One hundred twenty-five cups and trophies to be awarded for six championship and nine special events are to be a part of the second annual bridge tournament to be given under the auspices of the Iowa State Bridge association Aug. 17 to 20 at the Clear Lake country club.

Both contract and auction contests will be offered. Anyone may enter by presenting a membership card to the entry clerk before the tournament and any Iowan is eligible for membership.

The all-inclusiveness of the eligibility list is to emphasize the league's purpose to increase interest and technique rather than to find the champion.

The organization states that it is not necessary to be an expert to enter in the first round of the game as each contestant will meet players of his own class.

Guillotine to Avenge Death of President

PARIS, July 27 (AP)—The strange Dr. Paul Gorguloff, who assassinated President Paul Doumer of France nearly three months ago to promote a nebulous Franco-Russian war, was convicted of murder today and sentenced to the guillotine.

Spectators cheered the verdict of a jury that found the Russian had slain the beloved pere of France and that his act was premeditated. The jury was out 35 minutes and its vote was 10 to 2. The prisoner was given three days to appeal.

The final scenes of the trial, which had lasted most of this week, were dramatic, with Dr. Gorguloff screaming in rage.

"Take my life," he shouted, when the court ruled against the defense in one instance. "Lay me on the guillotine! The French government has killed my ideal and my party. I am a living corpse. I do not want to live!"

Then as the verdict was read: "Shoot me with a gun like a soldier," he cried. "Do not guillotine me!"

What Shall I Serve--?

A Daily Hint to Hostesses on Tempting Appetites While It's Hot

Variety for Mrs. Housewife

If variety is the thing that Mrs. Housewife is striving for, she will welcome the recipe that Mrs. George Koser, 37 Riverview, has given us for Vanilla Ice Cream.

- 2 eggs
- 2 c. milk
- 3/4 c. sugar
- 1 tbs. vanilla
- 1/4 teas. salt
- 1 c. heavy whipping cream

Separate the eggs. Make a soft custard with the yolks and the sugar. Beat whites until stiff and over them pour the hot custard. Add the vanilla and salt, and when cold, the whipped cream. Freeze in a mechanical refrigerator, stirring at 30 minute intervals until the mixture has been stirred three times.

The ice cream may be varied by adding well-mashed fruit, berries, melted chocolate, or marshino cherries.

Mrs. Koser has also suggested this recipe for Pineapple salad to be served with Cucumber sandwiches at card parties.

Heat 2 cups of crushed pineapple. Add the juice of one lemon and 1 cup of sugar. Stir well until dissolved. Soak two tablespoons of gelatin for 10 minutes in 1 1/2 c. cold water, and add to the hot mixture. When cool and beginning to set, add 1 cup of grated American cheese and 1/2 pint of cream beaten stiff. Mix thoroughly. Pour into a mold and leave in a cool place until firm.

Make a dressing by mixing 2 tablespoons of finely chopped celery and 2 tablespoons of green pepper to 1/2 cup of mayonnaise. Serve on a lettuce leaf. Serves 10.

Appointment of Pomerene Elicits Praise

Demo Criticism Also Hits Director of Loan Fund

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Bi-partisan praise of the appointment of Atlee Pomerene of Ohio to the reconstruction corporation today mingled with Democratic claims that politics dictated President Hoover's decision to give Democrats four of the seven board memberships.

Both Republicans and Democrats regarded the selection of the former Ohio senator a good one.

Democrats Tell Opinions
However, Senator Connally (D. Texas) joined Representative Rainey of Illinois, the house Democratic leader, in saying responsibility for the conduct of the corporation's vast relief efforts still rested on the administration despite Democratic control of the board.

"The corporation has been in politics," said Connally. "It has now been pushed further into politics."

Harrison Approves
Senator Harrison (D. Miss.), said: "That's a very good appointment. I would not like to charge the president with doing that for political purposes on the eve of a campaign."

"That's an excellent appointment," said Senator Borah (R. Idaho).

Pomerene Comments
Pomerene himself, in Cleveland, said so far as he was concerned, "there is no politics in it."

The Republicans generally remarked that the president was selecting the best men he could find available for the big relief job and in adhering to this principle was disregarding party lines.

One more vacancy exists on the board. Under the law this must go to a Republican and the selection probably will be made this week.

The five directors now on the job will await the arrival of Pomerene, expected here by Monday, and the appointment of the seventh member, before apportioning the new relief funds entrusted to the corporation by congress.

Atlanta policemen presented their new chief, T. O. Sturdivant with a diamond badge.

Extension workers of Iowa State college predict 1932 will see the largest national acreage planted to corn since 1917.

A movement of between 12 and 16 million tons of ore from Lake Superior ports to lower lake ports is planned for the 1932 navigation season.

Police Seek True Identity of Gunman

ST. PAUL, July 27 (AP)—Police tonight were checking Bertillon records in an effort to establish whether Able Loeb, slain during a gun fight here Monday, was Able Wagner, New York racketeer and once a suspect in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case.

New York advises said Mrs. Pauline Wagner had received a telegram from St. Paul that her son had been killed. Mrs. Able Loeb, arranging for the funeral of her husband tomorrow, denied to newspapermen that he was Wagner. Police said they had no previous knowledge that Loeb and Wagner might be the same. Mrs. Loeb will take her husband's body east for burial.

Meanwhile funeral service was held today for Al Gordon, who died yesterday from bullet wounds received at the same time Loeb was shot. Joseph Shafer and George Young, arrested soon after the shooting and identified as the men who beat Loeb over the head after he had been shot, were formally charged with first degree murder. They will be arraigned tomorrow.

The number of hogs in Ohio declined one-third in the decade ending in 1930.

New and Different

That's why it's something new, and here's why it's different.

There are no rules, no strings, no coupons for this contest; nothing to buy; nothing to do that you haven't done already. And you don't have to be a subscriber to The Daily Iowan.

There's only one qualification in the entire contest. You must write a letter to the editor of The Daily Iowan, telling him about something you have done this summer to earn some money.

And what's the prize?

Free Swimming

Well, how many times this summer have you wished you could go swimming and couldn't? How would you like to have an automobile call for you at your home, take you to the Big Dipper in the City park, and then bring you back home again whenever you're ready?

That's the prize and that's all there is to the contest.

Earned Some Pennies?

Get a sheet of paper right now and in 50 words or less tell the editor how you've earned a nickel, a dime, or even just a few pennies for running errands, mowing a lawn, washing dishes, minding a baby, cleaning up the yard, dusting furniture, sweeping the front porch, painting the back porch, fixing a broken chair, or anything else you can think of.

