PROSPERITY BILL SWEEPS HOUSE

Ingwersen Ready to Sign at Louisiana State

Expect Final O.K. Action Next Week

Iowa Mentor Instructs "Biff" Jones to Fix Contract

Burton A. Ingwersen, who recently resigned as head coach of football at the university, last night confirmed a report from Baton Rouge, La., that he is definitely prepared to sign as assistant football coach at Louisiana State university as soon as several minor conditions have been straitened out.

The report indicated that the announcement of the contract would be made from Baton Rouge early next week, and Ingwersen admitted that he had yesterday wired Lawrence "Biff" Jones, recently appointed head coach at the southern institution, that he was ready to complete a contract as soon as certain matters could be cleared up.

Other Considerations

Several weeks ago reports from Baton Rouge announced that Ingwersen had signed with the Louisiana school, but the former Hawkeye mentor announced at that time that he then had several other considerations under consideration.

It is expected that Ingwersen will be advanced to the position of head football mentor as soon as the regular army appointment term of Jones, who has been coaching at West Point and was transferred to Baton Rouge, will expire.

Nelson Figures

Ingwersen indicated that one of the details which had yet to be arranged was a contract for Emerson W. Nelson, who has been assisting him here, as assistant at the southern school.

Although Ingwersen did not say when he would leave for the south, the university begins spring football practice Feb. 15, and he had indicated earlier in the year that he might leave Iowa to coach during spring training at the school where he signed.

Ingwersen resigned from his Iowa position on Dec. 10 following a series of gridiron defeats by the Hawkeyes. He stated as his reason for leaving that he wished to avoid alumni criticism of his failure to produce winning football teams at Iowa.

13 Inches of Snow at Council Bluffs

DES MOINES, Jan. 15 (AP)—Capricious winter early today had returned to Iowa with a vengeance, but during the day changed its mind and allowed the sun to beam benignly on a snow covered state.

Temperatures several degrees above Friday night's minimum of two below were promised. No more snow, following a blanket as deep as 13 inches at Council Bluffs, was in prospect.

Author Tells of Undersea Experiences

Photography, Narrative Feature Talk on Ocean Life

By AL MITCHELL

Seclusion, quiet, are common essentials for the surroundings of many authors as they work.

But never before had an author sought his seclusion and quiet surrounded by tons of sea water, at a point far below the ocean's surface, until J. E. Williamson found his "haven rest" during the last summer.

Outlines New Book

In a university lecture, "Beauty and tragedy under the sea," at Iowa Union last night, Mr. Williamson told not only of his last summer's experiences, during which he completed the outline of the book he intends to publish concerning the life of the ocean floor, but also enumerated numerous incidents garnered from his previous explorations. He has collected material for seven habit groups, which are, or will be, displayed at the Field museum of Chicago, a coral reef group for the American Museum of Natural History in New York, and three carloads of additional miscellaneous specimens for the Field displays.

Since he began his study and experimentation with undersea photography in 1913, he has passed the greater share of his time as a landman in planning other expeditions under the sea's surface.

Cartoonist on Paper

His pictures, which he used in full explanation of his lecture last night, came as the result of a growing interest in "getting a good story for his paper," the Virginian Pilot, Norfolk, Va., on which he served as cartoonist, coupled with knowledge of the possibilities of the Williamson tube, an invention of his father. It was with this flexible tube, at the bottom of which was suspended a huge air chamber, that he first completed his underwater pictures.

During his last summer's work, he was accompanied by Mrs. Williamson and their two year old daughter, Sylvia, who made her first trip to the ocean bottom at the age of 10 weeks.

Inquisitive Fish

Surrounded by the slowly waving fronds of sea growth, the iridescent water of the Bahamas, with darting, inquisitive fish, eager to investigate the invader into their habitat, he passed most of the summer months in his diving bell.

Occasionally a shark, kingfish, or barracuda would move slowly by; angel fish, with their broad flat bodies, the multi-colored quail fish, or a trigger fish with its trailing draperies came in large and small schools. Such a panorama was his entertainment.

Deviating from the beauty of the ocean, he turned to the scientific side of his accumulative work last night, giving as a part of his address a description of the history of undersea exploration, and describing the problems encountered in such an instance as the S-4 submarine disaster. With the development and use of the submarine afloat, which he described, such disaster would be always avoidable, he asserted.

Political Pot Boils as 1932 Race Begins

Spotlight Shows Smith, Roosevelt, Hoover in Campaign

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The political curtain was up, and events marched briskly today across the stage in the prologue to the 1932 presidential campaign.

Twenty-four hours of increased activity that opened up almost simultaneously on both sides ended tonight with three figures in the spotlight—President Herbert Hoover, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Hoover Campaign Under Way

President Hoover's campaign for Republican re-nomination was under way. Former Governor Smith was cheered again today by crowds in Boston, where at last night's "victory dinner" he was adjured not to throw his brow down.

The Roosevelt boom had been formally launched by the Democrats of North Dakota, and his formal announcement was momentarily expected.

Actually, President Hoover was, of course, the only one of the three publicly a candidate of his party's office. Neither the former nor the present governor of New York has made any statement.

Even the closest friends of Smith say they do not know where he stands, but they believe last night's developments may have strengthened the efforts of his supporters to have him become a candidate.

President Ignores Politics

The president himself, however, was not talking politics. Burke said he had "put the ban on political talks of every kind" and was "devotedly and entirely to his reconstruction program."

Friends of Governor Roosevelt said today he had as yet received no formal notification of his indorsement by North Dakota Democrats. Twenty-five hundred members of the party attending the "victory dinner" at the Hotel Astor last night gave him an enthusiastic reception but there was no public reference to him at the dinner as a possible presidential nominee.

Mrs. Gandhi Goes to Jail for 6 Weeks

Hurt Because Judge Gave Her Short Sentence

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 15 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi's wife, a little old lady of sixty, went to jail today for six weeks because she had taken up where her husband had left off in the nationalist campaign for independence.

The comparatively short sentence they gave her touched her pride.

"Why do you send me away for only six weeks?" she cried as a court attendant led her out. "do you want me free again so quickly to take the lathi blows with the rest of my countrymen? I won't keep quiet even after I am released. Give me the same sentence you give my sisters."

But the judge only shook his head. "What's done is done," he said, "I'm helpless."

Takes Bible With Her

Mrs. Gandhi picked up her Hindu bible and her spinning wheel and followed the jailor.

When they got through with Mrs. Gandhi today the court imposed a sentence of 3 1/2 months at hard labor, with a fine of 100 rupees, on Maniben Patel, daughter of the imprisoned president of the nationalist congress, for taking part in an unlawful assembly.

Sentences were imposed also on two other leaders of the nationalist movement, one of them Abdul Gaffar Khan, sometimes called the "frontier Gandhi."

Nationals Urge Boycott

The nationalists, who have been quiet lately under the pressure of restrictive laws, broke into print in their own free press journal today, urging the people to boycott the three round table conference committees on the way from London to carry on the work of the congress.

Meantime the police are having their troubles with Mr. Gandhi's "Monkey army," a sort of Boy Scout organization whose young members are doing their bit to advance the boycott.

WHERE FLOUR TURNED TO SMOKE

This general view of the St. John Mill and warehouse fire at Wichita, Kan., was made while the blaze was in its early stage. Smoke and flames are seen pouring from a wing of the building. Incidentally, that smoke is valued at about $100,000, that being an estimate of the damage. The fire destroyed 600 barrels of flour and all the equipment of the plant.

Two Billion Dollar Plan to Enliven Business Moves to Conference for Adjustments

Measure Passed With 335 to 55 Vote in Lower Unit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The $2,000,000,000 reconstruction corporation bill—foremost and mightiest of the measures proposed by President Hoover for enlivening business—tonight was given the overwhelming approval of the house.

It next goes to conference for the adjustment of differing provisions accepted by the two chambers.

The purpose of the bill is to infuse $2,000,000,000 of credit into business channels by loans from its vast, government supported funds, to banks and other financial institutions, which, in turn are to pass the money on to industry, agriculture and commerce.

