Naumann Freed of Misconduct Charge by Burlington Judge

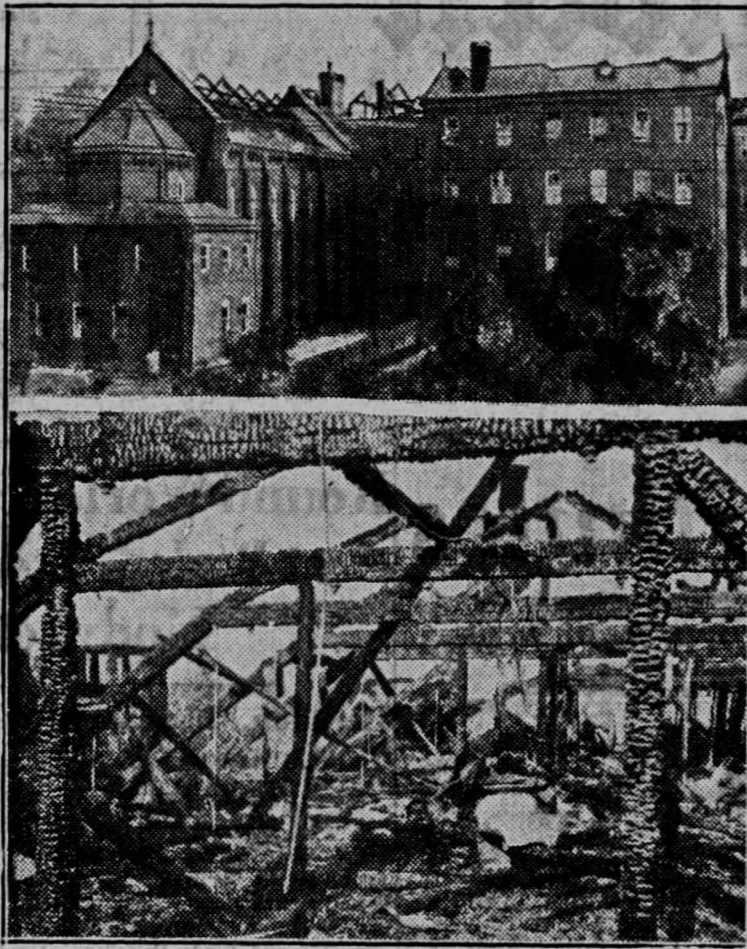

BURLINGTON, July 29 (AP)—E. L. Naumann, for 18 years a member of the Des Moines county board of supervisors, today was exonerated of charges of misconduct in office in a decision by Judge A. B. Lovejoy. The state had charged Naumann with having collected excessive mileage fees, incompetency and private use of county property. In a 14-page decision Judge Lovejoy said "the court finds nothing in the record of this case to indicate a corrupt purpose upon the part of the defendant Naumann or that any fraud or imposition was practiced upon the county." "The conclusion and judgment of the court is that the petition in all its parts must be and is dismissed." The court also awarded Naumann judgment for costs against the state, including attorneys fees which the court fixed at $450.

Infantile Paralysis Outbreak Feared

DES MOINES, July 29 (AP)—Physicians were warned by Dr. D. C. Steelsmith, state health commissioner, to guard against a possible outbreak of infantile paralysis. Dr. Steelsmith said that it was possible that the outbreak reported in New York city might travel to other parts of the country. Sixteen cases of the disease have been reported in the state so far this year, he said.

Review of High School Band

By MARTIN BRUHL (Guest Critic, The Daily Iowan)
Prof. Charles B. Richter knows, and I am sure, loves his Iowa City audiences. They are a responsive group of music lovers and the most indefatigable applauders to be found outside a Latin country. I dialed in station WSUI last night just as the enthusiastic leader and his 1931 Iowa all state high school band were finishing a rousing account of the Laurendeau March and I promptly caught the contagious spirit of the vast audience gathered at the Old Capital oval. Professor Richter continued with the Lustspiel overture. The reaction convinced me that the best cure for the prevailing depression of the state's morale is the music of these young Iowans.

sions to traditional American indifference to fine music, nor does he spare them in the matter of difficulty, within reason. This year's band aspired with quite justified confidence to a concert arrangement of Safranek's Don Quixote suite and what they did with the lovely melodies and lively Spanish rhythms was well worth witnessing.

Audience Pleased No professional gloom dispeller could provoke a midsummer audience to applause so prolonged and vociferous. Not even the appearance of the soloist, Arthur Berdahl could silence it. This evidently embarrassed neither the conductor nor the soloist who set briskly about the pleasant duties imposed upon the soloist and hand by grief's heart wounds.