Then, have your mother or father, sister or brother, aunt or uncle, or anyone else who has paid you for doing something, sign the letter. Mail or bring it to the offices of The Daily Iowan, then watch for your name to appear two or three mornings later.

10 Letters a Day

Every day, the 10 best letters received will appear on the front page of The Daily Iowan. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon The Daily Iowan-Big Dipper car will drive up to the front doors of the winners, take them to the pool, and when they have thoroughly enjoyed themselves splashing, diving, or learning to swim under the expert direction of three registered Red Cross life savers, the car will bring them home.

The entire swimming period will be carefully supervised by two prominent Iowa City social workers, in addition to the three life savers.

Four Swim Days a Week

Free swimming periods will be held every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoon while the contest lasts. The length of the contest will be determined by how long the warm weather lasts. Although there will be only four swim periods a week, you may send your letter any day in the week and become eligible for a free swim. Letters arriving Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be judged over the week end, and the winners names will appear Sunday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of the following week. The first letters will appear next Sunday, July 31. The first winners swim Monday.

A Word to Mothers

And here's a word to mothers: You can identify the driver of The Daily Iowan-Big Dipper car because he or she will show you the original letter that your son or daughter wrote to the editor. Your children will be adequately cared for—each driver is experienced, and the life guards will exercise extreme watchfulness.

All right, youngsters! Now that you know all about the contest, get that letter written now, and send it in. Get in the swim while the weather is hot.

It isn't too late to earn some money now, if you haven't already. There are hundreds of odd jobs waiting for you. Look for them now and spend an afternoon at the Big Dipper absolutely free of any charge.

Game of Buck Passing

Previously, federal and District of Columbia officials indulged in a fast game of buck-passing over the problem while the honus-seekers involved stood in their shanty-town shelters and indulged in laughter.

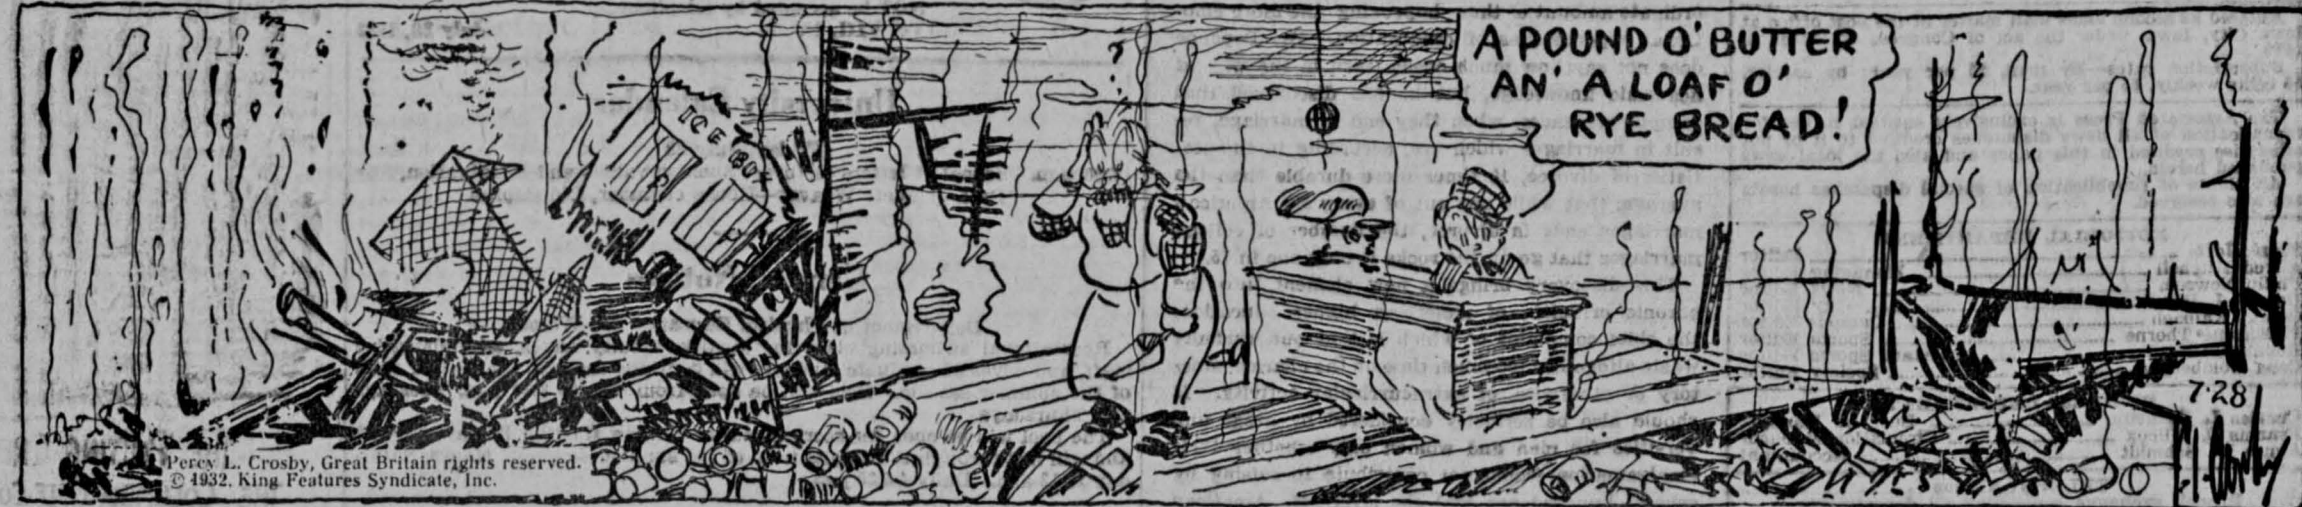

Late yesterday the treasury announced it had requested the district commissioners to evict the bonus army at 7 a.m. today. Chief of Police Glassford, arrived on the scene shortly before that time with 50 bluecoats, but the order for him to clear the area did not arrive.

Police Ordered Away

The policemen stood around on the pavement for three hours before being ordered away. Meanwhile, Glassford had gone to the district building for a conference with the commissioners and representatives of the treasury.

Shortly after the veteran army had eaten its lunch, word came that the commissioners had found they had no legal authority to evict. Glassford announced he would make no illegal use of the metropolitan police.

Dean W. F. Barr of Drake university stressed the need for higher standards for teachers, comparing the training now required to that undertaken by candidates for admittance to law, medicine and other professions.

Plans for a new course of safety study were outlined by Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction.

