Men Behind the News

New French Leader Shuns Frivolities of Paris.

(This is one of a series of stories dealing with the little known side of personalities frequently in the news.)

By HUDDSON HAWLEY

(Copyright, 1931, by Associated Press)
PARIS, June 11 (AP)—A Horatio Alger hero becomes president of France Saturday.

M. Paul Doumer, who triumphed over the world famous Aristide Briand in the election a month ago for the most elevated post in French politics, is the son of a railway section boss.

His mother was widowed when he was a boy, and at the age of 14 he left school to add his bit to the family income.

No Time for Fol-de-Rols

He worked unremittingly, and he lived according to the stern precepts of the peasantry from which he came. There was no time for fol-de-rols, and today, loaded with honors at the age of 74, he remains the simple man of the people, abstemious in his private life, aloof from the frivolities of Paris, an early riser and a hard worker. He is a thrifty Frenchman of middle class.

In his long service to the state, Doumer has had training somewhat similar to that of the late President Taft of the United States. Each had long experience as a colonial governor. Doumer in Indo-China, Taft in the Philippines. Each was a lawyer.

Former Country Teacher

The man who will be the thirteenth president of the third French republic earned his first francs as an engraver's apprentice. He won a degree of bachelor of science at night school and settled down as a teacher in a country high school. He married early and had eight children.

From pedagogics he went to contrary journalism, and from journalism to politics. Elected to parliament, he displayed so much strength to please his party superiors, and he was offered the post in Indo-China that he might be safely buried and forgotten.

Took the Job

He took the job—but not the oblivion. On his return to France he towered more than ever.

By 1906 he was president of the chamber of deputies. In 1921 he took the post of minister of finance in a Briand cabinet. He also had a portfolio in the Briand ministry four years later.

Doumer was elected president of France from the senate, where he was the presiding officer. Although the post is not on a par with the premiership so far as political power is concerned, its incumbent takes precedence at all ceremonial functions. It is looked upon as the crowning honor of the nation's political life.

296 Receive Commissions at West Point

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 11 (AP)—Two hundred and ninety-six West Point cadets today received their commissions as second lieutenants in the regular army in the graduating class of the United States military academy.

One cadet was graduated while absent, for the first time in the institution's history.

A vociferous reception was given by the assembled corps of cadets when the adjutant of the military academy read the name of Charles Hartwell Bonesteele, 3rd, who has been in a New York hospital since last December. Major C. H. Bonesteele, his father, responded and received the son's diploma. Only through the influence of President Hoover was this cadet permitted to graduate.

Emphasizing the responsibilities and privileges of the new lieutenants, Colonel Frederick H. Payne, assistant secretary of war, said:

"Those of you who remain in the service will become at once important members of the regular army, in control of men whose loyalty and devotion will be won and held by their recognition of like qualities in you. Later years will bring wider responsibilities and corresponding promotion—but only as a lieutenant will you be privileged to exercise immediate command over those composing the rank and file of the army."

"Lindy" May Travel One of 4 Air Routes

Aerial Trip to Orient Rests on Finding Fuel Bases

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh disclosed today he might fly over one of three oceans—the Atlantic, the Pacific or the Arctic—is his aerial journey to the Orient.

After a day of conferences here with officials of several nations, the flying colonel said he and Mrs. Lindbergh now were considering four routes for the forthcoming trip—with the final decision to rest upon the practicability of establishing fuel bases.

One Over Atlantic

One would lie to the east, in part over the Atlantic to Greenland, then far north to Spitzbergen, and across barren Siberian lands to Japan.

Another would carry the couple north to the Hudson Bay, westward across sparsely inhabited Canadian territory to the northern coast of Alaska and then over part of the Arctic ocean to Siberia.

Siberia to Japan

A third possibility, Lindbergh said, would be along the far-flung chain of the Aleutian Islands stretching across the North Pacific—then over Siberia to Japan.

The final possibility he added, lay across part of Alaska and over the comparatively narrow Bering Strait to Siberia.

No Consent or Permission

Asked if he had obtained permission from the soviet government to fly over its territory—much of which is involved in all four routes—Lindbergh replied:

"I would rather not comment on that. You can appreciate that information of that sort would come from representatives of the countries concerned."

Storms Beat in Southwest; Four Killed

KANSAS CITY, June 11 (AP)—Tornadoes, lightning and driving rains in the southwest and rocky mountain regions tonight had brought death to at least four persons, injury to five, and caused a large but unestimated property damage.

Two tornadoes visited the southwest tonight, at Fort Gibson, Okla. Mamie Landrum, 16, was killed by a twister that demolished her home, injured her mother, Mrs. Donie McGowan, and crashed through numerous roofs.

A farm home was wrecked near Rochelle, Tex., injuring four persons, one seriously. Mrs. Jack Whitehead was hurt internally and three small children were cut and bruised.

Scattered rains were reported in the southwest, some driven before heavy winds, doing considerable damage to farm crops.

Pope Working on Reply to Premier; Reasserts Right to Control Catholic Society

ROME, June 11 (AP)—The Vatican's reply to the Italian government's note was in preparation today, as the Holy See reasserted its right to control over the Catholic action society.

Osservatore Romano, the newspaper through which the Vatican makes public announcements, declared that powers of general supervision over Catholic action remain with the Vatican and the Holy Father in person.

This declaration apparently was made to quiet reports that, because of the opposition of the Italian government, the Vatican had fundamentally changed its attitude in regard to the relationship between itself and Catholic action.

