upon the senator at his office.

"We ought to find out all the facts," Borah declared. "We will do well to go into the whole question, when the prohibition bills come before the judiciary committee."

His statement was regarded by some as forecasting an inquiry into the prohibition unit. He is a member of the senate judiciary committee, which considers prohibition legislation.

Chairman Wickersham notified Representative Dyer, republican, Missouri, a wet, that the question of allowing 2.5 per cent beer was a legislative problem. His word was in answer to a request from Dyer for a statement on the feasibility of the beer proposition.

The Missouri rejoined that he would ask the house judiciary committee to invite members of the law enforcement commission to appear and state whether "in their opinion, such a change in the prohibition enforcement act would aid the president to better enforce the prohibition law."

While these two major encounters were in progress, house wets and dry indulged in a round of words on the floor over the pronouncement by the attorney general that he would insist upon government officials who be believed in a practical prohibition.

Who Wants to Buy a Cemetery? Rock Island Lists One

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Jan. 28 (AP)—Who wants to buy a cemetery? The city of Rock Island confidently believes nobody does but nevertheless the city council instructed City Attorney Robert K. Reynolds to take foreclosure steps, which means that Chippinnock cemetery, long a landmark, will be offered for sale.

The action was taken after the council had wrestled with one of the knottiest problems in years—in attempt to propose some manner in which to compel the cemetery association to pay an assessment of $1,300 due for paving.

The only way to collect is to foreclose, according to Mr. Reynolds, "but that is a foreclosures without prospect for a sale," he added.

Farm Leader Sees Coming Rural Victory

Problem in Organizing Farmers, Declares Cottingham

DES MOINES, Jan. 28 (AP)—The farm leader who has been making his markets as well as his fields is not far off, S. J. Cottingham of Stanhope told the Iowa farmers grain dealers association today in the president's annual address.

Cottingham, who also is head of the farmers national grain corporation, formed recently under the federal farm board's supervision, painted a bright picture of the future of cooperative marketing.

He told the 2,000 delegates from 700 elevators that arrangements have been made for the Iowa and Illinois association to continue in the national farmers elevator grain company cooperative as they have done for five years.

Samuel R. McKelvie, federal farm board member and former governor of Nebraska, will give the principal address at the convention tomorrow night. Delegates this evening were entertained at a banquet at which Dr. LeRoy Smith of Minneapolis was the speaker.

Besides Cottingham, speakers this afternoon were Raymond M. Hughes, president of Iowa State college, and J. W. Shorthill of Omaha, secretary of the national organization. Hughes talked on "the interest of the college in cooperative marketing," and Short-hill outlined organization activities.

Cottingham described the activities of the farmers national grain corporation, which he described as a "going concern." He pointed out, however, that too much should not be expected immediately, for the organization is in its infancy and must work out many problems.

Rivera Turns Rule Over to Rival General

King Charges Berenguer With Formation of New Cabinet

MADRID, Jan. 28 (AP)—Premier Primo De Rivera, dictator since 1923, resigned tonight and Gen. Damsa Berenguer, long his arch enemy, was charged by King Alfonso to form a new ministry.

The downfall of the brilliant military officer and politician who had controlled Spain with an iron hand for more than six years had appeared imminent all day but it was not until after a cabinet session in the evening that the premier drove to the royal palace and presented the resignations of himself and cabinet.

King Honors Berenguer

In 1926, King Alfonso showed his confidence in Gen. Berenguer by appointing him chief of his household. The appointment was commented on at the time as indicating a breach between the sovereign and Primo De Rivera for the mutual dislike between the two generals had never been concealed.

Although the actual resignation of the cabinet came suddenly, it had been presaged by the events of the last few months. Primo De Rivera himself had indicated on several occasions that he expected to relinquish control of the government in 1930. His chief concern, he stated, was to provide first for a worthy successor and to pave the way for a gradual restoration of constitutional privileges to the citizenry.

Long Trousers, Brief Skirts Feature New Paris Styles

PARIS, Jan. 28 (AP)—Long trousers rather than long skirts are seemingly occupying the minds of important dress-makers who showed summer styles for the first time today.

Unprecedented crowds of excited buyers and style writers jammed the salons for the first peek of the couturiers' answer to the organized opposition of American women to the long skirts and general back-to-bondbage styles of the winter.

The style makers have proceeded to add an inch or so to skirts here and there, pull in waist lines generally and tidy-up, their work, already well started, of creating a new outline for Eve.

The style makers' big stock, however, is the creation of many varieties of trouser costumes which are labeled pajamas for the beach, for sun bathing, for the interior, for the studio, and even for dinner.

It appeared as though they intended to lead modern women back to long skirts for daytime wear by irresistible trousers which are as long as evening skirts but neater and snappier. Even the old fashioned men among the buyers who were frankly pulling for the old fashioned girl with her short hair and skirt were enthusiastic about the new trousers.

Indications were that it would be a sunburn year, with even grandmothers exposing bare backs to old Sol.

Some skirts will be worn, however, there is little change in the length of sport skirts although here and there an extra inch or so is added. Knives are simply not good form, according to Paris. If women insist on wearing dresses instead of trousers for tennis and the beach they should have them long enough to reach the top of the calf.

Evening dresses are of various lengths but almost none of them display any silk stocking above the ankle.

Waistlines are wandering. One house, noted for its eccentricities, shows afternoon dresses with waist lines under the arms in empire style.

In general, waistlines were one inch below normal and pulled in as much as the figure will allow without uncomfortable corseting.

Tailored suits with tuck-in blouses of wash materials, cotton pique predominating, were shown by all houses.

The mannequins were still true to short hair, nearly all of them wearing moderately long bows. The uncorseted figure was rare, however, for shapeliness is more essential than ever for successful wearing of the new models.

Flood Control Parley Ends in Nebraska

M'COOK, Neb., Jan. 28 (AP)—The first flood control conference in Nebraska, in which 14 central western states were represented, adjourned tonight without effecting a temporary organization, due to the unwillingness of delegates to take the responsibility of putting their respective states into even a temporary organization.

They told Gov. Arthur J. Weaver of Nebraska, chairman of the conference, that they would report back to their governors the progress of the conference. The delegates also could not agree on certain items in the policy statement tentatively drawn but not adopted.

Governor Weaver, by motion of the meeting, was then instructed to supplement the delegates' report by himself submitting a comprehensive report to the governors and to ask the middle-west executives to join him in calling a governors' conference to effect a permanent organization to work for developments of the region's flood control program.

The long session of the delegates today was punctuated with many differences of opinion, frankly expressed. Judge G. E. Blake of Oklahoma City, Okla., declared that it should be plainly stated by the conference that "an engineer's word is not to be the last" in locating dams and reservoirs for control of the waters tributary to the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

Differing with him was Lunard Tillotson of Austin, Tex., who said that if anybody was competent to say where dams and reservoirs should be built, that it was the engineers.

Charles B. Stafford, of Casper, Wyo., attempted to inject into the policy report and the resolutions a criticism of the army engineers' plan, or as he called it, "the Edwin plan," which calls for levee work only for flood protection on the Mississippi.

Nothing was done about it, however, leaders pointing out that Major General Edwin had been replaced as chief of army engineers.

Naval Parley Nears Active Work on Aims

tion to the parley, speaking over the nationwide chain of the National Broadcasting company, from London, said only evidences of good will had been shown by the delegations of the five great naval powers attending the conference—Great Britain, United States, Japan, France, Italy.

Attempt to Make Treaty. "We have come over here," he said, "to try to negotiate a treaty between the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan by which each of these nations will limit and reduce its navy."

