U.S. TROOPS MARCH INTO SHANGHAI

Hawkeye Quintet Clashes With Chicago Tonight

Victory Will Lift Iowans From Cellar

Debuts of 3 Regulars Before Local Fans Tonight

Probable Starting Lineups

IOWA	CHICAGO
Moffitt	LF	Stephenson
Krumholz	RF	Rexinger
Bennett	C	Evans
Riebert	RG	Wien
Selzer	LG	Ashley (c)

Officials: George Levis (Wisconsin) and S. Feeze (Wabash).
Time and place: 7:35 p.m. at field house.

By BILL RUTLEDGE

With probably the most potent offense in three seasons, the University of Iowa basketball team will attempt to hold itself out of the Big Ten cellar—which it shares with the Chicago Maroons—the opponents for tonight in the game at the field house.

Every player in Coach Rollie Williams' starting lineup, with the single exception of Howard Moffitt at left forward, is a stranger to a Hawkeye cage crowd. Former regulars—Jack Kotlow, forward; Alex Rogers, center, and Douglas Fikins—have been relegated to the status of reserves to make way for the new variety recruits.

Selzer in Debut
Ben Selzer, sophomore guard from Passaic, N. J., will bow himself into college basketball tonight. His uncanny ability to sink mid-floor shots and his fast, hook passes to the center and forwards will add to the improvement in the Old Gold quintet.

Local followers will get their first glimpse of Parker "High Pockets" Bennett, center and Gueldner Krumholz, forward. The two sophomores became eligible Feb. 1 and participated in their first collegiate contest on that date at South Bend against Notre Dame.

Bennett, six feet and five inches in height, is the tallest center in the conference. Not only his tip-off play, but his under-the-basket work as well, will strengthen the Hawkeyes for tonight's game.

"Krummy" Promising
Krumholz has given promise of developing into a second Moffitt. A good floor worker and possessor of a pair of keen basket eyes, he gives more power to the Iowa attack. After a semester's absence, Marshall "Mike" Riebert returns to the home floor at his old running guard post.

The mite Paul Stephenson is expected to play the stellar role for the Maroons. His forward mate will be Scott Rexinger who is better in tennis than in basketball. Rexinger holds the Big Ten singles championship, but no titles in the cage sport. Captain Ashley at guard is the third senior in Chicago's lineup. Evans at center is the only sophomore.

Warrants for City's Payroll Get Approval

Warrants to cover the city payroll for Feb. 1, which will be refused by the city treasurer and will bear interest at six per cent, were approved by the city council at a regular monthly meeting last night.

This plan of refused warrants is an emergency measure adopted by the council to take care of the city's obligations until funds can be recovered from local banks.

Among the items for which the warrants were issued are: $785 for the street and alley department; $485 for the fire department; $635 for the police department; $232 for the engineering department; and $786 for city officials. A warrant for $456.75 was approved for additions to police quarters.

Extensive plans for resurfacing streets in east Iowa City south of U. S. highway 6 were cut short by the council's approval of petitions signed by property owners declaring their inability to pay assessments.

An ordinance amendment was passed making the building inspector an assistant health officer with power to enforce the housing law. A special meeting was voted for Feb. 19.

"I look at spiritual power as the greatest source of power in the world," declared the Rev. L. A. Pierson of Ames before the opening session of the annual conference of the Mississippi Valley region of the Lutheran Students' association of America, held at Iowa Union last night.

"Not so long ago our ancestors were pagans, worshipping forms of nature which they deified, but we have the chance to enjoy these spiritual powers, which will come to us if we will only accept them."

The Rev. Mr. Pierson briefly outlined six sources of spiritual power: Holy Communion; the Bible; prayer; friends; the realization of ourselves as individuals; and the sacrament.

"Urges Use of Opportunity
"Holy Communion is a source of power and joy," declared the Rev. Mr. Pierson. "We should make more use of it than we have. It can bring a change of heart to you, make a new person of you. I urge you to consider the opportunity open to you."

He declared that sympathetic friends, in whom one could confide, were great sources of power, citing instances from his own college experiences.

"We should look to ourselves as individuals more than we have," said the speaker. "This is a machine age, and we should try to get back to the experiences of generations ago, when a man could go off alone to think, and come back and truthfully say, 'I had a wonderful time. There is a larger source of power in ourselves and make room for the grace of God, love for our fellow men, and a love of the beautiful.'"

"Students Want 'The Best'
"Achieving the best," the theme of the program of the conference, was a good one for students, the Rev. Mr. Pierson stated. "In practically every instance we find that nothing but the best will satisfy them. That is a real challenge," he added.

"There are some barriers to accepting these spiritual powers, which, if brushed aside, will open the way for us to see light. There is a mental attitude, during adolescence, which keeps us from accepting these powers. We must pass through this stage to understanding."

Immoral People Unhappy
By immoral acts a person closes the door on the last ray of light, the speaker declared. People who are immoral are not going to be happy themselves, will make other people unhappy, and will find only a small niche in the world. But, if a man rises above his natural evil tendencies,

HEADED WEST TOWARD FAR EAST

This unusually fine picture shows the United States submarine V-5 as she plowed through the heavy Pacific seas after leaving Mare island navy yard, San Francisco, under secret orders, en route to a possible destination in the far east. The departure of the V-5, one of Uncle Sam's newest and largest undersea craft, followed that of the battle fleet, which left San Pedro for maneuvers off the Hawaiian islands. The V-5 has a crew of 68 and is commanded by Lieut.-Commander J. H. Scott.

Iowa River Claims Life

Boy Drowns as Ice Breaks Under Weight

The waters of the Iowa river claimed another victim yesterday afternoon when Robert Wayne Pixley, 9, son of William H. Pixley, 311 Kimball road, was drowned after ice on which he was walking, crumbled and dropped him into the swift flowing current. The accident occurred about 100 feet north of the Kappa Sigma fraternity house, 1032 N. Dubuque street, at 5:20 p.m.

According to William Shaffer and James Pepper, members of Kappa Sigma fraternity and eye witnesses of the tragedy, they observed Pixley and a companion, later found to be Gilbert Hoot, 9, 518 Kimball road, walking on the ice as they were on their way home from town. The youths were some distance apart with Pixley being further out towards open water.

Try to Warn Boys
Fearing the youths would fall into the river which is so swift at the place of the accident that a 20 foot channel is not covered by ice, the students hurried forward to warn them to return to shore. The boys were on the west side of the open water channel, having come out of the City park where they had been playing.

While Shaffer and Pepper were still too far away to shout they saw Pixley go down into the water. As they ran towards the bank they saw him apparently struggling to reach the edge of the ice but he disappeared almost instantly before they could render any assistance. They then shouted to Hoot to return to the safety of the bank and after he had obeyed, ran to the nearby fraternity and phoned the fire department.

Drag River
Firemen began grappling for the body from boats as soon as they arrived and continued until dark. Believing that the current had carried the body under the ice and hampered by darkness and the difficulty of navigating in the swift water, the searching force then suspended efforts. Dynamite will be used this morning to clear ice further down the river and the search will be continued.

World in Woe Looks in Vain to Historians

History Must Bridge Gap, Fish Tells Conference

TODAY'S PROGRAM
Prof. H. G. Plum presiding
10—"The history teacher's philosophy of history," Prof. Arthur C. Cole, Western Reserve university, editor of the Mississippi Valley Historical Review.

11—"Modernizing American history," Prof. F. H. Hodder, University of Kansas.

Professional historians have fallen down on the job.

They haven't produced a study of panics and depressions to which a baffled world can turn for enlightenment. They don't give enough attention to questions like that, questions in which their clients, the public, are vitally interested.

They haven't written a biography of George Washington which can be recommended to the public on the two hundredth anniversary of the first United States president's birth.

These and many more things Carl Russell Fish had to say in considering "The profession of historian" before several hundred persons at last night's session of the history conference.

"Quick" Biographers
"The public has been reading a good deal more that has been written about history in the last several years," the University of Wisconsin history professor reminded them, but added that "unfortunately it has nearly all been the work of quick biographers."

Had the historians only been less standoffish about doing "popular" works there would be no need to leave the writing of biography largely to retired senators like Senator Beveridge, other amateurs, and feature writing journalists, like Claude Bowers, he declared.

For the historian as a professional man is a public servant, responsible not alone for his main job of teaching. He should have been a more valuable public servant in his role as custodian of mankind's inherited experiences, too. Yet, with all that had been written on the Civil war, when the nation became embroiled in a World war there was no historical work on conception.

Big Business Needs History
Had big business corporations maintained in their employ men for historical research, men to serve as their "quiet memory" in a role like that of the venerable secretary or director able to recollect transactions and procedures of the past, but with more accuracy—perhaps they would have been spared depression's rigors. At least they could have avoided some of its pitfalls.

"Why, I could have told them a few things now and then myself," confided Professor Fish.

To teachers of history Professor Fish urged recognition that they are dealers in probabilities and half-truths—"or let's say 51 per cent truths." He pleaded with them not to try to keep up with "the latest truths" but to teach only what they had themselves mastered.

Thumbs Down on Thesis
The research thesis as a part of teacher training came in for derogatory remarks. Referring to it as "often the mere accumulation and classification of facts," Professor Fish pooh-poohed the notion that a teacher should make a "contribution to knowledge" in a thesis. He regards it as more important that the teacher should be able to make a contribution of general knowledge to students than of minute knowledge to scholarship.

Professor Fish in closing accepted the challenge of President Jessup's morning address of welcome—that perhaps the chief need which can be met by the profession is to make the public "historically minded, capable of seeing more than one thing at a time."

The question mark of a doubtful tomorrow in the Pacific and the world in general cast its shadow over both morning history conference talks.

Prof. W. R. Livingston pictured a once isolated United States deeply entangled in the fortunes of Europe, her fortunes bound up with those of a western civilization apparently due to meet its acid test in the far east.

Prof. George D. Haskel described an unceasing international war among rival industrial nations for

Heir of Deceased Iowa City Woman Gets Huge Fortune

COLTON, Cal., Feb. 5 (AP)—Informed that he is one of two heirs to a $2,000,000 estate in Germany, R. G. Leo said today he was going to pass his bills, put aside $25,000 and give the rest to charity.

"I've got no use for all that money," said Leo.

He is 65 and has always worked for a living.

A letter written by his sister, Mrs. Lydia Rhea of Valley Junction, Ia., told Leo that, with his sister, he had inherited the estate left by his mother, Mrs. Andrew Leo, who died in Iowa City, Ia.

The estate had been willed to his mother by Leo's great uncle, once mayor of Oetisheim, Germany. It consisted of land, buildings and cash in Stuttgart province.

A woman who died here seven or eight years ago, the wife of Andrew Leo who operated a local transfer company, is believed to have been Leo's mother. It was reported that the Leo's had one daughter and two sons, one of whom was telegraph operator at the local Rock Island station.

Americans Scorn Cold; Declare Selves as Rarin' to Go

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6 (AP)—(Saturday)—The United States destroyer Whipple was badly damaged in a collision today with the British steamer Rosalie Moller in the lower Whangpoo river, two miles from Shanghai.

A hole was torn in the bow of the destroyer above the waterline. The British vessel also was damaged in the collision.

The Rosalie Moller was outward bound from Shanghai and the destroyer was circling when the collision occurred. Both ships were laid up for repairs.

Lieutenant Commander J. H. Jenkins is the commander of the Whipple.

