U.S. to Attend London Economic Conference

Great Britain Backs Parley on Finances

Will Consider Ways to Stabilize Prices of Commodities

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The United States has consented to attend an international economic conference in London, sponsored by Great Britain for the purpose of considering methods of stabilizing world commodity prices.

The date of the conference and its program have not been announced, but the state department made it clear today that the American acceptance of the invitation was with the understanding that only economic questions shall be considered and political questions such as war debts and reparations barred.

Other Powers Invited
France, Italy, and other European powers also have been invited by Great Britain. Tariff quotas, monetary reforms and all subjects which relate to commerce and banking probably will be included in the agenda. It is not known whether the conference will consider plans for improving the price of silver.

The meeting will in no way connected with the Lausanne conference which is to be held June 15, primarily for the consideration of reparations and intergovernmental debts.

After Ottawa Meeting
The British empire conference is to be held in Ottawa in July. The state department is of the opinion it will not be possible to hold the London conference until the Ottawa meeting is finished.

Chest Drive Pushes Over $7,000 Mark

Pledges of more than $7,000 have been promised the community chest this year, according to a report made to the welfare bureau yesterday by W. J. Holland, drive chairman.

"We expect to get more than $9,000 before the end of the drive. Only about two-thirds of the assignments have been reported," Mr. Holland stated.

A statement issued by Harry Shulman, president, expressed the appreciation of the board for the local support of the chest. "The welfare board gives thanks to the citizens of Iowa City for their splendid support. The people have been very generous, in spite of the hard times," he said.

"Many persons have subscribed even more than they could well afford, and most of the persons solicited have been willing to aid. The money is being distributed among the organizations connected with the chest at the rate of $1,000 a month."

Mr. Holland has been acting as temporary treasurer of the chest, and has consented to continue his work until a definite appointment is made.

Thieves Get Money, Food, in Two Hauls

Two week-end robberies, one at the home of Charles O. Demery, 19 Riverside drive, and the other at the Shack Shack, were reported to local police yesterday.

Entering the Demery residence early Sunday morning, thieves took a sack containing $110, and a $10 check. Windows were broken at the Shack Shack, and ice cream, candy, gum, and cigars were taken Sunday morning.

WEATHER

IOWA: Fair to partly cloudy, slightly warmer in central and east portions Wednesday; Thursday showers and thunderstorms, cooler Thursday in extreme west.

Flyer Has Ambition; Needs New Plane to Make Pacific Flight

SEATTLE, May 31 (AP)—If he had a plane, Nat C. Browne, New York flyer, would not hesitate about starting another attempt to make a non-stop flight to Tokyo, he said today.

Browne's plane, the "Lone Star," lies shattered on the floor of Puget Sound in 600 feet of water, where it sank yesterday, ending the flyer's second effort to get away on the hazardous crossing of the north Pacific. Attempts may be made to salvage the $5,000 motor.

Browne was emphatic in denying that his narrow brush with death when his plane was wrecked during mid air refueling attempt yesterday has "cured" him of his desire to fly to Tokyo.

"I feel I am lucky to be alive," he said, "but I'd try it again tomorrow if I had a plane."

Deny Plan to Oust Barkley as Keynote

Roosevelt Advisers Say They Suggested No Such Plan

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Political advisers of Franklin D. Roosevelt today denied emphatically that any suggestion had been made to oust Senator Barkley of Kentucky as keynote of the Democratic convention because of his vote for a coal tariff.

Louis Howe, one of Roosevelt's political lieutenants who came here with James A. Farley, the New York governor's pre-convention manager, for conferences at the capitol, entered the denial and added neither he nor Farley was here to discuss that question.

Disconcerted Over Vote
After the senate's recent vote on the tariff items in the revenue bill, reports were published that some of Roosevelt's supporters became disconcerted over Barkley's vote for a coal levy in spite of the fact that he had denounced the Hawley-Smoot act and had been chosen to espouse the party's lower tariff cause at Chicago.

Farley and Howe did not see Senator Barkley today. Howe said there had been no discussion here or in New York as yet regarding the man to make the Roosevelt nomination speech.

Predicts 675 Votes
Farley predicted that Roosevelt would go into the convention with 675 votes and the 95 additional required for a nomination would be forthcoming from favorite son states in time to put Roosevelt over before the first ballot is announced.

No Hate—Course of Probable New French Premier

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—The probable Premier-Designate of France, Edouard Herriot, today pledged himself to chart an unselfish course, unhampered by hate.

He was speaking to a gathering of his radical socialist (liberals), at a luncheon celebrating their recent election victories.

France does not wish to base her prosperity on the misery of any other people, M. Herriot said, although he did not specify that his remarks applied to French relations with Germany.

Seek to Bind Up Evidence in Walker Probe

Seabury Shows $75,000 Drawn for Benefit of "Friend"

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—By showing that more than $75,000 was drawn from Russell T. Sherwood's bank accounts for the benefit of an unnamed friend of Mayor Walker, Samuel Seabury today sought to link Walker beyond dispute with the $1,000,000 financial transactions of the $3,500 a year accountant.

The snow haired counsel of the Hofstadter, legislative committee made only one reference to the identity of the mysterious person, whom he declined to name.

On Walker's Account
"If anybody knew that person," he told the inquiry board, "he would know that the money was drawn on Mayor Walker's authority and not on Sherwood's."

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—"Boos" and "woofs" were exchanged today between a Democratic minority member of the Hofstadter legislative committee and spectators at the public hearing.

As the day's session was adjourned, a bloc of the audience arose and began boing the minority group, especially State Senator John J. Dummigan.

The senator boomed and added a "woof" or two.

As he started down the courthouse steps the hostile spectators boomed him again and added a few of his "woofs."

He replied in kind and then hurried away.

When the mayor had his day in court he testified he had authorized a payment of more than $75,000 to this individual from a joint brokerage account he had with Paul Block, publisher, but denied he had either an interest in or a knowledge of Sherwood's bank and brokerage accounts.

Other witnesses called to testify in the inquiry now centering on the mayor testified to the following:

Hired by Coach Company
That State Senator John A.

Local Attorney Bringing Election Drive to Close

By DON PRYOR
Pleading for sound judgment as the basis for decisions of the Iowa Railway commission, Thomas E. Martin, local attorney, director of the American Legion Community building, and graduate of the University of Iowa, is completing his campaign for the Republican nomination as candidate for membership on the commission.

Mr. Martin seeks to replace E. M. Richardson, whose term on the commission expires this year.

Stressing the fact that the railway commission is a quasi-judicial body and that decisions on the many questions confronting it require legal knowledge, Mr. Martin points to his training and experience as qualifications for the position.

No Attorney Member
The commission has not had an attorney member since Dwight N. Lewis of Des Moines resigned in 1927. This fact Mr. Martin believes is the greatest handicap to the proper functioning of the body.

Mr. Martin's early life was spent on a farm in Monroe county. After graduating from high school in Albia, he entered the State University of Iowa. He graduated from the liberal arts college in 1916 and took the position of sales analyst with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

Served in War
On the entry of the United States in the war, he enlisted and served throughout the war with company "G" of the 35th infantry.

Von Papen to Fashion New Government

Military Attache Called by Hindenburg to Form Cabinet

BERLIN, May 31 (AP)—President Paul Von Hindenburg today called upon a war time military associate—and incidentally a man accused of directing German propaganda in the United States in 1915—to form a temporary government for Germany.

He is Franz Von Papen, military attache in the United States until Washington demanded his withdrawal, and later a general staff officer of the Kaiser's Imperial army.

Commissioned
The president commissioned Von Papen to form a "national concentration cabinet" to carry on until fall.

Adolf Hitler's national socialist (fascist) party announced through its headquarters that it would withhold support from a cabinet formed by Herr Von Papen.

