EDISON DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Iowa Battles Indiana to Scoreless Tie

Fumble on Nine Yard Line Checks Hawkeyes' Fourth Quarter Drive for Score

Jerry Kriz Breaks Loose for 26 Yard Run in Third Period; Sweep Down Within 10 Yards of Touchdown

By BILL RUTLEDGE
With a stunning offense and an unbudging defense, the University of Iowa Hawkeyes electrified a Homecoming game crowd of 20,000 by fighting the Indiana football team to a scoreless tie at Iowa stadium yesterday afternoon.

It required every ounce of strength Indiana could muster to stave off the repeated Iowa rushes toward the goal line.

Five minutes before the end, the Hawkeyes' cyclonic drive brought the ball to the Hoosiers' nine yard line as a splinter play was called on the fourth down, three yards away from a first down.

The play called for Capt. Oliver Sansen to take the ball from center, slip it to Howard Moffitt, and fake an off tackle play. Moffitt was to have flipped it over the goal line.

In the confusion arising from Ed Dolly's low pass from center, Moffitt recovered the fumble for a six yard loss.

The misplay dimmed Iowa's biggest chance to score. The Crimson recovered and flamed far down into Iowa's territory.

An eleventh hour flurry of desperate Indiana passes was terminated by the final gun with the ball on Iowa's 19 yard line.

Outclass Hoosiers
With the exception of a two yard advantage in average of punts, the Hawkeyes completely outclassed the invaders in every department of the game.

Iowa's superiority was the greatest in yards gained from scrimmage with 72 to Indiana's 101. The Hawkeyes had a 20 yard edge in average yards on kickoff. Making more first downs than in both previous games, the Old Gold ran up nine to the Crimson's six.

The Hoosier defense was throttled by an unyielding line. The Hawkeyes in the second half was the only mar on the forward wall performance.

DellaVedova, Foster Star
Tullio DellaVedova and Jerry Foster vindicated Coach Burton Ingwersen's judgment by playing a whole of a game at the tackle posts. Foster drove in on Hoosier ball carriers with speed belying his 215 pounds.

Early in the opening quarter, DellaVedova charged in and blocked Dolly's punt on Indiana's 27 yard line. Successive gains by DellaVedova, Jerry Foster and Sansen swept the Crimson back to the 10 yard line.

The threat fizzled and failed when Sansen was stopped on the line of scrimmage at an end, Hickman lost five yards on center, and his pass to Kriz fell a few yards short of the goal line incomplete. The ball went to Indiana on the 15 yard line.

Kriz' Spectacular Run
The most spectacular run of the game was made by Jerry Kriz, when he took the ball on Iowa's 23 yard line on a complicated spinner and dashed off right tackle into the open. For a moment it appeared that he was away for a touchdown but he was overtaken by Hoosier tacklers and halted on Indiana's 44 yard line.

Ground gaining honors were divided between Kriz and Sansen. The Iowa leader carried the ball oftener than any other back, and was surpassed in total yardage only by Kriz, who piled up 49 yards in seven attempts. On 18 tries Sansen covered 45 yards.

Hickman Slowed Down
An injured ankle slowed Hickman down to the extent that he averaged slightly more than a yard on 15 attempts. Midway in the second period Hickman turned his ankle on an off-tackle play and was replaced by Moffitt. Late in the third quarter Chariton sprinter.

At the half Director of Athletics E. H. Lauer introduced the backfield of the 1931 Iowa championship eleven—Audrey and Glenn Devine, Gordon Lockwood and Lauer.

Two Story House Damaged by Fire of Unknown Origin

Fire of unknown origin partially destroyed a two story rooming house belonging to Margaret Cash at 813 S. Dubuque street yesterday at 7:45 p.m. The fire started on the outside of the building and spread rapidly to the attic. All damage to the building is covered by insurance.

The blaze required 15 minutes of fighting with water from a single hose attached to a city main before it was extinguished by Iowa City firemen. The rooming house, a frame structure, is one of the oldest buildings a south Iowa City.

Out of five fire calls answered here during the first 17 days of October by local firemen, this is the first to cause damage of appreciable extent, stated Fire Chief Herman Amlah, last night.

1847 Thomas Alva Edison 1931

Life History of Inventor

To Thomas Alva Edison more work—was wholly self-developed. He came from Dutch stock, his people arriving in New York in 1730. He was born in Milan, Ohio, on Feb. 11, 1847. Fortunately for him his mother, who was Mary Elliott, had been a teacher in high schools in Canada.

For Edison was backward in school and soon tired of it, and it was from her he learned much as a child. At 11 he was the proud owner of a laboratory in the basement of his home, which was then in Gratiot, Mich., and to make sure no one would tamper with it he marked "POISON" on each of 200 bottles.

The first employment of the boy who was to become the greatest inventor of all time was as a news-stand boy on the Grand Trunk with a run between Port Huron and Detroit. His time off in Detroit was spent in the public library. On the train he printed a "Weekly Herald," some times selling as many as 400 copies.

When the Civil war began Edison bribed telegraph operators to give him bits of important news which he hurriedly set up and ran off at a hand press. His price for his paper varied with the importance of the news it contained.

With the proceeds from a patent sold to the Western Union Telegraph Co., Edison set up a plant of his own at Newark, N. J. One of his earliest inventions was the automatic telegraph which could send and receive 3,000 words an hour. He took the typewriter and made the practical Remington out of it. In 1873 he went to England and sold his automatic and quadruplex telegraph system. He had 45 inventions to his credit and 5 plants operating in New Jersey.

Devoting all his time to inventing Edison neglected to pay his bills until the sheriff came to collect them, but this dignitary always got the money.

Edison's carbon telephone transmitter was sold for $100,000 to the Western Union which was in bitter competition with the Bell company. He tested 6,000 vegetable growths before he found the proper filament for incandescent light and the bamboo he adopted was eventually discarded for metal.

In 1882 he built the first electric railway at his plant at Menlo Park, N. J., and at the same time invented and installed an electrical power plant there, the first of its kind in the world.

Edison spent five years and $2,000,000 on a plan and plant at Edison, N. J., to extract ore from powdered rock by magnets, only to lose it all by the discovery of great quantities of high grade ore in the Massachusetts range, which rendered his process profitless. His fortune was gone and he was heavily in debt, but Edison took the blow philosophically.

Edison's friendship with John Burroughs, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone was one of the greatest things in his life. Each summer they met at Sudbury, Mass., and at Ft. Myers, Fla., each winter.

During the last years of his life, Edison was busy with the scheme for extracting rubber from goldenrod at his place in Ft. Myers. His death was the culmination of years of diabetes, Bright's disease and stomach ulcers, which necessitated the 84 year old inventor remaining on an almost exclusive milk diet.

The great inventor was married his second time in 1886 to Mina M. Miller. He had five children, Thomas A. Edison, Jr., Charles Edison, Theodore Edison, Mrs. M. B. Oser and Mrs. John E. Sloane.

Inventor Dies at Home; 84 Years of Age

Wife, Children, Doctor at Bedside as End Comes

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 18 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison died at his home at 3:24 a.m. He was 84 years old. His wife, six children, personal physician and two nurses were at the bedside when the end came.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison is nearing the end.

His servants and his grandchildren bade him farewell today. Dr. Hubert S. Howe prepared to remain at his bedside.

The depth of the coma which is expected to be the aged inventor's last sleep was increasing. Dr. Howe said he has developed gradual acceleration of the pulse and rate of respiration.

Servants See Master
The servants filed into the sickroom one at a time. Each stood by the bedside for a brief moment and looked on the face of his sleeping master, and expected to see him again only in death.

The grandchildren were perhaps too young for realization of the occasion, but they, too, were brought to the bedside for a moment. They were Thomas Edison Sloane, 14; John Edison Sloane, 9; Peter S. Sloane, and Michael E. Sloane, 1 year old.

Issues Bulletin
A bulletin at 6 p.m. from Dr. Howe said:

"During the past three hours Mr. Edison's condition has not changed as much as it did in the preceding period, but his respiration is a little shallow. His pulse rate and volume are about the same."

Arrangements have been made to transmit Dr. Howe's regular bulletins to President Hoover by wireless while the president is traveling aboard a battleship to attend the Yorktown sesquicentennial celebration.

Relatives Within Call
The inventor's sons, Thomas A. Jr., and Charles, and his daughter, Mrs. John Eyre Sloane, spent the day at the home and the other Edison children, Mrs. Marion Estelle Oser, of Norwalk, Conn.; Theodore and William, remained within call at the homes of friends and relatives in the vicinity.

The stout heart that had carried Mr. Edison safely through an attack of pneumonia two years ago and a sudden collapse last August, has begun to falter. The deep coma from which no unusual efforts have been made to rouse him, gives him the appearance of being in a steady quiet sleep.

Will University of Iowa Campus Seem Like That of 90's?

Will the University of Iowa campus resemble that of the gay 90's? Such a question might be asked following the plea made by Pi Epsilon Pi last night as the 1931 corn monument was formally burned near Iowa Union.

Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity, issued an edict as Iowa rooters watched the monument burn last night, to the effect that loyal Iowa men would be expected to let their whiskers grow uncombed until the football team emerges victorious in a game.

No statement was given out by the fraternity representatives as to whether or not clipping of flowing whiskers into artistic designs would be permitted.

Convict Gang Czar on 5 of 23 Counts Charging Evasion of Federal Tax Revenues

Judge Will Postpone Sentence Until Tuesday

FEDERAL BUILDING, Chicago, Oct. 17 (AP)—Alphonse Capone, Chicago's notorious gang character was convicted by a federal court jury tonight on five out of 23 counts, charging violation of income tax laws.

The jury required eight hours and 18 minutes to reach a verdict. The counts on which Capone was convicted include three felony counts, charging attempt to evade and defeat income taxes for the years 1925, 1926 and 1927 and two misdemeanor counts charging failure to file income tax returns in 1928 and 1929. The maximum penalty possible is 17 years imprisonment and $50,000 fine.

Acquitted of 17 Felony Counts
The big gangster was acquitted on the one indictment charging attempt to evade and defeat taxes on a 1924 income. He was also acquitted of 17 felony counts on the second indictment, many of them duplications of the counts on which he was found guilty.

The jury was polled once and then, after Assistant U. S. District Attorney Jacob E. Grossman said it appeared that the jury might have been confused on the numbers of the various counts, the attorneys went into a conference as a recess was called.

Jury Deliberates Constantly
The jury was given the case at 2:42 p.m. today and deliberated constantly without even a bite to eat, until 10:50 when it sent out word that it had reached its decision.

The husky gang czar, dressed for his final day in court in a light green suit was summoned from his hotel headquarters and 20 minutes later the 12 men filed in with their verdict.

Grossman said it appeared "inconsistent" that the jury should find Capone guilty of evading taxes in 1925, 1926 and 1927 and guilty of similar felony counts in 1928 and 1929.

Capone Smiles
The defendant smiled as the verdict was read by the clerk of the court. One of his attorneys, Albert Fink, announced informally a motion for a new trial and later withdrew the announcement.

The three felony counts on which Capone was convicted, charged that his income was $257,286 in 1925; $196,676 in 1926; $218,056 in 1927 and that he omitted to evade and defeat taxes on these incomes. The government did not attempt to prove these exact amounts, however, and the court instructed the jury that it should find Capone guilty if it determined that he had merely a "taxable" income, or one over $5,000 for each of the years in question.

The trial ended in confusion, with the government apparently more concerned over the jury's failure to convict Capone on 17 of the counts than the defense was with his conviction on five of the charges.

Capone and his attorneys, all smiling, went into a huddle in the corridor during the short recess, Michael Ahern, one of the defense lawyers saying "It was what I expected."

Judge Wilkerson, after much discussion, granted a request by the defense to argue their motion for arrest of the judgment and set 10 a.m. Tuesday as the time.

The court denied the motion to grant a new trial when Defense Attorney Fink presented it, saying it was "obviously improper" and that there could be no argument about it. He said that unless the defense moved at once for a new trial he would pronounce sentence.

Fink asked for "assurance that you have grounds for the motion."

"I not only can assure you of that, your honor," Fink said, "but I can assure you I will convince your honor that you should arrest the judgment and that you will do so." All other motions will be argued Tuesday also, the court said.

Counsel for the government recessed for 10 minutes to confer "on the consistency of the verdict" hinting that the contrasting judgments on the several counts "might need to be looked into."

They reported after a conference that the statutes showed the verdict to be consistent. Defense Attorney Ahern had said the same from the time it was returned.

Although the judge said he "was very clear about the impropriety of an arrest of judgment," Attorney Fink promised to cite him "a long line of cases."

Judge Wilkerson adjourned court without passing sentence, indicating that he would sentence Capone Tuesday after he had heard motions from both sides. Judge Wilkerson told the jurors that any who wished to, could be excused at once, and that those who wanted to serve on other cases might remain in the custody of the marshal.

Scared Face Still Grins
Capone, a wide grin on his scared face, was told that he didn't look as if he felt badly.

"I'm perfectly healthy," was his reply.

Corn Monument Becomes Popcorn to Musical Effects

Formally drew tradition into line last night, as the 1931 corn monument became a mass of smoldering ashes. Instead of being ignited by stealth at a time known only to a few, the monument was ceremoniously and openly burned, with Pi Epsilon Pi national pep fraternity, officiating at the "cremation," held near Iowa Union.

The University of Iowa band backed by a crowd of Iowa rooters provided music for the occasion, as the monument was moved to its final resting place during the Iowa-Indiana game in the afternoon, and reached its formal end shortly after 7 p.m.

Athletic Board to Ask Big 10 for Ames Tilt

Committee Will Likely Vote by Mail; No Date Set
Permission of the Western conference for a post season football game between Iowa and Iowa State will be sought by the state university, Prof. E. H. Lauer, director of athletics said tonight.

The Iowa athletic board met in a two hour session yesterday afternoon and voted to petition the Big Ten faculty committee to play the game.

Dean C. C. Williams, chairman of the board said that it was not yet decided on what date to ask that the game be played. It is probable the vote of the conference will be taken by mail.

Under the present Big Ten regulations Iowa will also play in a post season charity game with another conference school, on Nov. 28. The resolution voted by the Iowa board does not ask that the game which is to be arranged by the Western conference be set aside.

Big Six Committee Okays Charity Game

AMES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Permission of Big Ten conference officials, of which group the State University of Iowa is a member, tonight was the only requisite remaining for the proposed charity post-season football game between the teams of Iowa university and Iowa State college.

Strolling Through Fashion Lane

By CELIA GOLDBERG
Society Editor, The Daily Iowan

22-44-68 Shift! Dame Fashion now adorns her favorite child, the college girl, in "Football Helmets." They're made on the order of the real helmet, but the material is much softer, usually of oyster chenille. And in bright fall colors they're quite nifty, girls, and oh, so comfy at the game!

