JAPAN RESISTS DIPLOMATIC OFFERS

City's Nurse Quits Post as V. N. A. Head

No Successor Named by Board; Carroll to Call Meeting

By BENNETT BURKE
Resignation of Marcella McInerney from the position of supervisor of the Visiting Nurses association was received and accepted by the Visiting Nurses board last night at the regular monthly meeting. No successor to the supervisorship was appointed, but the meeting adjourned subject to call by the president of the board, Mayor J. J. Carroll.

Controversy Started in May Last May 19 Miss McInerney discharged two nurses and a secretary. This action brought a reprimand from E. H. Lauer, financial secretary of the welfare board, with the statement that he would not advance further funds from the community chest to the nurses until such matters of policy as the hiring and firing of personnel had been directly taken charge of by the board rather than left to the supervisor.

Census Bureau's Summary Shows Role of Each Iowan in State Financial Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—How every Iowan plays a part in the bookkeeping of his state is shown in the federal census bureau's summary of Iowa financial statistics released today.

Covering the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, the report reveals that every one of the 2,469,000 residents of Iowa paid $9.66 for operation and maintenance of the general departments of the state.

Comparisons
This compares with a per capita expenditure of $10.19 for this purpose in 1929 and $4.53 in 1918.

Revenue averaged $17.95 for each person. Also, the per capita property and special taxes collected were $4.92 in 1930, $4.43 in 1929, and $2.85 in 1918.

On the other hand, the net indebtedness, including the fixed debt less sinking fund assets, was $5.75 for each person in Iowa in 1930, as against $6.68 in 1929 and only $0.05 in 1918.

State Taxes
State taxes collected from the average Iowan in 1930 aggregated $4.76, compared to $3.89 in 1929 and $3.34 in 1918.

Of the total revenue receipts, $44,313,356, half came from taxes extracted from insurance and other incorporated companies, cigarette tax, gasoline sales tax, and motor vehicle and hunting and fishing taxes, as well as similar business and nonbusiness licenses.

The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $5,818,602 in 1930, and $4,931,900 in 1929, an increase of 18 per cent. The total fixed debt outstanding June 30, 1930, was $15,801,000. The taxable valuation of property subject to ad valorem taxation was $1,471,099,295, and the amount of state taxes collected was $11,755,546.

Operation, Maintenance
The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Iowa amounted to $23,844,799. This includes $838,540 as apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the state.

The total payments for operation and maintenance of general departments, interest, and outlays were $44,992,271. Of these governmental costs, about half, $22,456,946, was for highways, construction consuming $18,717,900 of the latter amount.

Show Must Go On; Wife of Crash Victim Continues Act

BETTY LUND and FREDDIE LUND.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 13 (AP)—The decision of Betty Lund, famous barnstorming aviatrix of Troy, Ohio, to take part in the program of the all-Southern aircraft pageant at Charlotte, despite the fact that she was widowed by an air crash only a few days ago, is a manifestation of the fact that a tradition of the stage and circus has been adopted by aviation.

"The show must go on" is a phrase familiar to everyone who has any knowledge of flightlights and its satellite, the "big top." Come weal or woe, birth, death or marriage, it is an iron-bound tradition of these worlds of make-believers that nothing must interfere with the raising of the curtain. And examples of the tradition being faithfully carried out under terrific handicaps are legion.

But the case of Betty Lund is the first where the Spartan sentiment has been introduced into aviation.

Betty and her husband, Freddie Lund, were familiar and popular figures at every meet throughout the country where air callisthenics featured as the piece de resistance of the program. Bithely they flew from one fair to another, putting on their act and competing in various events, happy in their hazardous profession.

Good flyers both, they made an ideal team. Freddie had taught Betty how to fly and patiently coached her until he had to admit that he could teach her no more—she was his equal, if not his superior, in hurling a plane through the air in every conceivable type of stunt.

Since their marriage in Los Angeles, Betty and Freddie had barnstormed together, an ideal husband and wife partnership, leading in the carefree life of "show folk," with never a thought of the tremendous risks of their job. They were good they knew it and the knowledge gave them confidence. Betty won the "dead stick" landing competition at the Chicago air meet in 1930, which goes to show that she knew her airplane.

But tragedy stepped in to break up the ideal partnership. Freddie was killed in a crash at Lexington, Va., on Oct. 4, and Betty's world almost came to an end then and there. But grit will tell, and the young aviatrix has more than her share of that laudable virtue.

When news of Freddie Lund's death was received at Charlotte, the officials of the air pageant removed the names of the dead flyer and his widow from the program—they were entered in several events—but Betty announced that she would go through with her part. This is the immortal epic of Pagliacci introduced into the modern circus-of-the-air.

Betty Lund will continue the work alone, risking her neck for the amusement of the earthbound thousands while the mighty roar of her motor chants a dirge for the partner she has lost, now and then changing its tempo to the song of desperation, "On with the play."

Officials Study Way to Reduce Expenses

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—State officials today studied the suggestions of the committee on reduction of expenditures, to find a means of trimming salaries and other public expenses.

The officials agreed that the proposal to cut the wages of state employes must meet the approval of the employes, since their salaries are set by the legislature in its appropriation bill.

Other suggestions were cutting daily expense allowance for state employes, and a cut in mileage allowance.

"Friendly" Divorce Filed Against Actor

Another of Hollywood's "friendly" divorce actions was begun in Reno today with the filing of a suit by Bayone Whipple Huston against Walter Huston, featured film player.

"It's all very amiable," Huston said. "I knew all along that she was going to do so but we are still friends."

The couple separated five years ago. Huston has a son, John, by a former marriage. The son is a scenario writer.

