FIVE CENTS IOWA CITY, IOWA SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1932 VOL. XXXII NUMBER 65

WALKER PROBE FACES NEW DELAY

W.C.T.U. President Raps Major Party Platforms

Says Voters Must Follow Consciences

Group Will Not Back Either Plan for Repeal

SEATTLE, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance union "cannot accept either the repeal amendment proposed by the Democratic platform or the amendment proposed by Mr. Hoover," Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president, told delegates attending the national convention tonight.

"Mr. Hoover, in his speech of acceptance, goes further than his party and advocates the adoption of an amendment giving each state the right to determine its method of control, thus identifying himself with those desirous of a change," she said.

Convictions to Aid Decisions

Referring to the political parties, Mrs. Boole advised the delegates "it may be that your convictions on other great questions will help you in reaching a decision as to how to vote."

Members of the Temperance union were urged by Mrs. Boole to vote for drys. Quoting the paragraph in the Republican party platform which said that "no public official member of the party should be pledged or forced to choose between his party affiliations and his honest convictions upon this question," Mrs. Boole commented that "this specifically releases a member of congress from voting for the amendment approved by the president, if in so doing he violates his honest convictions."

Follow Conscience

"Follow your consciences," she told the delegates in her keynote address, "when you have prayed about it. Vote against all referenda for repeal of state prohibition and enforcement codes, vote for dry congressmen and dry state officials. But do not question the conscientious convictions of another woman who does not see things as you do."

Commenting on the prohibition plank of the two major parties, Mrs. Boole said "the delegates to a national convention have no responsibility to a constituency, but most of them are hand-picked by the political leaders. Women are half the electorate, but among the delegates women are noticeably among the alternates and not among the delegates. . . . Not a woman's voice was heard in behalf of the amendment proposed in the administration plank adopted, and indeed women are not supporting it."

Lauds Hoover

Recalling that there are other national problems besides prohibition, Mrs. Boole said in referring to economic conditions "had any other man been president, Herbert Hoover would have been called in to solve the problem, and he would have been given a free hand."

She insisted prohibition is not responsible for lawlessness, but that

Council Signs Contract With 5th Appraiser

Howard B. Green of Cedar Rapids was approved as the fifth appraiser on the board which is appraising the local property of the Iowa Water Service company at a meeting of the city council last night.

The council, in authorizing the signing of a contract with Mr. Green, stipulated that his salary should not exceed $2,000, half of which will be paid by the city and half by the water company.

Ordinance Committee Instructed to Prepare Ordinance

A bid by the First Capital State bank, offering to buy six per cent city fire bonds totaling $5,500 at par, was accepted. E. D. Carr was the only other bidder.

The ordinance committee was instructed to prepare an ordinance extending the Iowa City business district to include property owned by Amelia Sorenson east of Riverside drive.

Fire Chief Herman Amish was authorized to buy 400 pounds of foam, patented fire extinguisher, and the city clerk was ordered to advertise for bids on 125 tons of Franklin county coal, bids to be opened at the next council meeting, Aug. 25.

The city engineer and the bridge committee were asked to inspect the

Call Swim Parties Off for Week; Will Continue on Monday

With rainy skies and shivery winds still hanging around Iowa City, the swimming parties planned in the big contest conducted by The Daily Iowan have been postponed for this week; they will be continued Monday afternoon, though, so there is still time to plan on entering the contest.

The winners announced in Thursday's paper will be the ones to go on the Monday party, at 2 p.m. that day. Tomorrow morning, watch for a new group of winners. They will go swimming Tuesday afternoon. And if you haven't mailed a letter to this contest's editor, do it right away. Tell him what you are doing to earn some money this summer. Free swims wait for the lucky winners!

Hoover Talk Hit as Demos Hold Parley

Prohibition Named as Weakness in Hoover Campaign

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Prohibition was called one of the "three vulnerable places in the armor of the miracle man" tonight in a concerted Democratic attack on President Hoover's acceptance speech.

Nearly two dozen lieutenants of democracy, gathered at national campaign headquarters for strategy conferences, agreed to let Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Alfred E. Smith's running mate in 1928, act as critic for all of them.

Assaults President

In a statement, the Democratic senate leader from Arkansas assailed the president for his utterances on emergency measures, the tariff and prohibition.

On prohibition he said: "There is still doubt as to the position of the Republican party and its nominee for president respecting this acute controversy."

"The president denounces bootleggers. All law-abiding citizens do."

"The president denounces the saloon. No political party has championed or sponsored it."

"He advocates a 'practical change' so as to restore to the states the power of regulating the liquor traffic without permitting them to license saloons, but he does not give even a cloudy picture of what changes he favors or anticipates."

"That he has reversed his position in part on the subject is undeniable, but the amusing fact must be apparent to all, namely, that he has never made clear what his position is, even though it may be admitted that he is not as dry as he was believed to be in 1928 and until his acceptance speech was published."

"Greatly Exaggerated"

On emergency measures Robinson said the president had "greatly exaggerated the benefits derived from such measures." He asserted the reconstruction finance corporation had "made few loans" and "in consequence buying power has not been augmented, commodity prices, save in a few instances, continue discouragingly low, old enterprises are at a standstill and new enterprises are not being undertaken."

The third attack was on the president's "Unqualified approval of the bridge over Ralston creek on Sixth street and to recommend ways of improving it. Warrants totaling $612.50 will be issued by order of the council to pay for half of the permanent registration materials.

Paul B. Shaw, independent pilot renting space in the hangar at the municipal airport, was given until Oct. 1 to pay his back rent to the city.

In a letter to the council Mr. Shaw stated that he will leave shortly for a barnstorming tour of nearby fairs and celebrations.

The Shell Oil company was granted permission to build a 25,000 gallon tank on the west side of Clinton street south of Benton street.

Congratulatory Telegrams Pour Into Hoover Following After Speech of Acceptance

President Expresses Gratitude Over Messages

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Happy and confident, President Hoover today sat at his desk surrounded by hundreds of congratulatory telegrams from persons of every degree in every corner of the nation—the first returns on his speech of acceptance.

So great was the volume of messages—the president described them as the "greatest flood of telegrams ever to come into the White House,"—that late in the day he requested the press to make a general acknowledgment and express his appreciation for them.

The chief executive's comment was that they showed "extraordinary support" of the principles he had enunciated.

From All Sources

The telegrams flowed from almost every conceivable source and if any of a critical tone were received they were not in evidence.

Prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists, industrialists and business leaders, and folks not known out of their own communities, all joined in the praise.

Here are some of the messages:

Henry Ford: "Your fire in the Lincoln court house is still burning and this morning it added a log to it. Everyone whom I have seen is greatly heartened by the evidence you have given of a strong grasp of affairs and of courage and energy in dealing with these times. The speech will have a tremendous and permanent effect in stabilizing the thought of the people. I think all our citizens are proud of their president today."

Clarence M. Woolley, president of the American Radiator company: "It was a masterpiece. Two Wall Street men, the elevator boy at my hotel, the cab driver, the elevator boy in the office building and everybody around the office, several of whom I know to be Democrats, are now enthusiastic supporters. I am convinced that you will have another walk-over provided of course we can mobilize all the essential elements necessary for a rousing campaign and this I am sure, can be accomplished."

Stanley High of New York, writer and educator: "As a dry, I welcome

Monday Set for Burial of Earl Smylie

Found Dead Yesterday of Bullet Wounds; No Inquest

Funeral service for Earl Smylie, 29, who was found dead at 9:30 a.m. yesterday from a bullet wound believed to have been self-inflicted, is planned to be held sometime Monday from McGovern's funeral home. Burial will be at the Ainsworth cemetery.

Mrs. Smylie found her husband's body on a day bed in the front room of the house, 321 E. Davenport street, when she arose from bed to answer a telephone call.

Shot Through Head

Examination by Dr. Paul Reed, acting coroner, disclosed a bullet hole extending through his head from temple to temple about an inch above the ears. A 25 caliber revolver was in his hand.

Dr. Reed said the revolver must have been held right next to the temple, because the powder burns were on the inside. No motive could be found yesterday for the act.

Evidence that death was suicidal appeared almost conclusive to Dr. Reed last night. He said no inquest would be held.