To Increase Farm Credit

After passing the measure by a vote of 335 to 55, the house tonight sent to conference the second item on the Hoover economic program, a bill to increase the capitalization of the federal land banks by $100,000,000 and thus increase credit resources of the farmers. The major task of the conference will concern an amendment attached by the senate adding $25,000,000 to enable the banks to postpone mortgage payment installments.

Forty-three Democrats and 12 Republicans voted against the reconstruction corporation bill.

Many Amendments Offered

More than fifty amendments were offered, but only four of any importance were accepted. An amendment by Chairman Jones of the agriculture committee, allotting $200,000,000 of the total capitalization to agricultural credit and livestock credit corporations and agricultural associations, was approved.

Two amendments by Representative Rayburn, Democrat, Texas, were accepted unanimously. One would prohibit the payment of any fee or commission by any applicant for a loan to any representative or attorney, and the other would impose heavy penalties for violations of that section.

An amendment by Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee makes the obligations of the corporation lawful investments in order that they may be accepted for all fiduciary, trust and public funds.

Day in Washington

The house approved the $2,000,000,000 reconstruction corporation bill which goes to the president after conference to iron out differences between it and the senate's bill.

The Anti-Saloon League convened here and was told by F. Scott McBride prohibition could be won or lost in the November election. Bishop Ernest G. Richardson of Philadelphia was elected as president.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett expressed opposition before the house naval committee to any effort at the Geneva conference to limit further aircraft carriers.

Secretary Mellon made a sweeping disavowal to the house judiciary committee through a spokesman of charges against him by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, seeking his impeachment.

Attorney General Mitchell and Secretaries Adams, Wilbur and Hurley were summoned to appear before the senate territorial committee tomorrow on the Honolulu situation and Assistant Attorney General Seth Richardson began plans for an inquiry into Honolulu law enforcement.

Plans were announced to send 300 more marines to supervise the November Nicaraguan elections.

Investigation of air and ocean mail contracts and other related postal subjects was called for in a resolution adopted by the senate.

Rum Runner Confesses to Hauling Alky

More than fifty amendments were offered, but only four of any importance were accepted. #### Families Flee in Mississippi Flood Lands

SWAN LAKE, Miss., Jan. 15 (AP)—A new 10 foot flood swept down on a thousand Tippecanoe homes tonight as the families, unaware of the danger, slept in their already water surrounded homes.

Three major breaks north of here at dusk gave the signal that the rampant Tallahatchie river had won its five weeks battle for the Tippecanoe.

It was also the signal for men who have relentlessly sought to choke the river into its artificial banks to turn as actively to rescuing the thousands of persons in the path of the released waters.

Fear was expressed that the sudden rise might trap many families and cause a heavy loss of life.

Adding to the misery is a drop in temperature which while not severe, will cause acute discomfort.

The Red Cross disaster relief department, tonight appealed to all northern Mississippi cities to cooperate in immediate concentration of boats at Glendora.

Icy Streets Imperil City Auto Traffic

Chains on automobiles were in vogue yesterday with a thin sheet of ice coating city streets and making motoring a dangerous pastime. Ten truck loads of sand were spread on the streets at dangerous intersections by members of the street department crew. However, cars continued to swerve and swing with many dented fenders resulting.

Several days will be required to complete the sanding according to James McClelland, city street commissioner. Mr. McClelland has swelled his total of employees to 15, and is using two trucks to transport the sand. Cinders were distributed on dangerous hills early yesterday morning.

The university grounds and buildings department confined its activities to sanding the walks of the university campus.

Students met with minor accidents. In one case ingenuity was reported in alleviating an accident. One student with his car parked on the geology hill and unable to back, calmly drove the remainder of the car below him on the hill down and out onto the flat where he climbed out and picked his way back to repeat the process before he extricated his car.

Baconian Speaker Declares Science Needs Clarification With Philosophy Comparison

That the necessity for a logical clarification of science is becoming more and more recognized in the academic world, was the assertion made by Prof. Herbert Feigl of the philosophy department, fourth Baconian speaker of the year, who spoke last night on "Present tendencies in the philosophy of science," in chemistry auditorium.

"Philosophy should never try to dictate nor even anticipate scientific results," said Professor Feigl, "it should be clear that the realm of facts is divided among the sciences, and if there are unsolved problems we should better afford some patience until science with proper methods can approach them."

Traces History

The speaker traced the history of both philosophy and science, showing how the two grew gradually apart, to the state of their present individualism.

Likening science to a tree, whose branches spread gradually from a massive trunk, the speaker said the foundation of science was to be found in meaning and method. He implored cohorts of both parties to see that when science falls philosophy will perhaps succeed, and vice versa. "The opinions of both sides are prejudiced and biased," he said.

Important Achievement

The speaker named the modern relational logic as being the most important achievement of this young discipline. "On the basis of this new logic an analysis of the whole structure of knowledge is being undertaken," said Professor Feigl. "Thus it has been proved that the entire system of mathematics can be derived from relational logic," he added.

In concluding, Professor Feigl intimated that the ultimate aim of the philosophy of science was to clarify the concepts and methods so far as to achieve a full understanding of the scientific results. "The philosophers of science know very well that their task is purely a theoretical one," he said. "Their conviction is that a clear separation will serve better both purposes in the future."

Foil Attempt of Iowa Man to Rob Bank

RIDGEWAY, Wis., Jan. 15 (AP)—An attempt to hold up the Ridgeway State bank resulted in the arrest today of James Richardson, 38, McGregor, Ia., former resident of Madison and Ridgeway.

Cashier K. N. Paul said a man came into the bank yesterday and showed a note through the window. "Give me $1,500 right now. Don't make any false moves because I have you covered," Paul said the man kept his hand in his pocket. Authorities were notified by J. T. Paul, bank president, who slipped the rear door. The man became frightened and fled.

Richardson was arrested at the home of a brother-in-law later.

South Dakota Farm Men Petition Relief

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 15—Representatives of the South Dakota Farmers Union today requested Governor Warren Green to call a special session of the state legislature to deal with the "unprecedented economic crisis" facing agriculture.

Fred Root of Phillip, and J. Q. Quinn of Hinton, delegates of a committee representing organized farmers in 53 counties, told the governor the "tax burden" of farm lands must be alleviated. They reported major farm organizations are attempting to formulate legislation to provide relief.

Mason City Attorney Announces Candidacy for Iowa Assembly

MASON CITY, Jan. 15 (AP)—Arthur L. Rule, attorney, who served in the Iowa senate in the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth general assemblies, announced his candidacy for that office today. He is a Republican.

His announcement indicated a breakdown of an old rotation agreement by which the forty-third district senator was chosen in order from Cerro Gordo, Hancock and Franklin counties. The custom has prevailed since 1908 and under it a Hancock county resident would have been elected this year.

Two Armed Bandits Take Cash, Escape

SIENANDOOAH, Jan. 15 (AP)—Two armed bandits who invaded the M. E. Hankins home early this evening obtained $2,400 in cash, Chief of Police Reid said.

Coxey, of "Army" Fame Declares Presidency Desire

MASSILLON, O., Jan. 15 (AP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey, who went to jail in Washington 38 years ago, would like to go back there in state—as president of the United States.

Coxey, grizzled campaigner for "money at cost" and now mayor of Massillon, today announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination.

The gruff, gray haired "general" now in his 76th year, said a "wide circle" of friends would file his petition in the North Dakota presidential preferential primary of March 15.

His platform will be the same he advocated in 1894 when he led his famous "army" of the unemployed on Washington and was jailed for trampling on the lawn of the capitol grounds.

He will advocate the sale of non-interest bearing bonds for public improvements, issuance of legal tender by the government against these bonds, relief of the unemployed and a return to prosperity.

ELITE IN SOUTH SHOW SUMMER STYLES

While fur coats and galoshes constitute the costume of the moment in the frigid north, the winter colony in the sunny south is disporting itself in raiment that we associate with June, July and August. This is the season when fashion history is made, for what is being worn down amid the palms today will be all the vogue in northern climes next summer. Here are some of society's smartest, pictured at Palm Beach, Fla., garbed in the styles of the minute.