Bernie Kane's Orchestra Plays for 550 Couples at Pica Ball

Journalistic Paraphernalia Against Varicolored Background Furnishes Setting; Unique Cover on Old Gold Programs

Those who are scholars are awarded with Phi Beta Kappa keys, those who are athletes are awarded with Major I's, but every dog has his day, and those chosen few who, during the last year, have excelled in the lines of endeavor always recognized at Pica Balls, were rewarded for their efforts last night.

Mary Tyler Spohn, A3 of Northfield, Minn., was given a hook because of her "good technique in getting her man," and Alice O'Rourke, J3 of Waterloo, received a line for being "the woman who used her line most effectively."

A kite and the title, "the purest woman on the campus" went to Billie Armstrong, A4 of Albia, while William Ellsworth, A2 of Omaha, Neb., was awarded a bumbershoot for being "the dumbest man on the campus." William Straight McCulley, A4 of Omaha, Neb., as the "man with the most pull," was presented a corkscrew. Prof. John E. Partington of the college of commerce, received a sinker for being "the most mercurial faculty member."

Bernie Kane and his orchestra of Chicago, provided the music for more than 550 couples as they danced in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The Pica Ball is given annually under the auspices of the Associated Students of Journalism.

A giant typewriter, telephone, and other journalistic paraphernalia against a varicolored background, formed the setting for the affair.

A black typewriter, in the roll of which was a sheet of copy bearing the headline, "Pica Ball 1932," featured the cover of the old gold programs.

Faculty chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. Frank L. Mott, Prof. and Mrs. Fred M. Pownall, Prof. and Mrs. Edward F. Mason, Prof. Fred J. LaZell, and C. L. Sanders. Student chaperons were Clesson Backwith, M4 of Corning; Leo Aschenbrenner, E4 of Dyrast; Paul Strain, L3 of Muscatine; and Elizabeth Meyers, N3 of Iowa City.

Frank Jaffe, J3 of Paterson, N. J., was general chairman of the party. Members of the committee were Alvin Coons, J4 of Ames; Virginia Maxson, A2 of Tipton; George Kalbach, J3 of Okaloosa; Dorothy Rubenstein, J4 of Ft. Dodge; Lois Hinkle, J4 of Des Moines; and H. Bernard Hook, J3 of What Cheer.

Al Mitchell, J3 of Rockford, was master of ceremonies, and awarded the prizes during the intermission.

Benefits from the dance will be given the student loan fund. Music will be furnished by the Iowa Cavaliers.

Phi Epsilon Pi's to Hold Party Tonight

"Carnival night" will be the theme of the Phi Epsilon Pi party to be held at the chapter house tonight. Silhouettes of gnomes and snows illuminated by varicolored lights will form the decorations. Confetti, serpentine, and horns will also be used. Programs will be of white leather cut in the shape of a clown. The Iowa Collegians will furnish the music.

Chaperons will be Prof. and Mrs. Harry Wade, and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Dullin.

The committee in charge is Sidney Blumenthal, M3 of New York City; Marvin Bookey, E2 of Des Moines; Ralph Riegelman, M1 of Des Moines; and Joseph Schwartz, A4 of Chicago, Ill.

Triangle Club to Give Supper

Triangle club's monthly picnic supper will be given Tuesday in the club rooms at Iowa Union at 6:15 p.m. Guests of acuity members are invited.

Mrs. Frank A. Stromsten is general chairman and will be assisted by the following table hostesses: Mrs. G. H. Coleman, Mrs. C. A. Hawley, Mrs. J. C. Manry, Mrs. Gordon Marsh, Mrs. Herbert Martin, Mrs. C. H. McCoy, Mrs. C. C. Nutting, and Mrs. R. H. Ojemann.

Relief Corps to Meet

Members of the Women's Relief Corps will meet at 2 p.m., Tuesday at the American Legion community building, for a business meeting and social hour.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the afternoon by a committee headed by Mrs. Mae Conklin.

Delta Sigma Pi

Dr. P. M. Hoffman of Tipton was in Iowa City yesterday attending a medical clinic at University hospital.

Book, Basket Club to Meet

An incident in the life of Abraham Lincoln will be told by each member of the Book and Basket club in answer to roll call Monday at 2:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Hotz, 522 N. Linn street.

Mrs. Grace M. Kendall and Mrs. Martin Wiederanders will be assistant hostesses.

Currier Notes

Currier residents who are visiting their homes this week end are: Adelaide Swartzendruber, A4 of Kalona; Imogene Conley, A2 of Muscatine; and Ethel Esterman, A3 of Waterloo. Maxine Foster, A3 of Milton, is spending the week end in Des Moines.

When this photo was made, Colonel Richard S. Hooker (left) and Edwin S. Cunningham, U. S. consul-general in Shanghai, were apparently free from care. The recent upheaval in the Chinese city has placed the responsibility for the safety of their fellow countrymen in the international settlement upon their shoulders. Col. Hooker is commander of the U. S. marines who are guarding the settlement against raids by warring orientals. It was Mr. Cunningham's appeal for further protection for Americans that caused the Asiatic fleet and a regiment of regular army troops to be sent from Manila, P. I., to the danger zone.

"Big Business" Proposition Attracts Dawes; Throws Off Hat of Diplomacy for Finance

Master Financier Does Things in Terms of Millions

By F. A. RESCH

CHICAGO (AP)—America's most famous pipe smoker has tossed aside the trappings of diplomacy again to become Charles Gates Dawes, master financier. With a single flourish he has discarded the ambassadorial hat and diplomatic shirt to roll up his sleeves as head of the two-billion-dollar Reconstruction corporation—the gigantic credit agency calculated to alleviate the nation's business ills.

Thus America's leading ex-ambassador reverts to his natural state—the Dawes who thinks with rapid-fire analysis in terms of millions and billions.

It takes him back to his first love—big business.

Essentially An Administrator

Despite a versatile career that has classified him as lawyer, engineer, soldier, author, composer and vice president, "Charlie" Dawes is essentially a banker, a business man, an administrator.

He has proved it by jumping back behind his desk in private business whenever demands of public life have allowed him to do so.

This blunt-spoken midwesterner was figuring in millions and billions before most of his schoolmates were making $40 a week.

It was this same Ohio-born Dawes who wrote an analysis of the nation's banking system before he was

30. At that time he was a lawyer in Lincoln, Neb., specializing in receivership cases.

U. S. Comptroller At 32

Two years later he was comptroller of the currency under President McKinley.

And who was it who nearly 30 years later outlined to the allied nations of Europe a method of rehabilitating the continent's war-torn economic structure?

That was the Dawes of 1924 who consented for the reparations plan bearing his name.

But he had dealt with problems involving gigantic sums of money long before that. As the first director of the United States budget, under President Harding, he created a reverberating stir by his recommendations to slash government expenditures.

"We realize," he said then—"that the business of this country is now prostrate, that its working men are out of employment, that we are faced with the inexorable necessity of reducing expenditures, and we propose—just as we did four years ago to win the war—to try to do it, and that's all we can do."

A. E. F. Purchasing Agent

Everybody remembers how he served in France as general purchasing agent for the American expeditionary forces and supervised expenditures of billions.

Yet that was just another job to the lawyer who turned banker the very day of the only political defeat of his career—when he was defeated as a candidate for the United States senate in 1904.

Senate Affirms Appointment of Mellon to Great Britain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon tonight gave over the destinies of the treasury to the president for a confirmation await three days. The endorsed nomination was promptly transmitted to the White House.

In the chamber where his name and policies have been the center of many vigorous debates rules were waived to speed through the ambassadorial nomination as a final courtesy to the 76 year old public servant.

A few minutes later President Hoover transmitted for confirmation the name of Mellon's successor, Ogden L. Mills of New York.

Senator McKellar Opposes

Senator McKellar (D. Tenn.), one of the most bitter foes of the former secretary of treasury, announced briefly that he was voting against confirmation. Then the senate approved him as ambassador to the court of St. James with a chorus of "ayes."

Speaking at his regular press conference, President Hoover said he was "gratified" to hear of the senate's action.

"This is a real tribute to Mr. Mellon," he said.

Foreign Relations Accepts

Senator Reed (R. Pa.), intimate friend of Mr. Mellon, his loyal defender in debate and advocate of his policies, presented the nomination out of order without objection.

President Hoover submitted the nomination at noon and within an hour the foreign relations committee approved it unanimously.

Senator Reed also obtained the consent of the senate to waive its rule requiring that notification to the president of a confirmation await three days.

The endorsed nomination was promptly transmitted to the White House.

Names Mills as Successor

Mr. Hoover hastily dispatched back to the senate the nomination of Undersecretary Mills to succeed Mr. Mellon as treasury secretary but the senate had adjourned until Monday.

Mellon to Take Rest

While turning over his office to Mills immediately, Mr. Mellon does not intend to proceed to London for several weeks. He is going south first to rest.

Former Iowa Students Win in Art Contest

Jones, Allen Place in Des Moines Meet First, Third

Announcement came yesterday that Catherine Macartney, associate professor in graphic and plastic arts, that two former art students in her department were among the first three prize winners in a contest for Des Moines artists, held in that city under the auspices of the Des Moines Woman's club, Wednesday.

In competition with 54 other paintings, entered by 26 other artists, the work of Howard Jones was given the first prize award, and that of Edwin Lee Allen, received third place recognition. The two will receive awards of $75 and $25, respectively.

Mr. Jones is now a student in the Boston school of fine arts. Two years ago he won the $100 purchase prize at the Des Moines event. Mr. Allen is at present continuing his work in the university art department.

The prize winning painting was an etching, drawn in Iowa City, of the old ice house on the Country club road. Mr. Allen's piece of work was a painting of an old decorator's shop, also painted in Iowa City.

The Des Moines contest is an annual affair, having been held each year for a decade at some time near Feb. 1. This year it was judged by Thomas Craven, internationally known art critic.

Other contestants who have studied, or are at present enrolled in the university art school, and who had paintings entered in this year's contest, include: Kathryn Fulton, Bertha Shore Jewett, Lynn Stacey, Dorothy Stearns, Helen Stearns, and Jean Dayton West.

"We consider it an honor to have some of our students rate so highly in a meet such as the Des Moines contest," said Miss Macartney, yesterday.

Guns Blaze in China New Year

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6 (AP)—Saturday—New Year's day—the most important holiday in the Chinese calendar—was greeted this morning by the boom of heavy artillery and the tattoo of machine guns along a line stretching from the Chapel section of Shanghai down the Whangpo river to the Woosung forts, 16 miles away.

The Chinese reopened the engagement that has been raging around Shanghai for the last week from somewhat better positions. Foreign military observers agreed that during yesterday's hard fighting they succeeded in making a few dents in the line of Japanese strongholds.

On the other side of the ledger, the Japanese chalked down a successful bombing raid. Their airplanes, circling high above the ruins of Chapel, spotted a troop train filled with reinforcements for the Chinese.

Bombs were rained on it. A direct hit was scored on one car, shattering it to pieces and causing many deaths. This correspondent counted 15 bodies about the wreckage.

Chinese Will Dispute Air
The air has belonged to the Japanese since the start of the Chapel battle, but the Chinese were ready to dispute it today.

It was authoritatively reported that a few Chinese planes tried out their wings over Shanghai yesterday. They did no bombing and did not engage any of the Japanese airplanes. But they looked over the lines, it was said, in preparation for real action today.