In the midst of the season Paris makes a "right-about-face" in millinery fashions and introduces new versions of the beloved beret. Perky bows and jaunty feathers balance the downward sweep of the beret draping.

The Japanese have a very romantic name for society's favorite jewel, the pearl. They call it the "tide-jewel," and regard it as a certain luck-bringer. Pearls are used in decorating lockets and chains as the newest ornaments worn with the new old-fashioned frocks.

Here's a good one, girls! Hankies of French line are being shown just the color of our lip rouge... not a smudge will ever be seen.

The frivolities of the Victorian era are being combined with the practicality of our modern age. Flouncings are removable, and lines are cleverly fitted to compensate for the lack of a belt.

And it's even possible for us to be our most feminine and still be practical in some of the new afternoon frocks. The old fashioned angel sleeves are fitted to the elbow, and then flare widely. Two rows of Valenciennes lace might border the sleeves and increase the grace of their flowing lines. The lace is usually basted on, and can be easily removed for washing.

The vogue for corduroy is raging—big girls, little girls, every girl seems to be attracted to suits and skirts in cherry-red, Spanish tile, copen and green.

Woolens lend their fresh newness

Fur-lined coats will be as smart as all-fur coats during the autumn and winter and many women will prefer this type of coat to any other. The new woolens chosen for these fur-lined coats are best described as "spongy." The fur lining, which provides adequate warmth for coldest weather, is made with deep collars and usually with generous cuffs of fur as well.

The smartest furs being used for fur-lining are bodger, blended cross fox, sika fox, red fox, kit fox, beaver, skunk, mountain sable, Parisian lamb, kolinsky, caracul, wolf and racoon. Not a bad list to choose from, is it?

Fashion seems to be all in the favor of the poor pocketless women, who yearn constantly for enough space in which to carry all their belongings. The largest, roomiest bags of many seasons are in the height of style. They are designed ever so simply with long, flat pockets that allow the bags to open widely, thereby making it a simple matter to find among the contents just what is wanted at any particular moment.

Clasps are made of tortoise shell or metal and the bags themselves are made of many of the varieties of soft leather including suede, which is perhaps one of the most popular for winter wear. Alligator and calfskin are also being used to great advantage in the newest handbags.

Necklaces that fairly cover the throat are being done with those simply made dinner and dancing frocks. In order to break the monotony which often results in an ornament of this sort, some have been designed strung from enamel and crystal beads.

Press Seeks Senate Stand on Arms Cut

34 Senators Answer Paper's Query on Major Issues

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The New York Post said today, respondents of 34 senators to a questionnaire indicated the senate would listen favorably to a proposal for reduction of war debts, if coupled with a corresponding cut in armaments. Four of the 24 senators who took a definite stand on such double-barreled reduction, in their replies to the newspaper, favored the idea without requiring further definition of the terms of such a proposal. Brookhart answers Eleven others, including Senator Brookhart of Iowa, many with various qualifications, expressed their willingness to listen to the terms of such a bargain. Nine were in avowed disapproval. The others of the 34 senators, who answered the poll, were doubtful or failed to express an opinion. The senate has a membership of 96, but there is one vacancy.

To a second question, whether they favored an extension of the one-year Hoover moratorium on war debts and reparations, seven voted no and four yes, with the remainder doubtful. Interest in a proposed bargain with European countries over limitation of armaments and a cut in war debts has been heightened by the conferences President Hoover soon will hold with Premier Laval of France, and Signor Grandi, foreign minister of Italy, naval holiday exponent.

Hoover to Confer Conversations between Mr. Hoover and both the foreign statesmen are certain to drift swiftly from disarmament to economics and undoubtedly to the desire of Italy and France for a cut in the war debts. The president has voiced repeatedly a belief that while European nations continue to spend enormous sums on armaments, they cannot alleviate materially their financial difficulties.

In Washington it is considered certain he will insist on drastic arms reductions before there can be any further relief from war debts and reparations. Leaders Willing to Help Europe Congressional leaders already have signified to him a willingness to work sympathetically on the war debt plea if Europe promises to cooperate along the other line.

The four who expressed unqualified approval were Senators Cope-land of New York; Logan of Kentucky; and Walsh of Montana, all Democrats; and Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon.

The senators who apparently are in favor of hearing overtures for a cut in armaments and debts, but who would wish to qualify the bargain in one way or another, include Senators Borah, of Idaho; Brookhart of Iowa; Capper of Kansas;razier of North Dakota; Carey of Wyoming, all Republicans, and Senator Gore of Oklahoma.

Moratorium Discussed Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, favored the extension of the moratorium conditional on reduction of armaments.

In favor of an extension of the moratorium without qualifications were Senators Bingham of Connecticut, Capper of Kansas, Hastings of Delaware and Watson of Indiana, all Republicans. Avowedly against it were Senators Blaine of Wisconsin, Borah of Idaho, and Reed of Pennsylvania, all Republicans, and Carsaway of Arkansas, McKellar of Tennessee, Walsh of Montana, Dill of Washington, all Democrats.

Farmers Fail in Attempt to Close Season on Pheasants

HUMBOLDT, Oct. 17 (AP)—Belle that pheasants are valuable aids to the farmers in fighting grasshoppers and insect pests has led to a fruitless attempt by Humboldt county farmers to prevent an open season on the birds.

A petition by 250 farmers was sent to state fish and game department officials. W. E. Albert, state game warden, informed the petitioners that it would be impossible to change the plans, since an open season in Humboldt county had already been arranged in response to a previous petition sent by residents of the county.

Some of the farmers have threatened to erect "No Hunting" signs on their farms to prevent killing of the birds. The supply of pheasants has been reduced considerably as a result of five dry open season last year and the dry weather during the summer.

Henry County Cattle Testing Nears Finish

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 17 (AP)—In two days, veterinarians testing Henry county cattle for tuberculosis said today, operations in this area will be completed.

Readings were continued today in an atmosphere of calm, contrasting with that of other days this week when Iowa national guardsmen and the testers they escorted have been defied by farmers opposing the administration of the state compulsory tuberculosis testing law.

Sheriff Wants Troops What plans the veterinarians have for their work upon the completion of reading the results of the tests Monday have not been disclosed. It is generally understood that they will move on into Des Moines county, whose seat is Burlington, but this has not officially been confirmed.

At the State House in Des Moines, the governor's office refused to comment on a request Sheriff Delbert Murray of Des Moines county made for troops to accompany the testers when they go there.

Sheriff Murray said Des Moines county was "one of the hottest places in the state" in opposition to the testing.

Only Two Reactors J. J. Mills and C. E. Carnahan, meanwhile, were at liberty following their arrest Friday on allegations that they refused to corral their cattle in anticipation of testing. Carnahan stoutly maintained his innocence.

So far, 22 herds have been tested in this county. In the 47 herds comprising 1,900 head whose tests have been read, only two reactors have been found, these on the farm of Charles Carlisle.

Wisconsin Scores Three Touchdowns in First Quarter; Upsets Purdue 21-14

Early Badger Drive Downs Boilermakers

Late Rally Nets Two Touchdowns for Losing Team

CAMP RANDALL STADIUM, MADISON, Wis., Oct. 17 (AP)—Flashing an early offense that dazed their opponents in the first period Wisconsin gridgers scored three touchdowns in rapid succession to defeat Purdue, 21 to 14 in a Dad's day game played before 35,000 here today.

The game was only five minutes old when the Badgers crossed the Purdue goal line for the first touchdown and eight minutes later the Purdue line had been crossed again. The first touchdown came after an 80 yard drive but the second was due in part to a Purdue fumble which Wisconsin recovered on the Boilermakers' 25 yard line.

A blocked punt accounted for the third touchdown. After the Badgers found they could play the Purdue line they played as if inspired and were not in danger until the third and last periods when Purdue got their vaunted aerial game functioning. During the last two periods the Badgers defense was frequently taxed to stop Purdue's passes.

Three Offensive Stars Linfor, Schneller, and McGuire were the Badgers stars in the first period offensive. They alternated in taking the ball to the three yard line where Schneller hurried the line for the counter. Linfor kicked the extra point. A short punting duel was halted when Haworth recovered Horstmann's fumble on the latter's 25 yard line. Schneller's pass to Lovahn on the 30 yard line put the Badgers in position to score again. Schneller went over on the third play. Linfor again kicked goal.

After the third kickoff, Purdue's running attack was checked by a 15 yard penalty that put the ball on the nine yard line. Kubit broke through and blocked Moss' punt, falling on the ball for the third touchdown. The Badgers scoring ended when Linfor kicked the extra point.

Not until late in the second period did Purdue get beyond midfield. At the start of the third period the Boilermakers opened their offensive. Gain on Passes Purvis, Horstmann and Hecker went 20 yards on a series of reverse plays and Hecker shot a pass that was good for 16 yards. Pardoner then took a pass from Hecker and went over for a touchdown. Hecker shot a 26 yard pass to Purvis a little later that paved the way for another touchdown. Moss caught another pass on the 11 yard line and Hecker added three yards on a right end run. Pardoner failed a pass on the next play which drew the Badgers out of position and then ran across the goal line. Pardoner drop kicked both times for the extra points.

A spectacular run by John Evans for 47 yards and a touchdown in the final quarter provided the biggest thrill of the day. The other Illinois touchdowns were scored by Gill Berry and Ed Snively. Herman Walzer and Bob Horsley contributed the extra points with placekicks.

Illinois gained 177 yards against 84 for Bradley. The Illini gained 131 yards on passes and Bradley's 17 of the 20 attempted passes. Illinois completed 13 while Bradley completed three out of seven.

Kansas Jayhawkers Upset by Aggies 13-0

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 17 (AP)—Bo McMillan's Kansas Aggies, led by a sophomore battering ram and carrying a threatening aerial offense, humbled the Big Six champion Kansas Jayhawkers, 13 to 0, in their conference football game here today, before a crowd of 15,000.

Ralph Graham of Eldorado, Kan., crushed the Jayhawkers wall for one touchdown and Elden Auker, kicked the point. Captain Henry Cronkite produced the other with the pass attack.

Texas State Downs Oklahoma by 3 to 0

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 17 (AP)—The University of Texas ran its string of consecutive victories over the University of Oklahoma to five today when Claude "Ox" Blanton kicked a 15-yard field goal to give the Longhorns a 3 to 0 win.

Balked for three periods by a stalwart Sooner line, Coach Clyde Littlefield sent Blanton into the game for only one play. He placekicked the ball squarely between the posts and then the Longhorns dropped into defensive play, which thwarted Oklahoma's aerial game.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Underdogs bared their fangs on football fields scattered all over the country yesterday and when the games were over many teams favored to win were turned back, or just barely nosed out victories. It was a field for the longshots.

In Iowa stadium the Old Gold turned in a most surprising performance by actually outplaying a team that was favored to win by from two to five touchdowns. Every man on the Hawkeye squad deserves credit, and one must not forget Coach Durt Ingwersen.

Ohio State gave its followers plenty to cheer over, in stalking the Wolverine to its lair and capturing it. Michigan had high hopes of coming out on top of the Big Ten this year and was not looking for any sort of opposition from the Buckeye.

Purdue was another Big Ten eleven that was swept off its feet by a savage onslaught from a supposedly weak team. Wisconsin ripped the Boilermakers apart in a first quarter attack and then held off Purdue's counter.

Columbia turned in the biggest surprise in the east by trouncing Dartmouth. The game was the first major contest this fall for the Blue and White and there is no telling how loudly the Lions will roar before the end of the season.

John Harvard, holding aloft a 14 to 13 victory, charged the Army off the gridiron, while the Navy barely escaped being scuttled by Delaware in beating the state school by one touchdown.

Wildcats Find Bruins Tough But Win 19-0

"Breather" Holds Fans Breathless During First Half

DYCHES STADIUM, Evanston, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP)—It took Ken Meenan, 190-pound sophomore halfback, to shake Northwestern into stride today before the Wildcats could defeat the University of California's Southern Branch eleven, 19 to 0, in what was expected to be a "breather" and wound up as a lively afternoon workout.

Northwestern's attack was immensely superior, netting 18 first downs to two for the golden-shirted westerners, but ragged play in the first period, coupled with an effective Bruin forward pass defense, kept the Wildcats from scoring until the second session.

Wildcat Reserves Star Coach Hanley started his reserves, but they could do nothing and the regulars were hustled into action. It took them most of the first period to get warmer up, but they went all over Meenan battered his way almost single-handed 20 yards for the first touchdown in the second period.

In the third period, this same Meenan intercepted a pass by Caldwell, California's substitute quarterback, on the Bruins' 40 yard line, and with some help from Al Moore, took the ball to the one yard line from where he rammed it over. The final score came in the last session when the westerners were well softened up by the bruising power of Wildcat regulars and reserves.

Moore, Rentner and Meenan hammered their way from the 46 yard line, with Moore plunging over from the one yard line.

Bruins Lack Offense The Bruins did not have much offense, but their defense against Pug Rentner, Northwestern's running and passing ace, left little to be desired. Only in the final period, when the Bruins were worn and weary, could he get away with his passes, and then not enough to score.

Bobby Decker, Bruin halfback, was outstanding for the vanquished, doing a good job of punting and making good gains near the end of the game.

Kansas Aggies Upset Jayhawkers 13 to 0 as Soph Back Stars

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 17 (AP)—A sophomore battering ram and a bewildering pass attack devised by Coach A. N. (Bo) McMillin enabled the Kansas Aggies to humble the Big Six champion University of Kansas football team, 13 to 0, here today in the Jayhawkers' first 1931 test against conference opposition.

Before a crowd of 15,000, Ralph Graham, sophomore halfback, sent Kansas State into the lead by scoring a touchdown in the second period on half a dozen successive drives at the willing Jayhawkers line. And this sophomore flash recovered a fumble that sent the Aggies on their second and final touchdown advance.

It was a tricky lateral pass that put the ball up in scoring range for Graham's galloping act and it was a pass that scored the second touchdown.

Ohio State Surprises Michigan in 20-0 Win; Yale Whips Chicago 27-0

Aerial Attack of Wolverines Fails to Click

Buckeyes Outgain 1931 Co-Champs, Count First Score

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP) Rated as underdogs, a husky Ohio State eleven took Michigan by surprise today, swept them off their feet from the start, and delivered a major blow to the Wolverine championship hopes.

The final score, 20 to 7, was as unexpected to the 70,000 spectators as it was to Coach Harry Kipke's 1930 co-champions. Michigan's running attack was stopped on nearly every occasion, and her vaunted aerial offensive failed to function until too late to be effective.

