OMAHA SHERIFF MAY CALL GUARDS

Communist Demands Hindenburg's Impeachment Mayor Wants Picket's Line Pushed Back

Stand Ready to Break Up Ruling Body

Chancellor Von Papen Has Dissolution Power Ready

BERLIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—The first session of the new Reichstag opened today with a communist demand for the impeachment of President Von Hindenburg and the entire cabinet, and closed under threat of imminent dissolution.

Frau Clara Zetkin, 75 year old "grandmother of the revolution," who occupied the speaker's chair by right of seniority when the session began, declared that the president and the cabinet responsible to him had violated the constitution and deserved being ousted.

When she had completed her indictment of the existing regime, the Reichstag selected as its permanent speaker Hermann Wilhelm Goering, a national socialist leader who has been associated with Adolf Hitler ever since the beer cellar putsch of 1923. This is the first important office in the national government to be won by a Nazi.

May Dissolve Reichstag The Associated Press learned authoritatively that President Von Hindenburg has provided Chancellor Franz Von Papen with a decree dissolving the Reichstag. The date on this decree has been left blank. It is up to the chancellor to decide when and if he shall use it.

This means that simply by promulgating the presidential decree Chancellor Von Papen can forestall a vote of non-confidence which would unseat him and his baronial cabinet.

This historic Reichstag session was full of grotesque contradictions. Although the house is clearly rightist and overwhelmingly anti-communist, there was the grandmother of the communist revolution in the chair.

Follow Woman's Orders Although the right half of the house looked like an army on full march, with the Nazis in the full regalia of their private army uniforms, this parliament of 800 members, most of them men, meekly followed the orders of a frail septuagenarian whose speech was full of attacks on things held dear by the majority of her colleagues.

And to add to the grotesqueness Frau Zetkin was succeeded in the speaker's chair by a representative of communism's most bitter foe—the portly Captain Goering.

The complete eclipse of the socialists, once the strongest party in the Reichstag, was indicated by the fact that not one representative of them was elected to a seat in the presidium.

The Reichstag session was held after President Von Hindenburg at Neudeck, East Prussia, had announced "complete accord" with the economic program and political plans of Chancellor Von Papen's Junker government.

Ready for Disbanding After conferring with the chancellor, the president decided to dissolve the Reichstag just as soon as it attempts to cross the plans of the cabinet.

It is most likely that Herr Von Papen will tell the members of the legislature next week that they must pack their trunks and go home unless—as is rumored in Reichstag lobbies—they decide to behave.

Social Service to Begin Canning Fruit for Needy Families

Tomatoes and apples for the needy will be canned by the social service league Thursday and Friday afternoons. The canning will be done by a group of Iowa City women under the direction of Mrs. W. L. Bywater.

Californians Pick Senate, Congressmen

Vote Heavy in Primary as State Chooses Nominees

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (AP)—With brisk voting reported from various sections, Californians at their statewide primary today selected senatorial and congressional nominees to carry the party banners in the November election.

Early voting in Los Angeles resulted in a prediction by the registrar of the heaviest vote in the city's history. Balloting in San Francisco indicated more than 150,000 votes would exercise their franchise.

In the Democratic contest for U. S. senator a withering fire has centered around William G. McAdoo, national committeeman and head of the Garner delegation to the national convention, and Justus S. Wardell of San Francisco, head of the unsuccessful Roosevelt slate of delegates in the May presidential primary.

Volleys at McAdoo have included charges of evasion on the prohibition question, deserting the party's presidential nominee in 1928 and failure to perform any duty to California worthy of the nomination. Return fire from the McAdoo stronghold branded such charges as false, pointed to his record in the national party and experience in national affairs and said he stood "fairly and squarely" on all planks in the national platform.

On a more quiet front, but with national interest focused on the outcome, Senator Samuel M. Shortridge pressed his campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination.

A dripping wet, State Senator Talant Tubbs of San Francisco; an advocate of prohibition repeal, Leo V. Youngworth, Los Angeles attorney and farmer, and two drys Congressman Joe Crall of Los Angeles, with Anti-Saloon league support, and Robert P. Shuler, crusading minister of Los Angeles. Shuler also seeks the Democratic and prohibition party senatorial nominations and is unopposed for the latter.

Unopposed Choice In the congressional contests one E. Englebright of the second district of the present congressmen, Harry Trict, is unopposed for the Republican and Democratic nominations.

Charles F. Curry, seeking only the Republican nomination in the third district, is without opposition while others have opposition of some kind. The state has been redistricted to allow for nine additional congressmen, allotted because of its increasing population, and some incumbents are thus not running in the districts they represent at present.

Arthur Matthes Hurt in Automobile Crash

Arthur Matthes, 306 W. Benton street, was slightly injured at 7:30 p.m. yesterday when a car he was driving hurried into the ditch off of Riverside drive near Myrtle avenue.

Matthes, who was driving north, was attempting to pass another car when the accident occurred. He tried to swerve back to the right side of the road when he saw a third automobile approaching, but his car whirled into the ditch. He was taken to Mercy hospital and was released after being treated for minor bruises. The car was almost completely wrecked.

Yoder Winner at State Fair Swine Contest

Wellman Man Second; Iowa County Man Wins in Grain

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Carl Holden of Iowa county, one of the state's premier exhibitors of grain for many years, added to his list of winnings today the sweepstakes in their contributions to the city hall.

The fruit, the second supply to be canned this summer, will be distributed for the use of Iowa City's unfortunate families this winter. Lucille Bruner, head of the social service league, said.

In addition he saw the blue ribbon and sweepstakes banner for the best county exhibit go to the Iowa county display, a large part of the work on which Holden performed. Elsewhere about the horticultural exhibit were numerous other ribbons on various of Holden's 66 entries.

Today's winning of the individual exhibit brought to seven the number of consecutive sweepstakes in this class which Holden has won. J. D. Waltemeyer of Melbourne showed the senior champion and grand champion Duroc sow, the junior championship in the same breed going to M. A. Dowling of Valley Junction.

In the Poland China division R. C. Henry of Sheldon took both grand championships for boar and sow, the junior champion boar award going to G. T. Molley of Albia and the junior champion sow ribbon going to the Columbian stock farm of Grandview, Mo.

Tulsa Wins In the dairy cattle competition an entry of L. E. Cooper of Tulsa, Okla., took the senior championship among the Jersey bulls and then went on to the grand championship, the junior championship going to Maryvale Jersey farm, also of Tulsa.

J. J. Lynes and sons of Plainfield won the senior, junior and grand championships for both bull and female Ayrshires, one of the biggest cleanups of the day's competition.

Among the beef cattle two short-horn entries of F. W. Hubbell of Des Moines took all three championships in the bull entries while the Banning-Lewis ranches of Colorado Springs, Col., won the female Hereford championship.

An Aberdeen Angus bull shown by Elliott Brown of Rose Hill won the senior and grand championships in his class, the junior championship going to Henry Schmuecker and sons, Blairstown.

Yoder Second Kenneth Johnson of Centerville won the market barrow and cut out value contest in which swine were judged both on the hoof and later as butchered pork. Howard Yoder of Wellman was second and Carl Hehner of Bagley took third.

One of the chief drawing cards of tomorrow's program will be the annual gathering of the Iowa Farmer's Union. G. W. Miller of Oskaloosa, president of the Iowa group, and Milton W. Strickler, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the chief speakers on the program which will be presided over by J. D. Sickler of Ogden, secretary of the Iowa Farmers Holiday association.

Two rows of benches in front of the flag decked rostrum Tuesday accommodated all the remaining members of the Grand Army of the Republic attending their reunion in the assembly tent on the fair grounds.

Of the 600 veterans in Iowa, 37 attended the meeting. The file and drum corps opened the meeting with martial music. The allied organizations took part in the program.

National Officers Present Oley H. Nelson, Slater, senior national vice commander, presided. The address of welcome was delivered by H. O. Weaver, Wapello, fair board member, and the response was made by Judge James W. Willett, Marshalltown, past national commander. Judge Thomas J. Noll, Grinnell, Iowa commander, made a brief talk. Greetings of Governor Turner were extended by AdJ. Gen. Charles H. Grahl.

READY FOR GREATEST SHOW

Preps Enroll Through Mail

New Plan in Effect for First Time; Used Heavily

If prospective University of Iowa freshmen want to reduce their registration worries to an absolute minimum, they will enroll by mail up to Sept. 8.

