Japan Makes Objections to Peace Plans

Tokyo Government Will Submit Counter Proposals

TOKYO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Japan rejected the League of Nations Manchurian peace program on two scores today and drew up counter proposals to be submitted to the League council meeting in Paris.

The Tokyo government interpreted the League plan as restricting Japanese activity against bandits and as fixing a virtual time limit for the evacuation of troops outside the Manchurian treaty zone.

Counter Proposals

Foreign Minister Shidehara and other members of the cabinet drew up the counter proposals at a meeting which lasted most of the night. These proposals were to be dispatched to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's spokesman at the League council, along with new instructions.

The fifth paragraph of the council's prepared settlement resolution provides that if evacuation is not completed by the time the League's commission of neutral observers reaches Manchuria, they are to "report speedily to the league with whatever recommendations they see fit."

Another Objection

The "declaration" by Aristide Briand, council chairman, which is to accompany the resolution when it finally is acted on by the council, contains the other point to which Japan objects.

This is an admonition to China and Japan to cooperate in suppressing banditry. The Japanese position is that the Briand statement does not give Japan enough latitude in dealing with bandits.

Six Months Old Puppy Saves Life of Illinois Woman

OQUAWKA, Ill., Dec. 3 (AP)—A six months old pup tonight saved the life of Mrs. Tom Martin, Oquawka, Ill., after she had been attacked by two sows and had received severe injuries.

Mrs. Martin had gone into a hog lot to drive out a cow when the two sows, which had litters of pigs, attacked her. She suffered several broken ribs, badly lacerated back and legs, and possible internal injuries.

The pup had accompanied her to the hog lot and drove the hogs off after they had mauled her on the ground.

Norris Wants Farm Board Work Probed

Resolution Provides for Inquiry Into Loans, Stabilization

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—A thorough investigation of the farm board, center of a growing congressional storm, will be asked by Senator Norris.

While the Nebraskan was drafting a resolution today for early introduction, Chairman Stone said that if the activities of grain, cotton and other traders are included in the inquiry the board will not object.

Under Norris' resolution every phase of the board's activities in the last two years would be investigated by the senate agriculture committee, with special emphasis on loans and stabilization operations.

Equalization Fee

The board's chairman, James M. Stone, repeated today that although he was unconvinced of their effectiveness, he would not actively oppose congressional adoption of the equalization fee or export duties. These plans were urged upon the senate agriculture committee last week by national farm groups in a hearing in which board officials testified at length.

Oklahoma's seven Democratic house members voted today to favor a measure abolishing the board. One of them, Representative McClintic, is drafting a bill to carry this out.

Not Critical

"I am not doing this in any critical sense," Norris said of his move for an investigation, "but a lot of things developed at the recent hearings of the board that ought to be gone into."

Stone said of the proposed inquiry, "If they are going to investigate the Farmers National and Grain Stabilization corporation (farm board affiliates), why not investigate the old line companies, the whole trade and all the fellows who are kicking about the agricultural marketing act? That sort of an investigation would be healthy. The same applies to cotton and all the other commodities."

Strong efforts are expected in congress for passage of the fee and denture plans with authority for the farm board to use either at its discretion.

"Anything to Help"

"I have been unable to see how either plan would help the farmer," Stone said. He added, however, that he was in favor of "anything" that will help.

Prospects for adoption of either or both the fee and denture are considered favorable, especially with the Democrats certain to control the house.

Stone said today the board had no more "secrets" to reveal to its critics, two of whom, Senator Byrnes of South Carolina and Senator King of Utah, both Democrats, have drafted bills to abolish it.

A "GOODBYE" FROM THE RANKS

Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely, retiring commander of the Second Corps area, after 44 years of active service in the army, is shown shaking hands with Sergeant James J. Hill of his headquarters staff as the non-com bids goodbye to his veteran superior. After fitting and colorful ceremonies at Governors Island, N. Y., which General Ely made his headquarters since 1927, the 64 year old warrior departed for Washington, where he will make his home. Maj. Gen. Ely was formerly head of the military department at the state University of Iowa.

Group Plans to Reorganize Closed Bank

Announce Mass Meeting of Depositors for Next Week

By WENDELL GIBSON

Definite plans for the reorganization of the Johnson County Savings bank have been made by the committee in charge with the announcement of Chairman Charles B. Crain that a mass meeting of depositors will be called for next week. Other members of the committee are J. A. Shalla and F. B. Volkeringer.

Members of the reorganization committee journeyed to Davenport yesterday and investigated the plan of reorganization which is being used by the American National bank. The committee interviewed E. P. Adler, chairman of the reorganization committee there. Mr. Adler and three other members of the Davenport committee expect to come to Iowa City next week to advise in this city's bank plans.

Committee Wants Eggertson

It was hoped by members of the committee that Slevert, Eggertson, state banking department examiner in charge at Davenport, would be able to receive permission from the banking department in Des Moines to come to Iowa City this week and look over the situation here with Ben S. Summerhill, examiner in charge of the local banks. It is hoped that they will be able to recommend a schedule basis for the reorganization which would meet the approval of the state department.

First Step

The first step in reorganization would be to draw up a schedule on which the banking department would pass approval for the reorganization. This would necessitate the drawing of a division line between the total assets of the old bank which would be included in the new bank and those that would be put into a trust fund for future distribution. It was thought that such a plan could be worked out on a 50-50 basis here.

Possible Assessment

A possibility of an assessment of 10 per cent of the full deposits to be put into the capital of the new bank has been discussed. Such a plan of reorganization would place the bank on its feet with nearly half of the assets of the old bank included in the new bank and the rest in capital and a trust fund. All of these plans must be included in the schedule sent to the state department for approval.

Need Depositors' Approval

The next step in reorganization would be the obtaining of waivers from the depositors. It is necessary that 51 per cent of the depositors or 75 per cent of the total deposits register approval of the reorganization. The next step would be to sell into the new bank and finally to gain the approval of the state department to open. All cash that had been collected by the reversionary up to the time of reorganization would be turned over to the new bank.

Concrete Example

A concrete example of the working of such a plan would, if worked out on the basis of a deposit of $100, be in the following manner: 10 per cent or $10 would go into the capital stock of the new bank to be held for the depositors, half of the $100 or $50 would go into a trust fund, and the remaining $40 would be available to the depositors of the bank when it opened. The $50 in the trust fund would be paid out over a period of time.

J. M. Fisk Funeral to Take Place Today at Presbyterian Church

Funeral service for John M. Fisk, late superintendent of buildings and grounds department of the University of Iowa, will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 2:30 this afternoon. The Rev. W. P. Lemmon, pastor of the church, will conduct the service, and the burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

After an illness of several months, and after being confined to the university hospital since August, Mr. Fisk died Wednesday morning. The body will be at the family home, 323 N. Capitol street, until the time of the service this afternoon.

New Rule to Permit Ballot on Prohibition

Petition Signed by 145 Members Seeking Change

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—House Republicans yielded today to the persistent clamor of the wet bloc for a change in rules of procedure which will permit a vote on prohibition at the coming session.

Meeting in party conference, they agreed to support an amendment to the rules under which any piece of legislation can be brought to a roll call if 145 members sign a petition asking that the bill be taken. Present rules require 218 signers.

Both Parties Agreeable

With Democratic leaders of the house the chiefs of both parties in the senate agreeable, a vote on the perennial prohibition issue seems assured in both branches.

The drys, confident of numerical superiority, are ready for it. The wets have no delusions of victory. "Their goal is to have the attitude of all members of congress definitely on record before next year's general elections."

Democratic Leaders Meet

While the Republicans were meeting today, Democratic house leaders got together to discuss the question of rule changes and agreed to sponsor a rule even more liberal than that of the Republicans.

Representative Crisp of Georgia was designated to present a program at the party caucus Saturday. He favors a minimum requirement of 100 signatures.

Senator Norris, a leading dry, said today he was willing to let prohibition come to a vote in the judiciary committee of which he is chairman. He added, however, that he regarded such a move as a "waste of time."

Doctors Think Herman Knol Will Recover

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Doctors today were hopeful of saving the life of 17 year old Herman Knol, who was shot last Sunday night by Daniel L. Gilday, elderly reformer.

The physician attending the wounded youth said he felt "reasonably sure he will live" inasmuch as the peritonitis which it was feared yesterday was spreading through Knol's body had been localized.

Gilday tonight still was in the county jail, having failed to produce the $15,000 bond required for his freedom.

Mal Coghlan, assistant state's attorney, said he had questioned several witnesses today who said they believed Gilday was drunk Sunday night shortly before the shooting.

Gilday and his associates have denied he drank and explained that his actions were probably due to an attack of heart disease.

Suggest Mass Production of New Homes

Plan Made to Include Family Houses, Apartments

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Mass production of homes was proposed to President Hoover's conference on home building and ownership today as a means of bringing them within reach of 50,000,000 clerical and industrial workers.

A powerful corporation with millions of dollars in resources was suggested by the committee on large scale operations to carry out this giant construction scheme—designed to include single family houses as well as apartments and model tenements.

Assistance of federal and state governments was requested today by the committee on large scale operations to insure needed financing and amendments of laws to create and facilitate the mass production corporation's activities.

"Only a corporation organized for large scale operation, with ample funds, directed and staffed by experienced and able architects, contractors and manufacturers, and enjoying the cooperation of labor and government can produce an adequate result," the committee added.

New Clue in Powers Case

Claims "Mystery Man," Charles Rogers, Knows All

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 3 (AP)—A new "mystery man" was produced as a witness today by Harry F. Powers, who goes on trial Monday for the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee.

Powers will be tried specifically for Mrs. Lemke's death, but he also is accused of slaying Mrs. Asta Bulck Elcher, Park Ridge, Ill., widow and her three children.

