Nationalist Party Head Hails Exiled King as Savior

BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's threat that democracy in Germany must die within a few days was followed today by a strong call for "Kaiserism" from Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the nationalist party, which with Hitler's national socialists, is dedicated to putting Germany back in her "place in the sun."

"Kaiserism is the country's safest guarantee for a clean, strong, righteous state," Dr. Hugenberg told an audience in Koenigsberg assembled to hear the nationalist campaign arguments in preparation for the important Reichstag elections Sunday.

The fiery Hitler brought forth thunderous cheers from 100,000 persons gathered in the Great Berlin stadium by declaring:

"July 31 must remove the veil of democracy and Marxism and its vassals from Germany, and restore a regime of discipline, national conscience, honor and power."

Asks Military Training Dr. Hugenberg, privy councillor under the old monarchy, declared emphatically that real German manhood never will be developed until universal military training, forbidden by the treaty of Versailles, is again established.

"Compulsory military training always has been the sternest and the best school for the German man," he said. "German youth demands leadership and discipline. Thanks to our nationalist movement there have arisen again moral forces which are willing to create the Germany of tomorrow from the wreckage of today."

"Let us see to it that this reawakened spirit will not be destroyed."

Weaver Will Open Second Talk Series

Attempting to define both value and imagination according to Shelley's understanding of them, Prof. Bennett Weaver of the English department, will open the second summer season series of school of letters lectures this evening at 7:30 in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Professor Weaver, who is a visiting member of the faculty this summer from the University of Michigan, has for several years specialized in the works of Shelley. He is the author of a book, "Toward the Understanding of Shelley," which was recently published by the University of Michigan press.

Imagination in this case, according to Professor Weaver's definition, does not refer to the common definition of the term, but rather to "insight and exalted reasoning."

And this form of imagination, he believes, is a special power of the mind by means of which values may be determined.

In using the term value, Professor Weaver asserts, Shelley had in mind directly practical values which have reference to a happier state of society.

Britain Asks for Trade of Sister Nations

Baldwin Says England's Welfare Rests on Colonies

By FRANK I. WELLER

OTTAWA, July 28 (AP)—Great Britain tactfully reminded her daughter nations at the imperial economic conference today that she had done her utmost to develop their trade, and asked them what they were going to do in return now that times are hard.

The British position was set forth in a formal statement issued by Stanley Baldwin, head of the delegation from the united kingdom. The heart of that statement was this paragraph:

"The representatives of the united kingdom have put frankly and fully to the dominions the articles on which they desire to secure further advantages in dominion markets; and they will welcome from the dominions an equally full statement of the corresponding advantages they seek in the markets of Great Britain."

Two Million Unemployed Mr. Baldwin emphasized that at present there are 2,750,000 unemployed persons in Britain. It is vital to the nation's physical existence, he said, to find adequate markets for the products of her highly industrialized system.

On that basis, the British delegation argued that preferential rates of duties imposed by the dominions should be graduated to give united kingdom products a reasonable chance of competing on even terms and that protective tariffs against united kingdom products should be only high enough to give a fair opportunity to reasonably efficient dominion industries.

Defines Negotiations The effect of the British statement was to define the lines of future negotiations between the mother country and the dominions. It came as American interests, not participating in the conference but here only as observers, began to draft an unofficial statement of their view.

The Americans planned to set forth the disadvantages that might result to trade between the United States and Canada if certain proposals before the conference were agreed to.

As a result of the British statement, it was expected Prime Minister Bennett of Canada would bring out into the open the list of products on which Canada is willing to give Britain an advantage over the rest of the world.

Ingwersen, former University of Iowa football coach; and Prof. Ernest Horn, 832 Kirkwood avenue. Miss Dane was accompanied by an out of town guest.

Although Dr. Lierle's car was damaged considerably, none of the occupants of either car was injured.

Walker Snarls at Seabury's Investigation

Claims That Inquiry is Merely Political Movement

ALBANY, N. Y., July 28 (AP)—Mayor Walker termed himself a special target of misrepresentation by a politically conceived inquiry in a slashing rebuttal tonight to the removal charges before Governor Roosevelt as a result of Samuel Seabury's investigation into the Walker administration of New York city.

In a 27,000 word answer the mayor traced the history of the legislative committee before which he appeared and made the counter charge that its inquiry was inspired by city, state and Republican organizations "to divert public attention from those responsible for the dreadful conditions of affairs throughout the nation."

Public Show? He asserted that the request for his testimony before the committee was so timed that "my appearance at a public hearing could be staged as a climax just before the two national conventions."

Walker categorically denied the "analysis" of testimony which Seabury said showed him unfit to continue in office and made a broad legal and personal reply to both the Seabury case and the two other sets of charges pending before the governor.

At one point the mayor said: "Mr. Seabury merely sought gossip and scandal which he thought might reflect upon James J. Walker personally."

"Lived in Open" At another Walker asserted: "Since the day of my birth I have lived my life in the open. Whatever shortcomings I have are known to everyone—but disloyalty to my native city, official dishonesty or corruption, form no part of these shortcomings."

The mayor pointed out that some matter adduced in the inquiry was concerned with his first term and said, "Mr. Seabury would set up his opinion as to my fitness for the office of mayor against the decision of 867,522 citizens who did me the favor of voting for me in the last city election, representing a plurality of 499,847 votes."

At right another veteran is shown, his clothes almost in ribbons as he tussled with detectives. Police lines drawn around the vicinity of the White House balked every effort of the vets to put their plan into operation and nine of the demonstrating bonuseers were arrested.

According to the confession of Mrs. Kayser, made a part of the information against Fisher, he obtained $6,500 in excess of his deposits in the bank and at his request she honored his checks and carried them in a separate file to escape detection. Cosgrove is alleged to have obtained $3,800 in excess of deposits.

Date Set for Murder Trial

"Not Guilty" Plea of Jones Following Confession

BEDFORD, July 28 (AP)—Elza Jones, charged today with murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying July 19 of his son-in-law, Thomas A. Allen, 26, will be tried in the August term of the Taylor county district court.

The preliminary hearing at which Jones was scheduled to appear today was dispensed with on motion of County Attorney William T. Melike and Jones' attorneys, J. R. Locke and Reed L. Hunt of Bedford. Judge George A. Johnston granted the motion.

Immediately thereafter, Attorney Melike filed an information charging the 47-year-old farmer with murder, to which Jones, through his attorneys, pleaded not guilty.

In the document, it was brought out that on July 20, when Allen's body was found in a shallow grave on his farm, Jones had asked Allen's brother, Ed, after the insurance the slain man carried. In the confession Jones made to officers Monday, he is said to have given a reason for slaying the young man. This motive, however, was not divulged by officials.

Heat Slackens, Possible Rain

Low Mississippi Level Impedes Steamers' Navigation

DES MOINES, July 28 (AP)—Temperatures dropped slightly under the average run of the last few days today, with a threat of rain being evident in the partly clouded skies.

Yesterday's "bullish" heat reports showed several new highs for the season, with Inwood topping the list with a mark of 106 degrees. Estherville reported a top of 101 and at Sioux City the mercury reached an even 100.

The prolonged dry weather began to tell on the stage of the Mississippi river, which sank to 1.7 feet at the tri-cities, the lowest mark since February. Larger boats reported some difficulty in navigating the shallower parts of the river.

Local Temperatures Down, Air Sultry

Becoming even more merciful, Iowa City's temperature continued to ooze down the scale yesterday, falling to a high reading for the day seven degrees lower than Tuesday's 92 degrees and to the lowest mark in 17 days.

But with the fall in temperature there was not any relief from the heaviness of the sultry air.

With tonight a breeze blew in from the south, cooling and soft. The night was clear with no trace of clouds. At 7 p.m. the mercury had fallen to 73 degrees.

Troops Use Tear Bombs, Torches to Drive B. E. F. From Camp at Anacostia

More Than 50 Suffer Injuries in Clashes; One Dies From Police Bullet; Troops Will Postpone Action

WASHINGTON, July 29 (Friday) (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur, the chief of staff of the army, who took charge of the evacuation of the bonus veterans, in a statement this morning expressed his belief "the government would have been threatened" had not President Hoover ordered the troops out yesterday afternoon.

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—After a big fire started by veterans threatened to destroy their camp at Anacostia, cavalrymen mounted their horses and moved into the camp. Practically all the wooden shacks on the field were afire.

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Thrusting tear gas bombs and the torch, federal troops forced the sullen bonus army from three of its encampments today—after one of its members had been killed by police—and stood by tonight to force evacuation of the last and biggest camp.

Upwards of 50 veterans, police, spectators and soldiers were injured—three seriously—in the series of clashes before and after President Hoover directed that Ft. Myer cavalry and infantry to take the situation over.

In the wake of an agreement to hold off from a forceful attack on the Anacostia camp for an hour, to allow the "bonus expeditionary force" to evacuate, plans to proceed tonight were abandoned.

