Roosevelt to Visit Today With Smith

Men Seek to Minimize Importance of Discussion

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith will go to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's town house here Wednesday for luncheon with the man he helped elect as his successor, but what they will discuss only the governor knows.

The Democratic standard bearer of 1928 announced today the suggestion had been made to Roosevelt and he (Smith) had no idea what they were going to talk about.

Denies Political Talk
The governor said in Albany the subject would be not politics or the executive budget, but he did not say what it would be.

"Mr. Roosevelt has invited me to have luncheon with him at his New York house Wednesday," Smith said. "No one has told me of any particular subject to be discussed."

The governor sought to minimize the importance that had been attached to the meeting in some quarters and denied it would be a highly significant political session.

No Secret Conference
"Never in the 20 years of my friendship with Alfred E. Smith," he said, "have I ever held a secret conference with him. I see him often when I am in New York and he frequently runs in to see me. This will be just one of those times."

The luncheon will be their first meeting since the Nov. 3 election. Last month Smith did some campaigning against the state reforestation amendment approved by the governor. After the election Roosevelt laughed away a suggestion that the voters' approval of the amendment was a personal victory for him over Smith.

Karns Pleads Guilty; Evans Lifts Sentence

Elmer Karns, 26, was fined $500 and sentenced to two years in the state reformatory at Anamosa yesterday afternoon in district court by Judge Harold D. Evans when he pleaded guilty to a charge of attempt to commit arson. Sentence and fine were suspended by the judge on good behavior of Karns who was paroled to Dr. T. L. Hazard.

Karns entered his plea to the true information filed by County Attorney F. B. Olsen. He was accused of setting fire last summer to a building belonging to the City Fuel company, 417 E. Burlington street. As a result of being burned in the fire, Karns was confined to a local hospital for several months following the blaze. The burns were inflicted when gasoline he was using to set the building afire saturated his clothes and ignited.

Thief Elopes With Grecian Goddess, Escape Unnoticed

Lost, strayed, or stolen, one Grecian goddess. When last seen she was standing on a tall ebony pedestal playing a lyre.

The goddess is of silver. She is the central figure of a trophy that is awarded the winner of the class "A" high school orchestra contest held here annually in connection with the Iowa high music festival under the auspices of extension division and the music department in the University of Iowa.

The trophy is awarded permanently to the school that wins it three times. It was won in 1929 and 1930 by Abraham Lincoln high school of Council Bluffs. Last spring it was brought to the music festival here and delivered to headquarters of the festival at Iowa Union.

North high school of Des Moines won the class "A" contest last spring. When officials went to a storage room where trophies were kept, this particular trophy was gone.

Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, offers a reward for its recovery.

Japan to Hold Front Position in Manchuria

General Fears Chaos Would Result From Evacuation

(Copyright 1931, By The Associated Press)
MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 16 (AP)—Asserting that chaos would follow immediate evacuation of Manchuria by the Japanese, General Honjo, Japan's supreme Manchurian commander, said today that if fighting broke out again his troop line might be established as far north as Tsitsihar, stronghold of the Chinese forces.

In the event of a major engagement with General Mah Chan-Shan on the Nonni, the Japanese general said, the momentum of the movement may carry his men as far as the fortress city.

Result Depends on Chinese
What happens on the Nonni, General Honjo told the Associated Press correspondent, depends entirely on the army of General Mah, "now confronting the Japanese in a menacing manner."

"In Europe," he continued, "they seem to think that conditions in Manchuria are similar to the conditions in Europe and that if the Japanese army withdrew some Chinese authority would immediately replace it."

"That is entirely untrue. Evacuation today is not only impracticable, it is impossible."

The Chinese themselves, the general said, must reorganize the Manchurian government to insure against disorders and "this may take months, even years, but we are doing our best to get the process started."

No Disrespect Meant
Although the League of Nations called on Japan to complete evacuation by today, and that call was not obeyed, Japan meant no disrespect to the League, General Honjo said.

"We are not obstructing the League's objectives, or attempting to lower its prestige," he asserted, "but we must do what necessity dictates to protect Japanese lives, rights and interests in this part of the world."

The Chinese are extending their lines, building strong fortifications and massing in considerable numbers. Besides that, their raiders frequently cut the Japanese communication with the rear.

Olsen Files Informations Against Two

Two informations were filed yesterday morning in district court by County Attorney F. B. Olsen, both charging maintenance of liquor nuisances. The informations were filed against Ben Raley of Corvillville and Thomas Applebee of Iowa City.

Raley, when arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Harold D. Evans, entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney C. B. Russell. He was released and bond was set at $1,000 by the judge. Attorney Olsen also filed a charge of contempt of court against Raley. Bond on this charge was set at $1,000 pending the hearing which will be held some time during the November term.

Applebee was charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance. He had not been apprehended last night.

Both men were arrested two weeks ago by two state men, two federal men, and Sheriff Don McComas in a raid in which large quantities of alcohol were seized. They were released on $1,000 bond.

Grandi Arrives at Washington With Assurance of Country's Cooperation in World Affairs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Italy's foreign minister, Dino Grandi, brought to President Hoover tonight the greetings of his country and an assurance of its cooperation in advancing the welfare of the world.

Exemplifying the new diplomacy of quiet, friendly chats between the nations' leading statesmen, Mussolini's 36 year old envoy came to see what Italy and America, working together, can do to promote peace and better economic conditions.

Formally Presented
Within a few minutes of his arrival, the visitor and his wife were formally presented to the president and Mrs. Hoover at the White House. They were accompanied by Ambassador Garretti, who represents Italy in America in Rome, and Mrs. Garretti.

A crowd that began gathering early this afternoon thronged the Union station. Signor Grandi was cheered repeatedly as he and his party went from the train to waiting automobiles.

The full pageantry of a Washington official welcome greeted the Italian couple upon their arrival shortly after dusk. Columns of marines presented arms and three military a71 naval bands played the Italian national anthem while the party stopped. Then frockcoated representatives of the administration camp forward.

Secretary and Mrs. Stimson, whose house guests the Grandis will be, were there, as was Lawrence Richey, secretary to the president and state department officials and presidential military and naval aides.

600 Persons Hear Oxford-Iowa Debate

Vote Upholds Visitors' Stand on Indian Question

More than 600 persons heard Oxford university debate an Iowa team last night on the subject "Resolved that immediate independence should be granted to India."

The affirmative side was taken for Iowa by Carlton Starr, A3 of Fairfield, and Vergil Tracy, A2 of Council Bluffs. Oxford university was represented by Archibald Boyd-Carpenter and John Foot.

As a result of this unjust treatment conducted upon the merits of the question, and not upon the debate itself, 180 votes were cast for the negative and 194 for the affirmative.

Start Opens Debate
Carlton Starr, opening the debate for Iowa, pointed out that India has the inherent right and natural desire to be free; that the people of India are poor today because England is exploiting them to the farthest possible extent. England keeps a close grip on India today only because she believes that it will be an outlet for her trade and will bring her countless revenue, Starr declared.

"As a result of this unjust treatment, the people of India are suffering, and it is only natural that they should seek a way out of this oppression in the personage of Mahatma Gandhi. The large expenditures necessary in India at the present time for the maintenance of military forces is also sapping the wealth of the country. Concluding, Starr pointed out that the people of India have the same right to freedom and independence that other individuals have and demand.

Boyd-Carpenter Opens Negative
Opening the debate for Oxford on the negative side of the question John Archibald Boyd-Carpenter declared that it was a mistake to compare the former American colonies with the Indian question today. Certain conditions exist in India that make it difficult for a democratic form of government to exist, Boyd-Carpenter maintained.

A great majority of the people in India are ignorant and illiterate; they are scattered throughout the country in more than 700 different villages; there are a great many different languages or dialects spoken, which creates a serious problem; and finally there exists in India a caste system, which is almost impossible to overcome, due to the many prejudices and races involved.

"A majority of the people would not be interested in independence, even if they knew its full meaning," he continued. They are not interested in changing their form of government, but are content to allow it to remain the way it is.

Tacy Shows India's Progress
Continuing the debate for the affirmative, Vergil Tracy showed how England's attempts at betterment of conditions in India thus far have been backward. The people have not been able to overcome England's exploitation—the only ones who have thus far benefited have been the English people themselves.

