BALLOONISTS SET ALTITUDE MARK

Men Behind the News

'King Owen the First' Knows Both Great And Lowly.

(Editor's note: The following story on Owen D. Young is another in a series disclosing little known facts about prominent persons often in the news...

By JOHN L. COOLEY (Copyright 1931, by Associated Press) NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—A Berlin newspaper once called him "King Owen the First."

Old-timers in the upstate New York village whose fairy god father he is, know him as "Owen."

On the twenty-fifth floor of 120 Broadway—suites labelled "General Electric Company"—he is "the chairman."

Respected by all Bankers, business men, college freshmen, college presidents, statesmen, farmers and nations listen when he speaks.

Most of what he says never gets into the newspapers. He prefers to avoid publicity, although he has figured in some of the biggest news since the war.

His friends say he is without frills or affectation, totally comfortable with financiers, politicians or the Herkimer county folk.

Can "Just Set" "I can 'just set' better than anyone you ever saw," he once said.

Part of this "setting" is done in his Park avenue apartment among his books. Rare editions are shelved around the walls of his library.

Other hobbies are the country house on Long Island Sound near Riverside, Conn.; his alma mater, St. Lawrence university at Canton, N. Y.; and the old home at Van Hornesville where he has a dairy farm.

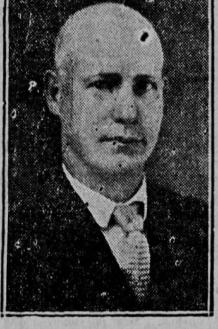

Doak Claims Employment Improvement WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Reports to the labor department were said today by Secretary Doak to have indicated a slight improvement in employment conditions this month.

The labor secretary's statement followed one last night by President Green of the American Federation of Labor warning that employment gains indicated by the number of unions finding jobs had not been up to normal and that steps should be taken to prevent distress next winter.

Doak did not estimate the number of unemployed, saying he had nothing on which to base such a calculation.

Green urged employers to divide available work pro-rata among employees. Doak said he had no information as to what was being done along this line, adding the president's emergency employment committee had been urging such action upon employers.

His Hat in Ring

The candidacy of State Representative Samuel D. Whiting for the right to again represent this district in the legislature has been announced.

In the forty-fourth general assembly Representative Whiting was the floor leader of the Democratic faction. Concerning the platform on which he would run, he said it would only be that of continued service to this district and to the state.

Stanley Watts of Birmingham has also announced his intentions of running in the 1932 campaign.

Tornado Kills Two, Wrecks Dakota Train

Fast Train Wins Race of Death With Hurricane

FARGO, N. D., May 28 (AP)—Sketched into the word picture of the Great Northern railroad's tornado-wrecked Empire Builder today was the view of another train racing for safety from the funnel-shaped cloud.

By the estimate of Thomas E. Clark, St. Paul, Minn., conductor of the Northern Pacific railroad's track North Coast Limited, that train missed the tornado last night by only a quarter of a minute after racing 60 miles an hour for a stretch.

He and 90 passengers saw the cloud, hedge-hopping along, demolish a barn, level trees and sweep toward the Great Northern railroad tracks. There, a few minutes later, it brushed 12 coaches off the track, near Sabin, Minn., and miraculously, killed only one of the 117 passengers.

Fifty-seven injured, nine of them trainmen. Had Clark not esped the cloud as his train pulled into Dilworth, Minn., and ordered the engineer to hurry away, it might have been the victim.

Most of the injured were discharged from hospitals here and in Moorhead today although Mrs. Emily Hannan, Seattle, is in a serious condition. Physicians have not determined whether her back was broken. She also is believed to have suffered internal injuries.

Andrew Anderson, Montevideo, Wash., was killed when he was thrown through a window by the shock of the wind which, odd, left only the locomotive and tender on the track.

Most passengers said the greenish black funnel-shaped cloud swept upon the train so suddenly few knew immediately what happened. L. O. James, Hollywood, Calif., saw the cloud approaching and commented upon it to another passenger.

I. M. Stauffer, Monroe, Wis., who helped save one man's life by tying a turquise from a napkin around his arm, said panic broke out in his car.

"Women and children were crying but few were injured," he said. "It was a bad wreck and I don't want to go through another one."

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Pinnech, and Mrs. J. F. Lidal, all of Seattle, said the spirit of the passengers was "marvelous."

Class of '28 Honors Jessup

A portrait of President Walter A. Jessup, painted by Sidney Dickinson, was the class of '28's memorial presented last night at the Commencement supper by Emerson W. Nelson.

Placed on an easel at the west of the speakers' table, the portrait was unveiled at the conclusion of Nelson's presentation, which the class of '28 is having inscribed on parchment to be presented with the memorial and lodged in the archives of the university.

The text of the presentation follows: "The class of 1928 in making its selection of a class memorial desired to choose a gift that would be a distinctive contribution to the university."

A committee was appointed to investigate the possibilities and select a gift that would express the true feeling and sentiment of the class.

"The committee made a search for such a memorial during the latter part of our senior year, but failed to find anything outstanding; the memorial fund was then placed at interest in a trust fund with the understanding that the committee would continue its search.

"During the last school year the committee came upon an idea which has richly rewarded the class for the delay; for the gift which I have the honor of presenting tonight is not only distinctive as a memorial, but expresses our feelings toward the university."

"In presenting this portrait I might speak of the great work President Jessup has done in expanding the campus from a small plot on the east side of the river to a great institution embracing many acres with its Old Capitol dome dominating the group of buildings on the east side of the river, and the beautiful hospital tower standing above the splendid buildings which have been placed on the hill to the west of the river during his administration.

"Or again, I might speak of the many strong leaders who have been added to the faculty during his administration and his ability to inspire them so that the University of Iowa has become recognized throughout the educational world as one of the best. We as graduates are proud that our university stands at the top for us in turn share in her honor.

"But these are not the things of which I wish to speak. To me, as president of the class of 1928, the greatest contribution of President Jessup in his genuine interest in students. His door always stands open to students, and every one of us knows that he is one of the most approachable men on the campus.

"A few years ago freshman week was inaugurated at the university. President Jessup wanted to get acquainted with the new students, so Thursday evening of that week was given over to the informal reception by the president and deans. I have been one of the upperclass reception committee on those occasions. As the new students pass down the line the president shakes hands with each one of them personally, and believe me, not a one passes by the president until he gets his name. It's quite hard sometimes for the tongue-tied freshman; but the president, like the "Northwest Mounted," gets his man and knows his name.

"President Jessup takes part in a surprising number of student activities. We find him at our parties, at our dinners, at our athletic contests, at our plays, at our concerts. How he does it all I don't know. He has helped us with Dad's day, Mothers' day, and all the rest.

"I wish all students might have the privilege of attending the dinner which President and Mrs. Jessup give the football squad at their home at the close of each football season. The president is at his best on those occasions. He knows every one of the boys by his first name, and his hospitality is felt from his first greeting.

"Such intimate contact and relation with the student body does not cease at graduation time; but only seems to be more intimate and personal. He wants to know where you are going and what you are going to do. Why does he take such a personal interest? Because of his deep interest in each one of us and his faith in the state of Iowa and Iowa graduates.

"I take great pride and pleasure in presenting to the University on behalf of the class of 1928 a memorial which is distinctive and expressive of our feelings."

Expect Action on Alimony Appeal CARSON CITY, Nev., May 28 (AP)—The Nevada supreme court is expected to act shortly on Grace Hegger Lewis' appeal from a district court order reducing the monthly alimony of her former husband, Sinclair Lewis, author.

Bids Called for Waukeech Paving Job DES MOINES, May 28 (AP)—Bids on 8.33 miles of paving east and west of Waukeech were called for by the state highway commission today, bringing the total letting in prospect for the bi-weekly announcement for June 9 to 42.76 miles.

Surveys of the stretch, which from Waukeech to Des Moines is a relocation project, are nearly completed. Contracts for grading are to be let shortly, and paving contracts for the balance of the distance will be let for completion this year.

20 Events Fill Schedules for Grads, Alumni

1,075 Seniors to Get Awards; Walker Takes Office

The path turns away from the walls of the University of Iowa for about 1,075 seniors, but for scores of alumni it leads to the halls of their undergraduate days now five to 50 years gone.

So seniors and alumni will throng the campus until Monday, participating in the 20 events of the seventy-first commencement. The climax arrives Monday morning when degrees and certificates will be conferred.