General Miles announced the troops would await orders for further action tomorrow. He said the decision to postpone action was not his own decision but resulted from orders from above.

The main evacuation of the day was of the shanty settlement and that in abandoned buildings in the shadow of the capitol. That done, at the expense of much tear gas and cavalrymen riding into crowds of veterans and spectators to disperse them, the soldiers thereupon broke up the encampment of the "left wing" or Communist group and another which had been peopled by California veterans in southwest Washington.

On finally reaching the Anacostia camp shortly after 10 p.m., the troops at once set fire to several small and unpopulated huts on the edge and were moving toward the heart of the camp when the officers yielded to pleas to hold off for a while.

It was but a matter of minutes then when the orders arrived from "higher up," as it was put by army men, to call off the attack for the night.

The number of troops employed during the day was placed by the war department at "not more than 700."

Three troops of cavalry, comprising about 300 men, and a battalion of infantry, consisting of about 350, comprised the force.

In reserve at nearby Ft. Myer, Virginia, were 1,400 additional troops consisting of the 4th infantry and the 13th engineers. They had been called in from Ft. Meade, Maryland and Ft. Humphreys, Virginia, a few miles away.

Retreating sullenly before the rolling barrage of the doughboy's tear gas bombs, the dispirited bonus seekers trudged away in disorganized huddles, leaderless and thoroughly demoralized, seeking shelter in other open places far and wide through the city.

A few of them nursed minor bruises, the results of their brushes with the police and soldiers, but on the whole the infantrymen did their work without the exercise of actual physical force.

Accompanying cavalrymen, however, rode their horses into the crowds on occasion to disperse them.

First a plot of government land at Third and Pennsylvania avenue, scene of the earlier clash with the police, then other camps a few blocks farther from the capitol were cleared by the soldiery and left in smoking ruins. The torch was applied by the military to shacks and tents left behind by the departed squatters, and the ground made ready for the government building operations which federal authorities had decided should no longer be interrupted.

Walter W. Waters, the young Oregonian who led the bonus march to Washington, disclaimed responsibility for his followers' resistance to the first eviction order of the police, and said tonight he was through.

"The men got out of my control," he said. "There was nothing and is nothing I can do to control them."

With bayonets flashing and dense clouds of smoke mounting over Pennsylvania avenue as the troops advanced across the litter-strewn

Palatial New Liner Skipped by Sea Hero

Captain George Fried, Famous Ocean Rescuer, to Command S.S. Manhattan, Largest American-Built Liner, on Maiden Voyage.

CAPT. FRIED — "MANHATTAN" STARTS TRIAL RUN.

PALATIAL NEW LINER ...GV... NEW YORK, July 28 — When the new pride of the United States Line, the liner Manhattan, sets forth from here on her maiden voyage to Europe on Aug. 10, she will have on her bridge as skipper the most famous sea hero of the generation, Captain George Fried, whose exploits during his years of service in the Atlantic trade, have made his name a byword among seafaring men all over the world.

Captain Fried, a native of Worcester, Mass., has spent more than 30 years of his life at sea, and the bluff son of Father Neptune looks good for 30 more. After a period of service in the U. S. navy during the World war, he received his first appointment with the merchant marine as chief officer of the President Grant, and in 1912 was appointed to the same position in the America.

Ten years ago he received his first command in the President Roosevelt, the ship in which he subsequently made history. His rescue of the British freighter Antioch in mid-Atlantic, during a raging storm in 1926, is an epic of the sea that is still spoken of wherever sailors foregather. It brought him world renown and decorations from the British government as well as the navy cross from the United States.

Two years later he assumed command of the America, and in this ship made the spectacular rescue of the 32 members of the crew of the Italian freighter Florida. For this rescue, Captain Fried was decorated by the Italian and U. S. governments. Having served for a time upon the bridge of the George Washington, and making several trips on the Leviathan as commander, during the illness of Commodore Randall, Fried was again given command of the President Roosevelt in 1931. Fried figured in another sea epic when he rescued Lou Reichers, American aviator who was forced down off the Irish coast while attempting a transatlantic flight. He relinquished command of the President Roosevelt early this month in order to become familiar with his new ship before taking her on her first outing. The Manhattan is a worthy ship for a worthy skipper. Not only is she the largest ship ever built in America, but she is the first to be built in the United States for the north Atlantic trade in 35 years.

The new liner is by far the most luxurious passenger ship ever built here. Grossing over 24,000 tons, she cost $10,500,000 to build, providing continuous employment for 20,000 men since December, 1930, to her completion recently. The materials which have gone into her construction have come from practically every state in the union, so she is, in the strictest sense of the word, an all-American ship.

The Manhattan has accommodations for 1,250 passengers of three classes and never has the comfort of travelers received so much careful thought and consideration as that displayed in the beautiful ship. Her interior appointments give the illusion that one is inside a palatial hotel instead of being on an ocean greyhound.

Roomy sleeping quarters, beautifully fitted, make even the most homesick voyager reconciled to the dreaded Atlantic crossings. Passenger accommodations occupy eight decks and include a swimming pool with underwater lighting. This pool adjoins a gymnasium so that a cooling plunge can follow the exercise hour.

There are also smoking rooms and libraries, all furnished in a style and taste that leaves nothing to be desired. And for the tennis lover there is a full sized court and many other games to while away the hours at sea.

Not the least interesting of the features of comfort on the new liner is the system of "manufactured weather" in cabin and tourist dining saloons, which insures a comfortable temperature in these rooms no matter what outside weather conditions may be.

The Manhattan will go into service on the New York-Coh-Plymouth-Havre-Hamburg route, a floating monument to American enterprise and workmanship.

cheers with their boos. Unmoved by the demonstration the soldiers went quietly to the work at hand.

Hurley Order

Secretary Hurley's order to General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, read as follows: "The president has just informed me that the civil government of the District of Columbia has reported to him that it is unable to maintain law and order in the district.

"You will have United States troops proceed immediately to the scene of disorder. Cooperate fully with the District of Columbia police force which is now in charge. Surround the affected area and clear it without delay.

"Turn over all prisoners to civil authorities.

"In your orders insist that any women and children who may be in the affected area be accorded every consideration and kindness. Use all humanity consistent with the due execution of this order."

Many women, wives of the veterans, were in the camp. There were a few children also. Some of them remained until the end, but most moved out of danger as the soldiers approached.

White House officials said the secret service information was that those who led the attack on the police today were "entirely the Communist group."

Shortly after the first fight took place, Attorney General Mitchell is said a sweeping eviction order. He said nearby jails were available to care for all those who proved rebellious.

Throughout the afternoon of tumult, most of Washington went about its business as usual, the operations being confined to a comparatively small area near the capitol. The crowds of spectators increased tremendously, however, at the height of the late afternoon mopping up operations of the military, as the government departments disgorged their thousands of employes. Part of the work of the cavalry was to keep back the lookers-on, as well as the bonus men themselves.

President Hoover remained at work at the White House, a mile from the scene of action. He had been in conference earlier in the day with Hurley and Mitchell, and had kept informed of what was taking place, but no word came from him except his proclamation directing the troops to take charge.

The tea-growing area of north-east India produced more than 355 million pounds of tea in 1931.

Boys and Girls Enthusiastic Over Big Dipper Swim Contest

Letters for Free Big Dipper Afternoon Swim Begin to Come From Boys and Girls

Three Girls Selected for First Winners in Contest

That's the stuff, gang! We knew you would be interested. There's not a boy or girl in Iowa City who wouldn't want to go swimming at the Big Dipper for a couple of hours in the afternoon for nothing more than the time it takes to write a 50 word letter to the editor.

And yesterday the letters began coming in fast. All the gang is out for the big prize. Every boy and girl in Iowa City between the ages of seven and 11 is writing his or her letter to the editor of The Daily Iowan telling him how he or she has earned money this summer.

Helien Livermore said that she earned 25 cents an hour for taking care of a small baby, giving the mother of the baby time for recreation and herself spending money.

Marilyn Jane Glassman said that she had earned money by running a pop stand, helping with the dishes, dusting for her mother, and working a puzzle that her grandfather worked when he was a boy.

Dorothy Gay has a regular magazine route with 24 customers. She sells three magazines and is becoming a real business woman.

Helien Livermore, 20 W. College street, Marilyn Jane Glassman, 421 S. Dodge street, and Dorothy Gay, 506 S. Dodge street were the first to bring their letters to The Daily Iowan office yesterday. They will be the first to be picked up by The Daily Iowan car Monday afternoon and taken to the city park for a joyous afternoon's swim.

Remember, there are no strings to this contest. Absolutely all you have to do is write to the editor and tell him in 50 words or less how you have earned some money. Have your mother or father sign the letter, and mail it to The Daily Iowan office.

