Drys to Seize Home Brew Paraphernalia

Supreme Court Decision Makes Manufacture Unlawful

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—A nation-wide drive to seize paraphernalia used in the manufacture of home brew was announced by Assistant Secretary Lowman of the treasury today after the supreme court had held that containers, barrels, bottles, corks, etc., might be seized when offered for sale in such a manner as purposely to attract purchasers who want them for the unlawful manufacture of liquor.

Lowman said before any action was taken, however, a careful study would be made of the court decision. The ruling was made in the test case which resulted from the seizure of such materials from Ike Danovitz, the surviving partner of the Fetler Bottle company of Pittsburgh.

Treasury officials said the sale of bottles, corks, and other containers used in making liquor was widespread, and if it was found they could be seized the prohibition bureau would have an effective instrument with which to fight bootleggers who sell home brew. No effort has been made by the prohibition bureau to interfere with the manufacture of home brew in private homes, but its efforts have been directed toward stopping manufacture by persons who sell it.

The decision of the supreme court was unanimous. It held that the purpose of the prohibition act was to "suppress the entire traffic" and that "the act should be liberally construed to the end of this suppression."

The opinion was handed down by Justice Holmes, who explained that the controversy turned on the proper interpretation to be given the prohibition against the "manufacture" of illicit liquor. He stated the statute for the manufacture of liquor intended for use in violating this chapter, and that there was no property right in such liquor or property.

Forest Fires Menace East Coast States

(By The Associated Press)
In half a hundred localities from the wooded hills of New Hampshire to the mountains of West Virginia the sky was lighted last night with the red glare of forest fires.

With the rainfall 50 to 75 per cent below normal, scattered fires along the north Atlantic seaboard were whipped into fury over the weekend by high winds and many were still burning last night with the damage already in the millions of dollars.

Nashua, N. H., was the hardest hit locality, with 700 persons homeless and damage estimated at $4,000,000. Fire starting in a wooden trestle swept through part of the town, aided by dry underbrush.

Brisbane's Home Burns
Damage in New Jersey, where the fire played no favorites, attacking alike flimsy summer cottages along the seashore and Arthur Brisbane's palatial home at Allaire, was placed by state authorities at $1,000,000. All fires were reported under control.

As far west as Pland, W. Va., a forest fire, started Sunday night, was endangering oil wells and small towns in that vicinity.

Several hundred cottages on Staten island, a part of greater New York city, were destroyed by fire started in the brush there Saturday night. There were 25 other fires still burning in New York state, five of them at Copake, Orangeburg, Salisbury Mills, Fishkill and Suffer reported out of control.

A forest fire was menacing Rockville, R. I. Others were burning in Cumberland and Perry counties in central Pennsylvania. Several were reported in lower Delaware. A large one was burning at Marlborough, Conn., and another on Mount Riga, just across the New York state line.

Fire Threatens Arsenal
A fire at Fallsides park just across the Hudson from Peekskill, N. Y., menaced the government explosives works and arsenal there a fire at the junction of the Connecticut, New York, and Massachusetts state lines was menacing the town of Mt. Washington, Mass.

There was little encouragement to the fire fighters in the weather forecasts. Although thunderstorms were predicted in some sections there was no promise of rain in quantities large enough to be of much aid in putting out the fires anywhere along the seaboard.

Committee Makes Automobile Plea for Mother's Day Tour

Help with Mother's day! If you have a car, offer to help the Mother's day tours of the campus next Saturday morning. Members of the committee in charge of the tour are asking the cooperation of students and faculty members in providing transportation for the tours. Anyone who can provide a car for the tour is asked to call Frances Hogle, A4 of Keokuk, or Francis O. Wilcox, A4 of Ft. Madison.

Several shorter tours are being planned, so that mothers and their sons and daughters may choose their routes instead of having to follow one long route. A tour of Old Capitol will be held from 9:30-10 a.m. Four short tours are being planned, each to be held twice, between 10-12 a.m., to the museums, the hospitals, to fraternity and sorority houses, and to the stadium and air field.

When each mother registers at Iowa Union upon her arrival, she will be asked to fill out a card indicating which tours she would like to take. From these cards the committees will apportion the number of cars to each tour. Guides will be present to conduct the guests over each building visited.

Boeing Installs Ground Radio at City Airport

Begin Communication With Airplanes Shortly

Installation of the ground radio receiving and sending set at the local airport offices whereby communication can be kept with Boeing mail and passenger planes, was begun yesterday. Three electricians sent here from Boeing headquarters began the installation and expect to have the station operating within a week or 10 days.

Local power lines will be tapped for 250 volts and three transformers will step this up to 2,500 volts for powering the broadcasting of the station. The station itself can send almost 1,000 miles while planes 200 miles away and 12,000 feet high can communicate with it from apparatus installed in the ship.

Tri-motored planes operating through here already have sets while Boeing "40 b" passenger ships, and "95" model mail planes will have the radio within a week or so.

Iowa City is one of 14 cities to have such equipment along the Boeing routes in United States. Other cities are Oakland, Cal.; Sacramento, Cal.; Reno, Nev.; Elko, Nev.; Salt Lake, Utah; Rock Springs, Wyo.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; North Platte, Neb.; Lincoln, Neb.; Omaha, Neb.; Des Moines, Ia.; Aurora, Ill.; and Chicago, Ill.

Lange Again Speaks for Referendum Vote on Iowa Prohibition

BOXHOLM, May 5 (AP)—Otto Lange of Dubuque, candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, tonight reiterated his suggestion for a referendum vote on prohibition in Iowa.