Eleven Witnesses

Among the names of eleven witnesses which J. Ed Law, Powers' attorney, handed to the circuit court clerk for the issuance of subpoenas today, was that of "Ceel Johnson," address unknown. On the list is also the name of "Charles S. Rogers," address unknown.

Rogers is the name of the man Powers claims can tell police all about the few killings.

No Mental Experts

No names of mental experts or alienists appear on the list, but it was understood that one or two local doctors who examined Powers may be called.

Inspection of the Johnson angle was interpreted by police to mean that Powers may seek to establish an alibi, although the defense had indicated an insanity plea might be made.

To Ask Death Penalty

The state will ask the death penalty for Powers, claiming he lured Mrs. Lemke to Quiet Dell, near here, on the promise of marriage and then slew her.

The defense is expected to contend that Mrs. Lemke, also was friendly with Rogers and cite Powers' statement to police: "If you get hold of Charles S. Rogers you can clear this up."

Best Animals Go to Market

First Place Winners in Stock Show Bring Lower Prices

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Monarchs of meat, champions at the International livestock show, started their death march today.

The prices paid for these cars of cattle, sheep, and swine were the lowest since the sales of 1923.

Christmas Meat

First to go under the auctioneer's hammer was "Biarcliff Thicket," Aberdeen Angus yearling and grand champion steer of the exposition. The steer, first from the east to win this title, brought only $127 a pound, and the choice cuts will be offered as Christmas delicacies.

Today was governor's day at the exposition. Nine chief executives of Mississippi valley states were guests.

Herefords

The Herefords exhibited by J. F. Moeller of Schleswig, Ia., the champion carload lot of the show, were sold for $20.25 per hundred pounds. The average price on carload champions for the last eight years has been above $30.

Another load of Herefords, first prize two year olds owned by J. Turin of Kiron, Ia., brought only $14.25 per hundred pounds. They were purchased for Christmas tables by the Kenmore hotel of Boston.

Emphasizing the importance of a previously planned program, Glen G. Fordyce led a discussion on outdoor meetings and hikes at the meeting of the boy leadership training course last night at the hotel.

"The program for an ideal hike will fill every minute with something interesting that the boys enjoy doing," Mr. Fordyce said. In connection with the discussion of outdoor meetings, plans were announced for an outing for members of the training course.

Van der Zee Talks on Armaments to University Group

"If you want peace, prepare for peace for a chance, instead of for war, as is usually done," declared Prof. Jacob Van der Zee in a talk on "The problem of armaments" before the International Relations club last night.

"There is a tremendous psychological effect in arming a nation," he said. "The first result is to acquaint the people with the Roman slogan, 'If you want peace, prepare for war.' The idea of armaments being an insurance against war has just the opposite effect of bringing on the thing it is supposed to insure against."

"I believe in peace as a means to an end, a bridge to reach greater opportunities for everybody. So long as we have milestones of war around our necks we are neglecting a great opportunity."

Three of Hospital Staff Resign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Resignations of three staff officers of the Washington county hospital were tendered today by a board of supervisors following its refusal to remove Mrs. Margaret Hales Rose as superintendent of the institution. A petition signed by 14 of the 17 doctors in the county asked her removal, alleging lack of cooperation. The officers who resigned were Dr. H. F. Masson, Washington, president; Dr. F. M. Mahin, Alnsworth, vice president; and Dr. J. L. Fry, Kalona, secretary.

Deposits Give Light to Case of Conspiracy

$500,000 in Bank Used to Show Guilt of Liquor Ring

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 3 (AP)—Records of $500,000 in bank deposits, part of the money alleged by the government to have been Ted Newberry's share in the tri-city liquor conspiracy, were offered in federal court as evidence against the Chicago gangster and 28 co-defendants on trial here.

Government prosecutors, saving their largest figures for the finish of the long case, dug up a dozen ledger sheets, scores of deposit slips, and hundreds of checks carried under eight accounts at the Addison National bank in Chicago. The defense did not challenge their authenticity.

110 Witnesses

Assistant District Attorney Alexander, believing his 110 witnesses and 1,000 exhibits have established that a conspiracy against the dry law existed in Chicago and the area embracing Davenport, Ia., and Rock Island and Moline, Ill., said he would call only two or three more witnesses.

Officials of the Citizens State bank, which succeeded the Addison bank in September, 1929, testified they endorsed Newberry's name on checks from Mike Blumberg of Clinton, Ia., and Jack Wall of Davenport, Ia., the defendants, and credited them to accounts held by Newberry under various names.

Newberry's Account

One account was in Newberry's own name. The others were for A. J. Snow, O. Smith, M. Sort, John Market, W. Collins, Daniel Oyle, and H. Horn.

Bank employes identified the deposit slips, checks and ledger sheets of the seven other accounts but said they did not know anyone by those names.

Fire Wrecks River Front, Naval Stores

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP)—A terrific fire, accompanied by a series of explosions of chemicals and naval stores, menaced the entire Jacksonville river front tonight.

Reports reaching the Times-Union building said several persons had been killed in the explosions and flames. The reports could not be confirmed immediately.

Forty-five minutes after the fire started, the explosions continued with unabated regularity.

Two firemen were taken to a hospital but the extent of their injuries was not determined.

Other reports said the blaze started in an oil tanker docked in the river. At 8 p.m. another fire broke out in the outskirts of the city.

The origin of the fire was not learned immediately but the Seaboard Air line docks appeared to be the center from which a devastating flare of flames spread with rumbling blasts.

Several persons were reported injured at a check at hospitals showed two firemen had been received for treatment.

At one time the grocer had wrestled the gun from his assailant, but was so weak from loss of blood that he was unable to pull the trigger. Grabbing his gun, the bandit ran to the rear of the store, jumped through a window pane and escaped.

Uniformed police and plain clothes detectives scoured the neighborhood following the holdup attempt in an effort to find the bandit. He was smeared with blood and easily recognizable, police said. Several persons reported seeing him in the neighborhood of the store late tonight, but he was not apprehended.

States Seek Waterway to Great Lakes

Urge Hoover to Ratify Treaty So Work May Start

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Immediate action to procure a St. Lawrence Waterway to make seaports of midwest cities was demanded of President Hoover and congress today by the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association.

The action followed unanimous endorsement of the plan by eight middle western governors. The president was urged to proceed immediately with the ratification of a treaty so that Canada and the United States could start work on the project.

With eight governors present, along with representatives of 15 other states, the association pledged itself to exert every legitimate effort to secure "a definite and satisfactory treaty signed and ratified by the two nations."

Resting its belief on the assumption that the treaty now being drafted will soon be completed, the association called on the president and congress to speed up ratification and subsequent legislation so actual construction of the remaining stretches of the seaway might be started within the working season of 1932.

Report Republic of Salvador Rebellion Against President

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3 (AP)—The tiny republic of Salvador, smallest in Latin America, was understood today to be in the throes of a rebellion against the government of President Arturo Araujo.

Radio messages received by the Mexican aviation company from its manager in the city of San Salvador, the capital, said a revolution instigated by political parties and military elements had broken out last night and continued today until it reached serious proportions.

Heavy fighting took place in the streets of San Salvador, it was said. The situation was said to be "very grave" in spite of the fact that a state of siege has been in effect since July.

President Araujo was said to have ordered that no airplanes should land at or depart from the city until the movement had been brought under control. The Pan-American always accordingly rearranged its schedule so that its ships would pass over the city.

Troubled History
The Republic of Salvador, 140 miles long and 60 miles wide, has had a troubled history since it gained its independence from Spain in 1821. Late in 1927 the government put down an uprising and executed two army officers. In 1929 a plot to assassinate President Bosque was thwarted and the ringleaders were arrested. Disturbances said to have been inspired by communists occurred in 1930.

High Schools Begin Debate Season Soon

Iowa League to Start Elimination Meets in Districts

The Iowa high school debating league will swing into the twenty-fifth year of its activity within a short time, according to an announcement given yesterday by Prof. A. Craig Baird, chairman of the league's executive committee. Enrollment in the league this year includes 110 schools, which indicates that around 450 debaters will take part in the competition. The league is to be used by all schools competing in "Resolved," that the states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance.

Use Triangular System
The league is organized under the triangular system of debating, a plan which was first used in 1927 and which has been largely approved by the schools. Under this system, each school is represented by two speakers each.

With the state divided into four districts, these districts are further divided into four sub-divisions. The elimination contests forward the four district champions to Iowa City for the semi-final and final debates which will be held April 29.

Eagle Grove Champions
Last year there were 255 debates held, with 348 students performing before total audiences estimated at 14,000 people. In the final high school championship debate held at Iowa City last year, Eagle Grove won first honors and Thomas Jefferson high school of Council Bluffs won second prize.

Trophies in the form of plaques are awarded to the schools winning first and second places in the final contest by the extension division of the University of Iowa. Four year scholarships in the college of liberal arts are also given to the six debaters participating in the final championship debate. Freshmen enrolled in the university this year who took part in the final debates last year include John Moon of Ottumwa, and Collman Yudelson of Council Bluffs.

Attorney General Rules
DES MOINES (AP) — The attorney general's office ruled that the state board of education and other state departments cannot give extended leaves of absence with full pay. The case referred to a leave of absence given Prof. Steven Popoff of the University of Iowa.

Iowa Graduate Works Out Mapping Project From Plane

Lieut. J. P. Phillips, B. S. in civil engineering '22, of the corps of engineers of the material division at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, and Captain A. W. Stevens of the air corps have recently completed a successful experimental mapping project performed with the air corps five-lens camera in New England.