No visiting speaker will address the formal Commencement exercises on Monday morning, but the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton pastor of the St. James Episcopal church of Philadelphia, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, Mr. Newton, a former Cedar Rapids minister, has been baccalaureate speaker on four previous occasions within the past decade.

Activities planned for alumni tomorrow run the gamut from athletics to a reception and drama. A golf tournament at 8 a. m. in charge of Coach Charles Kennett, and a baseball game between Minnesota and Iowa, on Iowa Field will complete the athletic program.

Officers Installed Nine major officers will be installed and the 1931-32 program will be discussed at the annual meeting of the alumni association. Henry G. Walker is to take office as president, supplanting Benjamin F. Swisher of Waterloo, president for the last two years.

Walter L. Stewart of Des Moines and Sumner B. Chase of Ft. Dodge are to be installed as vice presidents.

One of the biggest events of the day will be the general reunion luncheon in the river room at Iowa Union. Alumni may secure tickets for this event at the door.

An 11-piece orchestra seated in the south alcove will furnish music during the luncheon.

President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup will hold a reception for seniors, alumni, and commencement guests in the lounge from 4 to 5 p. m. Invitations are not issued to the reception.

Instrumental music will be furnished during the hours by an orchestra seated in the north section of the sun porch. Mrs. Sadie Hess Ford is in general charge of the reception.

Individual reunions are being planned by various classes for the evening. At 7 p. m. the university band will play its second open-air Commencement concert in Old Capitol oval.

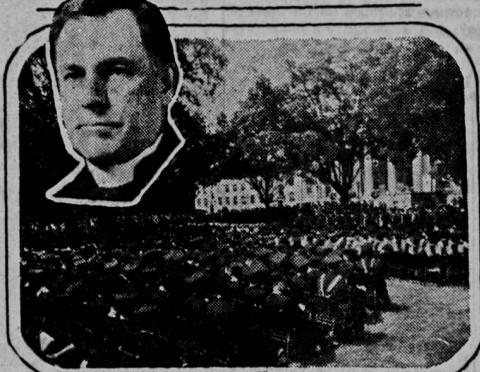

Presentation of "Berkeley Square" at 8:15 in natural science auditorium will close the day's program.

Mackenzie Plans for Non-Stop Sky Trip Over Pacific Ocean VICTORIA, B. C., May 28 (AP)—Plans for a non-stop flight across the Pacific ocean from Tokyo to Seattle in July of next year were announced today by Captain Gordon Mackenzie, regular pilot in the service of the Alaskan-Washington Airways of British Columbia.

Mackenzie will pilot the plane, with a prominent unidentified United States aviator as co-pilot. She was reported to be making the financial plans for the attempt.

It is planned to make the trip over the great circle route used by transpacific liners. Mackenzie and his partner expect to take 28 to 30 hours for the flight, with good weather. They will carry 2,100 gallons of gasoline, capable of taking them a maximum distance of 4,600 miles. The actual distance is 4,600 miles.

SENIORS TO HEAR NEWTON

Farewell advice to the University of Iowa's 1,075 seniors will be voiced Sunday morning at the baccalaureate exercises by the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, pastor of St. James Episcopal church of Philadelphia. He is the sole visiting speaker at the university's seventy-first commencement, for no formal address will be delivered at the degree awarding ceremonies Monday.

Young Fascists Riot Against Pope in Italy

ROME, May 28 (AP)—Premier Mussolini intervened today to prevent further violence in the heated controversy between fascists zealous and Catholic organizations, it was understood on excellent authority.

From sources close to the government it was learned the Duce had come to the conclusion that the violence of the young fascists against members of the Catholic organization and property of Catholic groups had gone too far. This was especially true of the disorders of last night, when a portrait of Pope Pius XI was trampled on the pavement and Catholic papers and books were burned in a fascist attack on a Catholic publishing house. The premier was understood to have passed the word down that the students responsible for such disorders must be curbed.

Protest Inevitable In Vatican circles tonight it was said a protest against these disorders was inevitable, but the Italian foreign office asserted no representative had yet been made regarding the riotous scenes of yesterday or the bitter attacks of Rome newspapers against the Vatican.

Catholic circles, emphasizing the serious nature of the fascist demonstrations against the church, directed attention to the provisions of the Lateran treaty which makes the person of the pope as inviolable as that of the king of Italy. They said they had confirmation of reports that students had shouted, "Down with the pope" and "death to the pope," and had defiled a portrait of his holiness.

Denies Statements Observatore Romano, organ of the Vatican, tonight published a statement authorized by Monsignor Pizzardo, assistant papal secretary, denying allegations of Rome newspapers that he had spoken of the ability of the Catholic action organization "to take power," and also denying other statements against the government attributed to Monsignor Pizzardo.

Special patrols of plain clothesmen were posted tonight in the vicinity of churches and other buildings belonging to Catholic organizations throughout Rome.

It was understood that the special patrols were posted at the order of Premier Mussolini.

Rain Comes as Benefit to Future Crops

DES MOINES, May 28 (AP)—Rain that in some localities approximated a half inch brought relief from high temperatures in central and western Iowa today, observers reporting that the precipitation would greatly benefit farm crops.

From light showers the rainfall ranged to the .68 inch recorded at Ft. Dodge. Mason City reported .41 inch; Boone .25 and Des Moines .25. Creston and Marshalltown experienced a steady but light rain.

Cities in eastern Iowa reported no rain, but many hoped cloudy skies held promise of precipitation. Overcast skies lowered temperatures throughout the state, Des Moines recording a 13 degree drop from the 90 degrees previously this week; Cedar Rapids found relief from the 95 of Wednesday; and Dubuque and Ottumwa reported that the mercury stood at about 75 degrees as contrasted to 90 Wednesday.

2 Scientists Land Safely in Mountains

Balloon Soared to New Height in Earth's Stratosphere

SOLDEN, Austria, May 28 (AP)—Safe after their balloon flight into the earth's stratosphere, in which they claim to have broken the world's altitude record by several thousand feet, Prof. Auguste Piccard and his physicist companion, Charles Kipfer, landed on a mountain glacier near Ober Gurgl, in the Tyrol, last night and were resting in the village there tonight.

Professor Piccard said the balloon, in which they took off from Augsburg, Germany, yesterday morning, had reached a height of over 52,000 feet. It was reported practically undamaged on the glacier and was to be brought down the mountain tomorrow to Ober Gurgl. The instruments also were intact.

The flight, Professor Piccard said, was "magnificent beyond conception." In all the nearly 24 hours the scientists were in the air, and especially last night when most of the world had given them up for dead, the balloon was never out of control he said.

Landed at Night The flight was continued throughout the day and early part of the night, he said, because it was impossible to bring the huge balloon down out of the low pressures of the stratosphere until nightfall had cooled the air over the Alps.

The landing was made about 10 o'clock last night, but the two explorers had no knowledge of where they were and they decided to spend the night in the aluminum ball cage attached to the balloon.

As morning came they stepped out upon the glacier and began to attempt to make their way down the mountain. They had scarcely started when they met a rescue party coming up. The rescue party, made up of the school principal of the village, a ski-instructor and a farmer, had started when villagers, in the light of morning, had espied the huge bag far up the mountainside.

As the rescuers sighted the explorers, they shouted to them not to try to make the perilous descent over jutting rocks until the party had reached them.

Telegraphed to Wife On reaching the village Professor Piccard speeded by telegraph news of his safety to his wife and family at Brussels.

When the mountain villagers first saw the huge bag this morning they ran immediately to tell the schoolmaster and he organized the rescue party. The party left Ober Gurgl at 8 o'clock and reached the vicinity of the balloon at 10:30.

The explorers were suffering chiefly from thirst, members of the party said after their return, and they were glad to fall hungrily upon the provisions which the rescuers brought. Both Professor Piccard and Kipfer said, however, that they were "feeling fine."

Professor Piccard related how they had kept close to the balloon all night, fearing to take a single step in the dark with the precious instruments upon which are recorded the data observed in the flight and also the altitude mark to which they attained.

On reaching the village they also telegraphed the University of Brussels, saying that the flight was "wonderful, but the descent was difficult."

Professor Piccard said they were 16 hours in the stratosphere, which is generally estimated to begin about seven miles above the earth's surface.