Finish Plans for Exhibition

Will Judge 248 Head of Livestock at 4-H Show

With preparations almost complete, the Johnson county Farm Bureau announced the complete program yesterday for the 4-H club show to be held in the old cannery factory, Sheridan and Oakland avenues, from Aug. 17 through Aug. 19.

One of the features of the show will be the exhibit of 248 head of livestock, including baby heaves, market pigs, market litters, purchased litters, dairy calves, sheep and purebred beef heifers.

The show will be the scene of the choice of the healthiest boy and girl in Johnson county. The winners will win trips to Des Moines where they will compete with other 4-H club members from all over Iowa.

The ground floor of the old cannery factory will be lined with booths demonstrating the work of the club and will include exhibits of the home project work and demonstration by the girls' bread clubs.

Merchants will exhibit their wares on the second floor, except for farm implements, which will be on the first floor.

Two bands have been engaged for the show and will play at various times during the program.

The complete program follows:

Wednesday, Aug. 17: 6:30 p.m., exhibits open to the public for inspection. 8 p.m., concert by Cliff Berkey's band and music by the North Liberty quartet.

Thursday, Aug. 18: 9:30 a.m.—Livestock judging contest. 10 a.m.—Bread club judging contest.

Farm Boy Retracts Story, Admits Part in Liquor Business

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Aug. 12 (AP)—After admitting that a story he told police Wednesday of being kidnaped and robbed of $500 by two gunmen was untrue, Henry Schwien, 22, of Paullina, Ia., was fined by Judge H. M. Fellenz in municipal court today on a charge of disorderly conduct.

"How come a young fellow like you had $500? Are you in the liquor business?" the judge asked.

"Kinda," the youth replied.

"I knew very well that a fellow with that much money must be in something like that," the judge commented.

Comments on Hoover Talk Seen to Vary

Opinion Divided on Feeling Toward Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—A variety of comment was drawn forth today by President Hoover's stand for a change in the prohibition laws.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, said the chief executive's pronouncement will not satisfy "the moral conditions of the drys who elected him four years ago."

"50-50 Speech"

Representative Rayburn of Texas, who conducted the pre-convention campaign of Speaker Garner, termed the Hoover address a "50-50 speech, 50 per cent wet and 50 per cent dry." The president, he said, "gave both the wet and dry partisans in the audience an opportunity to applaud vociferously."

Canon William S. Chase, superintendent of the International Reform federation and a member of the prohibition board of strategy, called for organization of a third party in view of the president's advocacy of a change in prohibition.

Endorses Statement

Representative Hull (R. Ill.) said that as one of the anti-prohibition leaders he endorsed Mr. Hoover's statement.

From Oliver W. Stewart and other officers of the Flying Squadron, a dry organization which had previously endorsed him, Mr. Hoover received a telegram saying the speech "re-affirmed and intensified their faith" in him.

Efforts Under Way to Obtain Iowa's Loan

DES MOINES, Aug. 12 (AP)—Efforts went forward today to obtain for Iowa a federal home loan bank and headquarters of the regional agricultural credit corporation.

Business and civic leaders of Des Moines sought the aid of Senator C. J. Dickinson and Congressman L. C. Dowell in their drive for a federal home loan bank.

Gov. Dan Turner stressed Iowa's advantages as the site for offices of the regional agricultural corporation in a wire to the reconstruction corporation.

"In view of the fact that Iowa is the largest agricultural producing state in the district I very strongly urge that offices of the regional agricultural credit corporation for Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota be established in Iowa," the governor's wire said.

He was advised in reply from Wilson McCarthy, corporation director, that no conclusion had been reached on sites for the 12 agencies to be established.

Local Mercury Hits Rut Following Low of 64 Degrees Friday

Local weather, perhaps tired of bouncing from one end of the centigrade scale to the other, has been running in a rut for two days. Settling to a low of 64 degrees Thursday night, the temperature clung to that mark most of the day yesterday, varying only one degree.

Dull clouds, massed solidly over the city for most of the day, dropped .48 inches of rain during the 24 hours before 7 p.m.

At both 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. the temperature stood at the chilly mark of 64, and the peak for the day was 65.

G. O. P.'s Meet to Plan Club

Organization of a Republican club for Johnson county was completed Thursday night at a meeting of a group of interested Republicans at Red Ball inn.

The organization is designed to stimulate interest in politics and the Republican cause. Membership is open to anyone in the county who is eligible to vote.

Rate Named President

The meeting last night was presided over by Edward F. Rate, who was later elected president of the club. He outlined the purpose of the organization and presented Prof. C. M. Updegraff of the law college, who read the proposed constitution and by-laws.

After the acceptance of the constitution and by-laws, making the organization permanent, R. M. Work and William Meardon, candidates for places on the county board of supervisors, told of the status of Republicanism throughout the county.

Expresses Optimism

District Judge Harold D. Evans expressed optimism for the outcome of the November elections and told the members of the value of the organization they were founding.

The following men were chosen as permanent officers of the club: Mr. Rate, president; Thomas E. Martin and Sam T. Morrison, vice presidents; Richard C. Davis, secretary; Vern Miller, treasurer; and H. J. Ries, Mr. Updegraff, D. C. Nolan, Kenneth M. Dunlop, Harold Clearman, and R. M. Work, directors.

Regular meetings will be held in January of each year and other meetings will be called by the board of directors.

It was suggested that a similar organization for women might be formed some time in the future. Mr. Rate will name members of the publicity and membership committees soon.

Bowen Pleads Not Guilty on Forgery Bill

Man of Many Aliases Found to Possess Criminal Record

William Bowen, who calls himself Pat Regan and signs his checks A. Fullerton, pleaded not guilty, and waived to the grand jury on $5,000 bond when he appeared in the court of Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense yesterday.

Police, who returned Bowen from Cedar Rapids after his arrest there Thursday, revealed yesterday that checks allegedly belonging to Bowen had been cashed at the Hauser Jewelry store, at Fryauf's, and at Willard's. The checks were travelers' certificates in the $20 denomination, and were supposedly issued by the Royal Bank of Canada.

Arrested in Cedar Rapids

Bowen was arrested in Cedar Rapids after he went there with Peggy Steel, his companion, who wanted to see her child there, police there said.

A record of crime and insanity was unearthed by Chief of Police Frank L. Smith when he sent to the department of criminal investigation at Washington, D. C., for information on Bowen. In 1917, under the alias of William McLain, Bowen was sent to San Quentin, California prison, for three years on a forgery conviction.

Sentenced in Wisconsin

He was sent from one to seven years to Waupun, Wis., on a similar charge in 1925, and as Ray B. Basset he was sent to the Washington state hospital for the insane in 1931. He escaped from the hospital, and also escaped from the Nebraska state hospital for the insane.

For deserting the navy and assaulting a guard, he was sentenced to four years in a naval prison at one time. His attorney is Don Hines of Cedar Rapids.

Court Action Looms Before Investigation

Litigation May Hold Up Final Decision Until November Elections

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ALL RANY, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—A threat of time-consuming court action today thrust itself into Governor Roosevelt's investigation into Mayor James J. Walker's fitness to remain as chief executive of America's first city.

The litigation menace to an early disposition of the case arose when a supreme court judge granted a writ calling upon Mr. Roosevelt to defend his power of judging the mayor. The governor agreed to withhold a decision until after the supreme court meets on Aug. 19. Further litigation would possibly hold back the governor's final word until the national election next November when his Democratic candidacy for president will be submitted to the voters.

Move Thought Unlikely

Legal advisers to the governor said that was unlikely since such an important matter would insure speedy action by all courts.

Fending off all implications that he used his office for personal gain, Mayor Walker denied to Governor Roosevelt that he worked for a bus franchise to favor a friend and was out in on a stock market transaction because of influence he might exercise over city contracts.

The end of the second day of the hearing before the New York governor left one of the most important charges, that involving the missing accountant, Russell T. Sherwood, still untouched. The hearing will be resumed next Monday.

Walker Calm

Walker, emotional and excited in his first appearance before Roosevelt, was calm, legalistic in his role as witness today. There were flashes of Walker wit.