Watch for Letters

Four days a week the 10 best letters will be chosen from those sent in and the letters will appear in The Daily Iowan. Watch for your letter to appear.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday are the days when the free swim periods will be held. Writers of winning letters appearing on those days will be the ones to be taken to the park in the afternoon. Those who win the free swim for Monday, of course, will appear in Sunday morning's issue.

Letters received by the editor Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be judged over the week end and the winners' names will appear in the paper Sunday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of the following week. The first letters will appear next Sunday morning and the winners will be taken to the Big Dipper Monday afternoon.

Car Will Call

At 2 p.m. on the swim days, the special Daily Iowan-Big Dipper car will call at the homes of the winners and take the lucky ones to the pool. After they have had their fill of diving, swimming, and playing in the clear, cool water, the car will return them to their homes.

In addition to three life savers who will be on guard at the pool all of the time, the entire swimming period will be supervised by two Iowa City social workers.

Mothers will be able to identify the driver of The Daily Iowan car because he will show them the original letter that their sons or daughters wrote to the editor.

So get your letters in quickly and win your afternoon of free, hilarious fun at the Big Dipper.

Bumper Crop Offsets Work by Grain Men

Stabilizers Powerless in Face of Large Wheat Production in '31

SHENANDOAH, July 28 (AP)—George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization corporation, said tonight that nothing the corporation could have done in 1931 would have averted the drastic price declines due to the tremendous grain crop of that year.

Until June, 1931, Milnor said in a radio address, his organization was able to maintain wheat prices above 70 cents a bushel and prevent col-

SKY RIDE FOR WORLD'S FAIR

This model shows how the cables for the sky ride, to be a feature of the Chicago World's Fair, will be suspended at an elevation of 200 feet between two 600-foot towers placed 2,000 feet apart, one resting on the mainland, the other on Northerly Island on Chicago's lake front. Cars will leave each tower at one-minute intervals, and 3,600 passengers can be carried per hour. Observation platforms are to be installed at the tops of the towers. Contracts for the device, invented by W. Lindsay Hamilton, have been let.

lapses of the market and resultant ruin to banks, cooperative associations and farmers. Then came the $92 million bushel wheat crop of 1931, third largest in history.

Nothing to Do

"Stabilization operations did not make it possible for producers to secure cost of production on the crop of 1931," Milnor asserted. "And, in my opinion, there was nothing the stabilization corporation could have done, in view of the world's surplus of wheat, that would have avoided the drastic decline in prices, but the grain stabilization corporation did save farmers hundreds of millions of dollars during the last half of 1930 and the first half of 1931. Such savings more than offset the entire cost of all grain stabilization operations."

Open Markets

He credited the corporation with opening new markets in Brazil and China to American wheat, and said he knew of no reason to believe either China or Germany will default on payments for their purchases from the stabilization corporation. Both countries, he said, had met interest charges to date.

Answering criticism that money saved for the farmers comes from the public treasury, Milnor said it was true that "farm board money came from identically the source as money that railroads, banks and others have recently been borrowing from the Reconstruction Finance corporation," the same source that yields money to build deep waterways and good roads.

"I believe I am correct in stating that farmers do not desire to tear down the protection that has been given to others," Milnor said, "but they do insist on protection and favorable legislation that will place their business on a level with other industries."

Farmers, he averred, should receive the same protection in domestic markets as the tariff affords manufacturers and laborers.

"Neither easy credit nor low rates of interest has solved or will solve the farm problem," Milnor added. "What the farmer wants and must have is the opportunity of obtaining more money for the products that he sells in proportion to the amount of money he is required to pay for the necessities he must buy and the luxuries he must have the opportunity of enjoying" under the American standard of living.

Hoover Drive Will Open in Seven Weeks

Party Leaders Prepare Final Spurt, Dodge Expenses

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP) — The preliminary groundwork already in place, the Republican presidential campaign is ready to begin in earnest—but it won't do so for another seven weeks.

Leaders at party headquarters outlined today a program under which the barrage of oratory will be withheld until about Sept. 15. Until that time, most of the campaign will be purely local in scope.

There are two reasons behind the plan for an intensive final drive—the expense connected with a long drawn out campaign and a belief that the final spurt will be just as effective.

But until the speaking tours start into full swing—and during the height there will be as many as 400 presidential speakers appearing simultaneously in different areas—there will be no idleness by party leaders.

Regarding economy in the campaign, Senator Dickinson of Iowa, director of senatorial campaigns in 12 midwest states, has announced "the funds available are not excessive."

Democrats in the midwest and western states, meanwhile, have taken to marking time pending establishment of western headquarters in Chicago. Just when that will be has not been decided. Reports that Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, may be chosen national treasurer for the campaign brought non-committal replies from Traylor today.

"Any statement about that will have to come from New York," Traylor said, declining even to state whether he has been offered the position.

ed by materialism, pacifism and Godlessness."

Wait's Majority

The solution to Germany's problems, the nationalist leader said, lies in giving the nationalists and the national socialists a clear majority in the Reichstag.

In his Berlin stadium speech,

Herr Hitler attacked the multiplicity of political parties that have arisen in republican Germany.

"We aim," he said, "to sweep the 30 political parties out of the country."

"We Germans must be a united people. We are on the eve of great historical decisions. The 13 years of decadence (the life of the republic) are nearing an end.

Spurns Foreign Aid

"We don't believe in the possibilities for international aid, but only in aid founded on our own strength."

Rumors that, as a result of Sunday's elections, the Weimar constitution establishing the German republic may be thrown into the discard, and that consequently there will be no celebration of constitution day Aug. 11, were set at rest by announcements from the federal and Prussian governments that the usual exercises will be held. A feature of the day will be a grand assembly of the pillars of democracy in the Reichstag building. President Von Hindenburg will attend.

Moscow Reaching Out?

WHAT part the Communist party of Soviet Russia is playing in the recently unearthed plot to bring about widespread runs on banks all over the country may never be revealed, but if people can be made to believe that myriad fingers of Moscow are pointing out doom for the American banking structure the police will have won their first battle against the alleged agitators.

For the word Communist—sinister enough to strike terror to the hearts of all true Americans—stands in the popular mind for all that is radical, revolutionary, anarchistic, alien, anti-social, and dastardly. Well, aren't the Communists responsible for spreading false rumors and precipitating unprecedented runs on banks of good standing? Well, are they?

It has been rumored that several months ago Communists waged a telephone campaign against a number of sound Chicago banks, brought about their downfall. They used pay telephones to "warn" in a "friendly" manner, depositors whose names they had obtained by bribing some small clerks. The plan was finally brought to the attention of authorities, who in the secretive manner of authorities dealing with something "big" refused to allow the slightest hint of their findings to seep through into print.

Now in Pontiac, Mich., is discovered a hotel room full of incriminating letters, telegrams, reports pointing to a nationwide ring of operators carrying on a program of sedition against the banking institutions of the country and pledged to "strip the petty bourgeois and the white collar stiff of their faith in banks," ultimately to bring on revolution.

Into the flaming fury of righteous American indignation is hurled the petrolic word, "communists." And straightway the high strung imagination shifts to the Russian scene, where all is dark and dismal, where chaos and bloodshed and battered lives are the order of the day, where Iron Men rule with mailed fists, where tangled and knotty whiskers are the chief adornment. Who said recognize the Soviet? He's a scoundrel, a traitor, and much worse—a Communist.

If the Michigan state police or the United States secret service ever discover the whereabouts of the mysterious owner of the documents that reveal the plot, he most certainly should be accorded the utmost in punishment. Without waiting to find him, there must be an investigation to uncover further ramifications of this most ruinous and dastardly plot. Whatever must be done to put an end to such a plot certainly should be done without a moment's delay.

But before there are any accusations, let there first be a sound basis for them. Why blame Russia without knowing if Russia is at fault? Why blame any political party or social order unless there is something on which to base that blame, other than rumor or fear or thoughtless conclusions of thoughtless people?

On the other hand, if the perpetrators are found to be members of the Communist party as it is organized in the U.S.—a branch of the Moscow Communist organization—let there be instituted an unceasing fight by every loyal and patriotic American to stamp out every trace of un-Americanism in this country, to rout out every member of the Communist party in America and deport them in shipsloads, for as long as they last.

When that fight has been undertaken and won there must still be no let-up. For just as un-American as the anarchists who would incite a peaceful citizenry to rebellion are those who allow themselves to be incited. The sort of hasty, unthinking, and unwarranted decisions that cause people to flock to banks to withdraw their money the moment they hear of rumored instability are just as much the sort of un-Americanism that must be stamped out as the type that starts the rumors on their hectic rounds.

Education, precaution, faith—would that they'd bring more soundness to these restless heads of ours!