Tacy pointed out that a caste system exists to some extent in the United States, in the form of the various race problems, yet it is possible to overcome these and have a well organized and efficiently working democracy.

Difficulty in Uniting People
Closing the constructive speeches for Oxford, John Foot showed the difficulty of uniting the people into a well working democracy, such as we know today. He pointed out there would be discrimination in the Indian constitution and government, due to the different castes and systems working against each other.

England does allow India a certain amount of freedom, in that a good percentage of the members of the Indian council are natives and not Englishmen. He denied that open outbreaks between the natives and the English soldiers were common, showing that the reports of Indian disturbances and conflicts are but propaganda, spread about for the purpose of furthering Indian independence.

He concluded by showing how, if immediate independence were granted to India, a military despotism would spring up. The plight of China today was given as an example of an eastern nation that has tried to make self-government work without the proper conditions and background.

Audience Casts Ballot
Each team was then allowed five minutes for rebuttal, after which the audience was asked to cast their ballot upon the merits of the question. This was the second international debate for Iowa this season, the first being with the Turkish debaters from Robert college, Constantinople. Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the political science department acted as chairman for the debate.

Elks Extend $6,000 From Student Fund

File Claims Totaling $18,000 Against 2 Local Banks

One hundred and thirty five students have filed claims totaling $18,000 against the two defunct Iowa City banks, according to an announcement made last night by Henry Louis, chairman of the committee in charge of the Elks student loan fund. Out of this sum, more than $6,000 has already been extended from the Elks' fund, and payments will continue up to 50 per cent of the total accounts.

On accounts exceeding $300, the whole 50 per cent has not yet been paid, although the needy students have been able to receive checks sufficient for covering their present needs. First attention is being given to checking accounts, with payments being made later on savings accounts. So far, all payments have been made by the lodge, independent of outside help.

Mostly Men Students
The majority of the students filing claims have been those who are working their way through school and whose accounts represented savings on which they depended for their year's education. About three-fourths of the claims were made by men students, with women filing the other quarter.

Although the committee announced that no new claims would be accepted after Saturday, Mr. Louis said last night that students who have not yet applied and who wish to do so, may explain their needs by calling on him at the Louis drug store, 124 E. College street, and he will then decide if their needs are worthy of attention by the committee.

Committee Meets Regularly
The student loan plan was voted and approved by the Elks lodge soon after the failure of the Johnson County and Citizens Savings banks, Oct. 3. Since then, the committee has been meeting regularly to discuss claims and authorize payments.

The committee in charge of administering the loans is: Henry Louis, chairman; James J. Hanlon, secretary; W. P. Russell, Dr. J. Ward, and William H. Hart.

Second Year Laws Argue Final Cases

Completing the series of four law club arguments which are being presented by second year students in the college of law, Gilbert P. Sargood of Iowa City and Maurice Bordevick of Vinton will argue to night against Milo F. Mityvalsky of Cedar Rapids and Edmund D. Morrison of Washington.

Judge R. G. Popham of Marengo, on the bench of the eighth judicial district of Iowa, will preside over the court. The arguments, which will be presented in the first year class room of the law building, will begin at 7:30.

The case to be argued involves problems of reputation testimony, res gestae, scope of cross examination, and the right of a county attorney to comment upon the defendant's failure to take the witness stand.

Winners of last Thursday's arguments were Melvin L. Baker, L2 of What Cheer, and Fred A. Dewey, L2 of Iowa City.

Agree to Halt All Increases for One Year

16 Powers Participate; Others Willing to Take Part

GENEVA, Nov. 16 (AP)—A one year truce in armament construction, dating from Nov. 1, went into international effect today on the authority of Chairman Aristide Briand of the league council.

An announcement made by the League secretary in Briand's signature said some 50 governments had declared their willingness to accept, and consequently the truce had become an established fact.

A number of governments made their acceptance conditional on reciprocity. It was pointed out, and such reciprocity had been achieved. Many replies were said to have contained interpretations and observations but all appeared to be in keeping with the spirit of the League's resolution.

Powers participating are the United States, France, Italy, Germany, Japan, Great Britain, Russia, Argentina, Uruguay, Peru, Finland, Bolivia, Belgium, Denmark, Chile, and Poland.

The League assembly adopted a resolution at its final meeting Sept. 29 calling on the governments invited to the 1932 disarmament conference to "give proof of their desire to a successful issue of efforts to insure and organize peace and to refrain from any measure involving an increase in armaments."

"Gentlemen's agreement" was advocated by Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy in the form of a "gentleman's agreement" to suspend virtually all arms building on land and sea and in the air for one year as a gesture of faith in the forthcoming conference.

The truce originally was advocated by Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy in the form of a "gentleman's agreement" to suspend virtually all arms building on land and sea and in the air for one year as a gesture of faith in the forthcoming conference.

Although the committee announced that no new claims would be accepted after Saturday, Mr. Louis said last night that students who have not yet applied and who wish to do so, may explain their needs by calling on him at the Louis drug store, 124 E. College street, and he will then decide if their needs are worthy of attention by the committee.

Thirty members of University club heard Prof. W. Leigh Sowers of the English department speak on "London's recent theatrical season" at a luncheon of the club at Iowa Union yesterday afternoon.

Professor Sowers discussed the plays he saw in London while there in August, and compared them with the drama now presented in New York. He said that because of the depression the theatrical circles also suffer, causing the individual player to be the thing rather than the play.

Unemployment among actors makes competition keen and results in better drama. Guests were seated at six tables which were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. Marjorie Camp, group chairman, of the month, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. H. L. Beyer planned the luncheon with the assistance of Mrs. E. P. Tyndall, Bodd Otto, Jess Holtz, Helen Hayes, and Margaret Wallen.

Kurtz, head of the department of electrical engineering, is now in Washington preparing the final drafts of the university's case. If the license is granted, the University of Iowa will be the first educational institution in the country to have a television set for experimental purposes. Engineers have estimated that installation of the equipment would take approximately three months to complete.

Parents Face Cruelty Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—A father and a step-mother were indicted today on charges that they "tortured and cruelly beat" 12 year old Edith Riley.

At liberty on bail since their arrest two weeks ago after Edith was found imprisoned in a windowless closet, Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Riley have denied the charges.

They told police the little girl was mentally abnormal and it was necessary to confine her at times. Both said they had refused to send her to an institution so they might care for her.

In contrast, the girl's brother, Francis, 15, said Edith had been a prisoner in the closet for most of four years. He said she often had been beaten during that time and charged his father and step-mother with other cruelties.

Conviction on the charges carries a prison sentence of two to five years, a $250 fine, or both penalties. They probably will be arraigned Friday.

Farm Union to Hold Meet

DES MOINES, Nov. 16 (AP)—Harmony at sessions of the national convention of the Farmers Union here this week was predicted tonight by John A. Simpson of Oklahoma City, president of the national group.

While an undercurrent of sentiment among the delegates from the northwestern states exists in opposition to the president and the anti-farm board stand of the national union, Simpson indicated no reflection of the differences of opinion was expected in convention sessions.

Delegates from Illinois and Wisconsin are among those favoring support of the agricultural marketing act, but tonight no leadership was expected in convention sessions.

Simpson was elected to the presidency last year at St. Paul. He opposed the farm board and defeated C. E. Huff of Salina, Kan., manager of the Farmers National Grain corporation, sponsored by the farm board. Huff sought re-election on a platform pledging support to the farm board.

Convention activities opened informally tonight with a banquet at which Governor William H. (Alfalfa) Bill Murray of Oklahoma, Congressman Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania, and Gov. Dan Turner of Iowa were speakers.

Wheat Prices Rise; Expect France to Buy

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—Speculative buyers of wheat jumped into the saddle anew today, and prices raced upward almost 3 cents a bushel.

Southern hemisphere crop reports indicated severe damage, north American export demand showed unusual snap, and there were forecasts that France would need 50,000,000 bushels of North American quality wheat between December and July next.

Wheat closed brawny, near the day's top level, 23 1/2 cents higher than Saturday's finish, corn 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 up, oats 1-1 up, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents off.