Modern China has discarded the old calendar which makes today New Year's day, but the Chinese still cling to their traditions. Ordinarily the day is heralded by the popping of fire crackers. Field guns and machine-guns produced the noise this morning.

Intense fighting was going on in the Hongkew section of the international settlement, which has been taken over by the Japanese. Armed Chinese in Mufti were held responsible for this phase of the action. Japanese authorities declared that a thousand Chinese snipers have set themselves up in Hongkew during the last few days, taking a heavy toll of Japanese lives. The Japanese dead was estimated at 350.

and it was said that an equal number of snipers had been slain.

Speedy Big Factor

Much appeared to depend today upon the speed with which Japanese reinforcements are brought in from the homeland. The Chinese were reported to have added to their man power during the night. Military observers looked for a last desperate effort to drive the blue-jackets out of Shanghai.

If the Japanese reinforcements were slow, these observers said, it was possible that the Japanese line would collapse. With sufficient reinforcements it was considered probable they would be able to drive the Chinese toward Hangchow. A brigade was expected today.

Early in the day Chinese gunners equipped with antiquated anti-aircraft pieces succeeded in bringing down a Japanese plane.

When this correspondent saw the smoking skeleton of the big bomber a short time after the crash there were three charred bodies in it. Chinese soldiers inspecting it were in high spirits. Souvenir hunters stripped pieces of metal from the ship.

Rain Deadly Missiles
Before Japanese flyers were killed they caused havoc over a wide area during a four hour bombing raid in which they rained down deadly missiles on the Chinese positions.

China never will sign treaties prejudicial to her territorial and administrative sovereignty and will continue to resist Japanese aggression, Wang Ching-wei, president of the executive yuan of the Chinese national government, said in a statement sent here from the new capital at Honan.

President Wang's position corresponds to the premier-ship in the occidental governments. "Four months have elapsed," the statement said, "since the Japanese occupied Manchuria by an armed force and this day there has been no solution of the problem. The Chinese public, therefore, is intensely agitated and discouraged. The reason for the long delay in solving the problem is China's determination not to sign a treaty prejudicial to her territorial and administrative sovereignty. If the government were willing to sign, as Yuan Shih-kai signed the notorious 21 demands, the whole affair would have been settled long ago."

said that he discussed his visit here with A. & M. officials who approved his visit.

Bell said early last night that he had spent the day in meeting university men informally, and that he had not gone into prospects with Director Lauer. He hoped to do this before boarding the train late last night, he said.

Informal Meeting Soon
An informal meeting of the board is expected today or Monday to discuss the prospects who have made personal applications. It is expected that Prof. Edward H. Lauer, director of athletics will be empowered to carry on negotiations with the man selected by the board as soon as possible.

Professor Lauer said that he hoped to have all negotiations completed by next week, in which case the board would meet at that time to appoint the new coach.

The six men under consideration are Jim Crowley of Michigan State, George Little, formerly of the University of Wisconsin, Ike Armstrong of Drake university, Frank Murray of Marquette university, and Bell.

For the last three years Bell has been at Texas A. & M. During that time his teams have won 13 games, lost 14, and tied three. His record for the 12 years he has been coaching shows 72 victories, 36 defeats, and three ties.

er. The man who fired the fatal shot was about six feet tall and wore a long brown overcoat. Blood found outside the Randol house seemed to indicate one or more of the fugitives had been wounded.

Three suspects were picked up at Sigourney during the morning. But they were released after establishing a satisfactory alibi.

At Des Moines, where it was thought the slayers might try to find refuge, 12 auto loads of policemen guarded various roads into the city.

Exchange Shots
Another report received early in the day said the marshal at Lineville, on the Missouri border, had exchanged shots with the occupants of an auto believed to be the bandits' about 6:30 a.m. It was doubtful however, whether this was the car, since Searsboro, where they were reported seen at 6 a.m. is nearly 100 miles from Lineville.

Yesterday a car similar to the slayers appeared at Oskaloosa. The car was seen there again this morn-

Economists Survey Farm Outlook During Annual State College Agricultural Meeting

AMES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Recommendations that Iowa farmers look more closely to increasing efficiency rather than plan expansion in their production are contained in the Iowa Outlook Report prepared by Iowa State college economists and extension workers.

Announced today at a closing session of the annual farm and home week program, the summary of past and future agricultural price and production conditions declares that little material rise in domestic demand can be hoped for in 1932.

Business Confidence Needed
Better times, the economists agreed, are dependent on the restoration of business confidence and an improvement in credit conditions in this country and abroad.

No attempt was made to forecast the trend of farm prices in the near future, but farmers were advised to watch the progress of the automobile, iron, steel and construction industries for evidences of general improvement.

Financial Conditions
In the latter part of this year, however, the report sets forth, demands for products will be largely tied up with financial conditions in lines other than farming.

In this connection, however, the outlook review maintains that the unusually low purchasing power of consumers is likely to continue to affect adversely the demand for farm products.

"Should wage reductions take place and not be sufficiently offset by increased employment, they would tend to continue the present low level of income of many consumers," the economists pointed out.

Little Improvement Soon
They said that foreign demand for the agricultural products of the United States has fallen to a low level and that at the present time there is very little definite evidence of significant improvement soon.

A world wide business revival would have a tendency to increase the foreign demand for agricultural products, but the numerous restrictions imposed upon international trade, and increased production in many foreign countries would tend to restrict the export of many agricultural products from this country, even if some improvement in foreign business should occur it was said.

Other Findings
The hog situation is not particularly bright for 1932, but the economists believe that some improvement may be shown in 1933 if present indications of a stable hog production in the United States and a reduced European production for 1932 actually develop.

More hogs are available this year for slaughter than in recent times, being with only two men. They fled when officers approached.

Miss Shaw was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Shaw. She had cared for the two Randol children last night while the parents attended a party. Rather than return to her home, some distance from the Shaw residence, she decided to remain for the night.

Adventist Church Conference Elects New Secretaries

OMAHA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Missionary and business secretaries of the new conference formed by merger of the central and northern conferences of the Seventh Day Adventist church were appointed here today by delegates to the merged conference. The officers included Gordon Smith, Berrien Springs, Mich., missionary volunteer; C. W. Marsh, Collegeview, Neb., educational secretary, and V. G. Anderson, Minneapolis, home missionary society.

The delegates today were invited to establish the headquarters of the new conference in Omaha. Collegeview, Neb., was headquarters for the old central union and Minneapolis was headquarters of the northern union.

Law Convicts Four Officials for Corruption
CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—A tri-judge criminal court convicted four former public officials today of plotting to plunder the public purse of millions—millions that found their way to the pockets of legislators, contractors, the defendants and their political friends.

Timothy J. Crowe, president of the sanitary district of Chicago in those profligate days that have come to be known as the "whoopee era" of 1927-28, and Trustee Frank J. Lank were sentenced to state prison for one to five years.

John T. Miller, who was superintendent of permanent plants, must serve six months in the house of correction and pay $2,000 fine. Martin Edelstein, former real estate agent for the district, was given a three months sentence and fined $2,000.

The court decided evidence to convict August W. Miller, John J. Touhy and James M. Whalen was lacking and they were discharged. "Huge corruption" the court commented as it scanned the evidence unloaded from trucks of public and bank records in nine weeks of trial.

Appeal Filed
DES MOINES (AP)—An appeal was filed to the state supreme court by T. J. Marvin alias Melvin Furberg, J. N. Wright alias Frank Brown and R. G. Kaiser alias Robert Kelso who are under penitentiary sentence for alleged possession of burglar tools. They were tried in the district court at Ottumwa.

French Make Proposals to Arm League

GENEVA, Feb. 5 (AP)—The French government today stole a march on the world disarmament conference and proposed arming the League of Nations.

Crashing into a routine plenary meeting, Andre Tardieu, head of the French delegation, laid before the conference a far-reaching scheme to create an international police force and provide the first contingent of punitive troops to aid any state which became the victim of aggression.

Thus the French anticipated next week's debate when successively the British, French, American, Russian, Japanese and Italian delegations were to make known their concrete proposals.

M. Tardieu further proposed to internationalize civil aviation, limit to the League of Nations the right to dispose of heavy bombing planes of wide action, and to place at the League's disposal batteries of long range artillery vessels carrying guns of more than eight inch calibre or 10,000 tons.

Prohibits Heavy Bombardment
Besides these proposals, the French plan envisaged the prohibition of bombardments from aircraft or by artillery at more than (x) kilometers from the front line in land warfare, and the prohibition of the use by aircraft or artillery of projectiles containing poison gases, bacteria or materials which are specifically incendiary.

Explaining his motives for introducing the French proposal when he did, M. Tardieu told correspondents: "We are a people of good faith and wished to prove it today by an act. We refuse to be deterred by those who counseled that it was not wise to go too quickly. The aim of what we have done today is to facilitate the work of the disarmament conference and we sincerely hope our efforts will be crowned with success."

Pope Makes New Ruling on Marriage

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)—A tightened restriction on mixed marriages came out of the Vatican today in the form of a ruling that all children of such unions must actually be reared within the church.

The penalty of annulment and illegality in the eyes of the church was provided in the drastic measure, which was handed down by the congregation of the sacred office and approved by the Pope.

The decision amounted to a withdrawal of dispensation from a marriage between a Catholic and a non-Catholic when the parties involved violate their promise to bring up their children as Catholics.

Old Marriages Unaffected
Vatican City authorities announced later that the new ruling, which is a decree, does not affect marriages already contracted, but will apply to all mixed marriages henceforth.

The ruling of the sacred congregation was inspired by a belief that parties to mixed marriages often have disregarded promises to the church that children would be reared in it.

It was decided, therefore, that henceforth those who obtain the dispensation of the church must take their promises seriously.

The plea that civil laws of certain countries prevent the proper Catholic education of children will no longer be accepted as valid.

State of Mind
Vatican officials explained that the status of a marriage after dispensation has been withdrawn hinges on the state of mind of the parties when matrimony was contracted.

If after their promise is violated it is proved that they made it without serious intention of fulfillment, it was explained, then the church will consider the marriage non-existent and they will be eligible to marry again.

If they made the promise seriously and violation resulted from a later determination, it was added, then while the dispensation will be withdrawn the church will consider

Coal Dealers Adopt Resolutions Opposing Government Control

DES MOINES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Resolutions opposing government bureau and regulating credit extended by coal operators were adopted by the Iowa Lumber and Materials Dealers association during closing sessions Thursday of their three day convention at the Coliseum.

Activities during the day included election of officers during the morning executive session, and addresses by W. E. Difford of Louisville, Ky., Earl F. Wisdom of Des Moines, and Benjamin F. Springer of Milwaukee, Wis.

F. M. Finkbine of Storm Lake was elected president, J. L. Daniels of Dubuque, vice president, and Oscar Linquist of Spirit Lake, Wayne Frurhon of Nashua, John Haire of Ft. Dodge, John Limback of Cedar Rapids, and A. L. Alcorn of Cedar Rapids, directors. The secretary's office is not elective and is held by Charles D. Marekres of Des Moines.

Sheriff Takes Two Robbers in Custody

SIoux CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)—Oscar Jorgenson and Milton Smith were on their way to Columbus, Mont., today in custody of Sheriff Jack Benjamin and a deputy to face robbery charges.

Judge R. A. Oliver cleared the way for their removal by denying them writs of habeas corpus. The two men and a companion are alleged to have held up the county treasurer at Columbus and robbed her of $6,000. The third man is believed to have escaped with the loot, since Jorgenson and Smith were without funds when arrested here.

