England Buries Politics in Forming New Cabinet

Triumph-Tragedy--

But No Faint Heart Has This Lossie Loon--MacDonald.

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Triumph and tragedy, heartbreak and happiness—these and more has Ramsay MacDonald known in his time.

But never a faint heart. Intensely practical, as becomes a Scot, he may compromise with political parties for today. But not for tomorrow. For tomorrow belongs to his ideal. He believes in socialism by evolution, regards it as inevitable.

Revised 15 Years Ago Barely 15 years ago, and less, no man in England was more savagely reviled.

Leader of his party, he did not believe in war, any war. Bitterly he fought against it, spurning a cabinet post for his support. He became a political nobody, a social outcast, resigned his leadership and was refused reelection to parliament.

Journalist at Conference When the peace conference came and he attended as a journalist, many members of the British delegation refused even to speak to him.

Before a decade had passed he twice had been prime minister. Not a single word had he ever recanted.

Born nearly 65 years ago in a Scottish fishing village—Lossiemouth—on the gray edge of the North sea, his people were farmers. In his youth there was conflict between tenants and landlords. His district was radical.

Looked Down on Swells "I looked down from birth on the people we called swells," he once said.

At 19 he came to London, with hardly a penny. He wanted to be a scientist. His first job was addressing envelopes, at $2.50 a week. Later he knew the misery of being jobless.

But he hung on, reading in his lunch hour, taking correspondence courses, studying in night school.

Radical's Secretary Then he became secretary to a radical politician. His health broke and he gave up the thought of becoming a scientist.

In 1895 he stood for parliament and was defeated. But in the campaign he met his wife and the next year married. She died in 1911.

He was beaten again in 1900, because he had opposed the South African wars. But in 1905 he was elected.

Radical's Chairman He became chairman of the little group of laborites and chairman of the radical socialists.

Nowadays he is quieter. He isn't the radical now, but almost reactionary compared with labor's one-time demands.

"I don't believe in revolution," he has said, and again: "Socialism and communism are two different things."

He loves his Scotland. Once, replying to birthday greetings from his home, he said: "In Lossiemouth are both my heart and hearth. A lossie loon (boy) was I born and a lossie loon shall I die."

Commissioners Fire Omaha Policeman

OMAHA, Aug. 24 (AP)—Upon recommendation of Chief of Police Fazanowski, city commissioners today discharged Patrolman Fred Palmtag, former detective sergeant from the police force. Only two dissenting votes were cast.

The hearing which resulted in Palmtag's dismissal was featured by a sharp verbal clash between Mayor Metcalfe and Police Commissioner Roy Towl.

Palmtag was brought before the council to answer charges made by James Murphy, billiard parlor proprietor, recently arrested by Palmtag, while the latter was off duty. Palmtag said he arrested Murphy after questioning him concerning the disposition of stolen goods.

Discuss Consolidation DES MOINES (AP)—Secretary Ed Brown announced the state committee of reduction of expenditures will discuss at a meeting here, Sept. 2 and 4, consolidation of counties as an economy measure.

British Situation at a Glance

(By the Associated Press) The labor government resigned yesterday and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was asked by King George to form a new national government, which will be composed of about 12 members drawn from all of the three principal political parties.

It is expected that the membership of the new cabinet might be completed and announced today.

The purpose of the new government is to find means of balancing the British budget and wiping out an anticipated deficit of approximately $600,000,000 for next year.

The British effort was regarded in Washington as strengthening the country's financial position.

In European capitals the view prevailed that the solution seemed a wise one and Berlin newspapers were impressed by the willingness of the conservatives to collaborate with a labor prime minister.

World markets generally showed a hesitant interest in the vents in Britain and were watching closely for the announcement of the final selection of the new cabinet.

Three Iowans Die in Week End Mishaps

Automobile accidents Sunday and Monday proved fatal to three Iowans. A number of others were seriously injured. One woman hanged herself Monday and another died from injuries received last week in a motor car mishap.

The dead: M. J. Hallinan, 60, Bayard. John Brison, 65, Bayard. Mrs. John D. Scott, 70, Galesburg, Ill.

Mrs. Clarence Ridnour, 33, Angus. Leo Carnahan, 19, Newton.

The accident in which Hallinan and Brison were killed occurred just inside the Pottawattamie-Cass county line on federal highway 32 four and one half miles west of Lewis, Ia., just before noon Monday.

Their automobile, driven by Hallinan and carrying also J. H. Corbett, 56, was struck by a bakery truck driven by L. O. Fitzgibbons of Omaha when the latter's front left tire blew out.

Sedan Hits Guard Rail The Hallinan sedan was hurled against a guard rail. Corbett received a severe scalp wound and Fitzgibbons had a smashed ankle and other injuries. Both are in an Atlantic hospital where a passing motorist conveyed them.

Hallinan leaves a widow and Brison is survived by the widow and four children.

Mrs. Scott died in Ottumwa today from injuries received Aug. 20 in an automobile crash that was fatal to her sister-in-law and resulted in injuries to her husband. The body was taken to Galesburg for burial.

Mrs. Ridnour hanged herself in the garage of her home Sunday. The reason given was despondency over ill health.

Crashes Telephone Pole Leo Carnahan, 18, of Newton, suffered a punctured lung when his motorcar crashed into a telephone pole Sunday. He died Monday.

Deputy United States Marshall B. Logan, 59, of Ottumwa, was seriously hurt Sunday night when his automobile was struck by that of Kirk Bainter and today was in a Burlington hospital suffering leg and rib injuries.

Theodore Ryan, 52, and Mrs. Ryan, 45, received serious injuries when their automobile and that of H. W. Bartels, 36, of Maynard, collided Sunday. Ryan had a fractured jaw bone and possible internal injuries.

Jud Griffith of Nodaway sustained broken ribs and his sister Helen and Miss Viola Jergenson of Villisca were slightly hurt when their car collided with a cattle truck of R. G. McCoy and Earnest Curtis of Red Oak near that city Sunday.

Robert Channon, 5, of Des Moines, fell 15 feet from a swing Sunday and was badly hurt.

MacDonald to Consolidate 3 Party Leaders

Premier Called Hero, Traitor as New Plan Takes Shape

By VICTOR EUBANK Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Ramsay MacDonald's socialist-labor government passed into history today with the resignation of the prime minister and his cabinet.

Almost immediately after the cabinet resigned King George V entrusted MacDonald with the formation of a new national government composed of the leaders of all of the three major parties, whose business for the moment would be burying politics and extricating Great Britain from her economic and financial difficulties.

Conference Starts Tonight MacDonald, Stanley Baldwin and Sir Herbert Samuel, representing the labor party, the conservatives and the liberals, were in close conference going over the possibilities of the personnel of the new government.

It was thought that at least by tomorrow or the next day a full cabinet roster can be presented to the king and sworn in.

Labor Party Split It was generally agreed the labor party was split, and it might be unable to function as an entity for some time to come. The belief also existed that today's events may mean the expulsion of MacDonald and his supporters from the labor party.

Both praise and censure were heaped upon the gray head of the wily Scotman tonight. In some labor quarters he was denounced as a traitor to the party, while in others he was termed the hero of the hour, who by putting his personal ambitions aside is risking his political life for the good of the nation.

Expect Twelve Ministers The new national government is expected to contain about twelve ministers, as compared to the twenty in an ordinary British administration. Among those who, it was believed, would fill posts in the new government besides MacDonald are Stanley Baldwin, former premier and leader of the conservatives; Lord Rieu, former viceroy of India who had been mentioned as a possible new foreign secretary, and former Premier Lloyd George (if his health permits).

When the second labor government passed out of existence today, it had been in office two years, two months and fifteen days. The recent publication of the May economic report, foreshadowing a deficit of approximately $600,000,000 in next year's budget, and the subsequent efforts of the prime minister and the cabinet to surmount this difficulty, directly led to the administration's fall.

Caught Between Forces The prime minister was caught between the objections of the trades union congress to a readjustment of the "dole" on the one hand, and the insistence of the conservatives that savings, and not new taxes, must be the essence of the government's proposals.

Negotiations and conferences with trades union leaders and heads of the opposition parties occupied the last few days, which were filled with rumors of import revenue taxes, cutting

Start Inquiry of Dry Agents in Decoy Use

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—Reports of the employment of women by federal dry agents as "blinds, decoys or informers" today stirred Prohibition Director Woodcock and precipitated two separate inquiries.

The federal dry chief said he intended to make "a very careful investigation" into charges brought by Representative Karch, Democrat, Illinois, that agents in East St. Louis "were associating with lewd women, using them to gather evidence," and that they also were conducting warrantless raids.

