Crowley Considers Offer to Coach Here; to Reply Soon

Says Answer Forthcoming in Few Days

Confers With Athletic Board Members in Chicago

Cautious official sources and James Crowley himself last night confirmed rumors of the week that a committee from the Iowa board in control of athletics Monday made the Michigan State mentor an offer to come to Iowa.

The official confirmation, extremely guarded, was accompanied by a statement that if Crowley accepts the Iowa offer that fact will be announced at a board meeting some time this week.

No indication Crowley's statement, carried in an Associated Press dispatch from East Lansing, Mich., announced that he would give his answer "in a couple of days," but gave no indication as to what it would be. He made the announcement after his return from conferring with Hawkeye representatives in Chicago.

Crowley, one of several candidates for the Iowa grid job, visited Iowa City some time ago and shortly after announced that he was "no longer interested." He continued to remain the principal favorite for the position left vacant by the resignation of Coach Burton A. Ingwersen, however, and the Iowa board, having decided upon him as the logical man, sent a committee to interview him at Chicago over the week end.

Salary Increase

Until that time no offer had been made to him. He yesterday refused to state what Director E. H. Lauer of the Hawkeye board had promised him in the way of salary, but it is known that the amount specified is a substantial increase over his present salary of $8,000.

Official information indicates that Crowley has tentatively agreed to sign, providing that he can obtain release from his two year contract at Michigan State and certain minor matters have been straightened out.

Would Bring Assistants

If he comes here he will bring his own assistants, and one of them will undoubtedly be Glenn Carberry, like Crowley a graduate of Notre Dame and a student of the Rockne system.

At the time of Crowley's visit here he indicated that he would have little difficulty in obtaining a release from his present position if he decided to come to Iowa City. Reports from East Lansing last night pointed in the same direction.

3 Contractors' Bids Referred to Committee

Fifteen contractor's bids for the proposed $35,000 classroom annex for the school of fine arts were publicly opened yesterday, the last day on which such bids were receivable by the university buildings and grounds department.

The three low base bids were those of the Tapager Construction company, Albert Lea, Minn.; Buerkin and Buerkin, Burlington; and A. F. Connon, Dubuque. The lowest bid was $19,298.

The three bids were referred to the building committee of the university for its final decision, which Arthur A. Smith, acting superintendent of the buildings and grounds department, said would be given within the next few days.

The new annex will be erected south of the old isolation hospital on the corner of Gilbert and Jefferson streets. The annex and the hospital will house the school of fine arts. Space will also be provided for the rehearsals of the university band and orchestra.

Reich Snaps Under Strain of Verbal Riot

Hitler Aid Excluded for Insult to German President

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Reichstag snapped under the strain of presidential politics today and when the bedlam subsided, Adolf Hitler's chief lieutenant had been excluded for offering "a serious insult to the head of the state," President Von Hindenburg.

The fiery Joseph Goebbels had taken the floor to discuss fixing the date of the presidential elections for March 13, but instead launched into a violent tirade against the president, declaring he had left the voters in the lurch.

Mingled cheers and jeers greeted his increasingly sharp remarks, the government benches howling him down, and the national socialists urging him on.

He turned to the smiling Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, and charged that other nations would not make treaties with him because "they know you do not represent Germany." He said "the man of tomorrow is coming."

Further tumult greeted his charge that the president was supported by "superannuated excellencies from the stone age" and by the social democrats, "the party of deserters."

Here bedlam broke loose. Members almost came to blows. The speaker, suspended the session, the first in four months, for half an hour to allow the members to cool off.

Officials Seek Mt. Pleasant Blaze Origin

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 23 (AP)—The belief that the fire which early today destroyed the Seeley Memorial high school here might have been of incendiary origin led authorities to an investigation regarding the circumstances of the $150,000 blaze.

When firemen arrived at the school, they found the doors unlocked, contrary to custom, but the flames were under such headway that they could do little except save the records in Superintendent C. W. Cruikshank's office.

An airplane on the Chicago-Kansas City mail route turned 10 miles from its course when its pilot discovered the fire. He aroused the sleeping residents of the city.

Two thirds of the estimated loss was covered by insurance.

Erected in 1906 as a Y.M.C.A. structure, the building was given the city by the W. B. Seeley estate and remodeled for school use.

Norris Flays Court's Action Against Labor

Senate Hears Charges Opposing Injunction Issued in Iowa

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senator Norris of the judiciary committee today pointed to a federal court injunction issued in Ft. Dodge, Ia., as an example of the decisions he said resulted in "economic slavery" for the American working man.

Opening the senate debate on his bill to curtail the injunctive powers of federal judges, the Nebraskan declared the injunction granted in 1929 was a "crucial document."

Scott Issued Writ "When I was furnished a copy of this injunction," the Nebraska senator said in reference to the writ by U. S. Judge Scott, "I did not believe that it was true. I could not believe that any judge could issue such a cruel document."

He said the injunction prevented the defendants from telling anyone a strike was in progress. "Their mouths were absolutely closed and free speech was absolutely forbidden," the senator said.

The document in question was issued on the application of the United States Gypsum company in the summer of 1929. The defendants were officers and members of two Gypsum Miners union which had previously gone out of existence.

Prison Labor The circulars are said to have charged the company officials with hiring prison labor, using a "yellow dog" contract and claiming that a strike had been in force at the Ft. Dodge mill since 1921.

Under the bill Norris advocates, "yellow dog" contracts would be outlawed. These, he said, "take away from the laboring man the right to have anything to say about any of the conditions connected with his employment."

Iowa Senator Flays Picture Industry for 'Indecent' Films; Violation of Anti-Trust Laws

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Charges of issuing "indecent" films, violating the anti-trust laws and raising a "smoke screen" to prevent action by the authorities were made against the motion picture industry today by Senator Brookhart (R-Iowa). He urged a senate investigation.

From C. C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the motion picture producers and distributors, came a prompt answering statement that the movies have "nothing to fear from a senatorial inquiry" although the producers feel such a move would delay solution of their economic problems.