Lange made the statement Sunday in an open letter to the Cedar Rapids Gazette, and discussed it on the platform here for the first time. Lange said he believed no "good cause can be hurt by finding out what the people think about it."

The candidate continued his attacks on chain stores and a state income tax. Instead of adopting the latter, he urged equalization of present assessment and forcing "tax dodgers" to pay their share.

First Contingent of Gold Star Mothers to Sail Wednesday

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—From west and north and south today came to New York the vanguard of a new pilgrimage "over there." Six thousand mothers whose boys never came back—provided by a grateful nation with the means to visit the battlefield and cemeteries.

The first contingent of 232 gold star mothers, mostly from the west and south, will sail Wednesday on the liner America. Each week through the summer another unit will go, until all 6,000 have made the trip.

Nearly 200 of those first 232 arrived in New York today. They are on their journey—some had come from Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Arkansas—and they and bewildered by all the noise and hurry of the city, they were met by army officers and escorted to hotels.

The average age of these mothers is 67 years old, but some of them are past 70 years old.

In little groups of twos and threes, after they had registered and their new baggage had been taken up to their rooms by bell boys who refuse all tips from those who wear the gold star badges, they gathered in the lobbies of the hotels to talk.

There was little Mrs. Sophia Johnson of Brady, Neb., who carried tenderly a long box in her arms. It contains flowers that were given her by friends and neighbors to place on her boy's grave.

While they are in New York, city officials have planned for this first contingent of the mothers an official reception of the sort that is given distinguished visitors. It will take place at the city hall tomorrow afternoon. Several Broadway stars have offered to contribute their services at a reception to be given in honor of the mothers tomorrow night.

Accompanied down the bay on the city tug Macomb by a delegation of New York gold star mothers, they will sail Wednesday morning.

Twisters Hit Three States in Middlewest

Two Killed, One Man Missing, as Storm Wrecks Homes

KANSAS CITY, May 5 (AP)—Tornadoes swept into three states late today, causing at least two deaths and injury to several persons.

Four "twisters" hit western Oklahoma, wrecking city and rural homes, cotton gins and small buildings.

Mrs. C. T. Bush, 63 years old, was killed when one of the three tornadoes which struck Blaine county leveled her farm home three miles northeast of Greenfield. An unidentified Negro man also was killed.

A young boy named Clevinger was reported missing.

Four men were injured, one seriously, when a tornado struck Walters, Okla. The injured were Jack Hurley, Bill Smith, Bill Hood and a man named Dycus. Hurley, whose skull was fractured by debris tossed in a storm sewer in which he was working, was in a critical condition.

Officials estimated the damage at Walters at approximately $150,000. Three cotton gins were razed, a fourth was damaged, and a dozen homes were wrecked.

A girl was injured and five farms were damaged near Ellinwood, Kans. The twister swept 30 box cars from a railroad track and carried them 500 yards from the right of way. The wind also tore up the Santa Fe railroad tracks between Chase, Kans., and Ellinwood. The farm home of Lawrence Tibbets, a mile west of Langdon, Kans., was destroyed.

In Nebraska wind swept through a farming section between Grand Island and Hastings, demolishing several homes.

STORM LEVELS NEBRASKA HOMES

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., May 5 (AP)—A tornado that swept through a farming section between this city and Hastings, Neb., late this afternoon leveled several farm homes and did considerable other damage. Early reports stated that no lives were lost.

The storm first struck 12 miles west of Hastings destroying three farm homes. The families found safety in cyclone caves. The twister then swept on to strike Phillips and St. Libory, inflicting considerable damage.

Military Unit Prepares for Final Review

The last practice review of the R. O. T. C. unit took place yesterday afternoon on Jessup parade, west of the field house. The regiment will assemble as a unit Friday, when the review before the federal inspector and President Jessup will be given.

Hines Presents Bill for Increase in Pay of Disabled Veterans

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—An increase of $20,000,000 a year in the amount paid the government to disabled veterans of the World war was proposed in a bill presented today by Director Hines of the veterans bureau, to the senate finance committee.

The bill was presented for the guidance of the finance committee which is holding hearings on a measure passed recently by the house.

Hines opposed certain provisions of the house measure which he said would result in an increased annual cost to the government between $181,000,000 and $400,000,000. He added that his bill, if adopted, would increase the cost about $20,000,000 and not more than $25,000,000.

After hearing Hines, the committee adjourned until Thursday when additional testimony will be received. The hearing today was before a subcommittee. A meeting of the full committee was called for Thursday.

Hendee, who was graduated from the university in 1922, was stricken with the tropical malady while working with the expedition last summer along the border of Tibet.

Hoover Praises Red Cross Organization Work of Past Decade

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—President Hoover and a 16-year-old girl shared the spotlight today as the national Red Cross opened its annual meeting with more than 1,000 delegates from all parts of the nation in attendance.

The chief executive, as president of the Red Cross, welcomed its members and praised its organization for having, during the past decade, "distinguished itself a score of times by effective organization of the saving of life and suffering."

"Its ever increasing strength represents the growing of the spiritual sense of responsibility of the nation toward those who meet with disaster," Mr. Hoover said.

The girl, Miss Constance Payne of Terre Haute, Ind., likewise addressed the convention. She did so, however, with her limbs swathed in bandages as the result of injuries received last night when her automobile skidded from the road near Washington, Penn. She had been chosen in a national contest to tell the senior delegates of the work of the Junior Red Cross.