Almost at the same time he made known an intention to "inquire carefully" into reported statements by Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator in New York, that "ladies must and will be used" in enforcing the dry law there.

Sheriff's Posse on Trail of Wisconsin Machine Gunners

CUMBERLAND, Wis., Aug. 24 (AP)—A sheriff's posse tonight was on the trail of five machine gun bandits who shot their way out of the state bank of Cumberland today after taking approximately $8,000.

The bandits had been trailed north on state highway number 48 to county road H, and then west to state highway 70, where the trail was lost momentarily. They apparently turned onto highway 70, but whether west toward Grantsburg or east toward Spooner, could not be determined. It was rumored the bandits had changed automobiles near the junction of state highway 70 and county road H.

So quickly did the bandits make their get-away, that residents of this town were not sure of the make of car they used, or the license plates.

Finish Fight Due Gangdom in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—War to the finish, with no quarter, was ordered today on gangs and gunmen by New York officials.

Federal, state, county and municipal authorities will cooperate in the new attempt to suppress underworld outbreaks of the type that claimed six lives Friday and three casualties last night.

As the first step in the campaign $100,000 was appropriated this afternoon by the board of estimate to equip police cars with radios so that more cruising shotgun squads may be called into action without delay.

More Equipment Bought Another $27,476 was ordered spent for the purchase of 75 armored motorcycles, which will bring the police fleet to 100.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney instructed 300 of his men doing clerical work to report after their regular hours for duty on the street from 8 p. m. to midnight. They will be equipped with sidearms and concentrated in strategic points.

Acting Mayor McKee held a conference with county officials and

China's Flood Area Fears Typhoon as Refugees Battle Soldiers Over Food Rations

HANKOW, Aug. 24 (AP)—Forebodings of even greater disaster today added to the misery of central China's flood stricken hordes as this vast reservoir of death, disease and hunger was whipped by a strong wind—the feared forerunner of a typhoon.

It is the season for typhoons and apprehensive residents feel a storm now would complete the doom of the three cities, Hanyang, Wuchang and Hankow, by blowing such volumes of water against them that undermined foundations would be certain to collapse.

400,000 Refugees Hold On More than 400,000 refugees are clinging to a precarious existence on the islanded crests of two hills behind Wuchang. Forced to drink the polluted waters of the swollen streams, the refugees, crowded together like sheep, are ravaged by fever and dysentery.

In the native section of this city, hunger crazed refugees quartered in a large warehouse, attacked a detail of soldiers who had begun to remove a quantity of grain stored there. The soldiers summoned reinforcements and the crowd was quelled by the use of machine guns. Several refugees were wounded.

1,000 More Drowned Reports to the Kumin news agency stated more than 1,000 persons who were housed in the barracks at Wuchang were drowned as a result of a fresh break in the dyke holding back the Yangtze river.

Thousands of corpses daily float down the main channel of this stream

Two Escape After Forcing Youths to Speed From Police

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Aug. 24 (AP)—Council Bluffs tonight was searching for two men who last night stopped two Modale youths and made the young men drive them into Council Bluffs. The two men escaped amid a fusillade of shots fired by motorcycle officer, McTwiggan.

Lester Herman and Elvin Davis, both 20 years old, told police here they were halted near Missouri Valley. After getting into the back seat of the automobile, the two men produced a sawed off shotgun and pistol and commanded the boys to "drive as fast as you can."

The officer in Council Bluffs ordered the driver to stop the car. The youths were forced to speed over some rough roads and the officer was outdistanced. The men then made their get away.

Wells Remain Shut Despite Dollar Offers

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—Hobnobbing again with actual dollar oil, the midcontinent area faced a delay tonight in orders to reopen its sleeping gushers.

Although the $1 per barrel top price was made effective in Oklahoma and Kansas by the Phillips Petroleum company, and reported promised by two unnamed concerns, governors of three states were not ready to order valves twisted open in oil fields. Instead, the shutdown of wells, enforced by martial law in Oklahoma and east Texas, spread to a major Kansas area.

Dollar Primary Goal The dollar level was the primary goal of the shutdown movement but both Governor Murray of Oklahoma and Governor Woodring of Kansas indicated curb orders would remain in force until the price is general.

Governor Sterling of Texas said martial law in that state's new fields would not be affected by the present higher price.

Kansas operators in the Ritz Ganton pool, producing an estimated fifth of the state's daily output, closed all but chat and water wells under an order of the Kansas public service commission.

Two major oil companies, it was announced at Murray's office here, telegraphed an offer at the $1 top price for Oklahoma and Kansas but K. D. McMannus, aide to the governor, declined to name them.

Wait for All Governor Murray, at a Memphis unemployment relief conference, sent word home that his state's flush wells would stay under a military lid until all major purchasers meet prices of $1 a barrel.

Down in the east Texas field militiamen charged with enforcement of shutdowns engaged a speeding motorist in a gunfight and tried to curb a burst of incendiary in which two churches were burned at Kilgore. Meanwhile, the Texas railroad commission turned to a meeting at Austin tomorrow to draft a rigid ration order for east Texas, to be effective probably Sept. 1.

Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters characterized the incendiaryism as the result of "red agitation."

Ask Probe of Brother's Death WATERLOO (AP)—S. M. Hupman of Mebane, N. C., has asked Police Chief Frank Shores to investigate the death of his brother William L. Hupman, whose body was found in three feet of water in the Cedar river July 20. Hupman said his brother had a premonition of being murdered and sent him insurance policies.

Cedar County Pair in Plea of Not Guilty

TIPTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—William Butterbrodt and William Hogan late today pleaded not guilty to being in contempt of court for obstructing tuberculosis testing of their cattle. Their cases will be heard in the term of district court beginning Sept. 7. Their bond was fixed at $800.

It was understood the bond in each instance will be forfeited in case of violation of an injunction restraining them from interfering with tests or if they do not appear at the trial.

Fogg Fined Earlier today Arthur Fogg appeared before Judge F. O. Ellison and was fined $50 and sentenced to one day in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended pending good behavior, the court ruled.

The hearings began at about 11 a. m. and were completed at 4:30 p. m. This evening groups of farmers congregated about the streets after court adjourned to discuss the developments of the case which came about when the three farmers allegedly refused veterinarians permission to test their cattle, despite an injunction signed by Judge Ellison enjoining the three and 42 other farmers from interfering with the tests.

Readings on Tuesday Fogg Saturday allowed his herd to be tested, the readings of the tests, originally planned for today, will be made Tuesday.

About 100 persons, mostly farmers, including some from outside Cedar county attended the hearings today.

Fogg was represented by Henry Negus, Iowa City lawyer. Assistant Attorney General Earl Wisdom and Cedar County Attorney William Dallas, represented the state.

The three men appeared voluntarily after Sheriff Foster Maxson had reported that they were not at their homes when he tried to serve the warrants for their appearance.

Group Plans Nation Wide Aid Campaign

Gifford to Confer With Welfare, Charity Councils

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—A national campaign for local funds was announced today as the immediate objective of President Hoover's newly organized unemployment relief organization.

This was made known by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, as he took over the task assigned to him by the president of mobilizing unemployment relief agencies.

No Present Plans Gifford said there are no plans at present for raising a national relief fund. The nation-wide drive for local funds, he added, will be discussed at a conference beginning tomorrow with representatives of welfare and charitable organizations.

Meanwhile plans for meeting unemployment distress during the coming winter were in progress in other parts of the country, notably New York state and the Mississippi valley.

At Memphis, a conference called by Governor Murray of Oklahoma established a permanent organization and elected Representative Reid, Republican, Illinois, chairman.

Suggests Salary Cut Addressing the conference, Gov. Murray suggested federal and state employees be required to give from 5 to 15 per cent of their salaries for relief purposes, and advised the meeting not to embarrass President Hoover by calling for a special session of congress.

Word came from Albany that Gov. Roosevelt has decided unemployment relief is the paramount question facing the special session of the legislature beginning tomorrow.

The governor and house leaders were reported to have agreed the legislature should not vote a dole for unemployed but should attempt to provide work as well as relief for them.

To Appoint State Delegates Gifford announced that representatives of every state will be appointed to the advisory committee which President Hoover has set up to assist him in coordinating relief work.

He pointed out, however, that it is not a question of taking care of the entire unemployed group of many millions, but only those in actual distress. In New York city last year, he said, there were about 600,000 unemployed but only 30,000 or 40,000 needed assistance.

The relief director expressed complete confidence in the success of the organization, saying "the idealism and high purpose of the American people will not permit of failure."