Reply Date Uncertain

When the Vatican's reply to the government's note will be delivered remained uncertain tonight. Both parties to the controversy considered the negotiations to be well under way and agreed, also, that final settlement would be slow and difficult.

Under the papal policy toward Catholic action announced in Osservatore Romano, diocesan bishops have more direct charge of branches of the society than in the past, but the general supervision remains with the Vatican,

Fattening Caused by Eating, Doctor Tells Medical Association

PHILADELPHIA, June 11 (AP)—Dr. L. H. Newburgh, of the University of Michigan, told the American Medical association today that the entire scientific explanation of why people become fat is because they eat too much. He attacked excuses given physicians by patients.

"People who claim to watch their diets closely and to count their calories and still gain weight," he said, "try to deceive themselves and the doctor. The lady who does not eat lunch forgets the candy she nibbles on instead. The woman who eats less at dinner than her husband and still gains weight, to the man's surprise, never tells him what was served at the bridge game in the afternoon or what she eats between meals."

Jessup Greets Student Body at Assembly

Discusses Changes in Conditions, Type of Education

"These are days of inventory," said President Walter A. Jessup in a greeting to students at the summer session assembly yesterday. "The order of the day is conferences, seminars, schoolings . . . we need to get together and learn what to do."

President Jessup expressed pride in the university enrollment, "even in the face of depression." He expressed the thought that the idea of depression is used too frequently.

Must Adopt Changes

"It is," he said, "the cumulative result of a series of maladjustments due to rapid change. Those who can't make adjustments are out of the picture. The world is becoming conscious that we must interpret the facts we have; we have made an enormous accumulation of facts but we do not have the sense to use them."

He spoke of the changes in educational policies, which he said were attempting to place emphasis on the qualities of the student in their reorganization. He told of an instance in which graduates were selected for a position on the basis of their culture, rather than their scholastic ability, as an example.

Benefit of Culture

"When we become aware of the importance of taking advantage of the university's opportunities to the end that we may receive such cultural training, there will be an accumulation of sense needed in interpreting the facts at our hand."

Dean Paul C. Packer of the graduate college, director of the summer session, introduced President Jessup. The invocation and benediction were given by Prof. Charles T. Lentsin who is in charge of the summer session.

At one time the rescue boats had lines attached to the sunken vessel, but all of them lost their hold. However, it soon was located again.

No Reply from Taps

Meanwhile, all efforts of deep sea divers to communicate with the entombed men, eight of whom are believed to have been in the aft compartment, have been unsuccessful.

Frequent taps with a hammer on the outside of the foundered craft have brought no reply from within.

Thirty-five survivors of the accident have been taken aboard the submarine's parent ship Medley.

State Board Rejects Legislator's Claims for Lack of Itemizing

DES MOINES, June 11 (AP)—Claims of 78 of the Iowa legislators under the $500 expense allowance act were rejected by the state board of audit today as too general. The board sent back the claims, directing the lawmakers to itemize them budget director, state auditor and as provided by law.

The board of audit consists of the attorney general's office, Budget Director Anderson and Auditor Long act on the board together with Ass't. Atty. Gen. Gerald O. Blake, who represents Atty. Gen. Fletcher.

The claim can not be paid unless approved by the board of audit on or before July 4, when the state budget appropriation act becomes effective, since that act carries the appropriation for the expense accounts.

American Mayors See French Games

EHGHEIN-LES-BAINS, France, June 11 (AP)—America's touring mayors, having watched the French political wheel revolve in the chamber of deputies this afternoon, tonight came here to witness other games of chance at the recently reopened Casino.

Tomorrow they will visit La Malmaison where Napoleon bade Josephine goodby, the palace of Louis XIV and the Trianon palace.

Perhaps Special Session of Congress Could Settle Fish's Diplomatic Relation

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Tall tales about Toby, the pet fish of the Rapidan, have now become post mortems written by members of the president's official family.

Hugh Gibson, ambassador to Belgium, caught it and it was eaten at the president's own table the night of June 6.

Toby was a big rainbow trout and was widely reputed to be the particular pet of Peggy Ann, the president's granddaughter. Gibson did not know this and hooked it.

Immediately he became involved in a diplomatic correspondence.

Alas, Poor Toby

Assistant Secretary Jahncke, much upset, reported the matter to Ambassador Dawes saying Captain Joel T. Boone had made an official inspection of the fish and identified it immediately "as though it were an old acquaintance."

"The assistant secretary of the navy's only interest in the incident—or rather accident—is that he was almost compelled, without knowing how to costume the fish," Jahncke wrote Dawes, "and he objects to eating any kind of a trained animal, particularly one of Peggy Ann's pets."

Gibson wrote Dawes in answer to Jahncke's charges that "I dislike a controversy as much as you do, but there are things that even a diplomat can't stand for."

Gibson said the attack on his "piscatorial character" had been inspired by jealousy on the part of Jahncke who was envious of his "superlative skill in fishing."

Hope Fades for Seamen

American Ship Rushes to Help Raise Submarine

WEIHAIWEI, China, June 11 (AP)—The American salvage ship Pigeon tonight was rushing to join British and Japanese vessels trying to raise the British submarine Poseidon in the Yellow sea, but hope had been virtually abandoned that any of the 18 men trapped in the boat were alive.

