BURLINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Chicago when Warren G. Harding was nominated for the presidency. Born in Illinois. He was born in Quakawka, Ill., March 29, 1867, the son of Robert and Mary Nichols Moir.

He was an extensive landowner. Besides the widow, Moir is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert Eaton and Mrs. George B. Little, both of Burlington; a brother, James Moir, with whom he was associated in business in Burlington; two sisters, Mrs. George S. Tracy of Burlington and Mrs. Charles King of Peoria, Ill., and four grand children.

Farm Holdup Near Solution

RED OAK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Solution of the John Hummel farm robbery near Strahan in Mills county, was believed in sight tonight after former Sheriff J. A. Baker, now a state agent and George Atkinson, also a state agent, arrested Mrs. Ellen Lane and Ed Graves, both of Red Oak, and held them in the Mills county jail at Glenwood for investigation.

John Hummel, his sister and hired man were held up and robbed Jan. 12 of currency estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000. They were left bound while the thieves ransacked the home and fled.

Today's newspaper headlines said the "truce was broken" by yesterday's hostilities. They said that restricted fighting now was likely. As a matter of fact, there had been little evidence of a truce in recent days.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, "public enemies" and former bank racketeers here, were sentenced today to a federal penitentiary, Druggan for four years and six months and Lake for one year and eight months, on pleas of guilty to evading payment of income taxes.

The sentences were imposed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who a few months ago sentenced "Scarface" Al Capone to 11 years imprisonment and a $50,000 fine on a similar charge. Druggan also was fined $5,000 and Lake was fined $2,500.

Washington Iowa Solons Endorse 2 for Federal Posts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Appointment of two Iowans to federal posts was recommended today by Senators Smith W. Brookhart and L. J. Dickinson of Iowa.

Robert W. Colflesh of Des Moines, was endorsed for United States attorney for the southern district of Iowa and Gerald A. Jewett of Des Moines, for internal revenue collector for the state.

Colflesh, who is state commander of the American Legion and a veteran of the World War, would succeed Ross Mowry of Newton. Colflesh was wounded in action five times and won the distinguished service cross and the croix de guerre for bravery.

Colflesh would succeed Lars Helde of Cedar Falls, who has served as internal revenue collector for Iowa for 12 years. Jewett has been active in Republican party affairs and is a member of the local post of the American Legion.

Albert B. Fall's Last Hope of Shorter Sentence Fades as Board Refuses Clemency

Former Cabinet Man Must Serve Term Until May

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Albert B. Fall today lost his last hope of freedom before the end of his sentence for accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny.

The federal parole board of two men and a woman declined to shorten the imprisonment of the former secretary of interior, with an assertion that such action would be "unjustifiable and incompatible with the welfare of society."

Terse Statement

Chairman Arthur D. Wood of the board, and Irvin B. Tucker and Dr. Amy N. Starnard announced their decision in a tersely phrased statement issued by the department of justice. The board remarked: "Whether or not others equally guilty have not been punished is beside the issue entirely."

Thus the 70 year old Fall, first and last to be convicted in numerous trials following the oil land leases scandal of a tersely phrased statement issued by the department of justice. The board remarked: "Whether or not others equally guilty have not been punished is beside the issue entirely."

Then his year-and-a-day prison term expires, allowing time off for good behavior. But he has not yet paid his $100,000 fine, and should he continue in default, he must serve an extra 30 days and take the pauper's oath to be released.

Fall went to prison last July 13, muttering "damned hearse" toward the ambulance that carried him over the southwest plain from El Paso, Tex., to Santa Fe. He had been convicted two years earlier in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Long Investigation Denied executive clemency, his case came to the parole board shortly before he became eligible, last Nov. 20. Acting after more than two months' investigation and deliberation, the board said intercessions on his behalf were based "for the most part on sympathy for the applicant's advanced age and alleged physical disabilities," and that the record also contained letters "strongly protesting the granting of pardon or parole."

Emphasizing the high position Fall held, the board said he was the first cabinet member to be convicted of crime.

"Pity" Action "Pity is advanced as grounds for taking action which would virtually put aside the verdict of the jury and the judgment of the court," it continued. "Corruption of public trust in high places, acts akin to treason, and affecting the entire nation cannot be tolerated or condoned. It appears conceded as a fact established during several thousand years, and not to be philosophized away, that the fabric of justice cannot endure if mercy be permitted to set aside the penalties meted out in our gravest criminal cases by our highest law tribunals. The case is one of personal guilt, aggravated by near perjury in the course of the proceedings leading up to trial and conviction."

While Fall is "physically infirm, largely by reason of chronic disability incident to advancing age," said the announcement, no evidence was presented to show that his condition would be "specifically aggravated by confinement."

Land Owner Kills Self Accidently BEDFORD, Feb. 2 (AP)—C. J. Engstrom, a retired farmer, accidentally shot and killed himself today.

He was shooting rats in a barn with a rifle. Surviving are his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Bessie Lusk of Ida Grove.

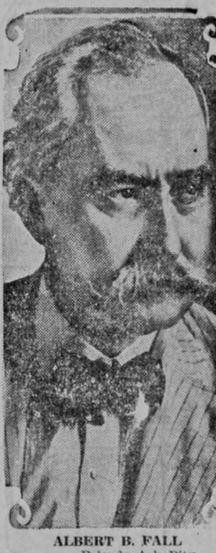

Bit of Chemical, Persistence Catch Veteran Counterfeiter WINONA, Minn., Feb. 2 (AP)—An ounce of chemical solution, salvaged from a glass jar, and the persistence of an assistant federal district attorney proved the downfall of a counterfeiter, who was sent to federal prison for 30 years and fined $2,000. The man is Otis Spencer, 33 of Logan, Ia., whose work during the last 10 years, operatives said, has baffled the secret service and cost merchants considerably.

Arrest Two Men When new money, of smaller dimensions was adopted by the treasury in 1929, counterfeiting of the first bill was attributed by operatives to Spencer.

Last November two men were arrested at Austin, Minn. They were J. Ordean Capretz and Ira Gorham, both of near Blencoe, Ia., and then Spencer.

Plead Guilty Last week the two pleaded guilty and then testified against Spencer.

In the trial of Spencer the government introduced a jar with a blue solution, found on Capretz' premises. Analysis showed it contained a chemical, which if applied to paper, made it sensitive to light. Sheets of paper similar to that the government charged was used by Spencer were treated with the

Farmers to Receive Aid

Loans to Save Stock in Drought Stricken Districts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Loans to feed livestock have again been made available to farmers in the drought stricken sections of South Dakota, Nebraska and Utah, Secretary Hyde announced today.

Such loans were available in the northwestern states last fall but the receipt of applications was discontinued Dec. 1.

To Save Livestock Heavy snows during recent weeks in South Dakota, Nebraska, and Utah, officials of the department of agriculture said, have prevented stock from grazing and cold weather has increased feed requirements.

At the request of stockmen and members of congress representing these states the loans have been reopened to save livestock from starvation.

Provide Feed Applications will be received at the Grand Forks, N. D., seed loan office during February under the same regulations in effect last fall, except that the loans will now be made in amounts to provide feed for not to exceed three months.

Otto Lange Enters Governor Race on Lower Tax Stand

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—A program opposing a state income tax and favoring exemption of homes from taxation was outlined by Otto Lange of Dubuque in announcing his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Lange, a former state senator and a candidate for the party choice for governor in 1930, also advocated a referendum on prohibition and proposed a license fee on chain concerns.

Three candidates for Republican nomination to the state legislature today also obtained nomination papers from the secretary of state. They were W. E. Long of Mason City and J. Park Baird of Storm Lake, for state representatives, and Purley Rinker of Centerville, candidate for the state senate.

Influence of Bicentennial Reflects in Coiffure, Hats

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The hair and the hat is the latest merger for the millinery mode that is even now being prepared to glorify the spring.

Remember way back when we used to slip on a hat to hide from view an unwaved or untidy head of hair? Well, those days are gone forever, too.

Although Paris has turned out hats with masses of flower trimming, it is not thought that this style will become universal.

There's no doubt about it the new styles are going to do much to make women feel youthful and happy.

Anonymous Friend Gives Five Dollars for Juvenile Home

A $5 bill enclosed in a letter signed by "A Friend" was received yesterday by Mabel R. Evans, probation officer, with instructions to spend it for children at the Iowa City Juvenile home.

The letter said that the sender had read that the juvenile home children were in need of clothing, blankets and other necessities.