Steel Corporation Goes to Receivers' Hands in Mansfield

CLEVELAND, O., May 28 (AP)—The Empire Steel corporation of Mansfield, O., fifth largest producer of steel sheets in the United States, was in receivership tonight after several months of effort by stockholders and directors to save it had failed.

Decision to put the company into receivers' hands was made at a conference of banking and other creditors at a meeting here Tuesday. Petition for receivership was filed by the Interlake Iron corporation of Chicago, which claimed Empire owed it $480,000.

The meeting followed granting of a $378,578 judgment to Youngstown and Niles banks on some of the corporation's past due cognovit notes. Other creditors took similar action, leaving the company without working funds.

No Mail Delivered on Memorial Day Since tomorrow is a legal holiday, there will be no delivery of mail by either city or rural carriers, Postmaster Charles C. Schrader announced yesterday.

Stamp and money order windows will be open from 9:30 to 10 a. m., and the holiday schedule of collections will be made in the business district.

1,000 Seniors, Alumni, Guests Attend Seventy-First Annual Commencement Banquet

Prof. Willard M. Lampe Presides as Toastmaster Over Program Based on Quatrains from University Hymn

To "give blessing, honor, and praise" to Old Gold, 1,000 seniors, alumni, faculty members, and guests gathered at Iowa Union last night for the seventy-first annual commencement supper.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe presided as toastmaster over the program based on quatrains from the university hymn.

"We will spend little time in vain regrets or self congratulation," he said. "It is too early to pass appraisal on the class of 1931. You come back in five years and we can give a temporary appraisal, but at least you have chosen to be alumni of the State University of Iowa."

In welcoming the class of 1931, Henry G. Walker, president-elect of the alumni, spoke on "Commencement Memories." Speaking of his own lack of "alumni" feeling upon graduation Mr. Walker expressed the hope that the graduating class would immediately feel itself a part of the great alumni body.

"Graduates Should Feel as Alumni"

"I am particularly anxious that you should have this feeling because the younger alumni are in many ways much more valuable in their support of the university than are the older alumni."

"You know the young people who are thinking of attending institutions of higher learning. . . you have a contact with them different from that of the older people. . . you know the institution in a way that the older graduates do not know it. . . There are comparatively few things in life that have an abiding interest, but one of these things is the educational institution you attend. . . you are anxious to see this institution prosper. It cannot be a thing of pride to you and to the people of the state of Iowa unless this president and these faculties have the best material on which to work."

"President, Faculty Builders"

The alumni are not the sole means of advancing the interests of the university, Mr. Walker added. "The upbuilding of this institution is primarily in the hands of the president of the university and in the hands of his faculty. You know these men, and when you go out into the state you carry with you a personal relation with this president and these faculties."

"Speaking for the 21,000 alumni I want to bring to President Jessup the assurance of our highest regard. I want him to know that the attacks that have been made against him only strengthened our confidence in him and our loyalty to him. I want him to know that this great body of alumni is behind him with enthusiasm, and to this body of alumni I take pleasure in welcoming the class of 1931."

"Commencement an Inventory"

"Commencement should be for us a time to take inventory of what we have received," Henschel Langdon, dean of Gilmore City, said in speaking of commencement meanings. He stressed the acquaintance made with the thinkers and leaders of the past. This acquaintance will be more valuable to us as we go on."

Langdon paid tribute to the comradeship with the faculty. "Without them we would not have the courage or inspiration to study new things," he said.

In closing Langdon said, "Wherever we go we will always try to follow the high leadership set at Iowa. We will always remember the university and always be loyal to it."

Stresses Value of Association

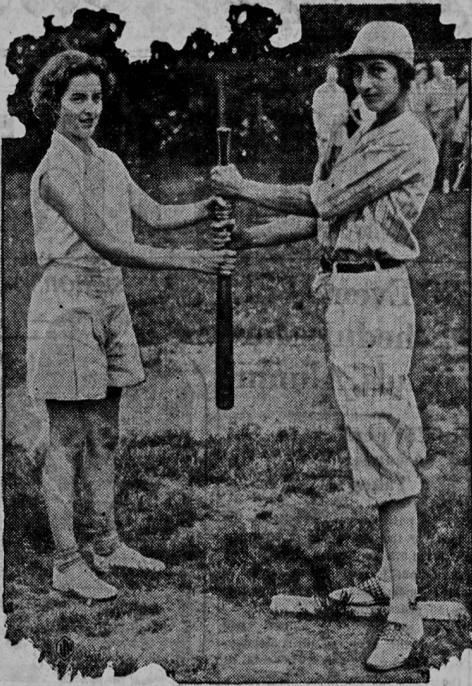

Anne Bradford, A4 of Davenport, stressed the value of associations made at the university. Speaking of the future she said, "What it holds nobody knows, but I think there is something there if we reach out and seize it."

Memorials were presented by representatives of the classes of '31, '30, and '28. Bob L. Ross, C4 of Oelwein, presented an electric chime clock which will be installed in the lounge by September. Clio Straight of Waterloo made formal presentation of the fountain on the sun porch, gift of the class of '30. A portrait of President Jessup was unveiled and presented by Emerson W. Nelson on behalf of the class of '28.

President Jessup Gives Toast

President Jessup, in the closing toast, spoke of the alumnus of '76 who returned yesterday to find a new university, and of the faculty member who has been here more than five decades. "Commencement to you cannot mean what commencement means to these two men," he commented. "All of us who are carrying in our

MOTHERS VERSUS DAUGHTERS

Youth beat age again the other day when girl students at Shady Hill Country Day school, at Jenkintown, Pa., defeated their mothers in a baseball game. Many of the players included the elite of eastern society circles as the above picture indicates. Mrs. Nicholas Biddle (right), of the Philadelphia Biddles, whose daughter attends the school, is shown choosing sides with Elsie Dixon, school captain.

Seniors and Faculty Will Attend Party

Programs Will Carry Commencement Atmosphere

A picture of Old Capitol dome on the light yellow programs will carry out the commencement theme at the Commencement party tonight at 8:30 in Tewa Union lounge. Opposite the stage is a picture of the fountain on the sun porch which was presented by the class of '30 at the supper last night.

Seated on a platform at the west end of the lounge, an 18-piece orchestra, conducted by Burton Bowman will play for the dancing. The platform will be decorated with palms and peonies.

Attendance is limited to seniors, alumni, and their guests. Patrons and patronesses are President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup, Dean and Mrs. George F. Kay, Dean and Mrs. Eugene A. Gilmore, Dean and Mrs. Henry S. Houghton, Dean and Mrs. Frank T. Breen, Dean Wilber J. Teeters.

Dean and Mrs. Carl E. Seashore, Dean and Mrs. Clement C. Williams, Dean and Mrs. Paul C. Packer, Dean and Mrs. Chester A. Phillips, Dean Adelaide L. Burge, and Dean Robert E. Rienow.

Prof. Clarence M. Udegraf is in charge of arrangements. He is assisted by W. H. Cobb, Prof. Fred M. Pownall, Dr. Dean M. Lerner, Prof. Allen C. Tester, Coach Burton A. Ingwersen, and Prof. Philip Mechem.

Class of 1931 Gives Clock to University

Memorial to Graduates Will Grace Iowa Union Lounge

A hand carved and engraved walnut electric clock, to be placed in the main lounge of Iowa Union, is the memorial gift which the class of 1931 is presenting to the university. It has been ordered from the Revere Telechron Clock company at Cincinnati, and will require 90 days to manufacture.

The clock will be controlled by a master clock at the university power plant. It will be equipped with three sets of chimes; Westminster, Canterbury, and Whittington. In size, it will be eight feet seven inches high and 27 inches wide, and will rest on a base of corresponding width. Above the illuminated dial a half moon is to be carved.

Bob Ross, C4 of Oelwein, is chairman of the senior class committee that selected the memorial. Others on the committee are Chester I. Mead, M4 of Iowa City; Keith Weber, A4 of Iowa City; Mary Kerr, N4 of Washington, Ia.; Orville Hathaway, E4 of Glenwood; Albert Roberts, L3 of Des Moines; Elida Larson, P4 of Estherville; Terry Hiltman, D4 of Graybull, Wyo.; and James Jones, G of Iowa City.

Gardens Opened to Public

The following persons will have their gardens open to the public from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday:

Mrs. Arthur Steindler, 103 Melrose avenue; Mrs. David Brant, 212 Myrtle avenue; Mrs. F. C. Young, 336 Belden avenue; and Mrs. George Falk, 225 E. Davenport street.

