Early Count Shows Gain for Democrats

Republicans Stand Pat in Eastern States, Vote Shows

Associated Press returns from congressional districts at 1:50 a. m. (EST) on contests for the 435 seats in the house of representatives, showed:
Republicans elected 108; present congress 260.
Democrats elected 141; present congress 160.
Farmers labors elected none; present congress one.
Socialists elected none; present congress none.
Still doubtful 186; present congress 28.
Necessary for a majority 218.

Associated Press returns compiled to 2:45 a. m. (EST) on the contests for the 35 seats in the United States senate closed:
Republicans elected, 5, holdovers, 34; total 39.
Democratic senators elected, 12, holdovers, 26; total 38.
Farmer-Labors elected, 0, holdovers, 1; total 1.
Still doubtful 18.
Necessary for majority, 49.

(By The Associated Press)
Democratic inroads on the republican majority in the senate from the midwestern states were indicated in the returns of Tuesday's election, but the republican candidates along the eastern seaboard were valiantly standing off the attack.

These returns failed to show definitely any considerable changes in the heavy republican majority of the house. The democrats failed to regain the second Virginia district which they lost to the republicans in the 1928 Hoover landslide. Returns, however, from the other seventy or more doubtful districts were unreported.

Eight republican senate seats were threatened in the early reports while the democrats were losing one of their seats—that held by Steck, of Iowa.

The following democratic candidates were ahead in contests for places now held by republicans: J. Hamilton Lewis in Illinois; Robert J. Bulkley in Ohio, M. M. Neely in West Virginia; Thomas P. Gore in Oklahoma; Thomas F. Bayard in Delaware; W. J. Bulow in South Dakota; and Edward P. Costigan in Colorado.

Republican senate candidates were leading in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New Hampshire in the east for seats now held by the republicans.

An overthrow of ten republicans is necessary to give the democrats control of the senate, and while this goal was not in sight on the bases of early reports, the prospective democratic gains were sufficient to strengthen the coalition of republican independents and democrats which ruled the senate last session on some of its most important decisions.

The following senate elections had been definitely recorded:
Republicans, Davis, Pennsylvania, and Capper, Kansas, Democrats, Robinson, Ark., Harris, Georgia; Long, Louisiana; Harrison, Miss.; and Byrnes, South Carolina, (all opposed.) Sheppard, Texas, and Glass, Virginia.

Thus, of the 13 the democratic seats at stake in this election, seven were won on the first returns.

In the Nebraska race where Senator George W. Norris, independent republican, is contesting with Gilbert N. Hitchcock, democrat, the first reports gave Norris a lead.

The veteran Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democrat, was ahead in Montana against the republican, Albert J. Galen.

Senator Hefflin, of Alabama trailing the regular democratic nominee, John J. Bankhead.

In Minnesota, the republican senator Schall was behind the democratic candidate, Einar Hoidal, on scattering returns from a few precincts. This gives the democrats prospects for seats in two northwestern states, South Dakota and Minnesota, normally regarded as republican and not counted upon by the democratic leaders in their pre-election estimates.

Bankhead Leads in Alabama Election

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 4 (AP)—John H. Bankhead of Jasper, democratic nominee for United States senate, had a big lead tonight over Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, running as the leader of a Jeffersonian ticket.
Senator Hefflin, barred as a democratic candidate because of his failure to support the democratic presidential ticket in 1928, has held elective office for 34 years at the hands of the democratic party. Returns from 1,499 boxes of 2,115 gave Bankhead 108,241 votes, to 65,818 for Hefflin.

C. R. Brookins Loses Job as Track Coach

Marries Twice in 60 Days; "Too Fast" Says Lauer

Charles R. Brookins, assistant track coach, yesterday was given notice of his dismissal from the athletic department, effective as soon as arrangements can be made to take care of his work.
"Speed in hurdlings is all right, but two wives in 60 days is too fast for this department," Director E. W. Lauer told his subordinate in announcing to him the decision.

Two Close Marriages

Coach Brookins, who as an Iowa track man set the present world record in the 220 yard low hurdles at 23 seconds flat, was reported to have married Dorothy Cobey of Oskaloosa at Valparaiso, Ind., Saturday, Nov. 1. When this announcement was made Monday, a dispatch from Alamo, Ill., reported his marriage there Sept. 4 to Mrs. Ethel Held of Iowa City, former employe of the athletic department.

Asked about the two marriages, Brookins explained that the former Mrs. Held went to Midland, S. D., one week after the wedding to obtain an annulment. Whether she had succeeded he did not know, but said that his attorney was enroute to South Dakota to get papers in the case.

Lauer Verifies Wedding
Director Lauer did not, however, concern himself with whether or not there had been an annulment of the earlier, unreported marriage. After verifying the wedding by a trip to Alamo Monday, he summoned Coach Brookins yesterday to dismiss him, explaining that his action was based on the short time in which there had been two marriages.

Coach Brookins was divorced Nov. 29, 1927, by his first wife, Zula M. Meehler of Iowa City, on grounds of "infidelity." He had married her when a sophomore in the university, Aug. 23, 1922.

Major Letter Winner

Winner of major letters in track in 1922, 1923, and 1924, Brookins was able as a midyear student to compete the following fall in football, winning a minor letter. Immediately after graduation in 1925 he joined the athletic department staff. Since then he has assisted Track Coach George T. Bresnahan with varsity hurdlers and broad jumpers, developed the equipment department, and turned out freshman track teams which have taken telegraphic Western conference meets. Director Lauer had not as yet last night considered any successors to Brookins.

Lewis Leads Democrats to Ballot Victory

Referendum on Repeal of Dry Law Wins in Illinois

Referendum, Illinois:
Repeal of the eighteenth amendment: for 122,836; against 59,995; precincts 883.
Modification of Volstead act: for 111,494; against 47,154; precincts 861.
Repeal of state prohibition act: for 114,752; against 43,887; precincts 818.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—James Hamilton Lewis, last democrat to represent Illinois in the United States senate, was chosen today by an overwhelming majority to return to that body as the first popularly elected democratic senator from his state.

With him Lewis carried the entire democratic ticket in Cook county and threatened to sweep from office part of the republican congressional delegation and possibly state officers as well.

The vote, gathered from 1,945 precincts out of 7,109 in the state, stood: Lewis 379,566; McCormick 164,979, while Lottie Holman O'Neill, independent dry candidate, ran a poor third with 16,847.

In achieving the defeat of Mrs. McCormick, Lewis avenged his own defeat by her late husband, Medill McCormick, in 1918.

The highlight of his campaign platform was espousal of repeal of the prohibition act and a restoration of state's rights in liquor legislation.

Partial returns on these referenda tonight indicated opinion ran about 2 to 1 in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, modification of form was espousal of repeal of the Illinois prohibition act. The result is not mandatory upon the lawmakers.

Dan Turner Takes Lead for Governor

Steck Falling Behind Dickinson in U. S. Senate Race

DES MOINES, Nov. 4 (AP)—Although Senator Daniel F. Steck, democrat, was making a valiant effort to retain his seat, republicans went into a strong lead for the entire state ticket on the face of returns from one-sixth of the low precincts tonight.

Rep. L. J. Dickinson, republican, built up a 15,000 lead for the senate over Steck, but democrats were far from conceding defeat for the first member of their party to hold a senate position since the Civil war.

Turner Pulls Away
Dan W. Turner, republican gubernatorial nominee, pulled far away from Fred P. Hagemann, democrat, as the returns began to pile up.

Four hundred sixty two of the state's 2,484 precincts gave Dickinson 56,246 to 41,631 for Steck. Turner meanwhile garnered 62,047 votes in 428 precincts against Hagemann's 27,123.

With more than half of the precincts counted in the second congressional district, Ben Jacobsen of Clinton, democrat, took slightly over the lead over Rep. F. D. Letts, of sought the office on a platform urging repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Anderson Strong
Other republican congressmen held a majority in the first returns, although Paul Anderson of Harcourt, democrat, polled a good vote in the tenth district against Fred C. Gilchrist of Laurens, republican. They were contesting for Dickinson's position in the house.

State officials on the republican ticket were being swept into office with Dan Turner. The only one of the group who was not an incumbent is G. C. Greenwaldt, seeking to succeed Secretary of State Ed M. Smith.

Dotson was placed under $10,000 bond and his examining trial set for Nov. 15. The shooting occurred on Peter creek at Phelps, Deputy Thornbury said.

The deputy sheriff said that Hatfield had been unpopular with the people of his community and was ousted by means of petition. Dotson was one of the leading spirits in bringing about Hatfield's removal, the officer said.

Hatfield was said to be remotely connected with the clan of Hatfield feudists of the mountain country.

Election Sidelights

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Former Governor Alfred Smith voted in a black—not a brown—derby.

CINCINNATI—John Wiphorst, 80, fell dead as he stepped into a voting booth.

PITTSBURGH—They wouldn't let Irwin B. Laughlin vote, even though he's ambassador to Spain. He'd forgotten to register.

ASHVILLE, N. C.—The sunny south turned in the snow storm of election day. Five inches deep in some places.

PITTSBURGH—He didn't do it on purpose but Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, republican candidate for senator, cast ballot number 13.

WASHINGTON—The "Hover Vote" virtually covered the entire country. It was "X" "D" in Washington, flown by air mail across the nation, and cast in California.

NEWARK, N. J.—J. Gilbert Mason, seeking the senatorship on the prohibition ticket, expects to be running for office until he's 100 years old. He is 89 already.