"I would send more," the letter read, "but I lost the greatest share of my money in the banks and this is all I can afford."

Mrs. Evans said last night that the money would be turned over to the matron of the juvenile home who would send it for the many things that the children absolutely have to have.

Dry Director Opposes Beer Legalization

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Opposition to a bill to legalize four per cent beer was expressed before a senate committee today by Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition enforcement, and Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan, editor of the Journal of the National Education association.

Citing figures for pre-prohibition years, Woodcock said the availability of beer in the past "did not decrease consumption of hard spirits" and could not be expected to make the task of enforcement easier.

Woodcock expressed the view that the return of legal beer would bring back an institution similar to the old saloon against which, he said, "public opinion is fairly well solidified."

Morgan said that from the standpoint of the educator conditions have improved greatly under prohibition.

"Conditions among the students by and large are infinitely better than they were before," he said.

"We're four per cent beer legalized we might reasonably expect a steady increase in the number of serious automobile accidents which would affect the schools profoundly.

Woodcock said enforcement is increasing in efficiency and will "drive the traffic to cover" so that only the confirmed drinker will obtain liquor.

Seven Depositors Ask for Book Audit of Waucoma Bank

WEST UNION, Feb. 2 (AP)—An audit of the books of the bank of Waucoma was asked in a petition filed in district court here by seven depositors who are said to control more than $75,000 of the deposits.

J. V. White of Waterloo was appointed receiver by Judge W. L. Eichendorf.

An assignment made by W. H. Stone, founder of the private bank and its director until Oct. 1 was said to have been the basis for the action.

Demos Make New Plan to Help Jobless

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—A Democratic program of help for the jobless was emerging tonight from a series of backstage negotiations after a second day of demands for direct federal assistance on the senate floor.

Virtually abandoning the plan to return to committee the La Follette-Costigan bill to appropriate $375,000,000 for government aid, the Democrats were considering a substitute proposal to authorize $750,000,000, divided equally between road construction and loans to states.

The plan was advanced today at a meeting of the Democratic steering committee and will be taken up tomorrow at another meeting.

Meanwhile, Chairman La Follette of the manufactures committee concluded a speech begun yesterday in support of the bill he and Senator Costigan (D. Colo.), are sponsoring to give $375,000,000 to the unemployed through the states.

La Follette Warns Senate "If you don't meet the issue now you will meet it in the campaign of 1932," the young Independent Republican from Wisconsin warned the senate.

Asserting the need for relief "has gone beyond the bounds of safety," La Follette said social progress of the last 50 years would be "wiped out" unless the federal government came to the aid of local communities.

Direct Relief Necessary He denounced efforts to substitute a public works program for direct relief as "attempts to sidetrack the issue."

A public works program could not be put into operation soon enough, he added.

Senator Tydings (D. Md.), suggested that some senators want more "concrete evidence from governors of states that they are unable to provide the funds necessary." While taking no part in the debate so far, administration leaders were maintaining their opposition to the direct relief bill. A poll of the Republicans by administration supporters showed 28 against the bill and 14 in favor of it.

Funds Near Exhaustion Testimony that unemployment relief funds in 11 large eastern and middle western cities will not last another six months was given a house labor sub-committee today by Helen Hall of the national federation of settlements.

Urging federal relief in the form of the La Follette-Costigan bill, Miss Hall presented the result of a personal survey in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Toledo, Columbus, Cleveland, Akron, Buffalo, Syracuse, St. Louis and Madison, Wis.

"In only one city did I receive a report that the unemployment relief funds would last as long as June 1," she testified. "In most cities exhaustion was anticipated in from one to two months."

Board Sees Revision of Prohibition Act as Aid in Fund Shortage

CLINTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Adequate relief from an acute shortage of county funds can be obtained only through revision of the prohibition laws, members of the Clinton county board of supervisors believe.

The officials expressed the opinion that tax revenues made possible through the lawful sale of beer and light wines is the only practical solution of the problem.

"Let us sell beer and we will have plenty of tax money for everything," Chairman Robert Witte of the board said.

Board members expressed belief that the shortage of funds would become more acute year after year unless some relief is forthcoming.

Confide in Fairfield Banks FAIRFIELD, (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants association at a joint meeting unanimously expressed their confidence in the Fairfield banks and approved a plan proposed by the banks limiting withdrawals by depositors for the present.

Grand Jury Indicts Four Men Held as Auto Cattle Thieves

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 2 (AP)—Four alleged cattle rustlers who operated with automobiles and motor trucks instead of horses were indicted today by the Kane county grand jury.

The four men, Charles Boone, Tom Boone, John Fisher and Ray Somers, all of St. Charles, Ill., were charged with stealing hogs and sheep, as well as cattle.

They made slightly forays over a wide territory, authorities said, hauling the stolen livestock to markets throughout northern Illinois.

Self Salesmanship

LAST night 102 students of the University of Iowa became alumni, through the process of attending a convocation and receiving a degree from the school.

After all, there is a complete similarity between finding a position and selling an article over a store counter.

The same applies to jobhunting. Finding work is a matter of selling one's self to a prospective employer.

But the graduate, more often than not, makes a concession immediately.

Why not, then, establish a course in self salesmanship as an all university senior requirement, partly under the direction of the college of commerce, which already has such courses from the business standpoint.

May Mussolini Beware

THAT Mussolini is a powerful leader, and that he is making world history, no one will deny.

Mussolini recently called on Italy's physicians to discourage women's desire for a thin figure as weakening the race.

Mussolini is nearly a fanatic as far as Italy's birth rate is concerned—he is ready to offer any sort of reward for the birth of husky bambinos—and if matronly-looking women have more and better children, he would have all the women of Italy plump and casting that "future shadow."

A trip to the United States might help Il Duce change his mind about the relation of plump women and good mothers.

Mussolini may dictate Italy down with an iron hand, he may hold to much of Europe, but if he thinks he can tell Italian women to lose their girlish figures, he's going to meet his Waterloo as certainly as did Napoleon.

Auto Tests

A TOY AUTO on a miniature landscape, the chassis and driving controls of a full sized auto, and intricate apparatus to record time and errors—these are the main elements in the driver's testing apparatus developed by A. R. Lauer, associate professor of psychology at Iowa State college at Ames.

The purpose of the device is to reveal some of the weaknesses and faults of drivers so that they may correct some of their faults or make allowances for their weaknesses, thus helping reduce the number of auto accidents which result in large life and property losses each year.

The driver sits in the seat of the auto and works the controls as when driving on the road. In front of him on the miniature landscape with a road wandering across it a toy car is guided by means of a mechanism connected with the steering apparatus.

An apparatus records the number of times the driver is off the road, the total length of time off the road, and the total length of time required for the trip.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Well, unless the sword is still mightier than the pen, it looks like the big war is nearly over without a U. S. marine being scratched.

And it looks like Japan won't get much of a chance to use its 70-odd brand new fighting planes that it received from an American firm within the last month or two.

The American firm, probably, will be the biggest winner, although if the demands contained in the most recent of the three strong notes from the neutral powers to Japan and China are carried out, China may get something out of it.

That would be a boon to Japan at the same time, because once the numerous war lords in the Chinese provinces are quieted down and the semblance of a centralized government is established at Nanking or Shanghai, business will get back to normal and Japanese cotton mills once more will hum with the activity of Chinese laborers.

Aside from the note of irony contained in dispatches from Geneva that the first world disarmament conference was held up for a time yesterday because the league council had to decide what to do about the war in China, there seemed to be no progress on either side.

Quite interesting is the book by Hector C. Bywater, titled "The Great Pacific War" and subtitled "A history of the American-Japanese campaign of 1931-33," in which the author, writing back in 1925, visions a great war between the two nations, from which the United States emerged victorious after enormous expenditure and loss of shipping trade.

The events in the book reveal remarkable similarity to the present situation, except that in the book they start in January, 1931. Based as they are on actual observations at the time of writing, they still seem not altogether impossible.

"Japan, having definitely resolved to unsheath the sword, was in no mood to draw back at the eleventh hour. Her reply to the last American note was curt, and while professing peaceful sentiments, reiterated the demand that no reinforcements of any kind, whether of ships, troops, or material, should be dispatched to the American stations west of Hawaii."

On March 12, the author has Japan completely overwhelm the American naval forces at Manila and conquer the Philippines. But by January, 1933, the American forces finally win out against heavy odds; China, the country for whose control Japan had risked so much, is now a completely independent power, and Japan completely subdued, in the same sense that Germany was subdued after the World War.

