Bresnahan to Wed Today in Local Church

Members of Immediate Family Attendants at Ceremony

The marriage of Dorothy Withington of Tama, and George Bresnahan of Iowa City, will take place in Iowa City this morning, according to an announcement made by the bride's mother at Tama, yesterday.

The couple will be attended by Juliet Ferverill, A2 of Des Moines; and Don R. Withington, C4 of Tama, a brother of the bride.

Wedding Breakfast

Only members of the bride's immediate family will attend the ceremony, and it will be followed by a wedding breakfast at Hotel Jefferson at 8:30.

The bride will be attired in a gown of blue velvet, and will carry a bouquet of opelia roses.

The couple will leave at noon for Chicago on a short wedding trip, and upon their return will reside at the Burlington apartments.

Miss Withington, who is the daughter of the late R. B. Withington and Mrs. Grace Withington of Tama, attended Grinnell college and Iowa State college at Ames.

Head of National Association

Mr. Bresnahan is president of the National Collegiate Track Coaches association, and has been head track coach and cross country mentor at Iowa since 1921. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, where he was awarded six major letters in track and cross country. Following his graduation, he served as assistant track and field coach at the University of Wisconsin.

The time and place of the ceremony, and the officiating minister were not announced.

Waterloo Man Gets New Sight Through Another Man's Eye

WATERLOO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Audus Flint of Waterloo can see, because an operation in Chicago gave him another man's eye.

Blind in his left eye, Flint could only distinguish daylight from darkness and no more.

But Dr. Dewey Katz of the University of Chicago surgical staff grafted the cornea of another man's eye upon his.

The other man, also blind but not from the same cause, was to have the eye removed.

Japan Begins Campaign to Rout Bandits

TOKYO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Japan launched an offensive today against a force of Chinese bandits, estimated to number as high as 12,000, who have been established in the rough country southwest of Mukden, Manchuria.

Dispatches received by the Renzo (Japanese) News agency after the beginning of the drive had been announced here, said the operation was entirely successful.

Bandit Force Driven Back

According to these dispatches, foot soldiers, working with the assistance of airplanes, routed the bandit force and drove them west of the Liao river.

Japanese military authorities denied the action was aimed at Chinchow, where Tokyo has heard 50,000 Chinese troops have been concentrated.

The Japanese explained that the offensive was a local affair to stamp out banditry.

Decides to Consult League

The government decided today to go to the League of Nations in regard to the situation at Chinchow. The Japanese military authorities declared the concentration of troops there was a constant menace. But at the foreign office it was said everything possible was being done to avoid military action.

Ken kichi Yoshizawa, Japan's spokesman at the League's council meeting at Paris, was instructed to ask the council to persuade Chang Hsueh-shan, deposed governor of Manchuria, to withdraw his forces from Chinchow in order to remove the threat of trouble.

Shortly after these instructions were sent the war office said it had learned 500 Chinese cavalrymen advanced east from Chinchow toward Manchuria, where Japanese operated South Manchuria railway.

Rising Rivers Flood Fields; Still Unabated

Iowa River at Record Height for Late November

DES MOINES, Nov. 24 (AP)—Swollen rivers, not yet at their crest, jeopardized property in a half dozen Iowa localities tonight, while unprecedented November precipitation added its discomfort to that of winter's sudden and decided arrival.

Iowa river was at flood stage yesterday afternoon.

The flood stage for the river here is eight feet. For a period of about three hours the river gauge indicated eight and a half feet but it started going down slowly after 5 p.m.

"At flood stage the river just begins to run out over its banks," said Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the hydraulics department.

The river flow yesterday did not, however, equal the November record, for Nov. 13, 1919, when a flow of 6,507 cubic feet a second was recorded.

A new second high for the month was recorded when yesterday's flow of 6,200 cubic feet a second was recorded. This is the largest flow ever gauged after the middle of November.

A telegram received by Professor Nagler yesterday morning from T. G. Shipman of Davenport, who is the meteorologist in charge of flood predictions for this area, reads: "Iowa river will rise slowly for 24 hours overflowing only low places."

The Des Moines river, gorged by heavy rains in its upper reaches, overflowed upon corn fields near Tracy and Ottumwa. At Marshalltown the Iowa river was out of its bank and had inundated hundreds of acres of unplowed corn.

Little damage had been reported, however, but apprehension was aroused by a statement from the state weather bureau here that the high point will scarcely be reached within 24 hours.

High water forced abandonment of railroad service on the Burlington railroad's branch line between Bedford, Iowa, and Barnard, Mo. Passenger trains were rerouted around the flooded area and it was believed service could not be resumed before Thursday.

Des Moines River Up

At Tracy the Des Moines river rose 5.7 feet in 24 hours and was expected, according to weather bureau officials here, to rise three feet above today's high level of 15.1 feet in the next 48 hours.

The stream was still rising tonight at Ottumwa after a stage of 10.9 feet today had put it out of its banks. Between Boone and Elden the Des Moines river is due to rise rapidly.

Expect Record Rise

A record-breaking rise in the Des Moines river at Des Moines was expected. The crest was anticipated Wednesday night, which will put the level at 18.5 feet, 1.5 feet more than the high mark set Nov. 18, 1909.

The overflowing Raccoon river here will, according to local weather bureau officials, swell the Des Moines river. The former river near Van Meter stood at 13.0 feet at 7 a.m. Tuesday and at 4:30 p.m. its stage was 14.2 feet, a rise of 1.2 feet in nine and one half hours.

The heaviest rains on record in November caused the Iowa river and two smaller streams at Marshalltown to flood hundreds of acres in that locality.

