When the price tag on women's apparel waves, it's time to look out. It's time to look carefully into other factors about the garments.

Ask yourself these questions: Is the quality of the materials inferior? Is the material a little short here or there? Is the workmanship carelessly done by machine instead of carefully done by hand?

We believe that you want garments that will give you satisfaction long after the actual time of selection.

Thus we make it our first point in selecting garments for you to see that they have OSBORN'S standard of good QUALITY . . . And as to the price, you have our assurance that it will always be right.

Traces Public Utility History

Updegraff Speaks to Kiwanis Club Members

With the statement that public utilities were known and regulated as far back as the days of the Romans, Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff of the college of law spoke before members of the Kiwanis club at their meeting in the Jefferson hotel yesterday.

In his talk Professor Updegraff traced the history of utilities up through the ages until the present time. Roman courts, he said, made decisions on the regulation of bridges, ferries, and water much as is done today.

Public Utility Commissions

"It is the practice now," said the speaker, "in most states to regulate these utilities through the action of public utility commissions. Iowa and Texas are the only states in which they are regulated directly through the action of city councils."

He said that formerly it was the custom when franchises were granted to include in them rates and schedules. Because of the changing economic conditions over the period of the franchise that practice has been found impractical he asserted.

Blames Politicians

"Political demagogues," Professor Updegraff said, "in Iowa have cost various cities many thousands of dollars needlessly by the attempt to fix public utility rates which were confiscatory. Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Sioux City and Council Bluffs have at some time or other carried lawsuits to the supreme court and lost because of confiscatory rates."

In closing, Professor Updegraff said he did not wish to give the impression that public utilities do not need regulation, but that regulation should be carried out by the common sense method.

"Concede," he said, "that there are honest men engaged in the utility business."

Dr. I. W. Leighman was a guest at the meeting with Dr. A. E. Lambert.

Estimate Says Acreage Yield of Corn Will Drop

DES MOINES, Oct. 11 (AP)—Department of agriculture estimates set Iowa's 1932 corn crop at 516 million bushels, the first time the half million mark has been exceeded.

The acre yield, however, is calculated at 44 bushels, two bushels lower than the highest average on record. In only two other years has this yield been surpassed.

The eight principal grain crops in this state this fall also will be 26 per cent higher than the 1931 yields, and 15 per cent above the 1924-1928 average.

Estimates of other Iowa crops are: oats 221,993,000 bushels against 188,542,000 bushels in 1931; barley 15,875,000 bushels as compared to 13,546,000 in 1931; buckwheat 30,000 bushels compared to 19,000 last year; flaxseed 212,000 bushels this year; potatoes 8,430,000 bushels against 8,850,000 last year; sweet potatoes 300,000 bushels this year with the 19 year average 200,000 bushels; soy beans 738,000 bushels; alfalfa 2.8 tons compared to a 10 year average of 2.5 tons an acre; all tame hay, 4,168,000 tons, with a 1924-1928 average of 3,849,000 tons.

LEMARS, Oct. 11 (AP)—A taxpayers' meeting here tonight was told by Francis Johnson, speaker of the Iowa house, that a special session of the legislature could do nothing which cannot be accomplished at the regular session in January.

He attacked efforts he contended several Democratic candidates have made to "make a political football of the matter," and said they indicated a lack of understanding of the laws and disregard of the importance of decisive action on tax legislation.

Mandatory taxes can be repealed, salaries can be reduced and become operative on publication of the bills in January, he said, and the expense of a special session be avoided in this way.

Demo Choice for Governor Flays Turner

ATLANTIC, Oct. 11 (AP)—Clyde Herring, Democratic candidate for governor, in a campaign speech here tonight criticized appointments made by Governor Turner, and contended appointees were named to "pay political debts."

He referred again to his charges that the warden of Anamosa reformatory took two prisoners to a world series baseball game in Chicago and declared that the warden was "one of Turner's political appointees."

Herring also listed other cases which he classed as "the payment of political debts," mentioning specifically an appointment to the highway commission in place of Clifford Niles, and to the board of control in place of A. M. McColl. "This practice of playing politics with important state executive positions has affected numerous state departments where the duties are so highly specialized that they should be entirely above and free from political interference," Herring said.

Republican Director Attacks Democratic Campaign Methods

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—George Olmsted of Des Moines, national director of the Young Republican league, in a speech before the Hamilton club today charged the Democratic campaign is appealing to class prejudice.

He described the "forgotten man" as "more of a myth than Saint Claus," and declared the Democratic party is "creating a spirit of bitterness between the man who has a job and the man who has none."

If this "propaganda" should take effect, he said, "we know we would live in a country of hatred. Fortunately, we know that ultimately a campaign of hatred will fail."

A Quavering Reed

THAT SPEECH of former Senator James A. Reed in Des Moines Monday night was hardly the appropriate Democratic answer to President Hoover's recent address there—especially on the tariff.