NEW YORK (AP)—The body of Capt. Henry Cook Hathaway, 40, a native of West Branch, Ia., was found at the foot of a cliff on the New Jersey side of the Hudson river. He had been a member of a picnic party and walked to the edge of the cliff to view the river. It is believed he lost his footing and fell. He was a former publicity director of New York university.

Corporal Edward Robinson of the 168th infantry, company H of Marshalltown, was recovering from an abdominal wound accidentally inflicted by a squad mate while cleaning his rifle.

Henry Connor, arrested yesterday for resisting the guardsmen near the McKinnon place, was out on $200 bail, facing a hearing in justice court here Saturday.

Four other persons arrested yesterday likewise were at liberty.

Opposition Pronounced

Brig. Gen. Park A. Findley, commanding the camp, and Assistant Adjutant General Charles Grall, said opposition to the testing was more pronounced here than in either Cedar or Muscatine counties. Precautions were planned when the troops move toward Lowell and Salem, known to be a focal point of opposition. Headquarters will be established at Lowell when testing starts in that vicinity.

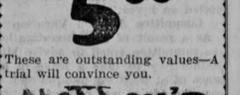

Meanwhile in Des Moines, members of the Farmers Protective association, formed to oppose the law and the state's move in calling out 1,700 troops Sept. 21 to quell the opposition in Cedar county.

Chancellor Bruening Lays Down German Program as Police Guard Against Riots

BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening laid down his program of government today at the opening session of the Reichstag, in which the nationalistic and national-socialist declined to participate and the communists took part by shouting angry interruptions.

To guard against riots similar to the window-smashing outbursts that marked the opening of the legislature last fall, police were out in force. The Reichstag building was a stronghold protected by motorized guards and by foot patrols. The precautions were successful.

Disregards Hisses

The national socialists (Nazis) and the nationalists, who have made common cause against the Bruening government, were represented only by observers. The main body of their forces remained in lobbies and committee rooms while the chancellor, disregarding the hisses and shouts of the communists, pledged his government to this program:

No let-up in the foreign policy of conciliation.

Definite settlement of the question of political debts, to eliminate the uncertainty which "alone continuously hampers international economic and financial interchange."

"No Interference"

No interference with the stability of Germany's exchange.

Restriction of imports and a back-to-the-farm movement to increase the domestic food supply.

Concentration of the state's organs of enforcement "against all attempts seeking to threaten the state."

Continued strict economy. An economic program to be worked out by an economic advisory body.

In his discussion of the foreign policy, which is one of the chief points of attack by the Nazi opposition, the chancellor declared that "direct and open conversations, such as that at Chequers (with the British leaders), are to pave the way for a solidarity of nations."

Von Hindenburg Accepts

The session adjourned after the chancellor's speech, and subsequently it was learned that President Paul Von Hindenburg had written to Dr. Bruening, accepting chairmanship of the new economic advisory board.

The middle parties, from which the cabinet has been drawn, applauded the Bruening declaration of policy. The social democrats remained silent. And the communists shouted "dictatorship" and "inflation."

Improvement can come about only step by step, and he declared his willingness to allow someone else to head the nation during the period of adjustment.

Offers to Resign

"If the Reichstag demands it, I will resign immediately," he said.

Whether the Reichstag will call upon him to make good his promise is expected to be decided before the end of the week. On Friday, according to the present schedule, there will be a vote on the Nazi-nationalist attempt to oust him.

Three Jailed for Shooting; One Confesses

FOREST CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Three men believed to be the persons who shot C. D. Montgomery, police chief, last Sunday, were in custody today. Authorities said one of them had confessed.

John Slocum, who is said to have confessed, and Alvin Weber, 21, were in jail at Blue Earth, Minn. Everett Weber, cousin of Alvin, was held at Fairmount, Minn., where he was arrested in a court while awaiting trial on a charge brought by a young woman.

Police said the confession implicated both Webers. Montgomery was shot as he attempted to investigate an auto near Forest City in which the three men were sleeping.

Authorities were seeking extradition papers in order to return the trio to Iowa.

Brother of Perry Man Charged With Resisting Arrest

MANILLA, Oct. 13 (AP)—Charges of resisting arrest were filed today against Otis Smith, brother of John M. Smith, Perry insecticide manufacturer whose disappearance early this year caused widespread interest.

Otis Smith is alleged to have resisted attempts of officers to arrest him on charges of refusing to make good a check returned because of insufficient funds. Deputy sheriffs finally arrested him at his home after throwing a tear gas bomb into the house.

John Smith is now in the insane ward at Anamosa reformatory.

Securities in Sudden Drop, Stocks Suffer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The security markets did some back tracking today.

In the case of stocks a reversal of trend was probably to have been expected after the recent markups by the firmer tendencies in money. Speculative circles were obviously disappointed because the interstate commerce commission did not announce its freight rate decision over the week end, and also because the administration may have to defer action toward strengthening railroad bonds, as it may require congressional action.

Stocks Drop 2 to 5 Points

The reaction by stocks ranged from 2 to 5 points in many instances and the general average closed at 80.2, off 4.3. Trading, however, was the dullist since Sept. 28, transactions totaling only 1,248,167 shares.

Bonds, on the other hand, had an active session. Best grade issues, especially the United States government, suffered rather acutely. Higher interest rates would be first reflected in the liberties and treasuries, but could hardly, at this time, affect other gilt edge bonds with their current liberal yields.

Rail stocks reacted easily. Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and At-Huckins might be here tomorrow morning ready to stand trial.

Further complicating the swift movement of events was the service of a federal warrant on George Huckins just before his appearance in court charging him with using the mails to defraud. Cannon, Jr., Denies Glass' Fraud Charge

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., tonight denied an accusation by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, that the churchman's stock broker, serving a prison term for fraud, was paroled recently as part of an agreement intended to spare the bishop unfavorable publicity.

He said Glass' charge was the statement "of a cowardly politician trying to save himself from a libel suit."