I venture before the term ends the band will agree with Mr. Richter that band music, too, may freely become the voice of the heart, as well as stir the pulse. For me Richter is an expert in this entirely different technique of the concert band as he is in the department of the symphony. And he has certain quite definite and individual traits as a bandmaster such as discovering the wit and grace in Victor Herbert's music and at the same time avoiding excessive rubato, that appeal with especial force to the routined listener.

Gossick, Wiegold Ben Gossick of Fairfield scored high with last evening's audience in Bohms "Calm as the Night" for trumpet. He has the gift of the fine art of musical address. And his tone touches the sympathies. The audience applauded him rapturously, which makes it easy to add my printed applause.
During the intermission I dialed in a dozen stations, and it was cheering to turn back to WSUI and hear Carl Wiegold, the tympnist of the Iowa band, come out with an E flat and dominant at the opening of the Safranek suite that were models in intonation. There was pep in his snare, too, in the Sousa opus. A real drummer peeps up the band. The broadcasts of the summer concert are a vital part of the service of the university to the cultural development of Iowa.

Wives As yet they have not faced each other.
Mary Perry came to help defend her husband, who abandoned her and their three children to enter upon his "marrying career." She attended court sessions today, greeting Perry affectionately. Mrs. Gebhardt remained away and court attaches said she would remain in seclusion until called to testify for the state.

Accused Man Views Scene of Slaying While Judge, Jury in Case Scan Surroundings

EAGLE RIVER, Wis., July 29 (AP)—George (Jiggs) Perry, Milwaukee's multi-married brakeman, stood silent today in a secluded place on the Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation, near here, while the judge and jury in his trial for the slaying of Cora Belle Hackett, Chicago, examined the spot where her body was found nearly a year ago. Perry stared straight ahead while attorneys pointed to a spot of bare ground on a winding, wooded path, where a hunter discovered Mrs. Hackett's body, a bullet through the head, several weeks after she and Perry concluded a honeymoon at H. W. Parker's resort last summer.

Rescue Nears for Miner Trapped in Pennsylvania Mine MINERSVILLE, Pa., July 29 (AP)—Members of the rescue party attempting to dig their way through a mass of rock and coal separating them from Stanley Kirinski, 45, entombed in the Lytle mine of the Susquehanna collieries company here since Monday night, said tonight they expected to reach the miner within several hours. Although communication with the trapped miner ceased late last night, the rescue party still hoped he was alive. Communication had been established by tapping on an iron pipe through the debris. It was believed Kirinski might have gone further back in the tunnel for better air, or the pipe had broken. There is little danger of the miner suffocating, mine officials said.

Dental Bureau Mailing List Shows Gain

Add 16 New Counties to Group; Expect Record

With the addition of 16 new counties to the mailing list of the bureau of dental hygiene, Dr. Thomas A. Gardner, director of the bureau, anticipates the setting of a new record for the coming school year. More than a ton of literature promoting modern dental hygiene will be sent out within the next 10 days, says Dr. Gardner. This literature consists of bulletins, posters, charts, and filing cards for the students of rural schools, and instruction for the teachers.

68 Received Service Last year 68 counties received this service, and this year Dr. Gardner does not expect more than 10 per cent of those counties to fail to renew their subscriptions, so that with the 16 new counties added, the total should be in the neighborhood of 80. Thirty-five of last year's subscribers have already ordered their materials for the coming year.

Southeastern Iowa counties lead the list of those placing their first orders this year, with Appanoose, Davis, Van Buren, Lee, Des Moines, and Louisa counties already registered.

New Counties Other counties listed in the new group are Palo Alto, Franklin, Worth, Boone, Shelby, Story, Adams, Fayette, Chickasaw, and Howard. County superintendents will handle the materials for the rural schools, while a later distribution of literature to schools of about 600 cities will be handled by authorities in the cities themselves, says Dr. Gardner.

Oil Companies Fight to Avoid Shutdown

TULSA, Okla., July 29 (AP)—Executives of purchasing oil companies tonight were considering counter moves to Gov. W. H. Murray's ultimatum that he will call out the national guard, if necessary, to enforce a shutdown of all flush pools in the state unless the price of oil is increased to $1 a barrel by Saturday. None of the companies had announced a definite course of action. Some indicated they might seek an injunction in federal court to prevent Governor Murray from carrying out his threat, while other executives intimated their companies may ignore Murray's demand altogether, depending on other states for their crude oil requirements.

