NEW BATTLE LOOMS IN MANCHURIA

War, Peace, Remorse ---

Thirteen Years After—Here's How World Observed Armistice

(By The Associated Press)

Armistice day, number 13, commemorating the end of the world's most colossal armed conflict, passed into history in an atmosphere inflamed by acts of war and lulled by words of peace.

TOKYO—Emperor Hirohito ordered a fresh brigade of troops, ostensibly to replace fatigued detachments from Korea, and four destroyers sent to Manchuria to participate in a struggle which already has cost the lives of at least 1,197 Chinese and Japanese soldiers.

NANKING—A mob of some 3,000 men and women students paraded the streets of the Chinese capital demanding that war be declared on Japan and economic relations be severed. Martial law was in effect in Shanghai and Hankow and a virtual state of siege existed in Tientsin.

WASHINGTON—President Hoover warned that peace was not assured 13 years after the close of the World war and that it could not be maintained by resolution and injunction alone. "The backwash of forces loosed by the great war," he said, "has grown until during the past two years the stability of many nations has been shaken."

GENEVA—The League of Nations was disturbed by a threat that China would take matters in her own hands if Japan was not deflected from her present course. Leaders looked hopefully toward the next meeting of the council on Monday for a solution to the dispute that is menacing the 1932 disarmament conference.

LONDON—While King George watched from the windows of Whitehall, the Prince of Wales laid a wreath at the foot of the cenotaph in obeisance to Britain's war dead. Big Ben ushered in two minutes of silence and afterwards a crowd of many thousands sang "Oh God, Our Hero in Ages Past."

PARIS—President Doumer, whose four sons were sacrificed to the war, placed his token of homage on the tomb of the unknown soldier of France at the arch of triumph. General Gouraud, one-armed military governor of the city, rekindled the flame at the tomb and buglers sounded " taps."

BERLIN—Germany dedicated the day to anathema of what she regards as the "war guilt lie" in the Versailles treaty. Vienna did likewise and the Balkan capitals ranged with the central powers in the war maintained contemptuous silence.

MOSCOW—Deep in her five year plan, Russia had sent her patriotism in marking the thirteenth birthday of the October revolution and had no time for armistice. Factory wheels turned as usual and giant tractors continued their way across the land in a herculean endeavor to complete in four years what no nation has done in a century.

Halfway across the Atlantic Foreign Minister Dino Grandi said it was a day "twice dead to the hearts of Italian." In classic Athens Helens demonstrated for union with Cyprus—down in Buenos Aires allied flags swung in the breeze and at Rio de Janeiro Brazilian sailors stood at attention for two minutes—in far off Wellington a judge and a prisoner on trial for murder faced the lock in silence as the minutes ticked away the birthday of the end of the "war to end wars."

Yachts, Autos, Pups Determine Seats at Dinners, Says Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Clare Booth Luce, who walked out of society of her own accord and became a satirical writer of a magazine, let some things be known today.

By instance—the seating of just ordinary society people at a dinner is done on the point possession system. Mrs. Jones may get 10 points for a yacht while Mrs. Smith has nine points for a country home. Then, each will have points for autos, art possessions, or maybe Pekinese pillow hounds.

"You add them up," says Miss Luce, "and maybe Mrs. Smith wins by a yacht or Mrs. Jones by a Rembrandt."

New Champ to Emerge in Husking Fray

Newcomers Weed Out Veterans as National Contest Nears

DES MOINES, Nov. 11 (AP)—When husking takes its place next Friday as a popular sport rather than a farm task a husker comparatively new to national competition will succeed to the champion's crown.

This is assured by results of contests held recently in eight corn belt states, epic battles in which veteran shucking speedsters have gone down before the ear hurling barrage of newcomers.

Downs Twice National Champion

Storming down the rows, less experienced huskers swept out of national competition such veterans as Walter Olson of Illinois, twice national titleholder, Guy Simms of Nebraska, and Ben Grimmus of Iowa, a contestant in the first meet in 1922.

Other stars of former years who will not be entered in the national contest this Friday at Grundy Center, include Fred Stanek of Ft. Dodge, four times national champion and winner in 1920.

By their victories the winners and runners-up in the state contests in Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska, Indiana Missouri and Iowa won the right to compete in the national derby.

Meet at Wilhelm Farm

They will meet at the Clyde Wilhelm farm near Grundy Center for the annual classic this year. A specially planted field has been laid out this week in the "lands" of six rows each which the contestants will work.

Derby officials today pronounced the field in good condition. The stalks stand fairly straight and the corn is expected to run around 60 bushels an acre. The ears average slightly larger than those in most Iowa fields.

Gov. Turner to Start Derby

Gov. Dan Turner will sound the start of the fray with a reversion to an old farm custom, the firing of an anvil. Arrangements have been made for him to touch a red hot poker to powder tamped in an anvil as the set-off.

Working at top speed along their lands the 15 contestants will send ears hurling against the boards of their wagons at a rate which in the past has run above 50 ears a minute.

Compete 80 Minutes

After 80 minutes of competition the final decision will be in the hands of judges. Deductions will be made for corn left in the field and for husks left on the ears before the winners are determined.

An ear-by-ear account of the contest will be carried over a 44 station broadcast arranged by the National Broadcasting company, while thousands of persons from the corn belt states will follow the huskers along the rows.

Teachers in Convention at Des Moines

School Instructors From Every Section of Iowa Meet

DES MOINES, Nov. 11 (AP)—While Iowa school superintendents were wrestling with problems of character and discipline and county superintendents were listening to proposals of 15 outside organizations to aid schools, the Iowa State Teachers' association convention began to take shape today.

Several hundred public school instructors from distant points in the state arrived in the city to register for the convention. Registration booths were opened at noon.

Superintendents Meeting

The superintendents' meetings were preliminary to the official opening at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

H. T. Steeper, principal of North Des Moines high school, started the City Superintendents club discussion by declaring school authorities think that the old time parent who gave orders and demanded instant obedience without either argument or discussion is a thing of the past.

"New Era"

He declared he would make no comment as to the right or wrong of the new type of life where the "high chair rules" the family but asserted it is the new era.

A belief that the most important step in character education is the establishment of a definite course of study on the subject was advocated by Dr. O. R. Latham, president of Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls.

The teaching of character traits through extra-curricular activities and also through direct teaching was advocated by Charles Kittrell, superintendent of the West Waterloo schools. Bible reading both as part of the reference material and also a daily part of school work, he named as invaluable.

Solution of the rural education problem, Florence Hale, president of the National Education association and superintendent of the Maine rural schools system, asserted lies in consolidation.

"Through consolidation," she said, "the country child has the advantages of better teachers, better equipment, better buildings and an enriched course of study."

Iowa Leads

"Iowa for a long time led the country in rural consolidations," she said, "and has one of the finest rural school systems in the United States."

At the county superintendents' meeting, presided over by Miss Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction, the representatives of 15 Iowa organizations appeared and explained the aims and programs of their groups in cooperating with the schools.

V. N. A. Alters Constitution; to Get Funds

Carroll Re-elected Head of Association on New Basis

E. H. Lauer, secretary of the Iowa City Welfare board, said last night that if changes in the constitution of the Visiting Nurses association had been made as announced, that organization would again be advanced Community Chest funds.

The V. N. A. has not received money allotted it under the chest budget by the welfare board for November and had been warned that it would not receive December funds unless certain constitutional changes should be made.

Incorporate Changes

The changes, incorporated into a new constitution by the association, specified that the mayor of Iowa City, J. J. Carroll, should no longer be ex-officio president and a member of the association, but that the presidency should be filled by election.

The new constitution further provides that the directors of the V. N. A. shall be elected from nominations presented to the association by a disinterested committee of citizens. Formerly the association has picked its directors at will.

Mayor Carroll, who has been serving as president of the association under the old constitution, was promptly re-elected to the office under the new plan of organization.

The only opposition, totaling nine votes, came from labor left-wing members, the regular labor party abstaining from the balloting. The question at issue was a motion to take the time allowed for discussion of bills presented by private members.

Churchill Raises Question

The tariff question was brought up by Winston Churchill, who declared his constituency was heavily in favor of doing away with free trade and trying a "substantial experiment" in tariffs.

Mr. Churchill said it was his belief most of the members of the house represented electors who wanted protection.

House Conservative

This speech was interpreted as Mr. Churchill's announcement that he was assuming leadership of the protection movement. The house conservative is strongly for protection. The chairman of the association, Sir Henry Page Croft, issued a manifesto to members of commons urging them to support the movement.

Christmas Savings Amount to Millions

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—It's going to be a "Merry Christmas" this year for at least 12,000,000 pennypiece Americans.

More than 8,000 banking institutions from Maine to California are going to distribute nearly $600,000,000 worth of interest-free Christmas club deposits within the next two weeks.

The average amount to be received by each Christmas club depositor will be slightly less than $50, as compared with $54.60 paid last year.

DES MOINES (AP)—More than 1,000 pigeons were on display here at the opening of the annual pigeon show held under the auspices of the Iowa State Pigeon association.

Republicans Concede Upper Hand in House to Demos; Quiz Garner for New Plans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The administration wants to know what the Democrats plan to do with the house of representatives.

That it concedes they will organize the legislative branch became more evident today as Republicans who held much of the power in the last house dropped in to talk with John N. Garner of Texas, Democratic choice for the speakership.

G.O.P. Sounds Garner

Among those who sounded out Garner on his legislative program were Tilson of Connecticut and Snell of New York, Republican candidates for the speakership; Wood of Indiana, chairman of the last house appropriations committee; Parker of New York, who guided the Interstate commerce committee, and Underhill of Massachusetts, head of the accounts group. Yesterday, Walter Newton, one of President Hoover's secretaries, talked with Garner.

Garner withheld comment on the conference or on what work he had in mind.

Hoover Wants Information

Some of the Republicans conceded that President Hoover was trying to obtain information to guide him to some extent in his proposals to congress.

Observe Armistice in Cow Test Area

BURLINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Armistice day brought an unofficial cessation of the "cow war" in Des Moines county. National guard units participated in a parade instead of assisting veterinarians in bovine tuberculin tests.

