Authorities Work on Final Details in Connection With Slayings of Two Iowa Men

Malvern Man "Mad" at Estranged Relative Bedford Farmer Waits Preliminary Hearing on Murder Charge

GLENWOOD, July 26 (AP)—With a terse statement that "I was mad at him," Fred Cozad, 44, of Malvern explained today why he killed Gale Vandershule, his son-in-law, and then fled to Grand Island, Neb.

He made the statement at Omaha today as he was being returned to Glenwood to face a charge of murder growing out of the slaying.

Admits Crime
In his ride from Grand Island, he admitted to Sheriff W. E. DeMoss that he had committed the crime. Prosecution on the case today awaited conferences of authorities with the accused man.

Cozad shot Vandershule near the entrance to a carnival at Malvern last Tuesday night while a dozen persons looked on. The shooting climaxed an unsuccessful attempt by the older man to persuade Vandershule to come to his home and effect a reconciliation with Mrs. Vandershule.

Draws Gun
In an argument that resulted, Cozad drew a gun and shot his son-in-law twice, then fled on foot. He was recognized by a friend of years ago at Grand Island last night and arrested.

City Firemen Instructed in Ladder Work

Perfecting their acquaintance with the equipment of the new fire truck and keeping in trim on the use of the regular apparatus, Iowa City firemen were given instruction yesterday in ladder and hose work by Capt. H. W. Jurgensen of the Iowa Insurance Service Bureau.

Captain Jurgensen is a regular fire department instructor and makes a business of giving free instruction, through the insurance bureau, to fire departments throughout the state.

The session yesterday was held in back of the fire station and at the Iowa City high school, where ladder equipment was tested.

For the last four years, the fire department has participated in drills and regular school work each Wednesday at 6 a. m. At this time, Fire Chief Herman Amish said, the streets are clear of traffic and water can be thrown without danger of damaging motorists or pedestrians.

During the winter, the firemen meet inside for round table discussion and lessons in fire fighting problems peculiar to Iowa City.

Dean Gilmore Names Scholarship Winners in Next School Year

Eight scholarships for the school year of 1932-3 in the college of law were announced yesterday by Dean Eugene A. Gilmore of that college.

To J. Carlton Starr of Fairfield and Robert A. Olson of Lansing, were awarded the two Dillon scholarships. The two Laffey awards were given to Manson G. Fee of Toledo, and Alfred F. Comard of Grinnell.

Melvin S. Dakin of Garner, was awarded the Denkmann scholarship, while to Edward Bierman of Sioux County, went the Wright award. Horace J. Melton of Neola, won the Hammond scholarship, and Maxwell Anderson of Sac City, was awarded the Miller scholarship.

Hold Suspect

MUSCATINE, July 26 (AP)—Suspected as being one of two robbers who beat Mrs. Walter France at her home here Sunday night and escaped with $240 in cash, Harry Fleming of Davenport was held in the county jail today on a robbery charge. Mrs. France had not recovered sufficiently to face the suspect.

Funeral Service Thursday

DAVENPORT, (AP)—Funeral services for James W. Walsh, president of the Rock Island Southern railroad, who died Sunday night, will be held at his home at 8:30 a. m. Thursday and at Sacred Heart cathedral at 9 a. m.

Why Get It If They Refuse to Take It, Bank Examiner Asks

A thousand dollars or two—pooh!

Even in these days most persons would not even hesitate to run a block for a dime or so, some people still snap their fingers in the face of $1,000 checks.

Ben S. Summerwill, examiner in charge of the Johnson County Savings bank, is holding more than $32,400 in dividend checks that have never been called for.

Thirty thousand dollars of that amount is from the bank's second dividend which was declared last month. The rest is a hold over from the first dividend and is several months old.

Defense Head Aims Blow at Dictatorship

Gives Views in Speech After Release From Martial Law

BERLIN, July 26 (AP)—After Berlin and the province of Brandenburg had been freed from martial law today, Defense Minister Kurt von Schleicher, an important figure in the old imperial military caste and generally considered the "strong man" behind the present German government, told the nation in a radio talk that he was firmly opposed to military dictatorship.

His address was one of the most important pronouncements of the bitterly contested campaign for the Reichstag elections next Sunday. It came as political experts were predicting that the voting would end in deadlock.

"Wholly Out of the Question"
The defense minister asserted military dictatorship in Germany was wholly out of the question because the only government possible was one supported on the broadest basis of the people.

"I am less a military man than many ministers who, professing democracy, still put their faith in bayonets," he said.

General von Schleicher called for reorganization of the nation's defenses in such a way as to guard against any increase in the amount they cost now under the limitations of the treaty of Versailles. He blamed previous German governments for neglecting physical training of the rising generation.

Apprehension Unfounded
He asserted that French apprehensions of German organizations (apparently referring to such groups as Adolf Hitler's storm troops) were unfounded. He agreed with Herr Hitler, he explained, that the Reichswehr alone was responsible for the defense of the nation.

Franz Bracht, deputy federal commissioner with dictatorial powers over the state of Prussia, re-assured the people that the Reichstag election would take place next Sunday as scheduled.

With the revoking of President von Hindenburg's martial law decree, responsibility for preserving order in Berlin evolved upon Dr. Karl Melcher, successor to the deposed Albrecht Griesinski as head of the police.

University Theater Premiere Gets First Professional Staging

The first professional performance of Owen Davis' play, "The Harbor Light," which received its world premiere at the University theater here May 17, took place Monday night at Skowhegan, Me. It was presented by the Lakewood Players. Owen Davis, Jr., appeared in the cast.

"The Harbor Light" was the forerunner of a proposed series of new plays by leading playwrights to be presented for their world premieres by the University Players here. The play was also given during Commencement week.

Robbers Use 'Bomb' Hoax
ST. LOUIS, (AP)—A fake telephone call purporting to be from the police department advised employees of a downtown concern a bomb had been placed under the building. They left, in haste, giving robbers a chance to go through purses and "pocket-books."

FIGURES IN GRAIN BOARD BATTLE

Huff (left), president of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, whose request that the Chicago board of trade be suspended for refusing his organization clearing house operations, was granted by the special federal commission of three of President Hoover's cabinet officers. At right is President Peter B. Carey of the Chicago board of trade, who is determined on a policy of "no surrender," and who is mapping out a legal battle to nullify the order of the federal grain futures commission, which would close the board for 60 days beginning Aug. 8.

High School Band Started

13 Schools Represented in All-State Group Rehearsals

Thirteen cities and towns of Iowa are represented in the membership of the all-state high school band organized yesterday to rehearse at the university during the second term of the summer session under the direction of Prof. Charles Boardman Richter, music department faculty member.

The high school students, together with adult music students, many of whom are supervisors of music or directors of high school bands, will make up a band of approximately 45 pieces. Four open air concerts have been planned, to be given at 8 p. m. each Wednesday, beginning next week, for the rest of the second term.

Daily rehearsals are held by the organization, at 10 a. m. in the new music rehearsal hall on Gilbert street between Iowa avenue and Jefferson street. This follows an hour class in music theory, which meets at 9 a. m. daily. In the afternoons, there are section rehearsals and classes in music appreciation, and on Friday afternoons there are recitals.

Through the facilities of WSUL, special programs are broadcast each Friday at 8 p. m., selections being played by members of the all-state high school band.

Two private lessons are given each member of the band during the week, and the value of chamber music is given a place in the studies of the group.

High schools represented in the band are: Mason City, Waukon, Roosevelt of Des Moines, Washington, Iowa City, Dubuque, Fairfield, Glenwood, Grinnell, Schleswig, Renwick, LeMars, and Humeston.

Rogers, Walton Push Ahead in Oklahoma

BULLETIN OKLAHOMA CITY, July 26 (AP)—Will Rogers, young schoolmaster, took a 2 to 1 lead tonight over Mabel Bassett, charities commissioner, for the Democratic nomination as congressman-at-large on returns from 74 out of 3,311 precincts in Oklahoma's run-off primary.

The vote: Rogers, 7,888; Bassett, 3,557.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 26 (AP)—J. C. (Jack) Walton, deposed governor, forged barely ahead of A. S. J. Shaw, former state auditor, for the Democratic nomination for corporation commissioner as additional returns from today's run-off primary were tabulated.

The vote in 2,063 out of 3,311 precincts gave Walton 152,080 and Shaw 152,059.

Rescue 37 as Vessel Sinks Under Waves

Boat Swept Onto Side; Sinks Within Few Minutes

KIEL, Germany, July 25 (AP)—The three-masted sailing vessel Niobe, used as a German naval training ship, was struck by a sudden gale today and sank off the coast of Holstein. Sixty-nine of the more than 100 persons aboard her were missing several hours later, and it was feared they were drowned.

Fifty officer cadets and 18 sub-officer cadets were on the vessel when she put out from Kiel on her training cruise. Thirty-seven persons, including the captain, a lieutenant, 18 naval cadets and 17 members of the Niobe's crew, were rescued by the steamer Therese Russ, which was not far off when the ship foundered.

Disaster Unexplained
In the absence of definite information, naval authorities could not explain the disaster but they hazarded the guess that the crew, unprepared for the sudden wind, had been unable to reef the sails in time.

A few minutes before the Niobe went down the giant flying boat DO-X passed overhead enroute from Travemuende to Kiel. The DO-X swooped down and signalled a greeting to the young cadets and then proceeded on her way, alighting safely after a stormy flight.