Early in the week, Glass wrote to Attorney General Mitchell asking if

Dubuque Man Asks Governor Turner to Commute Sentence

DUBUQUE, Oct. 13 (AP)—In a letter sent through his attorney to Gov. Dan Turner, Joseph A. R. Altlinger, 23, asks commutation of his sentence to die for the confessed slaying of 12 year old Earl Fuller.

The young Dubuque man, sentenced to be hanged Nov. 6, blames mental and social abnormality, affliction with a social disease, unfavorable environment all his life, and what he calls his probable illegitimacy for his act in luring the Fuller boy to a secluded spot near the Mississippi where he confessed he killed the boy and mutilated his body.

He said he pleaded guilty to save the state the expense of a trial and his public opinion was such that anything but a death sentence was unavoidable.

Before Judge P. J. Nelson pronounced the death penalty last October, Altlinger had declared Altruistic sane.

Iowa Grange Meet Opened at Grinnell; Turner on Program

GRINNELL, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Iowa Grange opened its annual convention here today with 45 delegates in attendance.

State Master F. L. Hummel of Newton opened the sessions with a demonstration of sixth and fourth degree work. Among the speakers was Harry Terrell of Des Moines, associate secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War who declared that $210,000 was being spent yearly for compulsory military training in Iowa schools.

Governor Dan Turner was on the speaking program tonight.

Rex Lease, Screen Cowboy, Laughs at Wife, Pays Alimony

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Rex Lease, the cowboy actor, had a philosophy of married life which caused him to ridicule the philosophical studies of his actress wife, Miss Eleanor Hunt told Judge M. H. Iverson in superior court today, so he granted her a divorce.

More than that, Lease was requested to pay $100 a month alimony, until further order of the court.

"If he would see me reading a book on philosophy," Mrs. Hunt-Lease complained to the court, "He would begin laughing. If I tried to reason with him he would assume a quarrelsome attitude, and sometimes he even struck me. If he had been drinking, he would call me names."

Move to Oust Head of State of Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 13 (AP)—Formal demand to relinquish the governorship peacefully was made on Huey P. Long tonight by Paul N. Cyr, the elected lieutenant governor, after he had taken the governor's oath on the claim that Long was a United States senator and not the chief executive of Louisiana.

The demand was made in a letter, the text of which Cyr declined to make public until it had reached the governor's mansion. If Long refuses to step out, Cyr said, he would file an ouster suit in Shreveport, where today he took the oath before a deputy clerk of the district court.

Governor Long scoffed at Cyr's demands and said today's developments meant the end of Cyr as a state officer.

Sentence Woman for Killing Mother

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Jennie Rutledge, 55, who killed her mother, Mrs. Alice Fyle, 83, because she would not eat bread and milk, was sentenced to serve from 7 to 10 years in the state penitentiary by Judge Howard C. Speakman today.

Mrs. Rutledge was convicted of manslaughter a month ago. Mrs. Fyle died from injuries received in a beating Mrs. Rutledge administered.

The boy apparently fell in an open stair-hole and struck his head. He had been missing since Sunday night. The body was discovered by children playing near the ruins.

Judge Rules State Must Prove Identity in Liquor Charges

SIoux CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Judge Miles Newby today held that proof of previous convictions under the new state habitual liquor violator law must contain absolute proof of the identity of the defendant in each case.

His ruling came in the trial of Carl Perfect for maintaining a liquor nuisance, third offense. The state produced court records showing that a Carl Perfect had been guilty of two previous liquor offenses.

Judge Newby ruled that the court records did not establish that the defendant was the same Carl Perfect in each case and instructed the jury only to find the present defendant guilty or innocent of the charge before the court.

Football Over-Emphasis

WITHIN THE next two months various collegiate critics and officials of foundations may be expected to issue statements and voluminous reports on the over-emphasis of football.

These articles will deal largely with such altruistic theories as giving the game back to the students, destroying commercialism, and creating a healthful, competitive spirit, with emphasis on the game itself rather than on results from a standpoint of victories.

Such objectives are no doubt admirable, and to a certain extent practicable—on paper. But closer examination reveals weaknesses which cannot be overlooked, and which, if developed, would be far more harmful than the present system.

In the first place, the first and third objectives cannot be reconciled. Student bodies demand winners, and, if placed in control of the game, would see to it that nothing would stand in the way of winning teams.

It may be argued that giving the game back to the student does not go so far as to give student bodies control over athletics, but merely to give the spectacle to the student.

Unless, perhaps, Shaw and others of similar views, take to spreading propaganda about that everything in Russia is directly due to the influence of these United States.

Perhaps giving the game back to the student involves reducing coaches' salaries, reducing appeal to outsiders to attend games (thereby reducing revenue), reducing practice periods—in short, reducing everything but the natural ability of the player to do his untutored best.

As for taking commercialism out of football, it is enough to say that either those who like the game will pay for all university athletics or the burden will devolve upon the taxpayers or voluntary contributors.

It is well known that football receipts support all other branches, often including intramural sports, of collegiate athletics, and to deprive universities of this comparatively easy method of obtaining the large sums needed to provide athletic recreation for all students would place unnecessary hardship on those who have no interest in sports.

For the idea of placing emphasis upon the game itself rather than upon victory, that may be disregarded. Desire of victory and attempt to gain it are the essence of competition.

So it would seem that a goodly share of over-emphasis on football is over-emphasis on over-emphasis. If that be true, then the only real worth which may be ascribed to treatises and reports is that of circumventing the present economic depression by offering employment to persons otherwise unable to accomplish self support.

An Artist Speaks: "MODERN youth going to the dogs! Faith, and don't you believe it! Youth is finer today than ever before."

failure or success in life, is when they step into the places of their mothers and fathers. Bright as they are, just watch how far ahead our young people will step when that time comes."

