"Friday the 13th" Displays Many Parties on Campus

Engineering Students Entertain With Annual "Techni Ball"; Chi Omega, Sigma Chi Give House Parties

Friday the thirteenth, hovers over the social world, but, in spite of superstition, the engineers will lead off the party list tonight with the "Techni ball," annual party for the members of Associated Students of Engineering only. Vern Winters will furnish the music. Programs will be of gray suede with the college emblem, a castle, on the cover.

Leo J. Aachenbrenner, E4 of Dyart, is president of the organization. The committee in charge is headed by Carroll Phelps, E3 of Iowa City. Other members are Ernest Nelson, E4 of Cedar Rapids; Donald Farr, E4 of Waucoma; David Marchant, E4 of Salvia, Ill. and Ivan Peterson, E4 of Laurens.

Shimek Mothers Send Petition for Abolition of War

Following a talk by Mrs. Dorrance White on the subject, "Peace," members of Shimek school Parent-Teacher association signed petitions at their meeting yesterday afternoon that will be sent to the peace conference at Geneva and to President Herbert C. Hoover. The papers state a request by mothers of the school children that matters of international dispute shall be settled by other means than war.

Chaperons will be Dean and Mrs. C. C. Williams, Prof. and Mrs. Huber Croft, Prof. and Mrs. E. B. Kurtz, Prof. and Mrs. Frederic Higbee, Prof. and Mrs. Sherman Woodward, Prof. and Mrs. Byron Lambert, Captain and Mrs. Bernard Smith, and Mrs. Hubert Olsen.

Phi Beta Delta Honoring seven new initiates Phi Beta Delta will entertain at a formal dance tomorrow night at the chapter house. Blue and gold, the fraternity colors, will be used in decorating. Herb Heuer's Cardinals will play.

Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nathanson of Clinton, and Dr. and Mrs. William Malamud. The committee in charge of arrangements is Emanuel Brotman, E4 of Cedar Rapids; Max Grahnke, C3 of Newton; Samuel Megibow, D2 of Grantwood, N. J.; Irv Besserglick, A3 of Iowa City; and Bernard Kaufmann, A2 of North Bergen, N. J.

Pledges of Chi Omega sorority will entertain the active members at an informal "Depression Drag," this evening with Harold "Smiles" Heinle and his orchestra from Muscatine, playing. Decorations will suggest the "bad luck" idea, with broken mirrors and open umbrellas featured. It will be a hard-times party.

Chaperons are Mrs. J. J. Ayres, Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, and Prof. Fred J. Lazell. Olive Douglass, A3 of Muscatine, is in charge.

Kappa Kappa Gamma The Iowa Collegians will play at the "Kappa Blues" party given by pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma for the actives tonight. Lights reflecting blue spots will be the chief decoration. Chaperons are: Prof. and Mrs. A. J. Dickman, Prof. and Mrs. G. D. Haskell, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Standing.

The committee in charge is composed of Phyllis Michael, A2 of Ottumwa; Marion Bort, A1 of Rock Island, Ill.; Marian Ellis, A3 of Maquoketa, and Charlene Monson, A3 of Des Moines.

Phi Gamma Delta Actives of Phi Gamma Delta will be entertained by the pledge chapter at a dance at the chapter house this evening with decorations in the white star of pledgeship and paddles.

Prof. and Mrs. Vance Morton, Prof. and Mrs. G. D. Haskell, Frank Roberts, Jr., Mrs. Frank Roberts, and Prof. Fred Laves will be chaperons. Harland Hartman's orchestra will play. The committee in charge is composed of: Harold Mitchell, A2 of Iowa City, Fred Moran, A1 of Jefferson, and Richard Hanten, A1 of Watertown, S. D.

Alpha Chi Omega Flood lights and a silhouet of a man and woman in front of the moon will be the decorations at the Alpha Chi Omega party tomorrow evening, at the chapter house. The Iowa Blues orchestra will furnish the music. Programs will show the silhouet on the covers.

Chaperons will be: Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Litchky, Mr. and Mrs. William Holland, Agneta Gunn, Frederick Crowder, and Mrs. Mary Mathews. The committee is headed by Frances Seidel, A4 of Marengo, who will be assisted by Pauline Roche, A4 of Riceville, and Bernice Mansfield, A4 of Ogden.

Alpha Chi Sigma An informal dance will be given by members of Alpha Chi Sigma tomorrow evening at the chapter house with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Lovell, and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Baldrige chaperoning.

A "Depression Party" will be given by the members of the Quadrangle at Varsity hall tomorrow night. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Feynter, Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Higley, Mrs. Louise Carter, and Mrs. J. E. Saunders.

Sigma Chi Pledges of Sigma Chi fraternity will give a formal dinner dance from which the actives will be excluded tomorrow night at the chapter house. The Campus Aces will play. Tables will be decorated with tapers which will furnish the light, and roses will be presented to the guests. Over the fireplace will be a lighted shield.

John Wallace, A1 of Mason City, is chairman of the committee. He will be assisted by Robert Barrett, A1 of Des Moines, and Frank Heise, A3 of Ft. Dodge. Chaperons will be: Prof. and Mrs. Vance Morton, Mr. and Mrs. William Hageboeck, Mrs. Laura Lewis, and Mrs. E. C. Kinloe.

Miniature Set Shows Phone Line Trouble

"It's exact down to the insulators," was a student's description of the miniature telephone and power lines with which Henry H. Carl, foreign wire relations supervisor of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company of Des Moines, illustrated his talk, "Interference between power lines and telephone lines." He also used slides in his lecture which was given in the electrical engineering auditorium yesterday afternoon.

"A qualitative analysis to show the principles involved," was Mr. Carl's description of his demonstration. By means of an amplifier, the various noises that affect the operation of a telephone circuit were made audible to the audience. By means of a control board at one end of his apparatus, he demonstrated the various causes of the noises and then compared them with normal quiet operation. The effects of transposing the order of the wires in both the power and the telephone lines were also shown by the demonstration.

Mr. Carl graduated from the electrical engineering department here in 1908 and received the added professional degree of E.E. in 1919.

Children Give First Play in Series Again

"All Baba and the Forty Thieves," the first of a series of children's plays sponsored by the University theater, will be presented again this Saturday at 2:30 p.m. by popular demand. The play was first presented last Saturday afternoon when two performances were given.

The play, which is directed by Mrs. Margaret Mary Young of the speech department, includes a cast made up entirely of children, as well as a juvenile production staff.

"All Baba and the Forty Thieves" is the first of five plays to be presented by the children's theater this season. The next one will be "The ToyMaker of Nuremberg" which will be presented Dec. 5 and 12.

Memberships may still be had in the juvenile university theater group, for all those that would like to take part in these plays this season. The memberships, which include admittance to all performances, may be bought by adults as well as children.

Potter to Explain New Transmitter to Club Members

A new amateur voice transmitter will be shown and its operation described at the meeting of the University Amateur Radio club at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the west side experimental laboratory.

The new transmitter was installed by members of the club last Tuesday and was designed and built in the communication laboratory in the electrical engineering building by James L. Potter, instructor in electrical engineering.

Mr. Potter will describe the operation to members of the club. The transmitter is unique in that it uses a 50-watt tube in the final stage of amplification of the voice.

Reports received from points in various states indicate that the new radio club transmitter is one of the best amateur voice stations on the air in this part of the country.

Math Instructors Attend State Meet

A group of mathematics instructors is attending the meeting of the Iowa State Teachers' association in Des Moines today. They are especially interested in the mathematics part of the meeting which will be held today.

Professors Henry L. Rietz, John F. Kelly, Edward W. Chittenden, Roscoe Woods and Lewis E. Ward are attending the meeting.

Transit Tells of Freshman Essay Contest

An essay contest for freshman engineers was announced in the November issue of The Transit which was distributed yesterday.

The contest closes Jan. 15, 1932. Papers will be graded by three judges appointed by the dean of the college of engineering. Awards will be made during the second semester.

The first prize will be a K. and E. log-log-duplex slide rule with a leather case which has been offered by the Chicago office of Keuffel and Esser company of Hoboken, N. J. Second prize will be an award of this year's Mecca dues which entitles the winner to the Mecca show and banquet, two features of the engineer's Mecca week in March. Third prize will be a ticket to the Mecca ball.

"Heat treatment of steel," by Robert J. Benda, E3 of Reinbeck, and "The design and acoustics of broadcast studios," by Sylvanus J. Ebert, E4 of Watertown, Wis., were the feature articles in the November issue.

The cover, which was of old gold, showed an old etching of Old Capitol.

Tax Levies Reduced

DES MOINES, (AP)—State Budget Director Oscar Anderson announced reductions of $70,192 in Benton county and $102,584 in Pocahontas county from their 1931 tax levies. This brings the total reduction in 67 counties to $5,482,257.

Continue With Ottumwa Trial

OTTUMWA, Nov. 12 (AP)—While warrants for his arrest on an Indiana bank robbery charge were wired to local authorities Melvin Furlong of Indianapolis continued on trial today for possession of burglar tools.

Chief witness today was Sheriff Ralph N. Baker, who testified that a "very complete set of burglar tools" was found in a car seized Sept. 12, when Furlong, Robert Kelso of Indianapolis and Frank Brown of Jeffersonville, Ind., were arrested.

Kelso and Brown are in jail awaiting trial. All three are named in the warrants received from Indiana today.

Baker testified that Furlong had told him he intended to surrender a year ago but lacked the nerve.

Taxpayers' Petition Turner

DES MOINES (AP)—The Benton County Taxpayers league sent a petition to Governor Dan Turner proposing a special legislative session to effect immediate tax reduction. It proposed a state income tax as a replacement tax.

T. E. Riley, '16, of Maquoketa, county engineer of Jackson county, was a visitor at the college of engineering yesterday.

Arthur DeWinter, C3 of Pella, spent Armistice day at his home.

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—George Keeler says the iron stairway he built for Cedar Rapids' Little Gallery isn't "beautiful" or "modernistic."