Fumbles Costly A series of costly fumbles brought trouble to the Michigan line early in the game. One, by Jack Heston, sophomore fullback, second son of the famed Willie Heston of a generation ago, contributed directly to the first Ohio touchdown. Even Michigan's famous scoring play "Old 83," failed when an official, became entangled in the play, and Ohio recovered the ball.

Ohio's fumble gave Ohio State the ball on Michigan's 31 yard line midway in the first period. Hinchman, Buckeye halfback, drove through for a first down on the 11 yard line, and Carroll went around right end for the first Ohio score, aided by excellent blocking. Haurbich failed to make the extra point.

Michigan scored in the second period when Williamson blocked Cramer's punt behind the goal line and Goldsmith on the ball for a touchdown. Goldsmith booted the placement, and the score was tied 7 all.

Break Tie in Third Ohio came back in the third period, however, with a 55 yard march down the field to Michigan's two yard line, where Carroll again slipped through for the second score. Haurbich failed to make the extra point.

Ohio's perfection in blocking brought the final touchdown in the fourth period, when Cramer caught Heston's punt and raced 45 yards down the sidelines, Peppé kicking the extra point.

Ohio State had a net gain of 109 yards from rushing, while Michigan had 47. Three of the Buckeyes' four forward passes were completed for a gain of 21 yards. Michigan completed four passes in 12 attempts for a gain of 95 yards.

Late Harvard Rally Downs Army 14-13

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Due chiefly to the extraordinary versatility of Captain Barry Wood, Jr., Harvard came from behind today to conquer Army, 14 to 13, in a spectacular game that moved the Crimson to the front ranks of eastern championship contenders.

Trailing by two touchdowns after the first period, Wood directed a brilliant attack that overcame the Cadets' line in the second period. His bullet-like passes led to a brace of touchdowns by Bernie White and then the slick Crimso captain played the stellar role in a defense that repulsed Army's desperate last-half threats to regain the lead.

Wood took command of the situation in the second quarter after Army's light cavalry backfield, featuring Ray Stecker, had romped to two touchdowns. The crowd of 20,000 that packed Michie stadium and set a record for West Point rocked the old fortifications above the Hudson as the Cadets appeared to be on their way to a rout.

Stecker scored the first Army touchdown on a 34-yard cut-back and Sheridan, an end, accounted for the next one as he pounced on Stecker's fumble across the Crimso goal line. Stecker missed one of his kicks for the extra point, but the big lead looked safe and the star halfback was withdrawn with his running mates at the outset of the second quarter.

This was the signal for Wood to turn the tide. With the aid of two big "breaks," some gains being by Jack Crickard and Bernie White, the Harvard leader put on a show that dazzled the big throng.

Iowa Wesleyan Ties Central College by Second Half Rally

PELLA, Oct. 17 (AP)—After trailing 14 to 0 at the half, Iowa Wesleyan staged a rally in the final two periods this afternoon to tie Central college 14 to 14.

Lateral and forward passes in the first half paved the way for Central's counters and Williams, Central fullback, carried the oval over for both markers. Thorpe place kicked for extra points.

At the start of the second half Iowa Wesleyan march was halted on the one-yard line and Central punted out of danger. The Methodists repeated the performance, however, and McAvoy, quarterback, counted on a dash through the line. After advancing a long pass in the fourth quarter Frazey went through the line for the second Wesleyan counter, Barry kicked both goals.

Trojans Run Wild to Crush Oregon in 53-0 Slaughter

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Los Angeles, Oct. 17 (AP)—Troj's mighty men were foot-loose again today, as the University of Southern California crushed Oregon's green garbed gridgers into one of the most decisive defeats of their history, 53 to 0, before 50,000 persons.

For the third time in as many starts, the Trojans battering their irresistible way to victory over an opponent from the northwest. Oregon State and Washington State were the previous victims, but today's trouncing was far and away the most decisive.

Shorn of his chief offensive threat, "Smoky" Joe Lillard, by a conference ruling of ineligibility a day before the game, Coach Clarence Spears could not find a backfield combination which was able to press deeper than the Southern California 43 yard line.

Complete Rout It was a complete rout for the Maroons, who were outclassed and outplayed in everything except courage. They never threatened and never penetrated beyond Yale's 34 yard line. Leaving no doubt of its superiority, Yale crashed over with four touchdowns, scoring the last two in final minutes of play.

After a dull first period in which Yale failed to score, the spirit of fight distilled into the Ell by the appearance in the game of their captain and star, Albie Booth. After Booth entered the conflict the result was never in doubt. Booth tossed long and accurate forward passes and figured in the first two touchdowns. With the game tucked away, he retired in favor of Bob Lassiter, who carried on by smashing across with a third touchdown.

Taylor Scores With the ball on the 11 yard line, Taylor, the Blue's big right half back, picked up a yard and Booth swept to the Chicago three yard line on an indirect pass from Taylor. On the next play the procedure was reversed, with Taylor running across the gridiron and giving Yale the line in a corner of the field for a touchdown. Booth successfully drop kicked for the extra point.

In the third period, Booth started throwing passes, finally shooting a long one to Barres, Yale end, who plucked it out of the air on the 15 yard line and raced across Chicago's goal for the second marker.

Forward Passes Even the staunchest followers of Notre Dame football fortunes, accustomed to seeing Drake throw up a great defense each year, were somewhat awed by the rapidity of the Irish touchdown combinations. Fifty seven players were used in action but still the huskies from little Drake couldn't stop the attack. The more substitutes to enter the game, the more bewildering was the rush toward the Drake goal.

So overwhelming was Notre Dame's superiority with first, second, third, fourth, and fifth team combinations that they were forced to punt but once, early in the first period. The statistics of ground gaining resembled the work of an adding machine expert; Notre Dame gaining 636 yards from the line of scrimmage but 60 for Drake.

First Downs 23-5 Of the 28 first downs scored, Notre Dame collected 23 to Drake's 5, while most of the statistics came by long runs, which saw the Notre Dame backs blocking beautifully, and the ball carriers fighting, squirming and pulling as if each yard meant the difference between victory and defeat.

Indiana Whips Iowa 15-40 in Harrier Meet The Indiana cross country team, three times winner of the conference championship, opened its drive for the 1931 title here yesterday morning by swamping Iowa 15 to 40 over the Finkbine course.

Led by Capt. Harry Brockmitch, who loped over the 3 mile route in 15:54.5, the Hoosiers swept the first five places. Watson and Neese finished in a dead heat for second. Hornsbroskie copped fourth, and Hunter fifth. Kemp, an Indiana runner, was in the scoring, completed the rout by crossing the finish line ahead of the first Iowa man.

Howard Wickey, lone Old Gold major letter man, placing sixth, was the first Hawkeye to finish. H. R. Klewin, E. H. Gunderson, Capt. Emil Troit, and N. Rosenberg followed Wickey for the remaining Iowa points.

The run marked the opening of the new Finkbine course, over which the conference meet will be run Oct. 21. Brockmitch, with his exceptional ability that has made him one of the outstanding distance men of the country, and established a record for the course that appears likely to stand for some time.

Coach George Bresnahan's men faced a highly polished squad of veteran runners and the defeat was not surprising. However, the Iowa mentor has developed the green squad considerably since opening practice, and in future meets they promise to show considerable improvement.

Bulldogs Rout Maroons With Aerial Attack

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—The fond dreams of Amos Alonzo Stagg, 69 year old dean of America's football coaches, to conquer Yale on the gridiron crashed to earth today.

Yale playing for the first time on mid-western soil, as a tribute to Stagg, its most illustrious athletic alumnus, crushed Stagg's hopelessly outclassed University of Chicago eleven, 27 to 0 before 35,000 spectators.

Complete Rout It was a complete rout for the Maroons, who were outclassed and outplayed in everything except courage. They never threatened and never penetrated beyond Yale's 34 yard line. Leaving no doubt of its superiority, Yale crashed over with four touchdowns, scoring the last two in final minutes of play.

After a dull first period in which Yale failed to score, the spirit of fight distilled into the Ell by the appearance in the game of their captain and star, Albie Booth. After Booth entered the conflict the result was never in doubt. Booth tossed long and accurate forward passes and figured in the first two touchdowns. With the game tucked away, he retired in favor of Bob Lassiter, who carried on by smashing across with a third touchdown.

Taylor Scores With the ball on the 11 yard line, Taylor, the Blue's big right half back, picked up a yard and Booth swept to the Chicago three yard line on an indirect pass from Taylor. On the next play the procedure was reversed, with Taylor running across the gridiron and giving Yale the line in a corner of the field for a touchdown. Booth successfully drop kicked for the extra point.

In the third period, Booth started throwing passes, finally shooting a long one to Barres, Yale end, who plucked it out of the air on the 15 yard line and raced across Chicago's goal for the second marker.

Forward Passes Even the staunchest followers of Notre Dame football fortunes, accustomed to seeing Drake throw up a great defense each year, were somewhat awed by the rapidity of the Irish touchdown combinations. Fifty seven players were used in action but still the huskies from little Drake couldn't stop the attack. The more substitutes to enter the game, the more bewildering was the rush toward the Drake goal.

So overwhelming was Notre Dame's superiority with first, second, third, fourth, and fifth team combinations that they were forced to punt but once, early in the first period. The statistics of ground gaining resembled the work of an adding machine expert; Notre Dame gaining 636 yards from the line of scrimmage but 60 for Drake.

First Downs 23-5 Of the 28 first downs scored, Notre Dame collected 23 to Drake's 5, while most of the statistics came by long runs, which saw the Notre Dame backs blocking beautifully, and the ball carriers fighting, squirming and pulling as if each yard meant the difference between victory and defeat.

Indiana Whips Iowa 15-40 in Harrier Meet The Indiana cross country team, three times winner of the conference championship, opened its drive for the 1931 title here yesterday morning by swamping Iowa 15 to 40 over the Finkbine course.

Led by Capt. Harry Brockmitch, who loped over the 3 mile route in 15:54.5, the Hoosiers swept the first five places. Watson and Neese finished in a dead heat for second. Hornsbroskie copped fourth, and Hunter fifth. Kemp, an Indiana runner, was in the scoring, completed the rout by crossing the finish line ahead of the first Iowa man.

Howard Wickey, lone Old Gold major letter man, placing sixth, was the first Hawkeye to finish. H. R. Klewin, E. H. Gunderson, Capt. Emil Troit, and N. Rosenberg followed Wickey for the remaining Iowa points.

The run marked the opening of the new Finkbine course, over which the conference meet will be run Oct. 21. Brockmitch, with his exceptional ability that has made him one of the outstanding distance men of the country, and established a record for the course that appears likely to stand for some time.

Coach George Bresnahan's men faced a highly polished squad of veteran runners and the defeat was not surprising. However, the Iowa mentor has developed the green squad considerably since opening practice, and in future meets they promise to show considerable improvement.

Penn Swamps Lehigh PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania football team overhwhelmed Lehigh University on Franklin field today, 32 to 0. The irresistible plunging of fullback Carl Perina accounted directly for three of Penn's five touchdowns, and brought the ball into position for the fourth by Lionel Collins. The fifth was made when curly Howard Colehower, tackle, blocked a punt on Lehigh's 20 yard line and carried it over the goal.

The Ripon touchdown came in the third period when Captain Anderson, Midwest all-conference fullback, carried the ball over after Lyle Runyan, sophomore end, blocked Bradendaus' kick and recovered on Cornell's four yard line. Steinman kicked for the extra point.

Navy Airship Tours Skies in Final Test

"Mistress of the Air" Visits Five Cities of Middle West

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—America's new mistress of the skies, the Akron, rode an afternoon breeze toward her home port today, her hours of probation almost at an end.

The great silver-sidled dirigible glided over Chicago at 1:35 p.m., its second visit of the day, and then moving out across the southern reaches of Lake Michigan pointed for her dock at Akron, Ohio.

Neighboring Cities Visited
The round of calls upon neighbor cities of the middle west gave the Akron the final tests required to prove herself worthy of her destined place in the U. S. navy. Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee were her ports of call.

A crisp, sparkling day gave the lakesides cities a thrilling view of the ship. Spanning Illinois from St. Louis by night, the Akron reached Chicago as the city was beginning its working day, and following the shores of the lake, leisurely moved northward past the great lakes naval station to Milwaukee. After a noon-time call at the Wisconsin port the dirigible turned about and sailed with a northerly wind for Chicago again. The 90 miles were negotiated in just an hour.

Sails Over Stadium
Fans thronging into Dyche stadium at Evanston for the Northwestern-University of California (Los Angeles) football game saw the ship sail overhead at 1:28 p.m. Seven minutes later little clusters of pedestrians craned their necks to watch the Akron move serenely south over Clark street, but many more walked along with no notice of the air queen 1,000 feet over their heads, the drone of motors and propellers drowned in the roar and racket of loop traffic. Ten minutes more, and the throngs in Stagg field for the Yale-Chicago game rose and sent up a great shout of greeting.

The Akron then veered over the blue lake, left the salute of Chicago's towering skyscrapers far astern and hurried toward Ohio and the dusk.

Sheriff Morgan Owes Boone County $161.25 Say State Checkers

DES MOINES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Sheriff Charles R. Morgan of Boone county owes the county $161.25 in fees collected during the last quarter of 1930 and not turned over to the clerk or treasurer, State Checkers John Horning, V. V. Screnson, and A. C. Turner reported today to State Auditor J. W. Long.

The report of the checkers was sent to County Attorney L. R. Johnson for demand upon the sheriff or his bonding company for the fees.

The checkers also reported that the county had paid $184.28 for gas consumed at the jail in 1930, a bill which, the checkers said, should have been paid by the sheriff from his allowance for boarding prisoners, ones.

Officers said they found 117 gallons of alcohol in their car, bearing license 17-8160. Strecklin and the woman fled the scene of the mishap but were later apprehended.

Witnesses said their automobile was rounding a curve at high speed when the accident occurred.

New Federation Opposes Federal Monopoly in Trade

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Incorporation of a recommendation for government operation of public utilities in the congressional independent's program is in effect, the Federation of American Business said today, "a declaration for a socialistic state."

New Organization
The federation, newly organized by members of grain, livestock, investment and public utility houses, opposes participation of the government in private business enterprise.

A committee of congressional independents proposed yesterday that private monopoly of public necessities be eliminated and public control be restored.

Will Socialize Industry
"The declaration," said a statement for the federation by B. W. Snow, crop statistician, "is in effect a declaration for a socialistic state, the taking over of the key industries of power and of transportation being practically the socialization of all industry and the complete destruction of private initiative."

He asserted North Dakota had a state debt of $482,000 in 1917 and after a program of state business enterprises had a debt of $33,000,000 in 1927. South Dakota, he said, had no state debt in 1917 but "after an experience with socialistic state experiments she owed $60,000,000 or $86.91 per capita, the highest per capita debt in the union."

