Iowa City Mercury Aims at 90 Degrees

After a week of steady climbing, Iowa City mercury almost reached the 90 mark yesterday, stopping short by only one degree.

In the afternoon the air became almost heavy with humidity and the ragged clouds began taking shape before an increased southwest wind. At 7 p.m. the temperature had dropped only 9 degrees from the high of the day.

America Has Taken for Its Own Europe's Exacting Standard of Music, Says Daily Iowan Critic

By MARTIN BRUHL (Guest Music Critic, The Daily Iowan)

America's sudden conversion to classical music is one of the most hopeful symptoms of our growing culture. It seems we have taken for our own Europe's exacting standard of music; whether we have merely bought it or earned it honestly remains to be seen.

Lands Group's Sincerity Sergej Rachmaninoff recently stated that the greatest thing in art is sincerity; sincerity is the keynote of the activities of the all-star high school groups that meet at Iowa's cultural capital each summer.

First Capital Buys National Bank Building

Obtains New Location at Purchase Price of $25,000

For $25,000, or $1,000 a front foot, the new First Capital State bank bought the building formerly occupied by the First National bank at a receiver's sale yesterday morning.

The bank expects to move into its new building Jan. 1, 1933, after remodeling. A $2,500 down payment was made yesterday in cash and the balance of the $25,000 is to be paid to the receivership of the First National bank Dec. 31.

Includes Lot Purchase of the building included the lot, 25 by 70 feet, on which it stands, on the corner of Dubuque and Washington streets.

The remainder of the ground occupied by the building was held by the First National bank under 99 year leases from Anna Landsburg and J. E. Kramer. Under the terms of the leases, the property, 45 feet on Dubuque street and 70 deep, may be sold outright to the bank at the option of the owners. These leases were assigned yesterday by C. O. Craig, receiver for the First National bank, to the new bank.

Reserves Space Mr. Craig, under the sale contract, reserved the right to sufficient space in the building to carry on the work of the receivership. This will include the board room, to be used for the receivership office, desk space for a secretary in the outer office, and storage room in the basement for records and supplies.

The sale was approved yesterday morning by District Judge R. G. Popham. Kenneth M. Dunlop of Iowa City and H. E. Spangler of Cedar Rapids, attorneys for the receivership, assisted Mr. Craig at the sale. Frank D. Williams, vice president and cashier, represented the First Capital State bank.

Motorman Hanging to Train Snatches Baby From Wheels

LORAIN, Ohio, Aug. 24 (AP)—Hanging from the pilot of a speeding limited of the Lake Shore electric interurban line, Motorman Bill Lang today scooped from beneath the wheels of his car three year old Lella Smith as she played on the tracks.

Lang, one of the veteran motormen of the line, had brought the limited about a curve when he noticed what appeared to be a bundle between the rails.

Looking sharply, he saw it was a baby—Lella, playing with her doll. Applying the brakes to the car, traveling 55 miles an hour, Lang flung himself through the door and onto the pilot barely in time to snatch up the baby.

Lang brought her into the cab and on to Lorain, where hospital nurses attended her injuries as little more apparently than a cut head and bruised arm. Lang took the limited on to Toledo.

Hurley Raps Promises of Demo Choice

Hailed as Answer to Roosevelt's Talk in Ohio

ROCKY POINT, R. I., Aug. 24 (AP)—Saying Franklin D. Roosevelt "has suggested no program, save the vague references to a new deal," Secretary Hurley paid tribute to "the Hoover non-partisan reconstruction program" in an address today to the Rhode Island Republican club.

The speech, which had been hailed at Republican national committee offices in Washington as an answer to the one in Ohio last week by the Democratic nominee, was at a clamor prior to another appearance by the cabinet member at Providence today.

Praises Hoover's Views Mr. Hurley praised President Hoover's exposition of views in accepting renomination, asserting: "For constructiveness of purpose, definiteness of purpose, definiteness of program and for intellectual decency the Hoover acceptance speech has already taken its place in the minds of the American people among the outstanding papers of the Republic. Contrast the words and the spirit of the Hoover address with the carping criticism, the unsupported charges, the indefinite, impractical and floundering suggestions of the Columbus address of Governor Roosevelt."

Raps Roosevelt "From the very beginning of this campaign, Governor Roosevelt continuously has attempted to arouse class antagonism, to capitalize discontent, to make politics out of human misery and to profit by distortion of fact."

"Up to this moment, the governor has not stated whether he approves or disapproves of the program of the Roosevelt administration."

