Men Behind the News

Age Almost Passes Up Connie Mack, Who Has Spent 47 Years in Baseball.

Diamond Sage

Connie Mack

(Editor's note: Once again Connie Mack has his Philadelphia Athletics fighting for first place in the American league. The following story, giving little known facts about Mack, is the third of a series, "Men Behind the News." The subject of tomorrow's sketch will be Padoverewski, by Leonard S. Kimball.)

By JOHN H. REITINGER
(Copyright 1931, by Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP)—Lanky, gray, hungry looking, austere as the old-time village schoolmaster. Kindly, energetic, alert. Connors McGillicuddy is a man that gets almost passes.

He is 63 now and 47 of those years have been spent in organized baseball. In 1901 he came to Philadelphia at the urging of the late Ben Johnson to add another city to the American league.

Years before that he was a good ball player, a catcher. He whitened his name down to Connie Mack so it would fit in a box score. When he hung up his uniform for the last time, "Mugsy" McGraw was still the boy wonder of the diamond.

Still Heads Caravan
The parade has never passed him by. He still heads baseball's caravan, winner of eight American league pennants, six world series, world's champion for the last two years. And just now the Athletics and Yankees are fighting for first place.

He lives in the present, even the future, and the Mack household eats, sleeps, and dreams baseball. He is up at 7:30 a.m. for breakfast and discussion with two sons, Earl and Roy, on the problem of the day. He reads baseball until 10:30 and then hikes away to the ball yard to answer letters, receive the reports of scouts, meet his friends.

Sleeps Before Games
He takes a half hour nap on a couch in his office in the tower of Shibe park a half hour before game time. Then he rises, has a glass of milk and a sandwich, and heads for the dugout by way of a private catwalk and stairway.

On the bench Connie settles in a corner. He dresses in blue. His legs are crossed. There's a scorebook and pencil in his hand, a little black book in his vest pocket.

Every mistake on the ball field, every weakness, is letted down. With the score and he wigwags his players here and there on the defense. If a ball goes through he takes the blame himself. He never interferes with his pitchers once the game starts. He never "rides" a player. He has a word for them when they're alone. He's their adviser and friend.

Likes Bridge
Once the game is over he takes a shower and goes home, talking baseball.

If it's hot, Connie reads the papers in his shirt sleeves on the porch. He likes bridge but wants to be in bed by 11. Each year he goes to Florida early to play golf and fish until his team arrives.

The Athletics to a man worship him.

"I started here and I want to finish here," Jimmy Dykes once said. "If Connie ever sent me away it would break my heart."

Police Seek Marauders of Liquor Stock

Secretary Sympathizes With Leiva, Victim of Attack

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Assurance that police would make every effort to apprehend a group of marauders who early today attacked Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, charge d'affaires of the Salvadoran legation, was given tonight by Secretary Stimson in a letter to the diplomat.

Dr. Leiva was taken to emergency hospital suffering from face and scalp lacerations inflicted by one of the group which was attempting to loot the diplomat's liquor stock. Seventeen cases of liquor were reported missing.

Secretary "Shocked"
"I was shocked to learn of the injuries which you suffered," Stimson said in his letter, "and I hasten to extend to you an expression of my regret. I assure you that the police will make every effort to apprehend the offenders."

The injuries were inflicted by one of a group of marauders whom Dr. Leiva surprised at 2 a.m. while they were attempting to loot the Salvadoran legation of its diplomatic liquor supply.

Coming upon the marauders, the minister was ordered at the point of a large calibre pistol to put up his hands.

Instead of complying with the request, however, he grasped the gun, deflecting a bullet which the marauder fired and which might have meant instant death.

Minister Bites Assaultant
In the close battle with the assaultant, the minister said he bit one finger of the attacker's left hand and rendered him unconscious with a blow from the same finger, light which the attacker used to beat the charge about the face and head.

"He took one shot at me as I grappled with him," Dr. Leiva related. "I was struggling for the gun when we fell to the floor, and at that moment he struck at me with his heavy flashlight in his left hand. I bit his hand and succeeded in striking him back with the flashlight. I had taken from him while he was calling to his companions in the rear of the building for help."

Steel Corporation Waits Opinions of Striking Employees

MANSFIELD, O., May 13 (AP)—With operations in the Empire Steel corporation plant here at a standstill because of a strike of some 1,500 workers, interest in the situation tonight centered in what action the employees would take on a proposal of the company to cut five per cent from the proposed 15 per cent wage reduction.

The men walked out when the company posted notice of a 15 per cent cut, saying that had expected but a 10 per cent reduction. Late today C. H. Henkel, president of the corporation, announced that if the men returned to work not later than Thursday morning, the cut would be reduced to 10 per cent.

Theater to Repeat "Berkeley Square"

"Berkeley Square," John Balderston's romantic comedy, presented by the university theater last night, will be repeated tonight at 8:15 in natural science auditorium. Herbert Butterfield, G. of Ft. Wayne, Ind., graduate assistant in the speech department, is directing the play under the supervision of Prof. Edward C. Mahle, head of the speech department and director of the university theater.

Indictment Names Four Men Held on Kidnaping Charges

CORSICANA, Tex., May 13 (AP)—Jimmy Nash, Doyle Nash, Charles Hassell, Currie Caldwell and a man not yet arrested, were named in indictments charging kidnaping and conspiracy to commit a felony, returned tonight in connection with the kidnaping of Robert Cerf, 28.

The men had been held previously under charges of false imprisonment. Cerf, a son of Isaac N. Cerf, Corsicana banker, was kidnaped last December and released on payment of $15,000 ransom.

Commission to Aid Teachers
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Dan Sparlock, chairman of the National American commission of the American Legion, said here tonight the commission would ask the Legion national executive committee, at its monthly meeting here tomorrow, to endorse the principle of adequate salaries for school teachers and superintendents.

Taxis Street Cars Vie LIMA, Peru, May 13 (AP)—Efforts to settle the strike of taxi-cab drivers and street car operators failed today and a government bulletin said the strike was a communicable movement. Martial law will be enforced fully until normalcy is restored.

Defendants to Resist Efforts of Stark Men

Unpaid Notes on Iowa Union Bring Tangle Into Court

Resistance to the efforts of the Theodore Stark Construction company's efforts to collect unpaid notes on the Iowa Union against local merchants is being formed. It was learned yesterday that defendants in the suits of the Cedar Rapids firm were forming a group to present united opposition.

Lawyers Hired
Lawyers will be hired and the case fought out in the district court at the next term of court, it was reported. An amount ranging from $40,000 to $50,000 will be involved.

The sheriff's office through Don McComas, Deputies Preston Koser, and Mrs. W. J. MacDonald are continuing to serve original notices on the suits that have been filed with the court clerk.

Radio Heads Hear Attack on Examiner

Give Baker 10 Days to Submit Answers in Opposition

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The radio commission today heard Norman Baker of Muscatine, owner of station KTNT argue for the setting aside of recommendation for denial of a license to that station.

After hearing Baer attack the proceedings on which Examiner Ellis A. Yost made the recommendation, the commission asked Baker to cite authorities for his argument. Baker asserted complaints against him were the results of "viciousness" and "jealousy." He reasserted claims for cancer treatment at the Baker institute which he said his critics had distorted.

Ten Days More
Chairman Tolson of the commission allowed ten days for Baker to cite further authorities for his statements. At the same time Baker will submit answers to a brief in opposition to his demand by the medical societies of Iowa and Illinois, the commissioners of public health of Iowa, Illinois, and Nebraska, and the Muscatine County Medical society.

To show "viciousness" Baker said newspapers that had criticized him turned to editorial attacks upon President Hoover after the president pressed a button to start the operation of Baker's newspaper.

W. D. Randall, attorney for Baker, described the proceedings that succeeded Yost's recommendation as "high handed, arbitrary."

Transcripts Blank
He said transcripts of the hearing before Yost "show blank spaces where reporters were unable to get just what he (Baker) was saying."

"If you think the tastes and wishes of the farming communities of Iowa run to listening to Madame Shu Shu warble, permit me to assure you that you are mistaken. Rural folks like their classical vocalists tempered by a little bit of common or garden variety of music that they can understand."

The medical groups' brief declared Baker used his station in attacking established institutions and individuals who had incurred his animosity.

"The attacks were made on medical associations because they chose to disagree," the brief said, "with the theories and methods used in the Baker institute in the treatment of cancer."

Baker told the commission he might seek congressional investigation next fall to establish his claims for his cancer treatment.

Ohio Colleges Make Peace

Student Bodies Settle Disturbances With Faculties

CLEVELAND, May 13 (AP)—Disturbances affecting the student bodies of three Ohio colleges were in the process of settlement tonight after conferences of students and officials. Although minor violence accompanied the disturbances at two of the institutions, the view of the officials was that there was no cause for alarm.

Officials of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, blamed "town hoodlums" for a fire which today destroyed a small wooden building used as athletic headquarters, but the officials said unidentified students probably were responsible for the recent stoning of President Charles E. Miller's office.

More Social Privileges
Students said the Heidelberg trouble was started by failure of trustees to reappoint Prof. Newell Sawyer, and by the desire of the student body for broader social privileges. At Marietta college, and the University of Akron, the disturbances were attributed by school officials to student elections.

Police investigated the stoning of the Delta Upsilon fraternity house at Marietta last night, but did not learn who did it. Delta Upsilon had reported Miss Sarah Leake of Lowell, O., as candidate for president of the Junior class against the opposition of other fraternities.

A mass meeting of men students at Heidelberg today went on record as opposed to vandalism, and appointed a committee to draft resolutions demanding broader social privileges than this college has heretofore allowed.

Smoking Prohibited
Under present rules, Heidelberg students are forbidden to smoke, play cards or dance, on the campus. The committee said the retention of Dr. Sawyer, although desired by numerous students, had become a "minor issue."

The committee will submit its resolutions to the trustees later, and when approved, will give the demands to the trustees.

Dr. Donald Soper of Dental College Wins $1,000 Prize

Of the 952,228 entrants in the Camel cigarette company's contest, Dr. Donald H. Soper of the university dental college did one of the best jobs of describing the desirability of encasing cigarettes in cellophane wrappers.

