REGISTRATION IN FULL SWING TODAY

Japan -- Seattle Flyers Safe on Pacific Island; Cramer Wreckage Picked Up at Sea

California Airmen Send Radio Message After Weeks "Hush"

BULLETIN
BREMERTON, Wash., Sept. 16 (AP)—The naval radio station received a message relayed from the Russian steamship Buriat, saying Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, transpacific flyers, reported today after they were missing for more than a week, were set ashore at the village of Miano, on the island of Tiligino, in latitude 62 north and longitude 180 east.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—A radio message flashed over the fringe of civilization today to inform Americans that the supposedly lost Pacific flyers—Cecil Allen and Don Moyle—were "safe and well and on their way home."
The startling news that Moyle and Allen had been picked up from a remote and uninhabited island following within a few hours the receipt of a terse message that a British trawler in the North sea had found the remnants of an airship identified as the Detroit to Copenhagen plane of Parker Cramer and Oliver Paquette. Meantime, in this crowded day of flying sensations the Atlantic seaboard was scanned fruitlessly for the Junkers plane of three foreign airmen which was two days overdue in New York from Lisbon, Portugal.

Lost for Week
Allen and Moyle, who dropped from sight a week ago en route from Japan to Seattle, were reported aboard by the soviet steamer Pisy Khabalobe, now in Olyutskoi gulf, North Kamchatka.

Messages, telling of the safe landing of the flyers on the island, were intercepted by the United States naval radio at St. Paul island, Bering Sea, and by the United States coast guard cutter Itasca.

One dispatch was from Moyle to his fiancée, Miss Frances Bresson, Riverside, Cal.

Uninhabited Island
"Landed on uninhabited island," it said. "Everything all right. Have Frank put publicity man on the job, will be in Seattle Sept. 22."

The date was believed in error because of the apparent impossibility of the flyers reaching Seattle then.

"I am so happy at their rescue that I can hardly talk," Miss Bresson explained. "I gave up hope last night. It was hard to believe Don and Cecil had lost in their effort to span the Pacific and up until last night I had some hope they would be rescued."

Wife Kept Courage
Mrs. Mary Allen, wife of the other flyer, whose martial differences with him were reconciled on the eve of his take-off, said "something told me Cecil was out there somewhere in the world alive, well, and coming back to me again."

And in Maywood, a Los Angeles suburb, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moyle, parents of Don, told how one more day remained, by agreement, before they were to give up hope.

Allen and Moyle were seeking a $25,000 prize offered by the Tokyo newspaper Asahi when they attempted their unsuccessful flight in a rebuilt monoplane.

Missing Since Aug. 9
Cramer and Paquette, trail blazers on an arduous route, completed a flight in easy stages from Detroit to the Shetland Islands. They left the latter place, bound for Copenhagen, on August 9 and were never seen since.

The American Aviation company, for whom the flyers were blazing the trail, identified the plane from markings relayed by radio, as did the plane's manufacturer.

A transport passenger-mail plane caught fire and plunged into San Francisco bay carrying three passengers and a pilot to death. Another plane, bearing relief supplies from the navy to hurricane stricken Belize, British Honduras, crashed in Panama killing the pilot and a machinist's mate.

On a farm near Saratoga, N. Y., was found the burned wreckage of a small plane, from which the pilot may have parachuted to safety.

MacNider Visits Hoover
WASHINGTON (AP)—Hanford MacNider of Mason City, minister to Canada, conferred with President Hoover about his work in Ottawa. He said he discussed in a general way the St. Lawrence waterway with the president.

Charge Banker at Ottumwa With Fraud

OTTUMWA, Sept. 16 (AP)—Carl Rauscher, former cashier of the Iowa National bank here, was charged with mishandling funds totaling $100,995 in 11 indictments returned today by the federal grand jury. Six counts assert he charged amounts on savings ledgers to four different accounts, the amounts never having been withdrawn by the holders. Four charge him with making false entries and another with making a false report on deposits last June 30.

Wife Admits Sharing Plot to Slay Man

HACKENSACK, N. J., Sept. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Olga Ziegler, confessed tonight, police announced, that with George Flanard, 21, she plotted the ambush slaying last night of her husband, Otto Ziegler, 40 year old manufacturer.

"If you don't kill him, I'll have to do it," authorities quoted her as warning Flanard, whose jealousy had been aroused, they said, by Ziegler's attentions to Flanard's former sweetheart, Ruth Hering.

Fire's Six Shots
Flanard, a former employe of Ziegler's, had confessed earlier, police said, that he had fired the six shots that killed the silk manufacturer near his home last night.

Both Mrs. Ziegler and Flanard were committed to jail without bail on murder charges. Special Prosecutor George F. Loache said he would present the case to the grand jury as soon as possible.

In questioning, however, police said Mrs. Ziegler told them she had learned last Friday her husband planned to accompany Ruth Hering, a divorcee, who also was a former employe of his, on a trip to Canada.

"Dreadful Atmosphere"
"I could not tolerate raising my children in such a dreadful atmosphere," police quoted Mrs. Ziegler as saying.

Flanard was said by Lieutenant Allyn to have given as his motive for the slaying Ziegler's rivalry for the affections of Miss Hering, who was granted permanent separation from her husband, John Prudhomme of Saugerties, N. Y., last week.

Shot Near Home
Ziegler was shot near his home, four bullets penetrating his body. He died almost immediately, without speaking.

Mrs. Ziegler is said to have told them she was with her children, Helen, 8, and William, 4, and when the shots rang out she rushed to her husband's side as he fell with three fatal wounds in his body. Ziegler died in her arms she said. The pistol with which the slaying is said to have been committed was recovered from Woodliff lake. Flanard identified the gun as his, police said.

Iowa Falls Man Dies
IOWA FALLS (AP)—Clifford J. Holmes, 60, proprietor of a restaurant here, died suddenly from heart disease.

Search for Missing Girl
SIoux CITY (AP)—John Pohamp and Gus Kintonis, Milwaukee restaurant men, were robbed of more than $3,000 in cash by holdup men near Smithland.

Woman Killed
BELLE PLAINE (AP)—Mrs. J. C. Frerksen, 76, Lake Forest, Ill., was killed when the auto in which she was riding was struck by another auto and turned over in a ditch. Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Griswold, who were also in the car, were seriously injured.

Investigate Girl's Death
WEST UNION (AP)—Officers were investigating the death of Barbara Nims, 19 year old daughter of Frank Nims, whose body was found in a cornfield.

Hold Man for Assault
DES MOINES (AP)—Authorities were holding George Huston, 41, on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, as the result of the condition of Clarence Young, 42, of Des Moines who is in a hospital with a knife wound under his heart.

Turner to Head Farmers Delegation to Washington

DES MOINES, Sept. 16 (AP)—Governor Dan W. Turner of Iowa today announced he will head a delegation to Washington in an effort to obtain cheaper money through government agencies to finance the Iowa corn crop.

At a meeting of the state-wide committee of 15 members appointed to work for a minimum price of 60 a bushel for corn, the governor said that he had made arrangements for conferences Monday with President Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, and J. C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board.

Representatives of Iowa farm organizations, including the Iowa Grange, the Farm Bureau federation, and the Farmers' union plan to accompany the governor. It also is expected that congressman Gilbert N. Haugen, of the fourth Iowa district and chairman of the house agriculture committee, will be with the group.

Rushee Dies Suddenly at Sorority Tea

Kathryn Schlapp, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Schlapp of Davenport, who died at 5:30 p.m. yesterday while attending a rushing party at the Gamma Phi Beta sorority house, succumbed as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage. It was announced by Dr. Paul Reed, acting coroner, following an autopsy at the Hohenschuh mortuary last night.

Concluding a full day of rushing, during which she attended four parties, Miss Schlapp fainted at the Gamma Phi Beta afternoon tea, and died 20 minutes later, before the arrival of Dr. E. J. Anthony.

No Arrangements Yet
No funeral arrangements have been announced. The body was taken to the Halligan Funeral home in Davenport last night where service will be arranged today.

Miss Schlapp, who was to have registered in the university today as a liberal arts freshman, was said to have been in apparent good health by members of the sorority, although according to Mary Jane Gorman of Davenport, her roommate at Currier hall, she complained of a headache yesterday morning.

Attended Four Parties
Starting yesterday morning Miss Schlapp attended rushing parties at the Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Gamma Phi Beta sorority houses.

She spent some time during the afternoon waiting in line for registration materials.

According to Dr. Reed, no indirect cause of death is ascertainable yet. He slighted the theory that excitement caused by the party activity might be an indirect cause.

Miss Schlapp is survived by her parents and a sister, Helen.

Iowa Bakes as Mercury Jumps Again

DES MOINES, Sept. 16 (AP)—Iowa sweltered today in the hottest September weather in many years.

At Des Moines the temperature reached 97 at 2 p.m., the highest mark reached this late in the year in the history of the local weather bureau.

Complete Independence
He said his case was complete independence for India, the same as that enjoyed by Great Britain. He would accept no compromise, he said.

A. Rangaswami Iyengar, a friend of Gandhi, and a former secretary of the all-India national congress, pleaded that there be "no taxation without representation," one of the significant phrases of the American revolutionary period.

Ask "Direct Election"
His appeal, written with the Mahatma's help, was made in behalf of "direct election" to both chambers of the projected legislature, as contrasted with "indirect election."

It is the attitude of the Indian princes, in contrast with that of Gandhi and Iyengar, that each principally should be allowed to select its members of the legislature in such a way as it chooses, appointive by the princes or otherwise.

Mahatma Speaks Little
Gandhi sat hunched in a chair and listened to the debate, hardly uttering a word.

The committee room was crowded when the Mahatma entered. All arose and gave him an ovation. He appeared tired and remained seated during the address, his frail voice hardly loud enough to reach the whole gathering.

Afterward he and his party remained behind for devotions and according to the regulations of parliament, one member of the house remained with them.

800 on Foot
Scarcely more than 800, those to whom time had been kindest, were on foot. A thousand more were in automobiles. But Des Moines remembered that when the encampment was here in 1926, there were 4,000 veterans in the review, and in 1922 there were 8,000.

Although today was one of the hottest late-summer days in Iowa history, only two veterans fell out. J. P. D. Mouriquand, 85, of Homestead, Okla., who gave up just a block from the reviewing stand, and E. K. Kinney of the 28th Illinois regiment. They recovered without medical attention.

Six Divisions
The six divisions were headed by the United States army band, proudly in the van of the marching veterans was David W. Nocton of Minneapolis, a former Iowan, who, despite his 90 years, set firmly erect astride his horse. He was the only mounted veteran.

Keyed to the strength of the aged marchers, the line extended only 17 blocks. There were several rest represented,

1,675 Number Slips to Pass Check Lines

Stations, Two, Three Ready for Start at 8 O'Clock

Principally freshmen, holders of registration slips ranging from number one to number 1675 will become students in the University of Iowa as the second step in registration gets under way at 8 o'clock this morning.

Station two, university hall, will be the center for the first steps in today's activity. Entering through the southeast doorway, students who have never before registered in the university and students who are transferring from another college will have to be prepared with admission cards from the office of the university examiner.

Others will proceed directly to the fee assessors, the first group doing so after obtaining admission credentials, with the exception of those who have not had their picture taken for the university records.

Gandhi Pleads for Support of Laborite Party

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi stalked into the "mother of parliaments" tonight and pleaded for the British labor party's support in India's struggle for independence.

He had been invited to address labor members of the house of commons privately regarding India's claims.

Complete Independence
He said his case was complete independence for India, the same as that enjoyed by Great Britain. He would accept no compromise, he said.

A. Rangaswami Iyengar, a friend of Gandhi, and a former secretary of the all-India national congress, pleaded that there be "no taxation without representation," one of the significant phrases of the American revolutionary period.

An Emergency Appeal

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following statement was drawn up at a meeting of local ministers yesterday afternoon. The churches which signed it are cooperating with campus religious organizations.)

The following church officers and leaders desire to call the earnest attention of the people of Iowa City to the present unemployment crisis as it relates itself to the university students.

Privileged as we are, at a veritable cross-roads of the world, Iowa City must surely recognize that her very life is bound up in the educational institution in our midst. It is of little use for us to talk in the abstract of the depression. Here and now, we may have a positive and practical share in keeping young men and women from enforced idleness in their own home towns, and in giving them opportunity, equipment and training for future usefulness.

We, therefore, urge all our fellow citizens to use student help whenever possible, and to open their homes for students who desire to work for room or board or both and in this way to face and measure up to the actual situation as we experience it here in Iowa City. If you can help, call 316.

Handle 330 in Hour
The maximum capacity of the fee stations, according to Registrar H. C. Dorcas is about 330 persons per hour. About 250 per hour will be able to pass through the other registry steps.

"It is apparently hard to guess the effect of economic condition on enrollment," Mr. Dorcas says. "On the basis of 25 year registration records the university at large will not show a wide difference from last year in enrollment figures."

"A slight tendency is evidenced toward a greater attendance in the graduate colleges; this seems to be a nation-wide tendency."

Pharmacists Meet Today
Students in all colleges except pharmacy received number slips, registration materials and instructions yesterday. The aspiring drugists will first get materials and numbers in room 308, pharmacy building at 8 o'clock this morning, and will then be ready to proceed with the next steps in registration.

City Water Supply at Mount Ayr Shut Off After Drought
MT. AYR, Sept. 16 (AP)—Residents of this city were without water today.

Lack of rain throughout the summer lowered the supply until the city council announced a week ago that, unless rains came soon, the water supply would be shut off. It put the order into effect today, the first time in ten years the supply has failed.

Burlington railroad officials were making arrangements with the council to ship in tanks; cleaning out of abandoned wells was started.

The hotel, which uses 1,000 gallons a day, installed a pressure system and arranged to haul its supply from country wells. Creameries were forced to shut down.

Troops from Ft. Des Moines, Grinnell, Newton, and Knoxville American Legion bands, five and drum corps from Grant Post, Chicago, Moline, Rockford, Duluth, the Iowa department of G.A.R., Wichita, New Philadelphia, O., and a half dozen from Des Moines, and other bands, were prominent in the marching column. Spanish American war veterans, federated patriotic societies, and other groups also were represented.

Keyed to the strength of the aged marchers, the line extended only 17 blocks. There were several rest represented,

The Day in Aviation

(By The Associated Press)
Cecil Allen and Don Moyle, who attempted last week to fly from Japan to Seattle, are found safe on an uninhabited island.

Wreckage of a plane identified as that of Parker Cramer and Oliver Paquette, Detroit, to Copenhagen airmen, is picked up in north sea.

Search by air and boat fails to reveal any trace of Junkers plane of three Lisbon to New York flyers.

Airplane crashes in San Francisco Bay in Panama, and in upstate New York—first two claim total of six lives.

Lindsy Hop

OSAKA, Japan, Sept. 17 (Thursday) (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from the harbor here at 12:58 p.m., today (9:58 p.m., Wednesday C.S.T.) en route to Fukuoka, slightly more than 300 miles distant, in southwestern Japan.

The flyers, continuing a vacation flight from the eastern United States, hoped to reach Fukuoka in about three hours, remaining there tonight and hopping for Nanking, the capital of China, early Friday.

Beyond Nanking their itinerary was not announced.

Committee on V. N. A. Starts Investigation

Definite work toward the clearing up of the differences between the Visiting Nurses association and the Welfare board of the community chest was begun last night when a joint committee from the two boards met at 7:30 at the Legion building.

They heard statements from Mrs. Alma Carlsen and Mrs. Alice Christensen, nurses, and Mrs. Lois Vedepo, secretary, all of whom were discharged last May by Marcella McInerney, Visiting Nurses association supervisor. Miss McInerney also appeared before the committee.

After questioning the four women it was voted to delay final action until the committee had met with the present staff under Miss McInerney. These, Veronica Hanson and Lillian Landt, nurses, and Margaret Pew, secretary, will appear today at 5 p.m.

The present committee consists of: George Ramsey, chairman, Harry Shulman, Dr. E. Thoen, Mrs. W. F. Bolter, and Dave Crum for the Welfare board and Dr. Paul Reed, Mayor J. J. Carroll, Kenneth Dunlop, Leo Kohl, and Dr. E. C. Patton for the nurses board.

Following the dismissal of the nurses staff on May 19, Edward H. Lauer, financial secretary of the community chest announced that he would turn over no more money from the chest to the nurses until the affairs of that organization had been put into shape wherein the welfare board could feel assured that overt authority had not been vested in the supervisor.

The present committee have the authority of their boards to take the necessary definite action.

Supervisors Cut 1932 Tax Levy 2.5 Mills

Making a total saving of $25,922 for Johnson county taxpayers, the county board of supervisors made a second reduction in the 1932 taxes over this year's levy yesterday.

A reduction of 1.9 mills was made by the board at a public hearing on the budget estimate for Johnson county, Aug. 3. A further reduction of the estimate was made by the board at a continued meeting yesterday of .6 mills, making a total of 2.5 mills reduction for taxes payable in 1932. Johnson county millage levy for 1932 will now be 42.6, in comparison to last year's levy payable this year of 45.1 mills.

Could First on Program of Lectures

University Series Will Open Oct. 30 With Explorer

Lawrence Gould, second in command on the Byrd polar expeditions, will head a list of eight speakers who will appear at the University of Iowa during the coming year on the university lecture series.

Mr. Gould will visit the Iowa campus Oct. 30. Four days later, Rabbi Hillel Silver, author of "Religion in a Changing World," will speak.

Baroness Helene Nostitz von Hinderburg will be the third speaker on the series, lecturing here Nov. 9. Baroness von Hinderburg is a niece of the president of the German republic.

Economist to Speak
Stuart Chase, economist, will speak Nov. 20, discussing overproduction, unemployment, the machine age and financial conditions.

Rafael Sabatini, best known for his writing in the field of the historical novel, will appear to talk on "Fiction in history and history in fiction," Dec. 7. This is his first American tour.

J. E. Williamson, inventor of the undersea photography equipment, is to give the first lecture of 1932, speaking Jan. 15 on the subject of "Beauty and tragedy under the sea." The talk will be illustrated with a group of motion pictures illustrating undersea scenes. Mr. Williamson spoke at the university two years ago.

Dramatic Interludes
V. L. Granville, English actor will present a group of "Dramatic Interludes," costumed recitals, in which will be portrayed, in character, dress and makeup, the principal characters in dramatic periods from Biblical days to the present. The date is Feb. 3.

Maurice Hindus, author, traveler and lecturer, will appear on the concluding program of the series, March 21, speaking on his experience and observations made in Russia during the summer of 1928.

Freshman Gather at Marshmallow Roast; Prof. Lauer Speaks

More than 200 freshmen gathered around eight bonfires near Iowa Union last night, for an informal get-together in the form of a marshmallow roast, group sing, and a talk by Prof. Edward H. Lauer, director of the division of physical education.

Ernest A. Wagner of Anita was master of ceremonies for the gathering, and led the group in singing the "Iowa Corn Song" and "School Days."

"Don't let yourself be beridden by small things," was the advice Professor Lauer gave the preps in his talk.

Five Debates at Home for Iowa Teams

Students of the University of Iowa will vie in argument with Dutch universities, Oxford, Northwestern, Minnesota and Illinois on the home schedule of varsity debates, recently announced.

The opening contest, that with the Dutch universities, will be held Oct. 31. Oxford's British representatives will appear on the Iowa platform Nov. 16.

Northwestern university will meet the Iowa representatives here Dec. 11. March 17 will close the home season with the Illinois team meeting Iowa debaters.

The five debates may be attended on season tickets, which are now on sale.

Tryouts for the varsity arguers will be held on three days, Oct. 5, 6, and 7.

Four Omitted From Honor Grade List

Previously released figures from the office of the university registrar stated that 168 of 1,800 freshmen and sophomores made grade averages of "B" or better during the year 1930-31.

Checking of the lists has revealed that two freshmen and two sophomores were omitted from the announcement. The four were: Geneva Hunter, Iowa City; Paul R. Murphy, Dexter; Manson Fee, Toledo; and Wayne N. McCoy, Clarion, Miss Hunter and Murphy were first year students and Fee and McCoy were sophomores.

Stay Green, Freshmen

(This editorial, from The Daily Iowan of this time last year is here rededicated to the class of 1935 because it embodies as nearly as possible the earnest message that every upper classman would impress upon newly arriving freshmen were he given the opportunity.)