Broadening of North American wheat export business to 1,500,000 bushels following receipt of estimates that Argentine wheat had been injured 10 to 15 per cent in two provinces.

Directing attention to warlike developments in Manchuria was the announcement of large wheat purchases for China. Australia was mentioned as furnishing China 10 bushels today. Significance was also attached to assertions that the 1931 Japanese rice crop was 62,000,000 bushels short of last year's total.

Corn developed independent strength at times, the trade paying more attention than heretofore to the soundness of the crop movement. Oats reflected the upward trend of corn and wheat.

Despite grain price upturns, provisions sagged with hog values. Closing indemics—wheat—Dec. 57-61; 1-2; March 60 1/2, 64-1-2; May 62 1-4 to 1/2, 65 1/2-66; July 62 1/2, 66-1-4. Corn—Dec. 42 1/2-44; May 47 1/4 to 1/2, 49 1/4 to 1/2; July 48 1/2, 51.

World Brotherhood Advocated by New York Pastor at Unitarian Church Service

World brotherhood was recommended as a solution for the international problems of today by the Rev. Evans A. Wortley of Schenectady, N. Y., in a sermon Sunday morning at the Unitarian church. "I ask that we look at certain events of our contemporary civilization, not as visitors from Mars, but as men and women who are not unmoved by the tug and tie of our earthly brotherhood. For tensions that are not anticipated in that mood are liable to pass beyond the reach of remedial measures that are devised too late, and from necessity," he said.

The political supremacy of the white race, the Rev. Mr. Wortley said, presents one of the greatest problems of modern life. "We have acquired political control over nearly nine-tenths of the habitable globe, leaving but 6 million square miles out of 53,990,000 square miles of habitable land for the colored peoples. The general attitude of members of the white race towards the most serious tension that has ever existed among men and women on so large a scale."

Praises Gandhi
It is this tension which, the Rev. Mr. Wortley said, makes the outcome of the present round table conference in London of such immediate interest. "Mahatma Gandhi," he said, "is the one man who has stood steadily, and at times almost alone, against the violence of a rising tide of bitterness between the east and the west. Gandhi will, if necessary, in support of his faith, give up his life."

Pointing out that the way of love failed when tried by Jesus 2,000 years ago, the minister asked: "Will Gandhi succeed? His frail body is the nexus of the most terrific tension the modern world has known."

Race, Color Tension
In the United States, the minister said, the tension springing from race and color confronts us with ever increasing strain in regard to the Philippines and in our treatment of the Negro. "The Moslem world actually practices racial brotherhood; the goddess communist regime demands and secures equal comradeship regardless of race. It is only in the United States, where the cardinal doctrine of our religion is the brotherhood of man, that we find a people who have been unwilling to give the Negro federal protection against lynching.

"What is the solution? I think the late Prof. George Elliott Howard of Nebraska had the right idea when he said: 'The Negro problem will indeed be solved by education, but by the education of the whites.'"

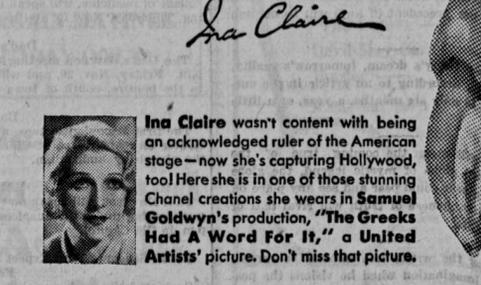

"We must seek to become acquainted with members of other races in actual face to face relationships. It involves something of the human curiosity which led Jesus to discover the values of life that are frequently hidden in the highways of experience. . . . More face to face experience with men and women, white and red and brown and black, human beings who must be brothers in spite of the tensions of life is what is needed."

"If our high objective is a world brotherhood in reality and not merely in word we must be open minded to modified ways of life which give some promise of diminishing the economic tension of the times. Our civilization, made up of men and women who do not know defeat, is founded upon brotherhood. The peril of the present is a genuine peril. If we study the accompanying tensions, with the tension of brotherhood within us, we may be reasonably sure that whatever comes we shall be ready to meet the day's demand without despair. . . . Defeat cannot flourish if we keep close to our fellows."

The Dad's Day Bonfire

TOMORROW night the cornerstone of the annual Dad's day pep bonfire will be laid. Funeral pyre for freshman caps, flaming symbol of the milestone between the end of a football season and the beginning of winter sports, smoke wreathed altar of hope and despair, that burning tower of boxes is probably the most significant gesture of Iowa spirit made in any one year.

This year the corn monument was burned with ceremony and with little enthusiasm, an important event as the inaugural of a new custom, but discouraging as a forerunner of the support with which this week's mass meeting may be received.

But, somehow, it is hard to believe that Iowa students will permit a discouraging football season to mar the intensity of group spirit that is needed to make Friday's ceremony a glorious success, a supreme demonstration that Iowa spirit burns more brightly than ever before.

The danger is that many will unite in spirit to make the pep meeting a success, but few will realize their more material responsibility.

The project must be the joint product of the efforts of many — in this case there must be many boxes to make a box pile fire worthy of the tradition behind it. Every Iowa student will not contribute to the fire. But that every Iowa student, who is heart and soul a real university unit, will bring one token of his respect for Iowa's highest group concepts, is not beyond the realm of possibility.

Iowa students will be gathering around a tower of flame Friday to repledge their shaken faith in their university. The validity of that pledge will depend in no small measure upon the way in which Iowa men and women cooperate with the work of their own hands in constructing an adequate emblem of their common loyalty.

The South in the Saddle

AFTER DECADES of political repression in national affairs, the south is sweeping back to the forefront. Prior to the Civil war the cotton states dominated the nation's political course to an extent all out of proportion to their population and importance.

The north's victory in the Civil war deprived the south of all political privileges for 14 years, until in 1879 President Rutherford B. Hayes ordered the withdrawal of federal troops from the rebel states.

Not until the presidential election of 1928 did the south begin to show signs of regaining its lost influence on national politics. It had had a brief period of influence under President Woodrow Wilson. The national tariff act under Wilson was framed by Sen. Oscar Underwood of Alabama.

Candidate Hoover made definite appeals for the southern vote in his campaign against Alfred Smith. Hoover has made good his campaign promises to treat the south kindly in behalf of the Republicans by appointing southerners to several important offices.

The triumph of the Democrats in the recent congressional elections, which gave them a slight majority in the house of representatives, virtually places the south in control of the lower branch of congress.

Mark Sullivan, in a copyrighted article in Sunday's New York Herald Tribune, portrays the sweep of the southern gain. The chairmanship of 14 important house committees will be lost by the north to the south. For 12 years the south has not had a single chairmanship in the house, and no committee control whatsoever.

The committee chairmanship transfers listed by Mr. Sullivan are as follows: Agriculture—From Iowa to Texas. Appropriation—From Pennsylvania to Alabama. Foreign affairs—From Pennsylvania to Alabama. Interstate commerce—From New York to Tennessee. Judiciary—From Missouri to Texas. Merchant marine—From Maine to Tennessee. Military affairs—From Michigan to Mississippi. Rivers and harbors—From New York to Texas. Roads—From Iowa to Alabama. Rules—From New York to North Carolina. Ways and means—From Oregon to Mississippi. Veterans legislation—From South Dakota to Mississippi.

Thus it can be seen, as Mr. Sullivan points out, that the south, principally Texas, will have the lead hand in the affairs of the next house.

Rainbow's End

WHAT LIES at the end of the rainbow? Money? Fame? Power? Security? Position? And what of the people who have attained these desirable things? Are they happy?

A cartoon in a current magazine, recently, showed a pastoral scene with a rainbow in the background. At one end of the rainbow a boy sat fishing on a river bank. He was day dreaming of the time when he would be a man, powerful, wealthy with all the material things of this world which anyone could desire. The boy was happy in his dreams.

At the other end of the rainbow stood an elderly man, faultlessly dressed and obviously having reached that station in life of which the boy was dreaming. In his heart he knew he had nothing. He had lost an exhilaration in life, the joy of the struggle. Wealth and power had brought him only cares and responsibilities and a feeling of futility. He was thinking wistfully of his boyhood days—when he was carefree and had the leisure to go fishing and enjoy life.