Simplifying the process by giving the new students more time to consider their courses and making their entrance to university life free from activities of registration are objectives of the plan which first was put into effect last month.

Upon receipt of high school credentials, the registrar's office sends to the young man or woman an admission card and set of registration materials, together with exact directions.

Scores of freshmen already have taken advantage of the scheme, some of them even coming to Iowa City to register in person. These forehanded individuals will be ready to devote their full time to the varied activities of freshman week, Sept. 21 to 26.

It will be 1 o'clock in Omaha; 1:01 p.m. at Appleton, Wis.; 1:02 p.m. at Madison, Wis.; and Des Moines; 1:04 p.m. at Iowa City, Ia., and 1:05 p.m. at Williams Bay, Wis., when the eclipse starts.

Mayor Walker at Home, Sick

Illness May Postpone Ouster Hearing at Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—A threat of additional delay in Governor Roosevelt's hearing of demands for the ouster of Mayor Walker of New York came today with word of the mayor's illness.

Roosevelt was informed Walker was in bed, suffering from nervous exhaustion and that whether the New York executive would ask for a second postponement of the hearing depended on his condition. The governor on Monday called the proceedings to a halt until Friday when he learned of the death of George Walker, the mayor's brother.

Linked with the uncertainty the possible postponement brought was the news that the governor's future procedure in the case would remain undisclosed until he again called the hearing to order at the scheduled hour on Friday.

Roosevelt indicated tonight that whether he accepted any or all of the supreme court's views on his conduct of the hearing would remain a secret until that time.

The governor said he would have no official pronouncement of his attitude toward the opinion of Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley. His position, the governor said, would be revealed by his course of action when he resumed on Friday the hearing of Samuel Seabury's 15 "conclusions" of why Walker should be removed from office.

Some Day They'll Find an Elephant

Iowa City police have picked up from the streets in their time nearly everything from dilapidated Fords to rollicking inebriates, but there is always something new and different.

A well fattened Jersey cow named Boss or Moo or something like that was found rambling contentedly down the road at College and Governor streets at 10:30 p.m. yesterday.

Iowa Expands Former Plan of Classwork

Plan Saturday Meetings in 34 Courses for Coming Year

Responding to increased demand by the students, the University of Iowa has expanded its Saturday class schedule to a greater latitude than ever before.

Fifteen departments will offer an aggregate of 34 courses. Heretofore, the heaviest schedule was that of 1931-32 when 25 courses were given in a dozen departments. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division, has announced.

Meet on 10 Saturdays The students, including many from borders of adjacent states, will attend classes on 10 Saturdays between Oct. 15 and April 8. Other scheduled class meetings are Oct. 29, Nov. 19, Dec. 10, Jan. 14, Feb. 4, Feb. 18, March 4, and March 25.

It is the aim of the university to combine residence work, with lectures by professors, well directed home study so the student may obtain maximum profit from the comparatively small amount of time in classrooms.

Education Courses Numerous Since many of the students are engaged in school work, the greatest number of courses, seven, is offered by the college of education. Other units in which work is scheduled are: economics, English, graphic and plastic arts, history, home economics, journalism, music, physical education for women, political science, psychology, religion, sociology, speech, and child welfare.

Saturday classes last year were attended by 335 men and women, a record number, representing the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Missouri.

Davis Pleads Not Guilty in Lottery Case

Pennsylvania Senator to Appear for Trial in September

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—James J. Davis, United States senator from Pennsylvania, waited his turn at the federal building today to plead not guilty to indictments charging him with conspiracy and distribution and sale of lottery tickets.

Theodore G. Miller, co-defendant with Davis and executive in the Loyal Order of Moose, entered a similar plea. Bail of $1,000 was furnished for each, and the trial date was fixed tentatively for Sept. 16.

Senator Davis and Miller were not in court when their cases were first called. When they came, a long list of petty cases were being taken up and they waited for some time until their turns came again.

Pleads Innocence "It can be speedily demonstrated that Senator Davis is entirely innocent of these charges," said a statement issued in his behalf later by his attorneys, Charles H. Tuttle, former United States attorney, and Charles J. Margiotti of Pittsburgh.

They said further that "he had no part in the plan under which the charity balls were held and he neither took nor got a penny from the proceeds thereof."

As the senator left the courtroom, he was asked if he would say anything about the request of Governor Gifford Pinchot, following his indictment, that he withdraw from the senate race in Pennsylvania.

"No comment," he said. Five Other Pleas The Davis and Miller pleas followed those of five other men and the Western Union Telegraph company last week in connection with the lottery case. Federal investigators charge that lotteries were conducted by fraternal organizations for charitable projects. Senator Davis is head of the Moose order.

Those who pleaded earlier were Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, Mo., head of the fraternal order of Eagles, Frank E. Herrins, M. J. Revis, Bernard C. McGuire of New York and Aurora, Ill., and Raymond Walsh.

McGuire and Walsh entered second pleas of not guilty today to indictments naming them with Davis and Miller. Their bail previously posted was allowed to stand for the additional charges.

Jeweler Recalls Trip to Olympics in Luncheon Talk

Flying to California, watching Salting and Gordon at the Olympic games, and seeing miles of west coast scenery was the picture given to the Kiwanis club members at their noon luncheon at the Jefferson hotel yesterday by Isaac Fulkis about his journey to the tenth Olympiad.

Mr. Fulkis described the swimming as very interesting, rowing as fun to watch, water polo as a skillful sport, and lacrosse as wicked and rough. "Out Where the West Begins" and "O, Mother of Mine" were sung by B. G. Bradley. He was accompanied by Mrs. George Kohler at the piano.

Mayor Wants Picket's Line Pushed Back

Sheriff Believes Task Impossible Without National Guard

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—An armistice was in effect late today in this sector of the Farmers' Holiday association's struggle for higher agricultural prices, but near Omaha, Neb., and Sioux Falls, S. D., the movement burst forth with renewed vigor.

Mayor Metcalfe of Omaha ordered city officials to break up a blockade established just outside the city limits, and Sheriff McDonald swore in 20 deputies to help push picket lines outside the three-mile limit over which the city, by a charter provision, has jurisdiction.

The sheriff said he believes the task is hopeless except with the aid of the national guard. Ten highways into Sioux Falls were picketed by farmers who hope to get, by preventing the marketing of milk, an increase of 50 cents in the price of the commodity, or $1.75 a hundredweight. Nearly a month's negotiations preceded the beginning of the "strike" today.

On Tipton Front

Although members of the Cedar County Farm Holiday association were to have met last night six miles from Tipton to pledge 1,000 men to the picket lines in that sector of the strike movement, it was impossible at a late hour last night to obtain information as to the Cedar county plans. Telephone calls to members of the association were unavailing and it was impossible to ascertain whether the strike threat will be carried out to its full extent today.

Sioux Falls milk distributors today made deliveries from supplies on hand, but they expect that amount to be exhausted soon. Dealers in Cedar Rapids, fearing that a similar move would affect them, agreed today to raise the price of milk from $1.40 to $2.00 a hundredweight.

Peace and order, meanwhile, supplanted today the near-riots and apprehension that marked the non-selling campaign here Monday. Sheriff's deputies and drivers, all armed with clubs, conducted a major offensive against the strongest groups of picketers near here this morning.

Their success led to a cessation of practically all picketing on highways into Iowa's capital city. Sheriff Charles F. Keeling called in his deputies and said he felt assured there would be no further disorders near here, even through holiday leaders let it be known that they are expecting to recommit the aid of pickets from other parts of the state.

Receipts of agricultural products here were normal today. Prices were steady to five cents lower on (Turn to page 6)

Schools Get State Money

Johnson county's share of an appropriation of $100,000 for the use of the standardized one and two room county schools, amounting to $1,883.49, was received yesterday by County Superintendent W. N. Leeper.

In a prepared statement yesterday, Mr. Leeper explained the development of the standardized schools in the state and the method by which the money is apportioned.

He said the state inspector last year approved 47 Johnson county schools which he had recommended for standardization. Forty-five of these are one room schools and the other two have two rooms.

All of Johnson county's standardized schools have been given that recognition within the last 10 years, Mr. Leeper's statement said. The appropriation is apportioned to the schools on the basis of the average daily attendance. It is to be spent for additional equipment and supplies.

