"If You Asked Me, I'd Say--"

Do you have any suggestions to offer in connection with the operation of university employment service for students wishing to work their way, either wholly or in part?

"I believe that some system should be devised whereby by standard wages for specified types of work could be established, and that a daily and consistent list of positions available should be posted so that much of the confusion might be abolished."
—Eloise Walker, A4 of Iowa City.

"The first improvement needed in the university employment service is to so organize it that it can actually secure employment. A student might camp in the employment office from Sept. 1 to Oct. 1 without getting so much as a suggestion as to where he may find a job. Need, qualifications, seniority of application, and persistence in appearing do not seem to count."
—K. E. Hartoft, J3 of Iowa City.

"The present arrangement has the nucleus of a good student employment system. Improvement of the service is now up to the prospective employers who should be urged to form the habit of calling the bureau when in need of help. However, the best advice to students who really need a steady job and who cannot indefinitely take a 'come back tomorrow' answer is, 'Get out and look for yourself.'"
—Harold O. Hegland, L1 of Roland.

"The employment bureau is not given sufficient publicity; many students stare in blank amazement when asked why they don't register with the bureau. I believe, too, that discrimination is shown in the offering of positions. Rather than being selected in the order in which they apply to applicants not fortunate enough to have personal contacts with the bureau."
—Sybil A. Anderson, A4 of Stanton.

Naval Mutiny, Run on Bank Trouble South America

Navy Acts to Prevent Homecoming of Exile

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 7 (AP)—Ecuador's entire navy, consisting of two gunboats, mutinied today to prevent the homecoming of General Leonidas Plaza Gutierrez, vice president and former minister to the United States, who was exiled in 1925.

At the same time a group of 100 rebels seized Ft. Punta Piedra, where they surprised the garrison after they had been mistaken for government troops.

The disturbance took on an international complexion when a party of the insurrectionists, en route to the fort, captured the oil tanker Buaro, the property of an English company.

All these activities failed to prevent General Plaza from landing. He disembarked with his family, had lunch at one of the hotels, and then returned untroubled to his ship, apparently intending to proceed to Duran to entrain for Quito.

Former President Plaza had asserted before he was to land that he would participate in no political activities in Ecuador.

Leaders Seek Quick Action for Tax Bill

Hoover's Suggestions to Congress Stress Economy

Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press) Republican and Democratic senate party leaders declared intention of enacting billion dollar revenue bill with minimum delay. Governor Judd of Hawaii protested to Secretary Wilbur recommendations of justice department investigator for changes in island law enforcement machinery.

Senator Reed (R., Pa.), urged tariff commission investigation of effect of depreciated foreign currencies on American trade. House commerce committee approved bill to repeal recapture clause of transportation act and establish new rate making basis. Chairman Fess of Republican national committee termed regular Republican gains over independents in Wisconsin primary another example of trend toward conservatism in times of world economic distress.

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—

A quick journey through the senate was sought for the tax bill today by Democratic and Republican leaders while its legislative twin—decreased expenditures—continued to draw exchanges between President Hoover and house members.

Hoover's Suggestions

As an outgrowth of President Hoover's suggestions to congress of governmental reorganization to effect economies and demands of Democratic house members that he be specific, the chief executive invited members of the special economy committee to meet him Saturday to discuss the situation. After Chairman McDuffie of Alabama accepted, Mr. Hoover conferred with cabinet members upon the question of eliminating expenditures.

As another part of the economy program, the interior department appropriation bill, cut by $12,000,000, was reported to the senate and immediate consideration is to be sought.

Volstead Amendment

Before a senate committee, amendment of the Volstead act to permit prescription of malt liquor and removal of statutory restrictions on the amount of spirituous liquor that a physician may prescribe was urged by Dr. Warren Coleman of New York.

The senate adopted and sent to the house a resolution authorizing loans of $5,000,000 to residents of southern tornado stricken areas. They would be repayable in 10 years, with five per cent interest beginning the fourth year.

The Rayburn bill to repeal the recapture clause of the transportation act and establish a new rate making base was approved by the interstate commerce committee.

"Melting Pot" Jury Will Try Hawaii Case

Four Days Required in Impaneling; Trial Starts Monday

HONOLULU, April 7 (AP)—A representative "melting pot" jury was completed today after four days of legal maneuvering to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three navy men accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai.

The see-saw tactics of Clarence Darrow, defense attorney, and John C. Kelley, public prosecutor, ended in the acceptance of five men of American descent, three Chinese, one Portuguese, one German, one Dane, and one Hawaiian.

Darrow Puzzled

Darrow, who admitted the cosmopolitan complexion of the panel puzzled him for the first time in 54 years of law practice, sought to qualify Caucasians and discarded Orientals. Kelley strove to keep Hawaiians in the box.

Mrs. Fortescue, well known in Washington and New York society, is on trial with her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U.S.N., and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, enlisted men, Kahahawai, the slain Hawaiian, was accused of an attack on Mrs. Massie.

Accept Jury

"We accept the jury, your honor," Montgomery Winn of the defense, finally said to presiding Judge Charles S. Davis.

Kelley hesitated a moment and then said: "We accept the jury." Judge Davis adjourned the trial to Monday when testimony will start.

Darrow, who previously had predicted the beginning of testimony would find no more than three Caucasians on the jury, said he was satisfied with the lineup—six men of American extraction and the other six of various other races.

"It looks pretty good to me," he said.

Hawks Hurt in Air Crash

Plane Fails to Rise in Attempted Takeoff on Soft Field

WORCESTER, Mass., April 7 (AP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, noted speed flyer, was injured today in an attempted takeoff from the Worcester airport.

A soft field prevented Hawks' plane from picking up enough speed to take the air and it crashed through heavy undergrowth, over rocks and into a stone wall.

Hawks was unconscious when lifted from his wrecked plane and it was first believed he had been critically hurt. His face was badly cut and bruised and X-ray pictures disclosed nose and jaw fractures which doctors at Worcester City hospital said might result in facial paralysis.

