Iowa Officials Accept Wildcat Invitation to Chicago

Iowa and Northwestern will clash in Chicago, for spectators at the World's fair in 1933. This arrangement was made known last night in a telephone conversation to The Daily Iowan from Chicago.

Although it was expected that the 1933 schedule would call for a Hawkeye-Wildcat game on Iowa Field in return for Iowa's scheduled invasion of the Northwestern camp this fall, Iowa officials accepted the invitation of Northwestern and World's fair officials to have the game played in Chicago.

This arrangement leaves Wisconsin as the only conference team scheduled to play in Iowa City a year from this fall. It is understood that negotiations are under way to bring Nebraska here again in 1933 in a new "home and home" contract. The Cornhuskers are scheduled to play the Hawkeyes at Iowa Stadium this fall.

Coach Ossi Solem's gridders will play four conference games away from home in 1933. They are with Michigan, Northwestern, Minnesota, and Purdue, Oct. 14 and Nov. 4 are the only unscheduled dates on the Hawkeye's 1933 calendar.

The 1933 schedules:
Oct. 7 — Indiana at Minnesota; Iowa at Northwestern; Michigan State at Michigan.
Oct. 14 — Notre Dame at Indiana; Wisconsin at Illinois; Stanford at Northwestern; Vanderbilt at Ohio State; Purdue at Minnesota.
Oct. 21 — Purdue at Chicago; Wisconsin at Iowa; Illinois and Army at New York; Ohio State at Michigan; Pittsburgh at Minnesota; Indiana at Northwestern.

Nov. 4 — Michigan at Chicago; Iowa at Minnesota; Northwestern at Ohio State; Purdue at Wisconsin.
Nov. 11 — Michigan at Illinois; Indiana at Ohio State; Minnesota at Northwestern; Carnegie Tech at Purdue.
Nov. 18 — Chicago at Illinois; Wisconsin at Ohio State; Iowa at Purdue; Minnesota at Michigan; Notre Dame at Northwestern.
Nov. 25 — Purdue at Indiana; Nebraska at Iowa. (tentative); Illinois at Ohio State; Michigan at Northwestern; Wisconsin at Minnesota.

Kraschel, Demo Candidate for Senator, Thinks Tariff Great Cause of Depression

By DON PRYOR
"The most vital issue in the country today is the establishment of credit," N. G. Kraschel of Harlan, Democratic candidate for United States senator, said in an interview at the Jefferson hotel last night.
Mr. Kraschel, who is completing his speaking tour, will make his headquarters in Iowa City for the remainder of the campaign.
Leaning back in an arm chair and puffing at a well-caulped pipe, he launched into an exposition of his views on the political issues of the day.
Stringent Requirements
"If the Federal Reserve system were functioning as it should and would not maintain such stringent requirements for loans, the wheels of industry would begin to turn immediately."
The speaker, who appeared a little tired after a strenuous campaign, explained himself. "A farmer," he said, "cannot obtain a loan unless he can prove that he doesn't need it." This tendency of the Federal Reserve banks to refuse to rediscount many normally stable loans he named as the cause of much of the farmers' woe.
High Tariff
Turning to the tariff, he called it

Red Cross Sends Iowa 6,866 Tons of Feed for Livestock

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Iowa has received 6,866 tons of feed from the Red Cross for its starving livestock.
Aid has been given to 174,960 farmers in the drought stricken areas of Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, the Dakotas, and Wisconsin, the Red Cross revealed today. In all, 10,757,300 bushels of the 40,000,000 bushels of wheat donated by the federal farm board, has been given out.

Senate Group Retains Tariff for Oil, Coal

Borah Claims Monopoly Controls Anthracite Industry

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—The senate tariff coalition gained the first half of its objective today, retaining the oil and coal import taxes in the revenue bill.
Over the filibuster threats and protests of an aroused opposition, it was heading for victory on the other two tariff duties—copper and lumber—at adjournment.
Beg Him to Stop
Huey Long (D., La.) halted the tariff steam roller before crowded galleries tonight to wave the tariff flag even when his associates begged him to stop lest he do the cause harm.
In the midst of his stormy outburst, the Louisiana drew one of the most severe personal replies from Senator George (D., Ga.) that has been heard on the floor in a long time.
Almost identical lineups enrolled behind the oil and coal import taxes. The vote for one half cent a gallon tax on oil was 42 to 37. The vote for the $2 a ton on coal was 39 to 34.
Senator Tydings (D., Md.) countered with offering 500 tariff amendments to the revenue bill, and Senator Norris (R., Neb.) presented the export debenture plan of farm relief.

Way Clearing

Leaders gave notice they would fight the issue out and plans were abandoned for adjournment of congress. But there was a feeling that the way was clearing.
Precipitating the stern rebuke from Senator George, Long read the tariff items for which the Georgian had voted in the Smoot-Hawley act of 1930. He spoke up after Chairman Smoot of the finance committee had pleaded for speed and George had warned that the tariff dispute barred speed.

Favors Repeal

When asked his opinion in regard to prohibition, Mr. Kraschel leaned back in his chair, took a few short puffs at his pipe, and said: "I dislike to see any man roll into office on a beer barrel while the great masses of people are descending into poverty."
He explained, however, that he is in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but that its repeal could not possibly be accomplished for at least four years.
Mr. Kraschel will probably talk in Solon Tuesday night. He opened his campaign in Iowa City with a speech on Jan. 11, so will devote the rest of his time to outlying communities. He is scheduled to appear in Davenport June 2 and in Burlington June 3.