A Political Holding Company

AS THE recent collapse of the Ivar Krueger bubble in Sweden aptly illustrated, it is possible through holding companies and stock issue manipulation to control vast investments with a relatively small outlay. Not even 51 per cent is necessary, but only 51 per cent of that 51 per cent via a stock "holding" in which new shares are issued, and so on.

Although it is notorious that the U. S. citizen has been more successfully zealous of his political than of his economic rights, there remains a political holding company that is both unjust and obsolete—the electoral college.

Originally designed as a barrier between the "mob" voting public and government by gentlemen, the electoral college has long since failed of that purpose through custom and political reforms in other fields. Yet it still remains as a hindrance to completely effective political democracy.

It may dismay the new voter this year to discover that he does not vote for Herbert Clark Hoover or Franklin Delano Roosevelt or Norman Thomas but for John Smith, Henry Jones, or William Green—of whom he may never have heard and about whom he cares not a rap.

Since the election result is obvious the day after balloting is finished, it is silly for electors to meet weeks later and decide officially what the outcome was. Here is an expense worthy of more attention than that of the direct primary—for the primary has some merits to offset its cost.

But the real objection to the electoral college is that it defeats in principle and can defeat in practice the theory of a president representing not states but the nation's public. This was true in 1876 and 1888.

The only time an individual presidential vote is counted nationally is when it is the same as the majority vote in its state, and the only time when it can be effective is when there is a chance of carrying the state.

The 223,741 Iowans who voted for William Jennings Bryan in 1896 (against 289,293 for William McKinley) and the 281,624 who voted for Theodore Roosevelt (Progressive) and William Howard Taft (Republican) in 1912 (against 185,325 for Woodrow Wilson) were virtually disfranchised in their presidential votes—which had no weight whatsoever in the final decision.

Because not a 51 per cent of the nation's votes—or less, of course, with more than two parties—but 51 per cent in each of enough states to insure 51 per cent of the state electoral votes will control an election, it is virtually useless for a Republican in Mississippi or, in normal years, a Democrat in Iowa to vote for presidential electors.

Political parties are not apt to work for abolition of the electoral college; they find it easier to manipulate states than the nation as a whole. But for any future of democracy that is to mean more popular will and less machine politics the electoral college is a misfit that should be relegated to the scrap heap.

Thank You, Mr. Washington

THROUGH Uncle Sam's mails last week came pretty blue and gold book-match packages, by courtesy of the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission. Pretty book-matches, one side depicting the well known Mount Vernon, the other side showing the commission's accepted head of the Father of our country. Somewhere it says "Washington Bi-Centennial" and somewhere else is stamped "1732-1932."

With all due regard for the integrity of the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission and certainly with all due reverence for its purpose, it would seem that some other way of using up the bicentennial appropriation might have been devised that would have been just a trifle more aesthetic. Not that book-matches cannot satisfy the aesthetic sense as well as the sense of security for smokers, especially when so beautifully engraved and charmingly tinted, but it hardly seems compatible with such a celebration. Perhaps the entire matter can be excused on the grounds that George Washington came from a long line of southern tobacco growers, perhaps not. It might be wondered, too, what Washington himself might have felt at the thought of his two hundredth birthday being commemorated with book-matches.

Not that recipients of the book-matches should be ungrateful to the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission for the gift—they are to be accepted with a swelling of the chest, a sign of patriotic fervor, even though you don't smoke.

Seen From Without

A SPECIAL story in the Baltimore Sun the other day characterized the participants in the Farmers Holiday movement as mostly bootleggers and transients.

The correspondent, apparently with a fair amount of veracity, claimed to have canvassed a large group of the picketers in the vicinity of Council Bluffs and to have found that about one in 20 was a farmer. The remainder consisted of grumbling tramps and hoboes with a scent for free food.

The justice of the farmers' demand for cost of production prices for their products will be questioned by no one. But neither will the farmers, after a fair amount of consideration, protest that residents of the cities are in better circumstances than themselves.

Assuming this to be true, it would be belittling the farmers' intelligence to attribute the so called "farm strike" to the farmers themselves. Until wages in the cities are increased, farm prices must inevitably remain low.

Also, if the Farmers' Holiday movement were actually being staged by the farmers it would be unnecessary to picket the roads to prevent farmers from hauling their products to market.

"Cubs Can't Win Today; No Game Is On Schedule."—Headline in the Chicago Daily News. Now the political headline writers ought to get up something like this: "Hoover Can't Be Beat This Month; There Isn't An Election."

It seems the political campaigns are getting the rottenest breaks. First it was the Olympic games, now it's the eclipse to detract the public eye. Pretty soon the congressmen will have to start franking "blinders" to their various constituents.

From what the Republican spellbinders are saying about Franklin Roosevelt's Columbus speech, we get the impression that, if Herbert Hoover had been governor of New York, he would have pitched the Stock Exchange into the Hudson river and hung up danger signals at both ends of Wall Street, notifying the world, "Street Closed! Detour, Brother!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

What Mr. Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England and one of the world's leading financial lights, has been doing in America during the last few weeks, has been made the subject of an interesting newspaper discussion. One side finds that Mr. Norman, who landed off the coast of Maine under an assumed name and the dark of night, is nothing but a spy sent over by England to control the November elections.

The other side maintains that Mr. Norman is merely spending his vacation in these waters, has been visited by some of America's leading financial and political figures merely socially and neither for business or publication.

The mystery is deepened somewhat when it is discovered that a London newspaper has announced that Mr. Norman is making preliminary arrangements for his country's return to the gold standard, a plausible explanation but not quite sufficiently rational for Mr. Hearst's Universal Service which insists that Norman is here for no good.

Prof. Clarence Skinner he calls himself and has long chats with such people as the Morgans. He refuses to say what he's here for, but Universal Service has done that for him. Here's the Hearst explanation:

Mr. Norman is in the United States to see that the present administration continues for the next four years. Mr. Norman represents a group of international bankers who are going to extend the moratorium and cancel war debts anyway, but who want the favorable Mr. Hoover in office when they do it. Prof. The moratorium of 1931 occurred immediately after a previous visit to this country by the same English gentleman.

Quite specifically it is pointed out that Democrats are on the alert for a flood of foreign money into the Republican coffers. Prof. Mr. Norman is governor of the Bank of England. The House of Morgan is the fiscal agent of the British empire. Therefore, the Republican campaign is saved from ignominious bankruptcy.

It is almost absurd to link this visit of the English financier with Mr. Hoover's campaign for reelection. What is more absurd is to suggest that Norman is conspiring to run the November election with British money. And it is still more absurd to suggest that the British government has any designs on the credit structure of this country.

Getting to facts, it might be noted that Mr. Norman's arrival in this country coincided with the time of maturity of $50,000,000 remaining of a $200,000,000 loan arranged a year ago by a syndicate of 110 banks headed by J. P. Morgan and company to the British treasury. And then, there's the proposed world economic conference, for which both this government and the British are planning at the present time and in which both are vitally interested. There are any number of other things. He might even have come over for the eclipse.

But we cannot agree with the tone of Mr. Hearst's press service story, which to the uninitiated might sound rather ominous, and which is certainly misleading. It reads like another war cry or call to arms—and there are any number of people in this country, at least, who would welcome a war with open arms.

Book Bits

(From One Way to Heaven, by Countee Cullen)

"What a happy New Year! What a happy New Year!"

The congregation was standing now, singing over and over again, with loud happy voices the familiar words with which they annually greeted the incoming year, although its predecessor, welcomed in with the same sanguine spirit, might have done nothing so to confirm their renewed hopefulness. They were like chronic bargain hunters, people who buy diamonds and gold watches from strangers accosting them in the street, only to find that the diamonds are bits of stone, and the gold watches good, durable, odorless brass, and yet they continue to buy, hoping to encounter a real bargain in the end.

Pastor's Love Poems Lead to Cell on Wife Murder Charge

19-Year-Old Bride Whom Rev. Berrie Married 2 Months After First Wife's Death Admits Verses, Sets Stage for Murder Trial.

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—A cell in the county jail was the residence today of the Rev. S. A. Berrie, 52, fiery preacher, indicted for the alleged murder of his first wife last March. The minister's second wife, Mrs. Ida Bright Berrie, originally held with the preacher after an autopsy showed traces of poison in the dead woman's stomach, was at liberty after the grand jurors found that she had no guilty knowledge of the alleged crime.