"We believe that this will accomplish two great purposes. First it will put an end to the ill-will suspicion and fear that inevitably is aroused by competition in naval building and secondly it will reduce the cost of our navies and thus relieve the taxpayers of each country from some of the burden that rests upon them."

"We believe that we can do both of these things and yet at the same time add to the security of our country, for these times when less navy and more good-will in the world will give greater security than more navy and less good-will and we think this is one of those times."

Going into the technical stages of the problems of the conference, Mr. Stimson said that the navy of the United States since the World War. He referred to the first disarmament conference in Washington eight years ago and said that the treaty there arrived at "has put an end to all competition in battleships from that day to this," between the great naval powers.

Four American Aims. The four great aims of the conference from the American viewpoint, Mr. Stimson listed as curtailment of cruisers and destroyer building; abolition of submarines or if that is not feasible, at least a large reduction; and a further reduction in the battleship program below the program provided in the Washington treaty.

If these conference aims are not obtained, he said, "we shall be faced with an expenditure of approximately $300,000,000 on battleships alone in the next six years and in the following six years thereafter another $300,000,000."

Ending his address Mr. Stimson spoke a word of caution to the American public. He said that every day at the conference there was some rumormongering of a crisis which would wreck the conference and that he had no doubt that some of these stories had reached the American public through the press.

"I can only tell you," he said, "that this far every rumor of such a crisis which has come to my ears has been quite unfounded. No such crises have in fact occurred. Nothing but hard work and friendly good-will prevails among the various gentlemen of the delegations who are getting together every day."

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 28 (AP)—The reunion of an aged father with a daughter whom he has not seen since she was an infant 36 years ago, will be brought about in Richmond in June. Frank A. Brown, 70 years old, of Sioux Falls, S. D., is the parent who will come here in the summer to visit the daughter, who cannot recall him. For 15 years Brown has sought to establish communication with two daughters whom a divorced wife took away with her from Minneapolis in 1894.

Court in Refusal to Transfer of Bonds of Western Indian

TOPEKA, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States tenth circuit court of appeals, in a decision announced today by Judge George T. McDermott, held the department of the interior had no authority to transfer to others approximately $1,100,000 in bonds held in trust by the department for Jackson Barnett, aged Oklahoma Indian. Albert B. Fall was secretary of interior when the funds were ordered transferred.

Among the sums involved in the transfer were $550,000 in bonds given to the American Baptist home mission society, $400,000 given to Mrs. Barnett, the Indian's white wife, and $150,000 in attorney fees paid to Harold McGugin, Coffeyville, Kan.

The circuit court's ruling was handed down in a suit entitled United States vs. Mott and was a reversal of a decision by the eastern Oklahoma federal district court.

Sister Attempts to Break Will of John Murphy, Chicagoan

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Murphy, widow of John B. Murphy, wealthy plumbing manufacturer, and beneficiary of his $1,000,000 estate, today described as "silly" charges made against her in a suit filed by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Carroll, of Milwaukee, in an attempt to break Murphy's will.

Mrs. Carroll's suit charged that Mrs. Murphy, who was the testator's second wife, was in some way to blame for the deaths of her husband, his first wife, and two of that pair's children.

"Every allegation set forth in the suit is untrue," the widow said today, declaring that once the suit was settled in court she would take action toward getting retractions of the statements against her character.

Union County Passes Issue

Road Bond Issue Meets With Approval

CRESTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Official returns from the 21 precincts in Union county tonight showed that the proposed $498,000 primary road bond issue had passed by more than a two to one majority. The vote was 2,651 for the bonds to 1,223 against.

Creston's vote was the deciding factor in the election, favoring the bonds with 2,146 votes while only 158 were negative. Aton voted for the bonds 116 to 97. The bonds carried in 9 of the 21 precincts.

The bonds voted today will provide for the paving of U. S. highway No. 34 from the Adams county line to within five miles of Creston, from which point the highway has been paved across to the Clark county line. They will also finance the paving of primary No. 16, north and south across the county.

With the passing of the bonds by Union county only two counties remain to assure the completion of the paving on No. 34 across the state. These two counties will vote on bonds this week, Mills Thursday on a $375,000 issue and Adams Friday on a $243,000 issue. Passage of the bonds by these two counties would make No. 34 the first paved highway across the state.

These two counties, as well as Union county, have previously voted bonds. Union last year approved a $550,000 issue, Adams a $450,000 issue, and Mills a $400,000 issue.

Chicago Gets Tax Warrants

Employees Await Aid From New Source

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Tonight was a sort of Christmas eve to 4,000 Cook county public servants, unpaid, along with city employees, because of an empty treasury.

Tomorrow the county treasurer, who has not signed a pay check for ever so long, will pass out tax anticipation warrants in lieu of the salary checks ignored by the paymaster on Jan. 7 and 23.

But William J. Graham, county comptroller, was more sanguine: "There can be no question of their acceptability," he said. "If the banks won't take these warrants, gift securities, what will they take?"

At the meeting of Jan. 17, Reno said, "Charles Hearst, president of the farm bureau, and Knute Espe, secretary of the Iowa livestock shippers association, as well as myself, frankly told Governor Hammill that that meeting was premature for the reason that the livestock committee of the federal farm board had not reported its marketing plan and we did not care to anticipate their action."

DES MOINES, Jan. 28 (AP)—Refusing appointment by Gov. John Hammill to a livestock marketing committee, Milo Reno, president of the Iowa farmers union, today said that the "farm groups of Iowa are not going to permit their marketing groups to fall into the hands of politicians."

Reno issued a statement declaring the farmers union will abide by an agreement made by the Iowa farm bureau federation and the Iowa livestock shippers association to reject appointment to Hammill's committee of 11 men, named after a conference last week.

"At the meeting of Jan. 17," Reno said, "Charles Hearst, president of the farm bureau, and Knute Espe, secretary of the Iowa livestock shippers association, as well as myself, frankly told Governor Hammill that that meeting was premature for the reason that the livestock committee of the federal farm board had not reported its marketing plan and we did not care to anticipate their action."

Flyers to Get Final Tribute

Planes Still Search for Eielson and Borland

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 28 (AP)—Although word of the finding of the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic aviator, and Earl Borland, his mechanic, in their supposed tomb of ice and snow on the Siberian tundra still was lacking here today, a movement was begun to accord the flyers a final tribute if the searchers sent out by air and land from North Cape, Siberia, and Teller, Alaska, are successful in their quest.

The demolished plane of the Americans was found by Joe Crosson, 90 miles southeast of North Cape Saturday. The bodies of the aviators are expected to be found in snow drifts around the plane.

Alfred J. Lomen, director of the aviation corporation's rescue expedition, who dispatched two cabin planes from Teller yesterday to bring the bodies back to Alaska, today urged that a coast guard cutter be sent to Alaska to carry the flyers back to the states.

Telephone Conversation is Thriving in America

Americans are the greatest conversationalists in the world—on the telephone.

Fed., according to Richard R. Whipple of the University of Iowa's electrical engineering department, 22 billion messages are spoken each year, and the United States has 61 per cent of the world's telephones.

To every 100 Americans, there are more than 15 telephones, whereas the average for the rest of the world is one to each 100 persons, he said. Since the United States contains only six per cent of the world's population, its share of telephones is 10 times in excess of normal.

Officials File Suits Against News Bureau

OMAHA, Jan. 28 (AP)—State and county officials in district court here today filed civil suits for $1,000,000 against the General News Bureau, a national organization which gathers and disseminates race track information. Headquarters of the bureau are said to be in Chicago.