It was expected that the fascists of Adolf Hitler would be given a chance to make good their claim that they could control the Reichstag if given the chance in a general election.

57 Years Old
Von Papen is 57 years old and has been in political life for a decade, having been elected to the Prussian diet in 1921.

As soon as he received his instructions, Von Papen began his list of ministers, but declined to give any hint of his choices.

Hastings, close friend of Walker, was hired by the Equitable Coach company at $10,000 to $12,000 a year and all expenses, because of his political friendships, to solicit favor at city hall for a city wide bus franchise.

That the late Anson W. Burchard, vice president of the General Electric company, at one time agreed to finance as an individual the Equitable company.

Expressed Dissatisfaction
That Walker, after Burchard's death and a refusal of the General Electric to do the financing, expressed dissatisfaction over the company's refusal to another vice president.

This was the second time that McDonald had been under the knife for eye trouble. ### Massie Gets Citizenship

Governor Gives Full Rights in Native Commonwealth

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 31 (AP)—Any rights of citizenship Lieut. Thomas H. Massie may have lost in his native state of Kentucky by his conviction in the Honolulu honor slaying were restored him in an executive order from Gov. Ruby Laffoon today.

The governor stated in his order restoring citizenship he did not believe Lieutenant Massie had forfeited any of his rights in this state but that he issued the order "to put the matter beyond all doubt."

Massie received the order from Governor Laffoon personally in the executive offices, and a short time later, he and his wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie, left Winchester by motor for Charleston, W. Va. They have spent several days visiting the naval officer's mother at Winchester.

It was to avenge an attack on her that the naval officer, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Porteus of New York, and two sailors, were alleged to have slain a young Hawaiian, indicted for the crime. The four were convicted of manslaughter and their sentences commuted to an hour in jail. Massie is the only one who is a native of Kentucky.

REGINA, Sask., May 31 (AP)—One of the two remaining balloons in the national race started at Omaha, Neb., yesterday came down in Saskatchewan today and the other was sighted in the southwest section of the province.

The Goodyear VII, manned by Roland Blair and Frank Trotter, landed at 3:50 p.m. (C.S.T.) at Tyran, a community about 50 miles southeast of here and about 75 miles from the North Dakota boundary line.

The No. 2 army bag, piloted by Capt. W. J. Flood of Washington, was observed this afternoon 50 miles from the Montana line.

The balloon was believed to be one of those that started in the national race from Omaha yesterday.

Senate Votes 72 to 11 for Budget Balancing Measure; Hoover Appeals Personally

Roll Call Comes After Eventful Day and Night; President Makes Surprise Visit to Capitol Hill for Plea

WHAT THE SENATE DID LAST NIGHT

- 1—Rejected manufacturers sales tax.
- 2—Retained import duties on oil, coal, copper, lumber.
- 3—Levied one cent a gallon on gasoline.
- 4—Levied three cent tax on income of electricity companies.
- 5—Levied 100 per cent tax on incomes earned through violations of state or federal laws.
- 6—Rejected proposal to levy additional duties on imports from countries whose currency has depreciated.
- 7—Levied tax of five cents per $100 on future sales on produce markets.

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — (Wednesday) — The senate early today passed the revenue bill filled with new taxes to reach the budget balancing goal urged by President Hoover in a personal appeal to the chamber.

The final roll call came at 12:20 a.m., after a day and night filled with a whirlwind of events climaxed by the surprise call on Capitol Hill by the president to ask prompt and unified action to arrest foreign attacks on the American dollar.

President Endorses Sales Tax
The last minute endorsement by the president of the disputed manufacturers sales tax, however, was scorned by the senate in its driving finish. The 1.75 per cent manufacturers sales levy was advanced late in the night by Senator Walsh (D. Mass.) and voted down, 53 to 27.

The senate did respond with determination "to administration appeals advanced personally by the president and Secretary Mills for an eleventh hour addition of $285,000,000 in new revenue to make sure the government will pay its own way next year.

Raises Income Rates
It voted further increases in the income rates; a one cent a gallon levy on gasoline and a three per cent tax on gross receipts of electric power companies.

These changes were estimated to yield $280,000,000 and bring the total of the measure up to the $1,115,000,000.

Now Goes to Conference
The greatest peace-time revenue-raising bill now goes to conference for adjustment of differences with the house, but no major disputes are impending between the two chambers and final enactment of the legislation within a week is expected.

Its nerves ragged from the day and night grind, the senate wrangled persistently through a long day, and a sharp exchange occurred just before the final passage.

Senator Tydings of Maryland and Glass of Virginia, both Democrats, questioned sharply whether the bill would balance the budget.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, an administration spokesman, firmly insisted the bill together with the economy measure of $238,000,000 which reached the senate shortly before midnight would accomplish that purpose.

Immediately after the bill passed, Vice President Curtis appointed conferees on behalf of the senate to adjust differences with the house.

Names Conferees
He named Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, and Senators Watson (R., Ind.), Reed (R., Pa.), Harrison (D., Miss.), and King (D., Utah).

Just before the final roll call on the tax bill, Senator Nye (R. Dak.) announced he would not press for consideration of his proposal to attach to it as a rider the three way farm relief program sponsored by agricultural organizations.

Nye and other leaders of the farm bloc feel that a vote on this program will be had separately before the session ends, and the North Dakotan gave notice of his intention to renew his drive for action on it.

Among those paired, but not announced was Brookhart (R. Iowa).

Student Pilot Dies in Parachute Leap

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—A terror stricken student pilot "froze" to the controls of an airplane soaring thousands of feet above the city today, leaped for safety on the advice of his instructor, and was killed because he failed to pull the rip cord that would have opened his parachute.

Vic Lindeman, the instructor, landed the plane safely after the body of Harold W. Burke, 21, who had a private pilot's license but was in training for a higher class license, landed on a sidewalk in a sparsely settled part of the city.

Three others landed safely in North Dakota today after battling wind, rain, snow and electric storms. A fourth landed soon after the take-off, its bag leaking badly.

The two unheeded from were the number two army balloon piloted by Lieut. Wilfrid J. Paul, and the Goodyear VII, manned by Roland Blair and Frank Trotter, winner of the 1930 national race at Houston, Texas.

Captain Flood's balloon struck a high tension wire before landing but trees broke the fall and the occupants were uninjured.

Identification of Reputed Spy Puzzles New York Police

Above are three pictures showing Capt. Fritz Joubert Duquesne, in Boer uniform; the same man as he appeared in New York 13 years ago and "T. de Trafford Craven," whom New York police are now holding, believing him to be the elusive Duquesne, for whom British authorities have long sought on charges ranging from arson to murder on the high seas.

NEW YORK—Is he Capt. Fritz Joubert Duquesne, as is suspected, or T. de Trafford Craven as he claims he is? That is the vexing problem that is confronting police authorities here as they survey the man whom they believe is wanted by the British government on charges ranging from espionage to murder on the high seas.

The man who insists that he is Craven was recently arrested in New York and held on a 13 year old warrant, charged with the death of three British seamen on the freighter Tennyson off the Brazilian coast in 1916. The man to whom that crime was traced, Fritz Duquesne, soldier of fortune, and self-styled nemesis of the British empire, was arrested and held for extradition in New York. But three days before he was scheduled to be shipped to England for trial, Duquesne escaped from Bellevue hospital.

Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy, who questioned Duquesne when he was in the toils 13 years ago, insists that the man who now calls himself Craven is the same man, as does Capt. Thomas Tunney, who made the arrest on that occasion.

The one infallible means of determining the identity of the prisoner, (the finger print record of the elusive Duquesne) is mysteriously missing from the police files. But officials recalled that Duquesne had several scars upon his body and an examination of Craven is said to have disclosed similar marks.