Hoover Picks Tariff Leader

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Robert Lincoln O'Brien, a New England Republican and a former editor of the Boston Herald, today was named chairman of the tariff commission.

At the same time, it was learned the administration is planning no increase in import duties as retaliation for the drastic tariffs imposed last week by Great Britain.

O'Brien's appointment, announced by President Hoover, comes at a time when interest in American tariff policies is running high both at home and abroad.

Important Issue

The British increases and demands for revision of the tariff duties rates from some congressional factions have made the subject a center of attention. Moreover, it is expected to furnish an important issue in next year's presidential campaign.

Lincoln Dixon

Lincoln Dixon, named originally to serve for one year, is now a member of the commission by recess appointment for a full six year term.

The senate will be called upon at the coming session to confirm three nominations to the commission, which probably will evoke a thorough going debate on the tariff issue.

O'Brien succeeds Henry P. Fletcher of Greenville, Pa., who is to be made a delegate to the coming disarmament conference at Geneva and may become chairman of the American group.

Find Body of Missing Pilot

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 24 (AP)—The body of Norman W. Potter, Oakland-Salt Lake air mail flyer, was found today in his wrecked plane where he had crashed more than 24 hours before, within ten miles of his home airport.

The speedometer, locked at 110 miles per hour, and the condition of the wreckage, led investigators to believe that Potter, fighting a blinding snow storm over the last few miles of his Sunday night flights from the Pacific coast had struck the earth at full cruising speed. The propeller was badly twisted and the motor was five yards away from the rest of the wreckage.

The pilot apparently had died instantly, since his back was broken. The mail cargo was scattered about but all was recovered.

Potter had flown the Omaha-Salt Lake air mail route for the Boeing company for a year before he was transferred to the Salt Lake-Oakland route. Prior to that time he had a varied aerial experience which included barnstorming, aerial photography and the carrying of sightseers, part of it in Florida and part over the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

Farm Board Stages Fight for Existence

Stone Delivers Figures, Facts on Board's Operations

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The farm board bared its operating secrets today in a battle for its life before the senate agriculture committee.

The spectacular story of a two-year effort to help the farmer by gigantic stabilization operations and cooperative marketing was unfolded by Chairman Stone to justify the board's existence.

The quiet-mannered chairman delivered facts and figures on the board's operations in the form of an annual report to congress. Then he sat through almost a full day of running cross examination by critical members of the committee.

Williams Takes Stand

Toward the end of the day, Carl Williams, cotton member, took the stand and promised the board would hold its stabilization cotton off the market another year if the southern farmers would go through with their acreage reduction programs. Under the present arrangement the surplus will be held until July 31.

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, criticized the board for confining its efforts to removing the surplus in cotton and wheat, declaring the troublesome surpluses in corn, oats and livestock were much more susceptible to exportation.

Stone said it would have been impossible for the board to handle the surplus in all crops with the $500,000,000 provided by congress.

Brookhart Criticizes Board

"I blame you for not coming to congress and asking for more money," Brookhart said.

Stone said the board, by returning to the market, had saved the country from a possible collapse of its credit structure, and that it had continued stabilization activities long enough to let the farmer adjust his acreage.

Holds Back Nothing

The board chairman told the committee he was holding back nothing that there was nothing he could not tell.

Questioned by Chairman McNary, Stone said 47,500,000 bushels of wheat had been sold to foreign governments, based on the Chicago price at the time of the deal.

The average price for all board sales was estimated by the chairman at between 53 and 54 cents a bushel. It was purchased at 81 cents on the average.

Mexico Intends to Seek Damages of U. S. for Slayings

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 24 (AP)—Foreign Minister Estrada tonight said Mexico intends to claim damages against the United States as a result of the killing last June of two Mexican students at Ardmore, Okla.

"With regard to the crime at Ardmore, Okla.," the secretary's statement said, "where two Mexican students, one a cousin of the president of Mexico, were assassinated by two deputy sheriffs, the secretary of foreign relations declares the following:

"That the government of Mexico has sent new instructions to its embassy in Washington with the point of claiming damages of a civil nature because of the above-mentioned crimes."

Cedar Rapids Man Tells of Iowa Traffic

Relates Own Dealings With 'Al Capone of Clinton'

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—J. S. Holton, a liquor dealer from Cedar Rapids, Ia., testified tonight in the trial of 27 men and one woman on liquor conspiracy charges that he purchased $42,000 worth of alcohol from Mike Blumberg of Clinton, Ia., one of the principal defendants, over a three-year period.

Holton said he obtained the liquor from Blumberg in large quantities, usually about 100 gallons at a time, and sold it in lots of from 5 to 25 gallons. He usually made about two trips a month to Clinton, he said, and returned to Cedar Rapids with 100 gallons.

Co-Defendants Worried

The 29 co-defendants, including Ted Newberry, Capone gangster from Chicago, appeared worried during Holton's revelations. Government prosecutors said after the night session, ordered by Federal Judge Louis Fitzhenry to expedite the trial, that they have several other witnesses who will give similar testimony.

Holton, tall, dark and sober-faced, told the court of the entire period of business transactions with Blumberg, known as "the Al Capone of Clinton." On his first trip to Clinton, he was directed to park his automobile on a side street and came back later to find it loaded with 75 one gallon cans of alcohol.

On that and the next few occasions, Holton said, he paid for the liquor in cash. Later, however, he said his credit became established and he mailed cashier's checks after returning to Cedar Rapids, to Blumberg in Clinton.

That testimony was substantiated by a large sheet of cashier's checks and another of bank drafts introduced as evidence by the government. Holton admitted each document—most of which were for $700 each—represented a payment to Blumberg for liquor.

The checks added up to $23,000 and the drafts to $18,800—a total of $41,800.

