New Spring Modes Sing Swan Song of Winter

NEW YORK — In flat contradiction of the calendar and the meteorological bureau, and despite the frigid months that intervene between now and the time when the winter coat is relegated to its limbo of mothballs, spring is here — that is, for the ladies.

The starting of the annual parade of lovely trailing gowns, piquant hats, snappy, colorful sports clothes and novel accoutrements by the Garment Retailers of America, at New York, has put the bee in millady's bonnet.

Of the 110 creations displayed a great many owed their color keynote to the George Washington bicentennial, occurring this year, for red, white and blue predominated in patriotic contrasts.

All the exhibits were of lively hues and slightly longer than the current mode. Sports skirts were 10 to 12 inches from the floor, formal evening gowns reached the floor, some even featuring an abbreviated train.

Conversation Ranging From World Economics to Greta Garbo Occupies Daily Meeting of Faculty at Luncheon

A faculty luncheon every day — with no guest of honor, no host, no definite time of meeting — only a certain place.

Such a situation is found at a local eating place, where every noon a long table is reserved for a group of professors, who come straggling in for a period of half an hour.

Not every interest in the university is represented, however. Still, these men come from a variety of departments. Most of these faculty members are in the English department or the college of commerce.

Jury Retires to Deliberate Liquor Case

Government Tries to Link Defendants With Ring

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—A federal jury shortly after 6 o'clock tonight retired to deliberate on the evidence in the midwest liquor conspiracy case with the fate of only 15 of the original 48 defendants to decide.

The case went to trial on Jan. 11. Most of the time was occupied by the government's endeavors to link the defendants with an alleged huge liquor ring operating from headquarters in Aurora, Ill., and Clinton, Ia., over several middle western states. The defense testimony was mostly in the form of character witnesses.

During the course of the trial several of the most outstanding defendants changed their not guilty pleas to guilty. They included Mike Blumberg, so-called "Al Capone of Clinton" and one of the alleged heads of the ring. All told, 19 pleaded guilty during the course of the trial and nine entered pleas of not guilty.

OFFICIAL NOTICE REGISTRATION FOR THE SECOND SEMESTER 1931-1932

For students in the colleges of liberal arts, education, commerce, and the graduate college, registration for the second semester will be conducted in two separate stages, as follows:

1. Preparation of study-lists: Friday, Jan. 22, 8:30 a.m. to Saturday, Jan. 23, 5:30 p.m. and with the assistance of your advisers in their respective offices, arrange study-lists and obtain advisers' approval signatures. Fill the several registration coupons according to directions, as completely as possible. Preserve these carefully until the final stage of registration, which includes the payment of fees and the checking of the registration cards.

2. Following the directions given on the first four or five inside pages of the Schedule of Courses, and with the assistance of your advisers in their respective offices, arrange study-lists and obtain advisers' approval signatures. Fill the several registration coupons according to directions, as completely as possible. Preserve these carefully until the final stage of registration, which includes the payment of fees and the checking of the registration cards.

3. Students in the college of liberal arts who receive defer-registration cards should fill in the blank spaces in all of the registration forms except the faces of coupons 1-5; detach the coupons and bring them to attend the meetings of the class during the period specified, but not beyond that period. Such students should finally complete their registration through conferences with the Dean of Men (men) and the Dean of Women (women), who will sign the cards when the registration can be completed.

A little later The Daily Iowan will publish further explicit directions and suggestions respecting the procedure in the final stage of registration, which includes the paying of fees.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts 9 Members of Real Estate House

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP) — Nine officials of H. O. Stone and company, defunct real estate investment house, were indicted by the federal grand jury today on charges of using the mails to defraud hundreds of investors in half a dozen states.

The nine include President Henry F. Norcott, Vice President Claude C. Miles, Secretary Marshall W. George and Comptroller W. Scott Carroll.

The indictment, of 36 counts, charges the defendants with inducing investors to trade bonds on first class mortgages for the company's stock, then practically worthless.

Among the 36 complainants were A. L. Clark of Delhi, Anne Cavanaugh of Dubuque, R. F. Fitch and W. E. Fitch of Oskaloosa, Ia.; and H. H. Holt of Delafield, Wis.

Ottawa Judge Honored
DES MOINES (AP) — Judge E. G. Moon of Ottawa was elected chancellor of the Episcopal diocese of Iowa at its eightieth annual convention here. Rev. Jesse D. Griffith of Davenport, the bishop's vicar, was re-elected secretary. Bishop Harry S. Longley of Davenport urged support of church projects in addressing the convention.

SKIPPY—No Argument About It

Wrigley Rose From Ranks of Salesmen

Quit Soap Peddling to Start Chewing Gum Enterprise

By The Associated Press
William Wrigley taught the world to chew gum, and the jaws of two hemispheres reaped him a fortune in nickels, pennies, cantos and plasters.

It was his pride that the sun never set upon the use of his confections, and the arrow-headed elves who heralded his products were recognized from Java to Fifth avenue. Upon an article which sold the world over for a nickel or less, he founded in his generation one of the great fortunes of the nation—a fortune as stable as steel or railroads.

Nor were there any accidents in his success, for at 30 he deliberately selected Chicago as a favored shipping point and went there from Philadelphia to find a product with a worldwide market.

Rejects Soap
Wrigley selected chewing gum after rejecting soap and baking powder. The latter drew his attention to the confection in which he made his fortune, for it was while he was offering it as a premium to spur his baking powder sales that his attention was drawn to the possibilities of its exploitation.

He reasoned that while 100 pounds of soap his father manufactured was worth but five dollars, one hundred pounds of chewing gum was worth $100. It could be shipped anywhere and made to pay its freight, and still could be retailed at a price within everybody's reach.

The children's knickknack which was chewing gum when Wrigley began his manufacture was made of spruce or paraffin and put up in long packages containing prizes. Under Wrigley's leadership chicle was brought into use as the basic ingredient of the product, the packages were standardized, and machinery was substituted for manual methods.

Bad Habit to Custom
Within 10 years after Wrigley began the manufacture and promotion of chewing gum, what had been a bad habit had become a general custom.

Premium helped him popularize chewing gum, and he gave away tons throughout the country to help potential customers acquire the gum chewing habit. He advertised on a big scale. When he invaded other countries he used the same tactics. Foreigners knew neither what chewing gum was nor how to enjoy it, but Wrigley put it in their mouths.

FIVE CENT DINNER

Della Kuyat is shown with the five-cent dinner she enjoyed at the Chicago theological seminary community house. Wheat was the basis of almost every dish served and 150 guests were served the nickel dinner. The meal was served to demonstrate the cheapness of wheat and the possibility of feeding the unemployed inexpensively.

warned them not to swallow it and shouted from advertisements in newspapers, placards and billboards: "Chevy!"

Twenty-five years after he had embarked in the business, the public was paying $30,000,000 a year for his products, and by 1925 his annual sales were between $65,000,000 and $70,000,000. Factories in Chicago, New York, Berlin, Toronto and Sydney, Australia, were manufacturing the four brands upon which he had staked his business success.

"Not Even a Ball Club"
Selling his chewing gum on the road during his early Chicago career, Wrigley was twitted about his city of Chicago by a rival salesman who remarked that the town did not even own its own ball club—the Chicago National League team, controlled by Cincinnati interests.

The first truck home, for baseball was Wrigley's hobby, and the whim born then was gratified 25 years later when Wrigley and several associates acquired the club from the Cincinnati men who still owned it. A few years later he obtained sole control of the club, and added to his baseball holdings the Los Angeles team of the Pacific Coast league.

His third major business venture was the purchase in 1919 of Catalina Island, off the California coast, which he converted not only into a popular summer resort, but into silver, lead and zinc mining properties which pyramided his fortune.

Son Becomes President
Because the son born to William Wrigley, Sr., and Mary Laidley Wrigley at Philadelphia on Sept. 30, 1861, was not content to ascend to the ownership of his father's scouring soap manufactory, William Wrigley, Jr., was enabled to make his own son, Philip K., president at 25 of his chewing gum company and the youngest executive in the country of a business of that size. Philip and a daughter were born from the union in 1885 of William Wrigley, Jr., and Ada Foote, of New York.

The only poverty-to-riches chapter in the life of Wrigley was inserted by himself, for his parents were comfortably wealthy. He boy ran away from home at 11 and sold papers in New York for a summer, using the unsold portion nightly as a pillow for his bed on the iron gratings in front of The New York Tribune building.

Re-enters School
Returning home from this escapade he re-entered grammar school, but within a few months had gone into his father's factory as a soap padder. He convinced his parent presently that he could represent him ably as a salesman. A "drummer" at 13, he had such success that his father made him a partner in the business at 21.

But even a partnership could not ward young Wrigley to the soap business nor to Philadelphia. There was much talk about the rising city of the west, then planning a world's fair and Wrigley decided that there he would build his career.

He came to Chicago in 1891 and discovered, while distributing premiums to augment the sale of soap and baking powder, that chewing gum was the most popular of a score of premiums he offered. The Zeno Manufacturing company had machinery for making chewing gum, then mixed like dough and rolled, cut into sticks and wrapped by hand. Wrigley contracted for 10,000 boxes of a brand which he named Wrigley's Vassar. That was an enormous contract, for a girl could wrap and pack but 12 boxes a day. Today Wrigley's plants turn out 10,000 boxes of gum every 20 minutes, and a girl operating a machine wraps 1,600 boxes daily.

