Girl Scouts From Twelve Local Troops Will Receive Badges at Court of Awards

Girl Scouts who have been working for the last three months for badges will be rewarded at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Girl Scout Court of Awards in the American Legion building. At this court 175 badges will be presented to scouts from the 12 troops in the city.

The winning of badges requires much study and work, according to Velora Davis, local director, and the knowledge gained is put to practical use. For instance, one 11 year old scout taking the home nurse instruction this winter learned how to make a bed with the patient in the bed. She immediately went to a neighbor in Coralville and put it to practical use, by teaching the housewife how to turn the sick patient in the bed and change the sheets.

American Legion Helps in Finding Work for Jobless

The American Legion Unemployment Relief association differs from other welfare organizations in Iowa City in that it was established to fill a specific and temporary need.

Finding work for the unemployed, and not providing the needy directly with food and clothing, is the aim of the organization. With funds donated privately, the association, created last November as part of a nation-wide American Legion movement, has employed hundreds of men.

These men have cleaned, under the supervision of the association, Ralston creek, the city cemetery, and have worked on city streets. The wages paid for these projects total $1,639.

Other men and women are placed on short time work for individuals. People calling in to the American Legion Community building ask for hedge-cutters, gardeners, window-washers, well-diggers and teamsters. Out of the 344 persons enrolled, there are usually several for every kind of special work.

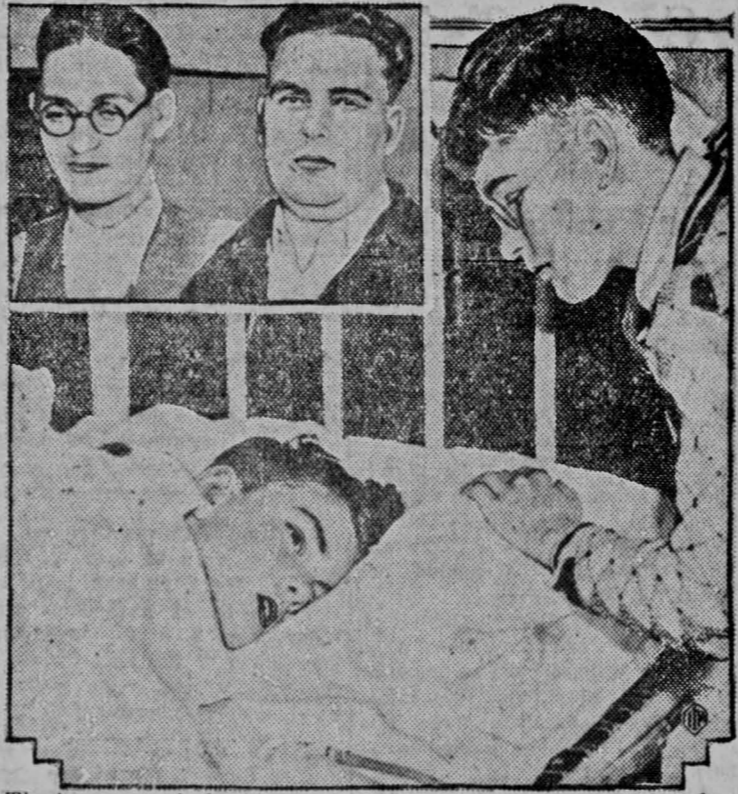

One man, a young man with a family, applied for work after being jobless for several weeks. He was given a day's lawn and garden work at the home of a local resident. After this work, his employer gave him a room, and found more work for him at his friends' homes.

The young man now has five days of yard work every week, a comfortable lodging for himself and his family. This is an example of the association's work—finding jobs and sending the right persons to do them. Out of the 250 men and women given work since March 19, many have found steady positions.

Although the association makes no effort to find food and clothing for the unemployed, donations left at the office have been issued. "People can help us more by calling in for workers than by sending down their old clothes," Charles Kennett, manager, stated yesterday.

The association, according to Mr. Kennett, will continue as it has in the past as long as contributions are made. There will be no definite drive for funds.