Veterinarians will read tests in Huron and Yellow Springs townships tomorrow under troop escorts. They also plan to read tests on four Lee county herds.

Sauerkraut Barrel Not Empty; No Bath

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 11 (AP)—One far boy in Ashland county isn't afraid of Saturday night. Miss Gertrude Stein, county nurse, revealed his happy lot when she gave county supervisors a letter from his mother. The letter said: "Dear Madam—I can't give my son a bath until the sauerkraut barrel is empty."

China Prepares for Counter Attack Against Japan; Orders Extra Troops to New Front

Japanese Advance in Attempt to Halt Soviet Threat; United States Orders Dawes to League of Nations Council

(Copyright 1931, By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP) — (Thursday)—War office reports that General Mah Chan-Shan was preparing a counter attack against Japanese troops in the Nonni river zone in Manchuria brought an announcement today that if the attack materialized Japan would be compelled to occupy Anganchi and Tsitsihar.

General Mah had concentrated more than 20,000 Chinese troops in the Nonni sector, the war office said.

Japanese forces at Taonan and in the Nonni zone numbered about 1,700, but reinforcements may be sent from Chenchiatun and Supungkai.

"The news from Nonni is most disquieting," a foreign office spokesman said, "and the foreign office said that General Mah may attempt a counter attack momentarily."

Leavitt Arrest "Legitimate"; Handled With Usual Routine

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 11 (AP)—Chief of Police Clarence Webb today declared the arrest of C. Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Hoover, on a charge of possessing 19 pints of liquor, was "legitimate" and that he would "stand squarely behind" the arresting officers.

Chief Webb made the statement in denial of a report that his office intended to investigate the circumstances of the case. "It was a legitimate arrest and will be handled through the usual channels," he explained.

English Push High Tariff

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The movement for tariff protection gained new headway today as the house of commons was giving the government a majority of 369 in the first vote since it was convened.

The only opposition, totaling nine votes, came from labor left-wing members, the regular labor party abstaining from the balloting. The question at issue was a motion to take the time allowed for discussion of bills presented by private members.

Political Club Backs Ritchie

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—The "wide open secret" of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination is to be brought into the open here Jan. 8 by one of the largest political clubs in Maryland.

Officials of the Concord Democratic club have announced plans to launch formally the drive of Maryland's four time governor at its annual Jackson day dinner, to which national leaders of the party have been invited, both as speakers and guests.

Mrs. Clara Ekland, Iowa Graduate, Dies Here After Illness

Mrs. Clara Ekland, 26, wife of Leonard M. Ekland, graduate student in the university, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Rose Brennan, 530 E. Church street, yesterday at 7:20 a. m.

Mrs. Ekland was born March 19, 1898, near Ellettsville, she graduated from Iowa City high school in 1923, and attended the university, receiving her B.A. degree in 1927. She was married to Leonard Ekland, May 5, 1925.

She is survived by her husband, her mother, an infant son, another son, Joseph, 3, two sisters, Mrs. Elmer Brock of Iowa City, and Mrs. Raphael Mouglin, of near Iowa City.

Funeral service will be at St. Mary's church Saturday at 9 a. m., and burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Three New York Speeches

Governor Ritchie had three addresses scheduled for New York. Tonight he was scheduled to talk before the annual reunion of the United States war industries board of which he was general counsel, tomorrow night at the Links club and Friday night at the Academy of Political Science.

The governor will go to Pittsburgh Monday to address the International bituminous coal conference. The jaunt followed one of last week which took him to New York, Boston and Providence.

Name New Entrant in Beauty Contest

Mary Moran, 23 of Melrose, was announced last night as an additional entrant in the 1931 Hawkeye beauty contest. Twenty entrants were announced Tuesday night.

From the group in the preliminary contest, 15 women will be chosen by student vote, and from this group, six will be selected as 1931 Hawkeye beauties.

Rickard to Debate Van der Zee Today

Discussing the question "Arms and World Peace," Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the department of political science, and Capt. R. V. Rickard of the military department, will debate before a joint meeting of Lions and Rotarians this noon at the Jefferson hotel.

Since the regular meeting of the Lions club fell upon Armistice day, Rotarians invited them to the joint luncheon today. In return the Rotary club will lunch with Lions on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

4 Burlington Lodges Get $11,475 in Fines

KEOKUK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Four Burlington lodges, the Eagles, the Turners, the Moose, and the Elks, were fined in federal court here today when their representatives entered pleas of guilty to liquor charges.

Judge Charles A. Dewey fined the Eagle lodge $3,500; the Turners $3,100; the Moose $2,500, and the Elks $2,375.

The charges resulted after federal agents raided halls of the organizations at Burlington Sept. 18.

Daves to Attend Session on Crisis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Outspoken Charlie Daves today was ordered to Paris for next week's League of Nations sessions on the Manchurian crisis.

Meanwhile, officials said they have reason to believe a peaceable solution may be reached there. Openly optimistic, Secretary Stimson declared.

HOOVER KIN SEIZED WITH LIQUOR

In this Associated Press telephoto are shown President Hoover's brother-in-law, C. Van Ness Leavitt (right) and Cliff Dailey (left), grocer, of Santa Monica, Cal., who were arrested by federal dry agents and released on bail after pleading not guilty to a charge of possessing 19 pints of liquor. Leavitt, husband of the president's sister, said the liquor was placed in his hands when Dailey saw officers approaching.

Japanese Advance in Attempt to Halt Soviet Threat; United States Orders Dawes to League of Nations Council

(Copyright 1931, By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP) — (Thursday)—War office reports that General Mah Chan-Shan was preparing a counter attack against Japanese troops in the Nonni river zone in Manchuria brought an announcement today that if the attack materialized Japan would be compelled to occupy Anganchi and Tsitsihar.

General Mah had concentrated more than 20,000 Chinese troops in the Nonni sector, the war office said.

Japanese forces at Taonan and in the Nonni zone numbered about 1,700, but reinforcements may be sent from Chenchiatun and Supungkai.

"The news from Nonni is most disquieting," a foreign office spokesman said, "and the foreign office said that General Mah may attempt a counter attack momentarily."

Leavitt Arrest "Legitimate"; Handled With Usual Routine

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 11 (AP)—Chief of Police Clarence Webb today declared the arrest of C. Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Hoover, on a charge of possessing 19 pints of liquor, was "legitimate" and that he would "stand squarely behind" the arresting officers.

Chief Webb made the statement in denial of a report that his office intended to investigate the circumstances of the case. "It was a legitimate arrest and will be handled through the usual channels," he explained.

English Push High Tariff

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The movement for tariff protection gained new headway today as the house of commons was giving the government a majority of 369 in the first vote since it was convened.

The only opposition, totaling nine votes, came from labor left-wing members, the regular labor party abstaining from the balloting. The question at issue was a motion to take the time allowed for discussion of bills presented by private members.

Political Club Backs Ritchie

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—The "wide open secret" of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination is to be brought into the open here Jan. 8 by one of the largest political clubs in Maryland.

Officials of the Concord Democratic club have announced plans to launch formally the drive of Maryland's four time governor at its annual Jackson day dinner, to which national leaders of the party have been invited, both as speakers and guests.

Labor Left-Wing Forms Only Opposition in Balloting

Ceremony at Ottumwa; Will Make Home in Missouri

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gordon of Centerville, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mildred, to Raymond N. Weldy, son of Ray Weldy, 305 Person avenue. The ceremony was performed at high noon, Sunday, at Ottumwa, by the Rev. Eugene C. Beach, pastor of the Christian church.

Sylvia Gordon, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and Kenneth Eridenstine of Fairfield, formerly of Iowa City, attended Mr. Weldy as best man. Following the service a wedding dinner was served to immediate members of the family. The couple left on a southern honeymoon and will make their home at Bagnell, Mo.

Mrs. Weldy graduated from the liberal arts college of the University of Iowa in 1931. She was affiliated with Kappa Beta, national organization of the Christian church while in attendance at the university.

Mr. Weldy graduated from the college of engineering of the University of Iowa in 1928 and received his master's degree in hydraulic engineering in 1929. He was a member of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity. He was associated with the Stone and Webster Engineering corporation at Bagnell

Grandi Calls for Truce in World Strife

S. S. CONTE GRANDE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Dini Grandi, Italian foreign minister who first proposed the one year armistice truce to which forty nations have adhered under the auspices of the League of Nations, today called for another truce in the discords among the world's peoples.

This Armistice day, he said in a brief speech to the crew and third cabin passengers—most of them Italians—should inspire all countries to unite their strength in the cause of peace and prosperity.

President Hoover, whom he is on the way to see, he described as a man who has given the world "faith to conquer its troubles."

It was a double celebration for the Italians—the anniversary of the alhed armistice and the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel. Italy celebrated its Armistice day last week in commemoration of the end of the hostilities with Austria.

Officials Let Suspects Go

Detective Chief Frees Five Men in Berg Kidnaping

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP) — Five kidnaping suspects were released today, Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker announcing he had evidence to connect them with the abduction of Alexander Berg, of St. Louis and Ralph J. Pearce of Rockford, Ill., both released last night by their captors.

The group, whose arrest had been halted as the death blow to a huge syndicate that had kidnaped more than 100 men, included "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, lieutenant of Al Capone.

Hold Go-Betweens
As this squad, suspected originally of the actual kidnaping, was released, police of three cities held alleged go-betweens in the two cases. At Chicago Louis Penhill of New York, who described himself as a friend of Berg seeking the St. Louis release, was held in custody.

At Rockford police held W. C. "Red" Ryan, Rockford gambler, and John Wall of Beloit, Wis. Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office in Chicago said Pearce's abductors would have been captured if Ryan and Wall, negotiating for his release "had not become so involved in the matter."

Berg Tells Own Story to Reporter

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11 (AP) — Kidnapers tricked last night into releasing Alexander Berg, wealthy fur dealer after he was held 102 hours, on the promise they would receive a $50,000 ransom, were sought tonight by police.

Six persons, including Paul A. Richards, attorney, acting for the abductors, and Mike Cutter, former professional bondsman and ex-convict, already are under arrest. Richards was arrested this morning a few hours before the time he had been told he would be paid the ransom money.

