PREMIER FACES LABOR OPPOSITION

Duce Plans Visit to Pope This Autumn

Expect Agreement on Basis of Opening Clubs

ROME, Aug. 26 (AP)—Premier Mussolini's long deferred visit to the pope is planned for this autumn as a sort of lasting accord between the Vatican and the Italian government, it was said today in well-informed diplomatic circles.

Postponed by Pope

The premier was to have made an official visit to the pope nearly two years ago as one of the developments in connection with the Lateran treaties and the concordat. The pope postponed the call as a result of a controversy over the exact scope of the agreements, it was generally supposed, and there never was any formal announcement the premier would go to the Vatican.

May Extend Influence

Whether the accord means it or not, it is understood Mussolini is prepared to allow the church to extend its influence to priests in the fascist organization, and probably the government will assure the church that young people always will be allowed time for religious services on Sundays, which are usually largely occupied by drills and other fascist activities.

Caught Three Hours After Robbing Bank

BRULE, Neb., Aug. 26 (AP)—Arrested three hours after the robbery of the Farmers State bank here late today, Wallace Heath, 38, admitted to Deputy Sheriff Burford that he was the holdup man.

He had $718 cash and said he had forced Lewis Archer, 20, to drive him out of town.

Bank officials claimed they lost more than $2,000 and officials are trying to locate Archer. They said Heath, who called himself a hitchhiker, admitted serving time in the Arizona penitentiary.

The gunman who entered the bank this afternoon, locked Cashier Russell Anderson and James Crowl in the vault, then halted a passing car and drove off. Anderson used a screw driver to get out of the vault.

New "Liberty" Party Picks "Coin" Harvey for President

Asks Monetary Change, Federal Purchase of Utilities

MONTE NE, Ark., Aug. 26 (AP)—William H. (Coin) Harvey, of Monte Ne, and Andrae Nardskog, of Los Angeles, Cal., were chosen today as presidential and vice presidential candidates, respectively, of the new "Liberty party" formed at a convention here under Harvey's leadership.

Before the nominations the convention, amid scenes of disorder, adopted a platform proposing among other things revision of the monetary system, a moratorium on private debts and government ownership of all utilities.

80 Year Old Veteran

Harvey, an 80 year old veteran of William Jennings Bryan's free silver campaigns, refused the nomination at first but accepted after a motion had been made to select presidential and vice presidential candidates at a later convention.

Nardskog, 45 years old, is president of the Southwest Water league in California. In accepting the nomination he said he would do "everything possible to end the misery now prevalent" and criticized the appointment of Walter S. Gifford as chairman of President Hoover's unemployment relief committee. He asserted "big business could never hope to solve unemployment."

Ask 5-Year Moratorium Planks in the platform call for a

Col. Luke Lea Tries to Save Name of Son

Offers to Serve Extra Term, Pay Fine for Lea, Jr.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 26 (AP)—A vain effort by Col. Luke Lea to save his son from the stigma of a felony conviction today marked the closing scenes of the $1,000,000 Central Bank and Trust company fraud conspiracy case here.

After the Tennessee publisher, his 23 year old son, Luke, Jr., and Wallace B. Davis, president of the now defunct bank, had posted bonds pending their appeals from the sentences imposed on them yesterday, the senior Lea made his appeal to Judge M. V. Barnhill.

Gets Six to 10 Years

Lea was sentenced to serve six to 10 years in state prison, and Davis was given four to six years, upon their conviction on two counts of conspiracy to defraud and one count of actually defrauding the bank of more than $1,000,000.

Young Lea was directed to pay $25,000 in fines and costs by Judge Barnhill, but the latter today changed the sentence, making it provide a prison term of two to six years, to be suspended upon payment of the $25,000.

Assumes Responsibility

Assuming full responsibility for the Tennessee end of the various transactions, Col. Lea asked Judge Barnhill to set aside the jury's verdict applying to young Lea, offering to accept two additional years on his own sentence and to pay the $250,000 in order to remove the stigma of a felony conviction from his son.

Judge Barnhill later informed newspapers that he had told Col. Lea, if the latter would make his offer include a promise to withdraw his appeal, and to start on the sentence at once, the jurist would "suspend" the sentence of Luke Lea, Jr.

Rejects Offer

This offer was rejected by Col. Lea on the ground that a suspension of the sentence would not relieve his son of the felony conviction.

"I don't admit that I have done any wrong, but I do insist that these transactions were my own, not my son's," Col. Lea said. "I believe the supreme court will uphold our contentions."

Iowa Farmer Killed When Plane Crashes

NEWTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Beryl Braley, 30, farmer living southeast of Kellogg was killed this evening when the airplane he was flying crashed near his home.

His neck and both ankles were broken.

Several persons had made short flights with him previously but he was alone at the time of the fatal crash.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Braley, his widow, a son, and one brother. The body was brought to a funeral home here, pending funeral arrangements.

five year moratorium on all mortgages and interest-bearing debts; a revision of the country's monetary system through free coinage of silver as "coordinate money" with paper as currency and not as redemption money; public ownership of all utilities; freedom of taxation, to be made up from profits on the utilities and settlement of controversial issues through referendum.

MacDONALD'S NEW CABINET AGREES AT START

After resigning as prime minister of Great Britain because of a split in the labor party over methods of avoiding a threatened budget deficit, J. Ramsay MacDonald (right above) accepted King George's mandate to head a new national government in which all three of the major parties agreed to participate. Stanley Baldwin (upper left) Conservative leader, and Sir Herbert Samuel, (left below) Liberal spokesman, agreed to participate in the cabinet. J. H. Thomas, (center above) secretary of the dominions, said he also would take part in the new cabinet, while Philip Snowden, (right below) chancellor of the exchequer, was one of the Labor bloc supporting MacDonald.