THERE IS little need of green caps for telling students new to the campus. Freshmen are different somehow, and can be spotted by other tokens than the unreliable one of youth.

Some there are who would like to sneer at the neophytes. For they are nothing else. Sometimes bewildered, frequently timid, and nearly always awed a little by the strangeness of a new institution, they may show their greenness a bit.

But that phase of freshman difference soon rubs off from contacts on the campus and acquaintances from other classes and their own. Early university life polishes it off.

There is another quality typical of freshmen that is worth preserving. Your average first year student is eager, fresh for the college race. That very fresh about his ability to make things go in a vast university spurs him to greater efforts.

Your upperclassman may know his way around and be familiar with persons and places. Yet all too frequently he has acquired a veneer of ignorance we call sophistication. The blase college student pretends to know, and by being unwilling to start down on his own level for future learning, slacks the pace. He knows almost everything worth knowing—he thinks.

Fortunately the sophisticate does not predominate. There are students who are in a sense still freshmen. Humble with the realization of their relative ignorance, they recognize that education may after all be measured by the difference between what we know and what we desire to learn.

Remember, freshmen, that you're safe as long as you are green. It is when you think you're ripe that you begin to rot.

True wisdom begins with an admission of how little you know and continues as you work toward the ideal goal of education that is never reached.

May the spirit of eagerness and willingness that is typical of new students of 1931 remain with them through their period in the university and on into lives of service to state and nation.

Meaningful Graduate Study

IT IS CUSTOMARY to advise freshmen at the outset of the academic year because they are entering a new situation which is of utmost importance to their future. Why not also the graduate students? They are often as green in their new field of activity as the erstwhile high school senior who gingerly approaches the halls of higher learning.

Without any such sermonizing view in mind, Thornton Wilder has given an important clue to the meaning of graduate study in the prose poetry of his book The Cabala.

This passage by the author of The Bridge of San Luis Rey in describing one research student drops a hint for all others:

"Thus life stretched... bindings... bindings... catalogs... footnotes. One studied the saints and never thought about religion. One knew everything about Michelangelo yet never felt deeply a single work."

Facts... facts... facts. They are but grains of sand. Until from them bricks are fashioned and those bricks designed into something with meaning, they are without value. And if the accumulation is a mere mountain of material rather than a carefully knit, related whole, it is a failure.

"For him ten lifetimes would be all too short to pursue the horizons of one's curiosity," comments Wilder of the same character. Curiosity, the quality in an explorer which responds to the lure of the unknown; match it with a compass to keep in line with a definite goal, and let the journey be more than an accumulation of miles with only a mathematical significance.

On Wearing the Green

TODAY MORE than a thousand freshmen will become officially a part of the University of Iowa student body by way of a necessarily long and somewhat arduous registration procedure. And at the end of the registration line each masculine member of the class of '35 will be asked to buy a green cap, established by the student council as the official symbol of the neophyte.

Many freshmen, proud of their new independence and anxious to maintain the dignity befitting a university student, will tend to be wary of obeying the council's regulation, fearing to become objects of the sort of collegiate hazing found on the screen or in the modern novel.

They have no way of knowing that at Iowa, as elsewhere, students have grown away from hazing, have substituted the green cap purely as an attempt to retain the valuable part of the old hazing system. And as many an old alumnus will point out, some of the most cherished of undergraduate recollections have been provided by reminiscences of experiences as helpless hazees.

And so, as the university student body has grown away from its childish hazing days, it has attempted to avoid over-sophistication, has tried to keep a little more of the human quality in its greeting to freshmen, by asking them to wear a green cap.

And so freshmen should not wear their caps because they feel they have to, but rather as a gesture of their willingness to enter into the life of their university, to adopt wholeheartedly its traditions, customs, and ideals.

Taking It Out of Education

British school teachers are required to suffer a heavy reduction in salaries as part of the general application of drastic economies in government. The Prussian budgetmakers are planning to save $50,000,000 by dismissing 10,000 school teachers and making other important retrenchments in educational expenditures.

We in Chicago are less honest about such matters. We keep the teachers at work, nominally on unreduced salaries, and offer them promises instead of pay. Driven by necessity, they discount the promises and pocket their loss. Later on we shall pay the moneyed purchasers of the promises in full with interest.

There seems to be general agreement that education shall be the goat—or one conspicuous in a flock of goats—which nations need at the present time because of past financial sinning.

It may be argued, perhaps, that had education done effectively its work of developing intelligence and spreading enlightenment we now should not be in the position where severe retrenchment is an absolute necessity.

The right sort of education might have prevented the war; it might have prevented the frenzied building of fictitious values after the war.

Possibly when the world once again is able to provide for education approximately to the extent of its actual requirements, the world will show greater concern for the nature and trend of the teaching which it subsidizes.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Another institution of learning has aligned itself with the "food for thought" campaign started recently by Luther College at Ferguson Falls, Minn., where wheat in varying amounts is accepted in lieu of tuition. Now, Beloit College, at Beloit, Wis., has decided to accept all sorts of farm produce for tuition from those who are unable to pay in currency.

Vegetables, meat, potatoes, eggs, chickens, or fruit which can be used in the college dining halls will be accepted at market prices. If the movement is allowed to progress much further, they'll be taking slightly used vehicles, old boots and shoes, and perchance a limited amount of second hand furniture and use the stuff in various college departments. There will still be, no doubt, enough institutions left that will continue to accept good, hard, clinky shekels to keep that practice from becoming agorvorn. Old fashioned, to say the least, but safe.

Yesterday's score for Hollywood and nearby territory stood at two to one in favor of divorce. Three encounters between the sexes among the stars netted one elopement against two divorces. Lola Lane and Lew Ayres kept up the young lovers' tradition, they gave their ages at 22 each while Lawrence Tibbett and Grant Withers were victims of the divorce evil.

Incidentally, Loretta Young, formerly Loretta Young Withers, revealed at her trial how fickle husbands can be. "When we were first married," she wailed, "he bought me a dress. It cost about $100. He bought some lingerie later, but he charged it and in the end I paid for it." "Did he supply you with food?" queried her attorney, as a matter of form. "Not after the first three months," replied Loretta. That was a surprise. When we saw her in "Big Business Girl" recently, we thought it was the 18-day diet.

The recent agitation among British seamen, brought on by announcement of a wage cut, the first salary change in 150 years, has few counterparts in the 1,000 years of England's navy, we are told. Back in 1797 the sailors were all het up about a promise of reform after they had mutinied en masse. Now, some 134 years after, they probably won't wait for promises.

Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York city and Europe pulled a fast one the other day when he kept Mahatma Gandhi of India squatting on the floor of Kingsley Hall settlement house in London waiting for him while he took in the sights. Although Gandhi invited Walker and Walker accepted, there seemed to have been a hitch in the program somewhere and the sage of India fell victim to Walker's most famed idiosyncrasy, coming late. In this case, he was too late.

They had some excitement of the "good old days" variety down in Flat River, Mo., recently when two of the boys got together on Main street and shot it out. As a matter of record they killed each other but that doesn't matter so much. What matters is that in this day and age such a thing should happen.

That they fought over a woman is probably as good a reason as anything. That doesn't matter either. They were gaffly, although nothing much can be done about it now, of a breach of social etiquette, a breach of law, more because they took a step backward in civilization to settle their dispute than of the dispute itself.

By a vote of 30 to 4, President Hoover recently was declared NOT a "twentieth century George Washington." A pamphlet depicting him as another "Father of Our Country" published by the general federation of women's clubs as a program for the Washington Bicentennial celebration next year, was repudiated by the executive board of the Maryland federation. Of course, we didn't have to wait till they told us, we knew it all along.

Fame in Her Own Right Won by Anne Lindbergh

HER FIRST MEDAL, PRESENTED BY JAPANESE AERO SOCIETY. ANNE LINDBERGH - FLIER. A GUEST AT TOKIO.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—There may be women in the world today whose idea of heaven is to sit and purr contentedly in the reflected glory cast by the exploits of a famous husband, who is the object of almost fanatical hero worship in every corner of the earth, but Anne Morrow Lindbergh is most emphatically not one of them.

Because she was the sweetheart of the "Lone Eagle," the most adored man in the world, Anne Morrow became a very much talked about and popular young woman when the spotlight of public interest was first focused upon her as the fiancée of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, but today the world acclaims Mrs. Lindbergh for herself.

If there is one quality universally more admired than another it is gameness and Anne Lindbergh has proved to everybody's satisfaction that she is possessed of more than the usual amount of courage one looks for in her sex. It was thought that when Anne became the wife of Lindy she would bring pressure to bear upon him in order to persuade him to abandon the hazardous career of flying that brought him fame, but when the young wife enthusiastically decided to share her

Stock Issues Waver Under Late Selling

Moderate Drops Noted; Few Rallies in Utilities

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Stocks wavered erratically today, but late selling of the utilities stole the market's courage and final prices were lower again. Overlooking a number of air pockets, net losses were moderate.

Firm grain markets and a somewhat better tone in parts of the bond list brightened the financial day a bit, nor was the action of stocks themselves wholly discouraging. Several rallies developed, and although none proved durable enough to start a real covering movement, the irregularity at least had the merit of relieving the monotony of decline, sales totaled 1,962,349 shares, thus continuing the week's gradual slackening in activity.

Gas Firms Down
North American and Consolidated Gas both made fresh minimums, the former losing 3 net. American Telephone was much steadier and at one time sold 2 points higher. Western Union flopped nearly 7. Support for U. S. steel faltered a little toward the close, resulting in a net loss of 1 3/8. American Can also slipped in the late trading, duplicating its previous low for a decline of 1 5/8. General Motors was unchanged. Metal shares were down in sympathy with the lower export price.

Rail made some compromise with weakness, but 3 to 4 point losses in Atchison and Union Pacific and a maximum drop of 5 by Kansas City Southern indicated that traders did not believe the group was out of the woods. Baltimore and Ohio firm and New York Central's net loss was fractional.

Steel Rallies
The steel industry has made its expected rally from the Labor day recession and is encouraged by better inquiry for rails, pipe and structural fittings. Improvement anticipated for next week may extend further.

Mother of University Student Dies in New Mexico Home Monday

Definite funeral arrangements have not yet been made for Mrs. Florence Foster Fleming, wife of Prof. Burton P. Fleming, who died at her home in Las Cruces, N. Mex., last Monday, following an illness of two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming lived in Iowa City from 1909 until 1928, while Mr. Fleming was head of the mechanical engineering department of the college of engineering.

Mrs. Fleming is survived by a daughter, Alaire Fleming, who has attended the university for the last three years, and two sons, Allen and Foster.

U.S., Canada Wheat Leads Foreign Crop

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—Signs of a rainbow for wheat owners appeared today, with indications that the United States and Canada this season would have a virtual monopoly of high grade wheat. Reports of an inferior spring wheat crop in Russia, an adverse crop situation in the southern hemisphere and poor harvest returns in western Europe, especially France and Belgium, were received. In addition, estimates would need 4,000,000 tons of wheat, 135,000,000 bushels, for flood relief.

Wheat closed firm, 1-2 to 11-8 cents higher, corn 1-8 to 1/2 advanced oats 1-8 to 1-4 up, and provisions there; certainly the seasonal rise is very tardy and at this late date the amount of recovery may not be so generous as was anticipated a few weeks ago. Gasoline stocks are rising for the first time since spring, signaling the termination of summer motoring. Electric power production falls to hint an improvement in industrial operations, the decline for September's first fortnight being about 4 per cent as compared with the same period of last year.

varying from 2 cents decline to 7 cents gain.

From the outset, wheat prices showed an unmistakable upward trend, and the market finished at but little below the day's top figures the best level attained for just an even month. The initial bullish news was announcement from Liverpool that Russian offerings of spring wheat had been mostly withdrawn.

Corn and oats responded to wheat strength and to scantiness of receipts. Chicago arrivals of corn were only 50 cars, and talk was heard that unless deliveries on September contracts increased soon the shorts would be in a tight position.

Provisions derived firmness from grains, notwithstanding lower hog values.

Closing indemnities: wheat—September 49 1/4, 50 1/2; December 51, 52 1/4; May 55 1/8 to 1/4, 56 1/4 to 1/2. Corn—September 43, 45 1/4; December 35 1/2 to 1/4, 39 1/2 to 1/4; May 42 1/4, 43.

K. C.'s Even Count Against Pythians 4-4

The Knights of Columbus and the Knights of Pythias kiltball teams wound up in a 4 to 4 tie at the end of the third inning in their game at city park last night.

The K.P.'s, who walked off the diamond in the third round, said they would protest the outcome and ask that the encounter be played over again.

The umpire refused to call the game. The K.C.'s cited rule five, section four in the dispute which states, "a game shall be declared forfeited by the umpire if after the game has begun one side refuses or fails to continue playing unless such game has been suspended or terminated by the umpire."

The K. C.'s rallied in the third frame to tie the score. Their battery was made up of Vassar and Brecht. The rival pitcher was Kirchner, while O'Harra took care of the catching.

The Elks swamped Ford Service ten by 17 to 4. Wallen, Koza, and Moffit clouted homers. Wallen and Katzenmeyer formed the battery of the winners with Udegraff and Soukup for the losers.

The Racine's Wholesale company contest was postponed by mutual agreement. A doubleheader between the two will be played out Sunday morning.

Cards Win Fourth National League Pennant; Step on Phils 6 to 3

Celebrate in Dugout With Handshakes

Bill Hallahan Pitches Cards to Second Straight Flag

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—St. Louis tonight celebrated the winning of its fourth National league baseball pennant, but not in the boisterous, noisy manner of 1926 when the Cardinals brought the first flag to St. Louis in 38 years.

With the clinching of the 1931 pennant accomplished this afternoon when Cincinnati defeated the Giants of New York in the first game of a doubleheader, fans greedily grinned and said "they're in." Manager "Gabby" Street said he had known the team would win and predicted victory for the Cardinals in the world series with the Philadelphia Athletics, starting October 1.

The Red Birds were playing the last of a six game series with Philadelphia when the news came of the Giants' defeat. There was quiet celebration of the pennant winning in the Cardinals' dugout. There wasn't any cheering but the boys exchanged handshakes and each congratulated Manager Street. Then they went out and beat the Phillies for the sixth straight game.

Gabby Street Works Subs Against Phils

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Not content with winning the National league championship today, by virtue of Cincinnati's victory over New York, the Cardinals downed the Phillies 6 to 3 for a clean sweep of a six-game series here.

William Anthony Hallahan, who will probably face the Athletics in the second game of the world series, gathered a few preliminary honors today by pitching a 6-hit game, and winning his 18th of the season.

Manager Gabby Street started a rest cure for some of his veterans in the sixth inning when he yanked all but Hallahan and sent in substitutes. Chick Hafey hit his 16th homer of the season.

Cubs Down Braves Twice in Dual Bill

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Cubs halted one late rally and staged another to defeat Boston in both games of a doubleheader, 6 to 5, and 8 to 7.

Pat Malone held the Braves almost helpless until the ninth inning of the first game when he tottered and just managed to stop a rally after it had netted four runs. In the second game the Cubs trailed by 7 to 2 until the eighth, when they tied it up with five runs and punched out another in the ninth to win again.

Reds Riot Twice to Eliminate Giants

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16 (AP)—Dan Howley's lowly Reds handed the second place New York Giants a double licking here today, 7 to 3, and 4 to 3, the loss in the first game definitely eliminating the visitors from the National league flag race.

Red Lucas, husky Red right hander, out-dued the Giants' crack southpaw, Carl Hubbell, in the opener.

John Ogden received credit for the second victory, when, after relieving Owen Carroll, he held the Giants scoreless the last three innings.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

After reading reports in the sports press of how terribly crippled the Athletics were, Manager Gabby Street of the Cardinals set to work and compiled his own list of injured. Here it is, as he gave it to the Associated Press:

"Jimmy Wilson, catcher, badly shaken up in a collision with Harry McCurdy of the Phillies Sunday.

"Gus Mancuso, the other first string catcher, injured leg or legs.

"Jess Haines, regular pitcher, torn muscle in twirling arm.

"Burleigh Grimes, pitcher, sick abed.

"Sylvester Johnson, pitcher, painful case of ivy poisoning.

"Frankie Frisch, second baseman, jammed right thumb."

Gabby accredited himself with a bad cold. Despite this imposing list of injuries and handicaps of their leading performers, the Red Birds insist that they will go through with the world series.

When the Hawklings take the field at Fairfeld tomorrow night against the town's prep eleven, they will face one of the best high school backfield men probably in the entire state. This young Crayne is nothing short of a sensation.

Against the Little Hawks here in the game last year, he ran wild. In one encounter last season he carried the ball four times in the first half, and counted a touchdown each time.

Robins Take Final From Bucs, 11 to 5

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (AP)—A concerted seventh inning attack, in which they bunched seven hits for six runs off a pair of hurlers, enabled the Brooklyn Robins to come from behind and defeat the Pirates 11 to 5 today in the final game of the season between the two clubs.

Three visiting players, Lefty O'Doul, Del Bissonette and Fresco Thompson, were banished from the park during the game.

Gridders Drill on Punting in Slow Session

Scrimmage for Squad Today, Ingwersen Promises

Under a broiling sun the Hawk-eyes ran through their second day of practice.

Preparation for the opening got under way as Coach Burton Ingwersen began trying out various candidates on kicking off.

Among those who appeared the best at booting the ball were Harold Hantelmann, Nelson Tompkins, Glen Baker, and Howard Orvis.

Take Up Blocking

Blocking was taken up in the afternoon session. The tentative varsity team was drilled in tackling as second stringers returned punts from regular playing position.

Jerry Kriz, Randall Hickman, Christian Schmidt, and Baker averaged more than 50 yards with the aid of a slight wind.

Orville Pickering made the greatest gains in returning varsity punts.

Scrimmage Today

A brief scrimmage for this morning was promised by Ingwersen.

Experienced athletes have held the edge over the hophomores in the first two drills. The only member of the 1930 freshman squad who has attained a place on the first team thus far is Harold Swaney, 182 pound end candidate from Grinnell.

Ray Story stands out as the likely choice for the other end. Marcus Magnusen is a certainty at center, while last year's pivot guard, Ed Dolly, has been placed at guard.

True to predictions, Hickman, Kriz, and Captain Sassen have been retaining their backfield posts.

Stage Second Prep Harrier Meet Oct. 17

All Iowa High Schools to Get Invitations; Expect 25

The second annual high school cross country meet for the state individual and team championships will be run off on the University of Iowa two-mile course Oct. 31. It was announced yesterday by George T. Bresnahan, Hawkeyes coach.

Every high school in the state will receive an invitation and a schedule of practice. Five men may be entered from each school although only the first three will be counted in the scoring. By the date of closing, Oct. 27, Coach Bresnahan expects more than 25 teams to be entered.

Fog Horn Bellow

Max has a fog horn bellow that rings out from around second base, the loudest on the team. Off the field he scarcely talks above a whisper.

He's a quiet, gentlemanly fellow, and he likes to sing ribald ditties. He can tell you to the day and minute the age of his baby daughter. The A's call him "Tilly" because he holds his arms stiff at his sides when he runs.

Webb Nears Record; Boston Leaves Cellar

BOSTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—John Collins' Red Sox bounded out of the cellar of the American League today with a 2 to 1 victory over Chicago's White Sox. The climb was largely due to Earl Webb's sixty-second and sixty-third doubles of the season, blows which put him with one of tying George Burns' world record of 64 for a season.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Chicago .....000 100 000—1 3 0
Boston .....010 001 00*—2 4 2

CONNIE'S CREW-Up Close

By EDWARD J. NEIL
No. 3—Pens In A Pod
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—Eleven years ago Max Bishop was playing second base for York in the Penn league and a fellow named Joe Boley was playing shortstop.

Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, bought Max but he never noticed Boley. So Bishop went to him and said:

"Listen, Jack. There are a lot of scouts after that fellow, you'd better get him. He's a great short-stop."

Sold for $50,000

For that information, years later, Bishop received $100 from a grateful manager who once was offered $200,000 in cash and players by Brooklyn for Connie Mack's great shortstop.

Dunn finally sold Boley to the Athletics for about $50,000 after Joe had spent his greatest years in the International league.