Takes Over Duties Gifford took over his duties today, on his return from a week end at the Rapidan with President Hoover. He said he would continue to handle his work as president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, but would spend as much time in Washington as necessary.

When the committee is complete, it will be composed of three groups, he said, representatives of welfare and industrial organizations; representatives of each state; and "members at large" who will be experts and prominent citizens.

The first group, he explained, will be called in for consultation from time to time; the second will keep in touch with local needs and cooperate with local authorities in raising funds; and the third will be formed into subcommittees to examine programs and plans for employment and relief.

"No Magic Wand" The relief director said his organization would be concerned with finding jobs for the unemployed as well as providing relief but its primary objective would be to see that communities raised the necessary relief funds, because "no magic wand is going to find jobs for everyone."

"We want to make sure that every city and every state is free from acute suffering," he added. "We are primarily concerned with emergency relief this winter."

Gifford said he could make no estimate at this time of the total amount that would have to be raised for relief but that a survey of the probable load is being made.

SHORTER BREADLINES THE AIM OF THIS GROUP

Scenes such as this one, jobless swarming around a free soup kitchen, will be pretty much in the background this winter if President Hoover (lower left) has his way. Walter S. Gifford (lower right), head of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, was appointed by the president to mobilize and direct unemployment relief. He will have as his immediate assistant Fred C. Croxton (right, center) of Columbus, Ohio. Among those asked to assist Mr. Gifford were: John Barton Payne (upper left), chairman of American Red Cross; Alexander Legge (left, center) of Chicago and William Green (upper right), president of American Federation of Labor.

Cities May Protest Sewage Plant Order

DES MOINES, Aug. 24 (AP)—Representatives of Ft. Dodge, Des Moines, and Ottumwa will have opportunity Sept. 14 to explain their views on orders of the state health department that their cities construct sewage treatment plants.

The state executive council, which must approve the orders, today set the date and indicated that at that time the report of sanitary engineer A. H. Wieters and a transcript of testimony at a recent stream pollution hearing here would be considered.

Is the Alien to Blame?

IN NEWSPAPER headlines yesterday morning appeared an effective editorial in a half dozen words reporting that the Wickersham commission on law enforcement had discovered that a greater amount of crime is caused by native born residents of the United States than by foreign born in proportion to their numbers.

Long have organized labor and other interested groups sought to close the immigration gates with the careless accusation that aliens have been responsible for the rise of the racket and other organized crime attendant upon prohibition. Noting the preponderance of foreign sounding names in lists of public enemies and convicted criminals, and reasoning that the alien would as a matter of course, have little respect for laws of a country which prohibits alcoholic beverage, these propagandists have found an effective means of indicting the foreign born.

And their logic has appeared sound to the casual observer, full of natural distrust for the stranger, and too indifferent or preoccupied to seek underlying facts.

But now the Wickersham commission has blasted this theory with cold statistics born from patient research. It has announced that America's future immigration policy "can safely be determined on general economic and social grounds."

Yet it is difficult to relinquish the old idea that "foreigners" are to blame for violations of United States laws. Frank J. Loesch, a member of the Wickersham commission which drafted the foreign crime report, appeared on the University of Iowa campus last summer and told his audience that the Syrians, Jews, and Italians of Chicago were to blame for crime conditions there. Hotly contested, he produced figures to prove his point.

Now, apparently, he has discovered differently, for the report on Chicago conditions showed three and one-half times as many offenses by native whites as by foreign born residents. The fact is, and the Wickersham report took brief cognizance of it, that the alien has been linked with crime in the popular mind because of the activities of native born sons of foreign born parents.

The Wickersham report, compiled under the direction of Dr. Edith Abbott, dean of the University of Chicago's school for social service administration, also included mention of a large proportion of crime committed by the Negro.

And here is the place for the American public to pause and do a little thinking. In both instances, the criminal Negro, and the criminal "foreigner," perhaps the blame is not to be directed at the race but at the United States made environment.

Perhaps "solid American stock" has been derelict in training the native born sons of foreign parents who have not had the opportunity of providing a true American atmosphere for their children. Perhaps if those who point with scorn at the crime of the "foreigner" would stop to think of their own responsibility in the matter, they might be shocked to see the burden of guilt that is resting unobserved at their own doorstep.

At least the Wickersham report would indicate that it is not the alien who is responsible for crime, but the fault of his offspring who is forced by circumstance into an unwholesome environment which can be improved only by help of somewhat standoffish Americans.

In the interests of international understanding it would be far better to be frank in the matter, and if economy demands restricted immigration or none at all, then so be it. But before using crime prevention as a reason for closing the gate, it would be well first to make sure that our own hands are clean in the matter, that the Negroes and aliens of this country are being provided with a fair chance to show their merit.

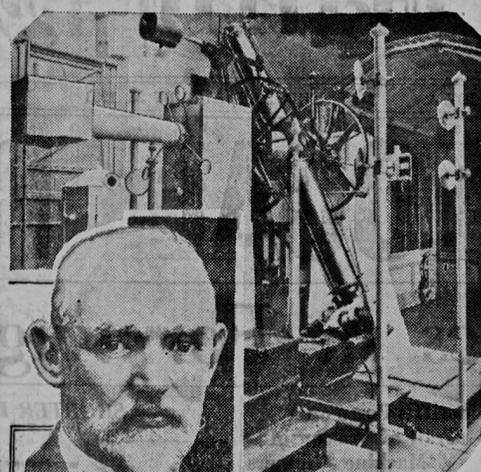

Dean Clark Retires

"YOUNG PEOPLE haven't changed fundamentally in thirty years because their parents haven't changed." This is the observation that the retiring dean of men at the University of Illinois has gleaned after close contact with two generations of young men during the thirty years of serving in that capacity at the third largest university in the nation.

Feeling "awfully well," and still living up to the reputation of the best dressed man on the campus, Dean Thomas Arkle Clark stepped out of office Wednesday with a jest. "I'm not tired of the job," he said, "I'm just tired of waiting for students to think up new alibis for absences and excuses for cutting classes."

As Dean Clark closes his desk at the age of 69, he takes with him an extensive appreciation of student problems and discipline that can be paralleled by few Americans. Since establishing the office at Illinois in 1900, tens of thousands of young men have stood before his desk to be censured, praised

BRINGS NEW SPACE PUZZLES HERE

Professor Willem de Sitter, author of the "empty universe" theory which rivals Einstein's, is leaving his observatory at the University of Leyden (above) to visit America this fall. He will lecture at Harvard and the University of California.

There wasn't any such thing. The motion of this universe was one of expansion, flying apart.

"Unfortunately for the theory," says Dr. de Sitter, "it didn't work out that way except on paper. There actually is more matter in the universe than there ought to be under the theory."

For 10 years the two theories furnished material for much scientific debating and then, in 1927, Dr. Lemaitre, of Louvain, propounded his non-tatic world which, so to speak, combined the best features of both.

Lemaitre's theory provided for matter and systematic motion, and this theory, Dr. de Sitter believes, is the best explanation for this astronomical age.

But, although the Dutch scientist has abandoned his theory as explaining things at the astronomical moment, it does not follow that it never will apply.

Recent observations have revealed that stellar systems are running away from each other. If continued, this eventually will go increase the distances between the "particles" of matter in the universe that Dr. de Sitter's theory will be practically restored.

"This may be some billions of years hence," he says.

Dr. de Sitter describes his theorizing as "an effort to have a finite world without boundaries."

"You can't imagine coming to the end of the world and finding a fence you can't climb over," he said, "in my world you never would encounter such a fence."

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

It has been told, now, how wealthy New Yorkers stay that way. They pay their retail store bills, on the average, about three months after receiving them.

"Clean, healthy human skin kills 90 per cent of all disease germs within 10 minutes after they land upon it," advises Collier's. If that pertains to lips, maybe it will revive whatever kissing has been abandoned by recent reports of disease transmission.

Commemorating the fourth anniversary of the execution of Mico Sacco and Bartholomeo Vanzetti, demonstrators marched all over New York city the other day and engaged in mass meetings to express their radical opinions of the American government and capitalism. One speaker in particular expressed the hope that the entire police force of the city be wiped out by gangsters.

There is a clause in the Constitution of the United States that allows free speech, and since no names were specifically mentioned, the attack could hardly be classed as slander. But it is just as well that those who hold petty grievances against the government be allowed to speak their mind. There are so few persons who will adopt the same attitudes, compared with those who believe in democratic principles, that there is no harm done. There is always the consolation, too, that if we take exception to anything they say, we can come right back at them.