The department of the interior considers the work done of such significance that the men are being sent by airplane to California to work on a similar project for the United States coast and geodetic survey. The work was unusual in that it was performed entirely at a high altitude, a total of 15 hours being flown at 20,000 feet. Oxygen was used on all flights and the usual reactions of nausea and headache were absent.

3,600 Square Miles
The air photographers covered 3,600 square miles of territory with their five-lens camera in two days of flying time. With ordinary equipment this is a half year's work. At 20,000 feet the camera covered an area 20 miles wide. The total number of negatives taken was 800.

Work done was for the department of the interior and was done largely along the west boundary of Maine, next to the New Hampshire line. An area of 1,200 square miles was covered north of Moosehead lake. A wide angle including most of the ground beneath is the unusual part of the new camera which was designed by the material division of the corps of engineers. It is used in connection with a laboratory instrument that secures wing pictures, enlarging them and projecting them into the horizontal plane at the

Planet Mercury Visible for Few Minutes at Dusk

At dusk the planet Mercury is visible for a few minutes at the present time.

Prof. Charles C. Wylie of the astronomy department saw the planet between 5:15 and 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and again Wednesday. Yesterday cloudy weather prevented a sight of the new evening star.

Mercury is the planet closest to the sun, so close that only when it is at its farthest distance from the brightness of the sun's rays, that it is visible at all. Normally it is down when it is dark enough to see it. It will be visible at dusk until next Monday or Tuesday.

Baker Speaks to Mathematics Club

Prof. Richard P. Baker of the mathematics department, spoke on "Multiplication," before the members of the Undergraduate Mathematics club in the physics building yesterday afternoon.

Smokestacks, Clouds, Floodlights Basis of Astronomy Problem

A peculiar crescent shaped cloud effect has been seen this week by various persons in Iowa City, according to reports of Prof. Charles C. Wylie of the astronomy department. The phenomenon is apparently due to lowhanging clouds that appear to be almost directly over Iowa river.

When pressed for an explanation, Professor Wylie referred the reporter to Demrose Boyd, A4 of Kookuk, astronomy student, who said that the light area is the reflection of the smokestack floodlights of the powerhouse on the clouds. Each smokestack cuts out a portion of the light from the other stack.

When Professor Wylie was asked for an explanation again he went to the window, looked towards the powerhouse, then towards the lowhanging clouds and said, "I'll tell you this much, you can't see it now."

The lights at the powerhouse had not yet been turned on.

Children Will Present Play

25 Youngsters to Give "The Toymaker of Nuremberg"

"The Toymaker of Nuremberg," second of the series of children's plays under the auspices of the University theater, will be presented for the first time Saturday at 2:30 p.m., in the studio annex theater.

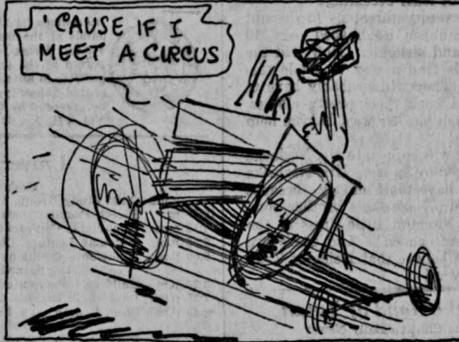

Horace W. Robinson, G of Oklahoma City, Okla., will be seen cost as the toymaker. Twenty-five children, take the rest of the parts in the play. A juvenile stage and production crew also assist in the production.

The scenes of the play are all laid in the historic site of Nuremberg, Germany. The play is typically German, and scenery and costumes help to carry out this effect. It deals with the adventures of the toymaker, with the children, and is based upon German folklore of long ago.

"The Toymaker of Nuremberg" is under the direction of Margaret Mary Young, who is in charge of all juvenile playwork this year.

Memberships in the children's theater, costing $1, are still available to all children who would like to take part in play productions this year. There are three more plays to be presented by children under the supervision of Mrs. Young this season. Single tickets to the play may be bought at the studio theater the afternoon of the play.

KNOL BOY MAY RECOVER

Peritonitis set in, and death seemed eminent, but doctors were more optimistic about the youth's condition yesterday.

Iowa Debates Nebraska on Insurance for Unemployed

Speaking before an audience estimated at 300, an Iowa debate team met a team from the University of Nebraska at Washington high school in Cedar Rapids yesterday afternoon. Iowa was represented by a team composed of J. Harold Saks, LL of Council Bluffs, and Orville A. Hitchcock, G of Hyndman, Pa. They took the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance, to which the employers shall contribute." The University of Nebraska was represented by R. W. Fishbaugh and S. D. Wyncoop. There was no decision rendered in the debate.

Opening the case for the affirmative, Mr. Fishbaugh pointed out that something needs to be done to alleviate the present day evils connected with unemployment. Unemployment insurance, a system whereby part shall be contributed by the state and part by the employer, given out in loans during a period of unemployment would do much to remedy the evil, he contended. "Laborers, the workingmen of the nation, have the right and should be protected against periodic sessions of unemployment," he added in closing.

The first speaker on the negative, Mr. Saks, admitted that something should be done to alleviate unemployment, but declared that insurance was not the proper remedy for the evil. He pointed out that this system of insurance was economically unsound, and based his contentions upon three reasons: first, it is impossible to establish unemployment insurance upon an actuarial basis; second, it puts the burden upon the employer at a time when he is least able to bear this added load; third, it covers, actually, only a small percentage of those unemployed, due to the restrictions and conditions necessary to receive it.

Closing the case for the affirmative, Mr. Wyncoop showed how insurance would be a direct benefit to both the laborer and the employer, by aiding in stabilizing industry, and maintaining the buying power of the people, which is now at low ebb. It will place more money on the market and hence will make these periods of depression shorter. The unemployment will not become so widespread, he added.

Mr. Hitchcock closed the debate for the afternoon. He demonstrated how insurance had failed in other countries where it has been tried, namely England and Germany, and showed how this form of aid eventually devolves into a dole, which is not to be desired. This was exactly what happened in England, he declared.

The two teams were the ones which met the Turkish debaters, at Iowa City, and at Lincoln, when the men from Robert college, Constantinople, went on their tour of the United States. Harry Peterson, director of forensics at Washington high school, arranged the debate. William Whipple, a member of the high school debate team, was chairman.

Article by Professor Appears in Current Issue of "Iron Age"

"The motion picture camera for micro-motion study," an article by Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the mechanical engineering department, appears in the current number of "Iron Age."

The use of the motion picture camera in the study of standards on punch press work in factories is discussed by Professor Barnes in the article.

The work described by Professor Barnes was performed by him for the Eastman Kodak company.

Return Prescott to Prison; Cheated Justice 14 Years

DENVER, Dec. 3 (AP) — Lewis K. Prescott was being returned to the Iowa state prison tonight, thankful for the 14 years he won from justice by cheating.

The 67 year old man who absconded from the Clive, Ia., prison farm where he was serving out a life sentence for the confessed killing of his wife in Clear Lake, Ia., boarded a train here with the statement: "Well, I beat them out of 14 years of my life, anyhow."

He is being returned to the penitentiary in Ft. Madison in the custody of Deputy Warden Ben Lakin. Since 1917 when he escaped as a trusty from the farm, the wife he later married in Nebraska and their 11 year old daughter have not known he was a fugitive from justice.

He operated an apartment house here. He was arrested when police were called because of complaints of disturbances there. His fingerprints were checked and he later confessed his identity. He had, in the interim, used the name Lester K. Patton.

artists who will appear in this debate are Vergil Tracy, A2 of Council Bluffs; Charles Howell, A4 of Oelwein, and John Harrison, A2 of Oakland.

The question for this debate is the one being used this semester in all the western conference debates, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a compulsory nation wide plan for the control and distribution in major basic industries." Iowa takes the affirmative in this debate.

A Life to Service

IN ANY INSTITUTION the real materials that build it are the men whose directive and constructive abilities make its success possible — the brick and stone, wood and steel that enter into it are but the means to an end. The men who put to use the inanimate structure are the very soul of a great organization like the University of Iowa.

The university has lost one of its most faithful, most sturdy cornerstones with the death of J. M. Fisk, who for 21 years gave tireless service as superintendent of grounds and buildings.

In no small measure due to his economical administration, the university was able to consummate a great plan of physical expansion, a plan that required the rigid attention to detail that characterized Mr. Fisk's life.

Virtually his only reward was seeing the university plant grow into the large and powerful institution that it is today, a recognized leader in education.

His work will remain behind him as a kind of personal monument, for even his death was partly due to his intense pride and loyalty in the institution which he served.

In ill health at the time of the university investigation last spring, he was unable to withstand the strain imposed by long hours of strenuous examination. Worn by his efforts in replying to attacks upon himself and his associates his constitution suffered a blow from which he never recovered.

Thus it is that with W. C. Stueckliger, board of education member who died during the stress of the investigation, Emmet Tinley, who gave the last of his failing energy to clear the university's name, and Mrs. Emmet Tinley, whose death followed shortly that of her husband, Mr. Fisk will be remembered as one who placed loyalty to this institution higher than life itself.

Second Hand Education

EVERY NOW and then it is appropriate that persons whose responsibility it is to train up the youth of the land in the educational paths they should follow take time off to think about the methods they are employing.

One of the major faults of present education, in every high school and college in Iowa — not altogether excepting the University of Iowa — is the textbook method. Whether the course be in literature, history, economics, or political science — science is mercifully free from much of the failing — the practice is to assign a textbook that is the student's Bible.

In a survey of American literature the tendency is for the student to learn somebody else's opinion about books whose acquaintance he should be making. First the opinion of the instructor, then that of the textbook author. If there is any time left or a special assignment made, some pieces of accepted literature may be read. When lucky, the student will be interested in them. Normally he will find them miles from his interests and inclinations.