Boley and Bishop, now shortstop and second baseman respectively for the world's champions, have played parts of every season together for 11 years, probably a baseball record. They are alike as twins off the ball field. They're entirely different on it.

Fog Horn Bellow

Max has a fog horn bellow that rings out from around second base, the loudest on the team. Off the field he scarcely talks above a whisper.

He's a quiet, gentlemanly fellow, and he likes to sing ribald ditties. He can tell you to the day and minute the age of his baby daughter. The A's call him "Tilly" because he holds his arms stiff at his sides when he runs.

Senators Turn Back Browns for Last Time

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Senators trounced St. Louis 6 to 2 today to make it two out of three on the Browns' last visit of the season.

The Senators sewed up the game in the seventh inning when three runs were slammed across the plate. St. Louis hit Crowder and Marberry for 10 hits but the Washington defense killed off possible scores by two double plays.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

Athletics Win No. 100; Whip Cleveland 7-5

Earnshaw Bests Wes Ferrell to Take Twentieth

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—The world champion Philadelphia Athletics after clinching their ninth American league pennant yesterday won their one hundredth game of the season by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 5.

Earnshaw allowed the Indians only six hits in winning his twentieth game of the season. Mickey Cochran had to leave the game because of a wrenched knee.

Synopsis of Preceding Installments
Lila Smith, a former lodging house slave, whom Inspector John Wade, of the London police, believes to be Delia Pattison, an heiress, is abducted and held prisoner. When the police raid a barge, on which Lila is hidden, her captors succeed in removing her to another place. Wade, who is on the trail of a gang of criminals known as the India Rubber men, thinks that there is a connection between the gang and Lila's captors.

Twenty-fourth Instalment
Lila was very tired, although the journey from the barge to Notting Hill had been a short one, and she was anxious to be alone, to try to puzzle out the meaning of her experience since she had followed "Mum" Oaks from the hiding place to which Inspector Wade had taken her.

But Golly Oaks seemed to be in a chatty mood, and he stayed on. "You can have all the life you want here," he said. "But I think you'd better keep the curtains drawn. I'll have your supper sent in presently." He nosed about the little apartment until Lila's yawns made it evident that she was paying no attention to what he was saying.

"I'll be back after you've had a chance to rest a bit," he said. "I want to talk to you about something that's very important."

As soon as he had gone, Lila examined her new quarters. The flat was at the back of the building and looked down upon a small, dingy courtyard. Lila opened the window and peered out. She saw several cars drive up to the rear of the building and disappear down a steep incline that led, she supposed, to the underground garage that she and Golly had seen when they arrived.

A gentle tap at the door sent her scurrying from the window. She remembered Golly's admonition about keeping the shades drawn. The door opened slowly, and a Chinese house boy entered. Lila gave a gasp of relief. The boy smiled and said: "Supper?" She nodded, and he brought in a tray laden with her favorite dishes.

She had hardly begun to eat when Golly burst in. "That boy gone?" he said excitedly.

She nodded.

Golly paced up and down the little room. "Did you hear a woman scream, just now?" he asked, in a worried tone. "Just before I came into the room?"

Lila shook her head. "I heard nothing — I was looking out of the window," she faltered. She expected a scolding to follow this admission, but Golly did not seem to notice it. His face was paler than usual, and the nonchalant manner that he had affected lately had disappeared.

"We've got a lady here who isn't quite right in the head," he said finally. "Not exactly a lady, either, you understand. Dippy, that's what she is." He tapped his forehead and winked. "If I wasn't so gentle with women —" he shook his head, as if he were regretting his humanitarianism. "Now Captain Alkness, he ain't very much that way."

"Does she live here?" asked Lila.

He looked at her oddly.

"No, she doesn't live here," he answered. "She was with us on the barge, but she didn't give us any trouble there — thank goodness!"

"Who is she?" Lila queried.

"A woman," said Golly vaguely. "She's been a servant. She was all right until she saw Captain Alkness. Then she acted like a lunatic. Took on something awful."

"Is Captain Alkness here, too?"

"Yes. They're all here. This is the second time that woman saw Alkness in about 20 years, I guess. It seems that she used to be sweet on him. But that's all over now. The names she called him! Murderer and everything! I told him that he'd do well to keep out of her way for a bit. These made people have funny memories. She might do him a lot of harm."

"They met," said Golly wearily. "Twenty years ago, or thereabouts. He made up to her, it seems. He's that kind of a man. Anybody's good enough for him — servants, anybody. And Anna seems to have taken him very seriously."

He watched Lila closely as he said this, but the name "Anna" seemed to have no special significance for her.

"Can I do anything?" she asked.

Golly rubbed his nose perplexedly. "Golly off his glasses, wiped them violently, and jammed them on again.

"That's just what I've been wondering," he told her. "I don't see why she shouldn't meet you. But the captain made an awful row when I said that. She's got an idea from somewhere that she knew you a long time ago, when you were just a kid. Anna — you don't remember any one by that name, do you?"

Lila shook her head.

Golly hesitated for a moment. "Suppose I bring her in to see you tonight," he said at last. "Would you mind? You might be able to calm her down a bit. I could bring her in now, for that matter. She's about gotten over the worst of her tantrum, I guess. She won't hurt anybody now."

"Oh, I'm not afraid of that," smiled Lila. "I'm glad to know that there is another woman in this place."

"Naturally — naturally," murmured Golly, suddenly displaying a sense of delicacy. "You're sure you don't mind? But you'd better finish your dinner first. She might take your appetite away."

She laughed at the suggestion, and returned to her food. Golly refused to join her, but he stayed and chatted, and she listened politely, all the time wondering what his object was in bringing this mysterious woman to see her.

"It was a great mistake to get Lord Sniford into our undertakings," he said suddenly, apropos of nothing. "I thought that it was a bad idea at the very start. But Captain Alkness kept after me. He said it would be a good way of keeping him sweet."

Golly stopped talking and looked closely at Lila. She suddenly realized that he was trying to sound her out — trying to learn whether she had overheard any talk at the Mecca. She looked at him innocently and said:

"I don't understand what you are talking about. By the way, where is Lord Sniford now?"

Golly Oaks coughed and looked away.

"He's gone abroad," he said, and quickly brought the conversation back to Anna. "I'd better go and fetch her now."

He rose, but seemed reluctant to leave until he had prepared Lila for the worst.

"She's nothing to look at," he explained. "And maybe she'll go off into one of her fits, but, if she does — then, as old Euripides said —"

He rattled off a quotation that Lila had often heard him use, and then rushed from the room. It was half an hour before he returned, and Lila thought he looked more agitated than ever.

"Come in, my dear," she heard him say.

He stepped aside to let pass the woman who followed at his heels. "I told you that you should see her soon," he was saying, in soothing tones, "and here she is."

Into the little room where Lila sat came a tall, gaunt woman, white-faced, with dark, smoldering eyes. For a moment she stood motionless, staring at the girl, who returned her gaze wonderingly.

"Is this Delia?" The woman's voice was low and very gentle. Golly Oaks winked at Lila.

"Yes, that's her," he said to the woman. "I've told her you were coming to see her. She said it was all right."

The woman walked slowly toward Lila, her face working pitifully. She held out her thin, work-scarred hands, and touched Lila, very gently, as if she doubted that the girl was real.

"Delia, darling," her voice was little above a whisper. "You are Delia. You know me, my sweet?"

Lila shook her head.

"My name is Lila," she said.

"The effect of her words was amazing. The woman's eyes glowed. Her pale, tired face became animated and eager.

"Lila," she cried. "Of course, you're Lila. That's what you always called yourself. Don't you remember?"

At this point there was a knock on the door, and Captain Alkness thrust his head in.

"Don't let her say too much," he whispered warningly to Golly. "You know what's likely to happen."

He turned to the woman and said roughly:

"Never mind raking up all that stuff about the past. I told you that you could see the young lady, if you would promise that you'd behave. You said that you just wanted to see her — to know that she was all right. Well, I've kept my word, and I want you to keep yours. So don't be telling her a lot of nonsense about what's happened years ago."

The softened look faded from the woman's eyes. She was no longer timid and pleading. When she turned to Alkness, there was something savage in her face. "Yes," she said. "I was afraid that you'd harmed her. I know what you are — the whole lot of you —"

Alkness seized her by the arm and tried to drag her out of the room. "I'll teach you to disobey," he shouted. "I'll —"

Golly stepped forward and drew Alkness aside. Just then the door opened and the Chinese house-boy appeared. "Message just come," he whispered to the captain. "Doctor he says —"

Alkness made for the door. "Why didn't you tell me before?" he snarled, and dashed out of the room, followed by Golly.

The two women stared after them, and then looked at each other. Lila's visitor grew calmer and more at ease.

"Don't you remember Anna?" she implored, throwing her arms about the girl. "Oh, my dear, when they told me that you were in this dreadful place, I almost died. And you were on the barge, too. But I didn't hear that, until just a little while ago. What a blessing just to know that you are safe for a little while, at least! — Now I must find a way down the bay to welcome the returning man.

SERENADES FOR PALS
Kegs of beer would be opened and, as the tug escorted the liner up the harbor, the members serenaded their pal with drinking songs.

The "23" went out of existence some years past, but its spirit was revived in the "67" club about five years ago. The "67" has much the same membership, except it is limited and no new members are ever admitted.

A street corner vaudeville act entertains strollers on east side streets every night. Two one-legged men who ride trick bicycles stage their act and then take up a collection. The are erstwhile vaudeville actors who haven't been able to get a booking.

Two automobiles also attract unusual attention. One has a miniature dirigible in place of a top. It is about 12 feet long, and is complete in every detail.

The other car has a realistic papier mache elephant on its top. The elephant is about four feet high, and a mechanical gadget makes it wave its trunk in a lifelike manner.

Neither of the cars advertises anything. Just whims of their owners.

NIGHT MARKET.
The busiest place in New York after midnight is not Broadway. It is the green grocery market hard by the Fourteenth street water front. Each morning at 2 o'clock the city's gaily supply of fruits, vegetables and poultry arrives there.

Many of the vegetables are harvested in the afternoon and shipped abroad fast express freight trains, arrive at Fourteenth street that night and are served on New York tables within 24 hours after being taken from the fields.

Hundreds of buyers from hotels and restaurants come there each night to shop for their daily supplies. They go from market to market, plucking at spinach and tasting fruits, seeking the best prices.

The hall of liberal arts, begun in 1898, was the first of the new buildings of the university. It is constructed of Bedford limestone, with dimensions of 121 by 210 feet.

The state historical society library is housed on the second floor of the liberal arts building and is open for the use of students.

NEW YORK—When the Giants and Yankees played each other for the unemployment fund, George M. Cohen gathered a score of his Broadway pals and took them to the game. The incident brought back memories of the famous "23 Club."

Cohan and his erstwhile partner, Sam H. Harris, were the sponsors of the "23," which occupied a whole floor above a Broadway restaurant in the second decade of this century. There were a bar, restaurant, games and music.

The members were authors, composers, artists, newspapermen, soldiers of fortune and other such characters.

The dues were $1 a month, and members were privileged to come in any time, day or night and eat and drink as much as the pleased. Cohan and Harris paid the bill.

No event was too small to provide an excuse for a party.

If a member came back from Europe, the whole club would be transferred to a tugboat and would go of getting you out of here. I must! I must! If I can't save you this time, how will I ever be able to face her ladyship?"

"Why have I been brought here?" asked Lila. "Mr. Oaks told me that 'Mum' is dead. Is that true?"

"Yes, it is," replied Anna. "I heard them talking about it. Oh, I must get you away before something terrible happens to you, too if I lose you again, I shall go mad. I had thought—"

She was trembling with excitement, and Lila was at her wits' end for fear Alkness might come in and take her away.

"Don't talk so loud," Lila cautioned. "They may hear you."

"I'm not afraid for myself," said Anna desperately. "It's you—it's for your sake that something must be done. I'll watch my chance. I promise you that I will. And this time they'll not be able to fool me. They'll—"

She stopped and made a determined effort to be calm as Golly entered the room again. "Don't be afraid," he said, as he saw the look of alarm on Lila's face. "I won't hurt the old woman. It's Alkness who would like to see her out of the way. Just go on with your conversation. Nothing will happen to you while I'm here."

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 16—Hollywood's taste in literature reveals illuminating sidelights on the personalities of the stars.

Stanley Rose, who has been selling books to the film people since 1922, and who describes them as the best read professional group in the world, knows all about the literary preferences of Hollywood's great and near great.

Al Green, he says, has the most valuable collection of first editions in the cinema capital. Edward Everett Horton he names as one of the finest scholars.

While Ernest Hemingway, Ben Hecht and Somerset Maugham are the authors most steadily in demand, the taste of the film people is catholic. Bill Powell, for instance, favors intimate memoirs. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., on the other hand, goes in for poems. Other stars and their preferences are: Richard Barthelmess, biographies; Victor McLaglen, every available set of Rudyard Kipling, and adventure fiction generally; Buddy de Sylva, biographies; Ann Harding, new plays and books on art; Gloria Swanson, books on the theater; Joseph Von Sternberg, studies on art, philosophy, folk lore and black magic; Eric Von Stroheim, intimate court memoirs; Ray Griffith, early American editions; Dave Butler, all crime books, and Neil Hamilton, early American literature and the works of Mark Twain.

Independent of their quality, all books by Hollywood authors go well in the cinema capital. "Queer People," says Rose, was one of the best sellers he ever had.

School of Letters Announces Six New Courses for 1931-32

General, Specialized Outlines Given Students

Six special courses planned by the school of letters will go into effect with the opening of classes Monday morning, one providing a program in general letters, the others in English, French, Spanish, German, and Latin.

The special course in general letters is designed to meet the needs of undergraduates desiring a liberal education concentrating upon literature. The courses in English and foreign languages are calculated to combine liberal study with preparation for teaching.

While each special course gives a four-year program of study, the first two years of work are almost identical with the usual liberal arts curriculum for freshmen and sophomores. Thus it will be possible for juniors registering this fall to elect one of the new plans.

The programs have been outlined in the university catalog and also explained in a bulletin prepared by George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, issued this fall for the first time.

Train Teachers
The new special courses have been adapted to the needs of students planning to teach immediately after graduation. Provision is made for securing the state teacher's certificate, as well as opportunity for elective study.

While students will ordinarily do their work in courses, they may be given permission to study some of the required subjects independently of courses with the aid of a list of readings and some tutorial assistance.

Related Fields
In all of the new plans certain courses are given in subjects closely related with the field of major interest. A course in the history of art will be given by Prof. C. W. deKiewit of the department of history which will deal in a non-technical way with ancient and modern sculpture, architecture, and painting.

The philosophy department is represented by a course given under Prof. Bonno Taper on the personalities and the thought of philosophers ancient and modern.

All students taking the special course in modern language will have a course given this fall by Prof. Dorrance S. White dealing with ancient literature in translation and with the ancient outlook on life.

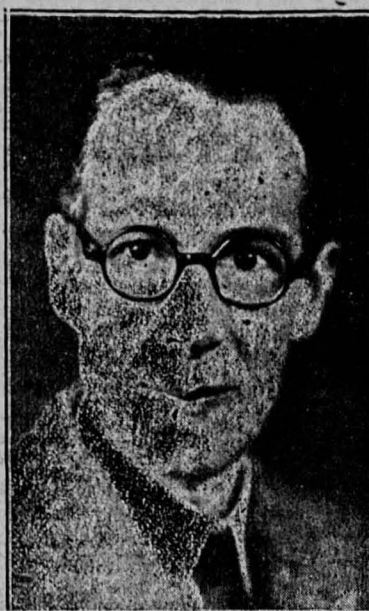

The background courses, although arranged especially for the interests of literary students, are open for election by all students in the college of liberal arts.

University of Iowa Sets Trio of New Records for Degrees

The University of Iowa broke three records for graduation figures during the second semester of the scholastic year 1930-31 and the 1931 summer session.

Graduates at the June convocation numbered 1,070, while first and second term totals for the summer session were 205 and 276, respectively.

A new record for total number of degrees over the period from July 1930, to July 1931, was set when the old mark was surpassed by 81 degrees; 1,604 were given during the year.

Prof. Norman Foerster

Name Flickinger to Committee on College Religion

Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the department of classical languages, was recently notified of his appointment as a member of the commission on community religion at college and university centers.

The purpose of this commission is to draw up a report before the next biennial convention of the community church workers to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., in May, 1932.

Other members of the commission are N. A. McCune, Samuel S. Wyer, and C. F. Fisher.

Three New Members of State Educational Board Assume Posts

New members of the Iowa state board of education who took their posts during the last summer are Joseph H. Anderson, of Thompson; Harry M. Neas, of Sigourney; and Thomas W. Keenan, of Shenandoah.

They succeeded Henry C. Shull, of Sioux City; C. C. Sheakley, of New Hampton; and S. J. Galvin, of Hampton.

Eskil C. Carlson, of Des Moines, successor to W. C. Stuckslager, of Lisbon, took office immediately after Mr. Stuckslager's death.

University Shows Displays at Fair

Extensive exhibits from colleges and departments were the University of Iowa contribution to the Iowa state fair at Des Moines, Aug. 26 to Sept. 4.

The university displays, under the supervision of Lee Cochran of the extension division were located in the educational building. They included demonstrations of methods and materials now in use in the institution.

Among the units represented were journalism, athletics, engineering, medicine and nursing, dentistry and pharmacy.

Use Eleven Studios
The department of graphic and plastic arts uses seven studios in the physics building and four in the studio annex. They are completely equipped for free hand drawing, still life painting, decorative designing and lettering, portrait life and costumed figure drawing and painting, clay modeling, perspective drawing and instrumental drafting.

Member of Faculty Elected to Editorial Staff of Publication

One of four American scientists chosen, Prof. James N. Pearce of the University of Iowa has been elected to be board of editors of the Journal of Physical Chemistry.

The Iowan assumes his position on the board at once, his colleagues including four prominent British physical chemists in addition to those of the United States.

Published under the auspices of the American and British chemical societies as well as the Faraday society, the international journal is the most important in its field.

The graduate college was established in 1900, the college of engineering in 1905, and the college of education in 1913.

Bose Compiles List of Books in Bulletin

"The Orient Today" is the title of the latest service bulletin of the University of Iowa, which contains a list of books of general interest on the Orient.

The list was compiled by Prof. Sudhindra Bose, of the political science department, for use in his course on Oriental politics and civilization.

Pharmacy Award

The Samuel W. Fairchild scholarship of $500 is awarded to the successful candidate in a competitive examination in pharmacy and is open to students who have just graduated from a college that is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

100 GREETERS WELCOME FRESHMEN

First Meets of Freshmen Begin Week

Pharmacy Preps Will Convene This Morning

By AL MITCHELL

Freshman week, beginning with the receiving of registration materials and concluded by the induction ceremony and the opening of class-work in the University of Iowa has been inaugurated to help first year students to get settled in suitable living quarters, register, meet administrative quarters, become acquainted with upperclassmen, and acquire a knowledge of the university campus.

First meetings of new students in liberal arts and engineering were held yesterday, as the initial feature of the annual observance. Meeting for the first time this morning, pharmacy students will receive packets of registration material and instructions in procedure in room 308 pharmacy-botany building.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

8 a.m.—Registration for freshmen in the college of liberal arts morning and afternoon at university hall and Iowa Union. Pharmacy freshmen meet, room 308, Pharmacy-botany building. Registration of engineering and pharmacy freshmen according to instructions which they will receive at their respective colleges.

7:30 p.m.—All freshmen (men and women) assemble at Iowa Union.

Meeting tonight at 7:30, freshmen will assemble at Iowa Union, where they will be afforded opportunity to meet the president of the university and the deans of the various colleges. Upperclassmen will have charge of the arrangements.

Most freshmen will visit Iowa Union upon their arrival. The university housing service, student employment service, and information service are located in this building. The Iowa Union lobby is headquarters for the student reception committee, numbering more than 100, and composed of upperclassmen whose official duty is making the freshman feel at home during the period of his first contacts with the university.

Mail at Union

A general delivery mail box will be found at Iowa Union, located at the lobby desk. Any new student may have his mail sent in care of this general delivery station at Iowa Union until he is certain of his permanent address.