The exercise of reasonable care and forethought will prevent the majority of home accidents, says the National Safety Council in a report of North Carolina homes. Such accidents as falling in bath tubs, down stairs, off porches, bicycles, and ladders, out of bed, from windows and platforms may be prevented in most cases by care. The report found that falls from steps, one of the most prominent causes of home accidents, were due to poor illumination, loose or broken treads, or by obstructions left on the stairway.

If 90 per cent of home accidents such as those aforementioned are preventable it is time home-makers began to realize the dangers lurking in our homes. Although few of them are fatal, most burns, scaldings, cuts, and bruises accumulated around the house have potential deadliness. Almost everyone is familiar with them. This is as opportune a time as any to start a general safety campaign about your own home, with special emphasis upon rusty nails, loose flooring, and dim lighting.

Another form of thoughtlessness, sometimes attributed by extremists to un-Americanism, is presented in a report made recently by the anti-litter committee of metropolitan Merchants' association. Unusually loud street noises and dogs were the principal problems that beset the committee in investigating the annoyances that are most often subjects of complaints. Annoying conditions caused by smoke, waste-paper, and construction were listed among the complaints of store-keepers and property owners, as were also street gambling games and interference by strikers' pickets.

"These matters are so simple in nature," the report added, "that many persons do not realize the burden, which the constant repetition of the offenses imposes upon business. It cannot be said that the trouble is due to any lack of law or to any failure of the various city departments to perform their functions. Rather . . . it emphasizes the thoughtlessness of individuals who fail to recognize the burden they may impose in following the path of least resistance to themselves."

Despite the encumbrance of his title—"King of Kings and Emperor of Ethiopia, The Conqueror of Judas and Elect One of God"—Ras Tafari, ruler of Abyssinia, is on the warpath against slavery. One-half of the world's slaves, 2,000, 000, are held in that country. In addition to his decree against the traffic, he has ordered all slaves traders put to death. In doing so, he is making good a promise given on his coronation day last November.

More than one king has recently felt the truth of the quotation: "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," but presumably Tafari wants to keep his intact. Perhaps, though, he wouldn't be so eager to become a great liberator if he read all the deprecatory remarks that have been circulating in the United States about Abraham Lincoln.

EDWARD STANLEY LEYDEN, Holland (AP)—One of the three modern scientists who have developed theories to explain this universe is going to America this fall "to complete his education" as he puts it.

He is Professor Willem de Sitter, director of the observatory and professor of theoretical astronomy in the University of Leyden.

Actually, he is going to lecture at Harvard, the University of California and several other places, and spend three or four months on a kind of a scientist's holiday, visiting the more important American observatories.

In scientific stature Dr. de Sitter stands with Einstein, and his contributions to the theory of relativity have been highly important. Among scientists his conception of the universe is known as "de Sitter's world."

The other two theoretical universes are Einstein's and Lemaitre's, and it is the latter that Dr. de Sitter now believes fits cosmic circumstances of the present astronomical age.

Dr. de Sitter's theory was worked out after the "static" universe propounded by Einstein in 1917, which was a creation with matter but without systematic motion.

Dr. de Sitter suggested the very reverse—an "empty" world which had systematic motion but surprisingly enough no matter.

Compared with the infinite space in the universe, the amount of matter was negligible, this theory argued, at all intents just as if

WASHINGTON—How did that old bit from the pre-Jazz age of "coon songs" go?

"We've been gettin' done with the wine and the chicken."

"He play de whistle mos' gran'."

"You'd think dat de angels der harps was pickin'."

"Whistlin' Rufus, de one man band."

The bystander recalled that tune as he read the bold assertion of Dr. Joseph I. France of Maryland, Republican, indicating that if he had only Herbert Hoover for the republican presidential nomination next year, that political plum was already in the bag, so to speak, for Dr. France himself.

The doctor, also an ex-senator, gets a lot of satisfaction out of the fact that to date he is the only avowed Republican candidate for the presidency.

And he is. He will continue to be in all likelihood until the time rolls around for filings in state primaries, forcing a general show down.

"One Man Band"

Yet Dr. France's campaign has about it distinctly a "one man band" look. Presumably it is based primarily on the doctor's much advertised constitutional views.

Long ago he contended in the senate that the eighteenth amendment was improper because it restricted rather than widened self-government and proved lack of faith in the American democracy itself.

On what possible conception of what may happen at the Republican national convention could Dr. France's anti-Hoover drum-thumping actually be based?

Does he assume that Mr. Hoover is not going to be renominated and that an open race for the place will ensue? That overlooks wholly the strategic position in which Squire Coolidge stands.

There is very little doubt among Washington political gossip that if for any reason, Mr. Hoover should become unavailable next year, the rush to board the "Back-to-Coolidge" bandwagon would be swift, and starting in its proportions.

What could Dr. France hope for in that event? Is he really campaigning for a second-place berth on a Coolidge ticket? Who knows?

As a matter of fact Washington political speculation floundered about a lot in attempting to "evaluate," as army intelligence highbrows always say, not only the doings of Doc. France, but also those of Oklahoma, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma.

What's Bill Up To?

Mr. Murray's strong-hand, military method of dealing with the Oklahoma oil surplus was studied for possible political significance, yet nobody seemed certain what it might be.

The assumption was that "Alfalfa Bill" had glimpsed a chance to get back to Washington.

Whether it might be in the senate seat of Elmer Thomas or a possible try for a vice presidential nomination was a question.

Considering things dispassionately, the studios actually gamble on a new player only to the extent of his salary for three, or possibly six months. On the other hand, they make the same gamble on a number of other players and they have to cash in on one or two to make up for the loss on the others.

The player's side is that he has only a few good years at best and must cash in while he's on the upward swing. He always can point to other stars of less box-office value who received much larger salaries.

No doubt, it's a question that will be argued indefinitely. In the meanwhile Warners have suspended Cagney's contract, and, at last reports, the actor was heading for New York.

THAT STOPPED HIM

It isn't safe to bait Harry Brand, United Artists publicity man and one of the readiest wits in Hollywood.

The latest to find this out is a well-known male star. During the course of a party, he chided Brand: "Say, what's the matter with you? The only reason I asked you to give me a lot of laughs."

"Yeah," snapped Brand, "what

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — Another rebel, James Cagney, has set Hollywood to arguing its favorite question:

Does quick success entitle a player to demand a new contract with more money?

Cagney's walkout shortly before he was scheduled to start his first starring picture leaves Warners in an embattled position with two of its stars. Barbara Stanwyck still refuses to carry out the joint contract she holds with this studio and with Columbia.

Only a short time ago, Paramount won a similar battle with Jack Oakie, and before that Lew Ayres won a settlement of his difficulties with Universal.

The Cagney episode draws a sharp statement from Darryl Zanuck, Warner production head. "We have Cagney under a five-year contract for screen, stage and personal appearances," declares Zanuck. "We are paying him $50 a week and he would shortly get optional raises. He makes absolutely no complaint other than salary."

"We say this is not the time for him to ask for more money. He hasn't appeared in a starring picture, and it is not certain how well his films will draw."

THOSE HATS AGAIN

In an unguarded moment, I offered to secure an autographed picture of Clarke Gable for anyone who could suggest a good excuse for the new derby hats the girls are wearing.

"Well, anyway, a girl spends eight months getting her hair just enough to put up. Then she assembles a collection of hairpins to help her out.

"Next she put on a hat. Berets are easiest, and straws are the worst. The pins cling to the hair, pinch your skin and raise the dickens. This is bad enough. But taking the hat off is the climax. The pins stay with the hat.

"Now, Mr. Carroll, just notice how the new hats stop short at the hair-pin line. That's why I'm for second empire headgear.

Miss Brown says I am a man "who knows nothing of such things."

Maybe she's right. But I still think the new hats have made more women look ridiculous than any feminine style of recent years.

Miss McHugh, Bill Glasgow Wed Friday

Plan to Return to Iowa City to Reside in February

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Hansetta McHugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoegen of Wyoming, to Willis A. Glasgow, son of Mrs. Nellie Glasgow of California. The ceremony was performed Friday at Princeton, Ill.

The bride graduated from St. Katharine's school for girls at Davenport in 1929, and has attended the University of Iowa for the last two years. She is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. Glasgow received his B.A. degree from the University of Iowa in February, 1929, and is a freshman in the college of law. He played halfback on the varsity football team in 1927, 1928, and 1929, and was captain in 1929. He was also shortstop on the university baseball team.