Arrest Son of Al Smith

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Walter Smith, 22, youngest son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, was held today on a technical charge of homicide. He had been arrested early in the morning at Harlem hospital after his car had struck and fatally injured Harry Wallace, 55.

Police absolved Smith, a college student, saying the accident was unavoidable. They filed the homicide charge against him, however, as a matter of routine.

The youth covered his face with his hands when he appeared before Magistrate Renaud in homicide court. His brother, Alfred E. Smith, Jr., and John Glynn appeared for him and were granted an adjournment until Friday, Jan. 22. Ball of $1,000 was arranged.

While the court procedure was being followed, Governor Smith was preparing to board a train to New York from Boston, where last night he addressed a Democratic "victory" dinner.

Alfred E. Smith, Jr., said he had not notified his father, adding "I don't want to worry father any more than necessary." The former governor, however, learned of the accident through newspapermen.

Judge Zager Takes 2 Hours to Discover Owner of Hammer

With an 85 cent hammer as the hook of contention, Police Judge Charles L. Zager spent two hours yesterday in solving the mystery as to whether it had been stolen from its rightful owner or recovered by its rightful owner.

John Peterson, Iowa City, charged with larceny of the hammer, claimed that he had merely retrieved his property which he had lost last week. Lester Small, Wellman, claimed that Peterson had unlawfully "lifted" the tool while he, Small, was using it to fix a tire at the Myers oil station on Riverside drive.

Both persons positively identified the hammer as their property. Peterson showed as proof of innocence he had told Myers where Small could find him if he wished to argue the case. Small described purchasing the hammer and produced a witness to swear that he owned it.

After debate pro and con, Judge Zager, admitting the fact that it was the most difficult—although not the most important—case that had ever appeared before him, held Peterson guilty and fined him $1 and costs of $3.95. The 85 cent hammer was left in the judge's possession as exhibit "A" when Peterson indicated that he would carry the case to the district court on appeal.

Low Temperatures Predominate

Temperature ranging slightly below freezing predominated in Iowa City, yesterday, keeping the streets and walks in a glare of ice. The lowest thermometer dropped Thursday night was to 21 degrees where the marker pointed at 7 a.m. yesterday. During the day the mercury made a four-point rise to 25 degrees and was the same at 7 p.m.

District Court Judges Give Suggestions for Reductions in Legal Procedure Costs

State Committee Forwards List to County Groups for Consideration; Fails to Approve or Disapprove

DES MOINES, Jan. 15 (AP)—Judges and clerks of Iowa district courts have advanced about 50 suggestions for reducing court expenses, it was shown by a list released today by Secretary Ed. Brown of the state committee.

The list of the judges' and clerks' suggestions were received by the state committee and sent out without approval or disapproval to the county groups for consideration.

Many of the proposals deal with the summoning of jurors and other court procedure, filing and other fees, simplification of record books and similar measures.

Include Following Ideas

Included were the following suggestions:

In smaller counties, summon 35 jurors instead of 40, as at least five are to be excused and 25 is usually all that are needed the first day.

Do not summon jurors at all until the second week of court, which allows ample time for judges and attorneys to decide for certain what cases are to be tried and ascertain whether jurors should be notified to appear or not.

Jurors might be called for but two sessions a year except for special criminal cases.

Instead of allowing cases to be carried over from one term to another there should be some means of making it obligatory that when the assignment is made that the case be disposed of at that time; also that attorneys be ready for trial when the case is set.

Collection in Justice Court

A great deal of expense could be saved by trying cases for collection of less than $50 in justice of peace court, instead of taking them into the district court.

Require that attorneys decide five days in advance whether jury service will be required or not and save per diem and telephone calls.

Restrict the amount to be spent by the jurors for meals eliminate employment of a woman bailiff except when the jurors go to the jury room.

Restrict the state as to judicial districts; redistricting the part of the state around Lee county in particular would permit the elimination of a judge and court reporter.

In all cases of civil matters, ordinary misdemeanor, and minor criminal cases where felonies are charged the number of jurors should be reduced to six and the unanimous decision be changed to a majority of, say, five.

Court Reporters' Salaries

Salary of court reporters should be fixed at $4,500 a year in addition to traveling expenses and certain fees received by turned into the county treasury.

Require that the court reporter travel in the same automobile as the judge, thus making but one expense item.

A change whereby the district courts would be open at all times for defaults and entry of judgment would be a good thing. An arrangement should be made whereby in every county there would be a term of court every month for the filing of new cases, taking of defaults and

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Definite signs of a buying revival in some of the leading primary markets have appeared since the opening of the month, said Dun's today in their weekly review of business.

Continue Testimony

The trip was made in Baker's car, he said, and he was lying on the floor in the rear most of the way.

In the garage, he said, were Bell and Henry Kane, a Fulton poolroom operator. Blumberg came in later. He said he understood he was arrested for questioning in the slaying of Robert Carr, a police officer whose body was found near a large distillery on a Whiteside county farm allegedly owned by former State's Attorney Robert W. Besse of Whiteside county, a defendant.

"They told me," he testified, "that Dan Anderson, referring to the assistant district attorney, wanted to know how to spell my name and that for this reason they wanted to get rid of me."

Blumberg then offered to make arrangements to get him out on $5,000 bond on the vagrancy charge and Baker and Kane signed the bond and he was set free, he testified.

Threatens Violence

Before this, however, Bell voiced the threat he would kill him if he talked, Elsen stated.

A few days later, he said, he was told to go to Harrison's house because "the bond wasn't signed right" and when Kane wanted to tear it up and withdraw his signature, Elsen chose to go to jail.

On October 18, he said, Blumberg let him out of the cell, and downstairs in the jail he found Mrs. Blumberg, Sheriff Kelly, and Harrison.

Blumberg told him Mrs. Blumberg would sign the bond and, when it

Members of Dry League Get Warning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Anti-Saloon league convened here today and received a warning from one of its leaders that prohibition can be won or lost in the November election.

Meanwhile foes of the dry laws in the house agreed to support a move to return liquor control to the states.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, opened its four day, biennial convention asserting "we must shun the pitfalls of the partisanship" and seek the support of the "drys" in all parties for the maintenance of prohibition."

Bishop Ernest C. Richardson of Philadelphia was elected president, succeeding Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit.

In the house, Republican and Democratic anti-prohibition leaders joined to introduce a prohibition amendment seeking restoration of liquor control to the states, with the government to supervise only interstate shipments.

The measure was introduced by Representatives Beck, Republican, Pennsylvania, and Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland. They seek a vote at this session.

"No Sham Vote"

Meanwhile, from Bishop William F. McDowell, president of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, came a statement that "we are willing to go to the mat with the wets on any clear issue; we shall continue to emphasize that we want no sham vote."

On the floor of the senate, prohibition was brought up by Senator Kendrick, a Republican. He presented a petition from more than 4,000 Wyoming citizens asking repeal of the prohibition amendment and the substitution of a plan of federal control.

Eliminating a Danger

TEMPORARY mild spells in mid winter have a habit of ending with a sudden cold snap and a covering of ice for streets and sidewalks, which make travel by foot or by automobile most precarious. The condition of Iowa City streets and walks early Friday morning was typical of this weather freak in its worst form—several layers of sleet, slush, and frozen snow, made smooth as glass by a light rainfall.

Yet on this occasion the city promptly alleviated most of the danger to pedestrians, and part of the peril to autoists, by a generous distribution of sand and ashes throughout the business district and at bad crossings. The work was done efficiently, and was completed before foot or auto passenger traffic had begun to be a problem. In recent years this has not always been the case. Friday's prompt handling of the situation probably averted many an accident, and to those who are responsible for the work, considerable praise is due.

The rapid accomplishment of the task had an added advantage; it provided a few hours of work for many men who otherwise would have been unemployed, helping to ease suffering at a time when help was vitally needed. With labor plentiful and cheap, there is no reason why the city should not meet the same situation as speedily and efficiently in the future—for the comfort and safety of the public, and the relief of the unemployed.