Lutherans Re-Elect Bersell to Head Iowa Conference

SIOUX CITY, April 7 (AP)—Dr. P. O. Bersell of Ottumwa today was re-elected president of the Iowa Lutheran conference.

The Rev. A. P. Westerberg of Sioux City was re-elected vice president and the Rev. Waldo Ekeberg of Dayton, secretary.

Dr. Bersell announced that the 60 congregations in the conference collected and disbursed $345,716 last year, and gave $11,718 more to missions than in the previous year.

College, Home for Orphans Profit by Rich Widow's Will

SHENANDOAH, April 7 (AP)—The will of Dr. Alice Terryberry Farragut left $10,000 to Simpson college in Indiana, $45,000 to an orphan's home in Council Bluffs, and $20,000 to Mrs. Anna Cole of Lewiston, Idaho, sister-in-law and nurse of Mrs. Farragut.

Besides the $75,000 in cash, bonds, mortgages, and notes, the widow left 720 acres of land, to be sold at the most advantageous price offered for it in two years. The estate will be settled at once.

C. R. Terryberry Farragut, a nephew, was bequeathed 160 acres and the cancellation of a $37,000 note. George and Walter Rouch and Alice Deel, neighbors, and Mrs. Effie Haak, a niece, were left lesser amounts of cash.

3 Men Await Call in Hunt for Lindy, Jr.

Expect to Make Trip to Secret Place After Contact

NORFOLK, Va., April 7 (AP)—A call which might send one or more of them on a trip to a destination known only to themselves was awaited tonight by three Norfolk men seeking to bring around the return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

Reports Contact

Yesterday John Hughes Curtis, one of the trio, returned after a four day absence and reported he had made a contact and received an assurance that the kidnaped baby was well. He also said he had seen Colonel Lindbergh somewhere on his trip.

Today Rear Admiral Guy H. Burgess, making the only additional statement for Mr. Curtis, the very hey. Dean H. Dobson-Peacock and himself, added that Colonel Lindbergh had requested the negotiators here to continue their efforts.

In Readiness

Admiral Burgess said they were holding themselves in readiness to leave at any time on another such mission as that undertaken by Mr. Curtis over last week end.

Answers to further questions were declined.

Red Cross Group Gives Aid to War Veterans, Families

Applications for soldier's relief and the need for garden seeds for indigent war veterans and their families were among the things considered at the regular meeting of Red Cross officers and directors last night in the city hall.

Claims entered for March as reported by Mrs. Martin Pederson, executive secretary, are as follows: two claims for adjusted compensations, three re-opened claims, two burial expense claims, two compensation claims, and one pension claim. Two disability compensations, three hospitalizations, and four applications for government headstones were reported.

Loans were allowed to six veterans on adjusted service certificates, and half-fares on the railroad were secured for two persons. The report showed that six veterans were sent to Oakdale and nine to the University hospital.

Foolish Men Dared Women to Smoke Pipes--Now Look!

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Pipe smoking, which some foolish men thought no woman would dare take up, is the fad of the moment among many of Park avenue's debutantes and society matrons.

Full credit for the vogue was claimed today by Archibald Charles Montague Brabazon Acheson, fifth earl of Gosford, knight of Grace of the order of St. John of Jerusalem in England, grandson of the Duke of Manchester, and son of the Lady of the Bedchamber for her majesty the queen of England.

Lord Gosford designed the miniature pipe for himself. He never intended, he says, that any copies should be made, but—

What's in A Name?

'Kid' Haley, Wartime Pal, Names Baby Gene After Champ.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 7 (AP)—Gene Tunney knows today that at least one baby has been named after him. It's a girl—Gene Haley.

And "Kid" Haley, stubby little truck driver, knows what he has always suspected, that the former marine and heavyweight champion of the world isn't really "high hat."

Address K. of C.

It started last night when Tunney addressed a Knights of Columbus meeting here. After his remarks, he invited his audience to ask questions.

"Do you remember the chap who went A.W.O.L. with you in Brest?" someone shouted.

Face Lighted Up

"I certainly do," replied Tunney, his face lighting up. "It was "Kid" Haley."

"Well, I'm here," shouted the "Kid."

Pals Shake Hands

They stood on the speaker's platform, Tunney looking like a fashionable in his tuxedo, Haley in his truck driver's clothes. Tunney grabbed the "Kid's" hand before the latter could rub it off on his spotty trousers. Then other admirers swarmed about the former champion and the renewal of friendship with Haley was broken up.

Hoped for a Boy

Reporters had a hard time finding Haley again, but they cornered him today as he was backing his truck into an express company's shed.

"I didn't want to tell Tunney at first that we named our baby after him," said the "Kid" suddenly becoming shy. "I had hopes it would be a boy."

Demos Buy Votes, Says "Alfalfa Bill"

NORFOLK, Neb., April 7 (AP)—Gov. William H. "Alfalfa" Murray of Oklahoma in a campaign address before 2,000 business men and farmers here today charged $50,000 has been brought into Nebraska to buy Democratic convention delegates for Roosevelt.

"You Nebraska Democrats," the fiery Oklahoman shouted, "have a national committee member named Arthur Mullen who brought $50,000 here from the east to buy convention delegates for Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York."

Murray traced the financial history of the United States from revolutionary war days to the present and declared big speculators in the east had only been "flocked once in all time and that was by Andrew Jackson."

Lawyers to Try Case of State vs. Smith Wednesday

Before justices of the supreme court of Iowa, the case of the State of Iowa, appellee, against Sam Z. Smith, appellant, will be tried on supreme court day, April 13, in the house chamber, Old Capitol. The case involves an issue of double jeopardy and comment by state's attorney on the failure of the accused to testify in his own behalf. During the robbery of an oil station in Iowa City, the case states, the two attendants were killed by a single shot fired by one of the robbers. The sole witness to the crime, who was visiting with the attendants identified Sam Smith, defendant, as the man who had fired the shot.