Mrs. Berrie died last March after collapsing in her husband's church during a lecture. No suspicion attached at that time to the minister. Two months later, however, he married Ida Bess Bright, demure 19-year-old teacher of one of his Sunday school classes.

Then the first Mrs. Berrie's sister, Mrs. Clem Trotter, became suspicious. She kept her suspicions secret for some time, then went to the office of Phillip K. Oldham, county prosecutor, and urged that her sister's body be exhumed for examination.

Autopsy showed traces of an unnamed poison, said to have been ingredients of a sleeping potion. Investigation revealed that the middle-aged minister had been enamored of the pretty Sunday school teacher before the death of the first Mrs. Berrie, and this circumstance

Iowa Relief Committee for Direct Reconstruction Aid

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Iowa's general relief committee today went on record as favoring a reconstruction finance corporation loan direct to the state, rather than a series of loans to needy communities.

A resolution adopted by the conference further stated that the federal government should be reimbursed through a reduction of federal appropriations, and that the committee's executive group shall distribute the funds to needy communities.

Endorse Application

Advised by A. L. Urlick, labor commissioner and secretary of the relief body, that Gov. Don Turner already has made application for a $10,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation loan, the committee endorsed this action.

The resolution also stated that money obtained by the governor should be distributed by the executive committee to the various communities "as their needs might be shown."

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

STUDIO GOSSIP By HARRISON CARROLL SCREEN COMMENT

FILM SCANDAL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—The overthrow of the slight, pantherlike Latin hero typified by Valentino, is complete with the influx of tall male stars.

The majority of reigning heroes are well over six feet. Johnny Weissmuller, M-G-M's Tarzan, is tallest with an elevation of six feet three inches. Next to him stand Gary Cooper and Charles Farrell, who come within half an inch of Weissmuller.

Next in height are Charles Starrett, Warren William and David Newell. They are six feet two.

In Paramount's "Hot Saturday," the camera lens has to adjust itself to the altitude of two big men, Cary Grant at six feet one and a half and Randolph Scott at half an inch less.

Others who top the six foot mark are Clark Gable, John Boles, Ralph Bellamy, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., George Brent, the new Universal stock actors—Onslow Stevens and Carlton Keadell, Joel McCrea and Ralph Graves.

Hardly any in the new ranks of stars are under six feet. Here are some of the newcomers and survivors from the pre-superman era who are all six feet or over: William Powell, Kent Taylor, George O'Brien, Richard Dix, Ricardo Cortez, Bruce Cabot, Nils Asther, Lionel Barrymore (without his stoop), Wallace Beery, Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston and Boris Karloff.

Verily the tall man has come into his kingdom.

Harry Brand insists on telling this one again: Al Jolson was having difficulty impressing his dignity on a youth on the set at United Artists. "You're not old enough to give me orders," said the boy. "Say, how old do you think I am?" asked Jolson. "You're about 42," was the answer, "because my brother is 21 and he's half-witted!"

After spending $100,000 preparing "Laughing Boy," Carl Laemmle, Jr. has indefinitely postponed its production.

Reason: Inability to find a suitable type for the title role. The lucky youth, if they ever find him, must have a Lew Ayres personality with an authentic Indian physiognomy. Lew, himself, is out because of his blue eyes.

Universal brought candidates from every part of the country and from all the Indian reservations. They have tested 75 youths without success. Included in the candidates were Chester Morris, Richard Arlen, William Bakewell and Leslie Fenton.

BOULEVARD CHATTER

The great Garbo has answered Warners' offer with a no. Lily Damita gets the girl role in "The Match King." Tala Birell is taking tests at Universal for their sleeping sickness yarn, "Nagna." Kathryn Hepburn uses an expensive car and chauffeur all day to drive her around the lot. Alexander Marky, in town from making "Mara" in New Zealand, entertains the last contingent of home-going Olympic athletes. Sam Coslow has sung a record of Maurice Chevalier's new theme song, "Love Me Tonight." Gary Cooper's pet chimpanzee has been sent neckties, bracelets, knitted underwear, miniature slippers, a hat and a cake by fans.

American Designers Lead with New Fashions

Home Creations Well Ahead of Paris with Latest Styles for Late Fall and Early Winter. Color and Fabric Stressed.

Above are three models chosen by Hollywood notables. At left is Myrna Loy in a smart outfit of Chartreuse wool. It is novel in its vari-colored woven fabric waist band and collar. The smart little hat is of the same material. In center, Jean Harlow wears a gorgeous velvet evening gown. It has a creamy lace bodice and is trimmed with wide bands of silver fox fur. At right is a tweed and pique combination, worn by Madge Evans.

HOLLYWOOD—After having enjoyed a pre-view of the creations of some 15 American designers, it is a safe prediction to say that midday is going to be enthusiastic over the new clothes for late fall and early winter.

Once more getting about six jumps ahead of Paris, American stylists have completed creations that are second to none in beauty of line and fabric. And fabric, by the way, was one of the distinguishing notes to claim attention in the American Designers' show, given in New York recently.

Woolens lead in the choice of fabrics for street and sports clothes, in soft, lightweight weaves—featherweight wools and feather tweeds, wool chevrons, wool crepes and ribbed basket-weave wools—all so fine that only the closest inspection disclosed that they were not silk.

For simple afternoon and the dressier tailored types of costumes there are new silk crepes, canton crepe, crinkled silks and soft, velvety silks combined with satin and celanese. However, for the cocktail hour and the more formal occasions, fashion decrees that velvet is the material.

Colors, too, are deemed of the utmost importance in the newest styles. The use of contrast in street clothes is confined to small areas to emphasize a neckline, shoulder line or bow. And the contrast is subtly applied in two shades of red and rose, or a deep green on navy, brown, and rust, etc.

For afternoon, however, the effect is more striking. Black and white appears in many of the smartest costumes, featuring vest-like incrustations of the white, with a closing near the front either in tailored or bow fashion.

All shades of red seem to be represented, with the majority in the rosy tones from light to deep wine shades. Although red is already on the street, having made its appearance in the early summer, there are so many attractive styles made in these warm colors that midday cannot resist them. Besides, there is plenty distinction in the fabric and line.

A long, slender silhouette, starting at the throat, broadening at the shoulders and hugging the rest of the form all the way down to about 10 inches from the floor is the fashion picture for the coming season, as it applies to street and afternoon clothes. The latter models closely follow the lines of the former, but gain importance through the use of richer fabrics and contrast. For evening, the rich velvets need no embellishment, though a rhinestone ornament may sparkle at the neckline if there is one. In general the neck is draped high around the throat in front, dipping to the waistline in back, with both covered and uncovered shoulders.

Sunday night cocktail dresses, with their long sleeves of lace, satin or lame, are made in queenly fashion, and midday who can afford the time and cash to indulge in these beautiful creations are fortunate indeed.

Fur appears in lavish swirls on the latest evening wraps, silver fox being most popular with the dark velvets and ermine with the gleaming satin creations. Narrow bands of fur are also employed to edge cuffs and capes in some of the more informal group, some of the smart street models showing trimmings of white flat fur on cape and cuffs.

Many notions in this city of stars have already given their whole-hearted approval to the style program for the coming season, and when Hollywood leads, the country and a large portion of the outside world are sure to follow.

Official Moves to Bolster Business Continue at Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Official moves to bolster business and win the war against unemployment continued today in many directions.

As committees buckled down to the task of carrying out the credit expansion and share work program of the recent Hoover conference, plans were announced for another president-called meeting here Sept. 15 at which efforts will be made to co-ordinate all unemployment relief projects during the coming winter.

Farm Prices Up
The agriculture department reported the farm commodity price index for Aug. 15 was two points higher compared with July 15 and seven points above the record low in June. To aid cotton prices, the reconstruction corporation had $50,000,000 ready to loan the farm board and affiliated co-operatives for use in keeping cotton accumulated since 1929 off the market until 1933.

Demands for purchase of capital stock in the twelve federal home loan banks were described as substantial by Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the system's supervisory board, who said subscription books in all districts would be opened before Sept.

15 to assure opening of the institutions thirty days later.

President Hoover will address the unemployment relief conference here Sept. 15.

A prominent Democrat, Newton D. Baker, has been named chairman of the formal organization which will be called the national citizens' committee of the welfare and relief mobilization of 1932.

Besides the president, Chairman Atlee Pomerene of the reconstruction corporation, and Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who recently resigned as head of the president's committee on unemployment relief, will address the conference.