"A Message to Garcia"

MANY a resident of the United States and even citizens of foreign lands have revered the name of Elbert Hubbard. Not for his scrap-book, which is rumored to contain all knowledge in an easy-to-assimilate form, but for his "A Message to Garcia" which he published under his own name, and through which he found for himself world fame as an author.

Deluxe editions of that essay found themselves rapidly entering the most exclusive drawing rooms, foreign language editions broke many a record. School boys were familiar with abridged reproductions of it, many a public speaking class has memorized its more salient paragraphs. And so the news, published several years ago in "The Saturday Review of Literature" and corroborated last week in news-magazine Time, that Elbert Hubbard stole "A Message to Garcia" from his partner, will be a sad disillusionment.

The truth, it appears, is that the late William Macintosh, onetime managing editor of the Buffalo Evening News wrote the essay, and Hubbard changed names, setting, to make it appear as his own work. Neither was Hubbard the founder of the Roycroft Shop or originator of The Philistine or Little Journeys. Harry P. Taber, once Hubbard's partner, was the guiding genius of all three, was the man who first bought "A Message to Garcia" for publication. All of which may or may not detract from the glamour which surrounds Hubbard in the popular mind. But one thing is certain, whoever wrote the essay, the influence which it has had upon the minds of the millions who have read it or have been instilled with its principles indirectly, it was a work which will never lose its value as a clean cut moral precept. The loyalty, adherence to duty, and unswerving perseverance that it glorifies are the kind of ideals that America loves to call singularly her own. Forerunner of the American "go-getter" spirit, it embodies a national ideal which is an inspiration for the weak, a friend of the strong. As such it has reached an immortal level far above that which its mortal author might attain, whoever he might be.

Why Burn the Coffee? THE BRAZILIAN government, in pursuance of recommendations from a conference of its coffee-producing states, has set aside $25,000,000 to buy 12,000,000 sacks of coffee for destruction. More than 25,000,000 sacks have already been destroyed. Here is another symptom of the disease that afflicts the world. Call it over-production, perhaps. That is only superficially true, representing a one-sided viewpoint of the producers. But ask the consumers about it. Are there not millions in America and elsewhere who would gladly use that coffee if they could? Two things are lacking—an adequate distribution system and the power to buy. These two hang together somehow, and if the world could get the system worked out properly, there would be plenty of markets for low grade coffee from Brazil. Also for East Indian rubber and Japanese silk and American wheat and cotton. And with such agricultural products flowing freely from those who have produced them, there would be more ample markets, too, for steel rails and motor cars.

Society is wandering around in a fog, with full hands and empty stomachs, with unprecedented means of providing everybody with the necessities and comforts of life and yet unable to do it. Is there anything in human history so strange as this kind of business lethargy?

The Good Senator Brookhart

Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart of Iowa says the newspapers have organized a racket against the Anti-Saloon league because they cannot get advertising from it. The good senator had been irritated at the session of the senate committee on manufactures. It is giving a hearing on Senator Bingham's bill to legalize the sale of a mild beer. Physicians have testified that such a beverage could not be intoxicating because a person could not get enough of it in his system to become intoxicated. Senator Hatfield was sure that beer drinking caused cirrhosis of the liver. Senator Brookhart was sure of it. Dr. William Gerry Morgan of the American Medical association asked him how he explained the continued existence of the German people. Mr. Brookhart explained that by retorting that the newspapers are racketeering the Anti-Saloon league.

This may explain how the Germans survive cirrhosis of the liver and keep their physical sturdiness, but there the miracle rests. No one could racketeer the Anti-Saloon league. Bishop Cannon, who sits at the committee meeting taking notes, may be offered as one exhibit of a first class resistance. The truly good of this organization can more than take care of themselves. They have introduced a number of new practices into American politics, all bad, and that, considering how long the system has been operated by very competent citizens, is saying a great deal. Mr. Brookhart is one of the things which democracy produces and then must survive. Sometimes he seems to have the best of it. Viewing the country generally this might be said to be one of the times. The country may or may not survive. It will depend upon the viability of the political type which grows half on top of an oral cavity and relies for its popular charm on the decorations of a mandrill and the mechanism of a pair of bellows.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE. It looks like a boom year—for presidential candidates, political ballyhoo, and campaign funds. Now that the lid is really off and people have a chance of a lifetime to drown their troubles and worries in political quagmires (soft, wet, miry land which has a surface firm enough to bear a person but which shakes or yields under the feet, with liability to break—Webster) columnists at last have their day.

Under the stress of convention glitter and campaign banquet excitement, candidates and supporters sometimes say things that under ordinary circumstances they'd never think of. And someone really must check up, just to keep the game honest, if for no other reason. For example, when New York's Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, said at a recent "victory dinner" that the Democratic party can never tolerate abuse heaped against the person of the president of the United States, he was probably speaking under the stress of the moment. For, reasonably, no one would expect a Democrat presidential nominee to enhance the chances of a Republican presidential nominee in ordinary, everyday speech.

If that is to be taken as a criterion of the tenor of the Democratic campaign, it is worthy of great and lasting laudation. But, of course, it can't be so; that is much too contrary to all the good principles of campaign psychology. Yet Roosevelt was speaking with conviction when he deplored the tendency of the nation at large to blame all its troubles on the president, when, of course, the president could never, never, within the bounds of constitutionality, be at fault.

But—and here comes the rub—Roosevelt did add, before his Democratic listeners had an opportunity to become alarmed, that maybe the president has shown an incapacity to contribute leadership in the solving of the national crisis, but that's no reason to point fingers at him and say: "It's all your fault." No, that's not only hitting a man when he's down, but below the belt for good measure.

"To shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," quoted Franklin D. scripturally speaking. And he went on to impress his hearers that the ideal thing to do is to go forth into battle with a clean face, well wiped behind the ears, and maybe a clean shirt thrown in. For, he asserted, there's nothing like letting the people in on the ground floor, just in case our worthy opponents get in a few nasty cracks about our not having taken a bath in four years of Saturdays.

Then, no doubt, the people will, knowing that what our most worthy opponents say can't be true, vote the right way—the Democratic way, to be sure. Prejudice he recognized as another bad feature of past campaigns, but contended that if the facts are known, intolerance flies to the four winds. "Let us shout the hidden secrets of political strategy from the housetops," and trust to luck somebody'll hear 'em. Now the big question is to raise the necessary million and a half to carry on this campaign of "no secrets, no prejudice," just good clean fun. If the money helps construct a program of constructive-ness, as party leaders would have it, Demo contributors will cancel plans for post mortems, everybody will be happy. It's a good thought, anyway.

Roosevelt, Al Smith, John W. Davis, Harry F. Byrd, et al, as well as Republican leaders, have one of the hugest jobs of recent political history on their hands. In addition to pacifying an aroused public, they must give that public something to keep it pacified. And that, children, is nothing less than a good, logical, excuse for being given the power of the land. Tomorrow: "... and in this corner ... the Republicans ..."

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1931-1932. Saturday, January 23, 8:00 A.M. to Saturday Noon, January 30, 1932. The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D and E, as shown in the form below; and Speech I, 01 and 3 as shown at "N.B." below).

Table with columns for Examination Period (8-10 A.M., 10-12 A.M., 2-4 P.M.), Date, and Special Group (A, B, C, D, E) with associated subjects like Acct., Geol., Math, etc.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed (read by columns, and alphabetically) within the particular group, who will arrange a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than regular class hour on January 18 and January 19.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8,—and the class will meet for examination Monday, January 25, 2-4, according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 125 meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Friday, January 29, 2-4.

N.B. All sections of Freshman speech I, 01, and 3 will meet in the buildings and rooms and on the days and at the periods designated below:

Table listing sections for various courses (KA, LA, 6Section, etc.) and their corresponding buildings and rooms.