John McCormack's voice radiates happiness—and he has permitted that happiness to permeate his life. When the rest of the world is worrying about modern youth, he smiles and approves of the younger generation. Perhaps he likes the way youth does what it wants to, for he said: "I'm never tired, because I love to sing. And we always find fun in doing what we love."

McCormack is not jealous, he is not temperamental. Unlike most great artists, he even approves of jazz. "Begorra, jazz is all right. I've nothing against it. But crooners! Bah!" Fine sportsman always, he concluded his interview with a fine tribute to Caruso whom he called "one of the finest men that ever lived. He was an artist, a true artist, and what's more, he was a man who hadn't an ounce of jealousy in his soul."

Great sermons don't always come from pulpits, and great morals are not always established by preachers—sometimes a smiling Irishman with a glorious voice is a whole year of Sunday sermons in himself.

A New Enterprise for Youth

One of the heaviest tasks of modern youth is keeping its elders straight. In America, China and various countries of Europe and South America, youth has assumed its obligation of reforming government and in general, setting the world in order. It should be easy, therefore, for students at Columbia university to bring the professors of that institution around to correct usage in language.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

"The dear old boob" of America were addressed by George Bernard Shaw via radio the other day and assailed for their attitude toward Russia.

Comparing the founders of Soviet power with the leaders of the American Revolution, Shaw intimated that just as a statue of George Washington now stood in London, so a statue of Lenin will some day be erected in New York city.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics are no doubt all that Shaw cracks them up to be but as far as placing the responsibility for their power, if any, on America, he is all wet. There is nothing in the set up of Russian political, social, or economic life today that would even remotely suggest democracy.

Unless, perhaps, Shaw and others of similar views, take to spreading propaganda about that everything in Russia is directly due to the influence of these United States. But even then, they can't censor the American press or keep news of the actual state of affairs from seeping through.

But Shaw hasn't any desire to see Russia win out in the great universal race for supremacy. He concluded his recent address with the following message of cheer:

"At present, you (Americans) are like an old prisoner in the Bastille, sawing the bars of his little window with a watch spring so intently that he does not notice that the door has long been wide open. Well, perhaps you will all go on sawing in America until you are dead, but I expect your sons will be wiser than you and will not let themselves be outrun in the great race of civilization by any Russian that ever set foot on the ground."

"I am an agnostic," said Clarence Darrow at breakfast with a Catholic, a Protestant, and a Jew, the other morning, "because I have a habit of thinking. No thinking man can believe in the old conception of God or have any faith whatsoever in immortality. No thinking man can believe the Bible to be any different in its origin than any other book."

"I am a Catholic," said Prof. John A. Lapp, "because the Catholic church stands on the central doctrine of the love of God and love of man. It follows literally the life of Christ in its effort to know God."

"I am a Protestant," said the Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the University of Chicago chapel, "because Protestantism applies the principle of democracy in religion. Protestantism rejects the authoritarian position and lays stress on the rights and convictions of the individual."

"I am a Jew," said Solomon Goldman, Chicago rabbi, "primarily because I was born and raised a Jew. A member of a minority group, exposed to prejudices throughout the ages, I could never be complacent, smug, nor self satisfied, and lose myself in the majority and leave my security to it. As a member of the minority group, I must be alert and think for myself."

And the funny part about it, these four autocrats of the breakfast table, all disciples of distinctly separate faiths, and yet so strongly influenced by each other, seem to be right. And since they all believe that religion is a great experiment and are all interested in keeping alive the traditions and hopes of their beliefs, there really isn't much anyone can do about it.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—One stage expatriate who is lonesome for Broadway is Ina Claire.

With only possible retakes between her and a trip to New York, the blonde star is seriously considering another adventure behind the footlights.

In case you recall a film the star was to make for R-K-O it will not be coming up until February or March. If Ina gets a satisfactory stage play, further postponement could be arranged.

Come to think of it, Ina has achieved a lot of prominence out here on mighty few actual assignments. She did "The Awful Truth" and "Rebound" for the Pathe, "The Royal Family of Broadway" for Paramount and "The Greeks Had a Word for It" for Goldwyn.

Homecoming Tradition Falls as Engineers Plan New Arch Over Bridge

Span of Steel Replaces Old Wooden Type

Use Fireproof Materials to Guard Against Burning Act

Washington street arch is no more!

For this year civil engineering students have changed the location of their traditional arch. Changed not only the location but also the material in the arch and the design as well. Prof. F. T. Mavis of the department of mechanics and hydraulics is the creator of the new design.

Arch of Steel

The arch will be of steel and is now under construction in the Iowa City iron works. The welding will be done at the iron works but all other details of construction, including the placing and decorating of the arch will be done by civil engineering students.

Roland A. Kampmeyer, E4 of Cedar Rapids, is the chairman of the committee in charge with Professor Mavis as the faculty adviser. Other members of the committee are Edward Soucek, E4 of Iowa City, and William J. Gallagher, E4 of Davenport.

Carroll Grants Permission

Permission to place the new arch on Iowa avenue bridge was granted by Mayor J. J. Carroll and City Engineer Allen Wallen. The arch will have 12 feet clearance next to the curb which is one foot more than that given by the trolley bridge over Iowa avenue. In addition the arch will have red lights at both ends just at the curb line which will give ample warning.

The arch will be 52 feet long and its greatest height at the center of the span will be 18 feet. All main structural parts will be in black and subsidiary supporting members will be trimmed in old gold.

Erected First in 1905

The Washington street arch was first erected in 1905. Prof. B. J. Lambert of the civil engineering department designed that arch. It has come to be one of the main traditions of Homecoming.

Vandals destroyed the arch last year. Therefore Professor Mavis, urged by Professors Ensign, Kuever and Perkins, the executive committee in charge of Homecoming, has designed the new one.