Police Hold 2 in 10 Rooming House Deaths

Woman's Attorney Says Action Result of Gossip

DETROIT, Aug. 26 (AP)—A mother and her son were held by police today following the death by a fall from a window of a roomer in their home, and the subsequent discovery by police that 10 men, on most of whom the woman held insurance policies, had died in her rooming house during the last eight years.

The woman, Mrs. Rose Veras, 48, whose rooming house is in this city's Hungarian colony, is held on a technical charge of homicide. Her son, William, 18, was arrested for investigation.

Latest Death Cue

The death of Steve Mak, 68, a roomer at Mrs. Veras' home opened the police investigation. Mrs. Veras told police Mak fell from a ladder while repairing an attic window. Other witnesses said Mak was not at work on a ladder, and that it appeared he had been pushed from the window.

George M. Stutz, assistant prosecuting attorney, said he had learned there was one valid insurance policy on Mak's life, for $4,000, of which Mrs. Veras was the beneficiary.

Mrs. Veras told police it was customary in the Hungarian colony for a landlady to insure her roomers in her behalf. Police said 75 policies were found in her home.

Paid Funeral Expenses

Detective Lieutenant John Whitman said he had learned Mrs. Veras paid the funeral expenses of seven of the 10 men who died at her house. The men who died in Mrs. Veras' home, they said, were Hungarian.

"Frank M. Kenney, Mrs. Veras' attorney, declared the action against Mrs. Veras to be the result of neighborhood gossip. He said the previous deaths in her home had been investigated and showed no criminal activity.

17 Towns Stop Fireworks

DES MOINES (AP)—C. W. Barrett, secretary of the Iowa State Fire Prevention association, announced that 17 municipalities have passed ordinances banning the sale or firing of fireworks.

Adventists Elect Head

NEVADA (AP)—Elder C. F. McVaugh of Nevada was reelected president of the Iowa conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

Mob Would Lynch Man Charged With Assaulting Woman

HUDSON, Wis., Aug. 26 (AP)—Louis Johnson, 23, of Ellsworth, charged with assaulting a 20 year old woman of Hammond, was back in the county jail here tonight for safekeeping after a crowd of several hundred persons had threatened violence.

Johnson was arrested last week, pleaded not guilty when arraigned Monday and was released on $2,500 bail pending preliminary hearing the week of September 7.

Johnson said the young woman was injured when struck by a truck while they were on the highway. She is in a St. Paul hospital in serious condition, but will recover, physicians said.

Four Deputies Expelled From Mexico Group

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26 (AP)—Four deputies from Jalisco, all supporters of Governor Ignacio de la Mora, and one of them his brother, were expelled from the majority block of the chamber today upon presentation of charges that last night's shooting affray in which one deputy was killed and two were wounded, was a result of an ambush by the governor's friends.

A motion was also presented to lift the congressional immunity of the accused deputies so they could be tried on the charges, but a formal meeting of the chamber will be necessary to pass upon this proposal.

Deputy Manuel H. Ruiz, friend of the governor, who was killed last night was buried this morning.

General Allende, wounded in the affair, said he was shot from the door of the chamber by a man he recognized as the chauffeur for another deputy from Jalisco.

John J. Davis Dies at Local Hospital Following Operation

John J. Davis, 32, a farmer living near North Liberty, died yesterday morning following an operation at a local hospital. He was born October 24, 1898, in Johnson county where he lived until his death.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis, three sisters, Gladys, Blanche, and Lucille, all of North Liberty; and two brothers, Carl of Iowa City, and Dwight of North Liberty.

Funeral service will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Oathout chapel, with the Rev. Ira J. Houston in charge. Burial will be in the Unity cemetery.

Stabbing Ends 48 Hour Lull in New York

Figures in 2 Mystery Murders Involved in Crime

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Figures in two of New York's most spectacular murder mysteries were involved today in a stabbing that followed closely upon a period of nearly 48 hours without sensational crime in the city.

The victim of the knife attack was "Tough Willie" McCabe, gambler, Broadway habitue and bodyguard to the late Arnold Rothstein, whose murder after a $300,000 card game never has been solved.

Follies Girl Implicated

With McCabe when he was wounded in a night club, after a battle with fists and bottles, was Hilda Ferguson, who appeared in the "Follies" for seven years and was a roommate of "Doc" King, beautiful artist's model whose slaying eight years ago still remains one of Broadway's most perplexing death enigmas.

McCabe gave his name as John Mahoney when admitted to a hospital with serious wounds. Later he admitted he was the "Tough Willie" who was hunted for weeks in the Rothstein case and finally appeared to deny he had taken part in the high-stakes gambling that preceded the slaying of his employer.

Attack Gunmen

The stabbing was preceded by an attack by three gunmen on a card game in the rear of an east side dry goods store. The owner of the place, Theodore Naddl, was killed by the gangsters' fusillade. The slayers escaped.

It was that outbreak which ended the 48 hours of quiet that in turn had followed the killing of six persons in a bandit chase, the execution of one man and the wounding of two others by gangsters in Brooklyn, and, several weeks earlier, the killing of one child and wounding of four others in another underworld execution.

Bank, Mail Robbery Suspect Arrested in St. Paul as Fugitive

ST. PAUL, Aug. 26 (AP)—Reinhold Engel of St. Paul today faced bank robbery charges in two states and a mail truck robbery in another.

Arrested yesterday on a fugitive from justice warrant, Engel today was identified as the man wanted in connection with the robberies of the Farmers Savings Bank of Alden, Ia., March 10, bank robbery at Grantsburg, Wis., in January, and a mail truck holdup at Austin, Minn., last Saturday.