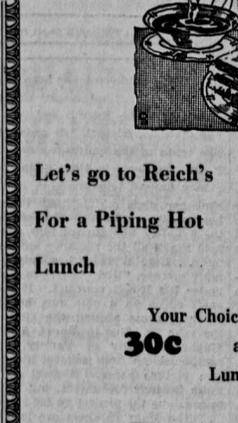

He calls it, rather, "interesting" and "contemporary art" and when the Chicago Iron Master explains his terminology, he expresses a new philosophy of art.

As you go up Keeler's stairs, projections on the railings point up and the stairs go right up with you. When you go down, your glance follows the down-pointing angles, and you still have company.

This is an example, Keeler says, of being "interesting." As for modernistic art, that is, he maintains, associated with squares and triangles. It's good for show windows, but in the home it leads to divorce. It is spectacular, but not restful.

But contemporary art is simple, without frills, Useful, Restful. Maybe—Keeler didn't say so, however.

EXPERIMENTS WITH 'CHUTE ON TRANSPORT PLANE

Advisability of equipping transport airplanes with giant parachutes is to be tested soon by Col. The one shown here is 90 feet in diameter and contains 800 square yards of silk.

"Up and Down" Stair Rails Only "Interesting" to Builder

CEDAR RAPIDS, Nov. 12 (AP)—because he dislikes professional patter—it is symbolic.

"That's what stairs are, anyway," Keeler, who was given the title of Iron Master by the Chicago Art Institute, declares. "Going up and down—so why shouldn't the stair rails do that, too?"

Keeler once lived in Cedar Rapids. He was an insurance salesman, but threw that over, and took a 50-year old stable in Menominee street and turned it into an iron studio.

He had no preliminary training in iron working; he says he knew nothing of the mechanicalities of art. "Professional patter," he calls it and, disliking it, eschews it.

He doesn't hate anything, though, but declares: "Enjoy what you like and leave the rest alone." He found what he liked after he had made a pair of candlesticks just to help out at a library exhibition; then he designed the communion railing for a church.

Raymond Lewis Moeller, 19, of Middletown, Conn., possesses ingenuity. He made the coach model pictured out of tin cans and other things, using needles, dentist's drills, nails, embroidery scissors and so on as tools. It brought him this year's "Yankee ingenuity" scholarship at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, one of the richest available in American colleges.

Business Men Suggest New Building Code

A proposal for the establishment of a building code in Iowa City was the occasion for a meeting of business men in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the American Legion building last night. The proposed code would prescribe building regulations for the city.

This regulation would apply to the materials used and would provide protection to the property owners. The assumption is that the average builder is not qualified to protect himself from cheap construction. Special provisions as to fireproof structures would be inserted.

It was brought out at the meeting that Iowa City has not suffered in the past from poor construction but the measure is thought to be a safeguard for future building. At present no general building inspection is in force. Electricians and plumbers have a uniform inspection system.

Reasons advanced at the meeting for the inability of the owner to protect himself from poor construction were based on the general inexperience of the citizen in building matters. The average citizen was cited as not understanding the differences in mixtures of concrete or the substitution of a poor grade of material for a better grade.

It was thought that such a building code would aid much in the solving of Iowa City's fire hazard problem. The proposed regulation would provide for the utmost in fire protection. This was given as a move toward public betterment as the majority of fires break out in poorly constructed houses.

A meeting to further consider the proposal was called for Monday, Nov. 23. Lee Nagle was appointed chairman of a committee to invite interested business men to this meeting. Mr. Nagle's committee will also look up various building codes, examine them, and be ready to recommend a code.

The proposal would have to be passed by the city council and a provision made for an inspector. It was thought that an extension of the duties of Charles Kutcher, city building inspector, would be sufficient for the task.

Will Resume Lee County's Cow Testing

DES MOINES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Testing of Lee county cattle, suspended today because of impassable roads, will be resumed Friday, Adjutant General W. H. Bailey said.

Meanwhile advices from Burlington, where Iowa national guardsmen supporting veterinarians in the campaign to enforce the state compulsory bovine testing law are quartered, said that Captain Frank B. Hallagan, judge advocate at Camp Holstein, went to Fort Madison today to appear before a Lee county grand jury.

What evidence Capt. Hallagan placed before the grand jury was not disclosed, but it was understood to concern the conduct of farmers who allegedly opposed the testing last week.

Five herds remain to be tested in Lee county. With early completion of reading results of tests expected in Des Moines county, officials were of the opinion that tests this year would soon be finished.

Prepare Your Car For Winter

It is no longer customary to take the battery out of the car, jack up the wheels and leave it in the garage until spring. Nowadays, we use our car the year around.

But operating conditions are radically different in cold weather. Give your car a fair chance by preparing it for winter weather and there will be no trouble operating it when colder days come.

Here Is What Your Car Needs

- Drain radiator and flush it.
- Put in one "Silverseal" stop leak.
- Put in DuPont Methanol anti-freeze.
- Flush out old transmission grease and re-fill with special winter grease.
- Do the same with the rear end (differential).
- Drain crank case and flush out old motor oil.
- Re-fill with special winter motor oil.
- Clean motor thoroughly.
- Complete car wash.
- Cover top with special top dressing.
- Complete pressure lubrication. Spray springs.
- Fill tires with proper air pressure.
- Fill battery with water.
- Put new bulbs in head lights.

THEN

Fill the gas tank with the new winter gasoline—GOLDEN PEP

And you are ready to face any kind of weather. We will call for your car—service it—and deliver to you.

The Farmers' Sport

AGRICULTURE commands the lead of midwest sports today as the farmers of eight states focus their attention on an Iowa cornfield, scene of the 1931 national husking derby.

Iowa farmers may not know much about football or how to putt a golf ball, but they know all there is to know about flinging ears of corn against the bangboard, and they have not overlooked a single detail in promising that everything will be in readiness for the championship go.

Since the inception of county, district, state, and national cornhusking contests in the midwest a few years ago, the interest in this annual competition has increased by bounds. Today the radio world is recognizing the contest by broadcasting an ear by ear account over a national hookup of 44 stations.

Iowa may be proud to be host to this corn-belt project, and to have shared an important part in its establishment.

The farmers' own pastime, an expression of his very life, the husking contest is more broadly significant than as a bit of lively competition for proficiency honors; it is a bit of American life, peculiar to this country, an integral part of the folk ways that comprise the soul of a great nation.

Misplaced Blame

SOMEWHERE in Chicago today, a young man is wondering why his world crashed down upon him suddenly this week—a few days ago he was a wealthy student at Northwestern university with a $3,000 car, a father who gave him a generous allowance, and wasn't even curious about what he did with it.

Today, he is just a young man, expelled from school for the rest of the semester, his car sold by his irate father, who criticized him and universities for nearly a half column on the front page of the Chicago Tribune yesterday.

Thousands of college students have done worse things than participating in a pep parade banned by the faculty— young Harrington is certainly not the first college student to be sent home for the semester.

It's too bad that young Harrington, alone in Chicago, can't have a father like that to tide him over the next few weeks.

The Democratic party is seeking to raise money for campaign funds. They can do it easily and truthfully by saying that it's for the benefit of the unemployed.

We often get up in the morning feeling like a grand slam, and go to bed feeling like we'd been set five, doubled and redoubled.

motion which is richly deserved, for the judge has made an enviable record in the district court in the prompt, efficient, and able handling of the business before him.

There are federal judges today who have shown themselves at once servile to influence and tyrannous to litigants. They have done much to tear down the respect which the federal judiciary has generally enjoyed for independence and fairness.

It is of especial importance that these qualities be emphasized at this time. The federal judiciary is being undermined in two directions by the flood of prosecutions under the Volstead act.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

"Everybody is interested in college-student adjustment problems, of which there are, heaven knows, a plenty and not all due to the students, either," writes Karl Menninger, psychologist, in the current Ladies Home Journal.

Unlike most commentators, who are ready to condemn student life as more or less iniquitous, the writer shows an unusual appreciation of human qualities in college students. "It is an amazing paradox," he writes, "that among college students, whom we are apt to regard as the most jolly, care-free, and gay of all individuals in the world, there exist the keenest depressions, heartbreaks, discouragements, and disappointments."

Such as, one might add, sudden breaks in dates, engagements, collegiate flivvers, et cetera.

For a change, here's a writer who admits that perhaps the trouble with young men and women who leave college after a four year course of study is not to be found in drinking parties and general carousing, but in psychological and physical deficiencies, and inferiority feelings.

"Students frequently appear stupid," he adds, "because of emotional conflicts with the proper functioning of their intelligence." Of course, there are students who go through college with barely passing grades, to whom that diagnosis does not apply, who find that their interests lie elsewhere than in classrooms. And there are those who not only appear stupid but are.

On the whole, it certainly is too bad that so many writers concern themselves so vitally with the problems they never themselves experienced, and therefore, can never analyze to the complete satisfaction of all parties.

But whether or not the college student needs analysis or understanding or sympathy cannot entirely be left to his discretion. He lacks the perspective, in the first place, and ordinarily would resent anyone's solution to his problems that would also apply to problems of all college students.

And by this time, with practically all periodicals carrying free lance articles by "experts" and others about "what's wrong with our collegiate youth," the latter gentry has set up a barrier of indifference to most of the "solutions" and suggestions.

Apparently Clare Booth Brokaw could give sororities—and fraternities—pointers on picking pledges.

In case you missed yesterday's papers, Clare Booth Brokaw is an ex-celite who has begun telling tales out of school for eastern magazine readers.

According to Miss Brokaw, seating of guests at dinner is done on a point possession system. For a yacht, Mrs. Jones gets 10 points, for a country home, Mrs. Smith 9, etc., etc.

It might not be a bad idea for the Greek letter groups to coerce some graduate student into working out an M.A. or Ph.D. graph for the measurement of pledge desirability for use when rush season comes around next fall.

For a sorority, he might dope out some such schedule as:

- Datability 10 points
Automobile 7 points
Activities 7 points
Grades 5 points

And so on, far into rush week. The adding machine distributors should favor the plan, anyhow.

The father who blamed Northwestern university for his son's disgrace gives us a royal pain in the neck—enough of a pain to do for a giraffe.