Tomorrow morning, freshmen will be afforded opportunity to learn something of the tradition of the university at a general meeting of all first year students, both men and women, to be held in the natural science auditorium at 9 a.m.

Tomorrow afternoon and Saturday morning will be devoted to qualifying examinations. Whether or not the freshman has completed his registration, he will be required to take part in the examination.

Saturday evening will bring the annual "get-together" of all first year students, when the university mixer, held every year, is put on at Iowa Union. The function will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The final meeting of Freshman week, the annual induction ceremony, will be held Monday at 8 a.m. All university students gather on the slope west of Old Capitol, and pledge themselves to loyalty to the school. Eight o'clock convene for the first time immediately following the ceremony.

Faculty Member in Three Month's Trip by 'Covered Wagon'

Frances Ann Hungerford, supervisor of the preschool unit of the department of child welfare, with her nephew and niece, Billy and Margaret Cutler, spent three months during the summer touring the west and north central section of the United States in a modern "covered wagon."

The traveling home, a trailer, drawn by automobile, was equipped completely even to electric lights, radio, and a kitchen sink.

The four took the members of the party west to Denver, into Yellowstone park, through the Black Hills, and into Minnesota and Michigan.

Program of Hygiene

The dental bureau of the division of maternal and infant hygiene promotes an educational program of oral hygiene for rural and city schools in Iowa.

Green Cap Again Official Badge of Male Freshmen

Final act in freshman men's registration today will be the purchase of the 1931 green cap, single remnant of the old hazing days authorized by the university student council.

This year's model reverts to the style of two years ago, green flannel with a white button.

Freshmen will buy tickets for their caps at a desk at the end of registration line at Iowa Union. These tickets will be redeemed at local clothing stores Sept. 26. Neophytes will be expected to wear their caps from dawn to dusk as a university tradition, until the caps are consigned to a pep bonfire later in the autumn.

Reading Room at Iowa Union "Nicest" Here

"I think we have the nicest library on the campus; it serves the conception that books are a part of home and life. There are no stacks, no long rows of hard chairs and straight tables."

Such is the opinion and description voiced by Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of Iowa Union, in telling of the new reading room located on the sun porch of the Iowa Union, which will be ready for use with the opening of classes.

The 500 books with which the library will be equipped will be placed on shelves at the east end of the room. The texts were chosen by a student committee, department heads, and Prof. Milton Lord, director of the university libraries.

The room is furnished in Early American and Old English fumed oak. Wrought iron gates will be placed across the west archway into the room.

A formal opening ceremony under the auspices of Professor Lord is planned for the near future.

Journalism Faculty Member at Meeting

Edward F. Mason, assistant professor of journalism, attended the national convention of newspaper librarians held in connection with a convention of special librarians in Cleveland, Ohio.

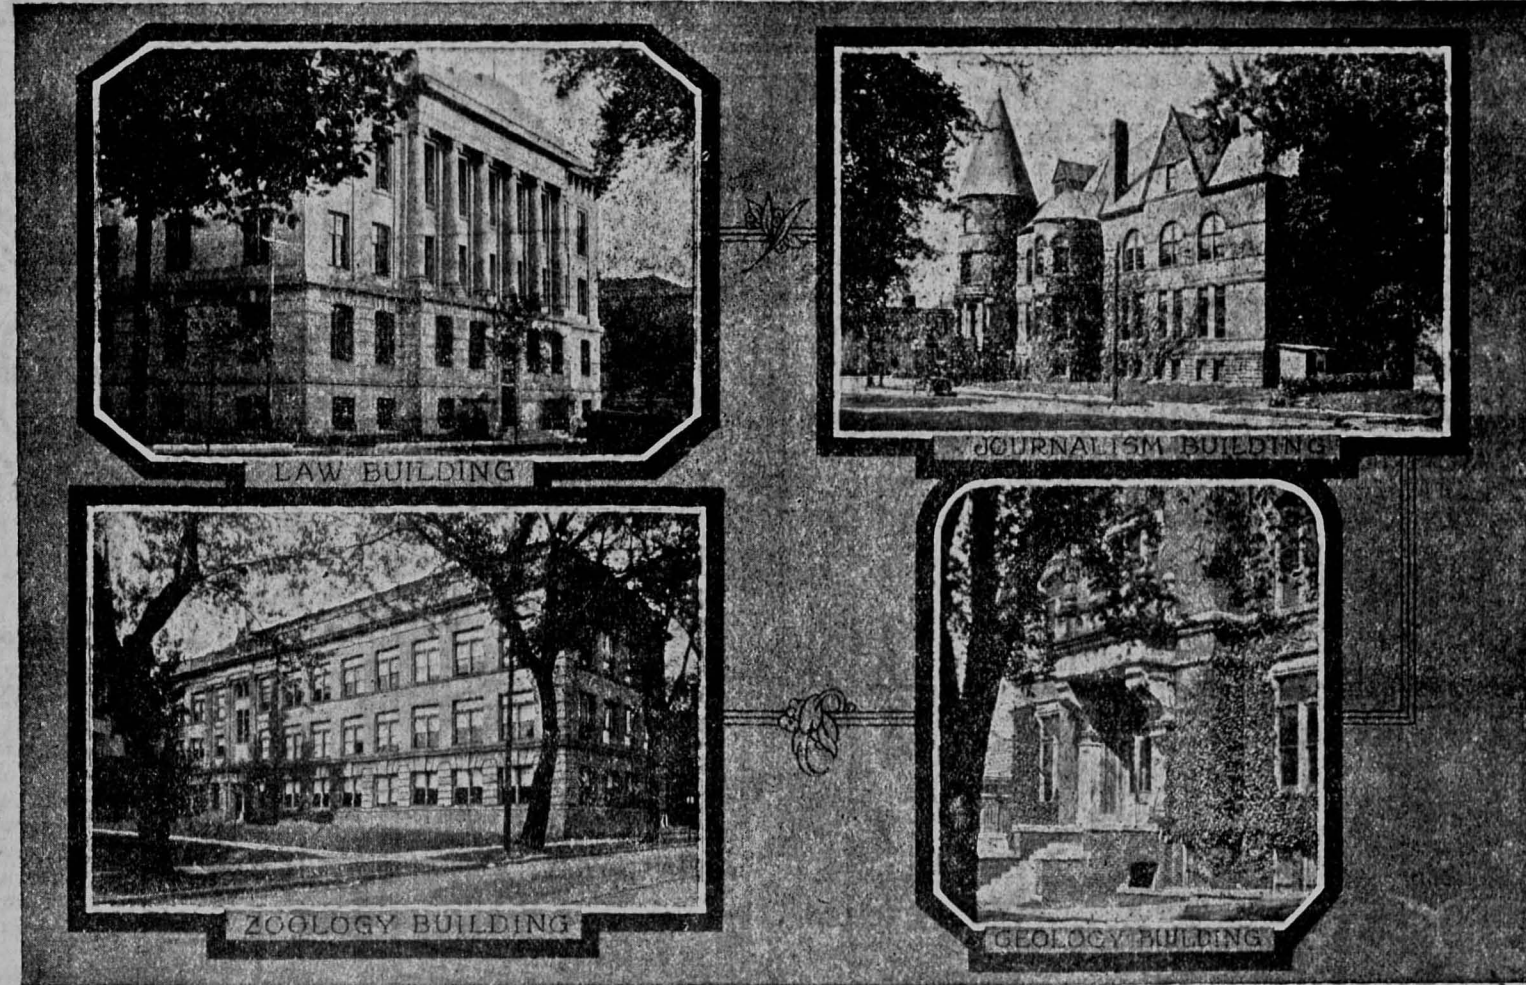

Professor Mason also visited a number of newspaper libraries in the middle west, gathering data in preparation for a course in newspaper library methods which will be offered this fall.

Foerster Publishes New Book Edition

A revised edition of the book "Chief American Prose Writers," by Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, first published in 1916, was released during the last summer.

The book is a college anthology of selected prose. Writing of Richard H. Melville and Mark Twain has been added to the revised edition.

WSUI Gives Class by Air

Four Courses Included in Broadcasts for 1931-32

Beginning simultaneously with the first class meetings at the University of Iowa, station WSUI, under the administration of the extension division, will inaugurate its program of educational broadcasting for the first semester of the academic year.

History of West

Four courses will be broadcast direct from the university classrooms. The "History of the West," presented by Prof. Louis Pelzer of the history department, will be broadcast Monday and Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Prof. Sam B. Sloan of the department of English will have charge of a radio course in "The English Novel," which will be put on the air at the same hour Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Prof. Phillip G. Clapp, head of the music department, will broadcast a course in "Classical Music" from the classroom on three days each week, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The broadcast will begin at 2 p.m.

Short Story

"The Short Story" will complete the list of academic subjects included in the educational broadcasts. The course is to be given by Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, and broadcast Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m.

In addition to the classroom broadcasts, 20 departments of the University of Iowa will contribute to the program of educational features and entertainment of station WSUI.

Menzer Named Vice President of Radio Broadcasters' Group

Carl H. Menzer, director-announcer of station WSUI, was named vice president of the National Association of College and University Broadcasters at the annual meeting of the group, held recently.

The gathering was held in connection with the second institute on education by radio, at Columbus, Ohio. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, read a paper on "The experiment in training radio announcers at the University of Iowa." In his speech he discussed the course in radio announcing which is now beginning its second year at the university.

Correspondence Courses

Enrollment fee, paid but once for courses in the extension division by correspondence is $2. The tuition for each hour of credit in the university is $4.

Service clubs in Iowa City total four. They are: Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, and Gyro. Gyro meets Monday; Kiwanis, Tuesday; Lions, Wednesday; and Rotary Thursday.

Name Second Production of Iowa Players

"Once in a Lifetime" Chosen for Stage in November

With three announcements, that of the second play to be presented in the coming university theater season, tryouts for the first two plays, and the engagement of a full time scene designer in the department of speech and dramatic art, directors of the department open the new academic year.

"Once in a Lifetime" by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman has been selected as the second production of the university theater, and will be given Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

The opening play, "Green Grow the Lillacs" by Lynn Riggs, will be given Oct. 27, 28 and 29. Announcement of its selection was made during August.

Satire on Movie

The second production, which will be produced under the direction of A. Dale Riley, associate in speech, is a satire on the talking movie, according to Prof. Edward C. Malone, head of the department.

"This play is on the order of 'Meriton of the Movies,'" he said. "I think it's a crackerjack."

Announcement of tryouts will be made so that the players who wish to attempt finding parts in the first two productions of the season can begin work with the first class meetings. It may be possible, Mr. Malone said, that the actors will start work on the plays before registration is complete.

Arnold Gillette is the full time scene designer who will become a regular staff member with the opening of the fall term. Mr. Gillette is a graduate of the University of Montana and took his master's degree at Yale. He was also scene designer for the Berkshire play house, Stockbridge, Mass.

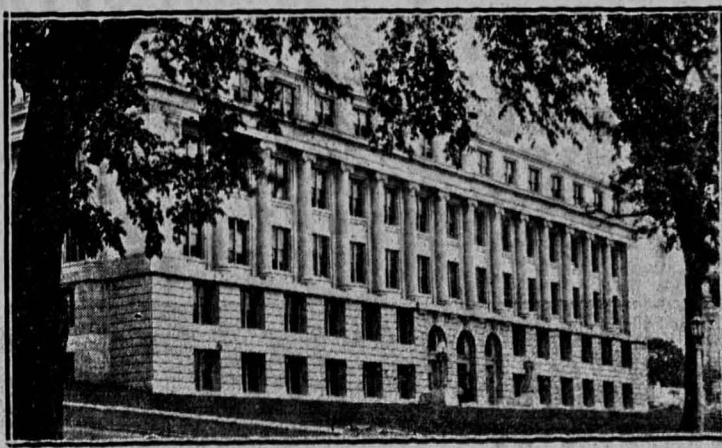

The university theater enters its second decade with a program of seven plays scheduled for presentation during the coming year. Seven plays will be produced from a list of more than 20 which have had recent seasons in New York and London. Several plays by European authors not heretofore represented in the program will also be included.

Reservations

Season ticket subscribers will be able to make reservations for a single performance or the entire season at any time, the sale having been opened since Sept. 15. Seats for theater productions may be reserved at any time from 8 to 12 a. m., or 1 to 5 p. m., in room 10, liberal arts building.

University Health Department Provides Service to Students

Perhaps a university student doesn't feel "so good"; maybe he has suffered some minor accident, a cut, bruise, or sprain. Whatever form of ailment may be his lot, he finds that his best source of aid is in what is familiarly known as "student health."

Student health is more of an ideal than a name, and that ideal is one set by the University of Iowa department of health, under the leadership of Dr. Milford E. Barnes, head of the department of hygiene and preventative medicine.

Outpatient Division
The student going to the service for aid does not necessarily see the whole of the department. He merely goes in most cases to the student outpatient division, one of the four divisions under the health department.

The first of these four is known as the inspection division, and is operated under the supervision of Prof. Jack J. Hinman, Jr., chief of the water laboratory, and his staff.

The work of the division has been confined to the inspection and analysis of the water supply of the university as a matter of routine. The inspection also extends to the university swimming pools. In the last year, minor defects only have been found, and correction has been immediate.

The second division is that of communicable disease, Prof. Albert V. be detached from the season ticket books for each performance. The tickets are not numbered, dated, or in any way designated for specific performances.

The seven plays are offered for the season price of $5. In the last 10 years 85 productions have been made by the theater group during the academic year and about 30 during the summer session.

Will Offer 10 Class Groups for Saturday

"I'm going to my November fourteenth," instead of "I'm going to my eight o'clock," might be said by students enrolled for Saturday class work in the university.

Saturday classes, meeting 10 times during the university year, offer work in botany, education, English, history, home economics, journalism, music, physical education, political science, psychology, sociology, speech, character education, and child welfare.

The first class meeting and registration will be held Oct. 1. Subsequent classes are held Oct. 31, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Jan. 16, Feb. 6, March 5, March 19, April 2, and April 16.

Three hours credit is given for the successful completion of each course, and two courses may be taken, yielding six hours of credit. Anyone who is 21 years of age or has had one year of college training may register.

More than 300 persons attended the meetings last year, many driving from their homes for each class meeting.

Organizations Numerous on Iowa Campus

Enviied persons are the 12 men and the 12 women who are selected each spring as members of A.F.I. and Mortar Board, senior honorary organizations. A.F.I. is the senior honorary for men to which is elected each spring recognized leaders in campus activities.

Mortar Board, similar organization for senior women, is composed of 12 girls selected from the junior class, who act as aids to the dean of women in assisting freshman girls, and plan the Mother's day ceremony in the spring.

Other honoraries are Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic organization; Sigma Xi, national honorary in scientific research; Order of the Coif, national legal honorary; Order of Artus and Beta Gamma Sigma, similar organizations in the field of economics and commerce.

Phi Delta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta choose their membership from those who have excelled in professional education. Gamma Alpha is a graduate scientific fraternity, Tau Beta Pi is an honorary engineering society, and Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi are journalistic professional societies.

Continuo is an honorary music society. Purple Mask is a senior honorary in the university theater. Delta Sigma Rho is an honorary forensic society. Professional groups include Alpha Omega Alpha, medical; Rho Chi, pharmacy; Omicron Kappa Upsilon, dental; and Gamma Epsilon Pi, commerce.

Four literary societies for men and seven for women are found at the University of Iowa. About 70 national social fraternities and sororities are represented.

Local chamber of commerce luncheons are held every Monday noon during the winter at the Legion building, Gilbert and College streets.

Five Organizations Foster Religious Development for University of Iowa Students

Christian Association, Newman Club, Philo Club, Negro Forum, Cosmopolitan Club All Under Advisory Board

Five organizations, fostering religious development among students, are found on the University of Iowa campus, with central offices located just off the lobby of Iowa Union.

The Christian association, men and women's divisions, is under the direction of Walter J. McGrath and Margarita Williams, presidents; Reinhold E. Strohmaier and Genevieve Janssen, vice-presidents; Miriam Gearhart and Marian Benesh, secretaries; Fred Beck and Mary Ann Gould, treasurers.

The two divisions concentrate in practically every undertaking, although the separated cabinets are maintained.

All students of Catholic faith are eligible to membership in the Newman club, which meets the first and third Wednesdays of each month in the school year in the new Knights of Columbus home on Washington street.

Religious, literary, and social activities are included in the work of the club. Lectures by members of the faculty, clergymen, and laymen of distinction are a part of the year's program. It is planned to introduce special features in the program for this coming year. One general aim will be that of affording members opportunity to become better acquainted with Catholic thought and literature.

Four parties during the school year are given under the auspices of the club. The organization is affiliated with the National Federation of Newman clubs. The groups have common offices and conference rooms and a joint budget, and work together on many commissions.

Fields of activity in the association include entertaining in Iowa City's hospitals; committee work in international and race relation, industrial problems, church cooperation, student-faculty relations, work with Girl Reserves in Iowa City schools, and work with individuals.

Social life also plays its part in the organization, with mixers, parties, teas, and banquets.

The advisory board serves both men and women, and is made up of 24 faculty members and Iowa City residents who are elected for terms ranging from one to three years. Professional advisers to the group are Genevieve Chase and Orlo L. Crissey, whose offices are in the Iowa Union.

Officers of the organization for 1931-32 are: Robert Knudson, president; Margaret Toomey, vice-president; Albert Behnke, secretary; and William Gannon, treasurer.

Offering to the Jewish student a center for social, cultural, and religious work, Philo club, formerly known as Hillel club, was established on the University of Iowa campus.

The club was recognized two years ago with the aid of Prof. Moses Jung, of the school of religion. Each school year a member of open forum speakers are presented at fortnightly club meetings. Last year's group included philosophers, publishers, professors, and clergymen.

Educational Bureau Plans Exhibits for Teachers Meetings

The bureau of educational research and service of the extension division plans to exhibit publications and standard tests at district teachers meetings in October and at the state teachers meeting, which will be held in Des Moines in November.

The bureau will also have an exhibit in the superintendence section of the National Education association meeting at Washington, D. C., in February.

Dr. H. A. Greene, in charge of the bureau, reports that more than 700,000 copies of test materials were distributed during the last year. Visual education materials, including slides and 16 mm. classroom films, will be exhibited at these meetings under the direction of Lee W. Cochran.

To fill a growing need for fellowship and closer contact among Negro students, the "Negro Forum" was organized in the fall of 1925. The club program includes discussion of social and religious aspects of the student's development.

The year's officers: Millard Dean, president; Roscoe Barrett, vice-president; Grace Coleman, secretary; Frank Mattice, treasurer; Elsie Gearin, assistant secretary; and

Special Observances

Special observances are held for Dad's day, Mother's day, and on Purim and Hanukkah. Plans are being made to hold student services during the high holidays, with the aid of Professor Jung.

A special Philo library contains books and magazines of Jewish and general interest.

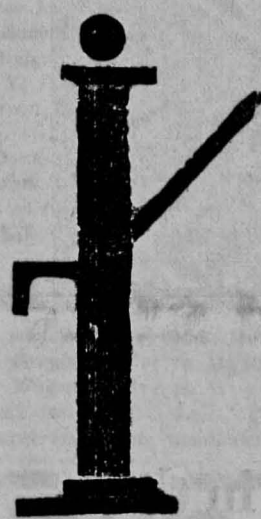

"The Philo Forum," published bi-monthly, contains articles and news of Jewish students, offering opportunity to them to air their opinions.

Officers for last year: J. Harold Saks, president; Sam Bernson, vice-president; Helen C. Levitt, secretary; and Prof. Moses Jung, adviser.

Two New Buildings Head Improvement Program of Old Gold During Summer

Mechanical Engineering Laboratory, Children's Hospital Addition Ready Soon; Many Other Renovations Noted

By H. BERNARD HOOK
"But Grandma, how big you have grown."
"The better to educate you, my dear."

Thoughts synonymous to the idea expressed in the fable impress the students of Iowa every fall as they come back to the university acres and note the many improvements which have materialized during the summer and the time since they first matriculated in their chosen school.

New buildings, new additions, new sidewalks and paving, remodeled buildings, changes in landscape, painting and many other renovations greet the students each successive September as they flock back to enjoy the benefits of an ever progressing university.