Chicago Book Critic Speaks to Journalists

Speaking on "How to criticize books" to some 40 persons at the Journalism Dinner club at Iowa Union last night, Llewellyn Jones, editor of the Friday Literary Review in the Chicago Evening Post and author of "How to criticize books" and "How to read books," said that criticism was really a "divine right."

He went on to say that the modern critic wasn't required to praise all of the books that he read as the publishers wanted just the best of writers. He pointed out that criticism should be of such a type as to help writers to detect their weak points and improve upon them.

Mr. Jones is an authority on the art of criticism, having been connected with various publishing houses and magazines, and on the faculties at the University of Chicago, the Medill school of Journalism at Northwestern university, and the University of Indiana. His first book, "First Impressions," was published in 1925.

Chicago Book Critic Says Women Make Poor Reporters

"Since women still have the habit, of being waited upon, still believe they should be late, they do not make as successful reporters as men," Llewellyn Jones, editor of the Friday Literary Review, in Chicago Evening Post, and author of "How to Read Books," and "How to Criticize Books," explained in an interview, last night.

Mr. Jones went on to say that in the last six months, according to reports, women were being replaced by men in the field of reporting. However, he thinks this a party due to the slump in business, and that women will come back as more reporters are taken on again.

"A woman is more easily discouraged than a man. She does not have the persistence, and is not as faithful about reporting back to the city editor," Mr. Jones stated.

Many other fields are open to the woman journalist besides reporting, in which a woman is as capable of handling the work as a man. Among these fields, Mr. Jones mentioned feature and editorial writing. He also stated that editing of small papers, hotel papers and magazines is being done more and more by women journalists.

When asked about the field of advertising, Mr. Jones expressed the opinion that unless it was on a small or medium sized paper, the job was too "hard-billed." He stated further that many underhand arrangements were made between the seller of advertising and his customer on the big city paper where there is much competition, for both advertising and circulation.

Mr. Jones added in closing, "Anyone, whether it is a woman or man who is persistent enough, will succeed."

Supervisors of Iowa Counties Count Noses

Jefferson, Winnebago, Cass Counties

(By The Associated Press)
Three of Iowa's 99 counties had been entirely covered Monday night as the 15 census supervisors rushed the work of completing the "count of noses" in the state.

Jefferson, Cass, and Winnebago all had been reported, Cass with a small increase that more than offset the decreases in the other two.

In all three counties, the number of persons living in the strictly rural townships was greater than the total living in cities and towns.

Cass county's total population under the 1930 count was reported by Hugh J. Tamisela of Council Bluffs as 13,323, an increase of 407 since 1920. Of the total, 10,453 were counted in the country districts while 9,375 were tabulated in one city—Atlantic—and seven towns.

Miss Mitchell Reports
Jefferson county, reported by Miss Merta Mitchell of Keokuk, had a 1930 total of 15,599 or 111 less than in 1920. The rural districts accounted for 8,257 while the urban had 7,972.

Winnebago county's total was given by Mrs. Gladys W. Griffith of Ft. Dodge as 13,281, a decrease of 208 since 1920, of which 7,906 were rural and 5,375 urban. Whereas the rural totals in each of the other two counties showed decreases, Winnebago's country population increased 107 while its urban census was 315 less than a decade ago.

In eight other counties, supervisors have completed the tabulation of populations in cities and towns but have yet to make reports on the rural census.

OFFICIAL REPORT ACCUSES WORKERS

SHIMLA, India, May 5 (AP)—The first complete and official report of serious revolutionary agitation in the northwest frontier province of India was issued today in a communique by the government of India.

The communique also gave "the facts as reported to the government" about the riots in Peshawar on April 23. It declares that national congress workers and the Nauvawan Bhaarat Sabha, native organization "have been fomenting open rebellion against the government."

In connection with this purported communistic menace, appearing openly along the Afghanistan frontier, the communique accuses members of the two organizations of having carried on active revolutionary propaganda in cities and villages of the Peshawar district and of attempting to influence "some trans-border tribes against the British government."

In consequence of such agitation the government decided to arrest the leaders.

Woman's Instinct

A TRUE woman's instinct for beauty and the foresight of the Iowa City Woman's club has resulted in a project for beautifying the American Legion community building. Realization of the scheme has been made possible by the garden section of the local Woman's club which made the plans and purchased the plants.

Barberry, snowberry, elder, sumac, viburnum, and five leaf aralia shrubs will grace the lawn after the grounds have been landscaped. The foliage of four elm trees will add to the beauty of the place.

In the busy hum drum life of Iowa City, as in too many mid-western towns, we do not give beauty the chance it deserves. For the most part, Iowa City is barren of beauty; the down town section is doubly drab and lifeless.

The American Legion building is a community center. It seems fitting that the grounds surrounding it should be enhanced by the cool, natural beauty of trees and shrubs. The Woman's club can do a real service to Iowa City by carrying this project to a successful realization.

That Dollar of Yours

REMEMBER months ago when, perhaps grudgingly, you gave a dollar to the Red Cross? You were probably annoyed but gave the dollar, thought "always something," and then forgot it.

Throughout eight states tornadoes have struck, doing untold damages, costing more than a score of lives, and leaving hundreds homeless, or in need. Many of those whose homes or breadwinners were lost have no means of support, or at least not until they get settled again.

Here's where your dollar, and the thousands of other dollars from this community and thousands of other communities play their part. The American Red Cross is the greatest "mother" and protector in times of disaster, and its work in the recent tornado can be carried on by the aid that you yourself gave those many months ago.