County Votes to Slice Pay

School, Road Expenses Too Great, Decides Committee

WATERLOO, Oct. 17 (AP) Recommendation that salaries of county officials be reduced 25 per cent was voted at a mass meeting last night called by the county committee on the reduction of governmental expenditures. The sub-committee had recommended a 10 per cent reduction.

Attack School Expenses
A number of the speakers attacked what they termed unnecessary expenditures in the operation of schools. Considerable sentiment was expressed for repeal of the primary law, as well as longer terms for public officers resulting in fewer elections.

Other than repeal of the primary law, the recommendations of the sub-committee included: 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of all school employees, repeal of the law compelling supervisors to levy 17 mills for secondary roads and of the widows' pension act; consolidation of the offices of coroner and sheriff and auditor and recorder; elimination of one county engineer.

Curtail Road Fund
Curtailment of permanent road and bridge building in 1932, prohibiting more than one member of a family from employment in public offices, providing for only one deputy in each county office, enlargement of the rural school districts and changing the date of taxpaying from April and October to June and December.

The meeting decided to ask the legislature to enact the necessary laws next year to carry out the recommendations.

W. D. Strayer of Hudson, committee chairman, presided at the gathering which overflowed the court room.

The report of the checkers was sent to County Attorney L. R. Johnson for demand upon the sheriff or his bonding company for the fees.

Former Iowa Farm Boy Heads Pool Proposed by Hoover to Loosen Credit

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—A farm boy who started his financial career sweeping out a small-town Iowa bank became today the head of the mammoth rediscount pool pledged to ease the nation's credit.

Refused Treasury Post
The man: George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, who refused the portfolio of secretary of the treasury to bulge his bank into Chicago's largest.

The pool: the National Credit corporation, proposed by President Hoover and to which American bankers have pledged hundreds of millions to liquidate frozen assets.

Reynolds' selection, made at the directors' meeting in New York, capped a banking career that had soared as a meteor over the mid-west.

Ignoring his parents' request that he attend college, Reynolds entered the Guthrie County National bank at Panora, Ia., at the age of 15 as office boy. He was a farm boy near Panora, 68 years ago.

Soon after he became the bank's loan agent and traveled over Nebraska, establishing credit with farmers.

Worked in Des Moines
Then it was a cashier's post in a Des Moines, Ia., bank; two years later, the bank made him its president. Two more years and Reynolds was drawn into Chicago as cashier of the old Continental bank and in 1906—while he was still young enough to be the son of many of the directors—this bank made him its president. He retained this post in the merger that made the Continental and Commercial National bank.

In 1908, soon after his election as president of the American Bankers association, President Taft offered Reynolds the treasury post in the cabinet.

Reynolds has a theory that business and politics do not mix. He refused the portfolio.

all work may be done by this great power which now is unknown.

However, to understand the possibilities and to know definitely what can be done, it is necessary first to examine closely into the structure, the nature of the protons which are the centers of the atoms.

The invention of this new instrument probably has made this possible. The world probably will know shortly the potentialities of this new power and other scientists will be able to use the apparatus to gather support for their theories and hypotheses.

The "Cow" Rebellion Dies Down

(From the Davenport Times)
The cow test war is nearing its closing phase as testing of cattle in Henry county proceeds without interference in the townships which were known to be hot-beds of opposition. Fixed bayonets were sufficient to discourage physical resistance to the entry of the veterinarians, backed by state troops, on the farms of leading objectors.

Under military protection the law is being enforced. The assault upon the jail at New London and the liberation of an objector who had been turned over to peace officers gave a spectacular touch to the Henry county offensive.

Those participating in this lawless procedure are doubtless known to the authorities but since prosecution has been left to the civil courts it is unlikely that any example will be made even of the ring leaders of this interference with legal processes.

The weakness displayed by the civil arm of government in dealing with the "cow rebellion" is the most arresting phase of the flare-up. The sovereignty of the law has been repeatedly sacrificed to political expediency, often as personal as it was petty. It is this break-down which explains the military occupation of the trouble zones.

The collapse of authority must always be regretted. It portends business transgressions the issues involved in the controversy as to the fairness or reliability of the tests. These are matters which can be adjusted. If there are provisions in the law which a substantial number of farmers believe should be repealed, that course remains open. The live stock industry of Iowa is too valuable a source of income to be jeopardized. It may be assumed that a majority of Iowa farmers approve the purpose and designs of the law. It is to their interest that diseased cattle be disposed of. The most objectionable feature of the law will be revealed if that is the wish of the farmers of the state. But public sentiment will not countenance lowering safeguards of health nor will the intelligent element of our rural communities be misled to a degree that they imperil the stability of their stock.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Three minors implicated in a series of car thefts and petty robberies, who had cached in a cornfield 23 boxes of shotgun shells and seven firearms, are Iowa City's latest contribution to juvenile crime.

Iowa City has made too many such contributions, has had too many mere youths involved in similar delinquencies.

By coincidence another Friday event was a talk by E. G. "Dad" Schroeder before the Iowa City Woman's club—about the need in Iowa City for an organized playground system.

A playground system is not the entire solution, of course, not is it the only thing which can be done. But it seems to offer the greatest opportunity to do something constructive—and to do that something soon.

Maybe you recall that the significant point in Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy"—but which unfortunately did not get into the talkie version—is that the proper place to solve the crime problem is not at the murder trial end—that the chief culprit is not the individual, but society.

That applies to Iowa City's situation. Clyde Griffiths, who was electrocuted for the murder of Roberta Alden in "An American Tragedy," had led an unfulfilled, unsatisfied boyhood. He had desires and urges for which there was no normal outlet in his environment, and which he proceeded to meet as best he could by means that are illegal and immoral.

Mr. Schroeder told the Iowa City Woman's club that "Playground organization is primarily a struggle for human interests." It is also a means whereby the desires and longings of Clyde Griffiths in the making are met in desirable surroundings and without the tinge of evil which illicit enterprises give those who participate in them.

Because this is a university city and there is so much available in the way of cultural, recreational, and educational facilities it is easy to be misled into thinking that the factors for an adequate juvenile environment exist here. But most of these are for adults or university students, and the high school or grade school student is not eligible to share in many of them. And he has too few such activities of his own.

Iowa City does not want to be the parent of any American tragedies, and the only way for Iowa City to prevent them is to deal with the juvenile situation at every angle that is possible. Important among these possibilities is that of a playground system giving youngsters in all parts of town a place to grow up with normal recreation as a part of their lives.

Board of Trustees at Luther College Favor Reorganization Into Coeducational School

DECORAH, Oct. 17 (AP)—While Luther college today was in the midst of a celebration observing the seventeenth anniversary of its founding, an announcement was made that the board of trustees favored its reorganization into a coeducational institution.

Since its beginning, Luther has prided itself on being exclusively a college for men. During the last few years, this sentiment, however, has changed in some quarters, a resolution earlier this fall by the faculty favoring coeducation being the first definite step in that direction.

The Center of Population of the United States: During the past century the population of the entire United States has constantly shifted westward from the Atlantic seaboard. After the census bureau completed taking the 1930 census of the country, the center of population was found to be near Linton, Indiana. According to Prof. W. A. Cogshall, Indiana university astronomer, the exact center was found to be in a series of mud hills, on a strip of coal mine land owned by the Binkley Coal company, northeast of Linton. Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—If all movie children only had parents like Jackie Searl's.

Every cent this youngster makes goes on him, or into government bonds. His father, John E. Searl, still has his job as an oil driller in a field near Hollywood. The family live in the same house that they had before Jackie made his hit as Sid in "Tom Sawyer," and was awarded a Paramount contract. Jackie plays with every boy in the neighborhood. He and his mother walk to and from the studio. Jackie's father uses the family car.

Mrs. Searl, an intelligent, middle-aged woman, says: "My husband has provided a comfortable living for 25 years. He's on a five-day week now, like the rest of the oil workers, but he's going to keep right on. What Jackie makes is his own."

"People say he is natural on the screen. I feel if we spent a lot of money either on ourselves or him, he might lose this quality. We give him $5 spending money at the beginning of each picture. He buys his toys at the five-and-ten cent store, and likes them just as well as if they were expensive. "I am going to let him buy a pony. He's crazy about riding."

Over at Paramount, the school teacher says Jackie is the brightest pupil she has ever had. He memorizes a part by reading it over a few times.

In five years, if he stays out his contract, he will be comfortably well off. For this, he can thank his mother. How different she is from that other movie mother who went to Agua Caliente the other day and spent $350 on perfume.

NEAT COMEBACK
Among the brighter masters-of-ceremonies is Joe Lewis, out of O'Brien's supper club.

The other evening, Johnny Weissmuller, swimming star, was a visitor at the club. Lewis called him to the floor for an introduction.

"But who are you?" he asked an obsequious lad at a rear table.

"Oh, me," flipped Joe. "I'm a champ, too. He knows all the swimming strokes and I know all the dives."

LATEST GOSSIP
Thursday was the time set for the wedding of Wesley Ruggles and Arlene Judge. They took the vows before 10 guests at Wesley's Beverly Hills home. Grace Oram, a Boston girl, was maid of honor and Adela Rogers Hyland and Lela Hyams bridesmaids. Charles Ruggles has been married. After the ceremony, the couple motored to San Francisco, and there took a boat for British Columbia. They'll be back in two weeks.

James Dunn, a regular patron of the Ascott speedway, has bought himself a racing car. Gloria Swanson will return to Europe on the completion of her picture. Ruth Chatterton chews gum. The spirit of Sir Walter Raleigh is not dead. The other evening when Dorothy Lee hurt her foot playing Doug, at Dick Arlen's house, Marsh Dufferin carried her home—a married father of a block.

THEY READ THEM ALL
Out at M.G.M. they're still looking for the author who told a pretty studio reader: "I'll send you a copy of my new book."

Twelve girls in this department average a book a day, while a synopsis of each, and in their spare time, go through 115 magazines.

They have filed and cross indexed almost 1,000,000 stories.

They also read originals of known authors. But the beginner's manuscripts go back unopened in the next mail.

BUSHNELL SIGNED
On account of his work in "Five Star Final," Tony Bushnell has signed a long term contract with Warner Brothers. His most recent screen work was with Pola Negri in her new picture. Getting to the studio will be very handy for Tony, as he lives in Charles Farrell's house only two blocks away. As the Lakeside Golf club is still closed, he will be able to indulge his favorite hobby.

Bushnell is a two-handicap man on this course.

DIXIE DUCAN—

By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

Synopsis of Preceding Installments Missie Colfax is married off at 20 to Wesley Dexter, gay, florid, 35. He soon tires of her and just when she feels that life holds nothing for her, she meets Kirby Phelps. Suddenly they realize that they are in love. She wants to leave Wesley, but there is a sharp struggle between her heart and her sense of duty. Then she learns that she is going to have a child, and she knows that she must put Phelps out of her life. She is very unhappy, but she became accustomed to unhappiness during her childhood. She was the daughter of Stella, a burlesque actress, and Lambert Colfax, a member of an aristocratic family. Colfax deserted his wife and, after futile attempts at reconciliation, she killed herself. Then Missie went to live with her grandmother, old Mrs. Colfax, and her Aunt Adelaide. The dull, formal atmosphere of the Colfax home stifled Missie. From her father's Uncle Archibald she learned that her seafaring father is old Mrs. Colfax's favorite. Adelaide submits to parental tyranny, and Cecily, another daughter, has been disinherited. During these years Missie had been cut off from all her old acquaintances, and only now and then saw her step-sister, Ellen, who, after marrying Tommy Wilkins, became Eileen.

Men did not try to kill themselves in racing cars, for the Missies of the world. "Looking for thrills, that's all," he said. "If he kills himself we'll be out of a good engineer." But he had no use for Wesley, had Tommy. "Fooling around with women again," he said. "I don't object to his drinking, if he wants to make a hog of himself. But this other thing—do you suppose Missie knows?" "Any woman knows." "Then why doesn't she get out?" "She's got Eddie. Where's she to go? The Colfaxes have nothing. Unless you want her here?" "I wouldn't object," said Tommy placidly. But Eileen changed the subject. She had plans of her own. Already she and Tommy belonged to the new aristocracy of wealth. It smiled at the pretensions of the old families, rejected their standards of austere dignified living, demanded amusement and spent for it lavishly, showed a certain ostentation. But it was this wealth which was raising the cultural standards of the city, of the country. It travelled, collected, brought back to America not only works of art but an appreciation of them. It financed symphony orchestras in unlikely places, opera, picture galleries. Unlike the earlier generations it did not hoard its spent. And of this new aristocracy were Tommy and Eileen to be shining lights. Already they were planning another house well outside of town. "We'll keep the town house," Eileen told Missie. "The country place is for the warm weather. And, of course, we can open it for Christmas and have house parties there." Missie drove out there with her sometimes in Eileen's new electric. The children tucked in with them. Eileen talked, Missie listened. She had grown very silent, save when she was alone with Eddie. She had lost Wesley again. She knew that. Out of the wreckage of her life this child was all she had. Eileen said that she and Tommy were going abroad. "Come to New York and see us off, Missie. You need a change." "I'm afraid to leave Eddie." "Good heavens, what's your nurse for?" She decided to go. She could get some clothes, fix herself up. Maybe if she did, Wesley would stay around more. It was bad for Eddie, the way things were. Soon he would begin to notice. She did not hate Wesley. She was often sorry for him. He was prospering, but she knew he was not happy. His infidelities were escapes from some profound inner loneliness which sent him into the back alleys of life after forgetfulness. That was her fault; she had not satisfied him. He loved life and the good things of life, gaiety and laughter, good food, good wine. He liked place, to be pointed out in a crowd. He was intensely physical; his body ruled him. But whatever his sins of omission or commission, he had given her this child. She even felt dumbly grateful to him, but she would not tell him so. He would have laughed. She tried to show it in other ways, ordering his house as he liked it, his food, his drink. "I hope the ducks are right, Wes. I told her how you want them." He liked his ducks raw. He liked to cut into them and see the blue-red flesh, the juices flowing out. And she never locked her door again. This at least she could do. But the boy's crib stood next to her bed; when Wesley wandered in it was to look at the child and to wander out again. They had settled down to a life together without love or passion, and apparently it was to go on forever. In the end she agreed to go to New York with Tommy and Eileen. She went to her grandmother's to say good-bye. Sarah was very feeble, in bed a part of each day. And old Ismael was dead. The cow had gone, the horses. As she went in she noticed once again the dusty smell of old carpets long unlifted. Waiting to be summoned up stairs she stood at the window, looking out. The iron fence, the deer, were unchanged, but beyond them the street had altered. There were bicycles, tram cars, an occasional automobile. Life was moving fast, speeding up.