Berg Tells Story
The story of the abduction and release of Berg was told today in a copyrighted story in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, whose reporter, John T. Rogers, was credited by Berg's attorney with effecting the furrier's release.

Berg, unharmed after his "terrible ordeal," told in another copyrighted story in the newspaper how two gunmen crowded into his big limousine on Lindell boulevard about 8 p. m. last Friday, placed taped goggles over his eyes and drove him to a flat over a store somewhere on a corner in St. Louis.

Berg's release was brought about when Morris G. Levinson, Berg's at-

Mitchell Offers Plan to Drop Government Costs by One Third

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 11 (AP)—Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, wartime commander of American air forces in France, speaking at the dedication of a war memorial bridge across the Fox river here today, offered an economy program which he said would reduce the cost of the national government by one-third.

Under General Mitchell's plan, the administrative branches of the government would be reduced from 18 to five—foreign affairs, finance, interior, war and justice. Such a system, he said, would increase efficiency as well as reduce cost.

Outstanding leaders in their particular fields could be placed in charge of each department, he said, and the result would be better government.

New Drought Spots Appear as Autumnal Skies Remain Bright

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) Bright autumnal skies, lacking in drenching rains needed for the countryside, have brought new black spots of drought to the nation's map.

Throughout the southern states and into the Kansas wheat belt, streams are drying, shrubbery withering and forest fires are rife.

Damage to winter wheat in western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas is becoming serious, the weather bureau said today in placing the condition of wheat as "poor to very poor."

The dry areas extended from Maryland and Kentucky southward and from Arkansas eastward. Pastures have been dried up and water for livestock is low.

Investigate Boy's Death

ALBIA, (AP)—Coroner C. N. Hyatt was investigating the death of Charles Haney, 20, whose body was found along a highway near here. Hyatt said there was no evidence of foul play but he wished to question the youth's companions at an Armistice day celebration Tuesday night.

torney, sent Rogers to Richards after a first letter was received Monday by Levinson from Berg. It instructed Levinson to pay Richards $1,000 as a retainer to act in the case. When Rogers went to Richards' office the latter showed him a $50,000 promissory note from Berg and told him of the arrangements, saying the money was to be split five ways.

Rogers then reported to Levinson, his superiors on the Post-Dispatch and Chief of Police Joseph Gerk. Police remained in the background while Levinson completed the arrangements, everything going through as planned except the payment of ransom.

SKIPPY—An Obstacle to Failure

Bankers' Association Advocates Moderate Increasing of Taxes

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 11 (AP)—Moderate tax increases to liquidate the federal government's estimated budget deficit of $2,000,000,000 were advocated at the closing session today of the investment Bankers association meetings.

The funds probably would be raised partly through special, not general, sales taxes, to be considered as emergency assessments, and abandoned as economic conditions improved.

The association also endorsed the National Credit corporation as having "brought not only hope but the organizing of tangible and practical aid to our domestic economy which bids fair to measurable and promptly correct a difficult credit situation."

The resolution praised President Hoover and the nation's bankers for their promptness in making quickly effective the corporation, which is to help loosen the frozen assets of the banks.

"American People Too Liberal," Says Silas H. Strawn

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Silas H. Strawn, president of the United States chamber of commerce, said today the people of this country have been too liberal in loans to other nations.

"Many of these loans are in default," Mr. Strawn said. "In some cases they represent the savings of our people on which they have depended for a livelihood."

He told the Chicago Association of Commerce that "we are emphasizing too much the evil factors of our present economic difficulties" and that the "true test of character is the ability to endure prosperity rather than adversity."

Five Men Strive to Save Girl's Life by Artificial Respiration

OVERTON, Neb., Nov. 11 (AP)—Maxine Gard, 13, Overton high school sophomore, was kept alive today and tonight by five Overton men through the means of artificial respiration.

Maxine is suffering from infantile paralysis. Early today her condition suddenly took a turn for the worse and attending physicians practically gave up hope for her recovery.

In a last effort a call for volunteers was issued and five men immediately took their posts in the sick room. Each man worked 15 minutes at a stretch.

The girl was conscious tonight and able to speak to her parents and the respiration workers. Plans were being made to take her to Chicago for treatment if her strength is sufficient for the trip.

cribed the latest communication from the Japanese government as "a very conciliatory note."

"To all inquiries as to the exact grounds for his optimism the secretary would make no response. He declined to make public the correspondence because of fear such action might embarrass the government in its efforts of peace.

Both President Hoover and Secretary Stimson believe the presence of General Daves—noted ambassador to the court of St. James, former vice president and author of the Daves plan for European reconstruction—will be a great help in arriving at an amicable solution.

Cities Declare Martial Law

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 11 (AP)—

Continued anti-Japanese outbreaks resulted tonight in a declaration of martial law and Chinese military authorities stationed heavy patrols in the vicinity of the foreign settlements.

Anti-Japanese organizations looted Chinese shops of Japanese merchandise and Japan's nationals were attacked in the streets. The commercial boycott is hitting all kinds of Japanese goods, especially cotton, sales of which have dropped 80 per cent.

HANKOW, China, Nov. 11 (AP)—Martial law was declared tonight in preparation for possible disorders growing out of the bitter feeling aroused against Japanese by the clashes in Tientsin.

Streets were closed to traffic and patrols were put on duty.

Open Panama Canal to Light Draft Ships

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 11 (AP)—

The Panama canal was opened to ships of light draft today and the first vessel, S. S. Incalite, started through. A landslide had blocked the Gaillard cut since Saturday.

Seventy-eight ships remaining at both ends of the canal will be permitted to pass through as quickly as possible but must proceed cautiously and will use tugs instead of their own power. Dredges now have removed dirt to a depth of 28 feet and a width of 120 feet, but it is estimated that four days will be required to transit waiting vessels.

6 Boys Trapped on Trestle; Three Die

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (AP)—A freight train and a passenger train, coming from opposite directions, swept onto a double-track trestle over River Rouge today and trapped six boys who were walking across the structure.

One of the boys, Oscar Fillpart, 10, was killed by the passenger train. Two others—Oscar Schrock, 11, and Robert Rear, 12, jumped into the river and were drowned. The other three—James Carter, 12, his brother Carl, 8, and Robert Alandt, 12—escaped death by hanging from a railing at the side of the trestle.

"Aha, there might be two there."

FRESH

in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

CAMELS

Made FRESH—Kept FRESH

- Don't remove the moisture-proof wrapping from your package of Camels after you open it. The Camel Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. In offices and homes, even in the dry atmosphere of artificial heat, the Camel Humidor Pack delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

The Elks' Plan Functions: NOW THAT the Elks' plan for helping student depositors of the city's two closed banks has been underway for some time it is possible to check up on just how far reaching the timely cooperation of the local organization has been.

A Need Fulfilled: IMPORTANT in the life of any community is a certain amount of cultural entertainment. When this can be provided by local talent, thus giving expression to those who have artistic abilities, such entertainment is invaluable.

Ohio has a drivers' license law which bars the insane and feeble-minded from operating vehicles. At last somebody has started out to solve the parking problem!

Civilization is under construction, says an editorial. That, perhaps, is why we have to detour around it so much.

One of fate's ironies befell O. E. Rolvaag last week. He died Friday, only a short time after publication of "Their Father's God"—a sequel to "Peder Victorious" about the religious difficulties in a marriage between Lutheran and Catholic.

This third of Rolvaag's Norse immigrant trilogy set in the Dakotas is classed by competent critics as second only to "Giants in the Earth" among his works.

Recognition by the buying public that it was a desirable book came Saturday with its entry into the best seller lists for the first time. But the distinction came too late to reward the author, who had died the day before.

That brings up the current news item of President Hoover's brother-in-law's arrest in Santa Monica, Cal., on charges of violating the prohibition law. For a while the cops who made the arrest were rather shaky about it when two detectives approached them and exclaimed: "Are you fellows crazy? You might as well throw your badges away. Don't you know you have arrested President Hoover's brother-in-law?"

Curiously enough, at the time of the arrest, Edwin Dinwiddie, head of the national prohibition board of strategy, arrived at the White House for a conference on prohibition matters with the president's political secretary.

Well, one can hardly expect Hoover to be his brother-in-law's keeper, at that. At least, the incident serves to keep alive that old "in-law" tradition, anyway.

The national survey of auto accidents which shows Iowa to be the worst offender in car crash mortality will be interesting to compare with a similar survey two years hence when the new driver's license law has been in operation for 12 months.

For the famous law of two years ago which lifted all restrictions as to speed on the highway is good, but not complete without such a measure as the driver's license enactment of 1931. States having such laws show relatively fewer automobile accident deaths.

A "vest pocket" cracker claimed to contain the staple elements of human diet has been developed at Ohio State university. Just the thing, we should say, for the depression. The only fears we have of no widespread acceptance of the miniature pantry are based on a total lack of suggestions as to what can be done with all the newlywed's kitchenets.

It shows first of all a willingness to cooperate with the football public at a time when financial relief in all quarters is vital. It represents a bit of good faith on the part of the board to bring the price of its commodity down with the fall in prices of other luxuries and necessities.

And the move was wise from an institutional standpoint in that it should attract enough more purchasers of tickets to make up for the reduced price per seat, and bring more money into the coffers of the athletic department than would have been the case under the higher standard rate.

High School and After (Chicago Daily News): Sound sense concerning educational aims and methods was embodied in a paper prepared by Prof. S. A. Hamrin of Northwestern university for a conference in which teachers discussed curricula for elementary and secondary schools. Dr. Hamrin, urging more attention to vocational guidance in high schools, declared that it was nonsense to suppose that all boys should go to college, or that it was any more a disgrace for boys not to go to college than to have blue eyes.

Meditation on that thought is commended to both parents and educators. Setting up the college degree as a mark of distinction, an emblem of social prestige, and evidence that the individual possessing it is superior to his undecorated fellows has led to many abuses in the educational system and multitudinous disappointments in graduate experience. One of its consequences is what Dr. Hamrin justly called the "bugaboo" that the primary purpose of a high school is the preparation of students for universities. That misconception has resulted in concentration of attention upon a privileged minority and the intensive pointing of class work to prepare high school pupils for admission to institutions of higher learning.

