Why Not a State Police?

THIS STATE'S need for a well organized highway patrol was strikingly demonstrated again during the search for Reuben Depping's body at the Cedar Valley quarries.

When murders and bank robberies occur the organized police forces of the state are seldom equipped to cope with escaping criminals who usually have at their disposal high powered automobiles and paved speedways.

Iowa's success in apprehending bank robbers has been due largely to a semi-official group of vigilantes.

Yet aside from such occurrences, a state police would be highly valuable as was evidenced at the quarries when 4,000 persons gathered within a few hours, bringing approximately 1,200 automobiles into a limited area.

Heretofore when the neglected wife clasped her hands to her bosom and gazed soulfully into the loud speaker the fond husband had nothing else to do but look exceedingly bored and indifferent.

But, at any rate, the men of the radio audience will probably be more tolerant of the crooning Rudy in the future.

Heretofore when the neglected wife clasped her hands to her bosom and gazed soulfully into the loud speaker the fond husband had nothing else to do but look exceedingly bored and indifferent.

Had the occasion been different, a lynching or other activities calculated to incite a mob, there would have been no adequate state protection.

It is difficult to understand why, with the steady increase of duties relegated to the state, this important function of government has been overlooked.

The True Preventive

ALTHOUGH THE state of Illinois is quite justified in posting a battery of machine guns about its penitentiary in the interests of safety, that is not the only step that is called for by the pending prison break attempt.

The 2,100 convicts would not be so desperate in their efforts to escape if conditions within the prison walls were what they should be. The history of major prison riots in this country has revealed a series of sorry tales about overcrowding and general mistreatment of prisoners.

It is the duty of Illinois authorities to see to it that another Canon City disaster is not precipitated, and defensive means alone will not suffice.

An immediate and thorough investigation into the underlying causes for the prison unrest and adequate correction of abuses, if any, should supplement armed suppression of mutiny.

Ladies Wear Silk

FORMER GOVERNOR Harding endeavored to prove that no depression exists in Iowa by stating as a fact that every woman is wearing silk stockings. He may be right about no depression, but his proof is illogical.

When this gentleman has been spending his time could very readily be ascertained by his remark. Surely he has not been frequenting the beaches, for the bathing costume of "milady" no longer demands hose. (What hose could reach the suit?) Nor has he been upon many of the golf courses where young women of state-champion caliber come forth in anklets, a mere something or other—maybe of silk—above the sport shoes. A stroll down any street in Iowa City with its informal, so-called atmosphere shows many pairs of legs devoid of any vestige of hose.

Certainly Mr. Harding has been only in fashionable hotel lobbies and public places where ladies conform to convention and don the long, insufferable silken hose.

Perhaps he meant that if and where the Iowa women wear stockings, they wear them made of silk. After the vast saving at the beach, on the links, and during informal wear they should be able to afford a pair or two of silk, even in times of depression.

Mr. Dreiser Sits Down

ENTIRELY TOO many supposedly distinguished people air their eccentricities in public under the guise of "temperament." Witness Theodore Dreiser's performance a few days ago in the courtroom at White Plains, N. Y., where he is suing the Paramount-Public corporation.

Mr. Dreiser does not like the picture they have paid some $689,000 to make from his book, "An American Tragedy," in spite of the fact that he received $138,000 of it! He is trying to stop them from showing it to the public. They spoke discourteously of him in the courtroom. "It was a hot day," the papers said. Anyhow, when the opposing counsel accused Theodore of plagiarizing the plot of his story, his novelist temperament got the better of him.

Perhaps only the sharp reproof of the judge kept him from handing Lawyer Lynch one of those slaps that Sinclair Lewis knows all about.

else is true, he again displayed his ability at losing control of himself in public. And whether or not anything else has yet been decided in the courtroom at White Plains, it has been made clear that Mr. Dreiser can get exactly nowhere at all with his browbeating stunts.

Though he wouldn't think of mentioning it publicly, many a person will take secret delight in the way Judge Witschief "sat" on Theodore Dreiser.

Who Should Pay?

THIS IS NO plea on behalf of the Chicago physician who was recently sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary for murder by abortion. He was clearly guilty and was dealt with accordingly.

But there is something amiss when the man who performed an illegal operation goes to the penitentiary while the man who paid him to do it goes free. The sweetheart of the girl in this case figured in the news as "the state's principal witness." He testified that he paid the doctor fifty dollars to perform the operation, and that he introduced the girl to the doctor as his own sister.

Morally, if not legally, this man is guilty of complicity in a murder. Such guilt should be prosecuted.

The Male Defense

APPARENTLY, when 1,000 women stampede to see him crowned king in a radio contest, Rudy Vallee's recent matrimonial venture has not injured his popularity with the fairer sex.

It seemed logical to predict that the "lonely troubador" crooning to all the lonesome maidens and the misunderstood wives in the radio audience would not be so appealing with a Mrs. Troubador sitting at home waiting for him.

But, at any rate, the men of the radio audience will probably be more tolerant of the crooning Rudy in the future.

Heretofore when the neglected wife clasped her hands to her bosom and gazed soulfully into the loud speaker the fond husband had nothing else to do but look exceedingly bored and indifferent. Now he can place a framed photograph of Vallee's better half beside the radio and sit transfixed with the same expression during the Connecticut Yankee's rendition of the "Loneliness Blues."

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

PATERSON, N. J. — Back in the old home town, where the majority of more than 135,000 inhabitants are either silk workers or plane builders, business men are putting on a "Paterson Promotes Prosperity" campaign to restore good times and employment to some 5,000 jobless. Situated seventeen and one-half miles from New York city, on the Passaic river, two railroads, and numerous bus lines, this county seat boasts airport facilities, that, without prejudice, could take lessons from Iowa City.

Yesterday a local man was electrocuted at the state prison for the murder of his wife. A detailed account was carried in the evening paper, a gruesome account that revealed bungling on the part of prison authorities. Several weeks ago, Governor Murray of Oklahoma refused newspaper reporters admittance to an execution in that state, declaring that such stories were detrimental to the best interests of society. On the other hand, in revealing to the public revolting conditions in the country's institutions, such accounts serve the purpose of informing the outside world. To suppress these stories would be an injustice to newspaper readers.

A local police recorder gave a 58 year old Patersonian a bit of friendly advice during the latter's arraignment yesterday. "If women want to flirt," he said, "that is their prerogative, but there is no reason why they should not walk the streets of this city unescorted without being annoyed by the unwelcome attentions of men." With that comment he voiced a sentiment that will always be, as long as present standards continue. Women who flirt, however, are just as guilty of violating all principles of moral conduct as the men whom they attract.

The silk and dye industry, of which this city is the world's center, faces an almost complete shutdown within the next two weeks as members of the National Textile Workers' union and the Amalgamated Associated Silk workers demand an eight hour day, higher wages, and generally improved conditions. In the past, when the silk industry was the only local source of employment, perennial strikes at times proved disastrous to the city's business. If not for them, Paterson would probably have attained a position among the nation's leading industrial centers. Now, with communistic groups on the rampage, the proposed strike will prove a setback to all local business, adding to the already depressed conditions.