There is happiness only in life when working towards a goal. For the pursuit is everything — possession nothing and the joy of the rainbow lies in following it but never quite reaching the end.

A Woman Senator

MRS. HATTIE Caraway, wife of the late Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway of Arkansas, should feel as proud as any woman has felt since Eve, with the singular honor that has come to her of a seat in the United States senate. And she is doubtless proudest of all because her state has recognized her as a capable and efficient woman who is thoroughly deserving of the recognition bestowed upon her.

She will be the second woman in history to receive membership in the senate, the first being Mrs. Rebecca Felton of Georgia whose appointment was solely complimentary and who retired shortly after it in favor of Senator Walter George.

Being the wife and close companion of a man who was a congressman for eight years and a senator for 10 years, Mrs. Caraway is well educated along the lines of national politics. She has spent many years as an adviser and active worker with her husband and is well prepared to assume her responsibility.

To Mrs. Caraway, congratulations and good luck!

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

There may be a clue as to who was boss in the household of the late Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway in the appointment of his wife to fill the vacancy left by his death. Mrs. Hattie Caraway was appointed Friday by Governor Parnell of Arkansas.

More important, from the appointment may come the first election of a woman to the United States senate. Governor Parnell promised his aid in setting the ball rolling for Mrs. Caraway's 1932 campaign to succeed herself.

Though the principle of electing a woman to the United States senate merits approval, we were glad that Ruth Hanna McCormick did not make the grade in Illinois last year against J. Ham Lewis. The other congressional Ruth (Bryan Owen) had seemed the only possibility until Mrs. Caraway have into view.

Here's hoping that if Mrs. Caraway is to be elected to represent Arkansas as the first of her sex to be sent by voters of her state to the nation's state, she proves by her service in filling out the vacancy, ability to give those voters "for value received."

Admittedly Mrs. Caraway wouldn't have to be very good to rate well above the masculine senatorial average, but as long as she may become symbolic through inaugurating the election of women to the upper house it's not beside the point to hope that her precedent (if any) will be of high caliber.

Television — today's dream, tomorrow's reality. And tomorrow, according to an article in the current Liberty, is only six months, a year, or a little more hence.

Television will mean the coming true of the oriental crystal globe of mystic legend, the globe into which the seer could peer and see any place on earth. The strangeness of truth will rival that of fiction once more.

But perhaps the writer lets himself be carried away by his imagination when he visions the possibility of a television set owner's tuning in on all the important and colorful events of the time.

Talkie newsreels have shown some of the possibilities, but they have not demonstrated the probability of a cameraman's having been around to catch the last stand of Russia's Baron Wrangel against the soviet revolutionists. There must be sending as well as receiving apparatus even for television, you know.

We suspect there will be television equivalents of the zoo and dancing girl filler items to which newsreels resort, supplying with features their deficiencies in news coverage. But there are enough diplomatic conferences and native uprisings and important speeches caught by cameramen to justify most of the claims for television's possibilities.

And even if some of the foreign screenings show little more significant than native dances or fiestas, with a little more bona fide exotic scenery in the background, they are not wasted. Anything that brings a distant part of the world within a man's horizon can help to educate him toward being this "citizen of the world" idealists are always talking about.

While as for having the sending apparatus on the job when the modern equivalents of Magna Carta and the Landing of Columbus and the Gettysburg Address are being enacted, that is a challenge to a profession whose job of knowing what's going on and being Johnny-on-the-spot is the peak of news gathering.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—With the Pathe and R. K. O. studios in a state of jitters over the impending shake-up, David O. Selznick made what may be considered a prophetic statement when he said the two companies are very weak in directors and writers. Mr. Selznick previously had sent Richard Dix's picture back to be rewritten and cancelled a Lily Damita film entirely. The young executive (he is only 30) has no plans for any particular type of story at R. K. O. "No one can set any rules for stories," he says. "As an example, when 'The Divorcee' was produced, the wise ones said the public was going sophisticated. Along came 'Merely Mary Ann' and 'Daddy Long Legs,' and these same ones reversed themselves to declare the public was tired of sophistication and wanted the homey, simple type of story. "No one seems to take into account that both Norma Shearer and Janet Gaynor are box-office, regardless of what they happen to be in." "I am going to pick stories that I think will appeal to audiences, independent of their type. Irving Thalberg follows this formula with great success. "Strangers May Kiss," "Trader Horn" and hokum such as "Hell Divers," which is a great picture, certainly follow no set trend." Selznick promises to build up the star roster, particularly in the development of new personalities. He considers Laurence Olivier and Joel McCrea good bets. Generally, he declares, it takes from four to six pictures to build up a corner into a feature name. Asked about musicals, he said he favors the operetta type, such as "The Student Prince" and "The Merry Widow." All Hollywood has its eye on this young producer, who holds the fate of many destinies in his hands. When he and his wife, the former Irene Mayer, appeared at the Academy dinner, they were surrounded by well wishers. MARIÉ'S REPLY: One of the brighter moments at the Film Award banquet was when Richard Dix rose to accept the gold statuette for the best performance of any actress during the year. "I never felt so important," she said. And then, smiling toward vice president Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, she added: "I think Dolly Gann should give me her seat." LATEST GOSSIP: At this same dinner, Ivan Lebedeff lost a ruby from a ring that had been in his family for several generations. . . . Evelyn Brent and Harry Edwards celebrated their third wedding anniversary. They were married in Agua Caliente. . . . Joan Crawford and Doug Fairbanks, Jr. will take their vacation in Canada instead of New York. . . . Constance Lewis, Lois Wilson's youngest sister, is "Connie Bennett's" "stand-in" out at R. K. O.-Pathe. Stanley Cortez, brother of Ricardo, is an assistant cameraman on the same set. . . . Buddy Rogers will appear in the Ziegfeld Follies after he finishes at Paramount. . . . Charles Farrell is learning to fly. . . . Claudette Colbert has returned from a week's recuperation at Palm Springs. . . . Sena Owen is back in town and looking grand. . . . While Samuel Goldwyn is in Europe, his chief assistant, Arthur Hornblow, will be in New York looking for plays, and his casting director, Robert McIntyre, will tour the country looking for talent. LEW AYRES CAST: After much debating, it has been decided to give Lew Ayres the masculine lead in "The Impatient Maiden," formerly "Impatient Yrigin," by Donald Henderson Clarke. The heroine is yet to be decided. James Whale, director of "Waterloo Bridge," will bring the story to the screen. IN THE NEWS: Columbia's newspaper story, "Final Edition," will have Mae Clark as a sob sister. She was borrowed from Universal to play opposite Pat O'Brien, who takes a step up to become a city editor in this one. The story is about the murder of a newly appointed police commissioner, with the sob sister unraveling the crime. Pretty Mary Moran is another in the case. Dudley Nichols, an ex-World employe, wrote "Final Edition," and it will be produced by Ralph Block, also a former newspaperman. Maybe the much maligned press will get a fair break at last. THEY COULDN'T SIGN HIM: Out at M. G. M. they had a risky piece of business for Wally Berry to do. Finally it was decided to use a double instead. Casting officers were called, individuals were asked but no one could be found who looked enough like Berry to be used in the scene. The following morning the associate producer on the picture had cause to make a visit to the county jail (reason not known). While there he spied a prisoner who was a great duplicate for Wally. "What's he in for?" he cried excitedly. "He's been impersonating Wally Berry," replied the jailor.

Stuart Chase Here Friday

"Men and Machines" Subject of Author's Lecture

"In the confusion, with cries of 'Mechanization!' all about us, we look for a touch of sanity and a clearing of the road. Comes Stuart Chase with 'Men and Machines.' Here in a simple, clearly conceived and soundly developed book there is a fresh wind which will, I predict, sweep many of the high priests of boom for the exalted machine as well as the oracles of mechanized woe into considerable disrepute."

Such is the comment of the New York Evening Post on "Men and Machines," the work of Stuart Chase, economist, writer, and speaker, who will be heard in the natural science auditorium, at 8 p.m. Friday on the same subject as the title of his book.

Mr. Chase comes to the University of Iowa under the auspices of the senate board on university lectures, as the fourth speaker to be presented in the 1931-32 series of addresses. Larry Gould, second in command of the Byrd antarctic expedition, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, and Baroness Helene Nostitz von Hindenburg were the speakers who previously appeared on the program.

