HOUSE TO DEBATE HOOVER PLANS

25 Prohibition Conspirators to Hear Fate

Jury Will Soon Retire to Decide Midwest Liquor Case

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 8 (AP)—Only six hours of closing arguments remained tonight in the trial of 25 Illinois and Iowa defendants charged with conspiracy to violate the dry laws.

When the jurors retire, probably late tomorrow afternoon, to deliberate the case, the government's long effort to break up the alleged Tri-city liquor syndicate will have ended.

Andrew J. Andrews of East Moline, Ill., arrested in a distillery raid July 22, 1930, which formed the backbone of the government's case, pleaded guilty just before closing arguments began.

Court Denies Acquittals

Three defendants were discharged for lack of evidence last Saturday. Five of those indicted have never been apprehended. The thirty-fifth defendant, John Dean of Muscatine, Ia., testified for the government and was granted immunity.

None of the others took the stand. They presented a brief defense comprised almost entirely of character witnesses.

The court for the second time denied all motions for directed verdicts of acquittal, although Attorney William Waugh of Chicago pleaded at length for Ted Newberry, Chicago gangster and liquor dealer, linked by $50,000 in checks with Jack Wall, liquor dealer of Davenport, Ia.

Hold Chicago Gangster

"Here we are," Waugh argued, "two hundred miles from home. It's just as if the government had Al Capone on trial and said, 'We've got you out here, let's soak it to him.' Newberry has never been convicted of anything."

Government counsel admitted they had failed to prove Newberry got part of the profits of the East Moline distillery, as they charged in opening statements to the jury, but denied they were bound by those statements.

Prosecution Seeks Support

District Attorney Frank K. Lemon began the closing arguments, reviewing the indictment and much of the evidence, although constantly interrupted by defense counsel, who objected that he was "misstating the law." He described the trial as the most "outstanding liquor trial ever held in the midwest," and ended with a plea for support of the prohibition law "or soon there will be no country."

"If Sam Katas used those 262,000 pounds of yeast to cure his indigestion," Lemon said, "the most have a terrible stomach ache."

Attorney Edward Kelly of Davenport, beginning for the defense, warned the jury against "guessing the destination of the yeast, corn sugar and tin cans."

"Sugar sacks don't have ear marks," he shouted, "and mere participation is not proof of conspiracy."

Iowan New President of Rail System

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Ralph Budd, who began his career at Waterloo, Ia., today was elected to head a second great railroad system, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Budd had been president of the Great Northern since 1919 and was named president of the Burlington to succeed F. E. Williamson, who becomes president of the New York Central. Both changes are effective Jan. 1.

The Burlington is controlled by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. First announcement that Budd would be named to succeed Williamson was made Nov. 11.

Born at Waterloo 52 years ago, Budd began as a rodman for the Chicago Great Western in 1899. Three years later he became an assistant engineer, later joining the Rock Island lines in successive capacities as roadmaster, general roadmaster, and division engineer.

He was named chief engineer of the Panama railroad in 1906 and chief engineer of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle in 1909. In 1913 he became assistant to the president of the Great Northern, later in succession, chief engineer, executive vice president and president.

He will be succeeded as president of the Great Northern by W. P. Kenney, present vice president and traffic director.

20 Witnesses Take Stand on First Day of Harry Powers' Trial for Murder of Woman

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP)—A grim-faced prosecutor sought to put Harry F. Powers in the shadow of the gallows today—and the gun-chewing defendant squirmed in annoyance.

More than 20 state witnesses paraded to the stand on the stage of the town opera house, with them they brought eight sets of vital exhibits.

They told how the pudgy little defendant supervised the construction of a windowless garage with underground chambers.

They told of seeing him dig a grave for the two women and three children he is accused of slaying in that out-of-the-way place.

Planned to Marry

Then began the recounting of his relationship with Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, the Northern Plains divorcee for whose slaying Powers is being tried.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flemming of Worcester, Mass., brother-in-law, and sister of the dead woman told how they found a picture of Cornelius D. Pearson (name of Powers' aliases) on the divorcee's dresser.

"We are going to get married," Mrs. Flemming quoted her sister as having said. "He has a big ranch at Cedar Rapids, Ia., and is going to give me everything my heart desires."

Judge Ladd Renders Decision With, "Its Great to Be a Daddy"

Draped artistically across the judge's bench were gifts of many kinds. His honor, approaching the rostrum, smiled at the applauding assemblage, took his place behind the bar, and surveyed the presents approvingly. Chuckles broke out, then laughter. Finally order was restored, and the procedure of the court room began.

The decorum of the meeting was broken by more chuckles, especially when his honor asked a question, paused to contemplate a newly discovered gift, and then spent a vain moment in trying to recall the question.

At any rate, it's "great to be a daddy," Professor Mason Ladd of the college of law, "judge" of the practice court, reassured his class in Iowa civil practice. The occasion for the show of gifts was the announcement Monday of the birth of Mary Esther Ladd, baby daughter of Professor and Mrs. Ladd.

Draft Plan to Send Inquiry Group to East

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and officials of the League of Nations council set the stage tonight for final adoption at a public council session tomorrow of a compromise plan for settling the dispute between China and Japan in Manchuria.

The plan of settlement, finally drafted and tentatively approved today by all parties, provides for sending an international commission of inquiry into the far east to dig into all causes, both remote and recent, of trouble between China and Japan.

League Aims to Settle Oriental Dispute by Compromise

The former Sioux City mayor, contended the recent farmers' rebellion in southeastern Iowa against the test was justified, and through legislation in the last 14 years, big packing companies have tried to eliminate competitive buying by purchasing cattle only after a post mortem examination.

Death Rate Low

Short estimated that only one tuberculin death out of 200 is caused by bovine tuberculosis.

Barger said the dose of tuberculin is usually one drop, but as much as five ounces have been injected into a healthy cow without causing a disturbance.

Grandi Tells Mussolini of Visit to U. S.

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi and his wife, Donna Antonietta, returned to Rome today— he to a long conference with Premier Mussolini, she to her children.

The foreign minister went straight from the railway station to the Venezia palace where he told the premier of the conclusions he reached and the impressions he received while in the United States where he discussed disarmament and other world problems with President Hoover.

The head of the state and the foreign minister were closeted together for an hour, during which the premier asked many questions and received a written report covering 100 pages.

The Grandis landed this morning at Naples. Coming up from Naples Signor Grandi told the press he was more than satisfied with his Washington trip. His determination that something be done at the Geneva disarmament conference next February has become stronger than ever he declared.

Stage Debate on Merits of Cow Testing

Speak to Open Forum at Ft. Dodge on Test Law

FT. DODGE, Dec. 9 (AP)—To the contentment of Representative Wallace M. Short of Woodbury county that the tuberculin testing of cattle "is of benefit only to big packing companies and job-holding veterinarians," J. A. Barger of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry tonight replied that such testing resulted in a noticeable decrease in the prevalence of bovine tuberculosis.

The two were speakers at a meeting of the Ft. Dodge open forum, devoted to discussion of the compulsory state law requiring cattle testing.

Government Meat Inspection

Barger, the first speaker, argued that every state has such a statute, that prior to such laws bovine tuberculosis increased rapidly, that tuberculin is incapable of producing any disease or disturbance except in tuberculous animals. That bovine tuberculosis causes about 25 per cent of tuberculosis in children, that a fair price is returned the farmer for reacting cattle, and that the government meat inspection service safeguards the consumer against meat unfit for human beings.

Will Maintain Gold Standard in Germany

Melchior Takes Floor for Short-Term Credit Plan

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 8 (AP)—Germany will do everything possible to remain on the gold standard, Carl Melchior, German representative on the World bank advisory committee, assured his fellow-committee members this afternoon.

Herr Melchior informed the banking experts investigating Germany's capacity to pay reparations that the German people were horrified at the thought of abandoning the gold standard.

Presents Nation's Case

These statements occurred in the German delegate's presentation of his nation's case, in the course of which he requested the wishes of the committee of the World bank advisory committee, headed by Albert H. Wiggin, American banker.

Mr. Walter Layton, who served with Mr. Wiggin and is a member of the committee now sitting, described the Melchior summary as "the newest and most exact information available, collected by a census imposed by decree."

The first serious disagreement came when the German reached the subject of assets abroad and the next amount Germany owes, he ran head on into six sets of figures, all differing from his.

A sub-committee was named to compare Germany's statement with those of the six other nations. This sub-committee set to work immediately and is expected to report tomorrow.

Alpha Chi's Win Prize in Hawkeye Sales Competition

Alpha Chi Omega was announced last night as the winner of the 1933 Hawkeye trophy offered to the first sorority to report a 100 per cent sale of the annual within the chapter. A similar statuette trophy offered for fraternities is still open to competition.

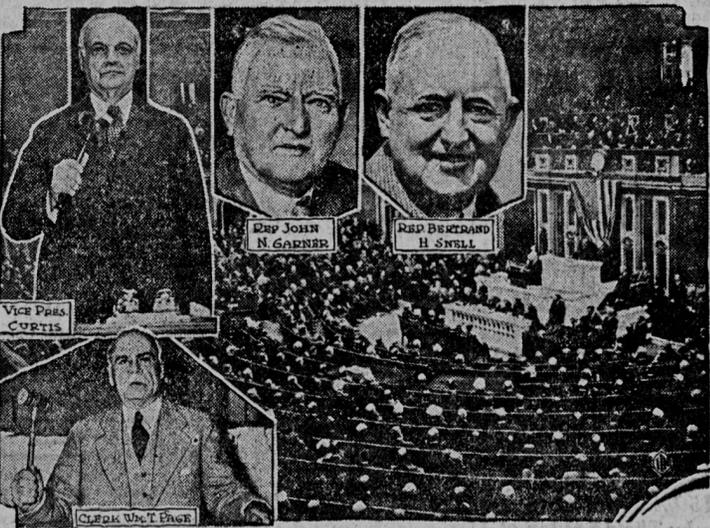

By a small margin Ruth Demorest last night took the lead in the Hawkeye sales campaign over Dorothy Engle, who had held first place for nearly two weeks. Third place is now held by Mary Evans. Places in order: Phyllis Michael, Grace Donovan, Betty Anderson, and Constance Bassett. Opal Crane, Dorothy Hughes, and Maxine White were in a tie for seventh place.

The first six places will afford the winners positions on the 1933 Hawkeye business staff.

Standings of the rest of the contestants beyond seventh place are: Alice Perry, Margaret Misk, Eleanor Ford, Ed Kelly, Norma Miller, Eugenie Schoen, and Harold Cassill.

Standings of the contestants in the beauty contest will be announced tomorrow.

CLERK YIELDS GAVEL TO GARNER

When congress opened Monday the unique experience of being "king for a day" was enjoyed by Clerk William T. Page, whose gavel called the house to order pending the election of a speaker to fill the position left vacant by the death of Nicholas Longworth. The first business of the house resulted in the election of John G. Garner, Texas Democrat, as the new speaker. Bertrand H. Snell, New York Republican, is the new minority leader. Vice President Charles Curtis presided over the first meeting of the new senate.