Consequently, Dr. Soper is $1,000 richer. He was the only Iowa entry to win a prize.

A Boston milk route foreman, James Thomas Sharkey, took the $25,000 for first prize. The wife of a marine corps captain, Mrs. Walter Sweet, was awarded the $10,000 for second prize. The $5,000 for third prize went to Julius M. Nolte, a real estate dealer of Duluth, Minn.

Strikers Return to Work
DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Longshoremen at Duluth and Superior, 400 of whom have been on strike since April 28, today agreed to return to work at a reduced wage scale offered by steamship companies.

Smith Brookhart, Jr., Gives Testimony on Power Consumption

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The scope of one of the largest public utilities holding corporations, the North American company, was outlined today at the federal trade commission in preparation for a scrutiny of its financing and operations over a ten year period.

Smith W. Brookhart, Jr., son of the Iowa senator and a commission economist, testified the electric power output of the group was approximately seven per cent of the total construction of the country. He added that the percentage of total electric power generated was 6.81 per cent of the total electric power.

Brookhart said group subsidiaries generated approximately 33.2 per cent of the electric output in Ohio; 1.47 in Michigan, 61.91 in Wisconsin, 12.9 in Missouri, 13.67 in Illinois, 46.09 in Iowa and 17.19 in California.

Martial Law Rules Spain

Government Looks Into Alfonso's Property Investments

MADRID, May 13 (AP)—Martial law prevailed throughout the country today, cordons of soldiers were drawn up around the Bank of Spain to fight off a threatened attack of hoodlums and the government announced it would begin immediately to investigate a possible connection of former King Alfonso with what it said was a monarchist plot.

The result of the investigation, Attorney-General Galazra said, will determine whether prosecution charges will be filed against the former king.

Riots Continue
Rioting and burning continued today in provincial cities. Mobs attacked three religious houses at Jerez de la Frontera and ransacked them, dragging valuables into the streets and burning them. The buildings were saved, however, by police.

The cabinet issued an official decree stating that Alfonso had not been legitimately the king since the establishment of the dictatorship of General Primo de Rivera in 1923.

In the meantime, the decree said, the king had used the royal palace solely to increase his personal fortune. A search of the royal palace, it asserted, brought to light documents to prove the cabinet's assertion.

Bank Takes King's Money
The Bank of Spain was empowered to take charge temporarily of the king's property and to create a special account to receive accruing interest until the national assembly decides what disposition to make of the money.

All Spanish banks and bankers were ordered to hand over to the king's property immediately to the minister of finance.

The decree warned that anyone trying to impede its operations will be subject to immediate prosecution and trial.

Fire Covers 7,000 Acres
MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—Ben E. Bush, state forester, said today a Clearwater national forest fire had spread until it covers more than 7,000 acres.

Labor's Executive Council Appeals to All Members to Resist Wage Reduction

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor announced today it would appeal to organized and unorganized labor to "resist to the fullest extent" attempts to reduce wages.

In a formal statement, the council ascribed to "certain banking interests and certain employers" an attempt "to bring about a general reduction in wages."

A warning that "a wage cutting policy will positively contribute toward a continuation of the existing unemployment situation," was made.

Public Violation
"The policy pursued by certain banking interests and employers of labor in attempting to enforce reductions in wages constitutes a public violation of the understanding reached at the president's conference," the statement continued. "The council holds that the action of these employing interests is indefensible both from an ethical and economic point of view."

The council said that "the Good Year and Goodrich tire companies have announced substantial reductions in wages."

"The significant fact related to this proposed reduction in wages is

Inquiry Price Gets Boost in New Quarter

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DES MOINES, May 13—Expenses of the University of Iowa and the state attorney general and budget director incident to the legislature's investigation of the state board of education were listed today with Walter H. Beam, secretary of the senate.

Depending on the amount allowed the university, the new total cost is either $25,359.04 or $34,955.66.

Transportation, lodging and meals, transportation of records, and telephone costs for the university were totaled at $2,066.11 by Auditor W. H. Cobb. He estimated that the value of the time of officials taken up by the investigation during approximately eight weeks "computed on a conservative basis" would be $9,596.62.

Fletcher's Estimate
From Attorney General John Fletcher came an estimate of $386.92 on expenses, including no allowance for the time of his underlings, who are on state salaries. The figures: George W. Attkins, peace officer $130.49 Earl F. Wisdom, assistant attorney general 129.99 J. V. Arney, special peace officer 126.44

Total $386.92

Attorney General Fletcher allowed no expenses for Oral S. Swift, assistant attorney general who with Detective Roy Lapitz led state agents in impounding university records March 22, and who investigated other matters, particularly the Arch McFarlane coal transactions.

At least one state agent not mentioned was involved in investigation maneuvers—Investigator Van Wagner.

Anderson Reports
Oscar Anderson, director of the budget, declared that "I had no expenses incident to that investigation." Two accountants from his office made an audit of the university's books—in connection with their regular audit—pertaining to the Rockefeller $2,250,000 medical endowment interest. Accountant Eric F. Brown testified during the inquiry.

Previous expenses, as enumerated in the house file 242, totaled $22,966.01.

These reports were required by action of the senate, E. M. Stoddard of Woodbury making the motion which prevailed.

Nothing was said in Senator Stoddard's motion as to whether any special expenses incident to the investigation would be paid or whether they were desired solely for information.

Turner Will Regard Death Appeal Case

Woodmansee Hearing Ends; Governor to Decide

DES MOINES, May 13 (AP)—Governor Dan W. Turner tonight had under consideration Dr. Fred A. Woodmansee's appeal for executive clemency from the death sentence on the slaying of W. F. Knap, Des Moines trunk manufacturer.

The governor took the appeal under advisement after a hearing today in which Attorney General Harry Grund pleaded that the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Neil Garrett, assistant attorney general, contended that the sentence should stand.

Grund pointed out what he considered weak points in the evidence on which the former Pt. Madison and Burlington dentist was convicted by a Polk county court and reasons why he believed the governor should commute the sentence.

Six Urge Clemency
He said that six of the 12 jurors who found Woodmansee guilty had written personal letters to the governor urging clemency. He also said that the fact that two supreme court justices had dissented from the majority opinion of the higher court in the case should be considered.

The argument for commutation was based on two lines. Grund contended first that there was doubt that Woodmansee was the man who beat Knap in the latter's apartment here Dec. 29, 1929. He further expressed the belief that if Woodmansee was the attacker he was under the influence of liquor or drugs at the time.

"Dentist Was Sober"
Garrett attacked Grund's argument that Woodmansee had been drinking by pointing out that a police officer had testified the dentist was sober and that his breath did not smell of liquor.

"If ever there was a hanging case this is it," Garrett said.

The governor said he would consider the arguments and go over the supreme court transcript before announcing his decision. If he does not commute the sentence the governor must fix a date for the execution at Ft. Madison.

Cars Collide, Kill Husband, Wife Escapes

APPLETON, Wis., AP)—Crashing into an automobile in which his wife, Amy, was attempting to escape him, Edward Z. Clemons, 45, a salesman, was instantly killed at a street intersection here last night.

Although her machine rolled over several times, Mrs. Clemons and her companion, Mrs. William Van Bergen, suffered only slight bruises.

Coroner E. H. Ellsworth, in announcing no inquest would be conducted, said Mrs. Clemons began a search for her husband when he failed to come home for dinner. She found Clemons in a roadhouse and sought to take him home.

Employees prevented him from attacking his wife. She fled in her automobile. Clemons following a few minutes later.

The coroner said Mrs. Clemons, seeing her husband gaining, suddenly made a left turn at the intersection to throw him off the trail. The crash followed.

Judge Zager Fines
Seven for Violating
Parking Regulations

The campaign of the local police against violators of the parking regulations reached a new height yesterday as seven were assessed fines of $1 and costs by Police Judge Charles L. Zager.

Over-time parking brought fines to six drivers. They were Paul C. Clark, A2 of Atlantic; Morgan Davis, A1 of Cedar Rapids; T. J. Cross, 645 S. Governor street; K. W. Graves; H. T. Fairchild; Boyd Statter; and J. Dunkins.

E. H. Ward drew a fine for failure to stop at the intersection of Dubuque and Jefferson streets.

Low Record Set in Farm Land Values

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Farm real estate values have slumped to new post-war lows.

A combination of low prices, drought, depression and an already congested market, the agriculture department said today, was accompanied by a widespread tendency toward a writing down of values last year.

The United States average for the year ending March 15 was 106, nine points on the index below the previous year, or about eight per cent less. The index for 1920 was 170 per cent of pre-war and 127 for 1925.

The department pointed out that during the year ending in March the wholesale price index of all commodities dropped from 133 to 109.

One Dies in Crash
DUBUQUE, (AP)—Morris Davis, 21, of Dubuque, was killed and three of seven others riding with him were seriously injured when their automobile overturned near Farley. The injured were Eleanor Schaller and Cecelia and Clarence Pfeiffer.

Senate Head Beats Briand by 442-441

VERSAILLES, France, May 13 (AP)—Paul Doumer, president of the senate, tonight was elected thirteenth president of France, defeating Aristide Briand, the pre-election favorite.

He won the second ballot with 504 votes against 334 for Senator Pierre Marraud, a last-minute candidate, but his victory was assured from the first when he polled 442 votes to Briand's 401.

Briand Withdraws
Briand, repudiated by some on whose support he had counted, withdrew after the first ballot and the socialist support swung to Marraud, but failed to give that candidate enough strength.

Premier Pierre Laval gave Doumer official notice of his election and the 74 year old president-elect responded briefly with praise for Laval's foreign policies.

It was not so certain, however, that Briand would remain in the cabinet. He told his colleagues in the afternoon he would go to Geneva tomorrow for the league of nations council meeting as he had planned.

Defeat Unexpected
Briand's defeat on the first ballot had been unexpected by most of the political experts who had predicted that the overwhelming vote by which the chamber sustained his foreign policies last week would be repeated in the presidential election.

The notification ceremony in which Doumer's reference to Briand's policies was cheered, ended as the successful candidate and Premier Laval left together to call on President Doumergue.

Majority Vote
The president is chosen by a majority vote of both houses of the parliament. Doumer was short only ten votes of a majority on the first ballot.