THE CONTEST announced in yesterday's issue of THE DAILY IOWAN—free swims for youngsters between the ages of 7 and 11 as prizes—was initiated for a twofold purpose. In the first place, it will provide the only respite from the heat some kiddies are able to obtain; and in the second place, will relieve some mothers of at least an afternoon of worry about their youngsters.

The single regulation—that the letters must be written about how the boy or girl has earned some money this summer—was set up because it would not only serve to keep some children, at least those competing in the contest, out of trouble and engaged in some practical task, but would provide an incentive for getting a large number of odd jobs done.

Just in case—within the next few weeks—

some youngster asks you to let him mow your lawn, or run an errand, or carry a package, give him a break. Remember, it means giving him a chance to cool off for an afternoon, even if you can't.

For Sweeter Voices

ALTHOUGH THE installation of the dial telephone system to replace the manual method is a decided improvement and advantage, there will be the usual number of chronic grumblers over phone service who will cuss the "busy signal" as they cussed the operator of old. It will take some time for everyone to become accustomed to the new form.

When the knack of catching the right notch on the dial is mastered and when the various other intricacies of the system have become a matter of habit, users will appreciate the improved service. Until then, receivers will be slammed down on hooks in gestures of despair, dispositions will become ruffled at unexplained delays, callers will wonder at the absence of that personal touch.

In time, the dial system may bring about a new telephone personality. Persons who heretofore carried over into their conversations a tone of disgust used ordinarily to inform operators "that number can't be busy" or "ring 'em again, will ya?" will now have to content themselves with unspoken ire. You simply cannot take revenge on a bunch of wires and connections by shouting or swearing at them.

We look forward to the improved "dial tone."

TODAY'S TOPICS

BY FRANK JAFFE

United States observers at Ottawa who have been listening in on the British empire's economic conference have decided it's about time to step in and protect the interests of American producers. With approximately $300,000,000 worth of U. S. meat and dairy trade imperiled by an impending tariff boost of 50 per cent for non-empire products, there is really cause for alarm.

Representatives of numerous American manufacturers who own plants in Canada are joining the protest gallery at Ottawa. Canadian manufacturers are boosting a proposal for a high "empire content" of materials that will come under a preferential tariff—manufacturers who use a certain amount of empire labor and empire materials in their products will be entitled to a lower rate.

With Canada seeking to develop her steel and iron trade, the U. S. is in danger of an additional loss in that market of $20,000,000 worth of steel orders and about $5,000,000 worth of anthracite. No decisions affecting the U. S. exports of textiles, machinery, and electrical supplies have yet developed at the conference.

At present, empire dairy goods enter the British market duty free while foreign products are assessed 10 per cent. Under the new plan, Great Britain will raise a tariff wall high enough to keep out all foreign dairy products, while empire goods will continue to come in free.

What will happen when conferees of the empire take up the matter of cereals—the U. S. sold the United Kingdom 24,000,000 bushels of wheat and 8,500,000 pounds of flour in 1930—is a matter for speculation. A tariff increase on farm products would certainly be disastrous. Yet, if there is any one place to put the blame for Britain's move, it would be on the United States.

Another interesting development at Ottawa is concerned with the attitude of the empire toward Soviet Russia. No drastic action is being taken, however, and the delegates are slowly feeling their way before stating definitely what the future trade relations will be. A general resolution "denouncing the trading methods of Russia" was introduced the other day at the conference but was shelved to make room for more important matters.

The delegates from Great Britain were responsible for non-acceptance of the resolution, which was generally conceded to have been brought up by Canada and Australia. And the reason for Britain's apprehension of any drastic repudiation of Soviet trade lies in a fear of inciting Russia to further repudiations of commercial obligations to trading concerns in the United Kingdom.

In setting up reciprocal arrangements between Canada and Great Britain or between the rest of the empire and the mother country there is danger of depressing prices in the colonies, and of relying too much on intra-empire trade. British millers have opposed Canada's scheme for preferential wheat trade on the ground that it would cause price fluctuations and uncertainty. The Canadian grain trade has refused to join Premier Bennett's proposal to obtain preferences in Britain for Canadian wheat in exchange for a larger share of the Canadian market for manufactures from across the Atlantic.

On the whole, the entire empire could quite easily withdraw from non-empire world trade and get along rather well. Certain price controlling agencies might be needed and new regulations for production and distribution. The United States could easily be left out of any trade agreements of the empire with little adverse effects. It is too late for the U. S. to hope to affect the Ottawa conference by promises of cutting tariffs. It may take years to come to satisfactory terms once Britons make up their minds to take any definite tariff steps that will cut in on American trade. America's hope must lie with other non-empire producers and markets until such time as a general tariff reduction policy of the United States will have convinced the British that those in command over here have come to their senses.

To this the boys made no reply. If everybody ate round steak like Ivy Peters' family, there would be nothing in the butcher's trade.

OVER HISTORIC ROUTE BY AIR

Famous trails traveled by George Washington were re-traveled via the air route by his great-great-grandniece, Miss Ann Madison Washington, recently as a feature of the bicentennial celebrations. The area flown extended from Maine to North Carolina and westward to Ohio. Distances which took Washington 4 1-2 days to negotiate on horseback were covered by air in 35 minutes. Miss Washington is shown with Major Jimmy Doolittle, who piloted her over the historic route, on the completion of her trip at Newark, N. J.

NO BONUS! P.S. HE GOT A BARGE!

On his request for payment of his bonus meeting with no response, Henry Harris, New York World war veteran, petitioned the war department for an old barge to shelter his wife and four children. This time he got action. The barge is shown at top, converted into a houseboat and floating candy store, where Harris ekes out a living, thanks to the patronage of the bathers at Bayonet Beach, N. J., where his home is at anchor. Lower photo shows Harris with his wife and children.

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —
By HARRISON CARROLL
STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood has rolled up its sleeves and is dishing out political stories as fast as writers can pound them out and cameras can photograph them.
Latest studio to get into line is Universal, which starts work today on "Merry-Go-Round," another red-hot pot from our seething political cauldron.
For several weeks, this picture has been waiting on the casting office. After several deals were jammed through at the last minute, Carl Laemmle, Jr., announced the following players would be used: Burton Churchill and Carol Nash.
The screen play of "Merry-Go-Round" was done by Tom Reed, and Edward C. Kahn will direct. Chances are there will be a change of title before the film is released.
One of the better wisecracks of the week was pulled by Bob Burns, the comedian, when he was called to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to take a test for "Rasputin."
Sent to the wardrobe department for a costume, he asked for a large selection.
"I hate to be finicky," he told the fitter, "but I'll never be able to get those three Barrymores together again, and I want to go in there and steal that picture."
One of the most unusual stories now in preparation is Fox's "Six Hours to Live." It depicts the actions of a man called back from the verge of death and given six more hours to live. John Boles has just been signed to the cast which already includes Warner Baxter, Gordon Morris (that's Chester's brother), and Martin Bartaux are writing this one as a screen original. It will be directed by William Dieterle.
BOULEVARD TALK
Those in the know are chuckling over the lyrics of Dorothy Lee's song in a local musical comedy. She warbles of three boy friends and names Marsh, Jim and Fred. Which easily figures out Marshall Duffield, Jim Filler and Fred Warding. You notice, too, that Marsh gets top billing. Incidentally, Dorothy swears she will never "stooge" for comedians again. Hereafter, somebody else will ask the questions and she will supply the answers.
The July issue of Equity Magazine contains a prayer written by an actor-member. Beneath is added:

"All rights reserved." . . . Unless they picked one after this was written, the Constance Bennett picture goes into production today without a leading man. . . Al Scott returned here last night. Business kept him away from Hollywood and Colleen Moore for a month. . . Down at Laguna Beach, they've persuaded Bob Armstrong to take part in their big open-air fiesta. Other film people who have taken houses at this beauty spot are Freddie March, E. H. Griffith, Arthur Caesar, Charles Kenyon, Chuck Reisner, Polly Moran and Mal St. Clair. . . Newest fad at Hollywood parties is to make records of the guests' voices. Jerry Horwin carried a microphone around all evening when he entertained for Rian James. Some of the playbacks sounded that strange. . . A whole train-load of stars are going to participate in the pageant put on by the Shrine convention in San Francisco. Wallie Beery, George Bancroft, Harold Lloyd, Eddie Robinson, Joe E. Brown, Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, Lupe Velez, Tom Mix, Buster Keaton are only a few on the list. Sid Grauman will act as chaperon.

University to Again Support "Brain" Tilts

80,000 to Compete in Tests Ranging From Debate to Art

Thoughts of championships and the zests of competition in non-athletic fields again will spice the work of state high school pupils between September and next June. In six branches, the University of Iowa will sponsor or cooperate in title contests involving nearly 80,000 boys and girls. They range from debating, started a quarter of a century ago, to art, which will be held for the third time.

Academic Meet Largest
Largest of the affairs will be the academic contest, with more than 50,000 pupils from about 300 schools enrolled in the "every-pupil" contest and with about 1,100 qualifying for the individual title meet.