Free Samples
The larger phase of the business which Wrigley erected was the creation of a market for his product. The giving away of samples won the chewing gum a trial, and advertising did the rest. The arrow-shaped dwarfs which symbolized Wrigley products were designed with a particular appeal for each country. If he grinned from a placard in a Chinese shopwindow the dwarf was of Chinese mien, while Unter den Linden he was of German cast.

The standard nickel package of America was not suitable for trade in other lands, so oriental merchants were equipped with scissors, and they cut the sticks of gum into pieces like a clerk measures off a piece of drygoods. A two-penny package was prepared for German trade, and a twopenny package for British gum chews. In every country the size of the package was adapted to the coinage.

He spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising in New York before he got returns, but when they came they wiped out his early losses overnight.

Reason for "P. K.'s"
Reviving about 1920 the manufacture of a tablet-like gum which he had abandoned two decades before, Wrigley put it on the market as "P. K.'s." Friends noted that the letters were the initials of his son, who had just entered his father's business, but Wrigley explained that this was coincidental to the fact that the letters P and K were present in every language in the world, whereas the name Wrigley was all but unpronounceable in languages which have no W.

It was such apparently trivial discoveries of advertising secrets which helped Wrigley build the worldwide market of which he dreamed.

His purchase of the Los Angeles team of the Pacific Coast league in 1921 gave him another valuable baseball property. He built for the Los Angeles team a baseball stadium surrounded by a nine-story office building and tower and dedicated to service men of the World war.

Catalina Island
Catalina Island attracted Wrigley's attention for its possibilities as a summer resort, a training camp for his baseball team and a vacation spot for himself. He bought it in 1919, and founded the Wilmington Transportation company to carry passengers, sightseers and freight across the 25 miles of ocean between the island and the California coast.

He suspected the presence of ore, and when he assayed a sample from a vein into which his men cut while building a mountain road, it was found to contain silver, lead and zinc in profitable quantities, part of a rich deposit which underlay virtually all of the island's hundred square miles. His mining interests supplemented the island's summer resort trade. Zinc went to Belgium from the island's refining plant and 1,500 tons of crushed stone found a market daily on the California mainland for use in roadbuilding.

Director of 3 Banks
In addition to these interests, Wrigley was a director of three Chicago banks and head of the Bon Air Coal and Iron company of Tennessee.

He built in Chicago in 1920 the first large business block north of the Chicago river, an architectural landmark at the junction of the river and Michigan boulevard and at the time of its construction the tallest building in the city.

Outside his business, Wrigley's interests were few. He was a trustee of the Field Museum of Natural History, and a member of many Chicago and Los Angeles clubs. He was a lifelong Republican. His vacations were spent principally at summer homes at Pasadena, Cal., Catalina Island or Lake Geneva, Wis., for he disliked foreign travel and declared that his one trip around the world was "a good thing to be home from."

To watch a baseball game was always his greatest recreation.

A Sportsman Dies

BASEBALL FANS and sportsmen the world over were paying tribute yesterday to one of the most well known names in organized baseball, William Wrigley, Jr., the man who made a hobby out of owning a baseball club.

Spending millions to build up the Chicago Cubs into championship form, Wrigley's influence extended throughout the National league and indirectly to the American league. Higher standards of play, better wages, and sport for sport's sake were fostered under the energetic direction of the nation's chewing gum magnate.

The result was one of the biggest money making ball clubs in the history of the sport. Wrigley was truly American, participating as he did in the great national sport and his product standing for the American age throughout the world.

His name was known to millions; his fortune was built upon a simple national game which has retained its popularity undimmed, has been as American as the Statue of Liberty.

Though his achievements may not have insured him a place in the hall of fame as a scientist, patron of art, or even as a great philanthropist, his memory will be revered as a great American example of a man who knew how to play on a grand scale as well as how to build a fortune by mass sales production.

William Wrigley was one of the boys.

Another Chance for the Aviator

IN MANY cases of airplane crashes, the pilots and passengers have met their deaths because they were unable to escape from the burning wreckage after it had struck the ground. Often the crash itself involves no fatal injuries to the occupants of a plane.

The army air corps at Bolling field in Washington, D. C., is now testing apparatus designed to save the lives of flyers who crash and are unable to extricate themselves from flaming ships. The new equipment is a specially designed "crash truck."

Equipped with the latest fire fighting and rescue materials, it can generate and deliver a steady stream of chemical which smothers gasoline flames, lay down a smothering sheet of carbon dioxide gas, or deliver a three-quarter inch stream of water at very high pressure for half an hour.

The development of aircraft to the present stage has necessitated measures to meet every conceivable emergency. The parachute, still comparatively new as a safety device for flyers, has proved a boon to airmen facing an involuntary descent to earth.

When the skies have been made safe aviation will be able to take its rightful place as a valuable tool and weapon of society. Each step in that direction is an aid to human progress.

The Black Door

"What a ruin of ashes falls upon the man Who sees the new But cannot leave the old."

A STORY published recently in a current magazine concerned a lieutenant who was to be executed as a spy in two hours. The captain in pronouncing sentence said, "Pursuant to my custom you will be given a choice in the matter, either you may select to be shot in the customary manner, or you may pass through the Black Door which you see behind me. State your choice when the hour comes."

"Shot—or the Black Door." What horrible fate—which legend held was worse than death—met those who passed beyond the door? Not one of the prisoners dared to pass beyond it. Each had chosen death at the hands of the firing squad.

with not the courage to open them! It is only human to dread the unknown even though there is a chance that the door would lead to freedom and happiness. It is easier to go on in the old way.

Columbus had the courage to face the unknown, as did many other explorers, scientists and famous people. It is the ones who have passed through the Black Door who are remembered, whose names go down in history.

Tip to the Guardian

Our usually sound contemporary, the Manchester Guardian, casting about for some form of competition between nations to take the place of war, hits upon contract bridge. In doing so, it rejects cricket, because other nations cannot understand the "nobility of cricket"; tennis, because international tennis is too "provocative a pastime"; chess, because it is too slow; football, American variety, because it appears to be "more deadly than war."

Contract bridge, it strikes the Guardian, would be, to use William James' phrase, an ideal "moral equivalent for war." We fear the Guardian does not get about very much. Surely, it has never encountered Field Marshal Ely Culbertson, or it could never be under the illusion that the fate of nations could be entrusted to contests at a bridge table.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

"Humanity has come to think of life as a glorified grab-bag, an emporium with long aisles of novelty counters and gadget's furnishings, where almost anything can be had for a price." At least, that's the opinion of the Rev. Paul E. Scherer, pastor of a New York church.

And what's more, he adds, "it sells the labor of its hands, it sells the best hours of every day, it sells husbands and wives and children, there are times when it sells its soul, for apartments, balloon tires, and electric refrigerators."

Work today, he asserted, is regarded as a curse, and is undergone merely for what it produces. People are not over the idea that the world is theirs. America must either lose its air of proprietorship, or else—

It would seem that so many people would protest against that sort of preaching, that soon the preaching would stop. What there can be so entirely wrong with a system in which worldly gain provides the chief incentive to physical exertion, is beyond contemplation.

And even though life seems to most people just one, great five and ten cent store, where almost anything can be had in amounts varying relatively with their ability to get them, life is like that, and no amount of preaching to the contrary will help.

What will soon be the world's largest lighter-than-air craft, is being built for regular transatlantic service from Germany to the United States. The new ship combines several improvements worked out in the last few years from experiences with the Graf Zeppelin and American dirigibles.

The ship will be 750 feet long, with accommodations for 26 passengers, besides a large crew. A smoking room, made possible through the use of helium, is one of the features of the craft.

Such a project certainly calls for a huge expenditure. Other similar advances are taking place throughout the civilized world, with regular research and experimentation progressing just as if there weren't any huge national debts, tight credit. Yet an Iowa editor recently deplored proposed plans for research in television at the University of Iowa.

He probably didn't realize that the world must go on and that the work of making the world a better place in which to live knows no depressions.

It is a tribute, on the other hand, to those who disregard adverse conditions to push their studying, their research and experiments, that the world's store of knowledge might be increased. How much more disastrous would a period of depression be if progress stopped with the flow of money?

An eastern publication declared in a signed article the other day that "the Yale undergraduate is one of the most pampered individuals in the world," and that college students are not living up to the obligations laid upon them by the endowment of education.

Titled "Universities and parasites," the article says: "When one turns from the rosy picture of what the college graduate might be to the prospect of what he is, the scene changes completely and the optimistic absurdity of a belief in the social utility of the colleges becomes fully apparent. To think of college graduates as men who have been through four years of intensive intellectual training is laughable."

The missing quality, according to the article, is not intelligence or information but intellectual competence, a qualification that men must have "to be of use in this world."

While much of that is somewhat far fetched, it contains some small grain of reason. Book knowledge, what one must have lots of to get a degree in ordinary liberal arts curricula, is hardly adequate to the graduate who is plunged immediately into service as a producer. But a certain amount of fact is necessary, although the ability to use it is just as important.

To all appearances college students are living up to certain obligations laid upon them by the endowment of education, contrary to the publication's statement, but whether those obligations are, in some instances, worthy of being lived up to, is a moot question.