The majority of high school students do not go to college, and many who would waste less time if they went from high school directly into the educational experience which the unacademic school of life affords. Higher education is not for those who would merely gratify ambitious parents, or are moved by impulse to prolong the period of adolescent irresponsibility, but for those who are determined to acquire what universities offer in discipline for mind and character. For economic reasons many who have this desire cannot go to college. Clearly they are the students to whom high school should give its best in service and understanding.

Vocational guidance, where it is not a perfunctory and stereotyped function of school work, can be of greatest service in discovering aptitude and directing it in channels that will promote its highest development. It can show the way by which an intellectual curiosity, denied the coveted opportunities of college, can maintain its edge and find satisfaction in the multiplying provisions for self-enlightenment and culture. It can orient the pupil to life in a manner that will make later adjustments easier and more effective. It is around this central idea that school curricula should be shaped.

Group Will Declare Legal Liquor Needed for Finland

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 11 (AP)—A report declaring Finland's prohibition law to be insupportable and recommending that beer and wine be legalized will be submitted soon by the government commission appointed last winter to study the problem. The majority report, it was learned on the highest authority today, will declare a change is needed in the interests of real temperance. It will offer three proposals: (1) To permit the manufacture, transportation, storage and importation of wines of not more than 12 per cent alcoholic content by volume, of beer of 3.2 per cent, and liquors of 12 per cent. (2) To amend the present laws to make that proposal possible, and to establish a system of local option by which any community might forbid the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages, but not the importation by individuals for personal consumption in their homes. To Establish Supervision (3) To establish a company to supervise distribution of legal alcoholic beverages. The report expresses the hope that the consumption of strong spirits would be lessened under the 12 per cent law, but no attempt would be made to keep harder drink out of the country entirely. Under the proposed system the state would derive taxes from liquor. The commissioners say in their report that to stop home manufacture is beyond the government's capacity. Finland has been under prohibition for 12 years. Lately there has been much agitation against the law.

Boys Receive Low Marks; Burn School

CROOKSTON, Minn., Nov. 11 (AP)—Two boys, one 11 years old and the other 14, today told the sheriff they burned a rural school building because "we got such poor marks we didn't want to go to classes anymore." They said school books were used to kindle the fire which destroyed the structure. The sheriff said they also confessed firing a farmer's barn. They were held without charge.

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon: U. S. is Only Country to Celebrate Nov. 11. The United States is the only nation in the world to celebrate Armistice day as a public holiday, although it had no part in the act of Nov. 11, 1918, and had nothing to gain from it in a material way. The French chamber, by resolution of Nov. 4, 1921, declined to establish Nov. 11 as a national holiday on the grounds of that date's proximity to All Saints day (Nov. 1) which is a national holiday in France. Instead it designated the Sunday following Armistice day to be celebrated as Victory day. Armistice day is not a public holiday in England, and is merely observed by two minutes of silence at 11 a.m. Italy celebrates Armistice day on Nov. 5, as the date of her private truce with Austria-Hungary. All other nations celebrate the anniversary of cessation of hostilities on a variety of dates, ranging between Oct. 28 and Nov. 7. Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD.—Early in 1932 Will Rogers is going to do a sequel to "They Had to See Paris," his first talking picture. Homer Croly has been engaged by Fox to weave his characters into another story and of course the same players will be engaged. You'll recall Rogers was the Oklahoma oil millionaire in this film. Irene Rich played his wife, Marguerite Churchill his daughter and Rex Bell his son. If any member of the cast is not available, that character can be eliminated from the sequel. Another story planned for Rogers is "David Harum." I imagine it will follow the Croly story. Incidentally, Fox is one of the few studios which has had success with sequels. The Flag-Quirt series and the "Clisco Kid" stories all have made money. FRIEND IN NEED: Joe Lewis says he is going to give a benefit for the Malibu fire sufferers.

HAIL TO A NEW HIT

What Hollywood needs is more products with a sense of humor—like B. P. Schulberg. The Paramount executive was shown a statement by a North Carolina college professor that the average actor or actress is a moron. "Very interesting," said B. P. "At our studio alone, 19 of the 26 actors under contract attended college and seven of them hold degrees. If colleges cannot weed out the morons, the film industry cannot be expected to."

IN THE NEWS

Another well known player in Paramount's long-delayed "No One Man" will be Paul Lukas. He plays the doctor in the Rupert Hughes story. Ricardo Cortez has been borrowed from Radio for the male lead and Carole Lombard will be the heroine. Lloyd Corrigan directs.

Barristers to Argue Case

Students to Hold Mock Trial Over Cattle Testing Law

In the third of the present series of second-year Law club arguments, to be presented tonight in the first-year class room of the law building, Melvin Baker, L2 of What Cheer, and Bernard Hesse, L2 of Ft. Madison, will oppose Fred A. Dewey, L2 of Iowa City, and Paul Nielson, L2 of Buckingham.

Judge William W. Scott of Davenport, on the bench of the seventh judicial district, will preside over the university court. He is at present engaged in trying cases at Muscatine, and will arrive in Iowa City this evening for the contest.

The case to be argued is one involving a contract calling for milk from cattle which presumably had been tested for tuberculosis, but which, as was later found, had not been tested for more than a year. The law requires that all cattle be tested each year. Later tuberculosis tests showed that the cattle in question were not reactors to the test, but the company contracting the milk declared that the contract had not been fulfilled.

One more case of the series will remain to be argued after tonight, and it will be heard next Tuesday night. The eight winners of the four contests will then be eligible to present the argument on supreme court day in the spring of 1933. Final selection of the four who will argue on Supreme Court day will be made according to scholarship ratings for this year.

Art Instructor Talks to Marion Teachers

Prof. Edna Patzig of the graphic and plastic arts department, addressed a meeting of the Marion Teachers club at the Montrose hotel in Cedar Rapids Monday evening. The subject was "Art education in public schools."

This was the first of several meetings to be held during the winter, and the club has announced five other speakers for successive meetings.

Professor Patzig is also in charge of art work at University high school.

Communist Leader Faces Police Court

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Nov. 11 (AP)—George Papoun, former communist organizer for Council Bluffs, was fined $25 in police court here today on a charge of disturbing the peace at a city council meeting. Papoun yesterday had told the court that he was no longer connected with the communist party.

Following his arrest at the council meeting, Papoun was taken out of town by anti-communist leaders and warned "not to come back."

Would Compromise

Gus Winkler (above), ex-pal of Al Capone and "Killer" Fred Burke, offered to restore $600,000 in negotiable securities taken in the $2,500,000 robbery of a Lincoln, Neb., bank last year if he were freed from prosecution on the robbery charges.

Engineer Will Demonstrate Interference

An actual demonstration of "interference between power lines and telephone lines," will be given by Henry H. Carl, foreign wire relations supervisor of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Des Moines, in the auditorium of the electrical engineering building at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

"Actual noises of the interference will be reproduced, amplified, and made audible by the elaborate apparatus that Mr. Carl will set up," said Prof. Edward B. Kurtz, head of the electrical engineering department.

Mr. Carl is an alumnus of the electrical engineering department here. He graduated in 1908 and received the professional degree of E. E. in 1919.

"Various methods of reducing the noises heard in telephone circuits will be discussed by Mr. Carl," added Professor Kurtz.

The talk was given before the Des Moines section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers several weeks ago.

Lamont Raps Oil Producers

Secretary Threatens to Curb Waste with Legislation

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont warned the petroleum industry tonight that "a straight-jacket" of federal legislation would be its fare if "the mad wastes of the past" were continued.

Speaking before the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute, he declared that repetition "of such sprees as we have seen in east Texas will very quickly convert the indigestion of the oil industry into something like appendicitis."

Overproduction Considered

His address closed a day of sessions devoted to further consideration of remedial measures for overproduction and price cutting, and featured by the election of Amos L. Beaty of New York, former president of the Texas company, to the presidency of the institute to succeed E. B. Reeser of Tulsa.

Surveying the national situation and praising the progress toward correlation of restrictive efforts made by the oil states advisory committee, Secretary Lamont offered the oil men a three point program "of fundamentals which are designed to point a way onto firmer ground":

Three Point Program

- 1—Coordination of state production by an interstate compact.
 - 2—Uniformity of conservation principles by compact or otherwise.
 - 3—Equation of foreign and domestic production by a joint federal-state board created by the compact.
- "It should be kept in mind," he pointed out, "that we are exhausting our own reserve of this vital resource at a rate out of all proportion between our reserves and those of the rest of the world. The United States, with less than 20 per cent of the world's reserves, is producing and consuming over 60 per cent of current world production."

Pi Beta Phi Tennis Team in Finals of Intramural Matches

In the intramural tennis tournament matches this week Pi Beta Phi reached the finals by defeating Gamma Phi Beta.

Three Delta Zeta teams are in the semi-finals, one by winning over Chi Omega, 6-0, 6-2, one by default from Phi Mu, and one by default from Phi Omega Pi. A second Pi Beta Phi team is in the semi-finals by default from Sigma Kappa, and Kappa Alpha Theta reached the semi-finals by default from Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Another Chi Omega team reached the second round by defeating Kappa Delta 6-1, 6-4. Alpha Delta Pi won by default from Alpha Xi Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma defeated Delta Delta Delta 6-4, 6-3 to reach the second round.

University High Loses to West Liberty 6-0; Hawklets Take 20-0 Defeat

Winners' 80 Yard March Scores Goal

Clinch Championship of Little Seven Loop by Victory

By RON TALLMAN

One sustained 80 yard drive down the field enabled West Liberty to turn back University high 6 to 0 yesterday afternoon in the Blue and White's Homecoming finale before 400 spectators.

The visitors clinched the Little Seven conference championship with the triumph and left the locals in last place in one of the closest races in many seasons.

The only touchdown of the encounter came in the last period after University high's rally had been cut off with the ball five yards away from the goal line.

First Half Even
The opening half was nip and tuck. The invaders threw the Blue and White back to their own three yard line in the first quarter when West Liberty downed one of Capt. LeRoy Schneider's punts.