Where he quoted Senator Carter Glass regarding the gold standard defense, Senator Reed may have been correct—but the gold standard is not an issue in this campaign.

Republicans assert, truthfully, that agricultural tariffs were lowered by Democrats the last time they came into power—but along with tariffs on industrial commodities.

It seems hardly reasonable that Democrats should now argue, in a farm state, that they meant tariff reductions to be effective in some other portion of the country as far as affecting local industry is concerned.

Whether Franklin D. Roosevelt is of the same opinion as ex-Senator Reed is doubtful, although even he has hedged enough to prate about "protection of the American working man."

Log rolling in tariffs has come about through just such men as not only Pennsylvania manufacturers but also Colorado sugar beeters, Iowa dairy farmers, and Louisiana cane sugar planters.

Unfortunately, however, Roosevelt has political alliances that rob him of part of this advantage. Not William Randolph Hearst so much—Roosevelt probably can stand independent of the great publisher who supported Hoover in 1928—but John Nance Garner represents this blot on the program.

Garner is a hidebound, reactionary isolationist of the deepest dyed variety. On international questions he has about the breadth of outlook possessed by Governor William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray in the inland seclusion of Oklahoma.

Charles Curtis, who may have retained some of the solitary spirit of his Indian ancestry, is about on a par with Garner. He is a big navy man, a 100 per center, a William Hale Thompson without showmanship or bravado—with the inner tendencies of a swashbuckler and not the physical qualities to play the part.

Charles Curtis, who may have retained some of the solitary spirit of his Indian ancestry, is about on a par with Garner. He is a big navy man, a 100 per center, a William Hale Thompson without showmanship or bravado—with the inner tendencies of a swashbuckler and not the physical qualities to play the part.

fully how completely industrialized is the world today. Even fairs, once gala gatherings where simple country folk displayed their year's harvest and danced blithely upon the green are now businesslike, efficient, mechanized affairs.

Ornament, decorative art, beauty for beauty's sake was the keynote of the Columbian exposition. And the Columbian Exposition keyed the spirit of the gay nineties.

Utility, power, efficiency dominate the Century of Progress. And it in turn symbolizes modernity.

That either is superior to the other cannot be readily determined. Certainly each is more appropriate to its own age. A beautiful but useless world's fair deposited suddenly now on Chicago's south side grounds would be bitter irony—to hungry families.

Equally ludicrous would have appeared our mechanical monsters of today at a time when beauty meant more than utility.

Most of us like our machines and our efficiency. Few of us ever knew that other age, and what one does not know, one seldom misses keenly.

Yesterday, in considering the traditional U. S. policy of isolation—insularity is the term historians use—I gave evidence to show that what margin of difference there is on this point is in favor of Roosevelt rather than of Hoover.

It is true, however, that both major presidential candidates are fairly world minded. It is also true, as the Kansas City Times said some time ago, that Herbert Hoover is regarded abroad as an intense nationalist—even if the Hearst papers look on him as a flunky for the "international bankers."

It cannot be pointed out too often that the interests Mr. Hoover serves are right here in the United States and not off in some alien land that it's convenient to hate.

Unfortunately, however, Roosevelt has political alliances that rob him of part of this advantage. Not William Randolph Hearst so much—Roosevelt probably can stand independent of the great publisher who supported Hoover in 1928—but John Nance Garner represents this blot on the program.

BEHIND THE SCENES — IN HOLLYWOOD — By HARRISON CARROLL SCREEN COMMENT

STUDIO GOSSIP
FILM SCANDAL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 11—Drawn together by adversity, the producers of Hollywood are becoming just one big family. Like friendly housewives, they borrow each others' stars across the back fence. And there are mighty few reservations.

Yesterday, for instance, Warner Brothers presented Paramount with their romantic ace, George Brent. He'll come over to do one picture, a talkie version of Gino Kaus' novel, "The Crossing." For screen purposes, however, they'll be changing the title to "Luxury Liner."

Just as you might suspect, this is a story of the adventures of a group of people on one of those floating palaces plying between Europe and New York. You'll recall Fox made a swell melodrama of this sort called "Transatlantic." But there'll be no similarity in the two films. Screenists Gene Markey and Kathryn Scala will see to that.

A word about George Brent. For a while, fans were promised that Ruth Chatterton and her handsome husband would appear in the same picture. Then he was taken out. Some excuse was given that he could not finish another assignment. Actually, I predict, Mr. Brent and Miss Chatterton never will appear together on the screen again. She has a theory it would destroy part of the illusion for the fan. And she may be right. How about it?

It's a swell story they tell about Marie Dressler and a member of the bankers' convention now meeting here.