When the same university, receiving all sorts and conditions of students, turns out only a small percentage of punks each year, any fond papa has a lot of salt to pass the buck for his son's misbehavior to the school.

Finance Men Expect Stock Stability Soon

Market Holds Despite Fresh Setback in Grain Prices

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Wall street's conviction that the way to economic stability and hot times is rapidly being opened was buttressed by a series of constructive developments today. Financial quarters were impressed and cheered by such developments as:

1—The stock market's refusal to be dragged down by a fresh setback in grain, for the first time in a fortnight.

2—A resumption of the advance in the silver bullion market.

3—The reduction of $26,000,000 in the volume of currency in circulation, shown in the weekly federal reserve statement, which proved fresh evidence of the halt of currency hoarding.

4—Unofficial reports from Europe that Germany and France had reached an agreement as to the method of procedure for finding a more permanent basis for short term credits and repayments.

5—Preliminary meeting of railroad executives to decide upon measures to restore their credit through making effective the interstate commerce commission's conditional grant of higher rates, and possibly through wage reductions.

6—The decision of Belgian copper producers to prolong their stay in New York in the hope of finally reaching an agreement to curtail production and stabilize the industry.

7—Continued good demand for U. S. government securities and other high grade investments popular with banks and institutions.

8—Market Remains Quiet

The stock market was quiet and had intervals of strength, although a drop in New York Central in the last few minutes, resulted in cancellation of most of the earlier gains.

Wall street was inclined to look for a definite decision as to how the carriers propose to accept the interstate commerce commission's freight rate increase at tomorrow's general meeting of the executives' association.

The rail shares were strong at times, but generally closed with small losses. The general level of the market at the finish, however, as indicated by the price average of the representative issues was 3.10 of a point below the closing level yesterday. Trading was light. The bond average was a little higher.

Bullishness in silver futures rose to a new pitch on the national metal exchange, where prices rallied 1 1/2 to 2 cents, and the turnover set a new high record at 9,175,000 ounces. This silver market was established only last June.

Dealers in silver bullion for immediate delivery boosted their prices in both New York and London. The New York price was advanced 73 of a cent to 36 1/4 cents an ounce, cancelling about half yesterday's loss of 1 7/8 cents.

Elimination of Waste in State Expenditures Reduces Tax Burden

DES MOINES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Ed R. Brown, secretary of the committee on reduction of public expenditures said today that elimination of all inefficiency and extravagance in state expenses could reduce Iowa's tax burden $25,000,000 a year.

The tax collections for 1932 are expected to be $12,000,000 lower than this year, Brown said, and action by the next legislature to cut down waste could raise this saving $13,000,000 more. The 1931 collections totaled $110,000,000.

Court expenditures are being investigated by his committee, Brown said. Suggestions offered the committee in this field included standardization of court dockets, calling of fewer jurors and permission of prospective jurors to claim exemption from service by mail.

Mercury Drops 10 Degrees

Iowa City's thermometer has evidenced a practically stationary registration during the last two days with the marking reaching 52 degrees as its highest point Wednesday, also registering the same at 7 p.m. Wednesday, and at 7 a.m. yesterday.

During the day it raised four degrees, but by 7 p.m., slid down to 42 degrees.

Brilliant Leonid Meteors to Appear Tonight; Wylie Plans to Plot Star Chart of Display

"If the night is clear we'll see the first Leonid meteors since last year at this time tonight," said Prof. Charles C. Wylie of the astronomy department.

Three main groups of observers will be placed. Professor Wylie and Howard Wagner, graduate assistant in astronomy, will go to Amana, Irvin F. Keeler, research assistant in astronomy, and Lloyd A. Knowler, A4 of Hedrick, will go to Tipton. Warner Kirhn, G of Iowa City, and Bemrose Boyd, A4 of Keokuk, will go to Mt. Vernon.

The group at Tipton will be aided by Miss Ruth Balluff, a graduate here and a teacher in the Tipton junior college. She is the daughter of George Balluff of Iowa City. Students in Miss Balluff's classes will help the observers.

The group that goes to Mt. Vernon will be assisted by Prof. F. M. McGraw of the astronomy and mathematics department of Cornell college and some of his students.

Wylie Successful in 1930

The first indications of the meteors will be noted at about 2 a.m. according to Professor Wylie. By 3 a.m. the flight of the meteors across the sky should be in full swing.

At present a crew of 15 men is at work clearing the streets. No preparations have been made to combat snow this winter but Mr. McClelland indicated that nothing extraordinary was thought necessary.

City Forbids Burning of Leaves in Streets

Iowa City residents are asked to remember the city ordinance forbidding the burning of leaves in the city streets stated James McClelland, city street commissioner yesterday.

The work of clearing the streets had progressed far yesterday and only one more general cleaning should be needed.

At present a crew of 15 men is at work clearing the streets. No preparations have been made to combat snow this winter but Mr. McClelland indicated that nothing extraordinary was thought necessary.

Prof. Wylie described the meteors as follows:

"In 1799 and 1833 the Leonid meteors were so numerous that reports compared them to snowflakes in a winter storm and many were so bright that numerous persons were awakened from sleep by the flashes of light in their eyes. It is said that in 1833, on the morning when the shower was at its best, there was not a moon in the sky as large as the moon without a meteor. The display was good in 1866 and 1867 but it did not approach that of 1833. The main group of meteors missed the earth in 1899 and 1900."

Meteors Flash Like Lightning

The meteors show for two consecutive years in November at intervals of about 33 years.

Speaking of last year's display, Professor Wylie continued, "An observer could count meteors at the rate of two a minute, with an occasional meteor lighting up the sky like a flash of lightning. We hope to get a better display this year."

The groups will watch every morning beginning tomorrow for at least an hour, in order to count the Leonid meteors. The meteors will be plotted on star charts so that their paths through the atmosphere can be calculated. The groups will keep in frequent touch with each other by means of the telephone.

Plan Meeting of Ministers for January

DES MOINES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Plans were started here today for a convocation of Iowa ministers in Des Moines, Jan. 11, 12, and 13. Ministers of all denominations will be asked to participate.

Decla F. Dunkley, executive secretary of the council of churches of the Des Moines area, said the gathering will consider three major problems: "the church and economics," "the church and world peace" and "the church and prohibition."

The general theme will be "the Christian church in the present emergency."

Among those attending the meeting today was Dr. Roy B. Guild of New York city, general secretary of the federal council of churches. The Des Moines council of churches, which is sponsoring the convocation, will act as host with the cooperation of the homes mission council of Iowa, all denominational executives, the federal council and other agencies.

Gallarno Arguments in Injunction Suit Completed in Court

DES MOINES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Arguments in the suit brought by George Gallarno to test the Iowa legislative expense account act were completed before Judge John J. Halloran today.

The suit seeks an injunction restraining state officials from approving and paying expense accounts made out by members of the last general assembly on the grounds that the law, passed by the forty-third general assembly, is unconstitutional.

Decision by Judge Halloran was withheld pending the filing of an argument by L. H. Sallinger, as "a friend of the court" and an answer by defense attorneys.

City Inspector Grants Two Building Permits

Two building permits were granted yesterday. The first was issued to R. P. White to erect a garage. The estimated cost was $300, and contractor will be Ral Abbot.

Second permit was issued to Charles E. Mills to construct a garage at an estimated cost of $200. Construction work will be done by Mr. Mills.

Public Library to Conduct Children's Book Week to Stimulate Interest in Books

To stimulate interest in buying books for children's personal libraries, Iowa City public library, under the direction of Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, will conduct a children's book week starting Monday, Nov. 16. The exhibit will be held in the club room at the library.

The purpose of the exhibition is to give parents or anyone interested in buying books for children an opportunity to examine newly published books and different editions of old, well-known children's books.

Book week was nationally originated in 1919 by the American Booksellers association, the American Library association, the Boy Scouts of America, and associated publishers. Through it an attempt is made to inspire a growing consciousness of the importance of children's books.

Arrange Exhibit in Sections

The local exhibit is to be arranged in sections with books for older children between the ages 11 to 14, for young children from 8 to 11, and for children below eight years of age. There will be a display of new books published this fall, and different editions of old books which have been illustrated, contrasting the new with the old.

One table will have a display of informational books on science, history, geography, and other general subjects. Another table will comprise a group of better books with unusually fine make-up and bindings. A feature of the exhibit will be the little library collection made up of small books.

New book lists will be distributed at the exhibition, one compiled by Iowa City public library, one by the American Library association entitled, "Recent Children's Books," and the names of "The Book shelf for Boys and Girls."

Librarians Answer Questions

Mrs. Gordon and Helen Davis, children's librarian, will be in the club room to answer any questions and give out any information desired by visitors.

Among the outstanding books on display for very young children are: Picture books of animals, Lord Johnny Penguin, Bryan; In the mouse's house, Donaldson; Greedy goat, Brock; Modern ABC book, Fall; Angus and the cat, Flack; Tooky, Hader; Farmer in the dell, Hader; Meddlesome mouse, Neville; Henry and the Tiger, LeFevre; Twin lambs, Orton; and Leo and the lion cub, Williamson.

Popular books for young children are: Pinafores and pantaloons, Choate and Curtis; Fingerfins, Bronson; The blue teapot, Daglish; Grandmother Tippytoe, Lenski; Four gypsy children, Morris; Floating island, Parrish; Musko, Pear; Pie-kanniny twins, Perkins; Gay Madeleine, Phillips; When Abigail was seven, White; Little lost shepherd, Hill and Maxwell; and Nicolina, Brann.

Those for older children are: Blackthorn, Adams; Waterless mountain, Armer; Lazarus in the pueblos, Cannon; The flame, Eaton; Shag, Hinkle; Buckaroo, Hess; Six feet six, James; Golden star of Halch, Kelly; Wolf's head and the queen, Martin; Dan the young fireman, Kearney; Orange winter, Medary; and Candle in the mist, Means.

Ingwersen Plans Changes in Lineup for Purdue Game as Team Leaves

Moffitt May Start; Certain to See Action

Laws, Samuelson Also Named; 33 Men on Trip

Lineup changes, more drastic than previously made this season, were contemplated by Coach Burton Ingwersen yesterday as he left for Lafayette with 33 players for the Hawkeyes game Saturday at Purdue's Homecoming.