Products Gain
The agriculture department attributed the rise in farm prices to gains made by wheat, cotton, rye, cottonseed, corn, potatoes, butter, wool, eggs and milk between July 15 and Aug. 15.

These increases were said to have more than offset the downward price trends for oats, barley, flaxseed, hay and apples, and a reaction in prices paid producers for meat animals after the advance from June to July.

Commission Favors New State Ruling

Tentatively Approves New Law Governing Corporations

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Tentative approval today was given by the special corporation laws commission to a draft of a proposed uniform Iowa state corporations law.

The proposed law, covering corporations in the state in general, would correspond to a measure approved by the national commission on uniform state laws, and provisions adopted recently by other states.

Domestic Corporations
The draft considered today deals particularly with domestic corporations. Attention also will be given operative, non-pecuniary and foreign corporations, members said.

Appointed in accordance with a joint resolution passed by the forty-fourth general assembly, the commission, through sub-committees, has been working on the proposed statute for some time. If adopted by the next legislature the measure will replace present corporation laws.

Glenn Brown of Dubuque, chairman, presided over the meeting. All members of the commission with the exception of State Rep. Hugh J. Tamsieie, of Missouri Valley were present.

Members of Commission
The members, representatives of the senate, house, State Bar association and the secretary of state and attorney general's offices include:

O. P. Bennett, Mapleton; J. I. Brody, Des Moines; Matt D. Cooney, Dubuque; Seth Thomas, Ft. Dodge; U. G. Whitney, Des Moines; F. C. Harrison, Davenport; Harry F. Garrett, Corydon; C. N. Jepson, Sioux City; Carl J. Stephens, assistant attorney general; and Warren L. Huebner, deputy secretary of state.

YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The costliest vase in history—This Chinese vase, standing about four feet high in the porcelain collection of the famous Johannum Museum in Dresden, Saxony, was purchased by the luxury-loving August II, Elector of Saxony and King of Poland, from the eccentric Frederick William I, King of Prussia in 1717.

The Prussian King, who had a strange weakness for very tall soldiers, exacted and obtained 400 tall dragons as the purchase price for his vase. The buyer equipped and delivered to the seller 400 of the tallest soldiers he could find in his entire realm.

After he obtained possession of the vase the 400 men were incorporated in the Prussian Army and they perished in the numerous Prussian wars of the eighteenth century.

The vase itself, which I viewed during my stay in Dresden, still grimly reminds a visitor that in the "good old days" subjects could be traded in like so much cattle, by their "benevolent" rulers.

Pirates Hand Braves 2 Setbacks, 10-7, 3-2; Cubs Win

Eighth Frame Rallies Bring Both Victories

Bucs Hang Up 4th Win in Row; Brave 3rd Baseman Hurt

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30 (AP)—Boston's redskins hit the dust twice today, dropping both games of a scrappy doubleheader to the Pirates, 10 to 7 and 3 to 2.

Misfortune helped rout the Braves in the second encounter, Third Baseman Knothe injuring his right leg while trying to steal second in the fifth inning.

He was carried from the field and removed to a hospital for an x-ray examination.

Arguments punctuated both contests. Manager Bill McKechnie and Catcher Spohrer were ejected from the field in the first, when a gaffe followed a decision by Umpire-in-chief Klem.

The Pirates came from behind to score five runs in the eighth, to take the opener after both of the starting pitchers, Bobby Brown of the Braves and Heinie Meine of the Pirates, had been shelled from the hill.

The second game was a thrilling pitching duel between Bill Swift and the veteran Tom Zachary, although Fred Frankhouse, who relieved Zachary in the eighth, was charged with the defeat.

Come From Behind The Pirates came from the rear in the second game, putting on the winning spurt again in the eighth. Padden singled and Finney ran for him.

It was the fourth victory in a row for the reviving Pirates and their third straight over the crippled Braves.

Hoyt's Wildness Gives Cubs 11th in Row CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—The New York Giants made the Cubs a gift of their eleventh straight victory today and enabled them to set a season's record for consecutive triumphs.

With the score tied in the ninth, Walte. Hoyt hit Herman with a pitched ball and then passed English and Cuyler. Critz fumbled Stephenson's grounder long enough to allow Herman to score the winning run but saved himself an error by throwing to first to catch Stephenson.

Homers Help Dodgers Turn Back Cards, 5-4 ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers won their final game from the Cardinals in a handy fashion today, 5 to 4, but lost a half game in their race for second place as Pittsburgh turned in two victories.

Home runs by Tony Cucinello and Dan Taylor, added considerably as Van Mungo scored his twelfth victory of the season. The Dodgers got only six hits off Syl Johnson and Tex Carleton, four in the first inning, while Mungo retired in the eighth after giving up 11 blows.

Gehrig's 2 Home Runs Aid Yanks

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Lou Gehrig came to the aid of an aspiring young teammate, John Thomas Allen, today and batted the Yankees into a 6 to 5 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Gehrig walloped his thirtieth and thirty-first home runs of the season to knock in five of the Yankee tallies. As a result, Allen won his fifteenth victory of the season, his ninth in succession and his fifth over the Pale Hose. He has lost only two games.

Young Johnny pitched one of his weakest games of the season, allowing 12 hits, four of them by Bill Sullivan, who scored two runs for the Sox. Chicago took a one-run lead right at the start, bunting three hits after two were out.

Gehrig swung his big war club for the first time in the third inning, knocking in three runs. Combs singled and Babe Ruth drew the first of three straight walks off Paul Gregory before Gehrig drove the ball into the bleachers 429 feet from the plate.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Chicago 100 201 010—5 12 1 New York 004 000 20*—6 9 1 Batteries: Gregory and Berry, Grube; Allen and Dickey.

Foxx's 48th Helps Grove Annex 21st PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 (AP)—Jimmy Foxx's forty-eighth home run of the season broke up a tie today, gave the Athletics a 6 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers, and provided Lefty Grove with his twenty-first win of the year.

Gehring hit a home run over the right field fence in the fourth inning.

Senators in Easy 11 to 7 Triumph WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Washington Senators kept up their heavy hitting today, jumping on Blaholder, Fischer and Kinsey for 15 hits to take the second game of the series with St. Louis 11 to 7, and even the season's games between the two clubs at nine-all.

Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis 001 011 400—7 12 2 Washington 142 003 10*—11 15 2 Batteries: Blaholder, Fischer and Ferrell; Bengough; McAfee, Brown, and Maple.

Red Sox Jump on Ferrell for Victory BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The lowly Red Sox shelled Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland Indians' star hurler, from the hill today and took the game, 6 to 2.

Ferrell abdicated in the first inning after facing only five batters. Cleveland got only four hits off John Welch.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Cleveland 100 000 010—2 4 4 Boston 501 000 00*—6 13 2 Batteries: Ferrell, Russell, Harder and Sewell; Welch and Tate.

Rodney Bliss Leads After First Round

Tours Course in 73 for First 18 Hole Round

By PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 30 (AP)—Roaring along with a ripping west wind that blew several big favorites right out of the picture, Olin Dutra, gay cabalero of golf from Santa Monica, Cal., captured the professional golf championship medal at Keller today.

Dutra, always known as one of the best windjammers of golf, knitted rounds of 71-69 on his winning 36-hole jaunt to win the medal by a four shot margin over Horton Smith of Chicago, who came in with a last-round rush of 71 for his 144, par-equalling tally.

Big Favorites Fall Three of the biggest championship favorites in the starting field of 102 fell in the heartless struggle against the wind—Harry Cooper of Chicago, a red hot pick because of his great record in the two $10,000 St. Paul open over the same course; Billy Burke of Greenwich, Conn., 1932 national open champion, and Tommy Armour of Detroit, a former champion.

Johnny Farrell, another former national open king; Mike Turnesa, Willie Klein, Mortie Dutra and the two Hackneys, Dave and Clarence, also were numbered in the victims, their scores booming from the playoff figure of 153 and upwards.

Dutra's Irons Click Dutra's irons carried him to victory along with the devastating wind today. On his morning tee, he was so accurate with his approach that he putted for birdies on almost every green of the wind-blown 6,686 yard layout, winding up with a par-clipping 71 that placed him only two shots behind the fast flying trick shot artist, Joe Kirkwood, who bounced in with rounds of 34-35 for a 69.