The American vessel, carrying compressed air apparatus from Tientsin was expected shortly at the point where the Poseidon plunged to the bottom under 120 feet of water Tuesday after being rammed by the Chinese steamer Yuta.

The rulings came after many hours of argument.

Judge Turrentine said he would not comment on his rulings at this time but added that some of the matters included in the motions might be taken up in his instructions to the jury at the conclusion of the taking of testimony.

Call First Witness

Counsel for Pantages then called their first witness, a Los Angeles policeman.

The policeman, J. W. Burris, was asked about his questioning last December of Lydia Nitto, complaining witness against Pantages, Jesse H. Shreve, business man, and Olive Clark Day and William Jobellman, alleged operators of a Hollywood "girl market," in connection with a search for a gun girl. He said the girl told him she was 22 years old.

Two Officers Speak

Two other Los Angeles officers, also connected with the investigation, said Miss Nitto gave her age as 22.

Miss Nitto testified she was 17 years old. The state charged a conspiracy and a violation of the juvenile court law against the defendants, alleging they brought Miss Nitto, a minor, to a party here last October.

Wisconsin Prison Gets Robbers Two Days After "Job"

WAUPUN, Wis., June 11 (AP)—Gates of the state prison closed today behind Leo Thimisch, 28, and his nephew, Michael Franklin, 21, both of Marshfield, Wis., as another instance of speedy Wisconsin court procedure was recorded.

Brought here from Wausau by Sheriff Simon Schauburger within 50 hours after they robbed the Fenwood State bank in Marathon county, Thimisch began serving a term of from 25 to 40 years and Franklin a term of from 15 to 25 years.

Circuit Judge A. H. Reid pronounced sentence after the prisoners waived preliminary hearing. Their plea of guilty were entered at a special session of county court a few hours following their arrests yesterday by a Clark county traffic officer.

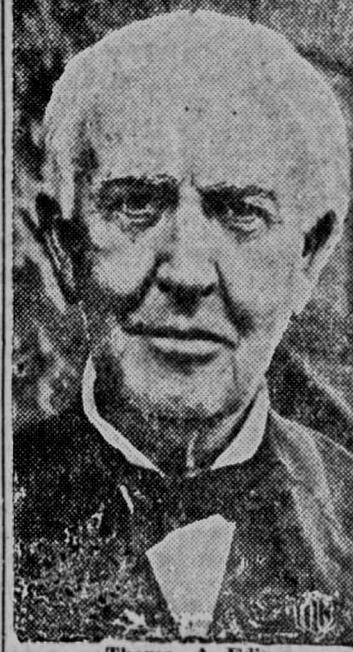

Student Released From Jail

MADISON, Wis., June 11 (AP)—Bradley Goodyear, Buffalo, N. Y., University of Wisconsin experimental college freshman, who was sentenced to 30 days in the Dane county jail this week for driving an automobile while intoxicated, was released to his father today. The sentence was suspended.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 11 (AP)—Two thousand men and women stormed the Belmont county jail here tonight in an effort to force the release of 11 striking coal miners arrested during disorders at the New Lafferty mine of the M. A. Hanna Coal company.

Sheriff Howard Duff, 40 sheriff's deputies and a group of American Legion members, armed with tear gas bombs and machine guns, broke up the crowd and arrested the leader, Leo Thompson of Pittsburgh, reputed communist and leader of the National Miners union.

Tammany Hall Prepares to Assist Democratic Leaders

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Tammany hall prepared today to solidify its organization all along the line as the legislative inquiry of New York city moved toward a busy summer.

Political writers said three veteran Democratic leaders in Manhattan were facing hard fights in the three primaries and Tammany was already getting ready to extend support to their sectors.

The three district contests challenge the leadership of Harry C. Perry in the second district on the lower east side; Andrew B. Keating in the thirteenth, and John Mara in the twenty-third, the upper tip of Manhattan.

Divide Leadership

Harry Perry and Christopher D. Sullivan, half-brothers and successors to Big Tim and Little Tim Sullivan, who ruled the east side section for years, divided the leadership in the second district. The committee, in turn, elects their executive member, who becomes the district leader for Tammany.

Charged Ballot Stuffing

The long standing differences between Keating and Alderman Patrick S. Dowd in the thirteenth have become almost a Tammany tradition. Two years ago the alderman charged imported gunmen and guerrillas cheated him of the victory by stuffing ballot boxes.

The district leaders get their jobs through the county committees, the committees are elected by assembly districts. The committees, in turn, elect their executive member, who becomes the district leader for Tammany.

Operator Found With 17 Stab Wounds in Village

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 11 (AP)—An undying love for Hazel Bradshaw, which would have prevented him from harming a hair in her head" was recounted today by Moss E. Garrison at his preliminary hearing on charges of murdering the young woman.

Tells of Courtship

The 37 year old clerk spent most of the day telling of his courtship of the 22 year old telephone operator whose body with 17 stab wounds was found in the artificial Indian village in Balboa park May 3.

Garrison's early testimony did not tell of events the night of May 2 when, he told police, he took the girl to two movies and then walked home with her through the park.

Claims Quarrel

The prosecution claims they quarreled on that last walk and Garrison stabbed his fiancee and left her body in the Indian village.

The defense claims another man was her slayer, and that he took Miss Bradshaw for a ride in an combatting the depression. She said,

"There never was a time when it was more important to keep a Republican at the head of the government."

Relates Life History

Representative Free, of California, followed with a speech devoted to the life history of Mr. Hoover. He, too, said the president would be re-elected.