Caponism Is Detestable

ALCAPONE is living in luxury at a Florida hotel, while hundreds of honest, hard-working citizens are having a hard time making ends meet. This is undoubtedly the sentiment of a great percentage of the American public today and it is extremely unfortunate that it should be so.

It is a severe strain upon our law-abiding propensities, to see a criminal of this type, having everything which we are denied merely because we keep the law.

Mother's Day

ONE OF THE most tender traditions of America will again be observed May 11 when men and women of the nation pause to pay tribute to their mothers. The debt we owe them is too great ever to be repaid.

Curbing Drunken Drivers

(From the Waterloo Courier) Iowa, with its new drivers' liability law depriving motorists of the right to operate vehicles under certain conditions, should experience a decline in traffic accidents and a gain in public safety. Much of course will depend upon the efficiency with which the law is administered, but this is true of every statute, however wise or necessary.

Under a measure recently enacted there, an individual twice convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated, and who in both cases has caused personal injuries, will have his license revoked. And it can never be restored.

This is a far more stringent provision than any incorporated in the Iowa law, which permits restoration of licenses after judgment for damages and injuries has been satisfied. Yet it may scarcely be argued that the penalty is too severe.

be repaid. It is something too deep to be put in black and white. It is a thing which can only be felt. And yet those outward signs of love and devotion do mean a great deal to our mothers. Every son and daughter should remember Mother's day. It should not be a matter of duty but a symbol of love.

Busses Instead of Trams

WISELY the Iowa City council has approved the 10 year franchise for busses to replace the obsolete street cars. A special ballot will be offered the city voters at the county primaries June 2, to decide whether the citizens wish replacement of the trams.

The outcome seems clear. Tram cars are noisy, bulky, unattractive, and their wires and poles clutter the streets of the city. Their tracks make uneven paving and it is difficult for them to maintain a schedule in inclement weather.

Iowa City does not need street cars. The new Manville Heights bus, clean, roomy, attractive, easy-riding, and fast, is an example of what is in store for the city if the franchise passes. Five such motors will replace the bumpy trolleys that now bang over our streets.

Other cities larger than Iowa City have successfully removed tram lines; we must follow their lead.

Do It

NOW THAT representatives are home from their sojourn at the London naval conference, it is necessary for the senate to ratify the London treaty which these men were instrumental in drawing up.

President Hoover sent the treaty to the senate asking that they take immediate action upon it.

Our representatives probably can be accounted some of the smartest men in the nation and we should be able to rely on their judgment. The senate would be wise to ratify it after due consideration instead of using it as a "political football" to be kicked about in the halls of congress as they do with so many other worthwhile things.

College Voters

WHETHER one is "for" Dan Turner as governor of Iowa or not, he must admit that the student organization supporting his cause shows an active interest in political affairs which is highly commendable.

As voters, or future voters, the students of this campus are making a conscientious effort to familiarize themselves with the policies and principles of candidates for office. Can many more mature voters say as much?

Most of the busy life of university students is directed toward preparing themselves to take places in the world of affairs after graduation. It is one of the important duties of every American citizen to vote intelligently and according to his own opinions. A healthy interest in politics is one of the best things a student can develop in preparing himself for future life.

A local professor, arrested recently for speeding, claimed he was being chased by drunken students. Chasing professors need not be construed as a basis for a charge of drunkenness, especially if the teacher will run.

"Harvard Men Plead for Scrub-Women" says a San Francisco Examiner headline. Well, we don't know any scrub-women but we could get 'em some nice maid.

THE BREAKS OF LIFE

Lupita Tover, daughter of a Mexico City railway official, went to Hollywood a few months before talkies started, and signed a contract with a large studio. The talkies came and she lost her job. So she went to day and night school, learned English, determined on a career, and now that she has learned English she has signed another contract to play in a talkie which has all Spanish characters and she never has a chance to speak a word of English into the microphone.

It should be borne in mind that there is possibility of announcing two or more "odd" classes for any one or more of these three periods available for "odd" classes. Little SINS

by KATHARINE BRUSH

Dolly gives Jerry her reason for not marrying him.

She replaced it. "I didn't mean to lug the subject in again. We've discussed it enough already, goodness knows, and I always sound puritanical and—any naggy. And I never accomplish anything. I just annoy you. But there's the answer. It's not the work I'm doing, or the money I'm making, that comes between you and me. And it's not—" she touched the glass again, "—not just one drink. Or even two or three. I wouldn't care at all, if you drank like other people. But you love it so! You've let it get such a hold on you—

"I'm afraid to marry you, Jerry," she finished.

She expected argument, and it was forthcoming. "Rats!" exploded Jerry. "Hold on! I like it, certainly—but I can take it or leave it alone, don't think I can't! You've never seen me drunk, have you?" he demanded belligerently. "Feeling good a couple of times, maybe—but what I mean is really drunk?"

"No. And I don't believe I've ever seen you really sober."

"What?"

"I'm sorry." Her voice was very gentle. "I honestly don't believe I ever have, my dear. And I've known you—over a year, it is now."

Another short pause. Then Jerry patiently to explain.

"The trouble is, honey," he said, "that you don't drink anything yourself. I've noticed time and time again that people who don't drink themselves always suspect that people who do are tight if they so much as have a breath on. Whereas the breath may be the result of one drink only—one'll do it—and they may be just as sober as you are."

me if I promise to go on the wagon?"

Dolly hesitated only an instant. "I'll marry you—if you go on," she answered.