Education is a process of seeking out and developing the curiosity that is latent in individuals. When developed, this curiosity will continue to be exercised in a program of reading or cultural activity supplementing activity after school or college days.

But when the system encourages learning about appreciation of art or music or literature, as many courses do, what it encourages by the textbook method is a learning of names and facts to be given back at examination time and, if remembered, to compose the ammunition for a superficial fire of cultural remarks in polite conversation.

Such methods are about as nourishing intellectually as perusal of a menu is physically — and they are not half as stimulating to the appetite.

Woman, Thy Name is Vanity

OVER IN RUSSIA, where women wear a lot of clothes chiefly to keep warm, there has been heard a low roar of dissension. Russian women, it seems, are no different from women in other parts of the world. They love pretty clothes, and gay colors and lovely materials.

But, the soviet government believes not in personal adornment. Clothing to the soviet officials is a necessity and not a device for increasing woman's attraction. So, at the government stores are issued the plain, severe costumes, nearly masculine, which the government considers practical and appropriate for the ladies of the country.

Forgetting that, in the past, women have started wars over lesser things than a dainty blouse or a pretty dress, the officials have decreed the women shall all dress alike! Imagine, ordering Sonia to dress like Masha! The women who fought for freedom from the oppression of the ears don't like the idea of enjoying that freedom in unbecoming uniforms. Why, even the uniforms furnished the women in the Legion of Death were at least becoming!

So, feminine vanity threatens to disrupt the exact communism established over 10 years of force and struggle. How will the Russian officials find a way to evade this new problem? They will probably have to give the women back their pretty clothes, and once a woman has her way, heaven help the poor soviets!

Imagine what will happen to Mr. Nazinska when he is greeted by an irate Mrs. Nazinska who just must have more money because the spouse of Mr. Nazinska's brother communist had the sweetest little dress at the tea party that afternoon! And there are those who won't believe that Helen of Troy started a little war!

Guns in the Hand of Youth

(From The Chicago Daily News)

Two shocking tragedies in a day, each bringing death to a schoolgirl from a revolver in the hand of a boy companion, poignantly raise the question of responsibility for the ease with which juveniles obtain possession of deadly weapons.

In both instances the guns appear to have been obtained by the boys from youthful acquaintances. That fact makes difficult the tracing of responsibility to a dealer. The immediate responsibility seems to lie with the parents, or other grown persons charged with oversight of the boys. That was true in the case of young Varner Corry, who several months ago killed a policeman in a moment of panic.

The plain lesson of these strangely related recent happenings, which ended the lives of two happy-hearted girls, and plunged four households into grief, should be put at once to practical account. Disarm irresponsible youth; put all guns under lock and key; penalize the owner of a gun who allows it to get into the unsupervised possession of a juvenile, and rigidly enforce the law regulating the sale of weapons.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

You wouldn't think that a movie star, of all people, would care if another movie star called him something objectionable, but it seems that Lowell Sherman is suing Helene Costello, both of the flickers, for divorce because she said he was a dirty such and such in front of Mae Murray.

Miss Murray so far hasn't indicated just how much she was shocked and since Helene certainly didn't care, we can't see why Lowell makes such a fuss about it.

And to further shatter our belief in the purity and wholesomeness of the lives our favorite stars lead off the lot, Lowell adds that his wife became so violently intoxicated night after night that he couldn't sleep, and just when he was playing a particularly heavy role, too. And that isn't all . . .

Our faith might hold up under just a little shower of such news but when the proportions of several cloudbursts are assumed, we're almost ready to go back to amateur theatricals forever.

Here's Dolores Del Rio being sued by the lawyer who secured a nice, quiet divorce for her and to whom she paid only $4,000 of a $35,000 bill. Part of the counsel fees, we are given to understand, represent a sledge by some 36 reporters that lasted throughout the turbulent nights and days of the divorce routine.

And not only that — but the lawyer lets us in on one phase of stardom we've always wondered about. He explained how Miss Del Rio was practically boycotted by a motion picture magazine because she refused to endorse the soap product of one of its advertisers. And that isn't all — the antagonized magazine then published an article criticizing Miss Del Rio because she had not gone to the bedside of her dying husband.

Yep, seems like they don't have such an easy time of it out there in Hollywood — everybody knows too much dirt about everybody else for anyone to have a good time. Just as soon as one star seems to be getting along, just barely making a living, you know — someone writes an article for one of those popular screen magazines telling about what a naughty girl Miss Whoosis was at the age of six or about the birthday party in the Whatsis pool one midnight.

Pretty soon we'll begin to believe it's all just so much hooey. But pretty soon there may be no more moonlight gin and water parties because some of the big muckymucks have decided on 20 and 30 per cent cuts in reputedly fabulous salary checks.

Stars like Richard Barthelmess, George Arliss, Dorothy Mackall, William Powell, Doug Fairbanks, Jr., Bebe Daniels, Edward G. Robinson, Ruth Chatterton, Joe E. Brown, and Winnie Lightner, whose checks have been averaging around $7,500 a week, may soon have to follow Harry Langdon's example and declare themselves bankrupt.

Even some of the lesser lights around the studios, whose checks start at $100 per and up, may also have to agree to cuts. And they haven't overlooked the directors and writers — who will be asked to help alleviate the tough financial condition of the bosses.

And there's no comeback. Public or no public, the notices read, take the slash or go home. Aw, but they can't be so mean — there's nothing like a popular actor or actress to help the small town box office receipts along.

Our guess is that they'll take the decrease — and in some cases, at least — buy that many less pairs of $30 shoes and suits of $200 clothes. And in Edward G. Robinson's case, whose hobby is to go shopping for lace underwear — for his wife — we suspect there'll be a letup in at least one family tradition.

Then there's always the comeback that in order to keep up appearances that the theatergoing public expects of the movie colonists, the fabulous salaries are not out of order — in fact, they just barely do.

And y'know, after all, we really wouldn't care to see our favorite collar ad in last year's trends nor our ideal dreamgirl of the silver screen in down-at-the-heel shoes, so we guess it's all too bad at that.

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon
Shirt-tail Charley: The Seminole Indians of Florida exercise a remarkable jurisdiction over the members of their tribe. Having no jails, no police, and no visible means of bringing a culprit to justice, their tribal code is implacably strict, and no offender ever escapes his just punishment. Shirt-tail Charley, a member of the Seminole tribe inhabiting a village near Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, was accused of cruelty to his wife. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to the ignominy of wearing a shirt alone and to disperse with trousers in perpetuity. The sentence making Charley an outcast was rigidly enforced, and gave rise to the appellation by which he was known in many cities in south Florida.

A Drawbridge: When a drawbridge is open to street traffic, it is closed to water traffic, and when it is open to water traffic it is closed to street traffic. So it is open when it is closed, and closed when it is open.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Now that Universal is after her son, Billie, Dorothy Davenport Reid is horrified at the prospect of becoming a movie mother.

"I've always dreaded it," she says, "in fact, I've sworn I'd never be one, but Billie has his life to lead and if he can make some money out of pictures I shall not offer any objections. I'll be up to him."

As fourteen and a half year old Billie already has admitted he would like to follow in his father's footsteps, it looks as if Universal or some other company, soon will have him signed up. The Universal deal is in abeyance pending Carl Laemmle, Jr.'s return from Agua Caliente. It develops they would not need Billie until March anyway.

Years ago, Wallie Reid and Dorothy Davenport first met at the Universal Studio. She was a featured star and he was a combination assistant director and cameraman.

has adopted an 8 months old pick-aninny. He has named it "Little Depression."

LATEST GOSSIP
Lupe Velez has taken to her bed and is under care of a doctor and a nurse. "Threatened nervous breakdown" is the verdict. . . Hollywood was shivering while the big moguls of the film business met at the Hays office to try to decide why pictures cost so much and what can be done about it. Visiting big-guns Nicholas Schenck, H. M. Warner and Adolph Zukor were among those in the huddle. . . Ask Joel McCrea about that adventure he had with the San Francisco society girl. And don't let him say no. It seems a long distance telephone call roused Joel out of his sleep at 5:30 a.m. A feminine voice informed him he was going to get a surprise visit. Several days later, the girl called him again this time from a local hotel. She invited him to come down, but Joel was wary and told her to come out to his house. . . He didn't know what to expect, but certainly was surprised to have his visitor arrive in a $15,000 automobile. She was a beauty, too. Tough life, these young bucks lead. . . Jack Oakie is in New Haven making personal appearances with "Touchdown." He'll be back here Dec. 8. . . Adrienne Ames and her husband, Stephen Ames, are off to New York to spend the holidays in their pent-house.

LEADS LIFE OF HUNTED MAN
The life of a casting director is a harried one. Phil Freedman, who does the hiring for Universal, recently moved out of a hotel because the fact that March is to star, the next morning they found the following note in the mail box: "I am your mail man and I also am an actor. I am a ventriloquist, too. Can I see you?"

IN THE NEWS
Declared in and out of several casts, Eleanor Boardman finally is to get a role in "The Black Robe." She plays opposite Fredric March, whom Paramount stars for the first time in this picture. The story is the not unfamiliar one of the regeneration of a black sheep. Despite the fact that March is to star, feminine lead is said to be a very good part. It should be, for Eleanor Boardman is a competent actress who only needs the proper opportunity to show her worth.

Lothar Mendez will direct "The Black Robe," which is being adapted by the indefatigable Grover Jones and William Slavens McNott.

Dean Williams Announces Iowa Institute Organization for Hydraulic Research Here

New Plan Will Afford Agency for Coordination of Talent, Facilities, Resources in Branch of Engineering

Organization of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, an integral part of the University of Iowa, was announced Thursday by Dean Clement C. Williams, of the college of engineering.