Startling Revelations In presenting his resolution for a searching investigation, Senator Brookhart predicted it would equal the teapot dome oil inquiry "in importance to the public and in the startling nature of its revelations."

He denounced the movies as having become "even more degrading" since the "Hays morality code" was promulgated by Will H. Hays, president of the motion picture producers and distributors of America, Inc., "to quiet the hue and cry."

Let's go... America!

Money at work means men at work. It builds factories... runs railroads... buys materials... hires men. That's why America must get its Idle Dollars back on the job. That's why we must keep our money in circulation. Put your money where it will produce interest for you and employment for others.

Put those Idle Dollars back to work and start things rolling

Come on, America... Let's go!

We're the richest country in the world. We have the men. We have the machines. We know how to work.

And we have the money... somewhere. That's the problem. We have the money... but a lot of it is not working.

Withdrawn from circulation... lying idle instead of working... are a billion and a half dollars. Enough to put every unemployed man back to work. And enough to start every wheel turning again.

Money is the life-blood of business. It buys raw materials. It builds factories. It runs machines. And pays salaries.

Shut off this source of power and business suffers. The wheels slow down. Men are forced out of work.

It's a vicious circle. Every dollar withdrawn from circulation reacts through the retailer, the wholesaler and the factory right to the ultimate consumer who is thrown out of a job.

Don't you see the point? Your money is needed in circulation.

Every dollar you put to work... releases 5 to 10 more in credit.

Active money earns interest for you... and produces employment for others.

Keep your money safe, of course. Nobody wants you to act unwisely. But release it in a conservative way... and let everybody benefit.

If there's any question in your mind... talk to the ablest business men you know. Then get their advice and counsel.

Let's go... America! Let's get our dollars back to work and start things rolling.

This advertisement has been printed by the publisher of this newspaper without cost. This patriotic service has been rendered regardless of political beliefs or editorial opinion... in an effort to bring you these important facts about idle money. The newspaper publishers of America deserve the nation's praise for this generous public service.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1932

Nothing can stay the rapid progress of the Republic. She is all right."
—1921—

When deep, dark gloom ruled Thomas Fortune declared: "Our merchants have been buying only what they can sell quickly for cash. The consumer has had to listen to so much pessimistic talk that he buys only what is absolutely necessary. People everywhere have been scared. They are getting over that."

"Our people are the greatest consumers of food and manufactured articles in the world in normal times — and normal times are coming back."
—1893—

Stark ruin stalked through the land. A total of 467 banks failed in a few months. Mills, furnaces, and factories shut down everywhere. Bankruptcy was on every hand. America had twice as many unemployed per thousand population as she has today.
—1932—

The national government, headed by President Hoover, has started into motion a movement against "hoarding" of private funds by persons throughout the United States. An act, which will result in cash being put into circulation, will replenish the life blood of business.

Public confidence, shattered but not destroyed, will return. But 1932 is not yet history; it is present reality, and it is hard to see ahead with the clear vision of the past.

TODAY'S TOPICS
By FRANK JAFFE

Because the League of Nations considers that since the Sino-Jap affair is of worldwide significance, it is no more than right that the U. S. should come into peace negotiations with that body. And so the league plans a brand new commission, with the U. S., Turkey, Soviet Russia, Argentina, and a few others as members.

The work of the commission will be to formulate a definite plan of action or carry out suggestions made at the league council's extraordinary session, acting solely on the findings of this session, now scheduled for March 3.

Although league officials certainly appreciate the American attitude, adverse toward participation in the league's deliberations, they are hoping that this country will forgive and forget, join hand in hand with her brethren and sisters nations, let bygones be bygones and take up the good cause of peace and goodwill.

The United States, of course, will do nothing of the sort. Especially now, since officials at Washington have practically given up all hope of ever getting back a decent reply to diplomatic notes they have sent to Tokyo and Shanghai.

And besides, close friends of President Hoover are certain that he won't even listen to pleas of petitioning educators for an economic boycott against Japan, either by the U. S. alone, or through concerted action of all nations. The particular petition initiated last week by Newton D. Baker of Ohio and President Lowell of Harvard was the one which drew from Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee the designation of "turning the face of the American people toward another war."

So, it would seem that the league will have to plod along without the U. S. Maybe, later on, when things have cleared up a little and the U. S. is fed up with waiting, maybe then the U. S. will ask the rest of the world to join her in peace overtures. That will be time enough for all concerned.

Grain Prices Get Setback Despite Sales

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Liquidating sales led to sharp setbacks in grain prices today, despite announcement that 1,500,000 bushels of north American wheat had been taken for overseas.

Constructive news from abroad exerted less influence than expected, and weakness of feedstuff values had a bearish effect on wheat. No. 2 yellow corn was selling on an immediate delivery basis 6 cents a bushel lower than May contracts, a market situation rarely met with at this time of the year.

Wheat closed unsatisfactory at almost the day's bottom level, 1-2 to 1 lower than Saturday's finish, corn 3-4 to 1 down, oats 1-2 to 1 off, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents decline.

Setbacks in securities were an adverse element as to wheat during the last part of the day, although earlier ignored. A disappointing close at Liverpool after the wheat market there had shown independent strength was also an incentive to holders here to let go, together with Washington reports of proposed new enactments to put commodity exchanges under additional restrictive regulations.

Provisions followed the course of hog values and tended downward at the last despite liberal exports of lard as compared with a year ago.

Closing indemics: Wheat—May 59 1-2 to 59 5-8, 61 1-4 to 61 3-8; July 61 1-8 to 61 1-4, 62 7-8; Sept. 62 3-4, 64 1-2. Corn—May 38 3-4, 39 1-2 to 39 5-8; July 41 3-8, 42 1-4; Sept. 42 3-4, bids.

A Court of Claims

THE year has been unparalleled in the history of the United States, and the owner of a store on the road brought claim against the state for compensation of loss in trade; a mad dog bit a number of hogs, which the owner killed; and he then asked for compensation; rain washed mud on a paved road, a car skidded and was damaged, and the owner brought a compensation claim against the state.