Crowds Mob Lindberghs in Tokyo Display

Plans Indefinite; May Hop Soon for City in China

TOKYO, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Japanese people welcomed Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today with one of the greatest demonstrations ever seen in the demon capital.

Police struggled to hold enthusiastic crowds in check as the Lindberghs rode in an open automobile through two and one half miles of decorated streets. After the parade they went to the home they will occupy during a brief stay before extending their flight to some city of China.

Premier Welcomes Pair

The official welcome of Japan was given by Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki.

In an interview with newspapermen, Lindbergh said plans were indefinite as to where they would go after flying to China. He expressed the opinion that an air line across the Pacific "is entirely feasible provided traffic demands justify it," but said the route should be further south than the one followed on the vacation trip.

Arrive at Airport

The day's demonstrations began with the arrival of the Lindberghs at the Kasumigaura naval airport, 50 miles from Tokyo, at 2:30 p.m. (11:59 p.m. C.S.T.) after flying 613 miles from Nemuro, Japanese island of Hokkaido.

Cheering thousands were held back by Japanese navy sailors as the Americans' seaplane alighted.

Expressing appreciation of Mrs. Lindbergh and himself for the "un-surpassed hospitality" of the Japanese people, the colonel said:

"We are looking forward with great anticipation to spending a short time in Japan and having the opportunity of knowing more of your people."

Answering an inquiry of Japanese reporters the colonel said his wife and he had been in no personal danger during the two nights and a day they floated in their plane off Ketoi island because of fog and motor trouble. He said, however, their plane was endangered when its anchor rope was severed by sharp rocks.

Chicago Seeks to Snare Al Capone on New Charges

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (AP)—While police expected John J. "Jack" Lynch, kidnaped gambler, to be returned to his summer home at Lake Geneva, Wis., momentarily, Patrick J. Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, late today ordered the arrest of Al Capone in connection with the case.

Roche said he had ordered Capone's arrest for investigation, on the suspicion that Capone was directly connected with the negotiations for Lynch's release.

While it was not thought that Capone was connected with the actual kidnaping, Roche said, if investigation shows the gangster to be one of those who arranged the ransom payment, reported to be $50,000, his indictment will be sought on a charge of compounding a felony.

Revolution in Lisbon Crushed by Troops; 20 Persons Killed

LISBON, Aug. 26 (AP)—A revolutionary movement which cost the lives of 20 persons and in which upward of 120 were injured broke out in Lisbon today, but was quickly suppressed by troops loyal to the administration of President Oscar Carmona.

Lisbon tonight was heavily guarded by troops in field uniform and tanks and armored cars rumbled through the streets.

More than 300 persons were arrested.

In the course of the fighting the American legation was hit by a stray bullet which did no material damage, however.

Mishandling of Funds Laid at Cannon's Door

Nye Says Bishop Took Party Money for Private Use

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Testimony received by the senate campaign funds committee today led Chairman Nye to say Bishop James Cannon, Jr., deposited political contributions in his private checking account during the 1928 campaign.

The southern Methodist churchman headed the Virginia anti-Smith forces. The present investigation was prompted by charges of Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, that he failed to account as provided by law for all the funds contributed for his use against the Smith candidacy.

$9,500 Transferred After examining witnesses on the bishop's financial transactions, Senator Nye said the testimony revealed $9,500 had been transferred from the Cannon account as chairman of the anti-Smith forces to his personal account in another bank.

Senator Bill, Democrat, Washington, referred at one time during the tracing of checks to "the juggling of funds involved here."

Later, in reply to a protest by Bishop Cannon's counsel at the trend of inquiry, he asserted the bishop had put campaign contributions in his "personal account," had "interchecked these accounts and used one against the other."

Examine Cannon Accounts The committee today examined the records of the Citizens Bank and Trust company, of Blackstone, Va., where Bishop Cannon had one of several banking accounts.

Nye said these showed Bishop Cannon paid off $5,000 in notes against him or which bore his name between June 1, 1928, and March 2, 1929. John H. Booker, cashier of the bank, said this was true.

Booker identified a letter he received in October, 1928, from Bishop Cannon saying he was placing $5,000 held in trust for the Newspaper Supply company of Richmond, Va., in the First National bank of Blackstone for an interest bearing certificate of deposit.

Nye Produces Senator Nye produced a cashier's check for $8,000 on the Lawyers Trust company, of New York, which he said Bishop Cannon placed in the Blackstone bank in exchange for the certificate of deposit. He said the

New Cabinet Meets British Budget Crisis

MacDonald, Associates Receive Bitter Attacks

LONDON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Ramsay MacDonald's new national government reached full accord today on the procedure necessary to meet the budget crisis, but encountered increasingly bitter opposition from the ranks of labor.

The first meeting of the cabinet, held after the new ministers had been vested with the seals of office by King George at Buckingham palace, broke up with the announcement that complete agreement had been reached on the measures to deal with the financial emergency.

Labor Opposes Cabinet At the same time organized labor—the trades union congress general council, the national executive committee of the labor party and the consultative committee of the parliamentary labor party—formally declared their opposition to the three-party cabinet.

The labor organizations, at a joint meeting, passed a resolution withdrawing their support from the laborite leaders participating in the national cabinet, chief of whom is the prime minister.

Seek General Movement The resolution declared the labor groups were unanimously of the opinion the new government "should be vigorously opposed in parliament and by a movement throughout the country."

In this action from the political groups for years led by Mr. MacDonald were seen the prospects of much heavy going for the three-party cabinet the Scottish statesman now heads.

Mr. MacDonald and his new associates all appeared at Buckingham palace in top hats and frock or morning coats for the ceremony of transferring the seals of office. Some of them arrived by taxicab, a few in their own motorcars, and some on foot.