Swept Over on Side
Naval officials were told that the training ship was swept over on her side and went to the bottom in three or four minutes. She was equipped with a 240-horse power motor but apparently was operating only under sail at the time of the disaster.

The Kiel naval station confirmed to the Associated Press tonight that it was officially feared the 69 missing persons were lost. The Therese Russ transferred her survivors tonight to the cruiser Koeln, which is expected to dock here during the night.

The only identified survivors aboard the Koeln was Captain Rufus of the training ship and Lieutenant Lott.

Iowa's Heat Wave Returns

Mark of 98 Degrees Recorded at Ottumwa

DES MOINES, July 26 (AP)—The heat wave appeared to be staging a comeback as the mercury mounted well into the nineties.

At Ottumwa the temperature reached a mark of 98 degrees, and at Des Moines 97 degrees. Rains in eastern Iowa broke up a steady rise, the mercury touching 91 at Muscatine and then dropped to 86 in the afternoon with the aid of a light rain.

Top of 94 at Clinton
Clinton reported a top of 94, with rains bringing lower temperatures in the afternoon. The top at Dubuque was 92, at Ft. Dodge and Marshalltown 91, and 92 at Cedar Rapids.

Chases Clouds

Veering to the northwest for a change, the light, tantalizing breeze that has blown steadily and unsatisfactorily for the last two weeks chased away the clouds and left the sky clear yesterday afternoon.

The mercury, after a brief day's respite, climbed back into the nineties, where it has remained with but two exceptions for the last 15 days.

The highest reading recorded by Prof. John F. Reilly was 92 degrees. By 7 p. m. it had skidded, not very hurriedly, to 77 degrees.

A storm near Decatur yesterday caused the death of Mrs. Arthur Stoskopf, 34, who was struck by lightning while tending chickens at the Stoskopf farm.

Struck By Lightning
The storm at Burlington today took the life of Jack McLaughlin, Jr., 13, who was struck by lightning while playing ball in a vacant lot near his home with a dozen other boys, none of whom was injured. He is survived by his parents and three younger brothers. A half inch of rain accompanied the electrical storm.

Sisters Are Star Students
EVELETH, Minn. (AP)—Two sisters gained the highest scholastic honors at the Eveleth high school this year, one being selected valedictorian and the other salutatorian of the senior class. They are Lami and Helmi Aho, the former having an average of 96.04, while her sister averaged 95.9.

Postpones Lodge Meeting
IOWA FALLS, (AP)—Indefinite postponement of the grand lodge which was to meet in Des Moines, Aug. 3 and 4, was announced by Mrs. Ida Cottrell, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters of Iowa. The action was necessary, she said, because funds of the order were tied up in a closed bank leaving no money for delegates' expenses.

University to Start Fall Term Sept. 26

A 20-minute ceremony, during which faculty and students will speak the traditional oath of allegiance, officially will open the university's seventy-seventh year of instruction Sept. 26.

No class activity for the first semester of 1932-3 will begin until the completion of this rite. The induction ceremony was established by President Walter A. Jessup 12 years ago.

Following the affair, the students will go to their first classes of the new academic year, having registered in the university between Sept. 22 and 25, according to official plans.

250,000 Men Will Work on State Roads

Iowa to Get $3,000,000 as Part of Federal Aid Project

(Copyright 1932 by the Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—A quarter of a million men working 30 hours a week for 11 months—that will be the result, a nation-wide survey indicated today, of the $120,000,000 federal appropriation to aid states in highway construction.

In virtually every state, the construction program—designed to make the jobless self-sustaining—was hailed as a vigorous step in the right direction. Relief workers generally were enthusiastic over the provision for a 30-hour week, thus providing jobs for more workers over a longer period.

Iowa's part in the huge federal aid project will include an expenditure of $5,250,000 on its highways during 1933. Three million dollars of that amount will be supplied by the national government.

Highway construction will be doubled or tripled in many states by the federal appropriation, which must be matched dollar for dollar by the states themselves. Governors of several states indicated as many as 40,000 men will be employed at road work.

In addition to the thousands working directly at road construction, others will be employed at manufacturing materials and machinery. Work for the local unemployed also is expected to better business conditions in countless communities throughout the nation.

Definite Estimates
Highway officials of 18 states gave definite estimates of the additional numbers of men to be employed in their territory—and the total was 118,740. Practically every other state reported substantial employment increases would result, but estimates were unavailable pending a check on how much would be expended for materials and how much for labor.

California reported 16,000 men would be put to work extending the state's improved road system; Kansas estimated 20,000, and Mississippi 9,000.

Contractors Jubilant
Contracting companies everywhere were jubilant over expectations of new jobs. Employees who have been laid off for months were being told to "come back in a week or so and we'll probably have something."

Virtually every state announced plans for setting a minimum wage scale, "staggering" employment to provide as many jobs as possible and limiting employment to only those with families and needing work. Florida's proposed wage scale

Superintendents to Meet
DES MOINES, (AP)—The annual meeting of county school superintendents here, tomorrow and Thursday, will consider plans for teaching language and safety education.

Flyers Guided in Tennessee
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Each town in Tennessee of more than 500 population has a building marked for the guiding of aviators, according to the state aeronautics division.

Social Work Leaders Meet With Turner

Iowa Mayors Testify on Relief Needs at Conference

DES MOINES, July 26 (AP)—Social and governmental workers from a dozen Iowa cities conferred today with Governor Turner on poor relief, predicted destitution before winter, and resolved to borrow funds from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to aid the state's poor.

They discussed provisions of the recently-enacted federal relief and construction bill and decided that immediate steps should be taken to insure replenishing county poor funds.

Will Appoint Committee
A motion anticipating the setting up of a central organization to supervise the allocating of Iowa's share to needy municipalities and counties was lost but Governor Turner said a committee, probably of five members, would be appointed to work with the executive in administering the fund.

Ina H. Tyler of the University of Iowa extension division, social welfare worker attending the conference with Governor Turner at Des Moines, asked for better relief administration and more adequate standards for such help.

Prof. George R. Davies of the college of commerce also attended the conference.

No action was taken regarding the application for the money or for setting up the machinery to secure and administer the fund.

One problem Governor Turner presented at the outset was that Iowa's share of the relief fund must be so handled that it will not discourage private individuals from contributing to community chests.

Need Loans for "Made" Work
The question arose repeatedly in subsequent discussions, but several speakers declared that federal aid, in their opinion, would not militate against private charity, and that cities and counties would continue to assume their portion of the relief burden. One or two speakers maintained that loans from the corporation could well be used in their cities in "made" work programs.

Other problems connected with the bill and the proposed request for a loan or gift to Iowa, which came before the conference, which was informal and called by the governor, included:

Whether a city can borrow to liquidate poor relief warrants not paid for lack of funds.

Deal Directly
Whether a city can deal directly with the corporation.

Whether certification of real need would be dependent on the prior issue of bonds up to the legal limit.

Earl Wisdom, assistant attorney general, gave his opinion that a county whose poor fund is overdrawn can borrow under the Reconstruction Finance corporation plan.

Money in Closed Banks
M. J. Morgan, mayor of Waterloo, pointed out that $245,000 of Black Hawk county's funds was tied up in two closed banks and asked whether money can be borrowed on this sum. Wisdom replied that the set-up of the corporation is not sufficiently broad to deal with such a problem, and that the primary concern of the relief portion of the bill was to take care of the needy.

Mayor C. V. Findlay of Ft. Dodge gave a detailed picture of conditions in his city and in Webster county. He said 447 grocery stores were being filled weekly for the poor, that the gardening program in Ft. Dodge was "effective," and that officials were looking forward to winter "with deep concern."

Expect Fewer Donations
Mayor W. D. Hayes of Sioux City said relief could be handled through three agencies, the county, city, and private charity. He added, however, that a decrease in the number of donors to the community chest was expected this fall, because of the increase in unemployment, and he estimated that one sixth of all families would be dependent on charity this winter.

Frank Wilson of Albia, representing Iowa coal miners, said that conditions in that industry, because of unemployment, now are "terrible" and that the need for relief is great. He expressed his willingness to cooperate with the others in relief measures.

Use Iowa Coal
Governor Turner at this point suggested that ways be instituted whereby an increased use of Iowa coal may be encouraged.

Iowa Colleges and Socialism

ON THE HEELS of an editorial in THE DAILY IOWAN on the citizenship rights of college professors comes announcement that a Grinnell college sociology instructor—a woman at that—has been named candidate for governor by the state Socialist party.

Here is a good test, one that so far has been satisfactory. Most daily newspapers, safely Republican and anti-Socialist, probably deem it wisdom to ignore the movement. The Register at Des Moines, conservatively liberal, accords it faint praise. There has not been time to see if any weekly editors have objected.

A proper reply to any irate country editorialist who shudders to think of an Iowa professor gone Socialist—and in public, too!—is something like that of Lincoln Steffens to New York policemen about free speech. The Gotham coppers itched to wade in with night sticks when any street speaker started to mention Communism or any subject calculated to make them see "red."

"When the speaker says what everybody believes, and what you believe," he told them, "that is just speech. But when he says something you don't believe and that you think isn't so—that is free speech."