All of which brings the question "Should Iowa establish a court of claims?" In 1929 there were 20 claim bills based on injury or damage arising from highway construction or maintenance alone, or involving a state owned vehicle, and in 1931 there were 33 such bills. The highway program of this state in the last few years has brought an increased number of claimants before the legislature. From 1917 to 1927 the claims averaged 25 per session of the legislature.

The apparent absurdity of many of these claims has been pointed out repeatedly, and a more judicial method of their handling is the suggestion. The claims are now taken up by a joint claims committee of the legislature.

Why clutter the legislature with foolish demands? A court of claims would seem to be the logical solution.

The Clearer Picture of History

THE year has been unparalleled in the history of the United States," said John H. Patterson. "Great questions were to be solved, every industry was stagnant. Some closed down, some lost courage, while a few pushed ahead and worked harder than ever with confidence in the future. We did not let the hard times interfere with our work."
—1907—

When pig iron dropped 50 per cent, Andrew Carnegie stated: "This panic will soon run its course and pass away leaving no impediment to the return, in due season, of another period of wholesome, because needed, expansion of our resources. . . . We have had the greatest expansion of modern times. Reaction had to come — will prove healthful,

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—This new South sea film of Doug Fairbanks will be a burlesque on "Robinson Crusoe."

The day before he sailed for Tahiti, Doug was describing the story to a small group in his dressing room at United Artists.

Briefly, the plot calls for Doug's character to leave a yacht, accompanied only by a small dog, and through exercise of ingenuity to support life on a desert island. Paralleling the Crusoe legend, there's a savage, who will be called "Friday the Thirteenth."

The whole adventure will be filmed in a spirit of farce and slapstick comedy. The title of the picture, in the same vein, will be "The Tropical Knight."

Hollywood doesn't expect its famous wanderer to return before two or three months.

Ginger Rogers is excited over selling her first song, "Used to Be You." Rudy Vallee crooned it the other evening. . . . Junior Laemmle collects stamps, at least he still has the fine collection his father bought him several years ago in Dresden. . . . Joe E. Brown calls "Mata Hari" "That big wig picture."

While in San Francisco, Joe paid a visit to San Quentin. He was amazed to hear a familiar voice hail him. It turned out to be a fellow who had sung in the choirs of two of Joe's musicals. He's up for pulling a fast one on a bank. . . . Joe also cracked a couple of jokes for the women inmates. . . . Clara Phillips, Los Angeles hammer-murderess, was a listener.

Rich Soil in West Due to Lava Deposit

Miners and fruit-growers of the western states owe a debt of thanks to the tremendous forces of volcanic action which created the valuable mineral deposits and the rich soil of the orchard areas, according to Prof. Joseph J. Runner of the geology department.

The vast upheavals deep within the earth dissolve in the lava the valuable metals such as gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, and zinc. The metals are set free at the time of the lava's solidification, and are precipitated in veins of ore deposits, he said.

California's gold veins, and those of Colorado and Alaska, were formed in that manner, as were the silver deposits of Nevada and Idaho; the copper of Arizona and Montana; and the lead and zinc deposits of Utah and Idaho.

Volcanic ash, or rock material blown to fine dust by ancient volcanic explosions, is the base of the soils in Washington and Oregon. Here are some of the world's finest orchards, existing because the volcanic ash is rich in plant food so necessary for successful fruit-raising, the university geologist asserted.

Mark the Calendar, Easter Hovers Near

"One good turn deserves another," or in this case, the recess occasioned by the celebration of the Washington bicentennial deserves to be, and will be, followed by another in the form of the annual Easter holidays, beginning with the close of classes March 23.

Six days will be allowed for the vacation, and classes will be resumed at 8 a. m., March 29, two days after Easter Sunday.

New York Teacher to Conduct Course in Girl Scout Work

A short course on Girl Scout leadership under the direction of Ida May Born of New York city will be offered Feb. 29 to March 12 at the women's gymnasium. Its purposes are to start new leaders and to make suggestions to present leaders for further work and improvement.

Miss Born will lecture at 2 p. m. and 4 p. m. on each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of the two week period. She will also be available at other hours for conferences on Girl Scout problems.

One hour of academic credit will be given to students who complete the course and conduct a Girl Scout troop for the remainder of the semester.

Anyone interested may register for the course, whether a university student or not, by paying the required fee at the office of the women's gymnasium.

Thornton Will Tell of South in Lecture

University Directories to Go on Sale Soon

Lecturer Will Tell of British Labor Moves

Rennie Smith, former member of British Parliament, will lecture in the geology auditorium March 2 at 4 p. m. on "The growth and significance of the British labor movement." Arrangements were made by the college of commerce.

Mr. Smith is one of the younger defeated members in the recent downfall of the labor government of Great Britain. During his lecture tour of the United States he plans to tell America why the labor government fell, what the future of labor is, about the work of the national government, and to discuss such economic problems as unemployment and tariffs.

For four years Mr. Smith was directing secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, an organization federating the national societies in Great Britain working for peace. He has been a frequent contributor to the British press, and in 1927 published "General Disarmament or War?" In the recent labor government he acted as private secretary to the under-secretary for foreign affairs, and as secretary of the British group of the Inter-Parliamentary Union.

Debaters Practice

Women debaters from Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., provided opposition for Iowa's varsity debate squad in two practice debates held here yesterday afternoon. The cancellation of war debts, which both the Augustana women and Iowa men will discuss in future conference debates, was the topic for the discussion.

Rhodes Scholarship Competition to Take Place in Each State

There will be competition for Rhodes scholarships in each state again this year, Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, secretary of the Iowa committee, has announced.

The United States will be divided into eight districts of six states each with each district eligible to four scholarships which are tenable at the University of Oxford. Each scholarship is made for two years with a possible third year.