Mrs. George Price Visits Gilmore

Mrs. George C. Price of Stanford university, California, will arrive this morning to visit Dean and Mrs. E. A. Gilmore, 630 E. Washington street. She plans to remain until the latter part of next week.

Professor Price of the zoology department of Stanford university, Mrs. Price's husband, visited at the Gilmore home last fall.

Dr. Rudolph Schenken Weds Lucile Jerald in Waterloo Wednesday

Lucile Jerald and Dr. J. Rudolph Schenken were married at Waterloo at 4 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Harvey C. Traves performed the ceremony at the home of the bride's brother, Stanley Jerald.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Ervin Hellem of Waterloo and Dr. J. J. Clemmer, Jr., of Iowa City.

Mrs. Schenken received a certificate of nursing from the University of Iowa in 1927. She was enrolled in the college of liberal arts the first semester of this year, and has been floor supervisor at the university hospital since that time.

Dr. Schenken received an M.D. degree from the university in 1928 and has been assistant in the pathology and bacteriology department. He is a member of Alpha Kappa Kappa and Alpha Omega Alpha fraternities.

Delta Chi's Give Informal Dance at House Last Night

An informal dance was given by Delta Chi fraternity at the chapter house last night. The Collegians played for the occasion. Chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. O. K. Patton, and Mrs. S. H. Winters.

The committee in charge was composed of Kenneth Tompkins, A3 of Sioux City; chairman; Lowell Dutton, A2 of Toledo; Dan Humes-ton, E1 of Albia; Loyde Cookley, A2 of Marion; and John Blair, A1 of Alford.

Kenneth J. Bridenstine, who has been teaching at Parsons college at Fairfield, and Mrs. B. V. Bridenstine are leaving this morning for Indianapolis, Ind., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Bridenstine and Evelyn Bridenstine.

Governors Plan to Meet for Twenty-Third Conference

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 28 (AP)—State executives from nearly half the commonwealths of the country will assemble in Indianapolis over the week end and at French Lick Springs June 1 to 3 for the twenty-third annual conference of governors.

Governors Franklin D. Roosevelt, Albert C. Ritchie and Gifford Pinchot are among those scheduled for prominent parts in the business sessions.

Speakers at the opening business session Monday morning include Governors Leslie, Indiana; Norman S. Case, Rhode Island; Wilber M. Brucker, Michigan; Harry H. Woodring, Kansas; and O. Max Gardner, North Carolina.

Deputies Vote Confidence in Briand, Laval

PARIS, May 28 (AP)—The peace policies of Aristide Briand and of Premier Pierre Laval's government as a whole received a new endorsement in the chamber of deputies tonight when a cabinet-sponsored motion of approval was carried by 298 votes to 253.

The real test, however, came earlier in the evening when Laval asked the chamber not to grant priority to the powerful radical group's resolution. That motion, while approving the foreign minister's actions at Geneva and elsewhere, denied the same approval to the government as a whole. In this the house upheld the premier by a vote of 318 to 251.

On the phrase "confidence in it" in the government-sponsored resolution on which the deputies voted separately, Laval and Briand won by 219 to 257, giving them a technical majority of 62.

Students Obtain Marriage License

A marriage license was issued to Clarence W. Walter, M3 of Iowa City, and Bessie I. Treat of Iowa City at Cedar Rapids, Miss Treat graduated from the University of Iowa in 1930.

Youth Tells of Killing Hirsch

"Two Gun" Crowley Appears Willing Witness

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—Francis Crowley, 19 year old gunman, took the stand today and told how he had shot and killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch several weeks ago.

He was a willing witness, but his testimony was given in tones so low it could scarcely be heard at times. On the night of the killing, he said, he was seated with Helen Walsh, 16, in an automobile in "Black Shirt Lane," North Merrick, Patrolman Hirsch and his companion, Patrolman Peter Yodice approached.

"What did they say to you?" asked Charles R. Weeks of defense counsel.

"One of them said, 'By the way, take off your hat.'"

"I said, 'Don't do nothing and leave her go. She had nothing to do with it. I'll go with you.' They wouldn't do that. I was just sitting there for a minute. The gun (Hirsch's) was up against my stomach and I reached in my pocket and I heard the gun click twice.

"I pulled out my gun and fired three shots and I could see the other cop (Yodice) running through the bushes. I kept on shooting and pretty soon I had no more bullets and I grabbed hold of the gun the cop had. I pulled the trigger and kept on pulling until I fired one shot and then we drove away."

A business meeting was included in the day's activities.

Mrs. Bridenstine Gives Luncheon

Mrs. B. V. Bridenstine was hostess to the Past Presidents club of the Woman's Relief corp at her home, 1220 Sheridan avenue, at 1 p.m. yesterday. A three course luncheon was served at a table decorated with garden flowers. Place cards marked the places of the 10 guests.

RACING CAR CRASH COSTS TWO LIVES

This is the wreck of the racing automobile in which Joe Caccia, driver, of Byrn Mawr, Pa., and his mechanic, Clarence Grover of Haverford, Pa., were killed while practicing for the 500 mile Memorial day race at Indianapolis. The car hit a tree after leaving the course and caught fire.

north side politician here who is one of more than a score of persons arrested in the last two days on conspiracy charges.

Federal prohibition agents pictured Capone as the leader who organized the bootleg industry in this section some months ago to stabilize prices, eliminate competition and afford an outlet to carloads of alcohol shipped here from the east by rail.

Police recalled today that Jimmy Howard, a local bootlegger, was slain here by an unidentified machine gunner about the time the combine is alleged to have been formed and attributed his death to failure to join the ring.

Six additional arrests were made here today by federal officers, Thomas G. Bramlett, a city hall employe and Democratic precinct captain, being among those taken into custody.

Elect Mudge as Moderator

Victory Ends Contest Between Officials, Pastors

PITTSBURGH, May 28 (AP)—A virtual contest between working pastors of the Presbyterian church of the U.S.A. on the one hand, and church officialdom on the other, ended today with the election of the Rev. Lewis Seymour Mudge, Philadelphia, a moderator of the church general assembly, over the Rev. David DeForest Burrell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Williamsport, Pa.

The Rev. Mr. Mudge was given 519 of the 898 votes cast, while the Rev. Mr. Burrell received 379.

The defeated nominee immediately moved to make the election unanimous, and the Rev. Mr. Mudge was promptly declared so elected.

The electing sections casting for the Rev. Mr. Burrell were section 13, comprising the synods of Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota; section 14, comprising the synods of Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming; section 16, comprising the synods of Kansas and Oklahoma; and section 18, comprising the synods of Alabama, Florida, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The assembly formally opened its sessions with the moderatorial sermon by the Rev. Mr. Kerr in which he declared that "problems of secularism and good feeling must be solved within the church before the church could speak with authority on 'social and racial rivalries and on the cruel waste of war'."

Federal Agents Claim Chicago Gangster Heads Ring

KANSAS CITY, May 28 (AP)—Possibility that Al Capone, gang lord of Chicago and reputed directing genius of subsidiary crime organizations in other cities, may be charged with liquor conspiracy was injected into the government investigation of an alleged wholesale liquor ring here today.

Decision as to whether government agents have assembled enough evidence against Capone personally to warrant filing of charges rested with District Attorney W. L. Vandeventer.

H. L. Duncan, agent in charge, declared that the Chicago gangster was the boss of the alleged Kansas City liquor distributing combine and gave his orders through John Lazia,

Iowa Schools Will Graduate 48,000 as Vacation Nears

DES MOINES, May 28 (AP)—Visions of days devoted to plunges in the swimming hole, fishing or having water for circus elephants next week were to become realities for the remainder of Iowa school children who have not already begun summer vacations.

Although the majority of Iowa's 547,000 school children already have put aside their books for the season others will not conclude their studies and final examinations until next Thursday and Friday.

The length of the school year varies for the different schools and counties. The majority have nine months, except the first class cities, all but two of which have nine and a half or ten months. A few schools are open less than eight months.

The time schools convene in the fall and the length of vacations during the term also serve to regulate the arrival of summer vacations. While some schools take up the first Monday in September others open the last Monday in August.

Miss Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction, has estimated that 24,428 boys and girls will be graduated from the first class high schools and 36,960 from the eighth grade this spring. The estimate was based on figures for last year when 21,911 students were graduated from high schools and 35,926 from the eighth grade.