Authorized by the state board of education last May, the new unit now is ready to function with a six-man staff, directed by Prof. Floyd A. Nagler, and with six faculty consultants and an advisory committee of seven engineers of other states.

The institute, Dean Williams said, will afford an agency for the coordination of talent, facilities, and resources in projects of unusual magnitude in hydrology and hydraulic engineering.

Other Scientists to Aid

Complexity of hydraulic investigations involve a diversity of sciences in their solutions. It will be possible, by means of the new organization, to cut across departmental lines—geology, physics, mathematics, and chemistry—and concentrate all of the university scientists' skill upon researches in a single field.

One of the most important features of the institute is its position as a connecting link through which other organizations may work with the university in hydraulic research, according to Dean Williams. He mentioned as possible collaborators various technical societies, governmental departments, municipalities, industries, and power corporations.

Emic Distinctive

In this country and in Europe, organizations of the same general nature have been set up, but none of them embody the distinctive features of the Iowa institute, Dean Williams believes. He classes the project as a notable stride forward in the field.

The university's hydraulic laboratory, originally built in 1919-20, has developed into one of the outstanding experimental stations in the United States. Engineers from many sections of the nation have solved construction problems by creating miniature dams and mimicking the exact conditions of the actual stream.

Name Associate Directors

The staff has two associate directors, David L. Yarnell, senior engineer of the bureau of agricultural engineering, U. S. department of agriculture; and Martin E. Nelson of the U. S. engineer office, St. Paul district.

Associate engineers on the staff are Prof. Frederic T. Mavis and Joseph W. Howe, both of the university's faculty, and J. Stuart Meyers, research assistant.

Consultants who have been appointed are all university faculty men: Sherman M. Woodward, hydraulics; Byron J. Lambert, structures; Arthur C. Trowbridge, sedimentology; George W. Stewart, physics; Henry L. Riez, mathematics; and Edward Bartow, chemistry.

Committee Members

These are the members of the advisory committee with Dean Williams as chairman: Nathan C. Grover, chief hydraulic engineer, U. S. Geological survey, Washington, D. C.; Leroy F. Harza, consulting hydraulic engineer, Chicago, Ill.; Robert E. Horton, Voorheesville, N. Y.; Ivan E. Houk, senior engineer, U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, Denver, Col.; Samuel H. McCrory, chief, Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, U. S. department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch college, Dayton, O.; and George R. Spalding, colonel, corps of engineers of U. S. army and division engineer, upper Mississippi valley division.

Poetry Group Meets

The open meeting of the Poetry association was held last night at 7:30 in the office of Prof. Edwin Ford Piper of the English department. All students interested in the writing of poetry were invited to attend and read their poems for group discussion.

Ruckmick Returns

Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department returned last night from a short tour which had taken him, as a lecturer, to Drake university, Des Moines, and Simpson college, Indianola.

Prof. Herbert Lyte Presents German Modes at Meeting

A presentation of the habits of living and thinking among the people of Germany in their daily activities and natural environment was given last night by Herbert O. Lyte, associate professor of German, at a meeting of the German club in the liberal arts drawing room.

Speaking from experiences and observations obtained during his stay in Germany last summer, Professor Lyte gave an account of the average German citizens as they appear in urban and rural communities away from the channels ordinarily traveled by the American tourists.

"The similarities of inhabitants of German citizens as they appear in are much more astounding than their differences," Mr. Lyte said, placing emphasis on the points of likeness of life in the two countries while occasionally pointing out the distinctions.

Illustrations from cards and photographs were projected during the talk.

Curtailment of Minor Sports Likely as Athletic Board Seeks Economy

Big Ten May Join Iowa in Retrenchment

E. H. Lauer, Hawkeye Coaches Leave for Chicago

The fate of Big Ten minor sports will be hanging in balance today and tomorrow as the athletic directors and coaches of the conference convene in Chicago to draft next year's schedules.

Economy will be the watchword following the football season just closed in which gate receipts fell to a large extent.

"We must economize as much as possible," E. H. Lauer, director of athletics at the University of Iowa said last night, "but we hope to be able to work out a program that will enable us to carry on all sports."

Discussions will be in reference to the conference as a whole," Mr. Lauer declared.

With instructions to carry out the economy policy adopted by the athletic board at its meeting Wednesday, six Hawkeye coaches left last night for Chicago. They were Otto Vogel, baseball; George T. Bresnahan, track; David Armstrong, swimming; Mike Howard, wrestling; Charles Kennett, golf; Ernest G. Schroeder, gymnastics; and Coach Burton A. Ingwersen. Lauer and Dean C. C. Williams will complete the Iowa delegation.

Among the measures discussed at the meeting of the coaching staff yesterday were fewer contests in minor sports and shorter trips.

It is believed that the "economy" situation exists throughout the Big Ten. At the University of Wisconsin the condition is reported to be "critical."

Balance Ledgers at Conference Meeting

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Athletic directors, coaches of all sports and faculty representatives of the Western conference will open a two day meeting here tomorrow with the principal problem of balancing the ledger due to shrinkage of football receipts, confronting them.

Conference football schedules for next year already have been drawn, but the coaches and directors may arrange several non-conference games to fill open dates on their schedules for next fall. The gridiron program for 1933 will be drafted at a meeting to be held next March.

Drastic Curtailment Needed

No important rulings are expected from the faculty committee, but the eligibility of Pat Boland, Minnesota, may come up for consideration. Boland, a Duluth, Minn., youngster, has already played two years with Minnesota, but previous to that played a year with the Superior, Wis. Normal School team. If the subject comes up the question will be as to whether the year with normal school counted as a year of competition.

The need of drastic curtailment in the minor program confronts the directors of athletics due to the falling off of football gate receipts in almost every institution in the Big Ten, with the exception of Northwestern and Minnesota.

Attendance Falls Off

While official figures are lacking, John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the Western conference, said football attendance had fallen off in the Big Ten 20 to 40 per cent.

"The sole reason for the decline in attendance may be credited to the fact that what people today do not have as much money to spend for amusements as they formerly had, and those who could afford to buy football tickets did not purchase as many as formerly. This does not mean that the people were not just as much interested in football as they were."

With the football schedules for 1933 already drawn up, the coaches of basketball, baseball, swimming, track and minor sports will open their huddle tomorrow to arrange their programs. The football schedule needs to be ratified, and the dates confirmed.

Frosh Cage Mentor to Cut Squad; Sixty Report for Practice

The frosh basketball squad drilled on basket shooting, pivoting, and passing yesterday. Coach Jack Skien divided his squad into three sections, according to ability. There was no scrimmaging, but the men were alternated to give everyone an opportunity to get practice in passing and shooting. The drill showed some flashy foot-work, and the squad shows a promise of developing some good men for the varsity next year.

Coach Skien announced that after today the squad will be cut to about 40 men. About 60 men turned out for practice yesterday.

Husker Grid Team Prepares for Finale

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 3 (AP)—The University of Nebraska football squad today completed its heavy workouts in preparation for the Huskers last game of the year, a charity contest with Colorado Aggies at Denver Saturday.

Scholastic difficulties are threatening the eligibility of the regulars and Coach Dana Bible will not nominate his starting lineup until he receives academic reports tomorrow, just before the squad will depart for Denver.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Draw your chairs up close to the fire, folks. Make yourselves warm and comfortable, for this is the first meeting of the "hot stove" league.

The features of today's meeting are Lou Fonseca, the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, and the sale of Andy High, Cardinals' star utility man, to the Cincinnati Reds, and a few words about Babe Ruth.

Lou Fonseca's optimism comes rather as a shock after listening to most managers say they will be lucky if their team finishes in the first division. Fonseca says his team ought to get somewhere next year. All he wants is an outfielder and a third baseman.

Fonseca does not take much stock in the idea that his new responsibility as manager will detract any from his playing. He believes he will hit the ball as hard as manager, as he hit it when only a player.

Andy High, who filled in at the hot corner when Sparky Adams was injured in the recent world series, will now wear the Cincy uniform. The deal was closed at the baseball magnates meeting this week.

High started his major league career in 1922 with the Brooklyn club. Later he went to the Boston Braves, and in the spring of 1929 he went to the Cards. His best season was that of 1930, when his hitting in two important games with the Robins, gave his team the league lead. This past season he hit around .335.

This winter we are going to find the name of Ruth in print numerous times. The kind of contract the slugging king will sign is keeping many fans guessing. Ruth has shown that he is not like the babbling brook, and though he has slowed up a good deal, he is a handy man to have around even at a high salary.

Mat Squad in Stiff Drill as Meet Looms

With the all-university wrestling tournament but four days away, grapplers continued the conditioning process in yesterday's session.

Workouts were fast with little change between most of the contestants. Realizing that the many of 10 minute bouts will probably be decided by condition, many added road work to their regular drills.

The best bouts of the day were in the middle and lightweights. Earle Kehlhorn, John Campbell, Willard Mink and Randall Whinnery, outstanding fresh middleweights, flashed lots of speed and promise to give the varsity men plenty of trouble.

The first serious injury of the season was reported by Loren Heller, freshman 135-pounder, who may be out of the meet with a sprained ankle.

Veterans who reported last night were Captain Larry Mueller, Earl Duhl, Claude Peers and Al Coons. All will be down to their regular weight by weighing-in time Tuesday.

The squad will be without a coach until Monday, as Coach Mike Howard left last night for Chicago to arrange the Big Ten schedule for the coming season.

New Era Dawns for Minor League Baseball Organizations

WEST BADEN, Ind., Dec. 3 (AP)—A new era dawns in the world of minor league baseball.