Electing a Name

WITHOUT REFLECTING on the capabilities of Oklahoma's schoolmaster candidate for the Democratic congressional nomination—man by the name of Will Rogers—one cannot help but wonder what percentage of this heretofore unknown person's electoral popularity may be attributed to the nationally known comedian of the same name.

And in the same vein, there might be speculation as to how much better than a two to one vote the more famous Will Rogers—himself a native—might have garnered. He may not have done so well for it was when the city votes were counted that Mrs. Mabel Bassett, Rogers' opponent, began to show a favorable total.

Friend and foe alike generally concede that Rogers' success is due to the prestige of the Claremore cowboy-humorist and to the confusion over the similarity in names. Certainly it is a tribute to the esteem in which the Will Rogers of stage and screen renown is held by his home folks.

It is much less of a tribute, however, to the home folks. The schoolmaster Rogers made no campaign, presented no policies, promised nothing. And yet he will probably be sent to congress to represent people who know nothing about him—except that his name is Will Rogers and he teaches school. That may be enough for some folks and may be in line with established methods of voting in America—yet, of course, it seldom becomes so strikingly an example of voters' ignorance.

The trend, it may be happily noted, is certainly away and not toward such standards. This year, more voters will know more about the presidential nominees, for example, than they have ever known before. Whether that knowledge will be substantiated by subsequent events after the November election remains to be seen. In the meantime, there are greater and simpler opportunities for those who want to know the truth about the candidates to find out. It takes thinking people, however, to discriminate between campaign and party propaganda and the real thing but, then, all voters are supposed to be thinkers.

Oklahoma, it appears, has some exceptions.

Meeting the Ends of Justice

FOURTEEN YEARS ago, Dr. Asa W. Chamberlain, now 77, was convicted of murdering his brother, Judge Albert Putnam Chamberlain, and subsequently sentenced to life imprisonment by a Virginia jury. Now, 11 of the 12 jurymen have decided that "on account of the time served, and this man's age, the ends of justice have been met." And Governor Pollard has granted a conditional pardon.

The brutality of the crime and the fact that the brothers were members of a prominent Iowa family—themselves able professional men—gave the story front page prominence back in 1918. A horror stricken public read with revulsion accounts of how the doctor killed his brother, dismembered the body, buried the segments in postholes, burned the blood in a rubber sheet.

And now the ends of justice are met, according to the jurors. And what, pray tell, constitute the "ends"? No matter that the crime revealed a maniacal mind bent on human destruction. No matter that society was deprived of the services of an able doctor and a competent jurist. No matter that the crime was committed with little apparent motive—the commonwealth finally decided it concerned money matters. The judge was a graduate of Iowa State college, had studied law at Drake university. The doctor had practiced medicine at Stratford, Ia., for 35 years. The crime started the country. Its hideousness caused a jury to decide a maximum sentence. And yet, after only 14 years, the same jury apparently has changed its mind.

If the "ends of justice" have been met in this case, they certainly are very ragged edges.

Bresnahan as Olympic Coach

Selection of George Bresnahan of Iowa as practically the only man on the American Olympic coaching group not from the east, is a fitting tribute to a coach who has placed eight men on the last three American Olympic teams, one of them on both the 1928 and 1932 squads.

Bresnahan will have charge of the hurdles, broad jumpers and 1,600-meter relay runners on the United States team, and he has had unusual success in developing men for these events.

A great array of hurdler has come out of Iowa to win national titles in the last 10 years. Charles Brookins, low hurdler, was the first, and his mark still is the accepted world's record.

Brookins shifted to the 400-meter hurdles for the Olympics of 1924, along with Chan Coulter, a made-over quarter-miler. The world's champion low hurdler finished second at Paris, only to be disqualified for a technical hurdle offense he never actually committed.—Ralph Cannon in the Chicago Daily News.

Campus Cupid Wins

(From the New York Herald Tribune)
Dr. Paul Popenoe is director of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations and should know what he is talking about. We accept with surprise and relief his latest findings—findings which reverse the popular impression that young men and women, if taught side by side instead of in separate collegiate monasteries and nunneries waste an inordinate amount of time improving the more emotional opportunities of coeducation. Dr. Popenoe does not say how much coeds learn in the way of academic knowledge, but he has discovered that campus romances, when they end in marriage, result in marriages which are, according to the statistics of divorce, 10 times more durable than the average; that while one out of every six American marriages ends in divorce, the number of college marriages that go on the rocks is only one in 75.

This discovery brings a new element into the chronic criticism of American higher education, the chief complaint of which is that our students waste altogether too much time on the charms, amatory or otherwise, of extracurricular activity. It should also be seriously considered by great universities for men and women only whether their amalgamation would not contribute to raising by several hundred per cent the level of American family happiness. The academically minded may object that Cupid has no place in a serious curriculum. To which let us reply that a successful marriage requires more patience, thought, and study than most of the learned professions, and that matrimony, particularly if laboratory methods are used, is a more valuable college subject than interior decorating, blacksmithing, old Bulgarian, neo-Mendelianism, short story writing, beekeeping, or applied ornithology.

A politician with his ear to the ground is in a swell position for a kick from the voters.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

A kindly, old doctor patted five year old Johnny Gillette on the head and in whispers told him to run along outside of his Pittsburgh house to play because his sick mother must not be disturbed by the slightest noise . . .

Tossing about in delirium, Johnny's mother prayed that she might take her little son with her. The doctors stood near her and shook their heads. There wasn't much hope . . .

Johnny told his seven year old cousin Bobby what the doctor said and they decided maybe they'd better go 'way out near the railroad tracks to play. She'd never hear them from there . . .

Commuters returning to their homes grumbled because the evening train was late. And the only satisfaction they could get from the conductor was contained in the terse excuse: "Just an accident . . ."

They found Johnny's mangled body lying alongside the tracks where he had gone to play. He went, instead, to his death. Bobby, who tried to save him, lay in a hospital with one leg amputated, calling for his cousin . . .

Johnny's mother had stopped her tossing and her prayer was stilled. Her heart was fast growing weaker, the doctors agreed. She'd probably never know . . .

And to append a moral to this story would certainly do no good. The people who have always said: "Oh well, accidents WILL happen," will keep right on saying it; and those who have learned their lesson are beyond commenting . . .

There's a snooty board of trustees in the exclusive northern New Jersey town of Glen Ridge—and if you don't believe it, ask Mrs. Irene Warren. She wanted to rent her $30,000 home on one of the fancy streets but the board wouldn't allow it because they heard the lessee intended to build an apartment house on the property.