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from January 23 to January 29, inclusive. 2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D and E, since for such "odd" classes, these five examination periods will be found quite available. In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes. According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.," unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd.," even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination. BELIEVE IT OR NOT (Reg. in U. S. Patent Office) By Ripley

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon: The Town Clock of Jillemence.—The reason for the curious striking arrangement of the old town clock at Jillemence (Starkebunrg), Chechoslovakia, was to enable the inhabitants to tell the exact time at intervals between the hours at night. This system was quite customary with Central European town clocks of an older age. Quarter past 12 was announced by a stroke of one, followed by 12 strokes, followed by 12 strokes, indicating the hour. An initial stroke of three followed by 12, indicated the hour to be 12:45. At the hour of one, the gong struck four to indicate the passage of four quarters after 12, following with two single strokes indicative of the hour. In all the voice of the gong was heard 510 times within 12 hours. Monday: The Tea-Kettle That Has Been Steaming for 57 Years.

Hollywood is to have its endurance bridge game. Bob Vokel, the man who negotiated the sale of "Grand Hotel," has bet Buster Keaton $100 that he and his wife can defeat Buster and any partner over a period of three nights. He is playing host at the exhibition of Carl Lindbom, specialist in international architecture. Mr. Lindbom is the designer of the famous Bernheimer Gardens. The surest way to locate old favorites is to check up the cast of the Thalfan comedies, which Bryan Foy is producing. In his latest are Kenneth Harlan, Viola Dana and Patsy Ruth Miller. Hollywood is mourning the death of J. Grubb Alexander, veteran scenarist, who succumbed to pneumonia. The popular writer was so anxious to complete the script of "So Big" that he refused to take to his bed. Another tragedy that strikes home is the killing of Detective Lieutenant Hugh A. Crowley, who was shot down in a theater holdup. Crowley was a "dress suit" detective, and a familiar figure at all the big premieres.

History Class New Study in Radio Series

Mahan Plans Second Semester Course Broadcasts

Another series of radio broadcasts direct from four University of Iowa classrooms has been scheduled for the second semester beginning Feb. 1. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, announced Friday.

Three of the professors, Fred J. Lazell, Philip G. Clapp, and Sam B. Sloan, are veterans at this type of broadcasting. Both Clapp and Sloan broadcast during the current first semester, as well as in other years, and Lazell presented a course in 1930-31.

Plum New Broadcaster
But Prof. Harry G. Plum of the history department is a newcomer to the field of educational broadcasting. A member of the university's faculty for 38 years, he will give his lecture course, "England and the British Empire," on Mondays and Wednesdays at 11 a.m.

"Modern Music" is the subject of Professor Clapp's course, which occurs on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays at 2 p.m. Some of his lectures will be illustrated by piano compositions played by himself.

Sloan's Course Popular
Professor Sloan's course in the English novel, for years one of the most popular in the university, will include lectures on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11 a.m. on works of prominent authors of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The lecturer is in his thirty-third year of service to the university.

Journalism's history, especially that of the past 65 years, and the relation of the profession to society will be discussed by Professor Lazell each Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m.

Entries Open for Speaking Contest Here

The opening gesture of the state championship extemporaneous speaking contest for high schools, was made by officials of the University of Iowa yesterday when entry blanks for the affair were forwarded to all institutions.

It is expected that by Feb. 15 more than 60 institutions will have entered. The four district champions speak for the state title at the university April 29.

A new plan of sub-districting will go into effect for the 1932 contest. Each of the districts will be divided into sub-districts in order to facilitate the eliminations.

Another change is the substitution of the Forum for the World's Work as one of the periodicals from which speakers' topics will be drawn. Others are the Literary Digest and the Review of Reviews.

The 1931 title was won by Parnell Mahoney of East high, Sioux City. Both the champion and the second place winner will receive a four-year scholarship in the university's college of liberal arts.

Freshman Debaters Meet Junior College in Practice Encounter

Iowa freshman debaters met strong competition yesterday afternoon when they met Washington, Ia., junior college debaters. The unemployment topic again formed the basis for the practice arguments.

Collman Judelson of Council Bluffs and John Monahan of Ottumwa were the two freshmen representing Iowa. Washington junior college sent Berne Enslin and William Mason to uphold its side of the question. They were accompanied by their coach, Alpheus Montgomery, and Supt. J. M. Peet, who acted as chairman for the debate. The Iowa team was under the tutelage of E. B. Mortensen, graduate student.

There was no decision rendered in the debate. Plans are being made for a return debate to be broadcast at a later date.

Iowa Swimmers Break 3 Midwest A. A. U. Records in First Night of Meet

McGuire Sets New Mark in Sprint Event

Iowa Team Better Own Time in Relay

By JOHN LANE

Three records tumbled before Hawkeye splashes last night at the opening of the two-day mid-western A. A. U. swimming meet in the field house pool. New marks were established in the 400-yard relay, the 220-yard breast stroke, and the 220-yard free style events.

In one of the closest races ever seen here, Jack McGuire, captain of the Iowa swimming team, won the 220-yard free style swim and set a new record of 2:25.6 minutes for that event. His teammate, Ray Mohl, who finished second, equalled the former record of 2:26.5, held by Boyd Liddle, former Old Gold flash. August Anderson, also of Iowa, annexed third place, and the rest of the seven starters were so close behind that scarcely two body lengths separated them from the winner.

Ammann Breaks Record Twice
George Ammann, Hawkeye star, broke the 220-yard breast stroke record in the preliminaries, and then entered his own time in the finals by winning the event in 2:25.7 minutes. The former record of 2:26.1 was held by R. E. Evans, formerly of Iowa university.

Steve Nielsen, another Old Gold swimmer, placed second in the breast stroke, finishing under Ammann's preliminary time of 2:47.7 minutes, made yesterday afternoon. T. P. Sands, of Iowa State, placed third.

Hawkeyes Take Relay
The Hawkeye relay team, composed of William McCulley, Ray Mohl, Harry Haskins, and Jack McGuire, ran away with the 400-yard relay and set a new record of 3:47.7 minutes for that event. The former record, 3:53.1, was held by Iowa. Grinnell finished second, and Creighton third.

Hogarth Freeland, Hawaiian swimmer from Creighton, set a new field house record in a special exhibition 50-yard swim. His time was 24.6 seconds.

Lobdell Regains Championship
Lewentworth Lobdell, of Iowa, regained his low spring board diving championship by winning that event with a total of 115.8 points. Bill Busby, unattached entry from Iowa university, placed second with 101.5 points, while Adolphe Ferstenfeld, of North high, Des Moines, took third with a score of 91.1.

Chester Mohl, unattached Iowa entry, won the 300-yard individual medley swim, finishing in 4:03.5 minutes. Harvey Lloyd, unattached Iowa entry, was a close second, and Clark Elbert, of Grinnell, took third.

Summary of events:
400-yard free style relay: Iowa (McCulley, Mohl, Haskins, McGuire) first, Grinnell second, Creighton third. Time—3:47.7 (New mid-western A. A. U. record. Old record, 3:53.1)

220-yard breast stroke: Ammann (Iowa) first, Nielsen (Iowa) second, Sands (Iowa State) third. Time—2:25.7 (New mid-western A. A. U. record. Former record set by Ammann in preliminaries—2:26.4. Former official record—2:30.1)

Low spring board diving: Lobdell (Iowa) first, 115.8 points; Busby (unattached) second, 101.9 points; Ferstenfeld (North high, Des Moines) third, 91.1 points.

300 yard individual medley swim: C. Mohl (unattached) first, Lloyd (unattached) second, Elbert (Grinnell) third. Time—4:03.5.

220-yard free style swim: McGuire (Iowa) first, R. Mohl (Iowa) second, Anderson (Iowa) third. Time—2:25.6 (New mid-western A. A. U. record. Old record, 2:26.5).

Ammann Steals Show in Prelims
George Ammann stole the show in the mid-western A. A. U. swimming meet preliminaries here yesterday afternoon, by setting a new record of 2:25.6 minutes in the 220-yard free style swim. Seven men were qualified for the finals in that event, while six each qualified in the 220-yard breast stroke and the low spring board diving trials.

