Boyd Eastern Art Exhibition Opens in Iowa Union Today

Today marks the public opening of the bazaar and exhibit of Mr. and Mrs. Byron B. Boyd of Des Moines whose collection of eastern art is under the joint auspices of the University club and the Arts association. The bazaar is being held in the University club rooms on the second floor of Iowa Union. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd have made the collection in a five months' sojourn abroad.

All of the articles come from places off the usual path of the tourist and there is a wide range of pieces from inexpensive bits to valuable antiques. Two rare exhibition pieces are a Moslem woman's wedding gown from the Balkan mountain district and a Damascene man's costume. The wedding gown is 250 years old and has been preserved by being passed down from generation to generation in a chest especially made for it.

The man's costume is called "koubas" and is topped by the Arabian veil headdress called a "kafee." The costume is of the type worn in the time of Marco Polo.

The bazaar will be open to the public today, tomorrow, and Friday. Mrs. R. H. Fitzgerald is general chairman of the exhibit and is being assisted by Alice Brigham, Mrs. S. M. Woodward, Mrs. W. H. Morgan, Ruth Wilkinson, Alma Held, Alice Davis, Mrs. F. T. Maxwell, and Mrs. A. Dale Riley of the University club; and Mrs. George Falk, Mrs. G. D. Stoddard, and Helen Donovan of the Arts association.

Stock, Bond Prices Make Strong Gains

Sign of Better Feeling Hovers Over Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The security market today gave practical evidence of the better feeling hovering over Wall Street for the past week or two.

Stocks and bonds advanced vigorously, given strong leadership by railroad issues and by United States government obligations.

The freight rate decision was announced after the close. Wall Street was rather uncertain as to just how it should be interpreted; however, opinion in many quarters had been that no flat rise would be allowed but that higher rates would be permitted on many products, probably on a sliding scale.

Foreign buying of stocks and bonds doubtless helped the rally. In addition, further takings of bankers bills for foreign accounts were reported and it was immediately assumed that the demand came from the bank of France.

Grain Market Prices Drop With Surplus

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP)—Wholesale realization of profits on advances amounting to 9 cents a bushel from recent low levels pulled downward today.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 1/2 to 2 cents lower, corn unchanged to 1/2 down, oats varying from 1/2 decline to a shade advance, and provisions 1/2 to 1/4 cents up.

An increase of 6,812,000 bushels in the world's available wheat supply this week was more or less offset by a showing that the total is now slightly smaller as compared with a year ago.

Corn and oats were relatively firm as a result of back spreading operations in which corn was bought and wheat sold.

Closing indemities: wheat—Dec. 51 3/4, 52 1/2; March, 54 1/2, 55 1/2; May 56 1/2 to 1 1/4, 58-58 1/2; July 56 1/2, 58 1/2; Corn—Dec. 36 1/2, 37 1/2 to 1 1/2; May 40 1/2, 41 1/2 to 1 1/4, 43 1/4.

Chicken's Education Example for Man's Benefit, Says Mayo

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 20 (AP)—There are more automobiles than there were 15 years ago. Yet today fewer chickens are killed when they try to cross the road.

With this homely comparison, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, associate chief surgeon of the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., today drove home his contention that many persons of abnormal conduct should be sterilized.

"Persons who are disturbances to society through their reproductive glands should have those glands legally removed," said Dr. Mayo, attending the international assembly of the Interstate Post-graduate Medical society.

"Let me illustrate," he said. "Fifteen years ago automobiles killed a lot of chickens crossing the road. But now, by elimination of the foolish element among chickens, mother hens have acquired more intelligence. Fewer chickens are killed."

By a similar elimination of undesirable human stock, the race can be improved, Dr. Mayo said.

Five Day License Custom Causes Decrease of Blushing Bridegrooms at Desk in County Clerk's Office

Fewer and fewer blushing young men approach the long desk in the county clerk's office and ask, "Is this the place where you get marriage licenses?" There used to be an average of one every day but since the passing of the five day marriage license law they appear once every two or three days.

During April of this year 22 marriage licenses were issued from the clerk's office, and during March there were 26. June, the proverbial month of marriages, saw 48 young men get licenses to wed.

Then came July 4, the day that the new law went into effect. During that month there were but 13 marriage licenses issued, and in August but nine, while September yielded 13.

The same months in 1930 show the extent to which the law has been felt in Johnson county. During April, May, and June, there were 18, 25, and 33 licenses obtained. In July, one year before the law went into effect, 18 persons secured permits to wed, in August there were 25 and in September there were 21.

Going back still another year, marriage license records show that during April, May, and June, 1929, there were 19, 18, and 43 licenses granted. The months July, August, and September of that year saw the issuing of 23, 29, and 28 marriage permits respectively.

Cleared of Accident Blame FARLEY, (AP)—W. Wilkinson of Ft. Dodge, was cleared of blame in the death of Frank Clark, 65, who was run down by Wilkinson's car near here Monday night.

Wilkinson said lights from an approaching car prevented him from seeing Clark in time.

Iowa City's Cavalry Unit at Scene of Cattle War; Battle Now in Des Moines County

BURLINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Battlegrounds on which veterinarians and Iowa national guardsmen seek to enforce the state law requiring tuberculosis testing of cattle today were shifted to include Des Moines county.

Restrictions first inaugurated late in September, shortly after 1,700 guardsmen were mobilized at Tipton, barring non-combatants from camp were again invoked today, and secrecy again was used as a weapon in the campaign.

Four companies, veterans of struggles in Cedar, Muscatine, and Henry counties, were brought here at noon in army trucks. They spent the day in preparing their encampment at the Des Moines county fair grounds just outside the city, and making ready for the advent tomorrow of reinforcements.

The reinforcements include cavalrymen from Des Moines, Iowa City, and Washington, Ia. There will also be a communications detachment from Des Moines to establish radio connections between the base and the veterans and soldiers in the field.

To Carry Out Work Only those to whom passes were issued were allowed within the camp this afternoon as the buildings were made ready for the troopers.

General Park A. Findley, camp commandant, after announcing that his "mission will be carried out" declined to discuss what use will be made of the mounted soldiers, due tomorrow, or when the others will go into action.

Dr. Peter Malcolm, in charge of the testing, tonight had not established his headquarters here. He left Mount Pleasant, previous base of operations, at the time the 250 soldiers departed, and it is understood went to Des Moines. He is expected to resume his work here Wednesday.

15,000 Subject to Tests Assessors records show 17,934 cattle in this county. It is estimated that 15,000 of these are subject to testing.

The herds have been tested by four veterinarians in the last two days in Burlington and Union townships. These are cattle belonging to farmers who do not object to the law. On Wednesday other herds belonging to persons known to have no objection or to those who have asked to have their cattle tested as soon as possible will be inoculated. Officials have said that most of the objectors in this county reside in Concordia Union, Tama, Flint River, Benton and Franklin townships.

General Findley on his arrival said, "I know nothing about the merits or demerits of the tuberculosis test law. I am a soldier. I have been given my orders and the mission will be carried out."

Contrasting with this is a statement from Jake Everstman, county president of the Farmers Protective association whose purpose is to prevent repeal of the testing statute. He said, "I have taken my best three times and I don't intend to have my cattle tested if I can prevent it."