Applications are due not later than Oct. 22 and should be sent to the secretary. State elections will be held Dec. 10 and district elections a few days later.

Mr. Postel is working on the design as a portion of the required work for his M. A. degree in engineering, his work being supervised by Thomas G. Caywood, associate professor of mechanical engineering.

The address is part of the university's program in observance of the one-hundredth anniversary of Goethe's death.

U. High Five Upsets Little Hawks 19-17; St. Pat's Cagers Triumph 25-15

Free Throws Decide Rough Intra-City Tilt

Phillips Stars With 11 Points for Blue, White Five

By DEWEY CUMMINS

Ability to make free throws gave the University high school basketball team a 19 to 17 victory over the Iowa City high quintet in a fast and ragged game that was marked by many fouls at the Little Hawk gym last night. Although the Little Hawks made more field goals than their opponents they were forced to take the short end of the score when the river school five outscored them from the free throw line.

Van Phillips, University high center and only regular to return next year, was the outstanding man of the evening when he took scoring honors with 11 points, Ed Fairchild, flashy little guard, played a good offensive game as well as defensive.

Eberths Leads Hawks

Eberths, who climbed from the Little Hawk freshman-sophomore team to the varsity five within the last two weeks, acted as the big gun for the Red and White when he divided scoring honors with his teammate, Captain Soucek, both making 5 points. Although only a freshman the flashy guard was the main cog in the City high defense.

Ballard, another sophomore to become varsity caliber within the last two weeks, played a nice game at a forward position. After getting off to a slow start the river school lads opened the scoring when Captain Meintzer dropped in a free throw after Soucek fouled him. The City high captain immediately followed this with a long shot from center putting his team in the lead. Eberths and Fairchild both missed charity tosses before Eberths scored three points with a long shot and a free throw. Phillips counted two charity tosses just before Soucek dropped in a free throw to end the quarter with Iowa City high leading 8 to 3.

U. Hi Takes Lead

The second quarter opened with Phillips missing a free throw after Soucek fouled him. Fairchild also missed a charity toss before Phillips scored two free throws at Marresh's expense, then followed with a short shot under the basket scoring the first field goal for University high. This put the visitors in the lead to the end of the half 7 to 6, as they held the Little Hawks scoreless during the period.

James substituted for Brown and Mutchler for Soucek to start the second half. James immediately broke into the scoring column when he lifted one in from under the basket. Meintzer knotted the score when he scored a free throw shortly before Eberths tallied a long one from center. Phillips again broke into the scoring list when he made four points through one field goal and two charity tosses. Soucek, who went in for James, followed Fairchild's long shot with a set up under the basket as the quarter ended 14 to 12 in favor of the river school.

Rally Falls

Ward, a new addition to the City high squad substituted for Ersland as the third quarter opened and counted three points with a field goal and a charity toss to put his team in the lead 15 to 14. Wyjack tied the score when he counted from the free throw line after Brown had fouled him. Phillips put his team in the lead again with a short shot, followed by Dill with a set up. A last minute rally by the Little Hawks fell short as Ballard scored one under the basket a few seconds before the final whistle.

8 Matches for Iowa Riflemen This Week; R.O.T.C. to Have 5

Eight varsity and five R.O.T.C. postal matches are on the Hawkeye rifle team's list for this week. In the varsity section shots will be exchanged with Leland Stanford university, Alabama Poly-tech., Gettysburg college, De Pauw university, Penn State college, Texas A. and M., and the North Dakota athletic club of Fargo, N. Dak.

The R.O.T.C. squad will compete with Syracuse university, Oregon State college, Michigan College of Mining, Davidson college, and Montana State college.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Ruedge

The door to the Big Ten basketball cellar may swing open for the Hawkeye cagers if they are not careful. Their two victories are not enough to assure them of a place higher than last. If Chicago can repeat its win over Ohio State on the Buckeyes' floor Saturday night and if Michigan plays true to form to upset Iowa here the same night—the Old Gold colors will be hauled down to the cellar.

To carry speculation a bit further, Iowa and Chicago will meet on the Midway court next Monday night under circumstances identical to those of the battle here Feb. 6, which the Hawkeyes won, 43 to 25—in a scrap for tenth place.

The changes in the football rules have aroused determined opposition on the Pacific coast. Coach "Slip" Madigan of St. Mary's is the spokesman for the reactionary mentors. Madigan fears that the rules alterations will result in a split-up in national football with each section having its own grid code. "Soon we may hear of the Pacific coast football code, the mid-west football code, and the far eastern football code," he said.

From Champaign, Ill., comes a news item that Coach Howard Jones of California is going to receive a present, one which he will probably not be thankful to get. The sender is Coach Bob Zupke of Illinois.

Zupke has sent Jones what he calls his "Hoodoo Hat"—a battered and worn felt headpiece the Illinois mentor has been wearing for the last two years. Zupke thinks the hat is his jinx and is only too willing to get rid of it by sending it out to Jones.

Rumor hath it that Dr. Clarence Spears, Oregon's high salaried football coach who hasn't been doing as well as was expected, is being named prominently as a possibility to succeed Thistledwaite at the University of Wisconsin. Spears formerly coached at Minnesota.

The improvement in the University high school basketball team has been outstanding. What a dismal season this has been in basketball for City high school cagers. . . . Defeat at University high's hands last night was their tenth of the season. . . . The best they can hope for in the Mississippi Valley cage conference is a tie for last place, which they can get by trimming Grant high of Cedar Rapids there Friday evening.

Iowa to Meet Wildcat Track Men Saturday

Fifteen-man track and field teams representing Iowa and Northwestern will meet Saturday afternoon in the Hawkeye field house in the first dual meet ever held between the two universities.

Lacking the array of outstanding talent such as possessed by Notre Dame and Minnesota, victors over Iowa, the Wildcats probably will enter the meet as the underdogs. These are the men entered by Coach Frank Hill of Northwestern: Ford, Heyne, Jens, Dixon, Hall, Payne, Webster, Forrest, Duggins, Tetting, Wilks, Olson, Mandelbaum, Reed, Rudolph, and Harkonen.