Doumer is an austere man, unlike Briand who always has been close to the people. Before the final result was known Briand started for Paris after shaking hands with Doumer and assuring him the day's events would have no effect on their old friendship.

His election to the presidency crowns a long career in the government service. He served in Indo-China and held many cabinet posts. France never forgets that he lost four sons in the World war.

Lincoln Asks Extradition of 3 Gangsters

LINCOLN, Nebr., May 13 (AP)—Requisition papers for the extradition of three Illinois gangsters from Chicago to Lincoln for trial for the robbery of the Lincoln National bank and trust company, were dispatched by airmail from here this afternoon to Springfield, Ill.

Sheriff Claude Hensel of Lincoln will receive the papers and present them to Governor Louis L. Emerson of Illinois.

Providing the Illinois executive approves the extraditions, Sheriff Hensel will return to Chicago where warrants charging robbery with intimidation will be served upon Howard Lee, Thomas "Pat" O'Conner and John Britt, three of the six men arrested in East St. Louis last week.

Conviction upon the charges, County Attorney Max Towle said, carries a penalty from ten to 25 years. He said the bank robbery charges were the most severe possible in connection with the holdup.

Roland White, editor of The Daily Iowan, told of a freshman edition of the paper which would be issued in July. Genevieve Chase, Y.W.C.A. secretary, told the council of the work being done on a hand book dealing with religious agencies and resources on the campus.

Fitzgerald Aids

Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of Iowa Union, is chairman of an executive committee, cooperating with these sub-committees in the welcoming preparations.

Carmela Donohue, C. 1 of Davenport, another guest at the luncheon, was announced as the new office secretary of the campus religious organizations beginning June 1. She will replace Mrs. George M. Ellison, formerly Helen D. Wilbur, whose marriage was an event of April 17.

Mrs. C. G. Woodford Reads Paper on Trip

Descriptions of the sacred cow superstition, of trains and beautiful canyon scenery were included in a paper read by Mrs. C. G. Woodford of her trip through the Dutch East Indies and India, before the Art Circle yesterday at 10 a. m. in the public library.

Florenz Ziegfeld, well known for his "glorified" girls, has gone 'way to the South Seas to get his latest example of the feminine face and figure divine. Reri, shown on left, in her native dress, is contrasted sharply on the right, where the beautiful Polynesian enacts the role of an American miss to perfection. Reri was discovered on the Isle of Bora Bora by a movie producer seeking a star for his picture, "Tabu." The new addition to the Polliès knows no English, but speaks French.

Pope Pius Will Speak in 3 Languages Over Radio

VATICAN CITY, May 13 (AP)—Pope Pius XI will speak in three languages, Italian, French, and German, when he delivers his radio address Friday before 10,000 labor representatives celebrating the fortieth anniversary of the rerum novarum encyclical of Pope Leo XIII.

Equally conversant with all, he plans to talk ten minutes in each tongue and give the substance of his address three times. He is expected to touch briefly on his forthcoming encyclical on labor, modernizing to present conditions; the noted pronouncement of Pope Leo. After his address, Monsignor Francis J. Spellman of Whitman, Mass., will speak for a half hour, giving the English translation and describing the ceremony to radio listeners.

Local Club Initiates 17 Business Women Meet at Red Ball for Ceremony

Initiation was held for 17 persons for the Business and Professional Women's club Tuesday night at the annual May frolic at Red Ball Inn. Dancing followed the initiatory ceremony.

Eleanor Kennedy entertained with several tap dances, and Bobby and Mary Lou Kringle gave a musical program. The tables, lighted with pink tapers and decorated with wild crabapple blossoms, white lilacs, tulips, and roses, were arranged to form a large letter "B."

Arrangements for the frolic were made by Nelle Butterbaugh, May Casey, Mattie Davis, Etta M. Stimmel and Mrs. Thomas Morrison. Next month's party is to be June 9. Rose Madden, Ivy Herring, Gertrude Lewis, and Margaret Novak are the committee making preparations.

Draves Case Presents New Clue, Witness

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 13 (AP)—New evidence, not disclosed at the first trial, was presented today by the state in the trial of Virgil Kirkland for the murder of Arlene Draves.

The story of Policeman George Regal of Gary had never been revealed before until he took the witness stand before Judge Grant Crumpacker and told the jury that Kirkland admitted to him that he struck Arlene with the heel of his hand and that she then fell off a swing in which they were sitting, knocking her head against the floor.

No other state's witness had been thus positive in relating Kirkland's statements concerning Arlene's death. The defense attorney cross-examined Policeman Regal at length, attempting to make him admit that he had not actually heard Kirkland make such a statement.

Duel Results in Death

WARSAW, May 13 (AP)—A cavalry lieutenant was killed today in a pistol duel with a university student in the hawthorn forest near Nieswiez. The officer, Lieutenant Marcinkiewicz, fell with a bullet in the region of the heart. His opponent, named Starbacki, surrendered at once to authorities.

Steel Strikers Vote Against Company's Compromise Offer

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 13 (AP)—Sixteen hundred striking employees of the Empire Steel corporation plant here voted at a mass meeting tonight not to accept the company's proposal to cut five per cent from a proposed 15 per cent wage reduction.

At the same time, the workers decided to join the amalgamated union of sheet and tin mill workers. Previously they had worked on an open shop basis. Edward Miller, Pittsburg, vice president of the union, attended the meeting and arranged to enroll the strikers.

Gets Death Threat

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Oma Ochoa, one of the state's witnesses in a grand jury investigation of vice and crime in Tarpon Springs, today told authorities she was warned last night that she "would not live" if she testified against Police Chief Webb Hill, of Tarpon Springs, who is under indictment on extortion charges.

Chief of Staff Outlines All War Policies

Commission Hears of Mobilizing Plan Possibilities

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Comprehensive war department plans for quickly mobilizing American industry and raising an army of 4,000,000 men at the outbreak of possible future hostilities were outlined today by the war policies commission today by Chief of Staff MacArthur.

The army plans conflicted with a statement to the commission from the administrative committee of the federal council of churches which contended that elaborate war plans create suspicion among foreign nations and diminish, rather than increase, the security of the United States.

Baruch Presents Plan

Opposition to the plan presented to the commission by Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the war industries board, for freezing all prices at the outbreak of hostilities was made and a modified plan for controlling prices during a conflict was presented.

Under the staff chief's proposal, manufacturers of war material would be limited to six per cent profit and other prices would be gradually controlled, if necessary, by negotiation.

MacArthur said Baruch's plan appealed because of its simplicity but the department believed it would develop injustice and hardship to such an extent as to "incite popular dissatisfaction."

He proposed the registration of wealth to facilitate the imposition of taxes by which the burdens of war would be distributed.

MacArthur recommended an educational campaign to teach the suffering and waste of war and to make it plain that in a future conflict "no one would be able to escape a share in the ensuing loss."

Urge Peace Pact

The council urged all nations to make the Paris peace pact effective and to stress the functions of the world court, arbitration treaties and other institutions of peace.

Payne said the plans described by MacArthur were adequate for the mobilization of economic resources and industry. He emphasized that control of industry would be under civilian management in time of war and not under the war department.

Graduating Engineers Accept Positions in Many Parts of Country; 65 Senior Members

"The best asset the engineering profession has is its reputation for honesty." It will be the duty of 65 seniors to uphold that statement inscribed on the doors at the front of the engineering building.

The present economic situation has its effect on the employment of graduating engineers too, but it is believed that most of them will be placed after June 1, when they will have opportunity for personal contact with prospective employers. Many of them have situations already.

Day to Pennsylvania

Russell B. Day of Mt. Auburn, recent winner of a junior membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will begin work the last of June with the Bethlehem Steel company, Bethlehem, Pa. He will spend the first 16 weeks in general departments, and then expects to go into the engineering department.

Everett Postel of Cleghorn, who was awarded a $500 scholarship by the Charles A. Coffin foundation, will spend next year at the university doing graduate work in electrical research.

Dorsey L. Botham of Madison, Wis., will return to Madison and work for the Wisconsin Foundry and Machine company. He has been connected with the firm for three years, and will start in the design department, with the expectation of working into sales engineering.

David Watt enters the Army school of engineering at Ft. Humphries, Va., next September, to take a company officer's course. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1928, and came here to take the regular civil engineering course.

Kehe to Dubuque

Lavern Kehe of Waverly will begin work for the Management and Engineering corporation of Dubuque in June. His work will be hydraulics and general engineering. He expects to be on the road a part of the time.

Alfred B. Cummins of Ute expects to attend the university summer session, then go to Schenectady, N. Y., to work for the General Electric company. While there he expects to take engineering courses from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Many Others Leave

Alonzo Lewis of Columbus Junction will begin, when school is closed, as assistant engineer for Iowa City. Others who expect to go to work immediately are John W. Wendel of Marengo, to the property department of the Iowa Railway and Light company, Cedar Rapids, and Donald Reimers of Ord, to the Illinois Bell Telephone company, Chicago, Ill.

Alumni Office Gives Graduating Seniors Picture of Campus

Seniors who are graduating and wish to have one of the panoramic views of the campus may have one by calling at the alumni office, Prof. Frederic G. Higbee, alumni secretary, said yesterday.

The views were sent out last year to alumni as a supplement to the university news bulletin which alumni regularly receive.

Seniors may also procure extra copies of the commencement news bulletin at the alumni office.

Finding of Dempsey Girl Clears Three Cases Before Court

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Three cases arising from the finding of Doris Dempsey, 15 year old York, Pa., girl in this city, were cleared from the calendar today. Jean Culver, 19, in whose company the girl was discovered, was returned to the Clinton, N. J., reformatory and two of three youths held in the case were discharged.

Mark Anthony Cook, 23, indicted for criminal assault, is awaiting trial. Harry Steirwalt, 22, and Edward Cook, 20, who had been charged with aiding and abetting Mark Cook in the alleged assault on the Dempsey girl, were freed when the magistrate was told the grand jury had not indicted them.

KNOW YOUR UNIVERSITY

Zetagathian Society Had Early Origin; Caused Beginning of Rival Societies

Founded at the University of Iowa in 1861, the Zetagathian society was the first literary society west of the Mississippi river. Its formation marked the beginning of definite forensic activity at the university.