Summary of preliminaries:
220-yard breast stroke, first heat: Nielsen (Iowa), first, Sands (Iowa State) second, Meyers, (unattached) third, Roome (unattached) fourth. Time—3:00.3.
220-yard breast stroke, second heat: Ammann (Iowa) first, Sweney (unattached) second. Time—2:58.4. (New record).

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

From the number of records broken in the first day, this year's mid-western A. A. U. swim is a success already.

George Ammann, university swimmer, was not satisfied with the record he had set in the preliminary of the 220 yard breast stroke swim, so he went out last night and set another in the final.

Steve Nielsen, who placed second to Ammann in the final, also came in ahead of the record.

Steve also set another record. But this is not official. He sounded like an Indian on the war-path when he shrieked encouragement to the Hawkeye swimmers.

Thinking that his whoops would not carry, Nelson ran from lane to lane giving personal encouragement.

It was "C'mon Jack", then a dash to another lane and "C'mon Ray".

Ross almost failed to survive the preliminary heat of the 220 free style, when he thought the race was finished after the ninth lap.

After much cajoling on the parts of the officials he set out again and soon caught up with the pack.

Busby sure kept right behind Lobdell in the afternoon diving. Just two-tenths of a point separated them.

The fight for third place after the prelim was over was even closer. One-tenth of a point was the difference between Ferstenfeld and Othmer.

In the finals Lobdell began to draw away, finishing almost 14 points in the lead.

Hospital Co. Five Downs Harlem 34-24

The 186th Hospital company accomplished what other teams have been trying for two years when they defeated the Harlem Globe Trotters at the American Legion gym last night by a 34 to 24 score.

The Hospital company boys took the lead at the outset and managed to hold it but for two times when the score was tied. They held a 9 to 6 lead at the half and gradually increased it from the third quarter on.

The Globe Trotters used a fast, short passing game, but were held in check by the closely guarding Iowa Citizens. Few long shots were attempted. Frazier with 11 points for the losers, and Ahliff with 12 points and Brown with 13 for the winners were outstanding.

St. Mary's Whips University High Quintet 33 to 15 in Rough Game

Ramblers Get 13 Field Goals to Losers' 3

Free Throws Assist Blue, White Scoring; Sink Nine

Holding the University high dribblers to three baskets, St. Mary's won a rough game 33 to 15 at the University high gym last night. The Ramblers contributed 13 of the 21 fouls committed.

The Kistlermen tired in the second half after holding St. Mary's to a 14 to 9 margin and never threatened the visitors. University high's ability to sink free throws which kept them in the running the first half, when they made seven out of 10, was not apparent in the second half when they made only two out of nine tosses good.

Ralph Lumsden Stars
The floor work of Ralph Lumsden, husky St. Mary's center, was the outstanding feature of the Supleppmen's attack. Wyjack was U. High's best man last night with five points.

Gaulocher, St. Mary's captain, was the leading point getter with eight points.

U. High led when Meyers converted on Gaulocher's foul. Two baskets by Gaulocher and charity tosses by Pooler and Maher gave the Ramblers a 6 to 1 lead. Wyjack added a goal and two free throws. Phillips matched Maher's basket with two free throws as the quarter ended with the invaders holding an 8 to 7 edge.

Lead at Half
Belger took a pass from Lumsden to make the score 10 to 7. Wyjack and Phillips made free throws to offset Gaulocher's tip in shot. Maher ended the half by sinking a sleeper to run the count to 14 to 9 for the Ramblers.

Meyers took the tip off down for U. High's only basket of the quarter. Pooler mixed three free throws with Gaulocher's goal. Bradley made a gratis shot and Zimmerman two at the end of the quarter, running the total to 20 to 13.

Parade of Substitutes
The four quarter marked the entrance of a parade of substitutes. Pooler made a field goal from the side. Dill ended the scoring for the losers with University high's third basket. Bradley, Ralph Lumsden, and Dick Lumsden put in shots to make the tally 28 to 15. Baskets by Maher and Vogt and a free throw by Stork ended the game.

Sigma Nu-Delta Frosh Encounter Heads Schedule

Seven games are scheduled for the fraternity basketball teams this afternoon which will bring to a close the section schedule with the exception of three freshman games to be played next Tuesday. Only one game, the Sigma Nu-Delta Tau Delta frosh clash, will be important in the final standings. The Sigma Nu's need to defeat the Delta's in order to get a tie for first place in section 1 of the pledge league. In the other sections teams have either clinched first place or are assured of a tie.

Three Way Tie
In the "A" league, section 1 proved to be the most hotly contested this afternoon. In doing this Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Sigma winding up in a three-way tie. These teams will play each other one game each next week to decide the sectional top rung.

Alpha Tau Omega should have little difficulty in turning back Sigma Phi this afternoon. In doing this they will annex the section 2 trophy with a perfect record of 5 wins.

Delta Tau Delta still has a postponed game to play off with Alpha Kappa Psi and must win it before it is declared the winner of section 3.

Phi Kappa Psi Wins
The smooth working Phi Kappa Psi team has already been named the winner of section 4. It steam-rollered every team in the section for five victories and no defeats.

Theta Tau gets the name of champions of section 5. It has a game scheduled with the Phi Deltas today, but it will not affect the standing.

The Phi Kappa Psi frosh are assured of at least a tie in section 2 of the frosh league. A victory over S.A.E. Tuesday night would shoot them over the wire as winners.

Leo Gaulocher Outstanding at St. Mary's for Four Years

The distinction of being an outstanding performer on a team which through the years has been noted for its prowess on the basketball court falls to the lot of Leo Gaulocher, captain and stellar forward on this season's fast stepping St. Mary's quintet.

Nor was it a long drawn out process for Leo, this business of stepping into the limelight and keeping himself at the top. He was just 13 years old and a freshman when he won his first letter as a Rambler by virtue of scintillating play at the tall end of that cage season.

Two Times Captain
Now a senior and captain of the Blue and White for the second consecutive time, the 16 year old youth is known and feared by all opponents as a star to be thoroughly respected.

While a sophomore, Gaulocher was a member of St. Mary's famous outfit of two seasons which accepted A. A. Stagg's invitation to participate in the national interscholastic tournament (now discontinued) at the University of Chicago. In those earlier years, Leo's eye for the basket was what marked his performances.

All Around Performer
The only veteran on the team of last year, he improved on his abilities, becoming an outstanding ball-handler and dribbler. Enjoying good play at the start of the schedule and then slumping, he recovered sufficiently at the close of season in the tournament to place his team well up, while winning a berth on the second all-tournament quintet. He earned a position at forward on the all-city team.

This year he is leading his team in scoring with 58 points in the six games, the Ramblers have won in the nine they have participated in at this writing. In the last few contests, though, in which he has been a minor scorer, his ball handling has been the outstanding note. His mentor, Coach Francis Suplepp, rates him as one of the best players he has ever worked with.

Roland Slevers with a score of 35; Joe Wood and Rex Blount with 34 apiece win medals with Ken Kingsinger, C. Johnson and P. Gochfeld throwing off a tie for the other one, each having 33.

Other high men who will receive ribbons are Boni Druker, and Dave Klein, 32 apiece; Paul Jantzen, 31; Nat Sherman, 30; Bruce Norris and Sol Mandelblatt, 29 apiece; Tracy Osborn and Harry McRobert, 28 apiece; Bob Mudge, 27; Dale Barnes and Harlan Wilson, 26 apiece; Scott Miller, 25 and Harry Horwitz, 24.

The throwoffs are scheduled for next Wednesday evening and will include all of those in the above list.

Plan Big Six Track Meet at Kansas City for February 20, 21

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 15 (AP)—Tentative plans for a Kansas City athletic club indoor track carnival in which all Big Six conference schools would be invited to participate, were discussed here today.

C. L. Brewer, athletic director of the University of Missouri, Brutus K. Hamilton, track coach of the University of Kansas, and Dr. J. A. Reilly of the K.C.A.C., who attended the meeting, said they expected to confer again Monday.