Watch for it. It's a new tradition that color one, the civil's Iowa avenue "noncombustible" arch.

Play Competitions for State Players Planned for Spring

Competition for actors of all ages from high school students to seasoned veterans of community theaters, will be offered at the University of Iowa between February and April, 1932.

The series of play production contests for state championships will begin when junior college actors gather in February. High school students will present their plays later. Exact dates for these contests have not yet been arranged.

Rifle Club Practice Will Open Season

Members of the University Rifle club will officially begin practice at the gallery rifle range in the armory, tonight, when all members and candidates for membership meet for the first time.

All arms and ammunition are furnished by the club. Practice will be continued throughout the season every Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Collegians Qualified for Science Award

Students of the University of Iowa come under the eligibility rulings for competition in the Popular Science Monthly award for scientific achievement, carrying with it a gold medal and an honorarium of $10,000.

The award was established in 1930. The only eligibility requirement is that the competitor be a citizen of the United States.

Articles by 2 Faculty Men Appear in Dental Magazine

Two members of the university faculty are the authors of articles appearing in the October issue of "The Journal of the American Dental Association."

Dr. Thomas A. Gardner, director of the bureau of dental hygiene, explains in one of the articles the Iowa plan for dental health education being promoted by that bureau.

"The Iowa plan," says Dr. Gardner, "exhibits a departure from the usual forms of state wide dental programs, in that it is not promoted by the organized dental profession, it is an educational project rather than a campaign, it reaches the rural schools as well as the towns and cities, no 'clinics' are held, examinations are made largely by the family dentist in his own office, and the plan is flexible."

There follows a brief history of the bureau of dental hygiene, and a detailed consideration of the main points of the plan.

Groups Will Decorate for Homecoming

"Be gay, be hospitable, be artistic. Be original, but you need not be extravagant." These are the suggestions which the committee on fraternity and sorority Homecoming house decorations urges the groups to consider when decorating their houses.

This year the visiting committee will take into consideration the extent of original, inexpensive, home-made material entering into the scheme of decorations, and the extent of local artistry in design and execution.

Edward S. Rose, president of the Kiwanis club, yesterday announced a battery of three judges who will evaluate fraternity house decorations.

Dr. A. W. Bryan, associate dean of the college of dentistry, has written the second article, entitled "Is the matter of diet emphasized sufficiently to dental periclasia patients?"

Advocating that dietary conditions are among the most important aids in the forming and preserving of sound teeth, Dr. Bryan has compared the dietary problems of animals with those of human beings.

Basing his arguments upon the results of experiments with the teeth and bones of guinea-pigs, Dr. Bryan urges that all dentists should see that "the patient receives daily a known, definite amount of vitamin-bearing material as a supplement to what we attempt to induce him to take in his regular food supply."

This article was also read by Dr. Bryan before the American Academy of Periodontology at Colorado Springs, Col., in July, 1930.

They are George D. Koser, Iowa City lawyer, general chairman; Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff of the college of law; and Wilbur D. Cannon of the Economy Publishing company.

Intramural Archery Contest for Women

Practices will be held at 4:45 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday or at 4 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday preceding the tournament. Sign-ups for practice periods are to be made at the women's gymnasium.

Two Changes in Hawkeye Line as Gridders Scrimmage Against Freshmen

Varsity Looks Good Against Frosh Eleven

Della Vedova, Trickey Probable Starters Saturday

Two new starters will probably be named by Coach Burton Ingwersen to lineup against Indiana in the Homecoming game Saturday afternoon. Both are linemen—Tullio Della Vedova, 185 pounder from Ottumwa, at left tackle and Kenneth Trickey, 165 pound minor letter winner two seasons ago from Iowa Falls, at left end.

Phil Thurtell, Mason City sophomore, was used in yesterday afternoon's scrimmage against the freshmen as second string quarterback. The varsity tore the yearling line apart and had little difficulty in getting away for lengthy gains. The regulars were excited after less than an hour of play against the frosh, and second stringers were sent into action.

Looked Good Saturday
Della Vedova's strength is expected to add power to the forward wall. His performance against Texas A. and M. last Saturday brought attention to him. He took the post Jim Dee held in two games, while the latter was relegated to the second team.

Trickey's speed and Ray Fisher's lack of it caused the change at left wing. Randall Hickman stood on the sidelines in uniform throughout the session while Howard Moffitt occupied his place in the backfield.

Drill on Passes

A brief workout was given the backfield squad by Coaches Gordon Locke and Rolfe Williams against the freshmen on Indiana passes.

Veteran Indiana Team Will Face Hawkeyes

Saturday morning Iowa cross country team will clash with Indiana, a crew that has gained the Western conference title three times.

Harry Brocksmith and J. C. Watson, two runners of national prominence, lead the Hoosiers. Brockwell has won three second places in Big Ten and National Collegiate two mile races in the past two years. He was runner-up for the conference indoor and outdoor two mile titles last spring and in 1930 was second in the N.C.A.A. race.

Watson won second place in the conference two mile race in 1931 and took third in the National Collegiate this year.

The meet will be the first cross country battle ever staged between Iowa and Indiana.

Eighteen North Carolina colleges, junior colleges and prep schools have 126 football games scheduled for the season.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Things I never knew until now but which you knew all the time.

That some wrestling enthusiasts claim the sport originated in the Garden of Eden. They say, "Didn't the serpent tempt Eve, and doesn't it say that she WRESTLED with her conscience?"

That the late Sir Thomas Lipton spent over $5,000,000 to win the yachting cup held in the U. S. so as to present it to the Royal Yachting Squadron of England, and he never was made a member of that organization.

That more than 1,064,500 people representing 12 nations competed for the world's free throw championship in 1930. The winner scored 98 baskets in 100 attempts. He is Early Maxwell of Memphis, Tenn.