People even walked more quickly. "Hurry up, get out of the way, I've no time to waste." When she went up Sarah was in her high backed chair, a shawl around her old shoulders, and Adelaide was rolling spills. So she went to New York. She knew she needed a change. When she saw Tommy and Eileen off, she found herself queerly emotional on the dock, watching the ship slowly moving out into the river. Years later she was to wait for another ship to move down that same river, and to have again that sense of finality: the phantom caravan going on, and she being left. There were tears in her eyes when she turned away. She found Kirby Phelps beside her. "Missed them," he said. "Well, since I have found you—"

He looked older. There was a streak of white in his dark hair, but his eyes were still kind. He saw that she could not speak, and taking her arm led her out to a cab. "I'll take you to your hotel," he said. And only later, side by side and jolting uptown, "Missie, Missie! What has happened to you?" "Nothing. Maybe that's the trouble." She had no coquetry, no arts, even no desire to reclaim him. She was trembling, but she felt quite calm. "Are you as lost as you look, Missie?" "I have my boy. That's enough." He had his old impulse to deny that for her, to take her into his arms and comfort her. Time had softened his heart, but she still had the power to move him; he had been faithful to that memory of her. But he could not destroy for her what he saw was her only salvation. He sat back and folded his arms. "Then you are indeed blessed among women," he said, rather quaintly. He left her in the lobby of her hotel, and standing there, with his hat in his hand, he told her that he had never forgotten her, that he still cared, that she could count on him, always. She thanked him gravely, her eyes on his face as though she wanted to impress it on her mind afresh, or as though she were storing up some memory for the years to come. As indeed she was. She went back to Wesley. She put on her pretty new dresses, her smart hats. Mr. Gibson might have drawn her; she had the delicacy, the eyesomeness that he gave his young women, the same proud little tilt to her head. But Mr. Gibson never saw her and Wesley did not notice. Wesley's interests were extending. He was much more than a middleman now; he was a director in Tommy's bank, in a new insurance company, a stockholder in the bicycle business, in the automobile factory. Tommy was carrying him up with him. And some of Kirby's dreams were already coming true. Men were flying; still experimentally, but conquering the air. The idea had become the fact. They did not go away that summer; Wesley was too busy. And the heat was terrific. It shimmered in visible waves above the tracks of the street cars, and people dropped on the pavements as if they had been pole-axed. Even the nights brought no relief. The tall brick house was breathless, torrid, and Eddie was ill; he could not eat, and in his fitful sleep he whimpered. Missie, hanging over him like a pale ghost, felt both her strength and her endurance failing, her nerves gradually getting the better of her. Eddie's doctor, looking at her, prescribed bromides she forgot to take. She felt always as though there was a tight band around her head. The beginning of Eddie's convalescence found her collapsing. She dragged herself about the sizzling stove had rendered the room unbearable, and the cook was sitting in the coal cellar fanning herself. Eddie was better, but pale and languid. "Take your milk, darling." "I don't want any milk, murrver." By the end of the week she had reached her limit. Her request that she be allowed to take Eddie out of town had met with no response from Wesley, packing a bag for a week end party somewhere. There began in her, with his departure, a slow smouldering anger and resentment that unknown to her was growing throughout all of that afternoon into

Sees Gloomy End

H. G. Wells, distinguished English novelist, sociologist and outline of history, painted a dismal picture of the future as he arrived at New York aboard the S. S. Aquitania for a visit to America. He prophesied that the current depression would come to an end only after the entire western civilization had collapsed.

was his chattel, his creature. It was his house, his child, his wife, his carriage, his horses. A furious hatred began to shake her, and all that Sunday while Eddie slept she sat and rocked backward and forward, her eyes sunken and her mouth set. Something of Stella that was in her, something common and yet terrible, was rising to the surface. And Wesley chose that night to attempt a reconciliation! He had had a hint or two lately. Tommy, about to sail, had said something. "How old are you, West Fifty?" "Forty-three." "Humph! You look older. Better try the domestic life for a while. No use wearing out a machine before its time." And behind those quiet words of Tommy's there had been a threat. Tommy was carrying no dead wood. Push your share or let go, that was Tommy. Competition, speeding up drive, those were the new slogans. He felt that he had come them. It was midnight when Wesley came in, cheerful, cool, magnanimous, and braced to his resolution by three or four highballs at the club. He noticed nothing strange about Missie, sitting rocking in the dim room. "Come into my room," he said. "I have something to say to you." The hall was faintly redolent of Scotch whisky as she followed him. She was fully dressed, queerly apathetic. And even then things might have been different had Wesley not closed the door behind her and tried to take her in his arms. She backed off. He was suddenly horrible to her, his mouth loose, his legs apart to steady himself. She warned him off, but he came after her. And then, with a cat-like gesture that might have been Stella's, she seized a poker from the fireplace and struck him with it. He fell down and lay still. She stood on the pavement, hatless, and breathed the night air. She was through. He would never take her back. Maybe she had killed him; well, she had warned him. Then she was dizzy, and she began to tremble again. She sat down on the doorstep; she thought, "I must get back and get Eddie." But she could not get up; she could not move at all. Some time later she heard movements within the house, slow careful movements. She felt that the door behind her was going to open, and that she must run, run fast and far. But she could not run. And the door did not open; she heard the bolt put on, and the slow movements again; Wes going up the staircase. She had not killed him. Suddenly she knew that she had to get back into the house, back to Eddie. She was frantic; she rang the door bell, hammered on the door. Above she knew Wesley heard her, could even figure him, partially undressed, sitting on the side of his bed and listening. She even thought she heard Eddie. But there was no movement, only after a time the bell ceased to ring. Wesley had disconnected it. There was an air of finality about the bolted door, the bell that did not ring. Wesley was through, and he was telling her so. She was beaten.

Brophy Divorces Wife; Remarries

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Richard Gale Brophy, 39, who disappeared before the Eyed south pole expedition, of which he was to have been second in command, sailed south, was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion today from Mrs. Fern Brophy. An hour later he took out a license to wed Anna M. Greig, 30, a divorcee. While Commander Byrd was nearing the pole Brophy was discovered as a rewrite man on the staff of The Omaha Bee. It had been thought he was a suicide. The Mania censorship board cuts an average 20,000 feet of film out of every 600,000 feet of motion pictures reviewed. State Senator Gives Speech for C. of C.

Dickinson Says Mind Training Path Out of Chaos

"The individual who expects the federal or the state government to come down to him and bring prosperity is wrong," said State Senator L. J. Dickinson, when he spoke before the special Homecoming luncheon given by the chamber of commerce at the American Legion community building today. "The return of prosperity rests with the individual."

"Institutions of education today face the greatest problem they have ever confronted," Senator Dickinson said, "only through the schools can the mind be trained and it is only through trained minds of individuals that the present condition of chaos can be raised."

Senator Dickinson complimented the University of Iowa on the work that it has done in the past and expressed his confidence that this work will continue.

W. M. Kopp, representative to congress from Iowa district No. 1, said, "We are here to worship at the shrine of our alma mater, and to marvel at the progress that our university has made. Today no matter where we are we can point with pride to the University of Iowa."

"We must remember, however," he said, "that the progress of this institution is not due to its fine buildings or its beautiful campus but to those men who sacrificed and devoted their lives to it."

Among the guests were: State Highway Commissioner Carl Rippe of Burlington; Harry Niece of Sigourney, who is a member of the state board of education; Rush Butler of Chicago, and Earl Hall of Mason City, both members of the athletic board, and W. H. Bremner receiver of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad company.

The luncheon was closed by W. L. Bywater who thanked the speakers for their talks and mentioned to the guests that the chamber of commerce desired that they enjoy themselves to the fullest extent. He said that the chamber of commerce was at their service.

The regular meeting of the chamber will be held Monday. A moving picture on public safety will be presented for the members.

Fractional Losses Hit Some of Leading Quotations

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The financial markets closely followed recent patterns in the week end trading today. Stocks moved very slowly, closing irregular as some late profit taking was felt but making small net changes. Bonds were wobbly in spots, although selling pressure against U. S. government issues was lifted. Wheat, corn and cotton advanced.

Little Influences

Wall street had postponed its hopes of early Washington news that might affect the fortunes of the rails, and little or nothing occurred to influence the share market. Food and metal stocks did somewhat better than the other groups, although the entire list moved slowly higher until toward the close when realizing sales appeared. Transactions for the two hours amounted to 624,555 shares. U. S. Steel fluctuated in a one point range, ending the day lower. There were slightly larger fractional losses in American, Bethlehem, Radio, Chrysler, North American, and Baltimore and Ohio. National Biscuit, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Sugar, Corn Products and United Biscuit made small gains. New York Central, Southern Pacific, Case and American Telephone yielded about a point.

Gold Statement

The daily gold statement disclosed a net loss of $20,047,990 of which $9,700,000 represented increased earmarkings. Nearly $4,000,000 of the total constituted a carry over from Friday's movements not reported until today.

Bankers confidently believe the outward flow will soon begin to taper off as the higher money rates here have their effect. Already there has been evidence of less pressure abroad against the dollar.

Sections of the steel industry are reporting better demand but it is believed unlikely that the scattered gains are as yet having much, if any influence on production ratios. Youngstown district plants will start next week at an average of 23 per cent, or substantially lower.

Hancock Bank Fails

Exports Lead Grain Prices to High Mark

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Every grain on the list went higher today; wheat to the topmost point reached in several weeks. Big export call for wheat from North America chaperoned the advance. Takings this week to be shipped overseas totalled upward of 10,000,000 bushels. Particular attention was also given to reports suggesting a heavy decrease of domestic winter wheat acreage for the 1932 crop.

Wheat closed firm, 7-8 to 1-8 up; corn and oats both 1-2 to 7-8 advanced, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal gain. Contributing to the upward impetus of the wheat market were rumors that a Japanese military train had reached Harbin, penetrating Russia's northern Manchurian sphere of influence.

Corn and oats advanced notwithstanding that favorable weather for field work prevailed. Falling-off in the volume of corn receipts was a bullish factor, primary receipts today totalling but 362,000 bushels, against 464,000 a week ago and 618,000 at this time last year.

Provisions ruled steady, paralleling the action of the hog market. Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 50 7-8, 52 1-8; May 55 1-8, 36 3-4 to 56 7-8; July 55 3-4, 57 1-8. Corn 35 1-8 to 35 5-8, 36 1-2; May 39 7-8 to 40, 40 3-4; July 42 1-8, offers.

Labor Head Sends Out Notices to Paint, Repair Fire Escapes

Twenty notices were sent yesterday by Charles W. Harness of the state bureau of labor at Des Moines to fraternity, sorority, and business houses in Iowa City to paint and repair their fire escapes.

Mr. Harness has been in Iowa City since Friday to determine what organizations were to be sent notices. He has cooperated with the local fire department in the matter.

Mystery Shrouds Firemen's Doings With City Coppers

Unusual activity about the premises of the fire department: Is it a fire? Is it a demonstration or have the people and police of Iowa City suddenly become interested in fire equipment?

The answer is none of these, the fire boys are simply fulfilling their annual Homecoming obligation to the police department by cooking the noon and evening meals for the peace guardians and their friends.

Because of the traffic during Homecoming the police find that they have not the time to take their meals at home and consequently this agreement was made by the police and fire departments: the police department buys the food and the men of the fire department cook it and serve it to the policemen and their friends.

The plan is adhered to every Homecoming. More than 75 persons were fed by the firemen yesterday. Mulligan soup was up the main course on the menu. The Sidwell Dairy company and Clark Milos donated 10 gallons of ice cream.

JURY DECIDES AL CAPONE GUILTY

Old Gold Battles Indiana to Scoreless Tie

Fumble on Nine Yard Line Checks Hawkeyes' Fourth Quarter Drive for Score

Jerry Kriz Breaks Loose for 26 Yard Run in Third Period; Sweep Down Within 10 Yards of Touchdown

By BILL RUTLEDGE

With a stunning offense and an unbuilding defense, the University of Iowa Hawkeyes electrified a Homecoming game crowd of 20,000 by fighting the Indiana football team to a scoreless tie at Iowa stadium yesterday afternoon.

It required every ounce of strength Indiana could muster to stave off the repeated Iowa rushes toward the goal line.

Five minutes before the end, the Hawkeyes' cyclonic drive brought the ball to the Hoosiers' nine yard line. A spinner play was called on the fourth down, three yards away from a first down.

Misplay Costly
The play called for Capt. Oliver Sansen to take the ball from center, slip it to Howard Moffitt, and take an off tackle play. Moffitt was to have flipped it over the goal line.

In the confusion arising from Ed Dolly's low pass from center, Moffitt recovered the fumble for a six yard loss.

The misplay dimmed Iowa's biggest chance to score. The Crimson recovered and flamed far down into Iowa's territory.

An eleventh hour flurry of desperate Indiana passes was terminated by the final gun with the ball on Iowa's 19 yard line.

Outclass Hoosiers
With the exception of a two yard advantage in average of punts, the Hawkeyes completely outclassed the invaders in every department of the game.

Iowa's superiority was the greatest in yards gained from scrimmage with 172 to Indiana's 100. The Hawkeyes had a 20 yard edge in average yards on kickoff. Making more first downs than in both previous games, the Old Gold ran up nine to the Crimson's six.

The Hoosier defense was throttled by an unyielding line. A sag at center in the second half was the only mar on the forward wall performance.

Della Vedova, Foster Star
Tullo Della Vedova, and Jerry Foster vindicated Coach Burton Ingwersen's judgment by playing a whale of a game at the tackle posts. Foster drove in on Hoosier ball carriers with speed belaying his 215 pounds.

Early in the opening quarter, Della Vedova charged in and blocked Edmond's punt on Indiana's 27 yard line. Successive gains by Randall Hickman, Jerry Kriz and Sansen swept the Crimson back to the 10 yard line.

The threat fizzled and failed when Sansen was stopped on the line of scrimmage at center. Hickman lost five yards on an end run, and his pass to Kriz fell a few yards short of the goal line incomplete. The ball went to Indiana on the 15 yard line.

Kriz Spectacular Run
The most spectacular run of the game was made by Jerry Kriz, when he took the ball on Iowa's 23 yard line on a complicated spin and smashed off right tackle into the open. For a moment it appeared that he was away for a touchdown but he was overtaken by Hoosier tacklers and halted on Indiana's 44 yard line.

Ground gaining honors were divided between Kriz and Sansen. The Iowa leader carried the ball oftener than any other back, and was surpassed in total yardage only by Kriz, who piled up 49 yards in seven attempts. On 18 tries Sansen covered 45 yards.

Hickman Slowed Down
An injured ankle slowed Hickman down to the extent that he averaged slightly more than a yard on 15 attempts. Midway in the second period Hickman turned his ankle on an off-tackle play and was replaced by Moffitt. Late in the third quarter Chariton sprained.