NEW YORK—If the republicans lost nothing else, they at least lost $500. Some fellows with pistols went into the downtown republican club and took that much money from the assembled republicans.

Farmer Kills Man Working on Elections

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4 (AP)—Elias Dotson, 50, a farmer, was brought here tonight from Phelps, a village 50 miles from here, where he was alleged to have slain Ward Hatfield, 35, this afternoon, while both were working in the election.

Deputy Sheriff Emory Thornbury, who arrested Dotson on a charge of murder, said the shooting resulted from bad feeling created by the removal of Hatfield, a miner, from the office of deputy constable some time ago.

Dotson was placed under $10,000 bond and his examining trial set for Nov. 15. The shooting occurred on Peter creek at Phelps, Deputy Thornbury said.

The deputy sheriff said that Hatfield had been unpopular with the people of his community and was ousted by means of petition. Dotson was one of the leading spirits in bringing about Hatfield's removal, the officer said.

Hatfield was said to be remotely connected with the clan of Hatfield feudists of the mountain country.

Wets Carry Early Returns

NEW YORK—A candidate who actually courts the jinx number is Congressman Boylan, seeking his fourth term. He voted ballot No. 13 today, just as he has for many years.

NEW ASHFORD, Mass.—The first returns, as usual, came from New Ashford where the folks get up early. All 36 votes had been cast by 6:15 a. m., and it was a republican landslide—Allen (Rep.) getting 23 votes for governor and Ely (Dem.) getting 7.

NEWARK, N. J.—There is the republican party, the democratic party, the socialist party—and in the third New Jersey district, there is "The Independent life saving party." Louis Nimsche, candidate for congress on that ticket, demanded safety on "ships, submarines and flying coffins."

NEW YORK—One never grows too old to vote. Miss Mary E. Nutting is past 100 years, but she was out voting today at Holyoke, Mass. John R. Voorhis of New York, grand sachem of Tammany hall and 101 years old, showed signs of slowing up a bit, not getting around to vote until 9:30 a. m., whereas 8:45 has been his previous custom. He said his daughter wouldn't let him get up early today.

MEMPHIS—Senator McKellar came home from Oklahoma on a stretcher suffering from injuries in a recent motor accident, and despite an offer from election officials for a special from Memphis, he went to Memphis to vote.

NEW YORK—If the republicans lost nothing else, they at least lost $500. Some fellows with pistols went into the downtown republican club and took that much money from the assembled republicans.

WASHINGTON—The "Hover Vote" virtually covered the entire country. It was "X" "D" in Washington, flown by air mail across the nation, and cast in California.

Wet Demos Sweep to Victory in County Offices

Don McComas, Rowland Battle for Sheriff Position

Featuring a neck and neck battle for the sheriff's office with the democrats' nominee winning out, the democrats swept to a decisive victory over the republican candidates in Johnson county.

As early returns came in, the lead in the sheriff's race swayed between Will Rowland, republican, and Don McComas, democrat and former Iowa City policeman. But later votes began to pile up for McComas and he coasted to victory with a majority of 700 markers in 23 out of 26 precincts.

County Attorney F. B. Olsen, democrat, worsted his republican opponent, Kenneth Dunlop, by a huge majority. Olsen led in all the Iowa City wards and most of the county precincts.

John M. Kadlec, county recorder, with his triumph over Gordon Dinasmore, republican, remained in the office and also stretched his consecutive service in the recorder's office to eight terms.

Charles L. Berry, democrat, was returned to office of county treasurer by his overwhelming victory over Roscoe Gardner. Berry will start his eighth year in the position of keeper of the county funds.

County Auditor Ed Sulek, Walter J. Barrow, clerk of district court, and Coroner George Marech, democrats, were all reelected to their respective positions by virtue of no republican opposition. Sulek will start his eighth term as auditor and Barrow will commence his fifth year as clerk.

R. P. Jones, John W. Cary, D. J. Peters, democrats, defeated Aaron Cox, S. K. Slemmons, W. R. Hughes, republicans, for the county board of supervisors by a large majority. Charles Lacinia, also democrat, won out over his republican rival Frank Patera in the race to fill the vacancy term on the board.

First district—57 of 148 precincts: Kopp (R) 8,702; Conrad (D) 5,781.
Second—145 out of 174 precincts: Letts (R) 19,194; Jacobsen (D) 23,056.
Third—125 of 229 precincts: Robinson (R) 15,538; Beecher (D) 10,478.
Fourth—99 of 210 precincts: Haugen (R) 14,751; Peck (D) 7,796.
Fifth—136 of 199 precincts: Cole (R) 16,778; Cooper (D) 14,176.
Sixth—84 of 173 precincts: Ramseyer (R) 13,315; McConnell (D) 8,474.
Seventh—135 of 213 precincts: Dowell (R) 20,902; Evans (D) 5,474.
Eighth—76 of 234 precincts: Thurston (R) 8,558; Pearson (D) 8,042.

Tenth—163 of 318 precincts: Gilchrist (R) 20,344; Anderson (D) 11,853.
Eleventh—99 of 308 precincts: Campbell (R) 13,158; Bisbee (D) 4,225.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 4 (AP)—Two ties, democratic for the United States senators, and Farmer-Labor for governor, threatened late tonight to sweep aside the long standing supremacy of the republican party in Minnesota.

Einer Hoidal, Minnesota democrat, who supported Governor Smith in 1928 for president, held a substantial lead on the basis of small but representative returns over the republican incumbent, Thomas D. Schall, blind senator. Hoidal swept Minneapolis, the largest vote center in the state, by a five to three majority.

At midnight, the Minneapolis Tribune, the only major newspaper in the state supporting Schall, conceded his defeat and characterized the election as the "biggest setback in the history of the republican party in Minnesota."

At the same time Floyd B. Olson kept a continuous margin in returns from every section of the state in his race for governor, furnishing the possibility of the first Farmer-Labor governor in the history of the state.

Marcus A. Coolidge, Massachusetts democrat, who advocates sale of liquor by the government, was over 40,000 ahead of his dry republican opponent, William M. Butler.

Senator Hastings, republican, Delaware, had a 5,000 majority over Thomas F. Bayard, democrat, and advocate of repeal, Hastings has opposed a change in the dry laws.

Senator Walsh of Montana, veteran dry, took an early lead over Albert J. Galen, his republican repeal opponent.

Cyrenus Cole Also Battles to Hold Seat

Remainder Republican Aspirants Appear Sure of Seats

DES MOINES, Nov. 4 (AP)—Probability that Iowa would send a democrat as its representative in the United States house was seen today as the vote for congressman in the second district neared completion.

Ben Jacobsen, wet democrat of Clinton, had a lead of more than 1,500 votes over the present congressman, F. D. Letts of Davenport, republican. The vote in 121 of the 175 precincts in the district gave Jacobsen 16,176 votes to 14,534 for Letts.

Another republican incumbent, Cyrenus Cole of Cedar Rapids, was being pressed by his democratic opponent, H

Genuine Farm Relief

SUCCESS, to many of America's leading industrial corporations, is more a matter of waste elimination than of large scale production. Plant centralization and tremendous output have made it possible to save products that were once wasted.

One concrete example of waste utilization is in the meat packing industry. In many cases, income from the sale of cut meat does not equal expenditure for the live animal. Only through the use of products once discarded as useless, through the development of new commercial commodities such as tankage, fertilizer, bone meal, glue, etc., is this industry able to maintain the low price level that it does for its meat.

This practice, which has been applied to industry, may be extended to agriculture. Hundreds of products annually go to waste on the farms about the country, which if subjected to the proper processes could be transformed to utilizable commodities. Forward steps have been taken in this direction, and research projects are going forward rapidly for their extension. The Iowa state legislature has been making annual appropriations for research on the subject. And, inasmuch as research equipment represents the expenditure of very great sums, Iowa has been extremely fortunate in securing a man to head the project who stands head and shoulders above anyone else in the field.

Prof. O. R. Sweeney, head of the chemical engineering department at Iowa State college, who addressed the first meeting of the American Chemical society here last night, has contributed more to the utilization of waste agricultural products than any other man.

Professor Sweeney has secured for the state of Iowa, numerous patents on various processes for making synthetic lumber from cornstalks and on a machine for the formation of cornstalk insulation board, and has contributed materially to the development of new products which may one day find commercial utility in satisfying some of civilization's many wants.

County Elections

THE people of the United States take pride on the effective methods used in business. But these same men and women tolerate the present county government. Here can be found more waste of public funds than probably anywhere else in the nation's economic system.

The term of office for the county officials is too short for efficient work. Too much time needs to be spent catering to the public and campaigning for the next election. Besides, the cost of the elections is tremendous. Couldn't this money and time be put to better advantage elsewhere?

Business firms insist on experts to do the important work. A man must qualify for the job, before he's even considered. But it is different in the business of governing public affairs. Even though a man has little technical knowledge, if he possesses a few friends, a pleasing personality, and a fluency of speech, he stands a good chance of obtaining a county office.

Considering these things, isn't it about time for counties, if they desire efficiency, to adopt some form of civil service and do away with elections?

A Tight Pinch

CENTERING Iowa avenue in its full extent is a boulevard, well cared for and beautifying. In the business district, parallel parking is permitted in one block and angular parking in another.

The latter falls to the lot of the busier of the two. A car of ordinary length parked there must of necessity back over the central curbing or block traffic while it seesaws its way out. Cars passing those parked there must squeeze through the narrow lane as best they can.