Mr. Glasgow played professional football on the Portsmouth, Ohio team in 1930, and was named All-American professional halfback. This fall he will play with the Chicago Cardinal football team of the National Professional league, and plans to reenter the college of law in February, 1932.

He is a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity, Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity, and A.F.I., honorary fraternity for senior men.

Mr. and Mrs. Glasgow plan to make their home in Chicago until the opening of the second semester of school in February. They are now at Hotel Stevens, Chicago.

Women's Relief Corps Holds Initiation

Initiation service will take place at the meeting of Women's Relief Corps at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Legion building. All members are requested to attend.

Cedar Falls Couple Weds

Alta B. Gregg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. V. M. Gregg of Cedar Falls, and Frederick S. Witzigman, son of the Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Witzigman of Cedar Falls will be united in marriage at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride will wear a white velvet gown, and will carry a bouquet of white gladioli.

A color scheme of orchid and green will predominate in the decorations throughout the house. The Rev. Mr. Witzigman will read the marriage service.

Miss Gregg has chosen the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Bruce T. Riley, as matron of honor, and Alice Dawden, her sorority sister, as bridesmaid. Wendell Bragonier will serve the bridegroom as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers' college at Cedar Falls, and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. Witzigman is a senior in the college of engineering, and is affiliated with Acacia fraternity.

St. Pat's to Hold Picnic Tomorrow on School Grounds

St. Patrick's parish will hold its annual picnic tomorrow on the school grounds. A chicken supper, to be served in the high school gymnasium from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., will precede various games and amusements.

Mrs. Charles Regan, Mrs. James Bradley, Mrs. Jerry White, Mrs. J. H. Wetrich, Mrs. A. J. Black, Mrs. John B. Pugh, Mrs. H. J. Williams, Mrs. Paul Leuz, and Mrs. L. C. Fitzpatrick are in charge of arrangements. A general committee composed of 31 men, headed by the Rev. T. J. Lew, will direct the affair.

Hope Wanes for Rescue of Idaho Towns

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 24 (AP)—Hope of saving the towns of Grimes Pass and Pioneerville from the raging forest fires of central Idaho waned today as rising winds fanned the flames.

Dr. C. C. Fairchild at Pioneerville said the wind was blowing hard and the fire fighters were short of water pumps to combat the flames.

Three pumps went out of commission along the fire front today and more were sent from this city. Failure of the equipment seriously handicapped the efforts of the 600 men combating the blazes along a 40-mile front.

Federal Government Plans Nation Wide Enforcement Drive on Organized Crime

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—President Hoover is evolving a definite plan for strengthening federal law enforcement activities, aiming at least in part at the gangster, racketeer and professional criminal.

This word came quietly today from sources informed as to the president's activities. Whether details of this plan will take shape and be made public in the near future, or be incorporated in a later message to congress, those close to him could not say.

Studies Wickersham Report Almost simultaneously with the fatal shooting of five men and a child in a running battle across Manhattan, and the machine gunning of three men in Brooklyn yesterday, it was learned authoritatively that Mr. Hoover was studying the voluminous anti-crime recommendations of the Wickersham commission.

Whatever action the president would take against the organized gangster and racketeer might be suggested by the Wickersham data. In it he would find a statement, signed by all 11 commissioners, recommending "nation-wide thorough and scientific studies of racketeering and organized 'extortion'."

Need Definite Plan "Intelligent action," the commission said, "requires knowledge—not, as in too many cases, a mere redoubling of effort in the absence of adequate information and a definite plan."

Those close to the chief executive believe that in his study of means of increasing federal law enforcement efficiency he is concerned not only with the detection of criminals but also with their prosecution. The Wickersham commission data now before the president say there is a "possibility that not enough money is being spent on prosecution in view of its importance in the efficient enforcement of law."

They also suggest remedies in the docket procedure of the courts to obviate delays, and the waiver of jury trials in criminal cases wherever possible.

Opinions Differ With a divergence of opinion among the members of his own cabinet, and apparently unable to reach a compromise with the trade unionists or the opposition leaders, Prime Minister MacDonald is said to have reasoned that the only way to save the country was to dissolve his government and tackle the problems with a combination of the three parties and without previous party restrictions.

Tonight many labor officials were taking the view that MacDonald, in becoming the head of a national government will cease automatically to be a leader of the labor party.

Future Problematic What will happen when the present financial and economic crisis is past seemed problematic. Some observers believed it would mean the permanent retirement of MacDonald, while others saw him emerging from the situation as one of the greatest figures in English history.

MacDonald appeared cheerful today, although his worn appearance somewhat belied his smiles.

Expect Parliament Soon How long the new national government will continue was another matter for speculation tonight, some believing it would not go beyond several weeks, although it was considered possible it might hold over until January 1, 1932. It was expected that parliament will be summoned quickly in order to put through the new government's proposals for budget reforms.

Following the resignation of the cabinet, it was revealed that about nine members of the labor government did not see eye to eye with MacDonald on the budget cuts, especially on the proposal to readjust the "dole." There members, it was taken for granted, will not enter the new government and it was expected they would be likely to oppose the Local Couple Weds Saturday Ceremony Performed at Greeley, Colo.

The marriage of Imogene Holcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Page, 428 S. Johnson street, and Charles S. Kendall, son of Mrs. Grace Kendall, 230 Fairchild street, took place Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. House of Greeley, Col.

The bride wore a blue silk net frock with chiffon applique, and white accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds, delphinium and baby breath.

Mrs. Kendall graduated from Colorado Teachers' college at Greeley, and has been employed at the Bremer Clothing company at Iowa City.

Mr. Kendall received his B. S. degree from the college of commerce at the University of Iowa in June, and is employed at the Iowa City Savings bank.

After Sept. 15 the couple will reside in Iowa City.

Ruther funds which will be required to balance the budget.

"As the commerce and well being, not only of the British nation, but of a large part of the civilized world, has been built up and rests upon well-founded confidence in the pound sterling, the new government will take whatever steps may be deemed by them necessary to justify the maintenance of that confidence unimpaired."

However, some commentators were remarking tonight that nothing in the program of the government—as far as it has been revealed up to now—indicates that it is meant to be anything but a stopgap with which it hopes to provide a basis of comparative stability whereon a structure of future prosperity might be built.

Issues Official Statement

The following official statement was issued from 10 Downing street tonight:

"The prime minister, since his appointment by His Majesty this afternoon, has been in consultation with Stanley Baldwin, Sir Herbert Samuel and Philip Snowden as to the names to be submitted to the King for inclusion as minister to the new government. Considerable progress has been made.

"The specific object for which the new government is being formed is to deal with the national emergency that now exists. It is not to be a coalition government, in the usual sense of the term, but a government of cooperation for this one purpose. When that purpose is achieved the political parties will resume their respective positions.

Seek Reduction "In order to correct without delay the excess of national expenditure over revenue, it is anticipated that parliament will be summoned September 8, when proposals will be submitted to the house for a very large reduction in expenditure and for provision, on an equitable basis, of the

Lindys Plan Final Hop to Japanese City

NEMURO, Japan, Aug. 24 (AP)—Welcomed today by 3,000 Japanese who applauded their flight from Petrovavlovsk along the fog-obscured volcanic Kurile islands, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh prepared to complete their 7,132-mile flight from New York to Tokyo Wednesday.

Only 613 miles lay before them to the Kaumigaura naval landing field near the Japanese capital, but they decided to remain here over tomorrow out of respect for three Japanese flyers killed at the field Saturday.

From Tokyo, at an undetermined date, the Americans, on a vacation tour, will fly to some part of China. The colonel said he had no present intention of a world flight and did not plan to fly to the Philippines or to make a nonstop flight over the Pacific.

Suspicion of Forced Landings Denied

TOKYO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Forced landings recently by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in prohibited areas of the Kurile islands caused reports to circulate today that the Japanese government's suspicions had been aroused, but high officials quickly denied the reports.

They said it was natural three unscheduled landings in the Kuriles by the famous American flyers should cause discussion in certain quarters. But, fully aware of the dense fog conditions along the volcanic group, the officials disclaimed disapproval of the Lindberghs alighting in unauthorized places.

'Sippi Valley States Meet Representatives Discuss Means to Relieve Unemployed

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 24 (AP)—Representatives of Mississippi valley states, meeting here today, agreed to tackle the unemployment situation as a unit, concentrating their forces behind a permanent organization to be set up by the conference.

Meeting at the call of Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, delegates chose Representative Frank Reid, Republican, Illinois, as their permanent chairman.

Governors of each of the valley states were urged to commission delegates to form part of the national hookup and serve at the call of the conference. State delegates would use such pressure as is necessary to boost public construction programs of states, counties and municipalities.