Oxford Man Contributes to Law Review

Says Constitution Owes Success to British Background

Sir William Searle Holdsworth, Vinerian professor of English law at Oxford university, has contributed the leading article to the last quarterly issue of the Iowa Law Review which appeared yesterday.

Writing on "Conventions of the eighteenth century constitution" Sir Holdsworth advances the opinion that the stability and success of the American Constitution is due in part to the fact that its framers adopted and adapted large parts of the British constitution as it existed between the years 1760 and 1787, since the conventions of that constitution was directed to the maintenance of a system of divided powers and of checks and balances.

Legal Historian
Recognized as one of the greatest existing Anglo-American legal historians, Sir Holdsworth is the author of "History of English Law" in nine volumes, and of "The History of Anglo-American Law." He addressed the Iowa Bar association while on tour of this country in 1927, and at that time also visited Prof Percy Bordwell of the college of law.

The recent issue of The Review also contains articles by Prof. Maurice Hitchcock Merrill, University of Nebraska, Robert Willcuts Miller, Marion, Ind., and Andrew Judson Kohn, Orange City. Professor Merrill presents the first installment of a continued commentary on the legal aspects of the Iowa Workmen's compensation act, beginning with its purpose, nature, and constitutionality.

Continued Article
Mr. Miller begins a continued article on the preparatory work in the interpretation of treaties, part "A" dealing with arbitration tribunals and claims commissions and part "B" discussing the world court. Mr. Kohn, who is a member of the law firm Van Oosterhout and Kohn, Orange City, writes on the antecedent debt and the sale of mortgage of personality.

The Iowa Law Review is published four times a year by an editorial board of students and faculty members of the college of law. Of the 1,300 copies printed about 700 are subscribed for by Iowa lawyers and the remainder sent to law libraries and schools throughout the United States.

Phases of Iowa Law
The last issue of the Review, besides the articles mentioned, notes on various phases of Iowa law, such as the validity of a state tax on gasoline sold to airplane traffic or the liability of a married woman who signs a note with her husband. Another item is discussion of recent amendments and revisions of Iowa statutes.

Comments on recent cases, a survey of judicial administration in Iowa, and book reviews by professors of various universities complete the contents of the Review.

The associate student editors of the publication are: James E. Carroll, president; Raymond J. Mischler, note editor; E. Marshall Thomas, administration editor; Loyd E. Roberts, Comments editor; George J. Balluff, statute editor; Morris B. Dewey, Leroy J. Ehrhardt, Harold Gilbert, Leland O. Graham, Laurence M. Jones, John E. Miller, Paul Nye, George W. Olcott, Ernest E. Stone, Philip A. Walker, Jack R. Voltersten, and Bailey C. Webber.

Mild Temperatures May Cause Failure of Ice Crop in Iowa

DES MOINES, Feb. 3 (AP)—While welcome to the average citizen the recent low temperatures may prevent a crop failure, believe officials of the state department of agriculture.

It is the ice crop that is in danger, they said today, almost continuous mild temperatures through December and January having left almost no ice on the rivers and lakes in the state suitable for harvest.

A period of clear weather with sub-zero temperatures was regarded as necessary to assure an ample crop of ice. The department also was advised that the ice prospect in the north-central states is the poorest in years.

History Conference Subject
And if you don't believe it, you needn't—for these bits of historical discovery rest only on the authority of a selection from the 9,000 Iowa high school students who took university academic meet examinations last spring in United States history.

Some of their teachers will hear about flaws of this kind during the history conference Friday afternoon from Prof. E. F. Lindquist of the college of education.

Professor Lindquist cites the results from a sample of 1,000 students in 375 Iowa high schools as evidence of the teaching reform possible from analysis of academic meet answers. Altogether 60,000 students took examinations in all subjects last year.

Too Many Parrots
While the history answers showed some weakness on facts, more students were able to supply names, dates, and events from a list of suggestions than were able to use such facts in problem questions, Professor Lindquist says. Apparently there is too much memorizing and not enough thinking in history classrooms.

For example he pointed out that 52 per cent of a representative 1,000 knew who invented the electric light and the airplane, while only 16 per cent correctly answered that the Philippine Islands are not independent.

Then there was the Louisiana purchase question. Why did Thomas Jefferson favor the purchase? Of 1,000 students 360 guessed that he feared Napoleon would sell it to Spain, whose possession of it for the previous 20 years had caused U. S. statesmen no gray hairs; 180 guessed that he feared Napoleon would sell it to Great Britain who would thereby be contributing to her enemy's war treasury for territory that she might conquer before she finished with France anyhow.

Enlightened Public Opinion?
If as adult citizens these high school juniors and seniors vote with as much discrimination as they showed in their choice of answers to current events questions—but just read their wrong answers on world peace:

Fifty-three per cent believed the League of Nations virtually an alliance of the so-called "allied" powers of the World war; eight per cent that it maintains a large army to enforce its decrees; 14 per cent that it has all but abolished land armaments; four per cent that it occupies the same position as the Vatican state.

Ten per cent believed the most effective contribution of the United States to world peace since the World war has been the cancellation of war debts, 14 per cent that it has been an adherence to the covenant of the League of Nations, 23 per cent the neutralization of the Panama canal.

Maybe Teacher's to Blame
A suspicion that part of the trouble lies in the methods of teaching and of training teachers will be reinforced by the paper of Prof. Elmer Ellis on that subject. This University of Missouri man, an Iowa alumnus, believes in "methods" courses more specific in design and in a college major program corresponding to the social studies curriculum high schools expect to be taught.

This means attention to sociology, economics, and political science as well as history—as in the new social studies major plan supervised at the University of Iowa by Prof. Howard R. Anderson, who will lead a discussion on the teacher training problem following the talk by Professor Ellis, to conclude the Friday afternoon session.

Engineers to Inspect Shops

Fifty Students Will Visit Tri-Cities as Class Work Background

Fifty junior and senior mechanical engineering students will make a tour of various shops in the Tri-Cities tomorrow as a background for problems to be studied this semester.

The group will first visit the Servus rubber company in Rock Island, Ill., a plant which manufactures from 12,000 to 20,000 rubber shoes a day, where they will be shown all the steps in the process from crude rubber to the finished product.

Power Company
The second part of the trip will be to the People's power company plant in Moline, a modern 20 year old plant and gas works. Unusual construction welding will be shown the group at the Rock Island arsenal. Extremely accurate and high grade finishing by the lapping process will be demonstrated here.

In Davenport the students will visit the Mississippi hotel, where the modern refrigeration and air condition plant of the hotel will be shown.

A modern power plant installation will be shown at the Riverside power plant, about three miles east of Bettendorf.

A dinner will be given for the group at the Chamber of Commerce in Davenport, followed by a lecture by Frank M. Curtis of Milwaukee, Wis., on the latest developments in faster milling with tungsten and tantalum carbide. Mr. Curtis is research engineer for the Kearney and Trecker corporation.

Arranges Trip
The students are members of Prof. Ralph M. Barnes' class in industrial plant design and equipment.

Professor Barnes, who is the vice chairman of the tri-cities section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, made the arrangements for the trip. The group will be met at Rock Island by a delegation of the tri-cities section of the organization.

"This will be the second trip of a series. A third one will be made later.

Steel Treating Meet

Louis J. Waldauer, instructor in the chemistry department, Arthur O'Brien and John Fielding, both instructors in the mechanical engineering department, D. C. McCann, of West Liberty, and Glen Dooley, G. of Nevada, Mo., left Iowa City yesterday to attend a meeting of the American Society for Steel Treating at Davenport.

The speaker at the meeting will be G. A. Prade, of the Claude S. Gordon company of Chicago. His topic will be "X-ray in industry."

Violently Parted

Believed to have been kidnapped by mistake, the six months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aguilar, of Los Angeles, is the object of an extensive search by police of Mexico City. Torn from her mother's arms while sitting in a public park of the Mexican capital, the child was abducted by two men. Authorities are convinced that the kidnapers mistook the Aguilar baby for that of a Spanish woman residing in the same apartment and are confident the child will be restored unharmed. Photo shows mother and baby.

"She suffered an illusion—her husband testified no child was born—that she was not a mother. She named her mythical baby 'John Robert Judd.'"

Once, Dr. Wright said, Mrs. Judd saw a woman at the clinic, where she was employed, with a baby she thought was her own. She followed the woman, and watched her for opportunity to take the child.