The young Republicans, an unofficial group of youthful members of the party called together by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, cheered the declarations lustily.

Leaders Urge Loyalty

Lucas, who presided, also called on some of the members of the conference. They, in brief speeches, urged party loyalty and activity in some instances pledged support to the renomination of Mr. Hoover.

Attention of the conference also was centered on the protective tariff, which Senator Fess, and Edgar Snyder, assistant secretary of labor, said was vital for the maintenance of the American standard of living.

Francis Selby

Francis Selby, principal of Morris town high school, Morris town, Minn., was elected president of the Summer Classical club at an organization meeting of the club yesterday afternoon.

The club will meet each Thursday afternoon throughout the summer.

Summers of Sioux City, president of the Iowa State Parent-Teacher association, was elected vice-chairman, and Miss Effie E. Doan of Des Moines, general secretary of the family social service and president of the state conference of social work, was chosen secretary.

Governor Turner said that he appointed the commission in the belief that it might coordinate the work of the many child welfare organizations of the state so that the greatest amount of good could be accomplished.

Stoddard Heads Section

The education section was divided into an adult group with Prof. George D. Stoddard, director of the child welfare research station at the university, at its head; and a child group under the leadership of Miss Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. Mae Habenicht of Des Moines, director of the state children's bureau, was named chairman of the handicapped children section, and Dr. Fred Moore of Des Moines, medical fraternity.

After a northern wedding trip, the couple will reside in Madison, Wis., where Dr. Weston will serve his

Balanced Aquarium Added to University Museum Laboratory

A balanced aquarium has been constructed in the laboratory of the university museum in which specimens of seven kinds of fish have been placed.

The aquarium is provided with plants which provide oxygen for the fish, which in turn provide nitrogen for the plants. Snails keep the water clear by eating refuse, and the only attention required is the feeding of the fish.

The types of fish in the aquarium are: zebra, tetraodon (spuritus), dwarf gourami, betta splendens, danio rerio, guppy (peacock fish), and polycentrus dayi.

The guppy differs from most fish, excepting a few types of sharks, in that its young are born alive, instead of being hatched from the egg.

Zager Warns Car Owners to Observe Night Parking Law

All night parking offenders and car owners who parked without leaving parking lights on occupied most of the time of Police Judge Charles L. Zager yesterday. All were dismissed upon being warned and instructed as to the city ordinances governing parking at night.

The ordinance reads that it is unlawful to park any vehicle on any street for longer than 30 minutes between the hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. without written authority from the chief of police or to park after dark on any streets not in the business district without leaving parking lights burning while the car is stopped.

Mrs. Boole, who also is national president of the W.C.T.U., arrived here tonight to attend a meeting of the national executive committee tomorrow and Friday. She declared that a week's sojourn in Canada had not changed the belief of delegates to the world convention of the W.C.T.U. in the ineffectiveness of Canadian methods in dealing with the liquor sale.

We had these methods explained to us at the convention by men familiar with them working, one of them being Sir George Foster, and we are more than ever convinced that the Canadian methods are methods of raising revenue by selling liquor, but that they are not methods of preventing its sale and the attendant evils.

The presence here of these state presidents from 48 states, is significant of the united front which the W.C.T.U. is presenting on this problem.

A Legislator Takes to Fisticuffs

THOMAS O'GRADY, Democratic member of the Illinois house of representatives from Chicago, Wednesday made good his threat to resort to "almost anything to stop the vote" on congressional reapportionment. When a clerk was about to call roll on the question and break up the Democratic filibuster, O'Grady summoned the Irish in his name, ambled down the aisle and seized the roll call blanks out of the clerk's hands.

When a door man intervened fists flew. News reports failed to say whether O'Grady was getting the better of the combat when the impromptu pugilists were separated, but the doorman was victorious in principle for the filibuster was halted by a vote of 76 to 58.

The fact O'Grady apologized to the house later for his actions would indicate that he knew better and that he had an idea of what the consequences should be for such conduct if democratic government is to be more than a joke.

However, Representative O'Grady need not lose any sleep over his constituency removing him or even electing an opponent at the next primaries as would be the case if there existed any means of electing the right type of men to the Illinois legislature.

What will probably happen will be that O'Grady will not have been guilty of silly schoolboy conduct by primary time; he will be "the fighting Irishman" who guarantees a square deal for every vote.

Votes for Representative O'Grady, a fighter for the people's rights, will pour in faster than ever while democracy and the primary system will flourish in the land.

Aiding the Reich

TO IMPOVERISH the German nation might be an expensive experiment. This is the sentiment advanced recently by Alanon B. Houghton, former ambassador to Germany and Great Britain.

"Nothing could be more unfortunate for the world," Houghton maintains, "than the collapse of Germany and this country should be prepared to make its contribution toward relief of other nations agreed to remission or suspension of reparation payments."

He warns America that behind Germany stands Russia with a program not of cooperation but of destruction. Mr. Houghton has recalled to mind the fact that Germany had wantonly brought on the World War and must stand its cost.

A bitter controversy arose between the allied powers and the United States and this is the outgrowth of the American creditor situation. Our government took the position that having paid our own bills by manner of excess taxation on the people, the nations owing us should, in all fairness, repay, so far as they could, the amounts they have borrowed.

Since the war the United States has made certain settlements and has slashed debts according to the ability of the nation involved to pay.