The defendant was arrested and indicted on separate charges for the murder of one; then the state sought first trial and acquitted for the murder of one; then the state sought to prosecute him for the killing of the other. The defendant argued that this second trial would place him in jeopardy again for an offense for which he had been acquitted on the first trial. This plea was overruled by the trial judge and the case went to trial. The prosecuting attorney commented to the jury on the fact that the defendant had not taken the witness stand on his own behalf. To this comment the defendant objected, but the court allowed the comment. A verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned by the jury and the defendant was sentenced to hang. His motion for a new trial was denied and he appealed to the supreme court.

The defendant, Sam Smith, will argue that when two people are killed by one shot only one crime is committed and the accused can be prosecuted only once. Of if this be not true, he claims that acquittal upon first trial for the killing of one of the victims definitely established that the defendant could not have committed the other killing. It is also contended that to allow the comment destroys the defendant's privilege of not testifying in his own behalf and his immunity from being called as witness by the state; that this deprives him of his presumption of innocence and that it compels him to make an affirmative defense.

Attorneys for the state will contend that each killing constitutes a separate murder even though but one shot was fired, and that first acquittal for the killing of one could not determine that the defendant did not fire the shot which killed the other attendant, because it was for an entirely different offense and could not be passed upon by the first jury. The state will also contend that the comment does not deprive the defendant of any rights or privileges warrants the comment. Attorneys for the state are James E. Carroll, L3 of Davenport, and E. Marshall Thomas, L3 of Ft. Madison; attorneys for the defense are Charles W. Wilson, L3 of Estherville, and Harold Gilbert, L3 of Fairfield.

The largest allotment will go to Woodbury county, $86,075 for interest and $150,000 to retire maturing issues.

Freedom of the Press

The history of American journalism has been a constant struggle against restriction and censorship. Despite constitutional edict, federal and state laws and supreme court decisions, the battle is not over. Columbia university, famous for its liberal policies, has expelled Reed Harris, editor of the Columbia Spectator, because of his editorial policy.

Wednesday, Columbia students resorted to physical force in their efforts to obtain—and oppose—the reinstatement of Harris. Athletes, whom Harris had accused of professionalism, are bitterly opposed to Harris. Seven of the eight members of the Board of Student Representatives who approved of Harris' expulsion, were athletes.

Despite the fact that Dean of Men Hawkes insisted that the "question of free speech does not enter into this case in the slightest degree," and that Harris was punished for "personal misconduct," his dismissal without a hearing seems a violent attack on freedom of the press. Whether or not his attack on professionalism, the college dining room food, various organizations and military training was justified, he had the privilege of honest criticism, a privilege that belongs to every newspaper editor.

Columbia's defense of its action against Hawkes is an admission of weakness—the unfavorable publicity the university will receive from the dismissal and the resulting student warfare will do the institution more harm than all of the attacks made on the administration by Harris.

Schools of journalism are the training grounds of the newspaper men and women of tomorrow—the future of the American press depends upon the courage and integrity of these students of today. It is essential that these young men and women leave their universities with the same spirit that has inspired American journalism for 200 years.

The cowardly of the newspaper profession are forgotten—but Zenger, James and Ben Franklin, Greeley, and Dana live on, the great newspapers of the country a tribute to their courage and skill. Stringent censorship of college newspapers must be stopped or the newspaper men of the future will lack the backbone that true journalists must possess. Jack Leach of Northwestern, Reed Harris of Columbia—these are the men who are carrying on the traditions of American journalism.

It is unfortunate that one of the first schools of journalism in the country should set such an example for the nation—Reed Harris has joined the long list of newspaper martyrs.

At Iowa Avenue Bridge

A CRASH audible behind the closed windows of a university building half a mile away signaled the collision Monday night of two automobiles, both coming from U. S. highway 6 into an intersection where no stop signs checked their speed. A local delivery truck bound north to west side fraternities collided with a hill-accelerated coupe.

Who had the right of way is debatable but it is possible to determine the question in the future by installing two more stop signs at the corner proved dangerous by the accident.

It may have been unwise to route U. S. highway 6 south before the connecting portion north along the interurban tracks was completed. But that has been done, and the remedy now should be to check traffic where it may cross to the damage of life and property.

And like so many city intersections where it has been necessary to install four-way stop signs, this instance should point toward the desirability of observing arterial markings. Absence of the stop sign is a prolific cause of highway accidents.

Public Taste in News

SEVERAL weeks ago one of the nation's outstanding historians died, and a university faculty member was indignant because a prominent state paper buried the occurrence away in a corner of its columns with two short paragraphs and an insignificant headline. Most newspapers failed to mention the circumstance.

This week a race horse died, and the name Phar Lap was splurged in banner headlines on sports pages all over the country, with an amplitude of details. Doubtless the history professor was again indignant.

Whether the historical writing of Frederick Jackson Turner has interest beyond his own profession there is no doubt. Not only did his The Frontier in American History give the tone to nearly all subsequent writing about the covered wagon pioneer and his fellow conquerors of a continent, but that collection of inspired essays has been accepted as literature by competent critics outside the field of history.

As to Phar Lap, he will not matter to many persons six weeks from now, and would not matter so much now were it not for a partly artificial interest the public has for sports. Newspapers handled his death the way they did by way of catering to public taste, even Will Rogers remarking earlier that the name sounded "like a mouth wash."

Whether the American public wants such contrasts as that between newspaper handling of these two deaths to represent its news interests is for the American public to decide. That Phar Lap had earned $332,750 and was valued at $500,000 may have justified an elaborate autopsy and the subsequent attention. But the instance justifies the cynical conclusion that a nation has gone dollars and cents crazy or sports mad and that the pendulum might well begin to swing in the other direction. Certainly the reading public does not value an individual's obituary altogether according to the insurance he carries.

Crack at Students

(From the Daily Texan)

A hard crack at the students of the colleges and universities of the country was made recently when Henry M. MacCracken, president of Vassar college, said: "Students are not people because they do not function as people should. They are not influential as they should be in the management of their colleges or in the control of public opinion."

If colleges and universities of the country will throw off some of the medieval shackles and ancient hide-bound subject matter and methods of the ancients, and will rebaptize the higher educational institutions of the world in the gulf of real human need they could rededicate themselves to the best in the ancient culture and finest of the new. Young people would not be bound so closely to traditional class rooms and they could be trained to tie the flesh and blood of live learning to their every day life.