Judge Stalmaster, special assistant to the state attorney general, announced that the county's civil suit is being brought under a statute which penalizes any firm $1,000 per day if it fails to take out proper licenses and certificates and which does not give necessary information about itself when it starts doing business. This condition, Stalmaster stated, has existed in connection with the local office of the bureau for 1,003 days.

The additional $1,000 penalty sought is a proposed stated penalty. The manager of the local bureau and two telegraphers were arrested in December and, after being booked as "common gamblers," were given jail sentences and fines, which were recently nullified by a district court decision in which District Judge Redick ruled that the municipal court, where the sentences were imposed, had no authority in the matter.

Pottawatomie County Officers Illicit Liquor Trade Trial to Open

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 28 (AP)—After two days of delay, the way was clear tonight for the opening of the federal court trial of some 60 Pottawatomie county officers and residents charged by the government with handling in a gigantic conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and dominate the illicit liquor trade of the county. Government attorneys said the defendants would go to trial tomorrow morning.

Government attorneys declined to discuss their investigations into the death of Marion Fuller, former chief of police at Earlshoro, Pottawatomie county town, and who would have been one of the key prosecution witnesses as well as a defendant. Fuller died Saturday night under circumstances that prompted a close inquiry by federal officers. Roy St. Lewis, district attorney, said no findings had been reported.

Too Much Discrimination!

AN AMENDMENT to the tariff bill which would deny the "courtesy of the port" and other special privileges granted to senators, representatives, and other high officials, was adopted Saturday by the senate. It seems that this addition to the proposed measure should be incorporated into the bill in order to give the same privileges to all American citizens.

At the present time, representatives, senators, and government officials are allowed free entry and preference in the examination of merchandise. Other citizens must take a back seat while the customs officials are examining the baggage of the people's representatives. Ordinary citizens are allowed to bring back goods valued at not more than $100, while officials are "winked at" as to the value of the purchases abroad.

This is not fair to citizens of the United States. Just because certain men have been elected or appointed to public offices does not mean that they should enjoy privileges not granted to other citizens. It is true that they are allowed certain civil exemptions, but these are granted in order to facilitate the carrying on of government affairs. They are given these exemptions as public servants. When a government official takes a pleasure trip to Europe, he is not engaged in carrying out public duties and is not entitled to any more privileges than other citizens.

Many citizens, on returning from abroad, complain about the delay incurred while customs officials are examining baggage. It is not fair to make a discrimination between public officials and private citizens when both are returning from vacations. It is also unfair to allow the former to bring in merchandise in quantities exceeding the limit without tax and to demand duties from others on foreign goods valued at over $100. There has been too much discrimination in the past. The proposal to do away with this should be incorporated as a part of the tariff bill when accepted in the house of representatives.

Iowa Night

COMMEMORATING the eighty-third anniversary of the University of Iowa's founding, Iowa Night will be held March 10. At this time units of alumni all over the country will gather to recall happy days spent at their alma mater. The program will be broadcast over WSUI and it is hoped that many groups of Iowa men and women will observe the anniversary. Loyalty to school standards has been one of the point which the faculty of the university has never had to stress—it was something that grew spontaneously without the necessity of encouragement. That first March day in 1855 when 124 students met for their first university classes in Iowa City there was born a nucleus of respect and love for this their institution.

This year it is safe to estimate that the celebration will reach the peak of enthusiasm. The athletic situation, an issue which might very easily have blighted the spirit of some schools, has on the other hand brought both students and alumni together in a great singleness of purpose. The interest which it has stimulated has been of the keenest. The celebration March 10 will honor not only the university and its founding but that priceless fellowship which it has engendered for 83 years among its students.

Herman A. Strub

THE death of Herman A. Strub, 77-year-old city merchant, marks the passing of a "home town boy" who stayed at home, was educated in the grade and normal schools, successful business man at home. Coming here with his parents when 3 years old, Mr. Strub was educated in the grade and normal schools in Iowa City. He obtained his first employment here in the sixties, and so much believed in the future of the struggling town that he continued here and founded the Strub company, one of the largest firms of the city today.

Despite his age he continued to be active at his store until a few weeks before his death and was also prominent in support of his fraternal orders, the Knights of Columbus and the Elks lodge. His was the career of a man who believed in the future of Iowa City and lived to see his belief come true.

The governor of Delaware invited the entire state to the governor's New Year ball. Doubtless if the whole state attended it was what would be called in the social circles a mixed crowd.

A Hero of Science

IT HAS been said that the knowledge of most worth is science. For direct self-preservation, for the maintenance of life, the all important knowledge—is science. There are few of us who are unwilling to admit the greatness and importance of science, but still fewer who will risk our lives to further the knowledge of the world. A hero of science recently appeared when Dr. Maurice Hall, government zoologist, risked his life by swallowing some of the chemical known as carbon tetrachloride, and survived unharmed. This chemical was known to kill the deadly hookworm, but could it be given safely to hookworm patients?

The matter was a serious one—one that could be settled only through the initiative and unselfishness of some man willing to risk his life for the cause of science. Now thousands of hookworm sufferers can be restored to health. Dr. Hall has not only served the cause of science, but has known the joy of discovering new knowledge.

"Shall Not Perish"

BECAUSE 4,000,000 persons lacked interest in civic affairs, 40,000 employees of the city of Chicago have been denied pay for their services.

An entire nation extends sympathy to these wronged workers and are ashamed for the bankrupt city. For months, the city management has been on the verge of this collapse, but the thoughtless citizens who had failed in their duties as voters, were not alarmed because of their city's financial crisis.

Even now, they watch developments with the same cool feeling and unconcern that they watch reports of a flood in China. And this is a government "of the people, by the people, and for the people!"

But It Was Too Late

PRES. E. H. SIMMONS of the New York stock exchange recently declared the financial crash was due to four definite causes. These are: unprecedented output of new securities placed on the market during September and October; economic disturbances abroad earlier in the year; the lack of equilibrium in buying and selling; and over-production in industry. Many of the "new poor" are, of course, pleased and relieved to learn why they can't go to Florida this winter, but they are a bit bewildered and chagrined that President Simmons had failed to release his statement as a warning and not as a message of condolence.

A New York police commission wants the quacks barred from the radio. Why not bar the squawks also?

HIGHLIGHTS

By Gordon C. Gauss

Apparently the frozen north has swallowed up Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, American aviators, who have been missing since November. The plane recently found wrecked has been almost positively identified as theirs, but so far nothing has been found of the flyers themselves. If their bodies are near at hand they are so deeply buried in the snow that the searchers have not found them.

Russian searchers, working with the Americans, have expressed the belief that the plane may not be that of Eielson, but a Russian plane which was forced down. Comparatively near to the scene there are soviet settlements, and it has been pointed out that the plane could hardly have been there ten weeks without notice.

Eielson and Borland were lost while endeavoring to rescue persons marooned on a ship frozen in the ice of the Arctic waters. Officials now believe that the crash of their plane was due to a faulty altimeter going bad in a blinding snowstorm, and that the flyers may have been thrown clear of the plane in the crash. Perhaps their bodies will be found, possibly they will be found alive in the spring, but it is unlikely. The north usually holds its secrets well.

Mexico has just thwarted another attempted revolution, in which the assassination of the president-elect was to have been a feature. Jose Vasconcelos, defeated in the election last fall, planned the murder of his successful rival, Ortiz Rubio, and a coup d'etat to seize the government. Mexico may be our neighbor to the south, but she shows unmistakably her warm-blooded Latin culture, which is opposite the coldness of the Anglo-American temperament.