Iowa's competitors probably will be Okerlin, Adamson, Nugnis, Dean, Handorf, Story, Thurston, Sansen, Youngerman, Campisi, Klewin, Bryant, Lagerquist, Troit, and Skowbo.

It is unlikely that Captain George Salling, whose absence probably cost Iowa a victory over Minnesota last Saturday, will be able to compete. The star hurdler and sprinter is nursing a potential muscle pull with the hope of being ready for the conference indoor championships March 11 and 12.

Commission Moves Deer DES MOINES, (AP)—Several head of deer will be moved from the Clive game farm to a timber tract in Monroe county owned by James Bradley of Centerville, the state fish and game commission has decided. The commission recently voted to abandon the Clive farm.

Hawk Hopes Will Rest on Fast Offense

Prepare Speedy Attack for Contest With Michigan

A driving offense, with fast breaks to the basket, will be used by the University of Iowa, basketball team in an effort to whip Michigan here Saturday, if the Hawkeyes obey the instructions of Coach Rolfe Williams.

Indiana, the coach emphasizes, need never have defeated the Hoosiers last Saturday had the team realized in the first half that the quick spurts would split the Hoosier defense.

Teaches Team to Drive

Coach Williams is attempting to bring the players out of the habit of standing still-footed with the ball whenever Parker Bennett manipulates the tip-off as he pleases. The team fails to capitalize on this tip-off advantage and in the first half of the Indiana encounter was content to attempt a slow penetration of the Hoosier ranks.

Four of the Wolverine quintet are veterans. Michigan has won five of nine conference games, including a 40 to 22 victory over Iowa at Ann Arbor Feb. 15, but took drubbings from Illinois and Northwestern last Saturday and Monday.

Michigan Scorers Potent

When the players are shooting well, the team is almost unbeatable, with Captain Norman Daniels, DeForest EVELAND, and Ivan WILLIAMSON sinking a large majority of shots. Daniels now has 85 points for third place among the Big Ten scorers, a position above Howard Moffitt, the Iowa who has made 72 markers in the nine games.

Iowans hope the Michigan game will mark the end of defeats by scant margins. The team has lost seven conference games, but three of them went to opponents by a total of six points, including a one-point loss to Indiana, two points to Minnesota, and three to Ohio State.

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 23 (AP)—Signing of contracts today by Pitcher Fred Marberry and Catcher Roy Spencer was first result of the training season opening by the American league Senators of Washington.

Carl Cramer, Ohio State university quarterback, is going in for swimming and boxing during the off-season.

Iowa Grapplers to Clash With Tutors in Next Dual Meet

Wrestlers of the University of Iowa, upset by Chicago last week, step outside the conference Saturday for a dual meet with Iowa State Teachers at Cedar Falls.

The Hawkeyes will depend upon Rollo Parmenter, unbeaten 125-pounder; Captain Lawrence Mueller, who has won two of three 113-pound bouts; Burton Dull, undefeated at 145 pounds; Clarence Johnson, winner of two of three 155-pound matches; and Clarence Hubbard, who took a decision in his only start in the 165 pound division.

Gopher Board Ponders Over Crisler's Job

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—Faced by the possible loss of H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, athletic director at the University of Minnesota, three members of the university board of regents and Dean J. C. Lawrence of the president's office held a conference today to discuss the situation.

The meeting was called after Crisler announced he had been offered a position as head football coach at Princeton. Friends of Mr. Crisler said he had been offered $12,500 a year by the eastern institution, compared with $8,500 annually he receives at the Gopher school.

The results of the session were not announced. Fred B. Snyder, presiding officer of the board, stating he wished to consult with Dean Guy Stanton Ford, president, and with Mr. Crisler, before commenting.

Only Two Holdouts Left on Pirate List

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP)—Sore muscles and aching bones were forgotten in the Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp tonight.

Everybody was happy over the news that the holdout list has been cut to two. Pitchers Helmie Meigs and Steve Swetonic are the only Bucos dissatisfied over the salary offered them. Larry French, one of the mound aces, blew into camp today, signed the papers and went to work.

Prepare for High School Track Meet

April 4 Date of Iowa Indoor Carnival at Field House

Competition for state indoor championships in track and field events, as well as for the team title of 1932, will attract more than 500 young athletes to the University of Iowa's field house, April 2.

The meet, eleventh interscholastic affair to be held in the field house, is sponsored by the department of athletics at the request of the Iowa High School association. More than 50 schools send competitors to the 1931 affair.

Fourteen events, 10 of them for individuals, are upon the official program announced yesterday by George T. Bresnahan, Hawkeye track coach. In each event four places will be scored.

This is the program: 50 and 440-yard dashes, half and mile runs, running high and broad jumps, pole vault, 12-lb. shot put, and 60-yard high and low hurdles. The relays are two-thirds mile, medley mile, mile, and two mile.

Entry blanks now are being mailed to each high school in Iowa, a total of more than 900. All entries must be filed with the department of athletics by March 23. The meet offers the sole opportunity for indoor competition this season for Iowa schoolboys.

Fairfield is expected to defend its team championship, won with 40-12 points. North Des Moines was last year's runnerup, with 23-14 points, while Davenport was third with 22-12.

186th Hospital Five Enters Independent State Tournament

The 186th Hospital company basketball team will enter the state independent basketball tournament, Manager Harold Vestermark announced yesterday. The tournament is to be held this Friday and Saturday in Marshalltown.

The hospital team thus far has won 18 of its 21 games, losing only three by close margins. In contending for the state title the locals will have a chance to avenge two defeats handed them by Rath's Packers of Waterloo. The hospital five is undergoing thorough workouts in preparation for the state meet.

Heavies Win From Lights in Quad Play

Victors' Power Gains First Game of Series

Forging ahead in the last period after two frames of even basketball the section D heavies copped the first game of the all-Quad championships from the section D lightweights 23 to 20 last night at the field house.