The other day the prominent gentleman called Marie on the phone. He told her he knew her back in the days when she was selling Liberty bonds and would like to come out and see her. He asked her to set a day.

Marie said she was working that afternoon but how about tomorrow? "Great," replied the financier, "and by the way, how far a trolley ride is it from my hotel to your studio?"

BOULEVARD TOPICS.
 Little Renee Adoree has left Hollywood for the Arden Almond Ranch near Banning. In all probability, she'll spend most of the winter on the desert and stage that comeback in the spring. The facts of the case are these. One of the greatest speculators in the world has pronounced her completely cured of her ailment.

But the two years in bed weakened her muscles and she needs to build up her strength.

When actors on the "Fu Manchu" set displayed natural squeamishness about handling some de-fanged snakes, the reptile trainer scoffed at them. Then one of the snakes had several blessed events. The trainer told everybody the babies were out. Until one of them bit him. He was in the hospital for days.

The golf-bugs of Hollywood are openly amazed about Clark Gable. Six weeks ago he was a novice. Yesterday, he shot an 84 on a tough local course. The he-man star is so taken up with the game that he will enter the motion picture tournament a week from Sunday. . . . Broadway will not see Helen Hayes this season, unless for a brief visit. The actress has given her promise to make three pictures for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. They'll be "The Son Daughter," "The White Sister," and one other.

Original parties are all the rage in the film colony. Dudley Murphy plots a "Harlem Evening" at his home next Wednesday. There will be colored entertainers and guests are invited to come in black-face. Only "mammy singing" is verboten.

Truckers to Fight Against Road Pickets

Plan Peaceful Moves to Keep Highways Clear

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 11 (AP)—A campaign of peaceful persuasion to combat highway pickets halting market bound farm products was announced by the Minnesota Livestock Truckers association tonight.

Robert Studer of Sauk Rapids, secretary of the organization, said livestock trucks, organized as fleets before approaching picket lines, will be accompanied by farmers whose animals were being hauled.

The farmers—a few with each train of trucks—will alight as the pickets are reached, confer with leaders, and attempt to dissuade the patrolling groups from their efforts to block highways and prevent non-perishables from reaching market.

Takes Immediate Effect

The plan will go into effect immediately, Studer said, following success of a train of 47 trucks in passing through picket lines near here today.

That fleet, however, was accompanied by the Anoka county sheriff and a deputy, but henceforth aid of officers will not be asked unless the pickets refuse to allow the trucks to go on, he added.

Sheriffs of Hennepin, Anoka and Mower counties escorted trucks past patrols today after drivers complained they were being delayed. Hennepin is the county in which Minneapolis is located while Anoka adjoins Mower, in southeastern Minnesota, borders on Iowa. Pickets were on duty in several other Minnesota counties also.

Report Acts of Violence

Several drivers reported tires were punctured by nails near here, and one said his windshield was broken by clubs thrown by pickets. Near Dawson 150 chickens were liberated when a driver refused to turn back. He turned back after the chickens were freed.

Gov. F. B. Olson in a statement said any act of violence "is a matter for the attention of county sheriffs and other police officers charged with enforcement of the law."

He issued his statement, in which he said farmers had a legal right to picket peacefully, after the People's Livestock Cooperative association of South St. Paul complained trucks were being stopped near here.

Leaders Act for Peace

The governor said state Farmers Holiday association leaders had told him they counseled members against violence and were insisting on peaceful persuasion.

The pickets hope to increase prices by decreasing the supply of farm products at markets.

Residents of Small Towns Shiftless, Says Professor

Most small town residents prefer to follow a daily routine of trivial interests rather than make serious efforts at self-improvement.

At least that is true in representative towns of under 1,500 population in Iowa and Illinois, asserts Prof. Charles L. Robbins of the college of education.

Surveys Small Towns

Professor Robbins has completed a detailed survey of adult education—"the purposive persistent attempt to get ideas, build up skills, or develop associations"—among small town people.

His conclusions are that lack of serious attempts at self-improvement is everywhere characteristic, with the chief obstacles the absence of incentive, time, money, and sheer

Witnesses in Liquor Probe Ask Immunity

OMAHA, Oct. 11 (AP)—Immunity from prosecution in both state and federal courts was asked late today by eight Omaha men as they prepared to testify for the government in its case against 59 alleged members of a local liquor "syndicate" on a charge of violating the prohibition laws.

Petitions were filed in both courts by attorneys for the government witnesses as the slow task of forming a federal court jury to try the 59, dragged through its second day.

The witnesses who asked immunity in return for their testimony were headed by former police sergeant Tom Crawford, who recently has been "rooming" in a judicial chamber at the federal building under heavy guard. The others included George "Dutch" Volker, an ex-convict; Charles Hutter, former sheriff of Sarpy county, Nebraska, who has twice been the target of gunmen; John Kubik, brother of a bootlegger slain here last November and four minor witnesses.

