Big 10 Refuses Permit for Iowa-Ames Tilt

Restrict Post Season Frays to Conference

C. C. Williams Receives Final Verdict After Faculty Poll

Plans for a post season charity football game with Iowa State college were nullified yesterday by the refusal of the Western conference faculty committee to permit Iowa to participate in such a game.

Results of a mail poll of the faculty committee members were wired to Dean C. C. Williams, chairman and Iowa member of the conference committee, by Prof. William Marshall, secretary of the committee, of Purdue.

Denies Petition

The telegram read, "The Western conference has denied Iowa's petition asking for permission to play Iowa State college in a post-season charity game."

Under the Big Ten plan the 10 teams are required to play a post season charity game with another member of the conference, the pairings to be made roughly on the basis of standings. Receipts from the two games are to be prorated among the various states represented by the schools. The games will be played on or before Nov. 28, a week after the close of the season.

Make Schedule in November

The schedule of the five games will be made up at a meeting of the athletic directors early in November according to Dean Williams.

Permission had already been granted by the Big Six for Iowa State college to participate in the game and Governor Dan Turner had given his assent to the plan. The Big Six had agreed to permit each of its teams to play one post season game, setting no limits as to what team should be the opponent.

The two schools have not met since 1920, at which time athletic relations were severed because of ill feeling engendered between backers of the two schools by the annual meetings.

Board Meets

The Iowa board of athletics, met on Oct. 17 and decided to petition for permission to play the game. At that time, however, there was a feeling that the request would not be granted, because the Western conference had hit upon its plan before a general plea was made by unemployment relief agencies for charity games and before the Iowa-Ames game was suggested.

"Just as I had expected," was the laconic comment of Edward H. Lauer, director of physical education, on the outcome of Iowa's plea.

Wisconsin Wants Marquette Game

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 28 (AP)—The proposal for a post-season charity game between the University of Wisconsin and Marquette university football teams will go before the University of Wisconsin faculty Nov. 9 despite a ruling today of the Western conference committee against the similar proposed Iowa-Iowa State game.

Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, chairman of the athletic council, said the conference committee ruling may not affect circumstances of the Wisconsin-Marquette game and for that reason, the faculty will be given the proposal. The board of regents recently adopted a resolution favoring the game if it can be arranged with the conference committee.

A complete review of the play will be found in tomorrow's edition of The Daily Iowan.

The two day session ends tomorrow with a program of addresses, committee reports, resolutions and selection of the 1932 meeting place.

Plan Aid for Farmers in Corn States

Propose $10,000,000 Loan Fund Under Storage Acts

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—A $10,000,000 loan fund for financially distressed corn farmers was proposed today at a meeting of farm leaders of principal corn raising states.

The meeting was secret and even the meeting place was not disclosed, but it was learned from the office of the Illinois Agricultural association that it was called by that organization's president, Earl Smith, immediately after a meeting of Illinois farm leaders last week at Springfield.

Head of Iowa Farm Bureau Attends Among those who were here today were Mark Woods of Lincoln, Neb., Charles R. Hearst, head of the Iowa Farm Bureau and William H. Settle of Indianapolis.

At Springfield, Smith proposed that a credit corporation capable of lending $10,000,000 be incorporated in Illinois to grant loans to farmers on corn being held for higher prices and not for fodder. Such loans could be made, he said, in states having statutes similar to the 1927 Illinois state farm storage act. Iowa already has such a law and Smith said he was informed Nebraska legislators planned to rush enactment of such a statute in their state.

Loans on Warehouse Receipts Under Smith's plan, loans would be made on warehouse receipts issued by the state departments of agriculture showing that the applying farmer's corn had been inspected and sealed in his farm bin. The collateral paper then would be rediscouted by the credit corporation through the Federal Intermediate Credit bank at St. Louis.

Late today, lawyers representing the various interested organizations went into conference to decide the legality of the proposed act and to perfect plans for incorporation.

Project in Advanced Stages So far advanced is the project Smith said, that the Illinois state department of agriculture plans to have the necessary application blanks for the loans at county farm bureau headquarters within 10 days.

Officials Find Clues in Hunt for Murderer

SHAWANO, Wis., Oct. 28 (AP)—The brown haired woman whose nude body was found yesterday on a farm near Mattoon, probably was slain four days ago, authorities said tonight after a postmortem examination had been made by Dr. E. L. Mioslavich, Milwaukee pathologist.

She was killed by a bullet which struck her in the face beside the nose and passed through the skull, Dr. Mioslavich said.

The only development in the hunt for the slayer was discovery of an abandoned automobile on a street at Antigo by police late today. In the car, police said, was the sleeve of a woman's dress and the empty shell of a .22 caliber cartridge.

The license number indicated that the car was owned by a Green Bay man and the inquiry shifted there to determine whether abandonment of the car had any connection with the slaying.

Finding of the .22 caliber shell does not fit into the coroner's theory that she was shot with a .22 caliber weapon.

Issue Marriage License

Marriage license was issued yesterday by Walter J. Burrow, clerk of the district court, to Charles W. Briggs and Esther I. Helms, both of Davenport.

Railroad Men Hold Meeting; Discuss Evils

Commission's Plans for Increased Revenue Unpopular

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Railroad chiefs met together today, decided what they thought was wrong with the interstate commerce commission's plan for increasing revenues, and then told the commission about it.

They worked until after 4 p.m. yesterday making notes of their differences of opinion on how the surcharge-pooling proposal of the transportation tribunal can best be administered. Without more than a breathing spell recess, they went to the commission's offices.

It was intimated when the meeting ended two hours afterward that the talk with commission members was just preliminary; that the purpose had been to sound out the tribunal on changes.

The men who took their case to headquarters were W. R. Cole, president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad; H. A. Scandrett, of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; J. J. Pelley of the New Haven; and Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the Association of Railway Executives. They are members of the advisory committee of the association which met earlier behind closed doors.

While the railroad men conferred at the association offices, President Hoover and Senator Coughens discussed railroads and taxes at the White House.

There was nothing from the chief executive's office, however, to indicate the trend of the conversation.

The interstate commerce commission last week flatly rejected a petition from the railroads for a 15 per cent freight rate increase. The commission suggested placing surcharges on all freight bills except for farm products. It outlined the plan in detail and fixed Dec. 1 as the time limit for acceptance and the span of the scheme's life as 16 months.

Some executives said they saw the proposal as the only way of increasing railroad revenues, short of a wage cut, which would take months.

The chief objections of the richer roads, it was said by one executive, lay in details of operation and payment of money to needy lines. The committee is understood to have been directed to ask that the commission amend its scheme so that weaker lines should receive loans from the pool instead of gifts. It also was to ascertain the full extent of the freedom of the carriers in operating the plan.

Gould to Tell of Antarctic

Member of Expedition With Byrd Will Speak Here

Larry Gould, who has been secured to come here at 8 p.m. tomorrow and tell the story of the Byrd antarctic expedition at Iowa Union, found that being second in command of a great expedition had its unpopular moments, as well as its high spots.