BULLETIN Lenz, Jacoby Boost Lead in Bridge Play

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—(Wednesday)—Lenz and Jacoby gained 300 points in the second session of their contract bridge match with the Culbertsons. When the session was adjourned the morning Lenz and Jacoby had a net score of 2,975 in contrast to the 1,715 of the first session. The rubber standing of the series is Lenz and Jacoby 7; Culbertsons 3. Seven rubbers were played in the second session and the Culbertsons won three.

New German Decree Cuts Wages, Price

BERLIN, Dec. 8 (AP)—Here is what Germany's new emergency decree does:

Cuts house rents and prices of standardized articles, coal and starch 10 per cent.

Establishes a price commission.

Reduces wages to the Jan. 1, 1927, level.

Cuts salaries in the Reich, states and communes nine per cent and wages 10 per cent.

Lowers the interest rate on loans, bonds and mortgages, public and private, to 6 per cent where it was as high as 8 per cent, and cuts it 25 per cent to 30 per cent where it was higher.

Cuts physicians' fees and provides easier terms for sick insurance.

Protects landowners against forced auction sales.

Provides for issuance of new four-pennig coins (worth one cent).

Reduces some taxes, but increases turnover tax to two per cent.

Imposes measures against flight of capital by providing for various degrees of confiscation.

Forbids wearing of political uniforms of any kind except in homes.

Empowers state authorities to demand surrender of all firearms.

Forbids all political meetings and outdoor demonstrations until Jan. 2, 1932.

Threatens with three months imprisonment all who defame public officials.

France Gives View on War Debt Payment

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—The French government publicly took the position today that any reduction in German reparations payments must be accompanied by a simultaneous reduction in other inter-governmental obligations.

This stand was set forth in instructions sent to the nation's ambassadors and ministers.

These diplomatic representatives were informed that France considers Germany's request for an inquiry into her ability to pay reparations to be the just initiative of a debtor desiring to meet his engagements.

Bankers to Confer

The government's official explanation of the debt stand shared interest with an announcement by Albert H. Wiggin, American banker, that banking interests in Germany's creditor countries are in harmony in regard to the problem of short-term German credits.

Wiggin, who headed the World bank committee that investigated Germany's economic structure last summer, will go to Berlin tomorrow at the invitation of a committee of German bankers.

"Representatives of banking interests in the various countries concerned with short term credits to Germany have been having informal discussions here in Paris preliminary to visiting Berlin," he said.

Officials Confer

"Those representatives are in harmony, but I am not justified in discussing these matters further prior to the conference at Berlin."

A French official communique contended there were two causes for Germany's financial troubles.

"The world economic crisis explains a great part of Germany's difficulties," the communique said, "but they are due also to expenditures and systematically exaggerated loans made by the Berlin government."

Will Help Germany

"France recognizes the necessity for helping Germany and will conform with the spirit of the communique issued at Washington after the conversations between President Hoover and Premier Laval."

The government will continue to insist on the principle of reparations payments, contending that there is no proof Germany always will suffer from financial depression, the communique said.

The document reiterated France's refusal to recognize the practical value of giving priority to short term credits.

Large Crowd Grets Opening Performance of Shakespeare Play

In its premier performance last night, "Othello" played to a good house at the University theater, in spite of threatening weather. The play was presented under the direction of B. Iden Payne, former director of the Goodman Memorial theater in Chicago, and guest director of the university productions on several occasions.

The play will be repeated at the University theater, natural science building, tomorrow and Thursday nights.

A complete review of the production will be published in The Daily Iowan.

Republicans Divide Before Democratic Unity; Hoover Stands for Jump in Taxes

Majority Leader to Act for Discussion of Policy Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—President Hoover told congress today what he thinks the country needs in the way of legislation and house Democrats voted to make his recommendations the subject of general debate on the floor of the chamber.

Meeting in caucus late in the day, they instructed Majority Leader Rainey to take the action necessary to bring this about. He will do so tomorrow, soon after the convening hour.

Overhaul Banking System

A temporary tax increase, formation of a reconstruction corporation to support the credit pool already organized, and an overhauling of the banking and anti-trust laws were asked by the chief executive.

A second message on foreign affairs is to be sent to the capitol late in the week. It will recommend particularly ratification of the one year moratorium on intergovernmental debts and will deal too with other aspects of international relations. The Manchurian situation is to be discussed and possibly the world court.

Under his tax plan, which is expected to be outlined in detail tomorrow by Secretary Mellon, the higher levies would remain effective only two years. Arguing the need of more revenue, the message disclosed the treasury expects to be more than $4,400,000,000 behind when the next fiscal year closes.

Subscribe Money to Land Banks

Among other measures proposed for revivifying confidence were subscription of more money to federal land banks, use of federal reserve assets to thaw assets frozen in failed banks, institution of a home loan bank system and broadening of the base for federal reserve discounting.

Forecast Prohibition Ballot Following House Vote

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—Republican forces divided before a united Democratic front as congress went to work today after receiving President Hoover's program for steady government finances and speeding prosperity.

First roll calls in both house and senate showed the Republican independents from the northwest kicking up their heels in the faces of regular administration forces. Standing together the house Democratic majority scored a victory. The senate Democratic minority held ranks and got a stalemate.

The house vote made it possible for 145 members to bring a bill up for decision. A vote on prohibition probably will result.

The new rules, sponsored by the Democrats, won by 227 to 194 with 11 Republican independents joining the Democratic majority.

Republicans Bolt Candidate

It was a more personal affair in the senate where the three roll calls were on the selection of a president pro tempore. Twelve Republicans from the northwest bolted the party's candidate—George Moses of New Hampshire.

Moses referred to the western independents as the "sons of the wild jackasses" when they combined with the Democrats last session in a coalition on the tariff. These independents today voted for other Republicans for president pro tempore and forestalled any election because a majority of those voting is necessary for a choice.

Senate Democrats lined up solidly behind their candidate, Pittman of Nevada. More votes will be taken tomorrow but no decision is in prospect. Meanwhile, Moses is still president pro tem.

Introduce Credit Drafts

But even as these routine necessities of organization were permitting the new congress to get off some of its recess steam, the legislators were putting their hands to the wheels for grinding out President Hoover's recommendations.

The administration group hopes for early organization of the banking committee, brought a draft of a bill to the senate. Rep. Strong of Kansas, a Republican member of the house banking committee, introduced the measure in that branch.

Democrats in the house hastened to organize the important appropriations committee charged with dividing the funds for carrying on the government next year.

Mr. Hoover upon the advice of Republican leaders is leaving the sponsorship of the manifold legislative recommendations to the Republican minority in the house and the divided Republican majority in the senate.

Moses Loses Votes

The house vote liberalizing the rules was accepted as sure indication of a vote at this session on prohibition. A petition by a majority of the house—218—hitherto has been necessary to bring a bill to the floor. Wet leaders claim enough strength to line up more than the 145 members now required.

The outcome of the senate vote on president pro tem is clouded in considerable doubt. Despite the personal touch of the contest, no bitterness was displayed by the membership.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, smiled broadly as he called for the election of a president pro tempore. Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican, smiled too, as he nominated Moses against whom the fight was certain. Senator Norris of Nebraska, smiled and the senate smiled with him as he asked if a vote could be cast for any candidate without nominating him. Moses smiled as he heard one after another of the "sons of the wild jackasses" vote against him.

Will Vote Again

The 12 Republican voting for the Republican candidates other than Moses included Frazier and Nye, North Dakota; Norris and Howell, Nebraska; and LaFollette and Elaine, Wisconsin; Shipstead of Minnesota, the lone former labor member, also voted for another Republican.

On the first ballot, the result was Pittman 43, Moses 33, Norris 7, McNary 5. The third and last ballot was: Pittman 42; Moses 37; Jones 4; Norris 7; McNary 1; Capper 1. Senator Watson said voting would be resumed tomorrow.

Watson said if the results tomorrow showed no change he would institute conferences looking to a settlement. So long as there is no election Moses holds the disputed and honorary office.

Dinner guests at the Alpha Chi Omega house last night were: Arnold Gillette, instructor of dramatic art and his mother, Mrs. Gillette; Virginia Kruse of the department of Romance languages; and Hulton D. Sellman, associate in dramatic art.

Coaches, Captains Will Name Varsity Teams at Banquet

The annual "fall sports banquet" of Women's Athletic association, for active and associate members and any one else interested in fall sports, will be held tonight at 6 o'clock at Youde's inn.

Announcement will be made at this time of members of the first and second varsity hockey teams, which were chosen from the class teams by a committee of captains and coaches.

Thelma Konefick, A4 of Eagle Grove, and Bernice Cooper, A3 of Aurora, Ill., are in charge of arrangements.

Ask Faculty Men to Visit

Campus Organizations Approve Plan for Social Calls

Closer relationships between students and faculty was the object of a discussion held last night at a buffet supper given by W. H. Morgan, adviser of campus religious organizations, and Mrs. Morgan at the Morgan home, 505 Brooklyn drive. Representatives of 12 fraternities attended.

Tentative plans were made for a regular schedule of faculty visits to fraternity houses, to be organized on a rotating basis with those members of the faculty who are willing to participate visiting a different house approximately once in two weeks.

If the plan is put into effect, each fraternity would entertain a different member of the faculty each week. Faculty members would be invited to houses on an informal basis as possible, primarily for the purpose of becoming acquainted with students. Possibility of group discussion on designated topics was also suggested at the meeting.

If sufficient interest is shown by faculty and students, the plan will be put into effect at the start of next semester, probably through the agency of Professor Morgan's office.

Prof. Flickinger Host to Classical Group Tomorrow

Small gifts, accompanied by Latin quotations, will be exchanged by members of Classical club at their annual Christmas party, which will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. Mrs. Nina Flickinger will be hostess at the group at the home of Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, 301 N. Capitol street.

Christmas carols in Latin, sung by the members of the club under the direction of Professor Flickinger, will be one of the features of the party.

Pownalls to Have Picnic for Group

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Pownall, 1802 N. Dubuque road, will entertain at a picnic supper at their home this evening for members of the student-faculty discussion group of the Christian association.

Faculty members who will attend are: Genevieve Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Crissey, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, Prof. and Mrs. Clyde W. Hart, Prof. and Mrs. Joseph J. Runner, Prof. and Mrs. Karl E. Leib, and Prof. May Pardee Youtz.

Engineers to Hear Miller

Prof. Sidney L. Miller of the college of commerce will talk before members of the Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, at Iowa Union following a dinner at 6 o'clock tonight.

Professor Miller will describe his recent trip to Europe.

White Shrine Meets at Masonic Temple

The White Shrine will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Masonic temple. Mrs. Lola Harmon is chairman of the committee in charge.

Church Choir Plans Concert

Rail Men to Talk Wages

Union Officials Open General Meeting in Chicago Today

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Possible alternates to wage reductions were considered by railway unions today as they prepared for the general meeting which is to take up the proposal of a flat 10 per cent cut.

As they concluded two days of advance meetings, the four big brotherhoods and a fifth large group, the Switchmen's union, were believed to have agreed on what stand they would take regarding the informal proposal of the railroads, but the labor leaders declined to comment before the meeting of general chairmen tomorrow.