In federal court U. S. Attorney Sandall added a "joinder and request" to the petition asking immunity.

Leslie "Red" Beers Gains Decision Victory Over Harold Croy

Harold Timm Wins by Fall in Good Bout

THE Beers-Croy match had the wrestling fans discussing Mike Howard's new rules last night, and there was considerable argument both pro and con.

According to Earl Conrad, Croy's manager, and Croy himself, he made the mistake of not changing tactics.

CROY indicated last night that he would like a return match to show local fans that he does not always wrestle the slow, defensive style he did last night.

Yankees Give Joe McCarthy New Contract for 3 Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Joseph Vincent McCarthy, the square jawed Buffalo Irishman who piloted the New York Yankees back to world championship baseball heights in a two year term as manager, today received his reward in the form of a new three year contract at a substantial increase in salary.

Never Played It marked a fresh step forward in the unusual career of "Marse Joe," who never played a game of big league baseball in his life but now holds the distinction of being the only pilot ever to manage pennant winners in both the American and National leagues.

Beers Aggressor Over Former Hills Star to Get Win

By GENE THORNE Showing by far the most aggressiveness and speed, Leslie "Red" Beers, former University of Iowa wrestler won an easy victory over H. Glenn Croy, light heavyweight champion of Iowa, at the American Legion auditorium last night.

Although neither man was near a fall at any time during the one hour time limit match, it was Beers who took the lead, and spilled the former Hills schoolmaster time after time.

Croy appeared entirely too cautious throughout the match, and refused to open up although Beers offered him chance after chance after the first half hour.

Beers showed the utmost respect for Croy at the start, but depended upon his speed to get him out of any holes. He could not put any sort of dangerous hold on Earl Conrad's protegee, but had the best of the going except for a time when the hour was about a third gone.

The grapplers spent most of the time on their feet, with Beers forcing Croy around the ring. Several times he seemed about to upset Croy and have him in a dangerous position, but Croy clung to the ropes as a means of defense.

Beers was troubled somewhat by his opponent's greater height and reach. Beers weighed 173 pounds, and Croy 176.

Timm Wins by Fall By far the brightest spot on the card was Harold "Foxy" Timm's win over Swede Jarvinen by a fall after 21 minutes and 50 seconds in the semi-windup.

The blonde Muscatine lad swarmed all over the husky Swede, and kept him on defense for the greater part of the match. Timm tried most of his repertoire before pinning his man, and found considerable time on the side to clown around, including a pause to recover his gun from the canvas, and later to carefully park it over in the corner of the ring.

He strutted all of his old-time speed in scoring his win, and should be a sure bet to get on Mike Howard's next show.

Hargrave Shades Wyjack In a fast four round boxing preliminary, Roger Hargrave managed to shade Wilbur Wyjack. After a no-count trip to the canvas in the third, Hargrave wound up with a fast finish that had Wyjack backing around the ring.

The wrestling was run off under a new set of professional rules drawn up by Coach Howard. They are much like the A.A.U. rules, and give points for aggressiveness, zoning behind a man, and coming out from underneath.

The show was run off smoothly, with little or no waits between matches. Coach Howard hopes to present a show once a month throughout the indoor season.

Stub Barron refereed the wrestling, and two former Iowa matmen, Claude Peer, and Larry Mueller, were judges. Francis Merien former heavyweight boxing champion at the university acted as third man in the ring for the boxing.

lec, guard, cut holes in the Indiana varsity football lineup today, and coaches scurried about for replacements for use in the Iowa game.

McCarthy's signing a new contract. He concluded negotiations quickly with Colonel Ruppert at the latter's office.

McCarthy was happy enough about it, in receiving congratulations after being accorded a signal demonstration of confidence by his employer, but he did not permit this to sway him from his customary taciturnity.

"Marse Joe" said he expected Babe Ruth to continue to be a big factor in the Yankee offense, pointing out that to his knowledge there had been talk of the Bambino being "through" for the last 10 years.

Praises Chapman As to the outstanding play in the championship, McCarthy considered Ben Chapman's catch off Herman in the first game outstanding but he also praised the work of Shortstop Frankie Crosetti in the final game at Chicago.

Practice Game With Frosh Points Hawkeyes for Indiana Game

STARS TO SHINE IN EASTERN GRID BATTLES THIS WEEK

Rollie Starts Cage Practice

Will Work With Men Twice Each Week During Fall

While the football team absorbs public interest, Coach Rollie P. Williams, thinking of the basketball season which starts in less than two months, has started practice for his court athletes.

He will work with the players two evenings each week during most of the football season for he is occupied every afternoon as an assistant to Ossie Solem.

Seven "I" Men Seven major "I" men will be available during the season, but two of these, Howard Moffitt, the great forward who ranked fourth among Big Ten scorers last winter, and Harold Swaney, big guard, are playing football until Nov. 26.