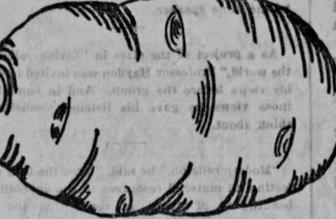

Meanwhile, reverberations were heard from the last front in Mount Pleasant, when Joe Grinstead, at liberty since an alleged tussle with five troopers and two veterinarians, was arrested and charged with resisting an officer. He was released on bond and his hearing set for Friday.

COLUMBUS JUNCTION, (AP)—Russell Kay failed to heed his brother Frank's efforts to stop him at a grade crossing near here. An approaching train struck Russell's car and threw it against Frank, a flagman. Frank suffered a broken leg and Russell severe back and head injuries.

Where a Life May be Saved

MORE THAN one observer has had cause for alarm while watching little children scramble through traffic in crossing city streets. They seem miraculously to escape death so frequently that it appears extremely fortunate that no more children fall victims of traffic accidents than statistics show.

The greatest dangers are apt to occur in the case of schools located on or near busy streets where many children are coming to or leaving the school at approximately the same time. The situation becomes more acute when all of the children arrive and leave by virtually the same route.

Although the modern tendency is to build schools at some distance from heavily traveled thoroughfares, schools already operating in traffic zones must seek some other solution for the problem.

A notable local example is St. Mary's school which twice daily releases more than 100 children, ranging in age from 6 to 18. Most of them are forced to cross Clinton and Dubuque street in rather large groups at a time when traffic is heavier than usual.

Other schools have the same danger to combat in a slighter degree, but St. Mary's appears to be in the greatest need of aid, if serious accidents are to be averted.

It would take but a little effort to insure safety for these school children. The moments of greatest danger are few. For about 10 minutes after the noon bell rings, and about the same length of time after school is dismissed in the evening, the great majority of students has crossed the heavily traveled intersections.

Two members of the Iowa City police force could surely be delegated to escort children across the street during these few minutes a day. Or if regular members of the force are not available at that time, the city ought to be able to make some provision at little expense for the value received.

This is a matter that deserves immediate attention, particularly when the remedy is so exceedingly simple.

Babes Must Play

"I WANT A play," cried the Babe. And leave that a capital B, linotype operator, because the complainant is none other than Babe Ruth, commonly known as the home run king. In a copyrighted interview to the Los Angeles Examiner, the Babe bemoaned his lot.

"I can't go to movies. I can't dance. I can't attend a night club. I can't read a book on the train. I can't gamble. I can't travel in airplanes. I can't shake hands promiscuously. I can't speed in my 16 cylinder automobile. I can't enjoy a round of golf because I'm followed from tee to tee by persons seeking my autograph."

It's a sad lot, isn't it? Yet, somehow, it's rather hard to find sympathy for the Babe. He's getting paid $80,000 a year because he can swing a ball harder than the thousands of men who pay to see him do it. And somehow $80,000 a year seems ample compensation for the pleasures the Babe complains he is missing.

There are even people who get one-twentieth of the Babe's annual income who don't do any of the things he is missing just because they don't want to — but maybe they don't "wanta play."

New Fast Color Printing

A DREAM almost impossible of attainment was the light in which newspapermen looked upon the conversion of drab black and white pages into a truly colorful mirror of a colorful world. Today their dream has reached the verge of reality.

After several years of experiment, the Chicago Tribune has perfected machinery by which, within two or three months, the pages of the everyday Tribune will use any color desired, a feature that had been limited to Sunday supplements that could use considerable time in the making. The speed at which the great dailies of the country have been produced had proved a potent barrier to the effective use of color for news photos, drawings, or etchings.

With the new type press three primary colors can be used, red, blue, and yellow. Other shades and colors can be obtained by impressions over these. Four of the Tribune's pages will be in full color combinations while several others will be printed in two color combinations.

This innovation in the world of printing will open up new possibilities for newspapers and the public they serve as surely as the invention of the rotary press revolutionized the newspaper business and brought about great sociological changes as a result. Newspapers will become brighter, and that brightness will have a psychological effect reflected among readers. Employment in the printing trades will be increased. Color printing demands an improved paper, better inks, and a higher degree of craftsmanship generally.

The Tribune adds this color process to an impressive list of attainments in the color field. The Tribune was the first to produce color rotogravure in its Sunday edition and the first to popularize two color advertising in the daily paper. This is a new venture, and although its success has not yet been thoroughly proved, the Tribune is to be congratulated on its pioneer spirit.

Intersectional Sports

(From the Chicago Tribune)
Yale's visit to the University of Chicago may be regarded by the eastern seaboard as more agreeable and profitable than the visit of the University of California (Los Angeles branch) to Northwestern will be on the west coast, but the score is not the whole thing in the intersectional contests. It may be the least important thing when the momentary enthusiasms have been spent. Interregional sports serve sentimentally to bring widely separated sections of the country together. From east to west and north to south there is a large expanse of territory included in the United States, with diversities of climate, crops and customs which could bring forth several nations if there were preponderant disintegrating influences.

Competition in sports is a highly sentimental contact, but it chiefly affects young people and their view of the national intangibles. Intersectional contests break them out of regional preoccupations and widen their horizons to include the whole country. It is fairly certain that the eastern tidewater colleges have had a broader and better view of the hinterland since teams from the interior proved they could play football. The process may lack the complete elegance of reason, but if it works the fact can be recognized.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

More than 400 students and faculty members participated in a unique experiment here Monday when they listened to an informal address by Eustace Albert Haydon, head of the comparative religion department of the University of Chicago, and took part in a round table forum presided over by the same speaker.

As a project of the class in "Living religions of the world," Professor Haydon was invited to present his views before the group. And in summing up those views he gave his listeners something to think about.

"Modern religion," he said, "faces the task of subjecting all material resources to the ennobling and beautifying of living, of reorienting the social order toward the spiritual ideal, of releasing from bondage the inarticulate millions by an art of human life." The quest for life, he pointed out, is the basis for our exploitation of nature's resources, of our mastery over the material world.

"We are witnessing," the professor added, "either the crumbling of civilization under the weight of its material mechanism, or the birth of a new world organization with a spiritual ideal. No religion of the past has ever had sufficient knowledge of human nature, or of social control, to build a satisfying home for man."

"Millions toll in the grime of cities at tasks in which they find no joy. The earth is saturated with the blood of helpless victims as the flag follows a thrust for economic advantage, seeking the control of material resources and the channels of trade. . . Master and slaves alike are bondslaves to the blind drive of production and distribution of goods. . . Yet life, abundant, beautiful, laughing life, has been our age-long labor's end. . ."

The place of religion in the midst of all this mechanization is certainly clearly definable. As Haydon puts it, "the ennobling and beautifying of living" should be its chief concern. A religious program having that aim can, for undergraduates given to scorning the benefits of their faiths, assume the role of a recreator, and effect a renaissance in college thought, where presumably it is needed most.

And since Haydon terms a modern religious program as a plan of adjustment, and religion as intelligent participation in the human quest for the good life in a shared world, no person can adequately claim to have undergone the processes of education who has failed to experience some reaction to religious thought.