When it was mentioned that Mr. Walker's name was dropped from a stock account with Paul Block, the publisher, because an income tax collector said "it might look bad for the mayor," Walker remarked: "I don't know the income tax man, but he certainly is a prophet."

Recalls Biblical Story

Roosevelt referring to the Biblical maiden Suzanne, falsely accused by her admirers, laughing added: "I will not say that his honor is exactly in the position of Suzanne—" The mayor cut in with "I sometimes feel like it."

"When I used the word 'beneficence,'" said Walker referring to Block's generosity, "I didn't know I was to be on trial for my English."

Mr. Roosevelt's composure was snapped today when John J. Curtin, Walker's attorney, stubbornly denied the admissibility of a Block letter.

"See here Mr. Curtin," shouted the governor, "I happen to be a lawyer and I know that remarks of that kind are wholly unnecessary to the governor of the state."

But still Curtin persisted.

The governor, his eyes blazing, his clenched hands beating a tattoo on the table, said: "If you want to make a ruckion about it, I'll get someone to come up here and tell about it."

Walker categorically denied accepting money from the Equitable bus people for a European trip; said when he acquired Reliance Bronze and Steel bonds he didn't know the company made traffic posts which the city bought, and disclaimed any selfish motive behind the stock deal with Paul Block which netted him $248,000.

As today's session opened, the governor explained that both Sam

'Capitalization' of Great Name Starts Feud Among Roosevelts

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth - Col. Theodore Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—When William Shakespeare pronounced his famous query, "What's in a name?" many years ago, when he was almost as well known as Greta Garbo, he little dreamed that the question would have an important bearing on the future of these United States.

Yet, the time has come when an illustrious name is fated to become the bone of contention in a presidential campaign, and Will of Avon's query may bring him more renown than his sad story of the melancholic Prince of Denmark.

It all began with the nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt by the Democratic party for the presidency of the United States. Ever since Franklin conceived the idea of becoming President Roosevelt II, the illustrious tree, whence sprung the great "Teddy," has been rent asunder as if by lightning. Branches of the sturdy plant have fallen to the left, into the camp of the Democratic nominee, and branches have fallen to the right, into the territory of President Hoover, and the war is on.

The main grievance of the "Right Wing" Roosevelts is the extent to which Franklin is using the hallowed name which Theodore the First inscribed on the annals of international fame. They charge that when the Democratic nominee was seeking delegates in the campaign that led to his victory at Chicago, his supporters represented him as the brother of the great Teddy in some corners of the country; in others he was called the son of the Rough Rider president, and in others, as Theodore's first cousin.

These claims have not been permitted to go unchallenged by the Roosevelt group that comprises the Republican wing of the great political family, indignant members of which point out that Franklin D. is merely the sixth cousin of the "Bull Moose" chief.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the late president, has signed her displeasure at Franklin's "capitalization" of the hallowed name by announcing her intention of supporting President Hoover in the coming campaign. Furthermore, she has issued a written statement which sharply defines the relationship between her celebrated husband and the Democratic nominee of the present day.

Heavy Rains Bring Death in Nebraska

Damage Estimated at $1,000,000 Near Omaha

OMAHA, Aug. 12 (AP)—Officials of a dozen eastern Nebraska counties tonight surveyed damage wrought by a heavy 12-hour rainfall, which ended early today leaving a trail of death and destruction in its path.

In the vicinity of Omaha alone, city and county officials estimated, the storm left in its wake property damage totaling well over $1,000,000.

6.62 Inches Rainfall
Frank Riba, chairman of the Douglas county board, tonight estimated that 6.62 inches of rain which fell during the night, damaged county highways to the extent of almost $1,000,000, and city officials estimated that repair work within the city will cost at least $100,000.

The rainfall, which was blamed for two deaths outside, was recorded officially here as the heaviest 12-hour fall in the history of the Omaha weather bureau.

Paralyze Westward Traffic
Floods west of the city today paralyzed train traffic bound in that direction, until officials rerouted a majority of trains and resumed partial service; highways south and west of the city were for the most part impassable and the ingress of livestock to the Omaha market by truck was greatly lessened.

Plunging through clogged highways to the bedside of a patient early today, Dr. Douglas E. Hansen, 28, of Nehawka, Neb., drowned when his horse was swept from under him in the swirling waters of the usually placid Weeping Water creek. His body was recovered seven hours later.

Find Doctor's Body
Undaunted when his automobile stalled on a country road, Dr. Hansen, three years out of the University of Nebraska, borrowed a horse to continue his journey. Searchers later found his riderless horse on the creek bank and a long search resulted in the finding of his body.

Another casualty of the storm was Everett Mathias, 13 year old farm boy near Liberty, Neb., who was killed almost instantly when the rain soaked roof of a shed at his parents' farm home, caved in on him.

United States tariff system," Robinson said, "Perhaps no other single factor has contributed more to the paralysis of both foreign and domestic commerce than the Smoot-Hawley tariff act, which Senator Watson declared would end the depression and restore prosperity in 30 days.

Little Done for Agriculture
"In addition," concluded Robinson, "to the three points specified as vulnerable places in the armor of the 'miracle man,' let note also be taken of his boast concerning agricultural relief. We should all recognize that in spite of good faith efforts to improve the condition of agriculture, little has actually been done and the problem persists with all its difficulties and details."

Among those who declined to comment on the acceptance speech and said Robinson would speak for them were Senator Cohen of Georgia, vice chairman of the national committee; Arthur F. Mule, Roosevelt's floor leader at Chicago, and Guy T. Helvering, state chairman in Kansas.

"If the farmers in my state, who are selling their wheat at 26 cents, can get any comfort from that speech I'll be surprised," said F. W. McLean, secretary of the North Dakota state committee.

W. W. Howes, South Dakota national committee man, said the speech would win votes for the Democrats in his state.

form an important part of the G.O. P. campaign literature.

Then, too, there is Colonel Theodore Roosevelt II, son of the illustrious man whose name he bears, who has registered his protest against Franklin's donning the mantle of his sire. According to plans, said to have met with the approval of President Hoover, who, needless to say, is not adverse to Rooseveltian support against a Rooseveltian, Colonel Teddy is coming home from the Philippines, where he is governor general, in time to put his shoulder to the wheel of the Hoover bandwagon and do all in his power to prevent the sceptre of his sire from falling into the hands of one he regards as a pretender.

Meanwhile, the Left Wing is not going to tamely submit to the verbal barrages of the direct line Roosevelts. Franklin D. has made it clearly understood that it is his purpose to derive any benefit he can from the name he bears. After all, it is his own name, so what?

Shoulder to shoulder with her husband, the talented wife of the governor, who is a Roosevelt in her own right and a nearer relation to Theodore the First than her husband, intends to fight the name issue every inch of the way. Mrs. Roosevelt is an effective campaigner and well versed in the game of politics, so a colorful campaign is in the offing, with the United States at last taking Shakespeare seriously.

Green Eyes Go Red Scanning Marlene's 'Be Jealous' Recipe

Other Ladies of the Talkies and Even a Woman Judge Take Issue with the Exotic Miss Dietrich as Her Epigram Scores Bullseye.

NEW YORK—Must love, to be lasting, be "peppered" with jealousy?

Into the much-married and much-divorced world of the stage and screen this problem has been tossed, like a time-explosive, by the exotic Marlene Dietrich. At the outset, Miss Dietrich made her position clear.

"The happiest women," said the glamorous German star, "are those whose love is 'peppered' with jealousy."

"A woman who doesn't care what her husband does, leaving him free as to his companions, soon loses contact with him, and the result is good-bye husband."

"I don't believe it," said Magistrate Jeannette Brill of New York, interviewed in chambers. "Jealousy distorts the mind. No woman can think clearly when beset by it."

"If a man is interested in another woman, complete disinterest will soon win him back."

Tallulah Bankhead had even more positive ideas on the subject. "It is the most hateful thing in the world," explained Tallulah. "Far from being a symptom of love it is more a sign of fear—selfish fear."

From winsome little Lois Moran, star of many simple love dramas of the screen, a quiet, idealistic comment was expected. It came.

"Love," said Miss Moran, "should be dependable—like your mother."