Part of Engineering Quadrangle
One of the first improvements that will attract attention from the incoming host this week is the new mechanical engineering laboratory which is going up speedily on the west side of the engineering building. When the new $60,000 edifice is completed it will form a part of the proposed engineering quadrangle.

Under favorable conditions a prompt delivery of building materials the structure should be completed within six weeks. Construction work is in the hands of the Stark company of Cedar Rapids.

Pave Templin Road
Another headline improvement that will be heralded with enthusiasm is the new pavement of Templin Road from River street west to Burlington street. Although this project was not a part of the university program, it was authorized by the city council last winter. At the same time the stretch from Iowa Avenue to Burlington street was renamed from Riverside drive to Templin road, the latter name now applies to the road as far west as the city park.

Workmen have been busy all summer in building a new $20,000 addition to children's hospital. The new unit which joins the main section of the hospital on the north side is approximately 80 by 60 feet in dimensions, and will house the main office, reception rooms, and divisions of the orthopedics, and pediatrics departments.

Finishing Touches
Carpenters are putting the finishing touches on the inside of the addition at present, and it will be ready for use within a few weeks. The main office of children's hospital which is now located in the south center section of the building will be transferred to the new addition.

The Quadrangle will find extensive improvements made in the university's largest dormitory during the past three months. The basement has been enlarged to the west of the Quadrangle cafeteria. In this enlargement will be housed the barber shop, clothes pressing rooms, and other conveniences that were formerly omitted from the building because of lack of room.

Quadrangle Improvements
Extensive alterations in the Quadrangle office have been made to accommodate the Quad men. Individual lock boxes have been provided, and a more convenient arrangement has been worked out to handle the business department of the dormitory more efficiently.

A few sections of the building have been remodeled to accommodate more rooms. Considerable plastering and painting has been done in the institution's attempt to make the Quadrangle a more cheery and comfortable place for the 700 men who call it their home each year.

Remodel Buildings
In the electrical engineering building on Iowa avenue men have been working for several weeks in remodeling the interior and making other improvements to facilitate instruction in the department which took possession of the brick structure last year.

Improvements at Currier, university home for women, center around such repairs as cement floors, plastering walls and ceilings, and painting. A general cleaning program, as is launched each summer, was administered by a small army of student workers at Currier Hall, Eastlawn, and the Quadrangle during the last two weeks.

Iowa Union greets the incoming students these days with an entirely new coat of plaster on the walls and ceilings of the front lobby and offices. The new hard wall plaster substitutes the crustal variety which was put on when the Union was built. The old plaster was recommended to help in the elimination of echoes within the walls of the Union, and, although this type of wall surface made difference in eliminating rebounding noises in a building of such proportions, plaster began to crack up and did not prove durable.

Shrubs, Evergreens
Around Old Capitol have been planted shrubs and evergreens during the spring and summer that will lend increasing beauty to the center of "Pentacrest" surroundings as they grow larger. Various other places the campus landscape has been dotted this summer with small trees, shrubs, and flowers. Another part of a program to make the campus more beautiful each year.

And thus the University of Iowa keeps abreast of this progressive age by paralleling the advancement in curriculum with improvements on buildings and landscape. The university of tomorrow reflects an unprecedented movement for fine buildings and landscaping as is unfolded in the new campus plan. Each year the improvements at Iowa mark a step forward to that end.

Veteran Faculty Members to Continue Work at Iowa

Students have been instructed at the University of Iowa for 75 years and during more than half of that period the same seven men have been members of the faculty. With three professors ready for their forty-fourth year, the veteran septet, whose service varies from 37 to 43 years, will begin another semester in their positions.

Joined Faculty in 1888
Outranking their colleagues in tenure of office are Charles B. Wilson, head of the German department; Frank T. Breene, dean of the college of dentistry; and Elbert W. Rockwood, professor of chemistry and former head of that department. Each came to the university in 1888.

All of the men have witnessed the growth of the university from an institution of less than 1,000 students to one enrolling 9,901 men and women in 12 months. They have served under six presidents, of whom Walter A. Jessup has held office the longest.

Other Records
The four other professors with the years of service of each, are: Bohumil Shimek, botany, 41; Henry F. Wickham, zoology, 40; Gilbert L. Houser, zoology, 40, and Harry G. Plum, history, 37.

Home Studies Show Growth

200 Courses Offered for Work Through Correspondence

With increase in the number of diplomas granted by the University of Iowa to marks that shattered all time records, a like growth was shown in the enrollment for correspondence work and home study for students not in residence.

Show Gain
Registrations in the correspondence study department of the extension division for the first three months of the school year 1930-31 surpassed all previous records for the same period, according to Helen Williams, who has charge of this work.

More than 200 home study courses, offering scholastic credit in the University of Iowa, will be available to students during the coming year. The courses offered by correspondence are prepared by members of the university faculty and contain a definite amount of work equivalent to that accomplished by students in residence at the school.

Based on Assignments
While courses offered in residence are based on "semester hours," the correspondence work is based on a definite number of completed assignments, although proportionate credit on a semester hour basis is given. All work offered is of regular university grade.

Enrollment fee for the student taking work by correspondence is $2 and is paid but once. The tuition fee for each course is determined by the number of credit hours received. A one hour course fee is $4, plus $4 additional for each added hour.

Honor Member of Home Ec Faculty

Mae L. Giddings, assistant professor in home economics, was elected national secretary of Omicron Nu, national honorary home economics sorority, at the annual convocation in Detroit, recently.

Miss Giddings was accompanied to Detroit by Prof. Frances Zull, head of the home economics department.

University Convocations
University convocations are held at the close of each semester and at the end of each term of the summer session. At any convocation degrees may be conferred. In addition, occasional assemblies are held where addresses by distinguished speakers are given. At the opening of each year an induction ceremony is held.

Ability Will Find Reward in Military Department Under Newly Made Plans for Year

With the rewarding of ability by distinctive classification as a key-note, the department of military science and tactics at the University of Iowa will open a new university year.

In past seasons, the basic military students were all members of the university "army" regardless of their ability in drill, their knowledge of military discipline and courtesy, or their ranking within the scholastic records of the department.

Under a new plan to be placed in use for the first time as classes convene for the opening of the 1931-32 academic year, only the cream of the military students will be included in the university regiment.

Must Have C. Grade
The regiment will meet for organization at the opening of the second semester. Eligibility of the basic student depends on his drill ability and general military record. A grade of C or better in discipline is a requisite for inclusion in the regiment.

Those who do not fulfill the qualifications for entering the university regiment will be placed in a special training corps, according to Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis, professor of military science and tactics, and their drill will be continued in this group.

Members of the university regiment will be distinguished from those students who are included in the special training group by the wearing of a shoulder patch, designed especially for the University of Iowa regiment.

The patch bears a block "I" and a representation of the dome of Old Capitol, and will be worn on the left shoulder of the regimental member's uniform.

Will Reward Discipline
Discipline observance will have its reward, also, under the new plans.

The student enrolled in the basic course who maintains a discipline grade of A will be allowed to wear a blue block letter "A" on the left coat sleeve of his uniform.

A new handbook for basic coursemen, an innovation in military training at the university, is in process of preparation, and will be distributed at the first meetings of the basic classes to the first and second year men.

The handbook outlines the history of the University of Iowa unit, military regulation, and the awards offered to students enrolled in military training.

Under a new pledging plan, announced for the first time last spring, members of the advanced military sections are chosen in the engineering and infantry units. About 100 men are chosen for the advanced work, upon recommendation by members of the military faculty.

Eligibility Requirements
Eligibility depends as much on the moral and scholastic standing of the student as his ability in military drill. Any male student who has completed two years of basic work in a satisfactory manner, and still has two years of work in the university before graduation may be considered among those who are eligible.

Advanced coursemen receive about 30 cent per day until the time of graduation, through one summer, totalling about $250 during the course. A six week camp, held in the summer, and usually attended after the completion of the junior year, is a course requirement.

Permission to register for the advanced work has been granted by the military department and President Walter A. Jessup to 62 members of the infantry unit and 25 in the engineering unit. Eight pledges to the engineering unit have been announced as alternates in case there are vacancies in the group of 25.

Early Twenties Proved Best in Graduate Work--Seashore

That graduate training reaches its highest effectiveness when the student is in his early twenties and unmarried and that every year of postponement after 25 results in depression of the advanced degree's value is the belief of Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college.

Need Master's Degree
Dean Seashore, beginning his twenty-fourth year as head of the college, holds the opinion that high school teachers of the future must have a master's degree, and that the competition of the modern day will eliminate the unfit from higher achievement in learned fields.

"Surveys have shown that the value of graduate work increases in geometric ratio with the superiority of the student in natural ability. Therefore, the lower a student is in natural ability for the acquisition of learning, the less it will pay him to do graduate work," the dean said.

Enrollment Record
About 28 per cent of the students enrolled in the University of Iowa during a 12 months period ending last June were registrants in the graduate college; the total of 2,706 was a new record.

Dean Seashore predicts an increase in the enrollment of advanced scholars during the coming academic year. He expects that present economic condition will cause students to realize that the present day is best for preparation for a position on the rising scale of employment.

Foerster Honored by D. Litt Degree

Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, received the honorary degree of D. Litt. from the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., at the school's June Commencement.

The university is unique in that it is patterned after the Oxford colleges. All juniors and seniors are required to attend classes attired in cap and gown.

Physical Education
The division of physical education was established in the spring of 1924. The organization consists of the departments of intercollegiate athletics, physical education for men and physical education for women and intramural games.

Broadcast to Offer Added Credit Hour

Future Announcers Will Take Three Hour Training

Originality will be the keynote of the University of Iowa course in radio announcing, offered under the supervision of the department of speech, under the direction of M. Dale Riley, associate in the department.

Three hours of credit will be given for the work in radio speech this year, although only two hours of credit were given last year, when the course was first offered. The class will meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 9 a. m.

Practically the same hours on the schedule of WSUI will be given over to the actual broadcasting work conducted by class members as were in use last year. The budding McNames will be given opportunity for actual experience in the broadcasting studio at two times during each week, Monday from 9:10 p. m., on, and Wednesday from 8 to 9 p. m.

Programs Shorter
Mr. Riley has recently returned from a tour of the east, in which he visited numerous broadcasting stations. Station managers are unanimous, he says, in stating that radio programs are tending to become shorter.

Few hour programs are now found on station schedules, and even half hour periods are becoming less common. The 15 minute broadcast is now the most popular, but even that may be shortened.

Full plays, using the greater portion of the Wednesday broadcast hour will be presented by the class members this year, however, according to Mr. Riley. The plays will likely be accompanied by an explanation of the next in the series, he added, telling something of the history of the presentation and what the audience may expect to find within the program following.

Old time melodrama is popular at present, Mr. Riley says, and the programs for the coming year are expected to include several plays of the type.

Plan Original Work
Monday programs will be devoted to original work almost exclusively. An attempt to put on a series of stories in drama form will form the greater part of these programs, although the exact type of work done will depend largely on the class.

The class work will fall into three divisions, according to Mr. Riley's outline: speech work, such as pronunciation and articulation, organization of programs, and original work such as play writing and production. "This year's course will be better

CENTER OF LIBERAL ARTS

Housed in the liberal arts building are romance languages, speech, history, classical languages, and the office and library of the State Historical society.

Contests Will Draw Groups to University of Iowa Campus

High schools, junior colleges and community groups will meet at the University of Iowa during the next scholastic year in a series of contests, under the auspices of the extension division, in cooperation with the various departments of the university.

High school dramatists will compete for honors in a play production contest, scheduled for January. Debaters and speakers will have their inning in April, when the final meetings of the Iowa high school debating and extemporaneous speaking leagues will be held at the University of Iowa.

Graphic, Plastic Arts
A contest which will bring together groups interested in graphic and plastic arts will be held for the second year, although the date has not been definitely determined as yet. Community players will have opportunity to exhibit their work in a play production contest which has been scheduled for February.

Junior college students will meet at some date during the spring for the final contests in debate, interpretive reading and play production.

Prep Students to Meet
Iowa prep students will culminate a year of musical and scholastic work with two contests, the annual organized than last year's," Mr. Riley asserts. "The course last year was an experiment, and full equipment was not available until the second semester. We will have complete equipment with the opening of classes this year. "Although this year's class is new, I believe that the standard of programs should be better than last year."

Entrance in the course is completed through conference with the department of speech officials, in addition to a test for ability in radio broadcasting work.

state high school music festival, planned for May 4-7, and the yearly "brain derby," the Iowa academic contest, which will be held early in June to determine the best high school students in the state.

High school students will also be afforded opportunity to visit the university museum, in a series of Saturday trips, arranged for with the cooperation of the extension division and those in charge of the museum units.

Four Receive Law Awards

The rewards of academic excellence will be reaped by four law students this year, winners of scholarships in the college of law valued at $800.

James P. Kelley of LeMars received the most lucrative scholarship, the John P. Laffey stipend of $300. One worth $200, the Judge Jesse Miller fund award, was won by Harold Saks of Council Bluffs.

To Forest W. Davidson of Crawfordville and Oscar F. Whitebook of Iowa City go John F. Dillon scholarships, each worth $150.

Extension Division to Offer Club Bulletins

Under the direction of Pearl Bennett Broxam, the extension division has inaugurated a club program bulletin service.

Four bulletins, "Recent Plays," by Prof. Lee W. Sowers; "The Modern Novel," by Prof. Sam B. Sloan; "International Relations," by Prof. Jacob Van der Zee; and "Club Program Suggestions," by Miss Broxam, gram Suggestions," by Mrs. Broxam, fall.

Dentistry Grads Practice in Iowa

Half of the 2,000 graduates of the college of dentistry at the University of Iowa are now practicing in that state, according to a survey completed during the summer by faculty members in the college.

The survey also disclosed that only one other dental school had had fewer failures than Iowa during the last 20 years among graduates examined by state boards. The college has completed its forty-eighth year. Commerce College A school of commerce was established as part of the college of liberal arts Sept. 15, 1914. The college of commerce, which is the present division, was founded in 1921.

LOOK! The Only Tire Fact You Need To Know

When you read a tire advertisement that almost sweeps aside your judgment with its enthusiasm SAY TO YOURSELF:

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

When you face a sales argument that sounds good but you have no means of testing, SAY TO YOURSELF: "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

When the high pressure dealer works on you with hypnotic eye and coercive logic, SAY TO YOURSELF: "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

When you are tempted to fall for bargain claims, a long trade in, trick size comparisons, or anything else but intrinsic tire goodness, SAY TO YOURSELF:

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

Then, just for variety, ask yourself "WHY"? Why is it true that:

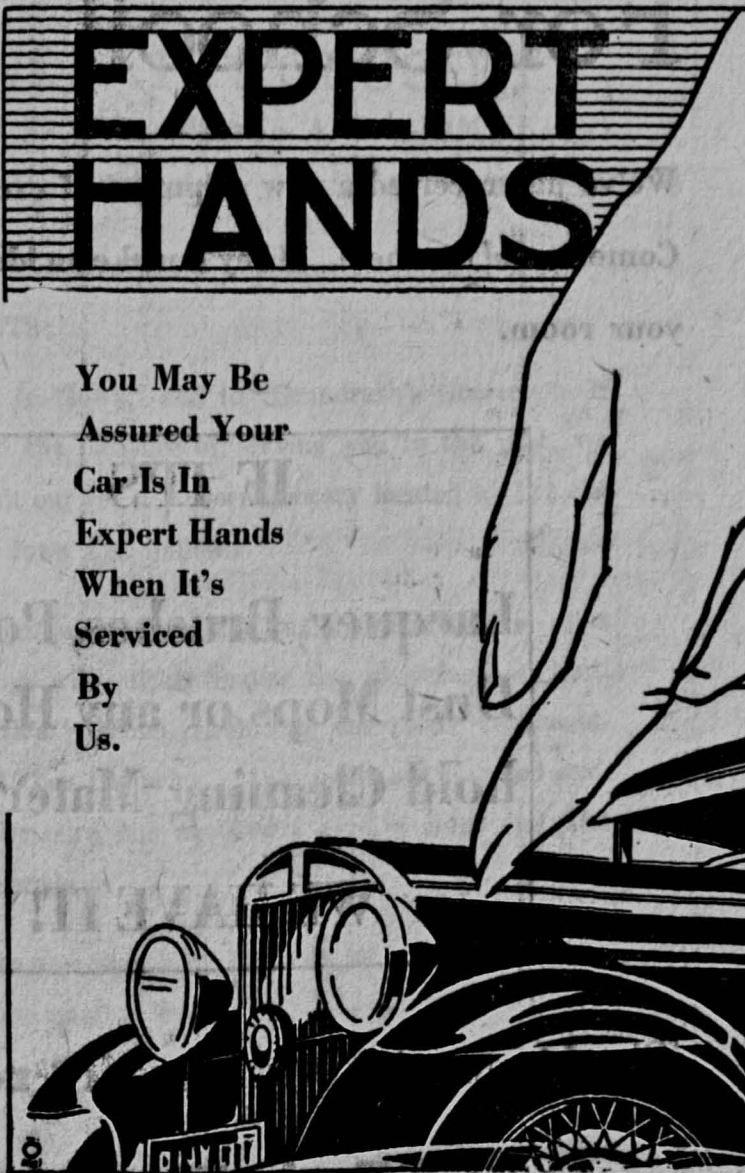

"More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

The answer lies in the fact that Goodyear has, year after year, given the public built-in quality and value which far out-weighs trick comparisons and clamorous claims.

Musicians Tune Instruments, Choristers Ease Throats as Tryouts for 3 Groups Start

Organization Directors Call for Members This Week

Oh, there's music in the air, tra-la. Yes, and there will be plenty of it with three musical organizations of the University of Iowa starting their 1931-32 activity today, tomorrow, and Saturday with tryouts at the band and music annex 1. Under the leadership of Prof. Frank Estes Kendrie, university symphony tryouts will be held starting today in music department annex 2, at Clinton street and Iowa avenue. Professor Kendrie will interview both old and prospective members of the orchestra during the next three days while rehearsing for the first appearance of the organization at vesper service Sunday evening.

Dr. O. E. Van Doren

Prof. Frank E. Kendrie

Next week the orchestra members will meet for regular rehearsals Tuesday and Thursday evenings. New and old members of the university band are requested by Dr. O. E. Van Doren, leader, to meet him at his office in the band hall sometime during the three remaining days this week. Regular rehearsals will be held all next week. Prospective members must see Dr. Van Doren before rehearsals begin. Tryouts will be completed this week.

The university chorus will be directed this year for the first time by Prof. L. H. Bierks, visiting lecturer from Nebraska State Teachers college at Kearney, Neb. The Madrigal society, organized particularly for the performance of songs by early masters, will be directed by M. Walter Huffman, visiting lecturer, who has conducted a similar organization at Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, for the last two years.

Trials for singers will be held in room 101, music annex 1, the music department main building north of Old Capitol, from Thursday to Saturday, inclusive.

An auxiliary orchestra will be conducted this year by Prof. Charles B. Righter, who will begin his second year as a member of the music department staff here. Possibilities of an auxiliary chorus are being considered.

All musical organizations on the campus appear at various times during the school year at special functions besides at vespers, concerts, and, for the band, at athletic contests.

Lantern Slide Service

Lantern slide service of the extension division provides a large number of slides especially for Iowa schools. These are divided into sets of 50 to 100, and each group accompanied by a specific descriptive lecture.

Eight Meets Scheduled in School Year

Eight conferences have been scheduled for the coming scholastic year at the University of Iowa, according to plans announced recently by the extension division, under the direction of Bruce E. Mahan.

Four of the meetings are set for the month of October. The first, the college of education conference on administration and supervision, will be called to order Oct. 1, and will convene for three days.

The second conclave will take place Oct. 9 and 10, and is planned for teacher of mathematics. A conference for teachers of science is scheduled for Oct. 22-24.

An innovation in meetings on the University of Iowa campus, under the auspices of the school of letters, will be found in the conference on creative writing, which will meet at the university Oct. 30 and 31.

Scheduled for the second semester of the academic year is a conference for teachers of history, meeting Feb. 5 and 6, which will be followed one week later by a classical conference, Feb. 12 and 13.

Those interested in fine arts will convene at the University of Iowa Feb. 19 and 20, and modern language teachers are scheduled to meet on the Iowa campus Feb. 26 and 27.