The winners' offensive was led by Osborne who garnered five baskets, two of them in the last period. Both teams were keyed for the match and showed it during the opening periods, the defense tightening in the close moments and the offense strengthening to meet the competition.

There was no letup in the last period, the heavies just exhibited more power than the losers could produce.

If the strong finish made last night can be repeated in the second tangle which is scheduled for Thursday night the heavies should have little trouble acquiring the title of both weights. There is still lots of fight left in the lightweight team, however, and the loss may prove incentive enough to win.

The lineup for last night: section D heavies, Osborne and Jacquier, forwards, Wellstead, center, Kensing and Case, guards.

For section D lightweights, Mason and Mudge, forwards, Sherman, center, Anderson and Feay, guards.

Because of the small list of entries, the wrestling tourney has been called off.

Burke Holdout

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 23 (AP)—The failure of pitcher Bobby Burke, self declared holdout, to appear for the spring training here for the second day after he was ordered to report was the chief item of interest today in Washington Senators circles.

Re-elect Sidney Strotz

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sidney Strotz today was re-elected president of the Chicago Stadium corporation, operator of Chicago's huge sport palace. The term will be his third since he succeeded Sheldon M. Clark.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (AP)—Gorilla

Jones, Akron Negro, world's middleweight boxing champion, has been matched for a 10 round bout with Chuck Burns, San Antonio, Tex., the night of March 4. The title will not be at stake.

Hawkeye Diver to Defend Loop Title for Second Season

Big Ten diving champion for two years, Wentworth Lobdell, Iowa, will try to make it three in a row this year, a distinction claimed by few men. Bird, former Minnesota diver is one of the few men to hold the title for three times.

Chief among Lobdell's rivals this year are Degner, diminutive Michigan sophomore, and Willard of Minnesota. Both these men have been performing in top style this year and will probably give the Hawkeye diver his most serious competition.

Hawk Water Poloists Have Clean Record

With two victories and no defeats this season, the Hawkeye water polo team is tied with Illinois for first place honors in the Big Ten conference. Illinois also has two scalps on her belt this season, but the two teams will not have a chance to meet this year as there is no tank meet scheduled.

Coach Dave Armbruster is stressing polo more this season than he has for a number of years. In former years with little or no practicing being done on polo, Iowa has not been a serious contender for the conference championship, but this year an effort is being made to give the dope bucket a decided upset.

Steve Nielson and Harvey Lloyd, both playing forward, and Tad Close, holding the position of center back, seem to be the most outstanding men on the Iowa team. Close was high scorer in the game against Minnesota last Saturday with a total of three goals.

Hornsby Holds Base Running Practice for Cubs; Grooms Hack

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Feb. 23 (AP)—After spending a day or so each on infielders, pitchers and outfielders, Manager Rogers Hornsby, today had his young Cubs out for drill in the school of base running.

Of the infielders, young Stanley Hack who cost the Cubs $50,000, was given plenty of attention and seemed to absorb what the boss told him.

Third Quarter Rally Fails to Overtake Irish

Pinney, Link Tie for Scoring Honors in Rough Tilt

By JOHN LANE

Taking an early lead over their rivals, the St. Patrick's cagers staved off a desperate third quarter rally to down St. Mary's of Ottumwa, 25 to 15. In a rough contest last night at the local gym.

Megan Opens Scoring

Megan's long basket opened the scoring, but Doran retallied with another. Scannell came back with two baskets, and Pinney with one to put the Irish ahead, 8 to 2, as the first quarter ended.

Early in the next period, Megan made a free throw and Pinney got a basket, but Link's two baskets and a free throw by Burns neutralized the advantage, as the half ended with the locals leading, 11 to 7.

Donohue's basket opened the second half, but Link came back with another. Scannell made a free throw, but Link came back with Link and Burns wiped out the advantage. Another basket by Scannell was neutralized by Link's goal, as the quarter ended with St. Pat's clinging to a 16 to 15 lead.

Visitors Wilt

In the next quarter the visitors wilted, and the Irish did a beautiful job of stalling to hold them scoreless, while the local offense outscored nine points. Two baskets by Donohue, two by Pinney, and a free throw by Glenn gave St. Pat's a substantial margin as the game ended.

The Gay Bandit of the Border

By TOM GILL

SYNOPSIS

For years, Paco Morales ruled the pecos in Mexico with an iron hand, confiscating their lands and driving them from their homes, but the crisis has come. "El Coyote," the mysterious bandit, avenges every outrage perpetrated by Morales. The ranchers await their unknown protector's word to revolt. Morales with the aid of the U. S. Cavalry has searched for the bandit in vain. Ted Radcliffe, an American whose late father was ruined by Morales, is in love with Adela, the Spaniard's beautiful niece. Jito, Morales' ward, is jealous of Ted. Bob Harkness, Ted's friend, tells him he has plans for settling the score with Morales. While out riding, Ted and Adela lose their way and spend the night in the desert. Adela resents her uncle's suspicions. Later, Bob returns home with Ted and learns that some of his cattle were stolen. He doubts that "El Coyote" is responsible and goes with Ted to Mendoza's, a gambling resort, to investigate.

CHAPTER XXXI

"It's a kind of roadhouse, isn't it?" "Oh, much more than that. It's a cabaret, dance hall, gambling hell, and inn about which the least said is the better. It is there you can find the best-dressed and the most dangerous women of the border. It is there, too, you can find all the plain and fancy gunmen you may ever need. Jito recruits his vaqueros there. If you want anyone killed, there are a dozen men who will be eager to quote you rates over at Mendoza's. Human life varies from fifty pesos up. Abduction is much more reasonable. Mendoza himself, the old rascal, has the best wine and the worst morals in Mexico. He has deserved killing dozens of times, but his passing will be a loss to the border. For Mendoza, be it remembered, is a great artist in this intricate game of life."

"Is that where the girl they call Ann Reed lives?"

"Bob's eyes were raised quickly. 'What do you know of Ann Reed?'"