Afraid of People
"She thinks the people in this court want to kill her," Dr. Wright said. "Once she slid far down in her chair because she thought some one was going to shoot her through the courtroom window."

Hereditary insanity has been testified to previously by her father, mother and others.

Western Reserve Professor Outlines Four Principles to Regulate Slang in Children

AMES, Feb. 2 (AP)—Parents need have no concern about their children's use of slang if they remember four principles, Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers of Western Reserve university said today.

Dr. Myers, author and head of the division of parent education at Western Reserve, spoke at a parent education conference at Iowa State college.

He outlined his advice to parents in these words:

Outlines Advice
"Provided you and I cultivate in ourselves accurate and varied speech; provided also our children are never lectured to or scolded about their speech at home or at school; provided further they have been read to from choice literature from their early childhood and have learned to enjoy reading many good books, and, provided, lastly, our family has a happy atmosphere in which we enjoy one another's companionship, we need have no concern about the evil effects of slang."

Emotional Expression
Slang he called a means of emotional expression and relief. Such phrases often contribute to a youngster's temporary comfort. "By its aid he has been able to feel for the moment socially adequate, since he was able to say something at a time when silence would have cost him pain," Dr. Myers said.

"A wise parent, as a rule, does not correct a child's speech. If he does it at all he does so after the child, saying what he wants to say, has ended. The parent will then merely repeat the correct form quietly without suggestion of rebuke or that it was something greatly to be ashamed of," he said.

Speech habits were discussed at some length in Dr. Myers' address on "Building personality at home."

Family Security
"Best personality growth," he said, "is by way of family security, early habits of independence in the child, physical and social courage, ability to face reality, enjoyment of successes and emotional poise, through healthy infant inhibitions, good early routine habits, abundant normal play by the child with many other children of his age, ample opportunities for expression and creation in a home where the child is understood and respected as an individual different from all other children." Detriments to growth of personality, Dr. Myers said, include anger of parents at children's mistakes, interruptions when children are speaking, discourtesy towards children among elders, taking children for granted, and incorrect ways of correcting faulty habits in children.

Scannell Leads Irish Attack on Local Opponents

By HARRY BURRELL
In a rough and tumble game, the local St. Patrick's quintet downed the University high school cagers 20 to 12 at the Irish gym last night.

With both teams presenting tight defenses, the scoring was done mainly on follow in shots. The height advantage was with the Shamrocks who counted but twice from outside the foul line.

Scannell, with four baskets, and Pinney, with two baskets and a free throw, led the scoring for the Irish. Wyjack was high point man for the river school.

Megan, Glenn Troublesome
The work of Megan and Glenn, St. Pat's guards, in breaking up all play under the basket proved to be the Kistlermen's biggest trouble. Unable to get set for a single shot, the small University high forwards were forced to shoot off balance repeatedly and met with little success.

Wyjack and Bill continued to be the best performers for the Blue and White although no one man stood out last night. The entire team, strengthened by the return of Ed Fairchild, showed marked improvement.

Blue, White Take Lead
University high jumped into a 4 to 0 lead but could not hold the pace and held the short end of the 8 to 4 count at the quarter. St. Patrick's were never headed after Scannell started dropping them in midway in the first period and led 9 to 6 at the half. The most determined threat made by the losers came in the third quarter when baskets by Meltzer and Fairchild made the count 11 to 10. St. Pat's rallied and led 14 to 11 at the end of the period.

The Shamrocks allowed the Blue and White one point in the last period while scoring six.

City Juniors in 16-14 Win Over Kalona

By "BUDDY" CARTER
(Staff Writer, The Daily Iowan)

KALONA, Feb. 2.—Coming to Kalona to play a game scheduled for Feb. 21, Iowa City junior high basketball team went home with first place in the Junior League still theirs. Kalona was defeated for the second time during the season, this time by a score of 16 to 14.

The visitors displayed a good defensive game through which Kalona could not penetrate except for a short lapse in the third quarter. Runney was the outstanding man for the home team.

The first half was slow and ended in a score of 8 to 3 for the Iowa Citizens. Jirst started the second half fireworks by putting in a free throw. Schwartzman made a field goal. Mason looped one for the leaders.

Abrent made a free toss. A. Snyder, Schwartzman, and then Herring sank baskets to end the third quarter with a score of 14 to 10.

Scoring what was the eventual winning point A. Snyder sank a free throw try. Schwartzman sank another goal. To close the scoring for the locals, Baconer took one from the center circle. In the waning seconds of the game, Joe Harris was fouled and made his shot.

Iowa Wesleyan Five Edges Out 27-26 Win Over Parsons Quintet

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 2 (AP)—Iowa Wesleyan and Parsons college cagers battled evenly for 40 minutes to-night, the former, with more opportunities from the foul line, emerging the winner 27 to 26. The first half was deliberate with no count from the field until four minutes before the intermission, but the second session proceeded at a torrid pace.

Starting the final half with the count knotted at 9 all, both teams fought desperately and five players were ejected on fouls. The lead changed hands several times, but Hill's basket 20 seconds before the end was the last score.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

After the little spat several weeks ago in which it was reported that Frank J. Murray of Marquette university planned on visiting the University of Iowa campus with an eye to the coaching vacancy, subsequent denial of an appointment here by Director E. H. Lauer, and then a statement from Murray that he has been misquoted in the first dispatch—the Marquette mentor will be here today as the guest of the athletic board.

If records are the most important consideration, Murray will become a standout prospect. In his 10 years at the Milwaukee college he has won 66 grid games, lost 16, and tied 4—or to be more specific, teams under his direction have made those figures.

Murray's willingness to engage any team he could schedule is a marked point in his favor. Many of Marquette's games have been with inter-collegiate opponents, most of them eastern eleven. It will be recalled that the Golden Avalanche spilled Iowa in 1930 at Milwaukee, 7 to 0. In three of Murray's seasons Marquette was undefeated.

Hack Wilson, the runty little ex-Cub outfielder and once home-run king of major league baseball, is all "set" to play with the Brooklyn Robins or Dodgers (whichever you prefer). Because he chided 56 homers in 1930, Hack has been carrying a fancy price tag.

However, he seemed satisfied to sign a contract with Brooklyn at $16,500 for the season, exactly half of what he received from the Cubs last year. Hack should be content with his salary. It is large enough to keep him in the class of baseball's highest-paid performers. The amount suits him above the class of the ordinary player, who does well to get board and pullman berths and $5,000 a season.

The Robin management figures the return on its investment in Wilson in his drawing attraction and home runs. It is doubtful if the dividends will be very large. Hack's popularity was confined to Chicago and its environs; outside it wasn't much. Whether he can still smack homers is a question for debate.

Ed Break apparently has given up all hope of becoming an eligible basketball player here. He played with the Alberts quintet at Cedar Rapids last night. Pepper Martin, Pres. Sam Bredson of the St. Louis Cardinals says, will be better than ever next summer. The National Boxing association's ban on Jack Dempsey lasted two full days. Jack's back on the exhibition trail again. Hopes to make a quarter of a million between now and June.

Gym Team Primes for Season Opener

Old Gold gymnasts are putting their noses to the grindstone this week in a series of field workouts before the meet with Minnesota Saturday.

At the beginning of the season it looked as though Iowa's gym team would be weak, because of the loss of veterans and the acquisition of inexperienced men, but the past three weeks have been encouraging to Coach Albert Baumgardner. The men have been working hard and the results indicate a closely contested match between the two Big Ten rivals.

Peterson's Gift Tosses Margin of Victory for A.T.O.

PLEDGE LEAGUE FINAL
Sigma Nu 21; Phi Kappa Psi 8.
"A" LEAGUE RESULT
Alpha Tau Omega 22; Delta Chi 21. (Overtime.)

By HAROLD MITCHELL
Displaying a defense that held their opponents scoreless from the field for two periods, the Sigma Nu frosh, winners of section 1, buried the section 2 winners, Phi Kappa Psi, under a 21 to 8 score to annex the championship of the Pledge league in the final game at the field house last night.

Alpha Tau Omega pulled the unexpected and flashed some speedy basketball to nose out the favorite Delta Chi team in an overtime contest, 22 to 21, to start the round robin schedule of the "A" league. The other game scheduled for the evening, Theta Tau vs. Phi Kappa Psi, was postponed until Saturday afternoon.