As one of the consulting economists of the American Trade union delegation, Mr. Chase made a study of the theory and practical working of the Russian economic experiment. In the field of advertising, he has studied modern methods of salesmanship from the standpoint of the consumer.

He is the author of "The Tragedy of Waste," and collaborated in the writing of "Your Money's Worth," as well as writing his text of opinion on the machine age.

Group Hears Discussion of World Affairs

"Internal and external friction makes it almost impossible for various European countries to effect their own salvation quickly. Thus, Europe looks to United States for help, but because of United States' isolation she can not understand the burden placed upon her." Prof. Harold B. Eversole of the college of commerce told the Political Science club last night.

Professor Eversole spoke on "European attitudes affecting American economic welfare." He spent last summer in Europe studying the problem.

"The desire of United States to force reduction in armaments meets two attitudes: the official one of agreement, and the one of the street of uninvited war. France, the strongest nation of Europe, does not feel safe. Britain feels that the British Empire must be protected and preserved. Germany has cut down her armaments to the minimum but is still training her youth in military."

Professor Eversole said that the attitude of Germany toward the reparations was a feeling that the present plan of payment is unreasonable in concept, impossible in payment and a tribute rather than a debt. France expects her debt reduced by Germany's 15. France and England hold that United States was an ally in the war of 1914 and therefore it is unreasonable for her to profit so heavily at the expense of the Allies.

The club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Andrews, 2 Melrose circle. Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Kirk H. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Davies, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Daykin.

Iowa Women Win Places at Chicago Meet

Lorraine Frost, of the staff of the physical education department, and Edna Miller, '31, who was a physical education major at the university, were placed on the second mid-west hockey team at the tournament held in Chicago Nov. 13, 14, and 15.

At the same time Jane Shurmer, also of the physical education department, was one of 15 candidates to receive an umpire rating. Her rank of "National A" was renewed.

Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the physical education department attended the tournament and was chairman of the mid-west committee on hockey umpiring.

Other staff members who attended the convention were Janet Cumming and Alice Sherbon. Miss Frost, Miss Shurmer, Thelma Kenefick, A4 of Eagle Grove, and Bernice Cooper, A3 of Aurora, Ill., played on Et Cetera teams while there.

Any allied members of the United States Field Hockey association may send persons to play on Et Cetera teams. They are watched just as players of the association teams are watched.

The first and second mid-west teams were chosen from the various ones entered in the tournament, and they will play the Scotch team during the national hockey tournament in Chicago Thanksgiving week end.

It Runs In The Family

MILWAUKEE, Wis., (AP)—The Rozani family of Iron Mountain, Mich., which has been represented on Marquette university football teams since 1928, seems likely to continue its record until 1933. Dave was an end in '28, '29 and '30; Gene began fullbacking in '30, and Floyd, a sophomore, won a guard's berth this fall.

Iowa Law Review Features Articles by Men on Faculty

Featuring four articles, two by members of the university faculty and two by men from other states, the first issue of the Iowa Law Review to be edited by this year's staff will be released tomorrow.

Prof. Mason Ladd of the faculty of the college of law is the author of an article dealing with significant changes enacted at the last session of the state legislature which are of importance to those practicing law in Iowa.

Proposal Affects Lawyers

A proposal affecting the organization of lawyers in Iowa a plan which is now under consideration by the Iowa State Bar association, is discussed in the second article by Prof. Paul L. Sayre of the Iowa law faculty, under the title, "Proposed Integration of the Bar in Iowa."

Prof. Oliver P. Field of the University of Minnesota discusses the right to collect on government bonds or on notes or bonds given by individuals under authority of a statute which is later declared unconstitutional. The article is one of a series which Professor Field has written on this subject for the leading law reviews of the country, and will later be incorporated by Professor Field in a book on unconstitutional statutes.

Oklahoma Writes Article

The fourth article, by Garrett Logan, a lawyer in Tulsa, Okla., deals with a legal discussion of the recent episode in Oklahoma, in which the governor used martial law to close the oil wells of that state in an effort to increase the market price of oil for Oklahoma producers.

Another section of the review is given over to reviews of recent law books, written by members of the law faculty. Prof. Percy Bordwell, reviewing Simon's "Evolution of International Law Since Grotius," presents the American point of view on international legal questions in dealing with the particular subject on which the German author is writing.

Ladd Reviews Casebook

Professor Ladd has reviewed a recent casebook on court practices, written by Professor Hinton of Chicago. Professor Sayre comments on Keeton's recent book, "Shakespeare and his Legal Problems," and on a casebook on pleading and procedure, written by Dean Clark of the college of law at Yale university.

Robert W. Miller of Marion, Ind., also reviews "The Path to Peace," a book written recently by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university.

More than half the current issue of the Iowa Law Review is devoted to notes, statutes, and comments, the work of the associate student editors, dealing with subjects of immediate interest to practicing lawyers at this time.

Ingwersen Replaces Workout With Chalk Talk as Iowa Prepares for Purple

Outlines Plan to Stop Star Wildcat Back

Hawkeyes Sustain Only Minor Injuries at Purdue

A defense to bottle up "Pug" Rentner regarded in the Hawkeye camp as Northwestern's most dangerous scoring threat was in the formative process yesterday afternoon.

Coach Burton Ingwersen substituted a long chalk talk for the usual Monday afternoon workout and outlined to the varsity squad the plans for stopping the Wildcats in general and Rentner in particular.

The Purple's pet plays were diagrammed on a blackboard by Ingwersen and reports from Iowa scouts at Northwestern games were given to the squad.

A review of the Purdue game preceded the talk on the Dad's day encounter here this Saturday. The team was praised for its two stands against the Boilermakers in the first period within the five yard line. Guards were praised but tackles were criticized for failure to pile up interference.

A few minor injuries were sustained in the game at Lafayette. Capt. Oliver Samsen was bothered by a twisted knee and Jerry Kriz by a sprained thigh. Both were expected to be in condition for the Northwestern game.

Nelson Tompkins, regular guard, reported in good shape.

Freshman football teams spent the afternoon learning the plays and formations and will use them against the varsity in scrimmages today or tomorrow.

Wildcat Regulars Get Day Off From Drill

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP)—Northwestern regulars, who showed signs of wear and tear of the season against Indiana last week, were given a day off by Coach Hank today. The Wildcat probably will not be called upon to engage in strenuous work this week, with the charity game against Purdue's strong squad, following the Iowa game Saturday.

Davenport is conceded a slight edge in this all-important game for if they should win, providing they beat Moline the following week end, they will have completed a nine game schedule without a defeat or tie.

Coach George Bresnahan will take over the squad as soon as he returns from Kansas City, Mo., where he is attending the annual N. A. A. convention.

Intramuralites
Two tennis matches which have been hanging fire in the fraternity tourney, and one match in the all-university meet must be finished tonight or forfeited, according to an announcement by "Dad" Schroeder last night.

Van der Zee and Garmier will have to settle their differences in the all-university tournament by tonight or forfeit.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

The Big Ten must be complimented on its arrangement of the post season charity games. The schedule as arranged Sunday at a meeting of the officials will give the fans a run for their money.

The tripleheader scheduled for Thanksgiving day is the first on record for major college grid contests. It should be worth three dollars to most anyone who can afford it, to see four major elevens in action. Perhaps if the four schools brought their respective bands along more spectators might take in the contests. Might schedule a band contest.

Purdue fell into the choice spot because Northwestern and Michigan failed to agree on a site. The whole arrangement promises plenty of action with elevens nearly even in strength battling for a worthy cause.

Fresh gridders are all let up over the forthcoming battle between the first string yearlings and the second team. Last week the elevens met in a short game and the latter group held the first stringers to a scoreless tie, and claimed a moral victory.

The first stringers say they failed to defeat their opponents because their regulars did not play. However they promise the seconds a sound trouncing when the elevens meet Friday afternoon on Iowa field.

Yesterday afternoon both squads went through long seasons in preparation for the forthcoming game.

While other local high schools have completed their football seasons, City high has one more game on its schedule. The Hawkeyes top off the Homecoming celebration with a game against Grinnell high at Shrader field Friday.