Endorsed by Blumberg

Some of the checks were signed by A. W. Paula, who Holton said was his partner, and others by Holton himself. All were endorsed by Blumberg, indicating payment was received by him. The last of the checks was dated Jan. 6, 1931.

Under questioning, Holton told of "customers" who he said purchased alcohol from him at Cedar Rapids in lots of from 5 to 25 gallons. They included the Montrose hotel, the Roosevelt hotel, Tom Foreman, a man named Prosser. Holton said he also sold liquor to a distributor in Anamosa, Ia., near Cedar Rapids.

New Chapter in 1929 Speed Boat Disaster

DES MOINES, Nov. 24 (AP)—Reversal of the conviction of Milo Hartman is the latest chapter in the history of the Lake Okoboji speed boat crash which claimed nine lives in 1929.

It was written by the state supreme court today in reversing the decision of the Dickinson county district court.

Hartman was jointly indicted with his father, John, for conspiracy to injure the property of Frank Long and Jasper Alexander, owners of a rival boat line. Boats of the two parties were involved in the collision.

In its opinion, written by Justice John M. Grimm, the supreme court held that the younger Hartman had not had a fair trial. The court supplemented its previous decision affirming the conviction.

The elder Hartman was acquitted by a Pocahontas county court after obtaining a change of venue.

The sinking of the Lusitania was recalled by another case in which the supreme court required one of the survivors of the tragedy to pay attorneys fees in connection with damages he received.

The firm of Hunt, Hill and Betts of New York was awarded $2,635 in fees which Dr. D. V. Moore of Sioux City objected to paying. Moore, who clung to a barrel in the ocean for several hours after the boat was torpedoed, contended the firm had failed to collect $40,000 of his $50,000 claim against the German government.

Asks Pardon for Mooney

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Coming to San Francisco to ask his friend, Governor James Rolph Jr., to grant a pardon to Tom Mooney, Mayor James J. Walker spent half his first day explaining that he is in California only as a private citizen and that he is in presenting the governor next Tuesday.

As soon as a series of receptions was concluded, the New York mayor went into an extended conference with other lawyers, including Frank P. Walsh, Aaron Sapiro and local counsel. Then he planned to call on Mrs. Mary Mooney, 80-year-old mother of the man serving a life term in San Quentin prison for alleged participation in a parade bombing in San Francisco July 22, 1916. The visit was postponed today because of Mrs. Mooney's illness.

Mooney's Mother Wires Walker

Although, it was revealed today, "Jimmy" Walker wrote "Jim" Rolph many months ago about the Mooney case it was a telegram from Mooney's aged mother which caused his decision to come from New York to California to plead for executive clemency for the son.

Mayor Walker again went into a study of the case and all its ramifications extending over a period of more than 15 years.

Confers With Governor

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the mayor of New York and the governor of California will confer here on plans for the hearing. This conference will follow immediately a discussion on the same subject between Rolph and Sapiro.

Governor Rolph came from Sacramento today to greet the visiting mayor in the name of the state and returned to the capital as soon as that function was completed.

Discuss New Building Code

LEAFERS, CEDAR RAPIDS BUILDING INSPECTOR, EXPLAINS PLAN

"Our building code in Cedar Rapids has been of great benefit to the public," stated Building Inspector Leafers of Cedar Rapids in consultation with local business men last night at a special meeting to discuss a proposed Iowa City building code. The meeting was held in the American Legion Community building.

Mr. Leafers answered many questions concerning the administration of a building code and advised it as practical. He said that it had been especially helpful in Cedar Rapids in the elimination of fire hazards. He believed that the difficulties of administration here would be few and that the entailed duties might be added to those of the city inspector.

Simple Code Practice

The local investigation committee, headed by Lee Nagle, reported that they believed that a simple code could be worked out here which would be effective. They did not believe that a complicated code, such as has been worked out in large cities, would be necessary. The committee has been engaged in reading different building codes with a view of framing one for Iowa City.

Special reference was made to the large number of defective chimneys and fireplaces which provided fire hazards. Protection for the builder from unscrupulous contractors was deemed necessary.

Want Immediate Action

The assembly expressed the hope that the code would be prepared and passed in the near future in order that it could be put into effect before the spring building season. Another meeting will be held in the near future to further the matter.

Railroads Ask Cut in Wages

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Prominent railroads of the nation, as represented by the eastern presidents' conference which met in New York today, virtually presented an ultimatum to all union workers that wages must be voluntarily reduced within the next few weeks or formal action would be taken to forcibly bring about such reduction.

Meeting at the Bankers' club, 31 rail officials under the chairmanship of L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, decided to give the brotherhoods a "last chance" to cut their own pay checks. In other words, the railroad heads agreed to take no further action in the wage matter until the meeting in Chicago Dec. 8, of 1,500 representatives of union organizations.

It was stressed, however, that wages cut averaging at least 10 percent all along the line were absolutely necessary to save the carriers and that there was "considerable hope" these reductions would be voluntary on the parts of the workers. The Chicago meeting, it was concluded, will answer the question of whether there will be a battle between employers and employees or a "peaceful economic acceptance of the situation."

Denote Life, Says Judge

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 24 (AP)—A district court jury was empaneled here today to decide whether breathing is essential to life.

The matter involves payment of a $20,000 judgment given the heirs of Henry J. Steurtz, killed two years ago in a building construction accident. Several months after his death a daughter was born to Mrs. Pauline Steurtz, his widow. The child's heart beat 10 to 20 minutes, hospital attendants said, but the baby never breathed.

County Judge Robin Reid decided that heart beats denote life. Under his ruling Mrs. Steurtz would collect the entire judgment.

Steurtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Steurtz, appealed. They contend the baby was born dead, should their contention be upheld, they would collect half the judgment.

In either case, the widow would be entitled to only half the estate in her own name, but if the court decides the baby lived and therefore inherited the other half, she would become the child's sole heir.

West Liberty Mayor Tells of 1929 Raid

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—Edward Lathrop, a defendant in the Tri-State liquor conspiracy trial, identified today by Mayor W. L. Mackey of West Liberty, Ia., as one of the men he arrested on March 29, 1929, for possession of liquor.

The West Liberty mayor testified Lathrop and four others were arrested in a raid on a house.

Lathrop, the mayor said, called a Kenwood exchange number in Davenport, Ia., from the police station and said:

"Well, they got me, but they didn't find anything in the car."

Mayor Mackey said West Liberty is 43 miles from Davenport, but that 45 minutes later, Nick Coin of Davenport, another of the defendants, drove up to the West Liberty police station. A woman with him, the mayor testified, put up $500 in cash for Lathrop's bail.

The defense, on cross-examination, asked the mayor if he were sure of the Kenwood exchange. Upon an answer of "I think so," the defense tried to show the exchange was not put into operation until 1930.

The Smoker's Friend WHITENS Smokers' Teeth In 48 HOURS!

Don't expect ordinary tooth paste to do a thorough job on your smoke-yellowed teeth. It can't remove tobacco stains any more than water can run up hill. It takes Bost to accomplish the complete three-fold task of

1. Banishing every particle of ugly yellow tobacco stain, and checking mouth acid;
2. Removing the coating where germs frequently breed trouble and pain; and
3. Whitening teeth to a dazzling, pearly whiteness.

The reason is simple: Bost Tooth Paste was made by Dr. Wm. Dale Bost, pharmaceutical chemist, especially for smokers. You have only to use Bost once to realize that here is your dentifrice—the only one you can depend upon to remove tobacco stains in 48 hours, and keep them off.

The very first brushing will leave your mouth so fresh, clean and wholesome; your breath so irreproachably sweet, that you'll actually look forward to return of tooth-brushing time.

MAKER'S TEST OFFER:

This very day deposit a few cents with your druggist for your first tube of Bost. Use it a full week entirely at our risk. If your teeth, gums, mouth and breath don't cast a unanimous vote for Bost, return what's left in the tube to this company and we will refund your money.

Senate Tries Sugar Firms

Dahlberg Accused of Donating Political Contributions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—A group of sugar companies that worked assiduously for a higher tariff were described today as having broken the law by political contributions which went to both parties in 1928.

Before the senate lobby committee ended its hearing on R. G. Dahlberg's work for a higher sugar tariff, John Holland, committee investigator, said Dahlberg, head of several sugar companies, contributed nearly $15,000 to Republicans and Democrats, either directly to candidates or to the parties in 1928.

Holland added that Dahlberg's sugar firms reimbursed him for his personal campaign donations and then marked the money up as "expenses."

Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, a committee member, commented that political contributions by corporations were barred by the corrupt practices act.

Apparently all that is left to end the inquiry is the lobby committee's report with nothing to indicate when it would come.

Dahlberg Sees Explanation

"I have done nothing that requires explanation," Watson said. He reiterated that his 1928 investment, while involving no transfer of money, had nothing to do with legislation. He said he had purchased stock in the past and probably would do so in the future.

Senator Davis saw "complete exonerated" for himself in the investigation. He said he saw no reason to get before the committee as it had failed to find anything more than what he told it himself last spring. Like Watson, he held the transaction was a private one, having nothing to do with "government."

Alpha Delta Pi Team Takes First Place in Volleyball Contest

Alpha Delta Pi won the intramural volleyball tournament by defeating Pi Beta Phi 15-11, 15-6, and Currier hall 15-13, 6-15, 15-1 in games played last night at the women's gymnasium.

Pi Beta Phi ranked second having defeated Currier, which placed third.

Members of the Alpha Delta Pi team were Thelma Kenefick, A4 of Eagle Grove; Ruth Millett, A2 of Memphis, Tenn.; Katherine Herrig, A2 of Wall Lake; Ruth Melkie, A2 of Bedford; Lucy Marsh, A2 of Keokuk; and Opal Crane, A1 of Holstein.

Pi Beta Phi's team consisted of Mary Helen Hitch, A4 of Fort Madison; Patricia McClure, A3 of Iowa Falls; Margaret Crooks, A3 of Boone; Katherine Chrysler, A1 of Hartley; and Ann Finley, A2 of Onondaga, Ill.

Currier team members were Florence Middleton, A2 of South Bend, Ind.; Margaret Dewees, A1 of Keokuk; Iva Krabbenhoff, A1 of Omaha, Neb.; Vera Huen, A3 of Eldora; Elizabeth Palmer, A3 of Marshalltown; Helen Stoddart, A3 of Keokuk; and Hazel Jones, A4 of Lamoni.

Sioux City led in the value of new residence construction, the report showed, with a total of $56,350, while Des Moines was second with $42,950.

The highest first in residence remodeling with $13,055.

Scout Heads Speak at Training Course

Glen G. Fordyce, scout executive, and Gordon Kent, deputy scout commissioner, spoke last night at the third session of the boy leadership training course under the auspices of the Iowa City scout council.

"Probably the hardest subject to teach a scout is signalling," said Mr. Fordyce in pointing out methods of teaching. "The leader must be sympathetic with the boy, making the learning more of a game."

Mr. Kent, speaking of records and officers, stressed the accurate recording of troop events for reference to previous happenings. He discussed requirements for leadership, equipment, and personnel of an ideal troop.