Capt. Wilbur Wyjack punted out to his 33 yard line from behind his own goal line. Lewis, West Liberty quarterback who received the kick, fumbled and Cameron recovered for University high.

On the opening kick-off of the second half, Wyjack took the ball on the 15 yard line and returned to mid-field before being downed. It was at this point that the locals started their longest drive of the day.

The little Blue and White field general ripped through tackle for 14 yards and a first down. A few plays later, Bill Ohlmacher dropped back and tossed a long pass to Wyjack that was good for another first down, advancing the ball to the invaders' 29 yard line. Again the Blue and White captain broke through the line for a long gain, making it first and ten on the 15 yard line.

A penalty carried them back 5 yards, but Ohlmacher missed a touchdown by five yards when he momentarily slipped, being downed before he could recover. Captain Schneider took time out and when play was resumed West Liberty held, taking the ball on downs.

Invaders Open Up
Just as the third period ended, one of Wyjack's kicks rolled over the goal for a touchback, the ball going to the visitors on their own 20 yard line. The weight advantage held by West Liberty started to tell on the U. high team. Schneider and company started rolling goalward, averaging better than 5 yards every time he took the ball, the big fullback ultimately pounded his way to the three yard line from where he dived over center to score. His plunge for the extra point failed.

Joe Cannon, the boy who had been injured at the first of the season, then entered the game and U. high started rolling down the field once more as the game ended.

Only One Fumble
In the matter of statistics, the visitors had the edge. They made eight first downs to the locals' six and gained a net of 137 yards from scrimmage as to U. high's 96. Penalties were few, as were passes. Remarkable because of the muddy field is the fact that only fumble was made during the entire game.

The lineups:

U. High W. Liberty
Fuhrmeister.....L.T./L.T. Anderson
Anclaus.....L.G./L.G. Rummels
Dill.....C./C. Wiese
Rarick.....R.G./R.G. Tiffany
Means.....R.T./R.T. Kennedy
Choate.....R.E./R.E. Phillips
Wyjack (e).....Q.B./Q.B. Lewis
Ohlmacher.....L.H.B./L.H.B. Bothel
Schnoebelen R.H.B./R.H.B. Hogan
McCloy.....F.B./F.B. Schneider (e)

West Liberty scoring—Schneider, touchdown.
U. high substitutions—Warren for Rarick, Cannon for Schnoebelen.
Officials—Royal (Springfield), referee; Lorla (Iowa), umpire.

Centre Bows to Boston by 7 to 0 Count

BOSTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—A stubborn Boston college eleven converted a blocked punt into a touchdown and gave the "Praying Colonels" from Centre college their first defeat of the season by a 7-0 margin today before a holiday crowd of 12,000.

It was a bruising conflict between two strong defensive teams until late in the closing period when Joe Killilea, reserve B. C. wingman, broke through with several of his forwards and blocked the punt that Halfback Tenikat attempted on Centre's 20 yard line.

Can You Beat It? Half Gallops 378 Yards in One Tilt

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 11 (AP)—Cliff Battles, halfback of West Virginia Wesleyan's football team, set what is believed to be a record for the yardage gained by a player in one football contest in the tilt with Salem here today.

He galloped 378 yards from scrimmage and scored seven touchdowns on the runs which resulted in Wesleyan beating Salem 51 to 6. Battles bolstered this with a total of 85 yards gained on the returning of opponents' punts.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Big Ten coaches are experimenting this week with the result that radical changes have been made in the lineups of conference teams. The changes have not only hit the weak teams, but also the strong ones.

Coach Dick Hanley has seen fit to replace Ollie Olson, who ranks as the country's leading kicker, with Reb Russell. The latter has recovered from injuries which kept him on the sidelines for five games. George Foster, regular quarterback, returns to the lineup to take care of the kicking duties.

Coach Burt Ingwersen is now working with another end combination. Loufek and Clearman are the new flank men. They were first tried out in the Nebraska game and their work was pleasing to the Old Gold mentor. Ingwersen also is experimenting with a "pony" backfield, averaging about 159 pounds.

Bill Rule, Elmo Nelson, Thurlie and Greedy make up the lightweight four. We would like to see Bill Rule get into a game this fall. Although the lightest man on the squad, the sophomore is plenty fast and shifty.

A new backfield combination has been formed by Coach Harry Kipke at Michigan. Hudson, Hewitt, Heston and Fay have been receiving special attention from the coach. The plays, when this backfield is used, are called by Ivan Williamson, end. The latter has shown a marked degree of ability in diagnosing plays, and is calling them while Tessler is on the injured list.

Coach Bob Zupke has called on Casey Straw to provide more punch to his backfield. Straw was a reserve center. A reserve fullback, Ed Schalk, has been moved to a regular fullback post. Ivan Schustek will be at end in place of Marriner, who has been shifted to tackle.

IN CONFERENCE GRID CAMPS
READY FOR BADGERS
COLUMBUS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ohio State university football players tapered off their training today for the Wisconsin game at Madison Saturday by going through a light kicking, passing and signal drill. The team will be in uniform for a short time Thursday afternoon after which they will entrain for Wisconsin.

PASSES MAY HELP
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11 (AP)—In five practice sessions this year has the University of Michigan football squad looked like anything but dubs on forward passing and today was no exception. But Coach Harry Kipke's passers and receivers usually connect with fair frequency in their games and the overhead attack is expected to play an important part in Saturday's annual contest with Michigan State.

USE "GHOST BALL"
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 11 (AP)—Mud and an overcast sky made necessary the use of "ghost" footballs today as the University of Illinois players drilled for the game against Chicago. Gil Berry, returned to the backfield, playing at quarter, and Schalk was back at fullback.

RUSSELL FOR OLSON
EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 11 (AP)—Coach Hanley drove his Northwestern team through the rain today to key his men up for the Indiana game. "Reb" Russell was at fullback and convinced his mates and Hanley that he is ready to resume his line smashing plunges. Russell's return will send Ollie Olson to the bench and give George Potter the kicking job.

FOG STOPS WISCONSIN
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11 (AP)—A dense fog made practice almost impossible today as Wisconsin's football team prepared for the Homecoming game here Saturday with Ohio State. Coach Glenn Thielstewart was content to limit the session only to a dummy scrimmage and a work-out on kick off formations.

MAY CHANGE LINEUP
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 11 (AP)—Another lengthy scrimmage against Northwestern plays today brought indications of possible lineup shifts in the Indiana football varsity. Stevenson, a sophomore who has been shifted from tackle to guard, appeared a starting possibility against the Wildcats Saturday. Ray Dauer, sophomore quarterback, and Sawicki and Fuqua, sophomore halfbacks, were given much attention concerning defense against passes.

Central Outspashes Penn 20-12 in Drive for Conference Title

OSKALOOSA, Nov. 11 (AP)—The undefeated Central college Dutchmen emerged from a sea of mud and a downpour of rain today the 20 to 12 victors in an Armistice day football game with Penn college, co-hosts of the 1930 Iowa conference grid title.

Most of the action was compressed into the first seven minutes of the game when the Pella aggregation made two touchdowns and kicked goal once and Penn made one touchdown. Each side counted again in the second quarter, but the second half of the game was a deadlock with all manner of play falling because of the character of the field.

The University of Kansas grid team has a first string guard named Zvonimir Kvaternik, but his teammates call him "Zony."

Hawkeyes in Drill Against Purdue Plays

Varsity Defense Stops Yearling Squad on Wet Field

Working in a drizzle of rain, the Hawkeye riders yesterday went through a long defensive scrimmage against Purdue plays as presented by the freshmen. The team will leave this afternoon for Lafayette, Ind., where it will tangle with the Boilermakers.

The yearlings were consistently stopped on the Purdue plays, the slippery field making accurate teamwork on the complicated formations almost impossible. Laws, halfback, showed up well in backing up the line, while Captain Sansen and Schmidt, alternating at fullback, knocked down most of the passes.

Coach Burton Ingwersen started the workout with his two new ends, Loufek and Clearman, but later sent in Swaney and Trickey. Foster and Rogers and DellaVedova at tackle; Moore and Stutsman worked at the guard posts; while Case and Dolly were used at center. In spite of his injured ankle, Dolly held down the pivot position throughout half of the workout.

Coach Ingwersen used his regular backfield of Hickman and Moffitt, alternate left halves; Laws, right half; Sansen and Schmidt, alternate fullbacks; and Pickering, quarterback; but made further experiments with his pony backs, Rule, left half; Nelson, right half; Greedy fullback; and Thurlie quarterback. Kriz, regular right half who is handicapped with a strained back, was in uniform, but took no part in the scrimmage.

After the scrimmage, Coach Ingwersen ran the men through a snappy signal drill, in which the entire squad took part.

History Repeats in Iowa-Purdue Tilt
(Special to The Daily Iowan)
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 11—History will repeat itself Saturday in the Purdue-Iowa Homecoming battle here, for when the initial kickoff comes it will be just two years, lacking two days, since Purdue clinched the Big Ten title against the Hawkeyes in the Homecoming tussle of 1929.

While Purdue is conceded the edge over Iowa in the tilt, the Boilermakers are taking nothing for granted, and are priming against the rapidly improving Hawkeyes offense, that is expected to be at its peak Saturday.

Iowa has shown great defensive against George Washington and Nebraska, but in spite of this factor the brilliant Purdue offense that ran up seven touchdowns against Centenary last Saturday will probably be able to furnish more than its share of action.

The thick-grassed field was as slippery as a ballroom floor and as smooth as a washboard. Little pools of water collected in the cavities and made it convenient for ball carriers to rinse their faces of mud when tackled into one of them.

Kalona didn't have enough strategy saved up for a rainy day game, Wellman did. Coach F. C. Carver's smart little lads marked up six points by not slipping on six plays in the second period.

Slip Over Goal
The visitors slid and slipped about until they lost the ball on downs on their 34 yard line. Wellman backs sloughed down the field on straight line plays. Walter Zillmer made the final slide, carrying the ball over from the two yard stripe, or rather what would be the two yard stripe. There weren't any white stripes on the field. There were some, it was reported, at 10:30 that morning but that the rain had obliterated them.