The veterans who will work this fall are Jack Kollow, Woodcliff, N. J., senior forward; Marshall Riegert, Maplewood, Mo., senior guard; Guendner Krumbholz, Davenport, forward; Ben Selzer, Cassale, N. J., guard, and Douglas Filkins, Eagle Grove, guard.

Play Bradley First Among the best recruits, all of whom will practice now, are Howard Eastman, Eldora, center; Duane Smith, Creston, forward; John Grim, Iowa City, guard, and Ivan Blacker, Iowa City, center. John Barako of Muscatine, a fine forward prospect, will not be available until Feb. 1 when he will complete his year's residence.

After opening the season Dec. 3 against Bradley Tech, the Iowans will meet Drake, Carleton, and North Dakota State before stepping into the conference race. Big Ten rivals, each to be met twice, are Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Chicago, Ohio State, and Illinois.

Frosh Drill for Contests Tomorrow

Four yearling squads went through a stiff drill yesterday afternoon in preparation for the second round of the freshman tournament tomorrow at Iowa field. The teams continued practicing signals and fundamentals to brush up the ragged spots observed by the assistant coaches in the first round.

Coach Bill Boelter supervised the practice session, while the senior coaches from the physical education department put the teams through their paces.

Emphasis was placed on methods of stopping Ken Smith, Joe Richards, and John Stevens, frosh stars who showed to such a good advantage in the opening round, while the coaches tried variations on the standard Solem, and Wisconsin systems to avoid the danger of having their opponents anticipate plays.

Purdue and Michigan are the only undefeated and untied teams in the tourney, while Minnesota and Wisconsin share a tie game. Indiana was beaten by Purdue last Thursday.

The draw for the second round will be announced after today's practice. Finding a man to replace Charles Cobb, tackle, will be Coach "Clipper" Smith's biggest individual problem at North Carolina State college this season.

Here are some of the grid stars who will perform when the eastern football season gets fully underway this Saturday with several important clashes between major teams. Army takes on Pittsburgh at West Point, Dartmouth and Penn meet at Philadelphia, Harvard clashes with Penn State at Cambridge and Cornell meets Princeton in their annual battle at Princeton.

Herman Schneidman Stars in Position Where Majority of Gridders Lose Limelight

By RON TALLMAN Performing in a position which to a mediocre football player would mean almost complete extinction from notice, that of blocking halfback, Herman Schneidman, quiet yet effective sophomore, is rapidly forging to the front as an outstanding star in his line of action.

The swarthy complexioned Quincy, Ill., griddier, the most regular regular on Coach Ossie Solem's Hawkeye team at the present, is making a real bid with his 175 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches of height and 19 years of age for a name among Western conference athletes.

Born in Rock Island Born in Rock Island, Ill., the home of Ed Dolly, present Hawkeye team mate, Herman, who is known to some of his mates as "Scarface," spent most of his boyhood days in Quincy where he competed in high school athletics.

While basketball, in which he earned three letters as a guard, was his outstanding sport, he competed for three years each in football and track. In the former he played halfback, a position which he has always held.

Seeks Cage Berth When the 1932 football season has reached its conclusion, during which time Schneidman is almost certain to become more and more an outstanding blocker and defensive star, Coach Rollie Williams will find the swarthy complexioned Illinois man an aggressive candidate for a guard position in the cage sport.

Quiet at all times, even when on the football field, "Schneid" appears to be a studious youth. His studies in the university are in pharmacy.

Three Matches in Quad Tennis Meet Finished to Date With play considerably hampered by bad weather, Quarangle tennis and golf has gotten off to a comparatively slow start.

There have been three first round singles matches completed to date, M. D. Gruber taking the count, 6-1, 6-4, from K. L. Buntrock, Mark True defeating Roland White, 6-2, 6-1, and R. Meyer nicking Armand Barnes, 6-1, 6-3. These winners have advanced to the second round by virtue of their victories.

Jack Burnett, "Ole Miss" sprint star and football player, joined Indiana university this fall.

Although they are second to none on the diamond when it comes to socking a baseball on the nose, Babe Ruth (right) and Lou Gehrig, of the champion New York Yankees, are no great shakes at Isaac Walton's game. Here they are after their first day's fishing at Babylon, L. I., without even a sardine to be photographed with, although they ranged Long Island Sound for long rainy hours. Babe and Lou are resting after the world series, and it seems that the fish are also resting.

St. Pat's Gridders in Comeback in Drills After Slump

There were no idlers in St. Pat's camp last night. Coach Emmett Wilkinson drilled his men until dark without a letup, setting them ready for the battle with University high Friday, a game which will decide just who are the champions of Iowa City high schools.