At the half Director of Athletics E. H. Lauer introduced the backfield of the 1921 Iowa championship eleven—Aubrey and Glenn Devine, Gordon Locke, and Leland Parkin.

Fraternity, Sorority Decorations Spoiled

Decorations erected for Homecoming by several fraternities and sororities were the target for destruction by a group of unidentified persons Friday night.

Will University of Iowa Campus Seem Like That of 90's?

Will the University of Iowa campus resemble that of the gay 90's? Such a question might be asked following the plea made by Pi Epsilon Pi last night as the 1931 corn monument was formally burned near Iowa Union.

Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity, issued an edict as Iowa rooters watched the monument burn last night, to the effect that loyal Iowa men would be expected to let their whiskers grow unincumbered by modern shaving devices until the football team emerges victorious in a game.

No statement was given out by the fraternity representatives as to whether or not clipping of flowing whiskers into artistic designs would be permitted.

Credit Group Forms Outline of Procedure

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Directors of the huge National Credit corporation suggested by President Hoover to thaw out frozen bank credits held their first meeting today, perfected machinery they expect to start functioning within a few days, and predicted the corporation "will contribute materially to business recovery generally."

The directors, hastily summoned from widely separated parts of the country—one from each federal reserve district—were in session from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m., when they left for their homes to start working out details of the plan in their individual districts.

President Chosen
George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive board of the billion dollar Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago, was chosen chairman of the board of directors.

Mortimer N. Buckner, who headed the committee appointed little more than a week ago to form the corporation, was elected its president.

To Loan Money
After the meeting a statement was issued which read in part: "The plan adopted by the directors embodies the thought of the country's leading banking authorities and experiences in banking affairs. Essentially the corporation is intended to supplement the services of the federal reserve system by enabling banks, when necessary, to borrow on sound assets which are not now eligible for loans from federal reserve banks."

Death Hovers Over Edison; Bar Visitors

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison is nearing the end.

His servants and his grandchildren bade him farewell today. Dr. Hubert S. Howe prepared to remain at his bedside.

The depth of the coma which is expected to be the aged inventor's last sleep was increasing. Dr. Howe said he has developed gradual acceleration of the pulse and rate of respiration.

Servants See Master
The servants filed into the sickroom one at a time. Each stood by the bedside for a brief moment and looked on the face of his sleeping master, and expected to see him again only in death.

The grandchildren were perhaps too young for realization of the occasion, but they, too, were brought to the bedside for a moment. They were Thomas Edison Sloane, 14; John Edison Sloane, 9; Peter S. Sloane, and Michael E. Sloane, 1 year old.

Issues Bulletin
A bulletin at 6 p.m. from Dr. Howe said: "During the past three hours Mr. Edison's condition has not changed as much as it did in the preceding period, but his respiration is a little shallow. His pulse rate and volume are about the same."

Arrangements have been made to transmit Dr. Howe's regular bulletins to President Hoover by wireless while the president is traveling aboard a battleship to attend the Yorktown sesquicentennial celebration.

Relatives Within Call
The inventor's sons, Thomas A. Jr., and Charles, and his daughter, Mrs. John Eyre Sloane, spent the day at the home and the other Edison children, Mrs. Marion Estelle Oser, of Norwalk, Conn., Theodore and William, remained within call at the homes of friends and relatives in the vicinity.

The stout heart that had carried Mr. Edison safely through an attack of pneumonia two years ago and a sudden collapse last August, has begun to falter. The deep coma from which no unusual efforts have been made to rouse him, gives him the appearance of being in a steady quiet sleep.

Convict Gang Czar on 5 of 23 Counts Charging Evasion of Federal Tax Revenues

Corn Monument Becomes Popcorn to Musical Effects

Formality drew tradition into line last night, as the 1931 corn monument became a mass of smoldering ashes. Instead of being ignited by stealth at a time known only to a few, the monument was ceremoniously and openly burned, with Pi Epsilon Pi national pep fraternity, officiating at the "cremation," held near Iowa Union.

The University of Iowa band backed by a crowd of Iowa rooters provided music for the occasion, as Iowa corn became popcorn.

The monument was moved to its final resting place during the Iowa-Indiana game in the afternoon, and reached its formal and shortly after 7 p.m.

Judge Will Postpone Sentence Until Tuesday

FEDERAL BUILDING, Chicago, Oct. 17 (AP)—Alphonse Capone, Chicago's notorious gang character was convicted by a federal court jury tonight on five out of 23 counts, charging violation of income tax laws.

The jury required eight hours and 18 minutes to reach a verdict. The counts on which Capone was convicted include three felony counts, charging attempt to evade and defeat income taxes for the years 1925, 1926 and 1927 and two misdemeanor counts charging failure to file income tax returns in 1928 and 1929. The maximum penalty possible is 17 years imprisonment and $50,000 fine.

Acquitted of 17 Felony Counts
The big gangster was acquitted on the one indictment charging attempt to evade and defeat taxes on a 1924 income. He was also acquitted of 17 felony counts on the second indictment, many of them duplications of the counts on which he was found guilty.

The jury was polled once and then, after Assistant U. S. District Attorney Jacob I. Grossman said it appeared that the jury might have been confused on the numbers of the various counts, the attorneys went into a conference as a recess was called.

The jury was given the case at 2:42 p.m. today and deliberated constantly without even a bite to eat, until 10:50 when it sent out word that it had reached its decision.

The husky gang czar, dressed for his final day in court in a light green suit, was summoned from his hotel headquarters and 20 minutes later the 12 men filed in with their verdict.

Grossman said it appeared "inconsistent" that the jury should find Capone guilty of evading taxes in 1925, 1926 and 1927 and guilty of similar felony counts in 1928 and 1929.

Capone Smiles
The defendant smiled as the verdict was read by the clerk of the court. One of his attorneys, Albert Fink, announced informally a motion for a new trial and later withdrew the announcement.

The three felony counts on which Capone was convicted, charged that his income was $257,285 in 1925; $195,676 in 1926; $218,056 in 1927 and that he attempted to evade and defeat taxes on these incomes. The government did not attempt to prove these exact amounts, however, and the court instructed the jury that it should find Capone guilty if it determined that he had merely a "taxable" income, or one over $5,000 for each of the years in question.

Trial Ends in Confusion
The trial ended in confusion, with the government apparently more concerned over the jury's failure to convict Capone on 17 of the counts than the defense was with his conviction on five of the charges.

Capone and his attorneys, all smiling, went into a huddle in the corridor during the short recess, Michael Ahern, one of the defense lawyers saying "It was what I expected."

Judge Wilkerson, after much discussion, granted a request by the defense to argue their motion for arrest of the judgment and set 10 a.m. Tuesday as the time.

The court denied the motion point-blank when Defense Attorney Fink presented it, saying it was "obviously improper" and that there could be no argument about it. He said that unless the defense moved at once for a new trial he would pronounce sentence tonight.

Fink persisted, however, the court then asking for "assurance that you have grounds for the motion."

Fink Addresses Court
"I not only can assure you of that, your honor," Fink said, "but I can assure you I will convince your honor that you should arrest the judgment and that you will do so." All other motions will be argued Tuesday also, the court said.

Counsel for the government recessed for 10 minutes to confer "on the consistency of the verdict" hinting that the contrasting judgments on the several counts "might need be looked into."

They reported after a conference that the statutes showed the verdict to be consistent. Defense Attorney Ahern had said the same from the time it was returned.

Although the judge said he "was very clear about the impropriety of an arrest of judgment," Attorney Fink promised to cite him "a long line of cases."

Judge Wilkerson adjourned court without passing sentence, indicating that he would sentence Capone Tuesday after he had heard motions from both sides. Judge Wilkerson told the jurors that any who wished to, could be excused at once, and that those who wanted to serve on other cases might remain in the custody of the marshal.

Scarred Face Still Grins
Capone, a wide grin on his scarred face, was told that he didn't look as if he felt badly.

League Will Seek Truce in Far East

GENEVA, Oct. 17 (AP)—The United States and 12 other nations agreed through their League of Nations council representatives tonight to send a note to Nanking and Tokyo directing the attention of China and Japan to their engagements under the Briand-Kellogg pact.

Prentiss B. Gilbert, American spokesman, and the 12 council members who are not parties to the conflict in Manchuria, participated in this agreement.

Bring Pact Into Play
The step was taken to place the Briand-Kellogg pact, under which the United States is associating itself with the council's discussions, formally into play as a basis of international action for mediating the trouble in the far east.

The action resulted from a lengthy secret session of the council at which an attempt was made to find a formula which would consider China's appeal for intervention and at the same time respect Japan's insistence upon direct negotiations between the two nations.

Effort Arouses Anxiety
The effort to reconcile two such divergent views aroused profound anxiety lest the situation grow worse before Geneva's scheme for pacification could be put into effect.

The international "committee of thirteen" from which Dr. Alfred Sze and Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Chinese and Japanese delegates, were excluded, held two sessions today.

Foshay Jury Fails to Reach Agreement

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Unable to arrive at a verdict, the jury in the trial of W. B. Foshay, Minneapolis, and six business associates on small charges, late today decided to forego a night session of deliberation.

The panel will reconvene Sunday in another attempt to reach an agreement.

Athletic Board to Ask Big 10 for Ames Tilt

Permission of the Western conference for a post season football game between Iowa and Iowa State will be sought by the state university, Prof. E. H. Lauer, director of athletics said tonight.

The Iowa athletic board met in a two hour session yesterday afternoon and voted to petition the Big Ten faculty committee to play the game.

Dean C. C. Williams, chairman of the board said that it was not yet decided on what date to ask that the game be played. It is probable the vote of the conference will be taken by mail.

Under the present Big Ten regulations, Iowa will also play in a post season charity game with another conference school, on Nov. 28. The resolution voted by the Iowa board does not ask that the game which is to be arranged by the Western conference be set aside.

Big Six Committee Okays Charity Game

AMES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Permission of Big Ten conference officials, of which group the State University of Iowa is a member, tonight was the only requisite remaining for the proposed charity post-season football game between the teams of Iowa university and Iowa State college.

The Big Six conference faculty committee today gave permission to its members, including Iowa State college, to play one post-season game for charity before Dec. 15.

The new woolens chosen for these fur-lined coats are best described as "spongy." The fur lining, which provides adequate warmth for coldest weather, is made with deep collars and usually with generous cuffs of fur as well.

The smartest furs being used for fur-lining are badger, blended cross fox, sika fox, red fox, kit fox, beaver, skunk, mountain sable, Parisian lamb, kolinsky, caracul, wolf and raccoon. Not a bad list to choose from, is it?

Fashion seems to be all in the favor of the poor pocketless women, who yearn constantly for enough space in which to carry all their belongings. The largest, roomiest bags of many seasons are in the height of style. They are designed ever so simply with long, flat clasps that allow the bags to open widely, thereby making it a simple matter to find among the contents just what is wanted at any particular moment.

Clasps are made of tortoise shell or metal and the bags themselves are made of many of the varieties of soft leather including suede, which is perhaps one of the most popular for winter wear. Alligator and calfskin are also being used to great advantage in the newest handbags.

Necklaces that fairly cover the throat are being done with those simply made dinner and dancing frocks. In order to break the monotony which often results in an ornament of this sort, some have been designed strung from enamel and crystal beads.

The Vogue for corduroy is raging—big girls, little girls, every girl seems to be attracted to suits and skirts in cherry-red, Spanish tile, copen and green.

Press Seeks Senate Stand on Arms Cut

34 Senators Answer Paper's Query on Major Issues

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The New York Post said today, responsive of 34 senators to a questionnaire indicated the senate would listen favorably to a proposal for reduction of war debts, if coupled with a corresponding cut in armaments.

Brookhart Answers

Eleven others, including Senator Brookhart of Iowa, many with various qualifications, expressed their willingness to listen to the terms of such a bargain. Nine were in avowed disapproval. The others of the 34 senators, who answered the poll, were doubtful or failed to express an opinion. The senate has a membership of 96, but there is one vacancy.

To a second question, whether they favored an extension of the one-year Hoover moratorium on war debts and reparations, seven voted no and four yes, with the remainder doubtful.

Hoover to Confer

Conversations between Mr. Hoover and both the foreign statesmen are certain to drift swiftly from disarmament to economics and undoubtedly, to the desire of Italy and France for a cut in the war debts.

The president has voiced repeatedly a belief that while European nations continue to spend enormous sums on armaments, they cannot alleviate materially their financial difficulties.

Leaders Willing to Help Europe

Congressional leaders already have signified to him a willingness to help sympathetically on the war debt, unless if Europe promises to cooperate along the other line.

The four who expressed unqualified approval were Senators Copeland of New York; Logan of Kentucky; and Walsh, of Montana, all Democrats; and Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon.

Moratorium Discussed

Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, favored the extension of the moratorium conditional on reduction of armaments.

In favor of an extension of the moratorium without qualifications were Senators Bingham of Connecticut, Capper of Kansas, Hastings of Delaware and Watson of Indiana, all Republicans.

Farmers Fail in Attempt to Close Season on Pheasants

HUMBOLDT, Oct. 17 (AP)—Belief that pheasants are valuable aids to the farmers in fighting grasshoppers and insect pests has led to a fruitless attempt by Humboldt county farmers to prevent an open season on the birds.

A petition by 250 farmers was sent to state fish and game department officials. W. E. Albert, state game warden, informed the petitioners that it would be impossible to change the plans, since an open season in Humboldt county had already been arranged in response to a previous petition sent by residents of the county.

Some of the farmers have threatened to erect "No Hunting" signs on their farms to prevent killing of the birds. The supply of pheasants has been reduced considerably as a result of five day open season last year and the dry weather during the summer.

State Railroad Board Issues Certificates to Three Public Lines

Motor Express company of Dubuque for a line between Dubuque and Davenport, except locally between Dubuque and Maquoketa.

The passenger certificate was issued to the Grand Stages, Inc. of Cedar Rapids, authorizing carrying passengers between Iowa City and Alnsworth.

DES MOINES, Oct. 17 (AP)—State Budget Director Oscar Anderson today reported that a recalculation of $3,525,284 has been shown in the 1931 tax levies reported by 47 counties.

Predicted on this showing, he anticipates that a total tax decrease of more than $7,000,000 will be made by the 99 counties.

The heaviest decrease in the reporting counties was in the county tax levies which dropped a total of $2,100,059 compared with last year's figures. Other decreases included $41,556 from the rural school levy, $16,414 on the township levies, $717,790 on the city and town school levies and $387,635 on the cities and towns levies.