City high grid eleven had its first workout since the Washington game yesterday afternoon at Shrader field. The men were given the long rest after the hard battle with the Cedar Rapids outfit Armistice day.

Yesterday's workout was a drill mainly on running plays. After a short session the men were sent in by Coach George Wells.

They will begin hard work in preparation for the Homecoming game with Grinnell high, to be played at Shrader field Friday. The Red and White mentor is expected to send his charges through a scrimmage this afternoon.

Winner Iowa-Chicago game vs. winner Indiana-Illinois game (30 minutes)—All games at Stagg field, Chicago.

SATURDAY, NOV. 23
Purdue vs. Northwestern at Soldiers field, Chicago.
Wisconsin vs. Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Ohio State vs. Minnesota at Minneapolis.

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
CHICAGO, Nov. 16—A little football tournament between the four lowest ranking teams in the Big Ten was arranged for Thanksgiving day at Stagg field by the conference board of directors Sunday.

The novel setup calls for Iowa to play Chicago in a 30 minute contest, and Indiana to meet Illinois in an engagement of similar length. In case of a tie the team making the most yards will be declared the winner. Two periods of 15 minutes will be played.

Count in Standings
The winners of the elimination matches will be paired off for a third battle. The officials voted to extend the season to include these extra games and victories or losses will be counted in the Big Ten standings. Thus the winner of the tourney will receive credit for two wins.

The top teams of the conference will meet Saturday, Nov. 23. In the headline event Northwestern tackles Purdue. The pairing came as a surprise with most fans expecting to see Michigan and the Wildcats scheduled.

Refusal Changes Plans
The Wolverines' refusal to play at Soldiers field caused defeat of the plan, and the Boilermakers were lined as the Purple's opponents.

Michigan, instead, will face Wisconsin at Ann Arbor. Ohio State will travel to Minneapolis to clash with Minnesota.

All receipts from these games will be turned over to charity agencies of the states represented in the Big Ten. The admission to all contests ranges from $1 to $3.

Mowry, Sends Irish Hoopsters Through Hard Scrimmage

Still registering enthusiasm, the St. Patrick's hoopsters went through a fast scrimmage session as the climax to yesterday's workout.

Coach Joe Mowry shifted Pinney, alternate center, to a forward position in an attempt to use him in a combination with Scannell, the other center. Both men are tall, and are excellent shots under the basket.

In the scrimmage, a team composed of Pinney and Smith, forwards; Scannell, center; and Emanuel, and Pugh, guards; was used against an outfit consisting of McNamara and Burger, forwards; Froehlinger, center; and Casey and Donohue, guards.

Glenn, who is out of the lineup with a back injury, was present at the workout but took no part in the scrimmage.

must meet Kappa Sig, while in the singles, S. A. E. and Delta Chi must clash.

Van der Zee and Garmier will have to settle their differences in the all-university tournament by tonight or forfeit.

In addition, all intramurals must be brought up to date by Saturday or be forfeited.

Buckeyes Ahunting, While Illini Learn Signals Over Again

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 16 (AP)—Opening of the rabbit season ruined Ohio State university's football practice today as most of the varsity players took the day off to hunt.

"They deserve a vacation," said Coach Sam Willaman.

Preparation for the Illinois game will begin tomorrow.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP)—Coach Zupke today started all over again to teach the Illinois squad its signals. Confusion in the huddle and misunderstandings over plays demoralized the Illini against Chicago last week.

Bowlers Get 'Bad' Scores in 'Off' Night

By DICK NORRIS
In an evening's bowling which was featured by clean sweeps in all instances, exceptionally high scores were the exception. Snively took high single game with 209 pins, while Walt Jones was the high individual for three games with 568 sticks.

Bremser's took all the team honors with a 902 for high single and totaled 2,698 for the best performance of the Business Men's league last night in defeating Iowa Supply three in a row. The Elks made a grand slam of their engagement with Neoco Oil. Lench and Clek duplicated the feat against Varsity Cleaners.

Bowlers Enter Midwest
Six Iowa City keglers will be among those bowling at Des Moines in the Mid-West tournament on Nov. 23 and 24. This meeting is considered next to the A.B.C. in importance from a bowling standpoint.

The local entry will be pitted against teams from St. Louis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago and Peoria, Ill. Previous to this year the Windy City bowlers have been barred.

The local five men team will be composed of Dee, McNerny, Lindsey, Fryauf and Snively. In the doubles, Fryauf and Ferris will be paired together, Dee and Snively, and McNerny and Lindsey. All will participate in the singles.

CAN IOWA CAGE THIS WILDCAT?

Ernest "Pug" Rentner, ace of the Northwestern backfield, will be a much-watched performer at Iowa stadium this Saturday when the Hawkeyes and Wildcats clash at the University of Iowa's annual Dad's day game. The above pictures show the punting and passing form of the versatile backfield star.

Stop Rentner! Hawkeyes' Cry for Wildcat Encounter

By BILL RUTLEDGE
An analysis of Northwestern victories this season, and last year as well for that matter, discloses that outside of "Pug" Rentner the Purple aren't so wonderful.

But what a whale of a difference that Rentner boy has made in the Wildcats.

He has gotten away on nine gallops this fall for runs varying in distance from 24 to 95 yards. His total yards gained from scrimmage approaches the 2,000 mark, giving him an average of close to 10 yards per try. In other words Rentner has averaged almost a first down each time he carried the ball.

What He's Done
Here's a tabulation of his spectacular runs this autumn:
Against Nebraska—Tore loose for a 65 yard dash to score.
Against the University of California (Los Angeles)—Smashed through 24 yards to score.

Against Ohio State—Drove through the Buckeyes 55 yards for a touchdown.
Against Illinois—Pounded through the Illini 66 yards to score.

Batters Minnesota
Against Minnesota—Took the opening kickoff in the second half and thundered 95 yards through the Gophers for a touchdown and later carried a punt 80 yards for a second goal.

Against Indiana—Made seven yards for a first down on the Hoosier nine yard line, from where Reb Russell planned over for the touchdown that saved the Wildcat the humiliation of being whipped by the lowly Crimson.

The "Pug" has been noted for passing proclivities, but when he broke his right hand thumb before the Gopher battle, he demonstrated his great ability as a ball totter.

Eyes On '23"
The Purple backfield giant with the number "23" is the fellow the Hawkeyes will be guarding intently. It is figured that by halting him—particularly on his long distance gallops from spread formations, on returns of kickoffs and punts—the entire Northwestern offense will be stopped.

Rentner will be wary about stepping into any traps laid for him by the Old Gold defense. He is on his way to permanent fame as one of the Purple's greatest backs. Last year he was running and passing with the same brilliance, but his feats were overshadowed by those of "Reb" Russell. The 1930 all-American fullback, Russell, has been laid up with injuries from the Nebraska game to the Indiana contest. "Pug" is a junior.

Home Town Jolt
His home is at Joliet, Ill., where he captained the high school football, basketball, and track teams in his prep days—getting allstate honors in football and basketball. He is 20 years old, weighs nearly 190 pounds, and is an inch above six feet in height.

St. Mary's Cagers Drill on Floor Play

Fundamentals of floor play and ball handling, with a scrimmage period to taper off, again took up the time of St. Mary's cagers in their practice at Iowa City high school gym last night.

Coach Francis Suetzel continued to give opportunity to his entire squad during the scrimmage periods, and showed little indication of having yet settled upon a combination to face St. Mary's of Riverside next Wednesday.

Stage Tournament, Select Talent—Plan of U. High Mentor

University high has turned to basketball—and in a wholesale manner.

Actual practice will not get underway until after Thanksgiving day, but plans are underway whereby a tournament will be played between class teams, this, in a way, taking the place of regular drill.

Coach Joy Kistler's plans are that the men outstanding in the tournament, the opening game of which is scheduled for tomorrow evening, will be invited to become a member of the Blue and White squad.

The outstanding feature of this method of selection is that men will be seen in action might not have taken part in the sport otherwise. It will also give Coach Kistler a good line on the material he has at hand.

35 Freshman Hoopsters in Opening Drill

With a squad of about 35 men reporting, fresh basketball drills got underway in the field house gymnasium yesterday afternoon with Coach Jack Siken in charge.