As Kirkwood, Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis and John Goulden of Noroton, Conn., who crashed in with a pair of 70s on the morning round, fell before the elements in the afternoon, Dutra stormed over the course with a 33-36-69 that sent him over on his afternoon trip.

Wendell A. Culver, who has been signed by the Chicago Cardinals of the National pro football league, was a quarterback at Doane (Neb.) college though 6 feet 2 1/2 inches tall and weighing 200 pounds.

Bliss played steady golf all the way, preferring low run-up shots to the green instead of chancing pitch shots in the strong wind. He missed a chance for an even par round on the last hole when his six foot putt for a birdie rolled over the edge of the cup.

McKee in Third Bob McKee of Des Moines, 1931 amateur champion, was a late starter and, with the advantage of a somewhat subsided wind, eased himself into third place with a 75.

Back of him a stroke came four professionals. They were Jack Hall and Joe Brown of Des Moines, Alex Olson of Mason City, and Bill Gordon of Waterloo. Tied with them was one amateur, Jim Davis of Keokuk.

Send 23,000 Ticket Blanks Largest Number Ever Mailed From Iowa Athletic Office A heavy mail will leave the University of Iowa's athletic offices today—1,487 pounds of football ticket application blanks representing the largest consignment of similar material ever dispatched from here.

Addressed to alumni and other persons who have ordered Hawkeye football tickets in the past, the 23,000 pieces of mail will be distributed throughout the middle west.

And to the potential spectators who are most prompt in returning the application forms—with checks or money orders—will go the best seat locations in the Iowa stadium. Some 43,000 seats are available for the three major home games.

Purchasers this season are asked to indicate their seat preference, such as upper west stands, above 40 rows, lower east stands, below 40 rows, and upper east stands, above 40 rows. The lower west stands are reserved for student year book holders and alumni members of the Iowa Athletic association.

Rodney Bliss Leads After First Round

Tours Course in 73 for First 18 Hole Round

By DON MCGUIRE Associated Press Sports Writer DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—A strong south wind whipped across the hillsides of Hyperion's difficult links to send scores soaring today in the first round of the 72-hole battle for the Iowa open golf championship.

When the final contestants had reported only one amateur was within speaking distance of par while the rest of the field staggered home with scores ranging into the eighties.

Rodney Bliss of Omaha, Nebraska state champion, led the initial trek around the par-72 layout with a 73, a stroke ahead of his nearest rival, David Davis, 15 year old Des Moines boy, and H. G. Harrison of Des Moines, and three strokes in front of the closest professionals.

The defending champion, Bob McCrary of Des Moines, shot away practically all his chances by blowing himself to an 80, where he was tied with Denmar Miller of Des Moines, state amateur champion and 1929 open titleholder, and Clark Tilden, Ames veteran.

Art Andrews, the husky professional from Davenport who won the open title in 1930, had an even tougher time in the high wind and came home with an 84.

But these didn't have the worst of the trouble. Johnny Kraft of Oelwein, rated among Iowa's leading golfers, took 20 strokes on the first three holes and wound up with a 90.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

SYNOPSIS

Following the receipt of a death threat, Lola Carewe, known as "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously slain in her penthouse apartment at 8 a. m. New Year's. Dr. Hugh Baldwin reports death due to heart failure. The only clue to the murderer is a medical laboratory specimen box outside Lola's window. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt attaches importance to the young man whose photograph is found in Lola's room, and whose identity Lola had refused to reveal beyond his first name, "Basil". At the mention of "Basil", Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, becomes hysterical. It is known that Lola quarreled with Guy Everett and Vincent Rowland, a lawyer, over investments. Eunice, the maid, confessed she was employed by Everett to report the goings on in the apartment. The mystery deepens with the finding of the body of Christine Quires, Lola's guest. Christine had been killed before Lola and her body hidden until an opportune moment arrived for the murderer to place it, soaking wet, in Lola's room. The findings are similar to those in Lola's case except that Christine's neck was bruised after death. Everett, Christine's last escort, claims he left her at the apartment elevator at midnight New Year's Eve, and then went for a ride on the Motor Parkway, alone, arriving home after 3 a. m. Mrs. Carewe informs Colt that Christine lived with a brother, Edgar, in Rochester, and was to receive her inheritance shortly. It is learned that Edgar Quires received a telegram New Year's Eve and left for New York. Paper and ink identical with the death threat materials are found under Eunice's mattress. Everett's Motor Parkway alibi is shattered. Colt requests the Prefect of the Parisian Surete to investigate Lola's past. Rowland discloses that Everett wanted to marry Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin.

"Lola Carewe lived the life of a wealthy woman. Right? She had no visible source of income?" questioned the District Attorney.

in a night club where Lola Carewe was attending—and that every one of the victims knew Lola Carewe and had entertained her, or had been entertained by her." Thatcher Colt smoked thoughtfully. "Downright impressive," he concurred. "But have you any direct evidence to connect Lola with any jewel robbery, beyond these certainly suspicious circumstances?" "None. None at all. That was why I wanted you to come in on the case. I meant to give you the tip—and you could follow it through, Right?" "Profoundly right," acquiesced Colt with a smile. "You have a dossier on your investigation, of course?" "Sure—at my office." "Will you have it sent round to my office in the morning?" "With pleasure."

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

IT BEGAN the evening's performance," Dougherty responded with a facetious smile, "by asserting that Lola Carewe was a jewel thief. Since then I have not had five clear minutes to tell you why I think so. I am ready to do that now. And I feel certain that therein lies the secret of what has happened."

Colt was refilling his pipe. "Very well," he acceded, "you tell me why you think Lola Carewe was a robber queen?"

"Lola Carewe lived the life of a wealthy woman, Right? She had no visible source of income? Right? You start from there. At the various night-clubs in New York she has been seen consorting with suspicious-looking characters!"

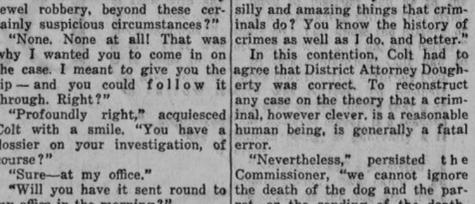

Colt threw a mocking glance to the ceiling. "In all my experience in police work," he objected, "I have never been able to find out what makes a person a suspicious-looking character. Does it mean promiscuousness? If so, look at the Board of Aldermen. Flashy clothes? Look at the Mayor. Does it mean shifty eyes and a general air of avoiding detection? If so, look at the President of the Anti-Vice Society. It is a meaningless phrase, Dougherty. You know as well as I do that some of the most respectable-looking human beings on earth appear in the police line-up every morning. What other evidence have you got?"

"But Lola has been seen hobnobbing with police characters," remonstrated Dougherty, his face flushed. "I mean handlers of hot diamonds."

"But that doesn't prove her guilty!"

"No—but she is also often seen at her hang-out," added Dougherty, with a gleam of triumph in his eyes. "Now I happen to know that shortly before every spectacular jewel robbery during the last year, the victim wore her gems publicly

Moral—Pay Your Bill

Mrs. H. S. Grigsby, hotel keeper of Oklahoma City, Okla., is shown after she had won the ladies' amateur clay target championship of North America, at the meet recently concluded in Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Grigsby beat Jeanette Jay, defending title holder. She is shown wearing her championship medal.

"They may have been sheer coincidences." "But why?" he persisted. "Why go through all that elaborate hocus-pocus of the note? It seems so unreasonable, so absurdly unnecessary!" "Thatcher," he remonstrated. do I have to instruct you as to the silly and amazing things that criminals do? You know the history of crimes as well as I do, and better." In this contention, Colt had to agree that District Attorney Dougherty was correct. To reconstruct any case on the theory that a criminal, however clever, is a reasonable human being, is generally a fatal error. "Nevertheless," persisted the Commissioner, "we cannot ignore the death of the dog and the parrot, or the sending of the death-note. There are certain obvious conclusions to be drawn from those circumstances. They show malice. And a kind of folk-lore superstition. Such murders have been known to occur in Roumania."

"And what do you argue from that?" asked Dougherty, after a significant pause. "Too early to argue. But malice is there—malice in the killing of two innocent creatures, malice in the note that boasted of those two useless killings and the threat to Lola. The killer wanted Lola to know that death was coming; wanted her to suffer anticipatory pangs. Malice, sprung from revenge. The killer is intelligent, too, having perfected such a subtle method of murder that even the sending of that note seems safe—a kind of defiant assurance is there; the pleasure of torturing the doomed girl is greater than the risk of discovery."