According to averages the Green and White is due for a victory. They have alternated in winning and losing games thus far this season, and their last contest, which was with Lone Tree, turned out to be a loss. But it's going to take more than the law of averages to bring victory to the Irish Friday afternoon.

Show Fight More co-ordination is desired by Wilkinson, and co-ordination is what he is going to get if last night's practice was any indication.

With play considerably hampered by bad weather, Quarangle tennis and golf has gotten off to a comparatively slow start. However, with better conditions promised it is expected that golf and tennis balls will be flying thick and fast to make up for lost time.

No Serious Injuries Although there are no serious injuries on the squad, there are several of the men nursing minor injuries. Emanuel, the bulky tackle who has been playing a bang-up defensive game, has a bruised hip and swollen thumb, while Glenn, chief forward gainer, was out of practice with a sore foot.

Illini Work on Passes CHAMPAIGN (AP)—The Illinois varsity concentrated on its forward passing game today and Coach Bob Zupke indicated Northwestern would see a lot of the aerial style of warfare Saturday.

Gophers Forced Indoors MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Cold weather turned the Gophers indoors today and they studied the offensive in dummy scrimmage, both regulars and first reserves getting further instruction on attack from Coach Bierman. Jerry Griffin, quarterback, was still absent because of illness but Brad Robinson rejoined his mates.

Badgers Get New Plays MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin varsity practiced new plays against the freshmen today. Coach Clarence Spears gave the Badgers a long workout on offense against the yearlings, and the practice gave a hint that they will match Purdue at its aerial game.

Hoosiers In Practice EVANSTON (AP)—The Northwestern regulars came back to life in today's practice, running all over the freshmen and reserves in a long scrimmage. There was no fumbling, and running and passing plays clicked in pleasing fashion.

Coach Solem Sends Teyro to 1st String

Kuhn, Laws Show Up Well in Driving Offense

Striving to inject more punch and drive into his proteges, Coach Ossie Solem sent the Iowa varsity against a freshman eleven yesterday afternoon in one of the longest workouts of the season.

After the usual drill on fundamentals, the first string clashed with the yearlings in a regular game, in which the varsity drove up and down the field on offense, but had only fair success with defense against Indiana plays as used by the frosh.

Teyro at Quarter Solem continued his experiments with the varsity personnel, working George Teyro, sophomore quarter back, in place of Howard Moffitt.

Realizing that they will be playing before an Indiana homecoming crowd when they meet the Hoosiers Saturday, the Hawkeyes are preparing for a battle against an inspired team.

Hoosiers Passing Indians has a tricky passing attack, with Onasik tossing to Lyons, giant Negro end. Their running offense is built around Babb, another Negro, and Jones.

Solem plans to send his men through a stiff workout today, and probably another tomorrow to tune the Old Gold squad to the battle pitch. The Hawkeyes must show much more drive than they did against Wisconsin if they hope to hold Indiana anywhere near on even terms.

The squad, 33 strong, will leave Iowa City Thursday afternoon for Bedford, Ind., a town about 25 miles from Bloomington, and remain there until Saturday morning.

SYNOPSIS
Life to lovely Patricia Braithwait was a series of parties, trips abroad and now—Palm Beach. Her castles crumble when her Aunt Pamela informs her that Mr. Braithwait's fortune is depleted and suggests that Pat marry the wealthy, middle-aged Harvey Blaine to insure her own and her father's future, warning her that love fades. Aunt Pam's handsome, young lawyer—was he beginning to pall in spite of the ardent love they had had for each other. They still cared but the routine of married life had made them "less lovers and more friends." Stunned by her aunt's revelations, Pat is seriously considering Blaine to save the father she adores, when she meets a fascinating young camper, who only reveals his first name, Jack. Despite their instant attraction for one another, Pat discourages future meetings. That night, Pam cautions Blaine to be matter-of-fact and not sentimental in trying to win Pat, stressing the point that his one advantage is the fact that Pat is desperately hard up and worships her father, who lives for Pat alone. His financial predicament is largely due to the gradual caving in of his plantation. His honesty prevented him from taking advantage of an opportunity to sell the property. Braithwait tries to belittle his difficulties to Pat, but she realizes he is just trying to shield her and that Aunt Pam was right. She accepts Blaine's proposal.