Another group which began conferences today was the executive council of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

The ruling by the interstate commerce commission late yesterday, permitting the railroads to increase certain of their freight rates, had little apparent effect on the union meetings. D. B. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association, said he believed the carriers would still demand a reduction.

The report of the committee on permanent stabilization of employment was taken up again today at a joint meeting of the Switchmen's union and the brotherhoods—Firemen, Trainmen, Engineers, and Conductors.

At the conclusion of today's session of the labor executives' Chairman Robertson said he could not make public the report of the committee, but he indicated it might be released after the general meeting tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Robertson refused to make any comment on the wage scale, announcing flatly that "wage reductions have not been considered."

File Murder Charge After Death Crash

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 8 (AP)—A county attorney's information charging murder was filed by Otto J. Eckey late today against Ray Hansen in connection with the death of a motorcycle patrolman killed last week when Hansen's automobile sideswiped a tree as he was attempting to escape arrest.

Arraigned before Judge George Dashiell in district court after the information was filed, Hansen was given until Saturday morning to plead. In court he gave a third name, declaring Frank R. Hamilton to be correct. Hansen was the name he gave on being arrested, and after a coroner's inquest he declared it to be Hal H. Conklin.

Mrs. Olive Royalty, woman companion of Hansen who has been held since the day of the accident, is now wanted by Iowa City authorities who notified Sheriff Lane Stansbery they will arrive for her tomorrow with a warrant charging she obtained money on false pretenses.

Hansen was being sought on a complaint that he was passing false checks when George A. Wright, MI. Pleasance officer, made the fatal attempt to arrest him. Warrants for his arrest have been received from several Iowa cities and four mid-western states.

County's Tax Sale Receipts Nearly $9,000

Johnson county held the largest tax sale in its history Monday in the county treasurer's office, with County Treasurer Charles L. Berry as auctioneer.

Mr. Berry reports a sale of $8,600 worth of real estate, although this amount represents only one-third of the amount offered to bidders. He said that the loyalty of bidders for the people who were delinquent kept the sales down.

A chance for the redemption of their property will be given delinquents by the carrying over of all uncollected until next year at a reduced rate of interest, the normal rate of 16 per cent interest being cut to 12 per cent.

According to Mr. Berry, hundreds of farmers are delinquent in taxes who under normal conditions would be perfectly solvent. Unusually low prices of farm products and the untimely closure of local banks just at the time taxes were due are blamed for the tremendous increase in the number of delinquencies over any previous year.

Ministry Tells of Tariff Need

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—The commerce ministry predicted today that France may need more tariff protection than she now enjoys from her 15 per cent super-duties.

At the same time the chamber of deputies defeated the government 225 to 261 on a proposal to levy an import tax of two per cent on raw materials, four per cent on partially manufactured goods and six per cent on manufactured products.

Following much newspaper comment during the last few days about "tariff war" with Great Britain, the commerce ministry declared the British government had "made a mistake" in establishing high duties. "We regard England as a friend," a ministry spokesman said, "but even friends sometimes make mistakes."

France, it was said, intends to find other markets so far as possible to increase her own consumption of certain products hit by the new English duties.

Police Close Demonstration at Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The demonstrators who loudly sang "The Internationale" in front of the capitol and White House left Washington today silent and subdued.

The police went with them to the District of Columbia line. "We're coming back," some of the demonstrators said, "and then we'll fix you."

"Oh yeah!" returned the blue coats. The promise to return in numbers sufficient to rush aside the police who barred their entrance to congress and the executive mansion was frequently heard.

The time for the second march on the capitol, however, was vague and uncertain. Their program demanding unemployment insurance and other relief measures was never presented. Throughout their stay here, there was only one arrest and curiosity the person taken into custody was a spectator. He laughed too loudly and too long at the somewhat motley crew.

Legion Asks for Additional Expenditures

Hoover Warns Against Further Depletion of Treasury

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The American Legion wants additional expenditures for veterans of more than $25,000,000 yearly despite warnings from the president that the federal pocketbook is very lean.

In his message to congress, Mr. Hoover today said veterans relief cost more than $1,000,000,000 last year and he felt this was no time to be adding to such a formidable sum.

Almost as his words were being read at the capitol, however, Harry L. Stevens, Legion commander, appeared at the White House and handed the chief executive a program calling for more money.

Mr. Hoover's admonition for conservatism toward veterans relief was reinforced later in the day by the annual report of Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans administration.

Need More Money
Hines told congress it would have to dig deeper into the attenuated treasury wallet if it sent more veterans to government hospitals.

Commenting that it seemed the policy of the government to give hospital treatment to veterans, regardless of what caused the illness, Hines said if that attitude continued "the existing and authorized government facilities will have to be materially increased to meet future demands."

In addition to the $25,000,000 the Legion program called for an appropriation of about $40,000,000 for hospital construction.

Home Economics Department Shows Display of Textiles

A display of hand loomed Berea textiles is being shown by the home economics department. These linen, woolen, and cotton textiles were made by mountain women near Berea, Ky. The work is often their sole means of support.

Woolen table runners, scarves, towels, bags, pillow tops and luncheon sets are being shown. Pastel colors predominate in the linen and cotton weaving but darker and brighter colors are used in the woolen articles.

Plain weaving and old fashioned counterpane weaving which have been used by these mountain women in their looms for years is displayed, but some of the new set-in patterns are also included.

The display will be an exhibit in the home economics department in natural science building until Dec. 17.

Police Trace Birds; Leads to Arrest on Charge of Extortion

PROVO, Utah, Dec. 8 (AP)—Carrier pigeons traced to home lofts by officers equipped with field glasses led to the arrest of Russell Barnett, 19, on charges of attempted extortion.

Police said the youth confessed he had left the pigeons in a crate on the doorstep of the home of Mrs. Jesse Knight, wealthy widow, with instructions to attach $700 to the birds and release them.

Instead the flyers were released by police who had men stationed at strategic points to follow the flight with field glasses. The pigeons scattered to the four winds in the city. Barnett said he had stolen the birds and had no accomplices.

Huffman Will Sing for Third Time in Cornell "Messiah"

For the third consecutive year, F. Walter Huffman, now of the music department faculty, and formerly associated with the music department of Cornell college at Mt. Vernon, will sing the tenor parts in the annual presentation of the "Messiah" at Mt. Vernon Sunday.

The production is given by the Cornell Oratorio society and the Cornell conservatory orchestra, with a chorus of 125 voices.

Before coming to the University of Iowa this year, Mr. Huffman was at Cornell for two years, during both of which he took the same parts in the oratorio.

Device Made Here Measures Effect of Emotions on Body

A new apparatus, a photographic recording device for the Hathaway psycho-galvanometer, has been perfected in the laboratories of the psychology department.

The instrument is used in measuring the resistance of the body to a slight alternating current correlating with bodily emotions. The machine records the results in the form of graphic lines drawn on a revolving cylinder inside the mechanism.

The device will be shipped to Ohio university, where it will be used for experimental purposes in the psychology department. William H. Grubbs, research assistant in psychology, is the inventor of the apparatus.

Deputies Vote Laval Confidence in Debate Over Recent Rioting

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—Premier Pierre Laval won a vote of confidence from an unruly chamber of deputies tonight when the chamber postponed debate on the riot that broke up a recent disarmament meeting in Paris.

The premier requested that interpellations on the riotous incidents, in which prominent statements of various countries were howled down, be postponed. It was put as a question of confidence, the chamber yielding to his demand by a vote of 324 to 266.

He also obtained postponement for interpellations on a skirmish between nationalists and pacifists at Bordeaux, which was a repercussion of the Paris affair.

"Peace is not the prerogative of any political party," Premier Laval said while the chamber applauded.

Judge Delays Fraud Case

Defendant Held in Jail Pending Action of Grand Jury

ANAMOSA, Dec. 8 (AP)—The battle of George E. Huckins against charges of fraud in connection with an alleged 26 and 52 per cent investment scheme, was prolonged again today when Judge F. O. Ellison referred the case back to a Linn county grand jury.

Brought here on a change of venue, the trial was in its second day when defense attorneys brought up a contention that the short form of the information by which Huckins was brought to trial did not constitute a charge.

Judge Upholds Contention
Judge Ellison upheld the contention, saying that the information might conform to the Iowa law regarding informations, but, since it contained no charge, it could not be amended to meet the requirements.

The next Linn county grand jury will meet at Cedar Rapids in January. County Attorney Carl Hendrickson said the charge that Huckins obtained under false pretenses $300 from Emil Levens of Springfield, former Cleveland baseball pitcher, would be presented to that grand jury.

Huckins Held in Jail
The court's decision was regarded by attorneys as holding unconstitutional the law passed by the forty-third general assembly providing for the short form of indictment. His decision was based on the old common law and indicated that the short form was not sufficient.

Huckins was ordered held in the Jones county jail pending further action.

The Huckins investment enterprise led to the indictment of George and his father, Elmer, of Hancock, Wis. Both were convicted last year but the Iowa supreme court remanded the case of George for retrial and is still considering the case against the father.

The George Huckins case was brought here on a change of venue.

One-Half Inch Snow Blankets Iowa City

A light rain that turned into snow brought the first indications of real winter to Iowa City last night. Approximately one-half inch of the wet flakes covered the ground at midnight, with the fall continuing slowly.

Temperatures remained moderate throughout the day, and there was little indication that any precipitation would take place until the afternoon brought overcast skies.

Bandit Gets $10
DES MOINES, Dec. 8 (AP)—A bandit who robbed a laundry office early tonight of $10 escaped after three shots had been fired at him by a pursuing night watchman.

The man was discovered burning an automobile near Lawrence Kalscheur farm north of Waukegan. The men ordered Kalscheur away, and hammered the spark plugs in his car to prevent him following them.

After the car was burned, they drove away in the car identified as Miss Christianson's.

The burned car carried an Iowa license 94-9514. Miss Christianson's car carried Wisconsin plate 30247 of 1932.

This huge stone winged bull, which weighs 40 tons, was the emblem of authority of Sargon, ruler of Assyria eight centuries before the Christian era. It is now in the Oriental Institute at the University of Chicago, recently dedicated.

Professor James H. Breasted (left), in charge of the institute, and Professor Edward Chiera, who discovered the enormous carving, are shown admiring the exhibit.

Beauty queens may come and beauty queens may go—but here's one who has been "Miss Cali Fornia" for over 20 years.

And nobody has disputed her title, either. The reason is that when she was born her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fornia, decided that they could show their devotion to their state in no more fitting way than to name their little girl Cali.

And so she's been Cali Fornia ever since.

Shooting Case Goes Before Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—The case of Daniel L. Gilday, professional reformer charged with shooting Herman Knol, 17 year old youth, in the abdomen, is to be laid before the Cook county grand jury tomorrow.

Knol, who said he was shot by the reformer as he sought to assist him home in the belief he was intoxicated, was pronounced out of danger by physicians today. Since the shooting a week ago Sunday he hovered between life and death.

more messages to come, one especially on foreign affairs.

In a brief discussion of the railroads, the president said they should be given the chance to reduce operating costs by "proper consolidation."