A less angular marking or a change to parallel parking would eliminate several precious spaces but would better facilitate traffic.

Where Is Political Bombast?

RADIO has been the marvel of the last decade, but its importance in the political realm is hardly realized. It is taking the buncombe and the hypocrisy out of political campaigns.

In 1928, for the presidential election, radio cut hardly any figure. It was utilized of course but it didn't take the place of convention hall speeches. Parades, flaming banners, and brass bands still had their effect.

This year, things were different. Hardly anyone goes to campaign lectures and the whole program of congressmen were being managed for radio broadcast. The result has been an entirely different sort of campaign. Candidates have had to watch their grammar and diction. A good radio announcer might have a greater chance of getting an office than an ignorant civic leader. Tricks to attract attention have less effect now. Candidates don't lie so much about themselves or affect bombast. The radio public knows buncombe better when it hears it. The new cancer cure specialists and feed store advertisers have found that out.

By the time the next elections roll around, radio is going to be so important that a course in radio announcing may be an integral part of political science.

Well, What of It?

"WELL, what of it?" was the answer President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin gave when told that communism was present in his school. President Frank went on to say, "We are apt to have both communists and Presbyterians here. I have said, and still say, a student has as much right to be a communist as he has to be a Presbyterian or a Baptist. It is not the business of the university to dictate the political and religious beliefs of its students."

President Frank's tolerant attitude was the proper stand for him to take. True, the presence of communism in a state university may be deplorable. But of all institutions, a university should be characterized by freedom of thought.

Interference on the part of a university into the political and religious affairs of its students would be as un-American in principle as the presence of communism is termed to be. By leaving the matter alone, if it is weak it will die out of its own accord. But oppose it, trample it under, and it will thrive. Nothing will thrive so well as an activity that meets opposition; nor will anything disintegrate so quickly as misdirected activity that is accorded an indifferent reception.

The Gift Horse Smiles

HAILE SELASSI was crowned emperor in Abyssinia Sunday, and Europe sent an array of elaborate gifts. Picture the slaves carrying them in with pomp and ceremony, and Haile receiving them with a gracious smile.

Such luxuries the slaves are used to presenting to their master. Their dignity is a holy rite accompanied by measured tread to the sound of cymbals. But in the midst of the ceremony, the slaves seem chagrined. They find queer and unusual articles; they attempt nonchalance as they carry in a radio, a refrigerator, a typewriter, three motion picture films, and 500 rose bushes, the unofficial gift of the United States.

What may their emperor think of such rubbish, clumsy looking objects, seemingly useless? They watch him closely. Haile's gracious smile changes to an expression of surprise and glee, much like that of a small boy who expects a pop gun for Christmas and gets a Winchester rifle.

Haile may have to build a storehouse for his royal relics, but Uncle Sam's gifts will never be shelved.

Preserving Merit

AFTER the death of Wallace Reid in 1923, moving picture films with him in the east went off the market. After the death of Milton Sills in 1930, pictures like The Sea Wolf will continue to be shown.

While Wallace Reid lay lifeless in Hollywood, on some screens throughout the nation movie audiences were responding to exhibitions of his talent preserved for them through moving picture film. Later that opportunity was denied them.

In the instances of those productions which deserve preservation, it is fitting that the white man's magic which can keep beautiful voices and delightful music stored in phonograph records and talking picture films can be preserved just as the writings of men are kept for the advantage of future generations.

It is said that only one man in fifty knows how to vote intelligently. And he seldom gets a chance.

If a woman won't tell her age when she votes, she should, at least, brush away the powder so the official can see the rings under her eyes.

Who says that this government isn't solid? Look at our congressmen.

People who think there is no such thing as love are partly right. There isn't for that kind of people.

You can't choose your ancestors, but that's fair enough. They probably wouldn't have chosen you.

The polls are places where you stand in line for a chance to decide who will spend your money.

If you think women better qualified than men to pick the best candidates, look what they marry.

"STUDY REVEALS GIN GENERATION IS PASSING OUT," says the Des Moines Register. But hasn't it always been doing that?

"Is your house going to have a party homecoming night?" is an unnecessary question to many chapters, because the boys'll be that way anyhow.

Gathered From the News

One of America's newer religious orders recently held a meeting at which $4,125,162.16 was appropriated for use in the promotion of foreign missions.

We have nothing against foreign missionaries. Perhaps it is the white man's burden to carry the gospel he believes in to savage lands. But in the year of our lord, 1930, right here in the United States there is a wonderful chance for any organization that has resources of over four million to disburse. A wonderful chance to make a lot of people believe that there is a God after all, God who, through his representatives on earth, takes care of the poor and needy.

A youth walked into a police station in New York and handed over a gun. He confessed, not to harming anyone, but to the fear that, hungry, out of work, and desperate, he might find the handy weapon too much of a temptation.

Now he is in jail charged with violating the Sullivan law that prohibits the carrying of concealed weapons. Of course, he won't be hungry in jail but we wonder whether he doesn't now wish he had used the gun. That way, at least he wouldn't be any worse off than he is now.

Those who look on Mr. Henry Ford as a man whose every business venture has turned out successfully, will be surprised to learn that that gentleman paid out over two million cold dollars and in the end admitted he hadn't got a thing for it.

In 1925 Mr. Ford bought a yacht for $500,000 dollars. Then he proceeded to install new ethyl motors in it with the intention of making it run faster than any boat of that type afloat. The bill for the changes made came to $1,600,000. The boat was tried out in a run from the Detroit river. Net result—it ran slightly slower than it had before Ford bought it. So Mr. Ford decides to stick to the production of land vehicles.

Moral: Even the best of us aren't infallible. So the rest of us are entitled to a mistake now and then.

Labrador Reports Grenfell Hospital Fire; Radio Cut Off

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 4 (AP)—A little radio station at Battle Harbor on the eastern coast of Labrador sent out a message last night that several buildings, including the Grenfell hospital, were burning. The station itself was in the path of the flames, the message said.

Efforts to talk to the station tonight were futile. The International Grenfell association in New York today said the hospital at Battle Harbor was the first one built in Labrador by Wilfred Grenfell. It was constructed in 1892 and had 30 beds.

The association expressed the belief the hospital was empty, as the medical staff and patients are generally transferred the first of November to a new hospital on St. Mary's river, some distance to the north, going up on the last boat of the winter sets in.

CHILLS AND FEVER

FIRE AND FALL BACK: Betty Baxter, prominent woman hereabouts, informs us that early in the season her hands were so soft and tender that she cannot hold a gun steadily enough to hit the broad side of a "Bug" (Pinch hitting for a barn, eh "Bugs"?)

If Betty happened to be signing our last name to checks, we should personally see to it that she soaked her hands in hot soap suds three times per diem, and we don't mean just because there might be dishes to be washed.

SHOTS AT THE CINEMA: In this column, we recently acclaimed Miss Marguerite Churchill of Hollywood and Peoria, a passably potent piece of piquancy. And now we see by the daily papers that 22,000 Camp Fire girls lend us their "arms" by voting Marguerite to be the typical American girl.

And some people accuse us of copying our stuff out of "College Humor." Pooh, pooh, the Camp Fire girls know real genius when they see it. Thank heavens they've never seen us.

Pythians of Eastern District Meet Today; 800 to Attend

New Members Receive Rank of Page; Elect Officers

Conference of the rank of page on a class of new members from all over the district will be the opening feature of the Pythians of eastern Iowa district annual meeting this afternoon. The team of the West Liberty lodge will exemplify the ceremony. More than 800 delegates are expected by J. L. Plum, chairman of the committee in charge.

Election of officers late in the afternoon will be followed by an open forum at which a discussion of the Pythian lodge activities will take place.

Visitors who will appear on the afternoon program are: E. A. Greenwood, a member of the state bureau of labor and supreme representative of the grand lodge, Des Moines; K. O. Garber of Adair, state representative; Ward Ferguson, grand keeper of records and seals, of Des Moines; Frank S. Hite, grand chancellor of Marengo; L. S. Robinson, supreme representative of the grand lodge of Glenwood; Dr. G. M. Van Ausdall, supreme representative of New London; Charles T. Rogers, grand vice-chancellor of Grundy Center; and R. R. Hibbs, past grand chancellor of Marengo.

M. A. Waldron, past grand chancellor of Marengo, will be the final speaker of the day at the open meeting in Pythian hall tonight. His speech will be followed by the German clown band of Eldridge, under the leadership of Col. A. C. Oetzmann, a special feature of the day.

The annual district grand ball, the closing feature of the day will be open to the public. The Pythian orchestra from Eldridge will furnish the music.

Pythian women will make their headquarters in the chamber of commerce rooms in the American Legion building. Local Pythian sisters have planned tours of Iowa City and the university campus.

K. P. Officials

Frank S. Hite of Marengo, Grand Chancellor, will be in Iowa City today to attend the convention of the seventh district Knights of Pythias.

Charles T. Rogers, Grundy Center, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals of the Knights of Pythias will be in attendance at the convention of the seventh district Knights of Pythias today.

Dr. Hugo Eckener of Des Moines, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal of the Knights of Pythias lodge, will attend the district convention here today.

Police Fear Rex Hedrick in Foul Play

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4 (AP)—Disappearance of an election official tonight engaged agents of the federal department of justice, the secret service, Jackson county authorities and Kansas City police.