Milton E. Lord

MILTON E. LORD, director of university libraries, has been appointed director of the Boston public library system, and the university community to which he has endeared himself has received the news with mingled emotion.

First of all it is proud that Mr. Lord, although he has had but a year to acquire the deep respect and friendship of his associates, is an Iowa man. For he has been made the recipient of probably the highest honor in his field, an honor that in generations is not accorded to one as young as he.

Also the university heartily congratulates Mr. Lord from a full sense of what it means virtually to reach the top of one's profession with a few vigorous, youthful strides.

Yet it is not without regret, that these congratulations are offered. Mr. Lord has had time only to barely begin injecting his wealth of energies and creative ideas into the library system.

At the dawn of a new book reign on this campus, Mr. Lord can be no more disappointed than the university that he was unable to remain longer, to build up the new relationship between students and books that he had visualized.

A firm believer that reading should be done as an end in itself, should provide pure pleasure frequently, should entail mental discipline less often, his liberal views on books had made considerable impress here even in one short year.

The new reading room at Iowa Union, designed solely to provide a luxurious spot for quiet, comfortable reading of good books was largely a product of Mr. Lord's effort. A contrast to the forbidding severity of the regular library reading rooms, the Union room will doubtless encourage reading for pleasure among those who have formerly been strangers to the practice.

Mr. Lord had other plans to make university students book conscious, to make them friends and masters rather than drudges to reading.

Mr. Lord has given the campus a new attitude toward books in his brief stay, and his program will not be entirely lost because he has been called away.

But he will leave behind him a portrait of an ideal as he envisioned it, that will demand one of the highest caliber to fill the gap created by his parting.

American Aviation Advance

THE ANNOUNCEMENT made by Shriners of North America last week that a $16,000,000 fund was to be raised within the next five years for the furtherance of speed in aviation in this country deserves praise.

The United States is the wealthiest country in the world and among the six powers is the lowest rated in aviation. Germany, perhaps the financially weakest of the six, leads the world in heavier than air craft production. Although England holds the world speed record of 408.8 miles per hour, Germany is now making plans for the construction of a stratosphere plane which is estimated to travel 1,000 miles an hour.

France with her famous Niépourt, England with her 800 horse power Leopard engine and the Rolls-Royce fighter and combat plane, and Germany with the world famous Fokker, all present keen competition for the Masonic movement.

Aviation in the United States does not have the firm stand that it does in other countries. Publicity of a needless character is given to each plane crack-up.

The bad points of the airplane are over stressed in America. Often when an accident occurs, the defects of flying are religiously pointed out to the public.

Movies, fiction and newsreels, show the fatal crash of an airplane in which Mrs. Blah and Mr. Snoozle were killed. War pictures constantly impress in the brain of the observer the horror of dying in an airplane crash. All these tend to shake the faith of the flying American.

About $8,000,000 of this fund should be spent in educating the American mind as to the relative safety and desirability of aviation. News editors should be made to realize the damage they are doing to the reader's mind in regard to one of the greatest means of locomotion in the hands of mankind. Moving picture producers should convey the ease and safety of flying in their movies instead of producing pictures centering around the bloody and ghastly death of Mr. Blah.

The movement is worthy of the whole hearted support of, not only 8,000,000 Masons, but the entire populace of the United States. Aviation is the coming means of transportation. It is now a country's strongest means of defense. That country having a strong flying corps is most nearly impregnable.

Yet disregarding the national defense phase of the question, disregarding the fact that vast sums are spent annually upon warships which can no longer compete with aviation to an advantage in warfare, it is important that emphasis be placed on the peace time aspect of aviation.

The United States is becoming interlocked in international affairs. It demands a transportation that is not only the fastest available, but one with a high degree of safety.

Less emphasis on a somewhat antiquated method of warfare could do no harm, particularly if it were redirected toward peace progress that could be turned to good advantage in war time, as in the case of aviation.

Notre Dame Stops Off at Waterloo

(From the St. Louis Post Dispatch)

It had to happen some time. Notre Dame could not go on winning forever. Since 1928, the machine assembled and perfected by Rockne's genius has been unbeatable and unbeaten. Such supremacy gets on the nerves. We have seen its counterpart in other sports—the Athletics in baseball, Tilden in tennis, Jones in golf. Gazing behind the color and clamor of stadium, diamond, court and course, we have seen the Republican party's dominance in politics. And we have all been waiting for Napoleon to arrive at Waterloo. Notre Dame has finally obliged, in a grand battle with the "Roaring Trojans" of Southern California, who vanquished the "Fighting Irish" three years ago. It is a good thing for football, just as the Cardinals' victory over the Athletics was a good thing for baseball, and the passing of Tilden, if that wily perennial has passed, was a good thing for tennis. Jones, in the Alexandrian manner, quit when there were no more worlds to conquer, but golf is a dementia, unaffected by anything that does or does not occur, and really has no place in a profound psychological study like the present discussion. As for the experience the Republican party is rushing head-on into, we venture no prophecy except to say that logic, fate and law of retribution are all happily pointing to a fatal collision.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Uneasy lies the head that does all the farm board's worrying, too, it seems, after what Chairman Stone sat through yesterday. Besides having to answer all sorts of embarrassing questions from members of the senate agricultural committee, he was forced to listen to haranguing by our own Senator Brookhart—"Wildman" Brookhart, as one of Iowa's dailies would have it.

In an attempt to save the board from dissolution, Stone testified before the committee that the total losses in operations on loans outside of wheat and cotton would not exceed two per cent. The average price for all sales by the board was between 53 and 54 cents a bushel. The purchase price averaged 81 cents.

Brookhart's critical query as to why the farm board confined its operations to wheat and cotton when surpluses existed in corn, oats, and livestock, was countered by Stone with the statement that the board's work was limited by the $500,000,000 appropriation.