That contrary to opinion water polo is not the roughest water played, as it is said that in Polynea there are tribes that jab barbed spears into each other merely for the fun it affords.

That the game of racquets probably originated in England, and in prison so as to afford inmates a means of exercise. This is supported by knowledge that the first established champion was Robert Mackay who had been an inmate of a debtor's jail.

That even the Greeks and Romans had their trouble over professionalism. After an Olympic meet, Greece charged the Roman athletes with professionalizing their fame in victory by going on tours and collecting money—or its equivalent. The Romans denied the charge.

ILLINOIS LINE CHANGES

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—Illinois linemen, who showed up well against Purdue, were rewarded with tryouts with the varsity today by Coach Bob Zuppke. Cliff Hynk, Ray Nussplicker, Bob May, and Bill Hedke were the new members in the line during tonight's drill while Marnier took Ivan Shustek's position at end, Murray was shifted to fullback to work with the other backfield regulars. Horsley at quarter and Cook and Berry at halfback.

GOPHERS BATTERED

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Minnesota football squad returned home tonight from its western trip with bad news concerning two players. Lloyd Helmer, fullback, may not see action until late in the season because of two bad knees, coaches said. Robert Rehse, guard, may be lost for the season because of a nerve ailment.

Lacking in reserves, the Gophers tomorrow will begin drill for their opening conference engagement with Iowa here Oct. 24. They have been gone 10 days on a trip which brought a 13 to 0 defeat by Leland Stanford at Palo Alto Saturday.

Decide to Submit Requests for Iowa-Iowa State Game to Conferences

Meeting Puts Charity Fray Up to Officials

Big Ten, Big Six Will Receive Requests for Approval

DES MOINES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Requests for approval of an Iowa-Ames post season charity football game will be submitted to officials of the Big Ten and Big Six conferences, it was decided today at a meeting with Gov. Dan Turner.

President R. M. Hughes of Iowa State college said he would present the request to the Big Six conference meeting to be held Saturday at Ames.

Participants of the University of Iowa first will be considered by the university's board of control of athletics, President Walter A. Jessup said. If the board approves, the question will be taken to officials of the Big Ten.

Will Write Officials
Governor Turner also agreed to write officials of both conferences in support of the plan which would bring the teams of the two state schools into competition for the first time since bitter rivalry ended their annual contest in 1920.

The governor previously had approved the proposal. Funds raised by the contest would be turned over to the governor's committee for the relief of unemployed. It was estimated receipts would total $100,000.

Under the plans of the American Legion, whose unemployment committee made the proposal, the game would be played in the stadium at Iowa City.

Lauer Present

Meeting with the governor and officials of the two schools today were R. W. Colflesh, commander of the American Legion, Fred Keating, chairman of the Legion's unemployment committee, and R. J. Laird, state adjutant.

Others present included E. H. Lauer, director of athletics at Iowa and T. N. Metcalf, director of athletics at Ames. Both pointed out that neither school could schedule games without conference approval.

Little Hope
Dean C. C. Williams, Iowa's faculty member of the Big Ten conference and its chairman, expressed little hope of obtaining conference approval of the proposed game. He read the declaration of the conference that it would not consent to increasing the number of permitted games.

The Western conferences is permitting a post season game Nov. 28 for each conference school, but has stipulated the games must be played with members of the conference. The Big Six also has rulings against post season contests.

Commander Colflesh explained that the only thought of the Legion was to render assistance in what he regarded as a serious unemployment situation expected to exist in the state this winter.

CADETS CONFIDENT OF TAKING CRIMSON

When on Oct. 17 the Army Mule sees red in the form of the Harvard grid warriors, one can be sure that a heroic battle will be the outcome. The West Pointers go away to a flying start by chalking up a 67-6 victory against Knox, and Coach Major Sasse is confident that his boys can give a spoonful of the same medicine to the Crimson gridders. Last season the Cadets won a 6-0 decision over Harvard, and with such stars as Ken Fields and Robert Carver twinkling more brilliantly than ever, Captain Jack Price is confident that the well-known mule will gallop away with the laurels. However, the Crimson coach, Eddie Casey, also has an abundance of confidence which one is inclined to believe justified when one considers that Captain Barry Wood is no novice when it comes to doing things with a pigskin. Harvard won its opening game with Bates, 28-0. Gene Record, one of the shining lights of the Crimson tide, was slightly injured, but he'll be in the lineup at West Point when his team makes its bid to wipe out last year's defeat. May the best team win.

Three Frosh Grid Teams See Service

Three yearling grid teams saw service today on Iowa field last night.

Taking the ball against the varsity, the freshman regulars bucked the Old Gold line at all points. Indiana plays and formations were used by the yearlings who gained more around the ends than through the line.

Freshmen who saw service against the varsity were Dickerson and Haas, ends; White and Frazee, tackles; Slaymaker and Osborn, guards; Lande, center; Parsons, Eickfahl, Wallace, and Minkie, backs.

At the opposite end of the field, two other teams opposed each other in a nip and tuck battle. Their lack of team play was made up for by fighting spirit on both sides.

Hall, Wilcox, Morrissy, Lass, Anderlik, Beauchamps, Whinnery, Kaufman, Lamont, Corcoran, Bluestein, Cagliano, and Benkendorf fought it out to a draw with an aggregation composed of Dorsey, King, Kensinger, Armstrong, Laub, Schwandt, Fried, Johnson, McCarre, Peyton, Richardson, Parker, Grau, Parks, and Grady.

Competition between these teams will be resumed during the latter part of the week.

Tankmen Undergo Hard Drill; Sinus Keeps Lobdell Out

Action in the pool for the purpose of improving their starts and entrance into the water, constituted the evening of practice for 18 freshman swimmers last night.

Proper balance at the brink of the pool and a flutter kick to insure a fast start were emphasized by Assistant Coach Liddle.