The music festival, which includes 40 contests, is second in magnitude, for some 29,000 musicians from 400 schools will enter the preliminary round.

Some 450 debaters in September will begin research and in mid-winter close to 125 schools will attempt to eliminate each other so that the 32 finalists will be decided.

Artists, Actors Involved
Play production and art each will involve about 100 pupils and extemporaneous speaking will attract some 50 school champions. All of the final competitions will occur at the state university.

Defending champions are: academic, West Waterloo; debate, East Sioux City; extemporaneous speaking, Iowa City; art, East Des Moines; and play production, Iowa City (A), Sigourney (B), and Missouri Valley (C). No all-around title is decided at the music festival.

Freshmen to Enroll Under New System

Freshmen entering the University of Iowa this fall will be relieved of much of the confusion incident to their registration, under a plan announced yesterday by the registrar's office.

Under the new system, all students who will classify as freshmen during the first term of the school year 1932-3 may effect advanced registration, either by mail or in person.

Presentation of high school credits will be required as in former years, so that the university examiner may determine the student's eligibility. If the student is eligible, the usual admittance card and registration material will be issued.

Although the student's proposed schedule will still be subject to subsequent approval, much of the last minute confusion is expected to be avoided under this plan.

Advance registration is not new to the University of Iowa campus; but it has been several years since such a plan was last used here.

Restoration of the tomb of Virgil, the great Roman epic poet, is included in the public works program of the city of Naples.

Lieut. Col. Walter Krueger, new commandant at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., was born in Germany and enlisted in the United States army as a private in 1898.

Ripley Explanations

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon

Golf Course Fish. The succulent grass of the putting greens of the Columbia golf course, Portland, Ore., has recently been threatened with a novel and bizarre hazard. During the high-water seasons, Columbia river carp, with ravenous appetites, flocked in large numbers to feed upon the grass. In order to get to the stern the carp would actually root into the ground to seek out a tender morsel. The annoying piscivorous interference with the royal game was brought to the attention of the trustees of the club, as well as the Pacific Golf association, and in order to ward off the inroads of the fish it was decided to erect a fence around the putting greens at the time of high water.

The Sisters-Strangers. Mrs. Clara Sheldon, 62 now of Conde, N. Dak., and Mrs. Amy Anderson, 69, of Mattoon, Ill., lived for nearly 53 years within the town of Mattoon without meeting or knowing of each other's existence. The two sisters were separated by adoption in their infancy, and grew to womanhood in complete ignorance of one another. It was accidental that Mrs. Ada Marlow of Redfield, S. Dak., discovered the existence of a hitherto unknown aunt in Mattoon, and this discovery led to a reunion of the two estranged sisters.

No playwrights could have thought of a more dramatic situation than that of the two sisters living in the same locality unbeknownst to each other, only to have their kinship established after nearly three score years. Tomorrow: "A Wind-Blown Freight Car."

World Mourns Passing of "Great Glorifier"

Florenz Ziegfeld, Greatest Showman of the Generation Who Started Many On Road To Stardom, Was Universally Admired As Most Colorful Personality of the Theatre.

FLO ZIEGFELD PATRICIA AND BILLIE BURKE

NEW YORK—The death of Florenz Ziegfeld, famous musical comedy impresario, at Hollywood, Cal., deprives the American stage of one of its most colorful and picturesque characters. Not only his own beloved Broadway, but the entire universe of thespians will feel the loss of the man who proved a veritable Rock of Gibraltar to the stage during the storm of depression.

Ziegfeld was known and renowned all the world over as the supreme authority on feminine pulchritude and the number of lovely women whom he lifted to fame and fortune is legion—among them some names that are forever enshrined in the evergreen laurels of fame in the theater world.

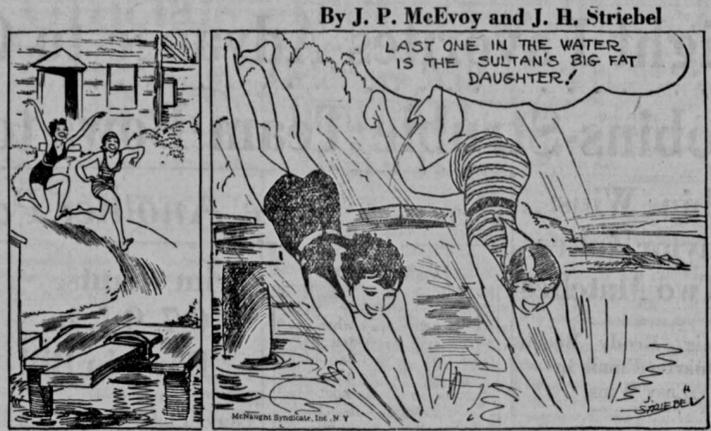

Born in Chicago in 1868, Florenz Ziegfeld came of a musical family, his father, who bore the same name, having been the founder of the Chicago Musical college, which he built up to 7,000 members. Previous to striking out for himself, young Flo had been business manager for this college, but he craved action a bit further from home, so he went to Europe and signed orchestras to play in Chicago during the World's Fair. But the Fair provided too much competition for Ziegfeld's venture and his project was a failure.

He first acquired a measure of eminence as the man who made a success of Eugene Sandow, the celebrated strong man. Losing an inspiring publicity campaign, he made it appear fashionable and proper for society leaders to visit Sandow

GHOST FAILS TO FUNCTION

From the grave of Convict Hartman in the Joliet, Ill., prison burial ground, a ghost is said to rise nightly and chant ancient Latin hymns. One resident of Joliet reported several weeks ago that he heard the ghost, and now ghost listening has become a popular amusement among the residents of the district. Photo shows Sheriff Oliver Flint of Will county and part of the crowd of 600 gathered Tuesday night at Hartman's grave, but the ghost failed to appear or sing.

Market Review Points Out Symptoms of Break-Up in National Economic Crisis

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Gains in industrial activity, even though scattered and limited mostly to smaller plants, are said to constitute another symptom that the economic drought may be breaking in Prairie Farmer's market review this week.

Cattle Prices Climb
While the recent break in cattle prices extended to all parts of the list, good and choice steers held up much better than the lower grades.

Lamb Prices to Increase
Receipts of lambs are due to increase materially during the next 60 days. With range feed conditions favorable, most of the western crop is coming well finished, so that lower prices for fat lambs are probable.

Butter Prices Uncertain
Butter prices have been moving rather uncertainly because of doubt as to the outlook for late summer and fall production and consumption.

Feble Response in Corn
Corn prices have shown only a feeble response to the recent improvement in feeding ratios and reduction in crop prospects.

Brother Informed of Killing Through Reporters
CHICAGO, Ill., July 28 (AP)—A locked trunk in his windowless room in his brother's basement flat held the story of William Haskha's war record tonight.

Slain Soldier From Chicago
First word his brother Charles received of William's death in today's riot in Washington was when he came home from work to find a group of reporters with Mrs. Haskha.

State Slated to Have Shortage for Years to Come
DES MOINES, July 28 (AP)—Farmers in Iowa, which is said by one authority to be the only state with more than a million horses, now face a shortage of horses, and may do so for years to come.

Horse Supply in Iowa Falls Behind Needs
This lack, however, has created a business—that of owning stallions for public service—that, one breeder says, is better than it has been in 45 years.

Another Whopper for Fish Story Tellers
McGREGOR, July 28, (AP)—Frank Hill didn't let the big one get away.

Use Young Stock
To the last point authorities attach most significance. Some owners, still noting an adherence to the practice of breeding old and barren mares, nevertheless declared that farmers are using their younger stock for breeding, with the result that there now tends to be a larger percentage of live colts foaled.

Impossibility of witnesses living in distant cities attending the trial and the recommendation of the coroner led to dismissal of the charge, said prosecutors, adding the dismissal left the way open for grand jury action.

Merle Robins tasted defeat yesterday in the Mississippi Valley tennis tournament, and as a result can now devote his time to defending his singles championship for it was in the doubles that he and George Struble went down before a pair of comparative unknowns.

Betty Butler, the young Des Moines netster who finished runner-up in the recent state tournament, has yet to see action in the women's singles, both her first two opponents having defaulted.

Comes the report from Chicago on the matter of tennis that the big professionals of the world are not attracting the crowds to see their tournament as should be the case, especially in view of the fact that tennis seems to be unusually popular in most circles this season.

Young Lonnie Warneke of the Chicago Cubs seems to be getting practically invincible. Yesterday against the Boston Braves he allowed only six hits and rang up his sixteenth win of the season, his ninth in a row, to step out in front of the pitchers in both the major circuits.

With the stage about set for the grand opening ceremonies of the Olympic Games tomorrow, major developments are occupying the front of the stage. A big blow to the Finnish hopes, which Coach Lawson Robertson of the U. S. team holds so highly, came when the International Amateur Athletic federation voted last night to bar Paavo Nurmi, marathon star, from competition on "good and sufficient ground."