Fire Destroys Barn

BOONE (AP)—Fire destroyed a barn on the J. E. McCoy farm. The loss was estimated at $5,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

THE NEWLYWEDS COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH BABY LINDBERGH
On May 20, five years ago, an unknown young man with a tousled mop of hair climbed into the cockpit of the plane, which he had named the "Spirit of St. Louis," at Roosevelt field, New York and, followed by the prayers of a few well-wishers, flew off into the haze that overhangs the broad Atlantic. On board he carried a bottle of water, a sandwich and a letter of introduction. Thirty-three hours later, after the greatest and cleanest flight in the history of aviation, that young man set his plane down at Le Bourget airport, Paris, and Captain Charles A. Lindbergh became a world hero. In the five years that have passed since that memorable day, the Lone Eagle, as he was picturesquely called, has often wished that fame was as fleeting as cynics would have us believe, for nothing is so wearying to the unassuming man as continued adulation of hero-worshippers. The two highspots in Colonel Lindbergh's career since his flight were his marriage to Anne Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, on May 27, 1929, and the birth of their son on June 22, 1930. Both were occasions of the greatest happiness but the joy thus brought is now overshadowed by the tragedy of their baby's murder that has blotted out the sun for the once-blissful couple.

Hoover Seeks Bankers' Help in Credit Hunt

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Seeking anew to stir up stagnant credit pools, President Hoover today called upon all federal reserve bank governors to help create a nationwide network of banker-business men committees dedicated to this end.
The coalition groups would be similar to the committee of 12 bankers and industrialists just created in New York. Its chairman is Owen D. Young and its purpose the coordination of huge credit facilities now available to business. Mr. Hoover declared himself much gratified at the action thus far taken.

President Opposed to National Economic Council Setup

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Addressing newspapermen, the chief executive announced that once the network of committees was organized he would invite the chairman to Washington "in order that the whole program may be set up on a national basis."
The president feels that in his present cabinet, the reconstruction finance corporation, the 100 prominent citizens on his unemployment committee, the federal reserve system, the farm board and other governmental agencies, he has a closely-cooperating economic council that can accomplish more than any new group.

But That's Different

Mr. Hoover is even more emphatically opposed to similar suggestions that the old war time council of national defense be recreated.
The president feels differently, however, about the work of such committees that would combine leading business men and bankers.

Go-Between Faker Absolved of All Suspicion in $50,000 Ransom Paid to Mystery Man

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 20 (AP)—The hunt for the Lindbergh baby killers revolved about a pair of vague police clues and the aid of the white haired "Jafsie" tonight after authorities once more absolved John Hughes Curtis, hoax negotiator, of suspicion in their main quest.
The official attitude toward Curtis, moot subject of a two day series of statements, finally appeared definite when Col. H. N. Schwarzkopf, state police superintendent, announced the Norfolk, Va., boat builder was in a New York hotel the night of April 2 and "his actions are accounted for."

Four Confess to Robbery in Ipswich, S. D.

ST. PAUL, May 20 (AP)—A driving mishap to a nervous motorist brought about the arrest of four men who confessed today, police said, to robbing an Ipswich, S. D., bank.
After the four admitted the $21,500 holdup during which M. Plin Beebe, the bank president, was shot and Chester Doolittle, the cashier, was kidnaped, questioning continued with the result that one confessed three other bank holdups in Wisconsin and North Dakota.

Victims View Prisoners

Police Chief T. A. Brown said he believed the group responsible for a number of robberies in Minnesota and nearby states. He planned to query the men further and invited holdup victims to view them.
The men held are Reinhold Engel, leader of the group, at liberty on $25,000 bail while his conviction for a Grantsburg, Wis., bank holdup is appealed; Sidney Raycraft, also known as Roycraft and Craft, who admitted shooting Beebe; Phil Ray, in whose possession $17,000 in non-negotiable securities take at Ipswich was found; and Eugene Van Tress. Police said other members of the "Engel gang" were sought also.

Representatives of Farm Groups Off to Spur Federal Relief

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Illinois Agricultural association and the Iowa Farm Bureau announced tonight they will leave tomorrow for Washington, "and stay there until congress does something to raise the price of farm products."
"Farmers are in the market for almost everything, but they have no money to buy," said Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association. "If farmers get better prices, every kind of business would improve."

Leaves Confident Note; Promised Favorable Weather

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., May 20 (AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam, smiling and confident, took off from Harbor Grace tonight in her crimson, gold striped plane, with Paris her destination.
"I have complete confidence in her. What else can I say?"

Reached a few minutes after the hopoff from Harbor Grace at the U. S. weather bureau, where he remained much of the day checking weather reports, Putnam said briefly: "I have complete confidence in her. What else can I say?"

Leaves Confident Note

A message of confidence for her friends was left by Mrs. Putnam as she stepped into the cockpit of her plane.
"To all my friends, far and near, you will hear from me in 15 hours," she said.
"I have sufficient fuel for 20 hours and I will go further if my gas holds out and I find I am not too fatigued."

A Five Year Story

FIVE YEARS AGO this morning, THE DAILY IOWAN carried a banner on its front page which ran "World Agog Over Lindbergh."

The Lone Eagle, tall, slim, tousle-haired, had crawled stiffly from the small cabin of his Ryan monoplane onto Le Bourget field, Paris, the night before, or the afternoon before, according to Iowa time.

Before 25,000 persons, on a foggy night slashed by red beacons and huge floodlights, he had touched the wheels of $7,500 monoplane to earth, completing a 32 hour fight against time, elements, distance—and fate. And he had won that fight.

His single Wright motor had turned up an average of 113 ground miles per hour as he sped across the great expanse of ocean between the old and new world, following the great circle route, far from the usual path of transatlantic steamers. He had flown 3,800 miles, a greater distance than a single man had covered by air at any previous time, and he had flown it "blind," with the aid of a periscope, since his vision was cut off by a 425 gallon gas tank built into his plane to carry the large amount of fuel necessary to make the crossing.