During the long antarctic night one of the greatest dangers that overslept the men was the tendency to oversleep. Men have gone mad on arctic and antarctic expeditions by indulging in too much sleep, and living in such an isolated community as Little America. During the long winter months, the morale of the men had to be guarded with great care.

One of Gould's responsibilities was to rout everybody out for an 8 o'clock breakfast. With temperatures skidding so far below zero, in a land where subways claim no early morning victims and business appointments are all, one may imagine that he met with considerable opposition.

Contrary to the natural supposition, however, there was not much idleness in Little America. Even during the shut-in period of the winter, the men were kept busy. Some of their varied occupations will be shown in the motion pictures which Mr. Gould will show here in connection with his lecture, "With Byrd to the Bottom of the World."

Damage Suit Dismissed

Damage suit of W. F. Merriam vs. J. W. Andrele was dismissed yesterday from district court by Judge R. G. Popham because of lack of evidence. Merriam was suing for $64,555, alleged damages to his car resulting from a collision with a car driven by Andrele north of Davenport.

Al's Bodyguard Sentenced for Toting Gun Into Court

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Al Capone's income tax trial had a rousing aftermath in federal court today as the gang chief and his followers were denounced for "intimidating" witnesses, and the bodyguard who brought a loaded pistol into court was sentenced to six months in jail.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who sentenced Capone to 11 years imprisonment, adjudge bodyguard Philip d'Andrea in contempt of court and ordered him locked up for six months.

His presence during the income tax trial with a weapon on his person was a "menace to the court itself," Judge Wilkerson said. But still it was not as bad as the acts of the gang in general—intimidating some witnesses, causing others to perjure themselves.

D'Andrea was paroled to his and Capone's attorney, Michael Ahern, when the latter told the court d'Andrea's mother was seriously ill and promised to bring him into the marshal's office two weeks from today. The bodyguard threw himself on the mercy of the court yesterday, admitting he had carried the weapon every day until he was caught with it Oct. 16, but saying he meant no affront to the court. He was merely a friend of Capone's d'Andrea said, and thought he had a right to carry the weapon because he had once been a municipal court bailiff.

As his bodyguard appeared in court and later was released for two weeks, Capone whined away the hours in the county jail by playing solitaire and reading. He must remain there, under the recent ruling of the United States circuit of appeals, until the appeal on his income tax case has been decided by the higher court.

State of Iowa vs. Robert Richards. Richards was arrested on a charge of larceny following the theft of a diamond ring.

Iowa vs. McNamee. McNamee is charged with driving an auto while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Modern Parents Not Rough Enough, Says Educational Leader

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 28 (AP)—Miss Charl Williams says memories of a razor sharp age are making parents too lax with modern youth.

She is the first woman field secretary of the National Education association and is here to address a sectional meeting of the Nebraska Teachers association.

Parents today are often too indulgent in dealing with their children, she explained, because they resent harsh treatment accorded them in childhood. In making the load lighter for their own offspring, they have gone too far.

MacDonald Faction's Huge Majority Hailed as Bright Event in Affairs of World

Washington Reacts to British Vote With Astonishment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Astonishment and optimism combined tonight in American officialdom's reaction to Great Britain's political upheaval.

The national government had been expected to receive firm support at the polls. The landslide which left the opposition with scarcely a handful of votes in the house of commons brought expressions of amazement here.

Optimistic Statements The overwhelming support led to optimistic statements that the government was now in a position to deal positively with Britain's economic difficulties.

The question most often asked concerned the fate of Ramsay MacDonald. Because of his visit to President Hoover two years ago, the prime minister is probably better known in America than any other British statesman.

Report to Stimson Word of his election was communicated immediately to Secretary Stimson, personal friend of the prime minister, and his closest co-worker in making successful the London naval conference last year.

President Hoover also closely followed the returns at his desk at the White House. While there was no formal comment at the White House or the state government, the overwhelming support given the national government was received with the utmost gratification, tempered only by speculation over the ultimate position of Mr. MacDonald.

Sidelights on BRITISH ELECTION

Prime Minister MacDonald, returning from Seaham harbor by plane, stood in front of Number 10 Downing street without a tie and in baggy trousers to tell a cheering throng that "I am glad to get back to work."

Kid Lewis, former middle-weight champion of England took a knock-out on his first appearance in the political ring. He polled only 152 votes out of a total of nearly 24,000 as a new party candidate in White Chapel, London.

John McGovern, a Scottish stormy petrel in British politics, was re-elected from the Shetland division of Glasgow as an independent laborite. He was the chief figure in a free-for-all fight in the house of commons last summer and was arrested in September for participating in an unemployment demonstration on Glasgow Green.

Miss Jennie Lee, pretty and clever "darling of parliament," was beaten in Lanark by a conservative W. J. Anstruther Gray, who received a 4,500 vote majority. She is a laborite.

State Delays Sewage Units

DES MOINES, Oct. 28 (AP)—Ft. Dodge, Des Moines and Ottumwa will be allowed until 1935 to commence work on sewage treatment plants under a substitute order awaiting consideration of the state executive council.

The substitute arrangement will give the three cities a year longer than the March 1, 1934, date originally set by Dr. D. C. Steelsmith, according to members of the council.

Under the original order Ft. Dodge would have been required to let a contract and start construction a year earlier than the other two cities. A change now fixes the same date for all three cities, Secretary Ralph Kittinger of the council said.

Orders for the construction of sewage treatment plants were issued in August following hearings on pollution of the Des Moines river. Approval of the executive council is required before the order becomes effective.

National Government to Have Record Lead in Parliament

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Swept into power by a mammoth majority of more than 500 of the 615 seats in the house of commons, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's national government will be able to dominate parliament as no other administration in the history of democratic Britain.

Tonight, with 608 returns available from yesterday's voting, there were 565 government supporters, only 50 in the opposition and 3 independents.

Labor Nearly Out The loss of 235 seats nearly wiped out the labor representation in the house of commons. Nothing like it ever occurred before in Great Britain.

The conservative party held 472 seats with prospects of gaining a few more in the late return. This great conservative strength led to the expectation that a demand for a full-blooded protection tariff policy would be the first trouble encountered by Mr. MacDonald.

Emergency Tariff But, although an emergency tariff within a couple of weeks of the reconvening of parliament is a probability, the prime minister is pledged not to impose a general protective tariff until it has been fully investigated and scientific tariff legislation has been prepared.

Great significance was seen in a statement by Stanley Baldwin, conservative leader, who declared yesterday's results showed a national and not a party victory.

Meet Nov. 3 Although Mr. Baldwin did not go into the part the conservatives will play in the house of commons scheduled to hold its first session Nov. 3, his statement was taken to indicate he would make no attempt to seize power for his party. "The election is an emphatic declaration by the people as a whole in favor of national cooperation in order to restore the fortunes of our country," Mr. Baldwin said.

"The effect on foreign opinion cannot be overestimated. The overwhelming support given to the national government will reassure through the world and re-establish confidence in the stability and greatness of our country. Democracy has justified itself in a most striking fashion."

Not Party Victory

Mr. MacDonald and Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden, who followed the prime minister from the labor cabinet into the national government, also viewed the voting as vindication for the national ministry and not a party victory.