Total school enrollment of the state has increased since 1910 when the total was 510,661. The 1929 total was 546,852.

Iowa Manufacturer's Funeral Sunday

FAIRFIELD, May 28 (AP)—Funeral service for Dillon Turney, 65, president and manager of the Turney Wagon company here, who was found dead in bed today, will be held Sunday afternoon from the family home.

A leader in civic enterprises, Turney was president of the Fairfield Armory company, secretary of the board of trustees of the Jefferson county hospital, and director in the Iowa State Savings and First National banks here and the Farmers Savings bank at Packwood. He had also served many years as secretary of the Iowa State Manufacturers' association.

The widow, a daughter, a son and one brother survive.

Student Spirit at Ohio State

TRAFFIC along the middle lane between extremes is never thick enough to cause any director of its course difficulty because of numbers.

Apparently either students are complacently indifferent except for petty grievances or they are too outspoken to suit their elders—and so with faculty members.

At Ohio State university, President George W. Rightmire represents the reactionary—or perhaps it is conservative—extreme. He demonstrates that in a message on "University spirit" in the Ohio State Lantern, in which he condemns the other extreme.

He shakes his head at the fact that "... certain students have come forward as critics of the university regulations and procedures, and have freely attacked university policies, and departments, and various members of its personnel; this they have done in speeches and in print, with much publicity, with an enthusiasm born of half knowledge, adolescent judgment, lack of experience, and somewhat influenced by a considerable body of writers who see little good in our present day civilization."

And he rebukes in general terms faculty members who have encouraged liberal thinking, admonishing them that it is their duty to give "stimulus to considerate thinking among students, recognizing all the while their youth and enthusiasm and inexperience."

He almost infers that "adolescent judgment" is proved in error by virtue of its disagreement with the (of course) superior judgment of Ohio State's administration. Probably the students thereby condemned have made nuisances of themselves, particularly in the recent agitation against the compulsory feature in one of the country's strongest R.O.T.C. units. But because they desire change they are "socially destructive"; because they choose not to eat what they deem a bruised part of their university apple without complaint they are "ill considered" in their agitation.

As a strong advocate of required drill as a part of national defense, President Rightmire is, of course, a patriot. And in 1775, had he been on the Atlantic seaboard of His Majesty George III's mainland colonies, he probably would have been a patriot—a British patriot. He would have criticized, severely, admittedly wild radicals like Samuel Adams and Patrick Henry, rascals who had no respect for constructive, "sane and wholesome" Great Britain.

That is the irony of history. Samuel Adams, who might have been a jailed Eugene Debs with somewhat similar conduct of a more recent period, happens to be a national hero because his antics were committed on the right side.

It is only to be hoped that, even with realization of this, the United States will refrain from any attempt, such as has recently been made in France, to teach that all revolutions and wars are bad—including the two eighteenth century rebellions which exercised so profound an influence on world development.

A New China

IF CHINA carries through her intentions and extraterritorial rights of foreigners next Jan. 1, her rise to a measure of national status will have gone a good way.

The Chinese have long protested, futilely, against granting special privileges to foreigners. Abandonment of the concession means that aliens will no longer be exempt from exactions demanded of the natives, no longer free to traffic in liquor and drugs as the natives are not. Taxation and arrest will then be possible for Americans and English as well as Chinese.

Hitherto, except during uprisings, Europeans have dictated their own rights because their warships and manpower gave them the might, if not the right.

Dispatches indicate that the privileges will be done away with unless some agreement with England and the United States can be reached. It is to be hoped this will not occasion diplomatic bullying and undisclosed threats by the two great powers in an effort to maintain their "rights."

A Booger Man Scare

SHORT sighted commenters—including, once, THE DAILY IOWAN—who believed that during the period of unemployment immigration might be temporarily cut off in behalf of native labor have now seen that the peril they feared was in no sense a real one.

William N. Doak, new secretary of labor, has taken official cognizance for the first time that there are more persons leaving the United States than are entering the country. Indications are that the outflow may not cease immediately.

Something of an alarm of several years ago may be recalled. Then it was said that the country would become so thickly populated that there would not be enough food and jobs to go around. Then it was said that the wage scale and standard of living would be lowered by importation of foreign labor.

It is probable that even had there been a normally large immigration during the period of unemployment the consequences would not have been noticeable. Like many hypothetical fears, that foreshadowed in this situation never materialized.

Short sighted policies based on immediate situations are apt to be unwise. The long perspective of history applied to such situations would be a far better touchstone.

It is a known fact that a man with a college diploma and 10 cents can get a cup of coffee anywhere, according to the Gettysburg Cannon Bawl. But the publication doesn't offer any instructions on getting the coffee to pass examinations.

Letter to the Editor
Apropos of your editorial of May 21, 1931, on "City Manager Success":
In his annual report of municipal finances, the auditor of state supplies all facts with regard to the receipts and expenditures of every city and town in Iowa.

Comparing Iowa City's expenditures with those of other cities, the most interesting and astonishing item for each of the last six years is "street department salaries and wages for general street purposes" (not including the salaries and wages for street cleaning, street paving, care of sidewalks and crossings, grading, and other things).

For the year ending March 31, 1925, Iowa City was eighteenth in population but spent the sixth highest amount for such salaries and wages. During each of the succeeding five years, Iowa City was fifteenth in population but ranked sixth, fourth, fourth, fourth, and fifth in the amount spent on street department salaries and wages.

Why should Iowa City be so completely out of line with other cities in this one respect? Why did Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Dubuque, Council Bluffs, Clinton, Ottumwa, and others spend very much less and only Des Moines, Burlington, Waterloo, and Sioux City spend more in the year 1929-30, the last year for which comparative figures are available. —J. D.

Tomorrow's University

(An editorial series dealing with present trends and future possibilities of the University of Iowa. The vision of its administrative leaders, potentialities in its program, and transitions already under way will be included among examples and suggestions of how the university's functions might be carried out to better advantage).

An Emancipated Band

THE hand that signs the checks is the one which really rules the world, according to a newer theory which is exemplified somewhat in the case of the university band.

The band serves three functions: pep, military, concert. No feature of football games or R.O.T.C. reviews lends more to the color of the occasion than the band. Yet only at commencement time when the student body is largely gone does it attract much attention for its third and most important function.

Nobody would want the band taken from athletic or military events. But that it should go both places as an R.O.T.C. band, that it should even be so regarded in its concerts is not quite right.

There is a definite financial obligation, of course, and another on the ground that its freshman and sophomore members play by virtue of being excused from military drill on that basis. But that Dr. O. E. Van Doren, its director, should be classified as a professor of military science and tactics, that the band should be organized with officers just as if it were an army unit, is a bit too much.

The junior and senior men who elect band are not in a class with those who take advanced military. They are interested in music, as are the freshmen and sophomores who choose that activity. Their director is a musician, not an army officer. And although a marching technique is required of members, it is incidental to the musical techniques.

Perhaps, some day, another source of income will be found which will make it possible for the band to be free from authority, though not removed from cooperation, a source of income to buy more of the much needed selections by Beethoven and Mozart and others for events like commencement concerts. Certainly it deserves to be something more than a pep and military adjunct.

Diesel Motor Used to Break Flight Mark
JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., May 25 (AP)—Walter Lees, who drove a horse car to pay for his flying lessons, and Frederick Brosy, whose hobby is "motors," today succeeded in their ambition to stay aloft in an airplane without refueling longer than man has done before.

Lees and Brosy landed their Diesel motored monoplane on the beach here at 6:20 (C.S.T.) tonight, setting a world's non-refueling endurance record of 84 hours, 33 minutes. This was 9 hours, 10 minutes better than the former mark, made by two Frenchmen in Algeria, which Abraham had the advantage of being handicapped only by pajamas. The man, who gave his name as Charles Hassen, 24, was booked for breaking and entering.

Fire Damages Hurstville
MAGDOGETTA (AP)—Fire caused $6,000 damage to the post office and another building at Hurstville, two miles north of here.

Prowler Captured
CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Awakened in the night by a prowler in his room, David Abraham captured the prowler after a short race in northern Africa, in March this year.

The first attempt at record flight with a Diesel motor, Lees and Brosy took off from the beach at 5:47 a.m. (C.S.T.) last Monday with 398 gallons of fuel oil aboard.