It only the workers appreciated how much better are their conditions than the plight of millions of others throughout the country who have been unemployed for months, they would probably change their minds. Organized labor here, similar to western Pennsylvania and West Virginia coal miners' groups, is actuated only by a desire to make its position a sinecure, without thought to business and subsequent living conditions. The federal department of labor, however, under Secretary Doak, acts only as an intermediary in bringing about a settlement to the best advantage of both sides. There is need of a commission in this country empowered to end strikes arbitrarily, in the interests of higher standards of living and increased efficiency and health of laborers.

George Bernard Shaw usually says the wrong thing but he hit it right on the nail in an interview with a reporter in Berlin recently. When asked his opinion of the Paris debt negotiations he replied, "I would be a fool to say anything about that."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Herbert Hoover is to do her bit for aviation when the navy's giant dirigible Akron lifts off the ground for the first time.

The first lady is to christen the ship, thereby joining that very exclusive group of American women to whom such honors have fallen up to now.

There are only two members of the "club" at present. Mrs. MRS. HERBERT HOOVER, Denby, widow of the late naval secretary, who sponsored the ill-fated "Shenandoah," and Mrs. Coolidge, who renamed the German-built Zeppelin Los Angeles on its official arrival in the United States.

So far as the Bystander has ever heard, none of these good ladies has yet adventured in air either by plane or dirigible.

Perhaps Mrs. Hoover will take an opportunity to give the astonishing campaign to make the nation air-minded, to which both Presidents Coolidge and Hoover have so frequently contributed, a new fillip by becoming the first first lady to take to the air.

"FIRST LADY" AT WHEEL

It would not be a very surprising development. Mrs. Hoover is a notable motorist. She drives her own car, even a big, heavy White House type of car, with apparent enjoyment. And newspaper folk who have had occasion to trail her to or from the presidential fishing camp in the Virginia hills have discovered that she is not afraid to "step on the gas."

A 50-mile gait has no terrors for her, it would seem; nor does the crowding traffic of a summer Sunday on the roads about Washington slow her down very much. A White House car with Mrs. Hoover at the wheel makes knots almost as fast as with the skilled drivers of the President on the job.

President Harding used to drive himself on stages of presidential motor trips at times. He was known to touch a 60 to 70-mile gait, to the distress of his secret service escort and following newspaper cars.

UNMECHANICAL

President Hoover, however, despite his engineering skill, does not seem to take to the operating aspect of mechanics. He is quite content to be chauffeured about. And neither Harding nor Hoover ever indicated any desire to take to the air, as far as the news records go.

President Coolidge did not board a plane or airship for flight purposes either. He did, however, repeatedly display a curiosity about the works of both types of air craft.

Time and again Coolidge as President was called upon to extend official greeting to flying pioneers. He never failed to poke about the ships like a curious boy.

It will be a great day for aviation when the first presidential flight is made.

Two Suspects Held in Tipton Slaying

DES MOINES, July 24 (AP) — James E. Ridsen, chief of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation, tonight reaffirmed an earlier assertion that he knew nothing of the reported capture of two suspects in the R. G. Swoyer slaying in Tipton, Ia., last summer. It was rumored that Roy and Jack Mercer were held by federal authorities in the Bahama

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, CAL.—Anyway you look at it Robert Ames is a lucky man.

The studios all want him to make pictures, and he is the prime favorite of the key Ina Claire.

His immediate destiny, as far as acting is concerned, will be to play George Bancroft's business rival in "Rich Man's Folly." This is a story of ship-building, and Bancroft, along with Director John Cromwell and a camera crew, now is at Quincy, Mass., in search of authentic atmosphere.

As he doesn't appear in these scenes, Ames will not join the company until its return to Hollywood. By this time a leading woman also will have been selected.

"Rich Man's Folly" is Bancroft's first picture since "Scandal Sheet," a matter of 10 months ago.

A LUCKY THING

If we can believe Louis MacLoon, the new Reno slogan is: "One man's mate is another man's poison."

LATEST GOSSIP

The William K. Howards have signed a truce. Or at least Bill has moved his things back from the athletic club. With a new contract and a birthday to celebrate, Richard Dix is free-wheeling at Ensenada. Al Jolson spent the week end at Caliente, renewing acquaintances with some of the also-rans of the winter race-season.

The Wheelers and the Woolseys coming home from Europe. Bert and Bob play the Capitol in New York the last two weeks in August.

A college boy from the University of Chicago is taking up most of Frances Dods time these days. Eric Lind, ex-theater guild player, nets a five-year contract at R.K.O. And if things keep up he'll be getting another contract with Roberta Glöe, the radiant redhead who resembles Clara Bow. John Halliday will take a flyer at co-directing. His first assignment is "Sour Grapes."

One of the 17,000 extras in Hollywood is Ariane Engels, a cousin of the late Jeanne Eagels, star of "Rain." The actress, who closely resembles her famous cousin, has never revealed the relationship. She even changed her hairdress and arched her eye-brows because people remarked on the likeness. "I don't believe in trading on anybody else's fame," she says. "Jeanne was the first one to advise me to go on the stage, and it would have been a poor way of repaying her to make capital of my name." Before going to Hollywood, the actress played in stock in the east and did a few small parts on Broadway. She now rates in the first ranks of the extras.

Aged Inmates' Home Burns at Pittsburgh

to many because of their extreme age.

The dead could not be identified, except in few cases.

Believe Nun Perished
One body snatched from the ruins of the home appeared to be that of a nun. It was clad in black clothes not unlike that of an inhabitant. A number of other sisters collapsed while bringing inmates from the doomed structure.

A score or more of priests from various parts of the city risked their lives in the flaming home to administer last rites to the dying. After the fire had about burned itself out, it was revealed that records containing all the names of the home's residents had been saved. This was expected to facilitate a final check of the dead.

Cause Undetermined
The cause of the fire had not been determined. Firemen said it started in the men's infirmary on the first floor and spread from there to other sections of the home.

Firemen and police off duty throughout the city were summoned to aid in the rescue work and in establishing fire lines. Oxygen was administered on the lawn to many of the victims, and beside them reposed holy images salvaged by the faithful, on occasion at the risk of their lives.

Battle Suffocation
Mrs. Margaret Connell, 75, one of the many who tried to aid feeble and ill fellow-inmates to safety, told how women battled against suffocation and heat.

"We were almost suffocating," Mrs. Connell said. "The women had to run from window to window for air. Sister Pascaline, in charge of the floor, made them stick their heads out and breathe before going on. There were no lights and the heat on the floor was intense. I felt too weak to go on. I sank back on a bed and a fireman carried me out."

Sister Pascaline remained at her post directing rescue efforts and refused to leave until the floor was cleared. Eight dead were brought to the morgue from St. Francis hospital, six from the West Penn hospital, five from the homeopathic hospital, two from the Pittsburgh hospital, while six dead were at the emergency hospital set up in the basement of the St. Lawrence school, across the street from the home for the aged.