This was shown most clearly, Mr. MacDonald said, by the fact that both J. H. Thomas, national labor, and Sir Herbert Samuel, liberal, both of whom are members of the national government, were returned by their constituencies.

Who Made It Only "We appeal for a demonstration of national unity," the prime minister said. "The response has been far beyond the dreams of the most enthusiastic among us."

It was an unprecedented political changeover that the voters effected at the polls following upon a stirring three week campaign in which the national government appealed for support to avert the threat against Britain's economic and financial position among the nations of the world.

22 Laborites Lose Twenty-two members of the old labor ministry lost their commons seats. Chief among them was Arthur Henderson, labor leader, who may get back by means of a by-election, but there was little hope for most of the others.

No member of the national cabinet was beaten. The only really important labor leader returned to the house was George Lansbury, cockney patriarch, who is likely to lead the shattered forces of the opposition when parliament reassembles.

MacDonald's Situation No British prime minister faced more serious problems at home and abroad than those that confront Mr. MacDonald. None was ever so potentially empowered to deal with them as the tired, disheveled Scotsman who flew from Seaham harbor

Cannon Answers Senator's Statement; Offers 16 Charges for Libel Suit on Publication

Virginia Bishop Anxious to Settle Insinuations Made by Senator Glass; Printing of Charges Will Bring Suit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., tonight issued a list of 16 charges involving himself, the publication of which by the Lynchburg, Va., News or the Lynchburg Advance would cause him to sue for libel.

"Enlightening the ignorance of Senator Glass," was the heading of the southern Methodist cleric's statement. "At the start he quoted this recent assertion by the Virginia legislator:

"If it were conceivably possible, in the face of recent disclosures, for anybody to libel Bishop Cannon, I would not know how to go about it."

With that, the churchman proceeded: "Glass Owns Newspapers. The Lynchburg News and the Lynchburg Advance are both newspapers which are known to be controlled by Senator Glass, and they are properties of considerable value, as witness, the goodly sum paid by the government for condemnation of the News-Advance building in Lynchburg, and damages in a successful suit for libel against these papers could probably be collected."

"The simplest way to insure a suit for libel by Bishop Cannon is for the Lynchburg News and the Lynchburg Advance to print in their editorial columns the following charges, thus assuming full responsibility for publication of the same:

Libelous Charges. "First: In 1909, when Mr. Glass desired the nomination for governor of Virginia, Dr. James Cannon, Jr., representing the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, made an 'unholy alliance' with the brewers, distillers, and the so-called Martin-Flood-Swanson faction of the Democratic party to se-was guilty of violating the law against hoarding flour during the World war.

"Third: In the Richmond auditorium campaign of 1928, Senator Glass told the truth when he declared that, while he was giving his humble services to the cause of prohibition without compensation, Dr. James Cannon, Jr., was the paid agent of the Anti-Saloon league of Virginia.

Cannon Sold Stock. "Fourth: Kable & Company of New York operated a bucket-shop, and Bishop Cannon bought and sold stock through Kable & Company, knowing it to be a bucket-shop.

"Fifth: Bishop Cannon violated the federal corrupt practices act by making a false statement of campaign expenditures.

"Sixth: Bishop Cannon was guilty of a fraudulent conversion to his private use of campaign funds contributed for use in the 1928 election.

"Seventh: Bishop Cannon ran away to Europe to escape being present at the hearing of the Nye committee on August 26-29, 1931.

"Eighth: Bishop Cannon has sought to hide his culpability behind the skirts of a woman secretary.

"Ninth: The attorneys for Mr. Goldhurst employed as attorney of record Bishop Cannon's Washington lawyer, a former professional associate and then office mate of an influential Virginia politician.

"Tenth: Bishop Cannon was sufficiently influential to have the indictments against Mr. Goldhurst confined for the conduct of the case to a former female student of Bishop Cannon.

Cannon Involved in Bribery. "Eleventh: Bishop Cannon was a party to an attempt at bribery of the above mentioned assistant district attorney by the giving of costly gifts as an inducement to pigeonhole the indictments.

"Twelfth: Bishop Cannon visited New York with one of his attorneys, after which visit all the papers raised and seized in Mr. Goldhurst's illicit bucket shop were tightly sealed and access to them denied by the United States district attorney, even to the referee in bankruptcy.

"Thirteenth: Bishop Cannon and the Virginia politician referred to in paragraph nine had an interview with Mr. Goldhurst at a hotel in New York city, and immediately after this interview Bishop Cannon unexpectedly sailed for Brazil.

Clemency for Goldhurst. "Fourteenth: There was a compact made in New York, to which Bishop Cannon was a party, which promised clemency to Mr. Goldhurst if he would plead guilty in order to avert the necessity of summoning Bishop Cannon as a witness in his case.

"Fifteenth: Bishop Cannon was a party to the removal of Mr. Goldhurst from the federal prison at Atlanta to Ft. Meade near Washington, and was a party to the action taken by the parole board in ordering Mr. Goldhurst's release in April, 1932.

"Sixteenth: If it were conceivably possible, in the face of recent disclosures, for anybody to libel Bishop Cannon, the News would not know how to go about it."

Get Acquainted with the Antarctic

THE OPPORTUNITY for the Iowa Citizen to extend his vistas of knowledge into the vast but little known Antarctic regions presents itself tomorrow night at the illustrated lecture by Larry Gould at the Iowa Union lounge.

The expanse at the "bottom of the world," which has been christened "Little America," is not just a curious corner of the globe—where polar bears gambol and a few uncivilized Eskimo tribes live.

Evidence of untouched mineral oil resources have been found on expeditions into the polar areas. The lesson the American people learned from the purchase of Alaska should advise against minimizing the importance of polar areas.

Secretary of State William H. Seward's purchase in 1867 was ridiculed far and wide throughout the United States as a folly. Alaska was termed "Seward's Icebox."

The icebox has yielded enormously in wheat, copper, gold, furs, salmon and many other products.

But whether or not the antarctic yields a cent in economic gain, it is an intriguing land, but yet a blank to most.

First hand observations and impressions will be written into those blanks by Mr. Gould tomorrow night. Mr. Gould was second in command in the Richard E. Byrd expedition which penetrated the South Pole sector and brought back a wealth of scientific material.

The chance to get acquainted with the antarctic is open to all tomorrow night, a chance for which Iowa City and the university community should be peculiarly appreciative, a chance which should not be lightly overlooked.

Courage Wins

RAMSAY MacDonald Tuesday won one of the greatest victories in modern political history when his conservative government received an overwhelming vote that all but flattened the labor and liberal parties.

MacDonald now heads the most powerful majority power England has had for 100 years—not since 1832 has a party held so large a portion of the seats in the house of commons.

MacDonald did a daring thing when a month ago he deserted the labor party which had sent him to parliament to assume the leadership of the conservatives. His only reason was that he was doing what he thought was the best thing for England.

He thought that under conservative leadership, the nation could climb out of the maze of economic problems that was overwhelming it. And now he has the voters' reply to his appeal to the country—England is backing the most courageous political move in many years.