Representative Men, Women Chosen to Greet Freshmen

Committee Plans Welcome for Yearlings in Observance of Annual Week for Campus Newcomers

The city of Chicago may have its official greeter, but one person could never hope to cope with the situation arising when more than 1,000 men and women, some of them seeing a university campus for the first time in their lives, must be extended the "glad hand" in token of the friendship of the school.

To do this to advantage, a committee of more than 100 members, under the chairmanship of Betty Solomon, of Tama, will be at hand during Freshman week, begun at the time of first steps in registration and ending with the opening of classes.

Freshmen will have opportunity to meet the university heads at an assembly meeting tonight at 7:30 in Iowa Union.

To acquaint freshmen with student activities, another gathering of the entire group will be held in natural science auditorium at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The members of the committee are as follows:

Eloise Anderson, Ottumwa; Ruth Burnsted, Webster City; Ruth Barclay, Mason City; Marion Benesh, Cedar Rapids; Angelina Black, Scranton; Pearl Bartholomew, Audubon; Jean Beyer, Carroll; Louise Coast, Iowa City; Grace Corcos, Iowa City.

Felicia Cronin, Janesville, Wis.; Betty Drake, Cedar Rapids; Wilma Drake, Walnut; Betty French, Des Moines; Helen Fabricius, Davenport; Dorothy Jane Fluke, Clinton; Helen Fox, Iowa City; Marian Frahm, Davenport; Genevieve Fuller, Centerville; Marion Frey, Eagle Grove.

Carolyn Fisher, Boston, Mass.; Mary Guld, Mason City; Mary Ann Hruska, Cedar Rapids; Evelyn Hansen, Holstein; Margaret Hunter, Des Moines; Lorene Hoadley, Marble Rock.

Hard Surface Roads Lead to Iowa City

Motorists Have Many Paved Highways to Other Points

Students at Iowa who motor home over the week ends or for vacations have the advantage of hard surfaced roads which lead out of Iowa City in all directions.

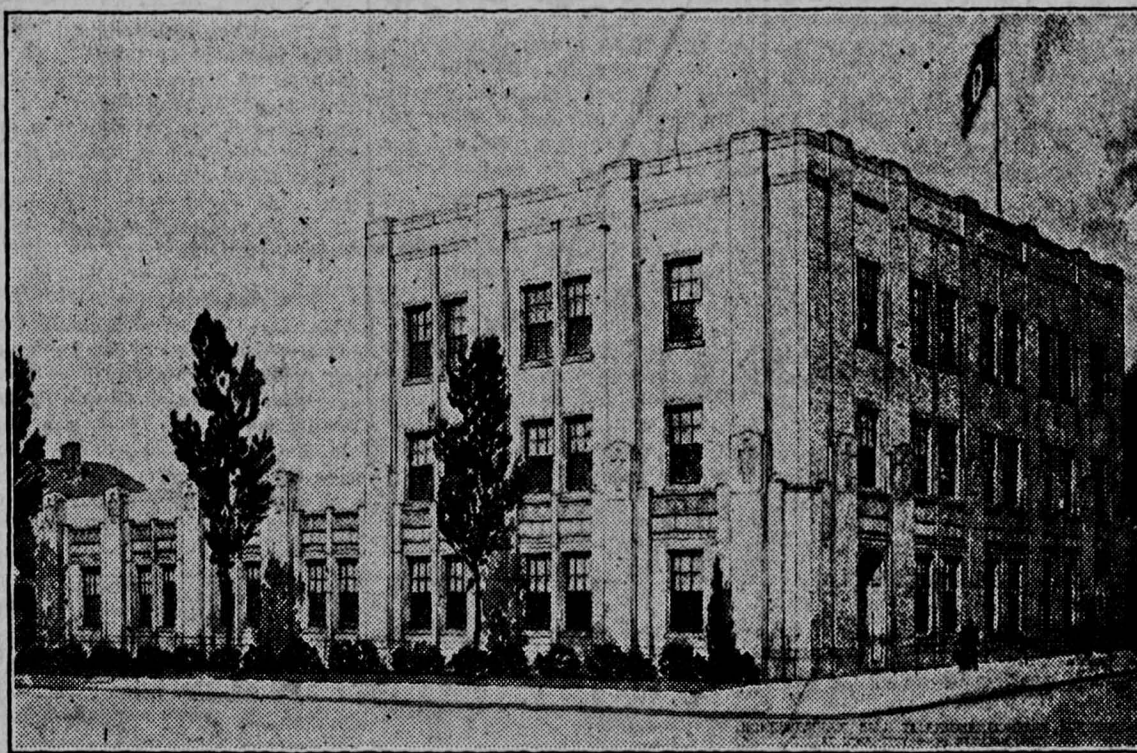

U. S. highway No. 161 which runs through the state from Keokuk to Dubuque passes through Iowa City as does U. S. highway No. 32 which leads east and west from Council Bluffs to Davenport. No. 32 is completely paved with the exception of a 12 mile stretch in Dallas county which is now being paved and will be opened up later this fall. A good gravel detour on primary road is provided. No. 161 is all pavement.

Highways No. 7 and No. 3
Two shorter highway also go through Iowa City. They are Highway No. 1, commencing at the intersection with Highway No. 32 about 21 miles east of Iowa City and Highway No. 3, 88 miles south of Iowa City. This road makes a good connection for points on U. S. highway No. 34, Highway No. 2, and Highway No. 3, and also makes a short cut to the Lincoln highway by going to West Branch and Rochester and connecting with Highway No. 38 which passes through Tipton and meets the Lincoln highway, No. 30, near Stanwood.

Highway No. 261 connects Iowa City with U. S. highway No. 161 several miles southwest of Anamosa. This road, which is all gravel, passes through Solon, Mt. Vernon, and Martelle and makes a short cut to Dubuque.

Pavement to Minneapolis
A paved highway may be had to Minneapolis, going by way of Cedar Rapids, then west on U. S. highway No. 30 to the intersection of U. S. highway No. 218 and north on that road to Floyd. From there U. S. highway No. 18 leads to Mason City where No. 65, leading through

Fire Department Will Begin Greek Letter House Inspections

Inspection for possible fire hazards in fraternity and sorority houses on the campus will start next week under direction of Fire Chief Herman Amish. Houses having fire hazards will be instructed by Chief Amish on the proper procedure to get rid of the risk.

Firemen expect to have the Greek letter houses inspected by Oct. 4, start of national fire prevention week, so that they will be able to devote their entire attention to business blocks. Some 612 buildings in city and on campus will be visited before Oct. 11.

Construction Done on Four City Buildings

Telephone Company, Hospital, School, Post Office

Four new Iowa City buildings will greet university students this fall upon their return to college. The new Roosevelt school building is completed and occupied, the post office addition is nearing completion and work of the Bell telephone dial exchange building and Mercy hospital addition is well under way.

Roosevelt School
Construction of the $40,000 Roosevelt school, located on West Benton street, was started May 5 of this year and completed Sept. 3. The building, which is of red brick, is of English Tudor architecture and will accommodate 120 students. The building is also equipped with an auditorium and a gymnasium.

Mercy Hospital Addition
This addition, the first story of which is nearly completed, was started July 21 and is expected to be entirely finished early next year. The capacity for patients will be greatly increased and provisions are being made for a chapel within the new wing with a capacity of 125 persons.

The exterior of the building, in red brick with the architecture in Gothic Roman design, is well under way. Plans for interior patients rooms have not been completed.

The hospital nurses' home has been moved to another site to make way for the new addition. The west portion of the present hospital building will be remodeled to include the nurses' home.

Post Office Addition
Improvements on the post office building, amounting to $123,000, which were started last November, will be finished and ready for occupancy about Oct. 1, according to O. Halverson, superintendent of construction. The interior work and plastering is completed and work will start this week on the laying of floors and installing of decorations.

Landscaping, installation of glasswork and doors and miscellaneous exterior work will be started soon. It

Iowa City Churches Offer Opportunities for Students Interested in Religious Work

Includes Study Clubs, Social Groups, Sunday Classes

Maintaining a prominent place in the extra-curricular activities, the churches of Iowa City offer unusual facilities, and opportunities to students interested in spiritual development and social contact.

Besides having specific classes of university students in their Sunday schools, most churches have organized study and social groups, many of them with national affiliations. Morrison club, composed of students who attend the Trinity Episcopal church, meets every Sunday evening for lectures, discussions or a social hour. In addition, a students' Sunday school class meets at a specified hour each Sunday morning.

Student Center for Baptists
Baptist students hold bi-weekly meetings at the Baptist student center, 230 N. Clinton street, and Baptist Young Peoples union meets for luncheon every Sunday afternoon at 5:30, which is followed by a business and study hour. Theta Epsilon, a national Baptist sorority, is included in the organization.

There are three Catholic churches in Iowa City, St. Wenceslaus, St. Mary's, and St. Patrick's. The weekly student mass at 9 a. m. on Sunday's is the most popular. The Newman club, an organization of Catholic students, has charge of the social activities of the younger members of the church.

Lutherans Meet Weekly
Between 75 and 100 students of the English Lutheran church are members of the Lutheran Student association, a branch of the national organization under the auspices of the church. Beside the weekly meetings, special study projects, involving three or four meetings, are held at intervals throughout the year. These meetings are under the direction of certain members of the group elected for that purpose.

Congregational student activities are under the direction of two persons, particularly qualified for the work. Francis Voss of Jewell, and Merlin Buhle of Moline, are in charge of arrangements for the coming year.

An open meeting is held every Sunday evening at 6:30 and a carefully planned program is presented during the social gatherings on alternate Saturday nights.

Rev. Lemmon Directs Presbyterians
Presbyterian students are organized in a branch of Westminster Fellowship, and meet every Sunday evening at 5:30 for Fellowship hour, and followed at 6:30 with vesper service. The activities are under the direction of the Rev. W. P. Lemon, the pastor of the church.

The local organization of the Lutheran Student Association of the Zion Lutheran church meets every Sunday evening for lunch and an hour of educational and devotional pursuits. Parties are held at intervals under the direction of the organization.

Activities of students of the Christian church are largely under the direction of the Christian Endeavor group. Fidelity Christian Endeavor will hold discussions and lecture meetings every Sunday evening. Special parties and occasional social hours vary the educational program.

Kappa Beta Chapter Here
Kappa Beta, local chapter of the national sorority of Christian church students, meets once a month. Selected speakers address the university students Sunday school class every Sunday morning at 9:30.

Fireside club is the student organization of the Unitarian church. Dances are held every Saturday night, and Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10:30. Sunday evening supper is followed by an hour's discussion meeting.

Christian Science society of the University of Iowa holds meetings twice a month in the liberal arts drawing room. These meetings are of a devotional character. Arrangements are made for the procuring of a nationally known speaker to address the members once each year in the Christian Science church.

Methodists Have Organizations
Methodist students are organized in various branches under the supervision of the Wesley Foundation, Methodist Student council, the general student club, meets once a month. Phi Tau Theta, chapter of the national fraternity, and Kappa Phi, national sorority of Methodist students, hold weekly meetings.

Epworth League meets every Sunday at 6:30 p. m. for study and a social hour, and is in charge of two parties each month. In addition, Wesley players present a series of a number of religious dramatic productions throughout the year.

Police Chief Smith Warns Students to Observe Signs

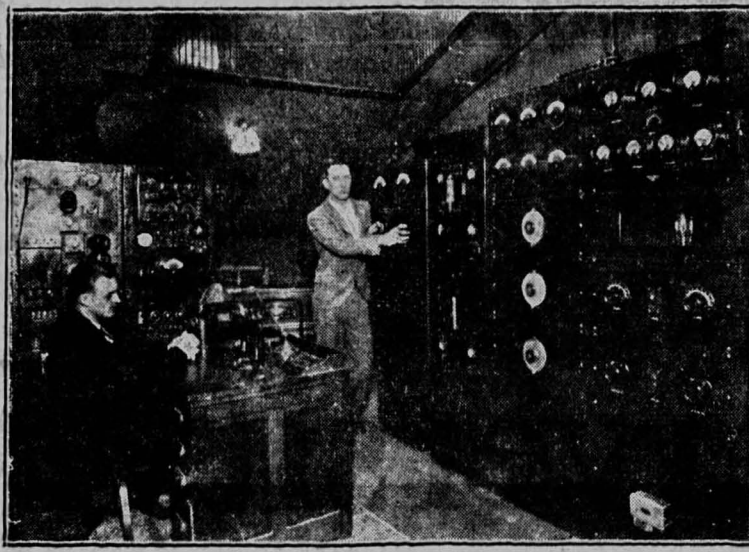

With new signs having been posted on practically all downtown streets telling length of parking time and other traffic regulations, Chief of Police Frank Smith is of the opinion that new students should have no excuse for not obeying the local rules.

In addition to the usual urban ordinances concerning speeding, passing arterial signs, and auto lights, Iowa City does not allow automobiles to be left in the streets overnight without police permission nor to be parked in alleys where they can interfere with traffic through the block.

Center parking has been adopted during the summer on many downtown streets, with time limit for angle parking in the middle of the street being 90 minutes and parallel parking along the curb 10 minutes. Drivers are not allowed to double park their cars on any streets nor are they allowed to park parallel along the curb on Clinton street in front of the campus.

Fines for disobedience of traffic rules range in Iowa City in accordance with the magnitude of the offense and the number of times the person arrested has previously faced the court. Usual fines for first offenders on violations other than speeding are $1 and costs, a total assessment of $3.95. The lowest fine for exceeding the speed limit of 15 miles per hour in the business zone and 25 miles per hour in the residential district is $5 and costs, totalling $7.95.

He "got by" for years without a good pen —but what a price he paid!

Behind the courteous consent, there frequently smolders an aversion to lending one's pen. "Since he borrowed mine, it has never been the same," is often said, but NOT of Parker Duofold. For here is a point no hand can distort. Yet it writes as easily as your breathe—with amazing Pressureless Touch.

So be careful not to borrow any other pen—avoid the risk of becoming unpopular. Better yet, stop at the nearest pen counter and pick up a Parker Duofold. Then you won't create ill will by borrowing. And you can gain good will by lending graciously.

You'll find other pens which are priced 50% higher than the Parker Duofold Jr. or Lady Duofold at $5 yet with 22% to 69% less ink capacity. You won't find any with Parker's stylish streamlined shape, jewel-like color range, Invisible Filler, and the Patented Clip, which holds the pen (or pencil) low and unexposed.

Go today and try it. Make this amazing comparison of value that is winning new thousands to Parker every day.

Iowa Host to Big Ten Harriers November 21

No Doubt About Ball Toters' Ability, Some About Linemen

Expect More Than 200 in Annual Event

First Time Five Mile Run Ever Staged at S. U. I.

Harrier's Schedule
 Sept. 21—Opening of practice.
 Oct. 10—Grinnell at Grinnell.
 Oct. 17—Indiana at Iowa City (tentative).
 Oct. 17—B team coe at Iowa City.
 Oct. 24—Notre Dame at South Bend.
 Oct. 31—Minnesota at Iowa City.
 Nov. 7—Chicago at Chicago.
 Nov. 7—B team Cornell at Mt. Vernon.
 Nov. 21—Big Ten meet at Iowa City.

For the first time in conference history Iowa will be the scene of the annual Big Ten cross country meet.

More than 200 harriers from the 10 universities in the midwest circuit are expected to vie for individual and team honors here Nov. 21.

The twenty-second renewal of the five mile race will be run over the difficult Finkbine course. The hills and dales in the course will make it a real cross country run. Part of the route winds through the university golf course.

Four Dual Meets
 In addition the Hawkeye harriers will compete in at least four dual meets. Contests have been arranged with Grinnell at Grinnell, Chicago at Chicago, Notre Dame at South Bend, and Minnesota here. Each of the teams were on last year's schedule.

Negotiations are under way to look a meet with Indiana. The Iowans have never met the Hoosiers in dual competition.

A single veteran will be missing when official practice is started Sept. 23 by Coach George T. Bresnahan. Tom Kelly of Parnell, major "T" winner and former captain, graduated last June.

List of Candidates
 Howard Wickey of Pomeroy tops the list of about 25 candidates who are expected to report. Five minor lettermen who are returning are Emil Troit of Iowa City, Lyell Vanatta of Muscatine, Stuart Skowbo of Emmetsburg.

Among the sophomore prospects are Leo Campisi of Rockford, Ill., Robert Henderson of Independence, Charles Van Epps of Iowa City, Bertram Metcalf of Davenport, and Richard Mitvalsky of Cedar Rapids. Other candidates include Frank W. Clark, Charles M. Cline, F. S. Folwell, B. E. Grape, H. R. Klewin, M. E. Naylor, Dick Parrish, Norman Roseburg, H. L. Tennant, LaRue Thurston, and Kenneth E. Voss.

The cross country team last fall came out with a 500 percentage in four dual meets. The season was opened with a triumph over Minnesota at Minneapolis. A second victory was registered over Grinnell here.

Notre Dame runners copped the following meet and Chicago the final by a single point, 23 to 29.

Grid Squad to Average 180 Pounds

Nearly half of the candidates for the University of Iowa's 1931 football team weigh between 180 and 200 pounds, while the average weight of the entire squad stands at 180 pounds.

According to the summary made by the department of athletics yesterday, more athletes are placed in the weight range of 190 to 200 pounds than in any other one division. There are 15 in this class while 12 rank between 180 and 190 pounds.

Five prospective Hawkeye grid-ders exceed the 200 pound mark. Chief of this group is Glenn L. Baker, a Davenport sophomore who will bid for a tackle post, who weighs 215 pounds and is 6 feet 4 1/2 inches tall.

Bill Rule of Boone, who will begin his intercollegiate career as a halfback candidate, has the distinction of being the smallest of the group, weighing but 145 pounds and standing only 5 feet, 6 inches in height.

Athletic Board Adds Iowa Victor in 177 of 298 Grid Games in 42 Years of Play

Gordon Locke, holder of the Big Ten grid scoring record, was appointed assistant football coach at the University of Iowa last June by the board of athletics.

Resigning his position of director of athletics at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, Ohio, Locke returns this autumn to assist Coach Burt Ingwersen in the development of the Hawkeye football team.

Locke was an assistant mentor under Ingwersen in 1925. He had previously been a member of the coaching staff here under Howard Jones in 1924 and '25.

Former All-American
 While fullback on the great Iowa eleven of 1921 and '22, Locke was chosen all-American backfield player. In establishing the scoring record of 12 touchdowns in five conference encounters, he led the Iowans to victories over Illinois, Northwestern, Minnesota, Purdue, and Ohio State.

Locke replaces Frank H. Wickhorst, former head line coach, who resigned to accept a place on the coaching staff of California university last spring.

Ingwersen embarks on his eighth year as head mentor here this fall. A nine letter athlete at the University of Illinois, he was picked all-western tackle.

One of Zuppke's Best
 Coach Bob Zuppke has rated him among the outstanding performers produced under his regime with the Illinois.

The coaching of the line will be in charge of Don Hines and "Spike" Nelson. Both are former Hawkeye football stars. Hines was a member of the teams of '23, '24, and '25. Nelson earned his honors in the campaigns of '26, '27, and '28.

Rollie Williams, head basketball coach, will continue as assistant backfield coach although with the appointment of Locke as head backfield mentor, he will have more time to devote to the cage game.

Slow Start, Fast Finish Last Autumn

Iowa Stages Comeback to Smother Lions, Cornhuskers

After a meek start the Hawkeyes wound up the 1930 football season with a rush that left Detroit, Penn State, and Nebraska crushed in their wake.

For the first time since 1899 Iowa did not play a full conference schedule. Its sole Big Ten opponent was Purdue in the Dads Day contest.

Teams from the far south, east, and southwest were among the visiting grid elevens at Iowa stadium. The ancient rivalry with the Cornhuskers were revived. Two prominent midwest outfits were engaged for the first time.

Batter Bradley, 38-12
 In what may be the last of the so-called practice games, the Hawkeyes sharpened their claws for the fall grind by booting Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., about the old Iowa field for a 38 to 12 victory. Jerry Kriz led the attack by plowing through the Tech line for two touchdowns. Other goals were scored by Lloyd Jensvold, Oliver Sansen, and Gerhard Hauge.