"I blame you for not coming to congress and asking for more money," Brookhart retorted. Just why the senator from Iowa would want to see matters three times worse by adding more surplus to the board's holdings is problematical. Once under way, there would probably be no end to the board's loaning and buying on open markets—but if the plan doesn't work with one commodity there's no hope of it ever working with others.

It seems that as far as the Manchurian situation goes—things are at a standstill.

The League of Nations council is standing on its resolution for the cessation of hostilities and the withdrawal of troops, and for a commission of inquiry.

China's spokesman is standing on his insistence that the inquiry must be accompanied by Japanese evacuation.

Japan is standing on its insistence that its military activities be unhampered by such an inquiry.

And Charles G. Dawes, the Washington correspondent to the council sessions, is standing around his Paris hotel waiting for something to happen.

But actually, on the field of battle, things aren't really so bad. Most of the fighting seems to be going on in various conference chambers rather than in the open. The first American observer to reach the scene of "serious fighting" in Manchuria reports back that only a minor disorder existed. That leads us to think that, in the interests of accuracy, one ought to lop divers zeros from the tail ends of casualty lists as reported by "war correspondents."

The good residents of Des Moines, Ia., might turn to those of Mukden, Manchuria in their "problem" of ridding their fair city of "crime." And that makes us wonder whether the woman's clubs of Mukden center their tea-time conversations around the same subjects that are troubling the Iowans. For, you see, over there, a real problem exists. While only a handful of petty "gangsters" disturb the peaceful quiet of Des Moines, the Mukdenites have something like 15,000 bandits on their hands . . . and no one to tell them what to do, either.

Despite a rough total of 10,000 volunteers suggestions on the matter of curing licecoughs, doctors will resort to operations in the two much publicized cases. For the same reason, perhaps, that following a particularly "heavy" scene in a movie anything slightly humorous will draw prolonged laughter from the audience, the licecoughs are drawing more attention, it seems, than the stock market or President Hoover.

The attitudes of both Republican and Democratic parties were supposedly sweetened toward the interests of B. H. Dahlberg, sugar financier, through the contributions to both their 1928 campaign funds.

So at least was the report made by Sleuth John Holland before the United States lobby investigation committee yesterday.

On the point of becoming enthusiastic about Sugar Magnate Dahlberg's impartiality—the discrepancy between $5,000 to Republicans and $1,000 to Democrats probably being based on party strength and not on favoritism—we recall, alas, that such generosity by corporation interests is anti-wful. Too bad, Mr. Dahlberg.

The Tower of Death: The Tower of Death in Bukhara, was erected by Tuzhuk, Khan of Turkestan, in the fourteenth century. Once every week on Friday, the head priest of the city ascends to the top of the minaret to issue his call to prayer to the faithful below. For many centuries the tower served as the spot from which criminals were precipitated to their death 150 feet below. Behind the Scenes in Hollywood By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—All Hollywood is muscling in on Burton Holmes' racket. Whenever a star goes traveling these days, he takes a camera with him. If he's lucky he comes back with enough film to pay his expenses. As usual, Douf Fairbanks goes the other fellow one better. His "Around the World in 80 Minutes" will bring in returns comparable to one of his feature pictures. And now he's off to the Gobi Desert and Africa with Lewis Milestone and Albert Benchley.

Gary Cooper is taking a cameraman on his archaeological expedition into the Nile country. Zane Grey has made a picture of his sword-fighting trip to the latest Hollywood celebrity to go adventuring with a camera and a portable sound equipment is Roland West, the director. Roland's yacht is now headed for the Cocos Islands, famous as a pelican refuge. His party includes four Hollywood actors, one of whom Roland sent to cooking school for two months before the expedition started. They hope to return with material for a short subject at least.

I don't believe it's been told that Mary Pickford was really responsible for Douf's "Around the World in 80 Minutes." He was intending just to take a pleasure trip to the Orient, but practical Mary suggested a camera and sound equipment to be included in the baggage.

State, Local Tax Systems Show Change

Professor Nelson Says Federal Situation Stable

No shifts in the federal system of taxation are likely to occur in the immediate future but the state and local systems are now in a condition of change and probably will remain so for some years.

Prof. Richard W. Nelson of the University of Iowa has made that summary in his study, "What Makes Taxes High?" recently published by the Alexander Hamilton Institute of New York.

He predicts little alteration in any form of federal taxation, nature or number of levies, methods of administration and collection, or total amount of revenue. War is the only agency which can cause radical shifts.

The current drift in state and local situations is in the direction of greater uniformity, although the states can hardly be said to be striving for a common goal, according to the university commerce college expert.

Change Adoptions Slow
Between new and changed conditions, social and industrial, and the appropriate reforms in taxation, there is always a lag of many years because the popular mind is tardy in recognizing the significance of new situations.

"Thus the efforts to revise systems of taxation, now being made in many of the states, are the late outcome of the economic evolution which dates back to the last century of the nineteenth century," Professor Nelson reports.

City Shivers Under Chilly West Wind as Winter Draws Near

Iowa City shivered yesterday as a cold west wind, starting Monday night, brought a considerable drop in temperature and whistled a warning that winter is just around the corner.

From a registration of 64 degrees Monday afternoon, the thermometer tobogganed down to 33 degrees Monday night, remained at the same point at 7 a.m. yesterday, and climbed no higher during the day. Further threatenings of colder weather came with a drop to 27 degrees at 7 p.m.

Precipitation for the month up to date has been twice the normal amount for the month of November, according to Prof. John F. Reilly, government weather observer, and much more than Iowa City usually experiences.