Her little hand patted one of his hands, and she smiled at him to lessen the sting of her words. "I'm afraid you'll have to show me you mean it, and can do it, first, Jerry. You were going on the wagon once before for me, d'you remember?"

Jerry remembered. It was plain from the remorseful twist of his mouth that he remembered.

"This time," he said gruffly, "I mean it. You'll see. I'll quit drinking now, tonight, if you say so. I can do it all right. And if I do—" he swayed closer to her, sheltered from alien glances by the big chair's back. "Oh, beautiful, if I do, then how soon—"

She wanted to cry. "Now! Immediately! Never mind what I said, all that doesn't matter. And then, looking direct into Jerry's near dark eyes, she saw that the lids were puffy, that the whites were etched with little red tattletale lines.

"In the summer," she told him. "Maybe."

He straightened up, incredulous. "Summer? But darlin', that's months from now!"

"Well—spring, then. Late spring, May, or June. I've always thought," she said dreamily, "I'd like to be married in June." She smiled, adoring Jerry with her eyes. "Does that seem awfully long? It does to me, too. But I'll know, then, if you keep your promise all those six months—then I'll know, I'll be sure, that I mean more to you—than things to drink."

There came to them at that moment, with unconscious pertinence, Mr. Joseph R. George, to ask if he might not refill his friend Mr. Davy's glass.

"No," said Jerry. And cleared his throat and, looking straight at Dolly, said further, "Thanks, Joe, I—no more."

There is in the world a new type of young married woman. So new she is that no adequate name for her, as a type, has yet been found. But you know her. And I know her. We all number one or two of her, ten or twelve of her, among our acquaintances.

Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown as they appear in "Hold Everything" at the Englert now playing.

The century has produced this new young wife. She is born of a Cosmic Condition, of a Spirit, of a State of Mind. She grew up too soon and too fast and too much; she went to school to war, and hysteria and recklessness taught her all they knew.

In her twenties she is querulously old. She is frivolous and extravagant and selfish and vain. She is bored with her husband, or she hates him, or both. She has no children, or she has a lonely one, whose upbringing devolves upon her servants. She cares nothing for domesticity.

She exists for such excitement as she can find in the fifth or sixth cocktail, in the highest notch of speed, in the maddest beat of blues, in the dark, bold, predatory eyes of the newest man. She is flagrantly, perpetually indiscreet; but she is seldom immoral. Potentially her sins are tremendous. Actually they are only little sins.

Gay Pomeroy had been married less than a month when she discovered that marriage, after all, didn't make, or needn't make, much difference.

Her first intimation of this came during her honeymoon. At one of the hotels where she and Alan stopped a handsome young man named Don Durant was also stopping; and because he wore a fraternal pin (twins to the one that Alan would have worn had Alan been a little less long out of college, a friendship began. During three afternoons then Durant played golf with Alan. For three evenings he dined with Alan and Gay, and danced with Gay, and told her things.

As they danced on the third evening he told her that the following afternoon he would not play golf with Alan, but instead would take her riding in his roadster. This was the method of Don Durant with ladies. He did not issue an invitation; he made an announcement.

"Silly," said Gay. "I can't do that."

"And why not?"

"Alan wouldn't like it."

"My dear girl, Alan wouldn't know it! Listen to me. We'll time our arrival back to the hotel to coincide with his approach shot to the eighteenth green. By the time he's holed out and added up and collected his beta and started in, you can be awaiting him in your rooms, wearing the injured expression peculiar to golf widows and polishing your nails with the air of one who's been doing just that all the afternoon long."

"You talk it well," commented Gay.

"I'm leaving day after tomorrow, you know," Durant went on. "So tomorrow is the only chance I'll have to see you alone."

"Why should you want to see me alone?"

"Please," he said severely, "don't be naive. It doesn't suit you."

"All right," said Gay, "I'll be firm. I'm not going. Furthermore, I think it's rather eccentric of you to have asked me, under the circumstances. Do you often invite honeymooning brides to go motoring with you, Don Durant?"

"No," he answered seriously. "Not often. In fact I may say practically never, unless—" he peered accusingly down at Gay, "—unless I've somehow picked up the notion that I might get away with it—"

BUILDINGS in Which You Take Pride

ON THE CAMPUS, where class buildings and memorial structures are so often distinguished by their noble form, flood-lighting equipment serves to prolong the enjoyment of their beauty and to enhance pride in the institution. » » Such an application is made for the new 165-foot campanile at South Dakota State—magnificent gift of an alumnus. Electrically operated chimes sound the hours and are heard in concerts. At night, shafts of light from General Electric floodlighting projectors effect a picture of superb beauty done in the school colors and white. From the air, the tower is identified by the beam from a G-E airway beacon surmounting the floodlighted dome. » » Thus, G-E equipment plays its part in promoting progress and fine appreciation. Bulldogs to Invade Iowa City Tomorrow to Clash With Iowa Baseball Team

Hawkeyes to Meet Drake on Iowa Field

First Game Between Old Rivals in 21 Years

By WALTER T. HANSON
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

A spirited University of Iowa baseball team will attempt to check the Drake Bulldogs tomorrow, when the Des Moines aggregation, fresh from a double win over the strong Carleton college outfit, meet the Hawkeyes on Iowa field.

The last time the Bulldogs engaged in competition with Iowa in baseball an 18 inning game resulted. This game was played back in 1909, and the final count was 8 to 7 in favor of the Hawkeyes. An earlier contest that year was also won by Iowa by a 1 to 0 score. The renewal of competition will bring about some of the old rivalry that existed 21 years ago.