Pilot Sets Record

DES MOINES (AP)—Piloting a tri-motored plane over the Omaha-Chicago run of the transcontinental air mail route, Clifford Coppin set his plane down in Chicago in 2 hours and 23 minutes after leaving Omaha, clipping five minutes off the record made last month by Pilot Homer Munson of Estherville. Coppin was aided by a 56 mile an hour tail wind. His time set a new transport record for the distance.

The New Book Burden

THE SEMESTER that now confronts the Iowa student is necessarily to be one of economies. And it will be largely up to the individual whether or not those economies are successful. But there is one educational expense that has fallen upon the student year after year, often times needlessly, and which might well be dispensed with by the university instructional staff, this semester and in following terms. That expense is the unnecessary luxury of new books, indulged in by many academic departments. Although one college of the university has adopted a policy of assigning no new editions this semester, many others have gone on in the old way, forcing the student to buy new editions of old books. Once it was possible for the university student to save a tidy sum annually by buying second hand books and perhaps selling them if need arose at the end of the semester. That happy custom has been almost completely abandoned on the Iowa campus. Often, it is true, text books are of such a nature that they become hopelessly out of date from one year to the next. But on the other hand students are required to buy texts many times when virtually the only change from the previous year is a new binding, or an additional chapter that might be supplied from class room lectures. When an instructor assigns a new book to his class he is committing each individual in it to a cash outlay of from $2 to $5. Several requirements of this nature may easily amount to an expenditure amounting to a month's room rent, or several weeks' board. It would be folly to allow economic conditions to cut down in any way the necessities of academic training. But the luxuries must go. It is up to the faculty to cooperate in keeping down student expenses in the matter of new books—careful consideration might show that after all last year's edition will serve for a while longer.

A Blond Again

THE judges at the American Beauty congress this year were evidently gentlemen, for a blond was picked as America's finest example of feminine pulchritude. Miss America for 1932 is a perfect 34 with brown eyes. She is 5 feet and 1/2 inch tall, weighs 118 pounds, is 34 inches around the bust and hips and 26 around the waist. Athletics interest her and she is described as being "languidly alert." Thus in all probability there will be a plentiful supply of blond 34's this year. One woman donned a Eugenie hat. Soon they were the craze of the country. Another platinized her locks and right away the beauty shops were filled with women clamoring for that Harlow effect. So it goes; imitating is typically Americana. With a blond 1932 Miss America, there will be a bigger sale of peroxide. Also watch the girls try for those perfect 34's, and if they weigh in over 118, business for the reducing machine manufacturers will begin to pick up. Yes, it's too bad there isn't a remedy for the six footers.

The Timid Dollars

HERBERT HOOVER has appealed to the people of the nation to put into circulation some $1,300,000,000 which is believed hoarded and stored away in all kinds of queer places. That sum of money, definitely existing, would almost be enough to restore prosperity, and there is no doubt that such an amount would quicken the pulse of business of the nation and put some of the unemployed back to work. But for the last year all the sages of finance and economics have advocated saving and strict economy as methods for putting the world back on sound footing, and a number of people have evidently taken the advice too literally. There is a distinct variance between living within one's income and investing the savings sanely, instead of practicing penury and storing away the wealth of the nation where it will do neither the owner nor anyone else any good.

A Stall in Installments

IT IS A common belief that the present era is sounding the death knell of installment buying. Certainly, persons in modest circumstances are no so eager to spend all of their income on down payments for new luxuries as they were during the years of inflated prosperity—and those less well off and the unemployed are definitely unable to do so. Consequently, the installment plan of buying has decreased considerably in use and practicability. Merchants are doing their "bit" to stimulate buying by encouraging credit sales even more than they did during more prosperous years with, however, cautious stipulations that back accounts be paid in full, or the new charges paid regularly. Such precautions are justifiable because the merchant, as well as the purchaser, has his accounts to pay. Installment buying within the means of the purchaser, and credit buying in moderation can do much to help the present slump in business just as the dearth in installment buying has done much to temper the public's over-stimulated enthusiasm for the system.

Bad China, Good Japan

A Japanese engineer, Chyozo Ito, traveling through Kansas City, has obvious difficulties with the English language but none whatever in understanding China. That country, he makes it clear, is bad, wholly bad, and has been so for a century, making trouble for Japan all that time. Now Japan makes trouble for China, lots of it. Sure. That's what all bad nations get, sooner or later. And when one nation is entirely right, as Japan now is, and another altogether wrong, as China is, the demands of justice are plain. All that is needed now to square up the picture is a view of a Chinese engineer traveling through town. If the two could be got together at a local hotel the trouble in the orient might be soon settled.

H. G. Wells remarks: "War makes our world like a nonstop express train freighted with dynamite." Well, "Erbert, so long as she's "nonstop" where's the worry? And if your world express does crash, it won't matter a rap to us passengers whether she's freighted with dynamite or dunnage. —Boston Transcript

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE. The following contribution comes from a traveling salesman, who emerged from the World war as an artillery captain. His observations on what he terms "the war in the Far East" are rather striking. He bases his views on a knowledge of wartime conditions, and statistical information. "Shall we be drawn into a dog fight of nations with the domination of the Pacific as the goal? Professional pacifists are insisting and demanding of our officials that we put teeth in the notes directed at Japan in her local conquest of China.

"We are interested to a small extent in a commercial trade way, and as one of the signers of the Kellogg pact, but as other nations have not observed their agreements why should we force it down the throats of others? The commercial interests represent less than any one week's cost of our participation in the last war. "There are about 5,000 Americans in the troubled area who knew what conditions were and should not embarrass this great nation by hollering for help, when they went to a country where strife has been rampant for generations.

"How many Buddhist, Mohammedan, Confucian, Shinto missionaries are in this country. We need the Christian missionaries at home where they could accomplish more than is being accomplished overseas. "If this nation is so anxious to better conditions and render a real service to man, why not start at home? If the present crisis means war with Japan, do the majority of the American people realize what the cost will be?

"The Japanese are the only one of the colored races who do not admit that the white race is the superior race (who can blame them). And they will and can and are equipped to fight.

"They have the best balanced navy, which is the third largest in the world. They have the second largest air fleet. With reserves they have one and one-half million men under arms at present. It will be America who will be holding the bag if the present crisis reaches a breaking point. The League of nations will give us their moral support, and just what does that amount to, anyway?

"If we lock horns with the Japanese, it would mean at least a three year war based (a great deal) on our ability of a quick mobilization of our entire industrial, financial, and military resources. It would cost at least one million lives, the permanent injury of one and one-half million more, the wounding of at least two million more than above figures, a cost of 50 billions of dollars, or two million dollars an hour, many ruined coast cities, a lot of international disturbances which might reach major proportions.

"May our country always be in the right, but right or wrong, my country—sounds all right, but it's about time we stopped pulling other countries' chestnuts from the fire.

"Our Blah! Blah! pacifists use their influence to wreck our national defenses, and then want 'George' to defend the country. War is the greatest crime this planet is guilty of, because it destroys that which can never be replaced, human life. It breeds new jealousies and greeds, and keeps alive the old prejudices.

"And if war comes, for justice sake, put each and every one on an equitable basis. A fireman hates a fire, and a policeman hates a riot, and we will always have them. You wouldn't take the tools out of the hands of the workmen, then don't expect our national defense arms to put out the fire of war in a hurry if it does come.

"Remember, there's an awful price to pay. Are you willing to bear your share? If not, don't knock the chip off Japan's shoulder, because you'll have a man's size squabble. If she were our aggressor, then plough into them, but wait until she starts to stamp on our toes."

Professor Nagler to Speak on Evolution of Old Water Mills

Evolution of the old water mill into the huge hydro-electric plants of today with their millions of dollars of investment and their enormous power output will be the subject of a talk by Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the hydraulic engineering department of the university, at the weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce, Monday noon. Professor Nagler has made a study covering a period of years, visiting the old mills of Iowa and studying their development and importance in early Iowa industry.

Decorah Schools to Have Vacation

DECORAH, Feb. 5 (AP)—Because of a prevalence of colds among students and teachers the board of education has ordered a vacation next week in the local public and high schools. Schools will resume Feb. 15 and the regular spring vacation will be cancelled. Attends Meeting in Des Moines: Prof. Harold H. Anderson of the child welfare department, left yesterday afternoon for Des Moines to attend a board meeting of the Iowa Congress of Parents and Teachers. Professor Anderson is state chairman of mental hygiene.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT (Reg. in U. S. Patent Office) By Ripley

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon: "The Meaning of 'Cecilia'": The name of Cecilia (as Cecilia is spelled in Latin) meaning a "blind serpent" is to this day applied to a genus of snake-like Barrachians, having no eyes. The Armless Jockey: About 40 years ago, when Colby Turner was nine years old, he fell in front of a hay mowing machine which caused the loss of both arms. Despite this handicap Turner learned to drive race horses. He is a star trainer and driver for a string of thoroughbreds owned by Mr. Lew Wallace, of Wilmington, Ohio. He wraps the reins around his arms when driving. Turner also drives his own automobile, writes, feeds and dresses himself, and admits he has no difficulty handling money. Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Every day Hollywood is becoming more practical. The latest reform is aimed against designing special gowns for pictures. Mrs. Brock Pemberton, newly appointed head of the R.K.O. wardrobe department, is the leader of the movement. Instead of having creations made up from sketches, she plans to buy original models from the New York and local shops. Some of the most fashionable establishments in the country have agreed to submit gowns on approval and to hold them exclusive until the studio has had first call. New York shops will send their richest creations air-mail to Hollywood. For four years a customer for a New York department store, Mrs. Pemberton already has tried out this plan at the eastern studios. She says: "I shall have a designer, of course, but in most cases, it is highly unsatisfactory to choose gowns from sketches. They look so different when they are made up. Under my plan, the star will have the finished garment and will require

PETITE SCANDAL

Take it from Groucho Marx, during the wedding of a pair of midgets, the bride's father stood behind the groom with a cap pistol. Gossip of Celebs: One of Hollywood's swiftest speakers discourages gypsters by posting bad checks on a bulletin board. Anita Page's escort recently is Dr. Cyril B. Wright. Edgar Allan Woolf got a threatening letter and is the latest film person to sport a bodyguard. Twenty-four years ago tomorrow, "Across the Divide," the first local movie, went into production in a Chinese laundry at Seventh and Oliver streets. Harold Goodwin (remember him?) has rented an abandoned restaurant on Cahungua Pass and is growing mushrooms for the market. Renee Adoree will be sufficiently recovered to leave the sanitarium by March 13. She'll have to live in a high altitude. The El Mirador at Palm Springs drew heavy movie patronage over the week end. Chico Marx

FROM THE MAIL-BAG

Today's mail brings a copy of Homer Crov's new book, "Headed for Hollywood," with a note from Homer himself. He writes: "I didn't skin Hollywood and nail its hide on the door, as is the fashion. No Hollywood's personality is ploried in the book and there's no dirt in it. And Carl Laemmle isn't in it. This alone ought to create a sensation." Among my other mail is a picture-postcard of the Mauretania with a scribbled message from Al Boasberg: "How are the working people? Everything is lovely on the ocean. Ears hurt from corks popping. Otherwise O.K." DID YOU KNOW: That the stage money used in the movies is inscribed: "Phoney manna, nix, you can't pass me," and has a picture of a bull on the face of it? That Mervyn Leroy was a vaudeville jester before he entered pictures?