Determined to halt the decline of interest in their smaller fields of the great national pastime, minor league club owners abolished the office of president of their parent governing body, the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and voted to appoint a committee of five from among themselves to govern, control and guide the organization.

The action, by far the most drastic taken in the association's 30 years of existence, ended the 23 year old reign of Mike Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., as president.

Committee in Charge

Under the plan, adopted unanimously, the committee will take charge for one year during which time it will study every phase of minor league baseball. All other officers, including Secretary-Treasurer Henry Farrell of Auburn, N. Y., and the board of arbitration, will continue their work until the committee makes its report at next year's meeting. At that time it will make recommendations and doubtless will suggest a director-in-chief as head of the organization.

The committee will paint a picture of what can be done in every way to make baseball attractive and to get it solidly back on its feet, said Branch Rickey, head of the St. Louis Cardinals farm system and sponsor of the drastic reorganization plan.

"We don't expect the committee to work wonders," said Rickey, "but if it only brings back all of the 10 existing leagues next year, and solves definite plans of other action, all minor league club owners will be thankful. The list of minor leagues had dropped from 62 in 1922

Little Hawks Open Cage Season Tonight; Meet Lone Tree in Twin Bill

Starting Five Undecided by Coach Wells

Reserve Quintets Play in Curtain Raiser at 7:30

Iowa City high brings out its 1931-32 cagers tonight when the Hawkeyes engage Lone Tree in a doubleheader in the local gym. The curtain raiser, at 7:30, will bring together the reserves of both squads.

Up to last night Coach Wells had not decided on a starting lineup. Three men however are certain to be on the floor at the opening. They are Cleatus Stimmel, center, Lorne Isensee, guard, and Paul Reed, forward.

Stimmel is the only returning regular. Isensee and Red both saw service last year as reserves. Probably Mutchler and Soucek, who have been looking good in workouts, will round out the quintet.

Assistant Coach Verster took charge of yesterday's workout in the absence of Wells. The drill was light, the men working on offensive and defensive tactics under the basket.

The large squad has been cut to 21 men. There are Stimmel, Isensee, Reed, Riecke, Mutchler, Ballard, Soucek, Ellis Erland, Reddenbaugh, Elbert Zaser, Sulek, Dick, Willard, Purvis, Rogers, Brown, Marech, McCray and Weeber.

With the advent of the Mississippi Valley conference games the squad will consist of the above men, and a group of freshmen and sophomores who will meet like teams from conference members in a regular schedule.

Hawkeye Net Squad to Hold Winter Meets

Varsity tennis squad, under the direction of Coach W. T. Swenson, will hold a series of tournaments at two week intervals on the field house courts throughout the winter.

First matches in the initial meet are scheduled for Monday. The contestants will arrange the time of matches between themselves.

Men making the best showing during the indoor season will be named for the team which may make a southern tour next spring.

Pairings for the first round of the first meet are as follows: A. M. Steh vs. H. Redmond, C. Chesterman vs. C. Sinn, M. S. Adler vs. J. F. Kinnehan, R. Moore vs. W. Theiss, J. Netolicky vs. H. R. Klewin is student manager of the squad.

Dickering for Walker Match Against Max Schmeling Revealed

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Dickering for a heavyweight title match between Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker came out into the open today as Joe Jacobs, manager of the heavyweight titleholder, delivered an ultimatum to Madison Square Garden and William F. Carey, head of that organization, indicated Miami, Fla., would get the match.

Jacobs warned Carey that he had cabled Schmeling not to talk tomorrow from Germany and had set back until January an exhibition tour scheduled to start the middle of this month.

University Hi Cage Squad Starts Drill on Offensive Plays

University high's basketball aspirants continue to go through their heavy fundamental drills as they prepare for the opening game with St. Mary's a week from tonight.

Coach Joy Kistler announced last night that he will cut the squad to about 20 men Monday evening, allowing the rest of this week for each player to show what ability he has.

Last night's session was mostly a signal practice. Various combinations were used, shifting from offense to defense, in working the plays that Kistler has outlined. The evening's practice was concluded with a short offensive scrimmage.

Sexton Retired

Sexton, one of the founders of the organization, joined in the spirit of the plan before its adoption and released all delegates who had pledged themselves to vote for his re-election. He was praised for his sportsmanship by the framers of the resolution under which he was retired with a full salary of $5,000 for one year.

The governing committee will be chosen immediately and will consist of three club owners from the three class AA leagues and from two leagues of lower classification.

All the major league observers, here to mingle with the minors and make satisfactory player deals, failed to give out any news again today except the St. Louis Browns, who sent Garland Braxton, southpaw pitcher, to their Milwaukee farm in the American association.

Complete League Deals

Several minor league deals were completed while Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, announced formally completion of the deal whereby the Yankees purchased the Newark International league club.

The 1932 convention was given to Columbus, Ohio.

The Central league club owners were busy making plans for their reorganization while the American association owners still worried about the future of the Toledo club, now in the hands of a receiver.

Donie Bush, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, and William E. Clauser, former secretary of the Indianapolis club, went to Toledo next week in an attempt to settle the mixup and possibly purchase the club.

'Pug' Rentner Gains Nearly Mile in Nine Games for Wildcats

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Ernest "Pug" Rentner, Northwestern star halfback and candidate for all American honors, gained nearly a mile in his flights up and down the gridiron in the season just closed.

Rentner, the revised figures show tonight, gained a total of 1,554 yards in handling the ball 131 times in seven games, giving him an average of 8.5 yards each time he lugged the ball. From scrimmage alone Rentner carried the ball 112 times for a total gain of 648 yards.

Rentner scored seven touchdowns during the year on runs ranging from 13 to 95 yards.

Hospital Co. Spills West Liberty 55-17

Fairchild Drops in 11 Goals for Locals, Jensen 9

Just a breeze!

That's all it was for the 186th Hospital company's quintet as it opened its basketball season by routing the West Liberty Boosters with a 55-17 victory last night.

Fairchild, speedy Iowa City forward, reared under the basket after the initial tip-off for a goal and then it was just a matter of time as to what the score would be. At half time, West Liberty was behind 34 to 13. The second half was just a repetition of the first with Fairchild and Jensen, tall Hospital company center, tipping them in from all angles.

New Alignments in College Football Appear Developing

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—As the 1931 football season draws toward a turbulent close, indications point early to a number of new alignments in college organizations, as well as some shakeups in the old.

Developments have been hastened somewhat by the effect of dwindling gate receipts in the past two seasons. Another prime factor in the sectional regrouping, in prospect, especially in the east and south, is the faculty desire to centralize and tighten control of eligibility, subsidizing and re-creating.

Propose Eastern Loop

The proposal for an eastern "conference" or "association" among the old established colleges, has gained impetus unquestionably this fall. Yale is understood to be favorably disposed and Pennsylvania has gone so far as to suggest a revival of the old Intercollegiate association, the early members of which were Penn. Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

The plan would also include Army, Navy, Cornell, Dartmouth, Columbia, Penn State and Syracuse in a group to gain at least uniformity of action in controlling the sport, even if not to establish a "conference" schedule agreement. At present all of these colleges subscribe to the functioning of an Eastern association for the selection of officials.

Already positive plans have been formulated for an association of smaller eastern colleges, including Swarthmore, Haverford, Hamilton, Union, Williams, Amherst, Trinity and Wesleyan. It would centralize control of all intercollegiate competition for this group.

"Big Ten" in South

The idea of a "Big Ten" in the south, composed of outstanding members of the Southern conference, has been under discussion and may reach a more definite stage at the conference's annual session in New Orleans, Dec. 18-19. The eight universities originally linked with this proposal are Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, Vanderbilt, Tulane, Kentucky, Auburn and North Carolina. Their reasons for considering separate action, designed to bring them more closely together as to standards and schedules, grows out of the unwieldiness of the present Southern conference membership of 23, scattered from Maryland to Louisiana.

Somewhat similar factors a few years ago induced six members of the Old Missouri Valley conference to band together more closely in what now is known as the Big Six conference, consisting of Kansas, Kansas State, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma and Iowa State.

Economy in Big Six

The principal problem now facing the Big Six, as well as other existing conferences, is how and where to apply economy measures for 1932. Minor sports are slated for additional curtailment. Drake university has set an example in football by cutting intersectional trips off its schedule for next fall.

Relatively few coaching changes are in prospect for 1932, as compared with the wholesale shakeups of the past two years. The reports have been persistent that Bernie Bierman, coach of the championship Tulane eleven, will answer the call of his alma mater, Minnesota. Talk of other changes has included mention of Louisiana State, Wisconsin, New York university, Yale, Princeton and Ohio State.

Iowa Cagers in Long Drill for First Fray

The Hawkeye cagers were given a long drill on basket shooting yesterday afternoon by Coach Rolfe Williams as the first game of the season against Bradley Tech of Peoria at the field house tomorrow night neared.

Prospective guards were run through a practice on breaking through defense by Assistant Coach "Pops" Harrison, while Williams concentrated his attention on the forwards and centers.

Williams said that he would rely on players who have been practicing since Oct. 1. Jack Kotlow and Lester Gilek will probably start at the forwards, Paul Brecher at center, with Ed Break and Paul Filkins at the guards.

Washington State Set for Tulane Gridders; Hope to Score Upset

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 3 (AP)—The brawny men of Washington State who hope to smear Tulane's 1931 record of no defeats and no ties on Saturday put in a stiff workout in the Green Wave stadium this afternoon, showing little ill effects from a four-day rain tide that brought them from sub-zero temperatures into almost mid-summer weather.

The squad of 36 Huskies, accompanied by a full coaching and training staff, lost little time in going through kicking, passing and signal drill on a wet field. The workout was less strenuous than Head Coach O. E. Hollingsbery had planned, and he ordered another for tomorrow.