Coach Otto H. Vogel has rounded out a trio of dependable chuekers, listing Harmon Mitchell, Oakley Carlson, and Al Ziffren, a left hander. Ziffren with three victories under his belt, has been resting up with a sore arm and may not be able to take his turn on the slab tomorrow.

Carlson May Hurl

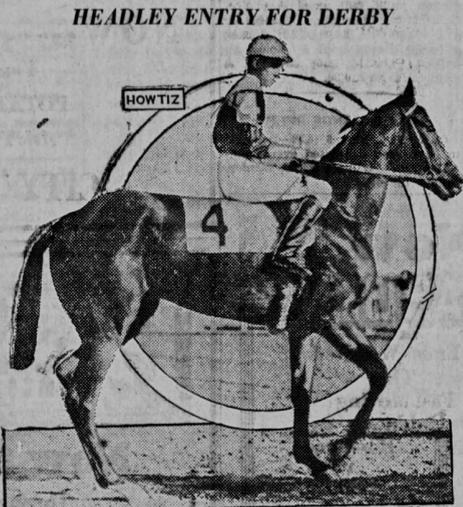

Mitchell's victory over the Nebraska team last Saturday was the most impressive hurling exhibition of the season for the Iowa outfit. He held the hard hitting Cornhuskers to two lone singles, winning the game 3 to 2. The likely selection, however, if Ziffren is unable to pitch, seems to fall upon Oakley Carlson, elongated Hawkeye pitcher, who lost a hurling dual to the Huskers last Friday, 2 to 0.

After suffering a slight slump in his batting averages, Joe Mowry swung into action on the Nebraska trip and fattened his mark by hitting at a .500 clip in the two games, bringing the slugging center fielder to the top of the list with a .369 average, only a shade above the mark of Capt. Charles Stebbins, Iowa first baseman.

Drake showing early season form will meet their test against the Iowa baseball team. Reeder, Bulldog ace, is slated to hurl the game against the Hawkeyes. Lynn King, speedy football and basketball player, has been holding down the third base corner in great fashion.

The Hawkeyes with a record of six wins and six defeats have ambitions of winning practically all of the remaining games, to finish well above the .500 mark. In order to do this Iowa has yet to face Drake, Notre Dame, Luther, Armour Tech, Carlton, and Lake Forest.

Leading the Iowa attack, Mowry, Rath, Stebbins, Carl Nelson, and Mort Koser make an impressive array of hitters for the Drake pitchers to face. The Hawkeye infield has been developing as one of the speediest combinations that Coach Vogel has had since coming to Iowa. Hildreth, the outstanding leader in the Nebraska series has been rounding into one of the most sensational shortstops in Iowa history. Jimmy Kenny at second base, rounds out a double play combination that has been successful at two-ply killings started from the keystone bag.

The game tomorrow will be the last game until May 17 on the home field, when Carleton college will come to Iowa City. The Hawkeyes invade Notre Dame at South Bend Saturday, and will play Lake Forest in Chicago Monday.

Track Mentors Plan Inter-Squad Meets for This Week-End

Track fans will have an opportunity to see Hawkeye athletes in home competition this week-end. While no major meet is in store for the men, Coach George Bresnahan has arranged an inter-squad meet Thursday and Friday afternoons, and Coach Thomas Martin will conduct a weight triathlon Saturday.

Events Thursday will consist of cross country club runs for trophies, the high and broad jump, pole vault, discus and javelin throw, and the events Friday will include the 100-yard dash, mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 440-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 220-yard low hurdles, half mile and two mile run.

Practice for the men yesterday consisted mainly of starts and short dashes. The broad jumpers did some sprinting and the two millers took a fairly fast mile.

George Saling, Hawkeye star hurdler, who was unable to compete in the Drake relays because of an infected leg will be laid up for probably ten days.

A proposed dual meet with Marquette university May 17 on Iowa field is in doubt of materializing.

Rookie Hurls Yanks to Win Over Sox, 4-1

Gomez Stars in First Big League Start on Mound

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Making his first major league start, Vernon Gomez, 19-year-old Yankee rookie southpaw, held the White Sox to five hits today as New York defeated Chicago, 4 to 1. The victory gave the Yanks three out of four in the current series at the stadium.

The youthful discovery, who last year led the Pacific coast league pitchers as a member of the San Francisco Seals, gave a masterful exhibition of hurling. In addition to giving the Sox but five hits, he struck out three batters, including the first three men to face him in the opening inning. Faber also fanned six batsmen but an error by the veteran spitballer in the seventh paved the way to his downfall.

Kamm scored the only White Sox run with a homer into the left field stands in the second inning. Lazzeri hit for four bases, his circuit drive coming in the eighth, when the Yanks apparently had the game on ice.

Giants Take First Place by 9 to 1 Slugfest

PITTSBURGH, May 5 (AP)—Bill Walker's southpaw slants abetted by his home run with the bases full sent the New York Giants into first place in the National league pennant race today as the Pirates were defeated 9 to 1.

Walker blanked the Pirates for eight rounds, handing out only three hits. George Grantham's home run in the ninth, however, spoiled the otherwise brilliant performance. In addition to giving a masterful exhibition of holding the usually hard hitting Pirates, Walker won his game in the fourth with a home run with bases loaded.

Larry French pitched eight innings for Pittsburgh and was combed for six of the nine runs. He retired in the eighth for a pinch hitter and Heinie Meine finished, being scored on three times in the last innings.