County reductions included Webster $171,261, the greatest slash; Butler $150,271; Jasper $142,712; Woodbury $131,118; Black Hawk $123,044; Kosciusko $117,295 and Johnson $21,820.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Harry E. Rowbottom will leave prison Nov. 9 without completing a year and a day term for accepting bribes while representing the first Indiana district in congress.

His sentence would have expired next Feb. 9, but the parole board decided to take three months off the term of the man whose attorneys described him as a physical weakling not of the usual mental caliber of congressmen.

Henry County Cattle Testing Nears Finish

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 17 (AP) In two days, veterinarians testing Henry county cattle for tuberculosis said today, operations in this area will be completed.

Readings were continued today in an atmosphere of calm, contrasting with that of other days this week when Iowa national guardsmen and the testers they escorted have been defied by farmers opposing the administration of the state compulsory tuberculosis testing law.

Sheriff Wants Troops What plans the veterinarians have for their work upon the completion of reading the results of the tests Monday have not been disclosed. It is generally understood that they will move on into Des Moines county, whose seat is Burlington, but this has not officially been confirmed.

At the State House in Des Moines, the governor's office refused to comment on a request Sheriff Delbert Murray of Des Moines county made for troops to accompany the testers when they go there.

Sheriff Murray said Des Moines county was "one of the hottest places in the state" in opposition to the testing.

Only Two Reactors J. J. Mills and C. E. Carnahan, meanwhile, were at liberty following their arrest Friday on allegations that they refused to corral their cattle in anticipation of testing. Carnahan stoutly maintained his innocence.

So far, 22 herds have been tested in this county. In the 47 herds comprising 1,000 head whose tests have been read, only two reactors have been found, these on the farm of Charles Carlisle.

Sixteen guardsmen were held in readiness today in the Mount Pleasant square for any emergency, but none developed.

Eight Reactors In an incomplete report submitted late today, veterinarians said they found eight reactors, five in the herd of William Cash of New London, and one each in the herds of Ray Smith and Anna Campbell of Wayland, and Lloyd Crocker of Mount Union. Sunday will be visitors' day at the guardsmen's camp here.

When asked about the proposed movement to Des Moines county, Brig. Gen. Park A. Findley, commandant of the camp, said: "We are waiting for orders."

The strange case of the eccentric belle of a bygone era, who was found to have hoarded more than a million dollars in her New York hotel room for many years, has the world sympathizing with her for the efforts of kin to acquire her riches and faces criticism from others for her secreting of the treasure which did nobody any concrete good.

Mrs. Ida W. Wood, now 93 and declared incompetent to handle her wealth, is shown (inset) as she was at 21. Mr. and Mrs. William C. Shields (above), she claiming to be a distant kin of the aged recluse, are endeavoring to have her present guardian changed, although they deny they seek any of Mrs. Wood's money.

Wisconsin Scores Three Touchdowns in First Quarter; Upsets Purdue 21-14

Early Badger Drive Downs Boilermakers

Late Rally Nets Two Touchdowns for Losing Team

CAMP RANDALL STADIUM, MADISON, Wis., Oct. 17 (AP)—Flashing an early offense that dazed their opponents in the first period Wisconsin gridders scored three touchdowns in rapid succession to defeat Purdue, 21 to 14 in a Dad's day game played before 35,000 here today.

The game was only five minutes old when the Badgers crossed the Purdue goal line for the first touchdown and eight minutes later the Purdue line had been crossed again. The first touchdown came after an 80 yard drive but the second was due in part to a Purdue fumble which Wisconsin recovered on the Boilermakers' 25 yard line.

A blocked punt accounted for the third touchdown. After the Badgers found they could pierce the Purdue line they played as if inspired and were not in danger until the third and last periods when Purdue got their vaunted aerial game functioning. During the last two periods the Badgers defense was frequently taxed to stop Purdue's passes.

Three Offensive Stars

Linfur, Schneller, and McGuire were the Badgers stars in the first period offensive. They alternated in taking the ball to the three yard line where Schneller hurried the line for the counter. Linfur kicked the extra point. A short punting duel was halted when Hawthorn recovered Horstmann's fumble on the latter's 25 yard line. Schneller's pass to Lovshin on the 10 yard line put the Badgers in position to score again. Schneller went over on the third play. Linfur again kicked goal.

After the third kickoff, Purdue's running attack was checked by a 15 yard penalty that put the ball on the nine yard line. Kabat broke through and blocked Moss' punt, falling on the ball for the third touchdown. The Badgers scoring ended when Linfur kicked the extra point.

Not until late in the second period did Purdue get beyond midfield. At the start of the third period the Boilermakers opened their offensive.

Illinois Beats Bradley Tech by 20-0 Edge

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Champaign, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP)—Illinois subdued a fighting Bradley Tech football squad here today, 20 to 0 before 30,000 spectators.

A spectacular run by John Evans for 47 yards and a touchdown in the final quarter provided the biggest thrill of the day. The other Illinois touchdowns were scored by Gil Berry and Ed Snively. Herman Walzer and Bob Horsley contributed the extra points with placekicks.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Underdogs bared their fangs on football fields scattered all over the country yesterday and when the games were over many teams favored to win were turned back, or just barely nosed out victors. It was a field for the longshots.

In Iowa stadium the Old Gold turned in a most surprising performance by actually outplaying a team that was favored to win by two to five touchdowns. Every man on the Hawkeye squad deserves credit, and one must not forget Coach Burt Ingwersen.

Ohio State gave its followers plenty to cheer over, in stalking the Wolverine to its lair and capturing it. Michigan had high hopes of coming out on top of the Big Ten this year and was not looking for any sort of opposition from the Buckeye.

Purdue was another Big Ten eleven that was swept off its feet by a savage onslaught from a supposedly weak team. Wisconsin ripped the Boilermakers apart in a first quarter attack and then held off Purdue's counter.

Columbia turned in the biggest surprise in the east by trouncing Dartmouth. The game was the first major contest this fall for the Blue and White and there is no telling how loudly the Lions will roar before the end of the season.

John Harvard, holding aloft a 14 to 13 victory, charged the Army off the gridiron, while the Navy barely escaped being scuttled by Delaware in beating the state school by one touchdown.

Wildcats Find Bruins Tough But Win 19-0

"Breather" Holds Fans Breathless During First Half

DYCHE STADIUM, Evanston, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP)—It took Ken Meenan, 190-pound sophomore halfback, to shake Northwestern into stride today before the Wildcats could defeat the University of California's Southern Branch eleven, 19 to 0, in what was expected to be a "breather" and wound up as a lively afternoon workout.

Northwestern's attack was immediately superior, netting 28 first downs to two for the golden-shirted westerners, but ragged play in the first period, coupled with an effective Bruin forward pass defense, kept the Wildcats from scoring until the second session.

Ohio State Surprises Michigan in 20-7 Win; Yale Whips Chicago 27-0

Aerial Attack of Wolverines Fails to Click

Buckeyes Outgain 1931 Co-Champs, Count First Score

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP) Rated as underdogs, a husky Ohio State eleven took Michigan by surprise today, swept them off their feet from the start, and delivered a major blow to the Wolverine championship hopes.

The final score, 20 to 7, was unexpected to the 70,000 fans as it was to Coach Harry Kipke's 1930 co-champions.

Michigan's running attack was stopped on nearly every occasion, and her vaunted aerial offensive failed to function until too late to be effective.

Fumbles Costly

A series of costly fumbles brought trouble to the Michigan line early in the game. One, by Jack Heaton, sophomore fullback, second son of the famed Willie Heaton of a generation ago, contributed directly to the Ohio touchdown. Even Michigan's famous scoring play "Old 83," failed when an official, became entangled in the play, and Ohio recovered the ball.

Break Tie In Third

Ohio came back in the third period, however, with a 45 yard march down the field to Michigan's 20 yard line, where Carroll again slipped through for the second score. Haubrich failed to make the extra point.

Late Harvard Rally Downs Army 14-13

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Due chiefly to the extraordinary versatility of Captain Barry Wood, Jr., Harvard came from behind today to conquer Army, 14 to 13, in a spectacular game that moved the Crimson to the front ranks of eastern championship contenders.

Trailing by two touchdowns after the first period, Wood directed a brilliant attack that overcame the Cadets in the second period. His bullet-like passes led to a brace of touchdowns by Bernie White and then the slim Crimson captain played the stellar role in a defense that counted on a dash through the line.

Wood took command of the situation in the second quarter after Army's light cavalry backfield, featuring Ray Stecker, had romped to two touchdowns. The crowd of 26,000 that packed Michie stadium and set a record for West Point rocked the old fortifications above the Hudson as the Cadets appeared to be on their way to a rout.

Monmouth Score 16-0 Triumph Over Coe in Loop Game

MONMOUTH, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP)—Monmouth college downed the strong Coe college eleven of Cedar Rapids, Ia., 16 to 0, on the Monmouth field in a Midwest conference game today.

Although considerably outweighted by the Kohawks, Monmouth's fleet backfield combined with a determined line brought the team a decisive victory, the first win from Coe in six years.

Monmouth counted 11 first downs to Coe's two. Touchdowns were scored in the second and fourth quarters by Cornat. Monmouth tacklers added a safety when they downed Smith, substituting for Forney. Coe right half back, behind his goal.

Ohio U. Drabs Simpson ATHENS, Ohio, Oct. 17 (AP)—Stiffing Simpson's star fullback, Richards, Ohio university defeated the Indianola, Ia., aggregation today, 22 to 0. Outweighed, the Ohio team nevertheless used passes sparingly. One flip by Kepler, substituting for Brown, was snagged by Gabriel over the goal for 35 yards and a touchdown in the final period.

Trojans Run Wild to Crush Oregon in 53-0 Slaughter

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Los Angeles, Oct. 17 (AP)—Troy's mighty men were foot-loose again today, as the University of Southern California crushed Oregon's green garbed gridsters into one of the most decisive defeats of their history, 53 to 0, before 60,000 persons.

For the third time in as many starts, the Trojans battering their irresistible way to victory over an opponent from the northwest. Oregon State and Washington State were the previous victims, but today's trouncing was far and away the most decisive.

Shorn of his chief offensive threat, "Smoky" Joe Lillard, by a conference ruling of ineffectuality a day before the game, Coach Clarence Spears could not find a backfield combination which was able to press deeper than the Southern California 48 yard line.

Notre Dame Whips Drake by 63-0 Count

Irish Use 57 Players; Onslaught Shatters Bulldog Line

ROUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 17 (AP)—The pent-up fury of Notre Dame's big football army fell on the valiant but out-classed Bulldogs from Drake today and they were submerged by a one-sided score of 63 to 0, the largest scoring avalanche to victimize them since they started playing the "Fighting Irish."

Smarting under the criticism received for failing to score against Northwestern in the mud of Soldiers field last week, the touchdown makers of Notre Dame paraded up and down the field with monotonous regularity from the middle of the first period on. The game wasn't even interesting except to the scouts on rival teams who confessed that they had never seen a greater running attack in their football lives.

Even the staunchest followers of Notre Dame football fortunes, accustomed to seeing Drake throw up a great defense each year, were somewhat awed by the rapidity of the Irish touchdown combinations. Fifty seven players were used in action but still the huskies from little Drake couldn't stop the attack. The more substitutes to enter the game, the more bewildering was the rush toward the Drake goal.

So overwhelming was Notre Dame's superiority with first, second, third, fourth, and fifth team combinations that they were forced to punt but once, early in the first period. The statistics of ground gaining resembled the work of an adding machine expert; Notre Dame gaining 536 yards from the line of scrimmage to but 60 for Drake.

Bulldogs Rout Maroons With Aerial Attack

Albie Booth's Entrance Marks Beginning of End

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—The fond dreams of Amos Alonzo Stagg, 69 year old dean of America's football coaches, to conquer Yale on the gridiron crashed to earth today.

Yale, playing for the first time on mid-western soil, as a tribute to Stagg, its most illustrious athletic alumnus, crushed Stagg's hopelessly outclassed University of Chicago eleven, 27 to 0 before 35,000 spectators.

Complete Rout

It was a complete rout for the Maroons, who were outclassed and outplayed in everything except courage. They never threatened and never penetrated beyond Yale's 3 yard line.

Leaving no doubt of its superiority, Yale crashed over with four touchdowns, scoring the last two in final minutes of play.

After a dull first period in which Yale failed to score, the spirit of fight instilled into the Ell by the appearance in the game of their captain and star, Albie Booth. After Booth entered the conflict, the result was never in doubt. Booth tossed long and accurate forward passes and figured in the first two touchdowns. With the game tucked away, he retired in favor of Bob Lassiter, who carried on by smashing across with a third touchdown.

With the ball on the 11 yard line, Taylor, the Blue's big right halfback, picked up a yard and Booth swept to the Chicago three yard line on an indirect pass from Taylor. On the next play the procedure was reversed, with Taylor running across the gridiron and diving over the line in a corner of the field for a touchdown. Booth successfully drop kicked for the extra point.

In the third period, Booth started throwing passes, finally shooting a long one to Barres, Yale end, who plucked it out of the air on the 15 yard line and raced across Chicago's goal for the second marker.

Navy Weighs Anchor to Beat Delaware by Desperate Spurt 12-7

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—The driving thrusts of "plug" Campbell, squat fullback of the Navy grid eleven, in the final period today, pulled the Tide from behind and eked out a 12 to 7 victory over the University of Delaware.

It was Campbell who furnished the fire and dash to the Middle outfit in the final period to enable it to drive 50 yards for a touchdown, after the regulars had been rushed in to stem the tide that the second string could not.

The reserves were started by Navy, which wanted to save the varsity for the Princeton battle next week, and they scored a touchdown in short order, Gordon Chung-Hoon, Hawaiian halfback, passing 15 yards to Samuels for the score.

Luther Turns Back Western Union 13-7

DECORAH, Oct. 17 (AP)—Luther successfully dedicated Nustad field before a record crowd of Homecomers today, defeating Western Union, 13 to 7.

The Norsemen scored shortly after the first kickoff on a sustained march down the field to the 10-yard line. Ellingson then passed to Nelson for the touchdown.

Blocked Kick Gives Ripon 7-0 Triumph

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 17 (AP)—In a Midwest conference game filled with feints and cautious plays Ripon college took Cornell college of Mt. Vernon, Ia., into camp today 7 to 0.

The Ripon touchdown came in the third period when Captain Anderson, Midwest all-conference fullback, carried the ball over after Lyle Bruyann, sophomore end, blocked Bruyann's kick and recovered on Cornell's four yard line. Steinman kicked for the extra point.

Colorado Trips Missouri

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 17 (AP)—Colorado university defeated the University of Missouri 9 to 7 today today to score its second successive victory over the Big Six team. The Rocky Mountain conference team tallied a place kick and a touchdown and halted a Missouri rally in the final period after the Missourians scored one touchdown.