He had also flown the distance in the face of the fact that two of France's greatest aviators, Nungesser and Coli, had disappeared, never to return, on their attempt a few weeks before to cross the Atlantic from east to west.

Shift the scene to three years ago next Friday. On that day THE DAILY IOWAN carried the story of the marriage of Anne Morrow to Charles A. Lindbergh. Their engagement had been announced from Mexico City, Mex., only a few weeks before.

The small, intimate ceremony, performed by the Rev. William Adams Brown, included only five guests, and was guarded with great secrecy, until it had been performed.

And then today—another May, another year, and another story about Lindbergh. The saddest, cruellest story that has been told in the history of crime as we know it today. The anticlimax to five years of happiness. Will another year record a new victory for the "Lone Eagle"?

New Road to Credits

AND NOW A new campaign is under way to loosen the strings tied to hundreds of millions of dollars to answer the demand for recovery in prices.

Initiated by the governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank and under the chairmanship of Owen D. Young, the plan is being supported by leading industrialists and bankers.

Whether the Reconstruction Finance corporation has been recognized by the Federal Reserve board as a failure, or whether the new organization will supplement the corporation's activities is not made clear in first announcements. It is true that the R.F.C. has been making questionable loans to special interests, while the new project will be concerned with the welfare of all.

The concentration of idle funds in New York banks is one obstacle in the way of the campaign. Another is the lack of confidence that still persists throughout the country. Both of these can no doubt be overcome in the methods by which the huge wealth is to be distributed and upon what basis the new credit facilities are to be opened.

Backed as it is by controllers of huge financial resources this new plan gives more assurance of success in restoring confidence, at least, in the banking system, and along with it, of supplying necessary means for reduction of unemployment.

Cutting Costs of Justice

FROM THAT most authoritative of sources, the Iowa State Bar association, comes a program to reduce costs of Iowa courts. The complicated network of the Iowa court system has proven far too expensive, especially when the income of government has been continually decreased the last few years.

While the quality of the courts should never be sacrificed to economy, the various suggestions included in the bar association's program seem practical and advisable in that they would reduce expenses without reducing the power of the court system.

The most radical proposal advanced is the recommendation that justices of the peace be eliminated, with county courts set up to deal with petty cases in all counties except those where municipal courts serve that capacity. There are undoubtedly many communities where such a change would prove a true economy as well as a benefit to justice.

Other promising suggestions include an increase in the filing fee in civil cases to keep out unnecessary litigation, closer confinement of enforcement officers within their own boundaries, reduction of juries, and equalization for duties of district judges.

There are, certainly, many courts in the state which are unnecessary and expensive. Any reorganization of the court system would probably prove a great economy as well as a move to eliminate some recognized shortcomings of justice.

Crime and the Youth

(From The Boston Transcript)

Figures quoted by Dr. Carleton Simon run counter to the general assumption that the percentage of youthful criminals in American prisons is larger today than ever before. Dr. Simon is a former deputy police commissioner of New York city. Speaking before the New Jersey Police Chiefs association, he compared prison statistics of the present day with those of fifty years ago to justify his conclusion that not only has there been no increase in the proportionate number of youthful criminals sent to prison within the past half century, but that the percentage 50 years ago was larger than it is today.

Whether or not this is to be regarded as an encouraging indication depends upon other aspects of the situation in this country. The number of those committed to prison may or may not indicate the extent of crime among men of the same ages. How many youngsters who, had they embarked upon a criminal career 50 years ago, would have been hustled off to jail, are now free on probation.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

The curator of physical anthropology at Smithsonian institute is investigating possible connections between children who love to imitate animals and the animals they love to imitate. The intensity with which such children the world over enter into this form of activity has led the curator to believe it may be a manifestation of philogenetic inheritances from prehuman ancestors.

The curator should not overlook the tendencies on the part of many adults who love to stand behind doors or sneak up behind chairs and shout "Boo!" at whomever happens to be around. This, of course, is in imitation of wild animals that stalk their prey, and when they come close enough, give one last blood-curdling yell and proceed to dispose of their victim. This may be carried over at meal-time when papa lets out a grunt such as "Humph!" if there's spinach and "Aha!" if there's strawberry shortcake, before digging in.

Of course, the curator also must remember that when children are very small, dear aunts and cousins and even daddies and mamas buy many, many picture books showing various animals in various forms — some with top hats and spectacles, others playing horse, cops and robbers, etc. — so that most children gain their first impressions in that way.

Then, when the kiddies grow up and are allowed out to play with the Jones' and the Smiths' and the Browns' children—who have also viewed these animal picture books during several of their years of greatest impression—they very naturally imitate, or try to imitate, the animals in the books.

Now, there may be something to this business of philogenesis and inherent animal traits, but after all, some people think we haven't progressed far from that source, anyway.

For instance, the curator tells of the scientist who found a small boy and a pig wallowing together in the mud and grunting at each other, both perfectly happy. The child had no other playmate and his parents were too busy working on the farm to pay any attention to him. What happened? Why, the boy is now an honor student in an eastern university. That just goes to show—

That's an extreme example. There was the little boy who could imitate every dog in the neighborhood to perfection, and always exhibited great fondness for the canines. Another child could reproduce every sound made by a horse's hoofs and his parents could not break him of the habit.

The curator asks everyone who is interested to send in their stories. All peculiarities that might help him to discover something wrong with kiddies who love animals are welcome. If your baby likes to pull the cat's whiskers and at the age of 8 months can meow—send it in—it might win a prize. And the curator might tell you how such a thing is possible. Of course, you knew that all along. Junior got that way because the cat was soft and furry and it was fun to pull his whiskers.