Tuesday's victory is a tribute to England's system of government under which situation and not time determines the length of an administration. And it is a tribute to MacDonald, who gave up his party and risked his career for the good of his country.

Political science teaches that political parties will not flourish in the face of a national crisis. Political science professors may point to Ramsay MacDonald's remarkable victory as proof of that point.

It only remains for England to prove that theory further by backing up moral support with practical support of the prime minister's effort to lead his country to economic safety.

True Indian Summer

MANY PEOPLE entertain a fallacious belief that this is the annual period of Indian summer. The truth is that the country is now merely passing through the part of the year when summer, fighting off the onslaught of Jack Frost and the nipping days and nights he brings, tries a valiant comeback. It is a period of winds and sudden rainstorms that starts trees to shedding their summer foliage, but withal retaining the general freshness of summer.

Only after "squaw winter" does the true Indian summer arrive. "Squaw winter" usually occupies the first days of November, when winter gives every sign of coming in with a vigorous rush of high, cold winds and sudden snow squalls. Many times in earlier years this was accompanied by several days of slushy streets.

Then, usually about Nov. 11, comes true Indian summer, a period traditional of the fall season in many countries, but known by several names. In England it is called Saint Martin's summer, and in Germany it is called Saint Luke's summer. During this best of all seasons comes a stretch of warm, mild, lazy days, with landscapes made more beautiful by nature's myriad colorings. The odors of burning leaves pervade outlying sections of every city and town, and nights are clear and delightful, with a hazy moon casting a warm glow over the whole country-side.

The Lesson of the Dusk

RELIGIOUS workers who can't find a way to reform atheists should bring the unbelieving ones to the campus of the University of Iowa and leave them alone for a few minutes to watch the sunset from the west steps of Old Capitol. If the brilliant blaze of color that sweeps the sky doesn't convince them, then let them stay a little longer.

For after the sunset, come precious moments of breath-taking beauty. Streaks of orange smoulder against an indigo sky that is gradually growing darker. The twin red beacons over the engineering building pierce the darkening blue. Then a giant flashlight brings into sharp relief one of the huge smokestacks at the power house, climbing up into the heavens like a spire of purity.

The other smokestack is nearly invisible in the growing dusk, a mass of grey, indistinct against its brilliantly lighted twin. Twinkling lights begin to illuminate the campus, and dot the bridge like impatient fireflies as cars hurry by. Across the river, Westlaw is made up of regular rows of bright lights, the walls of the building only a dark mass.

Then, high above the twinkling lights and the irregular shapes that are buildings and homes, gleams the tower of University hospital, a tribute from man to humanity, a beacon of mercy.

And the religious workers can rest assured that the doubtful ones will look up into the beige of the heavens, in which a few stars are now gleaming brightly, and then bow in conscious or unconscious reverence to a Greater Power.

To Allen Hoover's Success

ALLEN HOOVER, second son of President Hoover, has become a clerk in the Security First National bank of Los Angeles.

Undoubtedly young Hoover has been wise to accept a "low clerical position." Small beginnings make the foundation more firm for a successful career. His apparent good sense coupled with his splendid education acquired at Stanford university and the Harvard graduate school of business education, has given him a background which should insure success, despite the handicap of having a famous father.

May he with Kipling find: "Four things a man must learn to do if he would make his record true; To think without confusion clearly; To love his fellow-men sincerely; To act from honest motives purely; To trust in God and Heaven securely."

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Fifty-eight years ago Maude Adams made her stage debut as a baby in arms, 25 years ago she was the toast of Broadway when she was playing "Peter Pan." Sixteen years ago, after her director had lost his life on the Lusitania, she vowed that she never would cross the boards again.

But now, behind locked doors and veiled in the proverbial taciturnity by which Broadwayites have always known her, Maude Adams is preparing for a comeback, one of the greatest of all times—if it works.

She has chosen "The Merchant of Venice," Will Shakespeare's masterpiece, for her comeback vehicle, but contrary to all hopes, she is not planning to see her name in the bright lights of New York's theaters. For, after a premier at Cleveland, the show will in all probabilities take to the road.

To show that she means to keep things under her hat until the show opens, Miss Adams has warned everyone in the enterprise, from Otis Skinner, her co-star, down to the stage hands, that if anyone breathed a word about what was what or who was who in the play, it would never go before the public.

And so, all that reporters can obtain in the way of response are "I don't know" and "I can't say." Even Miss Adams' closest personal friends "don't know" where rehearsals are going on. Keeping quiet about the details, of course, as in former years, is bringing Maude and her show all the publicity it needs.

No one probably will ever know why Maude Adams wants to come back. She boasts that she has never been interviewed. Whether it is to satisfy that inner urge that keeps a great actor in the business or the depression may ever be a secret.

But that she will revive in the theater something of the glamor and genius that characterized it when she was "Peter Pan" to you, is certain. Comebacks, after all, are only successful when theategoers are tired of the trend. And if Maude Adams does it, the boards can get ready to welcome back a lot of other familiar feet.

Theodore Dreiser of "American Tragedy," "Sister Carrie," and "The Titan" fame, has appealed to Senator Borah for an investigation of labor conditions in the mines of Hartan county, Ky.

As chairman of the National Committee for Defense of Political Prisoners, the novelist is seeking a congressional inquiry into what he calls a "reign of terror."

Fearless Dreiser recently organized his own investigating committee to go into the mine region and invited several members of the senate to participate but none accepted. We can't understand why he went to Borah about it. He might just as well sit down and write another novel on the subject and get better results.

Message to Mr. George Papen, communist organizer, who was helped out of Council Bluffs Monday night, and whose "abductors" returned to town to wreck the communist headquarters and burn all the literature telling what a fine thing communism is, and whose treatment was denounced by the executive committee of the Trade Union Unity League of Nebraska and Iowa, meeting in Omaha Tuesday, as "a violation of constitutional rights."

"You can't do a thing like that here, George. After all, you know, this is a democratic country."

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, CAL. After testing a half dozen Hollywood actors for the part, R-K-O, Pathe has signed Guy Bates Post, veteran stage star, to play one of the three leads in Ann Harding's new picture, "Prestige."

This will be Post's talkie debut and his first appearance in the films since he made "The Masquerader" a number of years ago. The actor is now fulfilling an engagement with the Pasadena Community Players.

In the romantic lead opposite Ann Harding will be Melvin Douglas, who came out here from Broadway to recreate his original role in "Tonight or Never." Because of his appearance with Gloria Swanson and Ann Harding in succeeding pictures, this young actor is very much in the Hollywood limelight.

Ian MacLaren is another member of the "Prestige" cast. Rehearsals for the picture already are under way, with Director Jay Garnett planning to complete his studio scenes before taking the company to Florida on location. This will enable the cast to take a flying trip to Havana before returning to Hollywood.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

Jimmy Durante writes to tell this one on himself. It seems he hired a boat and rowed out into the lake to fish. Nearby was another boat, containing two lolling figures.

"Are they biting today?" inquired Schnozzie.

"One of them lazily surveyed him. 'Well if they are,' he drawled, 'they are biting each other.'"