One of the policemen reported to his fellows that, according to Lincoln Steffens, anything said against the constitution was constitutional free speech.

That is why a Socialist candidacy is a good test of how tolerant the Iowa public is. For a college professor to go Democratic, publicly, wouldn't be so bad—especially this year. But Socialist—!

Of additional interest to the University of Iowa is the selection of Alvin E. Coons of Ames, liberal arts '32, to the Socialist party's state executive committee. Son of a man who voted for Eugene V. Debs when that gentleman was in prison, Coons got many of his ideas from books and magazines read independently of his courses. It would hardly be accurate to say that he got his Socialism at the University of Iowa.

This professor and this student are exceptions. Their colleges normally produce more enlightened believers in the capitalistic system, not socialists. They normally receive Republicans and send them away still Republicans, changed only by the difference between 1932 senatorial candidates Glenn Haynes and George Cossom—believing, perhaps, in low tariffs and a few other modifications.

But education or anything else in public life that produced only Republicans, even modified Republicans, or that made it possible for nothing but Republicans to emerge, would be far too restrictive for progress. It is from the free play of ideas and from independent thinking that forward movements come. Japan is hampered by a censored press and a censored education; Russia is in similar straits. The United States traditionally stands for free speech, a free press, and freedom in education on the theory that anything bad will, exposed to the light of publicity or critical scrutiny, wither into insignificance.

Iowa's colleges are, in most respects, safely conservative. There is no danger in being awake to new ideas; the danger would be in a public whose most educated element was unaware of new ideas. Iowa's colleges are probably safer for the small element of mild radicalism in them than if they attempted any tyrannical suppression of the right to views that differ from commonly accepted and traditional beliefs.

Tariff Comes to Ottawa

THE DOMINION conference at Ottawa, Can., has now turned its attention to tariff schedules. This tariff angle is of the greatest importance to the United States for the reason that the United Kingdom is one of the United States' chief buyers.

Further curbing of Uncle Sam's export market would be a disastrous thing. It would not only create more unemployment in the United States but would breed a certain amount of ill feeling. But the blame cannot be placed upon the British empire, it must be placed upon the tariff system that the United States has fathered.

This is not the first attempt to effect a union against the United States' tariff walls. In 1929, Briand proposed a United States of Europe to cope with the impending Smoot-Hawley tariff law. There have been recurrent rumors of such ideas. The outcome has been the construction of tariff walls between practically every country in Europe. This has naturally produced a certain stagnation of international trade.

The United States has witnessed an unpleasant effect of its own tariff policy in seeing large manufacturing interests of this country establish branch plants in other nations in order to escape the retaliatory tariffs. But congress, at its last session, lent a deaf ear to the lower tariff plea.

Now, if the dominions of the British empire succeed in establishing a system of preferential tariffs for their own products they will not need to go outside the British empire for marketing or raw materials. The world will be the loser in this combine, particularly the United States.

The British empire, being a confederation of eight practically autonomous states, can very easily effect a preferential tariff system that will expedite trade within the empire. Their aim is to keep the empire from going down to the bottom of depression and this seems to be a likely solution because the empire is large enough and diversified enough to produce and consume within itself to such an extent that the outside world can be almost entirely forgotten.

The dominions likewise realize that in unity there is much strength, but to follow the path they have in the past would be almost disastrous as far as economic security is concerned. It is evident that the British empire is going to protect itself at all costs.

What effect this tariff combine, if consummated, will have upon world trade and world economic stability is difficult to forecast. There may be any number of results. The talk of the plan at Ottawa may only be a scare to force other nations to reduce their tariffs. If it is being used as a scare, it can be looked upon as a forceful one, because there is no doubt but what the plan is feasible and workable.

Undoubtedly, if the United States and the other nations of the world were to drop their tariff barriers this plan would not be put into effect, but as long as nations persist in adopting high tariff policies the dominion preferential plan seems to be the only alternative for the British empire.

Low tariffs are something to be desired at a time like the present. High tariffs are insurmountable barriers to economic stability and prosperity. Possibly the next congress will attempt to readjust our tariff schedules on a lower plane, because it is evident that the British empire has tired of waiting for the United States to do its part in facilitating international trade. The British move is forceful and it may prove to be just the medicine international trade has needed.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

The idea of tariff experts at the British empire economic conference at Ottawa of making the empire an economic self-sufficient unity, is flouted by no less an authority than the Prince of Wales, who says:

"If it may be that, taking a long view, the empire will, by drawing closer together, become in time less dependent on the rest of the world, but such a change, if it is to come, must come naturally and by a gradual process of evolution, guided but not forced by government action. In any case we cannot overlook the fact that the United States of America, far the largest free trade area in the world, with her enormous natural resources, has failed completely to isolate herself from the forces of world depression."

The suggestion that the next congress may take under advisement a lowering of tariff rates so that England and other nations might follow suit, carries the implication that England deviated from her traditional free trade policies because the U. S. rates were boosted. That was one of the reasons, perhaps, but much of it was due to the same sort of economic reasons that caused other nations to restrict certain imports to save the domestic market and take a long chance on competition in foreign markets.

Senator Borah's proposal for a world economic conference in which the United States would resume the world leadership it deserves and rightfully should take seems to have gone in one ear of the Washington political body and out the other.

Of course, government officials may just be speculating in silence what will happen in December when the moratorium year expires and when new debt negotiations will be necessary. There are expected to be numerous new suggestions and proposals advanced by Dec. 15, the due date, by most of the debtor nations. Borah wants to jump the gun on that plan with a counter attack by the U. S. even before the offensive gets a word in.

If permanent trade is to be restored among nations of the world, says Borah, war debts and reparations must be included in the calculations. And whatever definite action is going to be taken should come quickly. No agreements can be assured of any degree of permanency, however, unless some cognizance is taken of the disarmament question, and Borah bases his entire proposal for world trade restoration on at least a 50 per cent cut in arms.

What is decided at the British empire trade conference may be a deciding factor in speeding along the proposed parity that Borah advocates. And any effective decision by the Ottawa conference to fold up inside an extra-empire tariff shell may result in the organization of the nations affected, including the U. S., to cope with the situation. Borah may get some unexpected aid from his own government if the Ottawa tariff decisions affect enough U. S. producers.

Book Bits

(From Toward Standards, by Norman Foerster) Although it is generally assumed that a vast abyss separates scholarship and journalism, they are at present aiming at the same object. While alien in method and in spirit, and often mutually exclusive in their subject matter—the one concerning itself with the past as if the present did not exist, the other concerning itself with the present as if the past did not exist—scholarship and journalism in twentieth century America are fundamentally united in their preoccupation with history.

SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Amidst all the sky-rocket careers of Hollywood, credit Clive Brook with being a steady favorite. After seven years at Paramount, he has his pen poised to sign a new long-term contract. And when this ceremony is over he'll go into one of the chief roles of "The Night of June 13."

It is a rather remarkable record. Any star will tell you a player is lucky to manage three good years. Especially if he, as in Brook's case, has not had any sensational pictures to bolster up public interest.

The English actor, you'll recall, was featured in "Interference," one of the most intelligent of the early talkies. Since then he's had some worthwhile pictures, but also a good many insignificant ones. Yet despite this, he's kept his public interest.

All in all, it's rather a snub to the cynics and a vindication of the conscientious screen craftsman.

Something new in kibitzing is related by Al Joelson. Several weeks ago, a stranger was looking on at a bridge game at one of the local beach clubs. Soon he began to tip off one of the players' hands to the opposition.

At the end of the game the winner approached him. "Look here," he said, "you've helped me a lot. I want to split this $400 with you."

The kibitzer shook his head. "You don't owe me anything," he said, "I'm just ornery that way."

SOMETHING TO WATCH WITH INTEREST

The West Side Asthma and Riding club has voted Jack Warner the Hollywood producer with the greatest sense of humor, and has invited him to be present at the next meeting.

One of the local sports editors draws the ire of Ernst Lubitsch by upholding the Sharkey-Schmeling fight decision after looking at motion pictures of the bout.

"It is absolutely impossible," insists Lubitsch, "to judge a fight by a motion picture. "Angles, distance of camera from subject, dozens of things prevent it. I have seen the most terrific fights on the set turn out to be duds on the screen. You have to fake them to make them appear dramatic." So, there.

And, apropos of nothing, how on earth do you spell the razzberry sound?

DID YOU KNOW—

That George Brent and Clark Gable appeared on Broadway together in "Love, Honor and Betrayal"? Alice Brady was star of the show.

That Charlie Chaplin's last stage appearance was in Kansas City, where he finished a three-year vaudeville tour in November, 1913? His next stop was Hollywood.

That when June Clyde was eight years old she sang in vaudeville and was billed as "The Baby Tetrazzini"?

Invitations to Marriage Sent

Walker, Bush Nuptials to Take Place in August

Ripley Explanations

YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
The hotel built on a glacier—Although the region in and around Rocky Mountain National Park is famous for glacial activity, it was not known that the hotel "Boulderfield Shelter" was constructed on a glacier until excavations were made for the outbuildings. The builders of the National Park Service then found that the site was a crust of glacial soil and rock overlying the glacier beneath.

The hotel, situated just below the summit of Long's Peak, at an altitude of 12,700 feet, is but 20 feet square, yet at times it houses mountain climbing parties of 30 or more, and on one occasion 38 camp girls were accommodated over night.