OFFICIAL DAILY BULLETIN

All notices for the official daily bulletin must be in the hands of the managing editor of The Daily Iowan by 4 p.m. Items for the university calendar must be reported at the president's office, Old Capitol, single day, as possible in advance of the event. No notices will be accepted unless typed or legibly written. Notices will not be accepted by telephone. Vol. VII, No. 94 January 27, 1932

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1931-1932 Saturday, January 23, 8:00 A.M. to Saturday Noon, January 30, 1932

The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D and E, as shown in the form below; and Speech I, 01 and 3 as shown at "N.B." below).

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation in the case of any examination, from this schedule, except as authorized by the Committee, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

In the cases of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D and E) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below, meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

Table with columns for Examination Period (8-10 A.M., 10-12 A.M., 2-4 P.M.), Date, and Special Group (A, B, C, D, E) with associated course numbers.

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed (Read by columns, and alphabetically) within the particular group, who will arrange a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than regular class hour on January 18 and January 19.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 21 meets for lectures T 7 8 at 8. The first meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8,—and the class will meet for examination Monday, January 25, 2-4, according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 15 meets twice each week, T 7 for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Friday, January 29, 2-4.

N.B. All sections of freshman speech 1, 01, and 3 will meet in the buildings and rooms and on the days and at the periods designated below:

Table listing sections for Speech 1, 01, and 3 across various days and times, including section numbers and room numbers.

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

- 1. From 4 to 6 on any day from January 23 to January 19, inclusive.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D and E, since for such "odd" classes, these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.;" unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd.,"—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

Graduates to Get Diplomas at Iowa Union

President Jessup Will Give Speech to Candidates

Following the informal graduates' dinner for 140 Iowa seniors next Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the river room of Iowa Union at which faculty and students, their friends and guests will gather, Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts will preside at a brief program. After a talk by President Walter A. Jessup, the candidates will assemble in the lower corridor of Iowa Union in costume, and will march directly to the formal exercises.

The candidates will rise when introduced by the master of ceremonies, Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh of the political science department, and remain standing at their seats while the degree or certificate is conferred by the president. The colonel of the cadet regiment will be the first to receive a scroll. His group will remain standing while it is being conferred upon him. The candidates for commissions in the Officers Reserve corps will march to the platform, receive a scroll from the president and stand at attention while taking the oath.

Graduate Nurses
Certificates for graduate nurses will also be given at the platform, but applicants for internship, education and journalism will seat themselves immediately after the degree is conferred without marching to the platform. Candidates for baccalaureate degrees in all the colleges will receive their scrolls in a group.

Piper to Speak
Professor Edwin Ford Piper of the English department will give the invocation address. Prof. John E. Briggs of the political science department is to be junior university marshal. He will be assisted by Prof. Vance M. Morton and Prof. Harry G. Barnes, both of the speech department.

The university orchestra under the direction of Prof. Frank E. Kendrick will play the processional and recessional. During the first part of the ceremony they will play selections from Luigi Andante.

English Actor Arranges to Give Lecture

V. L. Granville, English actor, visited the University of Iowa Monday to complete arrangements for his presentation of "Dramatic Interludes," the next university lecture, to be presented in natural science auditorium, Wednesday, Feb. 3, at 8 p.m.

A short informal discussion on the value of drama in relation to life with a few sidelights on amusing incidents in the lives of distinguished actors of the past and present, will open the program. This will be followed with a brief description of the character to be portrayed, given in the darkened auditorium, with a small spot of color on Mr. Granville's makeup equipment.

Eleven dramatizations will be given in all. There will be two groups of five, with a 10 minute intermission between the groups. Among the characters to be portrayed are: Francis Villon's Pernet, the archer; Job, from the Bible; Shakespeare's Hamlet, and Uriah Heep, from "David Copperfield."

The stage setting for the presentation is being completed by members of the speech and dramatic arts department.

Sickness of Judge Interrupts Trial of Alleged Murderers

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 26 (AP)—Illness of Judge Sam Wilcox today interrupted the trial of Al Mueller, one of three men charged with slaying Lewis B. Brown, Maysville, Mo., merchant on Nov. 12.

The others held are Herman Mueller, brother of Al, and W. D. Bennett of Davis City, Ia.

Legality of a proposal to call in another judge was discussed by counsel with Judge L. A. Vories, ranking judge of the circuit court for the county.

Hold Last Rites for Acacia Housefather

Last rites for Alfred Clement, resident of Iowa City for 69 years, and housefather of Acacia fraternity for the last 18 years, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 at the Congregational church. The Rev. Ira J. Houston, pastor, was in charge.

Mr. Clement was buried in Oakland cemetery with the complete Masonic service. He became a master mason in 1885, and since had held membership in all branches of Masonry and the Eastern Star.

At the age of 15, Mr. Clement came to Iowa City from his birthplace, Doncaster, Yorkshire, England. He died at the age of 87 years.

Oriental Will See Meteors

Astonishing Exhibition
Leonid Showers Will Miss U. S., Says Astronomer

Americans will miss the spectacular display of Leonid meteors next November but oriental astronomers will observe the most sensational celestial fireworks in a hundred years.

Prof. Charles C. Wylie, University of Iowa astronomer, has ventured the prediction after charting the annual shower in 1929, 1930, and 1931. The Leonid parades of those years formed a barometer of the wholesale migration next fall.

Japanese and Chinese in the early morning hours of Nov. 17 will witness an exhibition such as that which astonished Americans in 1333, the university man declares. Australia and the Philippines also will receive unhampered views of the phenomena.

However, only the advance guard, travelling during the hours before dawn on Nov. 16, and the rear trailers after 11 p.m. the following day will be visible in the United States, according to Professor Wylie.

Disappoint Astronomers
The Leonids, he explained, plunge close to the earth about three times a century. When scheduled for a spectacular display in 1900, they disappointed astronomers with a performance of only average brilliance.

Half a dozen observation parties in Iowa in 1930 charted better results than those in other sections of the nation but cloudy weather hindered several of the group watchings last fall.

Curtis' Sister Backs Hoover

Says No Ship Should Change Captains in Hurricane

OMAHA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Declaring that no ship should change captains in the midst of a hurricane, Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis today urged re-election of President Hoover as "more to be desired than any one thing in the coming campaign."

"No shipload of passengers would seriously think of discharging the captain in the midst of a hurricane simply because there was a hurricane, and much less would they demand the bridge after he had brought his ship safely through tempestuous seas," she stated in a speech read before a Nebraska Republican rally here.

As a result of "constructive measures," the president has taken, she said, the great masses of the American people have never discovered that they were in hard times and have gone about their merrits and their employments without ever having found it necessary to limit in any degree their standards of living.

"Is this strong, inspiring and steady influence (President Hoover) withdrawn from international councils," she declared, "would be an immeasurable calamity not only for our country but to the whole world."

Douglas Says Farm Plight Due to G.O.P.
DES MOINES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Prof. Paul H. Douglas, Chicago university economist laments the "50 years of faulty leadership" given the farmer.

Since the days of Lincoln the farmer has believed his salvation lay in the Republican party, Douglas, here for an address tonight, told an interviewer today.

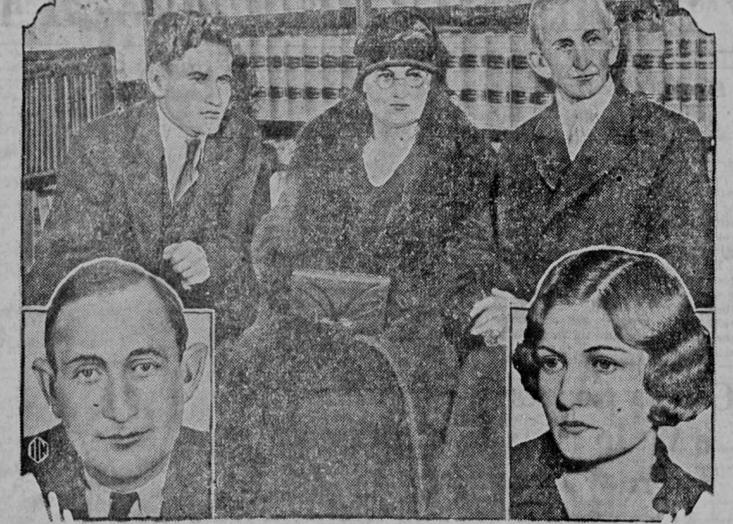

"Now the time has come to review just what he has lost by supporting the high tariff policy," Douglas said. "Obviously the last thing that would help a farmer is a high tariff on manufactured goods, yet he has blindly followed Republican leadership to this very end."

"The result is high prices for manufactured goods and a low foreign purchasing power for the surplus farm produce he raises. Even now, few of the farmer's noisy spokesmen seem to realize that lower tariffs are the first thing to shoot for."

Douglas, who classes himself neither Republican, Democrat nor radical, termed restoration of the foreign purchasing power "absolutely essential" to absorb the farm surplus.

Mrs. Diamond turned to the footlights, following the example of "Kiki" Roberts, her late husband's sweetheart, who is now appearing in vaudeville.

Minneapolis Man to Attend Music Meet

T. P. Giddings, director of music in the public schools of Minneapolis, Minn., will be among those attending the conference for school band directors, to be held in Iowa City Jan. 30, according to a letter received from Mr. Giddings by Prof. Charles B. Richter of the music department.