Fire Under Control
Firemen had the flames under control by 11:30 o'clock (E.S.T.), though there still was fire burning in various portions of the institution. Most of the inmates of the home were all but helpless before the fire. All were old, and most of them were suffering from infirmities. Seven women were trapped in a third floor room, among them Mrs. Mary Kline, 80, who is blind. "I just got down on my knees and prayed to God,"

Suspect Foul Play After Hasty Examination is Made

WHITE RIVER, Ariz., July 24 (AP)—The body of Miss Henrietta Schmelzer, missing 25 year old Columbia university research worker was found today in a ravine on the White River Apache Indian reservation, and a superficial examination indicated she had been slain.

Search for Miss Schmelzer was not started immediately after her absence had been noticed, because she was in the habit of exploring alone and had on previous occasions been away from her cabin several days.

Start Search
Organized search was started yesterday when reservation officials discovered some indications the New York student's free mingling with the Indians in her research work had been misinterpreted and had created some jealousy among feminine members of the tribe. Belief that she had been kidnaped grew during the earlier part of today when search by fifty men had at that time failed to develop any clues.

Miss Schmelzer, who had been sent to Arizona by the university to observe Indian conditions and modes of life, was last reported seen Saturday.

Living in Shack
She had been living alone for a month in a shack four miles from White river. Acquaintances said the young woman told them Saturday she was going to a dance that night at Fort Apache, five miles distant.

She was not seen at the dance. A 25 year old Apache, Claude Gilbert, is being held at Holbrook, Ariz., in connection with the case. He told officers he saw Miss Schmelzer Saturday afternoon, had not seen her since, and knew nothing of her subsequent actions.

"Hoover Moratorium Places United States in Political Circles"

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The Hoover moratorium, Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland said tonight, has placed the United States in international economic and political circles, and future action of this country depends on the leadership at the helm.

In a radio address, Governor Ritchie said: "We cannot escape consideration of the future and the fate of other nations, because their future and fate may involve our own. Whether we like it or not, whether it is a departure from American traditions or not, whether it violates Washington's warning against the danger of entangling alliances or not, the maelstrom of world economies. Our era of isolation is over."

she said, "and then I was rescued."

Search for Bodies
As soon as the ruins had cooled sufficiently officials from the corner's office and the police planned to make a search for bodies.

Sister Agatha, mother superior of the home, told authorities that the total number of occupants was 250—145 men, 105 women, all more than 60 years old and some much older. All were of the Pittsburgh district.

"Frail Lady" Obsolete in New Age of Womanhood

MISS JANE HOULSON AND F.A. MITCHELL-HEDGES

NEW YORK, July 24—The world, its manners, types and customs, is ever changing. Gradually, it is true. So gradually, in fact, that it is only on rare occasions that we realize a change has taken place and we ask ourselves "what has become of so-and-so?" or we reminisce "time was when—"

Soft, Fluffy Type
Take women, for instance. One does not have to be the possessor of a wonderful memory or a hoary head of hair to be able to recollect the time when if a woman were anything but the soft, fluffy, kittenish type that looked to the great, big strong he-man for protection, she was regarded as unique, strange, and not a nice person to know. Many a man, who now sighs for the good old days, can recall at least one occasion in his life when he flew to the assistance of a shrieking female expecting to find—if the screams counted for anything—a man eating tiger occupying her boudoir, only to see the terrified hysteric backed up in a corner, hysterically jittering at a harmless spider doing a gay mazurka on the opposite wall.

As an example of how the fair sex has been made over in the last decade or so, let us consider the case of Jane Harvey Houlson, secretary to F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, famous explorer and member of the Mayo Commission of the British Museum, and a vivacious, charming English girl into the bargain.

Marrying the Boss
Most people picture the girl secretary as faring forth of a morning daintily and modestly arrayed. Talking dictation during the day from a good-looking boss an maybe winding up by marrying him. That picture will not fit Miss Houlson's case.

This young girl has packed more adventure into her brief business life than most men have dreamed about in their total span on mother earth. Not the type of adventure that one associates with the movies. It is work, thrilling, exciting, intriguing, but work, hard work.

Every once in a while Miss Houlson gets a call from Mr. Mitchell-Hedges at her home 300 miles from London. Maybe it's a cable or a radio message. It may be from the interior of a South American jungle. Wherever it comes from, it's a call to duty and Miss Houlson simply packs her grip and answers it in person.

U. S. Court Denies Appeal of Capone

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)— Ralph Capone's appeal from conviction from income tax violations was denied today, dashing the hopes of two other "public enemies" of escaping penitentiary terms as well as his own.

The United States circuit court of appeals affirmed the federal district court in sentencing the elder brother of "Scarface" Al Capone, to three years in Leavenworth penitentiary and a fine of $10,000.

The charge was attempting to defraud the government of taxes.

U. S. Reports No Relief for Infested Area

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The agriculture department repeated today that it had no funds with which to undertake the eradication of grasshoppers in the heavily infested states of Nebraska and South Dakota.

Acting Secretary Dunlap told Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska, the department's appropriation for grasshopper control was small and restricted to research work.

Meanwhile Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, asked government assistance in his state. He dispatched a telegram requesting that drought loans be reopened to combat the insects.

George L. Hoffman, director of the seed loan office, reiterated today that the drought loan law specifically prohibits use of those emergency funds for that purpose.

However, a request that the loans be made available for the purchase of livestock feed is being considered. Reports of a survey ordered by Secretary Hyde, who is vacationing in the west, will be consulted before a decision is reached.

The department has set aside $20,000 this year for grasshopper research work. While it is restricted to that purpose alone the department is cooperating in the Nebraska and South Dakota eradication campaign through three field agents who are advertising on the best uses of poison bait.

The search so far has yielded only a small gasoline bomb which if exploded would have caused little damage, four knives, a file, nails and some metal springs. An inspection of the bases of ventilators is expected to yield weapons thrown down by the convicts into shafts in their cells. Hill believes axes and other heavy tools are still to be found.

Dr. Arthur Kendall of Northwestern university has discovered a method of isolating previously invisible bacteria which may bring new understanding of many diseases.

Police Save Fruit Dealer From Attack

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)— Fifty policemen saved Otto Palazzato, west side fruit peddler, from a mob of infuriated neighborhood residents today after he had thrown a knife into the back of a 10 year old boy.

For several days, boys have pilfered fruit from Palazzato's stand. A crowd of youngsters gathered at the stand today and the peddler, fearing another raid on his stores, rushed into the street knife in hand.

In his rage, Palazzato told police, he tossed the knife. It stuck in the back of Eugene O'Hern, who is in a serious condition in a hospital.

As the O'Hern boy lay on the sidewalk, screaming, a crowd gathered. Threats of lynching were shouted. Palazzato locked himself in the stand, with the crowd battering at the doors by the time police arrived.

The fruit peddler was taken to the Fillmore street station, but the crowd followed, still belligerent, so Palazzato was locked up in the detective bureau for safe keeping.

Sabatini Will Lecture Here in December

Popular Novelist to Stop at University on Tour of U. S.