Early meetings were in Old Capitol by the flickering light of kerosene lamps. Here, week after week, small groups of interested men gathered to discuss topics of the day, their discussions often reaching far into the night.

Meet in South Hall

In 1865 the group moved its meeting place to South hall. When that historic building burned in 1901, the Zetagathians were allotted a room in Close hall, now the journalism building. Here they have met regularly ever since, except for a few months in 1918, when the hall was used as barracks for the Students' army training corps.

Rival Societies Rise

During the first year of its existence the society expelled a number of its members for various offenses. These men banded together into a rival organization, the Ciceronians. They were absorbed in 1864 by the Irving Institute, which existed until 1928. Another rival society, the Philomathians, was organized in 1907 and furnished competition for several years.

Activities of the society centered around dramatic and forensic accomplishments, but not to the exclusion of other interests. Dinners and open parties were popular, and many social functions were held in conjunction with Hesperia society, a women's literary organization.

Prominent in Activities

Intersociety competition was keen. Debates and oratorical contests were popular from the first. Numerous cups and trophies were awarded, several of which the Zetagathians now hold. One, the Leonard Tacker trophy, was won three consecutive times in a contest involving all forms of inter-society competition.

Regular weekly programs of the society form a training school in forensic activity, known as the "Old Zet Mill." Between 1892 and 1921, 89 out of 170 university debaters were Zets, while 14 out of 23 winners of university oratorical contests had similar connections.

Fraternities Interfere

With the coming of fraternities, the standing of the literary societies was challenged. Reports from the east showed that the latter were being found out of existence. It was found, moreover, that many men were members of both fraternities and literary societies. This presented a problem, so rules were passed by the societies prohibiting membership in both at the same time. Some forfeited their society memberships, others their fraternity connections.

It was soon noted that fraternities and literary societies held different places on the campus. Their fields did not conflict. Rules concerning membership were revised, and cooperation between organizations was stimulated.

Three members of the faculty are alumni of the Zetagathian society. They are Herbert C. Dorcas, registrar; Prof. Forest C. Ensign, of the college of education; and Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, head of the political science department. Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1928, is also a former member. The names of numerous public officials, supreme court justices, congressmen, business men, and educators appear upon the rolls.

"Richest Debutante" Tells of Engagement

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP)—The engagement of Miss Rosemary Baur, called "Chicago's wealthiest debutante," to Bartle Bull, eldest son of W. Perkins Bull, K. C., of Toronto and London, was announced today by Mrs. Jacob Baur.

The wedding is planned to take place in the early fall.

Postpone Scout Meeting

The meeting of the Iowa City Boy Scout executive board which was to have been held yesterday afternoon at the American Legion building was postponed indefinitely. A. B. Sidwell, chairman of the board, announced that the next meeting would probably be held next week.

Russell Day Wins Award

Mechanical Engineers Give Membership in Society

Russell B. Day, E4 of Mt. Auburn, has been awarded a junior membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers for his prize winning paper, "The principle of construction and operation of superchargers and their effect on motor performance."

The awards, inaugurated three years ago, are presented by Wilson P. Hunt, chairman of the Tricities section, and president of the Moline Tool company, Moline, Ill. A. L. Hess won the award in 1929 with "The rotary sleeve valve engine."

Two students, Alfred B. Cummins, E4 of Ute, with "The value of the safety movement in the industries," and Wallace E. Nelson, with "The veston" or performance." The membership, with dues paid for one year, is awarded annually by the Tricities section of the society for the best paper submitted by a student at the regular meeting of the student branch. Sixty students were eligible to compete this year.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Burlington-Rock Island railroad applied to the interstate commerce commission today for permission to acquire and operate an extension under a trackage contract with the Galveston Terminal Railway company.

The proposed extension would make available to the road terminal facilities which it now lacks in Galveston city," tied for the best paper in 1930 and were both awarded memberships.

Science is a Lot of Fun

A MAN can be more accurately measured by his avocation than by his vocation, and the man himself is more important than either of these. To this progress-drunk age, such statements may at first sound silly, but a little reflection will add weight to them.

"Science amuses me." Albert A. Michelson, the great physicist, would hardly have been able to say that, shortly before his death last Saturday at the age of 78 years, if he had not during his lifetime had also a number of vocations to counterbalance his professional work and to provide a contrasting basis for evaluation of it.

"Science amuses me," so do my other diversions—painting, tennis, playing the violin, and billiards. Notice that his vocations were not petty indulgences. His was not one of the "master minds" that devour detective stories and frequent the talkies "just for relaxation" during leisure hours.

To have gained a whole world within one's restricted circle of knowledge and labor, is small compensation for having lost a broad understanding of and interest in the other valuable elements of life. Activity without philosophy is as deplorable as philosophy without activity.

True Fraternalism

A MEMBER of a fraternity at Denison college located in Granville, Ohio, noticed a little eighth year old boy, poorly clad and undernourished, wandering about the streets of Granville.

The following week the chapter applied to the boy's mother to let him come and live at the chapter house. The boy whose name is William Hammond, is one of 11 children. Separated from his father, his mother realized that the fraternity could give him better care than she could, and consented.

Safety in Driving

WITH a view toward discovering some of the reasons for the growing number of automobile accidents, a survey was recently made of motoring conditions throughout the country. The result of the survey shows that a majority of accidents are caused by psychological faults of the veteran motorists, and that persons who are learning to operate a car for the first time are the safest drivers on the road.

Thousands of new motorists annually appear on the highways who are earnest in their efforts to become good drivers. Most of these intelligently study traffic rules, pay strict attention to signals and signs, and realize their lack of motoring knowledge.

it appears ultra safe, and drive in a generally cautious manner.

The veteran driver, however, is subject to an entirely different mental condition. All too frequently, he is over confident of his driving ability. He is too accustomed to taking chances and appropriating undue privileges. He is the one who, feeling secure in his motoring wisdom, is subject to moments of inattention.

Forty-Two Days Free Trial

New York has its Tammany, Chicago flaunts its Al Capone, Boston boasts its banned; But Reno gets the hand!

—but not in marriage. These cities with 90 day divorce laws are just too old-fashioned for words! Imagine! As if anyone needed 90 days to decide that his taste in ties simply could not be tolerated at close range, or that she never would be able to choose the right shade of lipstick.

Now Reno has this divorce business down to a science—no antiquated methods for her (cities are always feminine, aren't they?). Reno has the true progressive spirit. A regulation, signed-and-sealed divorce in 42 days. With recreation (light or heavy to suit your taste) while you wait. Efficiency plus!

There are just a couple points open for improvement. Why not establish out rate courthouses for marriages, which would entice matrimonial aspirants to Reno at the outset. Then reasonable-but-very-comfortable apartments could be provided for the couples and leased on a 42 day basis. The candidates would thus be right on hand to be shoved into the divorce mill at the expiration of their leases, and in the meantime the apartment house owners could supply a group of attractive prospects from whose ranks the divorcees could be selecting a partner for a second trial.

A Depression—Why?

THE average layman can always give one good reason for a depression; a few may have two or possibly more reasons—some good and some bad. To say that one condition is wholly responsible for the present depression is a gross injustice to that particular one.

An expert in the field of economics, J. B. Alexander gives the following reasons for the present condition of the country: The natural tendency in human affairs for progress to be spasmodic rather than regular; the psychological phenomena of mass optimism and mass pessimism; a shortage of gold; failure of credit to expand sufficiently to keep pace with the increased production of goods; overproduction; underconsumption; excessive saving in time of prosperity; displacement of labor by new inventions and substitution of machinery; the agricultural cycle; maladjustment of production and consumption.

Depression is a period of readjustment. Wholesale prices fall, but costs of production do not come down so rapidly, as prices. Overhead and fixed charges are difficult to reduce. The lag between the two makes production unprofitable. Adjustment must take place to a point where production is again profitable, but in the process less efficient producers are eliminated. Good management has to a certain extent eliminated depressions from certain industries.

Tomorrow's University

(An editorial series dealing with present trends and future possibilities of the University of Iowa. The vision of its administrative leaders, potentialities in its program, and transitions already under way will be included among examples and suggestions of how the university's functions might be carried out to better advantage.)

Registration Materials

EACH time when registration rolls around again the old student who has been through the mill two and three times, finds upon looking over his materials that the instructions for registration procedure are as untranslatable as the first time he tried to wade through them.

As for the lay student, registering for the first time, the date for paying a delinquent fee will probably have come round while he awaited an academic tribunal's decision on the meaning of a passage if he depended on the meaning of the instructions.

The few simple directions for procedure in the registration process have been so successfully submerged in an abstruse agglomeration of "must nots" and "do nots" and amending clauses as to defy understanding of what it is all about.

EXPLANATION OF YES-TERDAY'S CARTOON: The Koutoubia—Fragrant tower of Marrakech: The Koutoubia is the most famous minaret (tower) in Morocco. It was erected at a cost of many millions by the great Moorish conqueror Yakoub the Victorious (el Mansour), from the spoils of his victory over the Christian armies at Alarcos (Spain). As it rears its blue head to a height of 240 feet, towering over the low roofs of this most Oriental Moroccan city, it bears testimony to the golden age of the Moorish kingdom. It has inspired quaint legends, to the charm of which even your cartoonist was succumbing. But there is a strong "odor of sanctity" pervading the mosque, which is quite literal and real. The call heard by more people than any call on earth: As I told in my story of Marrakech on May 12, the call of the muezzin means: "God is Great, There is no God but God, and Mohammed is the Prophet of God." The Mohammedans have no church bells. Their call to prayer is by word of mouth, which, heralded by the towers of their mosques is heard by 210 million. Moslem believers, falling on their faces in prayer. Tomorrow: "The king who was born with a beard."

Involved Bank Account Causes Arrest of Miro

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—The involved bank accounts of Henry Miro, "king of the policy racket," in Harlem, and his inability to tell of his $1,250,000 which passed through his hands in four years, brought his arrest on a charge of perjury today. He was held in $15,000 bail for a hearing Friday. The arrest was made after he had taken the stand for the afternoon session in the investigation into the magistrates' courts of New York. He had spent the morning under cross-examination, and both the prosecutor and Commissioner Samuel Seabury, who is conducting the inquiry, had expressed annoyance at his apparent reluctance to explain his financial operations.