It is operated under the supervision of the Park Service of Rocky Mountain Park, Estes Park, Colo.

Tomorrow: "Golf Course Fish."

Lewis Announces Detailed Reports on Annual Spring Inspection of R.O.T.C. Unit

Detailed reports of the federal inspection of University of Iowa R.O.T.C. units made here the first week in May were announced yesterday by Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis, head of the military department.

The reports supplement the first group reports made shortly after the inspection, which stated that "the administration of all units and the training of the infantry and engineer units were excellent, and the training of the medical and dental units very satisfactory."

Won Right to Blue Star

This is the fourth year that the infantry and engineer units have won the right to wear the blue star of military excellence.

In making the report, Colonel Lewis said, "The cadet corps of 1931-2 has well upheld the motto on its coat of arms, 'Loyalty, honor, service.' It has exemplified the best traditions and customs of the military department at the University of Iowa. . . . The result of the students' cooperative, efficient, and loyal service, and team effort has produced honor to both the military department and the university."

Detailed Ratings

Detailed ratings for the infantry and engineer units follow:

In the infantry first year basic course, the subjects graded were military hygiene and first aid, drill and command, rifle and rifle marksmanship, scouting and patrolling. Infantrymen scored excellent in all but the theoretical part of the latter two subjects, in which they were rated satisfactory.

Drill and command, musketry, automatic rifle, scouting and patrolling, and combat principles were graded in the second year basic infantry, students ranking as excellent in all but the practical part of automatic rifle and combat principles. In the four latter subjects, they were graded as satisfactory.

Two Satisfactory Rankings

Only two rankings of satisfactory were given the first year advanced course in infantrymen—in the practical part of 37 mm. and 3 inch mortar, and in combat principles. In the theoretical parts of these, and in both the theoretical and practical parts of drill and command, map reading and military sketching, and machine gun, they rated excellent.

The second year advanced course infantrymen received the degree of excellent in all their subjects except the practical part of combat principles. Their other subjects were military law and officers' Reserve corps regulations, military history and policy, field engineering, administration, drill and command.

Score Clean Sweep
First year basic course engineers scored almost a clean sweep of excellency in their subjects. They fared only in practical part of military hygiene and first aid to secure the highest grade, being awarded

G.O.P. Meet Renominates Office Holders

CEDAR RAPIDS, July 26 (AP)—A brief Republican judicial convention today renominated three incumbent justices of the state supreme court and adopted resolutions commending the Iowa judiciary.

The delegates approved the candidacies of Justices Frederick F. Faville of Ft. Dodge, Lawrence De Graff of Des Moines, and Henry F. Wagner of Sigourney, adopting the motion of James Hollingsworth of Keokuk to make the selection unanimous.

In addition to paying tribute to the judiciary the resolutions commended citizens for adhering to the plan of selecting judicial candidates at judicial conventions.

Recommendation was made that the statutes be amended to provide that the state central committee fill vacancies on the supreme court bench occurring between the judicial convention and the next general election.

The resolution commending the judiciary said in part that "we take justifiable pride in the supreme court of Iowa and in the long roll of eminent lawyers who have worn unsullied the ermine robes of that illustrious tribunal.

"We recognize that the people must look to the courts for the protection of their lives, their liberty and their property."

FEDERAL AID 250,000 Men to Get Employment

was announced at 20 cents an hour, but many states planned to pay union wages.

North Dakota's highway department cancelled vacations, began drawing plans for 500 miles of road building, and announced the force of about 3,000 men now employed will be doubled. Georgia and Ohio announced all work would be given to the needy.

Following are reports from states unable to estimate probable employment but extending to use federal allotments:

GEORGIA — Maximum number skilled and unskilled laborers to be employed in expending $5,123,928 state and federal funds.

ILLINOIS — Nine thousand men already working on state highways and number expected to be substantially increased with federal funds.

MARYLAND — Gov. Albert C. Ritchie said state will withhold decision on acceptance of $1,019,570 until report on relief survey now in progress is completed.

MICHIGAN — Eight and one half millions available, including federal aid.

MISSOURI — Highway officials said "several thousand extra men" will be employed if Missouri's allotment of $3,753,000 is accepted.

Five Million Dollars in Iowa
OHIO — Nearly five million dollars available, of which $3,750,000 is expected to go to labor, directly or indirectly.

OREGON — State's share of federal fund to be $2,000,000, with a large portion going toward employment.

SOUTH DAKOTA — Highway officials declare 30 week impractical for South Dakota and wish to consider other technical points.

NEW YORK — State to spend $35,000,000 on highways, including $6,000,000 federal aid.

Forecasts
Definite forecasts of probable employment included:

State	Employment
California	16,000
Kansas	20,000
Minnesota	7,000
Nebraska	8,000
North Dakota	3,000
Wisconsin	4,000

What Shall I Serve---? A Daily Hint to Hostesses on Tempting Appetites While It's Hot

Chicken or Veal Mousse
The hostess who has no maid to assist her in the preparation and serving of her refreshments should attempt to plan something that can be prepared in the morning of the day of her party.

Jellied dishes are delightful to serve at afternoon lunches or bridge parties. They are so easily and quickly prepared that they may be made several hours before they will be served.

Mrs. Leona Pearson, 308 S. Johnson street, suggests the following menu for an afternoon lunch:

Chicken or Veal Mousse
Bread and Butter Sandwiches
Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumber Salad

Chocolate Cake with Sauce Superior
Iced Tea

Chicken or Veal Mousse
1 tbs. gelatin
1/4 c. cold water
3 hard-boiled egg yolks, (diced)
1/4 teas. salt
1/4 teas. paprika
1 1/2 c. chicken stock (hot)
2 c. cold chicken, (diced)
1/2 c. celery

Mix ingredients in the order named and jell. The mousse should be served on a lettuce leaf and attractively garnished with green and red peppers.

Engineers at Ft. Riley Construct 75 Foot Bridge

FT. RILEY, Kan. (Special) — The building and tearing down of a bridge 75 feet long, and an inspection trip to the army range and airport featured the program of the University of Iowa engineering unit during the final week of the R.O.T.C. camp which closed here July 23.

Beginning at 8 a.m., the engineers spent Monday morning in constructing the four bents for the bridge and in putting up the earth work. In the afternoon, work was suspended for the final rifle firing competition, in which William A. Benincosa and Paul Casady qualified as sharpshooters. Willard Lappin, Edward Cerny, Harland Schwob, Curtis Shew, and Wilfred Werdel won marksmanship awards.

Completed Tuesday
Construction of the bridge was completed Tuesday noon. Two army trucks, each carrying 30 men, were then driven across the bridge close together to prove its strength. The bridge, having withstood the test, was then torn down in the afternoon.

The inspection trip began at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday, all of the men being taken via trucks, first to the machine gun range to watch the firing. The next stop was the airport, where the Arkansas national guard put on an aerial demonstration.

Lay Smoke Screen
Following a demonstration of a land smoke screen and the use of gas masks for land troops, the planes laid a smoke screen that covered the ground for a space of about two and one-half blocks wide.

Following a demonstration of the ground to furnish the necessary communication between land and plane. As a demonstration, a message was taken by the plane from the ground. This was accomplished by means of a wire strung between two 15-foot poles. The wire was about 30 feet long, and

The message was attached to one end of it. As the plane flew over at a low altitude, moving slowly, a hook dangling underneath caught the wire, and thus the message was transferred to the plane.

This demonstration completed the aerial maneuvers, and following an inspection of several planes and their equipment, the group returned to the camp.

Fire Causes $8,000 Damage
WATERLOO, (AP)—Fire caused an estimated damage of $8,000 to the Howard's Clothing company building and stock. The origin is undetermined.

LEHIGH, (AP)—Elmer Washburn, electrician, was recovering from severe leg burns received when he came in contact with a 6,000-volt wire.

Sportively Speaking

By Ron Tallman

The University of Iowa's second annual Mississippi Valley tennis tournament opens this morning with a list of entries far exceeding that of last year...

When Merle Robins, the tall, quiet Ames star who caught the fancy of local fans with his steady play last summer, starts out in defense of the men's singles championship...

While Mary O'Malley, the Los Angeles woman who stroked her way to the women's title in the first meet last summer, will not be here to defend her title...

That the outstanding athlete in the coming Olympic Games in the matter of all-round ability is not a man is generally conceded by sports critics in attendance...

In the recent final trials for the women's track and field team at Chicago, the Texas star placed in 19 events, winning six of them...

It can hardly be that one of the greatest women swimmers of all time is weakening for she is only 18 years old, but just the same Helene Madison...

Two hundred ninety four chances accepted without an error, and that is the record of Earl Grace, the young Pirate catcher who experts predicted at the start of the season would be one of the weak points in the Cubs' 1932 team...

Seventy-Eight Start Play in 'Sippi Valley Net Tournament Today

Merle Robins Faces Strong Group in Defending Crown Won in Meet Last Summer

Texas Stars Rank as Strong Contenders for Title

With a record field of 78 entries paired off for first round matches in men's and women's singles competition today, the second annual Mississippi Valley tennis tournament opens this morning at 9:30 on the varsity courts east of the reserve library.

Heading the list of stars, which includes players from Minnesota, Texas, and Illinois and from many cities in Iowa, is Merle Robins of Ames, defending title holder in the men's singles and seeded number one for this year's meet.