Authorities Label Actions of "Strikers" as Felonious in Moves to Curb Holiday

Council Bluffs Sheriff Takes Steps to Clear Roads

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Aug. 24 (AP)—Compelled to action by fast-moving developments, some of which they term felonious, county officials tonight moved to curb picketing by adherents here of a farmers' non-selling campaign.

Sheriff P. A. Lainsow of Council Bluffs, mobilized 98 special deputies, armed them with clubs and guns and instructed them to chase from Pottawattamie county highways all striking farmers who have hoped to get higher produce prices by preventing farm products from reaching markets.

Lainsow's squadrons were not long in clearing three major highways and one lesser road of picketers. Twelve farmers from Missouri Valley and Denison, were arrested and charged with unlawful assembly.

A meeting was conducted here late today of sheriffs from eight southwestern Iowa counties, who planned a course of action whereby convoys would be furnished trucks as far as the Pottawattamie county line, from where Sheriff Lainsow would provide escorts.

Similar Action Started Similar actions were started by officials in other communities, as

Brother of Slain Tobacco Heir Says Reynolds Murdered

Expresses Belief After Arrival From Ocean Trip

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Aug. 24 (AP)—A belief that his brother, Smith, was a victim of murder and not a suicide, was expressed by R. J. (Dick) Reynolds, Jr., in an interview here today.

Just arrived from the Canary Islands after a 12,000 mile trip by steamer, plane and automobile, the ruddy-faced 220-pound heir to the Reynolds tobacco millions said his opinion of the tragedy was based on a study of the testimony taken before a coroner's jury which July 12 blamed the death of young Reynolds on unknown parties.

Smith Reynolds, 20 year old aviation enthusiast, was fatally shot July 6 at Reynolds, the family estate here, shortly after the conclusion of a gay birthday party at which witnesses said quantities of corn whiskey and homebrewed beer were drunk.

"Smith was a very level-headed boy," Dick said. "I knew him better, perhaps, than anyone else. When I received a brief cable telling of his death, I felt sure he had not taken his own life. I thought probably it had been an accident."

He answered sharply in the negative when asked if he thought his brother was a suicidal temperament, or expressed an inferiority complex.

Miss Holman, in testifying at the coroner's hearing, asserted her husband was the victim of an inferiority complex.

Tells Story of Flyers' Crash

St. Johns Aviator Brings Account of Dashed Flight Hopes

FORT MENIER, Anticosti Island, Aug. 24 (AP)—The "Flying Hutchinsons" completed the second lap of their flight across the north Atlantic today when they landed here at 4:45 p.m. (C.S.T.) from St. John, N. B.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 24 (AP)—Douglas Fraser, St. John's aviator, returned tonight with the first story of the crash which ended the transatlantic flight hopes of Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen and their escape from death after their plane had plunged into the waters of Darby's Harbour.

The flyers left New York yesterday on a projected hop to Oslo, Norway, but wrecked their ship in the sparsely settled community on Placentia bay while trying to find a safe landing place. Little was heard from them until Fraser flew to the tiny fishing village.

Escape Injury Fraser found the flyers had escaped serious injury, but that their plane was wrecked. Solberg told him he had planned a landing due to storm and fog at Burgeo, where Clyde Lee and John Bochkon of Barre, Vt., dropped their plane, but had decided the location was unsafe. They attempted to find a more favorable spot, Solberg said but were overtaken by a terrific storm. The Jack McLeod, tenor, sang a group of songs. He was accompanied by George Leonard at the piano. Willis W. Mercer presided at the luncheon.

Exchange Head Labels Testimony in Case as "Misleading"

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—Asserting that much of the testimony presented before the senate stock exchange investigating committee had been "misleading," Richard Whitney today filed a report with the governors of the exchange.

Whitney, the exchange's president, said he had not been permitted to reappear before the senate committee to reply to claims and disclosures made in the testimony, and that he was therefore, in fairness to members of the exchange, making a final report to the governing board.

Points Out "Mistatements" Pointing to "mistatements" contained in the record of the investigation, Whitney said he did not wish to appear to be too critical. He said the exchange had been endeavoring for years to correct abuses of trading, and in its listing requirements, it had "in many instances been in advance of public opinion."

"We welcomed full publicity," he said in regard to the investigation, "because we were confident that if the real facts were understood and the problems which confronted us were appreciated, the public would realize that the exchange, by maintaining in spite of all obstacles, a free and open market for securities, rendered a great service to the nation."