FISH PREFERRED

By P. G. Wodehouse

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

Ronald Fish, nephew of Lord Emsworth of Blandings Castle, is in love with Sue Brown, a chorus girl. To win the favor of his uncle, he induces the butler, Beach, to help him steal and hide his lordship's prize pig, the Empress of Blandings, with the purpose of producing it later and being rewarded. Meanwhile, a misunderstanding has developed between Ronnie and Sue, and hoping to make up with him, Sue has come up with him, Sue has come up with him, Sue has come up with him...

Twenty-first Installment

The firm and dignified note in which Rupert Baxter had expressed to Sue his considered opinion of the Earl of Emsworth had been written in the morning room immediately upon the ex-secretary's return to the house and been delivered into Beach's charge with hands still stained with garden mold. Only when this urgent note had been performed did he start to go upstairs in quest of the wash and brush-up which he so greatly needed. He was mounting the stairs to his bedroom and had reached the first floor when a door opened and his progress was arrested by what in a lesser woman would have been a yelp. Proceeding, as it did, from the lips of Lady Constance Keeble, we must call it an exclamation of surprise. "Mr. Baxter!"

She was standing in the doorway of her boudoir, and she eyed his disheveled form with the same air of astonishment that for an instant the ex-secretary came near to including her with the head of the family in the impromptu combination service which was taking shape in his mind. He was in no mood for wide-eyed looks of wonder. "May I come in?" she said curiously. He could explain all, but did not wish to do so on the first floor landing of a house where almost anybody might be listening with flapping ears. "But, Mr. Baxter?" said Lady Constance. He paused for a moment to grit his teeth, then closed the door. "What have you been doing, Mr. Baxter?" "Jumping out of window."

DIXIE DUGAN—Ah! But Can He Cook Tea?

"You mean, if you could find the Empress?" "Exactly." "Oh, Mr. Baxter, if you only could!" "I can." Lady Constance stared at his dark, purposeful face in dumb admiration. To another man who had spoken those words she would have replied "How?" or even "How on earth?" But, as they had proceeded from Rupert Baxter, she merely waited silently for enlightenment. "Have you given this matter any consideration, Lady Constance?" "Yes." "To what conclusions have you come?" Lady Constance felt dull and foolish. She felt like Doctor Watson. "I don't think I have come to any," she said, avoiding the spectacles guiltily. "Of course," she added, "I think it is absurd to suppose that Sir Gregory—" but, as we have seen, until this moment he had refrained. He now said it. "Tchah!" said the efficient Baxter. "There are plenty of other butlers." And with this undeniable truth he stalked from the room. The wash and brush up were still as necessary as they had been 10 minutes before, but he was too intent on the chase to think about washes and brushes. He hurried down the stairs. He crossed the hall. He passed through the green baize door that led to the quarters of the Blandings Castle staff. And he was making his way along the dim passage to the pantry where at this hour Beach might be supposed to be when its door opened abruptly and a vast form emerged. It was the butler. And from the fact that he was wearing a bowler hat it was plain that he was seeking the great outdoors.

Baxter stopped in mid-stride and remained on one leg, watching. Then, as his quarry disappeared in the direction of the back entrance, he followed quickly. Out in the open it was almost dark as it had been in the passage. The gray, threatening sky had turned black by now. It was a swollen mass of ink clouds, heavy with thunder, lightning, and rain which so often came in the course of an English summer to remind the island race that they are hardy Norics and must not be allowed to set their fibre all snuffed by eternal sunshine like the less favored dwellers in more southerly climes. It rained at Baxter like a bloodhound. But it took more than dirty weather to quell the efficient Baxter when duty called. Like the character in Tennyson's poem who followed the gleam, he followed the butler. There was but one point about Beach which even remotely resembled a gleam, but it happened to be only one which at this moment really mattered. He was easy to follow.

The shrubbery swallowed the butler, and it took a few seconds later to swallow the efficient Baxter. (TO BE CONTINUED)

Weather Worry at Ohio S. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24 (AP)—Weather conditions for the charity game with Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday seemed to be the only worry of Coach Sam Williamson today as he sent his charges through a light practice session. Heavier equipment will be taken on the journey by the squad in preparation for the predicted cold wave.

Chicago at Top Strength CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—With the return of Buzzell, halfback, and Tolson, end, Chicago will be at top strength for the round robin charity football program at Stagg field Thursday, for the first time of the season. The Maroons were given a long drill on blocking and tackling.

Lobdell to Appear in Water Carnival Despite Bad Injury Wentworth Lobdell, Iowa's all-American diver, suffered a severe injury while going through his repertoire of tricks at the field house swimming pool yesterday in preparation for the Dolphin's aquatic show Dec. 1 and 2. However, he will be in shape to stage his hair-raising dives, it was announced. Lobdell took a bad gash in his forehead while flipping about on the springboard. "Duke" Nelson, winner of the $10,000 Wrigley marathon in 1930, is another famous swimmer who is included in the Dolphin's program.

Never Again, Grid Game at Loyola, U., Declares President

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Intercollegiate football, the robust king of college sports, today appeared dead forever at Loyola University. Almost a year ago, the Chicago school with an enrollment of almost 7,000, dropped this sport as an experiment. Today, the Rev. M. Kelley, president and instigator of the drastic move, said he was so pleased with the results that he was certain it would never return. "Naturally, there are a few students who still think Loyola made a mistake in discontinuing intercollegiate football," President Kelley said, "but the preponderant feeling is that we have made a wise move."

Solem Fears Staleness DES MOINES, Nov. 24 (AP)—Fearing staleness as the result of two gruelling battles with Iowa State college and Grinnell, Coach Ossie Solem gave his Drake gridmen a rest today in preparation for the Thanksgiving day game with Marquette. Freezing weather and slippery footing were partly responsible for the letup and the men took only a brief workout indoors.