Of course, it is not to be expected that the old supernatural religion, the centuries old beliefs that education has shattered beyond repair in the mind of modern youth, can hold sway here. But it is religion in the sense of a better understanding of human potentialities and the uses to which they might be put for the attainment of the ultimate in living, that should comprise the "religious" thought of the coming generation.

To further quote Haydon, who, by the way is a recognized leader of "naturalistic" humanism just as our Professor Foerster is a leader in "literary" humanism in the United States: "Will sects and denominations be willing to die that religion may live through them? Or will they choose to cling to the old altars and die in fact, while youth, in a new and naturalized generation, leads on to the victory they refused to claim?"

"For no witness of the march of the centuries dare doubt that the quest of the ages will find its leadership in the new world."

So, it seems, that no matter what the individual faith or group of beliefs that underlies our religious training, if any, a common thought runs through all the faiths. And, as Haydon asserts, in his "The Quest of the Ages": "If a thousand definitions of God were assembled from all religions and from all the centuries, one thought would thread them all—man's trust that the universe in its deepest meaning is on the side of human ideals. They represent man's brave faith that his hope of life's fulfillment will not at the last be denied."

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Those Veleg girls are all going into the movies. First Lupe, then Josephine and now Reina, the youngest, have succumbed to the lure of the talkies. Reina, who is 19 year old, and as quiet as Lupe is boisterous, plays a native girl in Helen Twelvetree's picture, "The Second Shot." It is a part originally intended for Dorothy Burgess.

Unfortunately, Reina doesn't speak English, so her career will be limited for the present. She will get by with a few words and with pantomime in her current role.

LATEST GOSSIP

Mary Nolan opened a gown shop in Hollywood last night. Of course, there was the usual battery of arc-lights without which no Hollywood opening of any kind is complete. . . Mervyn Leroy was 23 years old yesterday, and threw himself a party at his parents' apartment. Loretta Young was principal guest, as far as Merv was concerned. . . Maurice Chevalier intrigues Hollywood Beau Brummels with his new gray and blue silk shirts, with bow ties of the same material. . . Bebe Daniels, much improved, is up and around again. She will not make a picture, however, until after the first of the year. . . On doctor's orders, Junior Laemmle has gone away for a two weeks' rest.

HOLLYWOOD LANDMARKS

An interesting spot to visit in Hollywood is the "Come-On-Inn," a restaurant run by two girls, Betty and Hattie Schwartz. Located in a small frame house just off the Boulevard, this restaurant was an early haunt of motion picture people. The walls are lined with autographed pictures of the stars of yesterday. Many of the old timers still patronize the inn, and those who don't find time to write to its proprietors, Betty and Hattie can tell you what has become of almost every star whose picture is on the walls. Their collection extends back 13 years.

Another Hollywood landmark is Bill Ring's barber shop, just outside the gates of the Paramount Studio. One entire wall of this shop is filled with pictures of former film actors who now are dead.

RETURNED WITH INTEREST

In a frankish moment, El Brendel sent a St. Louis friend one of those post-cards which have two inches of fish-line pasted on the front, and a legend above: "Just a line from Hollywood."

Yesterday he received by express, $4.10 charges collect, six feet of hemp to which was wired a tag reading: "Just a rope from St. Louis."

GABLE'S ESCAPE

A little-known fact about Clark Gable is that he almost was killed at that premature dynamite explosion during the filming of "The Painted Desert" a year ago. You will recall that director Howard Higgins and several members of the troupe were seriously injured. Gable, then an unknown, was playing a heavy in the picture. When the explosion occurred, he was standing with Bill Boyd about 200 yards away. He describes the next few minutes: "All of a sudden, we heard small rocks whistling through the air around and above us. They were going too fast to be seen. I made a dive behind a sand-bank, but Bill shouted to jump up. Just as I did so, I got a glimpse of a descending mass of rock. Then came a heavy thud, as it buried itself in the sand bank beside us. After a few more small rocks and a cloud of dust, the whole thing was over."

DID YOU KNOW

That Leatrice Joy owns a Hollywood apartment house?

HOLLYWOOD BY NIGHT

Premiere crowds sometimes show unexpected preferences. When Warner's new Western theater opened here, they gave the biggest hand of the evening to "Death Valley" Scotty, with his 10-gallon hat and his red necktie. Second in applause were Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. The fans didn't even recognize James Cagney.

Most interesting feature of the opening was a pedestrian bridge over Wilshire boulevard. The stars got out of their cars across the street from the theater and passed over the aerial promenade in full glare of the lights.

Of course you'll want to know who came with whom. Consider these: Marilyn Miller with Don Alvarado; Loretta Young with Mervyn Leroy; Una Merkel with Rolfe Harold; Myrna Loy with Robert Williams. (Myrna, I meant to tell you before, has just signed on a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.) Jackie Oakie brought his own and Dorothy Mackall's mothers. Hope Williams was with her brother, Barry. Evelyn Knapp made her first public appearance since her injury. The crowd gave a big hand to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Gable. And 140 policemen maintained order.

Educators to Open Annual Science Meet

'Ilinium' Discoverer to Lead Session; 15 Will Speak

Five conferences in one; the University of Iowa's annual meeting for science teachers of the state schools and colleges will begin tomorrow afternoon with the initial emphasis upon chemistry.

Before the close of the affair Saturday noon, biology, geology, physics, and botany will have been considered in formal lectures and discussions. Fifteen speakers from Iowa and two other states will contribute.

Illinois Chemist Here

To Prof. B. C. Hopkins, chemist, at the University of Illinois, will fall the honor of taking the major part in the opening sessions tomorrow and Friday morning.

Discoverer of the element 61 of the periodic table, which he called Ilinium, Professor Hopkins is known for his work on the rare elements and their atomic weights. He will lecture on the chemical elements, describing their history and method of grouping.

Other Visitors

Another visitor is Prof. H. C. Sampson, of Ohio State University, who has conducted experiments in methods of teaching biology, botany, and zoology. Included among the other speakers is Prof. Elliott R. Downing, physicist from the University of Chicago, as well as men from such Iowa institutions as Iowa State, Iowa Wesleyan, State Teachers, Coe, Drake, Dubuque, Cornell, Morning-side, and St. Ambrose.

Lentz Finds Positions for 838 Students

Unemployment is not a major topic among University of Iowa students, with a total of 629 steady jobs and 269 temporary positions secured for self-support in September alone.

This placement record, in excess of any similar mark of other years, was achieved by the university's employment service under direction of Arthur Lentz.

Steady jobs were secured for 548 men and 68 women, while positions of a temporary nature went to 178 men and 31 women, according to the report. Board jobs were most numerous with a total of 479.

More than 25 different kinds of work are listed in the report. Some of the more unusual include translator, sign painter, orderly, golf instructor, meat cutter, river patrolman, and hand dresser.

Janitor work is the occupation of 100 men; 17 men are earning their way through the university as waiters, and 88 are dish-washers.

Divide Classes in Women's Hockey

Because of the number of girls interested, women's hockey practice on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons will be divided into two sections.