According to a recently published book, Fritz Duquesne was the adventurer par-excellence. His life was one long stunt with sword and pistol, escapes from jails and fortresses and an amazingly successful one-man warfare against formidable forces of the British empire.

The incident that led to Duquesne's life of terrorism, according to the author of the book, was his return from the South African war, in which he had served as a

Kidding Yourself?

When price is constantly dangled before you, it's really quite thrilling to "kid yourself" into thinking that you are getting a real bargain.

As a matter of fact, it is highly unprofitable to select a garment from its price tag alone. For after all, you can expect to get just what you pay for and little, if any, more

At OSBORN'S we invite you to first look at the QUALITY of the garments and the workmanship in their making. Then you can look at the price tag with the assurance that the price will always be right for QUALITY merchandise.

They met with O. S. Barb, state expert and made an appointment by telephone to present the resolution next Monday afternoon to Gov. C. W. Bryan at Lincoln.

Graduating Ceremonies for Annapolis Midshipmen Start

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 31 (AP)—Ceremonies which will culminate with the graduation of 422 midshipmen from the naval academy were begun today with the presentation of colors to the best company of the regiment, one of the most romantic of the June week ceremonies.

The colors were presented to Louis J. Kirm (Bullet Lou) to those who know their football men) of Milwaukee by Miss Marie K. Douglas, of Manitowoc, Wis., before the dress parade.

Receives Colors
Kirm received the colors on behalf of the eighth company, adjudged through competitive work as the best in the academy. Miss Douglas took them from the hands of Capt. Henry D. Cook, commandant of midshipmen, and transferred them to Kirm.

Thursday the graduating class will receive diplomas from Secretary of the Navy Charles F. Adams. Through acts of congress all except those who resign will be commissioned. The act was necessary because the officers lists were full.

42 Resign
Of the graduating class, 42 have resigned. They will be given diplomas but not commissioned. Richard Shal Mandelkorn, son of T. H. Mandelkorn of Peoria, Ill., heads the graduating class with an average of 912.53 out of a possible 1,000 for the four year course. He also was the winner of five individual awards for meritorious work.

Minnesota Indian Gets Life Sentence on Killing Charge
DULUTH, Minn., May 31 (AP)—Pleading guilty to a charge of second degree murder in federal district court today, Charles de Jourdan, 30 year old Chippewa Indian of Cass Lake, Minn., was sentenced to life imprisonment at Leavenworth penitentiary by Judge W. A. Cant.

De Jourdan, who confessed to killing Mrs. Josephine Mynneil, 30, also an Indian, last March 16 was not represented in court. De Jourdan admitted he killed Mrs. Mynneil, mother of six children, when she resisted his advances on an automobile trip to Bemidji from Cass Lake. He said he struck her over the head with a long pole and then placed her body alongside the highway.

Theory of Music
A class in the theory of music will be held at 8 a.m. each day. At 9 a.m. will be held the practice for the orchestra, under the direction of Professor Righter. The chorus group, under the direction of Olaf Christiansen, visiting instructor from Oberlin college, will meet at 10:40 a.m. each day.

Two days of each week, Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department, will give a special course in music appreciation.

Section Rehearsals
The afternoons will be given over to section rehearsals, private lessons, and chamber music. Two private lessons each week are included with every student's tuition.

Professor Righter declared that there will be a much larger registration than there was last year, basing his opinion on the number of registrations already received. Vacancies are still left in both choral and orchestral groups, he said.

Fatal Shooting Stirs London

Son of Banker Dies After Cocktail Party
LONDON, May 31 (AP)—The haunts of Mayfair society were stirred today by the fatal shooting of Michael Scott Stephen, son of a London banker, after a gay cocktail party.

The tragedy occurred in the apartment of Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, beautiful golden-haired divorcee and daughter of a knight, whose former husband is John Sterling Barney, an American singer.

No Charges Filed
No charges had been filed to night against Mrs. Barney, in whose flat in Williams Mews the young man was shot and killed about 4 a.m.

The story, it is understood, Scotland Yard investigators will tell at an inquest next Friday, is that during discussions in the long hours after a cocktail party Stephen drank last few days at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lindsley.

Mrs. A. L. Kloos is confined to her home with a sprained ankle.

Raps System of Economics

Presbyterian Assembly Holds Meeting in Denver
DENVER, May 31 (AP)—An indictment of the present day economic system was handed down to the one hundred forty-fourth general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. today.

The Rev. Hugh Ivan Evans of Dayton, Ohio, in submitting a report on national missions, under which department the committee on social and industrial relations operates, outlined current conditions and declared that "certainly this is an arrangement of the present economic system under which the trade of the world is maintained, which calls for immediate revisions and adjustment."

An item which would have put the church on record favoring state compulsory unemployment insurance was missing in the final draft of the report, as was a provision calling for large scale economic and social plans.

The Rev. Thomas H. Simpson of Seattle expressed regret that certain "strong statements" had been eliminated from the committee report, saying that "devil was at work during the night and took out of this report many things for which we could well stand."

An attempt to put the assembly on record as favoring the cancellation of European war debts failed.

School Board Cuts Salaries

Will Affect Des Moines Employees Earning Over $1,000

DES MOINES, May 31 (AP)—Reductions of 10.7 per cent in the salaries of 1,150 persons connected with the Des Moines school system were ordered today by the city board of education in making out its budget for the 1932-33 school year.

The order will affect the salaries of all employees of the board except those receiving less than $1,000 per year. The board also decided not to employ married women other than those now in the service. It also decided not to reappoint any married woman whose economic status justifies her replacement by an equally capable man or unmarried woman.

J. W. Studebaker, superintendent of schools, whose contract calling for $10,000 per year salary expires July 1, 1933, announced he would take a voluntary reduction of $1,000 for the coming year.

The reduction will trim $310,000 from the school board's budget and lowers the total salary figure for next year to $2,400,000.

DO YOU INHALE?

Is this question too revealing for other cigarettes?

WE do not criticize others. We merely call your attention to the fact that the vital subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising.

Why? What's there to be afraid of? Everybody inhales! Seven out of ten smokers inhale knowingly—the other three do so without realizing it. From your side—you want to be sure that the smoke you breathe in is pure and clean—free from certain impurities.

But from the manufacturer's side—he should be sure of giving you this protection. And if he is sure—he need not worry about the question: "Do you inhale?"

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Down to Brass Tacks

EVIDENTLY the United States looks with more favor upon a method of strengthening the financial structures of the nations of the world rather than determine their "ability to pay" war debts and reparations.

Yesterday the United States gave assurance to Great Britain that this country would be represented at a world economic conference to consider methods of stabilizing commodity prices. But a few days ago, there was no lure with enough power to draw from U. S. officials a promise to attend the projected Lausanne conference.

Specifically, the state department statement yesterday read: "... as was stated in press messages from London the proposed conference would have nothing to do with war debts, reparations, disarmament or anything but economic subjects."

On that basis, the United States is willing to cooperate with the rest of the world. That makes it certain the government knows what it's all about and realizes that no conference of nations can settle the war debt and reparations problem to satisfaction before the economic angle is straightened out.

The disarmament conference in Geneva, for all anyone knows, may be spending the days out bobsledding or yodeling or Alping. Maybe that's what happens when good fellows who can't agree get together. Maybe that's just what to expect at Lausanne.

But this is different, not just as an excuse, but as fact. An economic conference—with everyone down in the well and trying to get out by the same ladder, instead of proportional ratios—will have a sobering effect, at least, upon the conferees, and will certainly exude confidence. And if congress starts to squabble about how much to appropriate for the U. S. delegates, somebody ought to start a collection.

Hitler's Hour at Last?

"OUR HOUR has come," thought every Fascist follower of Adolph Hitler in Germany with the announcement of the resignation of the Bruening cabinet. But so far the aged Paul von Hindenburg has not responded to their hope for a new cabinet, patterned after the Nazi scheme.