Rafael Sabatini, internationally known novelist, will visit the University of Iowa early in December on his first American tour. It was announced yesterday. Arrangements have been completed for his appearance as a university lecturer by the senate board on university lectures.

Sabatini is the author of the international best sellers "Scararamouche," "Captain Blood," "Sea Hawk," and "The Snare."

Combines History, Fiction
He has spent a quarter century in writing the type of novel which combines history with fiction. Beginning his novel just at the time when the demand for the historical novel was beginning to wane, he refused to desert the field which he enjoyed most. With the publication of "Scararamouche" in this country in 1921, he first received popular recognition.

Born in Jesi, a diminutive city of the Italian Marches, he was educated in Switzerland, and later went to the Lycee of Oporto, Portugal. Like Joseph Conrad, he writes in an adopted tongue, that of his mother, an English woman.

British Subject
For some years Sabatini has been a British subject, with London as his home. During the war, he served in the intelligence department of the war office, where his extensive knowledge of languages made him valuable.

His favorite sports are fishing and skiing, and in company with his wife, he spends much of his time salmon fishing in the Cumberland Derwent and skiing in the Alps. Tennis, he says, is his favorite game, and writing novels his "principal amusement."

Accused Man Tells Love for Murdered Girl; Talks of Walk

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 24 (AP)—Moss Edward Garrison, 37, late today affirmed his love for 22 year old Hazel Bradshaw, for whose alleged murder he is on trial.

The state closed its case at 4:30 p.m., asking permission to present a missing witness when he could be located. A Fairchild, defense attorney, served notice that he would oppose any effort by the state to reopen its case.

Garrison then took the stand and sketched his acquaintance with Miss Bradshaw. In a quiet voice the man whom the prosecution charged stabbed Miss Bradshaw 17 times and left her body in the artificial Indian village in Balboa park May 2, described the walk he and the girl had taken that night.

Garrison said he and his sweetheart left a show at 10:55 p.m., and walked through the park to her home, a little more than four miles from the theater. He left her there, he said.

The University of Iowa museum will exhibit its restoration of the do-do at the Iowa state fair, Homer Dill, director, announced yesterday. The restoration of the extinct bird is the first of its kind in the United States.

The work was completed in the university laboratory here this summer. Another feature of the exhibit will be a mountain lion group, also done in the museum laboratory.

Johnny Vavra, Bob McKee Clash Today in Finals of State Golf Tourney

Medalist Goes Down Before Rapids Golfer

McKee's Spectacular Finish Beats Out Gil Phillips

MASON CITY, July 24 (AP)—Two amazing putting exhibitions today brought Johnny Vavra, young Cedar Rapids sharp shooter, and Bob McKee, Des Moines, into the finals of the Iowa golf tourney.

It will be the second meeting of the two in the state finals, McKee having won the title in 1926 after conquering the Cedar Rapids blond star in the final match.

Of the two matches today, Vavra's 4 and 3 victory over Pete Jordan, Des Moines public links player who won tournament medalist honors, brought out the greatest thrills climaxed by Vavra's sparkling comeback after rounding the twenty-seventh hole one down.

Gets Successive Threes

Vavra reeled off successive threes on the last five holes, taking six putts on five greens, sinking two from 12 feet, one from eight feet and hitting the pin with his approach on another.

McKee's finish was almost as spectacular. His match with Gilbert Phillips of Des Moines was square at the end of the morning's 18 holes. Phillips took the lead on the nineteenth, but McKee holed out his approach shot on the twentieth, a 15 footer on the twenty-first and curled his ball around a partial stymie on the next hole to sink a putt for a birdie three from 12 feet.

McKee rounded the twenty-seventh hole with par 36 for the outside nine and a five up lead, ending the match at the thirty-first with a six foot putt for another birdie.

See-Saw All Way

The Jordan-Vavra match was a see-saw affair all the way. When they went to lunch Vavra held an apparently safe three up lead after touring the course in a record breaking 70, but it looked like another story when they started the final 18 holes.

Vavra's irons were not working well, while Jordan was collecting pars and birdies.

Jordan won the nineteenth and twentieth on par fours, when Vavra missed the green with his second shot on both holes. A 50 footer run-up by Vavra saved him in the twenty-first after his second failed to reach the green. Jordan plunked home a 15 footer for a dove at the short twenty-third to square the match, but he three-putted the next green to slip back. He came back on the twenty-fifth to hole a 20 footer for a birdie three and planted another 20 footer home on the next hole to go into the lead.

Halve in Fives

They halved the twenty-seventh in fives, giving Jordan a 34 for the outside nine, two under par, to equal Vavra's sizzling outside round of the morning.

The return home, however, was a different story again. Vavra got his irons under control and his putter was working regularly after they halved the twenty-eighth in fives, one over par. His two 12 foot putts on the next two greens placed him back in the lead. Then he hit the pin on the approach to the thirty-first, and he holed out for a three. A par on the next and then his downhill putt from eight feet brought the match to an end.

Merle Robins Enters Valley Net Tourney

Leading the list of early entries to the University of Iowa's first annual Mississippi Valley championship tennis tourney were the names of Merle Robins of Ames, Frank Brody of Des Moines, and Lake Churchill of Galesburg, Ill.

Other prominent entries received by Robert T. Conrad of the tournament committee were those of Ted Swenson of Cedar Rapids, Ronald Reddig of Rock Island, Dick Goepel also of Rock Island, Walter Theiss, and Robert Chaffee.

The entry lists close Tuesday evening. Actual play gets under way Wednesday morning and will continue through Saturday until title holders in three events are determined.

Robins is a former tri-state champ and last year's state champion. Churchill is both a tri-cities and Galesburg title owner. Reddig and Theiss are Iowa varsity winners.

The 11 permanent trophies have arrived and will be on display at Bremer's today. The traveling trophies are expected to be here by Monday.

Side Track Match

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—The much-discussed rubber match between Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Petrolle, after being side tracked for a time by the New York State Athletic commission, will feature the next big outdoor fistic show under Madison Square Garden's promotion, either Aug. 13 or 20.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

Serious complaints against the umpiring in the National league have been made to President John Heydler of the circuit with such strenuousness that action is likely to be taken towards the reorganization of the staff of arbiters.

Evidence that something is wrong with the umpiring is to be found in the banishment of Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs and Coach Ray Schalk of the New York Giants. Several days later Manager John McGraw of the Manhattan crew was suspended and fined. Hornsby and Schalk were assessed fines of $50 each.

Before those instances took place Lefty O'Doul of the Robins was fined $50 for protesting a decision. Many other cases of smaller importance have been recorded in the National league this season.

President Heydler is reported to be on a tour of the circuit stations now to observe the umpiring. While stopping off in Chicago Heydler discussed the probability of remodeling the staff along the lines of the American league with an arbitrator-in-chief.

The Cards, who appear to be headed directly for the National league bunting, are up at the top because of superlative pitching—so says their manager, Gabby Street. The success of the Red Birds is not attributable to heavy hitting, Gabby asserts. "At times our attack is of the powder puff variety."