He suggested revision of the law under which the interstate commerce commission regulates them, and gave notice that he would soon forward recommendations from the commission to congress.

Another later, communication is to deal with strengthening law enforcement and judicial procedure; while a third will transmit the findings of the Alabama-Tennessee war department committee on behalf of private operation of Muscle Shoals.

Men Order Woman From Car, Drive Off With Machine

RIO (Columbia county), Wis., Dec. 8 (AP)—Columbia county authorities tonight sought three men who stopped Miss Essie Christianson near here, ordered her from her automobile at the point of a pistol and drove off in her car and their own machine.

Under Sheriff Lawrence O. Larson said the men were suspected as the trio that robbed a Davenport, Ia., bank Monday.

A few hours after Miss Christianson's car was stolen this morning.

The Smoker's Friend
WHITENS
Smokers' Teeth
In 48 HOURS!

Don't expect ordinary tooth paste to do a thorough job on your smoke-yellowed teeth. It can't remove tobacco stains any more than water can run up hill. It takes Bost to accomplish the complete three-fold task of

1. Banishing every particle of ugly yellow tobacco stain, and checking mouth acid;
2. Removing the coating where germs frequently breed trouble and pain; and
3. Whitening teeth to a dazzling, pearly whiteness.

The reason is simple: Bost Tooth Paste was made by Dr. Wm. Dale Bost, pharmaceutical chemist, especially for smokers. You have only to use Bost once to realize that here is your dentifrice—the only one you can depend upon to remove tobacco stains in 48 hours, and keep them off.

The very first brushing will leave your mouth so fresh, clean and wholesome; your breath so irreproachably sweet, that you'll actually look forward to return of tooth-brushing time.

MAKER'S TEST OFFER:
This very day deposit a few cents with your druggist for your first tube of Bost. Use it a full week entirely at our risk. If your teeth, gums, mouth and breath don't cast a unanimous vote for Bost, return what's left in the tube to this company and we will refund your money.

This Game Called Bridge

APPARENTLY Mrs. Culbertson is not the sort of wife who trumps her husband's ace — although the newspaper men on duty in the 150 rubber match in New York city would prefer she would, for it would certainly make nice reading. But Mrs. Culbertson probably will fool the newspaper men and continue to play the sort of bridge that makes her the sort of wife that Mr. Culbertson is willing to play with in the New York tourney that bridge fans all over the world are watching.

"Why put a bridge game on the front page?" asked someone yesterday morning. "Why all this fuss? Listen," and he proceeded to read from a newspaper, "Behind a long screen peeked newspaper men—three at a time. Clerks and official scorers tiptoed about, not within sight of the players. 'A hand in play seemed signal for none to move so much as a finger. Telegraph instruments clattered in adjoining rooms as thousands of words went to all corners of the land.'"

And he snorted "Bridge!" Snort is the only word that can describe it. Those about him snorted back — but they were disgusted not with bridge, but with him. They liked bridge—as thousands of other Americans do — and the tourney in New York city was as much interest to them as the daily radio games, the newspaper games that have made "north, east, south and west," mean more than mere directions.

Bridge seems to be becoming the great American game. In every hamlet, in every metropolitan center, the terminology of bridge echoes and re-echoes at social affairs that vary from church gatherings to formal parties in pent houses. It has re-established a custom that was fast fading away; the habit of spending evenings at home or dropping over to see the neighbors.

And final proof of the public's interest, bridge is news—perfect bridge hands, or murders, divorces, or romances that start about the bridge table are in the headlines and now the country is watching to see if Mrs. Culbertson will trump Mr. Culbertson's ace.

Congressional Tax Measures

NEW ARE THE congressmen who do not have plans for increasing the national revenue through taxation as congress convenes. Fewer still are those who have measures for the reduction of federal government expenditures.

All the argument and proposing centers about the question, "How can we raise the revenue?" No one even faintly suggests the query "How can we reduce expenses to fit the current income of the national government?"

A tax on luxuries has the strongest support. Senators Robert LaFollette, the radical Republican from Wisconsin, and Hiram R. Bingham, forceful Republican from Connecticut, have given public addresses in which they urge taxation of the so-called unnecessary of life. Both have been emphatic in their denunciation of a general sales tax.

Senator Bingham estimated that the United States government was operating at a loss of $5,000,000 per day, and that to meet the mounting deficit new sources of taxation must be tapped.

He regarded the situation as only temporary, and said that when the government's income had caught up with its expenditures, the luxury tax could be easily discarded. He particularly urged a tax on beer, asserting that it would net 40 to 50 million dollars annually.

When costs surpass income, the most sensible thing to do is to cut the costs commensurate with the income.

But that idea apparently is entirely alien to the congressmen. The theory must be that every cent being spent by the federal government at present is necessary, and that there is no room for economy.

Senator Bingham is right, however, if congress continues, as is likely, its present negative attitude toward real economies. The second best thing to expense reduction is increasing of income, and increasing it by taxing those best able to bear the burden.

The responsibility for the present financial predicament rests largely upon the shoulders of congress — the task of getting the federal government out of deep water now rests squarely in the same place.

Another Quality Check

THE WELL known stethoscope used by physicians for many years has recently proved to be of great use to engineers. Just as accurately to detect abnormal sounds in the human body, it can detect faults or defects in welded metal. The same principle and method is employed. After placing the small rubber cap upon the welded metal or iron to be tested the engineer taps the iron or metal with a small hammer which sends a series of vibrations to the ear. From the sound and length of these vibrations he can detect the faults just as the blacksmith pounds his iron to hear if it rings true.

The defective sounds are reedy and high pitched, ending in a dampening sound. This has proved to be of great value in testing the perfection of welded metals of all kinds to insure a strong foundation and preventing that weak link in the chain of finished product.

All of which redounds to the benefit of the consumer in guaranteeing him an even closer check upon the quality which he ordinarily accepts blindly with a reputable trade name.

Football Fatalities

(From the University Daily Kansan) There will undoubtedly be considerable agitation throughout the country when the rules committee convenes for regulation of football to prevent serious injuries as a result of this year's toll of 31 gridiron fatalities. The death of Cornelius Murphy, Fordham football star, has focused the attention of the sports loving public on the number of deaths attributable to the game, and aroused speculation as to what will be done to remedy the situation.

An analysis of the circumstances reveals the fact that only four of the deaths occurred at major colleges, the remainder being at high schools and on sand lots where players frequently went without necessary protective garment or proper training and supervision. Coaches and players have pointed out that few players have been found to be even seriously injured in major college games. President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university in reply to critics of football, recently declared that, in the 40 years he has been a faculty representative of the Western conference, there has not been a single fatality or serious injury to any of the thousands who have played on the Big Ten teams.

In spite of these reassurances, it seems certain that important steps will be taken to check the toll of football, and the probabilities are that the abolition of the flying wedge from kickoff and other mass plays will prove a step in the desired direction.

Hoover urges the public to regard the police with the favor now accorded to gangsters. Well, when the police start taking gangsters for rides, the public probably will.

The project of a world police force has been revived. The idea is to turn Alfalfa Bill loose in the far east with the first Oklahoma infantry.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Now that the cat's out of the bag and President Hoover foresees a four and a half billion dollar deficit at the end of the next fiscal year, we can all rest back and watch prosperity return on the wings of higher taxes and more credit.

There may be one good thing to be derived, in that party lines in both houses of congress may tend to be deleted through necessity to a permanent nonentity that might really allow for the passage of important legislation while it's hot.

That is really what senate and house leaders meant yesterday when they intimated that they expect non-partisan action on the presidential program. And although neither house is under any special compulsion, except, perhaps, to constituents, to do what's right by our Herb, they might do what's right.

But there will still be enough haggling over controversial points to wipe the last vestige of glee from Mr. Would-be Happy Public's face. Because when it comes to such things as non-payment of veterans by the federal government, and appropriation of a huge sum, on the other hand, that the veterans' bureau might continue loans on service certificates, —that might mean fight in any representative's language.

Switzerland's William Tell, whose accuracy in shooting an apple off his son's head with bow and arrow is known to every schoolboy, is only a myth of Scandinavian origin. There never was any such individual.

An audience that jammed natural science auditorium Monday afternoon is indebted to Rafael Sabatini for that information.

For such accuracy and dispelling of legend all credit is due to Mr. Sabatini. But he might have made allowance for the fact that myths are sometimes more important in history than the flesh and blood realities of events.

"There ain't no Santa Claus" — and yet everybody knows of youngsters whose behavior suddenly perked up along toward late autumn, who became suddenly attentive to wood piles and unwiped dishes and the like. If Johnnie will be a good little boy, Santa Claus may bring him something nice. And, miracle of miracles, thousands of Johnnies have been good little boys—just before Christmas.

No thinking adult believes that Abraham Lincoln and George Washington never told a lie, and yet how many remember the importance of thinking these great men were so truthful had on their childhood lives?

Switzerland is proved credulous for erecting three chapels and a host of monuments to William Tell, and foolish for having believed what, in its basic facts, was a lie. But the very belief of Switzerland in the reality of this man who defied an Austrian tyrant led to an exemplary effect of the myth on the patriotism of an entire little nation through centuries.

In flesh and blood, William Tell never lived. In the unconquerable spirit of the Swiss people he was created and given life as a firm belief that was far stronger than any of the alleged exploits for which monuments were put up.

Important though it is in history to get at the truth of fact, it is also important to get at the truth of spirit. In this case a man who never lived was real enough in popular acceptance of the legend to live for centuries as a symbol of the Swiss national spirit. As such, he is a fact in history.

To All Students Now Registered in the University of Iowa Who Expect to Enter Either Our Own College of Medicine, or Any Other Medical School in the United States or Canada, for the Freshman Year's Work in the Autumn of 1932:

Last year, under the auspices of the Association of American Medical Colleges the medical aptitude test was taken by 9,222 students of 547 colleges applying for admission to the medical schools of the United States, Canada (3), the Philippine Islands (1), Porto Rico (1), Hawaii (1)—219 of these students having applied for admission to the college of medicine of the State University of Iowa. This test is required of all applicants for admission to the college of medicine of the State University of Iowa, by virtue of its institutional membership in the Association of American Medical Colleges (see the university catalogue for the current year, at the bottom of page 76).

The medical aptitude test for University of Iowa applicants for admission to any medical school belonging to the American Medical association, for the year 1932-33, will be given promptly at 3 p.m., Friday, Dec. 11, 1931 in the main auditorium of the chemistry building.

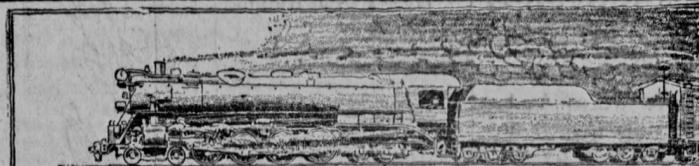

Each such prospective applicant is notified to call at the office of the university secretary within ample time preceding the day of this test, in order to pay the prescribed fee of one dollar ($1.00) which goes to the Association of American Medical Colleges for the purpose of meeting the expenses of conducting the examination, reading the manuscript, tabulating the outcomes, and making these outcomes available to the respective medical schools.