Bulldog Line Drills
DES MOINES, Nov. 11 (AP)—Coach Ossie Solem took advantage of the Armistice day holiday to give his Drake gridman a long morning workout in preparation for the Iowa State game Saturday. He expressed dissatisfaction with the line and sent his forwards through a strenuous session on a wet gridiron. Ray Cless, veteran end who has been suffering from injuries, went back to his post, displacing Sophomore Paul Brechler.

Plan for Churches to Form Loop of Volley Ball Teams

Plans for a league of volley ball teams representing the different churches of Iowa City are being forwarded by Allen Wallen, city engineer and manager of athletics for the Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion.

Letters have been mailed to the various churches requesting them to enter teams in this loop. Besides this league and the city basketball loop that is being formed Mr. Wallen is planning a city handball tournament.

COAST'S LEADING GRID SCORER

ORVILLE MOHLER, Southern California

The sensational broken field running technique, and odd but effective forward passing form of Orville Mohler, Southern California quarterback, are shown above. He's rated a "second stringer," which is one of the current football mysteries in view of the fact that he's headed for the west coast scoring title. Maybe it's strategy.

Non-Skidding Shoes—What Boon to Rainy Day Games

By BILL RUTLEDGE
(Special to The Daily Iowan)
WELLMAN, Nov. 11—What football needs is special non-skidding shoes for players in games like those played yesterday.

Zero weather, mid-summer heat, or drenching downpours—grid games must be played and fans' fidelity dictates that they endure the weather.

It was raining harder in Washington county than it was in Johnson county yesterday. But just the same the team won which slipped the least.

Got Faces Washed
The little Wellman prep slipped a little less than the heavier Kalona high school eleven to obtain a 6 to 0 victory over their grudge enemies in the Ke-Wash conference.

The thick-grassed field was as slippery as a ballroom floor and as smooth as a washboard. Little pools of water collected in the cavities and made it convenient for ball carriers to rinse their faces of mud when tackled into one of them.

Bengals Find Going in Sea of Mud Good

2,500 Watch Game in Heavy Downpour at Coe Field

By MATT MELCHIORRE
(Special to The Daily Iowan)

CEDAR RAPIDS, Nov. 11—A revengeful Tiger ripped and slashed a game Little Hawk and avenged itself for past defeats this afternoon when Washington high trounced Iowa City high 20 to 0 in a Mississippi Valley conference contest.

About 2,500 spectators sat through a downpour, which turned Coe field into a sea of mud and transformed the red uniforms of Iowa City, and the black and gold of Washington, to one smear of black.

Washington proved a good muddier, while Iowa City found the mud a hindrance. Before the rain started to come down in buckets the visitors more than held their own. But with the end of the first quarter and the beginning of the deluge, the Tigers started a drive that netted a touchdown in the second quarter, one in the third quarter and the last on a fluke in the fourth quarter.

Intercept's Pass
The first quarter saw Mutchler intercept two Tiger passes, Marech recover Washington's fumble on the Red and White 23 yard line, and the passing combination, Walt Brown to Bill Yetter, click for gains.

Washington made the crowd cheer in the second quarter when an off tackle play by Redel brought the ball for a five yard yard to the locals' 34 yard line. Capt. Mulhulka took the oval on the next play, a smash through tackle. Just when it seemed that the Bengal fullback was stopped, he cut around to his right and dashed out into the open.

Ersland Nails Mulhulka
The Washington leader took to the mud with a vim and dash as he crossed line after line. But SI Ersland, Hawklet safety, closed in on Mulhulka and brought him down with a flying tackle on Iowa City's 29 yard stripe.

Milhulka, Schneider and Redel took turns at carrying the ball and them. Head linesman Everett Ferguson's guess was taken as the best of them all.

One of Pop Warner's old tricks with his Carlisle Indians—a play that has been gathering whiskers for nearly a quarter of a century was resorted to within the last few minutes of the game by Kalona. While two substitutes were reporting to the umpire, the left end made the preense of going o the bench. But instead moved out to the extreme side of the field for a forward pass.

Falls—Here's Why
The play failed miserably, first, because the trick was uncovered by the umpire's checkup on the substitutions, and second, because Kalona couldn't get a pass out far enough.

The affair was reminiscent of the swampy battle at Iowa field against Wisconsin in 1928, when the Hawkeyes' chances for the Big Ten championship went glimmering in the wake of a 13 to 0 Badger victory.

The pasture-like field was surrounded by solid border of radiator fronts of parked automobiles. Most of the crowd of more than 500 watched the contest behind windshields. Clusters of more enthusiastic followers, stood around the latched wire fencing that enclosed the field and chanted familiar prep grid songs.

Constable on Job
As the automobile crowd filled out of the field the town constable directed traffic with a billiard cue and gusty orders. The game was the climax event of the Armistice day celebration at Wellman. The town merchants chipped in on the expense of a free ox roast dinner.

Illinois Meets Chicagoans in 36th Contest

Both Aggregations Seek Initial Conference Triumph

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 11—An old time Chicago-Illinois football game recalled the days when the famous rivalry between the Maroons and Illini was at its height as it is predicted Saturday when the two teams play their thirty-sixth game.

It's nine years since the Maroon waved over the Orange and Blue and the prospect of defeating the men of Zupke is one that has fired the Midway camp. Coach Stutz has been pointing toward this game in which victory would be a great consolation for him to close his fourth season.

On the other hand, Zupke's boys, who lost to Wisconsin by the narrow margin of one point, are inspired by a determination to find out how it feels to walk off the field victors.

All this week Zupke is striving to strengthen the line and put some punch into the running attack. The return of Herman Waiser, quarterback and "Shotgun" Schultz, fullback, is expected to strengthen the backfield.

Minnesota Football Squad Has Trouble With Athlete's Knee

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Knees were a big item in the fortunes of Minnesota's football players today. Ken MacDougal, quarterback, who was well below his best strength for the Northwestern game because of a bad knee, entered scrimmage against the freshmen, apparently well enough to take his chances on recurrence of the injury. Lloyd Harbar, second string fullback, injured his knee in the scrimmage and was helped from the field.

Two Alabama players, Leon Long and Hillman Holley, tied for scoring honors early in the southern conference football season.

Tenth Instalment Synopsis of Preceding Instalments. Ronald Fish, nephew of Lord Emsworth of Blandings Castle, is in love with Sue Brown, chorus girl, Lady Constance Keeble, sister of Lord Emsworth, highly disapproves, wanting Ronnie to marry his cousin, Millicent. But Millicent is in love with Hugo Carmody, his lordship's secretary. Ronnie, wanting money with which to marry Sue, schemes to steal his uncle's prize pig, the Empress of Blandings, so that he can later produce her as the reward. When the theft is discovered, Hugo is sent to London to engage a detective. Ronnie, knowing that Hugo and Sue are friends, and jealously suspecting that he has really gone to London just to see Sue, decides to drive to town himself.

way of getting to know the girl at all. Eight respectful knocks sounded on the door. The office boy, though occasionally forgetful, was conscientious. He had restored the average. "Well?" "Mr. Carmody to see you, sir." "Show him in." Hugo sauntered across the threshold. He felt, and was looking, quietly happy. He seemed to bring the sunshine with him. "And this, if I mistake not, Watson, is our client now," said Hugo genially. Such was his feeling of universal benevolence that he embraced with his good-will even the repellent-looking young man who had risen from the desk. Percy Pilbeam's eyes were too small and too close together, and he marcelled his hair in a manner distressing to right-thinking people, but today he had to be lumped in with the rest of the species as a man and a brother, so Hugo bestowed a dazzling smile upon him. "Fine day," he said. "Quite," said Pilbeam. "Very lively, the smell of the asphalt and carbonic gas."

If you go up Beeston street in the southwestern postal division of London and follow the pavement on the right-hand side, you come to a blind alley called Hayling Court. If you enter the first building on the left of this blind alley and mount a flight of stairs you find yourself facing a door on the ground glass of which is the legend:

and below it, to one side, the smaller legend:

P. FROBISHER PILBEAM, MGR.

And if, at about the hour when Ronnie Fish had stepped into his two-seater in the garage of Blandings Castle, you had opened this door and gone in and succeeded in convincing the gentlemanly office boy that you were a bona fide visit, having nothing to do with the sale of life insurance, proprietary medicines, or handsome bound sets of Dumas, you would have been admitted to the august presence of the manager himself, P. Frobisher Pilbeam, seated at his desk, reading a telegram which had arrived during his absence at lunch.

This is peculiarly an age of young men starting out in business for themselves; of rare, unfettered spirits chafing at the bonds of employment and refusing to spend their lives working in the year for salary. Quite early in his career Pilbeam had seen where the big money lay and decided to go after it.

As editor of that celebrated weekly scandal sheet, Society Spice, Percy Pilbeam had exceptional opportunities of discovering in good time the true bent of his genius; with the result that, after three years of nosing out people's discreditable secrets on behalf of the Mammoth Publishing company, his employers, he had come to the conclusion that a man of his gifts would be doing far better for himself nosing out such secrets on his own behalf.

It was a dark and stormy night—No, it was a fair, the moon was riding serenely in the sky—"This big robbery—tell me about it." Hugo raised his eyebrows. "Big?" "The telegram says 'big.'"

"These telegraph operators will try to make sense. You can't stop them editing. The word should be 'pig.' Lord Emsworth's pig has been stolen!" "Pig?" cried Percy Pilbeam. Hugo looked at him a little anxiously.

"You know what a pig is, surely? It ran as follows: 'I am a good deal of tedious spade work ahead of us.' The roseate dreams which the proprietor of the Argus had had of missing jewels broke like bubbles. He was deeply affronted.

"Does Lord Emsworth seriously suppose that I have time to waste looking for stolen pigs?" he demanded shrilly. "I never heard such nonsense in my life."

"Almost the exact words which all the other Hawkshaws used. Finding you not at home," explained Hugo. "I spent the morning nosing round to other agencies. I think I visited six in all, and every one of them took the attitude you do."