In the case of Great Britain and other friendly nations the United States followed the policy of letting the sums owed to them fall in with part of the German reparation payments, which simply transferred to Germany the whole burden of indebtedness to the United States.

Before now no serious difficulty has arisen, and Germany has made the necessary payments to her creditors.

But Germany is now facing a crisis and really needs help from some quarter to keep her head above the water. Houghton's advice that the United States give all the assistance possible is a sound doctrine, but to cramp the domestic situation by too much philanthropy in a time of depression would be obviously a foolish move.

The most material aid that could be extended Germany and the most advantageous for other nations suffering from serious depression, would be postponement of the reparations payments rather than cancellation or advancement of further sums.

Let Your Conscience Rule

EVANSTON, Ill., bathers this summer may be seen wearing anything from nothing to a barrel if they accept the edict of the recreation commissioner.

"Let your conscience be your guide," he declares, "and if that fails you, follow the common standards of decency."

Too bad one cannot apply such a liberal, democratic edict to liquor problems or international relations. Then, if country A thinks it is decent and proper to kill off all the inhabitants of country B, he obeys that inner something and proceeds to the kill.

Or, if Mr. Jones has an urge to get drunk and go over to Mr. Smith's house, start a fight, and shoot both his dear friends, it is all very well, simply because Mr. Jones' code of ethics and definition of decency allowed such goings on.

The trouble with that situation is that one cannot always tell beforehand if his conscience will be the right sort of guide to have around. How can Mr. Jones know that his conscience is going to fail him? He can't, so he proceeds to experiment. By the time he is ready to try the commissioner's alternative it is too late.

Rules and regulations there must always be, because a long time ago a man by the name of Moses started his people out on a "do unto others" basis and we can't get away from it now.

Book Clubs and Reading

THE growth of book clubs in the last few years has aroused considerable comment. Thousands have availed themselves of the service offered by such clubs as ample proof of their popularity.

Nevertheless, these book clubs are subject to frequent attacks from time to time on the part of publishers, chiefly on the following grounds: The clubs, they say, have too great an influence on public taste; they compete with the bookseller and draw his logical customers; their demands for heavy discounts cause a loss to publisher and author; their system of selection is not sound; they stifle the market for young authors.

These arguments seem for the most part to carry some weight and it is difficult to predict what the outcome will be if they can back their attacks with some sort of action.

Regardless, however, of the future status of book clubs, they have accomplished one great benefit that cannot be denied, that of increasing book reading upon the part of the public.

In this day of the radio, automobile, and motion picture, the average American does altogether too little reading. The number of books read annually per person is surprisingly small, one of the major reasons being that most individuals will not take the time to browse about and discover really good books for themselves.

Book clubs have done much to eliminate this cause for non-reading by sending out recommendations of outstanding books. The response to these recommendations has been a big factor in helping the public to sustain interest in book reading and to derive the subsequent cultural benefits attached.

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen says she has always wished to go from town to town as a traveling musician does. Nothing small about Ruth! About the only musicians who travel about today are the concert stars who travel in Pullmans with signed contracts in their brief-cases.

Joan of Arc Again

To the editor of The Daily Iowan: Apropos of your editorial remarks on "George Bernard Shaw Again," it has occurred to you that Mr. Shaw might have been "ridiculing not Joan of Arc, but a general that can regard it as a serious criticism of her that she lacked 'sex appeal and personal charm?'

A perusal of what many regard as Shaw's greatest play would suggest that this is the case.

Yours sincerely,

Post Commencement Problems

(From the Chicago Daily News)

Commencement day, whenever and wherever held this year, will set ambitious youth face to face with a more than ordinarily difficult world. That fact has caused the president's emergency committee on unemployment to address a letter to the National Education Association, copies of which have been sent to high schools, colleges and universities throughout the country. In it the commission strongly recommends that the new graduates seek further opportunities for education rather than jobs.

The advice is good under the existing circumstances and ought to be followed by all for whom it lies within the field of the practicable. For many it would be good advice at any time, particularly for high school graduates. The unemployment cloud may prove to have a silver lining if the opportunity for improvement which lies beneath its shadow are utilized. Not alone will character be saved from the demoralizing effects of unprofitable idleness, but vocational skill may be developed and a higher earning standard achieved against the coming better times.

From the point of view of social welfare the advice deserves emphasis. It is imperative that the present sharp competition for jobs be not increased needlessly. It is important that the discouragement of failure to find employment be not spread to the young men and young women who step hopefully from academic halls, or schools of technical instruction. If, facing the facts, they can be induced to turn them to the best advantage possible by going on with their studies in continuation schools and special courses they will be saved disappointment and will be helped to a brighter future.

Many a youth who now makes wise use of one or other of present chances to extend and intensify preparation for life by further specialized study will look back years hence upon those rather exigent days as having bestowed blessings.

Florida Man Talks Before Rotary Club

Tells How Junior High Schools Affect Youth

"Before the establishment of the junior high schools 61 per cent of the students dropped out before entering the senior high schools, since then this percentage has been greatly decreased," said Prof. James M. Glass of Rollins college, Winter Park, Florida, speaking at a meeting of the Iowa City Rotary club yesterday noon.

He told some of his experiences in junior high schools. "The greatest thing that has happened in the education world," he said, "is the gigantic increase in the public school enrollment during the last 40 years. While the population grew 70 per cent, the public school enrollment increased 700 per cent."