Howard Moffitt, sophomore speedster, will be left half for Iowa in the starting lineup if the Old Gold get the wind advantage. Whether he starts or not, the Iowa citizen will see plenty of action against the Boilermakers.

Lyman Case, second string center, may start at the pivot post in place of Ed Dolly, who is bothered by an ankle injury sustained in the Nebraska contest.

Samuelson to Start

Coach Ingwersen said he would start Leo Samuelson at right tackle instead of Tullio DellaVedova. Weighing more than 200 pounds, Samuelson was counted on as a line regular in pre-season dope. Injuries suffered in scrimmages the week before the opening game against Pittsburg have kept him out of the starting lineup.

Robert Loufek and Eugene Clearman are expected to be named to start their second game for Iowa at the end positions. Austin Akin and Harold Hantelmann appeared to be the starting guards. Although Nelson Tompkins has recovered from a wrenched shoulder in the George Washington encounter, he is not likely to start.

Laws at Quarterback

The flashy runs of Joe Laws in scrimmages against the freshmen this week have won back a place in the backfield for him. He will start at quarterback, Ingwersen said.

The squad left yesterday afternoon, having had only two sessions of hard work. A light drill was held Monday, and the inclement weather yesterday caused Ingwersen to call off the planned workout.

Lumbering up exercises and a signal drill will be held this afternoon at the Ross-Adams stadium field.

The Following Men Made the Trip: Ends—Kenneth Trickey, Eugene Clearman, Robert Loufek, Francis Merten, Harold Swaney, and Ray Fisher.

Tackles—Jerry Foster, Tullio DellaVedova, Alex Rogers, Elmir Kouba, and Leo Samuelson.

Guards—Austin Akin, Leo Bryant, Harold Hantelmann, John Stutsman, Nelson Tompkins, Sam Meltzer, and Tom Moore.

Centers—Lyman Case and Ed Dolly.

Quarterbacks—Joe Laws, James Miller, Phil Thurlte, and Orville Pickering.

Halfbacks—Jerry Kriz, Randolph Hillman, Howard Moffitt, Elmo Nelson, and William Ruse.

Fullbacks—Capt. Oliver Sansen, Jack Greedy, and Christian Schmidt.

IN CONFERENCE GRID CAMPS

NEW WILDCAT HALFBACK

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 12 (AP)—Jake Sullivan, who blossomed out as another good Northwestern halfback in the Minnesota battle last week, will start against Indiana Saturday. Coach Dick Hanley sent the Wildcats through a brisk drill today with Potter at quarterback, Rentner and Sullivan at halves and Reb Russell at fullback. Ken Mceman will make way for Sullivan at the start, but is almost certain to play.

MAROONS TRY PASSES

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Chicago's Maroons took a final workout on forward passes and forward pass defense today, in preparation for the Illinois game Saturday. The backs looked somewhat better defensively, but failed to show much improvement with their own aerial game.

ILLIANI QUARTERS HURT

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 12 (AP)—With both his quarterbacks, Bob Horsley and Herman Walser, again on the injured list, Coach Bob Zuppke was undecided on the Illinois lineup against Chicago Saturday. Jack Bodman, lineman, and Clark Root, back, letterman last year, worked with the regulars today for the first time of the season and may be used against the Maroons. A long signal drill was the assignment today.

BADGER TACKLE ILL

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 12 (AP)—Wisconsin's hope for a fourth victory over Ohio in a Homecoming game here Saturday took another jolt today when Don Cuthbert, tackle, was reported to be ill to see action in the contest. The sophomore regular is suffering from a bad cold.

GOPHER KNEE TROUBLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Ken MacDougal, Minnesota's little quarterback, injured his knee again today, twisting it so that he had to be helped off the field where the Gophers are preparing for the Michigan game.

RAIN HALTS OHIO STATE

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12 (AP)—Their final practice cut short by a steady downpour of rain, the Ohio State university football team departed tonight for Janesville, Wis. They meet the Badgers of that state at Madison Saturday.

WOLVERINE BACK SHIFTED

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Capt. Roy Hudson probably will play quarterback in Saturday's game between University of Michigan and Michigan State. Starting the season at fullback, he was shifted to halfback and now apparently is back at the position he

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Jack Dempsey returns to an Illinois ring after an absence of four years and meets George Neron and Pete Winstor in the Moline field house tonight. The last time Jack fought in Illinois was the night of the famous "long count bout" with Gentleman Gene Tunney.

The comeback tour, when first announced to the public by Leonard Sachs, was taken with a grain of salt. But with the Dempsey troupe appearing on an average of twice a week throughout the west and middle-west, fans are beginning to believe the former champion is really serious in his efforts to regain the crown.

Those who have seen Dempsey in his present campaign agree that the old sock is still present, even though some of the speed is missing. And present in large quantities is that "tigerish fury" of attack which made opponents wilt after a round or two.

His first comeback attempt consisted of but one fight. That was the seven round knockout scored against Jack Sharkey. Seven rounds were not enough to condition Jack for his meeting with Gene Tunney, and now Dempsey is trying a different and much sounder method.

Plenty of real fights is the thing that the Manassa Mauler needs to condition himself for a meeting with the tireless Max Schmeling. About three months meeting fourth raters topped by four or five fights against men like Stribling, Loughran, Baer and Sharkey will make Dempsey fit enough to challenge Max for the championship.

There is no reason why Jack should not be successful in this attempt. He has always lived a clean life and has always been doing some kind of work to keep him from acquiring excess fat. Against Schmeling he will not need speed but rather a hefty wallop, which he possesses, and strong legs the issue now being tried.

Second String Frosh 'Defeat' Regulars 0-0

First string frosh, the gridgers who give the varsity plenty of opposition, were handed a neat little surprise by the second string yearlings in a short game played yesterday afternoon on Iowa field. The score was 0-0.

The second stringers jumped on the regulars right from the start and kept hammering away throughout the contest. But for one occasion the play was all in the regulars' half of the field. At one time the second stringers had he ball down to the 12 yard line. The nearest the regulars came to their opponents' goal was about 35 yards away.

As the field darkened the second stringers worked a spinner play that baffled the opposing eleven. Before this, the first string team had the ball near the middle, and in four downs lost 19 yards, such was the fierceness of the other eleven's defense.

After the game it was decided to play again Friday afternoon Nov. 20. This game will drop the curtain on the 1931 frosh grid season.

The second stringers who performed so well are: King, Cargiano and Corcoran at end; Peyton and Brown at tackle; Romano, Scott and Laube a guard; Armstrong at center; Johnson, Hofman, Champlin, McCaffrie, Whinnery and Meyers in the backfield.

Matmen Begin Drill for University Meet; Strong Frosh Squad

With the university tournament a month away, grapplers are beginning more intensive drill. Veterans, taking warning from the strong freshman squad that has been working out regularly, are returning to the winter schedule of nightly workouts.

"They are beginning to realize that unless they are in shape, most of the championships will go to the freshman class," Coach Mike Howard declared last night. "Competition is going to be stiff in every weight."

About 20 reported for practice yesterday and went through a fast drill. Coach Howard paired them off and sent them to the mats where offense methods were tried.

Bears Brush Up Plays

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Coach Al Sharpe continued today to devote most of his time with the Washington university Bears to brushing up on running plays and passes. Fairly well satisfied with the line, Coach Sharpe hopes for a stronger attack against Kansas Saturday. The Bears have scored only 2 points in their last five games.

Tigers at Peak

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 12 (AP)—At the peak of condition, the University of Missouri football team concluded intensive practice today for the Oklahoma game here Saturday. Noble Noblitt, 210 pound tackle, replacing the injured Grant Morgan, likely will be the only change in the lineup.

played during his sophomore year, the squad showed marked improvement in a long forward passing drill today.

Sooners Meet Tigers

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners went through their first hard scrimmage of the week today in preparation for their invasion of the Missouri Tigers laid Saturday. Coach Ad Lindsey's reared backfield combination of Walker, Dunlap, Farnes and Maand worked on both offense and defense against a freshman eleven using Tiger plays.

Nearly 20,000 Dollar Seats for Dad's Day

Department to Honor Mail Orders for Cheap Seats

Stadium seats totalling 19,500 will be on sale at one dollar each for the Northwestern-Iowa football game here Nov. 21, and 8,896 seats will go for two dollars.

Charles S. Gallier, manager of ticket sales, Thursday declared that customers need not wait until arrival at the stadium to purchase the unreserved seat tickets which are sold at bargain rates following decision of the board in control of athletics.

Mail orders now are being honored at the department of athletic, he said, and tickets will be on sale at the stadium two hours before game time.

The dollar seats are located from each end of the stadium, both stands, to the 10-yard line, and the two dollar variety range between the 10 and 30 yard lines on each side of the field.

A scale of low prices has not been in effect for a conference football game at Iowa City in recent years. Northwestern, sharer of the 1930 title, will attempt to clinch the clear championship by downing the Hawkeyes.

The regular rate of three dollars prevails for the reserved seats between the 30-yard lines on each side of the gridiron. Some 1,200 tickets are expected to be sold to Northwestern fans.

Irish Cagers in Strenuous Scrimmage

Fresh from their rest over the Armistice day celebration, the St. Patrick's hoopsters went through a strenuous drill yesterday and capped the workout with a half-hour scrimmage, the first of the season.

Floor work and basket shooting came in for equal emphasis in the session, and Coach Joe Morry introduced the men to the fundamentals of the zone defense, which he plans to use in some of the games.

In the scrimmage, a team consisting of Smith and R. Floerchinger, forwards; Scannell, center; and Casey and Emanuel, guards; was used against an aggregation of Megan and Pugh, forwards; Pinney, center; and Burger and Glenn, guards. Later on, W. Donohue was substituted for Casey on the one team, while Wetrich went in for Pugh, and McMahon and McNamara for Glenn and Burger on the other outfit.

23 Report for Cage Outfit at St. Mary's

With 23 enthusiastic hoopsters, eight of whom are letter men, fighting for berths on the St. Mary's basketball team. Coach Francis Suplee is looking forward to another successful year on the hardwood court. Scrimmage sessions have just started for the Supplemen, the last three weeks having been devoted exclusively to fundamentals.