A half day after Rex V. Hedrick, chairman of the Jackson county election board and cashier of the First State bank of Buckner, Mo., left his home to join associates on the election board at Independence, the investigators had only his abandoned automobile, broken glass and bloodstains to guide them in their search.

The automobile, its doors open, was found on a county road. Other blood spots and broken glass were found at a nearby federal highway. Investigators who at first believed the disappearance a political kidnapping later agreed Hedrick might have met foul play.

A vigil of 750 city policemen, augmented by federal secret service and prohibition agents, kept election trouble at a minimum in Kansas City proper.

The federal government filed charges of offering money to cast votes against George Bergold and William Emmett, both of Kansas City. Charges of soliciting money to cast a vote were placed against William Thomas and Henry Center, north side laborers.

Government Stands Test of Balloting

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—A majority of only 31 votes carried the Ramsay MacDonald government safely through the first important division of the current parliamentary session late tonight.

This was regarded a crucial test, for the balloting was on a motion by the conservative party to amend the speech in reply to the address from the throne. The amendment was defeated by 281 votes to 250.

Attack King George's Speech The speech from the throne, delivered by King George at the opening of parliament, but voicing the aims of the labor party, has been under bitter attack for two days, the conservatives regretting the failure of the laborites to propose any adequate measures to deal with the crisis in the industrial, agricultural and commercial fields or to check the growth of unemployment.

Supporters of the administration feared earlier in the week that the liberal party, which holds the balance of power, and disgruntled left wing laborites might combine with the conservatives to bring about a government defeat, but this danger was practically removed when the liberals decided yesterday to abstain from voting on the amendment.

Five Liberals Vote Five liberals voted against the government tonight but they were almost counterbalanced by four members of the same party who stood by the administration.

The left-wing laborites stood by MacDonald.

Political commentators credit the victory to the fact that neither conservatives nor the liberals greatly desired to turn the government out just now and thus necessitate a general election. Hence the liberals decided to abstain in general, despite the fact that they are extremely critical of the administration.

Judge Nelson Orders Death for Altringer

Sentence Set for 1931; 22 Year Old Killer Has Smile

DUBUQUE, Nov. 4 (AP)—Joseph A. R. Altringer, 22, today was sentenced to hang for the confessed slaying of Earl Fuller, Jr., 12. He pleaded guilty to the crime last month.

A slow smile formed on his face as he heard Judge P. J. Nelson order him put to death, Nov. 6, 1931. It was the first time in his long career that Judge Nelson had pronounced the death penalty and he did so in the face of a plea by Hugh Stuart, former county attorney, that Altringer not be hanged.

Parents Sob Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fuller, Sr., the slain boy's parents, sobbed bitterly as Stuart urged that Altringer be spared the death penalty due to his youth. They were surrounded by relatives, many of whom also cried when Judge Nelson pronounced sentence.

After the sentencing, Stuart said there would be no appeal.

An orderly crowd filled the courtroom to hear the sentencing of Altringer, one of 200 suspects questioned following the finding of the boy's mutilated body in the flats near the Mississippi river Oct. 5.

Spectator Attacks Altringer While police were escorting Altringer into the courtroom, however, one of the spectators, Mike Spies, broke through the cordon and swung at the slayer's jaw. Spies was held in his attack immediately.

The boy disappeared the evening of Oct. 4 after playing with a dozen of his friends in Jackson park. Identification of Altringer by one of these, Alfred Haigh, 14, had much to do with the slayer's reversal of former denials.

Altringer, police said, dictated his 400 word confession which he later signed with a steady hand. In it he told of sitting with Earl and Alfred on a park bench watching their friends at play.

Offers Candy to Boys He told of offering to buy the boys candy, of Earl's eagerness to accept and Alfred's refusal to accompany him.

Altringer said he told the boy he would have to cross the "flats" to get the candy. While doing so, he said, he made advances toward Earl which he had resisted.

He then choked him and to assure himself that the boy was dead wound a wire tightly about his neck. It was then, Altringer said, that he outraged the boy.

Court Crowd Orderly In contrast to the orderliness of the crowd today, a threatening group milled about the police station here most of the night of Oct. 11 when Altringer made his confession. That crowd, which stayed until well after midnight, was kept in check by officers who moved among them urging them to disperse.

Altringer was to have been sentenced yesterday but a postponement was ordered to allow Judge Nelson to study the report of three psychiatrists. The doctors, who spent several days studying Altringer, reported that he was sane. They were Dr. F. P. McNamara of Dubuque, Dr. Andrew H. Wood of Iowa City, and Dr. R. A. Stewart of Independence.

The 1931 date for the hanging was set by Judge Nelson in accordance with the Iowa law requiring that a year elapse between the time of pronouncing the death penalty and its execution.

Police Arrest Two as Bad Check Artists

Two persons have been arrested by the local police, on charges of passing bad checks and are being held pending investigation by County Attorney F. B. Olsen. A man giving the name of Dale R. Ewing, 29, was arrested Monday evening after passing five checks. Ewing used various names on the checks. He claims to have been employed by the Cater Construction company on the pipe line north of Iowa City.

A girl, 17, was apprehended, and turned over to Mrs. Mabel Evans, probation officer. She also used various names on checks, including Loretta De Carroll, Betty Leutz, C. M. Keets, and Frank Gibson.

Mrs. Pratt Reclected NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Pratt, republican and only woman member of congress from New York, was reelected to the house of man member of congress from New York's silk-stocking seventeenth district. She won from Louis Brodsky, democrat, and Heywood Brown, author and newspaperman.

Mistaken Identity Causes Woman to Take Wrong Plane BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 4 (AP)—Mistaken identity proved embarrassing today in two instances.

First, Mrs. Adrienne Fisher, wife of the American Charge d'Affaires at Athens, mistook an Athens-Bucharest plane for one making a trial flight. She learned her mistake when the plane was set down at Bucharest.

Airport officials here mistook Mrs. Fisher for Mrs. Robert P. Skinner, wife of the U. S. minister to Greece, and so reported it was Mrs. Skinner who had been the involuntary passenger.

As she arrived without the necessary travel papers, Mrs. Fisher's identity was certified by Charles B. Wilson, U. S. minister to Rumania, whose guest she was this evening.

Thursday Mrs. Fisher will fly to Belgrade, where her travel papers will await her. She then will leave by train for Athens.

Yocum Plot Inquiry Nears End of Probe

Winslow Confesses to Aiding in Kidnap Attempt

DETROIT, Nov. 4 (AP)—Round-up of the kidnapers who abducted Earl L. Yocum, Galva, Ill., and Aurelia, Ia., banker, for ransom two weeks ago was pronounced six-sevenths complete tonight. Lloyd Winslow, Sary county, Illinois, farmer, confessed late today, according to police, that he helped carry out the plot.

He signed extradition waivers tonight and will be returned tomorrow to Illinois, in custody of Sheriff Charles Nash of Henry county, to face a possible death sentence of abduction.

With him will go Roland Schmel, Forrest, Ill., and his son, Elmer, Detroit, said by police to have aided Winslow in his attempted flight into Canada. Sheriff Nash said they would be charged with aiding and abetting in the kidnaping. Roland Schmel brought Winslow to Detroit. While here, Winslow stayed at the son's home.

Sixth Member Arrested Sheriff Nash said Winslow was the sixth member of the actual kidnap band to be arrested, leaving only one at large. Four were named by him as the actual abductors, Verne Ahlgren, Harry Whiskers and Winslow, in custody, and Orville Whiskers, still a fugitive.

Three other were said by him to have financed the plot, Earl Leggett, Eugene Sterns, a former policeman, and Charles Black, all of Bradford, Ill. He said they were under arrest.

He said those three men provided the automobiles used in the kidnaping and furnished the money used in carrying the scheme through to its abortive conclusion.

Connect With Raffle Murder Speculation as to a possible connection between the kidnaping case and the death of Clarence Y. Raffle, 21, Kewanee, Ill., mechanic, near his parent's home in Charlotte, Mich., was checked by Sheriff Nash's statement that the youth's death at this time could not be linked with the Yocum plot.

Raffle's body was found last night, under blankets in the rear seat of his automobile, which was parked along a little used road at the rear of a park in Charlotte. He is believed to have been poisoned by carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust fumes.

Yocum was released by his captors last week on his promise to pay $10,000 ransom. He substituted a block of wood for the promised money in the package which he left at the place designated by the kidnapers.

Tudor Sings for Kiwanis

Club Platts Luncheon for Iowa Football Players

Iowa City Kiwanians were entertained yesterday noon at the Jefferson hotel by H. G. Tudor, G of Iowa City, baritone. He was accompanied by L. N. Vernon, G of Evanston, Ill. Mr. Tudor sang "There is no death" by O'Hara, "Uncle Rome" by Sidney Homer, and "Trade Winds" by Frederick Keel. Following these selections he led the club in song, accompanied by Mr. Vernon.

Nomination ballots were taken for the election of club officers on Nov. 18. It was planned at yesterday's meeting that the club would entertain members of the Iowa football squad at luncheon Nov. 23.

Next Tuesday the members of the club will entertain their wives at an Armistice day "ladies night" dinner bridge party at the Jefferson hotel at 6:45 p.m.

Frank Burkner was present at the luncheon for the first time as a member of Kiwanis. Prof. E. P. Kahl of the English department was a guest at the luncheon.