Stresses Junior High

"The seventh, eighth, and ninth grades that make up the junior high school are the grades in which a child becomes acquainted with the various fields of life. It is here that the boy or girl has the chance to select his future curriculum to prepare themselves for the fields they may choose," stated Professor Glass.

The Rev. Ira J. Houston, a past president of the Rotary club, was extended a vote of congratulations upon his receipt of the degree of doctor of divinity from Olivet college, Olivet, Mich., recently.

Entertain Guests

Guests of the club were, Howard S. Rutherford, Monomone Falls, Wis.; Arch B. Grimes, Monticello; Elmer Ziegler, Muscatine; Dick Wilson, Crete, Neb.; Fritz Marti, of Clouquet, Minn.; George W. R. J. Phelps, Grading Contractor, Gets Four Johnson County Jobs

R. J. Phelps, Iowa City road work contractor, was given grading contracts in four Johnson county townships yesterday. He will grade 5.39 miles of road for $10,541.90.

The jobs are located in Hardin, Penn, Oxford, and Lincoln townships, and are all on local county roads. Work will begin Monday with the contract calling for completion before October 1.

Unit prices of 14.9 cents per yard were given on the Oxford, Lincoln, and Hardin roads while the Penn road, mostly haul work, required 25 cents per yard.

This is the first of a series of contracts to be let by the Johnson county engineer for road work this summer.

Board Plans Local School Improvements

Summer improvement plans for the Iowa City schools were made by the board of the Iowa City independent school district at the June meeting held in the administration building Wednesday evening.

The board authorized the purchase of heat trap ventilators for the Henry Sabin, Longfellow, and Horace Mann schools at an approximate cost of $1,500. It authorized the purchase from the Elmer Buck estate of approximately five acres of land adjoining the Lathrop school site for $2,000, making the school more accessible to Myrtle avenue. The purchase of three new rifles for the high school rifle team and the improvement of the back stops in the range were authorized. The Sisters of Mercy were given permission to construct a new wing within three feet of the school's lot line on Johnson street.

The secretary of the school board was authorized to petition the Rock Island railroad for a flagman at the crossing in the vicinity of Lathrop school and to make plans for an underground passage under the railroad tracks to make it safer for the

Tribute Paid to Wassam by Rotary Club

Tribute was paid the late Dr. Clarence Wassam a member of the university faculty by the Rev. Ira J. Houston, at the weekly meeting of Iowa City Rotary club yesterday. At the conclusion of the memorial the members of the club of which Dr. Wassam was a former member, in silent tribute to his memory.

In Memoriam Clarence W. Wassam, who died June 4, 1931.

"As we went from the meeting last week, we were greeted with the word that Clarence had gone from us. We were wholly unprepared to hear it, for we thought he was winning his fight for life.

"None of us shall ever appreciate how he struggled through long, bitter days to come back to health. He loved life, and in his allotted span he lived it to the full. It was natural for him to choose the beautiful and the true and the good.

"He was never too busy to lend a hand to a cause that needed what he had to give. Few people were children on Melrose avenue to get to the new school. He was also authorized to advertise for coal bids to be submitted on a B.T.U. basis, at the July 8 meeting of the school board.

The school board will decide just how many rooms will be painted in the different schools after the walls have been washed by the various janitors of each school.

Harry N. Holdsworth will audit the books of the school district.

His classroom was more than a place for meeting students sent to hear what he could tell them of economics—it was a meeting place with human souls.

"We loved Clarence, and we liked to be with him. We have lost a choice friend, a great citizen, a rare man. We shall always be grateful that his life touched ours, and that we shared with him the fellowship of Rotary. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the family in its sorrow."

Judge Evans Grants Injunction to Wildman on Garbage Disposal

Judge Harold D. Evans of the district court yesterday issued temporary injunction in favor of J. J. Wildman, plaintiff, enjoining Frank F. Fulton, Jess L. Fulton, and J. J. Swamer from interfering with his garbage rights in Iowa City.

With Ed L. O'Connor and W. F. Murphy representing him, Wildman sought some time ago to restrain

Frank F. Fulton and Jesse L. Fulton from delivering garbage to

J. J. Swamer. Wildman claimed the defendants had verbally contracted to deliver the garbage as he directed.

The court ordered that the Fultons carry out the verbal contract by delivering the garbage to the premises of the plaintiff. William J. Hayes represented the defendants.

Senators Cut Lead of Athletics to 3½ Games; Surprise Macks by 12-5 Win

Bury Indians in Drive for Top Position

Batter 3 Pitchers for 4 Doubles, Triple, One Homer

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The Senators gained in the pennant race today by defeating Cleveland, 12 to 5, while Philadelphia was losing to St. Louis, but may have paid for it by an injury to their star shortstop, Joe Cronin.

A fast ball, pitched by Harder of Cleveland, struck Cronin on the shoulder and forced his retirement in the third inning. His shoulder was badly bruised and an X-ray was being made tonight to determine whether the bone was chipped. If so he would be lost for some time.

Cronin's removal broke up a consecutive hitting streak he had run to 18 games. He walked on his first trip to the plate.

Washington's victory leaves it only three and a half games behind the league leading Athletics. It was the team's sixth straight win and kept its slate clear for the season against Cleveland.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cleveland ...301 000 010—5 9 0 Washington ...420 010 41*—12 15 1

Batteries—C. Brown, Harder, Thomas and Sewell; L. Brown, Hadley and Spencer.