Former Hawkeye Wins First Fall, But Loses Match

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, claimant of the world's wrestling title, defeated Everett Marshall, La Junta, Colo., challenger, two out of three falls here tonight. Marshall was a former University of Iowa wrestler.

Reds Drive Vet From Mound to Win, 10 to 6

CINCINNATI, O., May 5 (AP)—Four extra base hits by Horace Ford, Cincinnati short stop, who punished the ball for three doubles and a triple and drove in four runs headed scoring twice, helped today's Reds to drive Burtlett Grimes from the box and win a 10 to 6 slugfest from the Braves. Red Lucas was hit freely but had only one bad inning, the sixth, when Potvin scored 5 runs. Berzer, pinch hitting in that inning, knocked a home run with two on base.

Mounting COST

There are today insurance companies which will issue any type of insurance—at a price. They will insure your jewelry, your heirlooms, your valuable papers—anything, everything—against loss by fire or theft—if you want to pay their price.

And their price, the premium you have to pay, is constantly going up because the risk is constantly increasing.

But you don't have to pay exorbitant insurance rates of this type if you keep your valuables of various kinds in a safe deposit box in our bank where they will be safe, secure, available, convenient, and the cost of this type of insurance is less than a cent a day, which, by the way, would buy very, very little insurance of another type.

We invite you to visit our vaults where you will unquestionably find a safe deposit box to fit your needs. Come in and let us show you.

EAR TO THE GROUND

The word has been going the rounds that minor league, college, and semi-pro baseball has been fading out with the coming of golf. The late "Cap" Anson has said, "I would rather play baseball than watch a golf match, but I would rather play golf than watch a baseball game." Whether this is the reason why a number of fast semi-pro teams of several years disbanded and in their place have a much slower brand played by home town fellows instead of "ringers," cannot be decided without striking at the backbone of the matter. Golf, it must be admitted has cut a big gap in the national pastime, but still baseball holds its own in the field of sports, in spite of the inroads of golf.

Overtime Game Sends Mackmen Into Tie for First

PHILADELPHIA, May 5 (AP)—Scoring all their runs on homers the Philadelphia Athletics today won their fifth game in succession from St. Louis 4 to 3 in 12 innings. St. Louis got to Grove for one run in the first inning and two in the second for a 3-0 lead. The Mackmen then began to club their boundary blows. Joe Boley hit the first of his two in the third inning and his second followed in the fifth. Mjle Haas got his first home run of the season in the sixth, tying the score at 3-3. Al Simmons, first up in the twelfth stanza, broke the tie by hitting his fifth circuit drive of the season into the stands behind centerfield.

Netmen Play Tutors Today

Iowa's varsity net squad made up of seven players and Coach E. G. Schroeder will depart this morning for Cedar Falls, where they will match strokes with the Iowa State Teachers college tennis team today. Although the Hawkeye outfit is rated as considerably stronger than that of its opponents, the Tutors will undoubtedly be hoping for an upset win.

Herbert Thomas, one of the best bettors that Coach Schroeder boasts, will be unable to make the trip. The men who are slated to represent Iowa are Lester Goldman, Joe Hartz, Harry Kern, Truman Roose, Tony Zack, Ray Wallace, and Keith Hanna.

Iowa Golfers Drill for Gopher Matches

Iowa's golf team continued its workouts yesterday with the entire squad taking part in the day's rehearsals. Iowa meets the Minnesota club at aggregation here next Saturday in the fourth game of the season. Few reports have been received from the Gopher camp, but indications reveal that they do not have a strong team.

Coach Martin Will Hold First Annual Spring Triathlon

With the plan in mind of making the meet an annual affair, Thomas Martin, weight coach, is putting on the first spring triathlon Saturday afternoon on Iowa field. Each weightman will choose three events either the javelin, shot, discus, or hammer. In all probability, the Ohio system of scoring will be used, the same scale as is employed at the Ohio relays where the triathlon each year is an important feature.

May Term of District Court Opens Monday

Grand Jury Impaneled; 366 Cases Listed on Docket

Impanelling of the grand jury opened the main official business of the May term of district court at the Johnson county court house yesterday. There are 366 cases on the docket. Judge Harold D. Evans is presiding.

Default cases will be called before the court today with jury cases beginning next Monday at 2 p.m.

Continued civil cases from the February term make up the largest single item on the docket with 277 cases. There are 117 new civil cases. Criminal cases are in the minority with only 11, three of which are appeals from the Iowa City police court.

The seven who will serve on the grand jury are: Bennett Bahmler of Graham township; Louis Chastik of Monroe township; T. D. Kelley of fifth ward, Iowa City; Ed Kessler of Cedar Township; M. W. McDonough of Oxford township; Frank Prizer of Big Grove township; and A. J. Stockman of Hardin township.

Mr. Ed Kessler was named as foreman of the group. Vera Anderson will act as clerk.

University Adds Six Cases to Museum

Six new cases for exhibits, have been added to the university museum, according to Homer R. Dill, director of the museum. Four of these will be placed on the second floor, and the others on the main floor.

Unusual albino specimens, such as white sparrows, white robins, and a hybrid wild duck will comprise the contents of the one case. Another case will be used for birds that have become extinct. The passenger pigeon, Carolina parakeet, ivory-billed woodpecker, and the heath hen will be some of the attractions. This case will be changed from time to time to add new or unusual species.

Miscellaneous exhibits of an ethnological nature will be placed in the other four cases. These cases will not be ready for the museum until fall.