Those reporting for work are: Richard Eidsens, Drizhal, O'Brien, Gaudocher, Beiger, Jenn, Looney, Budeau, Martin, and H'rtman, forwards; Maher, Conarnus, Ralph Lumsden, and Kennedy, centers; and Schultz, Scherrer, Stork, Pooler, Bradley, Russell, Vogt, Gerlits, and Shay, guards.

Johnny Grim, who was an all-state guard two years ago, is assisting Coach Suplee with the squad, while the Rev. Walter Boeckman is athletic director at St. Mary's, no changes having been made in the coaching staff since last year.

Notre Dame Expects Triumph Over Navy

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 12 (AP)—Thirty-six members of the Notre Dame football squad climbed aboard a special train today headed for Baltimore where the Naval academy squad will be met Saturday.

The Irish had not much practice, but were in excellent shape, and confident of victory.

Cyclones Rehearse Signals

AMES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Coach Veenker's Cyclones rehearsed signals and primed their passing attack today in anticipation of the annual battle with Drake university on State field Saturday. All the regulars were in good condition.

Aggie Star Returns

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 12 (AP)—For the first time since he was injured in the West Virginia game, Ralph Graham, backfield star, took an active part today in both offensive and defensive drill of the Kansas State college football squad. Prospects of his availability for the Nebraska game Saturday appeared much brighter.

Sooners Meet Tigers

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners went through their first hard scrimmage of the week today in preparation for their invasion of the Missouri Tigers laid Saturday. Coach Ad Lindsey's reared backfield combination of Walker, Dunlap, Farnes and Maand worked on both offense and defense against a freshman eleven using Tiger plays.

BULLDOGS GROWL FOR MORE

Reversing the old wheeze, a veteran team from the University of Georgia has been doing all the "marching through" this season. Among others Yale and New York university have fallen before the flashy play of such Bulldogs as Austin Downs, brilliant field general; Homer Key, diminutive backfield star, and Vernon "Catfish" Smith, potential all-American end.

St. Patrick's Gridders End Year With 1 Win; 5 Defeats

By JOHN LANE

Playing against luck in nearly all its games the St. Patrick's football team completed its season with five defeats chalked against it and only one victory to its credit. The team, however, was considerably stronger than this record would indicate, and was a dangerous threat in nearly all its contests.

In the first game of the season, with St. Mary's of Clinton, the Irish lost by the score of 6 to 0 in spite of the fact that they made almost three times as much yardage from scrimmage as their opponents. Their next tilt, with University High, resulted in another defeat, 12 to 6, but the late Irish drive in the last quarter that brought their sole touchdown showed that they had great offensive power.

In their third contest of the season, St. Pat's won its only victory, trouncing Wilton Junction to the tune of 26 to 0, but the next two tilts were disastrous, the Irish losing to Tipton 37 to 0 and to St. Joseph's of Rock Island 32 to 0.

Irish Turn in Surprise

With such an unsatisfactory record behind them, the St. Pat's gridgers were decidedly the underdogs when they went to Cedar Rapids to battle the strong Immaculate Conception outfit of that city. Here they turned in their biggest surprise of the year, losing by the close score of 6 to 0, the sole touchdown being the direct result of an intercepted pass on the Irish 15-yard line in the last quarter, after the teams had battled on equal terms in the earlier part of the game.

The most consistent player on the squad was Emanuel, 200-pound tackle, who turned in a stellar performance in every battle of the season. Emanuel was equally good on offense and defense, and frequently broke through the line to nail the on-early games of the year he was often posing runner for a loss. In the called back to carry the ball, and was nearly always able to pick up a good amount of yardage.

Freddie McMahon, guard, who was elected honorary captain of the squad at the end of the season, was the surprise man of the outfit. Rated as too poor a player even for a substitute in the first two games of the year, he sprang into prominence by his excellent showing against Wilton Junction, and was one of the starting men in all the later tilts.

McMahon Phys Center

A. McMahon, center, was another strong factor in the line. His accurate passing of the ball gave the backs a maximum of assistance, while his good defensive playing made the center of the line almost invulnerable.

Grady, tackle; and Connell, guard, made up the rest of the strong St. Pat's line with Burger tackle; and Floerchinger guard; available for substitute material. Scannell, stellar end, started the season in good form, but was forced out of the lineup early with a knee injury. In the later games, Pinney and White alternated with Gough at end.

Coach Louis Loria Had a Wealth of Material in His Backfield. Jay McNamara, diminutive quarterback, was a brainy field general, a good blocker, and a deadly tackler. He seldom carried the ball except on "quarterback sneak" plays, which he used with great effectiveness.

Glenn Stars at Full

Glenn, at fullback, was a dangerous, hard-hitting ball carrier, and was especially good at dodging through holes in the line. He was the most consistent ground gainer in the backfield.

Megan, speedy half, was the triple-threat man of the squad as well as an excellent defensive player. He was equally good at running the ends and passing, while his long punts more than once brought the Irish out of a delicate situation.

Wetrich and Pugh, alternate halfbacks, were both good men, Wetrich being especially so on end runs, while Pugh was a hard-hitting ball carrier and an accurate passer.

Neck Broken, Florida Youth Faces Death

DELAND, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—Commie Dandevor Smith, 22 year old Millsaps college football tackle, clung to life tonight although physicians have said he cannot live because a neck vertebra was broken in a game between Millsaps and Stetson university here Armistice day.

"Death might come 'at any time,' they said.

Throughout the day Smith, a senior in college, suffered momentary lapses into unconsciousness while his comrade of seven years, Maurice Easterling, Millsaps sophomore, remained in constant vigil at the bedside.

Easterling made the trip to Deland from Jackson, Miss., to watch his chum play. During the times Smith was conscious, he smiled up at his pal.

Crighton in Lane Drill

OMAHA, Nov. 12 (AP)—Crighton university's football squad took advantage of excellent weather today to hold a long drill on both offensive and defensive tactics to be employed in the Grinnell game here Saturday afternoon. The defensive work was confined to an attempt to find an adequate defense for the Grinnell pass plays with which the freshmen have gained consistently against the varsity this week.

Texas, a three-touchdown favorite over Rice institute, never penetrated Rice's 20-yard line in losing, 7 to 0.

Clark Turns in Game of 238 in Loop Rolling

By DICK NORRIS

The weather last evening was far more favorable to bowling than it was Monday night as is evidenced by the better scores.

George McInnerny was high for the three game series in the Recreation league rolling with 631. Paul Clark was high scorer for one game when he amassed a total of 238 maple pins in his first game.

The Dee's Recreation aggregation took high single in the team division with a 942 count, while the Academy rolled to the high total as a team. The cigar store boys' evening score was 2,689 pins.

There were no clean sweeps. The Academy took the last two from Dee's Recreation, Gasoline Alley won the first game from The Daily Iowan, but dropped the last two. The Elks won their first two with Racine's.

Marquette Squad Leaves MILWAUKEE, Nov. 12 (AP)

Twenty nine Marquette university football men tonight were named for the week end trip to Indianapolis, where the Golden Avalanche meets Butler university on Saturday. John Sisk, star halfback, will be left at home because of injuries and a minor attack of influenza. The Marquette squad will entrain tomorrow afternoon.

Huskies End Scrimmage

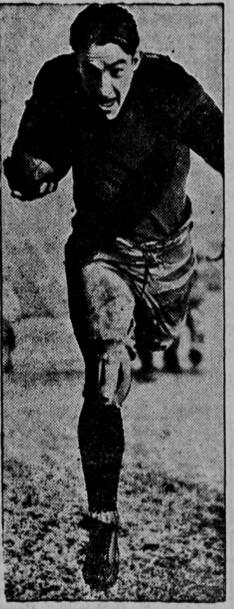

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 12 (AP)—The University of Nebraska Cornhuskers had a look at the pet plays of the Kansas State Wildcats in the final preparation today for the Husker-Wildcat football game at Manhattan Saturday. Dummy scrimmage sufficed for the workout. The Huskers will work out here tomorrow and leave early Saturday.

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 12 (AP)

Although no player is incapacitated, more than a dozen Oklahoma Aggies will be handicapped by minor injuries when they meet Tulsa university at Tulsa Saturday. Thirty seven players will make the trip. The regulars continued work on new plays today, scrimmaging against the freshmen, essaying Tulsa attacks.

Capt. "Kidd" Brewer, Duke fullback, recently scored 26 points in one game.

Tulsa's Terror

Capt. "Ish" Pinkington is the powerful fullback of Tulsa (Okla.) university's "Golden Hurricane" which represents a school of only 500 students, but has bowled over Texas Christian, Creighton and George Washington, among others.

History Sets Precedent for Purdue Battle

Homecoming Thrillers Regular Thing to Boilermakers

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 12—If "history repeats itself," Purdue's Homecoming battle with the rejuvenated Hawkeye eleven here Saturday afternoon bids fair to produce one of the most spectacular games of the season. The past six Boilermaker Homecomings, regardless of the comparative standings of the competing elevens before the games, have resulted invariably in close, hard-fought games, packed with more than their share of thrills.

The background of tense struggles which is supplied for this year's Homecoming attraction was started six years ago, in 1925, when "Tudy" Bair and Harold Harmon led the attack of an inspired and underdog Boilermaker eleven that came within an ace of rapping the strong Northwestern team, only to be noosed out, 13 to 9.

The following year came the first of the trio of Homecoming games with Wisconsin, which have become almost traditional for their closeness and spectacular play. The series was started in 1926 when Purdue fought to a 0 to 0 tie with the Badgers.

The next year, 1927, brought a lot of joy to Boilermaker Homecomers when Northwestern was defeated, 15 to 6. Then came 1928 and the memorable 19 to 19 battle with Wisconsin that still stands out as one of the most thrilling games in Big Ten annals.

Two years ago, Homecoming found Purdue clinching the Big Ten title with a 7 to 0 victory over Iowa, and last year the Homecomers rejoiced in a 7 to 6 victory over Wisconsin.