A LADY IS BORROWED

William Le Baron finally discovered the feminine lead for "The Lost Squadron" at another studio. Dorothy Jordan is being borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play opposite Richard Dix in this air film. The two other principals will be Joel

LATEST GOSSIP

Bill Hart is down with a case of flu. Douglas Fairbanks has changed the name of his film again. Now it's "Around the World in 60 Minutes." Buster Keaton hired a Pullman car and engaged an entire floor of a San Francisco hotel to entertain his guests at the California University of Southern California football game. A rival studio man was bragging to Clarence Brown about how much better their railroad station is than the one Brown is using in "Emma." "Well, anyway, we've got Marie Dressler," replied Clarence. "Kay Francis' Paramount contract expires Nov. 15, but she will remain long enough to finish "The Master Key." Wesley Ruggles and Arline Judge return from their honeymoon Nov. 15. They will live in Wesley's Beverly Hills home until it can be sold. Then they'll build. Hal Roach is making a burlesque of "Coco Kid" to be called "The Krisco Kid." Charles Chase stars.

HIS OWN BOSS

I understood Ronald Colman's arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn gives him the right to select his last two stories. He hasn't done this in the past. The salary clause also is a flexible one, with the box office reports of his previous pictures regulating the terms. Unless Ronnie and Sam can get together on this, however, he hasn't fulfilled the contract. In any event, he is a free agent after these two.

Speaker Tells of Problems in Philippines

Filipino Lecturer Gives Address in Old Capitol

Our true Philippine problem, as stated yesterday by Vicente Villamin, visiting Filipino economist, in a lecture given in the house chamber of Old Capitol, is the promotion of human liberty, of which political liberty is only a small part.

"The Philippines want independence, America is politically capable of giving it, and the Philippines are politically, temperamentally, and mentally capable of self government," declared Mr. Villamin.

Economically Unprepared

"But as yet," he continued, "the Philippines are economically unprepared to lose American protection. Although the United States has taken away from the Filipino the glory of establishing an independent government of his own, he is content to let matters stand because he realizes his unpreparedness."

Praises Educational System

Declaring that even before the guns were silenced at Manila, schools were established for the Filipinos, Mr. Villamin was high in his praise of the education system since adopted, particularly under the leadership of Dean Eugene A. Gilmore of the college of law, formerly governor general and superintendent of instruction in the Philippines.

"Deprived of the right to declare war or to bear arms, the Filipino has appropriated one-third of the $40,000,000 annual income for educational purposes instead of using it to maintain military armaments."

Concerning the relations of the far east with the Philippines, Mr. Villamin declared that without American protection, the Philippines would be prey to mass immigration from China, economic penetration from Japan, and communistic invasion from Russia.

Filipino Aids Farmer

In discussing the agricultural interests which have prejudiced farmers of the United States against keeping the Philippines longer under our control, Mr. Villamin said that were the truth known, the farmer would realize that the Philippines were actually aiding him.

"Less than one-third of the coconut oil used in this country goes to oleomargarine, and of that one-third, more than one-half comes from the United States and from copra imported from other countries," he said. "So if the Philippine trade was cut off by taxation, competition would still face the farmer, both in butter and in the sugar beet industry, from other foreign countries, and that competition would not be materially less than it is now."

Paxson, Gallagher Speak Before Civil Engineer's Society

"Moffat tunnel, a short cut between San Francisco and Chicago," was described by Harry O. Paxson, E4 of Iowa City, to the members of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the regular meeting in the engineering building yesterday afternoon.

William J. Gallagher, E4 of Davenport, discussed, "International Harvester company's construction work." Much of the material in the talk was supplied by William Turner of the Priestor Construction company. Mr. Turner is an alumnus of the civil engineering department.

Fred W. Drummond, E4 of Davenport, presided at the meeting.

Prof. Edward W. Chittenden of the mathematics department will speak on "Covering theorems" before the Graduate Mathematics club at 4 o'clock today in the physics building.

"Professor Chittenden's talk will be of interest to anyone who is taking or intends to take higher mathematics," said Prof. Henry L. Rietz, head of the mathematics department.

Japanese Protect Interests, Ask Withdrawal of Russians

TOKYO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Japan moved today to protect her interests in northern Manchuria, requesting Russia to stop troop concentrations in the Manchurian border, and sending engineers north along the Suiyunkai-Taonan-Angranchi railway to cross the Chinese eastern line and reopen the direct route from Taonan to Tsitsihar.

Troops accompanied the engineers. This is farther north in Manchuria than any Japanese troops have gone since Russo-Japanese relations were resumed in 1925.

The foreign office announced also it would submit to the League of Nations council a list of Sino-Japanese treaties it feels China has failed to respect. China is on record at Geneva as acknowledging her obligation under the league covenant to respect treaty stipulations.

Thus the sixth week of the difficulty brought no sign of direct Sino-Japanese forces in Manchuria to the areas to which their activities are limited by treaty.

Foreign Minister Shidehara's note today took cognizance of persistent reports from Chinese sources that from 20,000 to 30,000 Russian troops had been concentrated recently from Prokhnaya on the eastern Manchurian border, and Manchouli, on the western border. Shidehara expressed concern, and asked Russia to cease further military operations "which might be misinterpreted."

Moses Prophecies Democratic House

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 28 (AP)—Senator George H. Moses, in an address before the Churchmen's club tonight, predicted the next house of representatives would be organized by the Democrats with a Democratic speaker.

Senator Moses asserted that "anticipation of the seventy-second congress is not altogether pleasurable." He predicted congress would have to turn its attention to the budget and to emergency deficiency appropriations.

Grain Expert Sees Jump in Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Herald and Examiner quotes Arthur Cutten, grain operator, as expressing the belief that May wheat may sell at 85 cents a bushel sometime during the present crop year, which extends to July next.

In discussing existing conditions, Cutten added, the paper says: "Cash wheat is selling at premiums over the futures. Even high grade Durum, I am told, is in demand above 90 cents in Minneapolis."

"Sales by the federal farm board may be a good deal larger than the trade generally supposes. If the board gets rid of the bulk of its holdings, that will put a different aspect on the situation all over the world."

"We are likely to find out later that an enormous volume of wheat has been used on farms for feed. This quantity may cut decidedly into the supply for human food."

"The action of the futures since early this month indicates important interests must have realized that wheat had been depressed to a ridiculously low level. During recent advances heavy profit-taking sales have been absorbed easily. Nobody seems to know where the wheat has gone."

Oil Marketers Need Communitites

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28 (AP)—S. A. Wassum of Tekamah, Neb., president of the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers, Inc., said here today the oil jobber is too firmly entrenched in the life of his community to be in danger of being crowded out of the industry.

Speaking before more than 600 oil jobbers from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska at the annual big four oil marketers meeting, Wassum said individual ownership of business was basic in the nation.

Wassum characterized as unsound and unethical organizations such as farmer cooperatives. He said they existed only by virtue of preferential legislation.

in the United States have been placed on exhibition in Philadelphia. The minerals are from Eddy county, New Mexico.