Right plunk on the heels of his recent landslide election, von Hindenburg is faced with the greatest problem he has had to deal with directly since his election in 1925. Just what caused the disagreement between the president and the chancellor has not been revealed but two matters, it is understood, caused the break: 1) that the Bruening cabinet no longer represented the will of the people, and 2) that the government would not be able to gain the support of the army in case of necessity.

But if Hitler, contrary to rumor, has not changed in his attitude toward other nations, and still harbors the same philosophy of government, von Hindenburg has no other choice than to attempt to evade the Hitler faction or resign.

It may be the scheme of the Hitlerites to wait until a more opportune moment to effect their coup, but it would hardly be in keeping with Hitler's own established methods of "getting there" in a hurry.

Meanwhile the rest of the world is holding on to the edge of its chair waiting for the word that will decide whether Germany "does not choose to pay" or whether "it cannot."

Scientist says the bee language is a kind of dance performed with their feet. As we recall, the only bees that have ever tried to communicate with us have sat out the dances.

Americanizing by Film

(From The Boston Transcript)

A writer in the Vancouver Sun observed a little while ago that the United States film industry had done more to Americanize the world than ever Julius Caesar and his legions did to Romanize it. Nobody, we think, will question this opinion, but it is pertinent to ask whether this Americanization leaves as much that is substantial and enduring in its train as the military conquests of the Romans. Are our film plays of a character to make the civilization they picture seem something better than that of other countries, something worthy of imitation? That claim can hardly be made for them. Like the stage play or the novel the cinema picks out the phases of life that can be used to make a stirring dramatic tale. The pictures are true in the little but not in the large. Taking them all together we should say that they depict a life of extraordinary luxuriousness, of a conscienceless laxness in the marriage relation, of unrestrained lawlessness—finally, the life of a people who feel that they must feed on pleasure and excitement or perish.

Only a handful of us in the United States ever mingle in the society or come in contact with the elements so graphically set forth on the screen. That is why we become "movie fans." We think we see how the other half lives. But we must travel far and crash many a forbidding gate before we find ourselves actors in an actual scene like any unrolled before our eyes in the picture theaters. So might a Chinaman travel all his life long as conductor on the trains between Tientsin and Shanghai and never encounter such adventures as those which hold us in wrapt attention in the "Shanghai Express."

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

"As intelligent citizens of modern America," their professor addressed nearly 100 Iowa undergraduates in an examination question, "name and discuss two major problems in contemporary national life."

Not drilled on current events, the group chose "major problems" in keeping with public interest: prohibition, 58; depression, 39; unemployment, 13; moratorium, 10; farm relief, 12; presidential election, 11; tariff, 15; and a scattering on Lindbergh kidnaping, civic corruption, crime and racketeering, League of Nations and world court, Nicaragua, finance and banking, railroads, race, Philippine independence, taxation, chain stores, and nepotism.

On prohibition, where students sensed something wrong but were not often sure whether modification, enforcement, referendum, or repeal was best, answers ranged from boners to brilliance:

"The first classification that is made after the Democrat or Republican is 'wet' or 'dry.'"

"Prohibition, which includes crime and lawlessness. . ."

"They don't want beer but something to make a noise about."

"... it might be a good thing if non-alcoholic drinks were back. . ."

"It wouldn't be any worse than it is now anyway."

"Most people could get more pleasure out of drinking a can of varnish and letting someone hit them over the head with a gas pipe. The effects would be the same as if it were not for the bump on the head."

"It deprives an individual from participating in the consumption of a certain form of diet."

"I think prohibition is all right theoretically but not actually."

"Most of the people who drink do it, not because they enjoy it, because most of them don't, but because they want to do something different."

"Reams upon reams of newspaper copy have been written and myriads of volumes (Wickersham report?) have been published concerning both (depression and prohibition), but nothing has been done." (Not to mention speeches in congress and on the political circuit.)

"Until a year and a half ago," says an older than average young woman, "I was the staunchest of the dries. That was because I had made up my mind without looking into the other side, a thing many of us do."

And depression:

"The American people have been living far over their own heads, now they are being brought down to a level where they belong."

Apparently believing in trying to wait it out until the wolf at the door starves: "Nothing can seem to be done to bring about good times again but to wait patiently and the depression will eventually leave."

"Prosperity is just around the corner"—what a long block this is!

One recommends "To try to balance the returns of physical effort and capital, to try to give the farmer a place so that he may get the just return for all the pioneering and work he put into the development of country, as well as for all the effort he is expending at present."

"Money causes crime. Flash a lot of money around and you'll know what crime is. Money talks!"

"As for me," begins a new kind of Patrick Henry, "I wish to goodness that this cloud will soon lift so that I can get a job to continue school."

"If chemists would build an automobile tire or a type of toothpaste from corn stalks the Iowa farmer might be better."

"But I repeat, it is a task for the government to handle and not merely economists which are out of date today."

"Labor has made other men profits too long and it is going to demand more and more a share of the profits. Why one man should sit and sun himself in Florida, while hundreds of other men work eight hours a day to keep him there, is not seen by labor."

"It seems to me that the poor farmer is always moaning about something or other."

"We have always thought with the coming of big business that the big corporations can withstand most anything, but now we know that it is not so when we see this great amount of unemployed people."

And about the presidency, where pro and anti Hoover sentiment split almost even:

"I also am fully convinced that Herbert Hoover is not responsible for this depression, and that the man who can do more than our president has done to date, has not yet appeared upon the national horizon."

"Hoover has made several mistakes—but on the other hand he has balanced his mistakes with good—as we have read in the old Greek and Latin days when a person died he went to Hell and here if his good deeds outweighed the bad he went to the Elysium fields but if his bad deeds outweighed the good he went to Purgatory. Hoover should have this judgment and a fair one, too."

And from a potential orator: "Hoover may or may not run for president again, and I think if he did he would probably be nominated, on the Republican ticket."

Finally, by way of admonition to any politicians who snicker at boners:

"It would be a fine thing for this country if they only allowed those people to vote who have passed an exam which pertains to politics and questions most prominent, or an intelligence test."

Who at Washington or Des Moines or elsewhere will cast the first stone by proposing such a law?

CONFLICTS: In case of conflicting examinations the student should report to the instructor in charge of the first of the two conflicting subjects as listed (Read by columns, and alphabetically) within the particular group, who will arrange a special examination. Report to him, or her, not later than regular class hour on May 9 and 10.

The first meeting of the class means the first lecture or recitation period in courses having both lectures and recitations, and laboratory periods; or, in the case of courses involving only laboratory periods, the first recitation of the first weekly meeting. For example, chemistry 22 meets for lectures T Th Sa at 8. The first regular meeting is, consequently, Tuesday at 8,—and the class will meet for examination Thursday, May 26, 2 p.m., according to the tabular form above. Again, physics 128 meets twice each week, T F, for a three-hour laboratory exercise, 1-4. The period for the examination is, therefore, Wednesday, June 1, 2 p.m.

"ODD" classes,—namely those whose first or only weekly meetings occur on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, or which meet "as arranged," will be assigned for examination, as announced to each such class by the instructor in charge of the class, at one or another of the following periods:

- From 4 to 6 on any day from May 25 to June 2, inclusive.
- Any one of the examination periods assigned, as indicated above, for the examinations in the SPECIAL GROUPS, A, B, C, D and E, since for such "odd" classes, these five examination periods will be found quite available.

In connection with any such announcement it would doubtless be well for the instructor making the announcement to ascertain whether any member of his class is already under appointment for examination in some other class for the proposed period. To be sure, it is possible to have examinations in more than one class at any of these times,—if no student is a member of more than one of these classes.