Frances Williams, the gorgeous blonde torch singer, who has known the joy and vicissitudes of matrimony herself, talked as if she knew. "Jealousy would never hold a man. He might feel flattered at first, but it would be annoying to him in no time."

Only Hannah Williams, out of those interviewed, signified that she shared the love-and-jealousy philosophy of the German star with the world-famous legs.

"If a man cares about you," said Hannah, "but pays marked attention to other women; and you show no interest in his actions, what can he do but think that you don't love him?"

"Jealousy," continued Hannah, who recently separated from Roger Wolfe Kahn, heir to millions, "is a sign of affection if administered in small doses. Of course, it shouldn't be carried too far."

What Shall I Serve--? A Daily Hint to Hostesses on Tempting Appetites While It's Hot

"Have you had your iron today?" Today's menu will not only make you healthful but wealthful because of its high food value and its marketing price. In addition, it is a one-dish meal, can be prepared right on the plate, and thus eliminates a few dishes in the old bug-a-boo of dish washing.

Mrs. Elmer E. Dierks, 230 N. Clinton street, suggests the following one-dish spinach luncheon:

Menu
Spinach Coffee
Corn Bread

Method of serving the spinach: Place a portion of the spinach, cooked as usual, on the serving plate. Then chop lettuce, crisp bacon, hard-boiled eggs and green onions over the spinach and season with vinegar or boiled salad dressing according to taste. Muffins may be served with it instead of the corn bread if desired. The green onions may be omitted.

The labor victory had 6 inches, Thurman 4.70, Shenandoah and Randolph 3, and several other communities well over two inches.

Will Probe Affairs of Narcotic Agent

DAVENPORT, Aug. 12 (AP)—Local authorities have been promised that an investigation will be conducted into the actions of D. F. Ellsworth, federal narcotic agent, who is alleged to have taken three Moline youths into the country to question them about a supposed narcotic case.

C. A. H. Lagarde, district supervisor of the treasury department in Minneapolis wrote Charles Schlotter, acting chief of police, that an unbiased probe would be made into the abusive language Ellsworth is said to have used when detained by Davenport police.

Some birds will eat 100 or more insects at a meal, says the department of agriculture.

COURT ACTION

May Delay Action in Walker Probe

Seabury, Walker's chief accuser as counsel to the Hofstadter investigation, and Walker himself would be permitted to ask questions, and added:

"If the mayor or his counsel wishes to cross examine any witness whose testimony is included in the record of the Hofstadter committee, I shall make it possible for them to do so."

A very objection to the governor's ruling that the Hofstadter evidence was to be used came from Curtin.

The governor showed impatience during Curtin's lengthy argument.

"I am not in the least interested in conclusions," he said as Curtin finished.

Cross Examine Walker

Then the governor began to cross examine Walker about the Equitable coach case.

The mayor said he knew Senator John A. Hastings was "interested in some way" in the company at the time the franchise was up for consideration.

He said he could not remember ever in his life having seen J. Allan Smith, Equitable representative, who, Seabury contends, provided the $10,000 letter of credit which financed a trip Walker and some friends made to Europe.

Mayor Interrupts

When the governor read from the record of the Hofstadter committee, which indicated that Walker had testified he had discussed the Equitable financing with Hastings, the mayor cut in:

"It is the charge that I am a friend of Senator Hastings, I'll admit it."

When Walker was asked about the $10,000 letter of credit, he said he had paid his share of it in cash.

"When did you learn J. Allan Smith purchased the letter of credit?" he was asked.

Leans of Purchase

"Since the Seabury investigation began."

Walker said Senator Downing paid the $3,000 overdraft that he and his party incurred.

"Senator Downing is dead," said the governor.

"Yes, Senator Downing is dead," Walker repeated. "But Mrs. Walker is alive, Mr. Fuller is alive. Several of Senator Downing's friends are alive—they all knew about this."

When Walker was asked to explain his joint brokerage account with Block, he said:

Account Opened on Credit

"The account was opened on credit, without a dollar from either of us. Mr. Block directed it—using his knowledge and his experience—and that's what I meant by his beneficence."

"I resent the implication that Paul Block, in opening this account, hoped to get anything out of the city."

"There wasn't a dollar of the taxpayers' money in it."

When Roosevelt pointed out that Block had testified Walker drew substantial sums from the account before it had begun to make a profit, the mayor said:

Trade With the Soviet

DESPITE contentions pro and con on the question of recognition of the Soviet government by the United States, this country's political and financial circles are buzzing with plans for improvement of trade between Russia and America. Last October, Russian indebtedness to the rest of the world was somewhere around the $425,000,000 mark, consisting of short term credits in America, Great Britain, Germany, and Italy, principally. This year and next, some $40,000,000 in debts are due American manufacturers. The world slump in commodity prices has seriously affected Russian exports during the last year. Foreign exchange has been a serious problem with Soviet officials recently. American corporations have tightened their credit regulations and have declined to deal in other than very short term credits. However, one American firm is negotiating a barter arrangement with the Soviet whereby it is hoped that certain machinery shipments may be made to fill a long-felt need in Russia, in exchange for commodities salable in this country. Other corporations are said to be considering similar barter agreements, in which no mention will be made of money or exchange rates. In England, Germany, and Italy, on the other hand, manufacturers have not been so wary about Soviet solvency and have extended long term credits to the Russians. As a result, Soviet indebtedness to those countries has been extended over a number of years with the increase in business, or rather, in buying. Better trade arrangements with the United States is now the object of the Soviet, and the feeling is mutual among the larger corporations here. No market can be overlooked, even when extension of credit to the Soviet entails rather perplexing problems. If that can be done without dragging in the question of official governmental recognition, so much the better. But if recognition will mean new markets opened up for American manufacturers and other products, a diplomatic gesture should not stand in the way of international trade.

What Price Government Employment?

FOLLOWING a probe which has extended over the greater part of a year four prohibition agents of the eighth area have been suspended. Two others were reinstated and the charges against two more were dropped. Running throughout the whole investigation all the petty sins of politics were well in evidence. A sheriff reported that he had found one of the agents in a Des Moines speakeasy. But for some reason he delayed reporting the case until six months later. The agent maintained that he was there in line of duty. The sheriff thought otherwise. But if it comes to that, it might well be asked what the sheriff was doing in the speakeasy. So long as government agents whose duty it is to enforce the laws of the United States remain chips in the breeze of politics and the receivers of small salaries, it can be expected that suspicion will be constantly directed toward them. Political jealousies will account for much of it. The fact that they are human will account for more of it. There should be no condoning of laxity in the carrying out of duty or of the taking of bribes. But almost any man desires the things a good salary will obtain for him—luxuries, comforts for his family, and a knowledge that he is being paid in accordance with the responsibility of his position. Two solutions are open and both of them are necessary to the successful outcome of the problem. Better pay is one of them. Strict examination such as used in the civil service is another with a definite knowledge of the character of the prospective agent before he goes on duty.

Settling a Balance

WHAT HAS Great Britain to offer to her dominions? That seems to be the question at present which is holding up the imperial economic conference at Ottawa, Ont. Since the meeting opened, the United Kingdom has been silent on the advantages that her markets hold for the dominions. Britain may cut her imports from Russia to a minimum, and throw her preference to Canada, in the matter of tariff levies. The London government is supposedly anxious to do just that. Canada, it is sure, will not elaborate her offers of tariff preferences to the mother country unless there is something in the proposition for Canada. The conference, whether it is influenced by the typical British strain of slow certainty, is not producing immediate results. It is probable that something may be agreed upon in the next few days, or weeks, but at present the meeting is still in the "conversational stage." Then over on the other side of the Atlantic, within the boundaries of the Irish Free State, banners hang across streets, reading "Undo The Conquest—Boycott British Goods." While it may not be completely correct to refer to the free state as one of England's dominions, the relationship has been and is sufficiently close. The Irish argument for boycott is retaliation for the imposition of a tariff on Irish produce by Britain. The British tariff was put on as recompense for the 15 million dollar land annuities which the free state has refused to pay. The present affairs are verging on economic chaos. The United Kingdom must adjust them; with all the load of the dole system hanging over it from the past, without too definite a monetary standard, the great country must offer its possessions and near-possessions an equality of preference, and the possessions must retaliate, in kind, to bring complete order.