Mr. Giddings is a co-founder and vice president of the national high school orchestra and band summer camp, a writer of note, and an authority on school music.

Kennedy to Discuss Aviation

K. A. Kennedy of the extension division of the Boeing School of Aeronautics at Oakland, Cal., will discuss possibilities in aviation here with interested students and faculty members of the college of engineering, Feb. 12. Dean C. C. Williams announced this yesterday on receipt of a letter from Mr. Kennedy.

Grain Dealers Open Meeting at Ft. Dodge

FT. DODGE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Members of the Farmers Grain Dealers association of Iowa considered problems facing Iowa co-operatives as they opened their annual three day convention here.

Forum discussions of such topics as freight rates, grain trucking, legislative matters, futures trading, credit problems, railroads, claims were to constitute the major portion of the program.

The only formal speeches on the program were to be given by Oscar Helme of Marcus, president of the association, H. A. Wallace, Des Moines publisher, and State Fire Marshal J. W. Strohm.

Attendance was expected to reach the 600 mark. Affiliated organizations conducting their conventions simultaneously included the Farmers' Elevator Service Co., Farmers' National Co-operative Elevator Mutual Insurance association, and the Farmers' Agricultural Credit Co.

Rates for Auto Show
Round trip rates of $12.81 to Chicago this week end to accommodate passengers to the Chicago automobile show were announced yesterday by Frank E. Mescham, ticket agent of the Rock Island railroad. Sales will be effective daily from Friday to and including Thursday, Feb. 4, and final return limit is set for Feb. 8.

Announce Teachers' Examinations
County teacher's examination for county and state certificates will be given at the court house Jan. 27-28-29. William Leeper, county superintendent of schools, announced yesterday. These examinations are given four times a year and are optional upon the part of the teachers.

Hospital Uses "Silent Call" System to Page Staff Members; Eye Appeal Better than Radio, Buzzer Methods

By ED STEINBRENNER
A voice that isn't a voice is the "silent call" system employed by University hospital to page persons on the staff that may be wanted for some urgent reason.

An appeal to the eye is a much more satisfactory way of reaching the members of the staff scattered about the large hospital building than an audible appeal to "come to the office" made in many hospitals, according to Robert E. Neff, administrator of the hospital.

Strategic Points
The 43 annunciators that are watched for "their number" by 88 members of the staff are scattered throughout the building at strategic points. Three persons can be called at the same time and the numbers flash at 29-second intervals and are read from top to bottom, vertically, in order to prevent confusion in the reading.

"Is Mr. Neff there?" a voice inquires over the telephone. Immediately the telephone operator pushes the buttons on the instrument board and on every annunciator the number assigned to him flashes.

"I have fallen into the habit of watching the numbers that flash automatically," said Mr. Neff. He notices that he is being called, steps to the telephone in the section of the building where he happens to be and answers the call.

Other Systems Fail
There are other signal systems of the radio or the buzzer type. But they have been tried out and fail to give the satisfaction that the annunciator system gives, according to the administrator.

"We want to annoy our patients as little as possible and that is practically unavoidable where any type of sound is used," explained Mr. Neff.

An appeal to the eye soon becomes habit, the customary audible sound necessary to attract attention is supplanted, and the welfare of patients that are very ill looked after.

Woman Named as Administratrix

Mrs. Myrtle Rogers, 21 N. Duquesne street, has been named administratrix of the estate of S. N. Yee by Walter J. Barrow, clerk of the district court. Bond was set at $1,000.

Mr. Yee was burned to death in a fire early Monday morning which destroyed his establishment, Mandarin inn. The appointment of administratrix was made upon the application of J. J. Hanlon and J. H. Donohue.

Rietz Names 2 Additions to Iowa Faculty

A Canadian professor and one from New York will join the University of Iowa's summer session mathematics faculty in June, according to announcement by Prof. Henry L. Rietz, head of the department.

L. L. Dines of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Can., will teach three courses. He has made a reputation for his investigations in the application of geometry and algebra to problems in analysis.

The eastern man is Prof. Martin A. Nordgaard of Hunter college, New York, N. Y. Analytic geometry and theory of mathematics are his specialties. He has been a member of the state university staff for several summers.

Professors from five other states and Canada now have been announced as appointees to the university's summer session staff. It is expected that the list when completed will include men and women from more than 15 states and several foreign countries.

Club Worker Aids Plans of Play Festival

Pearl Bennett Broxom of Maquoketa, director of the club program and bulletin service of the extension division, is in Iowa City this week assisting in plans for the forthcoming play production festival and contest for high schools, junior college, and community groups, to be held here April 7-9.

She is also conferring with Prof. Edward C. Mable, head of speech and dramatic art, regarding the national drama conference to be held in February.

As a part of her work with club programs in the state, Mrs. Broxom read from Alberto Cassella's play, "Death Takes a Holiday," before this week's meeting of the Monday Afternoon Reading club in Cedar Rapids, Feb. 8 she will read from the same play before the Davenport Woman's club.

Dear Friends:
Every once in a while a picture comes to the screen which we feel sure that you who love a good story and good acting will want to see. We have secured those sterling characters of the radio "SETH PARKER and HIS JONESPORT NEIGHBORS" in a delightful picture called WAY BACK HOME.

We know that you have heard Seth and His Neighbors over the radio on Sunday nights and we feel that you will want to see them in this picture.

We feel confident that you still appreciate good acting — a clean story free from smut and crime and that you will be interested in seeing PHILIP'S LORD portray the character of SETH PARKER in WAY BACK HOME. We highly recommend this picture for every member of the family and feel confident that you will be as delighted over it as we are in giving it to you.

Immaculate Conception Rally Downs St. Patrick's 23-21 in Overtime Period

Irish Waver in Last Half of Close Tilt

Pinney Counts Four Baskets to Lead Scoring

By JOHN LANE
The local St. Patrick's high school cagers lost their closest game of the year here last night in Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids, by a score of 23 to 21, in an overtime contest.

The Irish led by a substantial margin at the half, but after Captain Megan was forced out on fouls early in the third period, they slackened up enough to allow the visitors to tie the score at the end of the last quarter. One lone basket in the overtime session was the margin of victory for Immaculate Conception.

Pinney, with four baskets in the first half, was the outstanding man of the game, while Megan's guarding was a marked feature of the Irish defense, until he was forced out of the game. Forestal and Green shared honors for the visitors with six points each.

Visitors Score First
Before the game, the Irish were marked favorites over their Parlor City rivals, by virtue of a 23 to 13 victory over them in December.

The visitors broke the ice with a basket by Lambert and a free throw by Green. Two baskets by Pinney and another by Gus Donohue put the locals in the lead, however, and Megan's three free throws gave the Irish a still larger margin. Wooderhoff made good on two charity tosses as the quarter ended with St. Pat's in the lead, 9 to 5.

Locals Lead at Half
Immaculate Conception again opened the scoring in the next quarter, Forestal sinking a basket in the first few seconds of play. Pinney retaliated with a goal for the Irish. Green sank a free throw, but Pinney and Megan each made a basket to increase the locals' lead. Wooderhoff made a free throw good as the half ended with the Irish leading, 15 to 9.

Scoring was not so promiscuous in the third quarter, but the visitors diminished the Irish lead. Green and Morehead each sinking a basket. At this point, Megan, captain of the St. Pat's team, was notified his fourth foul, and was taken out of the game. Ray Floerchinger scored a basket as the period ended with the locals still leading, 17 to 13.

Scannell Scores
Foul shots by Lambert and Wooderhoff gave the visitors two points as the last quarter opened, but Scannell neutralized their scores with a basket. A hot rally by Immaculate Conception, however, resulted in baskets by Lambert and Forestal, and the score was tied at 19 to 19, the first time the visitors had been on even terms with their hosts since the opening moments of the first stanza.

Faced with defeat, the Irish came back at their guests with a basket by Scannell, but Green's long shot was good, and the score was tied at 21 to 21, as the game ended.

The overtime period was fast, with both teams trying hard for the winning goal. The Irish had one wild burst of hope when Scannell was fouled, but the usually accu-

Games Friday
Iowa City at Washington.
Grant at Dubuque.
Davenport at Clinton.
West Waterloo at Mason City.
The second round of competition in the Mississippi Valley high school basketball conference gets underway with this week's contests. Dubuque, the only team that came through the first round undefeated, will entertain Grant of Cedar Rapids on Friday night.

Coach Wilson loses Miller, star Dubuque forward, because of the eighth semester ruling. This will be a heavy loss as Miller stands third among the conference scorers with 37 points. Coach Winters of Grant is hit hard by the loss of players because of graduation, losing Kelley, Prochaska and Martin. These three men are the only ones of his squad who have scored 10 or more points.

Hawklins Away
Iowa City high goes to Cedar Rapids to play Washington, also on Friday night. Coach Wells will have a small, green team to put on the floor against the high scoring Washington outfit. He lost Reed, Stimme and Isensee, who were regulars, and Kimmel, Reese, and Redenbaugh, who have been reserves. At Washington, Coach Rust loses just Wells, who is in a tie for first place in the conference scoring.

Clinton and Davenport play at Clinton. Nye of Clinton is through and Coach Livermore will be hard put to find a man of his caliber.