19 Year Old Rookie Defeats A's by 8 to 2

PHILADELPHIA, June 11 (AP)—Wallace Hebert, 19 year old southpaw rookie with the St. Louis Browns, started his first big league game here today and handed the Athletics an 8 to 2 defeat.

Hebert, who hails from the Springfield, Mo., club of the Western association, held the world's champions to seven hits and in winning cracked Rube Walberg's row of seven straight victories.

Gosse Goslin had a perfect day at bat, hitting a homer and triple, among his four safeties. Irving Burns also hit for the circuit.

Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis ...300 000 320—8 14 1 Philadelphia ...000 011 000—2 7 4

Batteries: Hebert and Ferrell; Walberg, Krausse and Heving.

11 Inning Battle With Robins Goes to Reds

CINCINNATI, June 11 (AP)—The Reds rang up their eighth victory in nine games today by taking an 11 inning struggle from the Brooklyn Robins, 2 to 1.

Most of the game was a pitchers battle between Silas Johnson and Dazzy Vance with Cincinnati leading 1-0 when Vance was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Wally Roettger opened the Cincinnati half of the eleventh with a triple. Quinn passed the next two men, purposely, and Roettger was forced at the plate, but Tony Cucinello came through with a single to drive in the winning run.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Brooklyn ...000 010 001—1 10 0 Cincinnati ...000 100 000 01—2 10 0

Batteries—Vance, Quinn and Lopez; Johnson and Sukeforth.

Dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans, whether of the National or American league denominations, will recall a long train of diamond memories with the announcement that Eddie Collins has been put on the retired list of players. Eddie was responsible for a book full of feats in his quarter of a century of active playing.

Collins ascended to his highest height with the White Sox in the years from 1915 to 1926 and as a member of Connie Mack's immortal "$100,000 infield."

When the miracle Braves of 1914 crushed the Mack's powerful team, Connie smashed up his outfit and Eddie was one of the players sent to other parts. He was one of the few "white" Sox in the Black Sox scandal of 1919.

Eddie has been an attraction in six world series, four with the Athletics and two with the Sox. This piece does not purport to be an obituary. Eddie is still in baseball—quite so—being captain, coach, and adviser of the champion Philadelphians.

"Smoky" Joe Mendel's going to find out for himself in the National A.A.U. meet at Omaha whether he's good enough for the United States Olympic team. Joe's been dashing around in South Dakota college track competition as the outstanding performer of Yankton college cinder crew.

You've got to hand it to the Odd Fellows. They've been simply romping over rival mines of neighborhood towns and the twilight league. Their game Sunday as the first part of a doubleheader will be well worth seeing.

Giants Nab 11 Round Duel, 8-6, With Bucs

PITTSBURGH, June 11 (AP)—The New York Giants had a big punch at the finish of an 11 inning duel with the Pirates today and put over three runs to win, 8 to 6.

Glenn Spencer, who pitched good relief ball, filled the bases with a walk, a hit, and a hit batsman. Then Jackson singled, Vergez hit a long fly and O'Farrell singled, each driving in a run.

Bob Smith Outlasts 3 Quaker Hurters in 4-2 Game

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Rock Klein and Don Hurst runs were the blows off Bob Smith that mean victory today and the Chicago boys did star hurler the Cubs to a 4 to 2 victory over Philadelphia in the second game of the series. Klein's home run was the first score of Smith and came in the sixth inning. It was his fifteenth of the season. Hurst got his in the next inning.

The Bruins got 10 hits on the night, Hal Elliott and Fallenstein winning the game in the four's inning when Wilson singled, Jungst tripled and Grimm singled. They had scored one in the third by hits by Smith and Cuyley, and a long fly by Hornsby. Another resulted on errors in the ninth.

The Emperor of America by Sax Rohmer

Synopsis of Preceding Instalments
A criminal gang has marked Peter Champion, a millionaire, for death. His son is missing, and the father fears he has been killed. Commander Drake Roscoe, of the N. S. navy, tries to aid Champion. His friend, Dr. Stopford of the Steamer Ruritanian, shares the task. Threats of death come from all sides. Everything is shrouded in mystery. Meyer, an agent of the gang, is killed when he visits Champion, contrary to orders.

Third Instalment

The zone map faded as a speck of red light glowed in the darkness. "H.Q." came a voice. "Group master covering the tap on the Champion home line reports that Group Master 4, Sector 3AI—Pedro Cortez — was removed under arrest at 9:35 this evening. He further reports that he himself is confined in the Paul Detroit house under police guard with other members of the staff. Report ends."

"Instruct Sector Captain 2AI," the other voice replied, "to absent himself at once, against the possibility of Pedro Cortez revealing his name. He is to leave New York by the night train for Chicago. Advise Chicago."

"Sector Captain 2AI," the other voice went on monotonously, "reports that he traced Roscoe and Stopford to the Champion home. His arrest was attempted, but attempt failed. Report ends."

"Instruct the chief chemist," came a prompt order, "to detail two men acquainted with the position of the switch behind the Champion garage to act immediately. Cover them. Concentrate tiring groups from all lines upon every approach to the house. Instruct D Division to keep three lines open. In the event of pursuit, all units will disperse and reassemble in Sector 3DI at 11:30. Move."

The red light went out . . .

"Poor Meyer's story of the zone map was not an invention after all," said Roscoe. "I doubted his tale when you told me, but I believe it now. Mr. Champion, we are up against a powerful organization — utterly unscrupulous — extremely efficient."