Monday Will See Start of Bridge Fray

Fifth Annual Tourney to Get Underway for Bids to Fame

Fraternity and sorority bridge enthusiasts will start their bid for fame next Monday when the fifth annual all-university bridge tournament gets under way at the Iowa Union at 4:15 p.m.

The Greek teams are divided into six sections with eight teams in each section. Every organization will be represented by four players. They will be paired off, each playing two games of eight hands with their opposite partners. After the schedule has been completed, the winners of each section will play a round robin tournament for the championship.

Team Arrangement
The teams have been arranged in the league as follows: Alpha section—Sigma Pi, Kappa Sigma, Phi Beta Pi, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Sigma Pi, Phi Kappa, Sigma Kappa, Kappa Delta.

Beta section—Zeta Tau Alpha, Phi Beta Phi, Psi Omega, Chi Kappa Pi, Theta Xi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Beta Delta.

Gamma section—Gamma Eta Gamma, Gamma Theta Phi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Epsilon Pi, Phi Kappa Alpha, Delta Zeta, Delta Chi, Phi Omega Pi.

Delta section—Nu Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Triangle, Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Delta, Alpha Kappa Psi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Epsilon section—Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Kappa Kappa, Phi Mu, Alpha Xi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Gamma, Alpha Sigma Chi, Chi Omega.

Zeta section—Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Chi, Delta Upsilon, Theta Phi Alpha, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Rho Sigma, Alpha Xi Delta.

Monday 12 teams from the Alpha and Beta sections will start the matches, and the tourney will continue until March 10 when the winners will be awarded prizes to be announced later.

Under the auspices of the Iowa Union board, Lewis Rietz, A2 of Columbus, Ohio, is chairman of the committee in charge. Others on the committee are: Nelle Traer, A2 of Davenport; Justin Albright, L1 of Lehigh; Ted MacDougal, E2 of Cosqueville; Mabel Stromsten, A2 of Iowa City.

"Believe It Or Not" Title of New Frivol
"Believe it or not" (with apologies to Ripley) will be the theme of the February Frivol which will come out next week. Headlining the features will be several contributions by Robert L. Ripley himself, as well as some unusual facts on the University of Iowa. An interview with "Ding" cartoonist on the Des Moines Register-Tribune, on the subject of college life will appear. The size of the cartoon feature section is to be enlarged in this issue.

Accepts New York Position
Prof. May Pardee Youtz, of the child welfare and parent education department, left last week for New York, where she will have the position of assistant in parent education in the child development institute of Columbia university. Professor Youtz will continue her work until June 1.

Stoddard Attends Meeting
Prof. George D. Stoddard, director of the child welfare department, will leave today for Des Moines to attend a meeting of the program and planning committee for the Iowa conference for child health and protection. The conference is to be held April 14-15.

Farmer Hangs Self
DUBUQUE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Frank Stillmunkes, 60 year old farmer, hanged himself at his home near Dubuque today. He had been ill for some time.

CRITICISM HAILED BY MAIL

Unheralded and unsung, John A. Simpson, president of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America, made a radio speech advocating the abolition of President Hoover's farm board. Evidence that he is not alone in his opinion was supplied in the mail the very next day. He is shown with some of the 11,995 letters he received in support of his contention. Simpson charges the board is only a hopeless waste of energy and money.

Extension Division to Send Lantern Slides to 38 Iowa Schools

Circuits for 38 Iowa schools were established by the extension division for the lantern slide series for the second semester.

This service is extended to all Iowa schools that agree to ship slides regularly each Friday noon to the next school on the circuit. As the distance in most cases is short, no difficulty is experienced in the set reaching its destination the following Monday morning. This enables each school to keep a set five school days.

The direct method of distribution will be continued. Schools desiring to use certain sets at any specific time may secure them direct from the department of visual education. Among those on the circuits are the Burlington, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Dubuque, Ft. Madison, Marshalltown and Sac City public schools.

Independent Group Challenges Seals to Swimming Meet

An independent group of university students has challenged the Seals club, women's honorary swimming organization, to a meet which will be held Thursday, Feb. 11, at 4 p.m.

The contest will take place in the pool of the women's gymnasium. All university women are invited to join in the meet.

This is the first time that the Seals club has ever been challenged. Entrants must sign the bulletin in the women's gymnasium for no more than three events. Races and contests will be held.

Will Take Art Show From Iowa Union

Prof. Catherine Macartney, head of the graphic and plastic arts department, announced yesterday that the art exhibit, now on display in Iowa Union, will be taken down Monday.

The exhibit, which was sent here by the Grand Central galleries of New York, includes works of 14 different artists. Six of these artists are foreign born, seven are mid-westerners, and one, Frederic Grant, who painted "Homestead," is from Sibley, Ia.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—William L. Patterson, 58, Rochester scientist, outstanding builder of microscopic and projection apparatus, died today.

Flickinger Announces New Basis for Awarding Prizes

That the Lowden prizes in Greek and Latin, each amounting to $25, will be awarded in 1931-32 upon a different basis than has previously been employed was announced yesterday by Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the classical languages department.

Up to the present the award has been made as a result of examinations based upon Latin and Greek authors. This year the examination for the Latin prize will be based upon selected portions of Roman history, history of Roman literature, ancient art, and ancient philosophy. The Greek examination will similarly be based upon selected portions of Greek history, history of Greek literature, Greek art, and Greek philosophy.

Latin Readings
The readings for the Latin topics are: Machull, "Latin Literature," Part I, Chapters II-VI, Part II, Chapters I-II and IV-V; and Part III, Chapters I, III, and IV; pp. 14-77, 91-119, 132-155, 171-185, and 205-232. Poak, "A History of Rome to 565 A. D.," Chapters XXIV-XXVI and XXIX-XXX; pp. 439-516 and 534-565. Tarbell, "A History of Greek Art," Chapters VII-IX; pp. 160-242. Whibley, "A Companion to Greek Studies," third edition (1916), pp. 191-227.

Greek Topics
The readings for the Greek topics are: Capps, "From Homer to Theocritus," Chapters II, IV, VIII, X, and XV; pp. 14-34, 75-118, 182-272, and 362-381. Laitner, "A Survey of Ancient History to the Death of Constantine," Chapters XIII-XVI, pp. 187-293. Tarbell, "A History of Greek Art," Chapters VII-IX; pp. 160-242. Whibley, "A Companion to Greek Studies," third edition (1916), pp. 191-227.

The examination will be held Friday afternoon, May 20, for the Greek prize, and for the philosophy; and part portions of the Latin examination. On Saturday morning, May 21, the other two portions of the Latin examinations will be given.

Open to Upperclassmen
Examinations will be open to juniors and seniors who are majoring in the department of classical languages. Some knowledge of Greek is a prerequisite for the Greek examination, and qualified students may compete for both prizes. Both prizes, however, will not be awarded to the same student, and the department reserves the right to withhold either or both prizes if the examinations are not considered adequate.

Department, steam usually enters the turbine at 190 degrees Fahrenheit. These new joints can be used only when the steam pressure is below that of the atmosphere.
Where the joints to be used on the condensers in the laboratory are only five inches in diameter, those used in large plants are six and eight feet in diameter, declares Professor Croft.

Two Iowa Authors Publish New Book on Adult-Child Study
"Your Child and His Parents," written by Alice C. Brill, formerly director of field laboratory and research associate in child welfare station, and Prof. May Pardee Youtz, head of the division of child study and parent education, was recently published.

The book consists of a series of lessons outlined in simple form dealing with topics concerning adult-child relationships. It includes material on method as well as content, with questions, outlines, charts, examples, and suggested readings, which may be used for class discussions and teaching material.

It presents in a series of lessons the chief topics relating to child life. Questions of discipline and obedience, the child's imagination, play, fear, habit formation, the use of money, and heredity and environment are all covered in the book.

Coxey Takes Train to Open Campaign
MASSILON, O., Feb. 4 (AP)—General Jacob S. Coxey will not launch his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination by airplane. After waiting three days for better flying weather before hopping off for North Dakota, the general boarded a train today for his destination.

Pharmacy Student Gets Straight A's
The height of academic perfection for a student was attained by Charles F. Griffin, P1 of Mapleton, who made a four point grade average during the first semester. Last year he was enrolled in the school of fine arts and education at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of the university band and Bob Manley's Iowa Collegians, a campus orchestra.

After graduation Mr. Griffin plans to enter the pharmacy now managed by his father, who graduated from the college of pharmacy in 1894.

Home Economics Department to Give Style Show Feb. 9

Every costume of cotton, ranging from pajamas to evening dresses, will be featured in the style show given under the auspices of the home economics department Feb. 9 in the natural science auditorium at 2 p.m.

Catherine Eloise Cleveland, consultant of the Cotton Textile Institute of New York, will direct the style show. She will give a preview of many spring styles using University of Iowa girls as models.

Miss Cleveland will also exhibit a collection of textiles for home decoration, including some work of Ruth Reeves, artist and decorator from New York.

Law Library Gets Volume Long Sought

The library of the college of law yesterday received a book which it has been trying to get for five years, J. G. Marvin's "Legal Bibliography or a Thesaurus of American, English, Irish, and Scotch Law Books."

According to Helen S. Moylan, law librarian, the book is very rare and valuable and efforts to secure it have been unavailing until now.

The copy now in the possession of the law library was published in Philadelphia in 1847 and bears the name plate of the Earl of Halsbury, at one time lord chancellor of England, to whom the book belonged.

The Earl of Halsbury edited the Laws of England, standard encyclopedia of English law.

"This bibliography of law books is particularly useful," said Miss Moylan, "because it gives the history and peculiar characteristics of a book, a summary of its contents, and tells which edition is the best."

The law library has a set of "English Commercial Cases" which came from the library of the late Lord Birkenhead, former lord chancellor of England. These were received last summer.

Sickness Causes Play Postponement
"Alice in Wonderland," which was to have been performed at the children's theater today, has been postponed for one week because of illness among the cast. The play was first presented a week ago today in the children's theater at Iowa Union studio, where it was to have been repeated today.

The play, which will have a juvenile stage crew as well as juvenile actors and actresses, will be presented under the direction of Margaret Mary Young.

Seashore to Give Lecture
Dean Carl E. Seashore, head of the psychology department, will give a lecture Monday at 7 p.m. on "What is psychology?" The lecture is to be given in room E104 of East hall, and is open to the public.

$35,000 Annex for Fine Arts

Announcement was made yesterday of a proposed $35,000 classroom annex, to house the school of fine arts, through the secretary of the state board of education, W. H. Gemmill of Des Moines. The notices to contractors were issued at the same time.

The proposed annex will be built facing on Gilbert street just south of the old isolation hospital, which stands at Gilbert and Jefferson streets. Plans for the building call for it to run 180 feet south, 50 feet wide, and one story in height. It will be used in connection with the isolation hospital, which is being made ready for occupancy along with the new structure.

Besides housing the school of fine arts, the new building would provide space for the practices of the university bands and orchestras, which are meeting at present in the old church building on the corner of Iowa avenue and Clinton street.

Public hearing on the proposed plans and specifications will be held Feb. 15 at 1 p.m. in the office of Arthur A. Smith, acting superintendent of the buildings and grounds department. Sealed bids from the contractors will be received Feb. 23.