Ownership of the nail royal clemency was denied him by King Ernest. The murder for which the defendant was convicted occurred in 1757. It came to light when the victim's skull was dug up, accidentally and it was discovered that a long rusty nail still imbedded in the skull was the cause of the death. Ownership of the nail royal clemency was denied him by King Ernest.

Carboloy: Carboloy is the name of a cemented carbide alloy (tungsten carbide) which is non-ferrous and used as tool material. Its hardness is such that it was originally used as a substitute for diamond in drawing tungsten wire lamp filaments. Tomorrow: "The Man Who Spoke 70 Languages."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON
WASHINGTON—Take it from James Parker, farmer of Salem, New York, an eighteen-year veteran of the house, there is a lot more in this Tilson-Snell contest to succeed the late Nicholas Longworth as speaker than meets the casual eye.

Now is the time, asserts Parker, for all good Republican house members to come to the aid of the party and boost "Bert" Snell to the rostrum. Otherwise, New York's huge block of electoral college presidential votes may go Democratic.

"Every calculation I have seen showing how the Democrats can count up enough electoral votes to win the presidency in 1932 includes the forty-seven votes New York will have under reapportionment," Parker points out.

He adds that despite the "1916 precedent," no reasonable man thought the Democrats could win without New York.

Parker's recipe for holding the state in line for the G.O.P. is to make this fellow upstater, Snell, speaker.

The Parker pro-Snell drive served to bring the speakership battle into the open as a 1932 presidential campaign issue. As Parker states the case, it looks tough for that transplanted Connecticut Yankee, born in Tennessee, John Tilson.

If party leaders in the house movement will be hard to stop when house Republicans caucus next winter.

The radio—or should we say "raddio," a la "AI" Smith, who said it both ways in dedicating the Empire State building—has had a deep and still uncertain effect on the business of politics. Witness Mr. Hoover's fifty-seven varieties of radio, or raddio, addresses since he took office—a presidential record.

Without aviation's apt aid Shouse hardly could have been talking in so many sectors of the national political battle front at practically the same time as he has this last month or so.

STUMPING BY PLANE

Within less than thirty days Shouse as the voice of the Raskob-Shouse-Michelson trio of Democratic strategists got in all this activity.

Attacked the Republican lines in Des Moines. Assaulted in force all along the California front with six speeches. Executed a double flanking movement in Portland, Oregon and Seattle.

Returned to Washington to show-off statements and engage in an incidental duel of hard words with Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee.

Took a trench raiding trip into New England with an address at Providence.

Came back to Washington again for a moment. Was off to talk in Kentucky.

Then took a plunge into an erstwhile Democratic home sector for a little party harmony missionary work in an address to the Texas legislature.

Quite a lot of going and coming for Shouse. But for much flying he never could have made all those dates. To keep his schedule he flew across the continent; flipped up the Pacific coast by air and later did the Kansas City-Houston-Columbus routes aloft.

Iowa Jurists Close Road Bond Issue

DES MOINES, May 28 (AP)—The Iowa supreme court today wrote "finis" to the two years of legal efforts to obtain a $100,000,000 state road bond issue by issuing a mandatory writ of injunction to prevent the holding of a special election June 16.

The writ was sent to Sheriff Charles F. Keeling of Polk county for service upon Governor Dan Turner and Secretary of State G. C. Greenwalt. The court recently handed down its decision holding the road bond amendment unconstitutional because it dealt with more than one subject, without permitting the voters to cast their ballots separately on the various subjects. The issuance of the writ was a matter of form. Suit to obtain the injunction and to test the validity of the injunction was brought in the name of H. V. Mathews of Ottumwa. Judge Loy Ladd, who heard the case in Polk county district court, refused to grant the injunction and it was carried to the higher court.

Taxi Driver Robbed
DES MOINES (AP)—Ross Seaward, taxi driver, reported to police that he had been robbed of $3 and a watch by two youths who escaped with two blond girls in a light roadster.

Piper Talks on Coffee at Rotary Club

Traces History and the Development of Industry

The story of coffee was told to members of the Rotary club at their luncheon in the Jefferson hotel yesterday noon by John Piper, tracing the history of the coffee industry, he said that it was used in Arabia in the fifteenth century, and that the name was derived from an African province, Kaffa.

Brazil, said Mr. Piper, produces about 75 per cent of the world's coffee today. The average consumption per year for each person in the United States is 10 pounds yearly. The coffee used by Iowa City residents in one year, he declared, would fill the "Big Dipper" swimming pool twice.

Among the guests at the meeting of the club was Thomas H. Macbride, president emeritus of the University of Iowa.

Reports of the district conference of Rotary clubs were given by Thomas Martin and W. Hal Stewart.

Bonds Again Slip Toward Lower Level

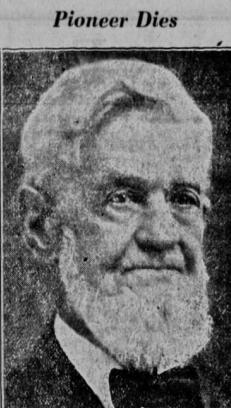

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Bonds were generally lower today, and a large number of low prices for 1931 were established. High grade issues as a rule resisted the wave of selling pressure.

The lump was most apparent among railroad obligations although many of the widest losses occurred in foreign bonds. The Standard Statistics-Associated Press average price for 10 leading rail issues was 97.9, the lowest average this year and the composite average for 10 issues each of industrial, railroad and public utility bonds duplicated its low level at 93.9.

Such varied rail bonds as Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4 1/2s of 1960, St. Paul 5s of 1975, Chicago & Northwestern series A 4 1/2s, Rock Island refunding 4s of 1934, Erie series A 4s, Illinois Central refunding 4s and 5s, New York, Chicago & St. Louis series C 4 1/2s, both issues of New York Central 4 1/2s of 2013 and 5s and Pennsylvania debenture 4 1/2s hit new bottom levels.

Sharp gains in Chilean bonds tempered the slump in the foreign group, in which declines ranged from fractions to several points. Argentine issues wavered irregularly. New records were established by such bonds as Silésien 7 1/2s, Rio Grande Do Sul 7s of 1947, Bahia Westphalia 6s of 1955, Pernambuco 7s, Porto Alegre 7 1/2s, Argentine 6s of October 1960 and of February 1961, Cauca Valley 7 1/2s, Chile Mortgage bank 6 1/2s, German 5 1/2s, Finnish 6 1/2s and Colombia Mortgage bank 6 1/2s.

Trading in United States government issues was quiet all day. Only

Music Will Feature Commencement of Country Schools

Music by the rural choir and members of the Sharon junior band will feature the program of graduation exercises for eighth grade students in rural schools of the county, given at 8 p.m. Monday in the Methodist church here.

The choir will be led by Prof. C. A. Fullerton, head of the music department at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls. Clifford Berkly will direct the band members.

Guests at the exercises will be parents, teachers, and friends of the graduates.

Williams Will Speak to Waterloo Society

Dean C. C. Williams of the college of engineering will leave today for Waterloo where he will address the Waterloo Technical society this evening.

The topic of his talk will be "The economic status of engineering."

DAVENPORT (AP)—Arthur Wright Hall, 78, father of James Norman Hall, author and famous World war aviator, died in a sanatorium here. His home was at Colfax.

The fourth Liberty 4 1/2s and the Treasury 3 1/2s of 1940-43 had total sales in excess of $100,000 par value on which they turned easy. Other Liberty and Treasury bonds were steady or higher.

The market in public utility and industrial obligations felt the selling pressure less than the other groups.

Service for Aged Pioneer to be Sunday

Was World's Second Oldest in I.O.O.F. Membership

Funeral service for Michael A. B. W. Seydel, 99 year old Iowa City pioneer, who died yesterday at his home, 329 S. Clinton street, will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Oath-out chapel and Oakland cemetery, Iowa City Odd Fellows, more than 100 of whom are expected to attend, will conduct the services with the Rev. Ira J. Houston, pastor of Congregational church officiating and Representative Samuel D. Whiting, local attorney, chaplain.

Mr. Seydel was known to have been exceeded in Odd Fellow membership by only one other person, in the world, W. W. Church of Aurora, Ill., who has been a member of the organization for 81 years. Mr. Seydel joined the local Eureka lodge in 1885.

Witnessed Growth of City

The almost centennial witnessed the growth of Iowa City and the state from the time it was represented by a group of huts, small bands of pioneers, and roving tribes of Indians. Born in Berwick, Pa., May 7, 1832, he was brought to Iowa by his father a few years later.