Advanced players will report from 4 to 4:30 p.m.; beginners from 4:30 to 5 p.m. The practices on Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 5 p.m. are open to everyone.

Student Pharmacists Elect McKean Head

Rush D. McKean, P3 of Iowa City has been elected president of the Student's Pharmaceutical association.

Other officers chosen for the year are, Richard A. Rheinschmidt, P3 of West Burlington, vice president; and Harold H. Wiegand, P3 of Spirit Lake, secretary-treasurer.

Laws Elect Class Heads

Seniors Chose Roberts President; Baker Heads Juniors

Lloyd E. Roberts, L3 of Esterville, and Melvin L. Baker, L2 of What Cheer, are the new presidents of the third and second year classes, respectively, in the college of law as the result of the annual student elections held Monday and yesterday.

Arthur W. Johnson, L3 of Clinton, was elected vice president of the senior class, and E. Marshall Thomas, L3 of Ft. Madison, was chosen secretary.

The second-year class selected as vice president Sloan Hutchinson, L2 of Davenport. Voting for a secretary of the class resulted in a tie between William M. Alken, L2 of Leon, and Morris G. Atwood, L2 of Des Moines.

Committee members appointed yesterday to handle plans for the annual Barristers' Ball of the college of law are headed by Howard W. Black, L3 of Audubon, chairman.

The four other members of the committee are: Burton F. Bowman, L3 of Iowa City; Russell A. Engleman, L3 of What Cheer; Harold Gilbert, L3 of Fairfield; Bliss K. Willoughby, L3 of Grundy Center.

Kappas Win Frivol Subscription Contest; Capture $100 Prize

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority retained its lead in the Frivol subscription contest to win a prize of $100 in competition with Pi Beta Phi and Delta Gamma sororities, which won second and third prize in the order named. The winners increased their margin by turning in a number of subscriptions shortly before the contest closed at 8 p.m. Monday.

Each of the three sororities will be paid a regular commission on the sales made. The captains of the teams representing the sororities were Kathryn Smith, Kappa Kappa Gamma, A3 of Cedar Rapids, Phebe Jamison, Pi Beta Phi, A1 of Oelwein, and Margaret Morris, Delta Gamma, A2 of Waterloo.

The subscription campaign will be continued by private solicitors and the members of the Frivol staff. Issues of the "Big 10" number, which have not been called for will be delivered this afternoon.

Dental Club Elects

New officers of the university district of the Iowa State Dental society were elected at the annual meeting held at Cedar Rapids, Oct. 15 and 16. They are Dr. A. N. Humiston, president, Dr. O. E. Schlanbusch, of the college of dentistry, vice president, Dr. L. W. Butterfield, secretary, and Dr. L. C. Dow, treasurer.

Pleasure vessels totaling 3,582 represent the most registered in the history of American yachting.

Plan Varied Program at Mixer for New Students

"Personality development" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department at the Young Men's Christian association freshman mixer at the river room of Iowa Union tonight. Charles Burton, Y.M.C.A.'s place on the campus, and the plans and activities of the association will be discussed.

Refreshments are to be served and a program will be presented consisting of Iowa yells led by Jack Corry, A1 of Des Moines; songs, led by Charles Burton, B1 of Council Bluffs; rope stunts by Forrest Taylor, A3 of Emerson; clogging by Jack Perry, A1 of Des Moines; and a piano solo and accompaniments by Ray Treimer, C4 of Des Moines.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is: Charles Burton, B1 of Council Bluffs, chairman; Hamilton Vasey, E1 of Springfield, Ill.; Ederle Thornton, A1 of Valley Junction; Donald Keith Silcox, A1 of Benton Harbor, Mich.; Frederick Rohlf, A1 of Avoca, and J. Malcolm Knouf, A1 of Earlham.

Dentistry Classes Elect Officers; Witt Will Head Seniors

Senior class officers of the college of dentistry are Eloy Witt, Northwood, president; Milburn Palmer, Riceville, vice president, and Richard Weir, Griswold, secretary-treasurer. Junior class officers are James Hoffer, Des Moines, president; Carl Bruggeman, Waterloo, vice president; V. O. Hasek, Cedar Rapids, secretary, and Chester Mason, Alton, treasurer.

Building Work Moves Ahead

Limestone Arrives for New Engineering Laboratories

With the last carload of Indiana limestone on its way, the facing of the walls of the new mechanical engineering laboratories is nearing completion. The work has been held up due to the lack of stone.

"The brick masons and stone set- ters will be through by the middle of next week and the roof will be completed by the end of next week," said Prof. Huber O. Croft, head of the mechanical engineering department, in commenting on the progress made on the building.

Plumbers are putting in the sewer and water connections. Steam pipes are being fitted and there is a businesslike atmosphere on the construction job.

The building will be ready for occupancy in December. But according to Professor Croft, the department will not move until the beginning of the second semester. Moving of equipment will probably take place during Christmas vacation.

Foundations Completed
 The foundations for the heaviest equipment are all in. The Uniflow and the Corliss engine, the two heaviest, are in and are mounted on their foundations. The two cupolas for smelting metal are in place and smoke connections to the large chimney are being made.

"We are progressing," continued Professor Croft. "Considerable new equipment has been purchased and is waiting for the time when it can be installed in the new building."

Blocking Receives Attention of Coaches as Hawkeyes Scrimmage Frosh

Back Injury Keeps Kriz From Drill

Capt. Sansen, Hickman Excused From Session

Seeking a solution to the problem: Why have the Hawkeyes been unable to score in their three games this season, Backfield Coach Gordon Locke drove the backfield squad through an intensive workout on blocking and forming interference.

Excuse "Big Three"

The "Big Three" of the backfield were kept out of scrimmage. Jerry Kriz did not report for drill because of a wrenched back sustained in Monday's punting workout. With both ankles encased in tape and bandages, Randall Hickman stood on the sidelines during the scrimmage. Capt. Oliver Sansen was not used at fullback. Both Hickman and Kriz are expected to be in condition for Saturday's contest.

Howard Moffitt, the Hawkeyes' star sophomore halfback, took over Hickman's post, while Elmo Nelson played at Kriz position and Howard Masten held down the fullback job. Joe Laws and Jim Graham alternated at quarterback.

Drill Reserves

Reserves were run through a hard scrimmage after the regulars had been sent to the showers. Among the replacements being groomed for the backfield have been Bill Rule, Jack Greedy, and Paul Armstrong.

Tullio DellaVedova and Jerry Foster remained Coach Burton Ingwersen's choices for the tackle berths. Harold Swaney and Ray Elsher were used at ends, Harold Hantelmann and Nelson Tompkins at guards, and Ed Dolly at center on the first string line.

Minnesota Varsity Watches Iowa Plays

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 20 (AP)—Reserves pounded the scrubs today while regulars watched the demonstration of Iowa plays by the freshmen as the University of Minnesota continued getting ready to attack the invading Hawkeyes in Saturday's game.

Lloyd Hribar, rookie fullback, cracked the line again with characteristic drive in spite of bad knees. Drill of reserves was prominent as Ellsworth Harpole, guard, and Earl Nelson and Walter Ohde, ends, replaced regulars to get added experience.