United Effort to Break the Jam
(From the Kansas City Times)
The buying of surplus commodities and raw materials by the gigantic financing corporation now being formed is designed to stimulate business activity in every direction. It is a move to take advantage of low prices, but at the same time to put new life into markets by getting burdensome supplies out of the way. That soon would mean better prices to farmers, as well as to producers in other fields. Repeatedly, in the last week, this immense purchasing plan has been reported a factor in activity of both the commodity and security markets. Conceivably, it could be a powerful influence toward the restoration of normal conditions. The theory of the whole enterprise is that large-scale effort is required to loosen up the existing jam, that recession has been so persistent and pronounced that individual initiative will not avail, at least that it may not be exercised. That is the theory of the various forms of government assistance to business in recent months. It is a theory that ought to work out successfully, in view of the circumstances. It leaves abundant opportunity for the individual, firm or separate branch of business. For it will be only in proportion to the alertness thus displayed that the wide and permanent benefits expected can be realized.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Speakers at the Institute of Politics at Williams-town, Mass., the other day voiced urgent pleas for the U. S. to abandon its policy of isolation in world affairs. Continuation of that policy, one speaker averred, would result in a new world war in which the United States would be its own only ally against all the rest of the nations. A speaker from the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London told his listeners that British observers have been surprised that the United States has not been more active in stepping in to take over from Great Britain the role of being the money market and economic center of the world. "To us British," he added, "it appears as if the American people had been rather shrinking since the war from the role which looks like their manifest destiny. As we see it, the reason for this American hesitation is that the idea of splendid isolation is ingrained in the American mind even more than it was in the British." It was the American policy of remaining aloof from the League of Nations and trying to deal with U. S. problems in the U. S. way that led France to begin a series of alliances to preserve the status quo. "If the United States," he continued, "tries to solve problems outside the League, it involves the possibility of war. If you approach the problem as an isolated power the possibility of war is still greater." From another speaker came the opinion that the United States invented the League of Nations and then dropped it, just as it invented cocktails and then enacted prohibition. The consensus was that unless this country relinquishes its policy of isolation it will be eliminated from international machinery as a "monkey wrench." The U. S. was blamed for the Japanese aggression in Manchuria, and non-recognition of the new Manchurian state by the U. S. only made matters easier for Japan because she could then exercise her trade claims without much interference. In the matter of world trade, tariff agreements, and disarmament, most speakers at the Institute were agreed that while the U. S. could show the way to the rest of the world to prosperity, she is blocking the way effectively by trade restrictions, and consequently no nation will voluntarily disarm while trade is in doubt. Always obeying public opinion, it was agreed, is not wholesome for government, because public opinion is normally egotistic. "Facing the depression," said a French commentator, "all nations must beware of unintelligent, narrow-minded nationalism." Suggestions for U. S. participation in international parleys to discuss problems that are not peculiar to any single nation but apply to all have been made repeatedly, and invitations continue to meet with little response in this country. There is no danger that the maladies now affecting American industry and agriculture will become chronic, nevertheless there has never been any assurance that they will not recur under the present system and governmental policies. International accord is the way to permanent cure.

"Splendor of the Age," returned Ahasuerus quietly, "it is notorious that women have long hair and short wits. There is no need to fear a Jew. The Jew, I take it, was created in order that children might evince their playfulness by stoning him, the honest show their common sense by robbing him, and the religious display their piety by burning him. Who forbids it?" "Ey, but my wife is a Christian and in consequence worships a Jew."

STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 12—Here's another case of the movies taking the mountain to Mohammed. Unable to find enough Indians hereabout, Universal has chartered an airplane and will send Director William Wyler and a cameraman to Oklahoma City and Lawrence, Kan., where they will make tests for the lead in "Laughing Boy." With the starting date of the picture postponed four times now for lack of a leading man, the studio is desperate. Carl Laemmle, Jr., has always felt that the hero of the Oliver La Farge novel, should be real Indian, but allowed his assistants to test dozens of Hollywood actors. When none of them proved satisfactory, Universal even canvassed the athletes in Olympic village. Now the young producer has gone back to his original idea and has instructed Wyler to seek the proper type in the two cities mentioned above and if he still is unsuccessful, to go directly to the reservations. BOULEVARD TALK: There's a little drama in the diamond ring that Clara Bow received from Rex Bell on her birthday. When the two became engaged, Rex didn't have the money to buy her a ring. Now, they both refer to the new sparkler as an engagement gift. . . . George O'Brien is sending his father to Germany to consult a famous heart specialist. Later on, George will join him in Europe. Maybe Ricardo Cortez will go along, if he can get away from R-K-O. . . . The two Chaplin youngsters have taken up the study of tap-dancing. Charlie, Jr., by the way, is left-handed like his father. . . . It's an old story about the agents who swarm up to a producer when he enters a restaurant or a public place. Nat Goldstone goes this one better by engaging a room next to junior Laemmle at the hospital. . . . Many of the film colony are invited to a dinner at Pickfair tonight, which will precede a private showing of Doug's new picture, "Mr. Robinson Crusoe." . . . The location trip of the Salomy Jane company to Sequoia National park will be a husbands and wives affair. Mrs. Raoul Walsh, Mrs. Charles Farrell, Mrs. Ralph Bellamy, and Mrs. Gene Markey are going along to keep their spouses company. . . . After shaking hands with one of our haughtier stars, a certain Hollywood wag went around flipping his fingers. To inquiries, he replied: "I think they're frost-bitten." . . . One of the most sensational exploitation stunts is Warner's offer of a year's film contract to the first baby born in the United States on Sept. 13. It's a scheme to promote interest in "Life Belongs," a film centering about a maternity hospital. Here's news of some people you may have been wondering about. Tom Moore, Eddie Nugent and Earle Foxe have been engaged for roles in "Second Fiddle." This is the first picture Joseph Schmitzer will make as an independent producer for R-K-O release. Bill Nigh, also a Hollywood old-timer, will direct. DID YOU KNOW— That Dickie Moore has spent five of his six years before a film camera? And here's a tip—that Jean Harlow carries a tiny elephant in her purse for good luck.

Speech Lauds Marketing Act

Puts Responsibility for Aid to Farmer on Measure

SHENANDOAH, Aug. 12 (AP)—Cooperative marketing has made its greatest strides under the agricultural marketing act, Charles A. Ewing of Chicago, president of the National Livestock Marketing association, said here tonight.

He likened the agricultural marketing system which has existed in the past to that arising by "a group of men telling the owners of a factory that they can go ahead and manufacture things but that they must not sell their output."

Middlemen Fix Commissions
"This right is to be reserved for some middleman who will attend to it on a fixed commission, which they fix regardless of whether or not the price received is sufficient to pay the owners of the factory the cost of production."

"This is about the situation those of us engaged in agriculture have been in," he said in his talk, one of a radio forum series on farm problems.

Advocates New System
Ewing advocated a new currency system handled through an international bank in which each nation could take a share of stock sufficient to revolve its own contribution to world commerce.

He also favored a radical revision of the tax system to relieve the burden on real property, a foreign outlet for agricultural produce and curtailing government expenditures within the income.

Special Work Will Reward Scholarship

Superior scholarship again will be rewarded at the University of Iowa by admission to honor courses in English and history, according to plans for the academic year of 1932-33.

If, at the beginning of their third year in the university, the students have demonstrated their ability to do high quality work in the subject and those closely allied, they will continue study under the honors plan.

Release from work on the level of the average student is the main feature of these courses. The honors student is somewhat of a free lance; he may cut down his hours of scheduled courses and attend other courses just because he is interested in the lectures and not for credit.

Without reference to grades received in regular courses, the final rating of the student is determined by examinations over the areas of work he has covered.

Advisory System to Lighten Worries of Incoming Freshmen

No more bewilderment over selection of courses will harass the freshman who enters the University of Iowa next month.

An advisory system will lighten the worries of the first year student as soon as he reports, Sept. 21 at 1 p.m.

The freshman class will be split into small groups each in charge of a faculty adviser. All questions about choice of courses will be answered by the professors that afternoon and evening and the freshmen will complete their formal registration the following day.