Condemns Abuses The spokesman for the stock exchange condemned certain abuses of power by some individuals, but insisted that the stock exchange had and now is moving to improve practices as rapidly as is practicable. Highlights in his report, follow:

He condemned one of the abuses disclosed at the hearing which showed that money had been paid to employees of the press by persons who were either "speculating in or distributing securities." But much of the testimony submitted on this point, he said, had been misleading and, he added, "I know that the owners and publishers of our newspapers and all responsible representatives of the press will join with the exchange in taking whatever action is necessary to stamp out practices of this kind."

Short telling, he insisted, had made it possible to keep the stock

Bar Politics in Hearing on Walker Probe

Roosevelt Refuses to Hear Testimony of Witnesses

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Governor Roosevelt today closed the door on admission of political testimony in the hearing to determine whether Mayor James J. Walker of New York city will be removed from office.

This testimony was intended, the mayor claimed, to show the legislative investigation of the city government was inspired by Republican leaders to embarrass the Tammany Democratic organization and Governor Roosevelt in his presidential candidacy.

Challenges Appearance When State Senator Westall of Westchester county, first of eight leaders summoned by the mayor, was called to the stand, Roosevelt challenged his appearance. The governor called on John J. Curtin, Walker's chief of counsel, for an explanation of what he wanted to show.

"I want to go to the genesis of the Hofstadter committee—the motive behind it," said Curtin.

"What relevancy has it in this case," countered Roosevelt, "I'm dealing here with charges. The motives are, in my judgment, wholly irrelevant. The same is true of the legislature. Testimony as to the motives of the members of the legislature or others cannot be received by me."

Yeses Curtin's Contentions Roosevelt also refused to record Curtin's contention that the counsel to the committee, Samuel Seabury, was selected by W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman. Macy appeared here today to testify, but left with others of the Republican group when Roosevelt declined to hear them.

In his answer to Seabury, Walker said the Republicans also hoped "to divert public attention from those responsible for the dreadful condition of affairs throughout the nation."

In a supplemental brief, filed with Supreme Court Justice Staley today, Mr. Curtin said: "It must be borne in mind that this case is far bigger than James

Commission Judges Slayer of Son-in-Law Insane After Exam

DES MOINES, Aug. 24 (AP)—Eliza Jones, confessed slayer of her son-in-law, Tom Allen, today was declared insane by a special commission of sanity experts following an examination.

The commission, composed of R. A. Stewart of Independence, C. M. Macklin of Mt. Pleasant, and Leonard Ristine of Cherokee, questioned Jones at length in the offices of the state board of control.

Members of the commission were appointed by the Taylor county district court following the killing of Allen on Jones' farm near Bedford last July.

Chief J. E. Ridsden of the state bureau of criminal investigation, said that the finding of the commission meant that Jones probably would be placed on trial as to his sanity rather than on a murder charge.

Shotguns, Pistols, Clubs Used to Repel Movement

Gunfire Directed at Tires

—CHRISTOPHER, Ill., Aug. 24 (AP)—Guns blazed tonight as a force of more than 500 deputy sheriffs repelled the first attempt of approximately 15,000 striking miners from north and central Illinois to invade Franklin county to close coal mines operating under the new $5 daily wage contract.

Gunfire Directed at Tires Shotguns, pistols and clubs were used by the deputy sheriffs in the first clash of the long-threatened mine war, but the gunfire was directed chiefly at the tires of the strikers' automobiles and trucks, two miners were slightly wounded by gunfire and at least 100 of the invading miners were injured by blows from clubs.

In the confusion of the rout, the strikers deserted about 300 of their automobiles and trucks, the tires of which had been pierced by bullets and the windshields shattered by clubs. Attempting to make a hasty retreat, drivers ran their cars into ditches or into cornfields alongside the road where the attack occurred near the western border of Franklin county.

Escape Into Fields As their automobiles crashed into ditches, the miners escaped into the fields and woods and struck back westward to join the main body of the strikers.

Five of the injured and wounded strikers were treated at the Duquoin hospital. After being routed, the marchers retreated westward to Duquoin and then headed north. The leaders did not announce their destination.

Stocks and the Small Investor

FOR THE LAST month the New York stock market has been gaining, except for some momentary setbacks. Prices have not yet approached the level long considered normal, but still the gain is distinctly noticeable.

Demonstrating that the tragic experience of October, 1929, taught no very lasting lesson to the small buyer, workers and small business men are again paying close attention to the fluctuations of this and that share. Comments are again heard on paper values gained or lost on the street.

True, the dangers of buying on margin seem to have been remembered, and not so much money has yet been gained or lost. But the age-old love of gain without effort is flaming again. And in spite of still short credit another lesson bids fair to be learned.