League Relief Shows Gain

114 Families Get Aid in October, Report Points Out

At the social service league's monthly meeting Monday night Sarah Brown, associate field director of the family welfare association in Des Moines, discussed future plans of the organization. The league is planning to unite with the township in order to conduct its work on a county wide basis.

The statistical report for October was read showing that during October there were 98 families under care, 15 resident families, and 83 transients; 33 were given county relief, and 15 private relief; 235 homes were visited, 213 office interviews held, and 495 telephone messages received; 43 letters were sent out, and the total number of families served equaled 914.

October's report for 1929 stated 63 families under care as compared to 98 this year and 93 total families under care compared to 114 of 1930.

Congressman Lets Insures Railings for Iowa City Postoffice

G. A. Kenderline of Iowa City received notice from Congressman F. Dickinson Letts yesterday to the effect that railings for the entrance steps to the Iowa City postoffice building will be provided for together with the remodeling of the present building.

While in Iowa City last week Mr. Letts asked Mr. Kenderline if there was anything he could do for Iowa City. In discussing the postoffice remodeling plan Mr. Kenderline suggested that railings should be placed on the steps, for the steepness and height of the steps had become a source of danger especially in icy weather. Mr. Letts agreed to take the question up with the postoffice department and his reply of today insures Iowa City residents a safe entrance to the structure when plans of remodeling are completed.

Girl Scouts Begin Classes at Legion

Special instruction classes in badges will start tomorrow at the girl scout headquarters in the American Legion community building at 4 p.m. Marion Marchal, tomorrow, will give instructions in first aid; Frida Mary Elizabeth Jones will give instructions on the child nurse, needle woman, dressmaker, and the child cook. On Monday, Mrs. Sidney Miller will give instructions in citizenship badge at 4 p.m.

Second class scouts and those who will receive that rank by the time of court of awards and badges in December are urged to attend all these classes.

Six to Take Pilot's Tests

The first class of graduating pilots from Iowa City municipal airport will take their examinations in flying tomorrow. A government inspector of the department of commerce from Chicago, Ill., will conduct the tests for pilot licenses.

The six, who received instruction from Paul Shaw flying instructor at the airport, include Frank Carson, Robert Windrem of Iowa City; Merle Wright of Cedar Rapids; George Gingencher of Kalona; and Eddie Pifer of Keota.

Former Wellman Man Dies in S. Dak.

Harry A. Bigelow, formerly of Wellman, died at his home at Westington Springs, S. D., last Saturday night. Mr. Bigelow lived in Johnson county 20 years ago moving from here to South Dakota.

He is survived by his widow, and three brothers, Dr. C. T. Bigelow of Clinton, Dr. E. S. Bigelow of Greene, and Isaac Bigelow of California.

Funeral services will be conducted by Masonic lodge No. 4 at the Hohensack mortuary at 10 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Police Arrest Two Two men giving their names as D. Keyes and Thorn, internes at the university hospital were arrested last night by officers Charles Bock and Wesley Selvedge. The two were arrested on Melrose avenue. They were confined to the city jail pending further action of their cases.

Hinman, Matthews to Speak at Annual Convention

The sixteenth annual meeting of the Missouri valley section of the American Water Works association will be held at Cedar Rapids at Hotel Roosevelt this week. The Missouri section includes Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, South Dakota, and eastern Nebraska.

Tomorrow afternoon, Jack J. Hinman, Jr., associate professor of sanitation and chief of the water laboratories, and Everett R. Matthews, assistant university water analyst, will discuss "The colorimetric determination of iron in water."

Some of the problems which will be brought up at the round table discussion are: "Water works troubles during the past year," "What shall be done for old employees when they become unfit for active service?" "The effect of last summer's drought on water supplies in the Missouri valley."

"Unusual floods and the water works plant," "Cement water pipe joints," "Algae troubles," "Water rates and the consumer," "Is the consumer demanding a higher quality of water?" "The effect of sewer service charges on water works management," and "Chlorination problems."

Ingwersen Coaches Hawkeyes on Aerial Offense; Defense for Marquette

Varsity Crew Stops Frosh Ground Plays

Hauge, Rogge on Bench List; Sansen Good on Defense

Preparing for an expected Marquette aerial offensive, at Milwaukee Saturday, Coach Brown Ingwersen yesterday gave the varsity a hard session against Otto Vogel's yearlings. In the early part of the scrimmage the rhines were unable to get their running attack to function as the varsity linemen were breaking through and smothering the ball carriers before they could reach the line of scrimmage, but the passing game was another thing.

Frosh Passes Work

Using Marquette formations, the freshmen completed a good share of the tosses, including a couple which were good for the length of the field and touchdowns. The passing defense continued until dusk, when the flood lights were turned on and more running plays were tried.

Ed Dolly and Lyman Case, rival sophomore centers, took the spotlight in breaking up the yearling attack with numerous tackles back of the line. Oliver Sansen, smashing junior fullback, continued the excellent defensive work displayed at Detroit, and on a few occasions when the freshmen broke through, spilled them with hard tackles.

Varsity Tries Passes

In an effort to prepare a passing attack on their own account, the varsity ends and backs threw long and short passes all over Iowa field early in the afternoon with reserve backs on the defensive. Jack Warrington, Leo Jensen, and Randall Hickman took turns doing the flinging. Although a good many of the tosses fell into the hands of Carroll Thornburg, alert reserve back, Jim Hay and Gus Mastrogany pulled several long ones out of the air, and Bud Miller was able to elude the defense with some regularity.

George Rogge and Gus Hauge, who were injured in the Detroit game, were out of the sidelines in street clothes. Rogge said he expected to be back in uniform today, but Hauge's twisted ankle will probably keep him off the field all week.

Intramuralites

The Greek fraternities last night stole a famous Roman axiom, "All roads lead to Rome," except that in their case all roads were leading to the city park. Ten fraternities locked horns in the park for kiltball supremacy and the great swarm of waving, jumping forms resembled an exhibition of callisthenics by public school children rather than ball games.

Delts Take One

Despite the crowded conditions every game was fast and chock full of thrills. Delta Tau Delta, with Macalister pitching great ball, took the measure of Delta Upsilon in a close five inning game, 4 to 3. The contest was not decided until the last D. U. batter had retired because in the last half of the fifth inning the D. U. clouters threatened to spoil a good game for the Delts when they brought a man home and placed another on second with only one down. Macalister tightened up, however, and retired the side. Bowers' three hits for a perfect batting percentage was the feature of the Delts play. Bland hit a homer for the winners.

Pointers Beat Betas

Kappa Sigma turned back Beta Theta Pi in a seven inning game by a score of 5 to 1. The hitting of Snell and Wagner was responsible for the Kappa Sig counters while Blanderneck was in line when he held the Betas well in hand. Millhollin pitched a good game for the losers and Keck proved outstanding in the field.

Second for Sigis

Sigma Chi won its second game in a week when Carroll scattered Phi Kappa's hit while his teammates pounded the ball around the lot to copy the contest, 13 to 3. Because of the crowded conditions in the park long hits were ruled as three bangers rather than homers. Carroll and Vogel were outstanding for the Sig Chis and Monek starred for the losers.

Sigma Nu Wins

Sigma Nu swamped Phi Gamma Delta in a seven inning contest when the Phi Gam infield booted the ball around to give the winners a margin of 15 to 1. Workhoven and Gallup good ball for the Phi's and Reedquist hurled a tight game for Sigma Nu. Hogle also played a fine game for the winners.

A.T.O. Beats Triangle

After presenting the Triangles with a gift of five runs in the first inning, Alpha Tau Omega slugged the horsehide to all corners of the field to grab the battle out of the fire, 8 to 7. Griffins' hard drive to right field scored the winning run for the A.T.O.'s. Ammons performed well on the mound for the Triangles besides clouting a homer for batting honors. Ty of A.T.O. also hit for the circuit route and Barber's pitching was outstanding for the winners.

Neighbor's Squabble

Delta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon chose a different site for their ball game and provided the most thrilling contest of the afternoon when they fought tooth and nail to a 7 to 7 deadlock, darkness forcing the issue. Between fast playing and heated debates on both sides, the teams scrambled to gain a commanding lead, the contest seesawing for the six innings of play.

The Sig Alphas started the fireworks in the first inning, scoring two runs on clean hits. Delta Chi came back in the fourth with four markers to take the lead. S.A.E. knotted up the count in the final fifth inning and both teams counter-

Handy Drives Gridders for West Liberty

Nicola and Young Off Injured List; Means to Backfield

Coach Handy put his Blue and White gridders through a hard workout yesterday, as they began to prepare for the West Liberty game Armistice day. He emphasized the fact that there must be no letdown after last week's victory, and promised his men plenty of work before the coming contest. A win will place University high on the heels of Tip-ton, the Little Seven conference leaders.

Hospital List Decreases

Nicola and Young were back in uniform following a short layoff as the result of injuries. The former is still limping with a bad leg, but he will be in shape soon. Moore's sore arm is practically well.

Dill, who has been out for cross country this fall, reported to Handy yesterday to give football a try. He is a backfield candidate, carries plenty of weight, and has speed. While he will be handicapped by lack of experience, he should prove of value later on.

Means in Backfield

Because of a surplus of end material, Means, who has played a wing position all this season, is being given a trial in the backfield this week. He has shown speed and drive, and will probably break in as a ball carrier during the latter part of the schedule.

A passing defense and offense were emphasized yesterday in an effort to bolster up his department. West Branch completed seven out of ten passes against the U. high secondary defense, and gained practically all of their yards from scrimmage in this way. The line as a whole was almost impregnable.