The Sigma Nus encountered little competition in winning the pledge statute. They led 6 to 1 at the end of the first period and increased their advantage to 14 to 3 in the second stanza. Substitutes were used in the final period, allowing the Phi Psis to score their only two field goals of the game.

Scoring was divided on the Sigma Nu team with Eymann out in front with 6 points. Burton, his forward mate, played a nice floor game, and the two worked well together.

With Kohl and Taylor not registered in the university this semester, the Phi Psis were forced to present a new lineup. Drake, playing his first game for them, was the stand-out player on the team.

The starting lineup: Sigma Nu—Burton and Eymann, forwards; Vasey, center; Morgan and Thornton, guards.

Phi Kappa Psi—Wolfe and Reed, forwards; Jones, center; Drake and Benson, guards.

A.T.O. Five Determined
The Delta Chi-A.T.O. fracas was much faster than the pledge final. The A.T.O.s were a determined team when they stepped on the hardwood, and they played with an aggressive ease that won them the game with but seconds remaining in the overtime session. They also came from behind in the regular playing time to knot the count at 17 on a free toss by Peterson just before the final whistle. It was another free toss by Peterson in the extra period that won the game as each team connected for two field goals during the wild three minutes.

The first period was slow with both teams playing erratic ball, the A.T.O.s assuming a 7 to 2 lead. Delta Chi's three basketeers, Schantz, Bickley and Wilson, located the basket in the second period and brought the tally to 15-9 in their favor.

Delta Chi Letup
A slight letup by the Delta Chi in the middle of the final session proved to be their downfall. Their lead gradually vanished as the A.T.O.s put on their Garrison finish.

Peterson, A.T.O. forward, was high scorer of the game, having a total of 8 points. Holliday, his teammate, and Schantz each had 7 points.

The starting lineup: A.T.O.—Andree and Holliday, forwards; Peterson, center; Barber and Rule, guards. Delta Chi—Schantz and Bickley, forwards; Wilson, center; Blythe and Kriz, guards.

University's Benefit Athletic Show Date Set for February 17

The date for the charity fund show promoted in the interests of the unemployed of Iowa City, has been set for Feb. 17, Ernest G. Schroeder announced yesterday.

In addition to the finals of intramural boxing and wrestling tournaments, various other events will be held. All necessary platforms and equipment will be set up by the American Legion.

Charles Kennett has been appointed chairman of the committee representing the American Legion, and expects to complete all arrangements within a few days.

Iowa Quintet Prepares for Chicago Tilt

Mentor Seeks Steadier, Smoother Play by Sophomores

Smoother play, greater steadiness, and tighter guarding are current goals of Coach Rollie Williams for his University of Iowa basketball team.

Chicago makes its first visit to the field house in three seasons Saturday evening, then the Iowans are scheduled to meet the second-place Minnesota team at Minneapolis Monday.

Against Notre Dame Monday, Coach Williams used a four-fifths sophomore team for most of the game. The quintet, in general, was "up in the air" as the powerful Irish offensive functioned for a dozen field goals.

New Guard Available
Now the Hawkeye coach hopes to improve the guard situation by the addition of Ben Selzer, a sophomore from Passaic, N. J. who became eligible at the start of the season.

Selzer may replace Douglas Filkins or alternate with him, leaving the veteran Mike Riegert at the other position.

It is likely that two of the other men who won eligibility Feb. 1, Parker Bennett, center, and Guelder Krumboltz, forward, will work on the first team. As they become accustomed to intercollegiate competition, this pair will prove increasing valuable—Bennett using his 6 feet 5 inches of height to capture the ball on rebounds and win the tipoff and Krumboltz capitalizing on his talent for accurate shooting.

Moffitt Invaluable
Lack of condition soon will cease to bother Riegert, the only letter man in the starting lineup. With only a few days of practice, he performed well against Notre Dame.

Dubuque University Loses to Simpson

DUBUQUE, Feb. 2 (AP)—The Simpson college quintet made it two in a row from Dubuque's Iowa conference teams tonight, defeating the University of Dubuque, 32 to 27. The visitors took the lead early and ran the count to 17-8 at the half.

Liddcoat, whose stellar play kept his mates out in front of the Columbia five last night, repeated tonight by feeding in seven baskets and a free throw. Ferry led for Dubuque with 8 points.

Hawketts Lose, Win

Washington of Cedar Rapids defeated the Little Hawks last week 27 to 19. The Parlor City team's big first half margin gave them the victory. Schneider of Washington was high point man with 14 counters.

The frosh-soph game, played on Monday, turned into a surprise 15 to 13 win for the Iowa Citizens, tumbling Washington into a first place tie.

After starting out slowly, Dubuque came back to trounce Grant 42 to 23. Dubuque won the preliminary by a 17 to 7 count. Jackson, who

Coach Dismisses 3 Members of Drake U. Basketball Team

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—Coach William Boelter today announced the dismissal of three players from the Drake university basketball squad for "insubordination and infraction of training rules."

The three dismissed were George Ross of Atlantic, Harold Jenks of Leon and Stanley Sebastian of Chicago. All have been considerable action with the Bulldogs this year.

Track Honor Roll Includes 3 Hawkeyes

Gordon, Weldon, Nelson; Also Relay Quartet

Performances in 1931 competition won places on the National Collegiate track and field honor roll for three University of Iowa field event men and one sprint relay team.

Edward L. Gordon, broad and high jumps; Elmo Nelson and L. D. Weldon, javelin throw; and the half mile relay team of Gordon Lagerquist, Everett Ferguson, Robert Adamson, and Paul Conway have achieved the recognition.

Gordon Best in Broad Jump
No broad jumper in the United States leaped farther than Gordon under record conditions. The Negro, who has completed his intercollegiate career but who is training for the Olympic trials, cleared 25 feet 4 3/8 inches at the Kansas relays. His high jump mark of 6 feet 4 inches, made at the Minnesota relays, was excelled by only six men.

Relay Quartet Third
The relay quartet, fastest ever to represent the university over the half mile route, was timed in 1:27 5/10 at the Kansas relays. Only Kansas, a second faster, and Michigan, more speedy by a half second, had better times than the Hawkeyes.

Among Western conference universities, Iowa shared honors with Illinois and Michigan, each having five places on the honor roll.

Iowa Tank Team Prepares for First Meet; Poloists Drill

With three days of grace before the first dual meet of the season with Wisconsin Saturday, the varsity tanksters are focusing their intensive training on passes in preparation for the polo game in connection with the meet, and on continued time pacing, rounding out their program of training for the competition distance events.

Ice Harvest Doubtful
DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—Continued mild weather has delayed formation of ice on the Des Moines river, so that ice will probably not be harvested in Des Moines this year. W. E. Kooker, vice president and secretary of the Central Service company said.

BASKETBALL RESULTS
Iowa Wesleyan 27; Parsons 28.
Simpson 32; Dubuque U. 27.
Indiana 38; Xavier U. 16.
Pittsburgh 31; Carnegie Tech 26.
Detroit 36; De Paul 25.
Georgia 41; Clemson 26.
Ohio Wesleyan 33; Denison 31.

New Old Gold
A veteran of six years in basketball, Don Cameron, of Albion, is advancing rapidly to the fore with the frosh cagers.

Cameron played with the Albion high school team last season and with the Albion junior college for two years. He has not confined his ability to the hardwood floor, but has performed creditably on the gridiron and the cinder path, not to mention the tennis court.

An imposing list of nine letters testifies to his abilities in the various athletics: two in football in high school, three in basketball; two in football in junior college; two in basketball and one in tennis. Letters for track were not awarded, so he has none for his work on the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the quarter and half-mile relays.

In football, Cameron played the position of halfback on the high school team, and end on the college team. Basketball saw him as forward in high school and center in college.

The relay teams on which Cameron ran placed first in the Black Hawk conference, and the first for fourth place in the 220-yard dash. Cameron expects to don a first baseman's glove on the frosh diamond in the spring. He is a commerce major.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Because of an arm injury suffered by Young Corbett, his 10 round bout with David Velasco of Mexico, scheduled for Friday, today was postponed indefinitely.

The Gay Bandit of the Border

By TOM GILL

Copyright 1931, by International Magazine Co., Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
Young and handsome Ted Radcliffe arrives at Verdi, a Mexican border town, as the search for "El Coyote," the notorious masked bandit, is at its height. "El Coyote" avenges the outrages perpetrated by the wealthy and powerful Paco Morales against the peons. Ted learns from Bob Harkness, his late father's friend, that Morales was responsible for Radcliffe's father's death, but Bob urges him not to make an enemy of Morales as he has other plans. Ted is attracted to Morales' beautiful niece, Adela. "El Coyote" sends his lieutenant to urge the ranchers to join him in overthrowing Morales.