Potash is essential for manufacturing fertilizer and in the chemical and multions industries. Imports now come chiefly from Germany and France.

Henry Cops 12 Points to Lead Frosh ball than to track, the freshman and upperclass championships in the next to the last fall track meet started yesterday on Iowa field.

Saling Surprises

For the upperclassmen George Saling with three first places led the quarter-miler, when he won over Henry Perry, running with a long easy stride, easily kept the race in hand, although he did not extend himself.

ternoon, when the remaining events will be run off at Iowa field and on the west side of the river. The 220 yard dash at 4:30, the 110 yard high all be contested on Iowa field, while the hammer throwers and discus men will report to E. C. Mathies on the west side at 4:15 for their trials in these events.

Indiana Gets in Shape for Buckeye Tilt

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 28
—The Indiana Homecoming with great color and gaiety will form a background for the great traditional football battle which will take place between Ohio State and Indiana Saturday in the Indiana memorial stadium.

Monday, Coach Hayes and his gridmen, greatly encouraged by their smashing 32-6 victory over Chicago on the Midway last Saturday, turned their attention to the Buckeyes as the third Big Ten opponent of the season and one of the most crucial of the games this season for the Crimson. Not a single Indiana man received a scratch in the Chicago encounter.

Drill this week is consisting in the main of developing the offense that in Saturday's game scored nearly as much as Indiana had made in two previous seasons. The most noticeable improvement in the Chicago game was the flashy air and end run offense that swept the Maroons off their feet in the closing stages of the game. Coach Hayes has been drilling this into his men for some time but Saturday was the first time they have had a chance to show it.

Indiana, in the midst of learning an entirely new system, has been developing steadily from game to game. In the Iowa game the Crimson defense was satisfactory. In the Maroon game the offense was added.
Coach Hayes looks for his men to improve in this fashion gradually as the season carries on. In the Chicago game the Crimson put on a fine will see plenty of activity.

Iowa Sends Invitations to Harrier Run

Indiana to Defend Big Ten Championship Here Nov. 21

The nine guests of the University of Iowa have received their invitations for the twenty-second renewal of the Western conference championship cross country run.

Each of the Big Ten universities has been asked to send a complete team for the event of Nov. 21 when 60 distance runners will traverse the four-mile course on Finkbine field, George T. Breenahan, Hawkeye coach, said Wednesday.

Indiana, blessed as usual with a supply of crack runners, will defend its championship, just as it did in 1929 after winning its initial title in 1928.

Hoopler supremacy again will be disputed by Wisconsin. The men of Coach Tom Jones won four consecutive titles from 1924 to 1928, but the Badger reign was cracked by Indiana three years ago.

Conference rules specify that each university may enter as many men as desired, but only six actually may appear at the starting line.
The first five men from each institution are scored, with the team title going to the university with the lowest total.

Scheduled to be held at Iowa City for the first time, the run will occur in the morning. All of the barriers will be guests of the university at the Northwestern-Iowa football game that afternoon.

KNUTE ROCKNE JR. TELLS HOW TO PLAY FOOTBALL

In years to come another Knute Rockne may be directing football teams to national fame. A son of the late Notre Dame coach of that name has started a gridiron career at a Kansas City boys' school. In the following article he tells some of the things he learned watching the "Fighting Irish" perform.

By KNUTE ROCKNE, JR.
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—I have played football ever since I can remember but my first experience as a member of a team playing a regular schedule was here at the Pembroke school for boys in Kansas City.

I began playing in the first grade and have not missed a season since then.
Last year coach used me as a halfback but this year has changed me to a quarterback. Our team is composed of boys who are 12 and 13, all weighing between 80 and 100 pounds.

Blocking Important
While I like to run the ball and tackle, I believe blocking is the most important part of the game. If every boy on a team would block one boy the ball carrier should be able to dodge the eleventh boy on the other team and make a touchdown.

Usually this does not happen because some one misses a man.
Blocking takes more nerve than tackling or carrying the ball.

Some boys are hard to block because they sidestep quickly. I used to watch the Notre Dame team practice and they spent a lot of time on blocking.

Must Have Line
A team must have a good line. I have noticed that we fellows in the backfield can't make much distance unless the line makes a hole for us.
I used to like to watch Tim Moyallan block the men on the other team.

I think if a boy intends to go out for a certain position he should watch some man who is good and practice on the things that are important. I try to shift as fast as I can when running with the ball as

Knute Rockne, Jr., son of the late football wizard of Notre Dame, as quarterback of a Kansas City boys' school team, is shown above getting pointers from Coach Chet Benefiel. Young Rockne has a few ideas of his own gathered from watching the "Fighting Irish," particularly that blocking is the paramount feature of the game.

I noticed Jack Elder used to make many of his long runs that way.
Almost all of the Notre Dame backfield run with their knees high, especially hitting the line and I think this is good to practice on.
Some boys' teams try to have a lot of trick plays. But they usually don't work because too much time has been spent on the signals and not enough time on practicing blocking. I think a few plays are enough, but they take plenty of practice to go off right in a game.

Intramuralites
Rain seems to have been the big factor in the tennis tournaments up to date. In the doubles division only the first round has been completed.
The single matches have advanced farther with two teams, Delta Sigma Pi and Phi Gamma Delta, resting in the finals of their bracket division.

The soccer program for today consists of matches between Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon at 4:15, and Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta at 5 o'clock. With these two contests over, the second round will be completed.

Athletic managers of the various fraternities are requested once more to get their entry lists in for the cross country race which is to be held Nov. 4. Last year 370 men were entered in this event. Entries tuberculin tests.

Cadet Laid to Rest in West Point Grave

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP) —In a soldier's grave high above the plains the West Point corps today laid the body of Cadet Richard B.
Sheridan Jr., fatally injured in a football game with Yale Saturday.

The entire corps, clad in gray full dress uniforms, Sheridan's family and representatives of Yale and other eastern colleges followed the slow moving artillery caisson bearing Sheridan's body to the little graveyard where lie the bodies of General Custer, George W. Goethals, "Fighting Bob" Anderson and other names revered in army mess halls the world around.

GOAL to Go!

No Place for Guesswork

THE crucial moment of the game—thousands of spectators shouting for a touchdown, other thousands imploring the defense to stop the charge—the contest hangs in the balance. Each player must know his part, there's no time for guessing or pondering; one slip may mean disaster.

SIMILARLY, the men on whom the sports world relies for the story of the game may not falter. Their interpretations and descriptions must convey the true picture of what happens in the field.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS football reporters are well grounded in the technique of the sport. Because their dispatches are unfailingly accurate, intelligent and interesting, millions of readers prefer "AP" stories on football and, in fact, all sports events.

Two Communist Leaders Claim "Taken for a Ride" by Council Bluffs Legionnaires

OMAHA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Two communist leaders from Council Bluffs tonight were nursing bruises they said they received at the hands of the American Legion and city officials and vowed they would return to Council Bluffs with demands for justice.

Geord Burroughs, 50, and George Papcun, 29, communist organizers, today told how gangs of men had taken them "for a ride into the country" and had released them with admonitions to stay away from Council Bluffs.