True some colleges and universities of the country are becoming modernized, and no balanced thinker would contend that this age should throw into the discard the best in the culture of the past; but it is equally true that some are not, and that there is need for those who will demand that the present college curriculum be not topeahy with the limited vision and culture of bygone days.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

If signs mean anything, King George of England has no intention of leaving his throne for some time. The other day H.R.H. sent his best crown, the one he wears on high state occasions, to the cleaners for a little repair work. When it was returned, the crown had been raised up one inch, reinforced so it wouldn't sink again, and each of its 3,000 jewels shone with a new lustre.

Back in 1839 when the crown was made for Queen Victoria the manufacturer didn't think it would last until 1932, evidently, so he wasn't so particular about making it to hold its shape over a long period. Subsequently it shrank and began to look so much like last year's topper that George decided it needed renovating. At least, he's going to be comfortable, even to spite the old legend about "Uneasy lies the head."

Because of a "grave general situation" the Chilean cabinet handed in its resignations yesterday and then went into executive session with representatives of the military. Whether that presages a new revolt in Chile is undetermined but it is a definite reflection on the general economic condition of the world.

The revolution in Chile last year came about because of an unprecedented drop in the price of nitrate. Copper, Chile's other important export, also fell to new low prices.

With a per capita debt of $150 a year and an annual $40,000,000 necessary to maintain debt payments, Chile's position is financially unstable and politically precarious. Like most other Latin-American states, Chile is a hotbed of revolutionists, although the country rates as one of the most aggressive in America Hispana.

Increased production of synthetic nitrogen fertilizers throughout the world, particularly in Germany and the United States, and the subsequent fall in price compelled a drastic reorganization in the Chilean industry. Now the government owns one-half of the $375,000,000 Chilean Nitrate company.

In the years 1880-1892, the Chilean government collected nearly a billion dollars in export taxes on nitrate and iodine. With most of that source of income depleted following a shake-up in government was certain. Following the bestowal by congress in 1931 of dictatorial powers upon President Carlos Ibanez, a close succession of cabinets attempted to take the government in hand.

President Juan E. Montero, chosen during a riotous election last year attempted to put the government in order by slashing all salaries. A naval mutiny, caused by a 30 per cent cut in wages, resulted in some 2,700 mutineers being imprisoned and court martialled.

The same tragic note that echoed world depression throughout South America struck also in Ecuador. Yesterday, the panama hat country's navy rebelled, took over government forts, and captured a British mine company's oil tanker. Unrest in Ecuador, due to economic conditions, became so acute in 1930 that President Ayora presented his resignation, and the disgruntled army revolted. A new government was put into office last year.

Those events are of little significance unless one appreciates the vast amount of American and British capital invested in South America. A land of immense potential wealth, minerals and oil predominating, most of South America has been the victim of exploitation and misunderstanding for decades. As one of the Americas, the southern half of our hemisphere warrants a great deal more sympathetic attention than it has been inclined to receive.

Man Steals Flashlight

DES MOINES (AP)—Donald Frey of Newton told Judge Ralph Powers that he erred in judgment when he took a flashlight from the wrong auto at the wrong time. The flashlight was in the car of F. F. Faville, chief justice of the Iowa supreme court, and a policeman at the state house saw him take it.

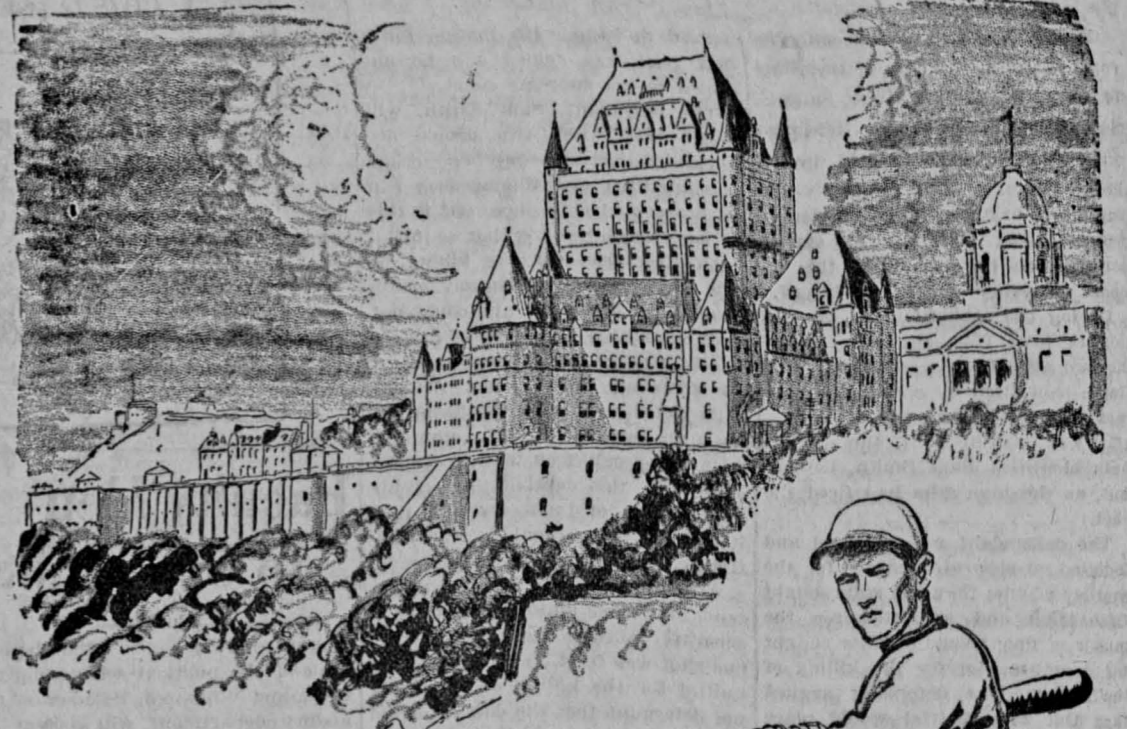

Frey was given 10 days in the city jail.