IN CONFERENCE GRID CAMPS

"ZUP" RAISES CRY

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 20 (AP)—Even Coach Bob Zupke took up the cry "beat Michigan" today as he drove his three teams through a live workout for the Homecoming game.

"He shouted the battle cry several times as the teams lined up against the freshmen, equipped with Michigan plays. Harry Newman, star punter of the Wolverines, was impersonated by Jack Banan and Coach Zupke shouted orders to "bury Newman" from the top of his voice. After two days in the hospital, Gil Berry was back in his togs again today but spent his time watching the scrimmage.

NORTHWESTERN HUSKIES SET

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 20 (AP)—Ohio State will get a close up of Northwestern's famous "skyscraper" backfield Saturday, barring injuries. The tall, rangy backfield, averaging six feet one inch, was completed tonight with the return to duty of Paul Pentner and Ollie Olson, who had been out with minor injuries. The other members, Quarterback George Potter and Halfback Ken Meenan, were in splendid condition.

BADGER VARSITY BRUISED

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 20 (AP)—Wisconsin's first string football players were given a light workout on signals and passes here today in preparation for the game with Pennsylvania Saturday. The varsity appeared stiff and bruised from its encounter with Purdue last week and will get only one heavy scrimmage before leaving for the east Thursday.

Grapplers Flock to Mats in Early Season Workouts

Although the all-university tournament, first event on the wrestling schedule, is two months away, Coach Mike Howard is being literally swamped with grapplers as the work of fast offense and counter-offense goes on.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Things I never knew until now but which you knew all the time.

That only six men have ever driven an automobile over 200 miles an hour, and four of these were subsequently killed trying to set new records.

That a Frenchman gets the credit for the bicycle idea. In 1690 he appeared in Paris streets with a contraption that had two wooden wheels, two wooden posts joined together with a crossbar. He achieved his locomotion by pushing on the ground with his feet while sitting on the crossbar.

That Theseus, originator of boxing with gloves having iron spikes attached, was the patron saint of the undertakers and embalmers of Athens.

That the first air travelers were animals. A sheep, a rooster and a duck were sent up in a balloon Sept. 19, 1783. This was the first balloon having a bag attached to it.

That although boxing is considered a man's sport, the following appeared in a London paper in 1722—"I, Elizabeth Wilkinson, of Clerkenwell, having had some words with Hannah Hyfield, and requiring satisfaction, do invite her to meet me upon the stage and to box for three guineas; each holding half a crown in each hand and the first woman that drops the money to lose the battle."

The answer—"I, Hannah Hyfield, of Newgate Market, hearing of the resolutions of Elizabeth Wilkinson, will not fail, God willing, to give her more blows than words; I ask from her no favor and she may expect a good thumping."—The fight never came off.

That the New York Giants and the Philadelphia nines played in both cities in one day—Oct. 2, 1913—a doubleheader in New York, and 2-3 inning of an incomplete game in Philadelphia.

College to Observe Homecoming

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20 (AP)—Homecoming festivities at Iowa State Teachers college will be celebrated Nov. 6 to 8, inclusive, with the football game between the Teachers and Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich., as the outstanding event. The alumni will meet at an informal luncheon at noon Oct. 7.

ROCKNE-TRAINED COACH LEADS GAELS

ST. MARYS 3 SO. CALIF. 7

ST. MARYS 2 FORDHAM 12 1930

ST. MARYS 14 CALIF. 0

Ten years ago everybody kicked little St. Mary's of Moraga, Cal. Then came Coach Edward P. "Ship" Madigan, former Notre Dame player, to direct the "pass, pass, pass" into the Gaels. Result: such players as Bud Toscani, halfback, and national Fletcher (33) running interference, in game that brought the Gaels a 14-0 victory.

MORAGA, Cal., Oct. 20 (AP)—Football at St. Mary's college has done quite a lot of growing up in the last 10 years since a certain fall day in 1920.

As the sun set on that particularly unhappy occasion, the students of the little educational institution—all 62 of them—wondered whether to let the game die a natural death with the inscription on its head stone "St. Mary's 0, California 127" or what! The score that day was distinctive only because it was the worst of a long series of defeats.

Kriz Leading Yard Gainer for Hawkeyes

Averages Better Than 4 Yards; Sansen, Moffitt Trail

Emerging from the obscurity which usually is the fate of a blocking halfback, Jerome R. Kriz of the University of Iowa football team finds himself the leading Hawkeye ground-gainer from scrimmage after the third game.

The Cedar Rapids junior has carried the ball only 15 times, but he has made 66 yards for an average of 4.4 yards per trial.

Most of the time Kriz executes the self-sacrificing duties of the blocker, but at intervals he is sent scurrying into enemy territory on spinner and reverse plays. His 26-yard run against Indiana was the longest jaunt of any Iowa ball-carrier this season.

Captain Oliver Sansen, fullback, is second among the yard-makers, with 56 yards in 25 trials. Kept out of the Texas Aggie game by injury and playing only a part of the Indiana contest, Randall Hickman, the best ground-gainer of 1930, has been pushed out of third place by his understudy, Howard Moffitt. Moffitt, a sophomore, has 53 yards in 18 attempts, while Hickman has 48 in 31.

Iowa's offense, which functioned well for the first time against Indiana, has netted 361 yards, all except 72 of which were made on running plays. Opponents have traversed exactly a half mile, with 125 of those 880 yards resulting from forward passes.

Intramuralites

With tennis play starting last Saturday and golf getting underway this week, intramural competition for the year has begun.

Twelve fraternities have entered men in the tennis doubles and 13 have signed for the singles. Only two matches were played Saturday, Delta Sigma Pi winning over its opponents in both the single and double matches. They defeated the Alpha Tau Omega men in doubles and turned back Gamma Alpha in singles.

A list of 40 golfers will tee off at the Flinkbine course Saturday starting at 12:45. Sigma Chi carried off the golf sharp shooting honors last year. Of last year's team, Schump is the only man returning.

Next Monday the soccer tournament gets under way. Ten teams are entered with the winner being declared after four rounds of play. 370 men were entered in this event.

MINNESOTA'S BROTHER ACT

Walt & John Hass

(Special to The Daily Iowan) MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 20—Brothers off the gridiron, halfback rivals on it, that is the story of John and Walter Hass, members of the 1931 University of Minnesota football squad.

Both men are trying for the same position, that of right halfback in the Gopher backfield this fall. Walter, a 1930 regular, spent his twenty-first birthday with the Minnesota team on the Pacific coast previous to the Stanford game last week. John, two years his senior, also made the trip.

Good Pass Receivers

Both are equally good pass receivers. Walt holds the edge in experience while John is perhaps the fastest running halfback in the Big Ten.

Athletes create little sensation in the life of the Hass family. Carl, eldest of six brothers competed as a sprinter in the Inter-Allied games at Paris in 1919. Ray was All-Southern halfback at Georgetown while Ted is an athlete at Iowa State. Lowell is a halfback on the Marshall high team at Minneapolis. And don't forget Norine Hass, a sister. She won the women's national driving championship at Holstein's Fourth of July celebration a year ago.