The secretary's office will issue to each student who thus pays this fee a card certifying that the fee has been paid; and this card is to be presented by each student as he enters the main auditorium of the chemistry building just before 3 p.m., Friday, Dec. 11, 1931. An attendant will take up these cards as presented. H. C. DORCAS

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon
The 120-Year-Old Deputy—Jacob le Patriarche was a native of Alsace, born in 1670. He was elected to the national assembly of France in 1789, when he was 120 years of age. When he entered the assembly at the Monnaie des Tulleseries to take his seat between Barnard and Le Chapellier, the whole house rose to do him honor. He took a vigorous part in the deliberations leading to the expropriation of land vested in the church, and in that matter repeatedly clashed with Bishop Talleyrand de Autun. In the list of members Jacob appears as "Orfevre" (gold smith). He died in 1791. See "Gazette de France" of November 2, 1789. Kelly Ran 200 Yards for a Touchdown—In the Texas A. and M.—Louisiana State game of 1907, at Baton Rouge, La., Kelly, the Texas' quarterback, called his own signal to play the ball when he was on his own 45-yard line near the sideline. He started around the short end, found it blocked, then twisted and dodged his way across the field, was tackled and ran back across the field, then back again, and after a fourth time across the field he spied the opportunity to run lengthwise for a touchdown—200 yards in all. Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 8.—If a disastrous fire wiped out the 11 barns of Al Green and Jean Herholt, it would cost Lloyds in London $141,000.

Hollywood's two leading bibliophiles are amassing collections that would make a book-lover's eyes open wide with envy. For some time Green has paid an expert to search out good buys for him. His collection fills a room in his home and overflows into a whole section of a warehouse. Though operating on a smaller scale, Herholt bids in on auctions all over the world. His library contains 225 books about books.

One of Green's prized possessions is Francis Scott Key's original copy of "The Star Spangled Banner" and a series of personal letters discussing the national anthem. He also owns the bill of sale for a slave which inspired Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin." His collection of early California is extremely valuable.

Both Herholt and Green say now is the time for the book collector to buy. Prices are cheap. Even so, if these two sold out

Two Hollywood scenarists were having lunch in a boulevard cafe when a fellow writer entered. "They say he's submitted a story idea to Thalberg," said one. "Any good?" inquired the other. "Yeah, great!" "Beginner's luck," was the acid retort.

E. Anderson First Lieutenant
First year advanced coursemen in the dental unit designated as first lieutenants are Ervin Anderson of Sioux Rapids; George H. Baker of Cedar; Robert Barker of Storm Lake; Kenneth Barker of Bloomfield; Roy L. Bodine, Jr., of Ft. B. Ithaca, N. Y.; Wayne Christensen of Rock Rapids; Russell Ellidge of Cincinnati; Charles Hamilton of Thornburg; Maurice Harlan of Knoxville; Donald Hudson of Council Bluffs.

Rural Schools Use Dental Hygiene Plan of State University
Adoption of the University of Iowa's program of dental hygiene by rural schools of 83 Iowa counties and 323 city and town institutions was reported yesterday by Dr. Thomas R. Gardner, director of the bureau.

The number of counties is 15 in excess of the record number of 1930-31, while the cities and towns are registering in greater number than ever before, he said.

B. K. Grau Cadet Captain
In the medical unit Robert K. Grau of Denison is designated cadet captain and adjutant. In the dental unit John Rule of Hampton is designated as cadet captain and adjutant. Listed as cadet captains in the medical unit are Theodore Bauer of Iowa

ART IN NEW POSTAGE STAMPS

Twelve famous portraits of George Washington will appear on the new stamps next year. Photo shows Y. Scuren, head of the Bicentennial Stamp Distribution service, at Washington, D. Macerata Describes Venice as Place Meant for Artists

"The city of Venice itself inspired much of the famous painting which came from it," declared Giovanni Macerata in a lecture on "Venetian art," yesterday. "The town was the richest in the world, and the artists went where there was money." The architecture of St. Mark's square, the Grand canal, the sunlight reflecting in the lagoon, the narrow streets, which gave artists their idea for the use of strong contrasts between darkness and light, all inspired the great painters.

First Perspective Painter
The first artist who created a new school was Giovanni Bellini. He was the first to use perspective. Tenderness and a strong religious feeling characterized his work. His use of color could not be better.

The next great artist discussed by Signor Macerata was Titoretto, who painted with "tumultuous action." His method of conception was extraordinary. He produced enormous canvases, one of which was 54 feet long. His pictures were literally moving pictures, according to Signor Macerata.

Sigma Xi to Hear Two Lectures on Molecules Tonight

"Mechanics, old and new," will be the theme of the soiree for members of Sigma Xi in the physics building tonight. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock and will be followed by the papers by members of the physics department at 7 o'clock.

Prof. Alexander Ellett will describe, "Molecules as waves," and Prof. John A. Eldridge will discuss, "Molecules as particles." Typical experiments in electronics and atomic structure will be set up in room 17, the atomic structure laboratory, which will be open for inspection after the papers are presented.

The dinner and the scientific session will be for members of Sigma Xi and their guests.

Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department, is also the national president of Sigma Xi.

Jessup to Deliver Baconian Lecture

President Walter A. Jessup will be the speaker at the second Baconian lecture of the year, to be given Friday at 7 p.m. in chemistry auditorium. President Jessup will speak on "Problems in higher educational administration."

Baconian lectures, organized nearly 50 years ago on this campus, are designed primarily for the purpose of surveying the specific fields of learning so that students in one line may keep in touch with developments in other fields. Last week Prof. E. B. Reuter, of the sociology department, addressed the gathering talking on, "Americans of Chinese ancestry."

Citizens to Bring Christmas to 100 Children in Hospital

Recipe for a Merry Christmas in the University of Iowa children's hospital: copious donations of toys, books, and garments from the citizens of the state.

"All contributions thankfully received" was the tenor of the statement by Robert E. Neff, administrator of the university hospital, as he spoke Tuesday of the Christmas plans now being formulated for the 100 small patients from every section of Iowa.

Gifts already are arriving, he said, and by Dec. 24 he hopes to have a large storeroom filled with articles of every description—toys, magazines and books, stationery, games, and garments.

It is the ambition of the Christmas committee, headed by Lola E. Corder, director of the school of nursing, to give every child exactly the toy he wants most. Letters to Santa Claus now are being written and so far as possible the committee will make every wish come true. Hospital officials are almost entirely dependent upon gifts from people of Iowa, Mr. Neff declared.

Only a small fund of money is available to purchase gifts, most of this donated by the student nurses' association which abandoned its annual party in order to swell the sum.

Cantwell, Adams, Farr to Give Talks

Talks by student members will be presented at the meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the engineering building.

"Will colors on machines pay?" will be discussed by Lester E. Adams, E3 of Dubuque. John D. Cantwell, E4 of Davenport, will describe, "Aerodynamic safety." Donald E. Farr will give the third talk on, "Mercury turbines."

Cubs Fail to Trade Hack Wilson; Other Deals Fall Through at Conference

Chisox Seek Ralph Kress, Brown Star

Morgan, Indian Slugger, Hack Block Trades in National

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Two of the best known hitters under baseball's big top, Eddie Morgan of the Cleveland Indians and Hack Wilson of the Cubs, blocked trading operations today.

It appeared that the two players were pivotal points in virtually every outstanding deal and that none of the clubs in the two major leagues, here for their annual winter meeting and market days, wanted them. The Cubs were trying to use Wilson, their fallen home run king, in deals with Boston, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis without success, while the Indians offered Morgan, a great batter but a mediocre fielding first baseman without a definite nibble.

Ralph Kress, star St. Louis Brown outfielder, was definitely on the trading block and Washington, Chicago and New York were after him ever since it was revealed the Browns had failed to make a deal with the Indians.

Offer Hack, Money
The Cubs offered Wilson and a large bundle of William Weigley Jr.'s gold to the St. Louis Cardinals for outfielders George Watkins and Ernie Ottavelli but the trade fell flat as far as was known.

New York's Yankees were confronted with the sudden necessity of sending another player to St. Paul of the American association today in the transaction that gave them Jack Saltzberg, star St. Paul second baseman, The Yankees sent Pitcher Roy Sherid to the Saints as part of the deal but Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis has ruled Sherid ineligible for violations of rules and the Yankees have to send another player in his place.

The 1931 managerial lineup for the major league was completed today when Stanley "Bucky" Harris signed a one year contract to pilot the Detroit Tigers for the fourth season.

Broadcasting Optional
Club owners of the American league held a long discussion on the radio problem and adopted a resolution by which no American league club can contract for radio rights after the 1932 season when a meeting will be held to decide definitely on the question. The question was postponed a year when it was revealed that one American league club signed 1932 radio rights. So during 1932, radio will be a matter of local club option.

The American league also voted to oppose "artificial doubleheaders" whereby clubs agree to move games up for double header purposes. The movement to obtain sanction for intra-league exhibition games during spring training was voted down.

Frank J. Navin, Detroit, was re-elected vice president of the American league while owners of the Chicago, Cleveland and Boston clubs were elected to the board of directors.

Attendance Off
National league owners also voted local option on the radio problem but refused to approve the American league proposal to stop unnecessary doubleheaders.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, in his annual report, revealed that attendance figures for 1931 were off about 15 per cent. This, he said, was due as much to the St. Louis Cardinals' domination of the race, as to the financial disturbance.

Barney Dreyfus, president of the Pittsburgh club, was re-elected vice president of the elder league, and the schedule meeting date was changed from Feb. 9 to Feb. 2, to give clubs more time to plan training season.

Identify Man Held in Car Death From Criminal Records

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 7 (AP)—D. E. Reeves, head of the criminal investigation bureau in Wichita Falls, Tex., today declared that Hal Conklin, held in connection with the death of Alden Wright, 28, is an older brother of a man known to Wichita Falls police as Ray Hansen.

Hansen is the name Conklin gave shortly after he was arrested when his large automobile crashed into a tree and killed the Mt. Pleasant motorcycle policeman, who sought to arrest Conklin on a bad check charge.

Reeves, Wright's father-in-law, maintained that Conklin is one of a gang of criminals operating in the Midwest. Officers said Conklin served sentences in several state prisons.

Authorities said the release of Mrs. Olive Royalty, said to be Conklin's "traveling companion" was imminent.

Caddock Sees Iowa Grapplers in Action; Thinks Meet 'Great'

Earl Caddock, former heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, was an interested spectator at the all-university mat tournament at the field house yesterday.

Caddock held the title when Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Joe Stretcher were leading contenders. He finally lost the title to Lewis.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

Changes in basketball rules for the 1931-32 season have not been numerous. Wording on some of the rules has been changed around, or new wording inserted, so as to make the rules clearer to the officials, coaches, players and spectators.

The spectator is important when new rules are drawn up and substituted for those that have been in force a long time. We heard the other day of a plan, used in a major school, which interpreted the many fouls and the old and new basketball rules of the season for the spectators.

During the intermission period between the halves of a court game, the freshman squad took the floor and illustrated various plays which brought certain rules out before the spectators so that they could easily understand them and not be an official needlessly at times.