Now, there are cases, like that of Jo-Jo, the dog-faced boy, where certain clearly-defined resemblances to animals exist. A survey of circus sideshows would no doubt reveal hundreds of other examples. Of course, the scientist would overlook these poor unfortunates, upon whom nature hasn't even yawned, for their comparatively normal brothers and sisters. And, for that matter, he wouldn't really have to go to circus sideshows.

Then, too, one must not overlook, in making a research project of this matter, the women who lavish untold affection on pedigree pups, notably Pekingese, and other varieties of short-legged, pendulous-eared, snub-nosed toy dogs. Why do they do it? Because they haven't anything better to waste their time at? Or is it because they are reverting to type? Ask the curator.

Now, this criticism may be all wrong. Maybe what this world really needs is an understanding of how it got this way. For one thing, the curator might try to find out what makes men become bears and bulls on the stock exchange, instead of allowing the law of supply and demand to take care of itself, and them. Is it animalic instinct? Is it philogenetic? Is it?

And, of course, even if the Smithsonian institute did publish a report of such research as the curator has in mind, it wouldn't have any effect. The wolf in "Little Red Riding Hood," the characters in "The Three Bears," and the joy and delight of hundreds of other bedtime stories will be handed down for generations, with variations, of course. And many, many Jo-Jos in real life will go on having fun.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester, 1931-1932
Wednesday, May 25, 8 a.m. to Thursday, June 2, 4 p.m.

The regular program of class work will be suspended, and the following semester-examination program substituted for it. Classes will meet for examination in the rooms in which they have been regularly meeting (except classes in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D and E, as shown in the form below; and Speech (2), (3), and (4) as shown at "N.B." below.

The Program Committee directs the attention of both students, and instructors and professors, to the regulation that there is to be no deviation, in the case of any examination, from this schedule,—except as authorized by the Committee on Admission and Classification, on the student's written petition, filed in ample time, supported by the recommendation of the department concerned,—to provide relief from an excessive number of examinations within a single day. Deviation for the purpose of getting through earlier will not be permitted.

In the case of conflicts (within the SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D and E) the schedule itself, as presented below, provides a general method of making adjustments.

All classes whose first weekly meetings have occurred as indicated in the rectangles below, meet for examination during the periods noted at the tops of these three columns, and on the days noted in the rectangles directly opposite at the left of the double, vertical line.

Thursday, June 2	Monday at 3 (Except those in SPECIAL Groups A, B, C, D and E.)	Tuesday at 4 (Except those in SPECIAL GROUPS A, B, C, D and E.)

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed (Read by columns, and alphabetically) within the particular group, who will arrange a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than regular class hour on May 9 and 10.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first clock-hour of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 22 meets for lectures T Th S at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8,—and the class will meet for examination Thursday, May 26, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 126 meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Wednesday, June 1, 2 p.m.

N.B. All sections of freshman speech (2), (3), and (4) will meet in the buildings and rooms and on the days and at the periods designated below:

1. Wednesday, May 25, 8-10 (Course 2):

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

1. From 4 to 6 on any day from May 25 to June 2, inclusive.
2. Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D and E, since for such "odd" classes, these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.;" unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "Fd.,"—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
The bell of the maiden—This bell was cast in the days of Emperor Young Lo, but the artisan failed in his mission as the metal refused to flow. On the third attempt the beautiful daughter of the bell maker darted forward to the brink of the roaring crucible and hurled herself among the bronze and gold, which at that moment began to flow. Her fiancée, who tried to check her, just barely succeeded in grabbing her slipper. To this day, when the great bell has been struck and its booming harmonies die away, there rises an after wall which is a perfect echo of the Chinese word "hate" (slipper), and men know that Kuan Yu's daughter, whose virgin soul is dwelling in the metal of the bell, is calling for her lost shoe. Japan's emotional safety valve—The Japanese language was singularly free of explosives until 1904. In that year the Russo-Japanese war caused the Japanese to feel this want very keenly. To provide an emotional safety valve for the people, a committee of scientists met at the solicitation of the government and created the word "Banzai" (ten thousand years). The word is an equivalent of our "huray" and only Japanese swear word at the same time. Tomorrow: The island of the sad day.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Way back in the silent days, Will Rogers played a whistling tramp in a picture called "Jubilo." Remember? Well, there's an excellent chance that he'll do this story again as his next Fox talkie.

That political comedy, "If I Were President," seems to be off the list. Rumor says Will didn't like the idea of poking fun at the nation's chief executive. Not in celluloid, anyway.

It was 10 years ago when the comedian made "Jubilo" for the old Samuel Goldwyn company. Clarence Badger directed and Joste Sedgwick—wonder what's become of her?—played the feminine lead. Since Will is just finishing "Down to Earth" and since he has a date for the Democratic convention, there'll be nothing done on his new film for some time to come.

They tell a story about a studio publicity man who was having a tough time selling Groucho Marx on a certain stunt. He called him again and again on the phone, but Groucho always stalled.

Finally the publicity man went out to the comedian's house and pinned him down to an answer.

"Okay," said Groucho, "we'll do it now."

As they were leaving the house, the telephone began shrilling.

"Just a minute," said Groucho, "I'd better answer that. It's probably you again."

prison story over at Warners, I'm a two-time loser, and I could help them out a lot on details. Could you call it to their attention?

Mr. Beard gave me permission to print this. He's looking for honest work, but he realizes his stock in trade is his knowledge of prison customs.

Strange place, Hollywood.

Until further notice, Thelma Todd will be acting before the cameras at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. She's been signed to play the siren in Buster Keaton's and Jimmy Durante's new comedy, "Speak Easily." Ruth Selwyn is the heroine of this one.