Mrs. Warren decided she'd show the old fogies they couldn't cross a Warren, so she painted the lower half of her house a bright, flashy yellow, left the upper part in the original weatherbeaten gray. Then, to insure a crowd, she strung a dozen suits of red flannels on clothes lines from the porch pillars to the front garden gate.

As if that would hardly constitute proper revenge, she scattered old clothes over the lawn, piled cords of wood about the grounds, and dumped a load of ashes on the sidewalk. Now, there are more spectators flocking to the place than attend the picture show on rainy afternoons.

"I'll show them who owns this place," she vowed. "Before I'm through they'll be mighty glad to have an apartment house here." And therewith Mrs. Warren of Glen Ridge again demonstrated that old doobidly about resourcefulness of the female, or "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

"The task of providing new employment and spreading relief for destitution probably will be in actual operation before the end of the week. Already a promise of jobs for thousands of men is held out."—Excerpt from news story on front page of Philadelphia Public Ledger.

And on pages 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and 25 of the same issue of the Public Ledger are listed 1,575 separate Philadelphia properties to be sold by the sheriff at tax sales. Maybe the sheriff didn't get around to see what the government was going to do—next week.

"Did you ever live with any chorus girls?" she asked suddenly.
"Yes, I did."
"I am glad you didn't try to lie out of it."
"I am lying."
"No, you are not. All newspaper people have lived with chorus girls."
"Oh, no, they have not. Lots of them are so lousy they couldn't live with any woman."

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

By HARRISON CARROLL
STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 27—In a final conference, Midge Evans and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have ironed out their difficulties and the blonde star goes to work there as soon as she finishes the Al Jolson picture.

She will have a new long-term contract, which should make everybody happy. Because things were going very smoothly until that salary disagreement came up.

Midge has made only one picture—her present one—away from M.G.M. since she was brought out here a year and a half ago to play opposite Ramon Navarro in "Son of India." Catching on immediately, she appeared in rapid succession opposite Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery and William Haines.

Her new deal at the studio assures her of important consideration on the M.G.M. production schedule.

Meanwhile, she and Tom Gallery still are seen everywhere together and Hollywood looks for a marriage in for another drubbing in "Reckless Hollywood," a new novel by Haynes Loubou (pseudonym for two fan magazine writers, Harmony Haynes and Dorothy Loubou) . . . Even Tom Mix is doing a political story. It's laid back in 1896 and Tom plays a Grover Cleveland Democrat . . . The two Chaplin youngsters asked Will Rogers to have his picture taken with them. They promised him to get it in the paper . . . The M.G.M. research department uncovers the fact that bulls are color-blind. Still Buster Keaton says he won't go into a pasture in a pair of red pants . . . Una Merkel writes that her aviator husband is frequently mistaken for Ronald Colman . . . Afterthoughts on "Strange Interlude,"—Alexander Kirkland succeeded better than any other player in depicting the advance of age.

DID YOU KNOW— That Richard Dix's father actually participated in the Oklahoma land rush depicted in "Cimarron?" That Jack Oakie once played the trap-drums in a Kansas City high school orchestra?

Workmen at the new telephone building were busy yesterday and will be today and tomorrow making final tests of the new equipment so that it will be ready to be placed into use at midnight Saturday.

Count Mechanically
On the third floor of the building, where the high banks of the dial apparatus stand, countless little hands on countless queer shaped mechanisms danced up and down and back and forth. They were counting off mechanically the numbers dialed by telephone users in the city, making connections that are now made by the girl who says "Number, please, thank you." It was part of the test of all of the new equipment that has been in progress for the last week.

Workmen were preparing along the banks a temporary wooden structure which is to be used in making the change Saturday night.

All Numbers Changed
The new directory is different from any other that has been issued in Iowa City. The most radical change is in the fact that every one of the 7,000 numbers listed are changed. All of them are four digit numbers. The university this year has a separate division of the directory. It is arranged in the back of the book and all university numbers are listed in a private branch exchange. The number is 2111.

Persons wishing to call a number in the university from outside must first dial 2111, then give the extension number desired to the operator who answers. Calling a number outside of the university from a university telephone, the user must dial 9. When he hears a second dial tone in the receiver he dials the number he desires to get. In calling from one university telephone to another, only the extension number must be dialed.

Another departure in the university portion of the directory is the innovation of listing the names of the heads of departments.

Procedure Explained
The first few pages of the directory contain detailed information regarding the use of the dial telephone. They explain the procedure to be followed in making simple person to person calls, long distance calls, calls to private branch exchanges, and calls for service.

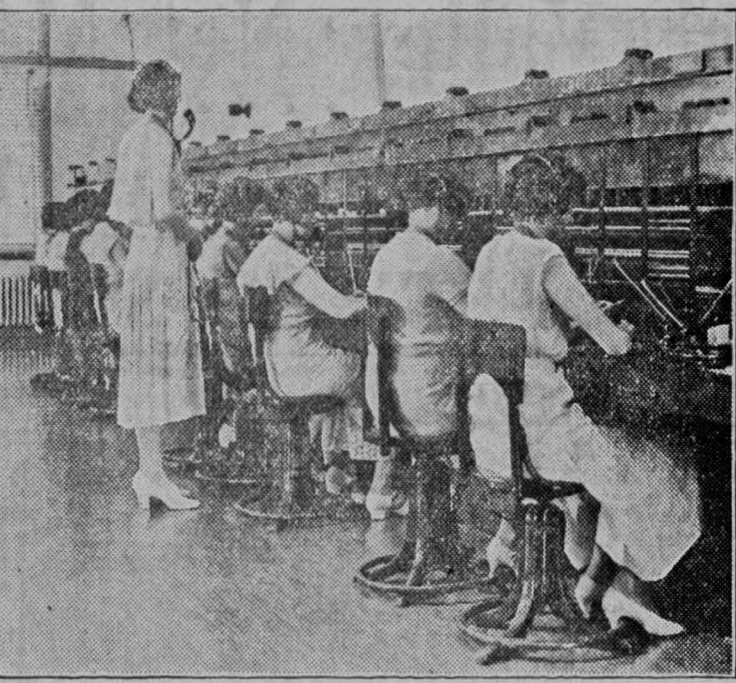

After the change from the old system to the new, the telephone company will keep operators on hand for several days to correct the mistakes of users who are not yet aware of the change.
The exact time of the transfer to the new equipment will not be known until late Saturday night. The time when the load of calls passing through the exchange is lightest will be chosen for the cut over, which will take only a minute or two to complete. Carl Cone, manager, said that there will be practically no interruption in service.