According to one clause in the formal faculty action providing for a special semester-examination program, "the instructor may use the examination period as he sees fit provided he holds the class for the full period. He may have an oral or a written examination, or both, or neither. He may continue regular work or he may use the time for review, or for any phase of his work which may seem to him desirable at this time."

According to another faculty regulation, which is on record as adopted by the faculty, a student absent from the final examination should be reported "Abs.;" unless the instructor recognizes that his work up to this examination has been a failure, in which case the final report should be "F."—even though the student may have been absent from the final examination. No examination should be given, subsequently, to such a student until after the absence has been excused by the Committee on Admission and Classification, as shown by a partially filled special report card, signed by the Secretary of the Committee, as indicating that the absence has been excused and that the student is authorized, subject to the consent and at the convenience of the instructor concerned, to take the final examination.

The stone that speaks: The immense Temple of Heaven, in Peking, China, consists of a series of altars within small walled enclosures. As I entered the marble-floored temple grounds, formerly used by the Ming emperors to prepare themselves for their ceremonies on the sacred Altar of Heaven, my guide informed me that there was a "speaking stone" in the center of the grounds. I stepped on the stone and as I spoke my own voice resounded loudly, as though it came from beneath my feet. This phenomenon can be explained by the fact that this particular stone is in the exact center of the grounds, and the voice of the person standing on it echoes with equal force from all points on the inside of the wall.

A war out of the inkpot: The first Anglo-Chinese war, 1840-1842, was preceded by the seizure and destruction of 21,000 chests of opium which had been smuggled into China in the face of an imperial prohibition. The smuggling was accomplished by a fleet of English and American craft. At the order of Emperor T'ang-wang, a ruler of great benevolence, the opium—valued at about $12,000,000—was utterly destroyed. The opium incident was a contributory cause for the outbreak of the war, but technically the war was caused by a refusal on the part of the Chinese authorities to cease referring to the English settlers of China as "I," (foreign barbarians).

The war lasted two years, and ended with the utter rout of the Chinese armed forces, the payment of an indemnity by China in the sum of $21,000,000, and a solemn engagement on the part of China to abolish the objectionable epithet of I.

The bullet-proof god: An object of especial veneration by Japanese soldiers and sailors is a small Buddha statue from No-Man's land in Chapel, which they have named Tamayoke Dai-shi, or Bullet-Proof God.

During the heavy bombardment of Chapel, a temple on Paoshan road was completely destroyed and everything within it demolished except this statue, which had not been touched in the heavy machine gun and artillery fire. After hostilities ceased in March, the image was forwarded to Tokyo and consecrated in the compound of the ministry of the navy as a spiritual ballistic guardian of the Japanese. It is to be housed in a temple that is being erected from materials of the ruined temple in Shanghai.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — Douglas Fairbanks is now being voted Hollywood's most inventive host.

As a climax to a private showing of "Tarzan, the Ape-man," he panicked his distinguished guests at Pickfair by introducing into their midst a full grown chimpanzee, borrowed for the evening from a local zoo.

The Simian guest of honor promptly became the hit of the party. For several hours, he held the floor, throwing some of Hollywood's most famous celebrities into fits of laughter by his unexpected antics and near human grimaces. To the eternal pride of the Hollywood contingent, Donald Ogden Stewart is credited with twice topping him.

The best part of the gag may easily be the great field it opens up to other harassed hosts. The whole animal kingdom lies at their disposal.

They tell it that Irving Caesar and Al Jolson were reminiscing about their youth.

"I recall," said Caesar, "how my father used to go down to the public library in the evenings and help to teach English to newly arrived foreigners."

"Too bad," flipped Jolson, "he should have spent more time at home with you."

Though Warren William is loaned to M. G. M. for "Skyscraper Souls," he is under orders to report back at the home studio June 4, to play the masculine lead in "Three on a Match." This is the Kubec Glasmon-John Bright story I wrote about yesterday. Mervyn Leroy will direct.

Since his hit in "The Mouthpiece," William's stock has taken a strong rise in Hollywood.

Contestants in Senatorial Tilt Renew Efforts

Drives Move Forward Into Final Phases Before Primary

(By The Associated Press)
The Republican senatorial contest went forward with renewed vigor in the state Tuesday afternoon and evening as the candidates stepped into their final drives before the primary next Monday.

In speeches over the state during the day two of the candidates, George Cosson and Col. Glenn C. Haynes, objected to the "side-show tactics" and the "burlesque and bitterness" in the campaign for nomination and urged the voters to consider actual issues.

Strikes at Brookhart
Henry Field of Shenandoah struck back at the speech of Rep. LaGuardia in behalf of Senator Brookhart with the assertion that the New Yorker "was sent out to take Field for a political ride." Field said he did not feel "squelched" however, and would keep right on.

Speaking tonight at Cherokee, Field renewed his attack on Brookhart by reiterating some of his previous charges asserting that the senator, who he said is chairman of the senate committee on economy, collects $1,347 to cover a traveling expense of $272.00 every time there is a session of congress.

Criticizes Field
Brookhart in a speech at Cedar Rapids criticized the organization of the Henry Field company and referred to Field as a "Wall Street agent" along with Haynes and Cosson.

The announcement of ratings by the Iowa Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, of additional candidates also was of interest Tuesday. The organization placed Louis Cook as the only Republican senatorial candidate found satisfactory, and approved Fred P. Hagemann, N. G. Kraschel and Louis Murphy on the Democratic side.

Loyce and Joyce Herbert and Joyce and Loyce Stratton, twins, attend the same grade in a Houston, Tex., school and live in the same block.

Jury in Minor Role Shown by College of Law Survey; Reveals Rise in Crime Rate

Significant facts revealed by a study of Iowa's crime statistics, made since 1928 by the University of Iowa college of law, have been reported by Prof. Rollin M. Perkins who directed a staff of 80 students in the survey.

After delving into official records of counties for this five-part investigation, these are among the most vital finds:

—That the jury in actual administration of criminal justice is relatively unimportant.
—That reversals by the supreme court are negligible in criminal cases.

—That more than half of the prosecutions result in convictions and that mistrials are infrequent.

—That liquor prosecutions outnumber all others, constituting more than one-third of the total.

—That few definite trends may be attributed to the rural or urban character of the population.

—That, in 25 typical counties, prosecutions in 1931 increased one-third over the number in 1927.

Jury's Role Shown
The jury's comparatively minor role was shown by the fact that of all prosecutions reaching the grand jury stage, only about eight per cent culminate in jury trial, and only some three per cent result in acquittal by jury.

Regarding reversals by the supreme court, Professor Perkins declared that they account for less than two-tenths of one per cent of all prosecutions and less than four-tenths of one per cent of all convictions.

Liquor prosecutions are about three times as numerous as the second ranking offense, larceny. In third place is burglary, which includes breaking and entering. Down near the bottom of the list is drug law violation and felonious homicide.

Most Crimes Prosecuted
With the exception of larcenies and related offenses of burglary and robbery, most crimes brought to the attention of officers are cleared up at least to the point of prosecution, the investigation revealed. Auto theft apparently is the most difficult to solve, with prosecutions resulting in about eight per cent of the reported cases. However, convictions resulted from prosecutions in 80 per cent of the cases.

One of the heavily prosecuted offenses is driving while intoxicated 79 per cent of which cases culminate in prosecution. The least successful in the matter of prosecution is negligent manslaughter.

See Crime Rate Increase
In the 25 counties where the 33 per cent increase in the number of prosecutions during 1931 over 1927 was discovered, such a substantial change in so short a period of time suggests an increase in the crime rate, although more efficient law enforcement may also have aided, according to the report.

After cataloguing the details, it was found that more prosecutions were listed for burglary, rape, robbery, driving while intoxicated, carrying concealed weapons, and forgery. But there was a decrease in liquor prosecutions other than driving while intoxicated, and in sex offenses other than rape.