Universal has bought a story sight unseen from Ward Morehouse, New York columnist. In fact, he hasn't even written it. Carl Laemmle has his promise to deliver the script September 1.

Iowa Qualifies 12 for Big Ten Finals; Notre Dame Upsets Hawkeyes 7 to 5

Saling Leads Qualifiers in Both Hurdles

Ohio State Places 16 Men, Wolverines Qualify 15

EVANSTON, Ill., May 20 (AP)—Ohio State took a long stride toward a first Western conference track and field championship today by qualifying for 16 places in the title finals, which will be held tomorrow in Dyche stadium, Northwestern university.

Jack Keller, Don Bennett, Jess Fazeakas and Johnson led the Buckeyes into a commanding position, with each qualifying in two events. In addition, Teitelbaum and Lewis found places in the quarter mile and Wise qualified for the broad jump.

Michigan Second Right behind Ohio State came Michigan with 15 places, chiefly due to the sensational showing of Wolverine quarter milers in winning all four heats of the event. Illinois, Iowa and Indiana had 12 each; Minnesota had 11, Wisconsin 7, Purdue 4, and Northwestern and Chicago 2 each.

Of the 11 events tried today, the Buckeyes placed at least one man in all except the half mile, and will rely on this lineup in the finals tomorrow. Michigan has possible places in the mile and two miles in addition to its showing today, while Indiana, a favorite, will pick up points in the pole vault and the high jump.

The best performance of the day was turned in by George Saling, Iowa's hurdle star, who won his heat in the highs in 14.5 seconds, and the lows in 23.5 seconds.

The performances in the other events were not exceptional but none of the stars were pushed. Don Bennett of Ohio State was nosed out in the 100 yard dash by Hudson Hellmich of Illinois in 9.9 seconds, but took it easy, and the field event leaders did nothing more than was necessary to qualify. Clarence Munn of Minnesota, tossed the shot 43 feet to lead in that event and Charles Hornbostel of Indiana had the best mark in the half mile, 1:57.4.

Finals will be decided tomorrow, with the hurdles, dashes and half mile expected to furnish the best races.

D. S. D. Wins Greek Canoe Race Handily

Winning the annual University of Iowa spring canoe regatta for the second consecutive time and breaking their old low university record established last year, Roy Bodine and Harry Wardrip of Delta Sigma Delta glided under Iowa avenue bridge yesterday afternoon more than 10 lengths ahead of their nearest rival. The new time is 6 minutes, 48.2 seconds, over two minutes less than last year's record of 8 minutes, 25 seconds.

The battle for second place was close with Bertrand Meyers and Hartin Bardill of Delta Upsilon forging ahead of Mike Farroh and Edward McCormick five yards before the finish. Eight entries were recorded, and all finished with no capsizings reported. In the open doubles Marv Wright and Andrew Luksch crowded out Joseph Forsyth and George Ekdahl to win first place. The winning time for this event was 7 minutes, 4 and 1-6 seconds. Nineteen canoes started at the city park bridge.

The current was faster this year than last, and aided the champions in shaving their last year's record. The afternoon was perfect for canoeing; scarcely a breeze ruffled the water, and the thermometer stood at a point that allowed the paddlers to warm up before the races were barely begun. Winners in both intramural and open divisions were presented with trophies.

Three Records Fall in Big Six Prelims

MEMORIAL STADIUM, LINCOLN, Neb., May 20 (AP)—Three Big Six conference records toppled today when trial events were run off in the annual conference track and field contests. The records to fall were in the 800 yard run, the shotput and the running broad jump.

OMAHA, May 20 (AP)—Okhoma A. & M. qualified 16 men at Creighton here today in the qualifying round of the Missouri Valley conference track and field meet, to lead the list of six schools. Drake, defending champion, qualified 14 men and Grinnell college qualified 11. The other schools ranked as follows: Washington, St. Louis, 6; Huron 4, and Creighton 4.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox is demonstrating daily that he has considerable to learn in the way of strategy. His smart moves might be smart if they produced the results; but when they bring defeat down upon the Pale Hose, one doubts their smartness.

Being a manager is quite an experience for Fonseca. A good average infielder when he came to the White Sox in the spring of 1931 from the Cleveland Indians in exchange for Willie Kamm, he was set to work in the outfield with the Comiskey clan.

When Donie Bush, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the days when the Bucs ranked with the top-notchers of the National league, couldn't get the White Sox any higher in the American league standing than eighth place—he was relieved of the arduous task of managing the Comiskeymen. Then Fonseca stepped in.

Yesterday in the White Sox game with the Detroit Tigers, Red Kress came up in the eighth inning to plaster a triple against the wall. Fonseca, having assumed the duties of third base coach where his smartness could be put to more effective use, signalled him to keep on running to the plate. Kress obeyed the order and found the catcher waiting to tag him out as he pulled up at home. The next two Sox up connected for hits.

What a trade Big Ten track fans at Evanston will see tomorrow afternoon at Dyche stadium when Capt. George Saling of the university squad sets out to show experts they were all wrong in picking Jack Keller of Ohio State to win first in both the low and high hurdles. It's first for Saling in the highs with Keller the likely victor in the lows.

His greatest assistance came from Boland, who won the 440 yard dash, and Lucier, who placed second to Wetrich in both the distance runs.

The meet started off as if it were going to be a close race, a different team leading at the end of each of the first three events, but superior strength in the field events kept University high out in front by a narrow margin.

Although the score was close, the Carpenter-coached men had the meet sewed up with only three events left on the program and did not make a strong effort to capture either of the javelins, content to take second to St. Ambrose in each.