Meet in First Session The ceremony lasted about an hour and then the officially invested ministers hurried back to the prime minister's residence, 10 Downing street, and held their first formal session.

One of the first acts of the prime minister was to name a small committee to deal with the necessary legislation which will be rushed through a special parliament session convening September 8.

The government plans to override all opposition in the house of commons, even by dictatorial methods if necessary. Gloves will be discarded, it is said, in pushing through laws required to meet the emergency.

Defends Program Before today's meeting of the cabinet Mr. MacDonald sent personal letters to all labor members of parliament defending in vigorous language the steps he had taken to deal with the national crisis.

He urged them to "think over the situation without prejudice and passion" before reaching a decision on whether to support the new government or go into the opposition.

"If our financial stability is endangered and a run is made on our financial resources, the consequences would be too terrible to envisage," he wrote.

No Talk—Action! "This is no time for considering blame. Swift measures must be taken to avert a crisis.

"A crisis was approaching with rapid strides. Lately it had become a question of hours and shelter had to be found immediately. We hope what was done yesterday (the formation of the national government) will prevent a crisis."

Labor's bludgeons are expected to be used most on Mr. MacDonald and Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas, although Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden, who also followed the prime minister into the national cabinet, may be included in the bludgeoning.

May Receive Ouster Both the prime minister and Mr. Thomas may be read out of the party but nevertheless it is expected they will continue in their cabinet posts.

The line-up of their labor battalions to smite their so-called "traitorous" leaders is continuing at a rapid pace.

Frank Harris, Iconoclast, Dies in Exile But Finishes Autobiography of Critic Shaw

NICE, France, Aug. 26 (AP)—Frank Harris, self-exiled from his adopted America because of his daring writings, died in his sleep early today at his villa here.

Critic, author, editor and playwright, intimate acquaintance of the great and near great at the turn of the century, he wrote to the last to eke out the comparative poverty that came with judicial disapproval of his sensational "Life and Loves."

At his bedside when he died was his wife, Mrs. Nellie O'Hara Harris, the titian-haired Irish woman he met in a Paris art gallery and married 20 years ago, and whom he seemed to love devotedly.

Funeral Friday His funeral will be held Friday morning at the Episcopal church in Nice, with burial in a nearby Protestant cemetery.

The iconoclast of Anglo-American letters, who was 75 years old, suffered a new attack of bronchitis on Saturday, an ailment that had made his health poor, and his condition became alarming over the week end. Mr. Harris had suffered three such attacks in the past year. He had completed the proofreading of his life of George Bernard Shaw, the Irish dramatist and long his friend, last week. The Shaw biography is to be published simultaneously in England and America in the autumn.

Although he retired to France several years ago, virtually a self exile because of official objections to some of his writings, he remained an American citizen by naturalization.

The fame of Frank Harris, literary "bad boy," largely rests on his biography of Oscar Wilde and his own "Life and Loves."

His "Life and Confessions of Oscar Wilde" brought him renown. His autobiography brought him notoriety for it was suppressed in various countries, including the United States, on the ground that accounts of his love affairs, some with prominent women, were

Another State Fair

TOMORROW will see the official opening of the annual state fair at Des Moines. To the city dweller the exposition represents a noisy, sprawling, 100 ring circus, unless he happens to have an inquiring mind and recognizes it for what it is—a remarkable opportunity to see the sum total of Iowa's progress and power in one gigantic heap.

Whereas the city man usually comes to learn in a casual way what the farmer is accomplishing, his interest is largely that of the storekeeper who wishes his customers to prosper.

To the farmer, however, the state fair is something more. It is his, a family affair. It represents a glorious opportunity for recognition, for enlivening competition that will carry through the following year. It provides a vast fund of readily acquired knowledge and it is a social event at which he may meet and know other farmers and their problems.

And so to the city dweller there is presented a chance to get nearer to the heart of his state than by merely gaping at the biggest, the healthiest, or the fastest. If the common welfare means more to him than mere commercial gain, the state fair is one of the best ways in the world for him to study at first hand the strata upon which his prosperity rests.

'L'Esprit Americain'

IT IS A MATTER of interest to Americans, proud of their achievements since the birth of their nation a century and a half ago, that Henri Petain, the commander in chief of French armies who said at Verdun, "Ils ne passeront pas," has determined to visit the United States.

His visit is noteworthy because he is coming to thank this country, upon the occasion of the Yorktown celebrations, for the help of the United States in winning the World War. Americans always feel at the back of their heads that they have not been sufficiently thanked by the rest of the world for turning saviour in 1917, and they feel increasingly self-satisfied each time any overtures on that score are made.

Yet surpassing in interest the official motive of Petain's visit, is his personal desire to see "L'Esprit Americain." Americans will quite agree with Petain that their spirit is "one of the most wonderful in the world, even more enthusiastic than the French." They will be doubly proud of the compliment coming from a great French soldier.

And so, with their task clearly laid out for them, Petain's American hosts will doubtless surpass themselves in enthusiasm, vivacity, and careless spending of large sums of money, as they go about pointing out the Brooklyn bridge and the Empire State building.

As a result, Petain is certain to be disappointed. He has declared, in the only press interview he has granted during his life, that he is not so interested in the gigantic things of America—the skyscrapers, Niagara Falls and such.

But he does not realize that the kind of American spirit he will observe among his friends in this country will not be "L'Esprit Americain." It will only be a kind of front, carefully displayed to satisfy the expectations of the Frenchman who has imagined and wishes to see it that way.

"L'Esprit Americain" can be found only in the skyscrapers, the subways, the fast trains, the gaunt and massive cities that he has already spurned in his search. And so Petain will make the mistake that other visitors have made, unconsciously avoiding the true American spirit in search of the artificial.