He argues that the explanation of how the St. Louisians manage to remain perched on the league's uppermost bough is to be found in Paul Derringer, Bill Hallahan, Jess Haines, the old Bull Hahn, and the lesser lights of the hurling staff.

Clubs with an idea towards upbuilding their strength probably make a greater effort to obtain skilled twirlers rather than sluggers. Baseball scouts today are scanning the sandlots for fencebusting hitters. Perhaps they should look harder for able hurlers.

Cedar Rapids Plays Return Tennis Match

The Cedar Rapids tennis team that downed the Iowa City six in a match on the country club courts their last Sunday will play a return match here this afternoon. Play will start at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the university courts.

The Farior City team will be the same as played in the first match. Their lineup will be composed of Ted Swenson, newly appointed Iowa coach, No. 1 man and captain; Bell Raymond, former Coe college netster and winner of the Iowa conference title; No. 2, J. U. Yessler, No. 3, Walter Theiss, one of the Hawkeye varsity last year; No. 4, L. D. Dennis, No. 5, and Ralph Yull, No. 6.

In the hopes of revenge for their defeat at Cedar Rapids the Iowa City team will have a slightly different lineup: Bob Conrad, the local No. 1 man last Sunday, will again play in this position. Bob Chaffee will fill the No. 2 post, and F. R. "Dick" Boyles is to be the No. 3 man. All of these three men are former Old Gold tennis stars.

The other members of the local team are Leon Miller, athletic coach at La Crosse Teachers college in Wisconsin, No. 4; either Prof. Jacob Van der Zee or M. B. Mott, No. 5, and R. G. Nichols, former Iowa State Teachers college star, No. 6.

In the doubles, for Cedar Rapids, Swenson and Raymond will play No. 1; Yessler and Theiss, No. 2, and Dennis and Yull, No. 3.

Conrad and Chaffee and Boyles and Miller will be the No. 1 and 2 doubles combinations for Iowa City, while R. H. Fitzgerald and Professor Van der Zee will pair off for the No. 3 team.

Hunt Meets Barton

STOUX FALLS, S. D., July 24 (AP)—Charles Hunt of San Francisco, the titleholder, and Horace Barton of Sioux Falls will meet Saturday for the championship of the South Dakota open tennis tournament here. It will be the second successive year the two battled in the finals for the title.

John Tatom of Omaha, who defaulted yesterday, was offered a semi-finals match today and was defeated by Hunt, 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Barton had little difficulty whipping Paul Halpine of Omaha, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Steele Tosses McMillen

PHILADELPHIA, July 24 (AP)—Ray Steele of California used a body slam tonight to throw Jim McMillen of Chicago in 52 minutes, 4 seconds, in the first of elimination bouts which will pick a challenger of the heavyweight title claimed by Jim London of St. Louis.

Root Turns in Eleventh Win of Season for Chicagoans

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Charley Root and Ben Cantwell pitched shut-out baseball until the last of the eighth today but then Cantwell weakened and the Cubs captured a 3 to 1 decision over the Boston Braves in the third of the series.

Both Root and Cantwell had won their last starts by 1 to 0 scores, and it appeared that this would be another by that count. In the eighth Hemsley opened with a double and went to third on Root's sacrifice. Blair singled scoring Hemsley. Jurges walked and Cuyler doubled to score two more runs and cinch the game.

Boston ended Root's streak of 22 scoreless innings in the ninth when Urbanski doubled and crossed the plate on two long flies. The win was Root's eleventh of the season, and put the Cubs back in third place.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Boston.....000 000 001—1 4 0 Chicago.....000 000 003—3 5 1 Batteries—Cantwell and Cronin; Root and Hemsley.

Frey Pitches Reds to Win Over Giants

CINCINNATI, July 24 (AP)—The Reds gained a 2-1 lead in their series with the New York Giants when Benny Frey's steady pitching enabled them to score a 5 to 3 victory.

Frey limited the Giants to seven hits and Lench's triple, which brought a consolation run in the ninth, was the only extra base blow. The Reds made the most of their long distance wallpops, which included four doubles and two triples. Bill Walker, who opposed Frey, was hit for a pinch batsman in the eighth and Cincinnati landed on John Berry for two counters that put the game on ice.

Score by innings: R. H. E. New York.....002 000 001—3 7 1 Cincinnati.....001 200 025—5 9 0 Batteries—Walker, Berly and O'Farrell; Frey and Sukerforth.

Robins' 21 Blows Not Enough to Win

PITTSBURGH, July 24 (AP)—Brooklyn's batters collected 21 hits today but due to Larry French's fine relief pitching the Pirates defeated the Robins, 8 to 7.

French stepped in when Brooklyn had scored three runs and had the bases full in the ninth. He forced Lombardi, a pinch hitter, to pop to Thevenow and then Frederick lined to Grookloss, who doubled Slide off second and saved the game.

The Pirates clouted Watson Clark for 11 hits in the first four innings to produce all their runs. Eddie Phillips hit a homer and Pie Traynor tripled with the bases full. Five double plays helped out the Pirates' hurlers.

Babe Herman and Lefty O'Doul got nine of the Brooklyn hits, O'Doul hitting five straight and Herman getting a homer among his four.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Brooklyn.....101 010 013—7 21 0 Pittsburgh.....130 000—8 13 2 Batteries—Clark, Moore and Lopez; Meine, Osborne, Spencer, French and Phillips.

ST. LOUIS, July 24 (AP)—The Cardinals defeated the Phillies in both ends of a double header today 10 to 0 and 7 to 2. The double victory, together with Pittsburgh's victory over the second place Brooklyn Robins, increased the Cardinals' lead in the National league pennant race to eight full games.

Flint Rhem pitched the opener, allowing the Phillies only four hits, while the Red Birds pounded Jumbo Jim Elliott, and Stewart Bolen for 17, including a home run by Pepper Martin. It brought Rhem's record for the season up to the 500 mark.

In the nightcap Old Burleigh Grimes pitched steady ball, giving up nine hits but keeping them well scattered. The Cards drove Fildgety Phil Collins from the mound in the sixth when they scored four runs.

Macks Ahead by 2-1; Rain Stops Contest

Eleventh Straight for Athletics in Six Innings

PHILADELPHIA, July 24 (AP)—Rain which stopped the game in the seventh inning after Cleveland had scored the tying run and which rendered the field too muddy for further play, helped the Philadelphia Athletics to a six inning victory today, 2 to 1.

The rain came in the Indian's half of the seventh with one out and Glenn Myatt resting on second. Mahaffey was thus returned the victor over Clint Brown for his tenth win of the season. The Macks won the game in the second inning when doubles by Miller and Williams, a single by McNair and Montague's costly error allowed them to score two runs. It was the Athletics' eleventh straight victory.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cleveland.....100 000—1 3 1 Philadelphia.....020 000—2 7 0 Batteries—Brown and Myatt; Mahaffey and Cochrane.

Fraser Gives 5 Hits; White Sox Win by 3-1

BOSTON, July 24 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated Boston, 3 to 1, behind the five-hit pitching of Vic Fraser at Fenway park today. Fraser would have had a shutout but for his own error in the fifth inning which let in an unearned Boston run.