CHAPTER XIII

Absolute hush fell. From out of the darkness sounded the clink of a horse's hoofs on the flagstones. Slowly a powerful white horse emerged from among the shadows, and a rider, masked and muffled in a heavy cloak, rode into the patio. Twice he circled around the death-like silence, then raised a gloved hand high in silent greeting.

The spell of silence snapped. Like a single voice rose the great deep chorus of men's voices, shouting well welcome to this leader of the border band. The night thundered with the sound, the little cantina trembled, and far out over the desert rolled the cheers of these men of the Mexican border, pledging life and loyalty to the unknown leader. For long minutes the shouts echoed and redoubled, filling the patio, rising, it seemed, to the very stars; then silently the masked man turned his horse and like some incorporeal shadow faded back into the velvet night.

Slowly the multitude grew silent and turned once more expectant faces to the speaker.

His voice held an exultant ring. "Men of the border, you have answered. Go back now to your ranches and haciendas, be of good courage, and wait for word. No man can make slaves of a free people. Go back to your homes and be very sure that each day brings nearer the time when the clouds of Morales' power will be forever scattered."

He raised his arm in farewell and rode out into the desert.

Dawn was touching the mesa with silver when a solitary horseman dismounted and hurried inside the hacienda of Paco Morales.

At his desk the old Spaniard raised his eyes. "What news, Jito?" he asked.

"They held a meeting. Two of my men were there. They are making ready to attack."

"Attack? Those insolent dogs."

"Si. They say they are tired of defending. Soon they will strike. But my greatest news is this—El Coyote himself was there."

"Caramba! What did he look like? Was he recognized?"

Jito hesitated. "No. He rode his great white horse. He spoke no word, they say, and yet—again he hesitated—'It may be we shall still find out my uncle.'"

"You have an idea?"

"A thought only, not worth the speaking. But be sure of this, my uncle, we must end El Coyote's life or your power over the land is lost forever."

Morales nodded. "Life is a matter of stern necessities. He shrugged his shoulders. "After all, there are so many lives in the world."

Ted and Bob were leaving for the great fiesta of Paco Morales—the Fiesta of the Rains.

From the foothills to the north horizon all the desert world had burst into bloom that April day.

"They held a meeting. Two of my men were there. They are making ready to attack."

A soft haze touched the Mexican hills with the promise of returning spring, while slowly the two men jolted over the rutted road.

"At the end of an hour Bob pointed. 'Beyond that edge of the mesa is the hacienda of our all-powerful Don Paco Morales,' he said.

Radcliffe threw away his cigarette. "And at the rate we're crawling it will be Sunday a week before we get there."

"Try to beat twenty miles an hour over this Mexican cow trail and see how many springs you have left. Besides, why all this gesture of impetuosity? You're being blessed with my company and the world's sunshine. Why so eager for the journey's end? Any special reason?"

"Ted laughed. 'You're worse than the major's wife with your genial way of inferring possibilities. Should I blush becomingly and say, 'Don Bob, I have a confession, I'm longing to see the lady Adela?'"

"Maybe. And maybe your smoke screen is fooling me completely. It's a question."

Ted's face grew thoughtful. "Well, part of the truth is I'm eager to see Morales again. It may be interesting to be the guest of the man who ruined my father and changed my life as profoundly as he did."

"Morales will give no sign of all that."

"Suppose I make him?"

"By talking about it. What would you say if I ask his advice?"

Bob looked searchingly at Radcliffe, then nodded. "Worth trying. But remember, you're dealing with one of the keenest brains of Mexico. Life is a game of chess to Morales. I think he could easily beat both of us at intrigue. But talk to him. You may gain something, perhaps."

"And in my present condition it's hard to see how I could lose anything in the world today—except," Radcliffe added in a lower voice, "your friendship. I could never afford to lose that. I haven't forgotten how much that's meant to me."

Don Bob looked at the tanned face and the clear steady eyes. "What a precious youth you is," he said at last. "Youth and courage." After a moment he added, "That's my manner of saying that I'm proud of the way you've taken it all."

"There was no other way."

"Oh yes. You might have been bitter. You might have played the martyr. Or you might have sworn revenge."

"And what makes you think I haven't plans for revenge?"

"Have you?"

The little car bumped along for a time before the boy answered. "When I listened to Price I felt I'd like to break the power of that octopus—to send him out penniless and divide his million acres among the peons. I'd like to grind his chief bully's face into this sand. Just now it would give me a lot of satisfaction to do those things. Is that revenge, Don Bob?"

"Well, it's a distinctly unfriendly feeling toward one's host. Also, it sounds a bit like El Coyote's ambition. But look ahead of you."

There, just before them, where the road turned at the edge of the mesa, loomed, a tall granite cross. It cast its long shadow across the road, standing out dark and austere against the blue vault of the sky.

The only sign of man's handiwork there on the rim of the desert. For a time Bob's eyes were fixed in meditation. "The Cross of the Conquerors," he murmured at last. "It is the symbol of man's life, that cross. Hundreds of years ago it was erected by those fighting Spaniards who made a nation of this country. No one knows what it commemorates. There was an inscription once, but winds and sand have obliterated it."

"What is that long slab at the base?"

"It covers an empty vault—empty except for shifting sands. That, too, is part of its mystery. In the days when the peons were owned as slaves against the blue vault of the sky, a legend grew up that this vault was to be the resting place of some awfully liberated of the people. Well, they were liberated, so far as laws go, but their lot hasn't greatly changed—and the vault still remains empty."

Bob Crashes During Drill for Olympics

Second German Sled to Smash; 4 Men Injured

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—Hospital authorities tonight announced that Albert Brehme, 27, brakeman on the German Olympic four man sled that crashed through a curve on the run today, was in a dangerous condition with a fractured skull, broken right wrist, severely injured spine and lacerations of the face.

Captain Fritz Grau, pilot of the crew, was "seriously" hurt, hospital authorities said. The 37 year old Berlin radio manufacturer suffered fractures of the right shoulder and hip, concussion of the brain and lacerations.

Two Others Injured
Two team mates were less seriously injured and were said to be in no danger. Hellmuth Hoppmann suffered severe leg lacerations, possible internal injuries and lacerations.

Rudolf Hrotki, masseur for the team and a substitute today, strained his back.

The accident was the second to the German sleds and left only Hans Kilian to pilot the last of the sleds that were considered most dangerous to American supremacy in the winter Olympics starting Thursday. Captain Werner Zahn broke his left arm and Dr. Mehlhorn fractured a hand when the first German sled crashed Sunday.

Others Practice
The smash-up today, most spectacular and serious in the two year history of the slide, occurred at Shady Corner, a vertical ice turn 28 feet high. Grau apparently lost control going into the curve at a speed estimated at 70 miles an hour. He crashed through the top and was flung with his mates 150 feet into a deep ravine.

Despite steadily falling snow, all bob runners continued practice. Reto Capadrut, young Swiss driver, tore 10 feet off the top of the same turn but stayed on the course. Two Belgians tumbled off a bob-sled in Shady and the sled finished the trip alone, taking all curves perfectly.

Hawk Track Squad Holds Time Trials

Iowa tracksters ran through time trials at three quarter distances yesterday afternoon at the field house in preparation for the opening meet Feb. 13. Weight and field men will have their tryouts today.

The only regular events run off were the 60 yard dash and the 60 yard high hurdles, both of which were won by Capt. George Saling. He went over the high sticks in 7.6 seconds and did the sprint in 6.4 seconds.

Miles Jackson took second in the hurdles and LaRue Thurston was third. In the sprints Sidney Dean placed second while Calvin Hoskinson and Gordon Lagerquist finished close third and fourth respectively.

Leo Campisi won the three quarter mile run in easy fashion over Milo Mitvalsky and Robert McElroy who finished in the order named.

The 650 yard run was won by Richard Bott in 1 minute 33.9 seconds. He was closely followed by Merle Naylor and Milo Mitvalsky.

Eric Gunderson scored an easy win in the one and a half mile race, winning over Bertram Metcalf in 7 minutes, 23 seconds.

The 330 yard dash went to Gordon Lagerquist in 33.2 seconds. Calvin Hoskinson, LaRue Thurston and Robert Cook followed him to the finish.