EXPLANATION OF VESTER-DAY'S CARTOON

The Natural Mummy: Chuquibambilla is a copper mining district in the desert of Atacama, Chile. The mummified body of the miner was found in the Restauradora Mine in a small drift, six feet below the surface. He had apparently perished in a cave-in of the mine and the dryness of the atmosphere, which was saturated with copper salts having a preservative quality, brought about the mummification by natural means. M. Marcel of the "Marcel Wave"; M. Marcel, the inventor of the Marcel wave, celebrated his 70th birthday and the 50th anniversary of his invention in 1929. His invention which made him wealthy and famous, is said to have been inspired by the beautifully waved hair of his mother. Tomorrow: the Most Deadly American Pistol

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—With the exception of Lew Ayres, all the young players of "All Quiet on the Western Front" will be recalled by Universal for Remarque's sequel, "The Road Back."

This, at least, is Carl Laemmle Jr.'s present intent. Of course, if the actors are unavailable, substitutions will have to be made.

As to Ayres, Junior feels it would be a mistake to bring him back to life for the new story. And while some may disagree, I believe he's right. The death of Paul was for me one of the most poignant moments of the screen. Even now after so long a time, I can visualize in perfect detail the way his hand reached out toward the butterfly and quivered as the sniper's bullet found its mark.

The other young actors who may be seen in the new picture include Billie Davis, Russell Gleason, Owen Davis Jr., and Ben Alexander. As you've heard by now R. C. Sheriff has come over from England to adapt the story. In all probability, James Whale will succeed Lewis Milestone as director. I don't envy him the job.

FRAIL SUPPORT

The other day someone asked Mickey Neilan about a young doctor who is known to hit the bottle rather liberally. "Oh, he's okay," said Mickey, "as long as he keeps his pants pressed. That's all that holds him up."

HERE'S LOWDOWN, GOSSIP

Here's one to watch. Saw Rex Bell lunching with Al Rackett at the Fox studio. Now Rex has just signed with another studio, so it can't be about him. But Rex is Clara Bow's husband and Fox is known to be looking for some colorful actress to play Charmaine in "What Price Glory?" Nice scoop if they could get Clara. The "It" girl could very nearly pick her studio these days. M. G. M. wanted her for "Red-Headed Woman" and R.K.O. was crazy after her for "The Truth About Hollywood." Well, we'll see.

Warner Baxter is amazed at all the unfounded rumors about him. Latest to crop out was that he is receiving threatening letters. A week ago, he was supposed to have given a dog to the little girl of a murdered woman. And, before that, rangers rushed to his mountain cabin after reports from Hollywood that he had shot himself in a hunting accident. None of the rumors was true. Warner is wondering who starts them.

Norman Krasna is writing a story called "Hollywood Speaks." Jack Daly offers to give him the numbers of several. . . Buster Keaton's Newfoundland, Elmer, has the wanderlust. Tired of paying rewards for the return of the dog, Buster has had a sign engraved on his collar: "Please leave this dog alone. He will come home by himself."

PLAN COLD STRIP Johnny Weissmuller is a great swimmer, but where M. G. M. is thinking of sending him, he couldn't advance a stroke.

The young athletic star, who won a contract out of "Tarzan," is the favored candidate for the lead in "Eskimo." M. G. M.'s drama of the northland, which W. S. van Dyke is slated to do in the next few months. If Johnny gets the role, he'll have to spend six months in the Arctic, far away from his missus, Bobbe Arnet.

Renwick McCullough, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church of Cedar Rapids. His subject will be the theme of the conference, "The living Christ in the world of today."

The theme, the same as was used at the quadrennial convention at Buffalo, N. Y., has a two-fold purpose: to present Christ as the only solution of present world problems, and to create a vital interest in Christian missions.

Jonathan Aweus, native African student from Nigeria, who is attending John Fletcher college at University Park, will address the conference tomorrow. His theme will be "My Africa today." Coming from a strong tribe of African Negroes, he bears the tribal tattoos on his face.

Petersen to Lecture on Black Hawk War in Series Over WSUI

Two Students Enter School Arts Contest

In a talk to be broadcast from 3 to 3:20 this afternoon through WSUI as the first of a series of seven programs on the subject, "Black Hawk and the treaty of 1832," William J. Petersen of the State Historical society will discuss "The futile defiance," telling of the rashness of the acts of the war so far as Black Hawk was concerned.

Black Hawk's war of 1832 was a vain effort made by a band of 1,000 Sauk Indians against the cry of the whites for land and the inevitability of the westward movement. At a cost of $2,000,000 to the government, the redmen were driven from Illinois. Indians were ruthlessly slaughtered, but great credit for his generalship went to Black Hawk, who is being honored during Iowa history week, April 18 to 25.

The war was caused by the treaty of 1804, which permitted the Indians to live on their Illinois land until it was surveyed and sold. The white settlers violated this law and ejected the Indians from their villages, powered up their cornfields and the Mississippi river.

Graphic, Plastic Arts Competition Opens Tomorrow

The list of University high school entrants, who will compete only in an honorary capacity, will be announced tomorrow.

Yesterday 152 students, representing 25 Iowa high schools, had entered as many individual paintings. Prof. Edna Patzig of the graphic and plastic arts department, estimated that more than 200 paintings will be entered before this evening, when entries definitely close.

The Proudfoot scholarship of $60 is the first prize in the contest, being granted with the understanding that the winning student will enter the department of graphic and plastic arts of the University of Iowa upon graduation from high school. Contestants, art teachers, school

Academy Wins Title in Recreation Pin League; Elks, Dee's Tie for Second

Douglas, Dee High Scorers of Individuals

Dee's Outfit Gets All Team Honors of Evening

It's all over now until next fall and the boys can look forward to their golf and to the Twilight League. The city tournament is still pending and dates, etc., will be decided at a meeting to be held next week, probably Monday.

The Academy wins the title in the Recreation league with a comfortable lead with the Elks and Dee's Recreation all tied up for second place.

The Dee reglers did themselves proud last night in the way of honors and annexed everything. Their first game of 918 was easily the highest single team game, materially aiding them in compiling a 2,650 total for the evening.