No More Women "Blinds"

DECISION of Prohibition Director Woodcock to eliminate the use of women in apprehending dry law offenders is a curious example of the machinery of public opinion. In the particular case the public has protested a practice and thereby has succeeded in cramping the style of more than one enforcement bureau. It would almost appear that the public were leaning over backwards to play fair with the bootlegger.

Yet the dictates of the public are based on solid ground, and although apparently trying the hands of enforcement officers in many cases, will work out all to the good in the long run.

No matter what other merits the use of women "blinds" in seeking out violators might have had, a single instance like the case of the Buffalo girl who was arrested for intoxication in the pursuance of her duty throws a shadow over all dry administration.

Through examples like it more and more persons are learning to look upon prohibition officials with disrespect as well as the law they enforce. Such scandals also provide an entering wedge for advocates of repeal.

So although many a dry agent will feel that he has been hampered by the public he is seeking to protect, actually the cause of the dries will be considerably strengthened by Woodcock's move.

The New Fashion

(From the Christian Science Monitor)
The new mode in women's clothing, characterized by naive historical inaccuracies that with equanimity describe a given hat as "Empress Eugenie," "1880" and "First Empire"—all three, when in fact it is not even any one of these—of a sudden has thrust itself into the American scene. And women, apathetic to the historical truth of their attire, but mightily concerned with its looks, are in a great to-do acquiring hats that aspire with widely varying success to achieve a saucy downward tilt over the right eye.

It is all very thrilling indeed—for women. Men, for a considerable part, are engaged in their traditional role of again inveighing futilely against this strange tide of new feminine apparel. To them it ever has been inexplicable that otherwise generally intelligent creatures should uncomplainingly—nay, even gladly—heed the whims and dictates of couturiers in far-away Paris. For men do not do such things—at least, so hurriedly. So far as clothing is concerned, they adhere tenaciously to the things that are, resisting innovations and regarding with suspicion and dismay those few of their fellows who have the courage occasionally to essay some minor sartorial mutation.

If, thus, we examine the three decades since the turn of the century, we find that women's clothes in that time have undergone perhaps a dozen radical and ineffectual revisions, while those of men have followed a very slow logical evolution: wider and longer trousers; longer and easier coats; shorter and more gentle collars; soft hats to compete with bowlers. These changes are slight, and of a magnitude not remotely comparable to those in women's attire; and if the men of 1931 appear considerably different in appearance from those of 1900, it is not because their garb has been greatly altered, but preponderantly because it was in the intervening period that the safety razor was popularized.

In fact, when one considers how rigorously men stick to their steamy coats, and sometimes even vests also, in the warmest weather, the question is apposite whether men or women are the more servile "slaves of fashion"—men to the fixity of their modes, women to the transiency of theirs.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

A lot of other small countries could learn from Ecuador how to overthrow the government without a tussle, all in one easy lesson. The president accepted the resignation of his cabinet, sat down and wrote one himself, accepted that, and reported the "revolt" was well in hand. There was only one negative vote and that came from one of the president's "pals" who liked the old regime too well to see it crumble before the rebel horde.

"Long live the constitution," shouted the populace, and followed that up with, "Down with the government." But it was already down. Over in Cuba, both sides had a lot of fun shooting up the country and killing each other off in lesser quantities for a couple of weeks and never got anywhere. According to the press reports, the president would declare all the fighting was over in one paper while in the next there would be a story on what a terrible time they were having. There should be a sort of international formula for political upheavals modeled after the Ecuador plan. Address: Chamber of Commerce, Quito, Ecuador, S. A.

"Guess who this is?"
"You wouldn't kid me, would ya?"
"Naw, I wouldn't kid you?"
"Oh, yeah?"
"How about seeing ya?"
"Alrightie!"
"See a show?"
"Swell!"

The above, believe it or not, is a typical phone conversation between the hours of 7 and 9 in the evening in almost any city. The average telephone vocabulary, it has been found, does not exceed 787 words, most common among which is "yes" or some corruption thereof.

Even in this hurried existence of ours, there are persons who find time for meaningless, aimless phone conversations. And there still are countless thousands who insist on saying, "Hello," although some of the more business-like concerns are educating their employees to answer the ring with the name of the company and the speaker's own name. Over in England they answer with "Hello, are you there?" as if they didn't know someone must be there. Much more provoking are the rambling answers of little Johnny, age 3, who has just learned how to hold the receiver. If he could be taught to say, "This is the Smith residence, John speaking," another great American problem would be settled, without arbitration.

The war department will have to pay $15,297 more for footwear this year because it must buy shoes from the justice department. Despite the fact that the army can get shoes at $2.44 a pair from a St. Louis firm, it must pay $2.73 a pair at the prison factories, in the face of President Hoover's edict of "rigid economy."

The matter might receive some consideration from Hoover himself, if the prison inmates were set to manufacturing big, black cigars or gun-drops, two pet items of the chief executive's diet, and the same law forced him to buy justice department products. Then, after a week or so of paying a dime straight instead of two-for-fifteen for the cigars and a nickel for 10 instead of 15 gun-drops, something might be done to alleviate the situation. Under the circumstances, however, it seems as if the standing army will have to stand in $2.73 shoes, at least until March 4, 1933.

SEA MYSTERY PRINCIPALS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—In the strange case of the vanished Japanese, Hisashi Fujimura, that is now giving the authorities severe mental cramps, none of the ingredients that go into the concoction of a first-class mystery thriller is missing.

Fujimura disappeared from aboard the liner Belgenland while on a pleasure cruise from New York to Halifax and return, and up to the time of writing there is no clue that points with any degree of certainty to a solution of the mystery.