Death of Child in Chicago Bears Out Local Man's Report

Bearing out a report made by Dr. Clarence W. Baldrige of Iowa City six years ago, concerning the Arthus phenomenon in persons, a case has recently occurred in Chicago which resulted in the death of a child after a serum injection. City Council Outlines Tax Assessments

Board of Review Makes Increases on 11 Businesses

Tax assessment increases amounting to $38,955 have been made by the city council acting as a board of review. The assessments on 11 businesses were raised while none were lowered. No changes were made in residential figures.

Five of the 11 increases were made on assessments of chain stores. Figures for two oil companies were also raised. The largest individual increase was made in the assessment of the Iowa Water Service company.

George J. Dohrer, clerk of the board of review, said that most of the increases were necessitated by the fact that a number of firms turned in tax valuations much lower than last year's figures. "Most of the assessments that have been raised," he said, "are still below the figures of last year. Several of the increases are to cover improvements and acquisitions."

The board of review will hold a meeting at 8 p. m., Monday, to give the tax payers, whose assessments have been raised, an opportunity to show cause why these assessments should not be confirmed.

List of Changes

The changes in the tax list were: Buehler brothers, $2,000 to $2,500; Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, $3,600 to $4,000; Iowa Water Service company, $276,000 to $288,555; Earl W. Farm Group Asks Market Organization

Johnson County Swine Producers Meet; 200 Present

Sentiment favoring the organization of Johnson county hog producers and the establishments of a concentration point somewhere in the county was evidenced by a meeting of more than 200 farmers at the American Legion building Tuesday evening. When 500 members have been obtained for the organization, a board of directors will be elected and operation of the concentration point will begin, it was decided.

Such a concentration point would be owned and controlled by local hog producers, and would be a part of the Eastern Iowa Livestock Marketing association whose original point is Cedar Rapids. This association is affiliated with the National Livestock Marketing association.

Arthur Speaks

I. W. Arthur of the Iowa state college extension service, who spoke at the meeting, explained that a concentration point is nothing more than a large shipping association with volume enough to sort and grade hogs.

The next meeting was set for May 29. Organization will be completed at that time if a sufficient number of members have been acquired.

Elijah Approves Plan

Pat O'Donnell, manager of the Iowa Livestock corporation spoke on the "Method of organizing a concentration point," and Sam Thompson explained the "Operation of a concentration point." Earl Elijah, president of the Washington county concentration point, told of his experience with the project.

Glenn Howe, chairman of the livestock marketing committee of the Johnson County Farm bureau, was in charge of the meeting which lasted until near midnight.

Attorney Files Suit Against Davenport Family for $53,506

PRIMGHAR, May 13 (AP)—Mrs. Harold Rothschild, 39, St. Paul, was killed and four other persons were injured, one critically, in an automobile accident on highway No. 21 four miles south of here today.

Mrs. Rothschild was riding with Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Scott of Le Mars, Ia., when their machine collided at the top of a hill with a car driven by R. M. Hinman, president of the First National bank at Primghar. The St. Paul woman was thrown through the windshield and died from hemorrhages.

Mr. Scott suffered a possible skull fracture and physicians said his condition was critical. Mr. Hinman received an fractured collar bone. Mrs. Scott, and W. H. Schlegel, who was riding in the Hinman machine, were slightly bruised.

The Scotts and Mrs. Rothschild were returning from a fishing trip in Minnesota.

The suit was filed by Ross Mowry, United State district attorney for southern Iowa, naming as defendants G. Watson French, F. H. French, Marion M. French, Anna E. French and Francis H. French. It will be heard in the October term of court at Davenport.

Army Planes Hop to Dayton

Concentrate Units for Practice

DAYTON, Ohio, May 13 (AP)—Bivouac at scattered air field over the county tonight were some 600 planes of the army air corps, ready for the final hops which will bring them here tomorrow and Friday for the annual army air maneuvers.

Poor flying weather delayed some of the flights eastward today, but all of the planes are expected to reach their destination not later than Friday when organization of the various units will be formulated for the defense of Chicago and Detroit early next week.

Bad Weather Delays

National guard planes—99 in all—coming from 18 states were delayed by bad weather which hampered flying from Illinois to the east coast.

More than 100 ships left San Antonio, Tex., this morning enroute to Dayton. Enroute they split into two groups, one group of 57 fast pursuit planes going to Ft. Sill, Okla., and St. Louis. Transport and observation planes set out for Ft. Sill while a group of bombers were on their way to Shreveport, La., where they headed north.

Over Iowa

Forty-eight attack planes got away from Galveston this morning; 29 bombers left Dallas, Tex.; from Omaha 75 pursuit planes headed east over Iowa and 10 observation planes left Kansas City.

The maneuver schedule calls for all planes to be concentrated here May 15, with formation flying and a study of the terrain to be defended scheduled for Friday afternoon, Saturday and Sunday.

Unemployed Union Workers Ask Help

Judge Dewey Sentences 5 Fines $4,000

EVARTS, Ky., May 13 (AP)—A warning that unemployed union miners would "help themselves" if they did not soon receive aid from other sources was issued from union headquarters here tonight by William M. Hightower, local organization president.

The statement attacked Gov. Flem D. Sampson, charging he had "violated his promises in every respect," since national guard troops were sent here to quell disorders in the Harlan coal fields.

DES MOINES, May 13 (AP)—Judge Charles A. Dewey today sentenced five Boone business men, convicted of liquor violations, to a total of eight years and six months imprisonment and fined them $4,000.

Berry A. Keister received the heaviest punishment, two sentences of 18 months each on charges of illegal manufacture and conspiracy, six months each for illegal transportation and illegal possession, and a $500 fine for maintaining a liquor nuisance. The sentences, to be served at Ft. Leavenworth prison, are to run concurrently.

John Miller and Ray McGuire each will serve 14 months in a prison not yet selected. Miller received two concurrent sentences of that length for conspiracy and manufacture and six months each for transportation and maintaining a liquor nuisance. He was fined $500 for illegal possession. McGuire was sentenced to 14 months and fined $1,000 for conspiracy.

A conspiracy charge against H. N. Strick brought a six months jail sentence and a fine of $2,004 and Ed Smith was sentenced to six months in jail for illegal transportation.

Five Boys Win Awards for Firemanship, Bird Study

Five merit badges were awarded last night at the regular meeting of the Boy Scout board of review. No tenderfoot, second class, or first class awards were made.

Drew Mcnamara, troop 10, was awarded badges in firemanship and first aid to animals. Other merit badges awarded were Robert Speidel, troop 5; firemanship; Carl Potter, troop 8; first aid; and Thomas Ayres, troop 5, bird study.

Gordon L. Kent, district commissioner, was in charge of the board. Serving with him were Fred A. Jones, scoutmaster of troop 8; H. C. Burdick, scoutmaster of troop 5; Frank Swisher, assistant scoutmaster of troop 5; and Edward McComb.

Committee Drops Case Against Two

LINCOLN, Neb., May 13 (AP)—Pejorative indictments against George W. Norris, the grocer, and Victor Seymour, Republican leader, in connection with their testimony before the senate's campaign fund investigating committee here were dismissed today by Federal Judge T. C. Munger who also held that the committee's inquiry into the 1930 Nebraska Republican senatorial campaign was valid.

Demurrers, filed by the grocer and Seymour were sustained by the court on a technicality. Charles E. Sandall, United States district attorney, said the government probably will seek new indictments against the grocer, who attempted to oppose Senator George W. Norris in his race for re-election, the Republican leader who resigned as manager of the Republican senatorial campaign committee's Denver office as a result of the investigation.

George Baker Bequeaths Son Vast Fortune

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—The greater part of one of America's enormous fortunes goes to George F. Baker, Jr., under the will of his father, who was chairman of the board of the First National bank.

The will, filed today, gave no indication of the size of the estate, other than the conventional "more than $20,000." Estimates since the financier's death on May 2 at the age of 91 have ranged as high as a half billion dollars.

The dean of American bankers left $5,000,000 each to two daughters, Mrs. Florence B. Loew and Mrs. Evelyn E. St. George.

In memory of his father and mother, the "Sphinx of Wall Street" left $550,000 to the Protestant Episcopal cathedral foundation of the District of Columbia. A similar amount goes to the New York public library.

EARLVILLE, May 13 (AP)—Mrs. May Gross, wife of James Gross of Chicago, and Ernest Kaps, Chicago insurance salesman, are held in jail here on vagrancy charges by Mr. Gross.

Gross said he had trailed the couple here from Chicago after his wife left his home Monday with her five children and household goods in a car.

The two had arranged to move into a home here last night when Gross swore out warrants against them, police said.

They will be arraigned tomorrow.

Gandhi Arrives at Simla for Meeting

SIMLA, India, May 13 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi was hailed by thousands of ruffled Indians from the hills when he arrived here today for a series of meetings with Viceroy Lord Willingdon in connection with the forthcoming second round table conference in London.

The Mahatma looked rested and refreshed after his stay at Borsad. Gandhi said he could not yet announce whether he would attend the London conference.

Cool Weather Brings Halt to Farm Work

DES MOINES, May 13 (AP)—Because of cool, rainy weather only about 40 per cent of Iowa corn planting has been completed, and some planting will have to be repeated because seed has failed to germinate, the weekly crop report said today.

In some Mississippi river counties, only five per cent of the potential crop has been planted, and the average ranges to 75 per cent in counties north from Taylor to Greene.

Despite the fact that more than one inch of rain fell in most parts of the state last week, there are still a few dry spots in Iowa, especially in central Lucas county where a tenth of an inch moisture was reported. The ground generally is moist to the depth of a foot, the report added.

Quite frequently we are asked how many trucks we operate, the number of people we employ, how much our annual pay roll is, what our milk and cream purchases total each year, etc. These questions have come to our attention so often that we have come to the conclusion they are of general interest. With this thought in mind we offer you the following figures:

Total purchases of Milk and Cream in 1930	$219,612.99
Total payroll for 1930	$62,258.53
Number of employees	44
Of this total of 44 employees, 37 are full time and 6 part-time. Of the 6 part time employees 5 are university students, one a high school pupil, and one employed part time elsewhere.