EXPLANATION OF YES-TERDAY'S CARTOON

300 times under fire: Brig. Gen. Joseph Wheeler (1836-1906) resigned a commission in the U. S. army to join the confederacy, where he was successively promoted to the rank of colonel, brigadier, cavalry commander of Bragg's army, major general, and lieutenant general. He was very conspicuous as a raider in the Civil war, having the destruction of more than $3,000,000 of U. S. property, to his "credit." He led the advance in every forward movement of his forces, and always covered the rear in a retreat. For a long time he fought almost daily, dismounting his force for battle when necessary.

Battles connected with his name are Chickamauga, Ring-Gap, Macon, Augusta, Savannah, Johnsonville, Bentonville, and numerous others. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war General Wheeler went to Cuba as major general of volunteers in command of a cavalry division, adding the battles of Las Guasimas and San Juan to his past laurels.

Altogether "Fighting Joe" Wheeler commanded in more than 200 battles and was under fire 900 times. He had a long and enviable record as congressman, and was a U. S. brigadier general, retired, when he died.

Albie Booth's Secret Bride Does Not Fear Film Vamps

The Romantic Details of Just Why the "Only Girl" of Yale's Great Halfback Stayed Home in New Haven While the "Mighty Atom" Went to the Coast to Make a Football Talkie.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Mrs. Albie Booth—the childhood sweetheart who secretly married the "mighty atom" of the Yale gridiron a month ago—did what a lot of more jealous wives would never do. She allowed the great Eli back to go to Hollywood—alone!

"Am I afraid that Albie will fall in love with one of those beautiful movie stars?" she repeated when interviewed at the offices of the Southern New England Telephone company where she was employed as a stenographer. "No, I am not at all afraid of that. We have been sweethearts since our kindergarten days and we always will be in love with each other."

Wed Secretly
Mrs. Booth, the former Marion Noble, and the "mighty atom" were wed secretly at Branford, a little community about 10 miles from New Haven on July 4. Less than two weeks later the groom left the arms of his pretty, round-faced bride as a star of the Eastern football team that was slated to meet a hand-picked eleven composed of Western college players in connection with the Olympic games.

She returned to her job with the telephone company and Albie resigned from the team to make a football talkie called "All American" in Hollywood. Not even the parents of the couple knew of the nuptials until a few days ago when Marion told a friend who told a friend who told—your courageous prohibition declaration. It opens a way for the nation's dry forces to return to the fight against liquor. Please count on my support in any possible way."

New Jersey Representatives

Representative Bacharach, New Jersey: "I extend my heartiest congratulations upon your fine speech of acceptance."

Senator Capper of Kansas: "Your speech is a well-grounded foundation upon which we can build for a successful campaign."

Walter P. Chrysler, automobile manufacturer: "It was most effective, forceful and frank and no one can have any doubt where you stand."

R. R. Moton, Negro educator, president of Tuskegee Institute: "There has been no address or state paper since Abraham Lincoln's second inaugural address that compares to it."

"municipal corruption fosters lawlessness and encourages the violation of the prohibition law and every other law."

The union president said dry advocates have no reason to believe those who demand modification "would obey any more willingly the restrictions which would of necessity have to be placed on a reinstated traffic than they did the restrictions of prohibition."

Advocates Educational Drive
She advocated a governmental campaign to educate citizens on the effects of alcohol and asked strengthening of the national prohibition law "to make it easier to convict violators of the law."

"We women know intuitively," she said, "that money spent for liquor cannot be spent for the benefit of the home, so that no claims that the restoration of the liquor traffic will relieve the depression can convince us that such claims are justifiable."

Attacking government liquor administration elsewhere, Mrs. Boole said "the only great profit in English business today is in the brewery business, which is still paying dividends ranging from seven to 25 per cent per annum."

Tells of Dissatisfaction
She said there is dissatisfaction in Sweden and Finland with restrictive measures. "Canadian government officials," she asserted, "show a tremendous increase in drinking, drunkenness and crime."

In her belief, "the 18th amendment, even imperfectly observed and enforced, has to its credit great social and economic gains. . . We have saved the lives of 180,000 men who would have died of drink. This is a greater achievement in a decade than the work of the Rockefeller Research bureau can claim in all the years of its existence."

Retorts Wet Charge
The wet charge that all young people drink was retorted, she said, by the signatures of 1,042,000 young men and women between the ages of 14 and 30 to the youth's roll call, pledging themselves to total abstinence and support of the 18th amendment.

Recalling that the union has supported the president in all his plans to better enforcement, it has not been satisfied, she said, "where well known votes have been appointed to important places," but without criticism because "we were determined not to hamper the administration."

Mrs. Boole called upon dry candidates to reject platform planks for modification or repeal, and "to state frankly their determination to vote against either proposition."

Returns $500 to Treasurer
DES MOINES, Aug. 12 (AP)—State Senator Lew MacDonald of Cherokee, returned $500 to the state treasurer. The sum was received under the legislative expense account act, recently held unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

the way to a thoughtful nation. I know you will be re-elected."

Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, said he had informed the president he believed his speech would "satisfy everybody," and that while there had been no major campaign contributions thus far a drive for funds would be initiated Monday.

He said Silas Strawn would be in charge of collections in Chicago and Jeremiah Milbank in New York.

Meager Comment on Liquor

Comment upon the prohibition section was comparatively meager.

Representative Beck (R. Pa.), leader of a house anti-prohibition bloc, reported upon leaving the White House that "speaking as an individual I told Mr. Hoover his speech satisfied my conscience as a wet to vote for him."

Representative Hull of Illinois, chairman of the foreign language division of the Republican campaign, said he approved the address as an anti-prohibitionist, and would back the president upon it.

Asks Aid in Employment

Cooperation on the part of townspeople who wish to hire student help this winter is requested by B. W. Robinson, director of the student employment bureau in Iowa Union.

Mr. Robinson has been interviewing an average of 40 students every day and predicts that there will be an unusually large number in need of employment this fall. Applications for work are coming from all parts of the state, he said.

Mr. Robinson said that he did not wish to interfere in any way with the work of the American Legion Unemployment Relief association, which is seeking work for unemployed Iowa City residents.

He made a special request, however, that all persons who contemplate hiring students, either for room and board or for occasional work, notify his office in the near future. The new telephone number of the employment office is 2111, extension 541.

JUST three games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates and only three and one half games behind the first place Chicago Cubs—no, those Brooklyn Dodgers are not to be considered out of this year's tight National League pennant race. Yesterday when they nosed out the Giants while the Boston Braves were losing to the Phillies (another outfit to bear watching) to climb to third place. Manager Max Carey and Brooklyn players still hold the idea which they held at the first of the year of coming out on top and it would probably take a lot of talking to convince them otherwise.

While they started slow, their play in the last month has been near sensational, would be considered such but for Pittsburgh's big fold-up and the rise of the Cubs back to first again. Not so long ago they were way back in the second division, but then they started the big push. And one of the big factors in the Dodger success is none other than Hack Wilson, the big flop of the 1931 season now staging a big comeback effort. To date he has collected 19 home runs and is hitting well over the .300 mark.

ANOTHER big part of the Carey offense is Lefty O'Doul, National league batting champion in 1929 who has risen to late to the top of the Big Six of both major leagues and has pulled many games out of the fire with his timely and heavy hitting. Lefty himself is one of the most confident members of the team. The big outfielder is sure of his own ability now and is satisfied with the way the other players are coming through, that is, if a sufficient pitching staff was provided to back up the hitting department. It is in pitchers, dependable ones, that the Dodgers are especially weak.

More because of the pennant hopes than building for next season, was the recent purchase of Walter Beck from the Memphis team of the Southern association. Pitching sensationally this summer, the big right hander, who has had several tries in the majors before, is expected to add considerably to the defensive of Brooklyn. Outside of a few moundsmen, the rising Dodgers' staff is crippled considerably and they would never get anywhere without additions such as that of Beck. But pitching cannot be considered the only weak department, take first base for instance.