CHAPTER NINE
After dinner she hurried to her room. She could not decide what to wear. It seemed a matter of high importance. She changed three times. Finally settled on a blue georgette embroidered in padded rosebuds of pink satin with stems and leaves of green twisted ribbon. Crystal beads glowed like dew on the soft petals and foliage. The blue of her eyes, the gold of her hair were deepened by the enchanting frock.
She smiled wistfully at her reflection and began dramatizing herself, finding therein a strange satisfaction. She could hear a people saying, "So young and lovely. How could she sacrifice her young life to that man—even for her father!"
Absorbed in the ravishing figure in the mirror, she felt the terrible ploy of it all, and pondered over her own indifference. She must be a very determined person who, having decided, no longer even felt sad over it.
Arthur Savage phoned up at ten o'clock. "Come on, Pat. The music has moved to the ballroom. The gang's collecting."
Blaine was watching for her at the foot of the stairs, and her glow of gallant martyrdom expired. . . . She descended slowly, a very sick little girl.
But Arthur was also waiting. In a swift dash he caught her, whirled her away to the ballroom, leaving Mr. Blaine to stare after them.
In and out among the dancers they swept with a rush and brilliance that threatened continual disaster, but never achieved it. "I'm going to dance you to death tonight and bury you tomorrow so no other man will ever get you, you beautiful thing," he said savagely. His whole body shivered with increasing violence, his feet cutting high, dark. Handsome dark face down- bent, eyes glued on his feet, he appeared lank, absorbed, grotesque.
"Glorious! Go, Arthur. Go faster." "To go faster. And faster. So that the slow pace of the old man she had promised to marry could never catch up with her. . . . I'll die if he touches me. . . ."

Veteran Former Senator Dies at Home in Michigan

Served Through Two in Capacity as Congressman

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 11 (AP)—Former Senator William Alden Smith, whose quarter of a century of service in congress embraced both the Spanish-American and World war periods, died at his home here this afternoon. He was 73.
Known as "the friendliest man in Michigan," he could call countless men in almost every hamlet of the state by their first names.
Active in Present Campaign
His interest in politics continued even after his retirement from the senate in 1919, after serving two terms. He had been active in the present campaign in his home city until Saturday, when he suffered a heart attack.
In 1906 he purchased the Grand Rapids Herald. He was a member of a prominent law firm and served as president for several years of one of Grand Rapids' largest banks.
At the time of his death Mr. Smith continued in the office of president of the Herald Publishing company. The Herald, at present, is affiliated with two other newspapers under joint ownership of the Federated Newspapers, Inc.
Served on Committee
He was a member of the house foreign affairs sub-committee which drafted the declaration of war against Spain.
In 1907, the Michigan legislature

electd him to the senate serving 12 years.
Mr. Smith was born in Dowagiac, Mich., May 12, 1859. In 1886, he was married to Nana Osterout of Grand Rapids. Their only child, William Alden Smith, Jr., who became general manager of the Herald, died within a year after the World war, in which he saw service.
A farm holiday observation picket near his home, was given impetus by Emil Lorlik, Arlington, secretary of the South Dakota Farmers Union convention here today.
Lorlik referred to Peterson as a "martyr in the cause of farmers to force high prices for their products."
"I have been informed a movement has been started to erect a monument to the memory of Nordahl Peterson. . . .
"In the past most great reforms for betterment of conditions have been accomplished by violence and bloodshed, but in this day and age of education, intelligence and enlightenment, we should be able to solve our economic problems in a sane, peaceful and orderly manner. . . .
"Nevertheless, the death of Nordahl Peterson should not be forgotten. It seems fitting that he, who are so vitally interested in a fight for higher agricultural prices, should do our bit to preserve the memory of this martyr."

Sues for $25,000 as Result of Burns Acquired on Dump

CEDAR RAPIDS, Oct. 11 (AP)—Scarred legs and feet of Richard Cabrnosh, 8, were shown to a jury in district court today during the presentation of evidence in the boy's suit for $25,000 damages against Penick and Ford, Ltd., and Richard Mims, an employee.
The plaintiff's petition alleged the boy suffered severe burns June 28, 1931, when he fell through the crust on the city dump into chemical refuse from the Penick and Ford plant, deposited by Mims and other employees. The plaintiff contends that refuse smouldering under the crust broke into intense flames when exposed to air.
A defense motion for a directed verdict was argued this afternoon and taken under advisement by Judge Clark. The defense contention is that the refuse was harmless and passed out of the company's control into the control of the city when it was placed on the city dump.

Stocks Begin Slow Climb After Slump

Hardest Hit Securities Show Most Gain in Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Financial markets were firmer today, with stocks showing to best advantage.

Share trading was not particularly active, but the rally of 1 to 4 points or so, net, even though it may have largely reflected short covering in preparation for tomorrow's holiday, was comforting to those who had been watching for support levels.

Best Gains

Generally speaking, gains were largest to those equities which had been most severely depressed by recent selling. Final levels were somewhat under the best. Volume totaled 1,747,390 shares.

Routine trade news was scarce, but advance estimates placed steel production at a better ratio and commentators mentioned the broad, if small, demand from a variety of lesser consumers. U. S. Steel preferred rallied more than 4 points, which was the maximum net recovery made by leading issues through the list. American Telephone strengthened substantially coincident with word that Bell system 4 stallions had reduced the net loss to around $9,000 in September. The shares were up 3 net. Comparable gains appeared in Peoples Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas and North American.