Duke stressed defensive work at the tackle positions, as Creighton college, Saturday's opponent, is reported as being particularly strong on slants off those posts.

With the veterans, the fresh squad pounded Finkbine course

Sixty Men to Face Starter in Title Run

Indiana, 1930 Champs Wisconsin Favored to Triumph

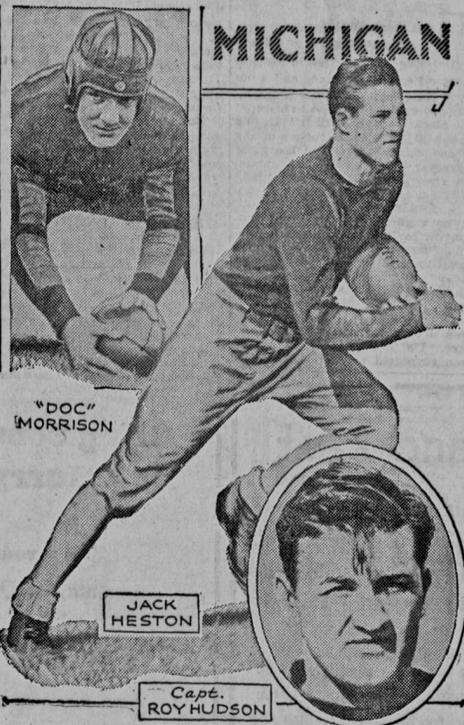

Indiana and Wisconsin, monopolizers of Western cross country championships for the past seven years, are outstanding favorites for the 1931 title when the 10 teams race at the University of Iowa Nov. 21.

The Hoosiers, champions for the last three seasons, have four members of the 1930 quintet ready, including Capt. Harry Brocksmith, runner-up for the individual title. Wisconsin is equipped with three veterans.

From 1924 to 1928, Wisconsin was the champion. Coach Tom Jones' men in 1928 scoring 34 points, the best team performance in 15 years. But Indiana broke the reign of the Badgers in 1928, with 72 points, and improved upon the feat a year later, with a 36-point total. Last fall 51 points won for Indiana, Wisconsin's 64 points forcing the Badgers to second place.

The conference harrier run began in 1908 and until 1926 also was open to non-conference institutions. Iowa State college won three championships and Nebraska one, but the all-time record shows Wisconsin with eight wins, Indiana with three, Minnesota, two; and one each for Illinois, Michigan, Ohio State, and Purdue.

Sixty runners will face the starter next Saturday and will trudge over the four-mile hilly course on Finkbine field, Illinois, Michigan, and Minnesota are expected to provide the greatest amount of competition for the Hoosiers and Badgers.

Wildcats Hold Weight Edge Over Indiana

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 12—Indiana university's line will slightly outweigh Northwestern's forward wall when the two gridiron machines clash in Dyche stadium at Evanston next Saturday. The Crimson linemen will average 188 pounds to the man while the Wildcats' average lineman will weigh 186. The backfield will be a different proposition, however, with Northwestern averaging 185 pounds to the man and Indiana 174.

The Wildcats have several linemen who bring down the weight average but in spite of their small stature are regarded as among the best in the Big Ten. Weldin, scrappy center, tips the scales at 168 but will be more than ordinary opposition for Indiana's 185 pound center, Spanuth. Indiana has its greatest advantage at end where Lyons and Dickey scale close to 200 pounds each as compared to Manske, 168 pounds, and Fenel, 155 pounds.

Northwestern will have the heaviest men on the field in J. Riley on the left side of the line with 218 pounds and Marvil on the right with his 227 pounds. In the backfield Jones of Indiana will be the heaviest but the Hoosier average is brought down by Stan Saluski, brilliant blond halfback, who weighs only 158 pounds. The above figures are based on the first elevens starting as a rule so far this year.

Coach Hayes of the Chimson intends to use his reserves plenty in the game Saturday. Practically every man on his squad of 33 will see action. If Indiana coaches get the results they hope for, the Hoosiers will have a 100 per cent improved team over that which lost to Michigan. The line will charge faster under the week's training program here.

Intramuralites

The Pi Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma netsters have reached the semi-finals in the tennis doubles tourney, the Pi Kappa Alpha team downing the Deltas 8-6, 6-4, and the Kappa Sigma men turning back Phi Chi 6-4, 6-3. These two teams will meet this week to determine which will cross rackets with the Phi Gam duo for the championship.

In the all-university net tournament, James Netolicky won a victory over Frank Weiss, 6-1, 6-0 to gain high honors in bracket number three. His next hurdle towards the championship will be in the person of John Beckner, Quad champ and winner of the fourth bracket.

New Old Gold

Winner of three numerals during his freshman year at Iowa State Teachers college last year Marvin Kuhn comes to the Hawkeye frosh football squad with a record of previous accomplishment. The Charles City boy is a backfield candidate on the yearling squad this fall.

Previous to his experience at State Teachers, Kuhn played for four years on the Charles City high school squad and was an all-state man during his last year.

In the spring Kuhn turns his talents to track, in which sport he made his numeral at I. S. T. C. and in which he has a record of four years of high school competition, having captained the Charles City tracksters during his last year in high school.

Last year Kuhn also went in for basketball, although he did not play in high school, and it was in this sport that he added his third numeral. He will probably be a candidate for both the basketball and track squads here.

Kuhn is a sophomore in the college of liberal arts, preparing to enter the college of medicine next year.

Freshmen in Harrier Race for Numerals

With the varsity acting as pacemakers, the freshman cross country squad pounded over the one mile Finkbine course for the coveted numerals last night. The first six yearlings to finish will be recommended for awards.

R. Bott, Keota, finished close behind Emil Trott, Howard Wickey and Norman Rosenberg, varsity runners, to be the first freshman to place.

The next five yearlings to finish were W. F. Hogan, Cedar Rapids; Bob McElroy, Muscatine; W. W. Taylor, Ireton; V. L. Schlaser, Keswick; and T. W. Barnard, Omaha.

The eleven first year men competing pushed the varsity all the way and finished well bunched. Frequent falls have made the course somewhat soggy and slowed up the men. Trott's time was 4 minutes, 58 seconds.

Summary:
Trott (V), first; Wickey (V), second; Rosenberg (V), third; Bott (F), fourth; Kiewin (V), fifth; Mitvalsky (V), sixth; Hogan (F), seventh; McElroy (F), eighth; Taylor (F), ninth; Gunderson (V), tenth; Schlaser (F), eleventh; Barnard (F), twelfth; Knout (F), thirteenth; Staggs (F), fourteenth; Mitchell (V), fifteenth; Petersen (F), sixteenth; Nedel (F), seventeenth; Lappin (F), eighteenth.

City Hi Calls Off Game at Ft. Madison

Will Meet Grinnell in Last Encounter of Season

Just one more football game remains for the City high Hawks before they turn their attention to basketball.

Their annual Thanksgiving day encounter, originally scheduled this year with Ft. Madison there, has been called off, leaving only the Homecoming game with Grinnell at Shrader field Nov. 20.

Their single conference victory over Grant high of Cedar Rapids is the only thing that keeps the locals out of the Mississippi Valley league cellar.

A triumph over Grinnell will give the Hawks a season record of three wins, five losses, and one tie. The Red and White squad rested yesterday after the Armistice day contest in rain and mud at Cedar Rapids in which Washington high triumphed 29 to 0.

A passing attack to supplement their running game will be stressed by Coach George Wells in his preparation for the Homecoming fray.

Gopher Harrier Out

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Henry Mundy, Kansas City, University of Minnesota cross country runner, will be lost for the rest of the season and the Big Ten championship meet, Coach Sherman Finger said today. Mundy suffered a spike wound which prevented him from participating in the Northwestern race Saturday and will keep him out of further competition.

Cyclones Favored in Thirty-First Renewal of Ames-Drake Feud

AMES, Nov. 12 (AP)—The thirty-first meeting of the Iowa State college and Drake football elevens here Saturday will find the Cyclones again installed as favorites after three years in the doldrums.

Successive victories over Missouri, Oklahoma and the Kansas Aggies have raised the Iowa State eleven in the estimation of its foes. Off to only a fair start with hard earned victories over Simpson and Morning-side, the Cyclones lost their next battle to Detroit and it looked for a time that they were due for another season in the Big Six cellar.

But a fighting spirit instilled by Coach George Veenker, together with accuracy in scoring points after touchdowns brought the Cyclones back into the winning column. Now they stand at the top of the conference heap with only Nebraska separating them from the title.

Drake has shown only fair football this season and lost, 32 to 20 to Missouri, a team that Iowa State beat 20 to 0. Comparative ratings however, are virtually useless when the two Hawkeye elevens meet, despite the fact that the Cyclones have scored 21 victories to 8 for Drake. Their other contest was a tie.

"Rip" Slusser, North Carolina halfback, scored three touchdowns each in the games against Wake Forest and N. C. State.

Peary Beard is not the only track man in his family. His brother Jeff is captain of the Auburn track team for 1932.

Radio Laws Limit WSUI

Hindered by Inadequate Power, Declares Bruce Mahan

Radio education in Iowa through stations WSUI of the University of Iowa and WOI of Iowa State college is hampered so by broadcasting restrictions that possible benefits are denied to Iowans, according to Bruce B. Mahan, director of the state university's extension division.

WSUI, he said, is handicapped by inadequate power, so its broadcasts on 500 watts cannot be heard satisfactorily beyond a coverage area of some 75 or 100 miles in radius.

On Canadian-Shared Frequency The station has been granted both day and night hours, but it is not allowed to use more power because it operates on 880 kilocycles, a Canadian-shared frequency.

Although WOI has 5,000 watts power, it has no night broadcasting privileges, since it must share its 640 kilocycles frequency with west coast stations, Mr. Mahan declared.

No Remedy Seen No immediate remedy for the situation exists, he said, although both stations are presenting a definite program of educational material on the adult level.

U.S. Bankers See Foreign Credit Truce

BERLIN, Nov. 12 (AP) — Representatives of American banking groups, learning today that an agreement between Germany and France seems imminent on concurrent handling of reparations and private credits, said any discussion of precedence is theoretical because foreign creditors and German debtors are getting together every day.