Douglas of Racine's was individual honor man for one game when he crashed through 225 pins. John Dee was the most consistent for the series and counted 693 pins for the best three game total.

Dee's didn't allow Gasoline Alley a win, the Academy took all from Racine's, but The Daily Iowan managed to win one from the Elks.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

The prospect of an all-New York city world series next fall is not so remote but what it deserves consideration. Such an event would require that the Yankees win the American league pennant and that either the Giants or the Brooklyn Robins come out ahead in the National league.

The odds are against the Philadelphia Athletics to annex their fourth consecutive flag. It's never been done before in the American loop as it has in the National circuit. John McGraw, who celebrated his fifty-ninth birthday yesterday, won four straight (1921-24) with the Giants.

Why aren't the Athletics going to repeat? Well, it isn't probable that Lefty Grove will win more than 30 games again this season. Connie Mack has almost the identical team he has had during the last four seasons, and it isn't likely it will function as effectively this year. Then there's those powerful Yankees — just plenty powerful with their sparkling new cluster of rookies.

From the National league angle of this all-New York city world series — the Giants, on paper if not otherwise, rank as the best entry. McGraw's got about everything he could ask for — plenty of pitching strength, batting prowess, and defensive ability.

The Brooklyn Robins, who have discarded their comic ways under the new management of Max Carey, have picked up enough talent in trades to warrant concession as a strong threat to the National league pennant. Waite Hoyt, who was fired by Mack, can still pitch good ball. Hack Wilson may have a big season in his changed environment. That infield Carey received in a deal with the Cincinnati Reds filled the last needs of the club.

Ramblers to Begin Drills for Baseball

21 Report for First Spring Basketball Practice

Athletic activities at St. Mary's high school have started out in double quick time. Last night 21 prospective candidates for the 1932-33 basketball team reported for their initial spring drill and this afternoon the Ramblers start baseball practice.

With just three weeks behind them since they played in the national tournament at Chicago, the Ramblers now begin one of the most important parts in their career success. Every spring Coach Francis Suelpel gives the candidates for the next season's team a month of spring work on fundamentals, forming a foundation from which to build when fall rolls around.

The loss of Leo Gaulocher and Ralph Lumsden will be keenly felt in the coming season, but every other member of last season's squad will be on hand, with several promising freshmen coming up. Speed will be the big part of the Rambler attack because the squad for the most part is composed of small men.

In last night's drill a short ball handling drill was supplemented by five minutes of scrimmage in which the proposed rules to eliminate stalling were used, speeding up the play considerably.

Veterans reporting were Vic Belger, Joe Maher, Bob Bradley, Jerry Fuller, Dick Lumsden, John Vogt, Rittenmeyer, and Consamus. The other members of the last year's squad to put in an appearance were Stork, Scherrer, Schulze, O'Brien, and Russell. New candidates were Eudreau, Keller, Slepmann, Connor, Gaulocher, Adrian, Griffin, and Kunel.

Hawks Polish Grid Shift in Daily Practice

Although no drills were scheduled during the week, some 15 Hawkeye gridgers have been working out every afternoon on Iowa field.

These men, headed by Jerry Kriz, went through routine drills similar to those held by Coach Ossie Solem last week end. Timing practice on the shift took up most of the time although some of the work was devoted to tackling practice and line-blocking.

Coach Solem will take charge of the squad again this afternoon, and in all probability will be aided by the newly appointed assistant coach, Bill Boelter.

This week end will conclude spring football practice until May 2, when daily workouts will be held as long as Coach Solem thinks that the squad is benefitting.

Browns Bunch Hits to Win Final, 6 to 3

NASHVILLE, April 7 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns counted 4 runs in the fifth inning of their final spring exhibition game with Nashville today and then the game was rained out, the St. Louis team winning, 6 to 3.

The Browns left for St. Louis tonight to prepare for the opening of the two game city series with the Cardinals opening Saturday.

captain of the gym team, he pulled the muscles in his back and was out of competition for another month. For the last two weeks Merten has been suffering from an infection in his foot and has been on crutches most of the time. This time he seems to have gotten away from the more common types of accident as doctors are unable to diagnose the case.

University Triathlon to Open Season for Iowa Weight Squads

Varsity and freshman weight men will receive their first formal competition of the outdoor season April 19 and 20 in the annual University weight triathlon at Iowa field.

Of the four events, the shot put, the hammer, the discus, and javelin, three will be chosen by each competitor. Point scoring will be the reverse of the usual method with the winner of each contest receiving one point, second, two points and so on to fourth place, five points. The entrant with the lowest number of points in three events will be the winner.

Separate contests will be held for the freshmen and the varsity and the first three winners of each will receive medals.

Hack Wilson's Homers Lead Robins to Win

NORFOLK, Va., April 7 (AP)—Hack Wilson, playing only three innings, hit two home runs as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated Norfolk of the Eastern league, 13 to 4, in their final southern exhibition game today.

Tomorrow they open a three game series with the Yanks at Ebbets field.

Wilson connected with his homers in the second and third innings, driving in four runs.

Giants Bunch Blows to Beat Tigers 5-4

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 7 (AP)—Bunching four of their seven hits under an error to score all of their runs in the sixth inning, the New York Giants defeated the Detroit Tigers 5 to 4 today.

Ethan Allen featured the sixth inning attack with a home run off Vic Sorrell.

Bill Walker was pounded hard in the early innings and was finally driven from the mound in the seventh. Herman Bell shut the Tigers out in the last two frames.

Cubs Rained Out in Kansas City Tilt

KANSAS CITY, April 7 (AP)—Wet grounds forced the Chicago Cubs and Kansas City Blues to cancel the first game of their final tune up series today, the first time this spring that Rogers Hornsby's men have been rained out.

"Everything looks fine, but we must have more batting punch," the Rajah said in the hotel lobby discussion later.

There is still time for men wishing to enter the meet to get into condition, Coach Kaufman pointed out last night. The entry blanks are available at the boxing room at the field house.