Burroughs was found today on a road near Neola in a dazed condition. He complained of being stiff all over his body and declared his alleged abductors "manhandled" him so he "hardly knew what happened." He said the same group that on Monday night took Papcun into the country and ordered him to "keep on going" was responsible for his experiences.

Mob Attacks Communist

The elder communist said he had just retired when a mob came to his barn and ordered him to come out.

He said he refused and then climbed into a hay loft while they were breaking into the place.

"Then," he said, "they threw in tear gas bombs and several climbed into the loft after me. I jumped from the left window and started to run. But they caught me and threw me into a car. After a long ride they dumped me out on the approach of a bridge near Neola and beat me with blackjacks and told me never to come back to Council Bluffs."

HEROES OF WAR IN REUNION

Marshal Petain's visit to America has given him an extended reunion with his war-time associate, General Pershing.

Officials Seek to Identify Body Found in Mississippi

KEOKUK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Officials tonight were probing two clues in the hope of throwing some light on the identity and death of an aged woman whose well-dressed body was found floating in the Mississippi early Wednesday.

Sheriff H. V. D. Maas expected the arrival of a Ft. Madison taxi driver who said he left that town with a woman passenger for a Keokuk hotel this morning. Another aspect being investigated by the sheriff is a report that an automobile stopped near the spot four miles north of Keokuk where the body was discovered by a farmer.

Meanwhile Deputy Coroner J. H. Wilson held the opinion that death was due to drowning, despite the report that no water was found in the lungs. He said an inquest would depend upon further information.

Coroner R. A. Vorpahl earlier had pronounced the death suicide and said there would be no inquest.

A sister, Mrs. Margaret Hambleton, said she had received mysterious letters from him since his arrival in Salt Lake City where he hoped to sell state rights for a frozen confection.

Miller's body was found by two duck hunters. He was a representative of the Ambrosia Creamery company, Napa, Cal.

Gopher Milkmaids Challenge Badger Coeds for Contest

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 29—You have read stories or unusual contests before. Well, here's an odder one.

Amateur milkmaids at the University of Minnesota, anxious to prove their prowess, have sent a challenge to coeds of the University of Wisconsin to take part in a milking contest to be staged during the Gopher rodeo tomorrow.

The rodeo is one feature of the program planned for Minnesota's Roundup Homecoming, at which Wisconsin and the Gophers will settle a slight argument on the football field.

If Badger milkmaids judge the offer to be only bull, coeds from the main campus at Minnesota will meet coeds from university farm in the contest.

No prizes will be at stake.

Mystery Surrounds Death of California Man; Will Investigate

CEDAR RAPIDS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Authorities are investigating the possibility that John W. Miller of Oakland, Cal., whose body was found in the Cedar river here, may have met with foul play.

The theory was advanced after officers learned Miller had between $3,000 and $4,000 when he left home.

Colleges Will Open Series of Broadcasts

All of the state's colleges and junior colleges have been invited to present a radio program from station WSUI of the University of Iowa, and six of them are already scheduled for broadcasts.

Carl Menzer, director of the station, announced Wednesday that the college hour at 8 p.m. on various Fridays would offer the smaller institutions of the state an opportunity to present talks by their executives, and musical numbers by their students.

The series opens Nov. 6 when Parsons college of Fairfield takes the air. Other November assignments are the University of Dubuque, Nov. 13; and Central college of Pella, Nov. 27.

Bloomfield Junior college, Dec. 11; Webster City Junior, Jan. 15; and Upper Iowa University of Fayette, April 15, have been booked. It is expected that numerous other colleges will be scheduled soon.

Reed Says Weather Aids Crops; Warns About Grasshoppers

DES MOINES, Oct. 28 (AP)—Abnormally warm weather last week resulted in good growth in pastures and meadows, which Charles D. Reed, director of the weather and crop bureau here, said today are now at their best in the 1931 season.

In his weekly summary, Reed said sugar beet harvesting and apple picking are progressing rapidly. Winter wheat is making good growth.

Corn husking progressed well, he said, although some is too moist for cribbing. He warned that the warm weather has been very favorable to propagation of grasshoppers.

New Ruling Gives Illini Coeds More Freedom in Hours

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 29 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—First council of Women's League, an organization composed of all Illinois women, ruled that coeds be permitted to stay out until 11:30 o'clock on week nights, 1 o'clock on Friday and Saturday nights, and 11 o'clock on Sunday.

Reasons given for the ruling were: women studying in the library on week nights had to leave for their homes too early because of the 10 o'clock rule; the girls were too pressed for time after week end dance dates, and could hardly reach their homes by the closing hour.

Campus dance halls, however, close at midnight, as usual.

Airway Inspector Here

Mr. Fitzgerald of Milwaukee, Wis., airway inspector of the department of commerce, arrived in a Stinson Junior plane at the municipal airport yesterday afternoon on a short business trip. He will leave today.

Parking Ban Opposed by Badger Men

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 29 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Vigorous opposition by students of the University of Wisconsin to a proposed all-night parking ban caused the city council to table the ordinance for further consideration, sounding a temporary truce in the student-city battle which has been raging on several fronts for more than two weeks.

Aimed at the university district, the proposed ordinance immediately became the "last straw" in a long list of grievances which the students hold against the police and the city council.

Besides the university residential section, the ordinance included nothing but business area, railroad yards, and some very poor districts. It did not in any way touch the higher class Madison residential area.

Designed to drive student-owned automobiles into the high-rate downtown garages, the ordinance not only forbid curb parking but also prohibited parking on terraces.

Student action took the form of a meeting of more than 20 campus leaders of activity, who planned a petition, a student mass meeting, and a student march on the city hall the date of the municipal open meeting for consideration of the ordinance.

Dean Trick Claims Farm Loans Good

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 28 (AP)—Dean Trick, Des Moines, told the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America here today that the plight of farmers in the United States is "not as hopeless as we have been led to believe."

"Life insurance companies," he said, "have positive evidence to the contrary. They hold farm mortgages amounting to around $2,000,000,000 and about 90 per cent of that number is in good standing."

Mercury Drops to 41

Cooler breezes have struck Iowa City, taking the mercury down to 41 degrees Tuesday night. At 7 a.m. yesterday the thermometer had raised only two degrees and the highest reading yesterday was only 33 degrees. By 7 p.m. last night the thermometer had dropped to 45 degrees.

Dr. A. R. Lauer, who is conducting the project in conjunction with the National Research council, has been working for three years on the automobilist's problems. He hopes to conduct tests in this subject with a view to helping solve the motorist's mental hazards.

Thirtieth Installment
Adelaide died early that winter. One morning the cook found her in the pantry, stretched out on the floor still and cold.

She never told Kirby, but from that time on the sword hung over her. Some day, some time, Eddie would know, to his bitter shame and anger.

When she reached his house, his bedroom windows were opened for the night. He had gone to bed. Even now, while she stood there, he was sleeping. It was not agonized, for her or for himself.