Such a survey, Professor Perkins said, never before has been made in Iowa. Enlisting the aid of county clerks and attorneys, the univer-

O'Brien's "Best Short Stories" Will Contain Three From 'Midland'

Three of the 20 stories to appear in O'Brien's "Best Short Stories of 1932" will be ones which were originally published in "The Midland," literary magazine edited by John T. Frederick, former head of the English department of the University of Iowa.

The author of one of the three stories, the Rev. Leo L. Ward of the University of Notre Dame, is a contributor to the current issue of "The Midland," recently published.

Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, who is associate editor of the magazine, has contributed an article on "Literature With Roots."

Other contributors to this issue are Benjamin Appel of New York City; Arthur Shumway of Evanston, Ill.; A. E. Fisher of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Hansel Long of Santa Fe, N. M.; Ernestine Songer of Kansas City, Mo.; Robert Tallman of Colorado Springs, Col.; Esther Schultz of Chicago, and Christine Turner, who lives in New England.

Barnes to Engage in Research
Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the college of engineering left yesterday for Morgantown, W. Va., preparatory to spending the summer at Cornell university, where he will engage in research work.

Men studied the indictable offenses in all counties for 1931, the offenses known to the police last year, and the supreme court's work in criminal cases from 1927 to 1931.

Bruin Hurler Hangs Up His Seventh Win

Jurges Opens Victory Drive in Eighth With Single

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—Lonnie Warneke and the Cubs subdued the Cardinals and old Jess Haines, 3 to 1, today to take the edge in the series and retain their two and one-half game margin over the Boston Braves for first place in the National league.

Warneke racked up his seventh victory of the season and hurled his ninth complete game of the campaign. He gave only six hits, one of which was a single by Haines which drove in the Cardinals' only run in the fifth. That was the only chance of scoring the world champions had.

Charlie Gelbert tripled to open the fifth and after Delker had gone out, Haines produced his hit. The Cubs tied it up in their half of the round when Riggs Stephenson singled, went to second on Grimm's sacrifice and counted on hits by Hartnett and Bill Jurges.

Jurges started the drive that won the ball game in the eighth. He singled and after Warneke went out, Johnny Moore slammed a double to center, scoring the winning run. Bill Herman followed with a single to add the extra run. Haines gave up only seven hits.

Manager Rogers Hornsby again was in right field but his bat, which was the big factor in winning the second game yesterday, failed to do any damage.

Knothe Bats Braves to Win Over Giants

BOSTON, May 31 (AP)—Southpaw Ed Brandt and Fritz Knothe enabled the Braves to salvage the final game of the series from the New York Giants today. Brandt held the Giants to four hits to win his sixth game of the season 7 to 2, and Knothe provided the winning runs with a homer with two on in the fourth. He also tripled to drive in another tally in the sixth.

The Braves hit Hal Schumacher hard and often but he lasted up to the eighth inning, giving way for a pinch batsman.

Bucs Annex Third Place With 4-1 Win

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)—Pittsburgh scrambled into a tie for third place in the National league today, by trouncing the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 1.

Larry French, Pirate southpaw, and Red Lucas went the distance. French allowed the Reds 10 hits, but kept them scattered. The Bucs got six of their nine hits in the first two innings. That's why they won.

Sportively Speaking

By Bill Rutledge

The young man from Mt. Ida, Ark., who pitches for the Chicago Cubs is well along towards carrying off honors as one of the leading National league hurlers of 1932. Yesterday Lonnie Warneke bested Jess Haines, the Cardinals' oldest veteran, to give the Bruins a fine 3 to 1 decision. And Manager Rogers Hornsby's bat wasn't needed.

There are only two managers in the majors who step up to the plate. They're both Chicagans—Hornsby of the Cubs and Lew Fonseca of the White Sox. When the going gets rough, they assign themselves to a post in the outfield to try and help their teams along.

After beating up on George Moriarity, the belligerent American league umpire, the White Sox trimmed the Cleveland Indians yesterday, 6 to 5. The most important feature was the fact that Ted Lyons, whose arm has been supposedly ailing for so long that you may have forgotten about him, hurled a full nine innings—and won. In 1927 Lyons ranked with the best pitchers in the American league; but not since then.

The weather is invariably in element on the days of baseball openings. Yesterday it rained a good portion of the day and washed out one of the Twilight league contests. It always clears up before the season closes.

The Twilight games, Iowa City's principal summer sports fare, promise to develop into some sizzling battles. Few fans can forget the outstanding encounters of last summer. "Kootch" Smith's no-hit, no-run game for Academy. . . . The Odd Fellows' playoff series with Racine's. . . . And others.

Hawks Take Pershing Rifle Trophy Again

Firing in competition with 12 teams scattered throughout the nation, the University of Iowa team won the annual Pershing Rifle gallery meet, according to word received here yesterday.

The first place trophy, said to be second only to the Hearst award, has been in the possession of the Iowa company since it was first offered four years ago.

The Iowa team, composed of Mark Heskett, Vincent Allison, Glea Martin, Don Martin, and Joseph Kanak scored a total of 1,844 to edge out the University of Dayton which tallied 1,833.

By RON TALLMAN
Smiling Joe Whiting, cap cocked on one side of his head, buckled down to the serious business of pitching at Iowa field last night and capably performed his task.

He mixed up his fast ball in a highly efficient manner as he and his Odd Fellow mates got away to a flying start in the 1932 Twilight league baseball race, trimming the Academy 5 to 1.

Eight times during his seven innings of toil he caused the opposition to futilely fan the breeze, not once did he ease up in his duties to such an extent that a batter reached first on balls, and only once was he mildly in trouble, that when the losers bunched two of their four hits in the fifth for their only run.

Sampson Wild
In almost direct contrast, his mound opponent, Bob Sampson, was almost constantly in trouble because of his wildness, but for which the game might have been somewhat different. The husky Academy righthander issued eight walks, let loose with two wild pitches which resulted in the lodge team's first two and winning runs, and gave Tom Burger, his catcher, the most thorough workout of any player in the game.

After Whiting had retired the first three Academy men in order, Sampson got rid of Watkins in ease and the game appeared as if it might resort into a pitching battle. But then the big blow-up came and the outcome was never much in doubt.

Two Wild Pitches
Moore, the next lodgeman to face Sampson, was the recipient of the first free ticket to first and then Eastwood was presented with a gift in the form of a hard pitched ball on the shoulder. The Academy hurler tossed his first wild pitch out of Burger's reach as Moore scored and then followed with one over the catcher's head to let Eastwood in.

Petty scratched the first hit off Whiting in the second but it was of no account as he was forced at second, two men fanning. Burger's alert support saved Sampson in this frame as two men were walked and Watkins singled to right.

Has Temporary Control
In the next two frames only one man reached first off the Odd Fellow pitcher's delivery, Sampson surviving as Hartman failed to touch the base in what should have been an easy infield out. Moore got a scratch infield hit for the only lodge activity in the two innings as Sampson momentarily bore down.

Strickler dropped a fly in short left field for a single to open the Academy fifth, reaching third as Mock lined one through second for a hit, progressing to second as Shannon fumbled the ball in center. Bill Norris rolled out to the first baseman to drive in the only Academy run.

Whiting walked for the second time in the Odd Fellow half of the inning and scored as Eastwood drove a hard grounder through third. With two out in the sixth, Barridge singled to left but was caught trying to steal. Only three men faced Whiting in the seventh, Strickler and Mock fanning to end the game.

Whiting Drives in Run
With two out, a walk and two errors followed by Whiting's single to right scored two runs for the Odd Fellows in the sixth.