"Only that she is a singer over there and that she is one of the most beautiful women on the border. I remember somebody at the major's saying she had the voice of an angel with a lost soul."

"Not a gallant saying. Some kind of woman must have thought of that. Yes, it's over there that Ann Reed lives and makes men for a time forget that they're just funny, little fighting animals with brief, unimportant lives to live. You may hear her sing tonight." Then abruptly he asked, "Who said she had a lost soul?"

Ted laughed at the other's sudden intensity. "I've forgotten. What difference does it make?"

"None." But he added as they went to the car, "It's an uninteresting thing to say, isn't it?"

And Ted found himself wondering that Bob should resent the saying. "Is she an American girl?" he asked, as they drove out into the night.

"To her fingertips. Yet she speaks Spanish as well as I." Again he asked, "What brought her here?"

"Who can ever answer that question? Life plays one of its little jokes, and we find ourselves out here on the border. You and I, for example."

And beyond that Ted was still in ignorance as to just who Ann Reed might be when a little later they parked the car outside the talk, brilliantly lighted structure that had attached fame throughout the Southwest as the Palace of Mendoza. Somewhere within a band of marimbas was playing Spanish airs, and beyond a half-opened door stretched a long bar, running the length of the building. The sound of popping corks and crackling ice told them that this portion of Mendoza's at least was not unpatronized.

"Dark secrets like that," he cautioned, "deserve closed doors."

Bob leading, they entered the great glass-covered patio and walked down a long lane of tables ringed in cigarette smoke. Surrounding the patio crowded tables were scattered in the half-light about the cleared space that Mendoza held for the dancers. A babel of voices, English and Spanish, rose to greet Don Bob. Waiters hurried among the tables, and everywhere Ted was conscious of the hair and shoulders of women, and of the appraising scrutiny of men. As Ted passed, several of the women raised their eyes, stopping for a moment to follow his broad shoulders. Evidently one dance-hall girl whispered to another, "There's a caballero for you," then turned wearily back to her companion.

Already both men had passed through the low adobe arch into the patio itself, where, under the ever-changing lights cast from above, two dancers were weaving a slow, sensuous tango for the pleasure of Mendoza's varied clientele. A waiter was bowing before them.

"A table for two, Señor Don Bob?" They sat down outside the circle of light, and for a time Don Bob smoked in silence.

"The man I want isn't here," he said at last. He rose. "Sit here and watch the dancing. Ted, I'll be back within the half-hour."

Musingly Bob looked at the room filled with women, whose perfume and laughter rose like a spell about them. "I leave you," he said, "among many attractive playfellows. You know these border people call Mendoza's the 'end of man's desires.' It always seemed a little misleading to me, that phrase. So ciudadano."

Beyond the patio Bob turned and, mounting a narrow stairway, climbed to the upper floor, then passed down a darkened passage at the farther end of which a yellow lamp gleamed. Before a closed door he stopped and knocked.

"Quien es?" Fresh and clear a woman's voice came through the door. An eager voice, and again came the question, this time repeated in English, "Who is it?"

For answer Bob turned the knob and entered.

A girl was sitting there. White, dead-white, her face was almost too white, although it served to make still larger the great dark eyes, and to enhance the brilliance of her blue-black hair. A vivid, unforgettable face. Yet a face strangely sad, a face that seemed created for the world's happiness, but ever unable to find it. She sat before the mirror in a light peignoir, penciling her lips with deep carmine.

As she looked up the gathering frown melted to a smile of quick welcome. Running to him she passed and her long fingers through his hair and kissed him. A long kiss. Her slender body pressed him, while her fingers locked about his neck. She threw back her head and her very eyes caressed him. "Don Bob." The low voice was resonant with adoration. "Don Bob."

Smiling, she added, "Whom others call El Coyote."

"Holden here . . . He looked quickly about him, then laid a finger on her lips. "Dark secrets like that," he cautioned, "deserve closed doors."

"You yourself deserve a closed and bolted door," she drew him to a chair before her dressing table. "It's been days—days and days. Whenever you don't come I want to go to that ridiculous little major over in Verdi and say: 'Give me your bags of gold pesos and I'll tell you who El Coyote is. He is your leading citizen, dear major, but also he is a damned unsatisfactory lover.' Then what would your fat major do?"

"Spunk you and send you back to me, I hope. If he let you escape I'd have nothing in the border country to live for."

"Strange man—as if anyone really mattered to you." Again her long white fingers pressed his cheeks. "Even I, who could easily die for you."

He smiled up at her, then abruptly rose. "When are you singing next?"

"Not for an hour—never if you will stay."

"I'd like to stay always, God knows. Here where there is peace and security and a very beautiful child to spoil me. Only—"

"Only you would get so weary of peace and security after a day or two. I know. There is a curse laid on people like you, Bobs. You never rest, you never love yourself—even in love. Already you are glancing at that clock of mine and you haven't been here two minutes."

Favorites Win Tilts in Greek 'B' Cage Loop

Pi K. A.'s Score 17-13 Victory; Tau Deltas Triumph 28-8

Last Night's Results

Pi Kappa Alpha 17, Delta Tau Delta 13.
Phi Beta Delta 29, Alpha Tau Omega 8.

In winning their second straight victories last night the Pi Kappa Alphas and Phi Beta Deltas leaped into the favorite class to win the trophy of the "B" basketball league. The Pi Kappa Alphas took the Delta Tau Deltas into camp, 17 to 13, and Phi Beta Delta swamped Alpha Tau Omega 29 to 8.

The Pi K. A.'s hot shot forward, Hoegh, was somewhat cooler than he was in the first mix when he collected 18 points. However he located the basket for eight points which was enough margin to win along with the help of Wiekey and Sol. The two fives were deadlocked at four at the end of the first rest, but soon in the second period the Pi K. A.'s took the lead and held it throughout.