Community Chest Leaders Decide to Continue Campaign

A decision to continue the community chest drive until April 9 instead of stopping solicitations next Monday, as originally planned, was reached by leaders of the chest campaign at a meeting yesterday.

The reason for the extension of the campaign period, as pointed out by W. J. Holland, manager, is that the chest is without a definite budget, and is after all donations available. The continuation of the drive will permit a more thorough coverage of the city.

A meeting of the drive captains will be held following the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday. At that time, reports will be made and amounts collected will be totaled.

Stock Prices Drop to Lose Early Gains

Break in Wheat Upsets Balance; Railroad Bonds Weak

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Stocks reversed themselves today, interrupting the mild upward trend apparent in previous markets this week.

Until the last hour prices managed to hold within easy hailing distance of the previous close, but a break in wheat finally upset the equilibrium and final prices showed an average loss that represented cancellation of gains made Tuesday and Wednesday. Second grade railroad bonds had a flimsy market, which may have exerted some influence, while inability of carrier equities to maintain their slow advance doubtless dampened sentiment.

Soft Spots
Conspicuous soft spots included Auburn, down nearly 7, and Alaska Juneau, off more than 2. American Can, Case, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, American Telephone, Union Carbide and Consolidated Gas yielded 2 to 3, while Standard Oil of New Jersey, National Biscuit, U. S. Steel, New York Central, Du Pont, Allied Chemical and Westinghouse gave up 1 to 1 1/2. Sales totaled 924,700 shares.

Expect Preferred Dividend
Imminence of the Bethlehem Steel meeting was hardly regarded as a market factor, since a deficit was taken as a matter of course and declaration of the regular preferred dividend seemed absurd. President Grace said the declining trend in business had been checked, a symptom which he viewed as encouraging; the company's business this month has been about on a par with March activity. Furthermore, the new steel prices are holding.

GENEVA, April 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who had intended to leave Geneva for home tomorrow because his plans for a "big five" conference had collapsed, announced today he would postpone his departure until Saturday or later.

Colonel Stimson decided to stay in Geneva a little longer in order that he might have an opportunity to continue his disarmament discussions with Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, and Chancellor Bruening of Germany, and to hold further conversations about the Sino-Japanese conflict with various statesmen now assembled here.

He talked with Mr. MacDonald and Dr. Bruening during the morning and met both of them again this evening at a dinner given by Norman H. Davis, a member of the American delegation to the disarmament conference.

a statement alleging his wife died from a criminal operation performed by Dr. Thacker.

Burial in Iowa

In connection with the Wyckoff case, the prosecutor said he wished to talk to Esca Milne, a friend of the girl's family who conducted a cleaning shop next door to the Wyckoff dressmaking shop near the university campus. He said Milne, former student, was in Centerville, Ia., where Miss Wyckoff's body was taken for burial today.

Morris questioned several students and said he had been told Thacker's name is a familiar one in campus gossip.

Thorough Investigation
Dr. Bizzell declared he intended to "get to the bottom of this matter."

Probe Deaths

Investigation had disclosed that several homes here have been used as hospitals for girls. He said his office had been looking into the matter even before the deaths of the coeds came to light yesterday, as a result of incomplete death certificates.

Lee related events leading up to the death of his girl bride at an inquiry in Norman.

Hear Husband's Story
County Attorney Morris, joined by operatives of the state bureau of criminal investigation and university investigators headed by President Bizzell of the school, sat in a university office and heard the athlete's story.

His eyes red, Lee, who drove all night from his bride's burial place at Bonham, Tex., told of the secret wedding Feb. 2 at Wichita Falls, Tex., and declared "we returned to school and did not live together because we were afraid our folks would have it annulled if they knew about it."

Describes Illness
He described the illness of his bride last week; how "we worried about it a lot"; and of the visit to Dr. Thacker's office here on the advice of student friends.

"We were both nervous; we didn't know what we were doing," he declared. He told Morris the physician made no physical examination of the girl; that he (Lee) did not witness the operation himself.