Sportively Speaking

By Matt Melchiorre

In a poll made recently of sports editors throughout the country the national pastime still is the same as it was many years ago. Despite our changing trends in most of our activities one that holds us yet is baseball.

Football, the sport that once belonged to the college world, has made inroads into the diamond popularity and ranks second in the minds of the editors polled. Golf follows in third place and boxing is fifth.

An Iowa sports editor says, "The family at the cross roads still takes its baseball seriously. Try and leave out a box score if the edition is tight. The kids still play the game in meadow and corner lot. Baseball, in my judgment, is and will continue to be our national pastime."

Golf will never seriously challenge for first place until some of the expenditure that goes with the links game is slashed. All one needs to play baseball is a ball, a bat, and a glove. The field does not have to be smooth, and stones can be very easily used for bases.

While golf equipment is not prohibitive the matter of the playing field is. Many public links courses are crowded throughout the week end and one must get in his golf over a strain. The private courses, where the players do not crowd every available inch, do not meet the purists of the hot polloi.

Football gains followers with each passing year. Those young men who took part in the first collegiate game (Princeton vs. Rutgers) back in 1869 never dreamed that that sport would rise to the height of drawing crowds upwards of 80,000 at times.

Boxing, in Jack Dempsey's heyday, probably ranked second to baseball. But with the passing of the title to Gene Tunney there has also been the passing of the million dollar gates. Perhaps if Dempsey successfully comes back he will arouse the public's interest in the sport and bring it back to its former position.

Rate center missed the chance. It was Forestal who finally sank a long shot to win the game for Immaculate Conception.

Start Work of Rebuilding Iowa Quintet

Mike Riegert Used on First Team; Some Men Study

Reorganization of the University of Iowa basketball team was in full swing yesterday afternoon as the Hawkeye squad continued preparation for the Notre Dame game at South Bend next Monday.

Mike Riegert, regular guard of last season, was installed at guard on the first team opposite Roy Diwocky. Harold Swaney was relegated to the second stringers and Douglas Filkins, the other guard regular this season, was studying for his exams.

Riegert is hopeful that his credits will be approved by the university officials and that he will be permitted to register for the second semester.

The Missouri athlete is about 15 pounds underweight following a week's attack of grippe. But he worked in nicely with the first team in a fast scrimmage with a freshman quintet.

Howard Moffitt and Guelmer Krumbholz, who is awaiting the report on his eligibility for the second semester, were at the forwards; Alex Rogers held down his usual center post.

Parker Bennett, the six foot four inch center who hopes to become eligible Feb. 1, was home drilling for the exams.

Conger Faces Fast Field in Handicap Run

NEWARK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A special series and a 1,000 yard handicap event, in which Ray Conger, national champion, will face such stars as Frank Nordell and St. Clair Davidson, promise to supply the highlights of tomorrow night's annual indoor track and field carnival of the Newark Athletic club.

Entries in the sprints include Ira Singer, the Millrose A. A., national 40 yard indoor champion; Ralph Sicket of the University of Kansas; Big Six champion; Frank Hussey, New York A. C.; Bill Bruder, Newark A. C. and Eddie Sidel, Swedish-American A. C.

Conger, running in his first important event since he captured the 1,000 yard indoor A.A.U. title last winter, will encounter some stiff competition. Starting from scratch, he will be asked to overtake Frank Nordell of New York university, Jim Kennedy of the Newark A. C. and St. Clair Davidson, Canadian champion, now competing for the Millrose A. A.

First Snow Since Jan. 2 Allows Drill for Winter Olympics

Members of the American ski team entered for the combined ski jumping and 18 kilometer race were practicing with jumpers of the Japanese, Norwegian, Swedish, Finnish and Italian teams. The other American jumpers will arrive tomorrow from Canton, South Dakota, where they have been in training.

The hoisted run down Mt. Van Hoevenberg, a mile and one half long, was opened for two thirds of its length. The Italian team and the American outfits led by H. Grayson Martin, Henry Homberger, and Raymond Stevens went into practice for the North American championships Friday and Saturday.

Thompson Re-elected President of Bummies

CEDAR RAPIDS, Jan. 26 (AP)—C. K. Thompson was re-elected president of the Cedar Rapids Baseball association at the annual meeting tonight.

Belden Hill, recently resigned as president of the Mississippi Valley league, was elected a member of the local board of directors and a member of the executive committee.

Hawk Tracksters First Competition of Year Saturday

First taste of a 1932 competition will be administered to University of Iowa track and field athletes when they enter the twelfth annual relay carnival in the field house Saturday afternoon.

Both varsity and freshman performers will vie in eight individual events, scores of men will race in the interfraternity relay, and eight-team four-man relays will represent the campus sororities in the feature relay.

County Cagers to Vie in Prep Tourney Here

Tournament Slated for Feb. 19, 20; Five Teams Enter

Prep cagers from over Johnson county will meet in the annual county tournament, slated for Feb. 19 and 20 in the University high school gymnasium according to an announcement yesterday.

Five schools have already entered the tourney, which will start on a Friday night and continue Saturday afternoon and evening. There will probably be two games the first night.

Teams entered in the tournament are Oxford, Lone Tree, Cosgrove, Washington Center, and Sharon Center.

Arrangements, under the management of the committee in charge, are practically complete in all details. Awards will be provided for the winning teams. Coach George Liljedahl of Cosgrove is the chairman of the committee.

Chicago Pin Team Sets World's Record

AURORA, Ill., Jan. 26 (AP)—One world's record was shattered and two tournament records established in the seventeenth annual interstate bowling championship, which closed today.

The new world mark was set by the Moulding Brownings of Chicago, who shot 3,450 to win the five man event.

Bernie Bierman Feted by Home Town Folks

LITCHFIELD, Minn., Jan. 26 (AP)—The community in which E. W. (Bernie) Bierman first played football honored him at a celebration tonight.

He made his first visit to the old home town since coming from Tulane a few weeks ago to be head football coach at the University of Minnesota. A banquet, speeches and two basketball games were on the program.

An oldtime jigsaw contest with 70 year old entrants was staged for a charity fund at Ft. Worth, Tex.

Wm. Wrigley "King Midas" of Baseball; Converted Cubs Into One of Biggest Earners

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Baseball's "King Midas" is dead. When death overtook William Wrigley Jr. at Phoenix, Ariz., today, it removed from the great, today a pastime a man whose touch like that of the ancient mythical king turned everything to gold. It robbed the world of sports of one of its most powerful figures.

It was Wrigley who took over the Chicago Cubs as a weak losing baseball club and converted it into one of the biggest money earners in the history of big time play, establishing a record for attendance in 1929 and paying a handsome dividend. It was Wrigley who led the movement to instill the spirit of big business into the game and make it one of the nation's largest industries.

Invests 6,000,000
He tossed an immense fortune, estimated at $6,000,000, into baseball, not as a business venture but as a personal hobby and always insisted he never drew a nickel of the club's profits. He became a bulwark in the baseball world, the high and lowly of which mourned his passing today.

NEW SKATE QUEEN

Helen Bina, of Chicago, who won the women's national skating championship at meet held at Oconomowoc, Wis., Sunday. By winning the title Miss Bina automatically became a member of the women's Olympic exhibition team.

Wellsmen in Drill Against West Branch

City high scrimmaged against the West Branch quintet yesterday afternoon in the Little Hawks' gym. The workout gave Coach George Wells a line on his revamped team which he expects to pit against Washington high Friday night.

Soucek and Erslund, forwards, Riecke, center, Seemuth and Brown, guards was the starting team. With the exception of Seemuth, every man on the five broke through the West Branch team for baskets.

St. Esland and Henry Saueck proved to be the threats on the new team. Between them they accounted for eight field goals during the short scrimmage.

The Little Hawks played loosely at first and it wasn't until nearly the end of the drill that their passes went where they were intended and the defense broke up the visitors' offense.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26 (AP)—But Battalino, featherweight king, scheduled for 10 rounds here tomorrow night with Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, today said he had no intention of losing his National Boxing association title on the scales. If he is dethroned it will be in the ring.

St. Mary's Regulars Excused From Drill; Meet Irish Five Next

The St. Mary's high school basketball team takes but a short pause after its upset victory over St. Joseph's of Rock Island, before swinging into preparation for another tough game, that with the undefeated St. Patrick's team at Cedar Rapids Friday night.

Coach Francis Sussler excused the five men who played through most of Monday night's contest after a short talk on their good points and failings. The rest of the squad was put through a short session on ball handling and floor plays.

The entire squad will be reporting once again tonight with the exception of Belger, freshman forward who will be out with ear trouble and will not be available for the game with the Shamrocks.

New Old Gold

Credit for running the fastest mile of any high school athlete in the state last year goes to Robert McElroy of Muscatine, freshman track candidate. The record time was made in the Burlington Little Six conference meet when McElroy established the record of 4:36, two seconds better than the time hung up at the state meet a week previously in which he had been unable to place.

Last year McElroy copped the state cross country run. In the previous two seasons he had placed sixth and fourth respectively.

Other records which McElroy holds include: Ft. Madison relays, mile, 4:46; Oskaloosa relays, mile, 5:51; and Davenport district meet, mile, 4:40.

U. Junior High Five Points for Tilt With Speedy City Quintet

Faced with the task of stopping the league leading City junior high five, the University high junior high team is concentrating on a defense for their game Friday night.