The exhibit case, containing the Laysan island cyclorama of the university museum, is being entirely remodeled. New panneling and a fire-proof structure will replace the old case.

I. C. High Students Take Meet Tests

Students in the Iowa City high school will enter the academic meet this afternoon taking tests furnished by the university. These tests are taken by schools throughout the state. They are given in civics, physics, algebra, geometry, American history, modern history, economics, English, American literature, and the use of correct English.

Ross Tells of Making Better Homes Better

Tells Faults of Modern Home at C. of C. Luncheon

Decrying the lack of parental responsibility in the modern home, Rev. John E. Ross of the university school of religion urged that parents shoulder their responsibilities and not shift them off to other agencies to make "better homes better." Father Ross addressed the local chamber of commerce yesterday noon.

Enumerating the shortcomings of the present day home, he made the following criticisms: "Children are given no training on the most important venture in life, that of choosing a life partner."

"A conspiracy of silence in the home keeps sex facts from the children, which sometimes leads to serious consequences. Not only do parents withhold advice and information on sex and marriage, but they often lie and equivocate to their children. This has the effect of breaking down confidence that should normally exist between parents and their children."

"Children will satisfy their curiosity some other way. They will learn the facts of life from tainted sources and get a conception of sex and its problems which will influence their whole future."

"Great many children are spoiled when they reach school age, and teachers must undo work done at home."

"There is not sufficient cooperation between the home and the school. Parents fail to take the interest in education that they should."

In planning their next better homes show, Father Ross asked his chamber of commerce audience to enlist all university agencies in treating the various angles of the home. He regretted that the recent exposition was devoted entirely to displays of physical conveniences and overlooked completely other aspects of the home.

Concerning the subject of marriage and love, on which he has been frequently quoted and interviewed, Father Ross said, "Young folks think that getting married means emancipation. As a matter of fact they are tied down more after marriage than before. Marriage is not a perpetual honeymoon. It has its ups and downs, crosses and sorrows. One should enter matrimony with the high courage and perseverance of soldiers going to war."

Houston Will Attend Church Conference

The ninety-first annual conference of the Congregational churches of Iowa will begin today at Marshalltown and continue through until Thursday night, May 8.

The Rev. Ira J. Houston, pastor of the local church, accompanied by Dr. A. E. Lambert, will leave Wednesday morning to attend the final two days of sessions. Mrs. W. J. Harter and Mrs. M. A. H. Jones will also attend.

Grim Selected as Honorary Rambler Basketball Pilot

Johnny Grim was selected by his teammates as honorary captain for the past Rambler basketball season at a meeting yesterday noon. For the last two years, Grim has been an outstanding player at the St. Mary's school. When he first went out for the hardwood sport he was a small fellow, but under the direction of Coach Francis Stuepel he developed quickly and served as a regular guard for three years.

Rambler athletes will begin spring basketball drills this afternoon. But one regular from last year's squad, Leo Gaulocher, will return for competition next year and Coach Stuepel will be faced with the task of perfecting a team composed largely of sophomores and freshmen. Grim will assist the Blue and White mentor with the spring practices.

Moose Drop Opener, 3-2

Moose baseballers, journeying to Letts for the season's opener, dropped a 3 to 2 engagement Sunday. Failure to connect with safe clouts cost the locals their first game in competition in the Illinois and Iowa league.

Treptow brought in the Iowa City tallies in the second frame when he drove out a homer which brought Lee Seemuth in ahead of him. This four-sacker, along with a double by Jones and a single by Eastwood proved the extent of Iowa City's hits.

Klema allowed three hits and this with an error in the fourth brought in two scores for Letts. A hit and another error gave Letts the winning count in the sixth.

Iowa City presented a good brand of ball for the initial appearance of the year and another week's drill should put the outfit in good shape for the tilt with Muscatine here next Sunday. Paul "Boney" Clark probably will hurl against the Muskies, but the remainder of the outfit will be the same as started last Sunday.

What Good Is Your Liability Policy Anyway?

(This Costs Me Money to Print, So Please Read It) A PUBLIC LIABILITY automobile policy agrees to defend you against claims that may be brought against you by reason of real or fancied injuries your car may have caused some person. IT DOES NOT GUARANTEE THIS PERSON ANYTHING! But if a settlement becomes necessary it will pay up to the limits of the policy in addition to the legal cost of defending the claim. IT IS NOT THE PURPOSE OF THE POLICY TO GIVE THE CLAIMANTS WHAT THEY WANT OR TO SATISFY THEM. Its purpose is to protect YOU against their claims.

The PROPERTY DAMAGE LIABILITY is just as important to you and does exactly the same for damage, real or fancied, to property of any kind.

The policy is intended to protect YOU, your income and your property against CLAIMS others may bring against you. For this purpose it will hire lawyers to protect YOU and will issue bonds to relieve YOU of attachments. BUT each policy has Definite Limits. Are yours high enough?

If you do not want to pay for your own injuries in case of an accident buy an Accident Policy. If you do not want to pay for the damages to your own car in case of an accident buy Collision Insurance. The other fellow, or his insurance company, MAY pay these bills, BUT YOU CAN NEVER BE SURE OF IT!

If you choose a good agent to draw up the policy as you want it, and a good company to stand back of this agreement, then IF YOU DO NOT EXPECT SOMETHING YOU HAVE NOT PAID FOR, you will never have any trouble over any adjustment under the policy, and this applies equally to all kinds of insurance policies.