For economists the nation over are pointing out that the stock market is no thermometer of prosperity. They have pointed out time and again that the present rise in stocks is due only in small part to actual business conditions. That it is, in other words, more speculative than real.

It is, then, nothing for the average man to play with. For those whose business it is to profit from the rise and fall of values, perhaps it is all right. And perhaps, too, they know what they are doing. But few have the time or the knowledge to dabble intelligently in stocks. By buying outright they will probably eventually lose nothing. But in order to realize on the interest they have a right to expect from any investment, or even to get out with their investment intact will probably still take some time.

Consequently, the man with little money would much better give his support to municipal bonds, banks, or building and loan companies. At least he'll have a chance to see where it goes.

A Score for College Athletics

THOSE WHO are critical or even skeptical of collegiate athletics will probably find surprises in the study by Moses Thisted, whose findings are printed in the news columns of today's DAILY IOWAN.

Mr. Thisted reveals that alumni of the university who were active as students, either in athletics or extra-curricular subjects, are now more successful financially than those who were non-active.

It is more remarkable, however, that nearly all of the former athletes would participate in athletics again if they had the opportunity, while more than half of the non-athletic group assert that they would do likewise if they had their college days to live over again.

There may be significance in the fact that former students who were active on the campus now reside in larger cities, while the non-active men live in smaller towns. This seems to indicate that those who became accustomed to mingling freely with others while attending the university preferred to rub elbows with a greater number of persons in their life work.

Although Mr. Thisted received answers to only about 51 per cent of the 1,000 questionnaires mailed to alumni, approximately the same number in all three groups failed to cooperate in his study. This tends to invalidate the possible criticism that the athletes appear to be the most successful because only the successful athletes answered the questionnaire.

The study was made among the graduates who finished their work from 1905 to 1925.

More Government Business

THE SHANNON CONGRESSIONAL committee, now on a road tour of the country to find out just how much business the government is really in, and what other businessmen think of their federal competitor, is finding out plenty.

Now it's a protest against the government's activities in the field of medicine, earlier it was a barge line on the Mississippi, before that it was utilities, and before that any number of ordinary commodities.

Before the committee is through with its work and ready to report to the next session of congress it will have listened to tradesmen in all commodities, manufacturers of almost every conceivable product, railroads and other carriers. And all that in addition to the sidelines carried at a chain of government stores at army and penitentiaries. Whether the report of the investigators will be read in full and acted upon are two different matters.

There are quite a number of good reasons why the government ought to keep out of business entirely. On the other hand, the government, doubtless, has any number of good reasons why it ought to stay in. There are some functions that individual enterprise cannot adequately handle, but there are others in which government competition only appears meddlesome.

Government "business" sets up a system of self-competition in which the private businessman is faced with the situation of paying taxes to support a competitor. It also goes far to reduce individual opportunity and initiative.

Government business is basically unsound in an economic sense, for no special attempt need be made to place it on a paying basis. Whatever losses are incurred can be made up by tax levies.

The Shannon investigators may discover that government competition is unfair to producers and carriers that are now operating under a loss, and that where there are no private enterprises, the government carries on its business unchallenged. From that it might be concluded that in boom times no one takes much notice of government competition. Nevertheless, the inquiry is justified; that is, if its findings are used to good advantage in December.

TODAY'S TOPICS

BY FRANK JAFFE

Just what business leaders throughout the country think of the decision of the clerk of the house of representatives to publish all future loans of the Reconstruction Finance corporation is vague and unascertainable, since repercussions following the first publications of recipients and amounts they received are slow in making themselves heard.

There may be something to the argument that publication of the loans to banks, for example, will undo the good work of the R.F.C. in that it will harm the credit of the institution that the corporation is trying to benefit. And at a time when the government and other agencies are exerting stupendous efforts to revive confidence in the business and banking structure of the nation, information to the effect that certain banks in certain districts are receiving help from the federal loan fund may lead depositors to doubt the soundness of their particular institution, thereby nullifying the benefits of the loans.

On the other hand, at least two persons—both members of the house banking committee—believe that publication of the loans will be beneficial rather than destructive because the "best evidence of a bank's soundness is its ability to borrow from the corporation."

Charles G. Dawes, former president of the Reconstruction corporation, was cited in the most notable example of many banks that have sought publicity in connection with loans. When Dawes' bank in Chicago needed cash, the former vice president and ambassador to England "flushed into print" with news of an $85,000,000 authorized loan.