"I am not surprised." "Nevertheless, it seemed to me that they, like you, lacked vision. Brooding upon these matters, he was interrupted by the opening of the door. The gentlemanly office boy entered. Pilbeam looked up, annoyed.

"How many times have I told you not to come in here without knocking?" he asked sternly. The office boy reflected. "Seven," he replied. "What would you have done if I had been in conference with an important client?"

"Gone out again," said the office boy. Working in a private enquiry agency, you drop into the knack of solving problems. "Well, go out now."

"Very good sir. I merely wished to say that while you were absent at lunch a gentleman called."

"The office boy, who liked atmosphere and hoped some day to be promoted to the company of Mr. Murphy and Mr. Jones, the two active assistants who had their hair on the ground floor, thought for a moment of saying that, beyond the obvious facts that the caller was a Freemason, left-handed, a vegetarian and a traveller in the east, he had made no deductions from his appearance. He perceived, however, that his employer was not in the vein for that sort of thing.

"A Mr. Carmody, sir. Mr. Hugo Carmody."

"Ah!" Pilbeam displayed interest. "Did he say he would call again?" "He mentioned the possibility, sir."

"No. H. Carmody finds it just what the doctor ordered." He sat down. "Well, sir," he said, "to business. I called before lunch but you were out."

"But here I am again. And I suppose you want to know what I've come about?"

"When you're ready to get round to it," said Pilbeam patiently. Hugo stretched his long legs comfortably.

"Well, I am at the moment private secretary to Lord Emsworth at Blandings Castle in Shropshire."

"A thought had struck the proprietor of the Argus Enquiry Agency. He fumbled in his desk and produced the mysterious telegram. Yes, as he had fancied, X had been handed in at a place called Market Blandings."

"Do you know anything about this?" he asked, pushing it across the desk. Hugo glanced at the document.

"The old boy must have sent that after I left," he said. "The absence of signature is, no doubt, due to mental stress. Lord Emsworth is a greatly perturbed. A twitter. Shaken to the core, you might say."

"About this robbery?" "Exactly. It has got right in amongst him."

Pilbeam reached for pen and paper. There was a stern, set, bloodhound sort of look in his eyes. "Kindly give me the details."

"It was a dark and stormy night—No, it was a fair, the moon was riding serenely in the sky—" "This big robbery—tell me about it."

"Hugo raised his eyebrows. "Big?" "The telegram says 'big.'"

"These telegraph operators will try to make sense. You can't stop them editing. The word should be 'pig.' Lord Emsworth's pig has been stolen!"

"Pig?" cried Percy Pilbeam. Hugo looked at him a little anxiously.

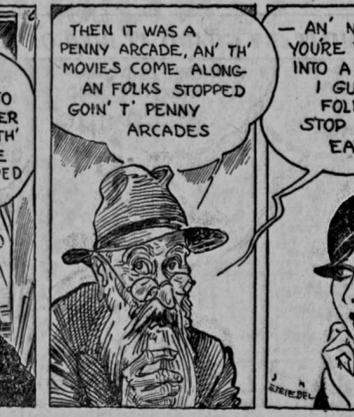

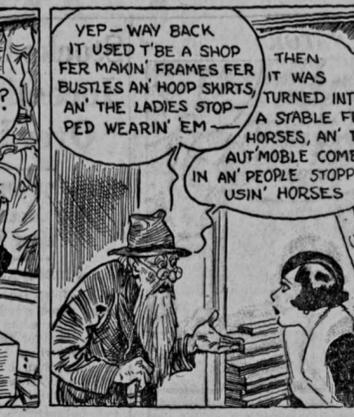

"You know what a pig is, surely? It ran as follows: 'I am a good deal of tedious spade work ahead of us.' The roseate dreams which the proprietor of the Argus had had of missing jewels broke like bubbles. He was deeply affronted.

DIXIE DUGAN—A Cheery Visitor

By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

This pig, you see, is a prize pig. Don't picture to yourself something with a kink in its tail sporting idly in the mud. Imagine, rather, a favorite daughter kidnaped from her ancestral home. This is heavy stuff, I assure you. Restore the animal in time for the Agricultural Show, and you may ask of Lord Emsworth what you will, even unto half his kingdom."

Percy Pilbeam rose. "I will not trouble Lord Emsworth. The Argus Enquiry Agency."

"Does not detect pigs? I feared as much. Well, well, so be it. And now," said Hugo affably, "may I take advantage of the beautiful friendship which has sprung up between us to use your telephone?"

Without waiting for permission—for which, indeed, he would have had to wait some time—he drew the instrument to him and gave a number. He then began to chat again.

"Perhaps you can tell me where the village swains go these days when they want to dance upon the green? I have been absent for some little time from the centre of the vortex, and I have become as a child in these matters. What is the best that London has to offer to a young man with his blood up and the vine leaves more or less in his hair?"

Pilbeam had no wish to converse with this client who had disappointed him and wounded his finest feelings, but it so happened that he had recently bought shares in a rising restaurant.

"Marie's," he replied promptly. "It's the only place."

Hugo sighed. Once he had dreamed that the answer to a question like that would have been "The Hot Spot." But where was the Hot Spot now? Gone like the flowers that wither in the first frost. The lion and the lizard kept the courts where Jamshyd gloried and—after hours, unfortunately, which had started all the trouble—drank deep. Ah, well, life was pretty complex.

"A voice from the other end of the wire broke in on his reverie. He recognized it as that of the porter of the block of flats where Sue had her tiny abode."

"Hullo? Bashford? Mr. Carmody speaking. Will you make a long arm and haul Miss Brown to the instrument. Eh? Miss Sue Brown, of course. No other Browns are any use to me whatsoever. Right ho, I'll walk."

"Pilbeam turned his start of surprise into a grave, distraught nod, as if he were thinking out deep problems. He took up his pen and drew three crosses and a squiggle on the blotting paper."

"Marie's eh?" said Hugo. "What's the hand like?" "It's Leopard's."

"Good enough for me," said Hugo with enthusiasm. "Well, that's that. Touching this other matter, you're sure you won't come to Blandings?"

"Quite."

"Nice place. However, if you really feel—Sue! This is Hugo. Yes, in town on a mission of extreme ordinary secrecy and delicacy which I am not empowered to reveal. Speaking from the Argus Enquiry Agency, I was wondering if you would care to come out and help me restore my lost youth, starting Husker Drill Indoors LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 11 (AP)—Heavy rains kept the University of Nebraska football squad in the tankard arena of the fairgrounds coliseum for its workout today. The Huskers had plenty of room for scrimmage but space handicapped their attempt to polish up the pass offense.

Irish Ease Up SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11 (AP)—A short scrimmage against the freshmen started and finished Notre Dame's drill for the Navy today. Three full teams will make the trip to Baltimore, leaving at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow and arriving Friday noon for a short signal drill.

Cyclone Quarter Returns AMES, Nov. 11 (AP)—Roger Bowen, Iowa State's quarterback, appeared on the practice field today for the first time this week but did not put on a uniform. Coach George Veenker said he would be in shape to start against Drake Saturday.

Tackle Breaks Back DELAND, Fla., Nov. 11 (AP)—C. V. Smith, Millsaps college tackle, received a broken back in the second period of a football game here today with Stetson university. He was rushed to a hospital. Physicians expressed fear the injury might prove fatal.

Bruins Spring 12-0 Surprise Win on Gaels LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11 (AP)—University of California at Los Angeles football team, much hounded infant of the west coast grid aggregations, cast aside its swaddling clothes here today by passing its way to a 12 to 0 victory over St. Mary's Gaels.

Sixty thousand persons gathered for charity to see Coach Bill Spaulding's Bruins display an offensive critics have accused them of lacking, to pile up a two touchdown lead in the first two periods, and then stave off desperate St. Mary's attempts to cross the goal line.

It was the first major victory ever won in Spaulding's six year regime at the school.

at about eight-thirty. Eh?" A silence had fallen at the other end of the wire. Sue's conscience was fighting a grim battle against heavy odds. Ranged in opposition to it were her loneliness, her love of dancing, and her desire once more to see Hugo, who always cheered her up and made her laugh. And she had been needing a laugh for days, and if she went to dine with Hugo she would learn all the latest news about Ronnie. It put the whole thing in an entirely different light. Surely Ronnie himself could have no objection to the proposed feast if he knew that all she was going for was to talk about him? She might dance a little, of course, but purely by the way.

Her real motive in accepting the invitation, she now realized quite clearly, was to hear all about Ronnie.

"All right," she said. "Where?" "Marie's. They tell me it's the pos spot these days."

"Marie's?" "Yes, All right, then. At eight-thirty."

Hugo put the receiver back. Once more he allowed his dazzling smile to play upon the Argus's proprietor.

"Well, I'll be pushing along. Ring us up if you change your mind. Market Blandings 323. If you don't take on the job no one will." He looked about him, "Make a good thing out of this business?" he asked, for he was curious on these points and was never restrained by delicacy from seeking information.

"What does the work consist of? Measuring footprints and putting the tips of your fingers together and all that, I suppose?" "We are frequently asked to follow people and report on their movements."

"Well, don't go following me and reporting on my movements. Much trouble might ensue. Bung-oh." "Good-bye," said Percy Pilbeam. He pressed a bell on the desk and moved to the door to show his visitor out.

Iowa City Honors War Dead in Observance of Thirteenth Armistice Day

Day's Events in Charge of Legionnaires

Senator Hicklin Gives Principal Talk on Program

Under the auspices of the Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion Iowa City yesterday paid tribute to its war dead by observing the thirteenth anniversary of the signing of the armistice with a street parade and a program at the American Legion Community building. The parade ended at the Legion building at 10:55 a. m., and at 11 a. m., the program started.

Using as the key note of his address, a tribute to the living soldiers of the war, Sen. Edwin R. Hicklin of Wapello, delivered the principal talk at the services.

Veterans Still Suffer
"For those of us who live," Senator Hicklin said in referring to veterans of the World War, "the war has not ended. For those who gave their minds, their bodies, their health and their very souls, the war will not end until death."

"We of the American Legion have bound ourselves together to share the burden and sacrifices with our more unfortunate comrades. Our aim is the peacetime preservation of the country."