Northwestern Drills EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 24 (AP)—Northwestern's football squad took a long offensive drill today, in which there was no contact work. Captain Dal Marvil and Dick Feneel, regular end, were not in uniform because of painful burns allegedly caused by the mixture for lining the field at Iowa last week.

Irish Grid for Army SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 24 (AP)—Army plays were given a thorough review today by Coach Hank Anderson as the Notre Dame squad whipped through its second drill for the battle at New York. Anderson said the Cadets, with two weeks of easy going following their engagement with Pittsburgh, would prove extremely troublesome and warned against anything resembling a letup.

When two Clovis, N. M., golf teams met for 18 holes of play the total scores were 2,626 and 2,627 for the 54 men and 10 women participating.

Grain Bidding Aids Rally in Stock Market

Interest Centers About Railroad Security Problems

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Better buying of cotton and wheat encouraged traders in securities today and after early irregularity stocks moved forward somewhat briskly.

Principal interest in the stock market centered around railroad securities. They followed a zig-zag course, with Pennsylvania and New Haven going to new lows under weight of concern over New Haven's next dividend action, now slated for Dec. 8.

Because of its large investment in New Haven, Pennsylvania shared in the decline. Pennsylvania shared New Haven recovered a fraction more than its earlier loss in closing dealings, and Pennsylvania came within a fraction of erasing its loss.

New York Central, Delaware & Hudson, Atlantic Coast Line, and Norfolk & Western registered net gains on moderately active turnover. Declaration of the usual stock dividend of five per cent by International Business Machines and expectation that the company will this year report record high earnings resulted in a gain of more than two points by that issue.

Wheat Rallies After Rumor Causes Loss

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Staggering under stop-loss selling which followed disclosure that United States government-financed wheat holdings aggregated 190,000,000 bushels, wheat prices reeled today, then rallied. Recovery was aided by the fact that export purchases of North American wheat today were 1,600,000 bushels, most of it however, wheat grown in Canada.

Wheat closed nervous, 1-2 to 1 1/2 cents higher than yesterday's finish, corn at 7-8 decline, oats a shade down to 14 up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents higher.

Prospects that colder weather would put the corn into better condition led to selling pressure on corn throughout the day. Oats responded to extreme scantiness of receipts.

Provisions Rally Closing indemnities: wheat—Dec. 54 1/2, 58; March, 56 1/2, offers; May 58 1/2 to 1-2, 61 1/2; July 58 1/2, 61 1/2. Corn—Dec. 49 1/2, 42; March 45 1/2, offers; May 44 1/2 to 1-2, 46 1/2; July 46, 46 1/2.

Hooray! The War's Over!

Johnny Comes Marching Home; Troop Spends 23 Hours in Saddle; Glad to Get Back

Military activities in Iowa's bovine war, are over for the season, and local national guardsmen returned home at noon yesterday.

The Iowa City unit, Troop I of the 11th cavalry regiment demobilized at the American Legion building yesterday afternoon. Tired youths checking in muddy blankets and greasy mess kits had forgotten some of the "wise-cracks" with which they started "off to war" over a month ago.

"If I never have another war it will be two weeks too soon," sighed one worn soldier, and the rest agreed emphatically.

While encamped at Burlington the troop made a 70 mile trip with mounts into Lee county. Leaving at 2 a. m., on a Friday morning, and returning to their base at 5 a. m., the next morning, the men spent 23 hours in the saddle, exceeding any continuous march ever made by a national guard troop in this country.

Accompanying veterinarians in cattle testing as an indication of authority was the chief occupation of the guardsmen. They left Iowa City Oct. 22, camped at Burlington until Nov. 17, moved with the veterinarians to Fairfield, and remained there until the completion of testing Monday.

Major Will J. Hayek and Captain Albert J. Yanasch were in command of the Iowa City troop. Other officers were Elmer M. Hay, first lieutenant; Newton L. Mulford, second lieutenant, and Glen L. Schmidt, adjutant.

Offering announcement will be made by the Rev. Ira J. Houston, Congregational church. Special music by the choir of the Christian church will precede the Rev. Mr. Dysinger's sermon.

Following a hymn by the congregation, the Rev. E. D. Nelson, Nazarene church, will complete the program by giving the benediction. Hugh Tudor, director of music at Christian church, will have charge of the music. The organist will be Esther Belle Moore.

A special Thanksgiving day service will be held by St. Paul's Lutheran chapel, Jefferson and Gilbert street, at 10:30 a. m., tomorrow. The text will be from Hosea 6:1. The subject of the sermon by the Rev. Julius A. Friedrich, pastor, will be "Come, let us return unto the Lord: for vain is the help of man."

Prayer will be led by the Rev. W. P. Lemon, First Presbyterian church.

Miller Gives Address on Recent Tour

Describing conditions in southeastern Europe as economically and politically unsound, Prof. Sidney L. Miller, of the commerce college, gave an account of his recent tour of these countries at the weekly Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday.

Professor Miller described the unemployment situation as generally bad in all of the countries he visited. He also remarked on the fallacy of the low wage scale in force in that part of the world. Politically the European countries are dissatisfied and considerable unrest is being evidenced.

In concluding his speech Professor Miller described his visit to Geneva where his party was given the privilege of witnessing the League of Nations in operation. The League seemed to be performing a needed service in international understanding. The speaker remarked that the United States had not joined the League but did not recommend such a move.

Professor Miller was a member of a party of nine economists who visited Europe under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. With two of these economists he visited Germany, Austria, Hungary, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Jugo Slavia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Greece, and Switzerland.