Counterfeiters have been passing fake United States money in Cuba. The ring is believed to have disposed of about $75,000 to $100,000 within the last week all in $100 bills. The bills have been printed on regulation bank note paper of the United States and clever imitations of federal reserve bank notes. The counterfeiters might be able to work that game in Havana, but in Iowa City they couldn't pass off many $100 bills.

Also a ring of counterfeiters have been putting out bogus stamps of the Balkan states to sell to stamp collectors. The group is supposed to have been operating in Switzerland, and its stamps all are those of the early post war years. Jugo-Slav and Rumanian stamps have been those most used. In each case the stamps sold for a very nominal sum. A person would have to be a real crook to get in any business which had no more monetary return than that.

Mrs. Rebecca Felton, the only woman who ever was a United States senator is dead. Mrs. Felton, who was 94 years old, was called "the grand old lady of Georgia," and greatly loved by the people of the state. Her term in the senate was only a brief one, she having been appointed to fill a vacancy. It was given her more as an honor for her useful life than for any other reason. She made no attempt to run for the office, either before or afterward.

In another part of the world, a man who was once one of the world's most powerful rulers spent his birthday in seclusion. He is former Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany, dethroned after the World war. A sham celebration dinner in honor of his birthday, at which the old uniforms were worn, was the only variation from his usual routine of his exile at Doorn.

What a striking difference between these two personalities. The one, an old lady who had lived a useful life helping others had risen from obscurity. The other, born to greatness, spends his declining years forgotten and hated by the world because he tried to become too powerful and to shape the destiny of mankind.

OFFICIAL DAILY BULLETIN

The University of Iowa. Bulletins and announcements for the Official Daily Bulletin column must be in the hands of Lois Randall, 101 Journalism building, in writing, by 4 p.m., or 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, to appear in the following morning's Daily Iowan. Vol. IV, No. 178. January 29, 1930.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester, 1929-1930. Saturday, January 25, 8:00 a.m. to Saturday, February 1, 12:00 p.m., 1930. The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except in French (2) and (4), and speech (2), as shown at N.B. below). The Committee directs the attention of both students and instructors and professors to the regulation that there is to be no deviation, in the case of any examination, from this schedule, except as authorized by the Committee on the student's written petition filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

Classes (except in freshman English, first and second year French, and Speech) (N.B. below) whose first meetings occur: Monday at 10, meet for examination Friday, January 31, 8-10. Monday at 11, meet for examination Wednesday, January 29, 8-10. Monday at 2, meet for examination Thursday, January 30, 8-10. Monday at 3, meet for examination Thursday, Jan. 30, 10-12. Tuesday at 8, meet for examination Wednesday, January 29, 10-12. Tuesday at 10, meet for examination Saturday, February 1, 8-10. Tuesday at 11, meet for examination Friday, January 31, 2-4. Tuesday at 3, meet for examination Saturday, February 1, 10-12. N.B. All sections of speech 1 will meet simultaneously in the buildings and rooms specified below, Wednesday, January 29, 2-4, according to the following schedule:

- 1. Chemistry Auditorium: AA EA CA DA, AB BB CB DB, AC BC CC DC, AD. 2. Geology Lecture Room: EA FA EB, FB EC FC. 3. Liberal Arts Auditorium: LA JA KA LA MA NA, GA HA GB, HB GC HC. 4. Natural Science Auditorium: LA JA KA LA MA NA, IB JB KB LB MB NE, IC JC KC LC MC NC.

"Old" classes, whose first or only weekly meeting occur on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, or Saturday, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination at either one or another of the following periods, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class: Monday, January 27, 2-4; Thursday, January 30, 2-4; Friday, January 31, 10-12. It should be borne in mind that there is possibility of announcing two or more "old" classes for any one or more of these three periods available for "old" classes. Therefore, in connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes. Since very few students in French (2) and (4) will also be in "old" classes, it is possible for certain "old" classes to be accommodated during the period provided for these classes in French, subject to the precaution suggested in the second sentence of this paragraph.

MASTER OF MONEY

By Roy Vickers

What has gone before:

Alan Brenaway, 35, has made a fortune. He asks Shirley Dane, beautiful, young, society girl to marry him. She refuses, being secretly engaged to Roger Kelton, young lawyer, in whose care she has placed her inheritance. Unknown to Shirley, Alan leads Roger half a million dollars to save him from bankruptcy, after he learns that Roger is the man Shirley loves. Alan takes as collateral worthless shares in a Macedonia development which Roger agrees to investigate. After Roger and Shirley are married, Roger tells her Alan is a client of his and, therefore, he cannot refuse to go to Macedonia.

Now go on with the story:

CHAPTER XIII.
"Yes—a thousand," he repeated uneasily. "I must say I think that that wallpaper isn't at all bad as it stands."

"It's a very good wallpaper," agreed Shirley. "But wallpaper tells everybody who come here that we can't afford paneling. And that would cost us a great deal more than a thousand dollars."

"My policy of yours, you know—this father had it to a point and I'm not altogether sure that he made a success of it."

"He hadn't the need to study it properly," Shirley pointed out. "My father had to do it well. We had only the fifteen thousand I've got now and we went everywhere—everywhere. Don't you remember what you said about Southampton costing a lot? It didn't cost us $500, and how much did you make over taking Constant's advice?"

"Nearly fifteen hundred in nine days," he answered proudly. "Cynax appointed you to three companies," she went on. "If we hadn't spend that money on Long Island none of that would have happened. So what about leaving the domestic arrangements in my hands, Roger?"

He looked at her, doubt in his eyes. She saw the doubt dissolve and give place to consciousness of her morning-gown. Keeping his eyes upon her, he flung his cigarette into the grate.

"Have it your own way, sweet-heart," he exclaimed. He strode toward her. His hand played over the lace of her throat. "I suppose I'm sort of idiot sometimes, but I've only to talk to you and I'm ready to fill at mountains. Give me a kiss before I go to the office—no, no, no, don't run away—you shall, you darling, you shall."

She had been kissed. He had left her in the utmost good humor, not knowing that she had not wanted to be kissed. Now she came to think of it he never noticed whether she wanted to be kissed. Perhaps it made no difference to him. Perhaps husbands were like that—unless one married a man like Alan who of course, would be quite impossible in every other way.

She turned to a mirror and looked at the morning gown that had diverted Roger from his doubt of her policy. It was of soft thick silk, the color of honey, opaque and sinuous. Lace was used lavishly on it—old lace, a genuine piece of Flandres that was yellow with time. Shirley couldn't quite remember what the price of the gown was going to be; the bill had not yet been presented. There were many other bills that had not yet been presented. In her mind, Shirley wandered over her house, inspecting, approving. Color and light had been added every where; luxury had been suggested only elusively—an elaborately lighted picture here, a broad-arched hung there. Everywhere there was that perfection of choice that cries aloud of wealth.

Shirley, shrugging a little, did not for a moment doubt her policy. For one thing, it was so familiar to her; her father had had her on it. For another, it had, even in these few short weeks, proved itself sound. Cynax, Gordon— they might or might not believe in the solidity of the house and the cars, the holiday at Southampton, the careless enjoyment of everything, but they pretended to believe. They whispered to Roger as they did to each other and the immediate result was fifteen hundred for an outlay of less than five.

To be with the right people at the right time. It had been her father's creed. It had become hers. It was not, of course, Alan's.

It was a very good thing she had refused Alan. One cannot live on the heights, and Roger at worst would be very manageable through his weakness.

She spent the morning discussing the paneling, finally giving the order. She lunched out and did some more shopping.

When she got home, Alan was waiting for her in the drawing room. Again Alan was conscious of changes in Shirley. It was as if further touches had been added to a still unfinished painting of her.