Coach Ted Paige indicated that his men would be all set for the toughest assignment of the year. The Blue and White leader will have his full squad, with the exception of Matties the center, in fine shape, but held little hope of stopping the ratty Black and Orange outfit.

Varsity Rifle Team Takes Postal Meet

University of Iowa varsity and R.O.T.C. rifle teams won their second matches of the season with the receipt yesterday of scores from the other schools in the shoot.

The varsity five man team defeated the University of New Hampshire with the aggregate score of 1367 to 1307 while the 10 man team defeated the University of Wyoming 3650 to 3363.

The R.O.T.C. had harder going but came out on top with a score of 3645 to 3602 for University of Tennessee and 3563 for Alabama Polytechnic institute.

Mark Heskett was high scorer in the meet for Iowa with a score of 378. Last week's high man, Robert Ellis, was second with 377, while George Amman was third with 375.

Best performances were turned in by Amman and Glea Martin. Amman shot a 93 in the standing position while Martin registered a perfect 100 in the prone.

Two weeks from now the varsity squad engages in its third postal match with the University of Akron, North Carolina State, Armour Tech, and Georgetown university. The R.O.T.C. will compete against Colorado School of Mines and the University of California.

Funeral Rites Friday for Glenn Behnhauer, Young Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Funeral service for Glenn Behnhauer, 22, sports writer for the Des Moines Tribune, who died early today of pneumonia, will be held here at 2 p.m. Friday.

Behnhauer became ill last Wednesday and was moved to a hospital Sunday.

He was born in Stanton, N. D. His family moved to Dows, Ia., when he was two years old and later to Des Moines, where he attended school. He was graduated from Drake university last June. His parents, a brother, and a sister survive.

Young Ed Walsh Will Hurl for Oakland Club

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 26 (AP)—Ed Walsh, Jr., son of the spital ace of the Chicago White Sox years ago, will pitch for Oakland in the Pacific Coast league this season. He is being sent out on option by the Sox.

Young Walsh twirled for Minneapolis last year.

Fans Buy Dubuque Club
DUBUQUE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Transfer of the Dubuque franchise and club in the Mississippi Valley baseball league has been made to the Dubuque Baseball Fans association by Fred Leiser, owner of the club since 1925. He received $3,000 for his holdings and will retire from local baseball. M. B. Andelfinger is president of the new association and E. G. Fairfield is secretary.

Iowa State in 35 to 25 Win Over Bulldogs

AMES, Jan. 26 (AP)—An Iowa State college basketball team took the long end of a 35-25 score in its non-conference tilt with the Drake Bulldogs in State gymnasium tonight, making it the second victory over Drake this season.

Captain Jack Roadcap and the lanky Al Heitman played the stellar roles for the Cyclones throughout the game, although Roadcap was taken out on fouls near the end of the final period. Roadcap scored seven field goals and one free throw, and Heitman netted five goals and four charity tosses.

As the half ended the score stood at 23-8 favoring Iowa State. Heitman got the tip off regularly from Sebastian of Drake during the first half, but Schultz contested Heitman's ability more frequently in the second period.

King turned in the most points for the Bulldogs with three field goals and two free throws, although no player was particularly outstanding.

Iowa State took it easy after the first half, and Coach Menze substituted freely. Iowa State was penalized with 17 personal fouls and Drake 15. Ross and Abram, Drake guards, were the Bulldogs ejected by the foul route.

Decrease in Revenue Discussed at Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 26 (AP)—The athletic board of the University of Kansas met today seeking a way out of the dilemma created by a general decrease in revenue from the spectacles of sport, chiefly football.

Following a persistent rumor of a general shakeup and a sharp reduction of coaching personnel, the Kansas football letterman presented Chancellor E. H. Lindley a petition pleading that H. W. (Bill) Hargless be retained as head football coach.

Funeral Rites Friday for Glenn Behnhauer, Young Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Funeral service for Glenn Behnhauer, 22, sports writer for the Des Moines Tribune, who died early today of pneumonia, will be held here at 2 p.m. Friday.

The Gay Bandit of the Border

By TOM GILL

Copyright 1931, by International Magazine Co., Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Ted Radcliffe is called to Verdi, a small village on the Mexican border, by Bob Harkness, his late father's friend. Radcliffe Senior had lost a fortune in Mexico years before. At a party given by Major Blount of the U. S. Army, Ted meets Paco Morales, ruling power of Mexico, and his beautiful niece, Adela. Morales tells how El Coyote, the mysterious bandit, killed a man about to reveal his hideaway. El Coyote steals from the rich, particularly Morales, and gives to the poor. As Major Blount announces that the U. S. cavalry will join in the search for the bandit, Bob arrives.

CHAPTER VII

But Dr. Price interrupted. "That sort of thing plumb worries me—if you don't mind my saying so. What have we to do with El Coyote so long as he keeps away from property on this side of the line. It's just making Blount's cavalry a private detective agency for Morales."

The major was non-committal. "All that may or may not be true. But I'll be glad of a little activity for the boys. Personally, I don't give a single damn one way or another, but running him down will add a little variety to life."

"That's no good reason," objected the doctor.

Don Bob smiled. "It's the best of reasons, Price. Man hunting has always been a popular sport. Besides, we all believe that our mysterious Coyote is an American, and why shouldn't Americans have the fun of killing him?"

"Will they catch him?" asked Adela.

"Oh, as to that," Dr. Price considered a moment. "For a man who can't catch him, my dear, but in any case I think it means the end of El Coyote."

"How?" Several voices asked in unison.

"Well, it makes the odds against him too strong. The Mexican soldiers weren't really dangerous. They actually sympathize with him, for after all, they are peons, and it is the peons that El Coyote has always befriended. But for our soldiers the chase will be just a game, and they will give tongue like a pack of hounds smelling blood."

"Of course we'll get him," added the major confidently. "So far as the merits of your disagreement go, I haven't an opinion in the world. El Coyote may be just a plain cattle thief. All I know is I'm under orders to run down a bandit gang, and, believe me, I welcome any change from drill and monotony."

"Have you heard of last night's murder, Bob?" asked the doctor.

"No."

"A peon gave information on the bandit and collected Morales's thousand dollars. That same night he was found by a squad of Mexican soldiers dead in the trail."

Don Bob nodded thoughtfully. "That would happen, of course. Did the Coyote leave any souvenir?"

Again Morales raised expressive hands. "That is most interesting. The soldiers found Lopez's body just below where the road pitched down from the mesa. They dismounted. Picture, my friends, that group, so silent in the moonlight, looking down on one who the bandit had guided them to the night camp. In black fear they stood there. Then from the cliff someone laughed, and there they see on his white horse El Coyote watching them. He waved, he laughed again, that jester, he threw down a handful of the gold coins he had taken, and he was gone. Is it not contempt for all of us he holds, this killer and cattle thief?"

El Coyote, masked and spurred, stood in the doorway with his two guns at his side.

"He seems to go in for melodrama and Belasco stuff," commented the major.

Price shook his head. "Not a bit of it. But he knows the effect of that sort of thing on both his enemies and friends. Lord, man, it seizes the imagination! Remember last Easter Sunday? You couldn't beat that, could you?"

"What happened?" asked Radcliffe.

"Easter," Price explained, "is one day when every Mexican goes to church, if he has to walk twenty miles to make it. That morning the little church over at Rio Dulce was jammed. All morning the bells had been ringing. Then, just before services, a horse galloped up to the door and El Coyote, masked and spurred, stood in the doorway with his two guns at his side. Five thousand pesos on his head, and there he stood alone! He walked slowly down the long aisle, laid an offering of gold pesos before the little altar and as quietly walked out. Not a man moved. Not one raised hand! What a gesture that was, eh? Bravado and melodrama, if you want, but it meant that in every peon hut along the border a secret prayer was raised that day for his safety, and the effect is, as Señor Morales points out, the soldiers aren't half eager to find him, and no one is willing to give information."

The major expanded his broad chest. "Well, legends and white horses won't annoy my boys very deeply."

"No," agreed the doctor, testily. "They'll carry out their orders in the brave and blundering manner of all good soldiers."

"You couldn't speak with deeper feeling if you were married to one," observed Aunt Clara and led her guests to the drawing room.

But as the major passed through the hall, Don Bob's hand closed on the old soldier's arm. "Ted hasn't heard?" he asked in a low tone.

"Not a word."

The quiet gray eyes rested for a moment on the major's face. "I'll tell him tonight," he said at last, and slowly walked across the room to where Radcliffe stood beside Adela Morales's chair. For a time he looked thoughtfully at the powerful figure, the sweep of the shoulders, the giant column of his neck and thick, close-cropped hair. He stepped forward and laid his hand lightly on Ted's shoulder.

"Rotten luck I had to be out of town when you arrived. Something imperative. Then this little girl came to my rescue, and Aunt Clara promised to see that you wouldn't be bored tonight."

"I've been treated like an old friend because everyone remembers dad. I was telling Miss Morales a little about him. You'd have loved him." He looked for confirmation at Don Bob. "Wouldn't she?"

"All women had a way of loving your father—he was extremely lovable."