Iowa Harrier Squad Names Meet Captain

Harold Klewin, A4 of Rochelle, Ill., was chosen by the cross country squad last night to lead the Hawkeye runners against Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday. He has been coming along fast this season and is expected to place well up in the Gopher meet. He was the second Harrier to finish against Indiana. The harriers exhibited marked improvement yesterday in the time trials for the Gopher meet, running the two miles in the fastest time of the season. Emory Frott finished first in 10:20, Klewin was second, Eric Gunderson third, Normand Rosenberg fourth, Leo Campisi fifth, and John Mitchell sixth. Howard Wickey, main stay of the team did not run, but will probably compete Saturday.

Coach George Brosnahan plans to take 10 men to Minneapolis if the squad as a whole continues to improve in the remaining workouts. He will name the men making the trip Thursday.

The oldest American pleasure vessel in service is believed to be the sloop yacht Nebula of 16 gross tonnage, built in 1885 and owned by Emma L. George, New York.

America's first motor yacht was a naphtha propelled vessel of nine gross tons, built in 1891 in New York for James Roosevelt.

Isensee Out of Columbus Junction Fray

Torn Knee Cartilage Keeps Co-Captain on Sidelines

Iowa City high chances of whipping Columbus Junction Saturday have been dimmed considerably with the news that co-captain Isensee is definitely out of the game with a torn knee cartilage sustained in the Clinton game.

Isensee Outstanding

Isensee's playing has been one of the outstanding factors of Coach George Wells' Little Hawks. Besides snapping the piskin to the backfield, he also called the plays. The Red and White mentor is grooming Kimmel to step into the center position. Kimmel has played this season as a tackle. Hen Soucek, who was also injured at Clinton has been on the sidelines this week, but he will be at his wing position for the Junction game.

New Lineup

Last night at Shrader field, Coach Wells lined up Reed and McCray at end, Riecke and Stimmel at tackle, Marech and Dupuy at guard, Kimmel at center, and Yetter, Mutchler, Brown and Erslund in the backfield.

This lineup has all the big men in the line. With the weight and power concentrated here, the forward wall is expected to open large holes for the speedy backs to dash through.

The revamped eleven went through a signal, passing and punting session.

First Round Net Matches Hold Squads

Beginning of play in the varsity-freshman tennis tournament occupied the time of candidates for Hawkeye varsity and freshman racquet squads yesterday. Although all matches in the first round were to have been played by yesterday afternoon, results were slow to be posted and the following are the only ones available. Donald Reddig defeated Kenneth Powell, 6-0, 6-1; J. Kinnemann defeated LeRoy Millender, 6-3 6-2; Wally Theiss defeated J. Fletcher 6-3, 7-5; C. V. Chesterman defeated John Palmer, 6-2, 6-4.

Continuance of the selection of a squad to meet the Coe college racqueters there next Monday is being held. Assistant Coach Ted Swenson announced. Final selections will be announced either Saturday or Sunday.

Kistlermen in Long Drill Session With City High Reserves

The U. high football squad had a long scrimmage with the Iowa City high reserves last night, practically all of the members of Coach Joy Kistler's squad seeing action.

With only two nights remaining for scrimmage before his team meets Williamsburg there on Friday, Coach Kistler is faced with the problem of developing a man to fill the place of Fuhrmeister, regular tackle.

Saturday night Fuhrmeister was struck by a car and as a result has a badly wrenched knee. There is a probability that his injury will not heal before the week end. Bill Ohlman was absent from the drill last night with an injured leg, but will report tonight.

Outside of these two men, the whole squad is in good physical condition following last week's game with Monticello. Kistler plans to spend the rest of the week developing the blocking and interference on offense.

Gopher Grid Mentor

Coach Fritz Crisler

Herbert O. Crisler who combines the duties of athletic director and head football coach at the University of Minnesota is beginning his second Big Ten campaign as director of the Gopher eleven this fall. Minnesota will meet Iowa, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan in its bid for conference honors.

Loria Sends Irish Through Stiff Drill Against Reserves

Coach Louis Loria sent his St. Pat's gridders through a stiff scrimmage against the reserves yesterday in an effort to iron out some of the glaring weaknesses revealed in their game with Tipton last Friday.

On the whole, the regulars were working well, and made repeated gains against the scrubs, but they still showed weakness in blocking and tackling. A. McMahon, center, and Megan and Push, halfbacks, showed to best advantage in last night's workout.

Sign Mowry as St. Pat's Cage Mentor

Hawkeye Star Begins Duties at Close of Grid Season

Joe Mowry, former Hawkeye baseball and basketball star, will coach the St. Patrick's high school hoopers this season, according to an announcement made by officials yesterday.

Mowry, who was signed by the Minneapolis Millers of the American association league last spring after winning three major letters in baseball, is taking graduate work in the university this year. He will take charge of the Irish basketball squad about the last of November, and remain here until he reports to the Millers next spring.

During his last two years in school, Mowry captured major awards in basketball. He was a regular forward.

Bulldogs Leave for New York; Battle Fordham Saturday

DES MOINES, Oct. 20 (AP)—Drake's football squad wound up its brief series of practice sessions tonight and will entrain at noon tomorrow for the Fordham game at New York Saturday. Twenty six Bulldogs will make the trip.

Harold McMichael, a made-over halfback, went to the center position today in place of Al Robertson, who is nursing an injured leg. Milton Kokjohn, husky veteran tackle, was relegated to the second team with Olson, guard, taking his place and Marcy Baker a sophomore going in at guard.

The Profession of Banking

BANKING is a profession. And like every other profession it takes many years to successfully master.

EXPERIENCE belongs to age. It is one of those blessings which come to men and banks alike—as they grow in years they grow in experience. Long years have gone into building the First National Bank into the sturdy structure it is today.

23 Pheasant Counties in Iowa Open to Sportsmen This Fall

Season on Ringnecks Opens November 6 for Two Days

Ten Fewer Counties This Year Than Last Accessible to Hunters; Trend Toward Conservation

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
 DES MOINES, Oct. 20—Meeting in executive session recently the state fish and game commission, and W. E. Albert, state game warden, passed favorably on the following counties, which will be open to pheasant hunters for two days this year, Nov. 6-7.

Open Counties
 Plymouth, Sioux, Lyon, O'Brien, Osceola, Dickinson, Clay, Palo Alto, Emmet, Kossuth, Winnebago, Humboldt, Hancock, Cerro Gordo, Worth, Franklin, Hardin, Grundy, Butler, Floyd, Mitchell, Howard, Chickasaw.

Last year 33 counties were open to hunters for five days, but a survey has shown that some of these counties are short on birds, while still others perhaps should never have had an open season. The decision this year to limit the season for hunting ringnecks to two days shows the conservation trend as well as the desire to protect where necessary.

Open Counties Last Year
 Counties open last year were: Lyon, Osceola, Dickinson, Emmet, Kossuth, Winnebago, Worth, Mitchell, Howard, Winneshiek, Sioux, O'Brien, Clay, Palo Alto, Hancock, Cerro Gordo, Floyd, Chickasaw, Pocahontas, Humboldt, Wright, Franklin, Butler, Bremer, Fayette, Woodbury, Monona, Hamilton, Hardin, Grundy, Black Hawk, Buchanan, Delaware.