Moore Smashes Line

Following this passing drill the squad engaged in scrimmage, in which, in which the regulars pitted old and new plays and formations against scrubs. Moore seemed his old self as he drove off the ends and over the tackles for long gains. He showed that his arm was all right, as he showered passes all over the field.

East Leads in Intersectional Grid Games

Total Wins Reach 21; Midwest Takes 18 for Second

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—The east slightly increased its lead over the midwest in number of intersectional football victories as a result of the games of the last week end, but a general invasion by middle-western eleven's this Saturday may turn the tide.

Eastern teams, although getting no better than an even break with midwestern and southern adversaries in the latest set of intersectional struggles, sent their total number of victories from 17 to 21 while the midwest climbed from 15 to 18 and the south from 10 to 11. The southwest and far west had a rest from intersectional activity.

The east's victories were accounted for by Army over North Dakota, Pennsylvania over Kansas, Georgetown over Michigan State and Temple over Lake Forest. The west and south counted when Marquette trimmed Boston college, Oklahoma City stopped Davis and Elkins, Tulsa turned back George Washington and Duke beat Villanova. Several of the leading games wound up in ties.

Something like a crisis in the intersectional rivalry will be reached this week with such games as Harvard-Michigan, Penn-Notre Dame, Army-Illinois, Navy-Ohio State, New York U.-Georgia, West Virginia-Kansas Aggies and Detroit-Fordham on the schedule.

Here is the way the various sections stand at present:

	E.	M.	S.	S.W.	F.W.	W.
East	21	9	0	0	21
Midwest	12	2	3	1	18
South	3	7	1	0	11
Southwest	0	1	0	0	1
Far west	0	2	0	0	2

Linking of Empire by Airplane Urged

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Dominion premiers attending the imperial conference today urged continuation of a project to link the units of the British empire by regular airplane service. They expressed the hope that inauguration of the London, South Africa lines would be followed by extension of the regular weekly Indian service to Australia.

In view of the R-101 inquiry, which still is in progress, the conference has decided to make no recommendations regarding development of empire communications by lighter-than-air craft.

Spanish Aviator in Jail; May Remain

MADRID, Nov. 4 (AP)—Major Ramon Franco, the fiery Spanish aviator, now spending two months in prison for recent articles criticizing Spanish aeronautics, published another article in the newspaper Heroldo today and thus laid himself liable to further imprisonment. Spanish military men are forbidden to write on anything not of a purely technical nature.

Leo Ohemler, Well Known Violinist, Dead

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP)—Professor Leo Ohemler, 65, noted violinist and composer, died at his home late last night. At six years of age, he had been hailed as a violin prodigy in Pittsburgh, Pa., his birthplace.

TRIO OF REASONS FOR NOTRE DAME'S SUCCESS

Frank Carideo, all-American quarterback, is again piloting the Ramblers to victory week after week. Schwartz, speedy halfback, is one of the leading scorers for the Rockne eleven while the running of Joe Savoldi has been one of the features of the Notre Dame attack. Fans are calling this year's quartet even greater than the famous "Four Horsemen."

Board of Directors Picked in Industrial Basketball League

At a meeting held Monday evening, the board of directors for the Industrial Basketball league were appointed. The men chosen to direct the activities of the league for the coming season are: Harold A. Kyvig, Irving Weber, Clem Boyle, and Weldon B. Gipple. Mr. Kyvig will act as chairman.

All business of the league will come under the jurisdiction of this board of directors, including eligibility, number of games to be played, number of players in the squads, and the number of games to be played each night. The board will also decide the type and kind of trophies to be awarded. The methods of handling business will be according to Robert's Rules of order unless otherwise specified.

Teams who are sure of joining the league are: 186th hospital company, Skelly Oil company, Dewey's restaurant, Moose lodge, and Engler theater. There are several organizations who have not definitely decided. Among these are: Standard Oil company, the Panthers, an independent club, and the cavalry.

The league can easily take care of 12 teams, and manager of clubs interested should get in touch with Mr. Kyvig at once. The league will officially open Nov. 26.

Badger Backfield Revised

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 4 (AP)—Displeased with the generalship displayed at Ohio State Saturday, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite today revised his number one Wisconsin backfield. Jim Wimmer was at quarterback in place of Charlie Goldenberg and Tury Oman replaced Bill Lusby at full. Thistlethwaite declared poor leadership kept the Badgers from scoring on the Buckeyes.

Leach Replaces Rentner

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 4 (AP)—Lefty Leach replaced Pug Rentner in the Northwestern backfield today and will start against Indiana Saturday. Reb Russell was shifted from quarter to fullback, Leach went to quarter, with Bruder and Hanley at the halves. Hanley, as usual, will call signals from right half.

Michigan Has Defensive Drill

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 4 (AP)—Coach Harry Kipke strung out a defensive drill to last the whole practice period today when the Michigan varsity failed to stop the freshmen who used Harvard forward and lateral passes. An offensive drill was on the schedule but was deferred until tomorrow in favor of more work on defense. Eastman showed up with a bruised shoulder and probably will not play against the Crimson Saturday.

Little Hawks Prepare for Tiger Game

Red and White Polish Old Plays; Drill on Pass Attack

A light signal drill followed by a kicking session and a passing practice was the extent of maneuvers at Shrader field last night as the Little Hawks prepared for the Armistice day invasion of the Washington high gridders of Cedar Rapids. Tonight will see the Red and White warriors in their first scrimmage of the week.

The signal drill involved running over old plays and polishing up formations on which the Warriors are rusty. Captain Bud Wright called signals from his position at fullback. "Bud," "Pinky" Rick

"Pinky" Vestermark and Wright kicked to Vic Curry and Johnny Van der Zee with two men from the remainder of the first team going down on each kick in an attempt to stop the receivers. Both the punter got off several good boots and the receivers were seldom caught off their guard.

In the passing the first string was divided up into two lines, a man from each line running out to catch the heaves of Vestermark and Wright.

To top off the evening drill Coach George Wells sent the gridders around the track two laps, then to the showers.

Stimmel Still Out

Cleatus Stimmel, injured lineman, was not in uniform again last night and indications are that he will be out for some time. Another member of the injured list who may not be able to mix in the Tiger tilt is Lawrence Burr, halfback, who is still suffering from an injured knee received in the Columbus Junction game.

Purdue Regulars Rest

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 4 (AP)—Purdue's regulars were given a second day of rest today, Coach Kizer spending the practice period with the reserves. He said the varsity players were in good shape and need little work to keep them fit. The latter will smooth up their offense for the Chicago game tomorrow.

Momentum Increases for Benefit Football Games to Relieve Unemployment

Cities Vie for Post-Season Charity Battle

Proposed Army-Navy Tangle Produces Fine Offers

By ALAN GOLD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Proposals for post-season college football games for the benefit of unemployment relief, fast accumulating today, have attracted widespread support and interest, especially insofar as they involve the possibility of Army and Navy patching up their differences to a d common cause.

Cities Bid High

Chicago and New York, as well as Philadelphia, are prepared to bid high for a post-season benefit game between the rival football forces of West Point and Annapolis, despite the "many difficulties" which Secretary of the Navy Adams said would have to be overcome.

George F. Getz of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois unemployment commission, has suggested Soldier Field as an ideal spot for the Army and Navy to meet on the gridiron again, for the first time since they broke off in 1927. He ventured the gate receipts would produce $750,000 for the aid of the unemployed.

Gotham Wants Game

The New York Daily News, which addressed an open letter to President Hoover on the subject of an Army-Navy game, called for united support of metropolitan agencies in bringing the game to New York. The newspaper predicted it would draw a "gate" in excess of $1,000,000 at either of the local ball parks.

Michigan Aggies, Detroit U. May Play

DETROIT, Nov. 4 (AP)—A proposed charity football game between the University of Detroit and Michigan State college today awaited consideration of the State college officials, with Charles E. Dorais, University of Detroit athletic director, announcing himself in favor of the game but objecting to a change of date from Nov. 22 to Thanksgiving day.

The game would be played in the University of Michigan stadium at Ann Arbor.

Michigan State officials, however, said they did not regard the proposal made by Gov. Fred W. Green as official, and awaited further communication before taking action on the project.

Detroit and Michigan State have a scheduled game on Nov. 22. Detroit is scheduled to play Georgetown here the Saturday following Thanksgiving, Dorais suggested Friday, Nov. 21 or Sunday, Nov. 23, as possible alternative dates, saying University of Detroit officials, in view of the fact that the bulk of the game's receipts would go to charity, were willing for the team to play on Sunday.

McAvoy Out of Saint Game

MT. PLEASANT, Nov. 4 (AP)—Charlie McAvoy, Iowa Wesleyan quarterback, probably will be out of the St. Ambrose game Saturday because of injuries received in the Penn contest. He has not been able to practice this week. Hall, who performed well in the Penn game, is the likely successor to McAvoy.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

At this juncture of the Big Ten race it appears that Northwestern and Michigan will share the championship. Both teams should finish the season with five victories and no defeats.

If sport speculators are running out of ideas for charity games, I suggest they investigate the possibilities of a post season Wildcat-Wolverine battle for titular honors.

The paths of the circuit leaders do not cross. The Purple goes its way with Big Ten triumphs of 19 to 2 over Ohio State, 32 to 0 over Illinois, 27 to 6 over Minnesota—and games with Wisconsin and Indiana yet to be played. The Maize and Blue travel in a different direction with victories of 15 to 7 over Illinois, 13 to 0 over Ohio State, and 14 to 13 over Purdue—and encounters with Minnesota and Chicago remaining on its schedule.