It seems that in spite of all the record breaking done by Bill Carr and Ben Eastman in the 400 meters, foreign scribes in attendance at the Games are withholding any conceding until competition gets underway. Chief threats at this U. S. pair of stars seem to be four English stars of note and Alex Wilson, Notre Dame ace, and Jimmy Ball of Canada.

Record Smasher

The foreign contestants at the Olympic games will have to run a great race to beat Bill Carr (above) of the University of Pennsylvania in the 400 meter run. Carr won his place on Uncle Sam's team when he defeated Ben Eastman and set a new world record of 46.9 in the final trials.

(Complete Summaries Page 7)
Surviving the first three rounds, the eight favorites will find themselves pitted against each other in the quarter-finals this afternoon in the Mississippi Valley tennis tournament.

Without an upset, the seeded eight have stroked themselves past the first rounds and into a position to look at the finals. Headed by Merle Robins of Ames, defending champion, who broke into action for the first time yesterday, none of the leaders, except George Dullnig of San Antonio, Tex., have lost a set. Robins defeated Asthalter of Muscatine, 6-0, 6-1, in easy style.

Yessler Forces Dullnig
Dullnig lost his set to the veteran Yessler from Cedar Rapids, but eventually won, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0. Yessler, drawing on all his craftsmanship and using a corkscrew service, took the second set from Dullnig, but Dullnig, using a good backhand, was not to be denied in the deciding set.

Jack Taylor of Texas ran rough shod over Theiss of Iowa City to win, 6-4, 5-1, and later to defeat Fink of Iowa City, 6-2, 6-2. Taylor will meet Struble at 1:30 this afternoon.

One of the most colorful players, Frank Brody, former state champion, breezed through his matches in an easy style yesterday. He ran his first match with Goff of Illinois out in 6-2, 6-4, and in the afternoon outplayed Bob Conrad of Burlington to win, 6-1, 6-1. In all his matches Brody has shown a good court game with a good backhand and a hard driving forehand.

Should Report Promptly
Referees of yesterday's matches were Harry Schotland, Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, James J. Hayes, Bernard Druker, Jim Shiley, Marshal Kay, and L. W. Johnson.

Head referee, Lt. Col. Converse R. Lewis, and court manager, Walter Theiss, request that all players report promptly for both doubles and singles matches. E. G. "Dad" Schroeder is managing the tournament.

Betty Butler Wins by Default

Only two of the seeded women players, Betty Butler of Des Moines and Mrs. Eleanor Bell of Cedar Rapids, remain in the women's singles for the semi-finals today.

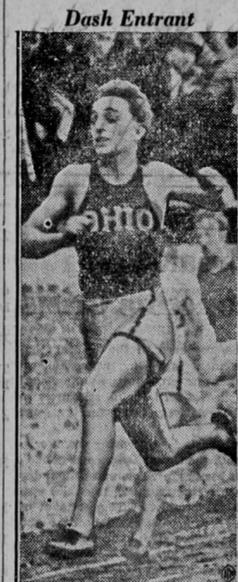

Miss Butler has, as yet, to make her first appearance on the playing court. All her opponents have defaulted. Today she will meet Lucille Kautenberger of Des Moines. Miss Kautenberger won from Leola Anderson of Des Moines in a match lasting more than three hours by a score of 6-8, 7-5, 6-3. The two were evenly matched, but Miss Kautenberger tired her opponent by a superior court game.

Mrs. Bell, a former state champion, was extended to three sets to win from Helen Hanson of Des Moines, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Hanson was unable to handle Mrs. Bell's chop strokes and lacked the accuracy of the Cedar Rapids woman in driving.

Art Evans Pitches Hawks to Victory

WATERLOO, July 28 (AP)—The Waterloo Hawks, rejuvenated by a general shakeup, batted Sandra from the box in the first game of a doubleheader tonight to take an 8-5 decision behind Art Evans, hurler sent here by the Chicago White Sox. Ed Hendee, 'Stippi' league veteran, appeared at first base for Waterloo and contributed two hits.

Pirates Take Another Pair; Babe Ruth Leads Yank Victory

Though he finished third in the Olympic trials George Simpson (above) former University of Ohio sprinter, will probably be right up front in the 100 and 200 meter dashes at the Olympic games. Simpson, Metcalfe and Tolan make up Uncle Sam's sprint trio.

Trim Giants, 10-7, 9-1, in Bargain Bill

Tony Piet Leads Buc Attack in Both Clashes

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Pittsburgh's mighty Pirates gave another convincing demonstration of their strength by winning their second consecutive doubleheader from the Giants to make it five victories in a row. The scores were 10 to 7 and 9 to 1.
Meine, who pitched the entire second game for the Bucs, was the first starting pitcher in the six game series to go the route as both Steve Swetonic and Fred Fitzsimmons were driven out in the opener.
The Giants took an early lead in the first game but Pittsburgh came back strong, took a one run lead in the fifth inning and sewed up the game with three more when they sent Fitzsimmons to the showers in the seventh. Ernie Brame, who relieved Swetonic, weakened in the seventh and allowed two runs when Pultz hit a pinch double and scored on an outfield fly and Mel Ott followed with his 20th homer of the season.
Tony Piet, who made two hits in the opener, won the second game almost single handed. He hit a homer with two on base in the second inning and repeated with loaded sacks in the third to give the Bucs a long lead. He continued with a pair of singles and scored their eighth run on Lloyd Waner's single in the eighth. He also accepted 13 chances at second base without an error.

Norwood Hallowell of Harvard, whose record breaking 1,500 meter run at the Olympic trials raises the hopes of Uncle Sam's representatives at the Olympic games. Hallowell defeated a great field to win in 3:52.7 surpassing the American and Olympic records.

Drives Home 7 Runs; Gets Two Homers

Ruffing Holds Indians to 5 Hits as N. Y. Wins, 10-1

CLEVELAND, July 28 (AP)—They called on Babe Ruth in a pinch today and he answered by hitting his 27th and 28th home runs of the season, driving in seven tallies and personally conducting the New York Yankees to a 10 to 1 victory over the Indians.
The Babe was hurried back into the starting lineup although his injured leg, which has kept him out except for a couple appearances as a pinch batsman since July 18, still troubled him. But Ben Chapman was taken ill.
When he came up in the fourth inning Babe smacked one against the screen in center field, barely missing a homer, and drove home two tallies. The first Ruthian homer came in the sixth after Joe Sewell had singled. In the same inning, Earl Averill hit his 24th circuit ball for Cleveland and deprived Ruffing of a shutout. Ruth came back in the next frame after a walk and a single off Sarge Connally had put Combs and Sewell on base and lifted his second homer of the game far over the right field screen.
Score by innings: R. H. E.

LOS ANGELES, July 28 (AP)—Leo Sexton, giant New York A. C. weight man and national shotput champion, heaved the 16-pound iron ball 53 feet, 10 1/2 inches today in his final workout for the Olympic games. This is exactly 15 inches beyond the listed world record.

Benny Leonard Wins

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, won a 10 round decision tonight over Billy Townsend, Vancouver welterweight, in his comeback campaign before a crowd of 10,000. There were no knockdowns. Leonard weighed 151, Townsend, 144.

All-Stars Get 9-6 Triumph

Whip Klema's Nine in 5 Inning Contest at City Park

"Red" Klema essayed a comeback against the Sidwell All-Stars at the City park last night but didn't meet with any great success. In four innings, the All-Stars pounded his right hand offerings for eight lusty blows and walked off with a 9 to 6 victory, the game coming to a close after the first half of the fifth because of darkness.

For a while, though, it looked as though "Red's" Independents were going to administer a neat shellacking to the dairy nine for they plattered Ivan Blackmer, who had hardly any warm-up to speak of, for four hits and five runs, but from then on their slugging was confined to three hits, one of them being Mr. Klema's double in the fifth to send Dohrer home with the final score of the game.

Young "Red" Sulek led the losers' batting attack with two singles in three times at bat, but three Sidwell gentlemen exceeded his efforts. Dale Flitsch poked out two singles, walked once, scored three runs and stole four bases in three trips to the plate; Walt Foor poked out a double and a single and counted two runs in his two times up, while Howard Makeever lashed a homer to the road in left field with Flitsch on base in the second.

CHAPTER FORTY-NINE

The wives of John and Ernest kissed everybody, thanked Bess for the lovely supper.

"Well, let's get along," Bess' husband said. "I got four cows to milk, besides the regular chores."

"I hope the cat stays with Mrs. Burpee all right, and don't come running back here," Bess worried.

"I'll have to get somebody to keep the garden watered till the rains start. You can't depend on dad any more."

"Now if there's anything I can do for any of you, just call on me!" said the minister's wife, with a last, lingering look at Lily Lou.