Iowa Wesleyan Ties Central College by Second Half Rally

PELLA, Oct. 17 (AP)—After trailing 14 to 0 at the half, Iowa Wesleyan staged a rally in the final two periods this afternoon to tie Central college 14 to 14.

Lateral and forward passes in the first half paved the way for Central's counters and Wilkins, Central fullback, carried the oval over for both markers. Thorpe place kicked for extra points.

At the start of the second half an Iowa Wesleyan march was halted on the one-yard line and Central punted out of danger. The Methodists repeated the performance, however, and McAvoy, quarterback, counted on a dash through the line. After advancing a long pass in the fourth quarter Frasey went through the line for the second Wesleyan counter. Barry kicked both goals.

Texas State Downs Oklahoma by 3 to 0

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 17 (AP)—The University of Texas ran its string of consecutive victories over the University of Oklahoma to five today when Claude "Ok" Blanton kicked a 15-yard field goal to give the Longhorns a 3 to 0 win.

Balked for three periods by a stalwart Sooner line, Coach Clyde Littlefield sent Blanton into the game for only one play. He placekicked the ball squarely between the posts and then the Longhorns dropped into defensive play, which thwarted Oklahoma's aerial game.

Kansas Jayhawkers Upset by Aggies 13-0

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 17 (AP)—Bo McMillan's Kansas Aggies, led by a sophomore battering ram and carrying a threatening aerial offensive, humbled the Big Six champion Kansas Jayhawkers, 13 to 0, in their conference football game here today, before a crowd of 15,000.

Ralph Graham of Eldorado, Kan., crushed the Jayhawkers' wall for one touchdown and Elden Auker, kicked the point. Captain Henry Cronkite produced the other with the pass attack.

Kansas Aggies Upset Jayhawkers 13 to 0 as Soph Back Stars

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 17 (AP)—A sophomore battering ram and a bewildering pass attack devised by Coach A. N. (Bo) McMillan enabled the Kansas Aggies to humble the Big Six champion University of Kansas football team, 13 to 0, here today in the Jayhawkers' first 1931 test against conference opposition.

Before a crowd of 15,000, Ralph Graham, sophomore halfback, sent Kansas State into the lead by scoring a touchdown in the second period on half a dozen successive drives at the willing Jayhawker line. And this sophomore flash recovered a fumble that sent the Aggies on their second and final touchdown advance.

It was a tricky lateral pass that put the ball up in scoring range for Graham's galloping act and it was a pass that scored the second touchdown.

A Political Forecast for 1932

By Kirk H. Porter

Editor's Note: When Prof. Kirk H. Porter consented to do for The Daily Iowan a series of articles on the political issues for 1932, all treated more or less objectively, the question of just what were his own political leanings arose.

In the interview which follows, Professor Porter answers all questions pertaining to his own personal views on the matter.

What are your politics?

Well, that isn't very important, but if it is of any interest, I have always been a Republican. I'm not an independent. I believe pretty much in regularity. I know the independent is always looking for the best man regardless of what he stands for. But the Independent reminds me a little of one who would call in a chiropractor and an old school physician to cure a sick man, and then wonder the patient didn't get along better—they're both such nice doctors! But, you see, they differ on principles.

Do you think people are much interested in principles?

We all have some basic political attitudes that identify us as conservatives, liberals, socialists, reactionaries, etc. Frequently, we are not fully aware of them ourselves. I wouldn't take a man's own word for his basic political qualities any more than I would take his own word as to his qualities of character, honesty, generosity, etc. Often, there is nobody so bitterly intolerant as a confirmed liberal.

Do you think the Hoover administration deserves most of the criticism it has had?

A party in power is always blamed for any evil that befalls the country, be it hard times or a plague of grasshoppers. By the same token a party in power always claims credit for the good things that happen. It is a bit of moral grafting to be sure, but it's part of the system. Might as well condemn human nature as to denounce the parties for that.

However, I am inclined to think that no administration in all our history has ever been so beset with schemes and plans for governmental action. It is good for an administration to be challenged; but the Hoover administration has been desperate in

Party Expert

Professor Kirk H. Porter of the department of political science begins on this page today a series of articles relating to issues that will occupy the attention of voters and candidates alike in the coming elections.

Professor Porter has done special work, both as a writer and a teacher, in the fields of political parties and of local government. He is the author of several books relating to these two fields, among them, "National Party Platforms," "City and Township Government in the United States," and "History of Woman Suffrage."

Regarding his work, Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, head of the department of political science, says, "Professor Porter has attended many conferences at which current political issues have been discussed and has functioned as chairman of round table discussions.

"He does very good work at stating issues."

its struggle to ward off unsound schemes advocated by influential, well-meaning people. You know, the fellow who won't try your scheme is always accused of not wanting to accomplish your purpose. Those who didn't want the government to give the Red Cross 25 million dollars were accused of wanting to let people starve to death.

Has this administration been consistent?

I think so. The Coolidge-Hoover administrations have been reasonably consistent in their adherence to orthodox Republican doctrine, the conservative aspect of it. In contemporary times the essence of that doctrine is the exaltation of private business. I mean little business as well as big business, the peanut vendor as well as the Standard Oil company. The dominating idea is that nothing should be done that would hurt private business, hinder it in any way, or impair its profits, and everything in reason should be done to aid it. Of course, many perfectly good Republicans think this has been overdone a bit, that such political philosophy is not quite adequate to the twentieth century.

Don't you consider it rather narrow?

Well, it's astonishing how many policies can grow out of that basic attitude, policies that deal with many different subjects such as intervention in Mexico, tariff, the merchant marine, the federal reserve system, farm relief and price fixing, federal reserve system, farm relief and price fixing, federal regulation of power companies, conservation, the present day depression, etc.

The Coolidge-Hoover policies have clicked nearly true to form in every instance. The one notable departure was the farm board and its price fixing efforts. When it didn't pan out very well Coolidge said "I told you so." Naturally.

Do you think there was much demand for Coolidge?

Yes, I think so. He was a very well known quantity. I never could quite understand people who thought Coolidge didn't have a mind of his own. Such as it was his mind was very much his own, and he used it with absolute consistency. The same is true of President Hoover. See how he reacts to the proposals for relieving the depression, power control, tariff, banking, etc., true to a certain basic philosophy. Understand, I am not defending these policies nor condemning them. As a student it interests me to note how they fit a pattern, the conservative, orthodox Republican pattern of many years standing.

Do the Democrats have a political philosophy?

Yes, far older and more comprehensive than that of the Republicans. The traditional Democrat isn't half as much interested in the integrity of private business, commerce and industry. Of course, he isn't opposed to them. He merely puts the emphasis somewhere else. For a hundred years he has been thinking primarily of other things. See how he reacts to such a matter as intervention in Mexico for instance. And he is much readier to use the power of government to interfere when he imagines social injustice or economic abuse is being practiced. Of course he doesn't satisfy the socialist; but he does get the orthodox Republican awfully excited. Consider Governor Roosevelt and his ideas about the utilities. Consider the Wagner unemployment relief bills, and how they exasperated Republican leaders. The more conservative of them shouted, "Dole! State socialism! Away with it!" They think Democrats would use the government to perpetrate dreadful blunders and to attempt foolish panaceas that would injure business very seriously.

What party do you think will determine policies next winter?

The so-called liberals may be dictating our policies.

What do liberals stand for?

I find it easy to distinguish an orthodox Republican from a traditional Democrat; but I have some trouble distinguishing the liberals from certain Democrats, and from the more moderate socialists. In fact, many liberals almost belong with the moderate socialists. But, somehow, they seem to think it isn't quite respectable to be a socialist.

Do you think there is much chance for a new party?

No. It is chiefly the near-socialist who is always making plans for a new party. Most of them really belong with Norman Thomas who is an eloquent, capable leader with a definite program of mild socialism. But the intelligentsia hate to be identified with the proletariat. They would rather have a nice, new respectable party of their own.

Don't you think there is room for a new party?

Oh, I think the three major parties, the orthodox Republicans, the traditional Democrats and the genuine socialist, represent pretty well the various shades of political opinion in the United States. There are lots of people on the border lines to be sure, but fundamentally they belong in one camp or the other. That's the real reason why new parties fall.

Many people think there isn't much difference between Democrats and Republicans. Do you agree?

I know some people do have that opinion. But there really is a difference. Republicans have always been the apostles of material prosperity, slightly bedraggled since 1929 to be sure, but still carrying on with the same basic doctrine, consistent and hopeful. The Democrats have had a splendid political philosophy, much of it perhaps impractical, the doctrines of equality, the hatred of special privilege, state rights, decentralization of power, etc. The trouble with the Democrats is they have continually deserted their stands to go running after the Republican prosperity banner. Huge numbers of them did it in 1928. Democrats are continually being called back to the fold by such men as Carter Glass, Claude Bowers and Frank R. Kent, who really believe and preach the traditional doctrines of the Democratic party. It differs quite clearly from orthodox Republicanism.

Who do you think the Democrats will nominate?

If the Democrats nominate Owen D. Young they will run the Republicans an awful heat in 1932. Young would talk business, commerce and industry; and he would talk about cultivating world markets, the breaking down of tariff walls, and authoritative economic planning. The Republican leadership pins its faith to the high tariff, and it vigorously repudiates any thought of authoritative or coercive planning. Young, also, with his Democratic leanings, would be much more inclined to try some of the panaceas of which the present administration is very suspicious. Probably the Democrats will pass him up. It must be admitted he has some qualities that wouldn't set very well on a true disciple of Jefferson. Young would minimize the power issue. No doubt Roosevelt would exploit it. I don't know as anybody knows what Baker would do. Maybe that is a good reason for nominating him.

Finding Issues

THE political issues in a campaign year are the propositions upon which the parties and the candidates hold divergent opinions. It is always best to express an issue in the form of a question; for in answering the question the party, or the individual candidate for office, is expected to take a definite position and it then becomes possible for the public to decide upon the candidate whom they wish to support.

Thus, merely to say that big business will be an issue, that the utilities, or that farm relief, will be leading issues, is not to make the matter clear. We do not have the makings of a real issue until some pretty definite and contrary opinions have been expressed by party leaders or by candidates. But when this happens, a clear, broad question can be stated, to which the various opinions afford as many answers. To say: "Shall the federal government own and operate giant power plants?" is to state an issue, if there be some definite and contradictory answers to the question coming from the parties and the candidates.

If they are to be of any significance to the public generally, issues must be of considerable importance, relatively scarce, comparatively simple, and susceptible of statement in language that is clear and unmistakable. By no real significant issue lies in the simple question of whether or not the government should embark upon such enterprises. On such a question the public can and will have opinions. And to such questions the candidates can and should give clear cut answers.

Therefore, anyone who would endeavor to forecast the issues of a campaign year should determine if he can, what are the leading problems which the country is facing. He should then attempt to resolve these great problems into a few clear cut and simple power.

In next Sunday's Magazine Section Professor Porter will offer an article on "Depression and Unemployment"

Alumni Notes

On Nov. 1, George B. Porter, '23, of Des Moines, will complete his swift rise from junior attorney to assistant general counsel to the federal radio commission. Porter, employed in the legal department of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company in Washington, D. C., after his graduation, worked toward the realization of his dreams to become an attorney by entering George Washington law school and graduating in 1927.

He was admitted to the Iowa bar in June, '27. Two years later, he entered government service and became associated with his father in his office with the interstate commerce commission in Washington. In February, 1931, he was appointed associate attorney with the federal radio commission.

Genevieve Phillips of Muscatine, and William Douglas Sweney of Iowa City, were married Oct. 4 in Muscatine. Mrs. Sweney attended the University of Iowa and was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta sorority. They will make their home in Iowa City.

ENROLLMENT at Beloit college is the largest in six years. And at Rhode Island state college, where for nearly 40 years professors have been obliged to be their own milkmen, the milk from the college herd of 40 cows will now be bottled and delivered to the faculty members at a special price.

YES, there is a depression—of a sort. At the University of Indiana, members of Skull and Crescent, honorary sophomore organization, must think so, for they staged a "Depression Hop" recently—and reported an excellent ticket sale.

"Water has its points," he replied in a silly way. "What else could we put under bridges, and what else could we use for rain, if not good old water?"

... love (that succession of febrile interviews, searches, feints at indifference, night long solitary monologs, ridiculous visions of remote happiness) . . .

Proletarian Refrain

He had shipped across Magellan's Straits and harbored often on the Bering Coast. His restless feet had climbed Caprian steps, had crunched the snow of Russian plains. His gaze had rested on the Leaning Tower, Alhambra, and the Canterbury Shrine.

Berlin had taught him laws of physics; the Louvre had given art; Delhi, philosophy; Manhattan, economic strife. Their many meanings focused in his mind and pressed with him through London throngs, observed Fascisti pageantry, Chicago breadlines, spinning numbered wheels behind closed Monte Carlo doors.

One day he paused on treeless pampas of the Argentine. To the swarthy woman in a slanting hut who gave him drink he mused, rolling her language on his facile tongue, "You know quiescence here, and sunned content. You ask but little and receive as much. Eating, breeding, burying—these are the end and the beginning of all gain, the only wisdom taught to all and learned by few. I will remain with you."

His hut was built of mud and plank like theirs. He wore their simple dress, devoured their simple food. He talked to them, they answered him with shrugs. He praised the land, they mumbled of its poverty; he eulogized their simple life—"The man is mad," they muttered, and his greetings met drab backs withdrawn in fear and caution. All that had known him forgot, while all that he had known remembered, strove in his mind and sickened in slow, lonely comprehension.

The epitaph his death grip carved was cut in words of his native tongue:

"Disease alone knows the beauty of health;
Learning, the gift of ignorance;
Chaos, the gentle truth of bare simplicity."

They could not read the foreign words. "It is a curse," they said, and burned it publicly.

means all of the great problems of government present true issues.

Indeed the vast majority of them do not. Many questions of very great importance involve problems that are so complex and so difficult to understand that it is futile to try to make political issues out of them. But fortunately it is usually possible to discover the great outstanding problems that are facing a government at any given time, and to find in them a few fundamental questions upon which all else will hinge.

THUS the problems involved in the government ownership and operation of a great power plant are so numerous and complex that experts themselves are baffled and perplexed. But the questions, questions to which conflicting answers are being given by men who are prominent in public life. If this cannot be done it is difficult to see how the electorate can take an intelligent interest in a campaign or exert a wholesome influence upon government.

It is submitted that in 1932 the following subjects will be facing congress as problems of great importance. Furthermore, it is possible to find in each of them one or more very simple, but vitally significant questions that men in public life today are answering in different ways. The subjects are:

1. The depression and unemployment.
2. Farm relief.
3. The tariff.
4. Public utilities and giant