The two contestants cover much the same ground, however. During the season they both engage Illinois, Ohio State, and Minnesota.

There can be no doubt about it—Northwestern has the stronger eleven. Out of courtesy to the Wildcats for their sportsmanlike gesture in 1925, Michigan should forfeit its claims to the title this fall—assuming that both go through the two games they have left without defeat.

Purdue has a slim chance to tie for the title—if N. U. and Michigan each lose one of its remaining frays, and the Boiler-makers are winners of their last two games.

In 1925 Northwestern outsmarted the Wolverines to win, 2 to 2, in a memorable struggle in rain and mud. Technically this deeded the two universities for the crown, but the Wildcats acknowledged the superiority of the Maize and Blue and disclaimed any portion of the championship.

Coach Zuppke of Illinois was very careless about the development of replacements for his grid team. Last year most of his able players enjoyed their last season. He didn't have understudies ready to take their posts. His 1936 eleven has been shaped from green sophs and inexperienced squads who couldn't win letters in previous autumns.

The football sun, that shone so long and intense on Illinois, has gone down, and a darkness has set in that promises to endure longer than an Arctic night.

The perplexing situation is the outgrowth of the university's own bigness and grid success. Promising prep players were reluctant to cast their athletic careers with the Illini, believing that they would be overlooked in the horde of yearling grid stars. Fresh football squads average about 500 to 600 players.

Grid territories are pretty well marked off, and no school dares trespass the domain of another. The state is Iowa's chief source of talent. The Illinois territory is divided up into many principalities. Illinois has

GOETZ BUG

Following Penn's 27-0 Wisconsin defeat on Oct. 24, the taint of defeat on Oct. 18, many unfamiliar with the sturdy new Black and Red coach, J. R. Ludlow Wray, would be inclined to think that the second syllable in his third name would apply in a different direction with victories of 15 to 7 over Illinois, 13 to 0 over Ohio State, and 14 to 13 over Purdue—and encounters with Minnesota and Chicago remaining on its schedule.

The Badgers beat the Quakers because the former have a splendid machine this year, featuring a swift charging line that choked Penn's intended and sweeps almost before they got started. Wray has two exceptionally brilliant ball carriers in Wally Masters and Dick Gentile, but they were as futile as antelopes in the clutches of ravenous lions when burly Milo Lubratovich and his fellow tackle, Harold Smith, started tearing apart Penn's wall so that Behr, Goldenberg, Schneller and Co. were able to wade through to victory. Really, it was not a case of the Quakers being poor that day, Wisconsin simply was great.

Ever since, Wray has been toiling to improve the Penn line and it's safe to expect that Notre Dame will find it much tougher, next Saturday, than those bounding banging Badgers did. Certainly, the wall that Wray build will get a gruelling test from the Rockline line smashers. Only a super inspired Penn can whip Notre Dame but, if the Quakers can tighten their line so Marsters or Gentile can get started, they may spring a miraculous upset.

Manhattan Wins Muddy Battle

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Manhattan college, coached by John Law, Notre Dame football captain of last year, crushed the University of Baltimore, 52-9, before 2,000 bedraggled spectators.

Playing on a field ankle deep in mud, Manhattan scored eight touchdowns and a safety, leading at halftime by 32-0.

more colleges than any other state, except Ohio. Chicago is a unreliable recruiting ground for the Illini as Northwestern and Chicago draw their players largely from that area.

Wearing The GREEN

"Bill" Foster, brother to "Jerry", can be recognized in the ranks of yearling gridsters as the left guard who gets through the opponent's line on every play and spools any chance for a gain. He is working regularly on Coach Otto Vogel's yearling varsity team and is one of the best defensive players on the frosh squad.

"Bill" went to Davenport high school for three years and was graduated with his brother in 1928. The Foster family grid combination is renowned in eastern Iowa football circles for stellar work on the line, both offensively and defensively. "Bill" plays in the guard position and stands out as a strong defensive player. He won two letters in football while in high school and was on the first squad his sophomore year but failed to earn his letter. His athletic ability is also marked by a creditable record on the cinder path.

In track "Bill" specializes in the hurdles and the high jump event. He won two letters in track during his high school career.

Following graduation the Foster boys headed for Lake Forest Academy where they registered for prep school training. While in prep school he won a letter in football playing guard on the left side of the line beside his brother "Jerry" who held down the tackle position. This combination became renowned in prep grid circles as being one of the strongest forward wall pairs in the game. In track "Bill" earned one letter. He was graduated from Lake Forest in 1930.

"Bill" is upholding the grid fame this season for the Foster family and is playing first string guard for the yellow shirts in scrimmages against the varsity squad. When track call is sounded next spring "Bill" will again don the spiked shoes and continue his career of prominence as a cinder path artist.

St. Pat's Take Hard Scrimmage Session

St. Pat's practiced new plays in last night's scrimmage in an effort to get in shape for their game with St. Joseph high of Rock Island, Ill., there Friday. The first string went through the second team for long gains.

Dvorsky looked good on his smashing drives through the line, while Spratt and Wilkinson circled the ends for consistent yardage. The linemen, led by Emanuel, center, opened gaps in the line in great shape.

McNamara, an end, injured his wrist in yesterday's scrimmage and it is doubtful if he will see action Friday.

Jury Investigates Jail

CEDAR RAPIDS, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Linn county grand jury will investigate alleged conditions in the county jail. County Attorney Carl Hendrickson said today. He said former prisoners and newspaper men would be called to tell of alleged liberties granted certain inmates.

With Iowa's Varsity

Lyman Case Comes Out of Background to Win Regular Berth in Varsity Lineup

"Say, Burt, who's that fellow playing center?" inquisitive press representatives asked Coach Ingwersen at that relentless scrimmage before the Detroit game.

"Lyman Case," came a crisp reply.

"Case? Something wrong with Dolly?"

"Nothing wrong with Dolly. Something right about Case," the Coach replied. "The kid's shown a world of improvement this fall. I intend to start him against Detroit. That's the way I like to see my football men develop—stick out practices, even though no one pays any attention to them, until they're ready to play real football."

Case played a few minutes of the Bradley game. But between then and up to a week before the Titan conflict, he was just another center, a variety of player of which Iowa has a large supply. All told there are four pivot players on the squad—Ed Dolly, Leo Bryant, and Sam Meltzer in addition to Case. All of them will be back next year plus another center, Marcus Magnusson, and a flock of now-freshmen centers.

Ingwersen plans to relieve the center congestion that appears inevitable for the 1937 season. Several of the keystone performers will be made over into guards and tackles.

Prep Star at Grinnell

Back to Lyman Case, about whom this piece is being written. He played center four years with Grinnell high school team, attaining all-state mention his senior year.

That is the only sport for which he tried out in his prep days. At Iowa he won frosh numerals in baseball, but has since abandoned the sport.

He is comparatively light for a lineman, weighing 165 pounds. He made his physique sufficiently tough to withstand grid battering by summer work with construction gangs. He is majoring in commerce with a desire to enter business after leaving school.

Laughing Boy

By Oliver La Farge

(What Has Gone Before) Laughing Boy meets Slim Girl at a ceremonial dance and falls in love with her because she is different from any other squaw he has ever known.

His family advises him not to go with her, but after he loses his money and horse, Slim Girl persuades him to go with her to her home.

Slim Girl, who has been educated by the Americans, has copied many of the Americans ways. She has the ability to please white men.

Now and then she goes to the town for an afternoon. She tells Laughing Boy she goes to help the minister's wife. She goes to spend the afternoon with a white man. He gives her money, and with this money she is able to keep herself and Laughing Boy.

But always she is anxious to relearn the Indian customs and the Indian songs, and she is hungry for the life that she has put behind her.

(Now Go on With the Story) He said to himself, "She was bothered when I refused that drink, the way she looked at me afterwards. She is nervous about me. I have done that by acting as I have. Now she is trying to tell me how she really is; she is talking true; I know, I have wronged her."

She saw the last trailing clouds pass from him. That evening was perfect, so perfect that, with his doubts banished and the feeling of intimacy upon him, he almost told her everything he had done and thought, but he postponed. It was the last of his kind for many days.

Like an ancient magician who, by saying the forbidden names, evoked genii whom he could not then drive back, Laughing Boy had given form to thoughts which were not to be forgotten. Unhappy for himself, he was no fool, and of an honest habit of thought.

There was love in that place, and sometimes happiness, but if a religious-minded Navajo had entered there, he would have felt that the air was empty.

IV Slim Girl continued weaving despite the poor sales, because she found relief and, one might say, a confidence in her craft. And then, they two working side by side, reconstructed at least the outward signs of the harmony that was gone.

He eased his soul by shaping the half-stubborn, half-willing metal. It is a matter of patience, from the lump or the coins to the bar, from the bar to the bracelet. This, the most precious and beautiful of metals, is the easiest to work.

This is a gift of the gods. Slowly, an honest habit of thought. There was love in that place, and sometimes happiness, but if a religious-minded Navajo had entered there, he would have felt that the air was empty.

He was curving the strip of flattened silver. This bracelet is coming out just as I thought of it. One must know his design before he starts when this sort of work is done.

I knew that there would be tracks pointing one way from each end of the center, clouds at each end, and that stone where the tracks meet. How do I know? Not all men are lazy, their money is pure, soft silver; the American coins have something in them to make them hard, they are hard to work with.