Engineering Laboratory Uses New Type Expansion Joint

There have been expansion joints for pipes of various types of metals but modern research has developed the type of joint that gives a real expansion—a rubber one. Within the last three years this new joint has been developed by the United States Rubber company and it is through its courtesy that rubber joints, prototypes of the ones used in the very large power plants will be used in the new mechanical engineering laboratory.

Steam is sent from the turbines and engines to the condensers. It is where the pipe line enters the condenser that the expansion joint is needed. The temperature of the steam must not be more than 212 degrees Fahrenheit to permit the use of the rubber without danger.

According to Prof. Huber O. Croft, head of the mechanical engineering department, two machines in the laboratory will be benefited by the new apparatus which will be installed on the piping, the Corliss steam engine and the steam turbine. The new joints are to be installed next week, according to Professor Croft.

Professor's Mother Dies After Sickness; Funeral Tomorrow
Mrs. Ella E. Crawford, mother of Prof. Bartholomew V. Crawford of the English department, died Thursday evening at the home of her son, following a long decline in health and a brief period of acute illness. Funeral service, which will be held tomorrow at the Crawford home, 208 Richards street, will be in charge of the Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, assisted by the Rev. Harry D. Henry. Burial will be in Mt. Vernon, Ia.

Mrs. Crawford was born in Jackson county 77 years ago, and has been a resident of Iowa City since 1921.

Department Loans Art Exhibitions to Iowa High Schools

The department of graphic and plastic arts has selected an exhibit of drawings, paintings, and designs by students of the department, which are being loaned to schools throughout Iowa by the extension division.

The drawings are mounted on mat boards, 22 by 28 inches in size. The group includes six charcoal drawings from plaster casts; eight drawings representing examples of lettering, perspective and instrumental drafting; eight paintings from still life objects; eight examples of decorative designs; and six drawings and paintings of the portrait model.

A circuit was established for the accommodation of the superintendents to display the art exhibitions in their schools. The service is free of charge to all Iowa schools, but the school that uses the exhibit pays the express charges on the outgoing shipment. The first school on the circuit received the exhibit on Feb. 1.

The schools on the circuit are: Bellevue, Bloomfield, Britt, Colfax, Goldfield, Green Mountain, Iowa Falls, Keystone, Linedale, Merrill, Perry, Stanton, Storm Lake, and Tipton.

Public hearing on the proposed plans and specifications will be held Feb. 15 at 1 p.m. in the office of Arthur A. Smith, acting superintendent of the buildings and grounds department. Sealed bids from the contractors will be received Feb. 23.

Two Olympic Trial Heats Declared "No Races" After Hours of Angry Debate

Shea Annexes Second Skating Championship

Scandinavian Skaters Protest Style of Racing

OLYMPIC STANDINGS
(Unofficial Point Standings)
United States 43 points
Canada 25 points
Norway 8 points
(No other nations have scored in the three finals.)

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Headed by brilliant Jack Shea, first representative of the United States ever to win two championships in the winter Olympics, the speed skaters of North America swept over the ice of Norway, Sweden and Denmark today and in doing so started one of the bitterest controversies in Olympic history.

Shea added the 1,500 meters title to the 500 meter crown he won yesterday with a typical burst of speed that carried him to the tape five yards in front of a six man field, made up entirely of Canadians and team mates.

Formal Protest
Three Canadians, Alex Hurd, Bill Logan, and Frank Stack, finished in that order behind him, with Ray Murray of New York, fifth. Herb Taylor also of New York, picked himself up after falling on the last curve while in second place to struggle in last. Shea's time was slow, 2 minutes 57 5-10 seconds.

And despite the controversy that roared suddenly as the Scandinavians entered formal protest to the American style of racing in heats and that resulted in wholesale disqualifications in the two trials of the 10,000 meters event, the United States placed three men in the final of the distance event, last on the men's speed skating program.

Two Scandinavians, Ivar Ballangrud and Bernt Evensen of Norway, both 1928 Olympic champions, who have bowed to Shea and Jaffee in two days of racing, are still in the competition.

Three Americans in Final
The Americans left in the final are Valentine Blais, Utica, N. Y., veteran, Irving Jaffee, who was winning the distance drive in the 1928 Olympics when soft ice forced cancellation of the race; and Eddie Schroeder of Chicago.

The protest of the Scandinavians after the two heats had been run caused Joseph K. Savage, referee and head of the American Olympic speed skating committee, to disqualify Edwin Edge of Detroit, who finished third in the first heat, along with two Canadians, Alex Hurd, who won the first heat, and Frank Stack, who took second to Schroeder in the second trial.

With them went Shozo Ishiura, the first Japanese in four events to get within halting distance of the final.

Despite the possible loss of points in the 10,000 meters final, Shea's clean cut victory today gave the United States an outstanding lead in the unofficial point score for the games, possibly enough points to clinch the first championship of this sort the United States ever has won. Tonight the score stood 43 points for the Olympic hosts, 25 for Canada, and 8 for Norway. No other nations have scored in three finals.

The hockey prospects of the nation improved considerably today as the combination of former college and club stars making up the United States team walloped Poland 4 to 1. The defeat was the second for Poland in two games.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

An overhauled and remodelled University of Iowa basketball team will attempt to shake off the ignominy of a tenth place position in the Big Ten standings tonight when the Hawkeyes meet the Chicago Maroons face to face. Now meeting the Maroons face to face is nothing to get afraid of.

The Midway quintet, unchanged and unrenovated, has lost four straight conference games, a record identical to the Old Gold's. The Maroon offense has been seven points weaker than the Hawkeyes and their defense seven points stronger.

The best introduction Parker Bennett, Gueldner Krumbholz, and Ben Selzer give of themselves to Iowa cage followers will be a lot of baskets and free throws. Bennett can sink his baskets from under the basket, Krumbholz a little further back, and Selzer from any distance this side of mid-floor.

Baseball players, starting this season and henceforth, will be persons to be watched, cheered or jeered as the occasion demands—but not to be spoken to or posed with. This taboo in the majors against conversations and picture posing between spectators and players is to be regretted.

Half the fun in watching a game from a box seat or the bleachers was in exchanging a few or many remarks with the players. Babe Ruth was especially noted for his outlandish addresses to bleacher fans at Yankee stadium. It has not been reported how the Bambino will take this new rule.

Athletic legislators wrote another regulation into the books yesterday when the A.A.U. banned amateur athletes from appearing in movies. They don't storm Hollywood's gates as it is, but then a rule seemed necessary.

Ernie Schaaf Scores Technical K.O. Over Ruggirello in Fourth

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Ernie Schaaf of Boston scored a technical knockout over Salvatore Ruggirello, big Italian, in the fourth round of their heavyweight battle at Madison Square Garden tonight. Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the bout after a minute and 28 seconds of fighting in the fourth round with Ruggirello standing helpless in Schaaf's corner. Schaaf weighed 209, Ruggirello 203.

Small Local Five Fails to Push Visitors

Rhue Counts 6 Goals, 1 Free Throw to Lead Scoring

By JOHN LANE
Hopes of the Iowa City high school cagers for a second conference victory crumbled last night before the attack of the Clinton five, that left the locals on the depression end of a 33 to 15 count last night in the City High gymnasium.

Towering over the diminutive locals, and out-speeding them on the floor, the visitors led from the start, and were never in danger of being tied after the first quarter. In spite of the lopsided score, the game was fast and interesting all the way, with the Little Hawks trying hard until the final whistle.

Rhue scored six baskets and a free throw to take high point honors for the game. The Little Hawks were restricted to five baskets, and these were well scattered, Soucek, Ersland, Marech, O'Brien and Elberts scoring one each.

Peterson Scores Basket
Peterson opened the game with a basket for Clinton and Rhue dribbled in to make another. A basket and a free throw by Marech gave Iowa City a moment of hope, but Peterson retallied with a free throw and another basket. Rhue scored another goal, and the quarter ended with Clinton leading, 9 to 3.

The next quarter opened with a string of foul shots, Domsalla counting four out of three trips to the foul line. Rhue and Simon dribbled in for a basket apiece, and Domsalla made good on another free throw. O'Brien counted a goal for Iowa City as the half ended with Clinton leading, 15 to 5.

O'Brien Counts Two
Rhue and Domsalla each tossed in another free throw as the third quarter opened, but O'Brien retallied with a brace of charity shots. Clinton, however, came back with a free throw by Peterson and two baskets from the talented Rhue. Ersland and Peterson broke even with a goal each as the quarter ended with Clinton hopelessly in the lead, 27 to 9.

The visitors took another spurt at the opening of the next period, Rhue making a basket and Rogers following with another. Semuth tossed in a free throw for the locals, but Newlin came back with a basket. Elberts, who had starred for the locals in the preliminary Freshman-Sophomore game, came to the front again with a free throw and a basket. Soucek, Little Hawk captain, finished the game with a follow-up basket after an attempted free throw.

Iowa City Wins in Frosh-Soph Game

A wild scoring streak by Elberts brought the Iowa City high school freshman-sophomore cagers an 18 to 10 victory over the Clinton freshman-sophomore quintet in the preliminary battle of the regular Iowa City-Clinton game here last night.

The score was tied at 8 to 8 early in the last half, when Williams counted a basket for the locals and Elberts cut loose with his scoring spree, making two free throws and three baskets in quick succession. Peterson's goal for Clinton ended the game, Elberts was high scorer of the contest, with a grand total of 11 points.

U. Hi Beats Anamosa by 34-18 Count

First Win of Season for Local Five on Home Floor

By HARRY BURRELL
The University high dribblers ran wild last night to drub Anamosa 34 to 18 for their first win of the season on the home floor and their second Little Seven conference victory.

Taking the lead at the first whistle, the Blue and White shot their way to victory in as wild and rough a game as has been played on the local courts this year.

The newly found offense clicked in a fashion that made the small crowd of wild eyed rooters forget the rest of the season. Free throws and baskets fell in with a regularity that took the heart out of the invading team.

With every man starting in turn Wyjack and Dill led the local offense with nine and eight points respectively. Wyjack's total was made in the first half, and then Coach Joy Kistler withdrew both Wyjack and Meintzer. Meyers and Zimmerli played the entire second half.

O'Toole, Anamosa forward, was the leading scorer of the game with 13 points. The entire team played a fine brand of ball but could not keep up with the wild pace set by the winners. The losing team committed 16 fouls and the Kistlermen made good on 12.

Meintzer opened with a shot from the corner, O'Toole sank a free throw and the Anamosa threat was over. Wyjack dribbled in for two points and converted when Remley fouled on the shot. Remley dropped in two gratis shots and Meintzer and Fairchild made good from the foul line to put the winners ahead 7 to 3.

Wyjack put in a free throw and Fairchild, Wyjack and Phillips dribbled in for shots. O'Toole followed in for two points. Wyjack and Dill scored in the charity lane, and Phillips and Wyjack counted from the floor. O'Toole rang up a basket, and Fairchild and Phillips scored to make it 23 to 7 at the half.

Oxford Juniors Trim U. High, 20 to 7

Handicapped by the loss of three stars, William Ritow, James Barron, and Edward Thomas, the University Junior High quintet was no match for the Oxford juniors and were defeated 20-7 in the first half of a bargain bill at the riverside school tonight.

Lack of size and inability to hit the hoop with any consistency made the locals no match for the visitors. Oxford got away to a 5-1 lead in the first stanza, were leading 9-4 at half time, and 14-7 at the end of the third period. In the last quarter they dropped in three tallies while holding the losers to no points.