A rangy Oklahoma Aggie team swept out of the southwest and downed the Hawkeyes, 7 to 0, in an astounding upset. Two substitutes, a halfback and end, were inserted near the end of the game with a scoreless tie the apparent outcome. A 10 yard pass from one substitute to another slipped over the deciding goal.

Centenary Wins, 19-12
 Centenary eleven from Louisiana came out of the south with its noted air attack and defeated Iowa, 19 to 12, after trailing 12 to 0 at the half. The second period drive of the Southerners could not be stopped by the Hawkeyes. True to advance predictions their forward passes did the damage.

Another was suffered by the Old Gold grid-ders before they stepped back into stride. Long end runs of nearly three-fourths the length of the field on three occasions enabled Purdue to beat Iowa, 20 to 0, before the Dads Day throng.

Start Towards Peak
 The Hawkeyes started towards their peak in form by giving Detroit university its first grid setback in three years. Jack Warrington's 52

Imposing Array of Conference, Intersectional Opponents Stand as High Barriers to Victories This Autumn

By BILL RUTLEDGE
 (Sports Editor, The Daily Iowan)
 A bruising backfield attack and a problematical line form the vehicle Iowa will ride through a fierce schedule of four intersectional and four Big Ten contests this autumn.

There is no doubt about the Hawkeyes' touchdown-producing potentialities. With more class and finesse, plus all their former drive and power — the ball carrying combination of Randahl Hickman and Jerry Kriz as halfbacks and Capt. Oliver Sansen at fullback provide a bonecrushing offense.

This trio accounted for more than half of the total points collected by Iowa last fall. Sansen will round out his collegiate grid career this season by captaining the Hawkeye eleven. Hickman and Kriz will be playing in their junior year of competition.

The signal calling post is wide open. Bud Willer and Jim Graham have the best qualifications of all the applicants.

Line Weaknesses

Three spots in the forward wall—both ends and one tackle position—are perilously soft. There will not be a single major letter man among the candidates for those places.

Apprehension over the Hawkeye forward wall is eased by the fact that the appointment of Gordon Locke as chief backfield mentor will enable Coach Burt Ingwersen to devote most of his attention to the line.

In his playing days Ingwersen was one of the midwest's outstanding tackles. Three of the nine letters he earned at the University of Illinois were in football. The majority of famous players turned out in his regime at Iowa have been crack linemen.

Magnussen at Center

The guard posts are expected to be ably filled by Nelson Tompkins and Ed Dolly, varsity center last season. Dolly will go back to his normal job at guard with the return of Marcus Magnussen, brilliant center of the 1929 outfit that finished in a tie for fourth place in the Big Ten race.

Magnussen had been elected co-captain for the '30 team; when he was suspended from the squad for a season for disciplinary reasons.

Geographical Range

The geographical distribution of Iowa's opponents ranges from Washington, D. C. to Nebraska and from Minnesota to Texas. With the cheeriest prospect in several seasons, the Old Gold eleven is confronted with one of the most difficult schedules in many years.

The schedule parcel contains four national conflicts with the same number of conference encounters packed in between. Not a single so-called practice game is wrapped around the package.

There is no open date from the inaugural battle with Pittsburgh Oct. 3 to the season's finale against Northwestern Nov. 21.

No Open Dates

The 1931 season will be a steady onslaught against eight choice rivals. The Pitt Panthers are famed as one of the East's best. Few Southern universities can match the record of the Texas Aggies. The Wildcats, Purdue, and Minnesota stand out as leading contenders for the Big Ten title.

Indiana is hailed as a possible dark horse. George Washington university has been prominent in college football in the mid-Atlantic seaboard region. As for Nebraska — the Cornhuskers are always a strong team.

Rivalry between Iowa and Pittsburgh, Texas A. and M., and George Washington will be initiated this autumn. The championship-bound Hawkeyes of 1921 clashed with the Hoosiers in the last engagement of the season.

Before the Homecoming crowd the Hawkeyes lacerated the Nittany Lions from Penn State college, 19 to 0. Randahl Hickman, sophomore halfback starred, by ramming the Lions' line for two touchdowns. Warrington pounded eight yards off tackle for the third goal.

The Hawkeyes closed the campaign with a grand flourish of whipping the Cornhuskers in Iowa-Nebraska day attraction, 12 to 0. Hickman ran wild, accumulating a yardage record and thundering over the goal line twice for the only points of the encounter.

Major "P" Gridders

Linemen
 Edward L. Dolly, Nelson Tompkins, Marcus J. Magnussen, Lyman G. Case, James E. Dee, Alexander Rogers, Harold E. Hantelmann.

Backs
 Captain Sansen, Randahl F. Hickman, Jerome R. Kris, Elmo Nelson, James Willer.

Iowa's Travels

The travels of the Iowans will take them to Dallas Oct. 10 to perform against the Aggies at the Texas state fair. The Gophers will be their hosts at Minneapolis Oct. 24 and the Cornhuskers at Lincoln Nov. 7.

Purdue's Dads day throng will watch the Hawkeyes clash with the Boilermakers at the Ross-Ade stadium at Lafayette Nov. 14.

Among the possible solutions to the vexing end situation are Ray Story, six foot two inch minor letter winner, and Francis Merten, former captain of the gymnastic team who won a small "T" in 1929.

Problem of Ends

Another way out of the difficulty may be found in the transformation of Alex Rogers, major "T" tackle of last year, into a flankman. The same may be done with Harold Hantelmann, who has been awarded a major and minor letter in two seasons as guard.

Tom Millisack, promising line candidate, may get the call at one of the wing posts. Additional prospects include Gene Clearman, Albert Sampson, and Julius Carry, who are coming up for their second varsity tryouts.

Although Bud Willer, senior speedster, ranks as the best bet for quarterback, four sophomores appear as possibilities — Bennie Shine, Paul Armstrong, Phil Thurlie, and Orville Pickering.

Nelson Blocking Half

Elmo Nelson, three sport star, is certain to see his share of action as a blocking halfback. Last year he was on the list of major letter winners in football.

Added timber for the line takes in Jim Dee, Austin Akin, Sam Meltzer, Tullio Dellavedova, Joe Woodka, and Red Carver.

Miscellaneous prospects are John O'Leary, Glenn Baker, Bill Rule, Godfrey Slavik, Joe Laws, Carroll Thornburg, McQuern, Hannes, Wilson, and Malone.

Hard physical work has been the means by most of the prospective candidates have kept trim during the summer.

Summer Occupations

Captain Sansen, who took up house painting while in high school, has been wielding the brush preparatory to the beginning of grid practice. Clearman has been engaged in the same occupation.

Magnussen has been attending summer school to put the finishing touches on his scholastic standing. Willer has been lugging crates and boxes around in a wholesale grocery house at Quincy, Ill.

Red Grange's shoulder strengthening job of carrying ice has been followed by Dolly at Rock Island and Hantelmann at Dubuque.

Edge in Practices

Iowa's first two adversaries will have a decided advantage in pre-season practices. The Panthers will work out in their Allegheny mountain camp near Windber, Pa., eight days before official training opens here.

The Texans have a full month of training in which to gird themselves for Iowa's invasion of the lone star state. The Aggies first report at their stadium at College Station Sept. 10.

The date for first practices are fixed by the Big Ten for conference universities.

Major "P" Gridders

Linemen
 Edward L. Dolly, Nelson Tompkins, Marcus J. Magnussen, Lyman G. Case, James E. Dee, Alexander Rogers, Harold E. Hantelmann.

Seven States Send Players to Grid Squad

30 Iowa Communities Furnish Hawkeye Prospects

From more than 30 Iowa cities and towns and from communities in seven states will come prospective candidates for the 1931 Hawkeye football squad.

All sections of the state will be represented as practice gets under way. Iowa City, Cedar Rapids, Grinnell and Dubuque will have the largest delegations.

Iowa City has Clearman, Sampson, Masden and Vestermark. Cedar Rapids sends Jerry Kriz, backfield star of last year, Greedy, and Slavik. Dubuque's probable representatives are Story, prospective end, Orvis, and Hantelmann. Case, reserve center last season, Swaney and Jantzen hall from Grinnell.

Davenport Represented
A prospective end and a line prospect, Merten and Baker, hall from Davenport. Two men come from Des Moines, Fisher and Malone being its contributions. Reese and Radloff are residents of Marshalltown.

After a season of inactivity, Marcus Magnussen will once more return to strengthen the Hawkeye line at the center post. He comes from Clinton. Millsack and Della Vedova, two of last year's reserves, both are Ottumwans.

Shine, one of the hopes to fill the quarterback post, and Carver are Spencer men. Tompkins, a regular guard on the 1930 eleven, and Pes-

Others Probably Represented
The following Iowa communities are represented with one man each: Waterloo, Graham; Perry, Bryant; Colfax, Law; Charles City, Leek; Osceola, McQuern; Muscatine, Meltzer; Larchwood, Feay; Reinbeck, Ferguson; Alta, Captain elect Oliver Sansen; Clearfield, Elmo Nelson; Washta, Adams; Nevada, Barber; Chariton, Wendell Hickman; Center Point, Kouba; Oelwein, Pickering; Boone, Rule; Mason City, Thurlie; Iowa Falls, Trickey; Cherokee, O'Leary; Council Bluffs, Hannes; Vinton, Wilson; and Decorah, Samuelson.

.604 Record of Ingwersen Grid Teams

1924-30 Regime Shows 32 Games Won, 17 Lost, 3 Tied

Starting the football season last fall with a win and three straight defeats the Hawkeye football record of Coach Burton A. Ingwersen in his seven years as a University of Iowa coach seemed to be doomed to go tumbling down near to the .500 mark in percentage of games won and lost.

But the Old Gold machine rallied to win three of their remaining four contests and break even with four won and four lost for the 1930 season.

The all-time record for Ingwersen's teams now stands at 32 games won, 21 lost and three tied for a percentage rating of .604.

11 Big Ten Victories
Of these 32 victories, 11 of them came when Ingwersen coached teams defeated Big Ten rivals. Seventeen of their defeats, though, ably be represented, Illinois leads with three representatives, Ed Dolly, varsity center last year, Rock Island; James Willer, quarterback prospect, Quincy; and Armstrong, Chicago being its candidates.

California sends Hart, Los Angeles; Indiana, Woodka, South Bend; Colorado, Stutsman, Greeley; Louisiana, Akin, Haynesville; Mississippi, Rogers, Florence; and South Dakota, Dee, Huron.

have come at the hands of their conference opponents. Iowa met only one Big Ten opponent in the 1930 season and that one, Purdue, defeated the Old Gold warriors in the Homecoming game. The Big Ten average of the Hawkeyes is .393.

Prior to last fall, but one non-conference team had been able to defeat an Ingwersen eleven. That defeat came when the only Old Gold grid team to go to the west coast met Southern California on their home grounds in 1925. But last fall Iowa lost to three more non-conference schools, namely, Oklahoma A. and M., Centenary of Shreveport, La., and Marquette university of Milwaukee.

In 1924 Finish Second

During the period of 1924-1930 Hawkeye teams have had some notably good years and then again bad ones. The first year of the Ingwersen regime saw Iowa finish their Big Ten schedule in second place. Then again in the lean years of 1926 and 1927, at which time the Iowa coach had only green material from which to build a team, Iowa went down before conference teams nine times while winning one lone game.

The next year, 1928, Iowa won the Big Ten title—that is, under the rating system of Professor Dickinson of Illinois. At that time the Hawkeyes ended up in a tie for fourth place with Ohio State according to the percentage way of figuring.

Places Players on "All" Teams
Coach Ingwersen has developed a number of players during his time as a coach here that have been selected on "all" teams of various sorts. These are: Bill Glasgow, all-American halfback, 1929, and winner of the Chicago Tribune most valuable player award; Leland Par-

Hawkeye Gridders Will Wear Double Numbers This Fall

"Who is the big fellow who stopped that play?" "Boy, that man surely can run! Who is he?"

Such questions have been frequently asked at Iowa football games in the past and inevitably the answer has been "Wait until he turns around so I can see his number."

That day is now gone. Hawkeye gridders this fall will wear identification numbers on both the front and back of their jerseys according to the announcement of Coach Burton A. Ingwersen.

This plan follows the recommendation made by Big Ten coaches at their last meeting. Many Old Gold opponents have worn the double numbers in recent years, but the idea is a new one here.

Ranked With Best

Their 1931 performances in track and field competition won for Ed Gordon, L. D. Weidon, and Elmo Nelson ranking in the publication of the Athletic Amateur Union.

Enrollment Breaks Record

Enrollment of 161 men from 14 states in graduate study in athletic and physical education set a new summer registration mark.

kin, all-conference quarterback, 1924; Emerson "Spike" Nelson, all-western tackle, 1926, and at present assistant Hawkeye coach; Pete Westra, all-conference guard, 1923.

Richard E. Romey, all-conference end, 1925; Lowell Otte, all-western end, 1924; Richard Brown, all-conference center, 1928; and Fred Roberts, all-western guard, 1929.

83 Per Cent of Grid Squad Native Iowans

Eighty-three per cent of the members of the 1931 University of Iowa football squad are natives of this state, a scrutiny of the roster discloses.

Fifty of the 65 candidates for the forty-third Hawkeye grid machine first saw the light of day in Iowa, while the other 15 were born in nine states and Canada.

Ed Dolly, Illinois; Al Rogers, Arkansas; and Bud Willer, Illinois, are the three major letter men who are not Iowans. Eight minor letter winners are Iowans of the state, Austin Akin, Louisiana; Jim Hart, Canada; Sam Meltzer, Illinois; and Ray Story, Nebraska.

Neither of the giant Foster boys, who completed their high school grid careers at Davenport, are natives, Jerry, the 220 pound tackle prospect, was born in Michigan, and Bill, 195 pound line hope, in Alabama.

Other athletes born in states other than Iowa are: Glen Baker, 215 pound tackle of Davenport, Wisconsin; Art Hannes, Council Bluffs end, Washington; John O'Leary, Cherokee halfback, Kentucky, and Philip Thurlie, Mason City quarter, Illinois.

Iowa Abandons Old Football Field; All Contests in Stadium

The historic Iowa field will be abandoned for football games this year, it has been announced by the athletic department.

Hereafter all contests will be staged in the new stadium.

The stadium was formally dedicated at the Iowa-Illinois encounter in 1929. It will be the scene of conflicts with Indiana, George Washington university, and Northwestern this fall.

Stage All-University Boxing Tournament

An all-university boxing tournament is held every spring by the athletic department. Last year's fistfight meet was held April 14 at the field house.

Intramural championships were won by Elliott Duane, who scored the only knockout of the tourney. Lester Gilek, Rudy Bolte, Alfred Bell and Don Fry.

Seven Grid Seniors

Seven seniors are among the 12 returning lettermen to the Hawkeye football squad this fall. They are Capt. Oliver Sanson, Nelson Tompkins, Marcus Magnussen, Elmo Nelson, Lyman Case, Harold Hantelmann, and James Willer.

Pro Football Attracts 11 Stars of Past

Eleven former Hawkeye football luminaries will play in the national grid circuit this fall.

Willis Glasgow, Iowa all-American halfback in 1929 was sold by the Portsmouth, O., Spartans to the Chicago Cardinals last summer.

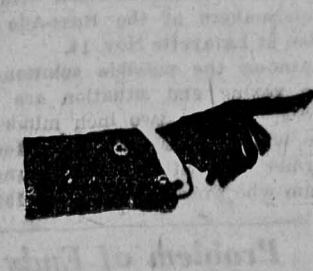

The former Old Gold captain starred with the Spartans last fall.

Fred "Duke" Slater, huge Negro tackle of the 1921 championship eleven, begins his eleventh season this autumn in the pro game with the Cards.

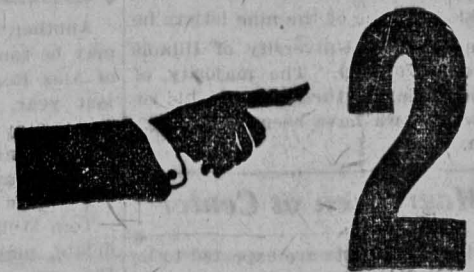

Other grid professionals are Dick Brown, center and captain in 1923; Fred Roberts, outstanding guard who finished competition in '26; Paul Armil, quarterback; Mayes McLain, fullback; Pete Westra, tackle; and Oran "Nanny" Pape, halfback.

Late in the summer the Chicago Bears pro outfit secured the services of Leo Jensvold, hard driving halfback star of the 1930 eleven. The Emmetsburg gridders spent the summer working with a road paving crew near his home.

Denny Myers, regular guard on the 1929 Hawkeye team, also signed up with the Bears. His home is at Algona.

Iowa's sophomore basketball quintet won two of its 12 Big Ten contests in the race last season. Further development of sophs coupled with a fine group of newcomers to the squad are expected to give the Hawkeyes a vastly better quintet in the 1931-32 marathon.

The outstanding player in the autumn outlook appears to be Alex Rogers, high scorer and regular center of the 1930-31 outfit.

Jack Kotlow, with one season of experience, should provide the Old Gold five with added scoring strength. Charles Williamson, reserve forward, will be back.

Spill Boiler-makers
The two Iowa victories were among the most spectacular upsets of the conference cage season. The highly touted Purdue team was the first victim. The Hawkeyes flashed by far their best performance of the race to down the Boiler-makers by 30 to 15.

The second triumph came on a pair of free throws by Williamson on a foul called as the gun went off. His two gratis points made the score 18 to 16.

The Hawkeyes split even in their four pre-season encounters, losing to St. Louis university and Bradley

Tech, and whipping Creighton and Drake.

This Season's Sophs
Two Iowa City candidates rank among the best of the sophomores for this winter's team. They are Lester Glick and Harold Moffitt. G. C. Krumholz of Davenport showed promise in yearling practices.

Other numeral winners were M. S. Adler of Des Moines, R. L. Boyd of Fargo, N. D., E. F. Break of Chicago, P. W. Thurtle of Mason City, H. J. Swaney of Grinnell, C. R. Roberts of Durand, Ill., Selzer of Passaic, N. J., Dangremond of Chicago, R. A. Grantz of Moline, Ill., P. K. Jantzen of Grinnell, Mathes of Iowa City, B. A. Page of Newton, L. F. Peterson of Sioux City, J. A. Rolleston of Perry, and I. M. Lieberman of Sioux City.

Mike Riegert, sophomore regular of last season was declared ineligible by the university registrar last summer for low grades.

Returning Lettermen to Bolster Hawkeye Mat Team This Year

With most of the leading wrestlers of last season back, an unusually good mat squad is the prospect for this year.

Loren Poyner, 1930 captain, in the 165 pound class tops the prospects. Claude Peer, major letter winner in the 126 pound division will be back although it is doubtful if he can make his last season's weight. He will probably wrestle as a 135 pounder.

Dull at 145 pounds will strengthen the team. Al Coons, who appeared in several matches in the 145 pound class, is returning.

Freshmen who won their matches in the annual yearling tourney for numerals were Virgadama, Montgomery, Cassill, Liberman, Orvis, Giovanni, Neiger, and Dofflito.

Swimmers to Rely on Presler, Lobdell This Year

The greater part of the University of Iowa 1932 swimming hopes lies in the abilities of two men, Wentworth Lobdell, 1931 captain who enters his last season of intercollegiate competition, and Francis Presler, freshman flash of last year.

In Lobdell, Coach David A. Armbruster has developed one of the most consistent point earners to ever don an Iowa suit. In his sophomore year Lobdell won the fancy diving title of the Western conference and in the Mid-western A.A.U. meet, in addition to coping second in the national swim carnival.

Lobdell Defends Title
Last season he successfully defended his conference title, but broke his wrist in doing so. This kept him out of the national meet. One bad dive spoiled his chance of again winning in the mid-western when he finished as runner-up to Richard Fleig of Des Moines.

Presler, following his first year in the university, entered the mid-western meet and pushed Boyd Liddle, former Hawkeye ace and title-holder in the 100 meter and 440 yard free style races, to finish in the runner-up position in both of these events.