The White Sox scored their winning runs in the eighth inning on doubles by Reynolds and Watwood and Kerr's single. Their victory evened the series at two games apiece. The final game will be played tomorrow.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Chicago.....010 000 020—3 8 2 Boston.....000 010 000—1 5 2 Batteries—Fraser and Grube; Lisencoe and Berry.

Tigers Fail to Hold Early Lead; Lose 6-5

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—After holding the Yankees to one hit in six innings, Elton Hossett, Detroit left hander, weakened in the ninth and let New York score three runs and win the game 6 to 5.

Hossett gave three runs in the second and then pitched shutout ball up to the final frame while the Tigers, timely hitting against Vernon Gomez and Johnny Stone's home run gave Detroit a 5-3 lead. Lou Gehrig opened the ninth with a single and Chapman doubled, Gehrig scored on Larry's fly and Chapman tied the score on Lazzari's single. Ruffing came through with a pinch single, and Sammy Byrd, who won yesterday's game, came through again with a single to bring Reese, who ran for Lazzari, home with the winning counter.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Detroit.....000 203 000—5 12 0 New York.....030 000 003—6 10 2 Batteries—Hossett and Hayworth; Gomez and Dickey.

"Leek" Merrill's colts put on their last exhibition of the season in the dusk loop last night at Iowa field against Sidwell's, the latter team winning 5 to 3.

The dairy men got busy early, making the first delivery in the second inning when Rosenberg lived on Roose' bobble and scored on Miller's hit. Wait Foo counted in the third on his own hit and two errors. Miller went around the bases in the fourth on his own hit, a stolen base and George Foo's safe one to center.

All was quiet until the seventh when Kennedy opened with a bingle to left and scored on "Windy" Brown's long triple to the same sector. Brown came on home when Roose lost the relay from Redman. The Supply boys didn't do much until the fourth when their supply of runs increased by one on Charley Wagner's single to left on which he ultimately scored as a result of a

Five Shoot 68 in First 18 Holes of Rich St. Paul Open

KELLER CLUB, ST. PAUL, Minn., July 24 (AP)—The initial 18 hole skirmish for the $10,000 St. Paul open golf championship today brought a wholesale slaughter of par and a traffic jam around the whip seat.

Five of the 170 starters in the struggle for the high bag of gold—Percy Allis of Germany, Audrey Boomer of France, George Von Elm of Los Angeles, Horton Smith of Detroit and Julius Akerboom of Little Rock, Ark.—brezed over the none too difficult Keller club layout with smart 69's, three shots under par figures, to rush into a deadlock for the lead, while 15 others chipped from one to two strokes off par for the distance.

The wholesale attack on par left a closely bunched field in the struggle which ends with 54 more holes by Sunday night and left the gallery pondering over the probable winning total.

Synopsis of Preceding Instalments: After ten years in the "three-day houses," Benny Darrell and his wife, Flo Sloane, are Broadway favorites...

Ninth Instalment: "I'm curious to see the mistress of the house — and her consort," said Rita Elliot to Henry Henry...

"Have you a cigarette?" Rita Elliot picked up the blue shagreen box from the table and put it down. "These are gold topped."

"Thank Heaven," smiled Rita Elliot, taking one, "there are a few strong men left who still smoke my favorite brand."

"Don't be a cat, Henry," Rita Elliot turned away from the photograph. "Here's Maggie now!" exclaimed Henry Henry.

"Oh, don't be so brutal, Maggie!" retorted that young man. "Lady Margaret has done our house beautifully, don't you think?" ventured Flo.

"Yes, I want to see it all," said Rita Elliot. Flo envied her cool composure. These people were all so sure of themselves.

"I want you to see Mrs. Darrell's bedroom," said Lady Margaret. "It's divine, if I do say so. Come along, I'll show it to you now. You don't mind, do you?"

a weary gesture. "I like everything but those curtains. They're too baroque for the room ensemble."

"I don't like them, Maggie. I'm sorry—I simply don't like them." "Well," suggested Benny hospitably, "we'll have 'em taken right down."

"Listen, Honey—I thought we took this place for a rest. But you been workin' so hard havin' a rest that ya'll be all tired out when it comes time t' go back on the job."

"Who—me?" "How could you say what you did to Mr. Henry—about his name?" "What did I say?" Benny's eyes were wide with innocence.

"Don't know," said Rita Elliot. And, with a gracious smile that included both of them, she followed the others out into the hall.

"Who—me?" "And will you please stop saying, 'Who—me?'" "All right, Flo. If it's out with you, it's out with me."

"How many times," she sighed, "have I asked you not to call me 'Flo?'" "I didn't mean t' insult ya with it, Baby. I mean callin' ya that for years."

"My name is Fleurette." "O. K. Ya can call yourself Mary Garden—but ya'll still be Mammy to me!" He smiled at her affectionately.

"You were very rude to those people," she said sternly. "Who—me?" "How could you say what you did to Mr. Henry—about his name?"

Ya know, we adnt had nothin' comin' in since the show closed—that's two months, now. An' we won't be workin' again for another month—an' we adnt signed for new contracts, at that."

"LeGrand is twice as anxious to sign that contract as we are. We can get anything we want from him."

SHENANDOAH, July 24 (AP)—Henry Butt, 36, Northboro farmer, tonight was in a hospital here in a critical condition with a skull fracture while a neighbor, Minor Harlan, 25, was held on charges of assault as his assailant.

Witnesses said that Butt and Harlan were members of a threshing crew working on the farm of Herman Sickman, about 12 miles from Shenandoah, and that Harlan struck the older man with a pitchfork during an argument after Harlan's horses had nibbled at bundles in Butt's wagon.

Butt and Harlan are married and each is the father of two children. Ed Hisley, night marshal, was called to the Sickman farm and made the arrest. The information was filed by William Butt, a brother. ### Forest Fires Break Out in New Ranges

National Guard Troops; Volunteers Called to Aid Fight

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 24 (AP)—New fires broke out today in Wyoming a few hours after forest officials said other flames, some of them burning for two weeks and threatening valuable ranch property, were checked.

National guard troops were requested to fight a fire that broke out anew today near Cassa. Volunteers were organized and pending developments the troops were not sent.

1,000 Acres Burn Quickly
Another new fire occurred in the Teton region near Laramie outside the Medicine Bow national forest. About 1,000 acres was quickly burned and aid was requested from Denver.

A crew of several hundred begrimmed and tired dude ranch guests had aided forest officials and other volunteers in checking flames on Jockey's fork in the scenic Dubois country that threatened several dude ranches. The C. M. Dude ranch was in the path of the flames until the wind shifted and today officials said they believed there was no immediate danger.

Check Park Fires
Fires in Yellowstone national park, Grand Teton national forest and in the Black Hills of northeastern Wyoming were checked, at least temporarily.

The last check showed about 20,000 acres burned in Yellowstone and approximately 12,000 acres in Teton national forest, where flames were still out of control.