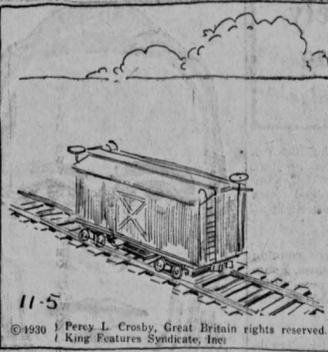

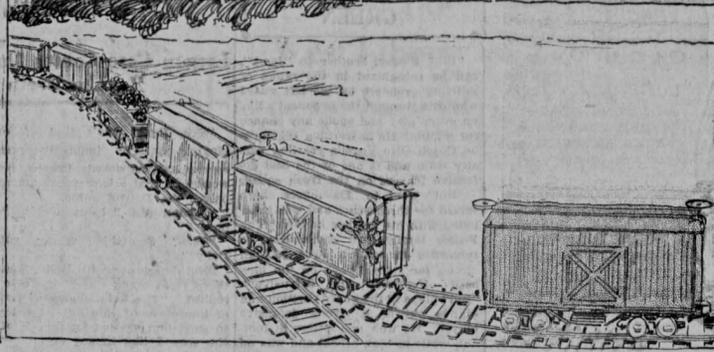

Those American coins! Her fingers were deft, and she pulled at the warp like a harp-player. I am not sure I like this pattern, but it is too late to change it. No, it is a good pattern. Should I unravel all I have done, when it grows so slowly? When the blanket has been started, it is too late to change.

The man who is always coming back to where he started, to figure out another road, will never get far from home. I wish I could just think my design and have it woven at an American mill. No, I don't; it is because I toiled over them that I love them.

The turquoise is the important thing in this bracelet. I looked at it and saw the setting for it. But much of the time now I cannot think well, I am not myself. I have no design for myself, I do not know the nature of my jewel. I am hammering a piece of silver, and I cannot stop hammering, every day is another stroke; yet I do not know what it is to be. In the end it may be just a piece of good metal pounded flat. I do not know my design.

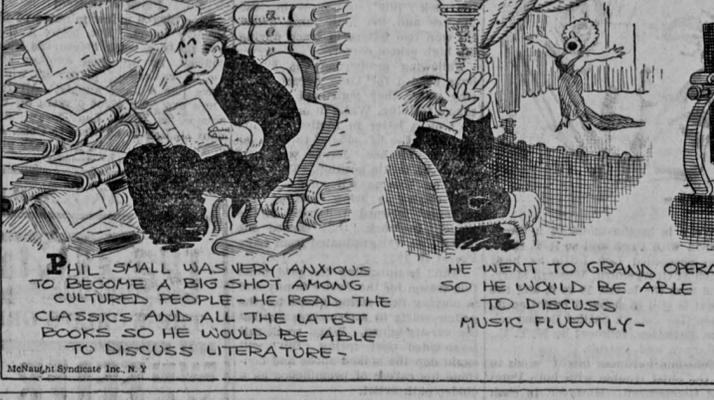

This blanket is like the other things. I am always being uncertain. It is all like this blanket. Shall I unravel it, when I have been so long in getting so far? The design is set, a blanket with a broken design would be absurd, a failure.

Senator Guy D. Goff of West Virginia One of Republicans' Staunch Supporters

GUY D. GOFF

Guy D. Goff had made all plans for retirement from political life following the close of his office as special assistant to the attorney general of the United States under Woodrow Wilson. He had served during Wilson's administration in the capacity of colonel in the judge advocate's office and member of the United States shipping board, also.

However, President Warren G. Harding summoned him to the White House and prevailed upon him to accept the position of assistant to the attorney general in his cabinet.

He served for 14 months and then resigned to go home to his native state of West Virginia to attend to private affairs, and there was again drawn into politics, this time as candidate for republican nomination for his father's old seat in the United States senate.

He not only was successful in obtaining the nomination, but was successful in the general election, and took his seat in congress March 4, 1925.

Senator Goff was West Virginia's "favorite son" for the presidency of United States in 1928. He defeated Hoover in the presidential preference primary prior to the Kansas City convention, and won 18 of the states delegation of 19 delegates to his banner. Following Hoover's nomination, however, Goff supported him for the office.

Goff's committee assignments as a member of the senate have included the judiciary, interstate commerce, privileges and elections, claims, and mines and mining.

He is regarded as one of the staunchest republicans in the senate.

Behind The Scenes IN HOLLYWOOD

I NOTE THAT Kay Francis is bringing her mother, also an actress, out from the east to live in Hollywood. Ken Maynard has bought a new airplane, his third. Spencer Tracy and Lee Tracy are both under contract to Fox, but are not related. Spencer appears as the jathbreaker in the "Hooper" while Lee was the "up the river" in "Big Time". Roland Young, (author of a volume of poems, "Not for Children") is writing a new book, this time kidding Hollywood.

Douglas Fairbanks is studying jiu-jitsu under two Japanese instructors. Mary Pickford is to speak with a French accent after all in "Kidd". She is learning how from Yola d'Avril. Dolores Del Rio is selling her home which boasts one of the grandest oak trees in this part of the country. Legend has it that seven men were strung from its huge limbs by the vigilantes of years ago. Thelma Todd, who's a Boston miss, has received a pot of Boston-baked beans through the mails, compliments of a hotel in her hometown. Roland West, the arbiter of Chester Morris' destiny, has turned down 29 offers for his province.

Some of the studios are a little thier about paying the $75,000 that Chester gets for a picture.

MORE OF LEW Lew Cody, most amiable of boulevardiers, continues to talk his way back to screen popularity. He'll be seen in "Land Rush," the new Fox version of "Three Bad Men." Eddie Gribbon also has been added to the cast.

A friend of J. Farrell Macdonald mentions the character actor as one of the original cast of this film. Sorry.

IT'S NOT ALL LUCK When an unknown player lands a good part, Hollywood is apt to disa-case as a break, or something worse. The case of Jane Keith shows that resourcefulness and a gambling spirit help a lot.

Some time ago, Miss Keith was a stenographer at Paramount. She decided to try extra work, and finally won a bit in Marion Davies' "The Florodora Girl."

One day, at Fox, Al Santell saw her and was impressed. He told her he was looking for a girl to play the lead in "The Sea Wolf," and asked if she had a certain kind of suit that would have to be worn in the test.

"Yes," she replied, "I believe I have one just like that!" The next day she showed up and made the test. When it was almost through, Santell asked her to take off the coat. She protested that her blouse was not just the right kind, but he insisted.

Finally, she took off the coat, revealing that it was unfinished inside. When Santell had talked to her the day before, she had recognized a break, and had had a tailor work day and night to make the suit, which she did not have in her wardrobe.

KNOW YOUR UNIVERSITY

Spooks, Mother Goose Rhymes Haunt Room in East Hall Housing Special Library

By RICHARD ZINSER A library of children's books housed in an abandoned surgical amphitheater, is a sight to fire the imagination of any connoisseur of the strange and unusual.

An old operating room in east hall, formerly the university hospital, has been utilized by the institute of character research as a library for a collection of juvenile literature.

The existence of this library is not generally known, and located as it is in a rather unfrequented wing of east hall, it is seldom visited.

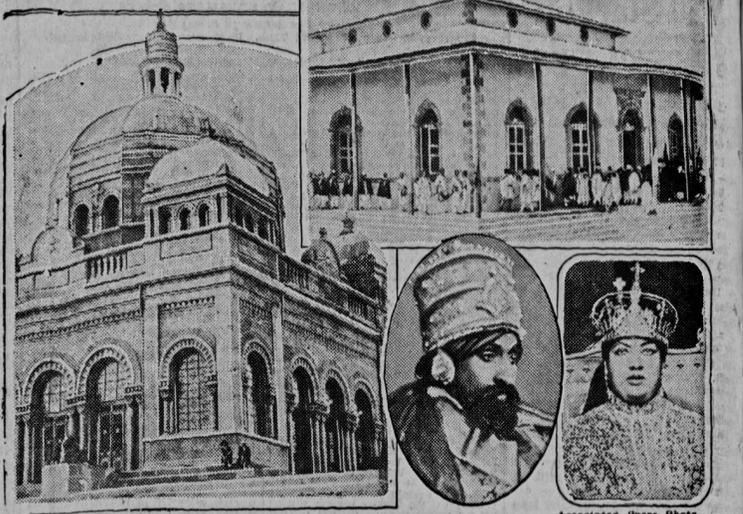

Starbuck's Collection This unusual library was accumulated by the institute of character research under Prof. Edwin D. Starbuck who is now at the University of Southern California.

The institute has evaluated each of the several thousand volumes in compiling a survey of the character educational qualities of the collection.

Two Girls Held DAVENPORT, Nov. 4 (AP)—Police were holding two 16 year old girls, who gave their names as Betty Covahar and Mildred Bears of Des Moines, pending investigation of a report that they drove to Davenport in a rented car, accompanied by two young men. The girls were found walking on the highway near Walcott after their auto had gone into the ditch.

Smell of Ether The characteristic smell of books pervades the atmosphere and yet our imagination brings to us the faint odor of ether and iodoforn.

Three thousand volumes of children's literature are arranged in tiers around the semicircular spectator's gallery. They reminded me of the medical students who must have occupied this vantage point, watching new lives come into existence and many another life pass into another world.