The frosh were divided into two quintets and a member of one team wore a bright red uniform, and one man on the other team also wore a suit color which made him conspicuous to the stands. The man in red was the one who always committed the foul, and the other man was the one on whom all the fouls were committed.

Before each play an official described the coming play, then the men would start. As soon as the foul was committed, an official blew his whistle, and described why he was calling the foul, and then the play was gone through again.

The men also showed the differences in the old rule and the new ruling. The scheme worked with a great degree of success. It was also used to illustrate the many ways in which the spectators could see a foul and the officials could not.

For this the men would be playing and suddenly the official's whistle froze the players. The play was halted at a time when several players obscured the views of the officials by crossing between them and the man with the ball, but who could be seen by the people in the stands.

Wells Sends Men Through Long Session

With a veteran team coming here Friday evening in the opening conference game for both schools, Coach George Wells sent his Red and White cagers through a long practice session yesterday afternoon in the City high gym.

Pivoting occupied the squad's attention for a period. Then Wells sent two quintets on the floor in what turned out to be a brisk scrimmage.

The forwards on the first team were Reed and Soucek; guards, Iesch and March; center, Stimmel. The second quintet consisted of Eerland, Brown, Dick, Brown and Ballard.

The first team showed much improvement yesterday with Reed, Stimmel and March accounting for a number of baskets.

Quad Cagers Resume Fight for Trophy

The first round over, Quadrangle basketballers resume the championship race tonight as Sections D and B clash at 7 and A and C at 7:45 in the heavyweight division. In the lightweight class Sections A and B are paired and C and D, both games to begin at 7:45.

The play on Monday night brought out some good ball. Although a bit rough due to early season slowness, the play was of an interesting nature. Practically all the teams are evenly matched and every game from now on is due to be hotly contested. There are some mighty fine trophies at stake and the coaches much less the players are vying for the title.

Sig Ep Five Whips Kappa Sigs 13 to 4

Show Strong Defensive Strength in Third Victory

Last night's results: "A" LEAGUE
Sigma Phi Epsilon 13, Kappa Sigma 4.
Delta Sigma Pi 21, Sigma Pi 12.
Alpha Tau Omega 12, Theta Xi 7.
Phi Chi 23, Alpha Kappa Psi 10.
Phi Epsilon Kappa 12, Gamma Alpha 10.
Chi Kappa Pi forfeited to Delta Upsilon.
Beta Phi Sigma forfeited to Sigma Chi.

PLEDGE LEAGUE
Phi Delta Theta 35, Theta Xi 9.
Phi Gamma Delta 13, Alpha Sigma Phi 2.
Beta Theta Pi forfeited to Sigma Nu.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon team appears to be one of the strongest defensive fives in the league. Last week they held the D. U. team to 1 point and last night they trounced the Kappa Sigma outfit, 13 to 4. The score was 12 to 0 at the finish of the second period, after which the Sig Ep's took things easy.

The starting lineup: Sigma Phi Epsilon: Batty and Green, forwards; Handorf, center; Hickman and Crabtree, guards.
Kappa Sigma: Redmond and Shaffer, forwards; Mollenhoff, center; Hull and Musgrove, guards.

Delta Sigma Pi had an easy time in defeating the Sigma PIs 21 to 12. The game saw "Bud" Miller and Joe Laws, quarterbacks on this year's football team, paired against each other as forwards. They each gathered three field goals. Davis, forward, for the victors, was the outstanding floor man. He collected 4 baskets.

The starting lineup: Delta Sigma Pi: Miller and Davis, forwards; Boldt, center; Davidson and Shain, guards; Sigma Pi: Laws and Stokes, forwards; Steidman, center; Smith and Jurgenson, guards.

A.T.O. Downs Theta Xi
Failure to connect for baskets made the Alpha Tau Omega-Theta Xi mix a rather listless game. The A.T.O.'s had a better passing attack that gained them an early lead which they held throughout. The final score was 12 to 7.

The starting lineup: Alpha Tau Omega: Evans and Halliday, forwards; Peterson, center; Barber and Rule, guards.
Theta Xi: Samuelson and Miller, forwards; Menzner, center; Underhill and Fryberger, guards.

Phi Chi showed the most spirited playing that has been seen to date in its game with Alpha Kappa Psi. They started with a rush and ended the same way. Every man on the team figured in the scoring which was done after the ball had been worked in close to the basket. The final score was 23 to 10. Damitz, fleet forward for the Phi Chi, was the outstanding player of the game.

The starting lineup: Phi Chi: Johnson and Damitz, forwards; Bettag, center; Giesne and Nierling, guards.
Alpha Kappa Psi: Olson and Dixon, forwards; Eckhardt, center; Druel and Washburn, guards.

Gamma Scare P.E.K.
The surprise game of the evening was the one between Phi Epsilon Kappa and Gamma Alpha. Phi Epsilon Kappa went strong in defeating the Phi Gams and was doped to easily turn back Gamma Alpha. They did turn them back, but only by a 12 to 10 score and had difficulty in doing that. Gamma Alpha was kept in the running by Koeler, a heady and shifty forward who played a mighty good game. Fletcher, Phi Epsilon Kappa forward, again played a bang-up game, showing ability to dribble and pass with accuracy.

The starting lineup: Phi Epsilon Kappa: Miller and Fletcher, forwards; Reese, center; Allison and McComb, guards.
Gamma Alpha: Sorens and Keeler, forwards; Spangler, center; Herrington and Riley, guards.

Phi Del's Frosh Win
The Phi Delta Theta pledges are boring right in for first place honors in the pledge league. In winning over Theta Xi, 35 to 9, they established a high score for the tourney.

In their game it was Schammel, husky center, that stood out. Their clever guard, Gerber, scintillated in their victory over the Deltas. And last night the entire team clicked. They were led in scoring this time by Frank Nye, guard, who dribbled down for 5 buckets. The team was slow in starting, but once their plays started functioning they displayed an offense that counted baskets at will.

The starting lineup: Phi Delta Theta: Johnson and Corcoran, forwards; Schammel, center; Gerber and Nye, guards.
Theta Xi: Hutchison and Henson, forwards; Peepser, center; Pray and Lucht, guards.

Alpha Sig's Trounced
The closing game of the evening's card resulted in a top heavy victory for the Phi Gamma Delta 13 year men over Alpha Sigma Phi, 13 to 2. Neither team scored in the first period with all shots going wild. In the second period the Fijis, led by Roland White and John Champlain, gradually pulled away from their opponents.

Iowa May Play Host to Interscholastic Track, Field Meets

Another interscholastic track and field meet probably will be held in the University of Iowa field house in late March or early April next year, according to plans of the department of athletics.

Iowa Cagers Point for Tilt With Carleton

Twelve players were used in scrimmages against five freshman basketball teams yesterday afternoon as Coach Rollie Williams drove his squad through a strenuous workout preparatory to the second game of the season against Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., Saturday evening at the field house.

Two sets of forwards alternated during the scrimmages, Howard Moffitt and Lester Glick, Jack Koflow and Harold Eshelman. Paul Brecher and Alex Rogers changed off at center.

Six men were tried out at the guards. They were Douglas Filkins, Henry Vallet, Harold Swaney, Phil Thurlte, Roy Dwocky, and Christian Schmidt.

Carleton quintet will come to Iowa with three victories to its credit in as many games with the Hawkeyes. It will be the first meeting of the two teams since 1915, and the initial appearance in Iowa City of the Northfield collegians.

Easy Session for St. Pat's After Opener

Resting after their hard battle with the Alumni Monday, the St. Patrick's cagers took only a light workout last night. Their next game is with Immaculate Conception at Cedar Rapids tomorrow night.

St. Mary's Journeys to Parlor City for Next Basketball Tilt

St. Mary's hopes to start a winning streak of greater length than the one which was ended by that 17-16 loss Monday when they meet St. Wenceslaus at Cedar Rapids tomorrow night.

Coach Francis Saeppel excused Gualoher, Belger, Ralph Lumsden, Pooler and Bradley from heavy work at last night's drill, they having been the five who played most of the game against Central. The rest of the squad was sent through a half hour scrimmage.

The preparation for the trek to the Parlor City will wind up this evening with a light workout, which will stress basket shooting, the weakest point in the Ramblers' attack.

PLOTTING AGAINST NAVY

Coach Ralph Sasse and Capt. Jack Price of the Army football team are shown above talking over plans for this Saturday's game with Navy at New York. The annual contest, which was revived last year after a lapse of several seasons, will be played again for charity.

Eight Grapplers Advance in All-University Mat Tourney

There was action galore at the field house yesterday afternoon as the annual all-university wrestling tournament got under way.

Preliminaries will be continued this afternoon at 4:15. Matches today:
135 pound class—Albert Cotton vs. Frank Dafflito.
145 pound class—Ed McComb vs. Willard Minkel; Burt Dull vs. John Champlain.

165 pound class—Alvin Coona vs. Vernon Long; Joe Haddard vs. George Eckdahl; Randall Whinnery vs. F. E. Knipfer.
175 pound class—Nelson Weigle vs. Clarence Hubbard; Glenn Britton vs. Clarence Johnson.
Heavyweight class—John O'Leary vs. Abe Reider.

Clarence Hubbard, Iowa track man, turned his talent to wrestling to win Melvin Kensinger of Malcom in 3 minutes and 19 seconds with a workout lock and body lock. They weighed in at 175 pounds.

After struggling desperately for 7 minutes and 15 seconds, Jaro Soucek, Iowa City, was pinned by Earle Kielhorne, Cherokee freshman, with an arm lock. Kielhorne had his plucky opponent in jeopardy most of the time.

Lollo Parmenter, Ankeny, took a decision over Gordon Benn, St. Petersburg, Fla., in the 135 pound class by a wide margin.
Claude Peer, Iowa City veteran 120 pounder, pinned Charles Van Epps, Iowa City, with a body scissors and an arm lock in 5 minutes and 2 seconds. Peer also won a forfeit from John Mitchell.

Charles Cline was too strong for Wayne Deegan and won a decision in the 118 pound division.
Burt Dull, 145 pound varsity grappler, tossed W. H. Schulte, Garnville.

Cinder Squad Opens Two Weeks of Drill

With approximately 30 men reporting regularly, the track squad yesterday started a two week schedule of practice.

During the first week, special attention will be given to form, particularly in the jumps and hurdles.

The second week will see the beginning of more intensive training in preparation for the regular season, which opens in the early part of January.

Interclass Fisticuffs to Decide Champs of Leather Pushers

University classes will fight it out in the ring this year. Inter-class boxing bouts are being planned by Carl Kaufman, university boxing instructor.

Dates have not been set for the meet, but a squad of more than 30 glove enthusiasts is working out daily at the field house under Kaufman's direction.

Notre Dame Runners Will Oppose Iowa

Notre Dame's track team will be the opponent of the University of Iowa here Feb. 13 in the first dual indoor meet ever held between athletes of the two institutions, Coach George Bresnahan announced Tuesday.

The Irish will open the 1932 Hawkeye season and the affair will be the first of three successive meets in the field house. Definite scheduling of Minnesota for Feb. 21 and Northwestern for Feb. 27 also was made known by the Iowa coach.