Divers received the attention of Coach Armbruster. Several varsity candidates are training consistently on the Iowa plank and developing nicely according to Armbruster.

Lobdell, Iowa star, is not diving at present due to a sinus infection.

St. Patrick's Eleven Drills on Wet Field

Handicapped by a field so slippery that accurate playing was impossible, the St. Patrick's football eleven yesterday went through a stiff scrimmage against the reserves.

The Irish squad travels to Tipton Friday, for their fourth game of the season.

Considering the condition of the ground, the team showed fairly good form, with blocking remaining the chief weakness. Connell, whose recovery of a Wilton Junction fumble paid the way for the first Irish touchdown last Friday, is out of the lineup with a leg injury, but expects to be back in the mokeskins tomorrow.

Appearing in his first scrimmage for two weeks, Scannell aggravated a knee injury that has kept him out of the last two games and was forced to leave the field, as was Wetrich, who tore open an old cut over his ear.

Neither Grady nor Megan took part in the scrimmage, although Megan did some practice punting.

For the first time in many years the N. C. State Wolfpack contains a good group of punting and passing football players.

Theta, Gamma Alpha vs. Sigma Nu, and Phi Gamma Delta vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Delta Tau Delta vs. Pi Kappa Alpha. Alpha Tau Omega vs. Alpha Sigma Phi. Delta Sigma, Gamma Alpha and Phi Delta Theta drew byes.

All entries in soccer must be in before Saturday, and cross country blanks should be into the hands of officials as soon as possible.

Hawklets Prepare for Night Contest With Clinton Team

Iowa City high gridders took it easy in their workout yesterday afternoon at Shrader field. Coach Wells took the linemen in hand, and went over the faults the men have displayed thus far. The backfield men worked on passing, and the probabilities are that the Hawklets will fill the air with passes Friday night at Clinton.

The team then went through a signal drill and the session closed with a talk by Coach Wells.

Rain Fails to Stop Harrier Practice Run

Mud and rain meant only additional labor in a two mile time trial for the Hawklets cross country squad last night as they began preparation for the meet with Indiana here Saturday.

Twelve men splashed over the course, led by Emil Trott who finished in 19:38. N. Rosenberg was second, H. Wickey third, and L. Campbell fourth. Other men reporting for drill were H. R. Klawin, M. E. Naylor, E. H. Gunderson, D. Parrish, B. Metcalf, J. Welter, H. S. Griswold and J. Mitchell.

Following the run against time, the squad tried a few sprints and spent some time improving their team work.

WILDCATS IN MUD

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 13 (AP)—It was still raining as Northwestern started practicing again today. The Wildcat regulars, who fought Notre Dame to a scoreless tie in the rain and mud of Soldier field Saturday, spent most of their time sailing signals while the reserves, who escaped the mud of Soldier field, got a real taste of it by going through a long scrimmage.

MICHIGAN PASSES

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 13 (AP)—University of Michigan's football squad was drilled today in a set of new plays which will be flashed against Ohio State Saturday in an attempted comeback after its indifferent showing against Chicago last week. There was also a long forward passing drill, with Newman, Pessner, Hewitt and McCrath throwing the ball.

U. High Gridders in Spirited Session as Next Contest Nears

A spirit and fight, hitherto not found among the University high gridders, was displayed last night during their muddy scrimmage, one of the three heavy sessions prescribed by Coach Jay Kistler in preparing for the Monticello game here Friday.

Two full teams, following a long signal drill, were thrown against each other, given instructions to play as though they were in a regular game. Despite the slippery field and muddy ball, fumbles were few and the light Kistlermen kept their feet with a skill that should help them a good deal in the event of adverse weather conditions this week end.

Although Captain Wiyack shone on wide runs around the ends, two second team men were equally effective in plays directed through the tackles and center of the line. Schnoebler, reserve team quarterback until this week, was shifted to a halfback post on the first string and picked his way through the line over the secondary defense with precision.

The smallest man on the squad, Mentzer, playing at fullback on the reserve eleven, repeatedly slashed through the center of the line for gains of five yards.

'Sippi Valley Elevens Play in 3 Games

Clinton Host to Iowa City; Washington at Dubuque

Mississippi Valley conference teams play two conference games and one non-conference game this week. Iowa City goes to Clinton, Washington travels to Dubuque and Grant engages East Waterloo from without the league. All games will be played Friday night.

Clinton and Iowa City having yet to win, are down in the bottom of the standings. The result of their game will bring one team up higher in the standings.

Dubuque and Washington are now tied for first place, each eleven having won one game. Dubuque beat Iowa City here last week, and Washington took Clinton's measure. The winner of this game will have a clear hold on first place.

Grant high in its only conference start played a scoreless tie with Clinton. Grant brought the ball down to the four yard line in the second quarter of this game but lost it on downs. The Cedar Rapids outfit takes on East Waterloo on the home grounds.

Captain Bowers of the Davenport Hilltoppers is leading the scorers with two touchdowns. Bedell of Washington, Zimmer and Vonnal of Dubuque follow with one touchdown apiece.

Cyclones Scrimmage Frosh

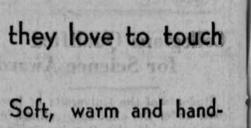

AMES, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Cyclone football eleven, composed chiefly of reserves, received a stiff workout today opposite a picked freshman squad which used Missouri plays. Frosh consistently gained against the regulars.

Duesenberg, fullback who received a broken hand at Detroit Saturday, reported but did not scrimmage. The regular varsity members concentrated on individual drills in passing, punting and blocking.