Workouts under the direction of the boxing mentor are being held every afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Champions in the tournament will be sent to Chicago to compete under the Iowa colors in the Intercollegiate championships May 6 and 7.

Both tournaments will be divided in the following classes: 112 pounds, 118 pounds, 126 pounds, 125 pounds, 147 pounds, 160 pounds, 175 pounds, and heavyweight.

Baseball Men Reveal Faults as Drills End

Heavy Batting Ability Shown by Most Candidates

A survey of the statistics on the nine intra-squad games of the Hawkeye baseball team discloses many weaknesses on the part of some candidates, and shows unsuspected batting ability in others.

Of the outfield aspirants, Ed Christensen, young sophomore, leads with a batting average of over .600. However, his hard hitting ability is discounted by his poor fielding. The real star in the outfield has been Wesley Flala, veteran gardener, who has been hitting at a .425 clip playing a bang-up defensive game, and leading the squad in stolen bases, 11 in number.

Other outfield candidates who are hitting the ball at a good clip are: Schmidt, .524; Carry, .400; Rieger, .383; Friso, .460; and Mitchell, .190.

Jim Kenny, veteran of two campaigns, leads the infielders, being credited with nine hits in 18 trips to the plate, and having a flawless fielding record. Close behind is "Ham" Schultzeinrich, batting over .400, and with only two errors to his credit. The other candidates' marks are: Baker, .450; Kollow, .455; Laws, .478; Groepper, .471; Prange, .381; Fiehrler, .217; Nelson, .208; Jorgenson, .192; Drager, .181; and Glick, .176.

The leading sluggers for the spring series are Nelson, Prange, Laws, Flala, and Christensen.

The pitching staff has shown unexpected strength. Johnny Ingraham leads the hurlers with 10 strikeouts, being closely followed by Bill Rickle and Frank Stempel. Ingraham has shown better form than the other Old Gold pitchers this spring, although Wayne Hein and Leo Moyrnan have also shown considerable promise.

Boxers Point for Hawkeye Open Tourney

Shadow boxing and rope skipping for three minute rounds constituted the major portion of the boxing workout yesterday afternoon as Coach Carl Kaufman headed his squad for the Hawkeye open championships.

A conflict in dates has forced the date of the finals to be switched from April 21 to April 26, giving the men an extra week in which to train.

There is still time for men wishing to enter the meet to get into condition, Coach Kaufman pointed out last night. The entry blanks are available at the boxing room at the field house.

Workouts under the direction of the boxing mentor are being held every afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Champions in the tournament will be sent to Chicago to compete under the Iowa colors in the Intercollegiate championships May 6 and 7.

Both tournaments will be divided in the following classes: 112 pounds, 118 pounds, 126 pounds, 125 pounds, 147 pounds, 160 pounds, 175 pounds, and heavyweight.

'Long George' Kelly Coming Back; Will Play for Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Once again "Long George" Kelly, once the idol of the polo grounds, is coming back to the major leagues to plug a temporary hole at first base.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, worried over an operation on Del Blissette's ankle that will incapacitate the club's regular first baseman during the early portion of the National league season, announced today that Kelly had been purchased from Minneapolis and would be on hand for the opening game of the season with Boston Tuesday.

Phillies Cop City Title 3 Games to 2

PHILADELPHIA, April 7 (AP)—The Philadelphia Nationals put the city series championship in their bag today by defeating the Athletics 3 to 2 in a 10 inning game.

With one game to be played, the series stands at three victories for the Phils and one for the A's. The Phils have thus taken the city series for three straight years.

Jimmy Foxx hit a homer for the A's and Leslie Mallon duplicated the trick for the Phils. With the score tied at 2 to 2 in the tenth, Rube Wergler was nipped for the deciding tally by Bartell when he singled and advanced to third on a sacrifice. He scored on Mallon's hit to left field.

The A's "big three"—Grove, Earnshaw and Walter—allowed the Phils nine hits. Collins and Grabowski gave the A's the same number.

Yanks Drop 5 to 4 Game to Columbus

COLUMBUS, April 7 (AP)—Lefty Gomez weakened in the ninth inning and the Columbus Redbirds of the American association won their second straight game from the New York Yankees today. The score was 5 to 4.

The Yankees, led by Sam Byrd, went into the ninth leading by two runs. Pat Crawford hit the first ball for a home run. Three singles and a base on balls with the bases full accounted for the tying and winning runs.

WILLIAMS IOWA SUPPLY

Coach Vogel Directs Iowa Nine in Seventh Campaign

Coach Otto H. Vogel sends a University of Iowa baseball team into a Western conference championship race for the seventh time next week with the knowledge that his previous combinations have built up a victory margin over four of the eight universities.

Chicago, Northwestern, and Minnesota, and Indiana have been frequently whipped, Wisconsin has broken even, but Michigan and Illinois have a large margin of wins and Ohio State took the only game.

It was in 1925 that Vogel engineered his first team in the Big Ten campaign. Two years later, the Iowans won seven of 10 games to share the title with Illinois and in 1929 the same number of wins and losses netted second place, one-half straight defeat at the hands of the Louisville Colonels today.

The Colonels were leading 4 to 3 with "Sad Sam" Jones as their pitching victim when rain stopped the game at the start of the third inning.

Zachary and Brandt for eight each. Maranville and Hargrave each slammed out three hits, with Kerr pasting one offering for a three bagger.

Braves Hit Hard to Defeat Senators 10-9

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—The Boston Braves pounded big Fred Meringer all over the lot today, nailing him for 13 hits in five innings to defeat Washington 10 to 9.

Alvin Crowder held the Braves to two hits in four innings, while the Senators with 16 safeties, found game behind Michigan. The only year that the Hawkeyes did not play a conference schedule was 1930, when the university was reinstated in the circuit too late for any combats to be arranged. The teams of Coach Vogel have won 58 per cent of all their games. On the official records are 84 wins, 60 losses, and two ties. Hawkeyes nines have played in 16 states, including some in the southwest, south, and eastern seaboard.

After opening against Luther college at Decatur next Monday and Tuesday, the Iowans will stride into the Big Ten race at Iowa City by meeting Northwestern Friday and Saturday. The 16-game card, which closes May 28, lists combats with nine teams representing five states.