Before either of them had spoken he knew that all restraint between them had vanished.

"You look as if you had been expecting me," he said. "That's how I feel," she said spontaneously, and added: "I was not really expecting you, of course. But I've been thinking about you today. I want to have a good look at you. You don't look ill."

"I'm not. I'm simply undergoing a rest-cure, which I've broken for no other reason than that I felt I must have a glimpse of you both. You, by the way, look tired."

"I've been shopping and I want my tea. Good! Here it is."

"Go on being tired and let me pour out," he invited.

She watched him pour out the tea and was surprised at his deftness. She had always thought of him as fumbling at small things.

"How can you know I don't take sugar?" she asked as he handed her the cup.

It was on the tip of his tongue to tell her that he remembered every incident of the tea they had had together over seven years ago but he made no answer.

"And now tell me all about everything," he said as she leaned back with a sigh of contentment.

She read his thought and laughed. "You don't really want to hear

Broadcasters Expect Approval of Merger

DES MOINES, Jan. 28 (AP)—The federal radio commission is expected to approve merger of radio stations WHO and WOC within a few days, officials of the Central Broadcasting company, purchasers, said today.

The company has sent a representative to Washington to make a personal report to the commission. If plans for a synchronizing way length materialize, officials said, both stations will be able to broadcast at the same time. A 50,000 watt transmitter would be built and both studios would be used. Programs would be relayed from the present studios to a power unit between Des Moines and Davenport.

Hawkeye Cagers Drill for Tilt With Oklahoma Aggies Tomorrow Night

New Faces May Be in Iowa Lineup

Sophomore Guards are Eligible; Joe Mowry Also Reports

Eligibility, which has proved to be the bane of the Iowa basketball team this season, has at last turned its brighter side in its direction to bring two more candidates to Coach Rollie Williamson's squad. Jimmy Figg and Herbert Valett, both sophomores and center and guard respectively on the Muscatine all-state team of 1927, will become eligible for competition this semester.

Another voice was added to the basketball roll call yesterday in the person of Joe Mowry, heavy hitting center fielder on the Hawkeye baseball nine, who will turn his hand to the art of the court for a while.

Mowry Reports to Coach
Although Mowry is one of the most up and coming athletes in the university, he has had no experience on the Iowa basketball court. Coach Williamson alternated him with Eshleman in the forward position yesterday, but it will probably take time before the slugging baseball star finds his niche.

Figg and Valett, on the other hand, have both had experience here. Figg on the freshman squad last year, and Valett has been training regularly with the varsity all season. Valett is adept at figuring out enemy plays, and will be a welcome addition to the list of guard candidates. The center position will claim Figg's services.

Exams Claim Men
Due perhaps to the absence of several of the men on account of examinations, the cagers displayed a careless, fumbling brand of basketball in practice yesterday, which does not bode well for the coming game. A victory over Oklahoma tomorrow night is almost assured if the Iowa players play their best brand of ball, which is not at all the sort of game demonstrated yesterday.

In a scrimmage against a set freshman defense, Coach Williamson juggled his men, in order to give them all a thorough workout. The first commitment to take the floor consisted of Williamson and Hildreth, forwards; Spradling, center; and Jøbens and Valett, guards.

Schwartz Back at Guard
Schwartz, who has deserted center for his old place at guard, replaced Valett; Nelson and Eshleman went in as forwards; and Simpson and Figg traded off with Spradling at the pivot position. Kinnam and Reinhardt were absent from workout.

As marriages are said to be made in Heaven, so basketball players seem to be made in Muscatine. In addition to Valett and Figg, newly eligible varsity candidates, Barger, center on the first string freshman quintet was also a member of the state championship team of 1927, and Tucker, who was a member of the yearling squad last semester, was another member of the famous team. Tucker has since "gone the way of all flesh" and joined the Muskies Traveling team of Muscatine.

Silk Guidon Given to Local Chapter of Pershing Rifles

The military department has recently received a guidon that will be awarded to the local chapter of Pershing Rifles at a date to be announced later.

The guidon is made of black and white silk and fringed with gold. In the center is the seal of Pershing Rifles in the shape of a shield. In the center of this shield is a flaming torch on top of two crossed rifles. Contained also in the shield are the letters "P R" and the date "1894." This is the date of the founding of Pershing Rifles, at the time when General Pershing was professor of military science and tactics at the University of Nebraska.

This guidon may be awarded either at the annual Pershing Rifle dance or upon some other date especially set for the occasion.

SPORT CURIOSITIES

WHEN TAYLOR KAYOED HIMSELF! ONE OF THE QUEEREST K.O.'S IN HISTORY--IN A RECENT BOUT BUDDY TAYLOR FLOORED EARL MASTRO, AND WHEN HE GOT UP, BUD RUSHED AT HIM SO SAVAGELY THAT BOTH FELL OUT OF THE RING. MASTRO GOT BACK IN, BUT TAYLOR, HIS BACK WRENCHED, WAS UNABLE TO MOVE!

MEMBER WHEN JACK ZIVIC AND JOHNNY DARCY SPOKE DOUBLE KNOCKDOWN? THE SPORT BUG.

CAMPOLLO FLOORED MIKE FERRARA 35 TIMES IN 3 1/2 ROUNDS IN A BOUT IN ARGENTINA!

Freak knockdown and knockout episodes abound in fight annals, the most classic of all being that celebrated double K. O. in which the referee picked Ad Wolgast from the floor sure he was champion then, wasn't he? and counted Joe Rivers out after those slugging lightweights had crashed each other's buttons with simultaneous rights!

As grievously freakish a knockout as ever occurred happened recently in Chicago when Bud Taylor rushed through the ropes on top of Earl Mastro in his frenzy to finish the latter whom he had just knocked down after being outpointed widely for more than eight rounds. The tempestuous Taylor manly striving to turn defeat into victory and the suddenly muddled Mastro fell heavily into the press section. Bud sprained his back and couldn't get back into the ring within ten seconds; the same flop occurred Earl who clambered back in five ticks of the clock, and so won the bout on a technical knockout. Until the first knockdown in the ninth round, Mastro had a clear winning lead. But that technical K. O. against Taylor was tough luck, indeed.

The same night, Steve Rocco bumped Willie Davies through the ropes in a flyweight battle at Toronto. Willie was stunned when his head whacked the press table and so the bout ended. He was rushed to a hospital where the good news came that Davies was not seriously hurt.

Virginia Rice Advances in Singles Meet

BROOKLINE, Mass., Jan. 28 (AP)—The play in the women's national indoor singles tournament reached the quarter final stage here today with six of the seeded eight surviving. Miss Virginia Rice of Boston, No. 6, was eliminated in a third round match by Miss Mianne Palfrey of Brookline, by 6-4, 6-4, and Miss Alice Francis of New York, seeded eighth, defaulted yesterday.

Mrs. John B. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., top seeded, gained her quarter final bracket by trouncing Miss Lee Marston of Boston, 6-1, 6-1, but Miss Margaret Blake of Lenox, the defending champion, seeded fifth, was carried into an extra set before defeating Mrs. William Endicott of Boston, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, after 30 minutes of play.

All four seeded teams in the women's national doubles advanced into the second round without great difficulty. Mrs. George W. Wightman and Miss Sarah Palfrey, both of Brookline, the defending champions, scored an easy victory over a Boston team, Mrs. C. A. Welch and Mrs. Herbert Verxa, by margins of 6-0, 6-1.