"If you are right, what can we do?" grunted Dougherty in a discontented voice. "What we are doing. Looking into Lola's life for causes of revenge. And looking into Lola's body for causes of her death—the subtle method that was used. When that is isolated, we shall ask ourselves who had access to that means of murder. That is why we need more facts."

Many Cities Join School, Town Voting

System Proposed All Over State by Tax Slash Heads

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—A survey made by the legislative tax reduction committee was reported today to have shown numerous cities in which county, school and city elections are combined, as is proposed in Iowa.

The survey was made, the committee said, after suggestions were received that municipal and school elections be combined not only for the purpose of reducing election expense but also to insure a larger vote for school directors.

Members of the committee said they had found that barely 14 per cent of the voters who turn out for presidential elections in Iowa have voted at recent school elections. In school elections, it was pointed out, large bond issues frequently are up for approval.

Discuss Arrangement

The committee also discussed other arguments for and against the proposed combination.

"Opponents of the proposal argue that school elections ought to be separate to keep schools out of politics," its reported statement. "Supporters of this reform point out that possibly this isolation of the school boards has been one reason for the enormous increase in school taxes. Also that the schools are not out of politics."

"In fact the schools in Iowa are represented by at least three of the strongest political organizations in the state, at least two of which are active all the time. And in some of the larger cities politics exerts a large influence in school affairs. So 'keeping schools out of politics' is a fallacy."

Of 26 replies to letters sent by the committee to the capital cities of the various states, 16, stated that city and school elections are held separately; 12 hold combined elections on the same day, and in eight cities the board is appointed.

boards of five, six and seven members. The survey indicated that terms of office in the reporting cities average three years, the terms ranging from two to six years.

Cincinnati's police radio station celebrating its first birthday summoned 50 police cruisers to city hall within 15 minutes.

The season for motor vehicles in Newfoundland extend from May to December, except in the city of St. John's where street-cleaning machinery has been introduced to keep the principal avenues open.

In Ohio, Vermont, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Georgia, Massachusetts, Missouri, Minnesota, and Kansas, in which city and school elections are combined "there are in all probability just as efficient school systems as in Iowa cities where the elections are separate," the committee concluded.

In 15 of the 26 reporting cities, it was found, school elections are held annually, in 12 biennially, and in one every four years. In Iowa cities school elections are held annually.

The number of members on school boards was shown to range from one to 14, most cities having school boards of five, six and seven members. The survey indicated that terms of office in the reporting cities average three years, the terms ranging from two to six years.

WATERLOO, Aug. 30 (AP)—The annual district conference of the Northeast Iowa district, Church of Christ, will be held Sept. 21 and 22 in Montezuma, the board of directors decided at a meeting here. LeRoy Huff of Des Moines, director of religious education at Drake university, will be the principal speaker. Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith and James T. Nichols, both of Des Moines, also are among the scheduled speakers.

Grains Weak in Sympathy With Market

Wheat Suffers Most in Day's Trade, From Profit Takers

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Grains weakened today in sympathy with reactionary tendencies displayed by cotton and stocks. Wheat suffered the most, running into a lot of profit taking which made price recoveries difficult, although buying support on setbacks was fairly good. Strength at Liverpool and Winnipeg, influenced by unfavorable Canadian weather, was generally not felt here. Corn was in good demand with trade of the broadest volume reported for months. Commission houses were on both sides of the market with liberal orders. Oats were relieved of hedging pressure and in demand. Provisions eased with grains, hogs and cotton.

Close Weak
Wheat closed weak at almost the day's bottom figures and 1 to 1.3 cents below yesterday's finish, corn 1.4 to 3.4 down, oats 1.3 to 1.2 off, and provisions 5 to 10 cents lower. A wave of profit taking, engendered by weakness of stocks and cotton in New York, swept over the wheat pit early. Heavy buying later rallied wheat to near yesterday's closing levels, but the market was unstable and the grains were quickly wiped out. Enormous bookings of corn were made in the country and this served to check the advance, but the market held firm in view of the increasing hedging.

General Trade
Corn trade was regarded as the most general in several months with aggressive buying showing at times, attributed to professionals. Profit taking caused recessions from the best prices of the day. Oats were unsettled with wheat and corn. Provisions eased with other commodities.

Closing indemnities: wheat—Sept. 52 3-8, 54 1-2; Dec. 56 1-2, 58 3-4; May 61 1-4, 63 1-2. Corn—Sept. (offers) 32 1-8; Dec. 33 5-8 to 3-4, 35 to 35 1-8; May 35 5-8 to 3-4, 40 1-4.

AROUND THE TOWN with DON PRYOR

Thanks Much
Furniture poured into the American Legion Unemployment Relief association yesterday. Among the donations were: a dining room table, a number of chairs, a washing machine, and three mattresses. Already all of it has been given to families badly in need. Still needed are kitchen tables and chairs. That is, those are the most seriously needed articles. Persons who have anything at all in the way of excess furniture or other household goods would do much good by advising the employment office, dial 2501.

If All Were Like That
John Bothell, Lower Muscatine road, advised the employment office yesterday that he had five bushels of potatoes that he would give to anyone who would dig them. The office will choose persons most worthy to do the digging.

Or Like This
George Fairall, owner of the Fairall gardens, gave the social service league and the employment association a ton of cabbage to be distributed among the needy.

"Tomatoes are Cheaper"
A marriage license was issued by Clerk of Court Walter J. Barrow yesterday to Jacob Studt of Solon and Mary Kathryn Hayes of Mt. Vernon.

On Again, Off Again
Once more the oft heralded joint meeting of the airport committees and the city council has been postponed. Jack Curtis, manager of the airport and member of the chamber's committee, is still in Newton helping to rejuvenate the plans which made a forced landing there last week.

How to Dress Well
Bremer's Clothing company filed suit in district court yesterday against Wilbur J. Day in an attempt to collect $252.07 claimed to be due for merchandise.

Going Up
What with this and that, the unemployed are in for more than the usual share of publicity today. One more registered at the office of the American Legion Unemployment Relief association yesterday, bringing the total to 466. Charles Kennett, chairman of the association, said an unusually large number of men have been given jobs this week by private residents. Some of the men are painting, others are doing small grading jobs, and still others are helping families to move.

Kiss in the Dark
In a petition filed in district court yesterday, Lloyd and Margaret Abbott ask the court to cancel a quit claim deed which gives the ownership of a share of the property left by Ben W. Abbott, deceased, to Mrs. Mayme Abbott, mother of Lloyd.

hogs. The manager of a dairy marketing association said all deliveries came through.

Other Developments
Other developments today in the holiday, which was called Aug. 8 by members of the National Farmers Holiday association, were:

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, declared the non-selling movement "is sponsored by a limited group of misguided farmers with whom have become associated radical agitators." O'Neal made his declaration in a statement which asked farmers "to put an end of hysteria and bring sound reason to bear."

Eleven men, arrested near Des Moines Monday and charged with maintaining a nuisance or malicious entry, were arraigned today and ordered held in lieu of bail ranging from $1,000 to $2,200 each.

Sheriff Davenport and County Attorney Prichard of Woodbury county investigated a fight in which 11 deputies were hurt near Cushing, Ia., Monday night. The sheriff said many of the Holiday workers who hurled sticks and stones at the officers could be identified.

P. T. Hagerman of Omaha was cut about the face when pickets near Council Bluffs threw a lantern through his automobile windshield, after he ignored their orders to stop.

To Market Cattle
A group of Holiday leaders and farmers met in Council Bluffs and formulated a plan, subject to approval by the leader of the movement in nearby Harrison county, whereby finished cattle may be marketed.

Sheriff P. A. Lainson of Pottawattamie county and County Attorney Dickason presented to a grand jury in Council Bluffs data relating to picketing disorders near there, as an indirect result of which one deputy was killed, another hurt, and 61 men arrested.

Practically no produce or live stock entered Council Bluffs markets, because of the tightness of the blockades.

A temporary agreement was reached by milk distributors and producers in Clinton, Ia., whereby the price of milk would be boosted two cents a gallon. Roads into Clinton were patrolled by Holiday sympathizers, but there was no curtailment of farm products.

In Cedar county, Ia., in eastern part of the state, Holiday leaders determined to postpone their picketing activities, scheduled to start today, until later in the week.