He attended a school conducted by Mrs. Fisk, held in a small building on the present university campus. Later he attended Mechanics academy on the site of East hall. His father was at one time sheriff and lived with his family in the building housing the county jail, then situated near the present Rock Island station.

His craftsmanship went into the building of both Old Capitol and the state capitol at Des Moines, the former during the time he was employed by Pinkbine and Lovelace, former Iowa City contractors. To them he served a three years apprenticeship receiving 11 cents a day for his work.

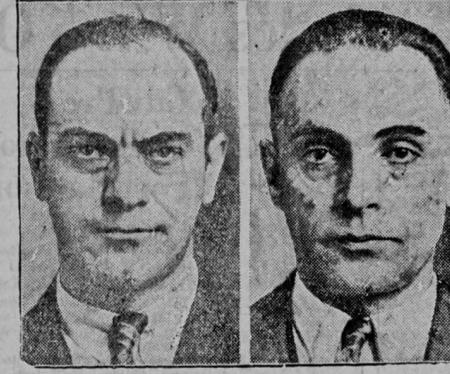

Strolling Favorite Pastime

Until 20 years ago, Mr. Seydel was an independent contractor with a shop on Washington street near Dubuque. Until several years ago he was in the habit of taking long walks around Iowa City, his favorite stroll taking him past Red Ball inn. During the last year, however, he has been confined to his bed. Twenty-five years ago he was presented with a gold headed cane in honor of 50 years membership in Odd Fellowship. Fifteen years later he was the recipient of another token of the admiration of the lodge members. Last year, at a ceremony in the local lodge rooms, he was presented with a 75 year jewel.

He is survived by one daughter, May Seydel, with whom he lived, one son, Dr. S. J. Kirkwood Seydel, Iowa City dentist; five grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

CHARGED WITH GORDON MURDER

Harry Stein (left), ex-convict, and Samuel Greenberg (right) were formally charged with the murder of Vivian Gordon of New York who was strangled to death Feb. 26 and whose body was found in a thicket. The two were held as the slayers after Harry Schlitten of Newark, N. J., said he drove the car in which she was killed and implicated Stein and Greenberg.

Cubs Bow to Cincy in Final; Athletics Win 5 Out of 6 Games From Yankees

Johnson Holds Chicago Club to Five Hits

Reds Get Winning Run on Hornsby's Error in Third

CINCINNATI, May 28 (AP)—Young St Johnson limited the Cubs to five hits today and enabled the Reds to win the final game of the series 3 to 1. It was the first time this year Cincinnati defeated Chicago, day. Members of the club capped Johnson also being the one to pitch the Reds to their first win of the season over the Cardinals last Sunday.

Hornsby's error on Roush's roller in the third inning let in what proved to be the winning run.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Chicago.....000 100 000-1 5 2 Cincinnati.....002 100 005-3 8 0 Batteries—Blake, Bave and Hartnett; Johnson and Ashbjornson.

Big Third Wins for White Sox

CHICAGO, May 28 (AP)—One big inning, the third, when they bunched four of their 10 hits, gave the Chicago White Sox a victory over Detroit this afternoon by a 3 to 2 score and the series, three games to one.

All the Sox runs came home in this one frame off Vic Sorrell. Jeffries singled and so did Tate. Lyons sacrificed and Blue doubled to center. Watwood followed with a triple to left to count Blue.

Lyons, winning his second game of the year, gave but eight hits and was always in command of the situation.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Detroit.....001 000 001-2 8 0 Chicago.....003 000 005-3 10 1 Batteries—Sorrell and Hayworth; Lyons and Tate.

Pirates Hold Thumbs on Cards

ST. LOUIS, May 28 (AP)—Any hopes St. Louis had of regaining top place in the National league after a day in second place were spoiled today when Phillips smashed out a home run with the bases loaded and the score tied to give Pittsburgh an 11 to 8 victory over the Cardinals in a seven-inning contest. The game was called to allow the Pirates to make train connections.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Pittsburgh.....202 030 4-11 11 1 St. Louis.....034 009 1-8 13 0 Batteries—Brant, Willoughby, Osborne and Phillips; Rhem, Stout and Wilson.

Macks Rally in Ninth to Win

PHILADELPHIA, May 28 (AP)—The Athletics made it five out of six for their series with the New York Yankees today by staging a ninth inning rally that brought a 5 to 4 victory in the final game.

Trailing up to the seventh, the champions tied it up by scoring three runs on as many hits and a pair of errors by Chapman and Gehrig. Lefty Grove, who pitched the last two innings after relieving Walberg, started the ninth inning rally with a double.

Earl Combs and Simmons ran their hitting streaks to 27 and 26 games respectively while Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx clouted homers to make it eight apiece.

Score by innings: R. H. E. New York.....000 112 000-4 10 2 Philadelphia.....000 001 201-5 11 0 Batteries—Ruffing and Perkins; Dickey; Walberg, Grove and Cochran.

Morningside College Trustees Announce O'Brian as President

SIoux CITY, May 27 (AP)—Trustees of Morningside college today announced the election of the Rev. Robert E. O'Brian of Fargo, N. D., as president to succeed Dr. Frank E. Mossman.

Dr. O'Brian will assume his duties here August 1. Dr. Mossman will become president of Southwestern university at Winfield, Kan.

The new president of Morningside, who is 36, is a native of Indiana. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from DePauw university, a B.D. from Garrett Biblical institute, and the doctorate from Northwestern university.

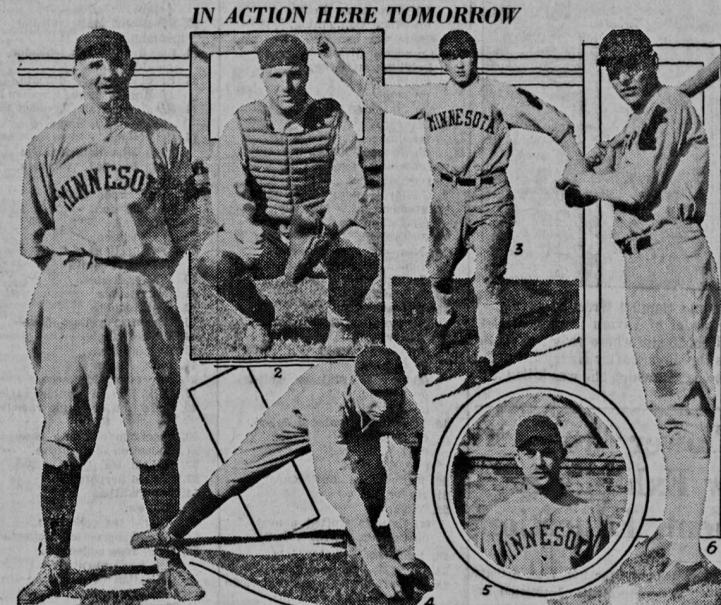

He is a member of several honorary academic societies and church and social organizations.

Two Women, Man Killed When Auto Turns Over, Burns

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 27 (AP)—A man and two women were burned to death late today when the automobile in which they were riding turned over and caught fire after a front tire had exploded. Another woman was injured seriously. All were residents of DeKalb, Ill.

The dead were Mrs. Donald Kendall, 17, Mrs. Raoul Chipless, 30, and William Shalakes.

The injured woman is Mrs. Nellie Vitkus, whose husband owned the car. She was taken to the Harvard hospital at Harvard, Ill., and doctors said she probably had suffered a skull fracture. When the tire burst the car plunged into a culvert. Mrs. Vitkus was thrown clear but the others were trapped inside the coupe which immediately was enveloped in flames.

IN ACTION HERE TOMORROW

Sportively Speaking By Bill Rutledge

With their recent skein of victories snipped at 17 straight, it appears as if the world champion Athletics have started right in on another streak. Taking the fifth game of the series from the Yankees yesterday they ran up the latest string of three in a row. There's no telling when it will be halted.

The roush-house technique which the Mackians employ does no one any good save Connie Mack and his rambunctious clan. The American league pennant race, the race phase of it, is perishing for lack of nourishment. No other team can come within striking distance of the champs.

Even the lowliest of clubs, and no club has reached the depths of the Reds, has at least one good hurler. The graceful Sylvester Johnson, who pitched his mates to victory over the Cards last week, directed the Reds' first triumph of the season over the Cubs. The Red Sox have Big Ed Morris, who is usually hurling when the Boston band of hosiers wins. The Browns have Sad Sam Jones, the old timer who treats his mates to victory now and then, more often the latter.