It takes a certain amount of clear thinking to grasp the connection between a Reconstruction loan and a needy bank. If a bank is about to fail because it cannot liquidate speedily enough to meet the demands of depositors, it cannot obtain help from the R.F.C. unless it has already exhausted all efforts to obtain help from other sources, and unless it is backed by sufficient resources so that it will be able to repay the loan and continue in business on a sound basis.

But there are always the gadabouts who are certain that if the Podunk State bank obtains a $500,000 loan from the R.F.C. it is insolvent, ready to go bust, and will eat up the loan trying to stay in business, leaving the depositors just as flat as they would be if the loan were never obtained. Well, the government has proven itself to be a better businessman than some people might think, and if the Podunk institution cannot show the proper security for the loan, it will never materialize.

There are people who think that if the names of the 43 railroads, 641 building and loan associations, 73 insurance companies, 60 mortgage loan companies, 10 agricultural credit corporations, 14 livestock credit corporations, eight federal land banks, three joint stock land banks, and three credit unions that were the recipients of loans up to the end of last month were made public, the country would be precipitated into a general panic. Well, the loans have been published, some of them anyway, and up to the time this paper went to press no panic was in sight.

Maybe the lack of comment and criticism about the publication of the loans goes to show that there is a returning confidence in the nation's business and credit life, a growing assurance that all's well that ends well, and that if the government is doing a lot of lending it's only to tide the country over a tough spot and that the spot is fast being erased. And, maybe, from now on all government deals will be accorded the sort of publicity that will enable people to think for themselves and understand what it's all about.

Luckless typesetters have to read every word of his books; in your library he usurps grudging shelter in the bright armor of a binding too handsome to be relegated to the dustheap of any married man; the oppressed young have his loathed archaisms included in their "parallel reading" at school. . . . in women's clubs he incurs the stigma of being quoted with approval from the platform, by persons in the bankruptcy of mind appropriate to that deadly eminence; and dear old bishops likewise quote him in their sermons, utilizing his dreams as hypnotics.

Housing Service Office Making Up Lists of Rooms for First Semester, 1932-3

Holmes, has started to make out its list of rooms for unmarried students, and rooms and apartments for married students for the first semester of 1932-3. It is necessary to do this at this time as the office gets many calls for rooms and apartments during the summer months.

This office urges all householders who have rooms and apartments to rent in the fall to advise them early so that their names may be placed on the lists.

The housing service is also making the yearly inspection of rooms at the present time. If there are any householders who have not been on the approved list, and care to take students, they are urged to get in touch with this office, so that the necessary inspection may be made.

Board Warns Against Use of Note-Issuing Privileges

New Money Will Not Tend to Increase Circulation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—The federal reserve board said today that the billion dollar currency power given national banks under the Glass-Bohr amendment to the home loan law was held chiefly by a few large banks and that it exercised fully would affect the reserve system's influence on the general credit situation.

In its monthly review of conditions, the board declared that additional issues of national bank notes at this time would not tend to increase circulation, but only substitute that variety for federal reserve currency.

It sounded a warning of what might be expected if national banks took full advantage of the new law. "The ability of national banks to obtain currency without resorting to the reserve banks will have an effect," the board said, "not only on the volume of federal reserve currency, but also and more importantly on the position of the federal reserve banks and the influence of the federal reserve system on the general credit situation."

"It is these other and remoter consequences," it added, "that may in time be expected to be the most important consequences of the recent legislation enlarging the note-issuing privilege of national banks."

Not in General Use Now
The board said it deemed it unlikely that much use would be made of the privilege now, but that when business improves banks will make use of all the funds available to them and consequently may avail themselves of the privilege to the full extent of the law.

A review of the workings of the new currency law showed that national banks in New York, Chicago and other federal reserve cities have the power of issuing two-thirds of the currency expansion permitted. The board said those banks had unused power to issue $623,000,000 of new currency while the maximum permitted was $916,000,000. Country banks have unused issuing privilege amounting to $253,000,000.

Permits Issuing Currency
The new law permits national banks to issue currency up to their total capital stock upon security of government bonds bearing not more than 3-8 per cent interest. Before passage of the law national bank currency could only be issued on security of 2 per cent Consol and Panama Canal bonds.

The board noted the effect the new law had on the price of two per cent Consol bonds which heretofore, because of their circulation privilege, have sold at a premium. It said that between July 16 and Aug. 1 those bonds had dropped to 98 while the new bonds which now have the circulation privilege have advanced more rapidly in price than other government issues.

The board reported 128 bank failures with deposits of $55,604,000 in July, but that 20 banks with deposits of $68,134,000 had reopened during the month.