New Plays for Pioneers

GRINNELL, Oct. 13 (AP)—Grinnell college gridmen spent today's practice session in a light rain scrimmaging the reserves. Coach Watt gave out new power plays which were used in bounding the line. Thomas, star quarter, entered play late in the session with instructions to avoid possible injury by not carrying the ball himself.

regulars who have been quarantined since the first of last week, are expected to return in time for the Monticello game. The team as a whole is in the best of condition.

CARRY ON IN DADS' FOOTSTEPS IN BIG TEN

If there is anything to a name, great things should come from the football efforts of Jack and Willie Heston, Jr., for the University of Michigan. They're shown with their father, Al-American at the start of the century. Likewise the University to carry on as quarterback for the third year. He is the son of Alonzo Stagg, Chicago coach, and one-time Yale All-American.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Alumni of two Big Ten universities hope to do some telling as sons of former heroes go about their gridiron chores this year.

At the University of Michigan two middle-aged men have yet to miss a Wolverine practice session. Willie Heston, the unstoppable famous of Fielding Yost's famous "point a minute" teams of 1901, '02, '03, and '04, is one. Yost himself is the other.

Heston, a successful judge in Detroit, moved to Ann Arbor to be near the two sons, Willie, Jr., and Jack, in their effort to match his accomplishments on the gridiron.

Drawings for Greek Tennis Tournery End

The Greeks are preparing for battle, Honors in tennis, cross country and soccer will be at stake. The first clash, on Oct. 21, will send the racket wielders into action in both singles and doubles, while harklers and soccerites go into action a few days later.

Drawings for the opening round in the tennis tournery as released by E. G. "Dad" Schroeder yesterday are as follows: singles—Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Kappa Sigma; Delta Chi vs. Chi Kappa Pi; Phi Gamma Delta vs. Delta Tau Delta; Phi Chi vs. Pi Kappa Alpha; Alpha Tau Omega vs. Alpha Sigma Phi. Delta Sigma, Gamma Alpha and Phi Delta Theta drew byes.

First round of the doubles sends Delta Sigma Pi against Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Chi vs. Phi Delta physical durability and strong defensive play have made him a fitting representative of the second generation.

Harlan Orville "Pat" Page, one of Stagg's greatest pupils and now assisting him as coach, has a son, Pat Jr., who may be one of the brightest spots in the Maroon backfield this season if he clears eligibility hurdles. Young Pat's a sophomore.

Three other second generation cricketers are on the freshman squad at Michigan. Charles Bolton, Junior Garcia and Al Herrington were three of the patients of a disease which all have sons in the current yearling crop.

most lives when the tired spirit flagged and longed for rest, or when the scale tipped, and effort did not balance with result. Did any one ever lie down to die, simply because there was nothing to live for? And she found herself crying, without knowing why she cried.

out. The car windows were full of boys, cheering. When the train had passed, she still stood there. The war was brief. "Not enough war to go round," somebody said. When Missie learned that the local boys had not got to Cuba, she breathed again. Harry was safe, after all. He was in a camp in the south, safe.

"Just Lucky," Says Gabby Street; Title Cure for Insomnia

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—When Max Bishop's fly settled into the hands of "Pepper" Martin for the last putout of the world series, and the St. Louis Cardinals became 1931 champions of the baseball universe, Charles E. (Gabby) Street, Card manager, said to himself: "Gabby, you're a lucky man. You've only done what other bush league managers might do if they got the breaks."

War Clouds Cause Wheat to Soar High

CHICAGO Oct. 13 (AP)—War clouds in the far east gave the wheat market an upward trend today, with reports current that Russia might eventually be involved. A sharp decrease of the amount of wheat afloat for importing countries was an additional bullish factor, and so too was 3,434,000 bushels falling off in the United States wheat visible supply total. Export purchases of North American wheat over the holiday were estimated at 2,000,000 bushels, mostly Canadian. Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 1-2 cent advance, corn 1-2 to 1 off, oats unchanged to 1 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents. Selling of corn by "spread" traders who simultaneously made equal purchases of wheat had a bearish effect on corn. Wet weather over the corn belt was thus more than nullified as a market influence, especially as the visible supply total was enlarged 980,000 bushels. Oats followed wheat rather than corn. Provisions were responsive to hog market upturns. Closing indemnities: wheat—Dec. 491 to 1-2, 51 1-4 to 2, May 531 to 2, 551 to 2; July 548, 56. Corn—Dec. 34 1-2 to 1, 383, May 388, 39 1-2 to 2. Alee Bryant, for 36 years first grade teacher in the Carson City, Nev., school, has retired.

Drama Club Enacts Play for Kiwanis

A short play, "Account with an Interviewer," by Mark Twain, was presented by three members of Iowa City high school dramatic club, at the Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday noon in the Jefferson hotel. Actors of the play were Albert Chittenden, Philip Mitchell, and Arthur Glassman. Several boys from Iowa City schools were special guests of the Kiwanis at the luncheon. Prof. George D. Stoddard, chairman of a committee whose duties is to care for unprivileged boys in the city, spoke briefly of his work. C. M. Updegraff, accompanied by Burt Bowman at the piano, presented two vocal selections, yodelling choruses. Other entertainment consisted of group singing by members of the club. Guests of the club were: Burt Bowman, Paul Risley, Philip L. Hazard, David W. Crum, Albert E. Hastings, Col. Converse R. Lewis, Oscar Nybakker, Earl Krell, Donald Mitchell, Warren Fox, Harold Roberts, Ray Simon, Donald Albert, Philip Mitchell, Albert Chittenden, and Arthur Glassman. N. R. Taylor, for 50 years a federal weather forecaster on the Pacific Coast, has retired after an application for an extension of time was denied.

Anyone interested in trying out for membership may attend the meeting according to Janet Cumming, faculty advised of the group. Tryouts will be held for the next two weeks. About two-thirds of the 1931 graduates of Purdue university had jobs August 1. Damage from hail in Iowa last year was the lowest in eight years, but it totaled $1,598,963.