500,000 Chicagoans Throng in Loop in Jubilee Mardi Gras

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP)—Half a million Chicagoans, by police estimate, surged through the loop tonight as state street held Mardi Gras in the Chicago jubilee.

From the Chicago river to Van Buren street—a distance of ten blocks—State street and all those entering it from a block on either side were jammed from wall to wall.

Police had their hands full less than an hour after the special celebration got under way, they reported that 25 persons had collapsed and had to be helped away.

Every available patrol wagon in the downtown district was massed at either end of the loop ready for contingencies.

25 Hawkeyes to Compete in 3-Way Meet

Iowa, Wisconsin Loom as Favorites at Saturday Tilt

When 25 Hawkeye cindermen embark by automobile for Madison tomorrow afternoon, they will be headed for what is technically known as a triangular meet with Wisconsin and Chicago, but the Maroons are so weak that the real battle will be between Iowa and Wisconsin.

The Hawkeyes will be captained in the meet by L. D. Weldon, javelin star.

Hawkeyes, Badgers Look Best
Advance speculation indicates that the Badgers will annex seven firsts at the carnival Saturday with the Old Gold taking an equal number and the Windy City aggregation, two. It follows that, with four places in each event to be scored, the place men and not the champions are likely to decide the issue.

L. D. Weldon and Ed Gordon are almost assured of firsts in the javelin throw and broad jump respectively. Both men broke university records this spring and of the two, Weldon has only been surpassed once at the Drake relays by a man he mastered at the Kansas carnival. Gordon is also expected to be capable of tying for first place in the high jump.

More Iowa Prospects
Paul Conway, who ran the 100 yard dash in the Chicago dual meet in 9.7 seconds to better another university mark, has a good chance to acquire first place this week end, as does John Beckner in the 220 yard low hurdles and Stuart Skowbo in the half mile.

Justin Albright pole vaulted 12 feet, 9 inches already this season which is a height that should win at the Badger meet. Wesley Youngerman will lead the Iowa men in the discus throw and Robert Corong has heaved the hammer more than 140 feet and placed fourth at Drake to be the most consistent man on the Hawkeye hammer team.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

Youth will be relied upon to bring back that dear old trophy of amateur tennis—the famous Davis cup, that has been the possession of the French for two years. The announcement of the selections for the United States team is astonishing as to the youthfulness of the members.

Time trials at Churchill Downs have uncovered two derby candidates for the west to put its hopes upon. Pittsburgher galloped over the muddy course in impressive time. Up, known primarily as the winner of Agua Caliente derby stepped out in several fine performances. Notwithstanding, the eastern derby eligibles are, and will remain to the bugle call, the prominent favorites.

Its bid for victory in the Big Ten baseball race repeatedly thwarted by Lady Luck in six conference encounters, Iowa will tangle with the Michigan Wolverines at Iowa field tomorrow afternoon.

The Maize and Blue batsmen are so close to first place in the standings that a Hawkeye triumph would be nothing short of a complete upset. Upsets probably occur more frequently in baseball than in any other sport.

Inclement weather has been one foe National league teams have been unable to conquer. Every game scheduled for yesterday was called off. For the Chicago Cubs it was the tenth game of the season to be postponed. All of which means that doubleheaders will be staged this summer with unusual frequency.

Wes Ferrell's greatness meant nothing to Washington yesterday. The ambitious Senators drove him off the mound with a salvo of blows yesterday and pounded his hurling successors for a 9 to 3 win.

Dale Alexander of Detroit hit two out of four to the Babe Ruth second place with a mark of .408. Ruth dropped from first as he failed to connect in two official trips. Michigan Star Pitcher Not Likely to Play Tomorrow

Threats of the Iowa baseball team to win a conference game will be repeated with emphasis on its own diamond tomorrow afternoon, with the Michigan aggregation as the intended victim.

Compton on Bench
The Hawkeyes are heartened by the fact that Coach Ray Fisher will not dare use Berne Compton, ace of the pitchers, because he must save him for the Saturday game with the league leading Illini. Compton hurled his team to a 12 to 5 win in the first game with Iowa.

With the hitting on the upgrade, the Vogelmens are prepared to assault the offerings of McNeal and Kiedler, Michigan pitchers whose work this season has been no more than mediocre. The Wolverines are reported to be unsteady at second and short, as well as in right and left field.

Grid Players Cover First
First base on each team is protected by star football players—Hudson is captain-elect of the 1931 Michigan eleven, and Reedquist was a regular Iowa end for two seasons. Norman Daniels, Wolverine second sacker, will lead the basketball team next winter.

The game is the first of two successive appearances at home, for the Hawkeyes meet Wisconsin here Monday afternoon. It is the seventh of Iowa's ten conference contests.

Parcaut Signs to Meet Croy Here in June

Ralph Parcaut, claimant to the middleweight wrestling title, and Harold Croy, Hills schoolmaster, signed contracts Wednesday for a championship outdoor match to be held in Iowa City in June. Knights of Pythias are promoting the bout, the main proceeds of which will be donated to charity.

This will be the second clash between the two. Croy met the Newton whirlwind at a Legion show early last winter as an elimax to a long series of wins. The tutor won the first fall with a step over toe hold, but succumbed to a backward body slam in the second session. He was knocked out and that, coupled with a rib injury, forced him to give Parcaut the deciding fall by forfeit.

After that bout, Croy began at the bottom and has worked his way up to the position of a challenger again. He has hung up a remarkable string of victories, including wins over "Skinny" Grooms, Jack Davis, Clarence Johnson, Pete Westergard and a sensational "iron man" stunt of throwing five men two falls each in about 30 minutes.

Parcaut, who is in the midst of a busy season, has met the best in the game. His first bout with Croy won him a large following in Iowa City. The match is the best to be offered the local mat fans for some time.

Several sites are being considered for the match, which will be according to the contracts, take place "after June 15. June 20 has been set as a tentative date. Arrangements are in charge of Frank Strub, K. L. Lindemeyer and R. W. Sharf.

Deadline for Annual River Swim, Open Canoe Race Nears

A mile river swim, an open doubles canoe race, and an interfraternity doubles canoe race are events to be run off on Iowa river Tuesday at 4:15 p.m. Entries for the Dolphin annual river swim are being received daily by Coach David A. Armbruster.

All university students are eligible for the river swim and the open canoe race from the park bridge to Iowa avenue bridge. Entries in the canoe events close with Coach Ernest G. Schroeder Saturday.

Ten place medals are being offered in the swimming event, as well as a statuet presented by the Dolphin fraternity. A trophy will be awarded the fraternity winning the canoe race. To the pair finishing first in the open canoe contest will go gold medals, while their nearest contestants will receive silver ones.

Coach Armbruster expects the entry list of swimmers to be more than doubled before the start. Those now entered are: Boyd N. Liddle, winner last year, accompanied by Laurence Griswold; Steve Nielson, Robert Jans, William Ross, Rowland Evans, Richard Lambert, Roy Bodine, Francis Pressler, Glen Behrens, G. Andrew Ammann, William S. McCully, accompanied by Mike Farroh, and Tad R. Close.

Jones is New Head of Fraternity Sports

Weston E. Jones of Beta Theta Pi was elected president of the interfraternity athletic council for next year at a meeting of the council Monday afternoon. Eysel E. Farnard of Phi Chi was made vice president of the organization and Fred A. Evans of Alpha Tau Omega was chosen for the secretary post.

The protest and eligibility committees were combined by Jones and the following men were appointed to the new committee: chairman, Carl L. Spies of Delta Sigma Pi, vice chairman, Marvin Moravec of Beta Theta Pi, Eugene Clearman of Theta Tau, Charles Ducander of Delta Tau Delta, Edward Dolly of Phi Kappa Psi, Carl Hauser of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Jack Ruhe of Phi Gamma Delta.

Only Fourteen Horses Enter Annual Derby

LOUISVILLE, May 13 (AP)—Now that all preliminary races have been run by Kentucky derby eligibles and nothing remains for them to complete their training but short workouts, indications today were that perhaps not more than 12 or 14 three year olds will face the post in the $50,000 added race Saturday.

Should the entries be 14 or less, the derby field will be sent on its mile and a quarter journey from a starting gate for the first time in history. The gate in use at Churchill Downs accommodates 14 horses, and its operation so far during the meeting has been highly satisfactory to turfmen and the public.

Equipoise, leading two year old money winner, worked the longest distance today, breezing a mile and an eighth in the mud in 2:02 2-5.

Latest speculation as to the derby field follows: Mate, Twenty Grand, Surf Board, Anchors Aweigh, Equipoise, Ladder, Sweep All, Pittsburgher, Inso, Spanish Play, Boys Howdy, Up, Don Leon and Prince D'Amour. Of these 14 crack colts, Don Leon and Prince D'Amour were considered doubtful starters because of their lack of form evidenced while training here.

Bing Miller's Homer Paves Way to Win

Senators Bat Out First Win Over Ferrell in Two Years

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP)—Bing Miller hit a home run in the ninth inning for the Athletics off Tommy Thomas this afternoon. The hit kept the champions in the ball game until the eleventh inning when they bunched two hits, and a double steal to score twice off Red Faber and defeat the Chicago White Sox 7 to 5, in the second game of the series.

Thomas and Earnshaw pitched well but Thomas was removed to start the eleventh. The Sox erred in the fifth and Thomas himself failed to cover first on one play, the Athletics scoring two runs to tie the score. The Sox got two more but Cochrane's homer in the eighth and Miller's in the ninth took the game into overtime.

Wearing The GREEN

Just a boy who has "pole vaulted all his life" is Robert Okerlin, freshman, who hurled himself over the bar set at 13 feet to better the winning mark by three inches set by Justin Albright, varsity vaulter, at the Chicago meet May 2.

This height was made as an exhibition and is the highest "Bob" has ever gone. He didn't enter competition until his junior year of high school at his home town of Essex although he had been practicing for several seasons. Late that spring he won the district meet at Council Bluffs.

His accomplishments while a senior included a repetition of his triumph the year before at Council Bluffs in addition to taking first place at the tri-state meet at Tarkio, Missouri, and placing second at the state carnival at Des Moines.