HAWKEYES POISED TO REPEL CHICAGO'S INVASION TONIGHT

Among the University of Iowa basketball players who are likely to see action tonight against the Chicago Maroons quintet are Howard Moffitt, regular forward and second high scorer in the Big Ten; Harold Eshleman, reserve forward; Jack Kotlow, former regular who now ranks on the second team at forward; and Douglas Filkins, another ex-regular who has lost his first string guard post to one of the new sophomores. Filkins and Kotlow are certain to play a portion of the contest even though they have not been named in the starting lineup.

First Indoor Track, Field Meet Planned

Iowa, Grinnell, Drake, Iowa State to Compete

An Iowa state indoor intercollegiate track and field meet will be held for the first time March 19 in the University of Iowa field house, Coach George Bresnahan announced yesterday.

Competing in the meet will be Iowa State, Grinnell, Drake, and University of Iowa. The proposed meet, which has been discussed for some time was not definitely decided upon until yesterday. Whether or not the meet will become an established yearly institution is not known as yet.

An outdoor meet similar to the indoor carnival takes place at Iowa City every June. In previous years Iowa has usually come out on top of the heap, always scoring heavily in seconds and thirds as well as taking a major portion of firsts.

Last year Iowa State took second place to Iowa in the outdoor event. In the indoor meet Iowa will be minus the aid of such last season outdoor and indoor stars as Edward Gordon in the high jump and broad jump, Everett Ferguson in the quarter mile, Henry Canby in the pole vault, "Red" Conway in the dashes, and L. D. Weldon in the javelin.

On the other hand several new men have appeared this year who may well stem the tide of state competitors. Outstanding in the hurdles is Capt. George Saling, who may be relied upon to take care of his events, the 60 yard high hurdles and the 60 yard dash. Walter Nugis seems to be a comer in the dashes and has approached record time on several occasions.

Robert Okerlin last year attained 13 feet and is expected to do more this year. Stuart Skowbo with a sterling 1:55 half mile last year can be counted on a par with any cinder-james in the state.

The meet will include the following events: 60 yard dash, 60 yard high hurdles, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile run, two mile run, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, and one mile relay. Coming as it does in the middle of March the meet will find the Hawkeye tracksters in the peak of condition.

"Navy Bill" Saunders Coach at Colorado U.

BOULDER, Colo., Feb. 5 (AP)—William (Navy Bill) Saunders, for the last four years football coach at Colorado Teachers college, today was named head football coach of the University of Colorado. He was given a five year contract.

Saunders, one time star lineman of the United States Naval Academy, later was line coach at Colorado Aggies. Tom Kassis, Notre Dame star of 1930, who was line coach under Myron Witham last season, will be released.

There's Something 'Fishy' About This! Ask Iowa Tankers

Cealo Mohawk, 55 years old "human seal" who claims to hold practically all submarine and trick swimming world's records, gave a preview of an exhibition of his art before the varsity swimming team yesterday afternoon.

Mohawk claims he has swum over 15,000 miles under water. He says he swam 378 feet under water one breath in Chicago in 1927. He has presented his unique performances in all parts of the world. The only assistance he has when he presents his water shows is two pet seals who put on their small part of the program.

Beginning his training when he was 3 years old, he was put on over 2,500 exhibitions and has circled the globe 16 times. He has swum in every large river in the world including the Nile and the Amazon.

The features of Mr. Mohawk's water shows are his under water bullet and rolling back seal turns which are done below the surface of the water with the use of only his hands. He can float as easily as swim and does so both upright and upside down.

Iowa to Rely on New Men in Gym Meet

The Old Gold gym team's star hope lies low on the horizon today. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the Hawkeye gymnasts meet Minnesota at the field house gym, pitting inexperienced men against an impressive lineup of letter men who have placed high in conference meets in recent years.

Coach Albert Baumgartner has been handicapped by the loss of nearly all of his best men. Only five men are defending Iowa's title today, and are compelled to double up on every event. Three men of the five are competing for their first time, and only two men are veterans, while five of the northwesterners' team are veterans.

Working for Iowa will be: L. W. Cassell, high bar, flying rings and side horse; Capt. E. A. Merten, high bar, rings and parallel bars; R. E. Bolte, rings, parallel bars and tumbling; C. A. Laughhead, high bar, and parallel bars; T. H. Kern side horse.

For Minnesota: Robert Hill, high bar, side horse and tumbling; Leonard Marti, high bar, rings and parallel bars; Stanley Simons, high bar parallel bars and tumbling; Donald Rollins, side horse, rings and parallel bars; Kenneth Pottle, side horse and rings; Carl Zapffe, side horse; Gilbert Wenzel, rings and tumbling.

Simons and Rollins are co-captains of the northern aggressors and both letter men, as are Hill and Wenzel. Rollins was placed third all-around man in the conference last year, Simons placed third in tumbling, and Hill did the same two years ago.

Frank Filip of Cedar Rapids will supervise and judge the contests.

Theta Tau's Meet P. K. P. Quint Today

Greek Cagers Tangle in Crucial Game of Tourney

The Theta Tau basketeers, fresh from a one-sided victory over Delta Chi Thursday night, will endeavor to make it two wins in a row when they tangle with Phi Kappa Psi this afternoon, continuing the round robin championship flight of the sectional winners in the "A" inter-fraternity league.

A victory for the Theta Tau men would make them outstanding to cop the prize, while a setback for the Phi Psi's would virtually eliminate them from the race as they were unexpectedly defeated by the Pi Kappa Alpha team in the first round game.

Based on performances of the two teams in their first games, the Theta Tau's are easily dooped to win. They ran up 36 points on the Delta Chi outfit, showing the best scoring punch of any team so far. Three members of the team, Aschenbrenner, Mulliken, and Clearwater, rang the bell for 30 points.

The Saling-less Phi Psi's looked like anything but champs in their game with Pi Kappa Alpha, their first defeat. In all of their sectional victories they displayed a powerful offensive drive, but were stopped cold by the Pi Kappa Alpha defense, locating the basket but for seven points.

League Announces Schedule
KEOKUK (AP)—Dr. C. R. Loan, president of the Mississippi Valley Baseball league, said that a tentative schedule had been drafted for the 1932 season which meets with the approval of the Davenport, Moline and Rock Island clubs. He said that because of the geographical location of the three cities, they present the greatest difficulty in schedule making.

Champions of the northern aggressors and both letter men, as are Hill and Wenzel. Rollins was placed third all-around man in the conference last year, Simons placed third in tumbling, and Hill did the same two years ago.

Frank Filip of Cedar Rapids will supervise and judge the contests.

Irish Fall in Last Minutes of Close Tilt

Pinney, Captain Megan Star for Local Quintet

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
OTTUMWA, Feb. 5 — Losing the lead in the last minute of play for the first time in the game, St. Patrick's prep cagers of Iowa City were edged out by St. Mary's of Ottumwa, 18 to 17, in a fast, clean game here tonight that thrilled to the end.

With a minute to go and the Irish ahead, 17 to 16, Burns, Ottumwa guard, was fouled in act of shooting. He converted both tries to send his team in the lead. Donohue, St. Pat's forward, had an opportunity to tie the score but missed from the free throw line.

Although suffering defeat, the Iowa Citizens played a splendid game. Ottumwa fans saw one of the best contests staged here this season.

St. Patrick's held a 5 to 3 margin at the close of the first quarter. At the halftime the visitors led 8 to 7. The third quarter count was 14 to 12 in favor of the Irish.

Pinney at forward and Captain Megan at guard turned in the best work for St. Pat's. The former was the high point man of the encounter with five field goals and a free throw. Megan was the only other player to score for the Irish from the field.

Burns and Doran starred for the winners.

Vogel Issues Summons to New Players
In issuing another call for freshman baseball candidates, Coach Otto Vogel stated last night that the purpose of this preseason practice was to give as much individual attention as possible to the yearling performers before the squad moves outdoors.

So far the following candidates have reported: Arthur Osland, Moline, Ill.; Joseph Hanson, Le Mars, Ken Miller, Erie, Ill.; Wilton Hays, Forest Park, Ill.; Vero Wolf, Stacyville, Ill.; Otto Bjornstad, Spencer; Gettald Weese, Danville, Ill.; Harold Searle, Rockford; Stan Bazan, Cicero, Ill.; Laurence Faut, Earlville; Frank Peplin, Oelwein; Joseph Skalovsky, Sioux City; Donald Webber, Sioux Falls, S. D.; Ray Bailey, Royal; Donald Simon, Nevada; and Robert Carson, Davenport.

Practice for freshman will be continued every night at the field house at 7:30.

Carnera Defeats German Fighter

BERLIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, tonight defeated Ernest Guersching, German heavyweight, in a scheduled 10 round bout when the German was forced to retire in the fifth because of an injured foot. Guersching had held his giant adversary even up to the time he was incapacitated. Former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm was among the crowd which saw the bout.

JINXED GERMAN OLYMPIANS

The jinx seems to have taken up a permanent roost on the shoulders of the German Olympic bobsledders. A few days ago Germany's number one team met with a serious accident while making a practice run. The number two team, which took their place in the lineup, met with a similar fate. Rounding a deadly "shady corner" curve on the Olympic run at Lake Placid, N. Y., the sled crashed, seriously injuring every member of the crew. This picture, made at the start of the ill-fated run shows, left to right, Fritz Grau, pilot; Max Ludwig, Helmut, Hoffman, and Albert Brehme.

Plans Move in Formation of New Bank

Citizens Invest $73,000 in Stock of Local Institution

By WENDELL GIBSON

Plans for the organization of a new bank in Iowa City took a big step forward yesterday at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce committee at the Hotel Jefferson. Seventy-three thousand dollars of the necessary $150,000 had been definitely subscribed.

However the executive officer of the new institution will be required to invest from $10,000 to $25,000 in capital stock and there are numerous subscriptions wherein the subscriber has not definitely indicated the amount which will be taken.

Lee Nagle, chairman of the committee, asserted yesterday that these additions would place the amount of subscriptions at approximately $190,000. This means that only $50,000 remains to be subscribed before the bank can apply for a charter.

May Diminish Surplus
Members of the committee also indicated yesterday that the $50,000 previously required for surplus might be diminished to $25,000 in order to hasten the opening of the bank. They desire all interested persons to get in touch with them immediately in order that they can determine if this step is necessary.

Payment on these subscriptions is to be made by March 15. The committee feels that the bank should be opened at the earliest possible moment and that by this date their plans will be definitely formulated so that they can move without delay to supply the much needed banking facilities.

County May Control Stock
Merritt C. Speldel, a member of the committee, stated last night that the committee is desirous of maintaining the control of the bank in Johnson county. Thus far all of the subscriptions have come from this county.

However there have been many people from other parts of the state who have called on the committee with a view to investment in the capital stock of the new bank. One offer of $75,000 has been received by the committee for a controlling interest.

Committee's Duties Routine
Members of the committee described their present duties as routine since their work now consists of interviewing prospects. However they have two important decisions left to make. These are the choice between a national or state institution and a site for the new bank.

Two sites are now being considered. These are the First National bank offices and the Johnson County Savings bank offices. The committee desires to obtain a lease upon such a site with a view to ultimate purchase. The Johnson County bank building is listed on the assets of the receivership at $185,000.

Committee Organizes Jan. 21
The new bank committee of the Chamber of Commerce was organized Jan. 21 to provide Iowa City with permanent banking facilities. The remaining two banks in Iowa City, the First National bank and the Iowa City Savings bank failed Jan. 20.