Mrs. Charles J. Hubbard, Jr., of Cambridge, and Miss Blake, the runners-up in last year's doubles play, defeated Mrs. F. A. Reece and Mrs. Lester Watson, both of Brookline, 6-2, 6-1. The third seeded team, Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, and Miss Edith Sisson, Boston, eliminated Mrs. E. N. Farnsworth and Mrs. G. T. King, both of Boston, with the loss of a single game in both sets and Mrs. Jessup and Miss Anne Palfrey, fourth team in the draw, advanced by upsetting Miss Sprague, both of Boston, 6-2, 6-0.

Holmgren resigned to accept a position with the state fish and game department.

Sueppelmen Seek Twelfth Win Tonight

Meet St. Pats of Cedar Rapids in City High Gym at 7:30

With their goal the twelfth straight victory of the season the St. Mary's cagers will entice the St. Pat's of Cedar Rapids at the City high gym tonight at 7:35.

The Ramblers, minus the services of Gaulocher, whose illness will probably keep him off the floor for several days, will meet a revamped team in the Shamrocks, who with the addition of Wessel, high scoring center, have been supplied with the scoring power which they lacked in earlier contests.

The game will probably be attended by a number of St. Pat's followers from Cedar Rapids. At the Parlor City several weeks ago the fans were treated to a thrilling battle which was won by Iowa City 8-6 in an overtime period and probably a number of St. Pat's rooters who think that the margin of Wessel will mean the addition of victory, will be on hand to cheer their favorites. While the Shamrocks have come out on the small end of the score in many of their games, they are a hard fighting, close guarding outfit, undiscouraged by the odds against them.

The Sueppelmen have showed great improvement since their game with St. Pat's, downing Waterloo, Des Moines Academy, and St. Patrick's of Iowa City.

The probable lineup:

ST. MARY'S	ST. PAT'S
Fay	Hogan
Knodel	Lockwood
Grim	Wessel
Shay	Malloy
	O'Hara

St. Patrick's Faces Parlor City Cagers

Iowa City Team Will Invade Rapids Tomorrow

A long drill and a scrimmage game with an alumni team was the order of the St. Patrick's high school cage practice last night as Coach Law prepared his hoopsters for their second game this year with St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids on the Parlor City floor tomorrow. The Irish showed a faster breaking offense in the scrimmage.

All of the regulars appeared for the drill last night but Dvorsky, Tremmel, a reserve forward, has recovered from his recent attack of flu but did not look in good shape yesterday. Tremmel is expected to further complicate the battle for the forward posts as he had been hitting the basket with regularity before his illness.

At the present Spratt, Kelly and Wilkinson are staging a close contest for the follow in positions. Spratt and Wilkinson seem to have the upper hand for the time as Kelly has not shown his best form in late games.

In the first game with St. Wenceslaus, played on the local floor Dec. 17, the Red Hawks outscored the locals 17 to 15 in a rough contest. The outcome of this game was in doubt until the gun sounded as St. Pat's outplayed their rivals by a wide margin in the second half but fell short of the lead that St. Wenceslaus had piled up in the first frame.

The improved showing of his team on their recent road trip has led Coach Law to believe that his cagers will be able to win by a comfortable margin. Captain Matias of the Red Hawks is a dangerous forward as he demonstrated here and Pizarick is one of the best parochial school guards in the state.

A short practice will be held tonight to prepare the Green and White for the game. The next home game will be played Monday with St. Paul's of Burlington.

Iowa Riflemen Shoot Required Number in National Title Meet

13 Contests Head February Schedule of Athletic Events

Iowa riflemen entered in the National Collegiate individual championships have shot all their required targets. Robert Ellis, Bernard Gibney, Thomas Chellis, Frank Ashton, W. Weeber, and Walter Schump the men entered in the meet have each shot two targets in each position of prone, kneeling, sitting, and standing.

The targets are not scored here, but are sent to the headquarters of meet officials. It was necessary for each marksman to shoot upon official targets, but though the men were shooting under intense competition some good scores were shot.

In case of a tie for first place, the highest score in the standing position decides the match. If a tie still remains, the highest score in the kneeling position decides the contest. If the tie still remains, the sitting position, and next to the last, the prone position highest score is used in deciding ties.

If a tie still remains throughout the four positions, the general character of the target is considered as to grouping and placing in determining the victor.

7 More Fraternities Enter Men in Relays
With seven more fraternities turning in entries the tenth annual relay carnival promises to be an interesting affair. The latest additions to the lists are Chi Kappa Pi, Phi Gamma Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Kappa Sigma. The athletic department has set today as the deadline for the remaining entries.

The quadrangle entries have not been received yet, while the sorority teams are experiencing difficulty in completing their teams. Sickness, examinations, and lack of training have caused some of the teams to be broken up.

Most of the track men are confining their workouts to preparing for the relays, while the weight men, with the exception of a few, have been given a vacation by Coach Thomas Martin.

Coach Wells' Quintet Bests Old Rivals in Snappy Cage Tilt; Beat U. High 14-10

Two Teams Deadlocked at 7 to 7 at End of Initial Period; "Pinky" Vestermark Carries Scoring Honors

By GILBERT SCHANTZ

An alert Iowa City high quintet downed the fighting University high cagers last night by the narrow margin of 14 to 10. The battle was witnessed by a capacity crowd in the City high gymnasium. The Blue and White five acquired a 6-3 lead at the end of the first quarter, three free throws constituting the scoring efforts of the Little Hawks in this initial period. Wright and Vestermark knotted through the U. high defense to split the count at the intermission at 7 all.

Employing an almost impenetrable defense, the Wellsmen held their rivals to three tallies in the entire half. Vestermark put his team in the lead for the first time early in the third period, but Rowe edged the Red and White guards momentarily and tied the count with a follow-in shot. Moffitt, Hawkleit captain, registered his only field goal of the contest near the close of the third quarter, sinking a goal from near the free throw line. Vestermark followed in for a third goal to give his team a four point margin, and Mathes' charity toss ended the Red and White scoring. The best that the Handymen could do in the scoring line was a gift toss by Fairchild near the close of the game.

Last night's battle was typical of all contests between the two city rivals as both teams fought desperately to win. A superior defense forced the Blue and White shooters to resort to long range shooting was largely responsible for the Iowa City victory. The team work and passing of both teams was very ragged at times and both outfits were guilty of considerable rough play. Wild basket shooting caused the low score, Iowa City being especially erratic at hitting the hoop.

Vestermark was the scoring ace for the winners with three field goals, followed by Moffitt with four points. Although the U high defense thwarted the scoring efforts of the Red and White captains, he nevertheless played a remarkable floor game. Wright was the defensive star for the Wellsmen, breaking up the U high attack time and again. The Red and White scoring machine did not function very smoothly, and the recent loss of Glick, Soucek, and Fry was quite an evidence.

Thomas and Rowe, co-captains of the University high five, led for scoring honors of their team, each registering four tallies. Fairchild was outstanding on defense, successfully smothering Moffitt.

Check of Referee Card Gives Lomski Win Instead of Tie

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—After checking over Referee Davey Miller's score card, the Illinois State Athletic commission today ruled that Leo Lomski, the "Aberdeen Assassin," is credited with a decision instead of a draw in his 10-round match with James J. Braddock of Jersey City at the Chicago coliseum on 17.

"After the fight, one judge voted for Lomski, another voted for Braddock, and Referee Miller voted for a draw," the commission explained. "hence the match was called a draw. Later, Secretary Walter George of the commission inspected score pads of all three officials and noticed that Referee Miller had added up his points wrong. While he voted for a draw, his score card gave four rounds to Lomski, two to Braddock and four were called even. Major John Y. Clinch, chairman of the commission, inspected Miller's score card and also noticed the mistake."