Suspensions in June numbered 149 with $135,864,000 deposited. Since Jan. 1, a total of 946 banks have suspended with deposits of $555,219,000. Since that time 187 banks with deposits of $173,000,000 have reopened.

WALKER

J. Walker. It affects not only Walker but every other resident of the city of New York and the city itself.

Walker has petitioned Justice Staley to restrain Governor Roosevelt from removing him.

The hearing moved rapidly today through the last of the defense reply to the Seabury "conclusions." Edward P. Mulrooney, New York city's police commissioner, talked only three minutes. He said a contract for erecting traffic signals on Fifth avenue was let to the Reliance Bronze and Steel company because it made the lowest bid.

Walker Pleads Ignorance

One of Seabury's contentions is that the mayor possessed Reliance bonds, valued at $10,000, in violation of a law that no city official may hold stock in a concern doing business with the city. Walker denied he knew he had the securities. In an effort to shed further light on a letter of credit which helped to finance Mr. Walker's trip to Europe in 1927, two friends of the late State Senator Downing, testified. Downing was a member of the party. Seabury said J. Allan Smith, interested in a bus franchise, supplied the $10,000 letter of credit. Walker answered that the members of the party all "chipped in," he to the extent of $3,000. A $3,000 overdraft figured in the allegation. Seabury said Smith also paid that for the mayor in whose name it was made out.

OSKALOOSA (AP)—The annual meeting of the Iowa Friends approved the following officers: E. H. Strahan of Oskaloosa, presiding clerk; Cora Mattison of Oskaloosa, recording clerk; Willard Reynolds of Lynnville, reading clerk; H. William Jones of Indianola, announcing clerk. Drastic cuts in the year meeting budgets were demanded.

Automotive Jobbers Meet

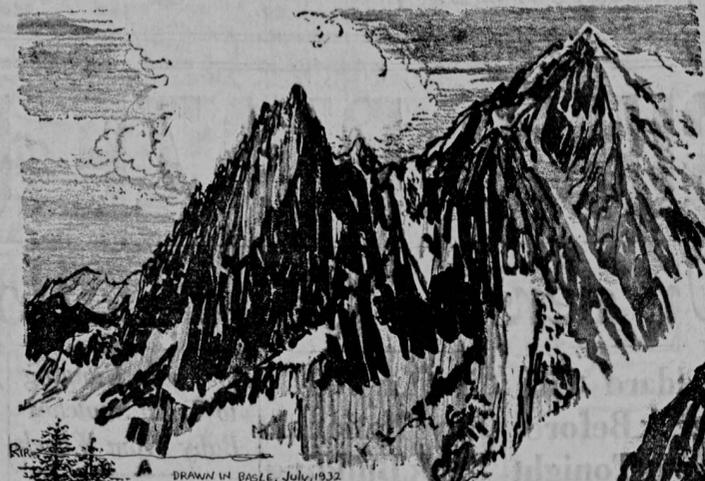

DES MOINES (AP)—Automotive jobbers from 10 cities held a conference here for discussion of their business problems.

Per capita cost of operating the Missouri penitentiary has touched the lowest point in 15 years—about 56 cents per day.

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

By HARRISON CARROLL
STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 24—The impartiality of political candidates is reflected today on the Paramount lot. For "The Phantom President," the studio has signed a blonde, a brunette and a red-head.

The three are the dark haired Kathryn Crawford, crimson-pollled Joyce Compton and Greta Grandstedt of the sunny locks.

They will play, respectively, Nita, Rita and Lita, a fizzy-paced trio of ushersettes for the comedy sequences between George M. Cohan and Jimmy Durante. "The Phantom President" is Paramount's entry in the cycle of political comedies.

The trio of girls all have their screen followings and have played important parts in talking pictures before.

Kathryn Crawford, the brunette, graduated locally from a musical comedy. You'll remember her in Marie Dressler's "Emma."

Miss Compton matched her locks with Clara Bow's in "The Wild Party" for her first important role. More recently she appeared in George Bancroft's "Lady and Gent."

Greta Grandstedt is another discovered for the screen by the lynx-eyed scouts who attend the local stage productions. She appeared in the film, "Street Scene."

The usher in charge of the "starters" at one of Hollywood's recent stage openings was approached by a patron who complained that a woman's constant applause was ruining the show. Checking up, the usher found she wasn't on his list of applause starters. So he challenged her.

"Young man," she snapped, "if I can help it, this show is going to be a success. I run a boarding house and these actors owe me money!"

On the "I'm a Fugitive" set at Warners a Georgian gives technical advice on prison camps and realism to the atmosphere mob.