"Well, get in, girls," Raymond said. Lily Lou waited two days more.

"I must say you've gotten nervous. You never used to be fidgety," May said.

"What did I tell you? High hat, already!" they seemed to say.

Lily Lou would hardly have known her, she was so changed. So much more attractive. Plump, laughing and happy.

Lily Lou could have bit off her tongue, it was so hard to keep from telling about the bucheen, as she held Irene's tiny girl on her lap, ran her fingers through the flaxen curls.

That night she asked Raymond to make her reservations for the next day. "I must get back," she told them.

"I know that it seems such a short visit, for such a long trip, but I've got to go back. I've a feeling that I've been away too long already."

May and Ray exchanged glances again. Because there was nothing more to say, and she was afraid of saying too much, she picked up the evening paper, turned its pages idly.

Starting out of the society section was the face that had haunted her, that had never been really out of her thoughts for months.

"Peggy Sage has her picture in the paper again."

"I wouldn't be surprised," May said, without looking up. "It's a poor week that she doesn't get it in once."

"Miss Peggy Sage, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Vincent Sage, whose wedding to Mr. Claude Orington Newman will be an event of early autumn..."

Then, she couldn't be going to marry Ken... not that it mattered, of course.

"May, wasn't she engaged to my ex-husband?"

"Who, the Sage girl? Oh, yes. Heavens, it was all over all the papers. Didn't I send you them? I meant to. I thought that at least he might have waited a decent interval! Well, you can be damn glad you got out of THAT, Lily Lou. He did the same thing to Peggy he did to you. He—"

Lily Lou turned her face from the light. "He—what? What did he do?"

"Didn't I send you the papers? I meant to. It was the time you were abroad. Are you sure you didn't get them? I told Raymond at the time. I said, 'You can't tell me that they deliver all the mail over there,'"

"But what was it he did?"

"Oh! Well, the Sages tried to fix it so that it would look as though Peggy broke the engagement, but Raymond brought home one of those society scandal sheets one of the men at the factory had, and it said that he broke it and left her flat, and it said—hinted you know—about another affair he had—oh, they didn't have your name at all! Thank goodness for that! But about a marriage having been annulled. I said to Raymond at the time, I said 'Thank fortune WE'RE not dragged into it,' I said. I might not have sent you the scandal sheet because Raymond took it back, I think, but I certainly did get you the other papers and mail them."

"I didn't get them. You might have written."

"Written! Don't talk to me about writing. You never wrote any of us, to amount to anything. I never had anything as unsatisfactory as your letters from Europe, especially Vienna, a place I've always been interested in on account of the Merry Widow, and all those Viennese comedies, and the Blue Danube and all. Really there were times when I—well, I wondered if you ever went to Europe. I know that Raymond doubted it sometimes."

"I was there all right. My goodness, didn't I send mother the clippings from the Paris papers when I sang Micaela in Carmen—"

"No. You said you were going to. But she never got them."

Lily Lou spread her hands—a gesture borrowed, though she did not know it, from Madame Nahlman.

"Well, I can't help that now. It wasn't much of a notice anyway. Just said my 'small voice was sweet and flexible' and it said I made an appealing Micaela or something like that. Nahlman was the whole show."

May looked at her, a little aggrieved still. "I didn't say I doubted it. Only, my goodness, we used to hash it over and hash it over when any one of us did anything, like being invited to a good party, or having a tooth out, and this last year has been so different. Your letters postmarked all those foreign places—all those new names: Gwin, Schiarilli, Nahlman, and before that, that woman, Mrs. Manchester, and your friend Maxine Rochon—You never wrote anything real about any of them. I don't know. I guess we've just drifted apart. You've changed, too. I don't know just how, except that you're thinner and wear your hair differently, but it's deeper than that. You're not the same."

Peggy, going to marry Claude Orington Newman. Then she couldn't be going to marry Ken.

"Well, it's been a long time," Lily Lou said, defensively. "Another long silence."

"You never told me what happened to Ken. I mean, is he still around here? After all—he was married to me. You can't blame me for being a little interested."

"He isn't! Not that I expected much of any of that clan. But you'd think at least with mother dying, that they could have at least sent a bunch of poison oak. They might have done THAT much—Ken at least."

"Maybe he isn't anywhere around here. Maybe he went back to South America?"

"He can go to the South Pole and hang himself on it, for all of me," May said dryly. "And that's that."

That's that. Lily Lou thought about it on the long trip across the country. Every mile brought her nearer to the bucheen, farther from California and the Sage girl and Ken... who could hang himself on the South Pole for all of May...

"For all of me, too!" she thought, a little bitterly.

But she wished May hadn't told her about him. It had spoiled something... disturbed the memory that had been sweet and dim.

"I wish I'd never set eyes on him!"

Telegraph poles flashed by. White farm houses with red barns and silos, and fields of yellow stubble. Every mile bringing her nearer the bucheen, nearer to her interrupted career.

Olympic Officials Ban Nurmi From Games

Body Upholds Suspension of Finnish Star

Vote Unanimously to Reject Entry of Marathoner

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) LOS ANGELES, July 28 (AP)—Paavo Nurmi, the greatest footracer of all time, winner of seven Olympic races, tonight was barred, definitely and finally, from competing in the 1932 games, less than three days before he was to have begun his fourth quest for Olympic honors.

The executive council of the International Amateur Athletic federation, sitting as a commission of seven with full powers, put an abrupt end to the controversy over the Finnish runner's status by rejecting his entry for the track competition of the tenth Olympiad.

This commission, composed of two Swedes, a German, an American, a Frenchman, a Hungarian, and an Englishman, reviewed the whole case in an all-day session, re-considered the charges that Nurmi received money in excess of his expenses for European "barnstorming" competition and then voted unanimously to keep him from the Olympics.

Two officials of Finland's Amateur Athletic association made a final appeal, asserting the evidence against Nurmi was of "second hand" character, pointing out that Nurmi himself denied all the accusations and that the rules of the I. A. A. F., in effect, were being violated by the procedure.

The executive council, which suspended Nurmi on charges last April over Finland's vigorous protest, sprang a surprise by its maneuver. The coincidence that the membership of the council coincides with that of the special commission enabled the same men who suspended the Finnish star to sustain their action, without further recourse and without going into the question of Nurmi's alleged professionalism at all.

Thus, according to Edstrom, the Nurmi case is closed before any of its phases or political angles can be considered by the full congress of the I. A. A. F., which meets tomorrow. There is absolutely no appeal against the commission's decision rejecting Paavo's entry.

Will Not Withdraw The Finnish delegation may, of course, carry its fight before the full congress, but this can have nothing but a vocal effect upon the proceedings.

The Finnish leaders have authority to go so far as to withdraw their entire team from the games, but they indicated tonight this would not be seriously considered, unless new developments occur.

Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee and American member of the federation's commission or council of seven, cast his vote against Nurmi at-

Gridders Will Hold Double Drill 9 Times

It will be bad news to the University of Iowa's early October football opponents that classes for the fall term begin at a later date than in recent years.

Because the athletes will not have to attend classes until Sept. 26, they will have nine days of morning and afternoon drills. Last year there was time for only five double sessions.

The squad of more than 75 men will assemble Thursday, Sept. 15. Bradley Tech is the trial team to appear in the season's opener Oct. 1 then the Hawkeyes must start the conference schedule by playing Wisconsin at Madison Oct. 8.

Exactly a month after beginning practice, the Iowa eleven will play Indiana's homecoming game at Bloomington, to be followed a week later by its own homecoming affair with Minnesota.

Iowa Host to High School Distance Men As host to the runners for the third successive year, the University of Iowa department of athletics will conduct the state interscholastic cross country run Nov. 5, according to arrangements completed with the Iowa High School association.

The young runners will travel over about two miles of turf course seeking team and individual honors and in the afternoon will be guests at the Nebraska-Iowa football game. Ottumwa is expected to defend its team title against a field of more than 30 rivals.

Stocks Surge Up Again for Strong Gains

Register Substantial Climb in Spite of Profit Taking

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The securities markets surged upward again today, with stocks marking substantial net gains, in the face of a flood of profit taking.

The stock market came the closest to a 3,000,000 share day so far in 1932, with a turnover of 2,723,325 shares, the largest since December. It gained considerable support from the strength of bonds, which attracted the most active buying in weeks. Shares fell back somewhat in the last hour, however.

Net Gain 1-4 Points

Net gains in a number of leading shares ranged from 1 to more than 4 points, but the price index of 90 issues advanced only 1.4 points, against 2.2 yesterday. The forenoon was marked by a zigzag movement, reflecting alternate waves of selling and fresh buying, but midday saw a sharp lull as bears were apparently pinched in such issues as American Telephone and Union Pacific. In the last hour, a number of the leaders yielded a point or more from the best.