Jack Taylor of Austin, Tex., number two man, is expected to be the biggest threat to Robins' crown. He recently won the Midwest tournament at Omaha, and is the southwest and Texas junior champion. His fellow townsman, George Dullning, victor over the Ames champion in the recent Iowa tournament at Des Moines, is seeded number three...

Other seeded players are: John Curtis, Evanston, Ill., semi-finalist in the New England meet and former Big Ten star, number five; George Struble, Toledo, number six; Ron Reddig, Rock Island, Iowa net captain this spring, number seven, and Gil Sheldon, Evanston, Ill., number eight.

Of the 17 entrants in the women's singles, a youthful Des Moines star, Betty Butler, and a Cedar Rapids veteran, Mrs. Eleanor Bell, are the outstanding favorites. Miss Butler was runner-up to Dorothy Day in the state meet this summer, while Mrs. Bell is a state champion of several years ago and contender at Des Moines last week.

The first round of both men's and women's singles will be completed by this evening, going into second round play tomorrow. The finals will be held Saturday afternoon.

Managed by Theiss Pairs in men's doubles will be made today and first round play will start tomorrow morning. The defending champions, Reddig and Dick Goepfle of Rock Island, will probably be the ranking duo, although other strong teams are expected to be formed today.

The tournament, held under the auspices of board in control of athletics, is being managed by Walter Thews, Iowa varsity netster. It is requested by him that all players having a conflict in their playing times see him immediately.

The University of Iowa backfield man who is most likely to become an outstanding star during the 1932 football season is Howard B. Moffitt, junior from Iowa City.

Moffitt, a sensation in basketball, who made 95 points for fourth place among Big Ten scorers, is believed by Powers to have the speed and shiftness to make a great ground-gaining record next fall.

spots in the title drive. His mark surpasses by 20 the mark set by Johnny Bassler with the Detroit Tigers in 1926.

RECORD BREAKER

The record-breaking toss of 222.31 feet in the javelin throw at the Olympic trials won Kenneth Churchill of the Olympic club, San Francisco, his place on Uncle Sam's team. Churchill's throw was almost four feet better than the old Olympic mark.

Dubuque Rallies in Ninth to Nose Out Keokuk by 7-6 Edge

DUBUQUE, July 26 (AP)—Stehno's double in the ninth with one out scored the winning run and Dubuque took the final game of the series from Keokuk tonight, 7 to 6.

Dubuque spotted the Indians four runs in the first inning after which "Red" Evans settled down and pitched effective ball. Dubuque took the lead in the sixth inning with a four-run rally, but Keokuk tied the count in their half of the eighth.

Dave Lamb, Dubuque catcher, led the field with a perfect night at bat, getting four hits including a double.

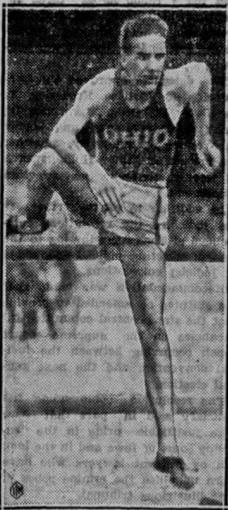

Fish Story, With Attest OSCEOLA, Mo. (AP)—For the benefit of friends who might not believe, H. H. Beller went before a notary public with a 40-pound catfish he caught and had witnesses list their names.

Mark Jackson Birthplace COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—An iron marker directing travelers to the birthplace of Andrew Jackson will be placed near Lancaster, S. C., by the South Carolina historical commission.

Dies of Asphyxiation OACOMA, S. D., July 26 (AP)—Frank A. Smith, about 60, who operated a private bank here for the last 35 years, was found dead in his garage today from monoxide poisoning. Coroner James Caldwell decided the death was accidental.

Moline Sweeps Series WATERLOO, July 26 (AP)—Moline won the finale tonight, 6 to 3, to sweep the series with the Hawks. The home club was unable to hit in the pinches, having 11 men aboard the bases.

Saling's Rival

Jack Keller, Ohio State's great timber topper, is Uncle Sam's chief hope in the 110 meter hurdle event at the Olympic Games. Keller defeated George Saling of Iowa and Percy Beard of the N.Y.A.C. in the final trials, equaling the world record of 0:14.4.

All-Stars to Play Tonight

Meet Strong Dubuque Outfit at City Park Field

Falling in their effort to advance in the Iowa semi-pro tournament at Des Moines when they were defeated by Prairie City, 8 to 4, Monday night, the Sidwell's All-Stars turn to playing strong teams in this locality.

Their first opponent will be the strong Dubuque Meteors whom they meet at the City park diamond tonight at 6 o'clock. Manager Sherman Greene, announced last night that he will give the job of pitching to Tommy Jacobs, Durant right hander, and George Foor, the Sidwell ace in the Twilight league.

The rest of the team will be composed much as it was in the game at Des Moines Monday. Probably the outstanding local player in the Prairie City game was Don Coulter, the left hander who hurled for The Daily Iowan nine in the dusk league. The young red head, starting the game at first base, pitched the last two and one-third innings and allowed only one unearned run and two hits, one a scratch blow.

But when he took over the hurling duties the victors had already piled up their winning total of "Boney" Clark and Jacobs and numerous errors.

Jamaica Man Takes Diamond Badge Handicap Trap Event

AMES, July 26 (AP)—Roy Brissler of Jamaica won the Ottumwa diamond badge handicap from a field of 60 Iowa trapshooters at the state tournament today. He hit 49 out of 50 targets at 22 yards. In the state handicap event, Edward Heisel of Jefferson hit 98 out of 100 targets at 17 yards to win.

Officers elected at a business meeting of the Iowa Trapshooters association were: H. M. Cooper, Marshalltown, president; F. M. Kachelhoffer, Ackley, secretary-treasurer; H. A. Carstens, Ackley, northeast zone director; George Killinger, Oskaloosa, southeast; Robert Jeffreys, Ames, southwest; E. S. Gaynor, Sioux City, northwest, and R. C. Coffey, Prairie City, state director to the grand American.

Malone Holds Boston Nine to 5 Bingles

Berger's Homer, Error by Cuyler Prevent Shutout Win

BOSTON, July 26 (AP)—Pat Malone started the second eastern invasion by the Chicago Cubs today by holding the Boston Braves to five hits and giving his team a 7 to 2 victory. It was the big right-hander's tenth win of the season.

The first Boston run came on Berger's long homer over the left field bleachers in the fourth inning. The second tally came in the ninth when Cuyler dropped a line drive in centerfield.

Hemsley had a perfect day at the bat for the Cubs with three singles and a double.

The Cubs started their scoring in the third when they made three runs on Hemsley's single, Jürgens' double, a wild pitch by Ed Brandt, a pass to English, and a bad throw to third by Catcher Hargrave. They scored again in the fifth, seventh, eighth, and the ninth.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Chicago .....003 010 111-7 12 1 Boston .....000 100 001-2 5 1 Batteries—Malone and Hemsley; Brandt, Cunningham and Hargrave.

Giants Win, Lose to 1st Place Cubs

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—The sixth-place Giants won the first game of today's double header from the Pittsburgh Pirates 7 to 3 and carried the league leaders to 10 innings in the second before going down, 7-5.

Good relief pitching by Leon Comoroski, Adam Comorosky's batting and Earl Grace's pinch-single with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth decided the second game. Comoroski made five straight hits in the second clash after hitting a homer and two singles in the first. The first of Bill Terry's two homers was the deciding blow in the opening game bringing in three tallies.

First Game Score by innings: R. H. E. Pittsburgh .....001 010 100-3 11 1 New York .....004 010 02-7 11 3 Batteries—F. R. C. Chagnon, Spencer and Grace; Hubble and Hogan.

Second Game Score by innings: R. H. E. Pittsburgh .....020 003 000-2 7 16 0 New York .....200 200 010-5 8 2 Batteries—Brame, Chagnon and Grace; Mooney, Luque, Shumacher, Gibson and Hogan, O'Parrell.

Phillies Take Lead Early to Whip Reds

PHILADELPHIA, July 26 (AP)—Slapping Carroll for eight runs in the first two innings, the Phillies defeated Cincinnati today, 10 to 5. Jim Elliott went the distance for the Phils, and although allowing 10 hits was never in danger. Klein hit his 29th homer off Hiltner in the eighth inning. Whitney, Hurst and Herman also hit home runs.

With the Reds at bat in the third inning Umpire Moran took exception to "riding" by the Cincinnati players and cleaned the bench by sending nine men to the club house.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cincinnati .....100 300 010-5 10 2 Philadelphia .....260 000 11-10 12 0 Batteries—Carroll, Ogden and Lombardi; Elliott and Davis.

Dodgers in Twin Victory Over Cards

BROOKLYN, July 26 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were in a hitting mood today and jumped all over the St. Louis Cardinals' pitchers to take both games of the doubleheader, 12 to 6, and 5 to 4.

In the opener they landed upon

Dash Star

His victories in the final Olympic trials in the 100 and 200 meter dashes place Ralph Metcalfe (above) Marquette university star in the fore as one of the greatest American sprinters of all time. Metcalfe equaled the Olympic record of 10.6 in the hundred and is looked upon as a sure-point scorer for Uncle Sam at the Olympic Games.