After Coach Siken had outlined plans for the year, the men who reported spent most of the drill in sharpening their basket eye and loosening up their muscles.

The present squad represents only about one-third of the number expected to report during the next few weeks. Many members of the fresh football squad will also show their stuff on the court, while many others are expected before the week is over.

The men who turned out for yesterday afternoon's drill were A. L. Robbins, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Roderic Van Scoy, Atlantic; E. B. Morrison, Des Moines; Lee Smith, Corydon; Duane Smith, Creston; John Gilder, Bloom, Okla.; Russell Henry, Tingley; Everett Streit, Clinton; Tom Murphy, Bancroft; Bennett Mortensen, Moorhead.

Lyle Pringle, Fulton, Ill.; J. W. Grim, Iowa City; Robert Mason, Wilton Junction; C. R. Lewis Iowa City; Ivan Holland, King Ferry, N. Y.; J. P. Clover, Lehighville, M. R. Russinoff, Chicago; Howard Kenworthy, Grant; Albert Spetrino, Rome, N. Y.; Harold James, Rome, N. Y.; Herbert Marcus, Passaic, N. J.

Detlef Petersen, Miles; Bennett Gordon, Des Moines; Irvine Fleischman, Woodcliff, N. J.; Kingsley Clarke, Adel; Sol Mandelblatt, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Stanley Bazant, Cleveland; Lawrence Taradash, Chicago, Ill.; Charles Friedman, Passaic, N. J.; John Hagemann, Denver, Col.; Roland Slevers, Walnut; Irwin Rosheim Roland; George Knigt, Rome, N. Y.

Maroons Get Rest
CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Chicago regulars who participated in the Maroon victory over Illinois last Saturday were excused from practice today. The Maroons came out of the contest in fair shape and preparation for the Wisconsin game will start tomorrow.

Wolverines Morale Bad
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP)—Rebuilding of his team's morale, shattered by disappointment that University of Michigan will not play Northwestern in a post-season game, was the task Coach Kipke faced today. The squad came through Saturday's scoreless tie with Michigan State in good shape and, physically, the players should be in good condition to face Minnesota this week end.

Sign Matmen for Iowa City Charity Show

Match Croy, Grooms to Headline Card Nov. 24

Plans for benefit wrestling show for Iowa City were completed yesterday and officials announced three headline matches for the bill to be presented Tuesday, Nov. 24.

Harold Croy, Hills schoolmaster, tangles with Clair "Skinny" Grooms, Ottumwa, in a finish match, two falls out of three.

Mike Howard, Hawkeye mat coach, meets Bruce Nolan, Newton, in a 20 minute time limit bout.

Harold Timm, Massena, wrestles Rowe, Lone Tree for 20 minutes.

Donate Talent
Proving that wrestlers do have hearts, in spite of the way they are wont to inflame torments upon opponents, all the bone crushers are donating their services.

Promoter "Doc" Fairbanks is now busy lining up some boxes to round out the bill. "Slick" Jesnik, Newton, flash, has offered to go on, but as yet no fit opponent has been found.

Croy, local favorite, started off the affair by offering to meet anyone that could be signed, and Fairbanks and Hubert Smith, K. P. promoter, lined up the rest of the matches.

Grooms Eager
Grooms proved a great crowd-pleaser in his two appearances here. He lost a finish match to Croy last winter after one of the fastest shows of the season. In his second match he fell victim to the wily Timm last July. Grooms is eager to prove his claim that he was not in top shape in that match.

Coach Howard returns to the ring after an extended absence. He defeated Nolan at Newton a few years ago, but will have little time to prepare for the coming match.

Timm, with a string of wins behind him, has been training for some time, and his struggle with Rowe should produce plenty of action over the short route.

Wolverines Morale Bad
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP)—Rebuilding of his team's morale, shattered by disappointment that University of Michigan will not play Northwestern in a post-season game, was the task Coach Kipke faced today. The squad came through Saturday's scoreless tie with Michigan State in good shape and, physically, the players should be in good condition to face Minnesota this week end.

Fourteenth Instalment Synopsis of Preceding Instalments Ronald Fish, nephew of Lord Emsworth of Blandings Castle, is in love with Sue Brown, a chorus girl. Lady Constance Keeble, sister of Lord Emsworth, wants Ronnie to marry his cousin, Millicent, but Millicent is secretly engaged to Hugo Carmody, his lordship's secretary. Lord Emsworth's greatest pride is his prize pig, the Empress of Blandings, which he hopes will win the silver medal in the annual agricultural show. His neighbor, Sir Gregory Parsloe, also has a pig, Pride of Matchingham, which is in line for the medal. Relations between the two neighbors are strained. At this crisis, Ronnie, wanting money with which to marry Sue, steals and hides the Empress with the purpose of producing her later and being rewarded. His lordship is in despair.

Sunshine poured in at the windows of the great library of Blandings Castle. But to Clarence, ninth Earl of Emsworth, it brought no cheer. His face drawn, his spiciness askew, his tie drooping away from his head, he sat staring sightlessly before him. The door of the library opened, revealing the natty person of his brother, Galahad. Lord Emsworth looked at him apprehensively. Knowing how little reverence there was in the Hon. Galahad's composition and how tepid was his interest in the honorable strategies for supremacy of fat pigs, he feared that the other was about to wound him in his benevolence with some jarring flippancy. Then he was conscious of a soothing feeling of relief. There was no frivolity in his brother's face, only a gravity which became him well. The Hon. Galahad sat down, cleared his throat, and spoke in a tone that could not have been more sympathetic or in better taste.

"Bad business, this, Clarence." "Appalling, my dear fellow." "What are you going to do about it?"

Lord Emsworth shrugged his shoulders helplessly. "I am at a loss," he confessed. "I do not know how to act. What young Carmody tells me has completely upset all my plans."

"Carmody?" "I sent him to the Argus Enquiry Agency in London to engage the services of a detective. It is a firm that Sir Gregory Parsloe once mentioned to me, in the days when we were on better terms."

"Parsloe?" said the Hon. Galahad, and sniffed. "So I sent young Carmody to London to approach them about finding the Empress. And now he tells me they refuse to trace missing pigs."

"Just as well." "What do you mean?" "Save you a lot of necessary expense. There's no need for you to waste money employing detectives. I can tell you who's got the Empress."

"What?" "Certainly. It's as plain as the nose on your face."

Lord Emsworth felt his nose. "Is it?" he said doubtfully. "I've just been talking to Constance, and she called me some very unpleasant names. Some unpleasant names. A sensible mischief maker, among others, and a meddling old penguin. And all because I told her that the man who had stolen the Empress of Blandings was young Gregory Parsloe."

"Parsloe?" "Parsloe. Surely it's obvious?" "Parsloe?" "Don't keep saying 'Parsloe.'" "But, my dear Galahad—"

"It stands to reason. Have you forgotten what I told you the other day?" "Yes," said Lord Emsworth. He always forgot what people told him the other day.

"About young Parsloe," said the Hon. Galahad impatiently. "About his nobbling my dog Towser." Lord Emsworth started. It all came back to him.

"To be sure, Towser. Your dog. He nobbled Towser, and he's nobbled the Empress. Dash it, Clarence, use your intelligence. Who else except young Parsloe had any interest in getting the Empress out of the way? And if he hadn't known there was some dirty work being planned, would that pig man of his, Brotherton, or whatever his name is, have been going about offering three to one on Pride of Matchingham? I told you at the time it was fishy."

The evidence was damning, and yet Lord Emsworth found himself once more a prey to doubt. "But, Galahad—a man in Parsloe's position—"

"What do you mean, a man in his position? Do you suppose a fellow changes his nature just because a cousin of his dies and he comes into a baronetcy? Haven't I told you a dozen times that I've known young Parsloe all his life? He was always as hot as mustard and as wide as Leicester Square. Ask anybody who used to go around town in those days. When they saw young Parsloe coming, strong men winced and hid their valuables. When I knew him first he was living down on the river at Shepperton. His old father, the Dean, had made an arrangement with the keeper of the pub there to give him breakfast and bed and nothing else. If he wanted dinner he must earn it, the old boy said. And do you know how he used to earn it? He trained that mongrel of his, Babbo, to go and do tricks in front of parties that came to the place in steam launches. And then he would stroll up and hope his dog was not annoying them and stand talking till they went in to dinner and then go in with them and pick up the wine list, and before they knew what was happening, he would be bursting with their champagne and cigars. That's the sort of fellow young Parsloe was."