Something in the man's voice made Radcliffe look down at the erect figure beside him. A sudden flood of memory swept over him. He remembered hearing of the man who had loved his mother once and who later, when she married his father, had disappeared into the West. He realized now who that man had been. Yet it seemed unreal and unbelievably sad that this man with graying hair had once loved and suffered and been young. So, for a queer, swift moment these two men looked at each other, each conscious that he held in his brain a knowledge that could bring the other pain.

The girl broke the silence. "It's been long weeks since you came to the hacienda, Bob. Don't dare forget that next Saturday is our Fiesta of the Rains. And bring your tenderfoot giant."

Don Bob smiled and hurried across the room to help Aunt Clara with the bridge tables.

"The man who invented these self-collapsing tables was an enemy of society," Aunt Clara complained. She yielded the table to Don Bob. "See if you can unravel that damned thing while I get the cards."

Closed Banks Tie Up Local Chest Funds

Funds of the Iowa City Community chest are tied up in banks recently closed in Iowa City. This situation places organizations supported by the chest in need of money.

At a called meeting of the Visiting Nurses' association at the city hall yesterday it was decided that, due to the present economic conditions in Iowa City, operations would be temporarily suspended.

A meeting of the Welfare board will be called in the near future to decide financial problems confronting the Community Chest fund, according to E. H. Lauer, financial chairman of the welfare board. "A drive will undoubtedly soon be made to replenish the depleted funds," he said.

It was indicated that the move of the V. N. A. board in suspending operations of the nurses' office was only done on account of the closing of local financial institutions. As soon as further funds are available the board plans to re-open the office.

The Visiting Nurses' office, located in the basement of the county court house, was shut yesterday morning. Veronica Hanson has been in charge of the office since Lillian Harsel was forced to discontinue work recently because of ill health.

Markets Offer Profit, Says National Officer

DES MOINES, Jan. 26 (AP)—An enriched American market offers profit to alert manufacturers, President John Benson of the American Association of Advertising Agencies told Des Moines business men today. Purchasing power has been augmented by accumulated bank accounts and by the policy of "going without" for two years, he said.

Advertising is the medium manufacturers must use to open the market, Benson asserted, contending it to be the one force which will restore profits and do away with unemployment.

Dana Bank Robbery Trial Goes to Jury

JEFFERSON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The jury in the trial of Lyle Hammatt on charges of robbing the bank of Dana received the case at 5 p. m. today.

The trial was in progress all last week. Hammatt's defense was that he was in Sioux City and in Jackson, Neb., the day of the robbery. Several residents of both cities testified in his defense.

Smith, Racing Star, Claims New Record

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 26 (AP)—Norman (Vizard) Smith, automobile racer, drove his car at an average of 164.084 miles an hour over a 10 mile course on Ninety mile beach near here today for what was claimed a new world record for the distance. In two dashes his average time was 3 minutes 39.401 seconds.

The roughness of the beach made the going hazardous, Smith said.

Injured While Coasting

HARLAN (AP)—Frances McKenzie, high school student, remained in a critical condition as the result of injuries suffered in a coasting accident Sunday.

Experimental crossing of reindeer and caribou in Alaska has increased the weight of the reindeer by 50 to 100 pounds.

Plans are under way to establish a big wild animal farm at a cost of $1,000,000 in San Diego, Cal.

Three Escape From Georgia State Prison

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Jan. 26 (AP)—Aubrey Smith, Abe Powers and Roy Gardner, notorious convicts, escaped from the state prison today and fled with an expensive limousine in which they ran down and killed a trusted prisoner who sought to halt them. The prisoner killed was John S. Williams, life term lawyer. Escape of the three brought to five the number of criminals who have fled the prison in the last week.

Seven generals in the Confederate army were residents of Helena, Ark.

National Guard Will Meet in Cedar Rapids

CEDAR RAPIDS, Jan. 26 (AP)—The first battalion school for commissioned and noncommissioned officers of the Iowa national guard will be held here Jan. 30 and 31. The men will come from Waterloo, Fairfield, Cedar Falls and Dubuque. Among the instructors will be Col. G. C. Holler, commander of the 133rd infantry; Capt. H. F. Wolf, adjutant; and Major L. R. Greenfield, commanding the first battalion.

Service Rates Announced by Bank Officers

Will Use Income to Defray Operating Expense Here

Service rates at the new sub-office of the People's Savings bank of Cedar Rapids were announced definitely yesterday by R. F. Torsten and Paul Huston, vice president of the Cedar Rapids institution in charge here.

The income from these rates will be used to defray expenses of operating the office. The rates were compiled in the manner in use on business accounts for firms. The schedule of rates follows:

Deposits at Five Cents
Deposits (credit entries to firm's account) at five cents.

Transit items (checks on banks in other cities on which we have advanced funds and collected for the firm) at five cents.

Local items (checks drawn on clearing house banks in Cedar Rapids and on the local office which the bank has collected for the firm) no charge.

Paid checks (checks drawn by firm on this bank) at five cents.
Maintenance fee per month (this item covers administration cost, depreciation, taxes etc., not included in above per item costs) at 50 cents.

The measured service rate on individual checking accounts was drawn up after analysis. The amount is based upon the patrons use of the service and the average balance carried in the account.

The officer's statement in regard to these accounts follows:

Large Balance Offsets Charge
"We much prefer to have the patron carry a large enough balance that no charge for service is necessary. But, in the event that the patron can not build the balance to that point immediately, the service will be furnished at time table rates. All out of time items, with the exception of Cedar Rapids accounts, will be charged for at the regular rates. The measured service rates on individual checking accounts are:

"An average daily balance below $100 with a base payment of one dollar pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $101 and $200 with a base payment of 20 cents pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $201 and $300 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $301 and $400 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $401 and $500 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $501 and $600 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $601 and $700 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $701 and $800 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $801 and $900 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $901 and $1,000 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $1,001 and $1,200 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $1,201 and $1,400 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

"An average daily balance between $1,401 and $1,600 pays for ten checks with a charge of five cents for extra checks."

Stocks Hold Firm During Quiet Market

U. S. Steel Reports Show Deficit in Earnings

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Stocks held firm in quiet trading today, closing with small net gains for most of the leading issues. Operations were obviously dominated by the imminence of the U. S. Steel directors meeting, results of which, as usual, became public property after the close. Sentiment was helped somewhat by the firm tone in the bond market, especially in U. S. governments.

The poor fourth quarter earnings statement issued by the steel corporation confirmed evidence previously offered by the low and unprofitable operating ratio of the company's subsidiaries during the three months. However, the deficit was large and a substantial drain on surplus, which has been drawn on heavily for dividend payments in the past year, was necessary to support even the preferred disbursement.

R. R. Stock Soars
Routine transactions in stocks were enlivened a bit by a markup in the cotton belt railroad issues. The preferred shares of that road soared more than dozen points and that congress is to fall in with the balanced budget idea and will cooperate toward holding down expenditures.

Telephone Advances
American Telephone's net advance of 1 1/2 was larger than the rise of many other pivotal stocks, which averaged fractionally higher. U. S. Steel, moving in a one point range, sagged slightly in the late dealings when some traders appeared to feel that maintenance of the $1 dividend was highly conjectural. New York Central was slightly heavier other volume falls refused to do much. Total sales fell below Monday's volume, amounting to 765,363 shares.

U. S. Securities Mild
The mild strength of U. S. government securities was probably based in part on growing indications that congress is to fall in with the balanced budget idea and will cooperate toward holding down expenditures. Considerable attention was paid to the bank of England's ability to meet its Franco-American credit without further loss of gold.

Commander Awards Service Medals to National Guardsmen
Three national guardsmen were awarded state of Iowa five year service medals at the regular weekly drill in the American Legion Community building last night. Captain George Maresh, commander of the local hospital unit, presented the medals to Edgar Slemmons, Vernon Roache, and George Clegg.

John T. Ries Shows Gratitude to Firemen for Prompt Work
A gift of $25 was received yesterday by the local fire department from John T. Ries, owner of the building in which is located Fulk's Jewelry store, Band Box Hat shop, and the Pioneer Service company, damaged by Monday morning's fire. Mr. Ries, in presenting the money, stated:

"I know of no way by which I can express my deep gratitude to you firemen for your excellent work in curbing the fire which destroyed the Garden theater building and damaged nearby establishments. Iowa City is proud of its fire department and proud to be able to boast a fire chief who conducted the fire fighting in the remarkable manner in which he did."

DeMolloy's to Meet
DeMolloy's will hold a regular business meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic temple. Because of examinations, no program has been arranged. Karl Kirk, worshipful master, will be in charge.

What Next in Transatlantic Air Service?

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—At last the long-dreamed-of transatlantic air mail service has approached not only within the bounds of possibility, but it is probable that in a couple of years it will be an accomplished feat. The recent test of flying mail from the liner Europa, 1,275 miles at sea, to New York has lent support to the feasibility of the oft-proposed scheme for a line of floating islands strung across the Atlantic as landing fields and service stations for transatlantic air mail service.

The ship to shore service so successfully inaugurated from the Europa and her sister ship, the Bremen, about 300 miles off Cape Cod when weather permitted. But the success of the recent experiment reduced the time of that service by 8 hours and adds 80 miles to the distance which the mail is carried by plane.

It is now only a matter of time until we have a regular transatlantic air mail service, for it is reasonable to suppose that if a ship-to-shore service such as that just concluded can be carried out so smoothly there is no reason why the string of floating islands idea cannot be developed into a working proposition.