Urge Federal Program The conference, which includes representatives and senators among its membership, took over the task of urging the expedition of the federal construction program "cutting loose" in the words of Governor Murray, "the red strings that delay action."

Plans were made for another conference in September. State delegates were instructed to organize, to coordinate and disseminate activities of all the relief organizations in the affected states.

Discuss Jobless Aid After Chairman Reid opened the meeting to "free discussion," a number of suggestions for raising money were offered, including that of Governor Murray that state and federal employees return from five to 15 per cent of their salaries for aid of the jobless.

An extra session of congress was urged, but Governor Murray announced his opposition to such a step as an "embarrassment to President Hoover."

Clarence Douglas, special representative of the Inland Waterways corporation, said the government had $1,500,000,000 for public construction, rivers and harbors improvement and flood control and urged the conference to go on record as favoring the expenditure of this money as expeditiously as possible.

Ruth's Thirty-seventh Homer Helps Yankees Topple White Sox 8 to 5

Babe Clouts Double, Two Singles Also

Gomez Wins Sixteenth as Mates Collect 17 Blows

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Babe Ruth hit safely four times today, including his 37th home run of the campaign, to lead the Yankees through their sixth straight victory, longest Yankee streak of the campaign, and help Lefty Gomez beat the Chicago White Sox 8 to 5 for his 16th pitching triumph of the year.

Gomez had a wild streak in the third inning when he walked four men and a hit and an error gave the Sox four runs, but the Yankees kept him ahead by clouting Al Thomas for 17 hits.

Ruth's homer, a terrific drive into the right field seats with none on in the first, put him three up on Lou Gehrig in the home run race. A walk, two singles and a double filled the Babe's day. Gehrig hit three singles.

5-1 Whip St. Louis A's Behind Mahaffey

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 24 (AP)—Holding the St. Louis Browns to five hits, LeRoy Mahaffey hurled the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5 to 1 victory here today and chalked up his fourth victory of the season.

Only Goose Goslin, who slugged out his twentieth home run of the year in the first inning, was able to fathom the offerings of the Philadelphia. In addition to his circuit drive, he garnered a double.

The A's took an early lead when they scored four runs off Sammy Gray in the initial frame on five hits, including a triple by Jimmy Foss.

Like his famous teammate, Robert Moses Grove, Mahaffey came to St. Louis with two defeats charged against him, but the 11 hits collected by Connie Mack league leaders today kept that number intact while Grove was given loss No. 3 yesterday.

Outing 16-15, Tribe Downs Red Sox 11-7

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 24 (AP)—Although outing 16 to 15, the Cleveland Indians scored an 11 to 7 victory over the Boston Red Sox today to make it two straight in their final series.

Eddie Morgan's home run blast over the right field wall in the second with two on base was the feature. It was his 11th of the season. Sweeney led the Boston stickers with five hits out of six trips, while Burnett of the Indians made four out of five.

Mit Gaston was charged with the defeat though he was followed by Lisbenbee, Moore and Morris. Jablonowski succeeded Hudlin in time to get credit for the win.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Boston.....300 100 003-7 16 1
Cleveland.....430 201 104-11 15 5
Batteries—Gaston, Lisbenbee, Moore, Morris and Berry, Connelly; Hudlin, Jablonowski and Myatt.

Tiger Run in Ninth Downs Senators 6-5

DETROIT, Aug. 24 (AP)—Detroit slipped out of the American league cellar today by defeating Washington, 6 to 5, while Boston was losing to Cleveland, Chicago to New York.

After allowing four hits which gave the Senators a three run lead in the first inning, Elton Hogssett tightened up until the seventh, when another pair of runs broke a tie Detroit had gained in the sixth. Detroit tied it up again in their half of the seventh, and scored the winning run with two out in the ninth when a fluke triple by Alexander sent Stone home.

Hogssett allowed no extra base hits, but Washington's three pitchers—Marberry, Hadley and Brown—were nicked for four doubles, two triples and a home run, the latter by Johnson.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

Armbruster Only Hawkeye Coach to Get M. A. Degree

David A. Armbruster, who will begin his sixteenth year as Hawkeye swimming coach next month, became the only University of Iowa mentor to hold an advance academic degree when he was awarded the degree of master of arts at the convocation last week.

Coch Armbruster earned his degree for his study of the application of the pulse-rate test in determining the physical efficiency of university men swimming the side stroke.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

The connection between winning teams and record-setting crowds was suddenly severed at the White Sox-Yankees doubleheader Sunday afternoon. More persons than had ever seen a baseball contest in Chicago before—59,911—jammed Comiskey park to witness the twin battle between the third and seventh place teams in the American league.

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez is the pitcher around which Manager Joe McCarthy is rebuilding his mound staff. Yesterday afternoon the young southpaw presided over the Yankees' 8 to 4 victory for his sixteenth personal triumph of the campaign.

The late Knute Rockne believed that nationality made some difference in a player. "Give me the Scotch for stubborn determination, and the Irish for fire and drive," he used to say. Rockne was Norwegian himself.

The four leading contenders for the National league pennant in the race of 1932 were all managed by Irishmen. There was Bill McKechnie of the Cards, McCarthy of the Cubs, Donie Bush of the Pirates, and John McGraw of the Giants.

Among the pitching "finds" of 1931 is Jim Mooney, Giants rookie, who registered three wins in eight days. One of his victories was a shutout. In the first 20 innings he hurled in the majors he permitted one run and gave up 14 hits.

Mooney might still be twirling in the Giants' subsidiary club at Bridgeport, Conn. in the eastern circuit if McGraw had not been so hard pressed for moundmen.

Capt. Oliver Sanson of the 1931 Iowa grid eleven is reported to be in perfect trim for this fall. He has already begun light individual work, out at Iowa field. The hefty senior line cracker has been laboring as a house painter in Iowa City all summer. He is giving special attention to painting and passing in his pre-season training.

CATCHING UP ON SPORTS

BASEBALL
Nearly 51,000 cash customers—the largest crowd ever to watch a baseball game in Chicago—saw the Yanks cuff the White Sox in both portions of the Sabbath day bargain bill by 10 to 4 and 9 to 1. Babe Ruth lashed out his thirty-sixth homer. Benny Chapman stole three bases, the last one being his forty-ninth of the season.

Lefty Grove lost his chance to establish a new record for consecutive pitching triumphs when the Athletics were held to three measly hits by Dick Coffman of the Browns. The score was 1 to 0. Behind Waite Hoyt's hurling the Macks grabbed the afterpiece by 10 to 0.

The Cardinals fortified their lead in the National league by drubbing the Braves 16 to 1 and eking out a 1 to 0 decision in the second contest. The Robins whipped the Pirates twice.

TENNIS
With little effort Mrs. Helen Willis Moody defeated Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall of England 6-4, 6-1 Sunday afternoon to win her seventh United States singles championship at Forest Hills, Long Island.

Tennis Leads Other Sports in Scholarship

Scholastic averages compiled by the university athletic department show that the smartest Hawkeye athletes in 1930-31 were the varsity and freshman tennis men. On the other hand, football award winners had the lowest average.

Minor sports squads monopolized the first five places. The list of grade point averages in the order of the ranking are: tennis, 2.82; cross country, 2.29; gymnastics, 2.16; golf, 2.12; swimming, 2.09; basketball, 1.99; baseball and wrestling, 1.95; track, 1.94; and football, 1.50.

The combined average of letter and numeral winners in all sports is 1.99, just a fraction below a "C" grade. Major and minor "T" men averaged 2.03 while the numeral winners stood lower at 1.98.

Francis Merten, captain-elect of the gymnastic team and prospective football end from Davenport, had the highest average last year with 3.47. He was followed by Calvin Kay, Iowa City, golfer, 3.34; Stuart Skowbo, Emmetsburg, track and cross country, 3.31; and Arthur Porter, Maxwell, baseball, 3.08.

Giants, Cubs Split in Two Tilts 8-4, 2-1

Terry Breaks Up Duel in Second; Smith Wins First

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Cubs and Giants fought through two games today to open a series battle for second place without disturbing the New Yorkers' three game lead. Chicago won the first game 8 to 4 and the Giants came back to take the second game 2 to 1.

Bill Terry broke up a pitcher's duel between Guy Bush and Freddy Fitzsimmons in the ninth inning of the second contest by hitting a home run with the score tied at 1-1. He was the first Giant up in the final inning. Fitzsimmons held the Cubs to five hits while Bush was touched for eight. Hack Wilson was put out of the game in the fourth inning for disputing a called third strike.