The first official open season on ringneck pheasants in Iowa was in 1925 and has been a continuous open season ever since that time, with the exception of 1928.

Many Inquiries
 Inquiries have been pouring into the fish and game department relative to the open dates, condition of the birds, the counties to be opened, etc. Even as far away as California have come letters wanting information. Hunters in Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Minnesota, Michigan, Nebraska have been on the anxious seat and will undoubtedly invade the state on Nov. 6 and 7.

What Law Says
 For fear that hunters generally may not know the exact meaning of the law, it is again given. Here it is:

"It shall be lawful to kill not to exceed three birds per day."
 While this means that three pheasants may be shot, irrespective of sex, sportsmen generally are urged to take only the male birds. The pheasant territory will be policed this year as it has never been policed before, the game commissioner says and hunters are forewarned that any violation of the law covering this particular division will be met with severe penalties.

Hunters are also asked to respect the rights of every land owner on whose premises they are allowed to hunt, as required by law. First asking permission of the farmer and then conducting themselves as only real sportsmen do.

County Reports
 Reports from deputy wardens in several counties are as follows:

HANCOCK—Pheasants numerous, but smart. Farmers averse to hunting on their land. Considerable hunting out of season.
HOWARD—(Lime Springs)—Some opposition to signing petitions. Crop looks like a little less than last year, owing to the five-day open season. Open winter and good nesting seasons ahead. Cover at least fifty per cent less than last year, due to drought and close pasturing. Few standing corn stalks. Sportsmen are very much for conservation and always ready to cooperate.
CHICKASAW—Looked for a time as though this county would not be said he saw a man resembling Dr. Judd at the Judd home on Friday but the physician denied to police here that he had been out of Los Angeles. Later, another physician told police he was the man seen by the boy but the lad held to his identification.

Hand Bandaged
 From another friend of the three women, Evelyn Nace, also an employe of the clinic, police learned that Mrs. Judd had come to work Sunday with a handgaged hand and said she was leaving at noon for Los Angeles because her husband was seriously ill.

On Friday Miss Nace said she visited Miss Samuelson and Mrs. Le Roi.

"When I left both walked to the door with me," she recounted. "Mrs. Le Roi was dressed in pink silk lounging pajamas, Miss Samuelson wore white washable pajamas. Mrs. Le Roi spoke to me last saying, 'I'll see you tomorrow,' and she did not give the slightest appearance of apprehension or thought of impending tragedy." The dress of the two women was similar to that in which they were found.

The next day, Miss Nace said she saw Mrs. Judd at the clinic.

Nervous Disposition
 "Passing by her door, I noticed she was white as a ghost and nervous."

Magazines, letters and other papers littered the trunks, partly covering the bodies. In one was found a surgeon's scalpel and examining physicians said some such instrument was used in dismembering Miss Samuelson's body.

In the walls, police found a small caliber pistol, about the size of the one with which, one of the women was shot.

Letters in Trunks
 Stacks of letters found in the trunks, the Judd home and the hill-woman cabin here, where McKinnon lived were read for a clue to a mo-opened. Much opposition. Not a single signer to petitions at Fredericksburg. Fair number of birds.

DICKINSON—Pheasants as numerous as last year, with perhaps more in Lyon county. No trouble getting signers to petitions. Violations getting fewer and fewer. Education doing the work. Good hatch-year. Five open days last year do not seem to have harmed the birds. They are exceptionally hardy. Very prolific, raising two or three broods during the hatching season. Farmers somewhat opposed to open season, believe birds protect their crops. Farmers object to hunters running over their farms, especially in gangs. No great objection if hunters will ask permission of farmer to hunt on his land. Pheasants ought to be conserved as the coming game bird in Iowa, is the expression often heard here.

CERRO GORDO—In certain localities birds are more numerous than ever. Farmers do not like the outside hunter coming in. Attitude changed regarding pheasant; now believe they destroy insects and noxious weeds. Never a better breed. Hatch and hatching season than we had this year. In the vicinity of Fertile, Hanlontown, Joice, Lake Mills they have never been more numerous. Ducks are here by the hundreds. Lots of squirrels are being killed. More squirrel hunters than ever before, best territory near Silver Lake.

MITCHELL—One hundred eighty-four signers for an open season. Some opposition. Farmers object to hunters coming into the county from other sections. Birds scarce in comparison to last season. Birds found along streams, but will probably scatter since we have had rain.

FLOYD—Number of petitioners for this year, 158 against 250 last year. Farmers not very favorable for an open season, as they think the birds too scarce, also opposed to having outsiders come into the county and shoot the birds. Real sportsmen doing all they can to protect the birds. Conditions are good, but supply of birds not so good.

PLYMOUTH—Some sentiment against open season. Farmers say pheasants killed off the grasshopper. County has many pheasants, as many as 75 to the mile being done all they can to protect the birds. Conditions are good, but supply of birds not so good.

HUMBOLDT—Many complaints from farmers in county owing to hunters falling to close gaps, breaking down fences, causing teams to run away. Many farmers refuse to allow hunting. There are about as many birds as last year. Found in great numbers along the low lands along the river. Bass fishing excellent between Humboldt and Ft. Dodge this year.

CLAY—Not as many birds as last year, owing to the five-day open season. However, the hatch of young birds was good. Very little complaint about crop damage by farmers. More protection than ever before.

PALO ALTO—Lots of birds this year, but smart. Corn is tall and full of undergrowth and after the first few hours birds are going to be hard to get. One hundred birds counted in one mile in north part of the county. In the southwest corner of Kossuth ad southeast corner of Palo Alto roads are full of birds every morning. Farmers do not like the birds, generally speaking, for many reasons, among them the fact that the open season brings in a army of hunters with resultant harm to property. Plenty of birds for a two-day open season without any harm to the birds. The early open season in Minnesota driving hundreds of birds down into border counties.

live but disclosed nothing. Importance was attached to the discovery that McKinnell's cabin was unusually well stocked with food supplies, giving rise to a police theory that it might have been the plotted hide-out of the woman.

Many suspects were questioned but each proved her innocence. Vigilant search of hotels, highways, bus stations, airports and steamship docks continued unabated. Police had only slight hope that these watches would trip the fugitive, expressing the belief that she had gone into hiding in some remote quarter.

SUES FOR "LOVE BABY"

Ruth Noble (right), pretty vaudeville actress of Los Angeles, has filed suit against Sessue Hayakawa (center), famed Japanese film actor, to recover the custody of her son (left), who was adopted recently by the Japanese and his wife. Miss Noble, in a legal complaint, named Hayakawa as the father of her child, born in New York in January, 1929, under the name of "Alexander Hayes." The lad's mother says she signed a contract giving the child to the Hayakawas in return for $4,500 and a promise of $150 monthly. Now she wants her boy back.

How Times Change

One hundred and fifty years ago Lord Cornwallis, leader of England's redcoats in the American revolution, was about the most unpopular man in America. But here's another Lord Cornwallis, descendant of the famous general, who has been welcomed to the U. S. to participate in the sesquicentennial of the British surrender of Yorktown, Va. The distinguished visitor is shown wearing the insignia of his rank as Deputy Grand Master of Masons in England while visiting a Philadelphia lodge.