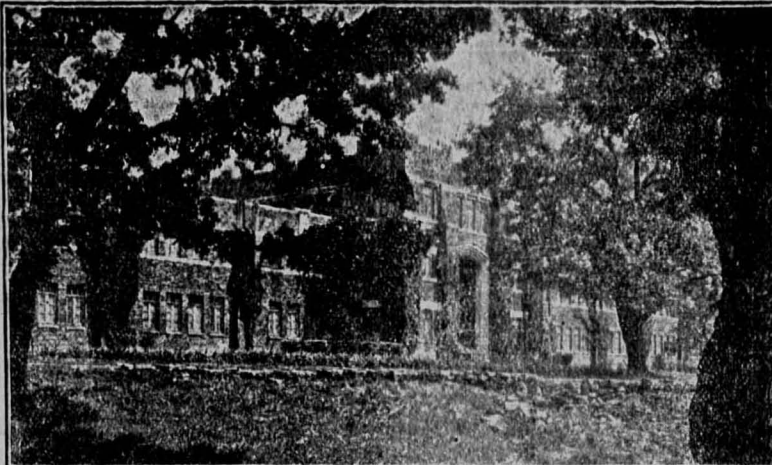

Naylor, a steady competitor in the relay and free style events last winter, will again be back. Jack McGuire is another experienced tankster.

Evans Graduates
Rowland Evans, breast stroker on the varsity for two seasons, was lost by graduation. Both this post and that of back stroke will have to be filled from last year's freshman and reserve candidates.

The Old Gold pool is one of the largest indoor pools in the United States, measuring 150 by 60 feet. Plans are being made to install a turning board at the 75 foot mark in the pool, thus providing the Hawkeye swimmers with three different courses, the regular 60 foot lanes, the 100 foot courses and the new 75 foot distance which is rapidly becoming popular in Big Ten competition.

Summer School Courses
Courses in physical education—embracing such subjects as public school physical education, public play grounds, and administration of physical education and athletics—were given in the summer sessions by the university department of athletics.

700 MEN LIVE AT "QUAD"

The quadrangle, residence of 700 men at the University of Iowa, is built of brick and stone. Single and double rooms are equipped with water, telephone connections, cots and furniture.

Tennis Team to Depend on Six Veterans

With all but one of the varsity men of last year returning, and with the addition of several outstanding freshman, prospects for University of Iowa tennis team for 1932 appear good.

The only man lost to the squad by graduation is Wallace. Coach Ernest G. Schroeder will depend mostly upon the services of Captain-elect Ronald Reddig, Walter Theiss, Thomas, Kern, Kruse and Amundsen.

Reddig, Theiss Return
Reddig and Theiss, the Hawkeye's No. 1 doubles combination last spring acquired additional competitive experience this summer.

The Davenport netster was a member of the championship doubles team in the University of Iowa's first Mississippi Valley tournament last summer. He also made a good showing in the singles, Theiss was the only unseeded player to reach the quarter-finals of the singles event.

Thomas to Play
Thomas, who was captain of the 1931 team and No. 1 blaver, has another season of competition. He will be banked upon to a large extent because of his experience. Kruse was another member of last year's squad who won a great share of his battles.

Kern, a sophomore last year, will return to the Old Gold with two years yet to play. Although inexperienced to some extent in university play, he is a dependable player. Before entering the university he was winner in a Miami Beach tournament and took part in many other meets.

Don Amundsen filled the breach

Hammer Thrower, Trackster, Baseball Player Get M. A.'s

Two Iowa athletes were graduated at the convocation for the second summer school session and three former athletic luminaries were given advanced degrees.

Vernon W. Lapp, who holds the university hammer throw record which still stands; Harold J. Rath, baseball outfielder, and Francis O. Wilcox, former broadjumper, received masters degrees.

Gerhard Hauge, blocking halfback of last season grid team, and L. D. Weldon, one of the nation's outstanding javelin hurlers, graduated.

several times last year as a reserve and will receive considerable attention next spring. Among the freshman possibilities, George Kinaman stands out.

Iowa Track Men Fourth in N. C. A. A.

Nelson Cops Second in Javelin; Gordon Triumphs

Five Hawkeye performers flashed their ability before a stunned array of track and field artists from all parts of the United States, upsetting all predictions to score 261.7 points and taking fourth place in the annual N.C.A.A. meet which was held in Chicago last June.

Scoring one of the biggest surprises of the year, Elmo Nelson, Iowa's outstanding three letter athlete, hurled the javelin the farthest distance of his career to win second and eight points for his team. His throw of 291 feet and 3.4 inch came after just a week of practice following the close of the baseball season.

Weldon Gets Fourth
L. D. Weldon, considered one of the favorites in the meet to push Kenneth Churchill of California university, had to be satisfied with fourth place. His heave was good for 133 feet six inches.

Eddie Gordon, the Old Gold's premier broad-jumper and Olympic performer, in his last appearance in the Hawkeye colors, led the attack of the Iowa squad with 101.7 points. His jump of 24 feet 11.2 inches was easily the best in his specialty. He garnered a seventh of a point in the high jump. His leap of 6 feet 1 inch tied with seven others for six place.

Weight Men Score
The rest of the Iowa points were counted in the weight events. Wesley Youngerman threw the hammer 144 feet 1 inch for a fifth place in that event and picked up sixth place in the discus with a toss of 135 feet 3.2 inches. Mathies placed sixth in the hammer with 135 feet 4.2 inches.

Bresnahan's men ranked behind Southern California, Ohio State and Illinois in the final results of the meet. Behind Iowa in fifth place came Indiana, then Wisconsin, and Michigan in seventh.

Warrington Ineligible
John Warrington of Estherville, reserve halfback of last season, was declared ineligible by the athletic board last summer for two years of athletic competition at Estherville junior college. Warrington dashed 60 yards to a touchdown against Detroit last fall to give Iowa a 7-3 victory.

Track Coach

George T. Bresnahan is Iowa's coach of indoor and outdoor track as well as cross country. His teams have invariably rated with the best in the Big Ten.

8 Major "I" Candidates on Weight Squad

An impressive record behind them, Iowa's weight squad this year is looking forward to prospects surpassing even those seasons which have placed the Hawkeyes first among schools winning weight places in the National Intercollegiate meet and third in points scored.

Eight major letter winners and one minor "I" man will form a nucleus for next year's team. Among them W. J. Youngerman, James O. Hart, and E. C. Mathies have placed in the hammer throw during a national meet, and Youngerman has scored in the discus. Elmo Nelson, another letter winner, took second place in last year's javelin throw at the national meet.

Nelson is one of the few in the Midwest who has exceeded 200 feet in the javelin throw. Nine men are expected to return this year who have already passed the 130 foot mark in the hammer throw.

Several promising freshmen complete 1932 prospects. Hawkeye weight men developed at the university last year are the last to train under the supervision of Thomas E. Martin who acted as part time track assistant for seven years.

Williams Runs Camp

Coach Rollie Williams spent the summer as joint operator of a summer camp for boys near Woodruff, Wis. For the last 10 years he has assisted in managing the Red Arrow camp.

Iowa Stages First Valley Net Tourney

May Develop Into One of Leading Meets in Middlewest

The University of Iowa board in control of athletics staged its first Iowa Mississippi Valley tennis tournament on the Hawkeye courts from July 29, through to and including Aug. 1.

Far beyond the hopes of its sponsors, the meet attracted some 50 net stars from Iowa and Illinois, in addition to a star from the far west, Mary O'Malley, Los Angeles. Following the auspicious start, tournament officials have predicted that within a few years the tournament will develop into one of the Midwest's leading net carnivals.

Merle Robins Ranking Player
Leading the list of stars and at the top of the seven seeded players, was Merle Robins, state champion in 1930, and prominent in Iowa tennis circles, Ted Swenson, Iowa's newly appointed assistant track coach and former university star who has been coaching in the high school at Scotts Bluff, Neb., was ranked next to Robins.

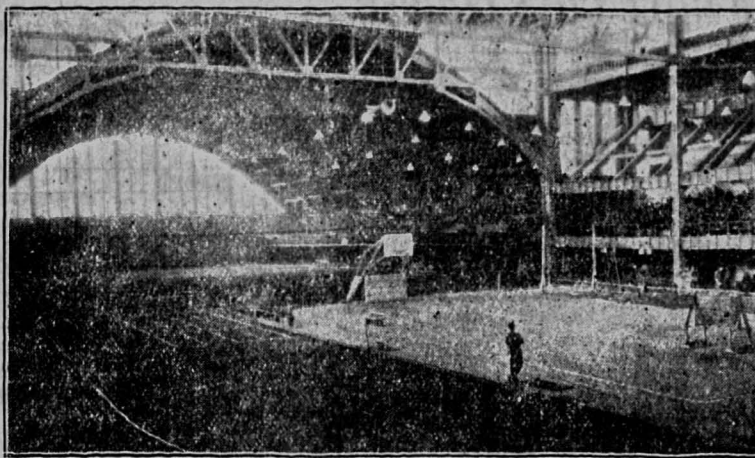

Bert Riel, former captain of the basketball and tennis teams at Northwestern university, was seeded No. 3. Behind him in the No. 4 position came Robert Chaffee, former university net luminary who now resides in New York city.

Ronald Reddig Seeded
Ronald Reddig, Davenport, captain elect of the Old Gold racketeers for the coming season, ranked No. 5. Bob Conrad, former Hawkeye star and at present a senior law student in the university, ranked in sixth place in the seeding. George Struble, Toledo, was No. 7 man.

Robins was easily the victor in the men's singles, winning all of his matches in straight sets except for a third round match with Dick Goepel of Rock Island and his final match with Riel.

Theiss Makes Good Showing
One of the surprises of the tournament was the showing of Walter Theiss, Cedar Rapids, a former Iowa star, who was the only unseeded player to advance into the quarterfinals. Stubble pulled another surprise in the singles when he easily conquered Ted Swenson in the quarterfinals. One of the those who had been expected to make a good showing was the University of Illinois' tennis coach, Gelwick, but he fell by the wayside early in the play.

Goepel and Reddig paired up in the doubles and disposed of all of their earlier opponents with comparative ease. The big surprise of the tournament was when they went into the finals and, after dropping the second set, came back to defeat Robins and Dick Boyles, a former university racketeer, the pretourney favorites. Another team that made a good showing was that of Theiss and Struble.

California Star Enters

In the women's singles, an event that the tourney officials expect to enlarge upon for next year's meet, Mary O'Malley, Los Angeles, won her way to the finals without much effort. At that stage of the play, though, she found her first real competition when she met Ellen Poe, Cedar Rapids girl. The California woman was forced to three sets by her youthful opponent to finally win the title.

For the next 'Sippi Valley meet plans are going forward to enlarge the tournament and possibly include a Junior singles event. Probably women's doubles will be included. The meet has all the possibilities of developing into a tournament of a sufficient size to even outshine the state tournament.

Trophy cups were awarded to winners and runners-up in each of the three events, men's singles and doubles, and women's singles. Traveling trophies were awarded to the winners in both men's singles and doubles. To acquire permanent possession of one of these trophies one must win the event three times.

Bresnahan Appointed President of National Coaches Association

At the same time as his University of Iowa tracksters were annexing fourth place in the N.C.A.A. track and field carnival in June, Coach George T. Bresnahan reached another high point in his career as a nationally known track coach when he was elected to the presidency of the National Collegiate Track Coaches association.

Coach Bresnahan, also a member of the all-American track board, has served 10 years on the Hawkeye coaching staff.

As a result of his election, Bresnahan has fallen below sixth place among the 70 to 80 universities and colleges that participate in the meet every year. In 1930 and 1921 his teams have finished in third place and in 1923 they were in a tie for this position.

Rath Gets Position as Athletic Coach in Cleveland School

Harold "Lefty" Rath has been appointed instructor of physical education at the Collinwood junior high school in Cleveland, Ohio.

Rath was a former star fielder on the Hawkeye baseball team, ending his competition in 1930. He is a graduate of the four year course in physical education and athletic coaching. Last summer he received his master of arts degree in the department.

More than 4,000 colored posters bearing the Hawkeye football schedule were distributed this summer by Business Manager Charles S. Gallher.

Make Many Alterations in Iowa Course

Build Several Additional Greens; Lengthen Golf Links

Finkbine field, the University of Iowa's eighteen hole golf course, has been improved and lengthened and is now one of the longest golf courses in the Big Ten.

The building of three new greens increased the length of the course from 6,630 yards to 6,650 yards. Coach Charles Kennett now believes that he has one of the toughest par courses to be had.

Roddy Holds Record
Par on the layout, 72, has been beaten only once by an amateur. George Roddy, stellar Negro performer for several years on the varsity squad, last year set a course record of 71.

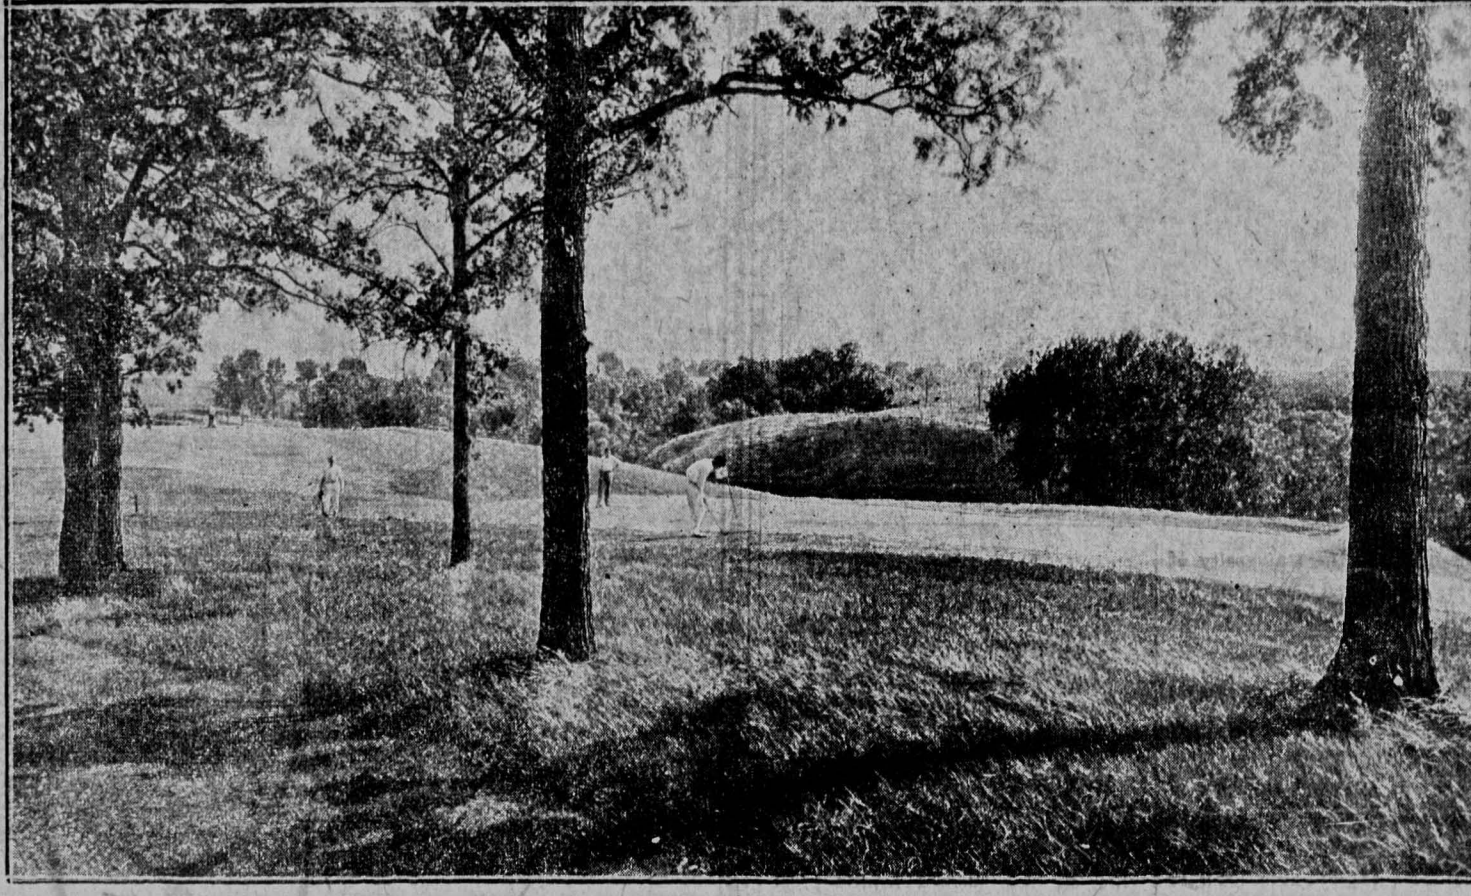

Through the summer months improvement work has been steadily carried on. Several additional greens are being built. Kennett is also making plans for a club house at the center of the course, which will be delayed until after the completion of the entrance arch which is to be erected to the memory of the late William O. Finkbine, donor of the field.

New Lockers, Showers
Club house facilities were improved somewhat last year with the addition of a locker and shower building for varsity and freshman golfers and physical education students.

Coach Kennett loses two of his outstanding last year squad members through graduation. Marc Stewart, the only undefeated Hawkeye in 1931, and George Roddy, one of the greatest golfers ever developed here, will not return.

The returning men Kennett will

GLIMPSE OF UNIVERSITY'S 18 HOLE GOLF COURSE

The many improvements made on Finkbine field this summer have made the 18 hole university course one of the largest and finest among middlewest universities. The scene above pictures a group of golfers playing. The field was named in honor of its donor, the late William Finkbine. Regular instruction in golf is offered by the department of physical education.

Capt. Bill Glasgow counted the Iowans' goal in the first play from scrimmage.

Two additional draws resulted in games with Ohio State in 1924 and with Michigan in 1929. Both outcomes were scoreless ties.

In the old rivalry between Iowa and Nebraska there were three ties. Between 1905 and 1924 not a single tie score was written into the Hawkeye record books.

The new stadium was dedicated with a 7-7 tie with Illinois in 1929.

Slim Margins Feature Iowa Grid Records

Slimness of margins in victory and defeat has featured 19 of the 53 University of Iowa football games in the last seven years, a survey of the scores show.

From one to seven points have been the margin in 10 of the 21 losses and nine of the 32 victories. One point and a two point triumphs were registered over Minnesota by the Hawkeyes in 1928 by 7 to 6 and in 1929 by 9 to 7.

Nick Kutsch's two runs totalling 75 yards enabled Iowa to lick Illinois by 12 to 10 in 1925. Red Grange had taken the opening kickoff and gone for a touchdown.

A five yard run by Leo Jensvold gave the Old Gold eleven a 12 to 7 win over Nebraska last fall. Other close victories were those over Ohio State by 14 to 7 in 1928, over Michigan by 9 to 2 in 1924, and over Detroit by 7 to 3 last fall.

A touchdown and a point after touchdown has been the margin by which Iowa lost six games since 1925. Two contests were lost by a goal margin. Michigan downed the Hawkeyes in 1928 by a field goal 19 to 7. Ohio State edged out a 7 to 6 decision in 1929.

Weldon, Nelson Win Places
L. D. Weldon and Elmo Nelson placed second and third respectively in the javelin throw at the National A. A. U. meet at Lincoln, Neb., last summer. Nelson also took third in the junior division of the event.

Armbruster Gets M.A.
Coach David A. Armbruster, Hawkeye swimming coach, was awarded a master's degree at the second summer session convocation exercises. He is the only Iowa mentor to have an advanced degree.

Iowa Coach Third Oldest in Conference

Coach Burt Ingwersen observed his thirty-third birthday Aug. 29. For several seasons he was one of the youngest head mentors in the conference. His tenure of coaching at Iowa is surpassed only by that of Alonzo A. Stagg of the University of Chicago and Robert Zuppke of the University of Illinois.

Ingwersen was born at Fulton, Ill. and spent most of his boyhood there. He attended Clinton high school and played four years on the prep eleven at tackle.

At Illinois he held down a tackle berth for three seasons. His senior year he was chosen all-western tackle. After four years as assistant football coach with the Illinois, Ingwersen came to Iowa to succeed Howard Jones as head mentor here.

Ed Gordon, Hawkeye broad jumper, placed second in his specialty at the National A. A. U. track and field meet at Lincoln, Neb., last summer. His leap was 24 feet, 13 inches. A monument has been erected to K. L. Anderson, last vice-president of the Texas republic, at the town of Anderson.