They are discussing what shall be done after the credits expire Feb. 29, and, according to one Berlin representative of a large New York bank, "No matter how much the French may insist that reparations shall come first, the world cannot but take cognizance of arrangements made with regard to private needs."

Debts Adjusted These debts, he said, are being adjusted in daily conferences right now. Likewise arrangements are being completed between American creditors and German debtors as to what is to be done after Feb. 29.

"Thus," said the banker, "the world bank committee which can be created under the Young plan to look into these questions will be faced with accomplished facts which they cannot ignore."

Concrete Plan Andre Francois-Poncet, the French ambassador, came back from Paris today, and it was assumed that he had brought a concrete plan, but Chancellor Bruening could not arrange his domestic business to work in an appointment with him. They will meet before long.

If the reports are correct, Germany would request the world bank to call a meeting of its advisory committee as provided by the Young plan and at the same time an international bankers committee would go into the private debts problem. After both these committees had reported it is expected there would be an international conference.

Premier Laval Lays Naval Program Before Chamber

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP) — The chamber of deputies in opening its autumn session today gave Premier Laval a note of confidence and heard proposals to advance $6,000,000 in credits for a supplementary naval construction on the 1933 program.

The premier put as a question of confidence a proposal by the radical wing to begin discussion of railway deficits tonight and the deputies backed him up by voting 311 to 273 against the motion, giving him a margin of 39 votes.

Unemployment Considered Finance Minister Flandin and Minister of the Budget Petri in advocating the additional credits said they could not avoid the appropriation without compromising the renewal of the fleet and causing considerable unemployment by the suspension of work already begun.

The chamber's naval committee will meet next Wednesday to consider proposals to build a 26,000 ton battle cruiser, which would surpass Germany's Deutschland, and complete the remainder of the program. The government proposes to place on the stock between April 1, 1932, and March 31, 1933, four cruisers of the second class, one torpedo boat, one destroyer, one hydrograph boat and one river gunboat, costing 1,031,956,990 francs, (about $41,278,279).

Chamber Adjourns The chamber adjourned until tomorrow to begin debate on the unemployment situation which Premier Laval touched on in his first speech today. He refuted statements by Socialist Leader Blum and said a decree would be promulgated continuing subsidies to those who have been unemployed for more than 180 days. Up to now the jobless have been supported only for six months.

Graduate's Studies Appear in Journal

Appearing in a recent issue of the Journal of Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics is a report of extensive studies on the metabolism of tartrates which contains two studies by the late Prof. Florence J. Peterman, graduate of the college of pharmacy in 1920 and former resident of Iowa City.

The subjects for Professor Peterman's studies were, "A colorimetric method for determination of tartaric acid" and "The behavior of tartrates in the human body."

Man Kills Brother in Stabbing Affray

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 12 (AP)—Isaac Olson, 29 year old laborer, was killed by his brother, Henry Olson, 26, in a stabbing affray here about 4 o'clock this afternoon. Isaac Olson, stabbed in the heart, died in a police ambulance enroute to a hospital.

Olson, who told police he and his brother had been drinking, was being held on an open charge pending formal filing of a murder complaint Friday. He told police he stabbed his brother "in self defense." His brother had been living at his home for the past several months.

Synopsis of Preceding Installments
Ronald Fish, nephew of Lord Emsworth of Blandings Castle, is in love with Sue Brown, a chorus girl. Lady Constance Keeble, sister of Lord Emsworth, wants Ronnie to marry his cousin, Millicent. But Millicent is in love with Hugo Carmody, his Lordship's secretary. Ronnie, wanting money with which to marry Sue, steals and hides his uncle's prize pig, planning later to produce it and be rewarded. His Lordship sends Hugo to London to engage a detective. Ronnie, knowing that Hugo and Sue are friends, grows suspicious and decides to follow him into town. Meanwhile, Hugo goes to F. Forbisher Pilbeam, detective, but Pilbeam refuses to take over the case of the stolen pig. From Pilbeam's office, Hugo phones Sue to ask her to dinner. Pilbeam, who has been vainly trying to make Sue's acquaintance, listens to the conversation with interest.

Eleventh Installment

Leopard's justly famous band, its cheeks puffed out and its eyeballs rolling, was playing a popular melody with lots of stomp in it, and for the first time since she had accepted Hugo's invitation Sue, gliding around the floor, was conscious of a spiritual calm. Her conscience, quieted by the moaning of the saxophones, seemed to have retired from business. It realized, no doubt, the futility of trying to pretend that there was anything wrong in a girl enjoying this delightful exercise.

How absurd, she felt, Ronnie's objections were. It was, considered Sue, becoming analytical, as if she were to make a tremendous fuss because he played tennis and golf with girls. Dancing was just a game like these two pastimes, and it so happened that you had to have a man with you or you couldn't play it. To get all jealous just because one went out dancing was simply ridiculous.

On the other hand, placid though her conscience now was, she had to admit that it was a relief to feel that he would never know of this little outing. Men were such children when they were in love. If they were only sensible, how simple life would be. It amazed her that Ronnie could ever have any possible doubt, however she might spend her leisure hours, that her heart belonged to him alone. She recalled that he should suppose for a moment that even if she danced all night and every night with every other man in the world it would make any difference to her feelings toward him.

All the same, holding the peculiar views he did, he must undoubtedly be humored. "You won't breathe a word to Ronnie about our coming here, will you, Hugo?" she said, repeating an injunction which had been her opening speech on arriving at the restaurant.

"Not a syllable." "I can trust you?" "Implicitly." "Ronnie's funny, you see." "One long scream." "I mean, he wouldn't understand." "No. Great surprise it was to me." said Hugo, doing complicated things with his feet. "To hear that you and the old leper had decided to team up. You could have knocked me down with a feather. Odd he never confided in his boyhood friend."

"Well, it wouldn't do for it to get about." "Are you suggesting that Hugo Carmody is a babbler?" "You do like gossiping. You know you do."

"I know nothing of the sort," said Hugo with dignity. "If I were asked to give my opinion I should say that I was essentially a strong, silent man."

He made a complete circle of the floor in that capacity. His tactfulness surprised Sue. "What's the matter?" she asked. "Dudgeon," said Hugo. "What?"

"I'm sulking. That remark of yours rankles. That totally unfounded accusation that I cannot keep a secret. It may interest you to know that I, too, am secretly engaged and have never so much as mentioned it to a soul."

"Hugo!" "Yes. Betrothed. And so at long last came a day when love would hiss letters about Hugo Carmody."

"Who's the unfortunate girl?" "There is no unfortunate girl. The lucky girl was that your foot?" "Yes."

"Sorry. I haven't got the hang of these new steps yet. The lucky girl, I was saying, is Millicent Threepwood." "As if stung by the momentum of the announcement the band stopped playing; and, changing to be immediately opposite their table, the man who never revealed secrets led his partner to her chair. She was gazing at him ecstatically.

"You don't mean that?" "I do mean that. What did you think I meant?" "I never heard anything so wonderful in my life!" "I'm pleased, too," said Hugo. "I've been trying not to admit it to myself," said Sue, "but I was very scared about Millicent. Ronnie told me the family wanted him to marry her, and you never know what may happen when families throw their weight about. And now it's all right."

"Quite all right." "The music had started again, but Sue remained in her seat. "Not?" said Hugo, astonished. "Not just yet. I want to talk. You don't realize what this means to me. Besides, your dancing's gone off, Hugo. You're not the man you were."

"I need practice." He lighted a cigarette. "It's the way they're always introducing new steps that bothers the man who has been living out in the woods. I have become a rusty rustic."

"You didn't mean you were bad. Only you used to be such a marvel. Dancing with you was like floating in a pink cloud above an ocean of bliss." "A very accurate description, I should imagine," agreed Hugo. "But don't blame me. Blame these Amalgamated Professors of the Dance, or whatever they call themselves—the birds who get together every couple of weeks or so to decide how they can make things more difficult. Amazing thing that they won't leave well alone. "You must have change." "I disagree with you," said Hugo. "No other walk in life is afflicted by a gang of thugs who are perpetually altering the rules of the game. When you learn to play golf the professional doesn't tell you to bring the club up slowly and keep the head steady and roll the forearms and bend the left knee and raise the left heel and keep your eye on the ball and not swag back, and a few more things, and then after you've sweated yourself to the bone learning all that, suddenly add, 'Of course you understand that this is merely intended to see you through till about three weeks from next Thursday. After that the supreme council of consolidated divot shifters will scrap these methods and invent an entirely new set.'"

"Is this more dudgeon?" "No. Not dudgeon." "It sounds like dudgeon. I believe your little feelings are hurt because I said your dancing wasn't as good as it used to be."

"Not at all. We welcome criticism." "Well, get your mind off it and tell me all about you and Millicent and..."

"When I was about five," resumed Hugo, "I attended my first dancing school. At great trouble and expense I was taught to throw up a rubber ball with my right, keeping the small of the back rigid and generally behaving in a graceful and attractive manner. It doesn't sound a likely sort of thing to learn at a dancing school, but I swear to you that that's what the curriculum was. Now, the point I am making—"

"Did you fall in love with Millicent right away, or was it gradual?" "The point I am making is this. I became very good at throwing and catching that rubber ball. People would nudge each other and say, 'Who is he?' behind their hands. I don't suppose, when I was feeling right, I missed the rubber ball more than once in 20 goes. But what good does it do me now? Absolutely none. Long before I got a chance of exhibiting my accomplishment in public and having beautiful women fawn on me for my skill, the society of amalgamated professors of the dance decided that the rubber ball glide, or whatever it was called, was out of date."

"Is she very pretty?" "And what I say is that all this chopping and changing handicaps a chap. I am perfectly prepared at this moment to step out on that floor and have a rubber ball about, but people wouldn't understand what I was driving at. In other words, all the time and money and trouble that I spent on mastering the rubber-ball shlimmy is dead loss."

"I wish you would tell me about Millicent." "In a moment. Ever hear of Father Mariana?" "No."