The missing man was a wealthy silk importer who owned a considerable estate in Norwalk, Conn., and it was believed at first that he was taking the cruise for his health. He was accompanied by his daughter, Toshika, and Mrs. Mary Reissner, known to the stage as Mary Dale, who was on board as governess for the seven year old daughter (though she later admitted that she was Fujimura's sweetheart, authorities say).

Among the throng of merry-makers on board the "show-boat" were some of the foremost characters of Broadway, many of whom have been questioned by the investigators, but without shedding any light on the strange disappearance of the Japanese. One of those questioned was Miss Mildred Harris, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, now a vaudeville artist, who gave a party on board on the night that Fujimura was reported missing.

Mrs. Reissner, who is a blonde of startling beauty, has supplied the investigators with the only clue, so far, that may lead to a motive for the murder or suicide of the wealthy Oriental.

According to the ex-show girl, who admitted a liaison between herself and Fujimura, soon after the Japanese boarded the ship he told her that he had seen someone on board whom he had not expected to see and that he feared this person. After that Fujimura kept constantly to his cabin and drank

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON
WASHINGTON—Consider now Robert, son of Joe Carey of Carey-hurst, Wyo., a gubernatorial-senatorial son of a senatorial-gubernatorial father.

His coming to the senate provided that state with two cattle baron togawearers, for John Kendrick of Wyoming, nee Texas some 74 years ago, also is in the cow business at home.

But Senator Carey's proudest boast seems to be that he is "the only native son to serve either as governor of Wyoming or as United States senator." He sounds off strong on that in his self-contributed biography.

That reminds the Bystander, however, that another of those far western communities of much land and relatively few folks, the G-R-R-reat state of "Idaho," as it usually sounds to the ear, is enjoying a native son political epoch just now.

Idaho's new governor is one C. Ben Ross, a Democrat. There has not been a Democratic governor in Idaho for a round dozen years.

EXCEPTIONAL

It might be well to survey the political history of the Idahoan with the rapid-fire name. For a quarter-century Idaho has been the exclusive senatorial vote preserve of that Republican Warwick of 1928, Bill Borah.

He's a habit out there. And last year was no exception. Idaho went almost totally Republican; regular Republican so far as Representative French and Smith go, Borah-Rep-

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Of all the recent success stories Peggy Shannon's is the most dramatic.

Called in to pinch-hit for Clara Bow, the red-headed stage actress faced a forlorn prospect. Yet she came through with distinction in "The Secret Call," and now is about heavily. Mrs. Reissner said. She says her last sight of him was when the ship was about five hours out of New York, just before she went to the party in Miss Harris's cabin, at about 1 a. m. She never saw Fujimura again, she claims, nor did she know he was missing until notified by a steward.

Mrs. Reissner admitted that before she parted from Fujimura for the last time they had a violent quarrel, in the course of which he severely bruised her arms. This story is borne out by Jan Ribas, ship's artist, who heard the quarrel and saw the resultant marks on Mrs. Reissner. The cause of the row, according to Mrs. Reissner, was Fujimura's insane jealousy and the fact that she was going to Miss Harris's party without him.

One theory held by the Federal authorities investigating the case is that some white men of the party who noticed the bruises inflicted on Mrs. Reissner went to Fujimura's cabin and exacted summary vengeance on the yellow man, killing him and throwing the body overboard.

Another angle to the case, and one that may support the suicide theory, is the disclosure that the missing man was insured for $250,000, one of the policies of which he transferred from his estate to his wife just before sailing on the cruise. The amount involved in the change was $20,000. He also changed a $50,000 policy, but the new beneficiary is still unknown to authorities.

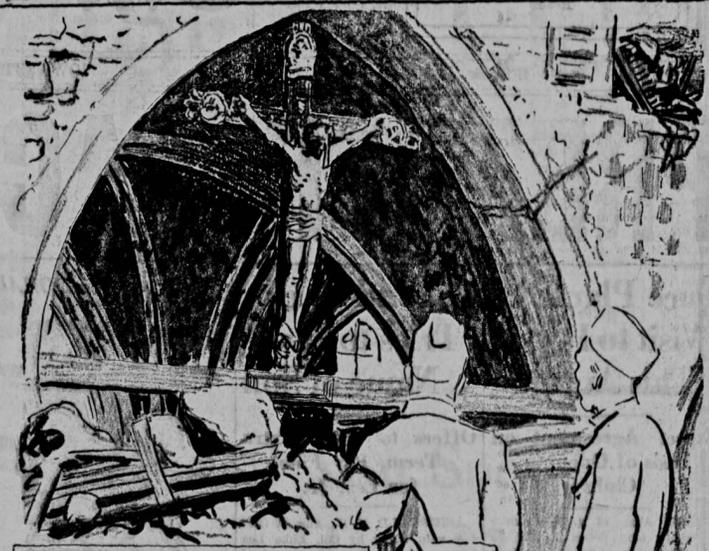

There's a fine story for writers of mystery yarns in the vanishing of a man on board a ship in the Atlantic. Was it suicide? Was it murder by the person whom Fujimura feared? The cabin boy's guess is as good as the captain's.

Meanwhile Mrs. Fujimura has had plenty to worry about in her Norwalk home in the death of a daughter, on the day her husband disappeared and the birth of another a few days later.

BRavo, Al!

Under the new red-tape regime of getting in and out of studios, dozens of extra policemen have been added to patrol the lots. Visiting Fox this week, Al Jolson took one look at all the uniforms. "Ye gods!" he exclaimed. "When did they declare martial law around here?"