There are many inventors who claim they have perfected these ocean landing fields to a point where they will be immune to the roughest buffeting that Father Neptune is capable of giving them. Not only that, they claim that the landing fields on terra firma are no more stable than those which it is possible to plant in the Atlantic.

However, time and Old Man Progress will eventually find a way, whether it be flying mail via floating islands or shooting it across the sea by rocket. And the day will assuredly dawn when we will examine the postmark on our European mail and exclaim, "Can you imagine? This letter took two whole days to come from Paris. Wonder what delayed it?"

20 Children in Iowa City Juvenile Home Need Outside Help
There are 20 children in Iowa City that need help. Their clothes are becoming frayed. Beds are in need of sheets. Dish and silverware supply is becoming depleted. The bed spreads and blankets are scarce.

The children are at the Iowa City juvenile home, 518 S. Governor street. A complete list of emergency needs have been compiled by those in charge at the home.

The list includes: cereal dishes, sauce dishes, teaspoons, table spoons, bath towels, rubber sheeting, bedspreads and blankets, material for children's dresses, and sheets for children's beds.

The King's Daughters organization and the Woman's club do the mending and sewing, making donations into serviceable clothing for the children at the home. Persons who wish to make donations are asked to communicate with Mrs. Mabel Evans, or with authorities at the home.

Auditor to Open Bids for Lumber, Piling
Sealed bids for 277,263 feet board measure of lumber and 8,450 linear feet of creosoted piling will be opened in the auditor's office, Feb. 4, at 1:30 p. m., Auditor Ed Sulek announced yesterday.

The lumber and piling are to be used for construction and repair work in 1932. The board of supervisors requires that a proposal guarantee of five per cent shall accompany each bid. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Plan Ruth Mahoney Funeral for Today
Funeral service for Ruth Helen Mahoney will be held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery in Oxford.

Baker Takes Stand Against League Plank

Demo Leader Holds for Postponement of Move

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Opposition to a League of Nations plank in the 1932 Democratic platform came unexpectedly from Newton D. Baker today in a statement which also voiced his belief in eventual participation in the league by the United States.

The declaration of Baker, secretary of war in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, staunch league advocate, and a presidential possibility himself, was the focal point in a day crowded with political developments. Briefly:

While Mr. Baker was preparing his statement and sailing away with his wife for a brief vacation in Mexico City, friends of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, another limb on the presidential timber tree, were hearing with gratification of a statement by Josephus Daniels, who was Mr. Wilson's secretary of the navy.

Mr. Daniels told the Atlanta (Ga.) Journal that "the progressives throughout the country, regardless of political affiliation, will vote the Democratic ticket if the party nominates a man whose progressive tendencies are shown by his political record."

Daniels for Roosevelt
"Franklin Roosevelt," Mr. Daniels declared, "is such a man."

Baker, before departing, said it was "very generous and very nice" for people to talk him up for the presidency, but to a direct question as to whether he was a candidate, he said: "No."

Against League
"I would not take the United States into the league if I had the power to do so until there is an informed and convinced majority sentiment in favor of that action in the United States," said his statement on the league.

"I am not in favor of a plank in the Democratic national platform which would commit the party to support a man whose progressive tendencies are shown by his political record."

Fire Fighters Use 500,000 Gallons of Water on Flames
Five hundred thousand gallons of water were used to check the fire that destroyed the Garden theater early Monday morning and damaged the Rupert and Seemann Furniture company building, the Stillwell paint store, the Dick Jones grocery, and other business places. Fire Chief Herman Amish estimated yesterday.

A statement in The Daily Iowan yesterday morning said that 800 gallons of gasoline were in Stillwell's paint shop at the time of the fire. This was later checked and found to be 800 gallons of alcohol. State Fire Marshal John W. W. Strohm of Des Moines is not coming, as announced yesterday.

High water pressure in the city mains was praised yesterday by the fire chief as a big factor in fighting the flames. The pumping machine was used only once to spread water over burning timbers in the basement of the Garden theater.

Eight lines of hose, a total of 3,500 feet, were used in fighting the fire. The fire department owns 5,400 feet of hose.

Fulks re-opened his jewelry store shortly after the fire, after having moved his stock out of the building next to the Garden.

Business supplies were still being recovered from the debris yesterday.

British Judge's Rule on Wife's Freedom Ancient Stuff Here

Freedom Ancient Stuff Here

NEW YORK — The ruling of Justice McCardie, famous bachelor jurist of England, that "a woman's body is her own, she can leave her husband by her own will, choose her own occupation, political party and religion, and can decide whether and when to bear children," is hailed in Britain as the ultimate in the emancipatory process of woman. Giving her the right, one presumes, to select Henley's "Invictus" for a theme song.

Justice McCardie's ruling was made in a case where a deserted husband sued a doctor who, he charged, had alienated the affections of his wife. In deciding against the husband, the jurist declared that a woman is a citizen, not a serf, and that she is entitled to decide her own future. In other words, if a wife thinks she would be happier with another man, it is her privilege to throw friend hubby into the discard.

That may be new in England, but in these United States it is rather ancient history. Here the law is 99 per cent on the side of the woman in marital tangles. As far as ownership of the body is concerned, it has long been recognized here that the female of the species has exclusive rights in perpetuity to the male, not only body but soul.

A woman may fire of a husband, go to Reno and divorce him, demanding whatever alimony she thinks fit and heaven help poor hubby if he can't pay. He need not look to the law for aid. There is only one place where he can find peace and that's where he goes — to jail.

As regards alienation of affections, it has been proved by the records that virtually all claims for stolen love are filed by women. The same is true of breach of promise suits. Eminent jurists have designated this type of case as legalized blackmail, but nothing can be done about it.

Cases of men suing for breach of promise or alienation of affections are as rare as the eggs of the do-do. As far as childbearing is concerned, Justice McCardie has said nothing new. It was only last year that the law upheld Mrs. Marion Kahn, a Brooklyn, N. Y., stenographer, in her refusal to bear children. In endeavoring to secure an annulment, Alfred A. Kahn, the husband, said that prior to their marriage the wife had promised to bear children and as she had failed to make good he thought he was entitled to call of his side of the bargain. The court decided in Mrs. Kahn's favor, ruling that the matter was entirely up to her whether or not she wanted children.

Supreme Court Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo of New York does not quite agree with Justice McCardie. Justice Cotillo is of the opinion that when a wife walks out on her husband he should have some recourse.

Wheat Slumps as Argentines Flood Market

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Southern hemisphere competition so keen that Argentine wheat in Liverpool was 5 cents cheaper than Chicago May delivery forced all grains downward here today.

Argentine wheat prices outdid the season's bottommost record. Acting as a further weight on values was an increase of 2,208,000 bushels this week in the world's wheat available supply total.

Sagging almost constantly from start to finish, wheat closed unsettled, 1-2, 3-4 under yesterday's finish, with corn 1-4, 1-2 down, oats unchanged to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 1-4 decline.

Despite the evident downward trend and notwithstanding developments, most Chicago traders appeared reluctant to press the selling side of the wheat market on declines.

Death of selling here was ascribed to the bullish influence of government financed holdings of May wheat estimated at 25,000,000 bushels and to eastern speculative May holdings believed to aggregate 10,000,000 bushels.

Another sustaining factor was that open interest in all future deliveries of wheat here was unusually slender. It was asserted in some quarters that unless the principal holders liquidated, the market was likely to keep relatively firm within moderate limits.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat, but as the case has been for some time corn found support which May wheat dipped below 40 cents. Persistent limited eastern demand for corn was a bearish factor.

Provisions sympathized with hog market downturns.

Closing indentities: wheat—May 57 1-8, 1-4; July 57 1-8, 58 1-8; Sept. 59 1-2, offers. Corn—May 40, 40 1-8, 40 1-2, 5-8; July 41 3-4, 42 1-4.

Plaintiff Pays Costs to Arrange Damage Suit Outside of Court

Damage action of $15,098.50, filed in district court last year by A. W. Walter against Hal Ryner, has been settled recently outside of court. Costs were taxed to the plaintiff. Amount of settlements was not available.

Walter was suing Ryner as a result of an accident Sept. 23, 1931, in which he was injured. The petition shows that Walter was struck by a car driven by Ryner while he was walking on U. S. highway 161 south of the municipal airport.

Walter was represented by Dutch, Walker, and Ries. Ryner had as attorneys, Messer and Nolan.

Local Flying Instructor Has Record of 1,500 Hours in Air

With an 11 year flying record and 1,500 hours log time in the air, Paul Shaw, local pilot instructor at the municipal airport, accredits Iowa City with the distinction of having one of the few independent operators giving flying instructions in this section of the country.

Everything from spins, and stalls, to forced landings is put before the students to master. The Eaglerock owned by Mr. Shaw is a 150 horse power ship, while the usual run of student planes are from 50 to 100 horsepower. It has a top speed of 125 miles per hour, a cruising record of 110 miles, and a landing record of 40 miles. The plane was bought in Omaha two weeks ago.

Students Need Open Pits
Mr. Shaw stated that the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce does not approve of student instruction in closed cabins, and to comply with these rules it is necessary to use a ship with open pits. Instruction is much easier in this ship because the instructor can get the feel of the plane maneuvers.