Grid Fans Anxiously Watching Condition of Injured Ram Tackle

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Football followers anxiously watched the condition of John Szymanski of New Britain, Conn., Fordham university Rams' tackle injured in the Bucknell game Nov. 21.

Szymanski, whose left side was paralyzed as a result of an unexplained injury, had been steadily improving until last night when he suffered a relapse. He rallied, however, and today was reported resting comfortably but considerable anxiety still was felt.

Cornelius Murphy, who Szymanski relieved in the Bucknell game, died last week of his injuries after apparently being out of danger.

Tennis Team Aspirants to Train Indoors

Winter tournaments every two weeks on the field house courts will determine the personnel of the University of Iowa's tennis teams for spring matches.

Ted Swenson, assistant coach who once was one of Iowa's greatest men, now is tutoring the squad and will supervise the tournaments.

Reduction of Big Ten teams to four men instead of six as an economy-measure is expected to spur the Hawkeye athletes in their efforts to achieve membership.

Captain Ronald Reddie of Davenport, Walter Trakes of Cedar Rapids, and former Captain Herbert Thomas of Iowa City are veterans who now are available.

The Hawkeyes are scheduled to play Chicago at Chicago, April 29; Northwestern at Evanston, April 30; Minnesota at Iowa City, May 13, and probably will enter the conference championship meet at Evanston May 19, 20, and 21. Several non-conference matches with Iowa college teams also may be arranged.

FISH PREFERRED

By P. G. Wodehouse

Synopsis of Preceding Installments
 Ronald Fish, nephew of Lord Emsworth of Blandings Castle, is in love with Sue Brown, a chorus girl. His cousin Millicent is secretly engaged to Hugo Carmody, his lordship's secretary. Sue and Ronnie have a misunderstanding, and Sue, hoping to patch things up, comes to Blandings Castle in the guise of a wealthy Miss Schoonmaker. Lord Emsworth's sister, Lady Constance Keeble, has installed in the household one Rupert Baxter, an ex-secretary of his lordship's whom she considers highly efficient but whom his lordship believes to be crazy. Baxter discovers Sue's identity and goes to her room to try to recover an indiscreet note he has written her. He hides under the bed just as Ronnie bursts into the room, and involuntarily listens in on the reconciliation between Sue and Ronnie.

A detective, Percy Pilbeam, is at the castle supposedly to trace a prize pig that has disappeared, but in reality he has been hired by a neighbor to steal a manuscript which Lord Emsworth's brother, the Hon. Galahad Threepwood, is writing. Knowing that Galahad has lent it to Sue to read, he is climbing up the waterspout to her window at the very moment of her meeting with Ronnie.

The lost pig was stolen and hidden by Ronnie with the purpose of producing it later and being rewarded by his uncle. That afternoon, Hugo and Millicent had found it and had hit upon the same scheme, namely to produce it, win Lord Emsworth's favor, and hence his consent to their marriage. They have hidden the animal in Baxter's caravan. But Hugo learns that Pilbeam saw them. Forced to quick action, he telephones Millicent at a dinner party, and she tells Lord Emsworth that Hugo has found the pig in Baxter's caravan. She also announces her intention to marry Hugo, precipitating a family row. Impatient to see his pig, Lord Emsworth breaks up the dinner party.

Thirty-third Installment
 From the moment when it left the door of Matchingham Hall and started on its journey back to Blandings Castle, a silence as of the tomb had reigned in the car which was bringing Lord Emsworth, his sister, Lady Constance Keeble, and his brother, the Hon. Galahad Threepwood, home from their interrupted dinner party.

In the light of what Millicent, an eyewitness at the front, had told Hugo over the telephone of the family battle which had been raging at Sir Gregory Parslow's table, this will appear strange. If ever three people with plenty to say to one another were assembled together in a small space, these three, one would have thought, were those three.

The explanation, like all explanations, is simple. Owing to the fact that some trifling internal ailment had removed from the active list the luxurious car in which Blandings Castle usually went out to dinner, Voules, the chauffeur, had had to fall back upon this secondary and inferior car; and there was no glass partition inside it, shutting off the driver from the active list. He was right there in their midst, ready and eager to hear anything that was said and to hand it on in due course to the servants' hall.

In these circumstances, though the choice seemed one between speech and spontaneous combustion, the company kept their thoughts to themselves. They suffered, but they did it. At Lady Constance we point with particular pride. She was a woman, and silence weighed hardest on her.

There were times during the drive when even the sight of Voules' large, red ears all picked up to learn the reason for this sudden and sensational return was scarcely sufficient to restrain Lady Constance Keeble from telling her brother Clarence just what she thought of him. From boyhood up he had not once come near to being her favorite, but never had he sunk so low in her estimation as at the moment when she heard him giving his consent to the union of her niece Millicent with a young man who, besides being penniless, had always afflicted her with a nervous complaint for which she could find no means of cure, but which, known to the scientists as the heebie-jeebies.

Not had he re-established himself in any way by his outspoken remarks on the subject of the efficient Baxter. He had said things about Baxter which no admirer of that energetic man would have dreamed of saying. "Mad," "crazy," "insane," "gibbering"—and worse, "potty" had played in and out of his conversation like flashes of lightning. And from the look in his eye, she gathered that he was still saying them all over again to himself.

Her surmise was correct. To Lord Emsworth the events of this day had come as a stunning revelation. On the strength of that flower-pot incident, two years ago, he had always looked on Baxter as mentally unbalanced; but, being a fair-minded man, he had recognized the possibility that a quiet, regular life and freedom from worries might, in the interval which had elapsed since his late secretary's departure from the castle, have effected a cure. Certainly the man had appeared quite normal on the day of his arrival. And now, in the space of a few hours, he had crammed enough variegated lunacy to equip all the March Hares in England and leave some over for the Mad Hatters.

The ninth Earl of Emsworth was not a man who was easily disturbed. He was a calm, which, as a rule, only his younger son Frederick could shatter. But it was not proof against the sort of thing that had been going on today. No matter how placid you may be, if you find yourself in close juxtaposition with a man who, when he is not hurling himself out of windows, is stealing pigs and trying to make you believe they were stolen by your butler, you begin to think a bit. Lord Emsworth was thoroughly upset. As the car bowed up the drive he was saying to himself that nothing could surprise him now.

And yet something did. As the DIXIE DUGAN—Tiresome Rhyme!

SAD TRIP FOR YALE GRID HERO

Borne from the New Haven, Conn., hospital on a stretcher to a waiting ambulance, Yale's mighty atom, Albie Booth, is shown as he was transferred to a sanatorium in Wallingford. Medical authorities, who have been treating the grid star for pleurisy, admitted that his ailment is an infection of the lung covering. Booth's illness is said to be the result of a chill contracted during the Yale-Harvard game.

Interpretation upon this phenomenon. Baxter, he assumed, had run amok and had done it with such uncompromising thoroughness that strong men ran panic-stricken before him.

Mild though the ninth earl was by nature, a lover of rural peace and the quiet life, he had, like all Britain's aristocracy, the right stuff in him. It so chanced that, during the years when he had held his commission in the Shropshire Yeomanry, the motherland had not called to him to save her. But, had that call been made, Clarence, ninth Earl of Emsworth, would have answered it with as prompt a "Bless my soul! Of course. Certainly" as any of his Crusader ancestors. And in his sixtieth year the ancient fire still lingered.

The Hon. Galahad, who had returned to watch the procession through the front door with a surprised monocle, turned back and found that he was alone. Lord Emsworth had disappeared. He now beheld him coming back again. On his amiable face was a look of determination. In his hand was a gun. "Eh? What?" said the Hon. Galahad, blinking.

The head of the family did not reply. He was moving toward the stairs. In just that same silent purposeful way had an Emsworth advanced on the foe at Agincourt.

A sound as of disturbed hens made the Hon. Galahad turn again.

"Galahad! What is all this? What is happening?" It was Lady Constance.

"Clarence has just gone upstairs with a gun!"

"Yes. Looked like mine, too. I hope he takes care of it."

He perceived that Lady Constance had also been seized with the urge to climb. She was making excellent time up the broad staircase. So nimbly did she move that she was on the second landing before he came up with her.

And, as they stood there, a voice made itself heard from a room down the corridor.

"Baxter! Come out! Come out, Baxter, my dear fellow, immediately!"

In the race for the room from which the words had proceeded, Lady Constance, getting off to a good start, beat her brother by a matter of two lengths. She was thus the first to see a slight unusual glare at Blandings Castle, though strange things had happened there from time to time.

Her young guest, Miss Schoonmaker, was standing by the window, looking excited and alarmed. Her brother Clarence, pointing a gun expertly from the hip, was staring fixedly at the bed. And from under the bed, a little like a tortoise protruding from its shell, there was coming into view the spectacled head of the Efficient Baxter.

Stock Market Continues on Down Trend

Short Rail Rally Fails to Effect General Response

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—The stock market was heavy today, closing more than 2 points lower on the average at a level about equal to the previous bottom of the post-October reaction.

Except for a rally led by the rails in the first half hour, the market was heavy all day. It reached its lowest point after the presidential message had been distributed on tickers, dipping rather sharply as renewed selling hit railroad equities, several of which made new lows. Bonds were irregular, but many rail bonds strengthened in response to the interstate commerce commission's rate decision.

Feel Foreign Influence

Unfavorable action on several railroad dividends exerted a depressing influence. New Haven, Colorado and Southern, Boston and Maine, Texas and Pacific, and Missouri Pacific were the systems added to the dividend casualty list.

Although domestic problems were uppermost, the market was unable to forget foreign considerations. Reports of a new financial decree to be promulgated in Berlin seemed to increase uneasiness.

Cotton rallied moderately when the government crop estimate was published, for the figure mentioned was smaller than had been anticipated.

Foreign Coin Improves

The Standard Statistics-Associated Press average for railroad stock, closed at a new low. Selling was particularly active in New Haven and New York Central, both of which were down more than 4 points net. U. S. Steel made a new minimum at 50 1/4 but reduced its 3 point drop to 2 1/8. Sales totalled 1,599,016 shares.

Foreign exchanges were steady to firm in the main, sterling holding a narrow range. Reichsmarks and French francs improved. In commodities, wheat was down 1/2 to 2 cents on reports of favorable rains and a bearish foreign crop estimate. Corn closed mostly easy in response to large contract deliveries and the weather outlook.

Secretary Presents Monthly Report of Red Cross Work

Report of work done during the month of November by the local chapter of the Red Cross was given by Mrs. Martin Pederson, executive secretary, at the monthly meeting in the city hall last night.

Office interviews were 131; telephone calls in, 46; telephone calls out, 82; letters written, 37; letters received, 24. Five applications were made for soldier's relief, and three applications for government headstones. Two cases were referred to the social services.

Miscellaneous work included applications for burial expense claims, loans under the new adjusted certificate law, and applications for adjusted certificates. Three men were sent to Veterans' Bureau hospitals. Clothing, shoes, milk, and groceries were given to families of war veterans.