Football Over for Gordon Locke—Until Next Spring

Gordon C. Locke, head backfield coach on the Hawkeye football staff, left yesterday for Cleveland, O., to resume his law practice.

He will return next spring to assist in spring football practices. The former star Iowa fullback returned this fall to the coaching staff after an absence of six years.

Youngerman Takes First in Triathlon

Varsity Finishes First Meet; Frosh Will See Action

Scoring a first in the hammer throw to add to those won the day before in discus and shot, Wesley Youngerman yesterday captured the initial varsity weight triathlon of the year.

Youngerman turned in a neat exhibition to head a field of six contestants and cop the gold medal of first award.

Parker Bennett, elongated sophomore, won the silver medal for second, while E. C. Mathies, Bob Corning, and Dick Barker won bronze medals for third, fourth, and fifth respectively.

Next week both varsity and freshmen will compete in a similar meet. Medals of gold, silver, and bronze will be awarded the winners of the first five places in both meets.

The squads will work out together in preparation for the events. Coach Emerson Nelson last night requested all frosh weight men to report to him as soon as possible.

Drake on West Coast for Loyola Grid Tilt

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3 (AP)—While Coach Tom Lieb gave his Loyola football team final preparations today in a chalk talk, the Drake university squad which Loyola meets here tomorrow night went through a final workout in the San Bernardino mountain foothills some 60 miles away.

Coach Ossie Solem of the invading Bulldogs primed his players on several new plays after the squad of twenty returned from a trip to Lake Arrowhead among the snow crested peaks.

Sig Nu Frosh Cagers Score 15-12 Victory

After trailing the Alpha Sigma Phi quintet for two periods and half of the third, the Sigma Nu frosh suddenly began sinking baskets and emerged victors 15 to 12 in the only game played in either league last night.

So close was the fracas that neither team held more than a 3 point lead throughout. Burton, Sig Nu forward, played an important part in his team's victory, accounting for 3 field goals and a charity toss. Jorgenson of the Alpha Sigs displayed some neat floorwork.

The starting lineups: Sigma Nu; Burton and Morgan, forwards; Vasey, center; Thornton and Gilderbloom, guards. Alpha Sigma Phi; Miller and Jorgenson, forwards; Wunder, center; Brachtel and Hazelett, guards.

Phi Beta Delta won over Alpha Kappa Psi in the "A" league by a forfeit. The game was supposed to have been played Tuesday night, but was postponed to last night.

Irish Cagers Take Hard Scrimmage With Alumni Five

With only two more workouts before their first game of the season against the Alumni five Monday, the St. Patrick's cagers went through a rough practice scrimmage against the Alumni team last night.

The two squads were evenly matched, and turned in a hard, fast brand of basketball, the session at times looking more like a football practice than anything else. Although Coach Joe Mowry used nearly all of his men in the workout, the Irish were able to hold a slight edge over their heavier rivals.

Highest Team Scores Made by Academy

By DICK NORRIS

Linder of the Academy crashed the pins for high individual series in the Recreation league rolling last night with three consistent games of 191, 201, 201 to total 593. Clark, his teammate, was high for one game with 224 pins.

The Academy boys, had they won their last game with the Elks, would have made it a perfect evening for themselves as they took both high team single and high team total in addition to the honors reaped by Linder and Clark. Their scores, which aided in downing the lodge team twice, were 965 for single and 2661 for the series.

Gasoline Alley swept its series with Racines, while Dec's downed The Daily Iowan quintet twice.

FISH PREFERRED

By P. C. Wodehouse

What has gone before: Ronald Fish, nephew of Lord Emsworth of Blandings Castle, is in love with Sue Brown, a chorus girl. They have a misunderstanding, Sue, hoping for a chance to make up with Ronnie, comes to Blandings Castle in the guise of a Miss Schoonmaker, a wealthy American girl whom Ronnie had met abroad and who Sue knows is expected at the castle. Sue and Ronnie, previous to their quarrel, had met his aunt, Lady Constance Keeble, on the street in London one day, and Ronnie, knowing that Lady Constance would think of a chorus girl had introduced Sue as "Miss Schoonmaker." Then, to prevent any complications, he had sent a wire, signed with Lady Constance's name, to Miss Schoonmaker telling her that illness had developed at Blandings castle and asking her to postpone her visit. So Sue has no fear that the real Miss Schoonmaker will turn up to give her away.

placed them gently on the table, shot a swift glance of respectful commiseration at the patient, and passed away. The sigh had cut Baxter like a dagger. For a moment he thought of calling the man back and asking him what the devil he meant by staring at him like that, but wiser counsels prevailed. He contented himself with draining a glass of whisky-and soda and swallowing two sandwiches. This done, he felt a little—not much, but a little—better. Before he would gladly have murdered Beach and James and danced on their graves. Now, he would have been satisfied with straight murder. However, he was alone at last. That was some slight consolation. Beach had come and gone. Footman James had come and gone. Everybody else must by now be either at Matchingham Hall or assembled in the dining room. On the solitude which he so greatly desired there could be no further intrusion. He resumed his meditations.

For a time there dealt exclusively with the recent past, and were, in consequence, of a morbid character. Then, as the grateful glow of the whisky began to make itself felt, a softer mood came to Rupert Baxter. His mind turned to thoughts of Sue. Men as efficient as Rupert Baxter do not fall in love in the generally accepted sense of the term. Their attitude toward the tender passion is more restrained than that of the ordinary reckless young man who loses his heart at first sight with a whoop and a shiver. Baxter approved of Sue. We cannot say more. But this approval, added to the fact that he had been informed by Lady Constance that the girl was the only daughter of a man who possessed sixty million dollars, had been enough to cause him to earmark her in his mind as the future Mrs. Baxter. In that capacity he had docketed her and filed her away at the first moment of their meeting. Naturally, therefore, the remarks which Lord Emsworth had let fall in her hearing had caused him grave concern. It hampers a man in his wooing if the girl he had selected for his bride starts with the idea that he is "a cad." He congratulated himself on the promptitude with which he had handled the situation. That letter which he had written her could not fail to put him right in her eyes.

Rupert Baxter was a man in whose lexicon there was no such word as failure. He had heard this Miss Schoonmaker would not be aware, lack for suitors; but he did not fear them. If only she were making a reasonably long stay at the castle, he felt that he could rely on his force of character to win her as fast as he pleased. He felt that he could almost hear the wedding bells ringing already. Then, coming out of his dreams, he realized that it was the telephone.

He reached for the instrument with a frown, annoyed at the interruption, and spoke with an irritated sharpness. "Hello?"

A ghostly voice replied. The storm seemed to have affected the wires. "Speak up!" barked Baxter. He banged the telephone violently on the table. The treatment, as so often the case proved effective. "Blandings Castle?" said the voice, no longer ghostly. "Yes."

"Post Office, Market Blandings, speaking. Telegram for Lady Constance Keeble."

"I will take it."

"Where?"

"Paris, France."

"Oh? Well?"

The voice gathered volume. "Terribly sorry hear news."

"News?"

And yet everybody had been very kind to him—very nice and tactful. True, at the moment of the discovery that the cottage contained no pig and appeared to have been pieced from its foundation, there had been perhaps just the slightest suspicion of constraint. Lord Emsworth had grasped his ivory-knocked stick a little more firmly and had edged behind Beach in a rather noticeable way, his manner, saying more plainly than was agreeable, "If he springs, be ready!" And there had come into the butler's face a look, hard to bear, which was a blend of censure and pity. But after that, both of them had been charming. Lord Emsworth had talked soothingly about light-and-shade effects. He had said—and Beach had agreed with him—that in the darkness of a thunderstorm anybody might have been deceived into supposing that he had seen a butler feeding a pig in the gamekeeper's cottage. It was probably, said Lord Emsworth—and Beach thought so, too—a bit of wood sticking out of the wall or something. He went on to tell a longish story of how he himself, when a boy, had fancied he had seen a cat with flaming eyes. He had concluded by advising Baxter—and Beach said the suggestion was a good one—to hurry home and have a nice cup of hot tea and go to bed.

His attitude, in short, could not have been pleasanter or more considerate. Yet Baxter, as he sat in the smoking room, burned, as stated, with baffled rage.

The door handle turned. Beach stood on the threshold. "If you have changed your mind, sir, about taking dinner, the meal is quite ready."

He spoke as friend to friend. There was nothing in his manner to suggest that the man he addressed had ever accused him of stealing pigs. As far as Beach was concerned, all was forgotten and forgiven.

But the milk of human kindness, of which the butler was so full, had not yet been delivered on Baxter's doorstep. The hostility in his eye, as he fixed it on his visitor, was so marked that a lesser man than Beach might have been disconcerted. "I don't want any dinner."

"Very good, sir."

"Bring me that whisky-and-soda quick."

"Yes, sir."

The door closed as softly as it had opened, but not before a pang like a red-hot needle had pierced the exsecretary's bosom. It was caused by the fact that he had distinctly heard the butler, as he withdrew, utter a plying sigh.

It was the sort of sigh which a kind-hearted man would give when peeping into a padded cell in which some old friend was confined, and Baxter resented it with all the force of an imperious nature. He had not ceased to wonder what, if anything, could be done about it when the refreshments arrived, carried by James the footman, James

Hawkeyes to Play Hoosiers There in 1932

(Special to The Daily Iowan) BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 3.—Indiana university's 1931 "suicide" grid schedule of eight conference games, and non-conference games with Notre Dame, national champions of the Buckeye conference, has come to a conclusion, but the Crimson must look forward to a schedule next fall that will not be much less difficult. It will be easier in so far as Notre Dame does not appear to batter the Crimson at the very outset of the season and in so far as it is not believed at the present time that the Big Ten will have any charity contests to swell the total of regularly scheduled gridiron battles. However, it will be the usually difficult Indiana schedule with six conference games on a straight and Ohio university to open the schedule again. The home card will be a strong one with Ohio U. at Bloomington in the opener and Iowa and Michigan furnishing the home Big Ten attractions. One more strong non-conference opponent will appear here in the Memorial stadium. Iowa's appearance in Bloomington is the first in many years and the Michigan invasion will be the first in history. Northwestern is displaced by Illinois on the conference schedule away from home and for the first time in a number of years will be off the Indiana schedule. Future schedules will be drawn up by the representatives of the Big Ten in their annual meeting to be held in Chicago this week end.