He keeps out of camera range. The reason he gives is that the extras used in the foreground in the early part of the picture are weeded out for variety later on and jobs are scarce.

He's escaped seven times from road camps and can slip off the whist or ankle shackles as fast as they can be locked on him. He showed me the fetter scars and the marks of chains on his body.

Ripley Explanations

EXPLANATION OF YES-TERDAY'S CARTOON
A charmed bullet: Georges Guynemer, (1819-1917) the French "ace of aces," is credited with having brought down 53 German aircraft between 1915 and 1917. For his many hairbreadth escapes he was thought to be the countrymen to be possessed of a charmed life.
In July 1915, while attacking an enemy, he "caught" a hostile bullet between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand. The bullet had traversed the engine, oil reservoir, the gasoline tank, cartridge box, and his glove, and came to rest between his fingers as they lay encircling the trigger of his gun. The force of the impact made him lose his aim, but other than that he suffered no ill effects from this strange hit.

What Shall I Serve--? A Daily Hint to Hostesses on Tempting Appetites While It's Hot

Date Foods
In the true environment of the date palm, dates are a staple food of the natives. They are to the inhabitants of northern Africa and western Asia what potatoes, bread, and butter are to an American meal—indispensable.
Richness and a rather haunting flavor keeps the diner constantly nibbling at them, making any dish with a flavor of dates as a background desirable in company menus.
Mrs. C. E. Flannagan, 419 Iowa avenue, suggests a date bread and a wafer-like cookie with a date filling for your trial.

Date Bread
Dissolve two level teaspoonfuls of baking soda in two cups of boiling water, and pour over one cup of dates. Cool thoroughly. Beat well two eggs and add one cup of sugar and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. To this add the dates and two and three-quarters cups of bread flour.

Date-Filled Cookies
1-2 c. butter
1 c. sugar
1 egg
4 tbsp. sour cream
1 teas. soda
3 scant cups flour
1 teas. vanilla
Cream the butter and sugar and add the egg. Mix soda with the sour cream, and add to the creamed mixture. Add the flour, and lastly the vanilla. Roll dough out to wafer-like thinness. Cut into shapes, and between two pieces of dough spread the following mixture:
1 pkg. dates, cut fine
1-2 c. sugar
1-2 c. water
Cook until thick. Insert one teaspoonful of filling for each wafer. Makes four dozen.

form themselves into celebrations in the reverential sense of the word.

If it is necessary to explain the band's success with the galling public, it is due to the modern French woodwind combination used by Professor Righter, which is considered ideal by connoisseurs. This refined combination lands itself gracefully to electrical transmission, and if ears accustomed to the blare of the broadcasting brass bands find the tone of this band exotic in open air concert, one can remind Professor Righter that this is the penalty he must pay for speaking ahead of the times and commend his platform.

As well compare modern cinema exhibitions with the refinement in the Louvre.

SPORT Potshots by EUGENE THORNE

Once more, with the Xth Olympiad a matter of history, there is a general exodus of performers from the vast army of amateurs into the ranks of professional athletes.

Many times they are criticized for doing this. The usual charge is that they merely use amateur sports as a method of building up a reputation.

Many of our leading professional boxers have appeared first in amateur tournaments, carrying the colors of some athletic club or other.

Just why there should be such a howl, it is hard to understand. These boys give just as much to the organization which they represent as they get back.

Of course, many amateurs collect enough in "expense" money to keep them very comfortable, and some no doubt manage to put something away, in spite of the eagle eye of the amateur association.

These rules are invaluable, but it is the spirit, rather than the letter, that is important.

It must be said in favor of the association that it must be careful if the spirit of amateur sports is to be maintained.

Charley Grimm and his Chicago Cubs came through nicely in the first game of the important Brooklyn series.

Trouble again appeared in middle west professional baseball circles when the players on the Wichita club of the Western league announced that they would not play any more games following the current series with Oklahoma City unless they were paid back wages due them.

There are approximately 100 sound theaters in the Philippines.

Use of solid rubber tires is prohibited by law in the Gold Coast colony, West Africa.

Cubs Hand Dodgers 7-4 Trimming to Increase Lead to 4 1/2 Games

4 Run Spree in 4th Gives Easy Victory

Bob Smith Takes Over Pitching in Seventh for Root

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Cubs arose in their might as league leaders today and turned back the first bid of the upstart Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 4, as the "crucial series" between the National league's leading pennant contenders opened.

It was more than a mere victory for the Cubs although it went into the records only as a triumph that increased their lead over Brooklyn to 4 1/2 games.