WHEN Del Bissonette was injured in spring training, Long George Kelly was hastily drafted into service. While he was weak defensively, the old timer was a dependable hitter. Then recently Bud Clancy was brought in from the minors and has been playing a bang-up defensive game, but he is weak in hitting. But if Bissonette tries to take his place again this year, both departments will be strengthened. If he hits like in other seasons, his batting will have telling effect. Then, too, he is an excellent fielder. But the Dodgers will not win the pennant unless they can beat the Cubs and Pirates.

Yesterday, both Chicago and Pittsburgh were idle, but they return to the close battle again today, the Cubs meeting the rejuvenated St. Louis Cards and the Bucs taking on the last place Cincinnati Reds. At their present rate, the Cubs, in the opinion of this department, will not be dislodged from first place and the pennant unless a number of unseen "breaks" go against Charley Grimm and his boys. While their rise to the top again had mostly to do with Pittsburgh's big drop, the Cubs are making the best record in their current road trip of many seasons.

GENERALLY considered doing well when they break even, the Bruins have piled up nine wins in 13 games and have only three with the Cardinals to do away with before coming home. And six of those triumphs have been chalked up during Charley Grimm's eight game regime. Chicago fans are planning a big celebration, Charley Grimm day, when the Cubs get back to the Windy City where they open with the Boston Braves Monday. In the meantime, the rumored investigation of the Cubs' gambling seems to have dropped out of the picture. Commissioner Landis evidently was just in Pittsburgh to see a good game of baseball.

Japan Sweeps 100 Meter Back Stroke to Pass U.S. in Point Total

U.S. Women Take Relay, Diving Wins

Japan Collects 56 to 46 for U. S.; 3 Events Left

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)
OLYMPIC SWIMMING STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (AP)—The spell of the orient pervaded the aquatic carnival of the tenth Olympiad today, as Japan swept into team leadership with only one day to go.

Olympic records fell in three events before a capacity crowd of 12,000.

Strangely, the only record yet to survive the wholesale submergence was that of the 100 meter backstroke which was the scoring vehicle on which the Nipponese rode into the team lead over the United States, sweeping the first three places.

On the other hand, Uncle Sam's mermals continued to better their standing. Suffering from dislocated ribs and a back injury which she sustained in practice yesterday, Dorothy Poynton, 16 year old Hollywood girl, won the high diving championship in the morning with 40.26 points.

U. S. Sweeps Diving
The event provided another sweep for the United States, with Georgia Coleman of Los Angeles, winner of the springboard title, taking second place. Marion Dale Roper, University of California at Los Angeles coed, was third.

The American women's relay quartet left the rest of the world in its wake as it sliced 9.6 seconds off the Olympic record for 400 meters, winning in 4 minutes 38 seconds.

Masaji Kiyokawa, Nipponese lad of 16, took command of the 100 meter backstroke race from the bark of the gun, and swam in ahead. His time of 1 minute 8.6 seconds was 4-10 of a second short of the world's record and Olympic record set in 1928 by George Kojac of the United States. Second was Toshio Irie, with Kentaro Kawatsu third.

Japan 10 Points Ahead
The sweep for the Japanese gave them a point total of 56, with three events to go, as against 46 for the United States. Triumphs in the relay and diving gave the United States women a total of 30 points for first place in the team standings, with Australia second, with 17, Great Britain third with 15, and Holland fourth with 10.

Knosa Kitamura, the school boy free style exponent, won the first semi-final of the 1,500 meter race in 19:51.6, cutting two-tenths of a second off the Olympic record set in 1928 by Arne Borg of Sweden.

Shozo Makino went Kitamura one better, cutting his teammate's new record down to 19:38.7, by winning the second heat by almost 30 meters.

Eddie Flynn Gains Finals

Semi-Final Bouts on Olympic Program Finished

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)
OLYMPIC AUDITORIUM, Los Angeles, Aug. 12 (AP)—With Olympic boxing crowns just around the turn, survivors in the greatest of international pugilistic competition traded punches tonight in remaining semi-final bouts.

More than 7,000 fans turned out for the next to the last battles in the flyweight, middleweight and heavyweight divisions. Finalists in the bantam, featherweight and welterweight groups were decided this afternoon while the 135 pound and 175 pound men held their semi-finals Thursday night.

Gets Close Decision
Eddie Flynn of New Orleans, dental student of Loyola university, kept the United States' colors raised in the welterweight division when he boxed his way to a close decision over David McCleave of Great Britain.

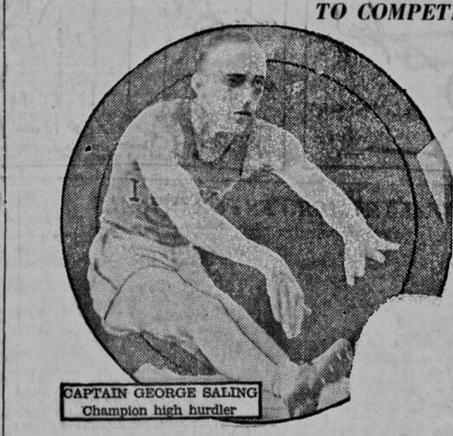

It was a brisk battle with Flynn pressed to the limit by an opponent he had been favored to beat rather easily.

American hopes received a setback in the bantamweight class when Joe Lang of San Francisco lost the decision to Hans Zigmarski, wild swinging German youth, in a semi-final contest. Several hundred fans and a number of critics disagreed with the verdict. A loud chorus of boos was heard when the German was declared the winner. From the press section it appeared Lang had a distinct edge in the milling.

Crowd Boos
Another decision that did not set well with the crowd came in one of the welterweight semi-finals when Erich Campe of Germany had his hand raised over Bruno Ahlberg of Finland. Ahlberg bored in all the time, head down and arms pumping like pistons. Campe countered with his right to good effect. The decision at the most was of the hairline variety.

Saling to Compete on U. S. Shuttle Hurdle Relay Team in British Meet Tomorrow

From an individual championship event to relay racing will be the shift made by George Saling when the University of Iowa hurdler competes Sunday at San Francisco in the dual meet between the United States and the British Empire.

Early information from the coast was to the effect that Saling, the Olympic 110-meter hurdles champion, would run this event against the Empire stars.

Now it is definite that the Iowan will be a member of the 480-yard shuttle relay team, racing in the anchor position over the 120-yard barriers. His companions probably will be Percy Beard, runner-up to Saling for the Olympic title; John

Pearce Wins Event Again

Australian Takes First in Single Sculls; U. S. Leads

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)
MARINE STADIUM, LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 12 (AP)—Demonstrating his complete mastery over the world's foremost amateur scullers, despite an unexpectedly strong challenge from his American rival, Henry Pearce of Australia today captured the Olympic single sculls championship for the second straight time.

Pearce thereby became the first oarsman in Olympic history to repeat in the solo event.

The powerful Australian stood off the closing challenge of Bill Miller of Philadelphia, United States champion, to win the day's feature race by a good three-quarters of a length, in the slow time of 7:44 2-5.

U. S. Takes Lead
Guillermo Douglas of Uruguay and Leslie Southwood of Great Britain finished third and fourth, outdistanced.

Four of the seven Olympic championships were decided during the afternoon and the United States jumped into the lead for team honors by scoring its first victory in Olympic history in the final for pair-oared boats, with coxswain.

In the last event of the day two Philadelphia boys from the Penn A. C., Charley Keiffer and Joe Schavers, with the veteran Ed Jennings steering, scored a decisive victory over Poland, with France third and Brazil last.

Scores 15 Points
Great Britain and Germany divided the day's other honors. The veteran British pair-oared combination, Clive and Edwards, without coxswain, beat New Zealand, Poland, and Holland handsly.

With four titles decided, the Big George Earnshaw, one of Connie Mack's ace hurlers, went down in defeat before the Boston Red Sox yesterday even though he allowed only seven hits, one of them a homer by Smead Jolley. Ivy Paul Andrews, though, went him one better and allowed only six safe bingles.

Grid Practice Month Away

Expect 75 to Answer Call of Solem on Sept. 15

A month from Monday—Sept. 15—some 75 young men will troop out on old Iowa field, there to begin practice for the University of Iowa's football season.

And for the first time since 1924, Hawkeye players will be greeted by a new head coach, Oscar Martin Solem, whose Drake eleven won 61 per cent of their games, will begin his task of developing a winning percentage for the state university.