Study Shows Child Reform Costs Triple of Education Expense

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—The cost of reforming a child is three times the cost of educating one, Secretary Charles F. Pye of the Iowa State Teachers' association has concluded.

A study showed that cost of Iowa's public schools ranges from $96 to $123 per student a year, he said, while the per capita cost of the Eldora and Mitchellville industrial schools is from $372 to $478 a year.

Howard Knight to Speak at Banquet

Howard Knight of New York, secretary of the national conference of social work, will speak at the annual banquet of Iowa City Social Service league sometime in the near future. The date has not been decided, but the banquet will be held within the next few weeks.

Mr. Knight is a brother of Prof. F. B. Knight of the University of Iowa college of education. Mrs. Andrew H. Woods is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the banquet.

Farm Bureau Heads Will Meet Saturday

Board of directors of the Johnson County Farm Bureau will hold their regular monthly meeting, Feb. 6, in the court agent's office, County Agent S. Lyle Duncan announced yesterday.

The meeting will be presided over by Glenn Hope, president of the bureau. Minutes of the last meeting will be read by Robert Spencer, secretary, followed by the taking up of routine business.

Stocks Drop Slightly After Peace Move

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Stocks fell into an orderly retreat today after a rather feeble rally during the first hour.

It did not take long to see that traders who had been supporting the "war babies" were much less interested in the fortunes of those issues, perhaps because of the peace move by the leading powers.

The list later sank into a decline which brought an average drop of about a point and a half. Sales totaled 1,119,682 shares.

The market doubtless felt railroad stocks had had all the good news that could reasonably be expected, for those issues were the first to give ground. Measures to strengthen the roads' financial positions are already at work, but improving traffic is another matter and movement of freight is still slow.

Car loadings in the week ended Jan. 23 were off 10,333 cars from the preceding period.

Santa Fe Drops
Santa Fe and Union Pacific softened readily, the former losing 4 points, the latter 3 1/2. Norfolk and Western was up 3, but net losses of a point or more in other prominent railroad shares were numerous.

Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Du Pont and Allied Chemical, subsidiaries of a previously announced date, F. R. Speed, research engineer for Ethyl Gasoline corporation, of today's rise, while U. S. Steel dropped 1 5/8. American Can, dividend, lost about 2. General Electric came within an eighth of duplicating its recent low. General Motors was fairly steady.

Steel Steady
Early reports on steel operations for the entire country indicated little or no change for the current week. "American Metal Market" said the rate was holding at 27 per cent and that no strictly seasonal improvement had appeared with the exception of some gain in automobile requirements.

The report of a leading mail order house for January indicated that with due allowance for price reductions business had held up reasonably well.

Money held firm.

Students to Address Engineering Society

L. A. Fryberger, E3 of Cresco, and Leslie Grigg, E4 of West Liberty, will be speakers at the regular meeting of the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, to be held in room 108, engineering building, this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mr. Fryberger's topic was not announced, and Mr. Grigg will speak on "Impressions of the Western Electric company," for which he worked. Critics will be Gerald O. Young, E4 of Iowa City, Harold E. Wickham, E3 of Iowa City, Ambrose Wiskercher, E4 of Granville, and Jud E. White, E4 of Tinsley.

At the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday, Feb. 11, instead of a previously announced date, F. R. Speed, research engineer for Ethyl Gasoline corporation, of

Quad Cage Teams to Renew Tourney Games Tomorrow

Quadrangle basketball will swing into action again tomorrow night when the first game of the playoff for the championship of the lightweights finds sections A and C clashing at 7:30. Section C is scheduled to meet with section D hoopers on Feb. 9, and A to tangle with D on Feb. 11.

Because of the spectacular rise of section A, underdogs in their last game, there will undoubtedly be some close competition in these games with the possibility of another tie, the other two teams being fairly matched.

Until the settlement of this score

State Railway Board to Hear Proposal on Uniform Truck Rate

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—The state railway board today set Feb. 18 for a hearing on a proposal that uniform state truck rates be established for the transportation of household goods and furniture in Iowa.

The uniform schedule was proposed in a complaint filed by seven transfer and storage companies against Frank Alexander of Des Moines and all other Iowa truck operators. The State Warehousemen's association joined in the request by filing a petition of intervention.

The proposed schedule would apply to all truck shipments of 15 miles or more involving household goods or furniture.

Court Grants Divorce

Margaret L. Kutcher was granted divorce from William F. Kutcher yesterday afternoon in district court by Judge R. G. Popham. Mrs. Kutcher was also granted the return of her maiden name and $50 attorney's fee. She was represented by Ingalls Swisher.

Vigilantes Kill Thug, Nab Partner to Break Iowa Bank Terror

Stop Robbers After Holdup at Stanwood

Officers, Fugitives in Shooting Fray on Highway

STANWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—Vigilantes today struck back at bandits who have terrorized small town Iowa banks for several years. The officers killed one robber and wounded and captured another after the pair had held up the Union Trust and Savings bank here.

Fifteen minutes after they had fled from the bank with $575 in currency, the fugitives tried to pass a truck parked as a barricade across the Lincoln highway near Lowden, eight miles east of here.

Kill Bandit

They fired at four vigilantes behind the truck. An answering volley killed one of the bandits and the other, wounded in the arm, surrendered. Marshal Walter Paul was wounded in the leg by the robbers' bullets.

The registration card in the bandit car, which carried New Mexico license plates, bore the name of Robert Morse. This is believed to be the name of the dead bandit, since the same name was found on a card he carried.

Prisoner Refuses to Talk

The man taken prisoner refused to answer officers' questions or to reveal his name or that of his companion. He was taken to the Cedar county jail in Tipton by Sheriff Foster Maxson. Both men appeared to be Mexicans. In the car were several pistols, a shot gun, sledge hammers, and a suitcase bearing the name of Morse.

The robbery occurred about noon today. One of the bandits entered the bank while the other stood guard and ordered Otto Evers, vice president, and C. H. Haesemeyer, cashier, into the vault. Seizing the currency, he prepared to leave when Walter Lehrman, a customer, came in. The bandit ordered him into the vault and they fled with his partner.

Escape From Vault

After escaping from the vault, the trio gave the alarm and vigilantes throughout the county stationed themselves at strategic positions along highways from Stanwood.

A mile east of Stanwood the bandits abandoned the automobile in which they escaped and took to the New Mexico car, apparently placed there to confuse officers seeking their trail.

The abandoned car bore Benton county license plates, but Sheriff Maxson said he had not yet discovered its owner. Near this car was found a hat bearing the name of a Cedar Rapids clothing store. It was perhaps lost by one of the bandits during the transfer to the other automobile.

Positive identification of the dead man as the one who entered the bank was made by Evers.

Mrs. Emily Silas Burial Will Take Place at Rockford

Funeral service for Mrs. Emily Silas, 74, who died yesterday at 4 a. m., at the home of her son, P. G. Silas of the Burlington apartments, after an illness of several months, will be held in Rockford, Ill., where the body was sent yesterday. Burial will be in Rockford.

Mrs. Silas was born at Knoxville, Ill., in 1857 and was married to Carl Silas in 1882. She resided most of her life at Rockford, Ill., and has made her home with her son for some time.

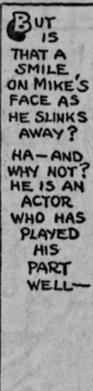

She is survived by two other sons, Carl Silas, Jr., and Reuben Silas, both of Chicago, and three sisters, Mrs. J. L. Neill of Spencer; Mrs. C. E. Moore of Villisca; Mrs. Christine Nelson of DeLong, Ill., and three grandchildren. Her husband died in 1927.

Uncle Sam Admits Prince, Wife Despite Bride's Mother

PRINCE and PRINCESS ROSPIGLIOSI

NEW YORK — Apparently the United States immigration authorities are of the opinion that the path of love is beset by enough obstacles already, for declining the request of Mrs. W. H. Davidson that they detain her new son-in-law, Prince Geronimo Rospigliosi, at Ellis Island, they have allowed the unwelcome bridegroom and his heiress bride to enter the United States without hindrance.

When the prince eloped with the beautiful Marion Snowden last November, telegraph wires began to hum with the news and political and ecclesiastical wires were pulled in an effort to untie the marital knot. Marion, the daughter of the late James Hastings Snowden, Minneapolis, Minn., millionaire oil magnate, met the prince at Cannes, France, in September and almost immediately was the recipient of a proposal of marriage. But her mother, Mrs. Davidson, did not fancy Prince Geronimo for a son-in-law and did not make any bones about saying so.