The Cards lost to the Pirates and at the same time lost an opportunity to move back into first place in the National league. The Giants whacked out a lot of home runs, but not enough to subdue the Braves and held to the top rung through no fault of their own.

The White Sox defeat of Tigers with Ted Lyons on the mound will be hailed by fans as Lyons' return to form. If the Baylor, La., boy can begin winning for the Sox as he has in the last four years, the Chicagoans will improve their standing considerably.

The fellow who the Senators' management chose to groom for first base instead of Art Shires came through in a big way for the Washingtonians. Joe Kuhel exploded a triple and home run as the team won, 4 to 3.

France Seeks National Unity Under Briand

PARIS, May 27 (AP)—Aristide Briand, having announced his willingness to remain in charge of France's foreign relations, political leaders were busy tonight trying to settle the hostility of his political enemies and seeking to build a real national unity.

France as a whole seemed to be impressed with the necessity of such unity because of the many international problems on the horizon and the big disarmament conference scheduled to open at Geneva early next year, all possessing vital interests for France.

German Question Remains French opinion still regards relations with Germany as the outstanding question of foreign policy, and even tonight, while M. Briand was being showered with congratulations on his decision, announced today, to remain in office, press dispatches indicated that Germany may ask at least a moratorium on war reparations.

Frenchmen received this as an indication that economic and financial problems are likely to arise to complicate the entire European political situation.

Deputies Dissatisfied Warning that M. Briand's old time enemies in the chamber of deputies will continue their battle against his policy was given by the announcement of Deputy Franklin Bouillon that he would interpellate the government when the chamber reconvenes tomorrow. He said he would demand that M. Briand be replaced on the ground that his course of action in meetings of the league of nations and elsewhere constitutes a menace to that very national unity for which M. Briand's friends insist they are working.

Gophers Play Hawkeyes in Year's Final

Iowa Seeks Revenge, First Big Ten Victory

Several outstanding veterans, and a number of promising sophomores are listed on the roster of the University of Minnesota baseball squad which will come here tomorrow to battle the Hawkeyes in the commencement game.

The Gophers won their only conference tilt this season when they eliminated the Hawkeyes 4 to 2 in a game there May 20. The Vogelmen will seek revenge on Iowa field tomorrow as well as taking a stab at the first Big Ten win this year.

Members of the Minnesota squad pictured above are: Coaches First Season No. 1 Coach Frank McCormick, who is serving his first season directing the University of Minnesota baseball team. McCormick was a star athlete at the University of South Dakota in his undergraduate days, performing in football, basketball and baseball.

No. 2 Milford Riggs veteran catcher for the Minnesota nine. Riggs was used as a relief catcher most of last season but has caught every game for the Gophers this year.

Held Iowa to 5 Hits No. 3 Walfrid Mattson is Minnesota's best right handed pitcher. Last year Mattson turned in some fine pitching exhibitions and is expected to come through with a majority of winning performances again this season. He held Iowa to five hits in the game there last week.

No. 4 Ed Burke is playing his first season as a regular for the Gophers. As a freshman last season he aspired to become a pitcher but Coach McCormick converted him into a first baseman where he has been showing up well.

Veteran Shortstop No. 5 Bill Adams is playing third base for Minnesota. Adams is a peppery little player who has been fielding and hitting in a capable manner this year.

No. 6 At shortstop for Minnesota is the veteran Dave Beauchaine. He was rated high among Big Ten shortstops last season and this year is showing even greater improvement.

Notre Dame Athlete Signs Contract DAVENPORT (AP)—Forrest Cotton, former Notre Dame athlete and coach at St. Ambrose college, has signed a one year contract as head basketball coach and assistant football coach at Catholic university, Washington, D. C.

Country Club Holds Tournament, Dinner

First prize for low score in the men's weekly tournament of the Iowa City country club Wednesday went to Dr. W. McIntosh of Wellman who took the course for a 61. Albert Schmidt and Dr. Charles Van Epps tied for second low with scores of 68. George Frohwein was third best man over the course with a 69.

Dr. McIntosh was credited with shooting the best nine holes of the their putting exercises with a dinner and bridge party in the evening at which time the winners and freak prizes were announced.

Hawkeye Golfers Not in Big Ten Meet

The Hawkeyes will not be represented among the 34 players from nine schools of the Western conference who tee off this morning in a 72 hole test for team and individual titles.

Illinois, defending champion, has entered three of the four golfers who won the title a year ago, including Bob Martin, individual titleholder. Iowa, whose team withdrew after the first day's play in 1930, will not be in the tournament.

Doc Huff, Missouri university track coach will referee and John Everingham, former Iowa sprinter, will act as starter. Other officials include Glenn Devine of Parsons

6 City Prep Tracksters to Fort Madison

Six Iowa City prep track and field stars from two local high schools will vie for honors with 500 of the best from Iowa, Illinois and Missouri at the Memorial day relays at Ft. Madison. Fifty schools have signified their intention of sending representatives.

University high will send Moore, Hartsock, Phillips, McClintock and Cannon to compete in the one mile and medley relay events, and St. Patrick's colors will be carried by their versatile field man, Lou Dvorak.

Judging from past records, many marks will be threatened, with numerous state champions competing. Madson of Ames, who holds the high jump record of 6 feet, 7 inches; Layden of Davenport, hurdle titleholder; and Earl of North High Des Moines, shot put champion, are some of the outstanding men. Fairfield, Davenport and Keokuk will have full teams entered, and should make things tough for other outfits from the three states.

Doc Huff, Missouri university track coach will referee and John Everingham, former Iowa sprinter, will act as starter. Other officials include Glenn Devine of Parsons

Country Club Holds Tournament, Dinner

First prize for low score in the men's weekly tournament of the Iowa City country club Wednesday went to Dr. W. McIntosh of Wellman who took the course for a 61. Albert Schmidt and Dr. Charles Van Epps tied for second low with scores of 68. George Frohwein was third best man over the course with a 69.

Dr. McIntosh was credited with shooting the best nine holes of the their putting exercises with a dinner and bridge party in the evening at which time the winners and freak prizes were announced.

Hawkeye Golfers Not in Big Ten Meet

The Hawkeyes will not be represented among the 34 players from nine schools of the Western conference who tee off this morning in a 72 hole test for team and individual titles.

Illinois, defending champion, has entered three of the four golfers who won the title a year ago, including Bob Martin, individual titleholder. Iowa, whose team withdrew after the first day's play in 1930, will not be in the tournament.

Racing Autos Get Last Priming for Derby Tomorrow

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28 (AP)—Practice for the 500 mile automobile race, to be run here Saturday, virtually ended today.

The track was closed this afternoon, and drivers were forbidden its use until an hour before sundown tomorrow, when they will be given a few minutes to make final test spins.

Most of today's activity was confined to the garages, no pilot fortunate enough to win one of the fort places in the starting lineup taking any chances on a crackup. A few breezes at sufficient speed to test carburetion, final shock absorber and spring adjustment and spark plugs satisfied most of the drivers.

Midwest Group to Have Track Meet

CEDAR RAPIDS, May 28 (AP)—Marks in the distance runs will be threatened by defending champions when teams of the Midwest conference meet here Saturday for their tenth annual track and field games.

Coe and Carleton are favored to battle it out for the team championship, with the Carls having a slight edge by virtue of their dual meet victory over the Kohawks.

Army, Navy Would Renew Sport Duals

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Army and navy officials expect conferences between West Point and Annapolis to be resumed soon in an effort to end the athletic breach between the two service schools.

Football eligibility rules were the basis for the controversy. The navy allows its athletes only three years of college football. The army, however, includes on its team men who have played three years at other colleges and universities. Both eleven prevent first year men from playing.

Rites for Crash Victim GOLDFIELD (AP)—Funeral service will be held here Friday for Shirley Short, who was killed Tuesday when the Chicago Daily News plane "Blue Streak" crashed during a speed trial near Chicago. Short formerly lived here.

Ames Adds New Departments AMES (AP)—New departments of theoretical and applied mechanics, veterinary hygiene and veterinary obstetrics, have been established at Iowa State college by the board of education.

U. S. Golfers Take Lead WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Davis Cup team took a commanding lead over Argentina in the American zone finals today, winning both of the opening singles matches.