Completion of Tuberculosis Testing at Burlington to Finish Year's Work

Continue Plan to Withdraw Troops Soon

State Issues Statement to Finish Work Next Week

BURLINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Veterinarians testing Des Moines county cattle tonight were anticipating the end of their work, simultaneously with a statement from Secretary of Agriculture Thornburg that the year's testing will be finished with completion of the Des Moines county inoculations.

In Jackson township and parts of Tama and Benton townships the tests were finished today with plans announced by Dr. Peter Malcom, chief of the state division of animal husbandry, that testing results will be read the rest of the week in Flint River, Union, and these three townships.

Withdraw Guardsmen—Meanwhile plans were still in the making for the withdrawal of Iowa national guardsmen, under whose surveillance the testing here has been done.

Sixty veterinarians are now in the field. Dr. Malcom said with this augmented force testing would be completed next week or the fore part of the succeeding week.

Secretary Thornburg is of the opinion that no work is planned this year in several counties where farm-owners recently adopted resolutions opposing the state law requiring the tubercin tests.

Work in Jefferson County—Work is now going on in Jefferson county, he said. Two veterinarians there are making the tests on the remaining 10 or 12 herds.

General orders issued today at headquarters provided for the demobilization of most of the 1,600 guardsmen soon, with the probable day of their departure set for Friday.

Troops of the 133rd infantry that will be sent home include: medical detachment, Patricia, headquarters company of Cedar Rapids; service company, Fairfield, and companies A of Dubuque, B of Waterloo, C of Cedar Rapids, D of Waterloo, E of Webster City, F of Mason City, G of Ft. Dodge, H of Mason City, I of Sheldon, K of Le Mars, L and M of Sioux City.

Demobilize Medical Unit—In the 18th infantry, detachments to be demobilized include a medical unit from Des Moines, and companies C of Des Moines, E of Shenandoah, G of Centerville, H of Marshalltown, J of Glenwood, M of Red Oak. Troop E of Ottumwa of the 113th cavalry will also be returned.

The general order states that they are to be entrained so that the members will reach their home cities not later than Oct. 31 and that Major E. A. Conley of Marshalltown will command the provisional company that will remain.

Some Men Remain—Some members of these units who are not indispensable to their work will remain. Also ordered to remain are two companies with three officers and 50 men each of the 133rd infantry, besides one machine gun section, and a like body of the 18th infantry, besides one officer and seven enlisted men from battalion headquarters. Major Conley assumes his command Oct. 30. One detachment of two officers and 45 men from service section of the 133rd infantry likewise will remain for further duty as well as medical detachment of 3 officers and 10 men of the medical detachment of the 133rd infantry, and five men of the medical detachment of the 18th infantry.

Testing has now been carried on in five or six of the 13 townships in Des Moines county.

No opposition was encountered to day.

Motorman Finds Fowl on Engine

Edward was making his usual run on a Burlington motor car near Coia when he noticed two young chickens taking off just in front of the engine.

Upon reaching Clarinda, 18 miles farther on, he alighted to view the remains, but found instead, a fine young chicken perched on the tender, ready to be taken home.

Wheat Soars to Highest of Year's Prices

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP)—In a zigzag high speed advance, wheat today excelled the season's top quotations, and then whipsawed back in a storm of profit taking. The advance accompanied announcement that 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been bought for shipment to France and that the Buenos Aires market had jumped more than four cents a bushel because of rust menace to crops. There was also an official report that the winter wheat outlook in the western third of Kansas had fallen much below normal as a result of drought.

Wheat closed irregular, 1-3 cent off to 3-8 up, corn 1-8, 5-8 cent advanced, oats unchanged to 1-8 off, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to a rise of 12 cents.

Realities which culminated in the sudden big upward whirl of the wheat market after midday were preceded by less impetuous gains based on speculative buying under the leadership of a popular Chicago trader.

Corn and oats averaged higher, influenced by wheat strength and by enlarged shipping demand here for corn.

Provisions were steadied as a result of upturns both in hog values and in grains.

Closing indentities: wheat—Dec. 55-58, 58 1/8, 1-4; March 59 3/4 bid; May 60 2-4, 7-8, 84 1-8, 1-4; July 61 1-4, 64 7-8; corn—Dec. 37 7-8, 38, 39 3-8, 1-2; May 42 3-8, 1-2, 43 7-8, 44.

Girls to Take Hockey Coach Examinations

Requirements for hockey umpire ratings as announced by Jane Shurmer, physical education instructor in charge of the Iowa City umpiring center, include practices at 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and at 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Theoretical discussions and lectures will be held after every practice.

A group of physical education majors will meet at these hours in order to prepare for the examinations for umpires which will be given Nov. 5 and 7. Written examinations cover the rules of the game and the duties of an umpire, and must be passed before the practical tests can be taken.

Can Win Rating—Beside being the best way to learn the game, umpiring has other definite advantages. A local rating entitles one to have her name listed in the catalogue of the United States Field Hockey association and enables her to charge definite fees for her services.

The Iowa City umpiring center has produced, since its establishment in 1929, three persons of national B rating; two of local B; and five of local C.

14 Candidates Compete—Candidates for the examinations this year are: Dorothy Byers, A3 of Omaha, Neb.; Bertha Anstey, A3 of Massena; Marjorie Kelsner, A3 of Keokuk; Estella Strohbeen, A3 of Walcott; Edna Boomer, A4 of Cary, Ill.; Irene Turner, A4 of Kellerton; Hazel Whitaker, A4 of Fairfield; Gertrude Grisler, G of Jefferson; Harriet Yingling, A4 of Muscatine; Bernice Coopers, A3 of Aurora, Ill.; Louise Robinson, A4 of Morton, Ill.; Thelma Kenefick, A4 of Eagle Grove; Ermenia Romano A4 of Des Moines; and Maxine Conley, A4 of Anaheim, Cal.

Schuessler Wins County Husking Tilt

Will Compete in State Contest as Local Representative

A brisk day and a strong fall wind aided Arthur Schuessler of Lone Tree to husk his way to a win in the annual Johnson county corn husking contest yesterday morning on the Fred Stock farm northeast of Lone Tree. Lloyd Burr, winner of last year's "bee," placed fifth in the contest.

Schuessler was awarded $15 to help defray expenses to the state contest, Nov. 6, in Story county. He was named winner when it was judged he had husked 24.2 bushels of corn.

More than 300 spectators watched the seven men battle for first in the bang-board contest. No new record was set because of the smallness of the ears of corn of this year's crop.

Harry Breneman picked the heaviest amount of corn during the contest, having tossed 2020 pounds into his wagon, but a deduction of 843 pounds of gleanings and husks put him in last place.

Following is how the corn tossers ranked on finishing:

1. Arthur Schuessler, Lone Tree, total weight of corn, 1,790 pounds; gleanings, 14 pounds; deduction on gleanings, 42 pounds; husks, 8 ounces; deduction for husks, 53.7 pounds; total deduction, 95.7 pounds; net corn in pounds, 1,695.3.

3. Henry Madsen, Iowa City route No. 3, total weight of corn, 1,640 pounds; gleanings, 15 pounds; deduction for gleanings, 45 pounds; husks, 10 ounces; deduction for husks, 114.8 pounds; net corn in pounds, 1,480.2.