Unemployed Rioters Peaceably Quieted by Police Reserves

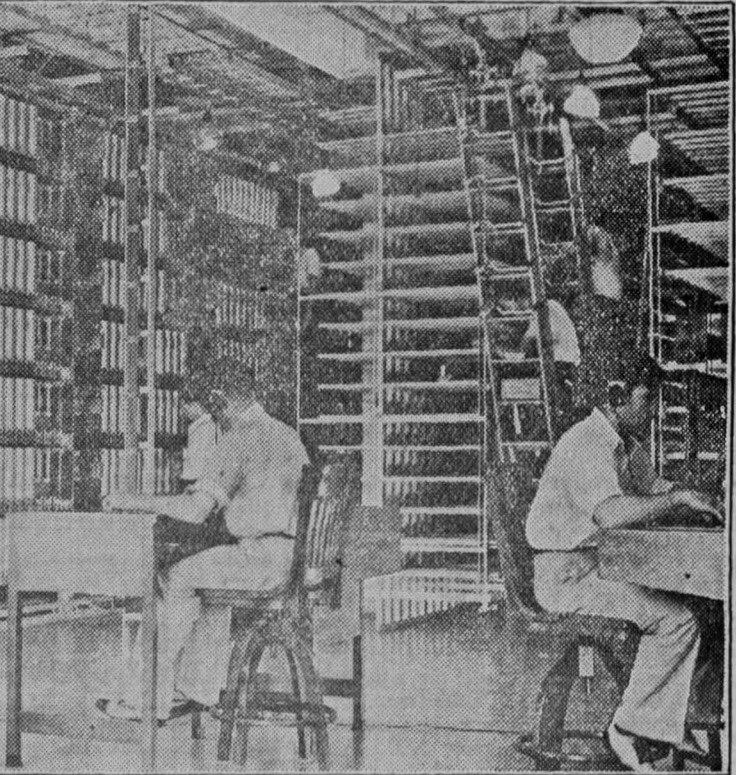

DES MOINES, July 27 (AP)—Police reserves were called out today to prevent a threatened demonstration of 150 unemployed friends of John Nordquist, a frequent candidate for political offices here, who was evicted from his home by a court order.
Captain Lou Hardenbrook conferred with leaders of the unemployed, who had threatened to move Nordquist's furniture back into the house, and they dispersed after agreeing to help Nordquist find a new home. Mayor Dwight N. Lewis offered to pay the rent on a house selected by Nordquist.

Ridnap Attempt Unsuccessful
FT. MADISON (AP)—Police received a report of an unsuccessful attempt to kidnap two 3-year old boys, Jimmy, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Hartwell Dow and Eugene, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hellige. They were taken into an automobile by a man and woman but the lusty crying of Jimmy resulted in their release in a few minutes.

GETTING READY FOR DIAL TELEPHONES

These operators are receiving training at the new long distance and dial service assistance switchboards in the enlarged telephone building. The view shows a portion of the switchboard which beginning at midnight next Saturday will assume the handling of all long distance calls.

Final checking and testing of the Iowa City dial equipment is a part of last minute preparations for the introduction of dial service Saturday night.

What looks like an oversized tea cart in this picture is an automatic testing machine which telephone workmen are using to check the operation of dial switches. The machine dials telephone numbers at a uniform speed and should it encounter a switch which does not respond correctly to the number dialed an alarm is operated.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The writing wonder: Ramon Lull, who was beheaded under the name of San Raimundo Lullio, was born in Mallorca about 1235. He led a worldly life until the age of 30. Presently, after nine years of sojourning in a monastery, he embarked on the life that stamped him as one of the most extraordinary characters in history.
Traveling from place to place, this polygraphist, theologian and philosopher developed an amazing industriousness and production. For 50 years there issued from his pen a steady stream of books. He wrote encyclopedias, biographies, dialogues, orations and treatises, at a never interrupted pace. His average yearly production was 80 books, and the total output for the last 50 years of his life is the incredible number of 4,000 books.

Withall he was active as a missionary in Tunis and was repeatedly sentenced to death only to escape martyrdom by a miracle. During my sojourn in Palma de Mallorca his last resting place within the Church of San Francisco was pointed out to me with pride.

The crowning glory of Mallorca: The Cathedral of Palma was begun in 1230 and was not completed until 371 years later in 1601. For nobility, spaciousness, and the singular beauty of its conception, it yields only to one other edifice in the world—the Cathedral of Seville—in Gothic grandeur.

It is more spacious than any other Gothic cathedral, its aisles are as wide as the naves of most cathedrals, its choir is of an unearthly height, and referred to as "rhythmic music in stone." No other church in Spain, except the Seville cathedral, equals it in grandeur and size, and neither does any in South or North America.

Gall nuts: The abnormal vegetable growth produced in various plants through the introduction of the eggs of the gall insects, was first discovered in the Balearic islands when the Romans first settled them about 21 centuries ago. Gall nuts were first used as a chemical reagent to discover the presence of iron sulphate in sulphate of copper, by means of chemical action.

Two Additions Made to Nagler's Collection of Old Waterwheels

Two additions, both differing from any others previously collected, were made yesterday to the water wheel collection being gathered by Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the college of engineering.

The first is a Lessners turbine, manufactured in Voorheesville, N. Y., sometime in the 1870's. It was given by Robert E. Wharton, a member of the Institute of Hydraulic Research.

The other, a Houston turbine manufactured in 1870, came from Clear Lake. It was recently dug out of the mud near the outlet of the lake, at which point it was formerly used to operate a mill.
A third addition is expected in the near future.

Senator Asks Real European Disarmament

U. S. Seeks Armament Cuts Before Debt Cancellation

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Actual disarmament by Europe was demanded today by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, as a preliminary to any world economic conference on war debts and reparations such as proposed by Senator Borah of Idaho.

"It is unthinkable," said Watson in a formal statement, "that we should permit them (the European nations) to keep the money they owe us to enable them to build up larger military establishments on the continent and as far as we can see that is their plan and purpose."

French Idea Coincides
Coincidentally, Ambassador Edge in Paris today informed Premier Herriot that the basis for cooperation between the countries lies in disarmament.

It was evident tonight that the administration is not going to take the initiative for downward revision of the war debts owed the United States and will demand drastic European disarmament as its price.

Stimson and Borah Confer
However, administration interest in the international situation and Borah's proposal for a world economic parley was manifested by a conference last night between Secretary Stimson and the Idaho senator.

Stimson called the meeting and Borah's proposition was discussed. Borah declined to comment on the talk today and so did Mr. Stimson.