Weather Man Revives Hot Stove League

Bruins Receive Tenth Cancellation; Cold Halts Play

The National league flag chase was at a standstill yesterday as all four scheduled games were postponed.

Weather difficulties for the second successive day prevented the Cubs from clashing with Brooklyn, making the tenth cancellation of the season for the Bruins.

Bob Smith, the former Brave who was slated to hurl the final game with the Giants that was called off Monday, is the likely pitching choice for the Chicagoans as soon as they get an opportunity to play.

Changes Contemplated

Manager Rogers Hornsby is nursing the ailing heel that kept him on the bench most of the 1930 campaign.

In an effort to bolster the club's morale numerous contemplated alterations in the Cub lineup have been reported. The rumor that Hack Wilson will be relegated to the bench persisted. The most significant shifts will probably be made in the infield in an effort to plug up gaps in the Bruins' defense.

Grimm to Bench? Talk has been circulating that Blal will be stationed at first base in place of Capt. Charley Grimm, and that Bill Jurgens, rookie sensation, will go to second base. The Reds will engage the Phillies.

The Wrist Mark

by J. S. Fletcher

Synopsis of Preceding Installments
Col. Engleden, formerly governor of Southmoor prison is murdered. Seton Engleden, a nephew, with the aid of his law clerk, learns that during the colonel's time at Southmoor prisoners, Snelling and Hardle, escaped. The theory is that the colonel had found the escaped convicts and that they killed him. A former prison warden, Millwaters, engaged to aid in the investigation, is murdered. Malison, superintendent of police, arrests two soldiers who admit having robbed the colonel's body, but deny any knowledge of the murder. Meanwhile, a description of the escaped convicts is obtained from Capt. Shoreham, of Southmoor. Snelling had a birth mark on his right wrist. Engleden recalls that Sanderson, on whose estate the colonel's body was found, wears a steel bracelet on his right wrist. The question arises—Is Sanderson Snelling? Johnson thinks he is, and that his butler, Hewitt, is Hardle. Maj. Anstie, of the Home Office, says he had a letter from the colonel saying that he had located all the persons concerned in the prison escape. When an attorney is made to prove the identity of Sanderson and his butler, it is found that they have fled. Sanderson's chauffeur, John Oates, tells of taking his employer and another man on a mysterious drive the night of the murder. Francis Silverstein suggests to Johnson that the colonel was killed because he knew facts that threatened the safety of certain persons. He says that Sanderson is the head of a concern that is perpetrating a financial swindle, and that, if he were recognized by the colonel as an ex-convict, the murder of both the colonel and Millwaters is explained. He also believes that a farmer who seemed to know Sanderson very well, is one of the prison wardens who aided the two convicts to escape. Capt. Shoreham sees the man and makes a positive identification.

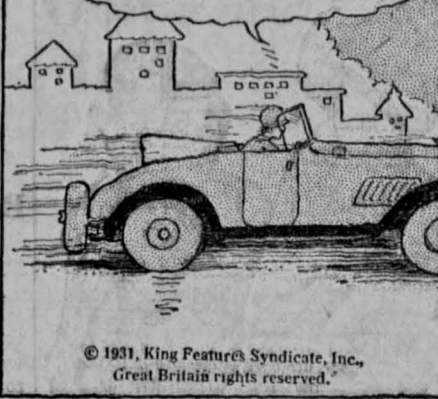

Barrowsburgh. Straight up the dale for the first four; then turn off into a very wild country and you find Starrick Priory in a sort of narrow ravine that opens into the dale.
"No village near?"
"There is a village of the same name — Starrick — further up the dale, a mile or so beyond where you turn off for the old Priory. They call it a village, but it's only a collection of houses."
"Is there a policeman there?" asked Johnson. "For that might be important."
"There's a policeman there, yes—his cottage has the usual constabulary sign on it. You're thinking of going out there? I'll run you out in my car."
"No!" said Johnson. "My plans are otherwise. Let that boy finish stuffing himself and I'll tell him before you, what he's to do."
Silverstein smiled his acquiescence. "You think you've made an important discovery?" he suggested.
"I think," replied Johnson, "that the mere identification of Beckett as Settle, the ex-warden of Southmoor, is very important, Mr. Silverstein. The bits of the puzzle seem to be fitting themselves together. Snelling, the escaped convict, is found at Barrowsburgh, where he is known as Mr. Sanderson, J. P., a country gentleman with financial interests; Hardle, who escaped with him, is under his roof as butler, with the name of Hewitt; close by, engaged in the peaceful pursuits of the life of a cattle, we now call himself Beckett, herds sheep, instead of men! Come, come! — the whole thing is a bit obvious!"
"You make it — what?" asked Silverstein.
"Why, just this!" replied Johnson. "That Settle, of course, was squared to connive at the escape of these two men, probably, he helped to engineer it. Afterwards, he kept in touch with Snelling — Snelling, no doubt, as Sanderson, set him up at the Starrick Priory farm. And, knowing what I know now, I should say that Settle is in possession of the truth about the murder of Col. Engleden and Millwaters!"
"And you mean to have it out of him?"
"I mean to try! And — but your young man's finished."
Silverstein's assistant came across to them. Johnson pointed to a chair opposite his own.
"Sit down, my lad," he said as he bent over the table. "Now listen! Mr. Silverstein pointed out a man to you just now, in the market, and you took a good look at him? Now I want you to go into the market again, and look for that man. And, without seeming to do so, you'll just watch and follow him, wherever he goes. It's now five o'clock. Come and look for me at the Brown Cow at seven o'clock and report progress. But, mind you, if the man's left the town before that, come sooner. Now be off — and mind he doesn't spot you!"
The lad went out of the tea shop, and Johnson turned smilingly to Silverstein.
"He'll do that better than I should!" he said. "Well, now I'll say good-by for the present."
He went away, affecting indifference to his surroundings when he got out of the tea shop. But he was keeping an eye on everything as he crossed the square, and presently, seeing a gunsmith's shop, he walked in. Securing the attention of the proprietor, he drew from his pocket an automatic pistol and laid it on the counter.
"Just see that that's in absolute order, if you please," he said.
"Expecting trouble?" laughed the gunsmith. "To be sure there's nothing like being ready. It's all right," he added, a moment later. "Quite in order." Then he gave Johnson a searching look. "Down here in connection with these murders, eh?" he said. "Stiffish problems, aren't they?"
Johnson, not at all displeased to find himself taken for a Scotland Yard man, assumed a mysterious air, offered his thanks, for the gunsmith's attention, and went away.
But, before going many yards, he turned into another shop — a book-seller's this time. There he bought an ordnance map of the district, and with this he retreated to the Brown Cow, where, in the small parlor in which he had talked with Silverstein the night before, he spread the map over the table and began a careful examination of it.
He saw at once what he wanted — which was a route whereby he could reach Starrick Priory without traversing a high road or even a country road. And there, at first glance, he saw how that could be done — by paths and tracks across the solitary moorlands that stretched between Barrowsburgh and Starrick Priory. There was no need to go into Barrowsburgh at all. There was a turn here, another turn there, on leaving the station, and he would be on the moors high above town and castle. And thence there was nothing to do but follow the moorland tracks indicated on the map; they would bring him, through what were obviously real solitudes, to a point overlooking Starrick Priory.
"So far, so good — Johnson waited patiently until seven o'clock struck. And as it struck the clock appeared, bright of eye as ever, and full of news and importance. Johnson beckoned him to his side.
"Well!" he asked. "Say on!"
"Ain't never had my eyes off of him, mister," replied the boy, "least-ways not till ten minutes since. He was in the sheep market when I left you and the 'gunner, and I've kept him in view ever since. Well, he was in the market some time; I made out he was selling his sheep, not buying. At last he went away, and I followed. He went to one or two shops first; one was the ironmonger's; another the chemist's. Then at six o'clock he went to Mr. Passaby's, the shipping agent; and then —"
"Shipping agent?" interrupted Johnson, pricking his ears. "What sort of shipping agent?"
"Agent for all sorts of shipping companies, mister—Passaby's in Church street. Big bills in the windows there — every steamship company you could think of, to all parts of the world."

"Well?" said Johnson. "He went there, did he?"
"And there he stopped a jolly long time, mister! I continued to take a look through the window and I saw him and Passaby. Passaby was writing out what looked to be tickets or something of that sort. Of course, I couldn't hang round too close; I crossed the street, then, and watched from a doorway in the churchyard. At twenty minutes to seven he came out and went round the corner to the Drovers Arms; I saw him in the yard there putting some parcels into his trap. Then —"
"Stop a bit," said Johnson. "A trap, you say—not a car. You mean a horse-drawn trap?"
"Old dog cart, mister, that's what it is. And I heard him shout to an outler that was in the yard. What he said was 'Put my horse in at nine o'clock, Jim—you'll find me in the bar parlor when it's ready.' Then he went into the house by the side door — and there he is, mister. At the Drovers Arms, having his glass."
"And safe enough for two hours," thought Johnson, "and, when he leaves, he's a pretty long drive before him. You're a brack!" he continued aloud, turning to the lad. "There's a nice little present for you. But — hold your tongue, see?"
He went away towards the station, to catch a train to Barrowsburgh. He had ten minutes to wait, and he used them by going into the refreshment room and buying a packet of sandwiches. He had visions of an all-night vigil. For the last three hours Johnson had been firmly convinced that the solution of the present problems was to be sought at Starrick Priory, and to Starrick Priory he was going — and alone.
At Barrowsburgh station Johnson turned in the direction of a path that passed through the woods. A stiff climb of half a mile, and he Countess Elsie Conde, who is said to have been a French spy for six months behind the German lines, is to be technical adviser on "Let's Play King," at Paramount. What Hollywood could show her about politics and secret reconnaissance . . . And then Frank Ferrett reports the studio cat had a litter of kittens in Dudley Nichol's typewriter.