Training on Olympic Bill

Argue Over Status of Nurmi as Stars Prepare

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (AP)—Developments along the beflagged Olympic fronts today, with the opening of the big games only four days off, ranged from the caucus rooms, where delegates argued over the Nurmi situation, to the athletic fields, where intensive training prevailed.

The Americans hailed the arrival, in improved health, of Benjamin Bangs Eastman, 400 meter star. Directors of the tenth Olympiad issued estimates that 325,000 visitors would be on hand by next week, when the featured track and field program is in full swing, and that $37,000,000 will be spent by Olympic customers during a period of nearly three weeks of activity, before and during the games. More than 100,000 visiting motor cars already have "checked in," they said.

The first question popped by most visitors is: "Will Nurmi run?" Although the tip has now gone

Sylvester Johnson and Jess Haines for 10 hits in the seventh inning, scoring 11 runs, for a season's record. Cuccinello, Wright, Kelly, and Shaute made two hits apiece in the inning.

Dizzy Dean was effective up to the eighth inning of the second game when O'Doul's homer started a rally that tied the score. Al Lopez tagged Derringer for a triple in the ninth and scored the winning tally on Frederick's long fly.

Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis .....010 300 011-6 12 1 Brooklyn .....001 000 110-12 16 0 Batteries—Johnson, Haines and Wilson, Gonzales; Thurston, Shaut and Sukeforth.

Second Game Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis .....030 100 000-4 8 0 Brooklyn .....000 100 121-5 10 2 Batteries—Dean, Lindsey, Derringer and Mancuso; Clark, Quinn and Lopez.

Score Three Runs in 2nd for 3-2 Win

Bunch Four of Eight Hits Off Brown for Victory

ST. LOUIS, July 26 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns sifted three runs out of four hits in the second inning of the first of a four game series here today and defeated the Washington Senators 3 to 2.

George Blaeholder, who was knocked out of the box by the Detroit Tigers in his last start, allowed nine hits. "Lefty" Brown of the Senators gave eight.

The exhibition, outside of the second inning, was colorless. Washington opened the scoring in the first, when Rice singled. Blaeholder threw out Myer and Manush singled past second, scoring Rice.

In the second inning Goslin singled to right field, Schulte forced Goslin, Cronin to Myer, and Bluege threw out Melillo. Ferrell singled to center putting Schulte over for the first run. Jim Levey hit for two bases, bringing Ferrell home. George Blaeholder did his bit by singling through the box, scoring Levey. Shaerin forced Blaeholder, retiring the side.

The Browns failed to score again and held their one run margin, after Washington added another run in the third on Rice's double and a single by Manush. The Browns threatened again in the eighth when Campbell, through a slow roller to Myer, and a single by Goslin, got to third, but Schulte forced Goslin, retiring the Browns. Manush had a perfect day at bat, scoring three singles and a double in his four times at bat. He drove in both of Washington's runs.

Red Sox Wallop Pale Hose, 6 to 1

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Johnny Welch, who couldn't make the grade with the Chicago Cubs last year, came back with the Boston Red Sox in a neat 6 to 1 triumph here today.

Welch allowed nine hits, but kept spread around so that the Pale Hose failed to score until the seventh. He also added his own cause by hitting a double and two singles.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Boston .....002 022 000-6 14 0 Chicago .....009 000 100-1 9 1 Batteries: Welch and Connolly; Frasier, Gregory, Wise and Grube.

EMBERS OF LOVE

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

She moved into the apartment that Maxine had fallen heir to. Got permission to have a small upright piano. It was the only thing they ever really quarreled over.

"A grand would have given us a little class! But that thing—ugh!" "I know, it isn't very beautiful. But I've got to live cheaply. You don't know how poor I am. The only clothes I have are the grand evening things Madame Nahman gave me, and I can't wear them on the street."

Maxine grinned. "Oh, something will turn up!" Back home in Woodlake, if she had read about a girl coming to New York, and falling into the sort of luck she had had, she wouldn't have believed it. You either had luck, or you didn't. Maxine, who practically lived by her wits, being, strangely enough, a technically good girl, took everything, and gave nothing but her personality.

She and her small circle were the sort whom traveling salesmen from Columbus and all points west invariably meet and take to dinner, a show, and roof cabaret afterward. The number of blind dates that Maxine acquired was something that never failed to astound Lily Lou, who steadfastly refused to accompany her.

"Why not? Free meal, good show—I make 'em get the best seats, and pick the shows! Dance a bit afterward if they can dance, eat some more, and then leave 'em. Not so bad—for a plain looking girl! And you—well, you're the grand one. Lily Lou laughed. "No, I couldn't. I just couldn't do it. I—I don't know—early bringing up, I guess." The next few months would be ghastly. Even doing all her own laundry, and all the cleaning in the apartment, and cutting her food down to almost nothing, she didn't see how she'd manage.

Gwin was staying at his Long Island home during the summer months, and only came in one day a week to teach. Lily Lou hesitated when he made out her first weekly check. "I can't take a week's pay for a day's work," she said dejectedly.

"You must live. How much are you paying for the baby's board?" "Fifty."

"And your rent?" "There's none. The apartment belonged to a girl who—well, who married or something, and went to Europe, and the lease isn't up until November, so Maxine and I—"

"I see." Gwin wiped away a smile. "So there's just the food, and one doesn't want to eat much this hot weather. I spend quite a lot on caffeine though—to get out to Jamaica Park to see the bubchen, but I'm hoping to get church work—"

She wheeled on her sharply. "I won't coach you if you force your voice!" "I won't force it. I'll be careful."

"Careful, hell! I've told you what happens to coloraturas who break down!" "But Gwin, I'll be careful. It isn't as though I were just beginning. I know how to keep my voice forward now—"

"All right. Choose between the church and that Metropolitan chorus idea you and Tony were raving about."

"Choose between them! Why, one's a thing to do for pay, and one's a chance to break in—"

"But even you said I had to eat!" She went home, more shaken than she had been since the old days when she first faced the bubchen's coming. If she could only have stayed with Nahman until summer was over... But no use to cry over spilt milk.

Well, she'd get a job. She thought of the things she could do. Waitress. Telephone operator. Pianist. But if she took a regular job she couldn't keep on with Gwin—no body would let her off a day a week. And after his regular classes started she could conscientiously take the money. Twenty-five dollars a week and free lessons, with lessons costing twenty dollars the half hour...

"Oh, how did anyone ever do it? How did girls ever become opera singers? And even if you had the voice, and the background, and the languages, and the dramatic school training, the dancing, the fencing and all the rest of it, what ever in the world did you do for money to live on?"

She'd have to have money for the bubchen's board. Tony... but she couldn't ask him for a loan, he had too many back debts—it wouldn't be right...

There was no one else. Maybe she could write home. Perhaps they could advance her something, and then when Uncle Eph's estate was settled... Besides, this would be the last time she'd have to ask. Perhaps they could spare her just a few dollars, say for two months, until Gwin started full time classes again... She got up and wrote out the message, night letter.

The answer was waiting for her at noon the next day: "Sorry to have to tell you impossible help you now. Did not want to alarm you, but mother has had the flu and now pneumonia. Asks for you constantly. Wish you could come, but no use to consider it if you are broke. Will let you know of any danger. MAY."

"I can't take a week's pay for a day's work," she said dejectedly.

wired May, bought her ticket, and had kissed the bubchen a tearful goodbye. She had five hundred and fifty dollars of Dwight Gwin's money, and how she was ever to repay him she didn't know.

She got the last message on the train. Read it over and over, trying to realize what it would be like without mother. Said it over and over to herself... "Mother, dear. Mother, dear!"

But it did not seem real. In the midst of her worried repetition, "Mother, dear... mother... dear!" there would come the thought of the bubchen. Hadn't she better wire Maxine to go see him on Sunday? Maxine was so unobtrusive, though. Tony would be better, but Tony was his only chance to rest.

Back to mother again... "Oh, if I'd only started sooner. If May had only told me... but of course she didn't know. It wasn't her fault. Oh, dear, it's so hot, and dirty... Holsteins in that pasture... pretty things, Holsteins... Wonder what they did with all Uncle Eph's sheep? Mother must have known I'd come... she must know that I'm coming now... between those who love there's bound to be some sort of telepathy..."

"I won't see Ken, of course... Still, I might. It would be natural for him to come to see us, on account of mother. It isn't absurd to imagine that. Peggy Sage couldn't object to that. He knew mother. She used to like him..."

"Poor, darling mother... It would have been criminal to bring the bubchen. The heat would have wilted him. Ken doesn't know he's alive anyway. Even Maxine thinks he's the loveliest child she ever saw. He's even gaining during the hot summer. Mrs. Jensen is wonderful to him... at least she seems so... Better wire Tony to call and make sure..."

Profit Taking Takes Toll of Market Gains

Stocks Lose Ground After Five Climbs Upward

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Profit-taking stepped into check stock market advances today and averages closed lower after five consecutive advances.

At intervals during the day shares overcame realizing sales and worked slightly higher, but rallying tendencies were considerably less robust than yesterday. Wall street could hardly forget that the U. S. Steel report, made public after the whatever the directors decided to do on the matter of the preferred dividend; furthermore, some observers were wondering whether it was advisable for the market to attempt too seriously a discounting of business improvement.