The discussions embraced the inclusion in the carnival of new races with a greater spectator appeal such as relay hurdle races. Feb. 13 and 20 were mentioned as possible dates for the event which would be held in Convention hall, scene of former Missouri-Kansas dual track meets.

Hamilton said he did not officially represent Kansas but came "to learn and discuss the program."

"MASQUERADE" By Faith Baldwin

LOVELY FANCHON Meredith was wanted by the San Francisco police in connection with a murder committed by her sweetheart, "Tony." Fanchon did not know he was a gunman. She escapes by airplane under the name of "Smith." Aboard is Evelyn Howard, whom Fanchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii. Evelyn is going to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she never saw. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. To get away from Tony Fanchon goes to the Carstairs home as "Evelyn." A strong bond of affection grows between Mrs. Carstairs and her "niece," Collin Carstairs, the son, is at first antagonistic because of his "cousin's" Hawaiian escapades and her self-righteous attitude when his mother offered aid, but Fanchon's sincerity overcomes his objections. They fall in love. After a happy summer at Southampton, Fanchon makes her debut in New York. Collin, though realizing their relationship is a barrier, cannot resist professing his love. Fanchon cannot acknowledge hers without revealing her identity. Later, Tony locates Fanchon and informs her that Evelyn is alive, but has lost her memory. He threatens to expose Fanchon unless she introduces him to Mrs. Carstairs and "Cousin Collin." He calls at the Carstairs home and is accepted by Mrs. Carstairs and Collin although they are skeptical of him. Fanchon has no alternative but to agree to Tony's demands that she induce Mrs. Carstairs to wear her emeralds to steal the jewels. Collin, Tony wears a Romeo costume similar to Collin's. On the way to the ball, Collin and Fanchon profess their love. Fanchon slips away and returns home with Tony. The latter stays on the terrace awaiting an opportunity to steal the jewels. Fanchon frustrates Tony's plans and has Mrs. Carstairs summon Collin. Tony reveals Fanchon's identity. The latter relates her story.

Collin rose, stood over him with the gun: "Tell me at once—"

CHAPTER XXVIII She told of how Tony had traced her. Forced her to meet him. Forced her to accept him. Of how she knew nothing of his plans. Of how, finally, he had told her that he had planned to do, on the night of the Van Suydam Ball. Of how she had appeared to agree and had herself made plans; had not put the drug in Collin's highball; or in Mrs. Carstairs' hot milk. But had waited, listening for Tony, knowing he would be caught. Of how she had taken the revolver from Collin's study that afternoon and hidden it in her room. And put the jewels in the case so that the sound he would make in removing them would be heard. Collin said, suddenly: "Why didn't you go through with it? There was little likelihood that if we continued to believe you—Evelyn—we would have hunted you and your—companion, down." She said, steadily: "I'm not a thief. Oh—I stole Evelyn's name, of course, and her position and her place in your affections. Yet, thinking her dead, I couldn't believe I had done her any great wrong. Nor did I feel I would wrong you very much either. . . . I was willing to serve you on my knees," she said directly to Jennie Carstairs, "because of the kindness, the love you showed me. And . . . I . . . I loved you," said Fanchon. Jennie's eyes were wet, she indicated Tony, sitting there, impassive, his dark face shut as hard as a clenched fist, his eyes watchful. "You didn't care for—him?" "No, I haven't," said Fanchon, "since . . . since I learned about him. He says that."

possible brain operation. "I wanted to see her," she went on, but he refused. Collin turned to the other man. His mother was crying, softly, in a sort of dull shock of horror and pity. "Where is she?" Collin demanded. "I—we must go to her at once. Tonight. Bring her here. Have everything done that can be done for her. Everything." "Tony shrugged. "I know the address," said Fanchon eagerly. "You will not find her there. I hold her as hostage for my safe conduct. If you permit me to go I give you my word of honor—" Collin laughed aloud. Tony looked at him gravely and remarked, "Even among thieves, there is honor—" My word of honor, that tomorrow you receive a communication from me telling you her present whereabouts." Collin called him a brutal name, without apology to the listeners. Tony shrugged again. Collin rose, stood over him with the gun: "Tell me at once—"

Dull, injured early last season, proved a near sensation in last season's meets. He was not defeated in dual meet competition. Johnson, who transferred from Iowa State Teachers college this fall, has wrestled in A.A.U. meets, and can hold his own with any of the veterans. When Richard E. Bott, freshman track candidate from Keota, was a sophomore in high school he placed fourth in the half mile at the annual state inter-scholastic track meet. A year later as a junior he placed third in the same event. Not satisfied with these laurels Bott came back in his senior year and won the race in the good time of 2 minutes. Since his arrival here in Iowa City his excellent showings in the fall freshman and handicap meets in which he won the half mile event, have tended to substantiate his past records.

County Will Make Report on Finances

Greatest Revenue From Taxes; Licenses for Autos Second

The treasurer's semi-annual financial report has been completed by county treasurer Charles L. Berry, and is to be turned over to the board of supervisors for approval within the next few days, according to announcement by Mr. Berry.

On June 1, the balance from the previous period after expenses were deducted from the receipts was $562,699.18. Revenue has been received from time to time since, bringing the total to $1,072,249.36 from which expenditures have been deducted leaving a balance of $539,335.75 in the treasury on December 31.

The major receipts of the period were taxes, $667,645.20, and automobile licenses, $120,690.25. The taxes were employed in the payment of general expenses throughout the county and the money received from the sale of automobile licenses is being spent on the local road systems.

Disbursements were: claims through the auditor's office, $319,636.70; state treasurer, $181,390.21; drainage claims, $18,000; expense orders from mayors of cities and towns, $106,549.73; amounts drawn by presidents of school districts, $257,941.23.

The county poor fund showed a deficit of $1,843.54 which is to be made up by an issuance of bonds on Feb. 1. The state law requires that bonds be sold only for previous expenses in this fund.

Receipts of money from the state has prevented any serious deficit resulting from closing of local banks. The state maintains a security savings fund for this purpose, each county paying a percentage into the state treasury.

U.S. Railways Ask Workers to Accept Cut

May Take Wage Slash if Roads Care for Unemployed

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Railways of the United States asked their organized workers today to accept a 10 per cent reduction in pay for a year and the workmen in return asked for relief of their unemployed.

Negotiations on the two subjects started at 2 o'clock this afternoon and in three and a half hours the proposals were laid on the conference table. Labor, in addition, made a formal presentation of its case.

Submit Proposal

The proposition submitted on behalf of the railroads by the committee of nine presidents was this:

"Ten per cent to be deducted from each pay check for a period of one year. Basic rates to remain as at present. This arrangement to terminate automatically 12 months after the plan becomes effective, unless extended by mutual agreement."

The program of the brotherhoods and unions was explained by D. E. Robertson, head of the labor delegation, and after the meeting adjourned Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio and leader of the president's group, said it was a "clear and constructive program presented in a statesmanlike manner."

Acknowledge Receipt

Beyond a brief acknowledgment of the receipt of the program, the managements did not discuss any of the points today. The next session was set for 10 a.m. tomorrow with the presentation of the railroads' case by Mr. Willard the first order of business. Discussion of the programs was to be opened then. Both sides anticipated it would take at least a week to come to an agreement.

Will Argue Motion Today to Set Aside Huckins Indictment

CEDAR RAPIDS, Jan. 15 (AP)—A motion to set aside the indictment of obtaining money by false pretenses with specific intent to defraud returned last week against George E. Huckins in connection with his 26 per cent investment scheme of three years ago was filed in district court today by R. S. Milner, his attorney.

The motion will be argued tomorrow morning when Huckins is slated to enter a plea.

Milner cited nine reasons in support of his motion, principal among them being that two members of the jury were from the same township.

He challenged the jury because of this when it was impaneled, he said, but later withdrew the action.

Mellon Gives Advice

"Settle your pending questions on petroleum, decide fairly and justly the difficulties which have been presented in this respect and once you have adopted a policy which gives stability to industrial activities in this branch, there will be opened for Colombia, no doubt, ample ways for its economic progress and for its financial restoration."