Hoover Silent
Senator Watson said he had not talked with President Hoover on the Borah plan, but his stand was expected to put a check under the wheels of the world conference movement pending fresh disarmament moves abroad. Whatever the views of the silent Hoover on the Borah idea, they are expected to be influenced somewhat by the attitude of the Republican leader.

statement to be issued Monday," he said.

Roosevelt then announced he would deliver a radio address Saturday night from the executive mansion which would deal with the Democratic platform. Ely said the radio talk would have a bearing on his statement.

This was interpreted to mean Roosevelt would assure Massachusetts Democrats in the talk that the party's declaration for repeal of the eighteenth amendment would not be subordinated to other issues, and that Ely would then come out with his endorsement on the basis of such a declaration.

Cermak Optimistic
Mayor Cermak, who stopped in New York on his way to Europe to recuperate from his recent illness, had nothing but optimistic predictions to make about Democracy's chances in his section.

"Illinois will go Democratic in November by a vast majority," he said, "and Iowa and Indiana will be in the Roosevelt column, too. We are all amazed at the Roosevelt strength that has developed in Chicago. It was his flying trip to the convention that did it."

Pythian Sisters Will Meet in Des Moines

IOWA FALLS, July 27 (AP)—Announcement that the Grand Temple meeting of the Iowa Pythian Sisters would be held in Des Moines next week as originally planned was made today by Mrs. Ada Cottrell, grand chief.

It had previously been decided to postpone the meeting indefinitely because funds for paying the expenses of the delegates were tied up in a closed bank.

Madrigals to Take Place of Chorus Group

Unaccompanied Singing to Replace Present Form

As a variation to the usual schedule, the university summer session chorus will be suspended during the second term in favor of several small madrigal groups under the direction of F. Walter Huffman of the music department faculty.

The madrigal is a form of secular unaccompanied singing which flourished in England during the late sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries, and which is being revived by modern singers.

Six Singers in Each Group
There will be six singers in each group, who will present madrigals and other unaccompanied compositions. Each group is to have a leader who will be responsible for the starting of the songs and who will see that the proper musical values are observed.

The advantage of the smaller groups over the chorus, according to Mr. Huffman, is that each singer is made more or less responsible for his own part, "and the informal manner in which rehearsals may be held adds congeniality to the group."

Effective Training
The madrigal, he said, is extremely effective in the training of "a capella" organizations. "In addition to its native charm, it is artistically very significant music," he said.

For membership in the madrigal organizations, he said, the singer should have a good voice and should have had some choral experience. Basses and baritones are especially desired.

Tryouts for the groups may be arranged through Mr. Huffman, whose offices are in the music studio building, located at the corner of Jefferson and Gilbert streets.

Editor Raps Farm Board

Sterling Claims Grain Control Plans Are Unsound

SHENANDOAH, July 27 (AP)—Attempts at grain price stabilization are as futile as King Canute's orders for the tide to recede from the shore, Robert E. Sterling of Kansas City, editor of the Northwestern Miller, said tonight.

Sterling's radio address was the third sponsored by Henry Field, Republican candidate for United States senator, on the merits of the federal farm board.

Essential Differences
"The essential difference between a market 'corner' and an attempt at stabilization," Sterling declared, "is that the first is undertaken by the gambler at his own risk and probable loss, while the latter is carried on by the government at the risk and probable loss of the taxpayer, and as in our current experience also at the grievous loss of those whom it is foolishly believed would be benefited."

He condemned stabilization in principle as attempting to lift one's self by one's bootstraps "until he topples himself over and gets himself a black eye or perhaps a broken head."

Cause of Pressure
The single control of 257,000,000 bushels of wheat by the farm board out of a visible supply of 319,000,000 bushels was what caused pressure on the price structure, Sterling declared, adding that "that control was inexperienced and influenced largely by expediency and political considerations."

He criticized the trade of 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to Brazil for 1,050,000 bags of coffee because of Brazil's importation of flour.

Iowa farm prices have declined 60 per cent in the three-year period beginning in March, 1929.

Arrested for Bank Shortage

Woman Cashier Alleged to Have Taken $41,000

CEDAR RAPIDS, July 27 (AP)—Mrs. Stella Kayser, 32, assistant cashier of the Walker, Ia., branch of the Center Point-Walker Trust company, who allegedly confessed she took $41,000 from the bank, was arrested today on a charge of embezzlement.

The warrant was issued by Judge H. C. Ring on an information filed by R. W. Greene, assistant county attorney. The court set bond at $20,000. Mrs. Kayser was lodged in the county jail while counsel attempted to secure a bond.

Covers Four Year Period
Greene said bank officials informed him that misuse of the institution's funds covered nearly a four year period. Suspicions of H. E. McDonald, bookkeeper, were aroused last week and a brief investigation led to discovery of the shortage.

Mrs. Kayser was alleged to have removed sheets from the ledger and added to or subtracted from her own account to make the bank books balance, a system which was not detected by bank examiners or the examining committee of the company.

Confessed Saturday
Bank officials said the woman confessed Saturday. On Monday the main office at Center Point and branch banks at Coggon and Walker were closed for a 10 day holiday while waivers were being obtained.

Had it not been for the shortage there would have been no difficulty and the suspension procedure would not have been necessary, officials said.

New Record in Circulation Hit by Library

19,100 Volumes Added to Collection in Last Year

Breaking of the University of Iowa libraries' circulation record and an increase of 19,100 volumes in the collection was announced yesterday by Grace Wornor, acting director.

When the study and reading of students and faculty members boosted the circulation figure to 555,574 volumes, a seven per cent increase was recorded for the fiscal year ending July 1.

Circulation Gains
Circulation passed the half million mark for the first time during the year ending July 1, 1931, but the current total was a gain of 37,095 volumes over the previous record, Miss Wornor said.

Never before have there been so many books in the libraries. With the gain of 19,100 during the 12 months, the number now stands at 499,692, including the 57,500 law volumes, the report shows.

2,580 Periodicals Listed
Subscriptions, gifts, and exchanges brought 2,580 periodicals to the library shelves. Almost a thousand of these are received by gift or exchange.

For new books, periodicals, and binding, the libraries expended a total of $57,557.84, somewhat less than the amount of recent years.

There were 7,500 individual borrowers, and a salaried staff of 47 trained librarians was required to handle the work. Dozens of part time student assistants also were employed.

Lazy or Original?—Wrens Copy Oriole

Usually one thinks of little Jennie Wren as being quite industrious, and such may be the case here.