Since that time the committee has held daily meetings with a view to organizing a bank as quickly as possible. However the committee took the stand of making haste slowly in order to provide this community with a worthwhile institution.

Interview Financial Experts
Members of the committee have interviewed financial experts and studied the situation in Iowa City carefully. The plan of capital structure was drawn up and approved at a conference with L. A. Andrew, superintendent of banking for the state of Iowa, in Des Moines.

The committee also took the stand that the new bank was a community project from the start and have not solicited subscriptions preferring to accept subscriptions from interested members of the community. The results of this plan have demonstrated the desire for a locally controlled bank.

The committee will continue its daily meetings. No definite time for the meetings has been set but they will be held at the convenience of the members. Meetings will only be discontinued with the establishment of the new bank.

Members of the committee are Lee Nagle, Chester A. Phillips, Merritt C. Speldel, Albert Sidwell, Prof. H. L. Rietz, Henry G. Walker, Arthur Cox and Willis W. Mercer.

Girl Scouts to Hold Life Saving Tests

Girl Scouts will continue their February program today with junior life saving tests from 9 to 10 a. m. at the women's gymnasium. The examinations will be conducted by Prof. Marjorie Camp of the women's physical education department. Following this instructions in house-keeping will be given by Mrs. Alice Whites at the scout headquarters, from 10:30 to 11 a. m.

Beginning Feb. 16, a course in home nursing will be given by Mrs. E. D. Plass. Plans are being made for celebrating the birthday of Lord Baden-Powell, Feb. 22. A two weeks' training course for leaders will begin Feb. 29 at the women's gymnasium. Leaders are being invited to attend all classes, which will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

"I Didn't Mean to Kill Him," Exclaims Eddie Allen While on Witness Stand as Slayer

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 5 (AP)—"I didn't mean to kill him," exclaimed Eddie Allen on the witness stand today.

"I didn't mean to shoot him," he declared in defending himself against the charge of murder for shooting Francis A. Donaldson. Hisses for the district attorney and hand clapping for the young man on the witness stand battling for his life and freedom, echoed through the court room in one of the most unusual murder trials ever held in Montgomery county.

Sister Listens
Throughout her brother's testimony and while the crowd was applauding him, the young defendant's sister, Rose, sat at the side of the room, tight-lipped and unmoved. The defendant, in telling of the alleged relations of Donaldson with Rose apparently tried to say as little as was necessary about the betrayal.

The court room was electrified when young Allen took the stand. Steadily he recounted events on the night of the shooting.

Lying on Sofa
He was lying on a sofa, he said, when Donaldson and Lucas came in unannounced and he told them he could not talk to them about his sister when they explained their mission. He asked them to leave, he said, and they refused. He walked to the telephone to ask for help.

"Donaldson grabbed me, swung me around and hit me in the mouth," Allen went on. "I never raised a hand; I didn't have a chance, he knocked me down and pummeled me."

Summons Aid
He said he summoned help and both Donaldson and Lucas refused to leave at the request of hotel employees. The defendant said he did not know what to do. He feared Donaldson and Lucas would harm his father. Finally he decided to get his shot gun at the home of a friend in Villanova.

When he came back he said, he heard Donaldson say "there's the—"
"I thought he was going to beat me—kill me," the defendant said. "I didn't aim that gun, but raised the gun and pulled the trigger and shot. I didn't mean to kill him—really I didn't."

markets. He reminded his audience that decades of fierce competition brought the world to a point in 1914 where "All that was needed was a murder in the Balkans to touch off the hatred."

Asia Affects U. S. History
Professor Livingston traced U. S. oriental trade from a substitute for partial loss of English commerce after the American Revolution to a prime factor in the purchase of Alaska and in the construction of transcontinental railroads and the Panama canal to make Asiatic areas more accessible to the manufacturing east.

But rising Japan had a Monroe doctrine policy all her own for the Pacific. Gradually, by naval conferences in 1922 and 1930, she gained its partial recognition. Meanwhile U. S. attention turned elsewhere as postwar years brought $10,000,000,000 in war loans and $17,576,000,000 in foreign investments, only $995,000,000 in the entire orient. Also, immigration minimized the "yellow peril" and a "red menace" took its place.

And now, concluded Professor Livingston, as U. S. interest returns to that "great arena of the future" where "red" and white and yellow meet, it is as an associate of England and France and the League of Nations that she shares future responsibility for the successful maintenance of "capitalism, Christianity, high material standards, and law."

Best of Possible Worlds?
"The present economic situation has focused our attention on the fact that we are not living in the best of all possible worlds," began Professor Haskell. Man, he said, is caught in the grip of a vice whose one jaw is rapid population increase with accompanying growth of wants and needs, the other a limited area into which that population can expand.

The vice's jaws tightened as the twentieth century opened. An industrial world once devoted to supplying a mounting demand was being forced through machine mass production to find outlets for an ever increasing surplus.

Mankind working together might have solved the problem. Mankind working in national divisions evolved only a jungle level of competition. Each nation today seeks protection behind the economic ramparts of political tariffs while its industries are depressed by inability to pierce foreign tariff barriers. With only remote likelihood of mutual agreement toward lowered tariffs, Professor Haskell deems the present disorder a gloomy basis for prediction of the future.

To assembled history teachers Prof. E. F. Lindquist said that Iowa 1931 academic meet results showed most high school students "know only that events took place sometime, somewhere" but not "why, how, and wherefore." He remarked that on the same test 54 seniors in a middle western university, prospective high school teachers, made an average grade below 2,300 class A high school pupils and not very much above the entire 9,000 prep

Former Davenport Mayor Competes in Gubernatorial Race

DAVENPORT, Feb. 5 (AP)—Louis E. Roddewig, attorney, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He announced his decision following a meeting of Democratic leaders and said his platform would be made public later. His name was suggested for the place in a recent meeting of party members of Des Moines.

L. W. Housel of Humboldt is a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Roddewig served two terms as mayor of Davenport and for several years was police magistrate. He was graduated from the University of Iowa law college and was admitted to the bar in 1906.

Iowa City Troops Try for Second State Championship

Aiming at a second consecutive state championship over three Iowa regiments of national guardsmen, troops of the Iowa City unit of the 115th cavalry regiment, recently fired 2,208 points out of a possible 3,000 in the first stage of the chief of the militia bureau indoor rifle match.

Last year, the initial year of the competition, the local troop, after hitting the bulls-eye for the state championship, won second in the national contest in which 48 states, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia competed. Massachusetts won the shoot.

The present competition, the results of which will be announced next week, is between Council Bluffs, Des Moines, Ottumwa, Washington, and Burlington troops in addition to a machine gun company at Oskaloosa and a headquarters company at Des Moines.

He was president of the Clinton Herald company, and headed the W. J. Young company, the Iowa-Illinois Bridge company, the Clinton National bank and the Clinton Savings bank. He also was interested in the Clinton Street Railway company and owned considerable stock in the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and in copper mines.

Born in Clinton, Sept. 23, 1870, Young was the son of W. J. Young, a pioneer resident and owner of extensive lumber interests. He used his father's old office to carry on his various enterprises.

He was unmarried. Surviving are a brother, W. J. Young of Tucson, Ariz.; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Hancock of Los Angeles and Mrs. Esther Burgess of Chicago.

The funeral service has been arranged for Monday afternoon.

test takers.
Prof. Elmer Ellis of the University of Missouri criticized social study teacher training as too remote from professional needs. Flaws in the system, he thinks, include introductory survey courses of "junior college" quality and too specialized major programs. He feels also that colleges must "stop trying to train high school teachers to be school administrators or research specialists."

Grand Jury Reports on Late Indictments; Dismissed by Judge

Grand jury for the February term of district court reported on indictments made since last Wednesday afternoon before Judge R. G. Popham. Nature of the indictments was not made public.

Estill Williams, who was being held to the grand jury, was released when the jury failed to bring an indictment against him. Williams had been charged with larceny of domestic fowls.

Report of the county farm was submitted and found satisfactory by the court. The jury was excused and dismissed by Judge Popham until May 2, 1932, when they will be called for the May term of court. The dismissal was subject to recall should the court find it necessary.

Johnson County Savings Bank Reorganizers Ask Depositors for Aid in Protecting Assets

Members of the reorganization committee for the Johnson County Savings bank yesterday sent a letter to each depositor of the closed institution asking cooperation in the furtherance of their plans.

Members of the committee said last night that their mailing list was incomplete because of a lack of proper addresses and asked that any depositor who does not receive this letter call at their offices in the Johnson County Savings bank building.

The letter reads as follows: "To the depositors of the Johnson County Savings bank: "On or about Dec. 16, you received a letter from this committee outlining the proposal for reorganization of the bank. The response has been gratifying and many have responded for their quotas of new capital stock."

More Banks Closed
"Since you have received our letter more local banks have closed and Iowa City and Johnson county are suffering for the need of banking service as never before."

"It is necessary that we now complete this reorganization effort for the following reasons: considerably more than half of the stock has been subscribed; we have received many cash subscriptions; local business demands banking facilities."

"We of the committee are willing to continue our efforts for your benefit and must have your help. You have our unqualified loyalty and support. This committee has no axe to grind and your interests are ours. This is an opportunity for cooperation and service. We must have banks, let's have the

Johnson County State bank (suggested new name). "The management is up to you as a stockholder, your choice for the board of directors. We have many good men available. If you are interested in saving your money, if you believe the assets of the old bank should be protected from loss by sacrifice under present market conditions, respond to this opportunity to help reorganize this bank."

"We expect 20 per cent of your frozen money (no new cash) for capital stock and we believe you will save money by response. Here is an illustration of the working of our plan. If you have $750 on deposit in the old bank. Of this amount $350 will be assumed as liability by the new bank. One share of capital stock, or $150, will be deducted from this $375 when the bank begins business. The remaining $375 will be collected by trustee under supervision of the court and the state banking department."

"Enclosed is a form for your use; please fill out your quota and mail or bring it to headquarters in room 203-4 in the Johnson County bank building on or before Feb. 15 if possible." Signed—New bank committee.

The form enclosed in the letters provides for new subscribers and deposit subscriptions in the proposed reorganization. Each share sells for $150 and payment is subject to the call of the committee.

Stocks Grow Uneasy; Show Price Decline

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Stocks became manifestly impatient today at the absence of news which it could call favorable and prices declined quietly throughout the session, closing two points lower on the average.

Rails, for no readily apparent reason, were particularly despondent; their heaviness, however, seemed to be interpreted as an argument in favor of lower quotations elsewhere, with the result that utilities and industrials slid off easily. Volume, reaching 1,081,040 shares, represented a considerable expansion from yesterday but was too moderate to cause much comment.

Delaware, Hudson Lose Heavily
Delaware & Hudson had the largest loss in the rail group, down 5 1/2 net. Atlantic Coast Line was close behind it, and there were 3 to 4 point sags in Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific and Louisville & Nashville. Elsewhere, steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Case, Allied Chemical Consolidated Gas, North American, Eastman, American Can and American Tobacco dipped 1 1/2 to 2 1/2.

The market now remains slightly less than two points of the January rise which carried the Standard Statistics-Associated Press 90 stock composite from the low of 60 to a high of 70.8, today's final average price being 61.8. This naturally brings to the fore the question of whether last month's minimum will be violated. Brokers point out that the answer is near at hand.

Find Slight Improvement
Mercantile reviews found some slight improvement in retail and wholesale trade, partly in preparation for an early opening of spring business.