LATEST GOSSIP

Hedda Hopper has a neat way of turning a phrase. Upon being shown a picture of Clark Gable, snapped on the on the bride-trait, she remarked: "When you can look at a man on a thoroughbred and not say 'What a good-looking horse!' then the man has it." Speaking of horses, there is a drinking trough on Hollywood Boulevard in the middle of the business section of the film capital. It's a hold-over from the days gone by. The Humane Society keeps it up now, and does a chiefly beneficent. . . Nowadays a studio doesn't fail to take up an option. It declares a moratorium. . . Charles MacArthur has made what many scenarioists will consider a Quixotic gesture. He has asked to be taken off salary to rewrite some of the dialogue for "Lul-aby." Not only this, but he has sent to New York for Ben Hecht to come out and help him do it. Perhaps the fact that Helen Hayes (Mrs. MacArthur) makes her screen debut in the picture has something to do with it. Still, M. G. M. officials are probably stunned. . . All reports to the contrary, Universal is said to be determined to make "Once in a Lifetime," the Hollywood travesty. . . Gloria Swanson leaves Paris today. She will be here Aug. 10. . . And another traveler is Fred-eric March, who comes back here from a year in New York.

HE CASHES IN

Several studios are planning pictures to cash in on the phrase, "What a man!" made famous here in the marriage mix-up of "Ma" Kennedy and the "Rev." Hudson. It will be Reginald Denny, however, who gets first crack at the Kudos. Reg wrote and played in a picture of that name for Fox two years ago. Prints are being dug up and will be released. Reg's contract calls for 15 per cent of the gross.

HE SOLVED THE DEPRESSION

An odd way of beating dull times in the studios has been developed by Robert McKenzie, whom you will remember as the prosecuting attorney in "Cimarron." Jobs being scarce, Mr. McKenzie and his family are running a tent show on the outskirts of Culver City, where several great movie plants are located. One daughter, Ella, plays female leads; another, Fay (aged 12), takes children's roles, while Mrs. McKenzie does character parts. When the head of the family gets work in the films he has an understudy to take his place in the show. And playing such old-timers as "Laff That Off" and "The Man From Oklahoma," the McKenzie family is paying the grocery bills and putting money in the bank.

Cubs Lace Giants in Both Ends of Doubleheader; Cardinals Win Pair

Second Battle Goes Twelve Innings 7 to 4

Pat Malone Permits 3 Hits in Opener; Score 4-3

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs closed their eastern invasion today by sweeping a doubleheader with the Giants, 4 to 3 and 7 to 4, the nightcap going 12 innings before a decision was reached.

After pitching 25 scoreless innings, Jim Mooney, Giant recruit, blew up in the eighth inning of the second tilt when Hazen Cuyler hit a home run with two on. Hornsby's homer in the ninth tied the count at 4-all. Fred Fitzsimmons stopped the visitors the next two innings, but they fell on him for three runs in the 12th to clinch matters.

In the first game Pat Malone held the Giants to three hits, two of them scratches, and with perfect support would have scored a shut-out. The Cubs hit Bill Walker in timely style, Vince Barton's home run in the third with Cuyler on base scoring what proved the winning runs.

Haines, Grimes Hurl Cards to Double Win

BOSTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Jesse Haines and Burleigh Grimes equalled the efforts of other Cardinal hurlers today as the St. Louis Cardinals took both ends of a doubleheader, 6 to 1 and 6 to 4, to make a clean sweep of a five game series with the Braves.

Haines kept the Braves' 10 hits scattered in the opener, shutting them out until the ninth. Grimes did not have things so easy in the nightcap but his teammates overcame an early lead with a four run rally in the sixth.

Chick Hafey and Pepper Martin were the batting stars while the latter excelled also in the field.

Philly Rallies Down Reds Twice 8-4, 7-6

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26 (AP)—A sizzling ninth inning rally in the second game enabled the Phillies to take both ends of a doubleheader from Cincinnati today. Phil Collins scored his fifth straight victory when he triumphed 8 to 4 in the opener, and the Phils overcame a three run advantage to win out 7 to 6 in the second game.

Dick Bartell decided the second game when with two out and the bases full, he doubled to center. Hendrick hit a home run in the first game and Hurst had one in the nightcap.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

Jack Dempsey is preparing himself for his second comeback drive by appearing in minor fights around the Pacific northwest. Press accounts credit Dempsey as still having his old punching power. We do not doubt but what the former heavyweight champion can hit as hard as ever.

Can Jack step about the ring fast enough to catch his opponents? A smart and shifty boxer could keep out of the way of Dempsey's knockout swings unless the Manassa Mauler is lively on his feet.

Babe Ruth will probably have the power in his shoulders to crack out homers when he is so old he would have to be wheeled around the base lines. There is more to baseball than connecting with the ball. Fielding is involved as well. When the Babe is no longer able to dash after flies and when he can no longer race around the baselines, he will have to become a manager or a pinch hitter.

Three or four years ago when Big Bill Tilden was shipping and the French were carrying off the Davis cup, the Philadelphia could hit the ball with the same accuracy and power as ever. His legs were slowing up and experts believed he was about through.

The eastern trip, the last serious obstacle for the Cardinals in their pennant drive, has been concluded with the Red Birds impressing even the most skeptical fans of their superiority. The clean sweep of the series with the Braves was a fitting climax to the successful seaboard invasion.

Connie Mack has put the whip away and is letting the Athletics center to the wire. Al Simmons has been resting up at his home in Milwaukee.

Mickey Cochrane was directed to go home for a vacation before the world series Tuesday. Joe Boley has been out of the lineup for weeks. "Mule" Haas has been taking things very easy.