However, Roy J. McGinnis, university electrician, has a family of wrens living near his residence who have taken a second hand nest rather than build one of their own.

According to Homer R. Dill, director of the university museum, the wrens have moved into the hanging nest of some Baltimore orioles, now that the orioles' nesting season is over.

Lefty Coulter Allows Only 4 Hits But Meteors Tie All-Stars

HIGH JUMPER EXTRAORDINARY

George Spitz, New York A.C. high jumper, is slated for new honors at the Olympic Games, having won his place on Uncle Sam's team by topping the bar at 6 feet and 5-8 inches, bettering the Olympic mark of 6 feet 6 inches held by Harold Osborne.

Visitors Get Runs on Hit, Three Errors

Locals Fail to Get Blows With Runners on Bases

By RON TALLMAN Don "Lefty" Coulter, that tall, lean red head who has built himself considerable reputation in these parts during his summer's sojourn, went out to the City park last night bent on adding further achievements to his enviable record against the strong Dubuque Meteors.

Coming here with the reputation of being one of the strongest semi-pro clubs in this section of the state, the Irish clan from the river city could do nothing of consequence to the left handed throwing of Coulter, collecting only four hits, one of them a scratchy blow.

Errors Cause Trouble This same Reilhan who survived in the first, was the recipient of another error, this time by Manager Sperm Greene.

The first game was a parade of pitchers with Harris on the mound when the Pirates went out in front with a four run rally in the sixth.

The first run came in the fourth inning as a result of three hits. "Boney" Clark, playing right field for the evening, opened up with a liner into right center, but was forced at second by Makeever, W. Poor.

Wes Flala's double in the fifth and a walk to Eastwood failed to produce anything in that frame but the home forces went to work to tie the count in the sixth.

Seed Robins, Struble Pair Number Two

Reddig-Brody Combine Rated in Number Three Place

Holding the center of the stage this morning will be the clash of the 26 doubles teams as they come into action for the first time. Interest will be divided on three strong combinations.

The first is that of the Texas, Taylor and Dullnig. They have the Texas junior championship attached to their belt. Then comes Robins who is teamed up with Struble. This team is followed by equally strong pair, Brody and Reddig.

Following this combination is Curtis and Sheldon. Both are capable players who appear at their best in doubles. A Cedar Rapids pair, Swenson and Leibsohn, are seeded in number five position.

Meet Unknowns Robins and Struble will come against an unknown strength when they battle Asthler and Harper. Brody and Reddig face a similar situation in Chapman and Paden.

The Sidwell All-Stars, now that they are done with tournament competition, seem bent on playing an impressive schedule of games.

All-Stars Will Engage Indee Nine Tonight

Manager Sperm Greene of the dairy nine has made no definite selection for his starting pitcher, but will have Paul "Boney" Clark, Tommy Jacobs and George Foor in readiness for the game.

Klema will do the hurling for his outfit and in case his arm, which at one time earned him the reputation of being one of the best fast ball pitchers in this locality, gives out Joe Whiting, who is slated to play third, will take over the mound duties.

Outstanding of these are: 1. Argentina's fight for official control of its athletes. 2. Charges that Canada's women's relay swimming team was "hand picked." 3. Paavo Nurmi's suspension on grounds of professionalism. 4. A similar suspension given Jules Ladoumègue of France. 5. Disqualification of Levi Casey of the Los Angeles A.C. after he had apparently qualified for the hop, step, and jump event on the U. S. team.

EMBERS OF LOVE
By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT
Raymond and May met her at Sixteenth Street, in Oakland.
'Well, we might as well go and have some breakfast,' Raymond said. 'We've got plenty of time.
The funeral isn't till two o'clock.'

Bess had taken charge, of course.
She was so busy bustling around making sure that there were chairs enough for everyone, that everyone's children were out of mischief, and would stay clean 'untill it was all over' that she had time for nothing more than a hasty kiss and a 'How are you, Lily Lou?'

And when it was decently over, and they were driving back to the house, the women's voices becoming more natural again, not as whispery and solemn.
The children, becoming less good,
The soft fleshy smack of Bess' hand cuffing Regina, who was asking if there would be ice cream and lemonade, both, 'at the party.'

Blocks Taboo
for Olympics,
Rule Officials
Will Experiment With
New Timer in Games

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
LOS ANGELES, July 27 (AP)—
Olympic track and field officials, holding their first clinic today in preparation for the world championship athletic battle starting Sunday, compromised on innovations by banning all use of starting blocks but approving, semi-officially, the new Kirby photo-electric timer, used successfully this season in the American championships and final tryouts.

The American delegation, numbering close to 400 athletes and officials, will be the last and largest in the Olympic parade of nations.
A novelty in their uniforms will be blue berets, to be worn by the men athletes, by contrast with which the French will wear straw hats.

The American girls will wear a white ensemble, red jacket and specially designed rib-cord hat. The masculine attire calls for white fantasy trousers, with sleeveless jerseys bearing the Olympic shield for the athletes, in addition to their berets,
and royal blue coats for the officials.

Use New Timer
The use of starting blocks has been under discussion ever since the last Olympics, but the device has yet to win international approval.
The new timer or "camera clock" will be used through the Olympic track events, experimentally for the most part, but also for the official settlement of any disputed placings in the races. The I.A.A.F. committee adopted its use officially for timing track events of the decathlon
or all-around championship.

Iowa; Fuqua and Hornbostel, Indiana;
Tolan and Turner, Michigan; Keller

pino and Romero, Loyola; Genung and Jessup, Washington; Churchill and Kiesel, California; Zarembo and Furth, New York U.; and Conner and Warner, Yale.

resentatives in the Olympic marathon is Jimmy Henigan (above) of Dorchester, Mass.
Henigan is a veteran of many grinds and though beaten in the Boston marathon by Paul De-Bryn is counted on to be well up at the finish of the classic. De-Bryn is running for Germany.

Individual honor by the American committee because of his distinguished career and the fact this is his fourth appearance in Olympic competition.
On behalf of all the athletes, after they have paraded and massed their standards, Calnan will "solemnly swear we are taking part in the Olympic games in the true amateur spirit, for the honor of our countries and the glory of sport."

Taylor Original Choice
Taylor, on his third Olympic venture as a member of the 400 meter hurdles team and record-holder for this event, was originally slated to take the oath, but yielded to Lieutenant Calnan, on the basis of seniority, and accepted the other post of honor.