"Mariana, George. Born twelve hundred and something. Educated privately and at a Jesuit university. Hobbies, fishing, illuminating vellum, and handling the wurzel. You must have heard of old Pop Mariana?" "I haven't and I don't want to. I want to hear about Millicent."

"It was the opinion of Father Mariana that dancing was a deadly sin. He was particularly down, I may mention, on the saraband. He said the saraband did more harm than the plague. I know just how he felt. I'll bet he had worked like a dog at 25 pazzas the complete course of 12 lessons, guaranteed to teach the language; and, just when his instructor had finally told him that he was fit to do it at the next Saturday night social, along came the amalgamated brothers with their new-fangled saraband and where was Pap? Leaning against the wall with the other foot-and-mouth diseasers, trying to pretend dancing bored him. Did I hear you say you wanted a few facts about Millicent?"

"You did." "Sweetest girl on earth." "And she really loves you?" "Between you and me," said Hugo confidentially. "I don't wonder you speak in that amazed tone. If you saw her you'd be still more surprised. I tell you solemnly that that girl is too good for me." "But you're a sweet darling precious pet."

"I know I'm a sweet darling precious pet. Nevertheless, I still maintain that she is too good for me. She is the nearest thing to an angel that ever came glimmering through the laurels in the quiet eventful in the garden by the turrets of the old manorial hall."

"Hugo! I'd no idea you were so poetical." "Enough to make a chap poetical, loving a girl like that."

"And you really do love her?" "Madly. Devotedly. And when I think how I have deceived her, my soul sickens."

"Have you deceived her?" "Not yet. But I'm going to in about five minutes. I put in a phone call to Blandings just now, and when I get through I shall tell her I'm speaking from my hotel room. You see," said Hugo confidentially, "Millicent, though practically perfect in every other respect, is one of those girls who might misunderstand this little night out of mine, did it but come to her ears. Speaking of which, you ought to see them. Like alabaster shells."

"I know what you mean. Ronnie's like that." "Hugo stared. "Ronnie?" "Yes." "You mean to sit there and tell me that Ronnie's ears are like alabaster shells?" "No, I meant that he would be

Two Debate World Peace at Luncheon

Rickard, Van der Zee Talk to Lions, Rotarians

Contending that world peace can be secured only by adequate preparation to insure right over might, Capt. R. V. Rickard of the military department, discussed "Armaments and World Peace" with Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the political science department, who contended that preparation induces warfare, before a joint meeting of the Lions and Rotarians yesterday noon.

Europe, just before the war, illustrates the follies of armament, according to Professor Van der Zee. Prussia bristled with military forces, and was thus secure. Her security made other countries insecure, and so led to a huge armament movement throughout Europe.

Disastrous World War

"At this time," said Professor Van der Zee, "the slogan was, 'if you want peace, prepare for war.' In 1914 those countries got what they prepared for—the most disastrous war the world has known."

Captain Rickard, however, argued that armaments and war have little to do with each other. Peace moves and disarmament measures should be kept separate, he advocated.

"We have had war for 5,000 years," Captain Rickard said, "and peace pacts will not give any assurance that war will end. People will clash over disputes regardless of fighting equipment."

"Had the continental of the revolution had 5,000 experienced men the British might have been repelled within 18 months. In the War of 1812, one company stood between a British army and Washington. The Civil war, had the Union been adequately prepared might have lasted but a year and a half; and a limited army of 500,000 trained men in 1917 might have changed the German attitude."

"Not Defending War"

"I am not defending war," the captain continued. "War is a hellish thing. I am quarreling with no man who wishes peace. But right must conquer might."

Professor Van der Zee, on the other hand, drew attention to the international disarmament conference to be held at Geneva in February. Diplomats from 64 countries including the United States and Russia will gather to discuss, not a complete, but a partial reduction of military forces.

"President Hoover states," Professor Van der Zee said, "that of all the problems before the world, none can compare in necessity and importance with the successful outcome of this conference. The task of cutting armaments transcends every political issue today."

Arms Reduction Important

"The United States government believes reduction of arms the most important step in eliminating depression, overcoming fear, and giving the world a new start economically," Professor Van der Zee continued. "Every citizen must help."

In furthering his cause, Captain Rickard cited the organization of the federal government as requisite of military preparation.

"The function of the department of state is to prevent international strife through diplomatic activities. If these methods fail, others are necessary. The issue must then be turned over to the war department whose function is protection."

"Peace pacts," the captain continued, "function in the nature of courts. No court has ever been held in which force did not lie behind decisions. It is the only means by which they can function."

City Scout Council to Give Course in Boy Leadership

To instruct Iowa City men in the aims and content of the Boy Scout program and the psychology of boy leadership, a training course open to all men over 18, will be conducted by the Iowa City area council beginning Tuesday.

Enrollment in the course incurs no obligation to enter scout work. A registration fee of $1.00 to cover the cost of materials used is the only assessment.

Meetings will be every Tuesday and Thursday from 7:30 until 9:30 and the course will consist of nine indoor and three outdoor sessions. Indoor meetings will be at the field house, and outdoor gatherings at the Rotary cabin.

Fathers of the boys, Sunday school teachers, club leaders, boy's work committees, scout leaders, scout committeemen, and others are especially welcome according to Glen G. Fordyce, scout executive.

"We are trying to awaken the people of Iowa City to the realization of what scouting is," said Mr. Fordyce. "It is a program of boy leadership."

"This training course will offer men of Iowa City an opportunity to receive first hand information on some of the problems of leadership which face us today," he continued. "We appeal to all men to take this course whether they are actually engaged in scout work or not."

Mr. Fordyce quoted Prof. James E. Russell, dean of the teachers' college, Columbia university, who says of the scout program:

"The Boy Scout movement is the most significant educational contribution of our time. . . . As a teacher I take my hat off to Sir Robert Baden Powell, the genius who in a decade has done more to vitalize the methods of character training than the school men of this country have done since the Pilgrims landed on the New England coast."

Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by James L. Records. Others on the committee are: the Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, the Iowa City, lieutenant-colonel, engineer unit; and C. C. Hodge, M3 of Doon, lieutenant-colonel, medical unit attended the luncheon. More than 100 were present.

Late Trading Causes Stock Market Slide

Prices Close Irregular Following Day's Best Rally

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Stocks managed to disregard the weakness of grains during much of today's sessions, but lost heart in the late trading, or just after the day's best rally.

Closing prices were irregular, with the balance, as measured by the averages, favoring the down side by a narrow margin. The market was even quieter than yesterday, however, sales totaling 1,450,482 shares. A last minute break in New York Central, which was off 4 points net, unsettled the list, especially the rails. Central's decline suggested short selling bases on Wall street gossip concerning the future of the road's dividend.

Much Discussion

Discussions of the railroad advisory committee on the rate case recommendations to be placed before the executives association tomorrow, with tonight's meeting with labor representatives, gave rise to much conjecture. Speculation centered, of course, on how far the wage reduction matter was likely to get and whether definite proposals would be made to employees.

The chief obstacle to acceptance of the interstate commerce commission's rate increase proposition has been the pooling feature, for stronger roads have objected to turning over the extra earnings to weaker lines except on a loan basis.

Stocks Open Firm

Stocks opened firm, began to saunter lower around noon and then rallied in the final hour when unofficial word that the copper curtailment might be prolonged was circulated. The late unsettlement resulted in moderate net changes for utility and industrial issues, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can and Case closed from a fraction to about a point off. Allied Chemical, General Motors, American Tobacco, McKeesport, Tin Plate and Continental Can returned gains. Radio was weak in sympathy with Radio-Keith-Orpheum's decline, while Westinghouse and General Electric, both large holders of radio, eased a point.

Soviet Wheat Exports Cut Chicago Price

Responses Favorable in Red Cross Drive

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Confronted by a surprise reappearance of Russia's will-o-the-wisp export shipments of wheat and rye, the world's grain markets plunged downward anew today. Russian outgoing wheat this week, announced as totaling 2,480,000 bushels with Russian rye exports 2,355,000 bushels, demoralized Liverpool prices, and led to heavy stop-loss selling here. Chicago wheat quotations tumbled to more than seven cents under the recent high point, and rye to about 8 cents off.

Wheat closed unstable at the day's bottom figures, 2 1/8 to 2 7/8 cents lower than Tuesday's finish, corn 1 5/8 to 2 down, oats 1 4 to 1 off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

Corn, oats and rye paralleled the action of wheat. Stop loss selling was the order of the day, notwithstanding that wet weather prevailed over part of the corn belt and but little corn was offered to arrive.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to the bearish influence of grains.

Closing Indemnities: Wheat—Dec. 58 3/4 to 58 7/8, 63 1/8; March 66 1/8, offers; May 63 3/4 to 63 7/8, 66 1/8 to 66 1/4; July 64 1/4, 58 5/8. Corn—Dec. 41 1/2, 44 1/4; May 46 1/2, 49 3/8 to 49 1/2; July 48 5/8, bids.

22 Scouts Re-register

Under the leadership of Frank Swisher, Boy Scout troop 14 re-registered at scout headquarters yesterday with 22 boys. Irving Weber and Frank Fisher are named assistant scoutmasters.

Homestake boomed 9 points but fell back 3 from the top.

Further Reports

More optimistic reports concerning the prospects of a Franco-German agreement on the procedure for a new reparations basis and moves toward a solution of the Chinese-Japanese difficulties doubtless had a steady effect on security markets, offsetting the losses in grain. Expectations that the monetary and credit positions would show further easiness were fulfilled by the weekly bank figures. The monetary gold stock was up $35,000,000, while federal reserve bank credit dropped $45,000,000 and brokers loans tumbled $18,000,000.

Responses Favorable in Red Cross Drive

"Responses to 1200 letters sent out in the annual Red Cross drive for membership have compared favorably with those of other years," Mrs. Martin Pederson, executive secretary of the local chapter said yesterday. "The second day of the drive has brought more memberships than did the same length of time last year." Beginning Armistice day, letters were sent to residents of Iowa City and Johnson county. The drive will continue until Thanksgiving day.

Library circulation in Youngstown, O., jumped 40 per cent this year.

North Carolina's population of song and insectivorous birds is estimated at more than 100,000,000.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD. Good... they've got to be good.