Means in the high hurdles, McCloy in the vault, and Dill in the discus added three more firsts to the winner's total. Guild of St. Ambrose was the other winner when he nosed out Emanuel of St. Ambrose.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 20 (AP)—Notre Dame batsmen connected with the offerings of Frank Stempel and Johnny Ingraham for 16 hits, and defeated the University of Iowa nine, 7 to 5, here today.

Gomez Hurls as Nats Lose to Yanks, 6-3

8 Senators Fan Before Sterling Yankee Curver

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Vernon Gomez, the Yankees sterling southpaw, kept his club on top of the American league standing today by holding the Washington batters in check to win the third game of their "crucial" series, 6 to 3.

The victory broke a complicated deadlock, giving the Yanks a margin of a half game and of 37 points in the percentage column.

Gomez allowed nine hits in winning his sixth victory of the season, but he was usually able to "beat down" when he got into difficulties.

The tall Castilian curver fanned eight opponents, bringing his total for the season to 44.

THE LOVE TRAP by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

SYNOPSIS

on her ground—surrounded by her own family! Bring the shabby, little Brooklyn girl up to a big mansion...

lonely streets; dark shadows, suddenly, appeared under her eyes, but the fast beating of her heart brought a strange brightness to the eyes themselves...

"If Steve's love and yours is true and lasting, nothing on earth will ever keep you apart," Bill Calvert told her.

CHAPTER XXXV

Steve's love and yours is true and lasting, nothing on earth will ever keep you apart," Bill Calvert told her quietly.

I call it, Mr. Calvert—I call it crooked!" Beneath his tan, Bill Calvert grew pale. Then a flash burst in his cheeks. He lifted one hand—and dropped it.

it bent to every passing fancy? Had Eileen's tears so moved him that he was beginning to regret his little love excursion in New York? Had the Calvert family appealed to his chivalry, his sense of honor? Ah, but it was hard to believe anything against Steve! Her love defended him; he hated to hurt people; merely, he had wanted to make the break with Eileen as painless as possible.

"But what are you going to do?" she asked in staccato jerks. "I'm going to suggest the fairest and squarest solution I can think of. I came down here to invite you up to our home to stay with us while Steve is there. I want him to see you both together. Please come, Miss Kennedy—you'll be an honored guest I assure you. Perhaps Steve's attachment for Eileen was only infatuation—in that case, I have nothing to say. But if he could see you both together, and then, if he still knew that he loved you—I would have nothing more to say in Eileen's behalf. The thing that hurts me is that Steve—with all respect to you—was sort of snatched away from her behind her back."

"A fair chance!" Mary's voice rang with a little wildness. "If you want to give Steve a fair chance to compare us—let her come down here and live like I do. Let her work all day in an office, and pay for her own clothes and board and room on twenty-five or thirty dollars a week. Let her skimp and save and starve so she can buy a new hat! Yes, and let her quit a dozen jobs because the boss gets fresh. Let her get up and go to work every day, whether she's sick or well. Let her be jammed around on the subway, and pay for her cheap winter coat on the installment plan. Give her four or five years of that, and see how sweet and delicate and refined she'll be. Put her through the same mill I've been through, and you can bet your life I won't be afraid to meet her on even terms, any day in the week!"

Steve was dumb! Yes, he was dumb about women—but he was dear, he was lovable... he was the vital essence of her whole life. She wanted to be alone now, to hide herself like a wounded little animal. Oh, she wanted time to think, privacy to tend her hurt. Now, tonight, if she went up to the flat, the family would be all over her, she was afraid the sound of their voices might send her into wild weeping of hysteria. The strain of the last two weeks had been tremendous, her nerves were frayed. She wanted to be alone... alone...

"Does Steve know about this idea of yours?" "Yes, he didn't like it—but agreed because I urged him to."

The passion in Mary's voice shook her to the core of her being. She was trembling all over, breathing with difficulty. Suddenly—she had no power to control her feelings longer—she jerked away from Bill Calvert and sped in the opposite direction... back toward the proud refuge of her sister's crowded flat...

Mary's flight home was a rout, a panic of her emotions. She could brave any danger—could endure any sufferings—but there was a new kind of pain stabbing her with a thousand daggers...

"All of them. They are, of course, tremendously distressed. At first they wouldn't listen to me. Eileen was the hardest to convince—the poor kid's heartbroken, you know. As a matter of fact she really disapproves, but I got my way with father and mother. Do you see what I'm trying to do—how hard I'm working to play square all around?"

Mary's flight home was a rout, a panic of her emotions. She could brave any danger—could endure any sufferings—but there was a new kind of pain stabbing her with a thousand daggers...

She hurried on through the dark...

Ersland, Ellis to Compete in State Net Meet Today

Sidell Ersland and Gilbert Ellis of Iowa City high school, doubles champions in interscholastic tennis for the southeastern Iowa district, play their first game at the state net meet at Ames at 9:15 this morning.

Grinnell high school will be represented by Leland Bach, who won the singles district championship here two weeks ago, and Washington high, Cedar Rapids, will send its entire team, by virtue of its meet point victory here during the district tournament.

Muscatine high, the only other school represented at the district meet, was shut out entirely.

Phi Beta Ten Cops Title by 19 to 11 Win

Win Protested Game From Phi Ep's to End Season

Phi Beta Delta won the kittenball trophy for the second time this season when they walloped Phi Epsilon Kappa yesterday afternoon, 19 to 11. The Phi Bet's had previously been declared winners after going through the schedule undefeated, but because of having an ineligible man on their team were forced to engage in a play-off game with the physical education fraternity.

Although more runs were scored against the Phi Bet's in this game than in any of their others, it was not the fault of Martin Kronick, their ace pitcher. He had held the pitchers well in check, but in the sixth inning his mates' defense crumbled, allowing eight runs to cross the plate.