The move in shares was helped by the pronounced strength of the American dollar in the foreign exchange markets, suggesting a return flow of gold, which, while not actually needed, might facilitate the credit expansion program of the reserve system.

Steel Omits Dividends

The Bethlehem Steel corporation took the action most widely expected in announcing omission of its preferred dividend after charges were no larger than expected, and unlike U. S. Steel, the corporation was actually able to break even from operations.

American Telephone was a leader, surging up 5-1/2 points to 82, and closing a point under the net. Dupont and Allied Chemical pushed up about 3 and 4 points, then reacted one. Union Pacific surged up about 5, and finished up 3-1/2 net. Santa Fe closed 2-3/4 higher. There was a notable upturn in the coppers. Oils were sluggish for a time, but moved ahead eventually, some advancing fractionally to new 1932 highs. U. S. Steel preferred rose 2-3/4, then slipped back 2. The common finished a shade higher. Net gains of around a point appeared in such issues as General Motors, American Can, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, Pacific Lighting, and others.

City Receives Voting Record

Permanent Registration Equipment Here for Fall

Equipment for the installation of permanent registration in Iowa City was received yesterday by George Doherer, city clerk.

Decision to use the permanent system was made by the city council and the county board of supervisors more than a month ago. It will be ready for use in the fall elections.

Cost of the new equipment, to be equally shared by the city and county, was estimated to be about $1,500. The actual material and the installation amounts to $1,225 and other contingent expenses will raise the total.

Registration for the November election will begin Aug. 9 and will continue through Aug. 12. Under the new system, Iowa City voters will have to register only once as long as they maintain their residence here, providing they notify the city clerk, who will act as commissioner of registration, of any change of address.

The registration material consists of 18 books, sheets, change of address cards, and other equipment. Voters will have to sign two cards when registering. The material was supplied by the Matt Parrott and Sons company of Waterloo.

Judge Evans Grants Plea

In return for building and other work done on east Iowa City property, Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday approved the petition of L. A. Andrews, receiver for the Iowa City Savings bank, asking for authority to give Roy Avis a receiver's deed to the property and an additional $503.10.

Avis, under agreement with F. F. Rodgers and L. J. Messner, who made an oral agreement with trustees of the Commercial State bank, owners of the property, built two houses and part of another one, according to the petition.

But Rodgers and Messner never bought the property, the petition says, and the trustees of the Commercial State bank finally turned their interest in it over to the receiver for the Iowa City Savings bank.

Harvest wages in the Kansas wheat belt, which reached $6 a day a few years ago, ranged from $1 to $1.50 a day this summer.

AROUND THE TOWN with DON PRYOR

That's That

The married life of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Street came to an end yesterday when District Judge Harold D. Evans granted Mrs. Street a divorce. E. A. Baldwin is attorney for Mrs. Street and Paul Toomey represented Mr. Street.

Depression

Workmen of the Smith and Burger company have the concrete drive in front of the Standard Oil company station No. 66, at Clinton and Burlington streets, torn up. The drive is to be lowered and the curb openings are to be widened to allow large trucks to drive in and out. A new grease rack, a ladies' wash room, and other improvements are to be added to the station's equipment also.

The Wolf at the Door

To collect $300 in rent which she claims is due on her property Josephine M. Donovan filed a petition in district court yesterday asking for a landlord's writ of attachment against all property on the premises. She asks for judgment of $300 against F. J. and Martha Deatsch, tenants. A. E. Maine is her attorney.

Chinese Puzzle

An application by L. A. Andrew, receiver for the Iowa City Savings bank, asking approval of a 60 day option agreement made with W. H. Bailey for the purchase of $10,305.12 worth of warrants on the city of Iowa City was approved by Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday. Bailey is to purchase the warrants within 60 days at face value plus six per cent interest from the date they were refused for lack of funds by the city clerk, minus $500.

Whatsamatter, Whatsamatter?

For the second day in succession no one was fined in police court and no one registered for work at the American Legion Unemployment Relief association office.

No Rent—Service

On the water company's bill this month is a notice that the service charge, or flat monthly rate, is not a meter rental, but is used to "produce a fixed income that will partially pay fixed operating expenses."

Oh, Yeh?

In the front of the city directory is the illuminating information, under the general news heading: Financial Institutions—"Four banks and one trust company, with total deposits of $1,000,000."

Welcome

More than 25 employees of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company are expected to arrive in Iowa City soon for the change from the old manual telephone system to the new dial equipment.

Cars on the Street

Six Iowa City residents applied at the office of Sheriff Don McComas yesterday for drivers' licenses. They are Russell Ester, William E. Walsh, Cleora B. Meyer, Louis Shulman, Mrs. Nate Moore, Jr., and Aleine Finch.

Wheat Prices Again Jump to Strong Gains

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Speculative buying arbor ran high in the wheat pit today, and prices went strongly upward the third day in succession.

Jumps in securities at New York, persistent lack of rain both sides of the Canadian border, and harvest delays in France and Spain, with signs of better export demand for North American wheat, all were incentives to purchase. Toward the last, heavy profit-taking sales, ascribed largely to eastern sources, caused a reaction from the day's maximum advance of 2-1/4 cents.

Wheat closed unsettled, 5-8 to 1 above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to 5-8 off, oats 3-8 to 5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents down.

A rise of more than 7 cents a bushel from the all-time low-price record for wheat last week was shown before the market reacted. Many of the speculative purchase orders which preceded the late setback were attributed to more optimism in various quarters as to the future of general business. Dealings in wheat today were estimated as in excess of double the total a week ago.

Active buying of wheat futures in Chicago against sales at Winnipeg received particular attention.

Wichita, Kansas reported dispatching a trainload of 64,000 bushels of No. 1 wheat for direct export from Galveston, the first business of this kind from that section in several years. Corn weakened on account of expected moisture. Oats derived firmness from export sales. Provisions, paralleled the course of hog values.

Closing indemnities: wheat—July 52 1-2, offers; Sept. 51-51 1-8, 53 1-2; Dec. 54 1-4 to 3-8, 56 5-8 to 3-4. Corn—Sept. 32 1-8, 33-33 1-8; Dec. 33 5-8 to 3-4.

Gives Report on Convention

W. H. Stewart Talks at Meeting of Rotarians

W. H. Stewart, formerly president of the local Rotary club, told club members of his experiences at the 1932 international convention this year at the Jefferson hotel.

Three times a delegate to international conventions, Mr. Stewart said that this convention was superior to the others in its serious tone, in the discussion of national and world economic conditions and politics.

Describes Trip

He described the trip to the convention, held early this month at Seattle, Wash., and gave the keynotes of talks made there. Rotarians numbering 5,150, from all nations of the world, were present for the five day meeting, he stated. Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Stewart visited Rotary clubs in Hollywood, Cal., and Victoria, B. C., after the Seattle convention.

Guests at Meeting

Guests yesterday were William Morrison of Chicago, Ill.; Gene Briggs of Durant, Okla.; Burt Williams of Madison, Wis.; Richard

Wilson of Crete, Neb.; James Jamar of Des Moines, Galen Thiden of Ames, C. L. Nelson of Oelwein, Ray H. Bracewell of Burlington, W. H. Hoyman of Indianola, H. Van Hettling of Muscatine, and Dr. L. A. Royal, Robert Brooke, James C. Carey, and Dr. H. A. Knott of West Liberty.

4-H Members Decide Stock Show Prizes

Approximately $800 worth of livestock premiums, prepared by members of the 4-H club committees for the Johnson county 4-H livestock show Aug. 17, 18, and 19 were announced yesterday by S. Lysle Duncan, county agent.

According to a bulletin issued yesterday morning by the farm bureau, prizes will be awarded for the best pigs, dairy and beef heifers, calves, lambs, and for the best livestock record books and livestock judging.

Prizes for the girls' and women's divisions will be arranged next week, Mr. Duncan said. Part of the money for the awards is coming from the state, and part from solicitations among Johnson county merchants.

Stockholders Named Liable

Granting the plea of Ben S. Sumner, examiner in charge of the Uch Brothers State bank of Solon, District Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday named 12 stockholders liable for a 100 per cent assessment on their stock.

The assessment against the stock of all 12 of the defendants totals $28,500. Those named in the decree and the amount of stock on which they are being assessed are as follows: James Barta, $300; F. J. Bittner, $500; Mary O. Flala, $600; James Ham, $100; O. D. Harmon, $200; Joseph A. Healy, $200; C. F. Healy, $200; J. S. Ulich, $20,000; Leo G. Ulich, $700; Lillian Ulich, $700; Milo R. Ulich, $600; and W. F. Ulich, $500.

Make $13,717 Reduction

HARLAN, July 28, (AP)—Shelby county supervisors have made out a 1933 budget calling for expenditures of $293,700, a reduction from 1932 figures of $13,717. In this year's budget, a saving of about $8,000 was made over 1931 expenses.