The Hollywood Grapevine reports that Fox is disciplining Rowland Brown, who, only a few weeks back, was given a bonus and a trip to Europe for his direction of "Quick Millions." Mr. Brown, like other Fox bad boys, now can be found in the scenario department . . . But he should worry. "Quick Millions" proved he is cut out to be a director, and as the author of "The Doorway to Hell" he probably can get a job at Warners any day . . . Ralph Block, another highly-touted Fox official, has left the studio entirely, with a settlement for the rest of his contract. Maybe he quit of his own accord. To be handed an assignment like "Girls Demand Excitement" was enough. Whenever Fox wants to administer a spanking to a director he is shunted into the scenario department. William K. Howard once languished there, getting $3,500 a week for a $5 a week job. But he pulled out and is sitting pretty. It's a silly business, the movies, but mighty intriguing.
CLUB NEWS—THE JOLLY FOURSOME BRIDGE CLUB HAD A VERY SHORT SESSION TODAY
BEHIND THE SCENES IN HOLLYWOOD
By HARRISON CARROLL
HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — Having abandoned the plan of re-uniting Jack Gilbert and Greta Garbo, in "The Fall and Rise of Susan Lenox," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is all ready with another story for Jack. It is "Candlelight," a play from the French of Alfred Savoir. New York saw an English translation two seasons ago, I believe, and a company headed by Reginald Owen and Mme. Leontovich did the play later on the Coast. This was before the actress' Broadway hit in "Grand Hotel," and the Los Angeles critics failed to note any superlative quality in her acting.
"Candlelight" is whimsical and sophisticated, with only a thread of a plot. It has to do with a four-way masquerade of a master and his valet and a baroness and her maid. As I recall it, numerous changes will have to be made for the films. Gilbert, you know, has just finished "Cheri-Bibi." It is disappointing from the fan's point of view that he will not play with Greta, but "Candlelight" ought to be right in his line. It will be his first sophisticated role since that ill-starred picture, "His Glorious Night."

Rev. Newton Will Speak at Baccalaureate

Author, Lecturer Takes Role Fifth Time in 10 Years

For the fifth time in the history of the University of Iowa, Joseph Fort Newton will give the June baccalaureate address. He appeared here in 1921, 1923, 1927, and 1928.

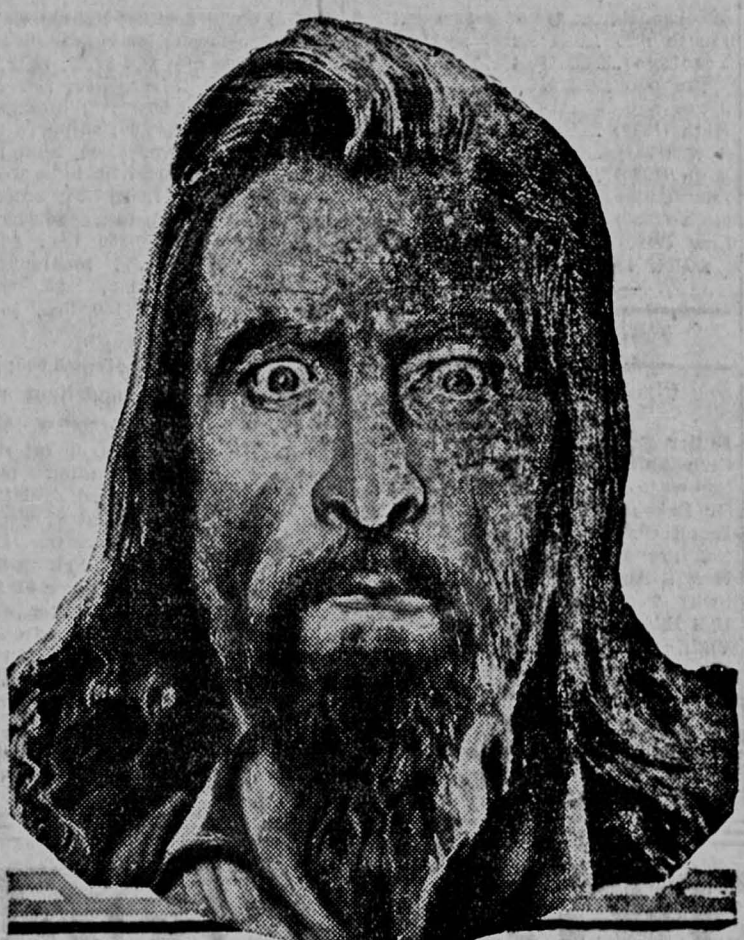

For eight years the Rev. Mr. Newton occupied the pulpit of the Liberal Christian church at Cedar Rapids where he gave literary lectures Wednesday evenings and Sundays preached his sermons.

Three Years in England

An invitation from the City Temple in London prompted him to leave Cedar Rapids in 1916 to spend three years in England. The following nine years he served as pastor of the Church of Divine Paternity, New York, N. Y.

At the present the Rev. Mr. Newton is rector of the Memorial Church of St. Paul, at Overbrook, a suburb of Philadelphia.

The baccalaureate speaker is the author of 22 books, many pamphlets, and is associate editor of "Christian Century."

John Barrymore as Svengali, playing in the picture of the same name, opens today at the Englert.

President Jessup Appoints Committees to Serve for Commencement Festivities

Thirty-one faculty members and students have been appointed by President Walter A. Jessup to serve on committees arranging Commencement week festivities.

Alumni affairs will be supervised by the alumni secretary, Prof. Fred G. Higbee.

Theodore M. Rehder will have charge of the Commencement supper May 28 at Iowa Union. He will be assisted by the senior class presidents: Anne Bradford of Davenport, liberal arts; Ned Turner of Corning, law; Clarence H. White of Iowa City, medicine; James D. Dunlop, of Iowa City, dentistry.

Edward Seberg of Marshalltown, pharmacy; Emil H. Rausch of Waverly, engineering; Howard L. Young of Lamont, commerce; Elizabeth F. Curtis of Lehigh, nursing; and Willa D. Moreland of Iowa City, graduate college.

Professors in Charge

Program for the supper will be arranged by Prof. M. Willard Lampe, Prof. Herbert Martin, and Director R. H. Fitzgerald.

Arrangements for the Commencement party, May 29, are being made by Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff, chairman, and Auditor W. H. Cobb, Dr. Dean M. Lerie, Prof. Fred M. Pownall, Prof. Allen M. Tester, Burton A. Ingwersen, and Prof. Philip Mechem.

Reception Given

Mrs. Sadie Hess Ford will have charge of the president's reception at Iowa Union the afternoon of Memorial day.

Baccalaureate exercises are in general charge of Prof. Floyd A. Nagler, Rev. Richard McEvoy, representing the ministerial association, Prof. M. Willard Lampe, Prof. C. J. Lapp, and Mrs. Mildred B. Paddock.

John Ely Briggs as university marshal. Prof. Vance W. Morton, Prof. Fred W. Holmes, and Harry G. Barnes assist.

Carl H. Menzer will oversee radio service.

The executive committee is made up of the director of convocations and the chairmen of the various committees.

Identify Body at Onawa

ONAWA (AP) — Coroner John Barnard announced that the body of a man found in the railroad yards April 7, had been identified as that of Maurice Roberts, 35, of Allendale, Mo.

Court Places Charge of Lewdness Against St. Paul Evangelist

SPENCER, May 13 (AP)—A technical charge of lewdness was placed against the Rev. J. Rex Dyson, 31, St. Paul evangelist, on the complaint of relatives of Carolyn Schaefer, 20, of St. Paul.

The relatives alleged that Dyson had brought the girl here from her home and that he had a wife and child residing in Woodson, Ark. Dyson, said to be a pastor of the Midway Gospel Tabernacle in St. Paul, has been conducting revival services here. He told officers he was attempting to obtain a divorce from his wife.

Collision Kills Woman

DAVENPORT (AP) — Mrs. Florence Sanders, died, the result of injuries received Sunday in a collision between two automobiles in which Harry Willers was killed. Ed. Slary, said to be the driver of one car, is being held on a charge of manslaughter.

Bose to Give 7 Addresses

First Commencement Speech Given at Rowan Tonight

Sudhindra Bose of the political science department will deliver seven commencement addresses in Iowa this season. He will give his first address tonight at Rowan, Friday he will address the graduating class at Urbana.

He will also speak at the following places: May 20, Belle Plaine; May 21, State Center; May 22, Mitchellville; May 23, Lake Mills; and June 4, Boone.

In several of these places, Mr. Bose has been asked to speak on the world significance to Mahatma Gandhi, whom he met in India several years ago.

Mr. Bose has been booked to speak during the summer session at the State Agricultural college, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Missouri State Teachers college, Springfield; and Kansas State Teachers college, Hays. He will deliver public addresses and hold round table discussions at these institutions. His general topic will be "Asia in world politics."

Publications Board Will Meet to Elect 1932 Iowan Heads

The board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc., will meet this afternoon at 4:15 at the journalism building to elect the editor and business manager of The Daily Iowan for next year.

The candidates for editor are, Alvin Coons, 33 of Ames; Frank Jaffe, 33 of Paterson, N. J.; John Henderson, 33 of Des Moines; H. Bernard Hook, 33 of What Cheer, and Gilbert W. Schantz, 33 of Wayland.

For business manager, Bennett Burke, 33 of Iowa City; Charles L. Johnston, 33 of Birmingham; Harold J. White, 33 of Dubuque, and G. William Bartmess, 33 of Mason City.

Requirements for the positions are: experience on The Daily Iowan; demonstrated executive ability; good scholastic standing in the university; and Junior or more advanced classification at the conclusion of this academic year, for the editorship.

Police Say Sorrow Caused Suicide of "East Lynne" Girl

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP) — Police today were convinced that sorrow over her desertion by an unknown husband, who took with him their children, had led to the death of Freda Edwards, 22, formerly of

Ollie and Glasgow, Iowa.

Her father, Robert Edwards of Ollie, told them that the girl was ambitious to become an author. The letter found near her body asking forgiveness of her husband, was found to be a copy of the "goodbye" letter in "East Lynne," a novel.

There was still doubt as to whether she committed suicide and the inquest was continued pending a report of doctors examining her stomach.

Chevrolet

has struck a popular new note in motor-car styling

Many factors have contributed to the remarkably widespread popularity of the new Chevrolet Six. Among these are smooth performance, low price, matchless economy, exceptional riding ease and driving comfort. But no feature has been more strikingly evident in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile. Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched tie bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-slung body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.