This and That in Sports

Oklahoma Aggies make a fair drive on the basketball center of Iowa this week-end by facing Iowa, Grinnell, and Drake on successive days starting Thursday with the invasion of Iowa City. If the cagers from the Stillwater, Okla., institution are anything like the wrestling teams coming there, it might be disastrous, but the Hawkeyes are optimistic in spite of this threat from the southwest. The last time an Oklahoma Aggie school played the University of Iowa was in 1924, when they brought their football team to Iowa City to get a 20 to 0 defeat. However, this is the first time the Hawks have met the cagers from that institution. Next fall will be another chance to see a grid team invade Iowa City again.

Cantillon Rests Somewhat Easier

HICKMAN, Ky., Jan. 28 (AP)—Joe Cantillon, veteran baseball manager, who has been critically ill since Sunday, was reported at his home here today to be resting somewhat more comfortably but little or no hope was held out for his recovery.

Baseball Commissioner Landis telephoned today to Mrs. Cantillon asking her to wire him twice daily as to her husband's condition.

3 Hawkeyes Enter Meet in Davenport

Three Hawkeye boxers, selected by Roscoe Hall, as the best in their respective classes, will travel to Davenport to fight in the Daily-Tribune Chicago Tribune amateur golden gloves sectional tournament Thursday and Friday. L. D. Weldon will enter the 147 pound class, Fred Fisher, the 135 pound class, and Ernest Ival, the 112 pound class.

Weldon, a former Graceland college athlete, is one of Coach George Bosman's best track prospects this spring, having broken the Olympic and the National A. A. U. records in the javelin throw. His best effort in a regular meet was a heave of 307 feet, but he has bettered that mark in practice sessions. He will be ready for varsity competition this spring.

Weldon won in the university tournament last year in the 160 pound class by a two round knockout over his opponent. He is not a clever boxer, but is very fast, a willing mixer, and a terrific puncher.

Fisher, on the other hand, is a fast, clever boxer with a dangerous punch and the ability to absorb a good deal of punishment. He has been working out with Carl Kauffmann, local professional waterweight, and he seems to be in excellent condition.

Ival, university flyweight champion for two years, will be handicapped by the fact that he will enter the ring weighing seven pounds less than the limit, but the diminutive Hawaiian is fast as lightning and has a left hook that is the envy of many of the larger fellows. He is a smart, aggressive fighter, and always carries the battle to his opponent. Ival is also a member of the track and cross country squads.

While there are several other good university fighters, these three men are the pick and are the ones selected by Coach Roscoe Hall as being capable of making a good showing against the best amateur competition.

Risko Ruled Unfit for Mix With Campolo

SOUTH AMERICAN TOO TOUGH ACCORDING TO FIGHT BODY

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—The New York State Athletic commission today ruled that Johnny Risko, who at one time or another has whipped almost every giant among the cauliflowerers, was not a fit opponent for Tom Campolo, South America's man mauler.

This surprising mandate wiped out the feature battle of a heavyweight card scheduled for Feb. 7 at Madison Square Garden, left plump little Tom McArdle, the matchmaker, puffing in astonishment, and puzzled everyone but the commission as to the reason. The solemn fathers merely declared that Risko was no match for the Argentine, who lost a decision to Phil Scott in his last bout here.

William Muldoon, 55-year-old member of the commission, said the match was "too one-sided and would result only in a repetition of the Campolo-Heeney fight." Campolo scored a technical knockout last summer over "Old Tom," who has since retired.

Muldoon said Campolo, who fights at about 225 pounds compared to Risko's 195, was altogether too big for the rugged Bohemian barker boy from Cleveland. He declared that there were many batters of Campolo's own size available without tackling the "little fellows."

The decision was received with added amazement, four days after the commission approved the match at Madison Square Garden, in which Primo Carnera, 270-pound Italian mammoth, wiped out "Little Boy" Peterson, in 70 seconds. Peterson weighed only 209 pounds.

Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, failed to appear and settle his difference with the commission but March 24 was approved for the House of Calvary cancer hospital charity show under the management of Edward J. Flynn, secretary of New York state. Negotiations are under way for Walker to defend his title against Rene De Vos, the Belgian, in Madison Square Garden, as the feature bout in this charity card.

Cy Leland to Race Elder in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Cy Leland, crack sprinter and football backfield ace of Texas Christian university, has accepted an invitation to race Jack Elder, Notre Dame's famous sprinter halfback, in the Millrose A.A. track carnival at Madison Square garden Feb. 8.

Millrose officials announced Leland's acceptance after the New York A.C. had obtained the entry of George Simpson, Ohio State's holder of the world's 100-yard record of 9.25, for its indoor meet at the garden, Feb. 17.

Within a week, New York thus will be host to a group of the fastest dash men in the United States.

Their gridiron exploits made both Leland and Elder famous last fall. Leland was a big factor in Texas Christian's first victory in the southwest conference race. His speciality was running back kickoffs or punts for touchdowns.

Leland won the national junior 100-yard championship last year and has been clocked in 9.5 for the century.

In addition to Kris of Ohio State and Chet Bowman, Newark A.C. veteran, two Canadian sprinters will contribute to the opposition for Leland and Elder in the Millrose meet. They are Johnny Fitzpatrick and Leigh Miller, both members of the Malton, Ont., Olympic club. Fitzpatrick was a member of the 1928 Olympic team.

Beldon Hill Says Cedar Rapids Club to Stay in League

CEDAR RAPIDS, Jan. 28 (AP)—Belden Hill, president of the Mississippi Valley baseball league, announced tonight that the Cedar Rapids club will remain in the league next season.

Hill said he had personally raised $7,200 among the fans of Cedar Rapids, 72 of them subscribing $100 each. He said he wished to raise $10,000, but that he believed $7,200 sufficient to guarantee the club against loss during the coming season.

Friday the subscribers will meet, Hill said, to perfect the permanent organization to handle the affairs of the club.

Further assurance that the Bunnie would once more be in the Mississippi race was seen in the announcement of Walter J. Barngrover that the club would have the free use of the Bunny baseball park and clubhouse.

The management of the assets of the club was turned over to Barngrover by George E. Huckins, now under indictment for obtaining money under false pretenses in a business scheme said to pay high dividends.

Huckins purchased the Bunnie during the middle of last season, but he turned over the management to Barngrover when he became involved in a legal battle over his business several weeks ago.

Several hundred citizens of Italy and nearby towns, who "knew him when" were on the station platform when Shires alighted. Also there was a flock of photographers.

"This is about all I've done for the last month," he remarked as he posed for the cameramen.

DES MOINES, Jan. 28 (AP)—A three-way battle for the republican nomination as secretary of state became apparent today when Charles E. Hindley of Centerville, requested nomination papers. W. E. G. Saunders of Emmetsburg, and J. M. Hazlett of Mason City, previously had announced their candidacies.

Contractor Charged With $5,000 Fraud Released on Bond

OMAHA, Jan. 28 (AP)—John W. Zinnel, 22 years old, San Antonio, Tex., contractor, who had been sought since Jan. 10 on a charge of defrauding Miss Dorothy De Vere, Omaha dancing teacher, out of $5,000, surrendered at police headquarters late today and was released under bond of $1,500.

The complaint is the outgrowth of a transaction between Zinnel and Miss De Vere when Zinnel was manager of the former Valley Transportation company, operating a bus line between Nebraska and Minnesota, and incorporated under Iowa laws.

Miss De Vere charged that she loaned Zinnel $5,000 which he told her he needed to make payment on new motor buses. His company then became bankrupt, and the company which had sold Zinnel the buses seized them on a prior lien, ignoring a first mortgage held by Miss De Vere, it is alleged.