Bob Smith pitched the Cubs to victory in the first game after a bad start. Terry hit a homer with two on in the first but aside from Ott's circuit clout in the eighth, he kept out of danger thereafter. Clarence Mitchell, starting for the Giants, was hit hard for a cluster of five runs in the fourth and was driven to cover in the fifth, Parmelee and Beryl finished.

Program for Myers-Croy Match Ready

The Knights of Pythias, with the signing of R. G. Hess, Havenport, to meet Harold Timms in a preliminary match, have completed the program for the Myers-Croy wrestling card to be staged at Hills in connection with the Labor Day celebration there September 7.

Croy, the wrestling school master who lost to Ralph Parcaut on a foul in July, will meet Johnny Myers, Chicago, former middleweight champion of the world, in the main event. The match will be decided by the best two out of three falls.

Bronnell, the railroad wrestler from Des Moines, 165 pounds, will wrestle Ernie Thompson, also 165 pounds, Newton, in the semi-windup. Their match is for 30 minutes or one fall.

Timms, who threw "Sikany" Grooms on the July K.P. program, and Hess, both 170 pounds, will wrestle for 20 minutes or one fall. A boxing match between Bud Menter, Hills, and Oscar Graham, Iowa City, 85 pounds, will be the curtain raiser.

The lodge athletic committee has obtained Alex Fidler to act as the third man in the ring.

Iowans Score Best Marks in National Rifle Championship

DAVENPORT, Aug. 24 (AP)—Edward Muhl, 32 year old, Toronto farmer who won the 1929-30 national rifle championship, retained his title here today in the finals of the eighteenth rifle tournament.

Muhl scored 2256 points out of a possible 2500. Mike Altman of Luverne, was second with 2254 points and C. T. Westergaard of Whiting was third with 2232.

Muhl also won first place on the honor target with a score of 69 in a possible 75.

Dewey's Get Possession of Second Place

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS
Industrial League
Dewey's 13; Racine's 5.
186th Hospital company vs. Hotel Jefferson postponed.
Club League
Knights of Pythias 1; Bremer's 0. (Forfeit.)

GAMES TONIGHT
Industrial League
Alexander's Rangers vs. Dee's Recreation at park field No. 1.
186th Hospital company vs. Iowa City Wholesale Fruit company postponed.
Club League
Press-Citizen vs. Dairy Boys at municipal field No. 1.
Knights of Pythias vs. Ford Service at municipal field No. 2.

Dewey's twilight league kiltball team gained undisputed possession of second place in the Industrial league standings last night when they defeated the Racine ten 13 to 5.

Dickwold led the attack of the restaurant team with three home runs and a double for his evening at bat. Racine's were held to only two runs by Mitchell until the last inning.

Batteries—Mitchell and Nelson; Geiger and Gleusing.

Hospital-Hotel Game Postponed
The Dewey-Racine encounter was the only game in the Industrial loop last night as the 186th Hospital company's tilt with Hotel Jefferson was postponed until after National guard camp.

Elks Down I.O.O.F. 25-12
The Elks went to work early in their game with the Odd Fellows last night and rapped out a decisive 25 to 12 win.

Koza, Elk Hurler, Leinbaugh and Wallen hit home runs for the winners. The lodge boys launched an attack that would have ordinarily won the game, but it was greatly overshadowed by the Elk hitting spree.

Batteries—Koza and Katzenmeyer; Mags and Zager.

K.P. Team Wins by Forfeit
As has been the case since they lost their first game, Bremer's again forfeited last night. This time they added to the lead that Knights of Pythias have in the Club loop standings. The lodge team has yet to lose a game.

Bud Willer Likely Choice for Quarterback Position

Speedy, Shifty Senior Leading Candidate for Post

(This is the fifth of a series of articles on the outstanding prospects for the Hawkeye football team this fall. Other articles will follow.)

By BILL RUTLEDGE

The field general of the line-crumbing trio of Iowa ball toters this autumn—Captain Oliver Sansen, Randall Hickman, and Jerry Kriz—will probably be Bud Willer.

The fleet senior back has been understudying the quarterback position for two seasons. On the form sheets he appears to be ready to step out as a regular.

Last year practically all Willer did was study and practice for the post. The season before he scintillated as the versatile star of the Old Gold "B" team. His sweeping end runs, short passes, and long punts made him easily the leading player of the secondary outfit.

Plenty of Speed
Willer's chief asset has always been his supply of speed. For two years he has been known as the highest and fastest member of the Hawkeye squad.

The Quincey, Ill., lad possessed the speed to make him one of the track team's top-notch dash men and hurdlers. In 1928 he was a member of Coach George Bresnahan's world record-breaking shuttle relay quartet.

His winter sport activity has been devoted to Quadrangle tournaments. He has ranked as one of the best Quad basketball players.

Three years of competition in three sports comprised Willer's prep record at Quincey high. He was half-back on the football team, forward on the basketball five, and dash and hurdle runner on the cinder outfit.

Worked as Waiter
Willer attributes his ambleness about to work as a waiter in his father's restaurant. During the noon hour he had to step lively with the trays.

Last summer he took his cue from Red Grange and trundled ice around Quincey. His vacation from school this year is being spent working in a wholesale grocery house.

Postpone Doubles Matches
BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 24 (AP)—Rain today forced postponement of the opening matches of the national doubles tennis tournament here until tomorrow.

Tuffy Griffiths Wins
CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City, Ia., heavy-weight, earned a 10 round decision over Con O'Kelly, rugged Boston Irishman with a concrete chin, in a 10 round battle in the White City open air arena tonight.

Former Champ Gets Medalist Honors in Women's Golf Meet

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Leona Pressler of San Gabriel, Cal., returned to her happy hunting grounds of golf—the women's western championship—today and galloped away with the medal by scoring an even par 79 over the rolling fairways of the Ex-moor Country club layout.

The California star, who won the championship in 1927 and 1928, lost it in 1929 and then failed to show up for the big show at Kansas City last year, played even with par both going and coming today. She was out in 39 and back in 40 for her 79, beating Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago and Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., for the medal by one shot.

Mrs. George Tyson, the defending champion from Kansas City, scored an 81 and tied Mrs. O. S. Hill, another former champion from Kansas City, for fifth place.

Great Britain Pair Wins Doubles Crown in Women's Tourney
NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—Great Britain's crack combination of Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall today salvaged doubles honors in the 44th annual women's tennis tournament at Forest Hills.

The British pair defeated Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., and Dorothy Round of England, 6-2, 6-4, in the final match postponed from yesterday at the request of Miss Round.

Mrs. Helen Willis Moody favored the spectators with an exhibition of her prowess as she defeated the veteran Peck Griffin of San Francisco, former doubles partner of "Little Bill" Johnston, 6-1, 6-3, in a special match.

Smith Allows 3 Runs
Schreiber, regular hurler for Coralville, has a bad arm. Smith, after holding the Downey attack in check, was called upon to pitch again and responded by allowing the strong Hills nine but one solitary run.

Charles "Kootch" Smith, ace righthander who plays with the Academy, pitched for Coralville Sunday afternoon in both ends of a doubleheader and allowed three runs as the association team downed Downey 6 to 2 and walloped Hills 7 to 1.

Independents Drop Tilt to Williamsburg

SUNDAY'S RESULTS
Williamsburg 6; Iowa City Independents 2.
Coralville 6; Downey 2.
Coralville 7; Hills 1.

At the expense of the newly organized Iowa City Independents, the fast stepping Williamsburg baseball team continued their unbroken string of victories by a 6 to 2 win.

Flake went the route for the Independents, striking out six opposing batsmen.

A return game has been arranged with the Williamsburg team which will probably be played September 13. Next Sunday, the Muscatine Muskies will play here.

Five Bid on Removing of Postal Shed

Five bids were received Monday by A. B. Rider, construction engineer on the new postoffice building, for the removal of the carrier shed now on the postoffice property. The bids will be forwarded to Washington for acceptance.

Bidding for the removal of the shed was opened at 11 a. m. Those who submitted bids were: Merton Tudor, $53, six days; W. C. Mott and Son, $50, one week; Wesley Sedvec, $25.50 five days; H. H. Carson $12.50; and M. J. Giblin, $5, five days.

Woman Leaves City Rather Than Serve 30 Day Jail Term

Genevieve Hinegardner of Malcolm, took the alternative of leaving Iowa City in preference to a 30 day jail sentence when she appeared before Judge Charles L. Zager yesterday afternoon. She was charged with loitering on the streets after 11 p. m.