Fractional Losses

Losses were largely of fractional proportions, amounting to around half a point in American Can, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Woolworth, American Tobacco B and National Biscuit. Steel common was down a point, and the preferred, up a point at the best, was off two net. General Electric and Westinghouse showed some firmness, and there were again encouraging advances by numerous preferred equities. Oils provided the chief vehicle for speculative ventures on the upside, although they, too, closed mostly lower. Transactions totaled 1,438,515 shares.

Preferred Dividend

The U. S. Steel corporation is paying another preferred dividend, but served notice that its maintenance would have to depend on business. A similar warning was given six months ago and the common dividend was passed three months later. Operations will have to improve very substantially before the company is back on a profitable basis.

Poor Wheat Prospects Aid Grain Prices

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Reports of serious deterioration of Canada's wheat crop throughout 10,000,000 acres, 40 per cent of Canadian wheat territory, led to sharply higher prices today.

Some forecasts placed 1932 Canadian wheat production as low as 400,000,000 bushels, whereas recent trade figures have suggested 450,000,000. Advice from the American northwest also told of spring wheat reverses because of premature ripening.

Wheat closed strong at virtually the day's top, 1.38 1/2-1.8 cents above yesterday's finish, corn at 1-1/4-1.2 decline, oats unchanged to 1-8 off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Decided broadening of export business together with enlarged speculative demand, helped put backbone in the wheat market. Purchases for overseas were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, and were asserted to include some United States wheat.

Cable dispatches indicated wet harvest conditions in western Europe, with further dwindling of estimates of wheat yields in eastern Europe. In particular, Hungary and Balkan countries appeared to have poor prospects for this season's crops. A decrease of 5,862,000 bushels in world's available wheat supplies made the total 41,000,000 bushels less than at this time last year.

General rains over the corn belt sent feed grain prices downgrade. Oats reached a new bottom price record for the season. Provisions reflected setbacks in hog values. Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 49, offers: Sept. 48 3-4/8-7-8, 50 1-4/8-3-8; Dec. 51 7-8/32, 53 3-8/1-2. Corn—July 31 5-3/8-3-4, 32 3-8; Dec. 31 3-4/8-7-8.

Only Light Girls Wanted

FT. WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Nobody went in for "heavy" dates when Delta Sigma fraternity held a dance here. Admission having been fixed at 1 cent per pound of the girl friend's bulk, scales showed guests weighing from 85 to 120 pounds.

Three Sister Scholars

SENATH, Mo. (AP)—The three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Douglass might have had an interesting scholastic battle had they been in the same class. Elizabeth was valedictorian of Senath high school graduates in 1929, Mary Flo in 1930 and Josephine in 1932.

Professor C. S. Lowry of Murray State Teachers college, Kentucky, has a giant bull frog which kills birds that flutter to the brink of its pool.

"Slamse twins" among fish are a common occurrence in Michigan lakes and streams, the state fish division reports.

LEADS IN TEXAS RACE

Piling up a steadily increasing plurality, Mrs. Miriam A. ("Ma") Ferguson, candidate for governor in Texas, is leading Governor Ross S. Sterling and six other candidates in Saturday's Democratic primary, returns indicate. She was elected governor of the state in 1924.

No Appeal Filed
DES MOINES, (AP)—B. W. Garrett, clerk of the supreme court, said no appeal had been filed from the decision of the supreme court holding the legislative expense act unconstitutional. Time for filing an appeal expired Monday night.

U. S. Eyes Now Open to 18th Amendment, Believes Europe

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler returned from Europe today with the observation that foreign nations believed Americans had "at last opened their eyes" regarding prohibition. The president of Columbia university spent six weeks touring Europe for the Carnegie endowment for international peace. When he arrived on the Malesie his statement was prepared.

Opened Eyes at Last

"The bright outlook for quick repeal of the eighteenth amendment is hailed in Europe as an indication that the American people have at last opened their eyes to the utility, the iniquity and the immorality of that provision of the constitution with its invitation to lawlessness," his statement said. He would not amplify or add any verbal phrase to the typewritten document.

Topic of Sarcasm

"The Republican party plank on this topic (prohibition) is the subject of no inconsiderable merriment and sarcasm," the statement continued. "It will be quite futile for any candidate, in the hope of conciliating any element of the population to attempt to subordinate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the solution of the economic problems which press upon us all. The two are inextricably intertwined. The repeal of the eighteenth amendment is an essential step towards the revival of prosperity in the United States."

Weather Favors S. U. I. Cleaning

University workmen are busy this week throwing darts at the weather; but to date, little rain has appeared to answer the challenge. For as a part of the annual summer cleaning given the university by the buildings and grounds department, the outer doors of both the liberal arts building and the natural science building are being unhung, taken off, and refinished. And the window frames of other university buildings are being repaired. But in spite of the way interiors of the buildings are being exposed to the elements, little rain appears.

Argue Reinstatement of Paavo Nurmi

around that Finland will be able to swing enough votes in the I.A.A.F. by the end of the week to assure Paavo's presence in the competition, several barriers remained to be hurdled. Chief among them is the fact that the executive council of the I.A.A.F. now stands five to two against reinstating Nurmi, with Finland supported so far only by the United States in opposition to Sweden, Germany, France, England and Austria on the subject of altering the federation's rules.

This lineup was revealed today, for the first time, but it is in the full congress of the I.A.A.F. with over 40 nations represented, that the Finns expect to muster majority support.

Many of Nurmi's friends have been more concerned about his condition, due to a strained Achilles tendon, than the fate of his amateur standing, growing out of his European barnstorming activities.

If the tendon continues to respond to careful treatment and Paavo is officially "okayed," he will start in the 10,000 meter run this Sunday, in defense of one of the Olympic crowns he already wears. If this means any undue risk, however, Nurmi will concentrate all his efforts on the marathon, scheduled

August 7. Paavo figures the marathon will be less strain on his legs than the 10,000 meters. Eastman arrived still bothered by a cold in his chest, but appeared much improved in general condition as well as spirits, since his double defeat by Bill Carr. Big Ben worked out with the American teams in the afternoon, trying the turns.

The casualty or semi-casualty list includes Reid, sprinter; and Thomas, 1,500 meters, of the British team, both with muscle strains; Jimmy Ball of Canada, 400 meter veteran, also hampered by a bad leg; Dr. Paul Martin, Switzerland, strained tendon.

Three American runners, Joe McCluskey of Fordham, steeplechase favorite, "Pen" Hallowell of Harvard, 1,500 meter star, and Dan Daen of Pennsylvania, 5,000 meter entry, have contracted colds.

Moreover, there is still some doubt as to whether Percy Williams, Canadian holder of the triple jump championship, will be able to stage successful comebacks after leg ailments.

Sues Government

MUSCATINE, July 26 (AP)—Suit was brought against the United States government today by Elzie Keppling to eliminate its junior lien against property of the Yarek estate. The plaintiff's lien is for $1,200, while the government's junior lien is for $2,100.

Appointed Guardian

GRUNDY CENTER (AP)—Glen Schuck of Parkersburg has been appointed legal guardian for his grand uncle, Andrew Whaylen, 73, whose wife was shot to death July 1. Whaylen's stepson, Cressy Whaylen of Waterloo, is charged with the slaying.

Requisition Calls Auto Thief

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A North Dakota requisition was honored by Governor Emerson today. It was for return of Charley Wilson, alias Robert L. Chidwick, to Grand Forks, N. D., to face charges of auto theft. Wilson is in custody at Rock Island, Ill.

SCRANTON, (AP)—After binding, gagging and robbing Ed Hammer, night marshal, two men took him into the country and released him. They then returned, stole some gasoline and fled.

Michigan tourist associations spent $77,000 last year to attract visitors to the state, and this sum was matched by the state conservation department for advertising.

A national park costing $125,000 has been opened at Murfreesboro, Tenn., to commemorate the battle of Stone's river.

G. O. P's Will Retain Power Says Keynoter

Claussen Gives Opening Address at Judicial Convention

CEDAR RAPIDS, July 26 (AP)—Confidence that the voters will retain in office the present Republican national and state leadership was voiced today by George Claussen of Clinton in the keynote address of the Republican judicial convention.

Claussen denounced the "promises" of the Democratic party and its platform and told the judicial convention delegates that the Republican party can expect support on the basis of "things achieved and objectives sincerely entertained."

Criticizes Demo Stand
The Democratic stand on the liquor question, on reduction of governmental costs, on relief legislation and its "promise to restore the government to the people," were criticized. These were contrasted with the accomplishments and program of the Republican party.

Declaring the Democratic party proposed to submit the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the states in such a way that the people will vote, indirectly, on the question, he said the party also advises the voters to vote.

Will Not "Solve" the Question
"There is only one thing bad about it," he said of the Democratic proposal to "solve" the liquor question. "It won't settle the question. So long as mankind lives the question will be with us."

Submission of the question of repeal to the people will furnish the answer to the question of how the people stand, he argued. "If they favor it, it should be repealed," he said, "for this is still the people's government."

"Ingrained in Human Nature"
"If they do not, it may result in the acceptance of the present method as the one, under which the people will resign themselves to evils, which in truth and fact are deeply, and I fear, forever ingrained in human nature."