Japan

pan and China were identical.

Making no attempt to pass on the merits of the complicated Manchurian controversy the United States in the most earnest language appealed for a settlement of the dispute without the use of force.

As all other signatories of the Kellogg treaty were asked to send notes also, the seats of government at Nanking and Tokyo are expected to be deluged with similar pleas from all parts of the globe.

War Clouds Clearing
 Already state department officials feel the war clouds on the eastern horizon are clearing. There were no reports of renewed outbreaks today. Dispatches indicated continuous if rather slow withdrawal of Japanese troops from Chinese territory.

The Japanese government also appeared to have acquired a better understanding of the American position which Secretary Stimson has emphasized is based solely on a desire that war be avoided.

Unless some unexpected clash should take place, the secretary believed the situation should now proceed steadily toward an amicable settlement by direct negotiation between Japan and China.

Indian Summer Here
 Indian summer came to Iowa City this week, and yesterday warm weather clothing was worn again as the mercury climbed to a high mark of 76 degrees. The temperature at 7 a. m., yesterday was 54 degrees, two degrees higher than the coldest mark Monday night. At 7 p. m., last night, the mercury had fallen to 59 degrees.

Popham Appoints Guardian
 Judge R. G. Popham appointed Edward J. Crowley temporary guardian of the property of Philip Reilly yesterday in district court.

Kiwanis Club Hears Dean in Address

Kay Describes Aerial Trip Over Texas Oil Fields

Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts described an airplane ride he took last year over the eastern Texas oil fields when he addressed the Iowa City Kiwanis club at their weekly noon luncheon yesterday in the Jefferson hotel.

The field, Dean Kay said, covers an area of 40 miles long and is from three to seven and a half miles in width, with 127,000 acres of land already proven to contain oil within 3,500 feet of the surface.

Others on Trip
 On his trip, Dean Kay was accompanied by two graduates of the geology department, Ira Sorenson, son of Mrs. Amelia Sorenson, 835 E. College street, and E. G. Allan, both connected with the east Texas field, from which, the dean said, the estimated production this year was 108,260,000 barrels.

The club also extended a vote of confidence to Coach Burton A. Ingwersen and applauded the game played by the Hawkeye team Saturday. Vocal selections were given by H. J. Tudor, accompanied by L. N. Tudor.

Kiwanian Frank Wright of Rock Island, Ill., was a guest of the club.

Bandits

lay there as the bandit leader, whose companions had gathered what officials said was at least $10,000 in cash and securities, asked W. R. Kraft where more valuables were.

Kraft replied there were none. The bandit threatened death and then fired his pistol point blank.

Escape Bank Guard
 As a bank guard pressed an alarm from his bullet-proof cage on the balcony and ran to the roof to fire at the car, the bandits seized Mrs. Alice Schafer, a stenographer, and James Kraft.

Using them as shields they entered the waiting car. Mrs. Schafer was released but while the machine gun swept the street, Kraft was forced to drive.

Workman Fires Shots
 As the car sped away Edward Trinko, working nearby, fired six shots and he said he heard one occupant cry out he was hurt.

Possemen found the bodies. The dead bandit wore a steel vest which had been punctured by a bullet. The clothing lacked marks or contents that might lead to identification. One group of pursuers was able to get close enough to exchange shots with the raiders, but was outdistanced.

Find Bloody Car
 Possemen later found the car in which the group fled, blood spattered and with windows shot out. They said the flight continued in another car, probably driven by an accomplice who waited for them.

Officers were satisfied Kraft was not shot by pursuers. The manner in which he was shot and the fact that the car did not reduce speed as it left the city indicated he was slain later they asserted.

Airman Visits Walkers
 Elling H. Veblen of New York city landed in a Fairchild monoplane at the municipal airport at 3:30 p. m., yesterday for a short visit in the home of his sister, Mrs. Henry G. Walker, 220 Lexington avenue. Mr. Veblen is connected with the Colonial Air Transport company of New York, and was en route to Seattle, Wash.

MRS. WILSON CHATS WITH HOST

Here is an unusual picture of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the wartime president, made while she chatted with Gov. John Pollard of Virginia at Old Point Comfort, Va. They were members of the reception group that greeted Marshal Petain, French leader, when he arrived in the United States.

Evidence Continues on Damage Suit of Pinney vs. Hostetler

Jury for the damage suit of Ellen Pinney, administratrix of the estate of Bernard Pinney, deceased, vs. Sheridan E. Hostetler, was excused last night until 9 o'clock this morning, when further evidence will be presented.

Plaintiff states that Pinney was fatally injured in an accident in Cedar Rapids July 8, 1930, while riding in a car driven by Hostetler. Messer and Nolan represent the plaintiff and Dutcher, Walker, and Ries, the defendant.

Jury for the case are: James Panzer, P. C. Springmire, Frank Zeller, John Kent, George F. Member, Nellie Stewart, Emil Oswald, Ella J. Meyers, Ernest R. Prizer, D. J. Ahren, Anna Newkirk, and Lola Wolfe.

Increase Bond of Bank Examiner

Bond for Ben S. Summerwill, examiner of the closed Johnson County Savings bank and the Children's Savings and Trust company, was increased yesterday by a court order signed by Judge R. G. Popham.

The order stated that the examiner's bond for the Johnson County Savings bank be increased from $50,000 to $100,000, and for the Children's Savings and Trust company from $30,000 to $60,000.

Library Trustees Meet

Board of trustees of the Iowa City public library met at 5 p. m. yesterday at the library for the regular monthly meeting. William R. Hart is president of the board.

Appeals Hold Attention of Upper Court

DES MOINES, Oct. 20 (AP)—The state supreme court today passed on two cases appealed to it from the Lee county court.

The court affirmed the verdict of the lower court in the appeal of Charles Harness and reversed the findings of the county tribunal in the appeal of William Taylor.

Harness was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of William Carr and sentenced to a maximum term of eight years imprisonment and a fine of $1,000 and costs. The high court said the jury was lenient in its verdict under the evidence.

Reversal of the lower court in the case of Taylor, convicted for alleged breaking and entering, was based upon error. The supreme court held that it rests upon the state to establish guilt beyond a reasonable doubt and that the accused was not required to show that he came by property honestly.

Robbers Get Away With Motor Meters

Even the police aren't safe nowadays from the depredations of thieves. Officer Frank Burns left his car Monday night with a motor meter adorning its radiator. When he returned someone had removed the device and departed with it.

Later a report to the police was made by John Pickering, 315 N. Dodge street, that thieves had also removed the motor meter from his car.

Thieves Get $90 in Station Robbery

Approximately $90 in cash was taken by thieves who broke into the new service station on Riverside Drive near the airport Monday night. It was reported to police yesterday morning.

The thieves, according to J. Clark Hughes, manager of the station, knocked the combination off the safe to open it. The money was in silver and bills of small denominations.

Local Corn Huskers Enter County Meet

Six local corn huskers have entered the annual Johnson county corn husking contest to be held at the Fred Stock farm north of Lone Tree, Oct. 28.

The last three men to enter are Clarence Bravner, Henry Jensen, and Harry Bynnenman. Entries which are being received at the county agent's office have been limited to ten.