Legion Merits Respect
Senator Hicklin expressed the belief that the American Legion in its activities since the war has conducted itself in a way to merit the respect of the people.

"The greatest thing the Legion has done," he said, "is the national convention's answer to President Hoover, in regard to the veterans' adjusted compensation, which proves that the interest of the Legion is in the welfare of the country and not in self."

Handle Prohibition Fearlessly
In regard to the national Legion's vote on the prohibition question, Senator Hicklin said, "the Legion fearlessly accepted a national problem and boldly suggested a solution. They regarded the question purely as a national issue from the standpoint of the law which has been a vexatious problem."

Asking the people to glance at the program of the American Legion, the senator, a University of Iowa graduate, mentioned especially the unemployment relief being backed by posts throughout the country. He flayed the campaign against compulsory military training and said that it receives active support from organizations identified with the Russian government.

Seed of Discontent
"An example of the seeds of discontent which are being sown occurred in Iowa when the farmers organized and placed personal rights ahead of national and state rights. They forgot the right way to about changing a law if they think it is wrong," he said, referring to the bovine testing war.

Senator Hicklin said that people are critical of the government, forgetting that they are the government, and that, in really learning their responsibilities to that government, the American Legion would lead the way.

Commander Boyle Introduces
He was introduced on the program by Commander Francis J. Boyle. The address followed the presentation of the ritual by Commander Boyle, E. L. O'Connor, Prof. Percy Bordwell and K. M. Dunlop. The program was opened with a silent tribute during the sounding of taps, and with a prayer by the chaplain, the Rev. Ira J. Houston. Community singing was led by Dr. H. C. Parsons.

President Walter A. Jessup, Col. Converse R. Lewis and his staff, and Civil War veterans had places on the platform during the services.

March Leads Parade
The parade, which was formed at 10:30 a. m., led by George Maresh, marshal of the day, marched through the downtown district. Following Captain Maresh, came Commander Boyle and George Gay, who was in charge of the program. The members of the post followed in a body. Following the Legion group came the 186th Hospital company, Colonel Lewis of the military department of the university, and his staff, headed by the university R.O.T.C. units which were led by the university band. The Boy Scouts marched behind the R.O.T.C.

Woman Gets Seven Years for Passing Worthless Checks

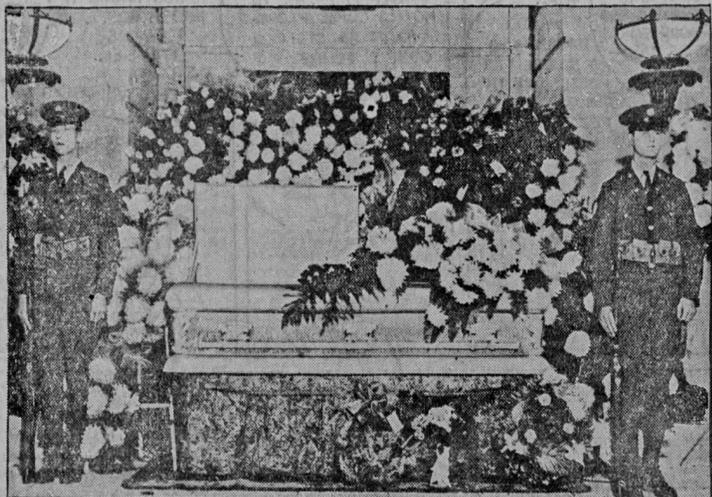

SIOWX CITY, Nov. 11 (AP)—Leona Clark, 19, today was ordered to serve seven years in the women's reformatory at Rockwell City for passing worthless checks. Judge Robert H. Munger imposed the sentence after revoking her parole.

Officers traced her to San Antonio, Tex., where she had gone after disappearing here more than a year ago. At that time the court had issued a parole and friends had obtained work for her.

Leona's trial led to the Texas city where she was arrested. She was returned to Omaha to face charges against her there, but later was turned over to Iowa authorities because of the sentence pending.

Mail Plane Delayed
Weather conditions delayed the daily mail plane at Grand Mound yesterday making it necessary for local airport men to pick up the mail there and bring it to Iowa City by truck. It was then taken, via plane, to Omaha. With this exception, no serious interruptions were reported in the local airmail service according to officials of the municipal airport.

MILITARY GUARD AT BIER OF SENATOR

The flower-banked bier of United States Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway was honored by a military guard during the hours the body of the late Arkansas legislator lay in state in the rotunda of the state capitol at Little Rock, Ark.

Wise Urges Disarmament to Justify Peace Agreement

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Without disarmament, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise said tonight, the Kellogg-Briand pact will be "the most highly organized hypocrisy in the world."

Addressing the mass meeting of the good will congress of the world alliance for international friendship, the rabbi of the Free synagogue of New York City said, "disarmament, and nothing else, can make this pact a reality."

Justice Agrees
The rabbi's remarks found an echo in Justice Florence Allen of the Ohio supreme court, who said two things were necessary to prevent another war.

"First, some radical form of disarmament; and second, immediate entrance of America into the world court."

"If I were a Christian," the Rabbi ended, "I would say the crucifix and sword must part company forever. The churches of the world and the religious groups among men everywhere must unite to the end that disarmament comes, and war goes."

Discussing the "inequality of the war burden," Justice Allen told the congress that "justice demands in war times that wealth should be conscripted, just as life is conscripted."

Cannot Conscript Wealth
"But we cannot, under our constitution," the woman jurist said, "conscript wealth. Even if we conscript life, we can not conscript life so the burden falls equally on all families."

This "hideous inequality" can only be prevented, the jurist said, by the prevention of war.

Hawley to Speak on Czechoslovakia at Baptist Meeting

"Czechoslovakia and John Huss" will be the subject of a speech by Prof. Charles A. Hawley of the university school of religion, at the monthly fellowship supper at 6:15 to 8:15 in the Baptist church.

Professor Hawley was in Czechoslovakia last year and attended the four hundredth anniversary of the martyrdom of John Huss, the national hero.

Mrs. R. L. Mackey, Mrs. L. B. Morford, and Mrs. A. C. Mullinax are in charge of the supper. Reservations may be made until noon today.

Add New Religious Education Courses

Two new courses have been added to the leadership training curriculum of the Iowa City council of religious education. "How to teach religion" will be taught by Maude McBroom, principal of the University elementary school, and "How to understand the Old Testament" will be conducted by the Rev. W. P. Lemmon, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

These courses, second of a series, will be held in the liberal arts building, starting next Monday and continuing for five consecutive Mondays.

Stocks Lack Incentive; Fall Over Holiday

Silver Trading Lower; Bar Metal Drops After Break

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Lacking an incentive to do otherwise, stocks eased slowly today. American and Canadian grain exchanges were closed for the holiday, but in Liverpool wheat sold off more substantially than had been indicated by yesterday's declines on this side of the Atlantic. Trading in silver was still active, again at lower quotations. Bar metal dropped 14 cents to 25 1/2 cents an ounce following a break at London.

Considerable activity appeared in rail stocks during the morning when New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Chesapeake Corp., among others, rallied but the general market refused to respond to this bait and the advance petered out. Several rails closed a point lower.

Inspiration Low
Steels failed to find inspiration from the "iron age" report of the third successive weekly increase in operations; doubtless the industry's firmer tone had been discounted as a market factor.

Final stock prices were again moderately above the lows, although the market was too indolent to support much of a late rally. U. S. Steel closed at 71, off 1 1/2, after touching 70 1/2. American Can, American Telephone, General Electric, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey and National Biscuit were off from 1/4 to slightly more than a point. Western Union broke to a new minimum and finished 1/4 lower. Metal shares seemed disconcerted by the decline in silver and the prolonged production curtailment negotiations. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, National Distillers, and American Commercial Alcohol rallied.

Small Turnover
The turnover was only 1,501,597 shares. Foreign exchanges general-

Report Gain in Dry Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prohibition Director Woodcock today expressed considerable encouragement gained from the latest statistics on dry law enforcement.

Woodcock expressed the opinion that prohibition enforcement is becoming more effective.

As an indication of this he pointed to figures in a mass of statistics he had before him which showed a heavy drop in the number of federal prohibition arrests last month.

His men in September made 6,655 arrests, Woodcock explained. In October, he said, federal agents initiated 5,756 cases in which arrests were made, compared with 4,948 for the same month last year. At the same time 1,341 state cases were started as compared with 983 in the same month a year ago and 1,341 in September.

"It is a possible deduction that whenever the number of federal cases begin to fall off enforcement is becoming more effective provided there is no let up on the part of the agents," he commented cheerfully. "There has been no let up."

Mercury Remains Steady
Iowa City's mercury remained in practically the same regions on the thermometer yesterday as Tuesday. The lowest Tuesday night was 44 degrees and at 7 a. m., the temperature had raised only one degree. Highest reading yesterday was at 52 degrees where the marker also pointed at 7 p. m. A precipitation of .23 inch was recorded.

Flour

We have just received the 32nd and already have in transit the 33rd carload of Gold Medal products shipped to us since Jan. 1, 1931. Wheat has recently registered an advance, which at the time of this writing amounts to 22 cents a bushel since the 2nd of October, or approximately 50 per cent of the price ruling on that date. Wheat is frequently regarded as a market barometer. If this is true, it will pay you to stock up at the prices quoted not only on the Gold Medal products listed below, but also on the other offerings described in this ad. We quote,

49 lb. bag Gold Medal Kitchen Tested Flour	$1.35
24 1/2 lb. bag Gold Medal Kitchen Tested Flour	.89
12 1/2 lb. bag Gold Medal Kitchen Tested Flour	.39
5 lb. bag Gold Medal Kitchen Tested Flour	.19

In this connection we beg to call your attention to the Gold Medal flour advertisement appearing in colors on the back page of the Pictorial Review for December. This advertisement shows a picture of Mrs. J. Galloway of Beaman, Iowa, who won 17 prizes at the Iowa State Fair at Des Moines in 1931 using Kitchen Tested Flour. The advertisement also illustrates her Fudge Cream Roll with which she won one of the prizes.