The victors scored in every inning save two, their best showing being in the fifth when they tallied seven times.

The Phi Beta Delta battery was Kronick and Greek, and Phi Epsilon Kappa's Krumbholz and McCafferie.

The winner of the tennis doubles tourney will be decided today when Phi Gamma Delta's pair defend their championship of last fall against Gamma Alpha, who has already captured the singles crown. The games will be played this morning.

May Session of Grand Jury Indicts Seven

Court Dismissed Until Sept. 21; One Case Bound Over

Returning indictments against seven men and binding another over to the next session for further deliberation, the grand jury for the May term of court was dismissed yesterday until Sept. 19.

The grand jury's deliberations were not completed until 5:30 p.m., when the report of its findings was made to the court. The names of those against whom the indictments were issued will not be revealed until the persons have been apprehended.

Report on Home

In addition to its report on indictments, the grand jury made its regular report on the condition of the county home and the county jail. The jury members complimented in particular the accomplishment of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leuz, who are in charge of the home. They gave high praise to the manner in which the home is kept and the care that is given the inmates.

Following their inspection of the home this morning, the grand jury had dinner there before returning to Iowa City.

Inspect Jail

On their return to Iowa City, the jurors inspected the county jail and reported that it was in good condition.

Members of the jury who made the inspection trip to the county home are J. R. Musser, foreman, Howard Bailey, John G. Donohue, Clarence Greer, Elmer Maxey, Philip Michael, and Joseph Spevachek, Sr. John Suetzel, bailiff, accompanied the jury.

Adverse Crop Rumors Help Grain Market

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Wheat traders showed ardor today in taking at face value reports of a concerted new effort by financial and industrial leaders to energize business revival.

A maximum upturn of 17-8 cents a bushel for wheat took place, lifting the market to the highest point since April 27. Increased complaints of crop damage to domestic winter wheat, especially in states east of the Missouri river, were a contributing bullish factor.

Wheat closed unsettled, 11-4 to 12 above yesterday's finish, corn 1/2 up, oats 1/2 advanced, and provisions at a rise of 2 to 12 cents.

Corn and oats borrowed strength chiefly from wheat. Industries were reported turning to corn in place of rye as a material for making solvents. The reason given was the relatively high price of rye.

Provisions were stronger than for some time. Buying was more general, and there was no particular pressure to sell.

Closing indemnities: wheat—May 56 1/2, bids; July 57 7/8 to 58, 59 1/2 to 7-8; Sept. 59 7/8 to 60, 61 1/2 to 7-8; Dec. 62 1/2, 64 1/4. Corn—July 32 7/8, 33 1/4 to 1; Sept. 35 to 35 1/2, 35 1/2 to Dec. 35 1/2, offers.

No Funds; Legion Unable to Employ After This Week

With funds depleted, the American Legion Unemployment Relief association will be unable to employ men for work on community projects after this week, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. H. W. Checock, secretary.

In the past, men employed by the organization have cleaned Ralston creek, Oakland cemetery, the airport, and the city yards. Contributions by individuals, which have paid for this work, have decreased and at the present time there are no funds with which to continue.

Although 45 men were given work this week, the enrollment with the association reached 372.

License Plates Demolished

A. A. Rarick, head of the auto license department in County Treasurer Charles Berry's office, yesterday destroyed a formidable pile of 1932 license plates with a pair of tin snips. He explained that they were plates taken from junked cars and that he was destroying them to preclude any possibility of their being used again.

Credit Plans Show Small Market Effect

Stocks Gain at Opening But Close Steady

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Security markets made a cheerful gesture or two today in response to new credit expansion plans, but refused to wax very enthusiastic.

Stocks, after gaining 1 to 2 points at the opening, closed irregularly with narrow net changes so well distributed that there was no variation in the final average.

Eye on Congress

The share market seemed to have an eye on congress. Some stocks held up fairly well. Westinghouse derived aid from the supposition that Pennsylvania's electrification program, facilitated by Reconstruction Finance corporation aid, would help the company. Domestic oils were firm. U. S. Steel rose a point in the first half hour, but closed with a small loss. American Telephone yielded all of 2 1/4 point rise.

Heavy spots included Chrysler, Royal Dutch and International Telephone. Ralls followed the initial rise, but lost heart, although assured that no July 1 defaults were coming.

773,280 Shares

Transactions totaled 773,280 shares.

Announcement of the federal reserve credit plans naturally emphasized the lethargic response which member banks have made to the expansion program thus far. Bankers pointed out that impetus to the anti-deflation drive would be welcome, but that the reserve itself could do little more than provide facilities, leaving application thereof to member banks.

Herring, Candidate for Governor, Will Speak at Luncheon

Clyde L. Herring of Des Moines, Democrat, candidate for the office of governor of Iowa, will speak on the "Democratic day" program at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday.

Mr. Herring will outline the political issues in the state nominations from his party's viewpoint. Last week Walter Newport of Davenport presented the Republican platform.

Democratic party workers and candidates of Johnson county have been invited to attend the luncheon.

Socialists to Try to Avoid Liquor Issue

National Convention to Open With Address by Hillquit

MILWAUKEE, May 20 (AP)—The Socialist party, on the eve of its national convention here, hopes it will not be necessary to talk about prohibition.

The issue may bob up when 300 delegates from 43 states begin making suggestions for the Socialist platform. Idealistic party chiefs and the national executive committee are trying to avoid any solemn party pronouncement, however.

The Socialist party, leaders explained, has always been opposed to prohibition and its attitude is well known. To bid for political advantage by a wet pronouncement is a suggestion repugnant to committees laboring to rebuild the social system.