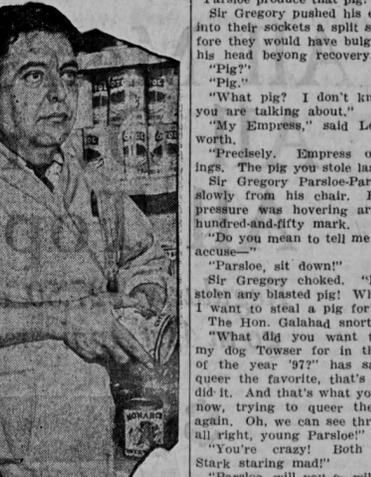

"But even so—"

"And if young Parsloe thinks

Whose Bag Was It?

The deep, dark mystery thriller of "Whose Bag of Whiskey Was It?" has focused the attention of those interested in the wet-dry issue on Santa Monica, Cal., where C. V. "Van" Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Hoover, is charged with fleeing a grocery store with 19 pints of whiskey in a sack. Leavitt says he was just trying to be a "good fellow" and take the "damp" sackful away at the request of Cliff Dailey (above). Dailey denies ever giving the bag to Leavitt.

haughtily when the Hon. Galahad broke the silence. "Young Parsloe," said the Hon. Galahad, speaking in a snuff voice, "your sins have found you out!"

"It had been the baronet's intention to inquire to what he was indebted for the pleasure of this visit, and to inquire if jolly; but at this remarkable speech the words halted on his lips.

"Eh?" he said blankly. "What the devil do you mean?" "See his face?" asked the Hon. Galahad in a rasping aside. "I'm looking at it now," said Lord Emsworth.

"Guilt written upon it." "Plainly," agreed Lord Emsworth. The Hon. Galahad struck the desk a smart blow.

"Be very careful, Parsloe! Think before you speak. I may say, by way of a start, that we know all."

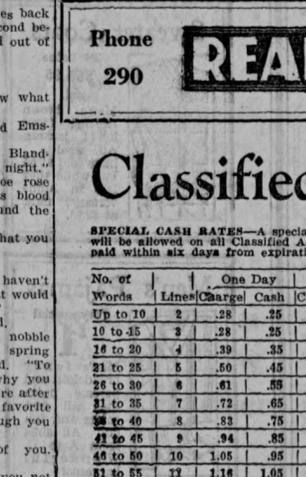

"How low an estimate Sir Gregory had formed of his visitors' collective sanity was revealed by the fact that it was actually Lord Emsworth that he now turned as the more intelligent one of the pair.

"Emsworth! Explain! What the devil is that old image talking about?"

Lord Emsworth had been watching his brother with growing admiration. "You know," he said curtly.

Stock Prices Fail to Rise With Grains

New Lows Result in Big Losses; Some Issues Firm

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Stocks refused to become excited over the rally in grains today. Rather, the market was influenced by the weak tone of its railroad, copper and electrical equipment issues, and was lower during all but a small part of the quiet session.

New Lows Made
Most of the larger net losses occurred in the carrier group where a few stocks made new lows. Silver was set back sharply, spot losing 2 7/8 cents. London called weak quotations for the metal there.

Stocks struggled higher before noon, but the reduction in International Nickel's dividend, the continued deadlock among the copper producers, and the weakness of silver stimulated selling of the metal issues.

Rally Lasts Short While
Westinghouse and General Electric, affected by further heaviness in Radio and R-K-O as well as by bearish gossip concerning their industry's current state of health, were soggy on the advance, while the action of rail stocks seemed to clinch the case against a rally and the improvement was of brief duration.

Some firming occurred in the last hour, but the list lapsed again in the late dealings. Sales totaled 1,520,755 shares.

Westinghouse Loses
New York Central sold at a low as 59 7/8 and closed at 40 1/8, off 2 points net. Southern Pacific was particularly weak, dropping to 43 and finishing above bottom, or 3 3/8 lower. Atchafalaya gave up a 3-point rise, while Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Pullman, and New Haven were off 1 to 2 1/2.

Westinghouse lost more than 4 points and General Electric again eased under 30.

Radio Sets New Low
Anaconda, Kennecott, Nickel, and American Smelting were under pressure, while Radio set a record low of 3 5/8.

American Telephone halved a drop of three points. U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Can and Bethlehem were fairly steady. Case, Montgomery Ward, and Sears Roebuck firmed.

Legion Relief Registers 170

Fourteen Women Ask for Work; Officials Appeal to City

One hundred and seventy of Iowa City's unemployed were registered with the American Legion Unemployment and Relief association at the close of yesterday's registration. "As the number nears the 200 mark the need of cooperation in building up the relief fund and in furnishing general labor throughout the city grows," officials of the association say.

Fourteen of those registered are women. For these housework is desired, such as washing, sewing, or caring for children. There are also a number of men between the ages 60 to 70 registered, who need jobs such as caring for a garden or lawn. Anyone having work of this nature is asked to call 4321 with a statement of work desired to be done.

In a statement last night Charles Kennett, chairman of the association gave out the following list of contributions made thus far:

- U of Iowa golf tournament $ 84.00

- R. Neff $ 10.00

National Book Week Exhibit at City Library Serves as Guide to Children's Editions

Iowa City public library clubroom had many observers yesterday who came to examine the exhibition of books on display in conjunction with national children's book week. The purpose of the week event is to assist parents or anyone interested in buying books for children to select newly published books and different editions of old, well known children's books.

Cooperating with the library to stimulate interest in buying books for children's personal libraries, Williams' Iowa Supply, Ries Iowa Book store, University Book store, and C. L. Wienke's each have a display of popular children's books.

The center of attraction of the exhibition is a large table of volumes contrasting several different editions of the same old, popular books. Differences apply to makeup, price, and general appearance.

Another feature is a collection of inexpensive books, any of which may be purchased for $1 or less. All of these are well-made and illustrated in colors, and include such books as "Treasure Island," "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," "The Three Bears," and "Little Black Sambo."

Oxford Debate Team Guest of Chamber of Commerce

John Foot, son of Sir Isaac Foot, who was a member of the liberal delegation to the recent Indian round table conference, and John A. Boyd, Carpenter, both members of the Oxford university team which last night debated the University of Iowa on the subject, "Resolved that immediate independence should be granted to India," were guests, together with the Iowa team, yesterday of the chamber of commerce at its luncheon in the American Legion Community building.

Prof. A. C. Baird of the department of speech, J. Carlton Starr, A3 of Fairfield, and Vergil Tacy, A2 of Council Bluffs, were also guests of the chamber.

Yesterday was not Professor Baird's first experience in meeting members of an Oxford debate team. While teaching at Bates college, Maine, in June 1921 he accompanied a debate team from that school to Oxford, where probably was held the first international debate. Again in 1924 he visited Oxford and other English schools for the same purpose.

In speaking to the chamber yesterday he said that on both occasions he was particularly impressed with the hospitality shown the American teams.

Introduced by Professor Baird, Mr. Boyd-Carpenter outlined briefly the present English situation. He said that America is asked to remember that the present crisis in England is a result of 10 years of depression, of extravagance in government, and of an unbalanced budget. He pointed out, however, that there is no doubt among the English people that their nation will recover from its present ills, that confidence has been restored, and that any sacrifice needed of them will be made.

In speaking of the impressions they have had so far of the United States, Mr. Foot listed the following items: "The immense vitality of its people; the fact that it is still supporting its unemployed by charity appeals, a measure which in England could be regarded as only temporary; and the fact that the two great political parties of the United States are not very strikingly different from each other.

In reply to Professor Baird's remark about the English hospitality he said that England had nothing on the United States in regard to that quality and even might have something to learn.

In closing the program Professor Baird explained to the chamber something of the details of Oxford Union which Mr. Foot and Mr. Boyd-Carpenter represent.

"It is one of the world's greatest literary societies," he said. "There are hundreds of members who receive their training in leadership, oratory, and speech. Among its former members it lists some of the greatest men of England; men famous in American history as well as English."