She, in company with L. C. Wertz, was arrested Sunday evening after the couple had failed to pay for a two hour taxicab ride around Iowa City. Wertz told police that he had met Miss Hinegardner on the streets. He asserted that when they started on the ride he had $25 in his pocket but when the time came to pay the driver he could only find $1.37 which was not enough to cover the cab bill. No charges were filed against him.

Autogiro Plane Stops to Refuel at Airport

Enroute to the state fair at Des Moines, the Des Moines Register and Tribune autogiro plane stopped in Iowa City Sunday afternoon for servicing. The plane was on its way from Willow Grove, Pa.

Following its appearance at the fair for demonstration of its ability to rise and alight almost perpendicularly and to hover in the air at very slight forward speed, the "windmill plane" will be put into service by the Des Moines paper.

Bridenstine Funeral Service Held Today

Funeral service for Martin C. Bridenstine, 77, who died at the Mercy hospital Saturday evening, will be held at 2 o'clock today at the Oathout chapel. Rev. Ira J. Houston will officiate. Burial will be in the Tiffin cemetery.

Bridenstine, who was a resident of Iowa City during his entire life, died following a heart attack at his home at 404 E. Davenport street, Saturday evening.

Party Heads Will Ask for Relief Laws

$30,000,000 Needed to Provide for N. Y. Jobless

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Governor Roosevelt and party leaders are prepared to ask the extraordinary session of the New York legislature which meets tomorrow to enact unemployment relief legislation to provide the state's 1,000,000 idle men and women with part-time jobs.

The governor, spokesman of his party, and Republican chiefs of both houses are in accord that relief measures must make it possible to ask the legislature to find new sources of revenue through additional taxes, and to extend the time for which cities may borrow money for welfare work.

Leave Details to Cities It is understood law making leaders favor leaving the details of welfare work to cities and counties, the state providing the money and new statutes to make the undertaking easier.

Conservative estimates show that $30,000,000 will be needed to provide bare existence wages for families now in distress.

The special session was called to restore immunity powers to the legislative committee investigating New York city's administration. The court of appeals had stripped the investigators of the immunity grant upon an appeal of Dr. William F. Doyle, a veterinarian, who had received in two years more than $1,000,000 in fees as counsel before the bureau of standards. Doyle refused to testify regarding the fees and was sent to jail for contempt.

May Affect Nomination Unemployment relief, however, has pushed the immunity question into the background although it held the possibility of a Tammany Hall-Roosevelt split with far reaching effects upon Mr. Roosevelt's chances to obtain the Democratic nomination for the presidency next year.

It has been unofficially reported that Roosevelt will so word his immunity message that the Tammany Democrats can bring up their proposal to extend the legislative investigation to upstate communities which are Republican controlled.

Put Under Peace Bond

William R. Smith of Iowa City was placed under a $500 bond to keep the peace by Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter yesterday. He was released on his own bond.

80 Degrees High for City

Clouded skies for the greater part of the day prevented yesterday's thermometer from registering more than 80 as the highest temperature. At 7 a. m. the temperature was 69, and at 7 p. m. was but two degrees higher. The lowest recording for Sunday night was taken at 64.

members of the judiciary. After a long session behind locked doors he promised "definite, drastic action." He refused to say what form it would take.

No Quarter "We are going into a dangerous war against a dangerous enemy who gives no quarter," he said. "We can't afford to show our hand, but we are not going to give quarter either."

"The time for talking is past. We are going to show some action at once. Every department in the city will cooperate. It will be a battle to the finish."

Plans of the federal forces were just as secret. It was known, however, that the New York divisions of the department of justice, the internal revenue bureau and the prohibition bureau were planning to move together on criminals, following up on word from President Hoover's Rapidid camp that he sought joint federal and municipal action against the underworld.

Study Gang Books Federal Attorney George Z. Medalle will direct this offensive. Dozens of government agents are already working on the accounts of gangsters and racketeers, with the hope of striking at the gunmen's leaders through charges of income tax frauds.

At Madison Square Garden the scene was set tonight for a mass meeting at which Brainbridge Colby, former secretary of state and many other national figures were scheduled to denounce the reign of lawlessness and urge remedial action.

While public indignation continued to rise, two patrolmen slain in Friday's 10-mile gun fight with two reckless young bandits were buried with honors usually accorded only to a police inspector.

Gloria Lopez Buried Today Six were slain in that outbreak. The youngest victim, Gloria Lopez, 3 year old daughter of a fireman, will be buried tomorrow.

In Brooklyn last night Attorney

Farrari, 24, was slain as he and Angelo Curran, 20, were lined up against a fence. Curran with five bullets in his body, was still alive tonight. Murray Leonard, 21 year old ex-convict, seriously wounded in the shooting, is charged with homicide. Police say he was so anxious to see Farrari and Curran die he stepped into the line of fire of his own execution squad.

The gunmen picked up the unconscious Leonard and drove two and a half blocks before they threw his body to the street, apparently believing him dead.

50,000 New Yorkers Clamor for Relief

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—A community shocked by repeated gang killings of innocent citizens roared and stamped its demand for a cessation of lawlessness in a dramatic mass meeting tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Call for Quick Action While speakers berated prohibition, criticized city officials and called for quick and drastic police activity against gangsters and racketeers before 20,000 persons within the hall, another multitude even larger pressed against the lines of bluecoats who barred them from an already overcrowded forum.

More than 250 officers were detailed from other duty to control the clamoring crowd in three thoroughfares around the hall. The citizenry had responded to the call of a newspaper to attend the protest meeting in a degree that would have taxed the Central park area originally designated for the assemblage.

The scheduled speakers were Brainbridge Colby, former United States secretary of state; United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, Police Commissioner Edward Mulrooney and Charles Francis Coe, a criminologist. However it was Edward J. Neary, state commissioner of the American Legion who sprang the sensation of the session when he announced from the platform that an hour before he left for the meeting his life had been threatened by an anonymous person if he went to the Garden.

Threatened With "Ride" Neary, leading a group of Legion members, most of them in uniform, mounted the platform and said:

"Just before I left home a man giving the name of 'Mr. Ely' called me on the telephone. He said, in a threatening voice: "Stay away from that rally tonight if you know when you are well off. If you go there you'll get yours—you'll be bumped off."

"That," shouted Neary, "is a sample of the kind of people you've got to deal with at this meeting."

While his followers rose and stood at attention Neary then formally placed at the disposal of the law enforcement authorities the services of 30,000 members of the Legion. A blaring band and tumultuous shouts greeted his brief speech.

The doors of the Garden were closed a few minutes after 8 o'clock and more than 10,000 persons estimated even then to be outside ingress. The number outside soon was more than doubled.

"Prohibition Responsible" Police Commissioner Mulrooney declared that in his opinion prohibition is the responsible creator and financier of the vast majority of the most vicious and brutal rackets that "curse the country today."

"The policeman has the duty of enforcing the law. The people of New York do not want the Volstead law. . . .

"No law can be enforced without the support of the people. Yet we must enforce the Volstead law against the wishes of our employers—the people of New York. The police of New York are entitled, in fairness, to a repeal of the law or to be relieved of any responsibility of its enforcement."

Mr. Colby declared New York has ceased to be a safe place in which to live and placed the burden of the blame for the condition on the shoulders of the city administration.

Senator Wagner declared the problem of disarming the gunman is one of the most important issues in curbing crime in America.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in a message to the meeting called upon the citizenry of the state to "look upon every criminal as he is—weak, cowardly, vicious," and urged that there be "no more glorification of the bootleggers and criminals."

The meeting was sponsored by the New York American.

A resolution adopted called upon

Governor Roosevelt to notify the mayors of cities in the state that the police must be given a free hand in combatting crime or the governor will take action and remove public officials who interfere.

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the marines, said the police force in New York or anywhere else was just as good as the public officials behind them.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Catholic priest of Detroit, laid the blame for the gangster on the eighteenth amendment.

"The souls of our people have been offered up on the altar of the eighteenth amendment," he said, adding that the slaying of children was due to "our carelessness and hypocrisy."

10th Carload of Peaches

We have in transit and should have on track by the time this paper reaches you the 10th carload of peaches shipped to us from the 1931 crop. This car consists of 402 bushels of U. S. No. 1 Freestone Elberta peaches. The minimum size of these peaches is two inches. The present week will probably witness the last week of low price peaches. The reason lies in the fact that as soon as the Illinois crop is exhausted, we will be compelled to look to Colorado for our next supply. Not only is the freight much higher from Colorado, but the asking price at Colorado points is considerably higher than the asking price at Illinois points. We will accept orders for these peaches for delivery upon arrival at