A statement from Secretary Mellon read before a house committee today said his conversation with Olaya concerned general subjects only.

File Petitions for February Court Term

Two petitions asking judgments totalling $25,193.35 were filed yesterday with Walter J. Barrow, clerk of the district court. The cases are docketed to appear in the February term of court before Judge R. G. Popham.

C. Van Epps, through his attorney, J. M. Otto, seeks judgment for $4,367.35 from Joseph Williams, Edward H. Kraemer, Lone Schroeder, Burton Schroeder, John Ware, and Charles Voss. The petition for judgment is the result of an indebtedness of eight promissory notes held by the plaintiff.

Committee of Senate Hears Credit Report

Investigate Loan Made to Government for Colombia

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—A message from President Olaya to the Colombian congress in June, 1931, urging it to approve the Barco oil concession to make it possible for the country to obtain credit was read to the senate finance committee.

The message was submitted by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who has attempted to find out whether there was any connection between a $4,000,000 loan to Colombia last year and the granting of the valuable oil concession to the Gulf Oil company—a Mellon interest—ten days previously.

Tells of Contract

Assistant Secretary White of the state department, who was on the witness stand, pointed out the contract for the loan had been made a year previous and the national city company was obligated to extend it.

"The fact is," Johnson replied, "the bankers held up the credit they were obligated to give. They wouldn't and didn't give it until the Barco commission was granted."

"That is true," White replied.

Colombia Needs Capital

Olaya in his message said Colombia needed outside capital and told the congress when J. P. Morgan and company had been approached for a loan, its officials expressed the view that such difficulties as revolved about the Barco concession "created in banking circles an impression of definite resistance to the investment of capital in Colombia or loans to its government."

Johnson also read a Colombian newspaper interview with Olaya of Aug. 7, 1931, in which he told of a conversation with Secretary Mellon in Washington at a dinner given by Secretary Stimson. Olaya, according to the newspaper, quoted Mellon as saying:

"Settle your pending questions on petroleum, decide fairly and justly the difficulties which have been presented in this respect and once you have adopted a policy which gives stability to industrial activities in this branch, there will be opened for Colombia, no doubt, ample ways for its economic progress and for its financial restoration."

A statement from Secretary Mellon read before a house committee today said his conversation with Olaya concerned general subjects only.

Murray Asks Democrats to Pull Together

Oklahoma Governor Says People Must Control Reins

MARSHALLTOWN, Jan. 15 (AP)—Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma, himself mentioned tonight, urging it to approve the Barco oil concession to make it possible for the country to obtain credit was read to the senate finance committee.

The message was submitted by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who has attempted to find out whether there was any connection between a $4,000,000 loan to Colombia last year and the granting of the valuable oil concession to the Gulf Oil company—a Mellon interest—ten days previously.

Must Capture Party

"I plead with everybody, let us capture the Democratic party," he said. "That would mean success and that would mean a restoration of the interests of the farmer and the little business man."

"The American people had just as well now understand that forces are working with a view to capturing both political parties; they have already captured the Republican, but want the Democrats as well," Murray asserted.

"So that if a Democrat be nominated of the Owen D. Young type, head of the greatest monopoly in the world, the campaign will be a tame one and his election would mean a continuation of the policies of Hoover and Mellon and the continued prices of 25 and 30 cent wheat and 4 and 5 cent cotton, with bankruptcy and economic slavery staring in the face of the middle class and all the poorer class."

Dangerous Idea

He said the third party idea was "the greatest danger to the people at this time" and added that "the flunkies of the interests have seen to it that the election laws are so written that a new party cannot get on the ticket in many states; in others it requires a great effort, much money and organization."

Stock Prices Uphold Tone of Past Week

Markets Start Slowly; Close With Even Balance

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Undismayed by early declines of 1 to 2 points, the stock market drew fresh buying support during the later dealings today.

Although there was some irregularity at the close, final prices on the average showed an even balance between small gains and losses and bullish converts felt that the stronger tone of the current week had been maintained.

Bonds Turn Reactionary

United States government bonds turned reactionary, as was to be expected; there was also some selling in rail loans, but the market hardened toward the end. Trading in both stocks and bonds slackened, turnover in the former dropping to 1,628,326 shares, or roughly a million shares less than on Thursday.

Both markets seemed to be discouraged by the delays at starting the railroad wage and employment conference both, however, picked up when Chicago dispatches said negotiations were actually to get under way. New York Central led the upturn in carrier shares, although top prices in the group failed to carry through to the close. Farm implement stocks were strong, featured by Case and Harvester. Utilities firm-ed once the recovery started; nevertheless, American Telephone wobbled in the last few minutes and lost 1/2 on the day. U. S. Steel, which had sold off a point, finished 1/4 higher. Tobacco quieted down.

Credit Conditions Easy

Credit conditions were distinctly easy. Dealers cut rates—equivalent to raising prices—on 60 to 90 day bills by one-eighth of one per cent, bringing the asking rate 3/4 of a per cent under the rediscount figure, a special which is usually corrected through a cut by the federal.

Grain Prices Advance With Stock Market

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Brisks upturns of grain prices today went hand in hand with a fresh advance of the New York stock market.

Quick recovery shown by wheat values contrasted strikingly with bearish foreign developments and in particular with an unexpected high increase of shipments of wheat from southern hemisphere countries. Only a struggling export business in North American wheat was noted, but the overseas takings embraced at least some United States hard winter wheat and durum.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top, 1.4-5.8 above yesterday's finish, corn and oats each 1.8-2.8 up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents off.

Corn and oats, although weak early, came back fast when wheat snapped upward. Weather conditions were unfavorable for corn movement.

Provisions were steadied by a rise in live values.

Closing indemnities: wheat—May 56 1/4, 3-8, 57 1/4; July 55 1/2, 56 3/8; Sept. 57, 58. Corn—May 39 1/2, 5-8, 40 1/4; July 41 1/8, 41 3/4.

Eccentric Bachelor Dies Before Getting $100,000 From Estate

OMAHA, Jan. 15 (AP)—John T. Culavin, eccentric bachelor and owner of an Omaha hotel who died last week, bequeathed up to the time of his death that he was entitled to the $100,000 estate of John O'Connor, Hastings, Neb., cobbler, which was the center of a legal battle for 15 years.

George Culavin of Missouri Valley, Ia., a brother, said today that he also is firmly convinced that the will presented in court by John Culavin was the real will of O'Connor.

Old records show that Culavin presented a will, which was drawn by O'Connor at Hawarden, Ia., 20 years before O'Connor's death. It left practically all the property to Culavin, the only relative with whom apparently he had any close contact.

The O'Connor estate has since been turned over to the state of Nebraska.

OMAHA, Jan. 15 (AP)—Ben Chesterman of Sioux City, Ia., member of the national executive committee, today urged members of the Nebraska bottlers of carbonated beverage in convention here to fight themselves against the threat of special taxation which would "raise the price of our products, decrease production 75 per cent, and put half the bottlers out of business, like it did in South Carolina."

"People would turn to other forms of beverage and would make their own soft drinks just as they started to roll their own cigarettes when prices of tailor-made cigars went up recently because of taxation," he asserted.

Senator Asks Debt Leniency

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, asserted in a statement today that "the constant press reports from Europe attempting to class debts due to us with reparations will not meet a responsive chord in the United States."

At the same time Reed said that "if the depreciation of the pound continues it will probably greatly affect the British capacity to make the payments which will fall due next December." He added:

"It is inconceivable that the United States would not sympathetically consider a proposal for temporary adjustment based on temporarily diminished capacity."

Reed said it is obvious, that since the intergovernmental debts were funded "the world wide economic crisis has in certain nations deeply affected that capacity and that certain nations may, in consequence, have to request consideration from the American government as to their temporary capacity."

While close to the administration, Senator Reed previously has declared emphatically against President Hoover's proposal to revive the war debt commission for a general debt revision.