National guard troops fighting fires in the Black Hills said ranch property was no longer endangered. Crews were rushed to a new fire that broke out in the Blacktail region.

5,500 Acres Burned
In the Dubois territory about 5,500 acres had been burned on Jockey's fork. On Whiskey mountain a fire was still out of control after burning 4,000 acres but forest officials believed it could be kept from heavy timber on Torrey creek. A fire on Frontier creek north of Dubois was under control. The forest service in Colorado and Nebraska were rushed to the Dubois and Black Hills area to aid in directing the battle with the flames.

Graf Zeppelin Ready for Hop to Cold Arctic

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin was waiting at the air-drome on the outskirts of Berlin tonight, prepared to start early tomorrow morning for Leningrad on her expedition to the Arctic.

The big dirigible was flown today from her home port of Friedrichshafen, landing here at 6 p. m. Her commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, expects to depart at 4 a. m. tomorrow.

The ship was welcomed here by Mayor Heinrich Sahn, the Russian ambassador and a group of other officials. Two American experts, Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Smith of the United States coast guard and Lincoln Ellsworth, are among the 46 men on the expedition.

Lieutenant Commander Smith said he believed the present zeppelin expedition would be of value to future study of glacial conditions in the Greenland region. He will be entrusted with the work of making ice and navigation observations. He has had 10 years of patrol duty in the North Atlantic to observe ice-bergs and to report their movements to steamships.

Militiamen Guard Election Officials

MAYERSVILLE, Miss., July 24 (AP)—Armed with two sub-machine guns, two riot guns, rifles, pistols and bayonets, 18 state militiamen stood guard in the courthouse here today while the three Issaquena county election commissioners revised the list of voters eligible to cast ballots in the August 4 primary.

The presence of the troops, sent here by Governor Theodore G. Bilbo at the request of L. C. Dulaney, commission chairman and a delegation of Issaquena county women, was regarded as a joke by many of the townsmen who said there had not been any trouble and none was expected. Others, however, said they felt safer with the troops around. The commissioners resumed their task today and were expected to finish sometime tomorrow.

War Heads Order Change of Division

OMAHA, July 24 (AP)—War department orders received at seventh corps area offices here today, directed transfer of headquarters of the 14th brigade from Ft. Omaha to Ft. Snelling, Minn.

Brigadier General John H. Hughes, now on duty with the First corps at Boston and recently appointed commander of the brigade, will report for duty at Ft. Snelling August 1, instead of at Ft. Omaha, as previously announced.

Post at Court, Summit Streets Marks Original City Boundary First County Jail Sold for $60

Evidence of the original boundaries of Iowa City is to be found at the corner of Court and Summit streets in a stone post which was erected nearly 90 years ago. The post marks the southeast limit of the city as laid out in the first plan.

The monument is of gray limestone, and sits on a base 18 inches square, tapering slightly as it rises to a height of six feet. Vines, and years of exposure to the weather have practically obliterated the inscriptions on the post.

Van Buren President
According to an article by Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, "Iowa City, a contribution to the early history of Iowa," the inscription on the east face of the post was "M. Van Buren, president of the U. S., and R. Lucas, governor of the territory." The wording on the west side was, "Iowa City, the capital of Iowa territory as situated on section number 10, township 29 N. R. 6W of the 5th pr.m. located May 4, 1839, by Messrs. Chauncey Swan, John Reynolds, and Robert Ralston. Commrs. and surveyed by Messrs. Cos, Frierson, and Judson under direction of C. Swan, act'g com."

Marks Illegible
Faint grooves in the surface of the stone are all that remain of the inscriptions, and illegible black marks are evidence of the enterprise of early Iowa City merchants, who once used the north and south surfaces as a place to post advertisements.

The plans of L. Judson, for the city of Iowa City, in 1839, provided for 23 streets, one avenue, and one promenade, the latter extending along the east bank of the river. Near the west edge of the town 12 acres were designated as "Capitol park," the proposed site for the new state house. The land on which the chemistry laboratories are now located was set aside as the city park.

Started 1839
According to the article, surveyors started work July 1, 1839, stopping only for the celebration of the Fourth of July. Clusters of early settlers gathered in Capitol park where the addresses were to be delivered. Dinner had been prepared at the regular Indian trading post, four miles south of town, and was brought to the meeting in a lumber wagon.

The article also tells of the building of a court house and a jail with the proceeds from the first sale of lots in Iowa City. The jail was of brick, and was built at the corner of Prentiss and Clinton streets. Because of the number of prisoners escaping, the jail building was later sold to a citizen for $60.

Professor Shambaugh, author of the article is the head of the political science department, and president of the Iowa Historical society.

Legislature Takes Move to Open Bridge After Texas, Oklahoma Governor Fight

DURANT, Okla., July 24 (AP)—As Oklahoma national guardsmen and Texas rangers faced each other across the Red river tonight it appeared that the "war of bridges" would be short-lived and humdrum from the military standpoint, the lawmakers of Texas having acted quickly to reestablish peace.

A bill which the legislators at Austin believed would remove the cause of war was passed at Austin and dispatched to Houston this afternoon for the signature of Governor Ross S. Sterling.

Legal Move Expected
Legal moves were expected to follow resulting in throwing open to traffic the Denton-Durant free bridge, about which interstate hostilities have centered.

Meanwhile, all was quiet on the battle front. A detachment of 33 Oklahoma national guardsmen patrolled a small martial law zone at the Oklahoma end of the Denton toll bridge which has been barricaded by Governor W. H. Murray who wants the free bridge opened.

Rangers on Duty
On the other side of the river, five Texas rangers guarded the south end of the free bridge, which Governor Ross S. Sterling ordered kept closed until lifting of a federal court injunction obtained by the toll bridge owners against use of the free structure. Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett of Oklahoma said that there would be nothing spectacular about the affair but that no one would be allowed in the zone without passes and that martial law might be lifted.

U.S., Once Holder of Speed Records, to Seek Air Mark

WASHINGTON, July 24—Nine hundred and thirty-one miles an hour, the speed of the world's fastest airplane, is being sought by the United States, which has been out of the lead in the air.

Former U. S. Records
Where once upon a time the speed demons of the U.S.A. held the records for automobile, motorboat and airplane racing now every mark is proudly held by the sons of John Bull and there doesn't seem much of a chance of wresting them away from him except in one direction. And that's up—in the air.

When the shortcomings of America are paraded in the field of speed, the necessity of action on this side of the Atlantic becomes more acute. Squadron Leader O. H. Orlebar, of the British Royal Air force, was the man who roared away with the Schneider cup in last races for the famous trophy in 1929. The last time America captured the cup was in 1925, thereafter being obliged to relinquish her advantage without even a struggle.

Sir Malcolm Campbell
Sir Malcolm Campbell, another Britisher, holds the world's speed record at automobile racing with his powerful Bluebird II, Kaye Don, driving Miss England II at terrific speeds over the water, holds the motorboat racing speed for the country his craft is named after.