Prices Drop
Governors White of Ohio, Olson of Minnesota, Turner of Iowa, and Murray of Oklahoma have agreed to attend, or send representatives to a conference in Sioux City Sept. 8, which Governor Green of South Dakota called. Their purpose will be to seek some marketing plan to raise farm prices. Fourteen middle-western governors were invited.

Picketing of a large creamery near Waterloo was abandoned today. Farmers near Ft. Dodge had no trouble marketing their commodities. A temporary agreement affecting them and Ft. Dodge dealers raises the milk price from $1.25 to $1.80 a hundredweight.

"The farmers sponsoring the Holiday have assured me that nothing but peaceful picketing, with no forcible stopping of produce trucks, will be carried on in the future," Sheriff Keeling said. He added that the Holiday workers have broken with members of an unemployed war veterans' organization known as the Khaki Shirts, which has aided the pickets.

Hold Nine Men
Nine men were held in default of $1,000 bail each on a charge of maintaining a nuisance and two others were ordered held in lieu of $2,200 bail each on charges of maintaining a nuisance and malicious entry. The 11 were arraigned before Justice John Bell in Valley Junction, a suburb of Des Moines. They were arrested Monday by Sheriff Keeling following a series of disorders in connection with picketing.

Meanwhile members of the Des Moines Co-operative Dairy Marketing association planned to meet here Wednesday to discuss the Holiday movement. On their decision, it is known, will depend any plans, as yet unannounced, that pickets may have of resuming their blockades.

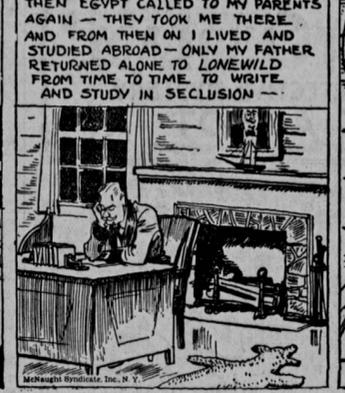

The Farmers' Holiday association in Cedar county, in which is West Branch, President Hoover's birthplace, and in which last summer the state waged a major campaign against farmers who did not wish to have their cattle tested for tuberculosis, withdrew their pickets today, but announced that an offensive will be launched Wednesday, in which they expect to enroll 1,000 members.

Will Meet at Tipton
They planned a meeting tonight near Tipton to perfect plans for enforcing a decision to withhold all

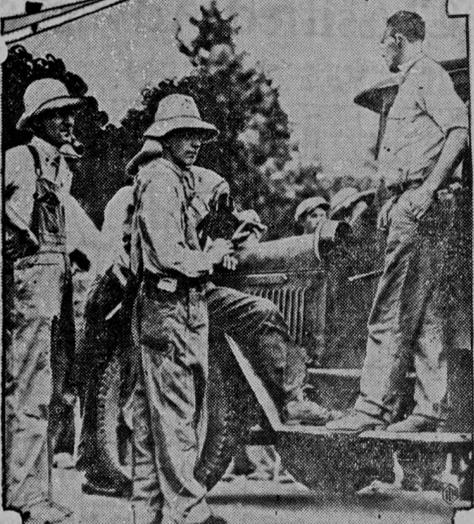

They claim they signed the deed without reading it when Mrs. Abbott told them "it would be all right."

End of the Road
J. Harrison Daniels filed a petition in district court yesterday asking for a divorce from Lila C. Daniels on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. He also demands custody of the three children, Maxine, 8, June, 6, and Gregg, 4.

DIXIE DUGAN—The Lost Exposed!

WITH IOWA FARM STRIKERS

Here is a scene from the Iowa "farmers' holiday" front. A picket of striking agrarians is shown as it stopped Hollan Ruse, a truck operator of Labor, who was on his way to Council Bluffs to sell his produce in defiance of the farmers' pact. Pleading that it would mean ruin if his fleet of corn-laden trucks were turned back, Ruse (right) was finally allowed to proceed. Four men were injured here in a fracas between farmers and deputies.

produce, except truck and garden products, from markets "until prices are right."

Sheriff E. R. Cooke of Clinton county conferred with strike leaders and warned them that order must be maintained on highways. They gave their assurance, the sheriff said, that there would no trouble.

A movement was afoot near Davenport to get higher milk prices. But dealers there predicted that the entire situation would "blow over in 30 days."

Officers of the Woodbury county Farmers Holiday association, because of the need of some farmers to sell their products to get money for living expenses, today drew up a schedule, whereby each farmer will be allowed to "market each day the following commodities: milk, in accordance with a recent price agreement; perishable goods, such as garden products; not more than 12 dozen eggs, not more than two bushels of potatoes.

At Onawa the ban on shipping of poultry, butter, cream and eggs was lifted following a conference between produce dealers and representatives of the Holiday association.

Livestock and grain markets will remain closed, however, and produce dealers were held to their previous agreement to sell only farmers' butter.

O'Neal Charges "Red" Agitation
CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, today charged the midwest farm strike for higher prices "is sponsored by a limited group of misguided farmers with whom have become associated radical agitators."

O'Neal announced in a statement denouncing the strike that he had written letters to officials and members of 100 Iowa county farm bureaus urging them to take no part in the movement. He urged that farmers "battle with ballots" for the farm bureau program instead.

"Firm Conviction"
"It is my firm conviction that methods used in the present instance can not meet with general success," O'Neal stated. "Upsetting a few loads of milk and preventing farmers from hauling their produce to market can not right the wrongs from which we are suffering."

"Whenever violence occurs, public sympathy for the righteous cause of agriculture is lost. We recognize farm people are a minority group in this country and that fair play is going to be assured us only as other groups are brought to realize the justice of our cause."

The farm bureau president issued the statement and announced sending of the letters after a consultation with Charles E. Hearst, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation. The letters urged farmers to "put an end of hysteria and bring sound reason to bear."

Sympathetic
O'Neal said he was sympathetic with objects sought by the farm strikers, but believed the farm bureau's "definite and practical program for the rehabilitation of agriculture" is the only sound plan yet devised to increase agricultural prices.

Monetary stabilization, revision of tariffs, reorganization of rural credits, and education of the public into the farmer's importance in the economic scheme were listed by O'Neal as some of the farm bureau's objectives.

Reno Calls Charge "Absurd"
DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday association, today described as "absurd" charges by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, that the midwest farm strike "is sponsored by a limited group of misguided farmers."

"The statement of Edward O'Neal is exactly what might be expected from a man who has never undertaken a militant movement," Reno's reply read.

"To say that a 'limited group of misguided farmers' are carrying on the fight in Iowa is, of course, absurd. And Mr. O'Neal's reference to 'radical agitators' makes it appear that he has joined hands with Congressman Fish, of New York, in another 'red baiting' enterprise."

In his statement, given out in Chicago, O'Neal charged that the farmers' campaign for higher prices was engineered by a group of "misguided farmers" with whom "radical leaders" had been associated.

O'Neal urged that a "battle of ballots" be waged instead, and declared that "upsetting a few loads of milk and preventing farmers from hauling their produce to market can not right the wrongs from which we are suffering."

The farm bureau leader said he had written Iowa Farm Bureau members to take no part in the non-selling campaign. Reno, in this regard, said, however, that in Woodbury county, scene of several disturbances in connection with the "strike," that many farm bureau members had participated.

Couple Files Injury Action

$54,150 Asked in Suit Brought on Paving Corporation

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Aug. 30 (AP)—Personal injury suits for total damages of $54,150 were filed in circuit court here today by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wasem of Harrisburg, S. D., against the Western Asphalt Paving corporation of Sioux City.

The couple was injured a year ago when their automobile crashed into a truck on the highway north of Dell Rapids. The complaint alleged the truck was parked without lights and that the plaintiffs suffered permanent injuries as a result of the accident.

Mrs. Wasem asks $25,000 and her husband $15,000 for personal injuries. Wasem also seeks $10,000 for the loss of his wife's society and $4,150 for his car.

Judge John T. Medin ordered both suits removed to the federal district court on motion of defense attorneys.

Look Here Dear--

"Our House Rent is only going to cost us $20 a month this year. I rented that extra room to two students at $10 each. How did I do it? It was easy—I put a want ad in The Daily Iowan and our rent problem was settled on the second day --and it only cost 50 cents, too!"

You people who rent rooms—Stop and figure—Can you afford to risk some chance passerby noticing your "For Rent" sign when an ad in a paper that students read costs so little?