$50,000 Fire Burns Out West Side of Aurora Main Street

AURORA, July 30 (AP)—Fire which destroyed the entire west side of main street here tonight caused damages estimated at $50,000. Six buildings were destroyed by the flames. They were Bursley's General Store, the office and plant of the Aurora Weekly Observer, Taylor's restaurant, the Antwine Blacksmith shop, Trotter's Harness shop and the postoffice. The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out in the Taylor restaurant about 11 o'clock. It was under control at 1:30 after fire departments from Lamont, Dundee, Oelwein, Arlington and Stanley had brought aid. A light breeze helped the fire to spread. Hundreds of people from surrounding communities were attracted by the blaze. Aurora, in Buchanan county, is a town of about 500 population.

Guard Star Witness for California Trial

LOS ANGELES, July 29 (AP)—George Crawford, brother of Charles Crawford, slain politician, was taken into technical custody by deputy sheriffs tonight and placed under guard at a hotel. Crawford, star witness at the murder trial next week of David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, declared mysterious men have been lurking about his home four nights and that he feared an attempt would be made to prevent him testifying. The sheriff's office said Crawford's removal to the hotel was a measure of protection.

An Ounce of Prevention

GRASSHOPPER invasions on Johnson county crops are now a reality, and at least one farmer has begun a desperate fight against the insect menace which has already stripped fields in northwestern Iowa.

Experts declare that the disaster which has occurred in other parts of the state will affect eastern Iowa only in isolated sections this year, but unless rigid precautions are observed, the scattered herds will lay enough eggs to blast 1932 crop hopes.

It is difficult for anyone to realize how serious such an insect invasion can be until he has had an opportunity to see the grasshoppers at work. They are fully capable of completely stripping a thriving alfalfa field in a day, and when dozens of them begin work on each plant in a corn field it takes only a short time for a promising crop to be ruined.

Johnson county farmers are in a position to save themselves from disaster later by proper precautionary measures now.

Each farmer must do his part, for not only is he obliged to protect his own crops but those of his neighbor as well.

When Son Serves for Parents VARNER CORRY, 15 year old Chicago youth, is to spend the next 18 years of his life in prison.

In pronouncing his condemnation of the youngster Judge Joseph Sabath of the criminal court explained that the action was taken to exemplify a threefold purpose.

It is grim irony that the judge could not have administered some sort of punishment to the parents of this child.

Had they taken this precaution, and punctuated it with proper discipline on their child, Officer Edward Smith would have been alive today and their son would not be facing a prison sentence.

No Place for Outlaws THE UNITED STATES court of appeals in Chicago has reversed the convictions of five Indianapolis policemen on liquor charges.

The appeals court denounces the methods used by the prohibition agents, and is to be commended for doing so.

This decision is neither a blow to the prohibitionists nor a victory for the wets, notwithstanding the exulting comments already issuing from the wet press.

But this does not mean that the vigilance of the law shall be relaxed.

An Over Rated Army

EUROPEAN observers have recently been reprimanding the United States on the theory that too much money is spent by her in the furtherance of militaristic warfare.

"The charge becomes absurd," asserts the Paterson (N. J.) Call, "when we stop to consider that our army in size compares only with that of the third rate powers in Europe."

When this country builds a ship or a tank it must pay American wages to American workmen, and the cost is naturally more.

European critics are justified in protesting actual expansion of American military activity, but before leveling their criticism against United States military administration, let them be certain that their opinions are based upon all of the facts and not on partial, misleading statistics.

Contrary to widespread rumors that the United States Steel corporation was planning to cut wages to offset a drop in dividends officials said yesterday that its present wage scale will remain unchanged.

"Shocking to the court's sense of justice," was the verdict recently handed down in the case of prohibition enforcement agents who opened a saloon and pool room in Indianapolis to trap unwary policemen.

The obvious 1932 inference of that would be that it was up to Al to nominate Roosevelt for the presidency this time.

Why not? Mr. Roosevelt has three times nominated Mr. Smith for the job.

The other thing about the San FRANCISCO REASON: There certainly would be a lot of sentimental urge for San Francisco's entertaining a convention holding the prospect of Roosevelt's nomination.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON. WASHINGTON—The Bystander has observed with interest the evolution in New York Democratic circles—those aligned with the Franklin Roosevelt-for-President movement—of an outburst of enthusiasm for the selection of San Francisco as the 1932 Democratic convention city.