LaCoste Puts Stop to Yank Net Victories

AUTEUIL, France, May 31 (AP)—Rene LaCoste, long the nemesis of American tennis players, returned from a three year retirement today to spread destruction in the ranks of the United States contingent in the French championships.

The French cup veteran defeated young Sidney Wood, Jr., in a bitter five set match and, at the same time assured America's defeat in the finals of mixed doubles.

gles battle against LaCoste, which the Frenchman finally won by scores of 6-0, 6-1, 3-6, 6-8, 7-5. Wood could offer Helen Willis Moody little assistance in the mixed doubles championship against Betty Nuthall and Frederick Perry. The English pair won 6-4, 6-2.

The defeat cost Mrs. Moody an opportunity to make a sweep of the three divisions in which she is entered. She previously had paired with Elizabeth Ryan to win the women's doubles and is a pronounced favorite to take the women's singles crown.

Only three Americans, Mrs. Willis and Helen Jacobs in the women's division and Gregory Mangin in the powerful men's bracket remain in the singles competition.

Iowa Nine Finishes Conference Season Up in First Division

After winning three of five games for a probable tie for third place in the Western conference standing, the University of Iowa's baseball team has disbanded.

The Hawkeyes will share third with Purdue unless Wisconsin wins today from Chicago this week end, then a fourth place tie will be the final rating of the Old Gold nine.

Manush's Bat Breaks Up 12 Inning Battle

PHILADELPHIA, May 31 (AP)—Heinie Manush's bat broke up a long ball game today and gave Washington a 5 to 4 decision over the Athletics after 12 innings of scrapping.

The triumph put the Senators into a virtual tie with the second place Detroit club and cost the A's a chance to capture third.

Manush nearly won the game in the eleventh after Tony Freitas, the A's new left hander, finally had to be taken out and George Earshaw was pitching. Heinie welcomed Earshaw's arrival on the mound with a home run that gave Washington the lead. Philadelphia tied the score again but the next time Manush came up he tripled to drive home Buddy Myer, who also had hit for three bases, with the winning counter.

Freitas, making his debut with the A's pitched a fine game for seven innings but Joe Cronin hit for seven in the ninth after the newcomer had had a rather wobbly eighth frame. Carl Reynolds hit for the circuit in the second inning.

After Manush had put the Senators ahead, Carl Fischer, second

"THE LOVE TRAP"

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER XLIV

She looked at him dreamily, wondering why he thought it was important either way. Steve was in Cuba . . . was in the arms of Eileen Calvert . . . and tomorrow she would be the wife of Buck Landers—

A venal face, vivid, yet somewhat like a . . . "God forgive him, dead in his basket!" the creature was moaning. "God, forgive me, too—do you think he will, Miss Kennedy? I meant no sin, but he came to me like Satan, with his money and tempted me. Oh, he was a smooth man—and what did he do to me that was fair in love and war, and there was a hundred dollars apiece for each letter."

Another thing—I am frightfully ashamed of the showing I've made since I've met you. When Landers had me tied up that time, it was you—a girl—that took a gun and drove off those roughnecks. You rescued me, and the Calvert family took care of me and paid for my doctors and nurses. Well, at least, I've mailed Mr. Calvert a check covering that debt! But I've had a sore conscience ever since I took this job on Eileen's plantation. It was the line of least resistance to accept it. Well, I'm through now. There is such a thing as a fellow getting wise to himself.

"I'm telling you he came to the house while you were at work and made my acquaintance," the woman said. "Oh, he was such a dignified gentleman, and ready with his money. I'm confessing to you that he paid me to steal away from him. He said that he was fair in love and war, and there was a hundred dollars apiece for each letter."

"I don't know what you're talking about," Mary told her. "All this babble . . ."

"But I'm saving the best news for the last. While I was waiting for the train here in Camaguey, I met Mr. Volker, who is the director of the American Sugar Company—the big people—in the station. It happened that I'd ridden over the plantation with him one day and we got a little friendly. I told him I had quit my job, and made a straight bid to him for another. I'm crazy about the sugar business, Mary, and I told him I was going to give my life to it. I offered to take anything he had—even a laborer's job. Well, he had something a whole lot better—for you and me. His company is starting some experimental planting in Southern California and they are dickering with the Mexican Government for some concessions down there. And I got a job, darling—I got one whole of a job! I'm on my way back to New York with all expenses paid, and I'm going out to California to take charge of one of their new stations. It's a chance of a lifetime, and Mr. Volker says I won't have to wait long for a promotion if I deliver. The salary is big enough to support us both comfortably! Now, here's the big idea. I land in New York—and the first day, you're going to be Mrs. Steven Moore. Then, bingo! We'll have our wedding tour clear across the good old United States to our new job and to our new home in California among the sugar cane. Am I happy? I am delicious! I'll be in New York when the good old steamship Fairfax docks on the eighteenth of this month. Be on the dock and get your lips ready for a million kisses!"

"On my word, Miss Kennedy . . . he came to me in a dream last night. I saw him and heard his voice like as if he was in the room. It seemed like he was going to haunt me forever unless I told you everything . . ."

"You stole my letters! Where are they? Give them back to me or I'll shake you to pieces! Oh, how terrible!"

The woman lifted an arm across her face as though to shield herself. "Don't be too hard on me, for Heaven's sake! I've got your letters in my dresser. I'm getting them for you—give me a minute . . ."

"I'll have my decks free and clear by morning," Landers was saying. "There won't be any hereafter with that Guido woman, either. I'll give her a check big enough tonight to make her forget all her nitty ideas. And then, Mary, darling, we'll start down the home stretch together. A weather clear, track fast!"

"The woman's words gradually burned themselves into Mary's consciousness; her dazed indifference gave way to astonishment—to incredulous realization that Steve had written her, after all. But he was married now—what could his letters matter? Then, unexpectedly, a gust of excitement seized her with whirlwind wildness.

POISED FOR SEATTLE-TOKIO FLIGHT

Looking like a symbolic monument to heroic men of the air, the monoplane, in which Nat C. Browne (inset), of New York, hoped to span the Pacific, is shown poised on the 30-foot ramp at Seattle, Wash., shortly before it took off for its attempted flight to Tokyo, Japan. Shortly after the take-off the rudder assembly was smashed by a gasoline hose dangling from the refueling plane, and the ship nosed into Elliott Bay. Brown and his assistant, only slightly injured, were rescued by a party in a sea sled.

Adjust War Debts, Tariff to Aid Finances, Advises Cosson

Candidate for Senate Gives Address Here

Airs Views on National Ills Before Meeting of Kiwanians

Adjustment of the tariff and settlement of war debts were advanced as measures to remedy the economic ills of the United States by George Cosson, Republican candidate for the United States senate, at the Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday noon in the Jefferson hotel.

Mr. Cosson said the depression was partially due to the fact that the United States and France have practically three-quarters of the world's gold supply, yet demand that war debts be paid in gold when other countries do not have it.

Blocked Chances
He maintained that the United States has blocked all chances of foreign countries paying their debts by building tariff walls which prevent these countries from selling goods to the United States to secure the necessary gold.

Emphasizing the value of an inflation in currency, Mr. Cosson said he believed it would stimulate trade and start money flowing from overloaded banks. He advocated the creation of an international exchange which would inflate currency and still control inflation.

Clamoring for Food
Many people in the United States are clamoring for food, he declared, and yet this country has the largest food supply in the world. This maladjustment could be corrected by the inflation of currency and the consequent creation of credit, he said.

Mr. Cosson spoke last night over the radio in Cedar Rapids and plans to give a radio talk over the Ottumwa station tonight.

Guests at the luncheon were Hal Stewart, M. O. Rowland, Dr. E. C. Smith, Prof. C. A. Rucknick, all of Iowa City; Dr. H. D. Coy of Hamburg; Dr. J. J. Booth, Marion; and Dr. Hardy Pool of Mason City.