Browns Get 16 Blows to Smear A's

Come From Behind to Rout Earnshaw, Walberg

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26 (AP)—Rallies in the seventh and eighth innings netting six runs brought the St. Louis Browns from behind to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 9 to 5 here today. The Browns' big four, Schulte, Burns, Goslin and Kress collected 11 of the 16 hits made off Rube Walberg, the A's starting hurler and big George Earnshaw, who relieved him in the eighth. Two of Burns' three hits were doubles.

Rip Collins, Manager Killefer's choice today, was routed in the fourth inning when the Athletics scored three runs, but Walter Stewart checked the champions.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

Sox Halt Yankees' Win Streak 8 to 5

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (AP)—A seventh-inning attack on Gordon Rhodes and Henry Johnson netted the White Sox five runs and gave them an 8 to 5 victory over the New York Yankees in their final game of the season today. The Yanks previously had won 10 straight at Comiskey park.

Urban Faber and Rhodes went along fairly evenly for six innings, then Faber weakened and allowed two runs to give the Yanks a lead. It did not last long however.

Tate opened Chicago's seventh with a double and Fothergill, batting for Faber, was safe on Lazzari's error. Blue followed with a triple, Sullivan singled and Carl Reynolds hit a home run into the left stands to send Rhodes to the showers and clinch the contest.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
New York.....000 001 202-5 9 1

Tigers Nip Nats on Eighth Inning Homer

DETROIT, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers broke even with the Washington Senators in their last meeting of the season at Navin field today. Roy Johnson's home run in the eighth giving them a 5 to 4 victory. The series closed with each team having won two games.

Earl Whitehill pitched all the way for the Tigers, and allowed seven hits, while Sad Sam Jones and Carl Fischer were touched for 11 hits. The score was deadlocked at 4-all after the third inning. Johnson's homer breaking the four run tie.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

Al Simmons Convalescing

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 26 (AP)—Al Simmons, leftfielder for the Philadelphia Athletics, convalescent here for some time with an infected leg, said he expects to report to Connie Mack for duty by the end of this week. With his leg still swathed in bandages Simmons was in the stands "rooting" for the home town Brewers today.

Postpone Welterweight Bout

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 26 (AP)—The fight in which Tony Canzoneri was to defend his junior welterweight title against Henry Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., tonight was put over until tomorrow because of threatening weather. Perlick weighed in at 140 pounds this afternoon, making the necessary poundage to put Canzoneri's title at stake. Canzoneri weighed 134.

Jake Wilson, Baylor grid star voted the Southwest conference's most valuable player last year, will play pro football this fall in Galveston.

Carlos Proctor, former Florida football star, has planned a series of 10 bouts to open his professional boxing career.

Going on a terrific scoring rampage the Press-Citizen Kittenball team registered a record victory last night by whitewashing the Odd Fellows to the tune of 31 to 3 at the municipal field.

Eighteen runners crossed the plate in one huge inning. Chervinka and McGee formed the battery for the winners.

Errors, rather than clean hits, brought the lodge ten's smothering.

Alex Rogers May Play End This Autumn for Hawkeyes

Won Major Letter as Reserve Tackle Last Fall

(This is the seventh of a series of articles on the outstanding prospects for the Hawkeye football team this fall. Another article will follow.)

By BILL RUTLEDGE
The making over of Alexander Rogers from a major letter reserve tackle into a regular end may solve 50 per cent of the problem at the terminal posts.

Without a single major "I" candidate available for end, Coach Burt Ingwersen's difficulty at those positions is vexing.

Ray Story of Davenport holds a minor letter won as a reserve wing man. He may be used as one end.

Starred on Courts
Last year Rogers saw little action in football, but with the scarcity of line material it is likely that he will become a first string player.

Rogers' main athletic role was in basketball. He was the regular center and leading scorer of Coach Rollie Williams' quintet. He was a candidate for forward, but being the tallest basketballer on the squad he was placed at the pivot post.

Basketball is the only sport in which Rogers has prep experience. In his high school days he was ranked among the best prep cage men in the country.

Playing on the Florence, Miss. five, he participated in two of the national interscholastic tournaments. His senior year Florence was third in the running for the national title. Rogers was one of the high point makers of the meet and was picked on the All-American prep quintet.

For three consecutive seasons Florence was runner-up for the Mississippi state championship. Nine freshman numerals were earned by Rogers in yearling sports. Three were awarded to him at Iowa in football, basketball, and baseball.

Three were granted him at Mississippi college and three more at Mississippi A. and M. before he came here.

Tilden to Tour Europe
NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Big Bill Tilden may extend his professional tennis tour to Europe this October, despite the unsuccessful attempt of Jack Curley, promoter, to engage Henri Cochet for a series of matches with the American. Curley has offered Tilden a European contract.

Coach E. C. Hayes of Indiana is the only new football mentor in the Big Ten this fall.

For this first time in eight years Wisconsin and Illinois will oppose each other in football this fall.

Title Holder Moves Up in Golf Tourney

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 26 (AP)—The defending titleholder, Mrs. George Tyson of Kansas City, and virtually all of her serious rivals marooned on into the quarter finals of the women's western golf championship over the fairways of the Exmoor course today.

Mrs. Tyson kept her title safe to date by disposing of Ann Webster of Leavenworth, Kan., 3 and 1. The two former champions to survive were Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, who crushed Rena Nelson of Chicago, 6 and 4, in the most one sided struggle of the day and Mrs. Leona Pressler, San Gabriel, Cal., twice holder of the western crown, who was carried to the final green before she eliminated Mrs. Roy Green, Los Angeles city champion, 1 up.

Also in the quarter finals came Mrs. John Arends, Detroit, who defeated Mrs. Austin Pardue, the preacher's wife from Sioux City, Ia., and Minneapolis, 1 up on the 18th hole.