It is more or less synchronized with the arrival of Democratic State Chairman Farley of New York at the California city, and his reports of much Roosevelt sentiment among the western Democrats whom he encountered en route.

And the two-thirds nominating rule of the Democrats makes their show always a better investment for the merchants of any city than a Republican convention.

The Democrats are almost certain to stay longer and therefore spend more. Cleveland seemed to have the midsummer edge for the Republican convention.

It is proximity to that huge middle western agricultural territory that was seething with discontent over wheat prices gives it strategic importance.

It would not have to take the world of Democrats about that farm belt understood. Vice President Curtis and Senator Capper of Kansas were talking about it every day.

They made no bones about it. They were not happy at party prospects with the convention less than a year away.

Odd Fellows Whip Racine's 8 to 5 in First Game of Championship Series

Debates Mar 5 Inning Tilt at City Park

Joe Whiting Superior of Two Racine Hurlers

By BILL RUTLEDGE
The first of the three game championship series between the Odd Fellows and Racine's at city park last evening had a closer resemblance to a debating team meet than to a baseball battle.

The forensics opened up in the third inning when Empire Joe Carberry called Moore, lodge nine's catcher, safe on an attempted theft of second.

The voluble diamond orators were delivering their rebuttals when the contest was stopped in the fifth inning with the Odd Fellows out in front by 8 to 5.

Racine's Win Debating
The largest crowd of the Twilight league season howled at the decisions of the presiding arbiters. From the third round on time was devoted in every inning to the ball players' arguments.

Racine's were conceded a debating victory, but the Odd Fellows were accredited with the baseball win.

Use Two Pitchers
The lodge men hammered two rival pitchers for nine clauses. Joe Whiting was in continual danger; however, he was able to bear down in the pinches and was backed up with fine fielding.

Flake was given a handsome 3 to 0 in the second. He saw it slip away in the third when the L.O.O.F. contenders knotted the count 3-all.

Both teams went through their opening innings without a score. Racine's snatched a three run advantage in the second. Astle led off with a single to right. Gelfer wallopped onto a loudly applauded triple into right field, Astle sprinting home.

Snappy Double Play
Chief took a base on balls and scampered to second as Whiting was whiffing Kelleher. Fink dropped a Texas leaguer back of second with Geiser and Chief hurrying over the plate. Flake grounded into a snappy double play, Dohrer to Watkins to Sulek to end the inning.

The Odd Fellows were quick to tie the score. Palek walked and slid safely into second. Watking rapped a single into right field. Moore singled into right field. Moore singled and parried the next bag on a decision that was bowed lustily.

Palek Scored, Rarick Walked
Sulek slashed a single through shortstop that Greene divined for. A wild scene followed in which Watkins counted and Moore was trapped between home and third for an out.

The excitement raged on as Whiting whipped a fast grounder to short. As Greene stopped to get the ball, backscattered over the Racine shortstop on his way to third.

Disputation broke out over the freak play. Krotz lamined out a sacrifice fly to Gelfer. Rarick came in on the throw in and Sulek slid into third on another close play. Dohrer was out at first to terminate the stormy stanza.

Racine's Retain Lead
Racine's took back the lead in their part of the third by heading two runs. Brown started it off with a hit through Sulek's legs. Whiting raced over to cover first, but the throw from Turadek was wide and Brown went on to second.

Guessing bunted down to Whiting, whose peg to first was over Sulek's head. Brown scored on the play. Gelfer skirted out to Sulek. Chief struck out and Kelleher fainted out.

Lodge Out in Front
The lodge team began whittling down the cigar store outfit's margin at the opening of the fourth inning. Turadek walked. Paidk watched a third strike go over the plate. Watkins drew a pass. Moore set fans to yelling by whacking a single to center.

Flake departed from the pitcher's box, and Rantow went in. Rarick was safe as Greene fumbled his grounder. Watkins scoring. Greene made a nifty stop of Sulek's bounder and threw to Gluesing in an effort to nail Watkins. The throw was low and Watkins was safe.

Whiting walked to force in Moore and shove his team back in the lead, 6 to 5, as spectators roared. Astle stopped up Krotz's bunt and rifled the ball to Gluesing to get Moore. Dohrer struck out for the last put-out.

Two More Runs
The Odd Fellows capped it all with a two run rally in the fifth. Tauber and Watkins crossed the plate.

Geiger protested that it was too dark to continue play as Racine's came up to bat in the last of the fifth. After the argumentation had ended, Greene stepped up to the plate and took three strikes. Astle singled. He stole second. Whiting threw to Watkins to catch him off base. Oratory broke loose again. Geiger argued with Semuth before whiffing to end the game.