As is usually the case in affairs of the heart where parental objections are encountered, an elopement was the result. Marion and her prince skipped out to Rome, Italy, where they were married in the little Rospigliosi chapel on the outskirts of the Eternal City.

It is not natural that Mrs. Davidson should be charged to the point of hysteria. More especially so since the mother believes that the prince was more attracted by Marion as a meal ticket than as a wife.

The Rospigliosis are noble but poor, and Mrs. Davidson charges that the marriage between Geronimo and Miss Snowden was arranged with the aid of a German money-lender, one of the prince's host of creditors. The involuntary mother-in-law of the prince further charges that Geronimo intends to take advantage of the Italian law, which provides that on marriage the wife's property

Relative Petitions for Appointment as Yee Estate Administrator

Application to set aside the appointment of Mrs. Myrtle Rogers as administratrix of the estate of Sheer N. Yee was filed yesterday morning in the office of the clerk of the district court by Harry Yee. Harry Yee is believed to be a cousin of Sheer N. Yee, who lost his life in the fire which destroyed his establishment, Mandarin Inn, Monday, Jan. 25.

Harry Yee states in the petition that he is one of the next kin of Sheer Yee and that Mrs. Rogers is not related. As the deceased left no wife, Harry Yee states that he has a legal right to make application for the appointment.

Monday, Feb. 8, at 10 a. m., was set aside by Judge R. G. Popham as the time for hearing on the application for setting aside the appointment of Mrs. Rogers as administratrix. The petition was filed by Barnegrover and Dennis of Cedar Rapids.

Officers for 1932 will be nominated preparatory to the election March 2. A buffet lunch will be served after the meeting.

Reuter Talks of Hawaii at Kiwanis Club

Prof. E. B. Reuter of the sociology department spoke to members of the Iowa City Kiwanis club yesterday at their weekly luncheon at the Jefferson hotel on the subject of "Hawaii and Hawaiians." Professor Reuter described the relations of the natives with the whites as very friendly.

He described the hospitality accorded to American travelers and the numerous gentilities which were offered. Professor Reuter characterized the natives as lazy and lovable.

The island is controlled politically by the 1,000 white persons by means of the native vote. However, Professor Reuter said that the official positions were filled by the natives.

The population of the island is composed of Portuguese, Spanish, Negroes, Japanese and Chinese. The only important industry is sugar although pineapples are raised.

The Rev. Harry D. Henry was a guest at the luncheon.

Extension Worker to Teach Tray, Basket Weaving at Meetings

Basket weaving will be the work undertaken in the first meetings of the third year Home Furnishing Project clubs in Johnson county to be held in designated places throughout the county, Feb. 8-12. County Agent S. Lysie Duncan announced yesterday. A meeting is to be held in Iowa City, Feb. 11.

Nora Workman, extension division worker from Ames, will have charge of a series of five schools which are to be held once a month. Tray weaving will be taught by Miss Workman in the next school which is to be held March 7-11. Future meetings will deal with the making of lamp shades, accessories, pillows and cushions.

The purpose of these meetings is to increase membership, to help the 4-H club work by interesting parents, and securing leaders, to develop leadership and cooperation, and to help beautify homes.

Oriental War Sends Grain Prices Down

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Dubious hopes that peace might result from plans submitted to Japan and China by leading powers, brought about price setbacks in grain markets today.

Selling pressure on cereals was increased by weakness of securities and by reports indicating that the recent cold wave did little damage to domestic winter wheat. Another bearish factor was disappointing export demand for North American wheat.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-2 to 3 cents a bushel lower than yesterday, corn 1 to 1-2 down, oats 1-2 off, and provisions at 10-20 cents decline.

Only about one cent a bushel maximum downturn in wheat values, though, took place as a result of peace moves or other bearish developments. Slight rallies were witnessed just before the finish, and were attributed to assertions that European call for North American wheat might be better from now on.

An opposite influence was an authoritative unofficial estimate that stocks of wheat in the United States now total 200,000,000 bushels on farms, 205,000,000 bushels in the visible supply, and 255,000,000 bushels elsewhere.

Corn and oats reacted with wheat, despite that rural offerings of corn had diminished and that weather conditions were less favorable for corn movement.

Provisions weakened on account of apparent likelihood of enlarged marketing of hogs.

Closing indemnities: wheat—May 53 1/2 to 2, 60-60 1/2; July 53 7/8 to 53 1/2 to 1-2; Sept. 53 1/2 to 53 1/2; Corn—May 40 1/4 to 3/4, 40 1/4 to 7-8; July 42 1/2, 42 1/2.

Medical Society Will Hold Meeting Tonight

Johnson County Medical society will meet tonight at 6 o'clock at the American Legion Community building. The program will include a talk by Dr. W. H. Gibbon on "Doubled diverticula," with the discussion opened by Dr. H. L. Beye. Dr. P. C. Jeans will talk on the subject of "Tuberculosis in childhood," the discussion will be opened by Dr. H. M. Korns.

Hosts of the meeting will be Dr. N. G. Alcock, chairman, Dr. E. J. Anthony, Dr. G. H. Hansmann, Dr. H. R. Jenkinson, Dr. D. M. Lierle, Dr. E. M. MacEwen, Dr. J. T. McClintock, Dr. George Maresh, Dr. E. W. Rockwood, Dr. J. N. Smith, and Dr. A. Steindler.

State Finishes Cow Testing in 70 Counties

DES MOINES, Feb. 2 (AP)—O'Brien county has been added to the list of modified accredited counties in which bovine tuberculosis testing has been completed, the state department of agriculture announced today.

It brings to 70 the accredited counties out of the 99 in the state. The only additional work remaining in the county is the testing of infected herds where reactors were found.

The report of Dr. W. C. Scholty, state inspector in charge, showed that on the last tests in O'Brien county 113 reactors were found. Its infection was placed at 3 of one per cent.

On the first test of the county 2,264 reactors were found, representing approximately 6 per cent of the cattle. At that time 1,082 or 42 per cent of the herds were reported to show some infection.

Court Raps Members of Liquor Ring

21 Defendants Receive Jail Terms, Fines, Probation

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Penitentiary sentences for seven ring leaders, and jail terms, fines and probation for 21 minor defendants were ordered today by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, all but ending the bulky record of the midwest liquor conspiracy trial.

Robert W. Besse, former state's attorney of Whiteside county, one of the principal defendants who were alleged to have paid tribute to "Scarface" Al Capone for the privilege of selling liquor, will be sentenced tomorrow. His attorney brought word he was too ill at his Sterling, Ill., home to appear today.

Judge Sentences 13

Judge Lindley, who heard the 17 day trial, had previously sentenced 13 defendants to short terms in county jail and fines up to $300, except for Mike Blumberg, Clinton, Ia., bootlegger. Blumberg drew a two-year sentence concurrent with another term recently imposed on similar charges.

The court was less lenient today with the main conspirators who failed to follow the example of their underlings and change their pleas to guilty.

Waterloo Man Jailed

Harry Chapman, head of the Waterloo, Ia., bootlegging ring which purchased supplies from the Aurora crowd, drew a term of a year and a day, and a $2,000 fine. Richard Price, his chief lieutenant according to the evidence, was sentenced to 18 months and fined $3,000.

Frank Proost, Clinton, Ia., business man who dealt with Blumberg and Besse, according to telephone records, was given a year and a day, and $1,000 fine.

On the first test of the county 2,264 reactors were found, representing approximately 6 per cent of the cattle. At that time 1,082 or 42 per cent of the herds were reported to show some infection.

One SLIP means disaster!

No Place for Guesswork

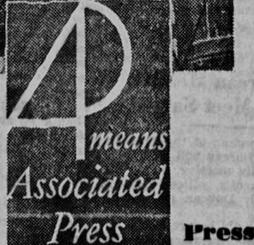

THE steel erector, working at dizzy heights, holds a grave responsibility. One mistake may bring death and injury to himself, his fellow workers and to throngs in the street below him. His splendid record is a tribute to the craft. The writer of news dispatches is in a comparable position. He deals not with girders weighing tons but with an equally potent element—words which convey to his readers current information that may govern their lives.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS recognizes this responsibility to the millions of member-news-papers readers. It serves only one cause, to present the news of the day clearly and correctly. Invariable adherence to its principles of unwavering fairness has won universal confidence in the reliability of ASSOCIATED PRESS dispatches.