Claussen said the Republican party pledges itself to submit the question of repeal to the states "in such a manner that the people must vote upon it. It proposes to protect the states whose citizens determine that the liquor traffic shall not flourish within their borders. It makes no recommendation to the citizens of the state how they should vote," he said.

Asserting that party alignments should not be determined by the liquor question, he said the best interests of the country cannot be served by two parties, one wet and the other dry.

Republicans Will Give Answer
"I think we should have an answer to the question as to whether the eighteenth amendment can be repealed," he said. "The Republican party proposes that this answer shall be given."

The Democratic party promises to reduce the cost of government by "as many hundred million, or even billions as you may care to name," the keynoter said. "To do this it is going to take the government out of business, abolish paternalism and do many other things."

"Things Remain Undone"
He declared that "in exactly the measure that these things remain undone, the Democratic party indicates its own leadership of the house of representatives in which all appropriation bills must originate."

The record of President Hoover upon the matter of reduction of governmental costs was said to be "perfect" and the Democratic house was scored for refusing to let the chief executive reorganize the government, declared to be the only means by which the cost of government can be reduced.

"Magnificent Promise"
In connection with the "magnificent promise" Claussen said had been by the Democrats to relieve the depression, he pointed out that despite the fact that that party has had control of the house no logical relief measure has been originated.

Turning to the business before the convention, the selection of nominees for the state supreme court, Claussen said he is convinced that "exactly as Republican minded men are essential in the legislative and executive departments, they are likewise essential in the judicial departments."

Regular Art Display Exhibited for First Time This Summer

For the first time since the summer session began, Iowa Union's permanent exhibition of art is now being displayed in the Union lounge. During the first part of the summer, traveling exhibits and self-portraits of Iowa artists were hung at various intervals, and it was only this week that the self-portrait exhibit was moved to the lobby so the regular paintings could be hung. Included in the permanent exhibit are several portraits of faculty members, paintings by faculty members of the graphic and plastic arts department, and several works of other artists of the country.

Group Backs Health Clinic at State Fair

DES MOINES, July 26 (AP)—The Iowa Osteopathic association will back an adult health clinic, including complete physical examinations by laboratory tests, x-ray, and special tests, at the 1932 Iowa State fair.

Men and women will be examined free by men and women physicians throughout fair week, Aug. 25 to Sept. 2. Preparations for the clinic are in charge of Dr. D. B. Caldwell of Des Moines, Dr. L. L. Fagot of Des Moines, Dr. W. C. Gordon of Sioux City, and Dr. John Woods of Des Moines. P. A. Gordon of Marshalltown is secretary of the association.

"More men have died from heart disease in Iowa than from any other cause," Dr. Caldwell said in announcing plans for the clinic. "For this reason, we will particularly emphasize preventative measures for dealing with heart ailments in the male section of the clinic. More women die from cancer than from any other one cause, and we expect to emphasize this feature in our women's clinic."

Teeters Tells of Experience With Poisons

During a depression the poison trade begins to boom, Dean Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy told Kiwanians at their weekly luncheon at the Jefferson hotel yesterday.

In years when business is bad, he said, "more people, made despondent by financial reverses, take poison themselves and give it to their dependents."

Dean Teeters told of his experience in aiding police by the analysis of poisons in the bodies sent to him from all over the state. He described the chemical tests used to determine poison.

Although most common poisons have simple antidotes, he said, there are some poisons for which there is no cure. He described the common varieties and told of household antidotes used to combat them.

Michigan conservation officers are taking the census of deer to determine the ratio of bucks and does.

Wylie Will Head Group for Observance of Meteor Falls

Hurling particles of disintegrated comets, the little Perseid meteors, will stage their annual celestial performance between Aug. 7 and 12 just as they have done for the last 108 years.

Their 1932 antics, high in the northeast sky, will be scrutinized and plotted by observers in eastern Iowa under the supervision of Prof. Charles C. Wylie, university astronomer, it was announced here yesterday.

To Count, Chart Meteors
Between midnight and about 3 a.m., posted at isolated vantage points far removed from electric lights, the professional and amateur astronomers will count the meteors and chart their direction of fall.

Arrange New Bus Schedule, Special Rates

R. J. McComas, manager of the local Meket office of the Crandic and Interstate bus lines, announced yesterday that one bus running from here to Cedar Rapids will be discontinued Aug. 1.

The Cedar Rapids and Iowa City railway company, he said, will run an interurban car from here at 11:30 a.m. to replace the 11:35 a.m. bus, which is to be taken off. The interurban will make connections in Cedar Rapids with the bus leaving there at 12:30 p.m. for Dubuque and Madison, Wis.

Two other changes in the bus schedule will go into effect the first of the month, he said. The bus which leaves here at 4:45 p.m. for Muscatine will leave at 5:40 p.m. The 7:53 p.m. bus for Cedar Rapids will be changed to 8:40 p.m. and will connect with the bus from Cedar Rapids to Minneapolis and St. Paul at 9:45 p.m. Mr. McComas also announced reduced summer excursion fares to points in California, Colorado, and Yellowstone park.

Iowa Takes Steps Against European Corn Borer After Middlewestern Conference

DES MOINES, July 26 (AP)—A quarantine against the dreaded European corn borer, along the lines drafted at the recent conference of middlewestern states, today was declared for Iowa by the state entomologist and secretary of agriculture.

Coupled with the quarantine was a request for the cooperation of individual Iowa residents in preventing the importation of shipments which might start a corn borer infestation and increase the spread materially. Cooperation of carriers has been assured.

Warning to Tourists
Iowans who are touring in the east or who have visitors from the corn borer infested areas were sought in particular by the state department of agriculture which urged that they bring into the state no sweet corn or other produce which might contain borers.

Recently representatives of Iowa attended a conference at Kansas City at which a quarantine was approved for the corn belt states following the decision of the United States government to discontinue the federal quarantine.

Differs From Previous Steps
The quarantine issued today by State Entomologist Carl M. Drake and Mark G. Thornburg, secretary of agriculture, differs from previous Iowa quarantines in that it covers areas having both first and second generation corn borer infestation. Other quarantines set out different provisions for the two areas.

Some inspections of shipments will be made at terminal and central points in the state, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl Kennedy explained, but only a limited amount of state funds will be used in the work. Reliance will be placed mostly on the railroads and other carriers and on the cooperation of individuals.

Content of Quarantine
It is hereby ordered that no person, firm or corporation shall receive ship or accept for shipment, transport, sell or offer for sale, give away, deliver, plant or permit to exist on his or its premises:

(1) Cornstalks, corn on the cob, cobs or other debris of corn, broom corn, all sorghums and sudan grass (no restrictions are placed on the movement of clean shelled corn, broomcorn seed, sorghum seed, and Sunda grass seed) originating in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and West Virginia.

(2) Celery, beans in the pod, beets with tops, rhubarb, oats or rye straw as such or when used as packing, cut flowers or entire plants, chrysanthemum, aster, cosmos, zinnia, hollyhock, and cut flowers or entire plants of gladiolus and dahlias, except the roots, bulbs or corms thereof, without stems, which have been grown or stored in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts,

Chased by Bull; Drowns

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah, July 26 (AP)—Chased by an angry bull, Hazel Hendrickson, 19, leaped into the Bear river near here and drowned.

Two sisters, who also sought refuge in the stream, found a shallower spot and remained there until a fourth sister out-maneuvered the bull and rescued them.

Vivian Strong, 17, of Chardon, Ohio, has changed schools seven times without ever failing or being set back a grade.

Morrison's pharmacy, 117 E. College street, is getting a new front. Workmen, as workmen do, have the front of the store all torn up and littered with broken boards and plaster. We were told that it will be the first time the store has had its face lifted since 1894.

Up From the Cellar
A. A. Rarick, superintendent of the auto license department in the county treasurer's office, with the help of two prisoners from the county jail and R. J. Maurer, moved the 10,600 1933 license plates which have been stored in the cellar of the court house, to the treasurer's office. Having a statistical turn of mind, Mr. Rarick weighed one of the plates and figured the weight of the entire supply at five tons and 200 pounds.

Union Exhibits China, Pottery

Show Given by Division of State Group of Women's Clubs

Pieces of some of the best pottery and chinaware manufactured in the United States are now being exhibited in the south dining room of Iowa Union just off the main lounge. The exhibit is sponsored by the fine arts division of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs.

Such wares as those made by Shearwater, in Mississippi, which have won prizes in national competition every year since 1900, and the china made by Lenox of Trenton, N. J., which company made the first domestic china ever to be used in the White House at Washington, D. C., are included in the exhibit.

Two pottery exhibits from Iowa also appear in the collection; the first known as the Ames pottery, which is manufactured by the ceramics department of Iowa State college, under the direction of Prof. Paul E. Cox, and the second made by Nelson of What Cheer.

The Van Briggie pottery is known both for its velvety glaze and blending of colors, and for its historical background. Van Briggie was a French artist who came over to this country because of his health. He had not long settled in Colorado before he discovered a peculiar type of clay in that country, and it is from that material that his wares are made.

Other materials exhibited include the Fulper pottery, famous for its glaze; the Haeger pottery; the Rockwood pottery, originated by a woman's club in Cincinnati, Ohio; the Newcomb hand-thrown pottery of Louisiana, featuring designs of trees and flowers found in that state; the Niloak pottery of Arkansas, which is based on the classical shapes; and pottery from Monmouth, Ill.