Score by Innings: R. H. E. Odd Fellows... Racine's...

Batteries—Whiting and Moore; Flake, Rantow and Gluesing.

Mart Copes With "Steel Day" Drops

Other Stocks Follow Example to Fall With Basics

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—This was emphatically "steel day" on the stock market. The poor earnings statement returned by the leading factor in that basic industry influenced sharply lower prices in equity issues of all descriptions. Net losses ranged from 2 to 3 points in principal shares.

Generally speaking, however, trading was dull, offerings were rather heavy at the opening but by noon the worst of the squall was over and prices settled down to a quiet horizontal movement.

Shortly after midday signs of improvement appeared which eventually brought a rally of a point or two from the lows, but the market reacted again at the close. Sales, which approximated 1,000,000 shares at 12 o'clock, amounted to only 1,573,955 for the full five hours.

Bonds Sag
Given so poor an example by stocks, bonds sagged in a similar turnover. Speculative commodities, on the other hand, were better supported.

The steel news monopolized Wall street's attention. It was pointed out that the dividend and salary cuts made by the U. S. Steel directors were constructive moves toward retrenchment in view of the severe drop in operating profits.

One surprising development was the increase in ingot production this week. "Iron Age" placed operations at a 32 per cent rate compared 30 a week ago, an unusual occurrence during a mid-summer lull.

It appeared the gain was due to structural contracts, for both the automobile makers and the railroads have reduced their requirements.

U. S. Steel Guides Stocks
U. S. Steel common was the guidepost for the day's stock market. Opening 5 1/8 lower, the industrial leader added a couple of points to its decline but closed at the low of 55 3/8, off 7 3/4.

The year's minimum, made early in June, is $3 1/8. Part of the late unsettlement was due to considerable pressure against Bethlehem Steel, which reacted more than 5 points to $4 1/8.

Except in a few instances, general losses were moderate. Auburn closed 9 lower and Nickel Plate 3 1/2's, while Achison was down 6. American Can, American Telephone, Case, New York Central and Allied Chemical declined around 5 points; for Baltimore & Ohio, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Union Pacific, International Telephone, Westinghouse and North American it was 2 to 3.

Negative Reports
Midweek statistical reports were negative. Car loadings were down slightly; Electric Power production compared unfavorably with 1930; and Crude Oil production registered a gain, due to operations in east Texas. Copper Metal was quoted at the lowest price on record.

Also present at the interview were Lord and Lady Astor. What was discussed at the meeting was not divulged. Members of Shaw's party refused to comment beyond saying it was a most enjoyable occasion.

Shaw wore a red necktie to the interview, but a member of the party explained he had worn it all day.

Old Eric Always Met Planes, But Refused Free Lift

SEATTLE, July 29 (AP)—Rain or shine during the past three years when an Alaska-Washington airways plane landed at Ketchikan, Eric Skansone, odd-job man about town, met the ship.

Axel Eckmann, pilot for the company, offered Skansone, a willing helper when odd jobs arose, a "hop" over Ketchikan and the neighboring Alaska country.

"No, Cap'n," Ericson said. "When I go up with you I'm going to be pay load passenger. And I'm going to Minneapolis, where I was born."

Early this spring Eric was missed. He had taken a pack on his back and headed over the hills into the interior of Alaska.

He was not seen again at Ketchikan until yesterday, when he appeared at Eckmann's side.

"Let's go, Cap'n," he said. "Go where?" Eckmann asked. "To Minneapolis — and I want to go right now. I have money."

Told there would not be a trip to Seattle for several days and the fare for a special ride would be over $500, Eric replied: "I've made a strike," and pulled a roll of bills from his worn trousers.

A five hours later he was loaded into a taxicab at the airways terminal in Seattle and sent to Boeing field, where he took the Boeing night plane out for Minneapolis, a "pay load" passenger.

Roasting Ears Cheap in Kansas
KANSAS CITY, Kan., July 29 (AP) One cent was the price of a dozen ears of sweet corn here today. The hot dry weather has matured the "roasting ears" rapidly, making an abundance of the perishable corn available simultaneously for market. One merchant bought an entire field so cheaply he was enabled to retail his wares at the record low price.

YANKTON, S. D., July 29 (AP)—Clarence B. Cressy, 45, of Yankton, drowned in the Missouri river here late today. Not an expert swimmer, Cressy sank when he stepped into a deep hole. The body was recovered.