Mrs. Pendray Again Seeks Seat in House of State Legislature

MAQUOKTA, Jan. 28 (AP)—The first woman to serve as an Iowa state legislator, Mrs. Carolyn C. Pendray, likes the law-making tasks so well she wants to go back to the general assembly. The wife of a local merchant, Mrs. Pendray today announced she would again seek a seat in the house of representatives. She is a democrat, one of the few holding seats in the Iowa legislative body.

The daughter of the late Thomas F. Campbell of Mt. Pleasant, former representative from Henry county, Mrs. Pendray occupied in the forty-third assembly the same seat her father occupied in the twenty-eighth.

Her record includes 20 years of service in educational work, seven as county superintendent. She has been chairman of the Jackson democratic central committee and the second congressional district democratic organization, as well as of the state central committee.

Assessor to Start Annual Tax Checkup

Evasion Will Constitute Perjury, Livestock, Radios on List

William J. White, Iowa City assessor, assisted by George Kanak, has begun the task of assessing personal and building property within the city for a report to the city council, sitting as a board of review, the first Monday in May. Real estate property will not be considered this year as it is examined only every other year.

For the first time the Iowa board of assessment and review, created last July by the forty-third general assembly, is assuming its powers of direct supervision over the assessors and taxing officials of the state in connection with the assessors of personal property and monies and credits for the year 1930.

In a pamphlet issued by the state board as instructions to assessors, it is declared there shall be uniformity throughout the state in the practices of assessors regarding the listing of livestock, household goods, farm equipment, radios, jewelry, and similar items.

Liberal Household Exemption

The exemptions on household goods are liberal, including books to the value of $300, all family pictures, household furniture to the actual value of $300, kitchen equipment, all beds and bedding requisite for the family needs, and all wearing apparel. These exemptions do not apply to hotels and boarding houses.

Radios will be assessed in the same manner as musical instruments and pianos are assessable as personal property. Diamonds, watches and other jewelry, are assessable under the law and will be listed.

Newspapers Manufacturing Plagiarism

Under the law, newspapers are assessed as manufacturing plants. The board holds that in arriving at the value of personal property of a newspaper, its circulation and the value thereof is an element which may be considered.

The bureau meeting starts at 10 a. m. and will adjourn about 3:45 p. m. Among other features of the program will be the presentation of the play, "The farm bureau police court case," by the Scott township farm bureau, under the direction of George Peters. The play is the one which the Iowa farm bureau federation presented to win the prize at "stunt" night during the mid-west training school. It was later featured in the national farm and home broadcast by the National Broadcasting chain on Saturday noon, Sept. 28. There are to be no charges made for any of the day's events, except for the annual banquet held during the noon hour, for which reservations must be made.

The banquet toast program is as follows: toastmaster, M. P. Sullivan, county farm bureau president; "Iowa farm bureau convention highlights," Mrs. R. E. Williams; introduction of guests, County Agent S. Lyle Duncan, and "Greetings from Johnson county's first county agent," Ed Graf.

Reservations for the annual banquet must be made at the county agents' office not later than Wednesday noon, Jan. 29. They may be made either by phone or mail.

Frank Lake Hailed Into Court on Charge of Loafing in Hotel

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—When is a hoodlum not a hoodlum?

Judge Herbert Immenhausen was confronted with this question today when Frankie Lake, notorious beer baron, appeared before him charged with disorderly conduct. Frankie and three pals had been arrested at a tea dance at a downtown hotel.

"What were these men doing?" the judge asked Lieut. Andrew Barry.

"Nothing," Barry replied. "But these men are hoodlums and we have had complaints from the hotel management and others about these fellows hanging around."

"But, judge," spoke up Frankie, "my wouldn't call a man a hoodlum who pays $30,000 a year in taxes to the county, would you?"

"I can realize the consequences that may arise from allowing gangsters to hang out in the loop," the judge said, "but there's no evidence against these men. I'll have to discharge them."

Frankie and his pals sauntered out, evading photographers by drawing their heads down into their coat collars.

Senate Refuses to Amend Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—By a vote of 49 to 26, the senate today turned down the first of what had been planned as a series of amendments to the tariff bill to raise import levies on all vegetable, animal and fish oils and fats to a minimum of 45 per cent ad valorem.

This was the increase favored by the farm organization to protect American farmers from foreign importations, but the vote today discouraged any further attempts to obtain higher protection than that accorded in the pending bill.

Senator Blaine, republican independent, of Wisconsin, an opponent of the proposed increase, said those farm organization leaders favoring the higher levies were "farming the farmers." Instead of helping him on his proposition.

Aeronautics Head Answers Attacks Made in Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Attacks in the senate today upon the department of commerce for failing to make public immediately causes for airplane accidents were answered tonight by Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary for aeronautics, with the assertion that the department lacks authority and machinery for such action.

The demands for investigation and reports by the commerce department were made after Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, had called attention to recent fatal crashes in California and Kansas City, and urged early consideration of his bill to make the department's inquiries public.

Secretary Young said in a statement that the air commerce act made no provision for the aeronautics branch to conduct formal hearings, subpoena witnesses, take testimony under oath or engage in any other practice necessary to bring out the pertinent facts underlying accidents which could be made public soon after an accident.

Situation in Isolated Districts Unknown; Ice Jams Unbroken

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 28 (AP)—Ice jams continued to withhold from the outside world today the true conditions of families isolated by flood waters at Point township, Poo Island, Poplar ridge, and other lowland centers in Posey county, southwestern Indiana.

Varied conclusions were reached, including one that death had laid a heavy hand on the district. National guard aviators and persons on the ground bent on rescue work returned to their headquarters today convinced that only a break in the ice jams, permitting ingress by boat, will definitely determine the real situation.

Waybright to Fight Hoover Democrat Ruling in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—State Senator Edgar W. Waybright, a leading Hoover-democrat in the last presidential campaign, today announced his defiance of any movement to interpret the state election laws as barring him from seeking renomination on the democratic ticket.

Waybright's announcement came soon after Gen. Fred H. Davis, replying to a query from a citizen said that Hoover democrats would not be eligible to seek nomination in democratic primaries if the election law is interpreted literally.

Conceding that the attorney general had not pronounced any official opinion as to the law but had left that for the courts to decide, Waybright differed from the interpretation made by the state official.

AMES, Jan. 28 (AP)—A registration record of 1,750 people was reported at short course headquarters here tonight on the second day of the twenty-ninth annual farm and home week. Registration on the corresponding day a year ago was 1,200.

Italian Envoy Speaks Before Parley Dinner

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Guests at the dinner tonight in honor of the chief delegates to the naval conference given by the Pilgrims society heard Foreign Secretary Dino Grandi as the principal speaker voice optimistic sentiments regarding the outcome of the five power meeting.

Viscount Grey of Faldoon, presided. The Italian foreign secretary said armaments must not only be contained and limited; they must be reduced to the lowest possible level.

"Actual, not merely apparent reduction, this is what the peoples demand and expect from the London conference. They are no longer satisfied with the usual common places, with uttering generalities of all too often repeated speeches. The time for all that is gone. The peoples desire to hear new voices; they are awaiting to compare deeds with words."

Viscount Grey referred to the Kellogg pact as a "greater bulwark against war than any other instrument." He said that failure of the three power conference at Geneva had seemed at the time a set back and yet today there was not a three-power naval conference but a five-power.

He believed the failure of the Geneva conference "is going to bear great fruit in the present conference because it is going to direct the way in which the great naval powers should proceed in the task they have set themselves to accomplish."

A cablegram was read from Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Pilgrims society in the United States, wishing success to the naval conference.