Dotsen was the outstanding player for the Deltas. He was high point man of the game with nine points. The lineup: Pi Kappa Alpha—Hoegh and Day, forwards; Sol, center; Wiekey and Browne, guards. Delta Tau Delta: Dotsen and Schoeneman, forwards; Jarvis, center; Kahn and Holmes, guards.

It was M. Kronick doing this and M. Kronick doing that for the Phi Beta Deltas. The big center accounted for 17 of his team's points and was easily the outstanding player of the fray. The A.T.O.'s never once made a serious threat to take the lead. They had little success in holding the victor's offense down and missed consistently from the field themselves. Evans collected five of his team's eight points.

The lineup: Phi Beta Delta—S. Kronick and Ostrin, forwards; M. Kronick, center; Waxenberg and Marcus, guards. Alpha Tau Omega: Pollock and Griffin, forwards; Evans, center; Jebens and Phillips, guards.

The preliminaries of the interfraternity swimming meet which were to have been held last night were postponed until next week.

Vogel Gives Baseball Men Hard Workout

Snappy fielding and accurate base throwing were stressed yesterday afternoon by Coach Otto Vogel at the field house in a brisk workout for the Hawkeye baseball squad.

Again Coach Vogel tried out two lineups. For the first group Ham Schulteheinrich at second base and Dale Filitch at third showed up well. Al Jorgensen at second and the tall sophomore, Lyman Mitchell, played promisingly for the second combination.

Because of limited space in the field house, the outfielders must content themselves with batting practice in the cages. As soon as the weather permits, the whole outfit will start swatting the ball in earnest.

The freshman candidates continue to practice every evening under the direction of "Pops" Harrison. The left handed Charles Blackman, Ray Bailey and "Slug" Pringle continue to show improvement for the yearlings.

Professor Klaffenbach will present a paper on "Some essential considerations pertinent to fixed bridge restorations" before one of the general sessions, and will also present a lecture clinic before the clinic group.

Akron Ready for Duty Soon, Says Builder

LAKEHURST, N. J., Feb. 23 (AP)—The navy dirigible Akron will be ready for the air again within a few weeks, Dr. Karl Arnstein, vice president and chief engineer of the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation, builders of the ship, announced today following a preliminary inspection.

Dr. Arnstein's statement was issued in the face of a declaration from Washington by Representative McClintic (D. Okla.) that the ship may have been irreparably damaged when her lower vertical fin struck the ground in a sudden gust of wind yesterday, and that he would never ride in her.

Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, captain of the ship, and other officers were astonished at McClintic's statement.

City Opposes Public Utility

BEDFORD, Feb. 23 (AP)—The case in which the Iowa Southern Utilities company seeks to have the city of Lenox enjoined from building a $75,000 electric power plant drew closer to a head today when a stipulation of facts was accepted by both counsels.

Protected into the fight today was a motion by the city that a petition signed by five Lenox taxpayers opposing the project be ousted from further consideration.

Intervention of the taxpayers, who, with the utilities company, seek to prohibit the erection of the plant, will be heard at an early date, it was indicated.

Don Evans, of the Des Moines law firm of Carr, Cox, Evans and Riley, representing the utilities firm, contended that the contract for the plant was void because the ballot with which residents indicated their approval of the proposal contained more than one proposal.

The profession of Walter Kroelning, Cleveland, O., is that of head surgeon at a "bowling ball hospital"—a wood turning shop.

Stock Market Prices Slide to Low Point

Sag Fractionally at Opening, Recover, Close Weak

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Stocks slipped slowly backward today in the quietest trading since Feb. 9.

Prices sagged fractionally at the opening, recovered and then lost heart, dropping to an emphatically weak close. Net losses in many instances ranged from 1 to more than 4 points, with the turnover 1,281,213 shares.

Auburn Auto had a 15 point break, although the market was not seriously troubled by the change in fortunes of this volatile issue. Union Pacific's loss of more than 6 seemed to have some weight, since it followed publication of a poor January earnings statement. American Telephone and General Electric fell into heavy going during the last hour, losing 4 1/2 and 2 points respectively. General Motors, Du Pont, Case, American Tobacco B. American Can, New York, Norfolk & Western and U. S. Steel finished 2 to 3 1/2 lower.

An unusually large number of dividend meetings were held. United Corporation declared a 10 per cent quarterly payment on the common which has been on a 75 cent annual basis. This reflected downward revision of dividends last year by two of United's large interests, Columbia Gas and Commonwealth and Southern.

Henry Talks to Kiwanians of Faith Unity

"I don't believe that the founders of our country realized what they were doing when they separated the church and the state," declared the Rev. H. D. Henry of the First Methodist church, at the Kiwanians luncheon at the Jefferson hotel yesterday noon.

The Rev. Mr. Henry explained that the state is supported by taxes, while the church is dependent upon subscriptions of its members. "The church has been neglected," he continued. "The best minds in the country are giving their efforts toward science."

The minister said that moral and intelligent men must lead religious and semi-religious organizations, that all faiths must work together to accomplish a renewal of interest

It So Happens That I'm Not Reducing*

And even if I were, I'd be pretty dumb if I failed to take into consideration that good health is more important than a sylph-like figure . . . and that there are certain food elements that simply must be included in my daily diet if I am to enjoy good health.

Doctors put dairy products at the top of the list of protective foods, and I've found out that I'd rather have my daily portion of milk in the form of HUTCHINSON'S Ice Cream.

HUTCHINSON'S Ice Cream is made of pasteurized cream, milk, sugar, and luscious fruits, and their formula is so well-balanced that I can enjoy its goodness without being afraid of adding any distressing extra pounds.

I was curious about how HUTCHINSON'S made such delicious Ice Cream, so I appointed myself chairman of an investigation committee. I saw for myself the extreme care that HUTCHINSON'S take to make Ice Cream in the most sanitary way possible. No housewife would take such rigid precautions in her own kitchen, no matter how fastidious she were.

And now I have a standing order with my HUTCHINSON dealer for a quart of Ice Cream every day. . . Why don't you do that, too?