Brooklyn took an early lead, scoring twice off Root in the first inning, but the Cubs opened up in the fourth, put over four runs to take the lead and swatted their way to what was to all appearances an easy triumph.

Despite their defeat, the Dodgers remained a game ahead of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to the Phillies.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 24 (AP)—Boston swamped the Cincinnati Reds with a four run rally in the fifth inning of a first contest today to win 5 to 2, but then lost its punch and dropped the second game, 3 to 1.

Benton virtually won his game in the second inning, his double after Durocher's single putting the Reds ahead. Berger's homer was the invaders only run.

Iowa Golfer Upsets Evans

Bartlett Surprises With Win; Lehman Gets 2 Easy Victories

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 24 (AP)—Charles "Chick" Evans, Chicago's famous veteran of the fairways, turned back the challenge of youth in the western amateur golf championship today only to be rubbed out of the big show by age and experience.

Evans displayed his old-time form in the morning to detrone the defending king of the western amateurs, Don Moe of Portland, Ore., one up, but in the afternoon he hooked up with 43 year old Arthur Bartlett of Ottumwa, Ia., and fell two down.

High Spot of Day Evans' closing fight to stay in the race for a crown he has worn eight times was the high spot of Iowa, California, Wisconsin and the day, which saw stars from Texas sweep to victory in the upper bracket and four Illinois entries dominate the lower allient.

Martin Off Game Ashley beat Martin simply by catching him off his game. He ran up a four-hole lead at nine with a medal tally of 37 to the former Big Ten champion's 41, and breezed in to win.

His morning round victim was Bob Cochran of St. Louis, 3 and 2. Martin survived the first round by routing Frank Justin, Chicago, 3 and 2.

Lehman had a field day, routing Joel Shepherd of Kalamazoo, Mich., 6 and 4, and Arnold Huhta, DeKalb, Ill., 5 and 4.

Charlie Seaver, Stanford football Bliss of Omaha, Bliss beat Bengt cup team, staggered through a first round victory to the 20th hole before beating Frank Renwick, Aurora, Ill., in the afternoon he downed Billy Sixty, Milwaukee sports writer, 4 and 2, going out in 32 strokes.

Gus Moreland of Dallas, Tex., Trans-Mississippi champion, waded through L. E. Bunning, 47 year old Chicagoan in the first round and then eliminated young Rodney Bliss, of Omaha. Bliss beat Bengt Sjostrom, Rockford, 6 and 5, in the morning.

Ira Couch, Chicago, runner-up to Lehman in the 1930 western, breezed in with fairly easy victories.

Caroline Babcock (left), west coast tennis sensation, is shown as she congratulated Helen Jacobs of California, after the latter had beaten her in the final of the national women's single championships to win the title at Forest Hills, L. Cleveland Fails to Hold 1 to 0 First Inning Advantage

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—Charley Ruffing had little trouble scoring his fifteenth victory of the season today as the Yankees pounded out a 9 to 3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Ruffing not only pitched an eight hit game but he contributed two doubles and a single to his own triumph. The Yanks pounded out 16 blows off Brown and Winegarner.

The game looked tight for just two innings with Cleveland holding a 1-0 lead as the result of Bruce Connaster's single and two Yank errors in the first. But in the third the McCarthymen cut loose with four hits, topped off by Tony Lazzeri's homer and took the lead, never to lose it.

Illinois Gridders Will Face Test in Conference Opener

(Special to The Daily Iowan) URBANA, Ill., Aug. 24—Bob Zuppke's youngsters will face a tough one in their opening Big Ten engagement, for their first conference foe will be Northwestern.

The Wildcats, with the prestige of a tie for the Big Ten championship last year and led by Pug Rentner, who helped to account for the downfall of the Illini the last two years, will invade the stadium to play before the homecoming crowd Oct. 15.

From all accounts, Northwestern is certain to be one of the leading conference teams again, for there are numerous reinforcements for the Purple stars who have passed.

After the completion of the Big Ten schedules, Northwestern added a game at Michigan Oct. 8, just a week before the Illinois encounter but the Illini will be pointing for their state foes from the opening practice.

The exigencies of schedule-making send the Illini traveling the next three Saturdays after the Northwestern visit, so Zuppke's lads will not play at home again for a month, entertaining Indiana on Nov. 12. The appearance of "Butch" Nowack, captain of the Illini champions of 1928, as assistant coach of the Hoosiers gives additional interest to this game which will be played before the dad's day guests.

Ohio State, according to tradition, will close the season here Nov. 19. The Buckeyes, it is generally believed, will be strong contenders for the championship.