Peter Champion looked haggard. "My poor boy!" he muttered. "God knows where he is tonight."

"Of two things you may be sure," Roscoe replied. "First, that he is alive — hence your present extreme danger. Second, that you will have word of him within a matter of hours."

"I don't follow," Stopford declared. "Why?"

"Because," Roscoe explained, "all morning papers will carry the sensational news that Peter Champion filed a new will today. Every cent of which he may die possessed goes to a fund to establish a public deer park in a spot accessible from central New York!"

"Brainy," Stopford admitted. "Good, quick work, sir. By disinheritin' your son you upset the whole apple-cart of this mysterious gang."

"That's the idea," said Roscoe. "It makes Mr. Champion safe and it gives us time to trace his missing son. I predict that we shall hear of him within twenty-four hours."

"And I take it," Stopford went on, "without jumpin' to conclusions, that we sit tight here till mornin' watched over by flocks of police?"

"Wrong—" Roscoe began, when he was interrupted.

A shot sounded dimly from somewhere inside the house. The library door was thrown open, and a detective burst in. The three in the room sprang up, facing him. He stood in the doorway, pistol in hand.

"Stand by!" he said. "One of the outside men saw someone slip around behind the garage—"

There was the sound of a second shot — a cry.

"Morris has got him from inside," he added, "or he's got Morris! Are you all armed?"

"Yes," said Peter Champion, and drew a brace of pistols on the table.

"I have mine!" said Roscoe, tapping his pockets.

Stopford surveyed the weapons critically and then selected one.

A tremendous outcry arose on the stairs. It was drowned in a wave of discordant sound from the street beyond; a shrill wailing, the clanging of a bell, a crescendo of powerful cylinders.

"The raiding party!" said Roscoe — "and the car from the fire department."

Then onto the landing came a group of three, two detectives pushing a prisoner before them. He was a black-haired, sallow-faced fellow, sombrely dressed.

"Here he is, sir," one of the detectives reported to Roscoe. "He next got in by jumping from the next-door fire-ladders onto those at the back. We caught him behind the garage. He pulled a gun."

"Take me away!" screamed the man. "I do nothing. Take me out of this house! Anywhere! — Anywhere! But take me out of this house!"

"He's crazy to be jailed!" said his other captor. "Been begging us to take him to the station ever since we caught him!"

And now the crazed man raised imploring hands.

"I tell you I tell you!" he moaned. "Listen. It is true. To stay in this house another minute it is

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, June 3 — Whatever evil may be laid at the door of gang pictures, they at least have made the screen fortunes of three fine actors, Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney and Leo Carillo.

All of the three are now drawing cards in places where their stage reputations had not penetrated.

Carillo steps into another role in "Homicide Squad," which the veteran George Melford will direct for Universal. Like other recent films dealing with the underworld, this story gave the law the best of it. Carillo, as an Italian gangster, is caught up in the police dragnet and pays the penalty for his misdeeds.

The film goes into production after the star has had a brief rest from his work in "Lasca of the Rio Grande."

WIFELY WIT

During his work Ernst Lubitsch, Samson Raphaelson, the writer, contracted the cigar habit. Recently, he has taken up chewing gum to cut down his smoking. But he chews it a lot harder than most people.

The other night, his wife stood it as long as she could and then snapped out: "Why on earth don't you put a bell on your neck and give milk?"

LATEST GOSSIP

When a man is so badly "wanted" by a New York criminal group that he is forced to seek shelter under another flag, the fact points to a dangerous and highly efficient organization. When the man happens to be a prominent officer of the United States navy, the power of such a group is palpably formidable.

These things Stopford fully understood. He felt fairly confident that Roscoe had slipped through the invisible cordon. But he was determined not to sail until he was sure. No one could have suspected that he knew himself to be in almost precisely the same case as when (was a student in those days) he had gone ashore from this very ship in charge of medical stores. That had been Gallipoli. This was New York. But the danger was no less.

A junior purser of the Ruritanian was paying off a taxi as Stopford came out. It was sheer good luck that the doctor spotted his man.

"Hi! Deacon! Hang on to that taxi!"

Convinced that his every move was watched, Stopford welcomed Deacon's appearance. This was a taxi he might safely hire. Every other night was to be distrustful. He was now on the Zone map.

"Who wants to know?"

"Who's your crazy friend?"

Deacon turned and stared into the speaker's face. By nature truculent, he was swiftly responsive to a stranger's undue familiarity.

"Who wants to know?"

and will do an original for Ann Harding.

DOGS HAVING DAY

When the talkies first came in the owners of trained animals were practically frozen out. Now, strangely enough, their business is thriving more than it ever did. J. H. Kerr, proprietor of one menagerie, has five men working constantly on sets. His four-legged and feathered actors include a trained skunk, an eagle which screams on signal, an owl that hoots on command and many other varieties. In his spare time he is training wolves to howl. (Editor's note. One of Arthur Caesar's gags might help.)

The other night, his wife stood it as long as she could and then snapped out: "Why on earth don't you put a bell on your neck and give milk?"

DOROTHY VISITS

Dorothy Lee seems to have an affinity for comedians. With no immediate Wheeler-Woolsey picture to do, she is being loaned to First National to play opposite Joe E. Brown in "Local Boy Makes Good." Walter De Leon wrote this one and Mervyn Leroy will direct. It will be one of the pictures to be made at First National in the next two months.