Prohibition Befogs Real Issues

"It's easier to get interested in beer than in sound social legislation," said Clarence Senior, Chicago, national secretary of the party. "The prohibition question is being dragged into the American picture by the old parties at this time to befog the real issues. The parties are planning to make so much noise about prohibition that the voices clamoring for social justice will be drowned out."

Executive committeemen have decided to make their convention democratic and to allow suggestions to come from the floor. The delegates may insist on re-stating the party's approval of a referendum on prohibition, but if the present leadership keeps affairs in hand the prohibition question will not be emphasized.

Hillquit to Speak

The convention will open tomorrow morning with a keynote address by Morris Hillquit of New York.

As additional delegates came from all parts of the country, the movement to nominate Norman Thomas of New York for the presidency was going forward without any show of opposition. The New Jersey delegation announced, that for vice president it will propose Mrs. Meta Berger of Milwaukee, widow of Victor L. Berger. Among others proposed for vice president are Upton Sinclair, the writer, and Powers Hapgood, Indianapolis, organizer of mine workers.

Junior C. of C. to Have Meet

15 Iowa City Members Will Attend State Convention

Approximately 15 delegates of the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce plan to attend the state Junior Chamber of Commerce convention at Mason City Monday.

Lee P. Loomis, Mason City publisher, and Harry Krusz, national secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the speakers at the noon luncheon. Addresses of welcome and speeches by members of the state chamber will follow the registration on Monday at 8 a.m.

Officers will be elected and a 1933 convention city will be selected Monday afternoon. In the evening a banquet and ball will be held.

Registrations for the convention have passed the 200 mark with 12 cities represented. Iowa City, Davenport, Ottumwa, Marshalltown, Newton, Des Moines, Boone, Ames, Ft. Dodge, Sioux City, Waterloo, and Keokuk have all indicated they will send from 10 to 15 delegates.

Ruckmick to Give Address

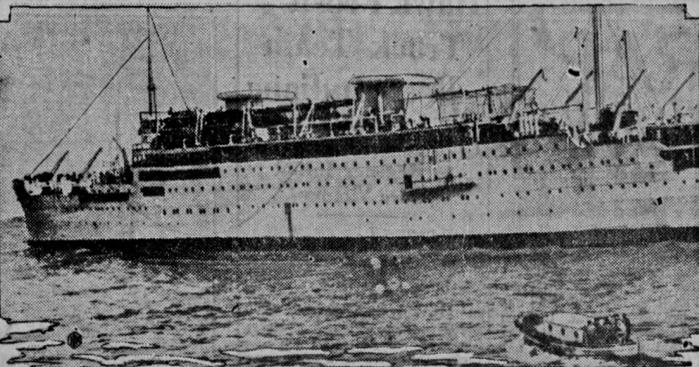

Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department, will address the men's forum of the Presbyterian church Sunday at 9:45 a.m. on "The Idea of God from the standpoint of a psychologist." This will be part of a general series of talks on "Understanding the universe."

In charge of the camp trading post will be Robert M. Spedel. Jack J. Hinman, Jr., G of Iowa City, was named camp clerk. The camp dining room will be under the supervision of Robert McCloy; and Hayden Hughes of Washington, Ia., will serve as assistant to the cook.

ing she hoped to leave early tomorrow.

The plane was warming up as she arrived at the airport. Bert Balchen, famed flyer, and Eddie Gorski, mechanic, who accompanied her from St. John, were working on it. She was laughing excitedly as Bal-chen and Gorski made a rapid but thorough inspection of the craft. Then her attitude changed to that of grave silence.

Final Conference

Satisfied that the ship was fit, Balchen and Gorski joined Mrs. Putnam for a final conference before the take-off. She gave them each a hearty handshake, said "I am confident of success," and then stepped into the plane.

She made a perfect take-off, a take-off as graceful as that which four years ago started her off on a flight with Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon that gave her the distinction of being the first woman to cross the Atlantic by air. The publisher that backed the flight, George Palmer Putnam, is now her husband and the financial backer of her present venture.

Late Announcement

Mrs. Putnam's destination was not announced until just before the start. No reason was given for its choice. The plane which holds the aviator's destiny is a 600 horsepower West motorized craft with a cruising speed of 140 miles an hour, a maximum speed of 180 and a cruising radius of 3,200 miles. It carried a fuel supply of 420 gallons of gasoline and 20 gallons of oil, sufficient, she was confident, to keep her aloft for fully 20 hours.

Slim Diet

For herself, she carried a quart of chicken soup.

A light southwest wind was blowing and the sky was cloudy as Mrs. Putnam sped eastward toward her goal but she had the cheering promise of clear skies and friendly winds along the way.

Her adviser, Balchen, watched anxiously as the heavily laden plane rushed down the runway. His cry of "Good luck" was drowned out by the cheer of the crowd that had gathered to see the start of what they hoped would be woman's first unaided flight across the perilous overseas trail.

Speed Big Factor

Mrs. Putnam had said that speed would be a big factor in her flight. Leaving Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., with Balchen and Gorski at 2:16 p.m. yesterday (CST) the plane reached St. John, N. B., at 4:46 p.m., remaining at 6:21 a.m. and alighted here at 10:31 a.m. her time of four hours and 10 minutes was believed to be a record for the flight here of 600 miles.

Her departure tonight deprived her of the hourly weather reports she was to have received from the giant DO-X, German air liner poised at Holyrood, 24 miles away, for the second leg of its homeward flight from New York to Switzerland. Had the huge craft started first, weather reports were to have been sent out by radio every hour for Mrs. Putnam's guidance.

In addition to the experience of her own Atlantic flight to Wales in 1923, she had the benefit of priceless lessons learned by Balchen on his long lengthy discussions with her as painstakingly careful to omit no detail, no matter how small, that he believed might aid her in reaching her destination safely.