Wednesday night's rain having reduced the freshman baseball diamond to a state of mudiness, Coach Harrison was forced to take his charges into the field house for yesterday's drill.

After tossing the ball to keep their arms limbered up the players were given a chalk talk on sacrifice hits and holding men on base.

Countless Injuries Checked, But Never Stopped Quest of Francis Merten in Athletics

By DON KOEBRICK

The doubtful honor of being the most unlucky athlete at the University of Iowa should go to Francis A. Merten, captain of the Old Gold gym team. During his college career, which terminates this spring, Merten has had four broken ribs, one broken hand, two cracked feet, pulled his back twice, and has had innumerable sprains and bruises. In spite of these misfortunes Merten has been able to accumulate three major "I" awards in gymnastics and a major and minor award in football.

Two weeks after he had reported for football in his freshman year Merten broke his foot in the first scrimmage with the varsity. This accident put him on crutches for seven weeks. On his return to college after Christmas vacation he again reported for spring football and immediately broke another foot. This time an operation was necessary which kept him on crutches until school was out.

Earns Minor Letter

Still limping on his return to school the following fall, Merten again turned out for football and this time sprained an ankle which bothered him throughout the season. In spite of this handicap he earned a minor "I."

In January of his sophomore year Merten broke his foot for a third time while playing basketball. This injury, however, did not keep him from earning a major award in gymnastics that year. During his second year Merten donned boxing gloves long enough to win the university light heavyweight title. The following summer he pursued his boxing until he broke his hand in a bout at Rock Island, Ill., three days before the start of football training. His opponent in this scrap was the Golden Gloves light heavy champion.

Infection Sets In

Unable to enter football that fall, Merten kept in training for the coming gymnastic season, but during the holidays infection set in his leg and put him on crutches for another three weeks. In spite of this he placed on the gym team and earned his second major award in that sport.

The summer between his junior and senior years, strange to say, he escaped injury, but soon after reporting for football he dislocated the bones in his shoulder and again missed practice for three weeks. He returned to the team in time to garner a major "I" however.

Arrowsmith

From the Nobel Prize Novel by SINCLAIR LEWIS

New York seemed the whirlpool of traffic and buildings to Martin and Leora that they had dreamed it.

Once inside the institute Martin was ushered into the palatial offices of the director, Mr. Tubbs.

Dr. Gottleb, Tubbs was very enthusiastic about Martin's work with blackleg and congratulated him at the same time welcoming him as one of the McGurk Institute faculty.

Dr. Gottleb, Tubbs was very enthusiastic about Martin's work with blackleg and congratulated him at the same time welcoming him as one of the McGurk Institute faculty.

"How do you mean?" Arrowsmith countered.

"Are you one of the dressy advertisers like Tubbs, or a rough-neck like Gottleb and me?"

"A rough-neck, I guess."

"They proceeded into the medical arena to watch Sir John perform."

It was only after the operation that Martin was able to get to Gottleb. The latter was profuse in his greetings.

"Gosh!" Martin scratched his head and laughed. "I forgot to ask."

"Two long years dragged by. Martin and Leora had settled comfortably in a little apartment overlooking Riverside Drive."

At the institute, Dr. Tubbs was beginning to feel the same way about Martin. His expensive laboratory had been unfruitful for two years and he didn't show any particular promise in his work.

"I think I'll go out for a walk, Leora."

"I'll go too."

"I love snow! Just let me turn off the gas stove and we'll hike across the park. I'll be like the Canadian Northwest tonight."

"Does it matter?" Leora wanted to know.

"Does it matter? I'll say it matters. Bugs don't commit suicide. Suppose it turned out to be—no, I won't say it. I won't throw any luck. I'll work it out."

Lincoln Police Quiz Suspect

Hold Cedar Rapids Man on Charges of Robbery

LINCOLN, Neb., April 7 (AP)—Virgil Harris, alias Roy Henderson, 25, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., today refused to answer any and all questions fired at him by Lincoln police concerning the $1,000 Republic, Mo., bank robbery and several Nebraska holdups.

However, Simon Nefsky, Lincoln clothier, identified Harris as the man who cashed at his store a $20 money order, which was taken in the bank robbery. H. A. Gerlach, Fenton Drug company clerk, told police Harris was the man who held up the store Tuesday night, took $17, some narcotics and a quantity of merchandise.

Pal of Slain Man
Police believe Harris was a pal of C. E. Darling, slain by Omaha police last week. Darling was wanted in connection with the Missouri robbery. In Harris' coat was a letter addressed to Darling and in his room a revolver and six sticks of dynamite.

Much Currency
Harris' habit of displaying a large roll of currency in restaurants here led to his apprehension, police revealed. They received a report that a stranger displaying $1,600 in currency had visited a certain restaurant. This man had several women friends. Officers rounded them up and each was questioned. The stranger's name finally was learned and the search was on for Harris.

Cook Speaks to Rotarians Urges Common Sense View of Tax Levies

If more common sense were used about taxation there would be less agitation concerning the amount of taxes which property owners pay. Louis H. Cook, member of the Iowa board of tax assessment and review, told the Rotary club yesterday noon.

"We ought to measure the things we get from the government with what we are required to pay," Mr. Cook asserted. He told of a man who compared his tax expenditure with such benefits received from the government as education for his children, police protection, and good roads, finding that he received more benefit from money spent on these things than from other expenditures.

Agitation Against Taxes
The present agitation against taxes, according to Mr. Cook, is not because they are being materially increased but because paying them has become more difficult. Tax payers are willing to economize on things that don't directly affect them. They want to reduce the cost of government, but balk at reducing teachers' salaries 20 per cent because the value of schools is more apparent.

Mr. Cook maintained that persons pay enough attention to local government, it being run more economically as a result, but are inclined to be less concerned about state and national expenditures.

Responsibility
"You are responsible for the government and its actions and therefore you can't blame anyone else for the tax burden," he said. "When you demand retrenchment, you will get it, and not before."

Guests at the luncheon were C. O. Craig, Glen A. Kenderdine, Judge