If some of the veterans have removed scholastic barriers during the summer, Coach Osole will have 17 major "I" men, a dozen of whom are seniors, as well as an abundance of sophomore backs and several big and efficient new linemen.

Practically all of the candidates had their first lessons in Solem's style during spring practice, the most successful April and May drills ever conducted here.

So the men, having mastered the fundamental technique, will be ready almost at once for vigorous and intensive drill twice daily during each of the nine days prior to the opening of classes.

Bradley Tech, to be met Oct. 1, will warm the Iowans up for successive October conference games with Wisconsin, Indiana, and Minnesota, of which the Badgers and the Hoosiers will be played away from home.

These Are the Vets
These are the major letter men with whom Coach Solem hopes to shake hands next month: Linemen—Marcus Magnusson of Clinton, Edward Dolly of Rock Island, III., Thomas Moore of Waterloo, Tullio DellaVedova of Ottumwa, Leo Samuelsen of Decorah, Sam Meltzer of Muscatine, John Stutsman of Greeley, Colo., Eugene Clearman of Iowa City, Raymond Fisher of Des Moines, Kenneth Trickey of Iowa Falls, Robert Lourek of Davenport, and Harold Swaney of Grinnell.

Backs—Philip Thurtell of Mason City, Jerome Kriz of Cedar Rapids, Randahl Hiekman of Chariton, Joe Laws of Colfax, and Howard Moffitt of Iowa City.

Yanks Drop Exhibition With Scranton, 1-0

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 12 (AP)—The New York Yankees bowed in 1-0 defeat before 6,000 fans in an exhibition game today to Scranton of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

American oarsmen led with 15 points, Poland and Great Britain were tied for second with 13 each, while Australia had 19, thanks to Pearce's victory, Germany the same and New Zealand 8.

The regatta will be completed tomorrow with the University of California's undefeated crew, representing the United States, battling Canada, Italy and Great Britain in the feature event for eight-oared loads.

Tribe Wins to Gain Tie for Second

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12 (AP)—Sterling pitching by Clint Brown enabled the Indians to hand Detroit its second straight defeat of the series, 3 to 1, and regain a tie for second place today.

Brown held the Tigers to six hits and kept them scoreless until the eighth when he yielded three safe blows. Since Philadelphia lost to Boston, the victory put the Tribe back on even terms with the Athletics in their battle for second place.

The Indians made all their runs off Vic Sorrell in the third inning. Score by innings: R. H. E. Detroit.....000 000 010-1 6 2 Cleveland.....003 000 009-3 7 0 Batteries—Sorrell, Uhle and Hayworth; Brown and Myatt.

Andrews Checks A's as Red Sox Win, 2-1

BOSTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Paul Andrews held the Athletics to five hits today as the Boston Red Sox scored a 2 to 1 win to end a losing streak that had reached 11 games. Andrews struck out Simmons his first three times at bat. Jolley hit a home run off Earnshaw in the sixth.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Philadelphia.....000 000 100-1 5 1 Boston.....100 001 009-2 6 2 Batteries—Earnshaw and Cochran; Andrews and Connolly.

Klein Collects Two Homers as Phils Win

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12 (AP)—Chuck Klein set the Phillies home run machinery into action today and paced the Phils to an 8 to 1 victory over the Boston Braves. The defeat dropped Boston to fourth place.

Klein hit two homers, his thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth of the season, and the second came with the bases full in the fifth inning. Later Virgil Davis hit his fourteenth homer and Hal Lee his sixteenth, giving Philadelphia seven runs by the circuit circuit method.

Phil Collins chalked up his twelfth victory of the year by holding the Braves to six hits.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Boston.....000 010 000-1 6 0 Philadelphia.....100 150 109-8 14 0 Batteries—Selbold and Spohrer; Collins and Davis.

May Bring Farmers to Task for Destroying 300 Pounds of Cream in Company Truck

Action Taken Because Driver Refused to 'Strike'

LEMARS, Aug. 12 (AP)—Action was considered imminent tonight against two Plymouth county farmers who poured out 300 pounds of cream from a Cherokee creamery company truck whose driver refused to accede to their demands that he observe a farmers' non-selling movement.

Meanwhile it was learned that five milk trucks had been seized by strikers near Kingsley. This milk the strikers distributed among the poor.

Farmers Truulent
Buyers here reported that farmers, who joined a strike inaugurated Monday by the Farmers Holiday Association of Iowa in an effort to raise farm produce prices to a cost of production basis, were truulent, and that this vicinity faces a serious shortage of milk, eggs, and butterfat.

County authorities here carefully withheld names and particulars of the incident involving the creamery truck but they are said to have identified the two men who are known to be supporters of the selling strike.

Asked Not to Collect Cream
The driver of the truck had been asked by Plymouth county farmers not to collect cream along his route during the 30 day period set as the duration of the holiday. This he refused to do, and set out as customary on his route.

The housewife at the farm where the incident occurred said she recognized the two farmers. It was held likely that they would be prosecuted here. LeMars is the seat of Plymouth county.

Attempt to Trace Move
It could not be learned tonight whether the seizure of the cream or the confiscation of the milk could be traced to a milk strike now in progress in Sioux City, largest market center in this territory in the northwest corner of Iowa.

At Cherokee, produce buyers said they felt no shortage of products as a result of the selling strike. Similar reports have been received since the beginning of the farmers' holiday from most Iowa cities, and today's incidents were the first breaks in what gave promise to be a "passive resistance campaign."

Charity Organizations May Combine in Order to Carry on Poor Relief

Possibility of the combination of local charities for relief work this winter was discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion Unemployment Relief association last night.

According to Charles Kennett, president, the committee agreed that unemployment in Iowa City will greatly increase this winter and united effort on the part of the charities will be necessary to handle the situation.

"I believe that there is no doubt that local charities will be willing to work together during the winter season," Mr. Kennett stated. The board made plans for a drive to raise funds.

New Hoover Cabinet Member Dynamic Business "Go-Getter"

Recently-Appointed Roy D. Chapin, Who Takes the Secretary of Commerce Portfolio, Has Had a Whirlwind and Successful Career as a Motor Car Industry Executive.

DETROIT — Roy D. Chapin, newly-appointed secretary of commerce in President Hoover's cabinet, is a two-fisted go-getter. In plugging into the big job of overseeing the national economic panorama, Mr. Chapin has one objective—selling the idea of prosperity to the American people.

"You know," he said when interviewed at his palatial home at Grosse Point, Mich., "there is today a general feeling of optimism in the air. People are tired of playing with the depression. You can almost reach out and touch it, it's that tangible. People are tired of the depression. They are determined to fight it, and once an American decides to fight he's happier."

Mr. Chapin ought to know. He's one of the biggest of the "big shots" in the motor car industry—the business which is credited in many quarters with pulling the United States out of the economic dumps in the business lull that followed the World War. High-pressure salesmanship was the ace that won the day and once the wheels of the great automobile shops in Detroit were turning all the rest of the nation picked up.

Mr. Chapin is 54 years old. In his new post he succeeds Robert P. Lamont, who resigned to become head of the American Iron and Steel Institute, which represents about 95 per cent of the steel producers of the United States.

If any one can sell America the idea of prosperity it should be the new secretary. He started his career 31 years ago with the Olds Motor company and through the more than three decades of his working life he has become a figure of ever-increasing stature.

Mr. Chapin is a typical American business leader of middle age. Round-faced, alert-eyed, he has a firm, decisive mouth. In the automobile in-

Wheat Prices Tumble With Stock Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Vulnerable to the effects of stock market weakness, wheat fell almost 3 cents a bushel today, and ended at the day's bottom level.

Increasing receipts of spring wheat, together with emphasis on a big exportable North American surplus and good rains in the Canadian northwest, were contributing bearish factors. Some of the selling of wheat was attributed to disappointment concerning President Hoover's references to agricultural subjects in his acceptance speech.

Wheat closed unsteady, 2 1/4-2 5/8 under yesterday's finish, corn 1 1/4-5/8 down, oats 1 1/4-3/8 up, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

Heavy selling from commission houses attended the final break in wheat, and was accompanied by unconfirmed rumors of an agreement at Ottawa giving Canadian wheat a 2 cent British empire preference.