CHICAGO TUBERCULOSIS INSTITUTE

Cooperation of Iowa City residents in the annual tuberculosis drive here is asked by W. W. Mercer, chairman of the tuberculosis drive, by buying Christmas seals. Early returns from 2,000 seals sent out last week indicate that the sale of seals is going to fall short of last year's, stated Mr. Mercer last night.

"Residents of Iowa City should realize that the funds from the seals are more needed this year than ever before because of the present economic conditions," pointed out Mr. Mercer. "We ask that those persons having any means at all will lend their fullest support to this drive."

Relief Chairman Reports on Work Done by Unemployed

Nine hundred and forty seven will collect food stuffs of any kind, to be donated for the purpose of making up Christmas baskets for needy families. Canned goods, bread, flour, vegetables, fruit, meats, chickens, ducks, or any staple food stuffs will be welcomed.

There are now about 250 registered unemployed. Work has been supplied to them as fast as funds and opportunity made it possible, according to the chairman. Work on Ralston creek and the cemetery will be finished in about three weeks. The association asks that fullest cooperation be given by the residents of Iowa City in supplying the need for more work.

Expenditures to date:
Ralston creek $246.00
Cemetery 159.76
Total $405.76

Receipts $938.30
Total balance .. $532.54

Drivers' License Applications Mount

A new record for issuance of drivers' license applications was set yesterday by the county sheriff's office when 275 applications were issued. This new total is 13 more than a record set two weeks ago.

Sheriff Don McComas urges that all drivers obtain their licenses before Jan. 1, 1932.

Assisting Sheriff McComas in issuing the applications are his two deputies Preston Koser and Mrs. W. J. McDonald. The three have been handling the entire issuance of applications since Oct. 1.

Firemen Extinguish Blaze

Roof fire at the home of W. A. Spence, 107 W. Burlington street, resulted in the calling of firemen yesterday at 9:30 a.m. The blaze, which is believed to have started from sparks flying out of a chimney, was extinguished by use of chemicals. The fire caused slight damage. The building belongs to John Brady.

Thieves Bother Capitol

DES MOINES, (AP)—Petty thievery in the state capitol resulted in the mailing of a letter by Ralph Bittinger, secretary of the executive council, to department heads asking them to keep office doors locked after working hours. Desk sets and other small articles have been the objects of the thieves.

Wheat Values Jolted Down, Buying Slight

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Jolted by an abrupt onslaught of selling after President Hoover's message to congress had been issued, wheat values underwent a decided setback late today.

Many spot loss orders accompanied the downward sweep of wheat. A big part of the selling was ascribed to houses with Wall street connections, and went with weakness of securities and news of moisture relief in drier regions of domestic winter wheat territory southwest.

Corn Unchanged

Wheat closed nervous at almost the day's bottom, 3-8, 2 1/8 cents under yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to 3-8 down, oats a shade to 3-8 off, and provisions unchanged to 2 cents lower.

For a brief interval after the contents of President Hoover's message became known, wheat prices showed no pronounced trend. In the final trading, however, quotations tumbled rapidly, and showed almost complete absence of immediate power to recover.

Overseas Demands Weak

Contributing to bearish sentiment were Liverpool reports that Argentine shippers had been offering wheat freely. In addition, notice was taken of uncertainty as to European finances, Germany's in particular. Overseas demand for North American wheat was confined to a few scattered purchases.

There was no material selling pressure on corn or oats, but both the feed grains receded with wheat at the last. Country offerings of corn were scarce, and primary arrivals less than half of those a year ago.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values.

Closing indemnities: wheat—Dec. 52 3/4 bids; May 54 7/8, 55, 57 3/4, 7-8; July 53 1/8, 1-4, 56 1/8, 1-4, Corn—Dec. 35 3/8, 37 1/8; Mar. 35 3/8, 39 5/8; May 40 1/4, 41 7/8, 42; July 42 1/4, 43 5/8.

James Huffman, 82, Iowa City Pioneer, Dies After Illness

James W. Huffman, 82, a resident of Iowa City for the last 79 years died at his home at 11:40 a.m. yesterday following a short illness.

He was born in Indiana May 23, 1849. At the age of 3 he moved with his parents to Iowa City where he has since resided. November 18, 1789, he was married to Alice Hudson, and until 28 years ago he resided on a farm south of Iowa City. He is survived by his widow.

Three Sailors Die When Car Crashes

SUISUN, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP)—Three sailors from the Mare Island navy yard, members of a tug boat crew, were killed today when their automobile crashed into a tree on the highway between here and Napa. Officers said the car apparently had been traveling at a high rate of speed.

The victims were identified by naval officers as:

S. J. McArthur, first class seaman of Mahanomen, Minn.

William Christenson, 26, second class boatswain mate of San Francisco.

Kenneth Orvald, 29, first class fireman, Superior, Wis.

Move to Pass Bill Against Gangsters

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—A federal anti-gangster bill calling for death or life imprisonment of murderers crossing state lines was introduced today by Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan.

Under it any person involved in interstate crime would be guilty of a felony in the federal courts and would be subject to 25 years imprisonment and a fine of $25,000 or both.

F. D. Zager Passes After Long Illness

Following a lingering illness, Frederick D. Zager, 69, a resident of Iowa City for the last 20 years, died at his home at 513 S. Van Buren street, early yesterday morning.

Mr. Zager was born July 29, 1862, south of Sharon Center. He resided there until 20 years ago when he moved to Iowa City. He was married Feb. 5, 1885, to Caroline Winborn of Sharon Center.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, William Zager and Jesse E. Zager, both of Iowa City; four daughters, Maude Parott, of Afton, Stella Thomas and Wanda Connelly, both of Iowa City, and Neva Johnson of Lorimer; two brothers, Police Judge C. L. Zager, and Albert Zager, both of Iowa City, and four sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Maske of Ocheyedan, Mrs. John Strickler of Kalona, and Mrs. Leonard Memler and Mrs. John Roessler, both of Iowa City. Fifteen grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Zager was a member of the Iowa City Lodge, I.O.O.F., Carleton Rebekah's, and Good Samaritan encampment of Iowa City. He was also a member of the Hummer Methodist church.

Funeral service will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Outhout funeral chapel with the Rev. H. D. Henry in charge. The Old Fellows lodge will conduct the service at the chapel. Burial will be in the Grout cemetery south of Sharon Center.

Check Shows Loss to Davenport Bank More Than $10,000

DAVENPORT, Dec. 8 (AP)—A check of the records of the North-west Davenport Savings bank, which was robbed yesterday by three unmasked men, today showed that the loss was $10,260.72. Officials yesterday thought it would not exceed $4,000.

Two state agents arrived today to aid in the investigation. Authorities here and in nearby Iowa and Illinois counties were unable to trace the bandits.

The auto in which they escaped, which belonged to John J. Jeske, was recovered a mile west of here today.

Broomhead Funeral Set for Tomorrow

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary E. Broomhead, mother of Mrs. L. Charles Ralford, 314 N. Linn street, who died yesterday morning, will take place at the McGovern funeral home tomorrow at 2 p.m. Mrs. Broomhead had been ill at her home in Mt. Pleasant for more than four years.

Omaha Man Pleads Not Guilty of Murder

FT. DODGE, Dec. 8 (AP)—Edward "Red" Watson of Omaha, today pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with the murder of George McIntyre in Ft. Dodge four years ago.

McIntyre was slain during an attempted holdup.

Watson, who was arrested in Chicago a week ago, was arraigned before Judge O. J. Henderson.

FIRST PICTURE OF TUNNEY BABY

This is the first published photograph of Master Gene Tunney, who was born Nov. 18. The heir-apparent to the fortunes of Gene Tunney, former pugilistic champion, and Mrs. Polly Lauder Tunney, is a perfect specimen, doctors say.

League Asks City Groups to Aid Needy

Churches, lodges, and individuals were asked yesterday by the Christmas bureau of the Iowa City Social Service league to cooperate with the social agencies in distributing Christmas cheer to those most in need of it.

The Christmas bureau is asking:

1—Register early the name of the family you are planning to help, in order that later inquirers may be directed to other needy families.

2—Call the Social Service league for names of families where need is greatest.

3—Report early the names of the families that you want investigated, to welfare agencies. If you are especially interested in the family keep in touch with it through the Christmas bureau, phone 434.

Mrs. F. B. Kircht, publicity chairman, stated yesterday, "Cooperation for this Christmas bureau plan is earnestly solicited, in order that there may be an efficient and far reaching method for bringing Christmas to every needy family and individual in Iowa City."

Ohio Slayer to Hear Fate Read Today

WOOSTER, Ohio, Dec. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Julia Maude Lowther confessed "trigster woman" in the slaying of Mrs. Clara Smith of Ashtabula, will be sentenced at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The verdict will be given by Judge George A. Starn, who conducted the second trial of the woman, after she pleaded guilty yesterday to a general charge of homicide and waived trial by jury. A verdict sending Mrs. Lowther to the electric chair is within the judge's authority.

Tilby Smith, husband of the slain woman, went to the chair Nov. 20 for his part in the crime, which the state contended was arranged by Smith and Mrs. Lowther to remove Mrs. Smith as an obstacle to their illicit love affair.

Last Month's Work Reported by V. N. A.

Nurses from the Visiting Nurses association office traveled 463 miles and made a total of 246 calls during last month, as shown in a report submitted to the V.N.A. board at its regular monthly meeting last night.

The report further showed that office interviews totaled 17, hospital visits 6, interviews 14, applications for state papers 96, and applications for state papers granted 62. Nurses handling the cases of the Visiting Nurses association are Veronica Hanson and Lillian Hansen.

American Legion 40 and 8 Meets at West Liberty Hall

Members of the 40 and 8, fun organization of the American Legion, met Monday evening at the Legion hall at West Liberty.

The members heard a report on the progress of the survey being conducted in Iowa City in an effort to locate all ex-service men in this vicinity. A social hour followed the meeting.

A number of members of the Iowa City Legion post were guests of the club. Those from Iowa City were: Dr. H. H. Jacobsen, Delmer M. Sample, L. E. Clark, Capt. R. V. Rickard, Dr. F. L. Love, Clarence Gallagher, Gordon Dinamore, H. L. Jennings, F. J. Boyle, and Dennis Maher.

State Tries Security Head in Connection With Firm's Failure

DAVENPORT, Dec. 8 (AP)—D. A. Dohy, president of the defunct D. A. Dohy Securities company, went on trial today on charges in connection with the failure of the concern.

The state, in its opening statement after a jury of 10 men and 2 women was impaneled, said it would attempt to show that Dohy knew of false statements contained in an application to the Iowa securities department for issuance of additional stock in the company.

W. L. Huebner, deputy secretary of state, testified concerning the application.

We know why men smoke PIPES

WOMEN don't smoke pipes. They're not the style for women. But pipes are the style for men. and more than that, a pipe and good tobacco gives a man greater smoking pleasure than tobacco in any other form.

In 42 out of 54 American colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite pipe tobacco. Cool slow-burning burleys give this fine tobacco exactly the character that college men like best of all.

Try a tin of Edgeworth yourself! You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or if you prefer, you can get a special sample packet free: write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22nd St., Richmond, Va., and ask for it.