Grain Market Sinks Lower With Stocks

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—Uncertainties associated with Germany's political crisis and Washington legislative tangles, as well as New York stock and cotton market unsettlement, carried grain values decidedly lower today.

Spasmodic rallies in wheat prices failed to hold, despite 1,402,000 bushels decrease of the United States wheat visible supply, and notwithstanding late announcement that 1,000,000 bushels of North American had been taken for shipment overseas.

Wheat closed unsteady at almost the day's low, 1 3/8-2 cents under Saturday's finish, corn 3/4-1 1/4 down, oats varying from 1/4-3/8 off to 1 1/4 up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents lower.

Right at the outset, the wheat market here received a black eye as a result of unexpected sharp downturns in Liverpool quotations, together with Liverpool reports that some financial trouble was feared following the fall of the German cabinet.

With traders keeping in constant watch of the New York stock market, wheat pit sentiment in the late dealings became much more bearish than at any recent time.

Corn and oats sagged with wheat and as a result of favorable weather and of slowness of eastern demand for corn.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by declines in cereals, cotton and stocks.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 56 1/4, 58 1/8-1/4; September 58, 59 7/8-80; December 60 3/8-1/2, 62 3/8. Corn—July 40 3/8, 31 1/8; September 23 1/8, 33 7/8; December 33 7/8, 34 1/4-1/2.

Preparations Under Way for New Fire Fighting Apparatus

Work was started yesterday in the Iowa City fire station to alter the building in preparation for the new Seagrave fire truck which has been purchased by the city.

The west wall is being moved five feet to the west allowing the La-France truck, which is located in the north half, to be placed on the south side. The new truck will occupy the vacated north section. The chief's truck will be located in the center and will leave on calls out the south exit instead of the north.

Americans Help Lenin Realize Dream

MOSCOW.—With the giant Dnieper Dam, which is to be the pride of Soviet Russia, nearing completion, one of the features of the Soviet Five-Year-Plan can be written off as a job well done.

But though the Soviets may point with just pride to the great project, the real hero of the enterprise is an American engineer, Colonel Hugh Cooper, builder of the Keokuk and Muscle Shoals dams. Furthermore, almost every scrap of machinery in the power station, which will be the largest in the world, is American made and installed by American engineers.

The official celebration of the opening of the Dnieper hydroelectric station, originally scheduled for May Day, has been postponed for at least another month, but when the formal dedication takes place, it is expected that Colonel Cooper and his American associates will be the central figures.

The occasion is to be marked, by fetes of Thanksgiving throughout Russia as the realization of the dream of its patron saint, Nikolai Lenin. For it was Lenin himself who approved the first outline of the plans for the big undertaking, the first of the grandiose industrial visions of the New Russia to be materialized.

The dam itself dwarfs anything of its kind in the world. It is 20 per cent bigger than the Nile Dam, which before the Dnieper project was the largest in the world. When completed the Soviet power station will generate 800,000 horsepower. Its relative size may be judged by comparison with Muscle Shoals, the limit of which is 600,000 horsepower. The cost of the undertaking is estimated at $100,000,000.

At the peak of construction activity 50,000 workers were employed, 12,000 engaged on the dam itself. They worked night and day, every step of progress being watched and reported in the press. Picture of Dnieperstroy, the scene of the gigantic workings, as familiar to Russians as those of the National Capitol are to Americans.

In presenting pictures and stories of the great power scheme the Soviet newspapers never failed to give due credit to American technique and the genius of American engineers, without whose help Lenin's dream would have to remain a dream for many more years.

Colonel Cooper, whose controlling hand guided the progress of the undertaking, is something of a national hero in the land that Lenin built. Not only is he a close friend of Joseph Stalin, with whom he has had more contact and intimacy than anybody else outside Russia, but he is looked upon in the light of a national benefactor by the masses.

Incidentally, the Colonel believes that Soviet Russia will eventually drop communism and operate on a basis of state capitalism, which in turn will give way to a modified form of private capitalism. Still, he is opposed to American recognition of the Soviet government until, as he says, "the mountains of ignorance in the United States concerning Russia and similar attitudes in Russia about the United States are leveled down a lot."

One of the big obstacles to the success of the Five-Year-Plan is the lack of skilled Russian mechanics and this lack of skilled men had to be taken into account in the construction of the Dnieper power plant. Its American engineers have built it so rugged and so efficient that it can withstand all of the severe kindergarten treatment that it must undergo at the hands of inexperienced operators. By and large, though the great project is Russia's pride it may be regarded as another triumph of American enterprise and engineering.

Iowa City Firemen Answer Two Calls

The car was parked in front of the Lenoex and Cilek Hardware store, 207-209 E. Washington street. A short circuit in the wiring started the fire which did little damage.

At 4:20 p.m. yesterday they were called to a building at 321 E. Market street to put out a fire which started from defective wiring. Slight damage was done.

High Grade Stocks Take 3 Point Fall

Senatorial Efforts Fail to Bring Spirit of Confidence

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—A rising tide of liquidation pounded against the security markets today, sparing virtually none of the highest grade stocks and few of the best bonds.

The average net loss for shares was 3 points according to the standard statistics—Associated Press composite. Only once before this year—on March 31—had there been so large a shrinkage; and on a percentage basis today's decline was much sharper. Heavy at the opening and through the noon hour, the market rallied when it learned that President Hoover had gone to the senate with a special message but it quickly broke again, even before the manufacturers sales tax had been defeated in committee. Transfers totaled 1,480,000 shares.

Efforts Fail
Senatorial efforts to pad out the revenue bill to meet larger requirements failed as a confidence restorative, even though it appeared, before markets closed, that enough additional income was in sight to balance the budget.

Losses in most pivotal stocks ranged from 1 to 3 points or more. American Telephone, closing at 88, duplicated its 1907 low and was off 3 1/2 net. Consolidated Gas of New York, down 3 1/2, Allied Chemical 3, American Tobacco "B" 4 1/2, U. S. Steel 1 1/2, Bethlehem Steel 2 1/2, General Electric 1 1/4, National Biscuit 2, Woolworth 2 1/2, Santa Fe 1 1/8, Pennsylvania and New York Central 1 each, Public Service of New Jersey and Corn Products 2 1/2, United Gas Improvement 1 1/8 and Standard Oil of New Jersey 1 1/2 were some of the more conspicuous sufferers.

N. B. C. Down
National Biscuit preferred dropped 9 on two sales.

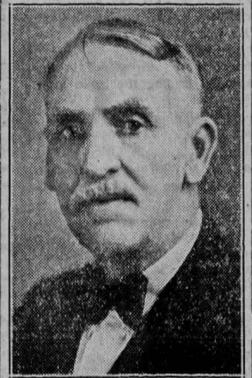

Trade reports were hardly stimulating. Loadings of revenue freight fell 2,217 cars in the week ended May 21, a smaller decline than had recently been recovered over the previous fortnight but still enough to emphasize the direction of railroad traffic.

Iowa Miners Continue War on Operators

DES MOINES, May 31 (AP)—The dispute of Iowa mine operators and miners over the validity of the so-called Des Moines wage agreement was carried to the Iowa supreme court today on an appeal from the decision of the Wapello county district court.

The suit was brought by Frank Wilson and others representing District 13 of the United Mine Workers of America against the Airline Coal company, operating near Ottumwa. The miners alleged that the Airline company and other operators conspired to violate the wage agreement said to have been inaugurated April 1, 1931.

Judge R. W. Smith sustained a motion by the defendants to dismiss the miners' petition for an injunction restraining the coal company from breaking the agreement. The case was set for hearing at the September supreme court session.

The largest hog ever butchered in Hallfax county, N. C., was killed this winter by C. M. Cotten. It weighed 1,136 pounds.