They are Bishop Jashwant Rao Chitambar of Jubbulpore, India; Bishop J. Ralph Magee of St. Paul, and Bishop F. D. Leete of Omaha. Professor Paul MacCollin of Morningside college, Sioux City, will be

George Osborn of Primghar, the Rev. W. H. Muhleman of Spirit Lake, the Rev. M. L. Sunderlin of Garner, and the Rev. D. M. Simpson of Lake Park. J. F. Hirlman of Spencer will serve again as superintendent of the conference Sunday school. The conference will be conducted at the Methodist camp grounds on West Okoboji lake.

Stock Prices Gain Despite Steel Deficit

Liberal Advance Leaves Shares With Rise of 1 to 4 Points

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—Far from being discouraged by the record-breaking deficit reported by United States Steel corporation for the second quarter, stocks took a fresh option on bullishness today and closed with another liberal advance. Many net gains ranged from 1 to 4 points.

The brisk rally, led by utilities, developed soon after noon. Sagging tendencies in the morning, reflecting acceptance of profits by professionals and doubtless some selling inspired by the steel figures, failed to attain impressive proportions and the market launched on a rally that carried through to a strong closing. Shorts in several leaders were squeezed tightly.

Wheat Aids Rise

Buoyancy in wheat, assurances that steel circles were holding to their predictions of reasonably good seasonal gains in September and an improvement in electric power figures were among the day's tangible arguments which carried weight on the buying side. The average rise in stocks, slightly more than 2 points, duplicated Monday's advance and brought the closing composite to 45.1, highest since May 12. Sales were 1,672,097 shares, the largest volume since June 3.

American Telephone, Union Pacific, People's Gas, American Tobacco "B" and Auburn, up about 4 points net, gave indication that considerable late buying had come from shorts who found supplies of stock scarce. U. S. Steel preferred converted an early 4 point decline into a moderate net gain, while the common, after a fractional sag, closed 2 higher. There were roughly similar advances for American Can, Allied Chemical, Case, National Biscuit, Public Service of New Jersey and North American.

Seasonal Improvements Aid Reports of resumption of industrial plants were numerous enough to keep kindled the hope that seasonal improvement in the late summer and autumn would stimulate corporate earnings as well as relieve unemployment. Most bankers feel encouraged.

"Iron Age" placed current steel operations at 16 per cent of capacity, unchanged. In addition to stressing expectations of a September advance, the review noted that steel prices had reached more solid ground through the shipment of virtually all the low-priced tonnage carried over from the last quarter.

Webster Acquitted of Attack Charge in Carter's Court

Jesse Lee Webster was found not guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor at a hearing before Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter yesterday morning.

A former prisoner at the men's reformatory at Anamosa on a similar charge, Webster was accused of attacking a young girl west of Iowa City about a month ago. Pleading in his own behalf, Webster convinced everybody in the court room of his innocence, according to Justice Carter, and all charges were dropped.

County Attorney F. B. Olsen prosecuted the case. Webster has been confined in the county jail since the time of the supposed attack.

Kehm Named Head of S. D. American Legion

WATERTOWN, S. D., July 27 (AP)—Harry Kehm of Harrisburg was unanimously elected state commander of the American Legion at the closing session of the annual convention here this afternoon. He succeeds T. C. Kasper of Brookings. George Blewatt of Rapids City was elected vice commander also without opposition and the Rev. Reuben Tricky, Congregational minister of Watertown, was selected as state chaplain.

The faculties of 35 other colleges, including one in Germany, will be represented on the staff of Ohio State university summer school.

AS NEW OCEAN QUEEN WENT ON TRIAL

The liner Manhattan, new queen of the American-built merchant marine, is shown as she left her berth at Camden, N. J., for her final trial trip up the New England coast before going into service on her maiden voyage from New York to Europe, Aug. 10. The Manhattan, the largest ship ever built in the United States, cost over $10,000,000 to construct. She will be commanded by Captain George Fried, hero of many sea rescues, who formerly commanded the President Roosevelt and other ships of the U. S. Line.

Wheat Prices Gain Strength With Buying

CHICAGO, July 27 (AP)—Buoyantly advancing in the most active general purchase movement witnessed in weeks, wheat today scored a maximum gain of 2 5-8 cents a bushel.

Official confirmation of spring wheat reverses both north and south of the Canadian border acted as a spur to speculative buying, and there were authoritative estimates that eastern and southeastern Europe would have 110,000,000 bushels less wheat than a year ago. Liverpool wheat quotations gained steadily on Chicago, July contracts at Liverpool today being at 6 1-8 cents premium compared with only 1 3-4 on July 12. Wheat closed strong at almost the day's top, 1 7-8@2 3-8 above yesterday's finish, corn 3-4@1 3-4 up, oats 3-8@5-8 advanced, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 7 cents gain.

Among the bullish crop reports from United States spring wheat territory was a Kenmare, N. Dak., dispatch that damage by excessively high temperatures in the last 10 days amounted to between 40 and 50 per cent.

Highest wheat prices at Liverpool since early in June were noted, and the market here soared to more than 5 cents above last week's low. Profit-taking and hedging sales led to only transient setbacks.

Corn and oats borrowed strength chiefly from wheat. Provisions rallied with grains. Closing indemnities: Wheat—Sept. 50 1-2@5-8, 53 1-2@5-8; Dec. 53 5-8@7-8, 56 1-2@5-8. Corn—Sept. 32 1-2, 33 3-4; Dec. 32 5-8, 33 7-8@34.

Few Inquiries Show Vacation Travelers to Drop in Number

Fewer vacationists going shorter distances than ever before are asking for road information at the Chamber of Commerce, according to David W. Crum, secretary.

Taking the number of persons who inquire at the office as a reasonably accurate guide, either the depression is keeping hundreds of travelers home or the modern tourist is well equipped with maps, for inquiries as to places to visit and roads to take have dropped this year.

Nobody has asked for information about Europe, Mr. Crum reports, although there are large numbers going to Washington, D. C., and the vicinity. Persons going east, which is more popular than the west this year, are especially interested in spots with which George Washington was connected.

Contrary to the vacation tendencies of two years ago, very few tourists are going to the west coast, although a number are visiting in Colorado.

Comas for drivers' licenses yesterday. They are Ruth G. Belkema, Edna Stockman, Mildred Redman, William Stagg, and Gordon Newgard.

Mr. Crum said, the tourists this summer are demanding short week end trips or trips for one or two weeks. Iowa lakes, the country around McGregor, Minnesota, and the Black Hills region are popular.

Hundreds of Iowa City residents and summer school students have been inquiring for directions for short week end trips to lakes or rivers, Mr. Crum said. Booklets and information on trips to all parts of the country may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office.