Fortunately for the prestige of the United States, congress, under the sharp criticism of Rep. Florio H. La Guardia, of New York, who commanded an aviation squadron in the World war, has appropriated $220,000 for the navy department to turn out an airplane and a motor to drive it which, it is hoped, will sweep all opposition from the skies.

Engineers At Work
Engineers, whose identity is being closely guarded, are working feverishly on a new airplane motor which, it is confidently expected, will regain the racing laurels of the sky for this nation. Naval experts count on this new and mysterious motor to beat a plane Great Britain is entering in the 1931 cup races and which is reported to have a speed of 275 miles an hour. England won the last race with an average speed of 328.05 miles per hour, while Italy won in 1926 with a speed, then considered 300 miles an hour.

Every morsel of information, no matter how trivial, is being carefully kept secret concerning the mystery engine now under development for the navy's racer of the skies. While no contract has been let for construction of the plane authorities feel that their greatest obstacle will be overcome when a record-breaking motor has been turned out.

The Mercury Racer
Lieut. Alford J. ("Al") Williams, who resigned from the service shortly after he failed to get the Mercury racer representing the navy into the air during trials for the Schneider cup in 1929, also has made desperate efforts to get the United States to take an active interest in regaining its lost honors in the air. His efforts, added to those of Representative La Guardia and Assistant Secretary Ingalls, finally have reaped their reward.

Every indication is that the American navy, when 1933 rolls around, will have an entry in the Schneider cup races which will make even the old blase world roll its optics.

Wife's Career Robs Her of Husband, Says Writer
PARIS, July 24 (AP)—Women can't mix marriage and careers, in the opinion of the former wife of Sinclair Lewis, who has plunged into the writing field with a novel.

"A good deal of this talk of women's success in double careers is nonsense," says Mrs. Grace Hegger Lewis, now on an automobile tour of France with her 14 year old son, Wells, a student at Andover.

"Women can be both wives and workers for a little while—but they can't keep it up.

"There comes a day when your husband thinks the most important issue in the world is whether or not you take a walk with him. You can't do it if you have a job—and you have to make your choice."

Mrs. Lewis, whose marriage to the author of "Main Street" was dissolved several years ago, was formerly cosmetic editor of a fashion magazine and later editor of the house organ for a manufacturer of cosmetics.

Her plunge into fiction came a little more than two years ago, when stimulated by the conviction that "parents and their children are always strangers to one another," she began an autobiography for her son.

Hungry Hiker Gets Term in Prison for Assault on Motorist
KANSAS CITY, July 24 (AP)—Joseph Greco, 22, of Chicago, who said he was prompted by hunger to shoot a man who gave him an automobile ride when the motorist resisted a holdup, today was sentenced to 50 years in the state penitentiary.

Judge A. Sanford Lyon, in passing sentence, said he did it "as a warning to other hitch-hikers."

Greco pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rob.

Rudolph Petersek, Topeka salesman, who gave Greco and a girl companion a ride, is recovering from two bullet wounds.

Greco and the girl, Martha Davis, 17, of Virden, Ill., fled on foot after the bungled robbery attempt and were arrested Tuesday in a Kansas City rooming house.

Wheat Drags Down Prices of All Grain
CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Sunk of its own weight, the wheat market today dragged down all other grain. Low prices failed to stimulate export business or speculative demand. Acting as a wet blanket was an explicit authoritative statement that at this time the government sponsored grain stabilization corporation had no negotiations under way for wholesale disposal of 250,000,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-2 to 1 cent lower, corn unchanged to 1-4 cent, oats showing 3-8 to 7-8 decline, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents setback.

Most of the selling of wheat consisted of hedging against price-chasers of newly harvested grain. Receipts were smaller than a week back, 2,726 cars at the 13 principal markets, and mills were fairly good buyers, but neither factors proved sufficient to uphold the market, although crop reports from spring wheat territory both sides of the Canadian line were bullish in regard to high temperatures and black rust, such news fell flat, and the wheat trade also ignored strength shown at times by corn prices.

Transient upturns in corn resulted from anxiety concerning likelihood of crop damage in some sections as a result of hot weather and drought. Oats sympathized with wheat rather than corn.

Provisions as well as grains lacked adequate buying support.

Closing Indentments: wheat—Sept. 52-52 1-8, 52 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. 53 3-8 to 1-2, 57 1-8 to 1-4; corn—July 56 1-2, 59; Sept. 48 3-4 to 49, 51 1-8 to 1-4; Dec. 48 5-8 to 3-4, 44 3-4 to 7-8.

Man Identified by Sheriff as Gun Assailant

COUNCIL BLUFFS, July 24 (AP)—A man killed here by a policeman had been identified tonight as the one who shot Deputy Sheriff Rex Young of Cass county, Nebraska, in an escape last fall at Plattsmouth, Neb.

The name of the dead man had not been established, however, and police were holding a companion, Harry Harnell of Johnson City, Tenn., who said he knew him only as "Shorty."

Patrolman Charles Esbeck shot the man when he believed the latter was attempting to draw a gun. Esbeck had stopped a car in which the two men were riding and was questioning them. Harnell's companion leaped a hedge and turned to fire, the officer said.

Deputy Sheriff Young viewed the body and identified the man as his assailant on a passenger train last Oct. 13. Young said he had arrested the man in connection with a hold-up but that the prisoner drew a pistol and shot him five times.

Officers were advised that the car the pair was driving when stopped here early today was identified as belonging to the city of Davenport, having been stolen July 14. The license plates were believed to have been taken from a car belonging to Elmer O. Lindlow of Muscatine.

Stocks Take Light Fall in Big Turnover

Traders Forget News of Foreign Finance in Day's Rush

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Foreign news lost weight as a market factor today, but stock traders quickly remembered that there was a depression at home and prices in principal issues generally closed 1 to 5 points lower. The turnover expanded to 1,079,630 shares.

Foreign bonds sold off, although in lighter volume, and domestic stocks steadied. Wheat and corn eased, cotton lost in the neighborhood of $1.50 a bale and silver was a shade higher. Sterling exchange rallied against the dollar; nevertheless the bank of England lost roughly $26,600,000 in gold to Paris.

More Confident
Speculative circles seemed considerably more confident that a dividend cut was on the way for United States Steel Common, a view that had a depressing effect on all stocks. Prices were off at the opening, recovered slightly and then settled into a groove in which the movement was so slow that recent records for dullness threatened to be broken.

Steel, American Can, Allied Chemical, Case, McKeesport Tin Plate, New York Central and Union Pacific lost 3 points or thereabouts. Aetna Insurance lost 2 points.

Draw on England Bank
The continued drain on the Bank of England's gold reserve, now close to the January low and well into the so-called cumulative minimum, caused bankers here to wonder whether the discount rate would not have to be jacked up still further to bring in funds. It was thought the outflow to the continent might continue into next week. The rise of seven-eighths of a cent in sterling here was attributed partly to absence of pressure in anticipation of the week end, and exchange dealers would not hazard a prediction as to the ultimate effects of the higher rate until a little more time has elapsed.

Foreign exchanges generally improved with sterling, although Dutch and French rates were cut off. The Swiss franc was strong. Reichsmarks did a little better.