8 Tilts Scheduled in Iowa City Prep Basketball Series

Although eight games are scheduled for the annual informal intra-city high school basketball tournament this season, the University high team is the only outfit that will play all its Iowa City rivals. The Blue and White cagers will figure in six tilts, playing two games each with Iowa City, St. Patrick's and St. Mary's. The season will close with the traditional battles between Iowa City and University high, and St. Patrick's against St. Mary's. Schedule of Intra-city games: Dec. 14—University high vs. St. St. Mary's. Jan. 5—University high vs. Iowa City. Jan. 13—St. Patrick's vs. St. Mary's. Jan. 15—University high vs. St. Mary's. "Terribly sorry hear news Stoa. Quite understand Stop 80 disappointment shall be unable to come to you later as going back America at end of month Stop Do hope we shall be able arrange something when I return next year Stop Regards Stop!" "Yes?" "Signed 'Myra Schoonmaker.'" "Signed—what?" "Myra Schoonmaker."

Rotary Hears Seashore at Noon Meeting

Dean Entertains Club With "Psychological Deceptions"

Fun and joviality surprised Rotarians yesterday noon, when Dean Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college diverged from his pre-announced subject, "Educating for democracy," and entertained with psychological deceptions.

With a collapsible opera hat, a spoon and teacup, a toy "cricket," and a handful of bolts, Dean Seashore kept the men amused with but few words on "educating" or "democracy."

Shows Illusions

Several placards illustrated optical illusions, and, according to Dean Seashore, "if one does not see double when looking at them, he is drunk."

"Fred Fisk, Malone, N. Y., brother of John M. Fisk, who died Wednesday was a guest at the meeting. The former superintendent of university grounds and buildings was honored in silent prayer.

Guests

Other guests were Dr. Morris M. Leighton of Urbana, Ill.; Harry Neise of the state board of education; Dean Wilber J. Teeters, of the college of pharmacy, and E. C. Kerr of West Liberty.

Attempts Fail in Organizing 42nd Division

DES MOINES, Dec. 3 (AP)—The famous rainbow division will be remembered by posterity only on its feats during the World war.

An attempt to organize National guard units under the old-time name has not met with success.

Adjutant General W. H. Bailey today received a letter from Brig. Gen. W. G. Everson, chief of the militia bureau, stating that a majority of the states involved were not in favor of the suggestion.

It has been proposed that units in the original rainbow division, the forty-second, which still exist under other designations, become part of the rainbow division in time of emergency. During the war 4,500 Iowans belonging to the one hundred sixty-eighth infantry served in the rainbow division.

WATERLOO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Facing return to the county home because of poverty, Edward DeLong, 60, today hanged himself in the basement that had been his home for the last two months.

The body was found by Thomas Powers city fire inspector. Half an hour before DeLong took his life, two friends, W. M. Pack and F. W. Tompkins had talked with him about his return to the county home.

Stock Prices Rally After Early Lows

Many Issues Up to 3 Points Higher in Day's Trading

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The stock market once more refused to break through the Oct. 5 average lows today.

Although a few shares made new lows during a selling flurry in the first half hour, the list quickly caught its second wind and rallied slowly to the close, which found many pivotal issues one to 3 points net higher.

Less Discouraged

Speculative circles appeared less discouraged over railroad prospects, especially with regard to carriers financing. News of New York Central's proposed bond issue, which may be pledged as collateral for the renewal of large outstanding bank loans, came too late to be a market influence.

The day's business news was meager and colorless. Bradstreet's reported that its sensitive commodity index had declined in November, notwithstanding the rise in grain prices, as of Dec. 1 it stood just below $8, the lowest since September, 1929. In all but three of the last 25 months there have been declines in this composite.

U. S. Steel Recovers

In stocks, U. S. Steel touched a new low at 51 1/4 and then rallied, closing with a net gain of 1 1/4. American Can came within a fraction of the old low, although it was well supported on the rise and was up 3 net. New York Central, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, New Haven, the Frisco, Chesapeake and Ohio, the Rock Islands, and Louisville and Nashville finished about 1 to 3 higher. Radio "B" preferred weakened in anticipation of the dividend omission. The common made a new low.

Schools Hold District Declamatory Contests

Fifth of the annual district contests of the county declamatory contest under the auspices of the Schoolmasters' club of Johnson county is now being held in the various schools throughout the townships. Representatives from some 25 schools are meeting in the district contest, victors of which will compete in the finals.

The county contest will be held at the court house in Iowa City on Dec. 10 for the championship in oratorical, dramatic, and humorous divisions.

Men File Papers for Offices

DES MOINES (AP)—Rep. Ed H. Campbell of Battle Creek will seek re-election to congress in the new ninth district, which corresponds roughly to the old eleventh district from which he was elected. He filed his papers with the secretary of state Thursday. Others filing were Francis G. Cutter, Boone, for lieutenant governor; and Leroy S. Mercer, Iowa City, for state representative.

Temperature Rises to 50 Degrees

Topcoats replaced overcoats in Iowa City yesterday as the temperature mounted to 50 degrees. The mercury made this rise from a 25 degree registration Wednesday night and from 29 degrees at 7 a.m. yesterday. Prospects of continued moderate temperatures were bright with the marker at 40 degrees at 7 p.m., although a light rain had begun to fall.

The average jail sentence imposed in southern Ohio for a dry law offense is 122 days.

Make Survey of School Finances

DES MOINES (AP)—Agnes Samuelson, superintendent of public instruction, informed the state committee on reduction of public expenditures that a survey of school finances was well under way in Iowa with a view to trimming the cost of education.

Employed Will Give One Day's Pay for Charity Relief Fund

Cedar Rapids, Dec. 3 (AP)—All persons in Cedar Rapids working full time on salaries or wages will be asked to pledge the equivalent of one day's pay monthly until May 31 for the local unemployment relief fund.

This plan was adopted today at a meeting of the committee in charge of relief activities with 103 representatives of manufacturing, wholesaling and retail institutions. Those working part time will be asked to share their earnings in proportion. It is hoped that $4,000 weekly can be raised for 25 weeks.

Russian Signs Create Rise in Wheat Market

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Brisk upturns in wheat values today resulted largely from signs of the fade-out of Russia as a bogy threatening the success of market gains. Reports were current that Russia had bought two cargoes of Australian wheat in the English market and was trying to cancel future delivery sales of Russian wheat both to Great Britain and Greece. For the first time this season, Russia's export clearances of wheat dropped under those of last year.

Wheat Closed Unsettled, 1-2 to 1-5 cents higher than yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to 1-2 lower, oats 1-8 to 1-4 up, and provisions 2 to 7 cents down.

An outstanding bullish feature was that Russia's total exports of wheat in the last week had dwindled to 984,000 bushels compared with 448,000 bushels a year ago, and that Russia was actually an importer, having bought about 500,000 bushels of Australian wheat.

Heavy deliveries on December corn contracts took the edge off demand in the corn market. Oats also were somewhat laggard, sympathizing with corn.

Plan to Reorganize American Yeoman

DES MOINES, Dec. 3 (AP)—Plans to reorganize the Brotherhood of American Yeomen into a legal reserve, Level Premium Life Insurance Company were announced today by A. H. Hoffman, president.

A special session of the supreme council will pass on the proposal Jan. 14. If the change is made the organization will be known as the Yeomen Mutual Life Insurance company.

Fire Victim Not Identified

Fire of Undetermined Origin Destroys Cottage

WATERLOO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Officers tonight were seeking to establish the identity of a man who was burned almost beyond recognition when fire of undetermined origin destroyed a one-room shack here.

Fred Adams of Fairbank, tentatively identified the body as that of his brother, Gilbert, aged 38 years. Frank Pettit, 70, was burned severely and may die.

Three other men, Al Pentland, alias Al Hart, Ed Mahoney, and Ernest Adams, were in custody of police on charges of intoxication. They and a sixth man, said by the trio to be Charles Moran who fled when police and firemen arrived at the scene, were in the cottage.

Pettit has a son and two daughters living here. Adams was a part time employe of the H. A. Maine Construction company here. He had four brothers and one sister, Vol of Hokar, Minn.; Orrie of Louisville, Ky.; James of Fairbank, Fred, and Ernest.

Mrs. Mabel Adams, who separated from her husband, Gilbert Adams two years ago, works in a Waterloo laundry.

Accused Man Comes to Iowa With Escort

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Edward "Red" Watson, wanted at Ft. Dodge, Ia., on an indictment charging him with the slaying of George Morfitt, four years ago was to leave Chicago late today for Ft. Dodge in custody of an Iowa officer.

He was turned over to Myron Tullar, Iowa State agent, after Tullar and William Schoemaker, chief of detectives, had questioned him.

Short Circuit Causes Fire

A short in an electric wire caused a fire in the grease room of the Gasoline Alley service station at 311 E. Harrison street yesterday morning. Smoke streamed from the burning oil was slight. Firemen received the call at 8:50.

Approximately 700,000 working days will be available to Ohio's unemployed through a program of the Pickwick-Greyhound lines, Incorporated bridge construction.