Rails Strong

Rails were generally strong. Union Pacific snapped back more than 4 points, Santa Fe and Lackawanna 3 and Chesapeake & Ohio nearly as much, while New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania firmed liberally. Freight traffic reports for last week indicate that recovery was well maintained. Oil shares came to life on news that price increases were spreading.

Dollars more than held their own against foreign monies. Brokers reported a balance of European buying in the security markets here.

Republican Leader Ridicules Reed for Campaign Weakness

DES MOINES, Oct. 11 (AP)—Statements made by former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri in a Democratic campaign speech here last night, were declared by H. E. Spangler, Republican national committee man, to have been so "unfair they were helpful instead of detrimental" to the Republican party.

Spangler quoted the Missourian in speaking about the depression as saying: "I don't know the way out. I have no plan."

"The people of the country have been waiting since last congress for a Democratic program and now their principal barnstormer comes here and admits they have no plan," Spangler said.

He declared the Democrats "would have us desert our great leader who has put certain forces into effect to alleviate our condition and have the country put into the hands of a party which has no plan."

Smith to Speak

BOSTON (AP)—Alfred E. Smith late today accepted an invitation from Gov. Joseph B. Ely to address a Democratic rally in Boston. Governor Ely asked the 1928 Democratic standard bearer to come here Oct. 29, but that was impossible and the date was set at Thursday, Oct. 27.

Mexico's Ousting of Prelate May Revive Church-State War

Resentment at Papal Encyclical, Followed by Drastic Exile of Apostolic Delegate, Seen as Reopening of Age-Old Controversy.

MEXICO CITY — With the expulsion of Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, Apostolic Delegate from his native Mexico by government "invitation," the bitter controversy between church and state that was temporarily adjusted in 1929 through the conciliatory intervention of the late Dwight W. Morrow, then U. S. ambassador, is once more blazing.

The drastic action of the Mexican government was the aftermath of the recent encyclical issued by Pope Pius XI, in which, while advocating a policy of formal cooperation with the authorities, he renewed his protests against the Mexican state laws limiting the number of priests permitted to officiate.

The encyclical aroused bitter resentment in official circles, and brought a counter statement from President Abelardo Rodriguez, in which the chief executive warned that all Catholic churches would be converted into schools and shops for the benefit of the nation's proletariat if the "insolent, defiant attitude shown in the encyclical" continued.

To this ultimatum, Archbishop Flores replied that as long as there are Catholics in Mexico, the Pope, as head of their faith, has a right to address them. This was construed to mean that Mexican Catholics owed their entire allegiance to the Vatican rather than to their country, and the matter was brought before the chamber of deputies.

This body, after a brief deliberation, decided that the Apostolic delegate had lost his Mexican citizenship

Drawing Them

The special election on the franchise question drew voters to the office of City Clerk George J. Doherty by the dozens yesterday to register. Registration must be completed by Oct. 29 by those who expect to vote in the national election Nov. 8.

Christmas

We overheard a conversation yesterday between a couple of educated voters. Franchises and the current election was the subject in question. "Do you know what they're tryin' to do? No, that's just it, you don't know what they're tryin' to do. What they're tryin' to do is give this here gas company the streets. That's what they're tryin' to do."

porting a foreign government and forthwith adopted a resolution urging the archbishop's deportation from Mexico as a "pernicious foreigner."

Accordingly, the prelate was immediately flown by plane to the American border, escorted by secret service men.

In the meantime grave fears are entertained both in the Vatican and in Mexico that trouble and bloodshed may follow the reopening of the church-state controversy. Officials of the Vatican expressed amazement at the hostility shown towards the encyclical, asserting that the Papal message to Mexico's Catholics was intended as a peaceful measure, urging obedience to the laws of the country.

In Mexico it is felt that certain elements among the church faction who have shown an inclination to meet force with force might get out of control of the ecclesiastical authorities as a result of the drastic action taken against the Apostolic delegate and that trouble would follow.

That this fear is shared by high government officials is evidenced by the action of former President Elias Calles, still said to be Mexico's strong man. In issuing a statement offering his services to the government "in case conflict should arise" as a result of the reopening of hostilities between church and state. This was taken to mean that General Calles was prepared to resume his former post as minister of war if the present seething resentment develops into a mil-

Grain Prices Gain Ground After Slump

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—Stimulated by New York stock market upturn that preceded grain trading, cereals today developed strength after wheat had again undergone low price recede.

Rallies in wheat came after the market went momentarily to more than 6 cents a bushel under the recent high point. Indications that Winnipeg prices were pegged, and that the rural marketing of spring wheat both north and south of the Canadian boundary was diminishing were effective as bullish factors.

Wheat closed firm at almost the day's top, 1-1/2 above yesterday's finish, corn 1-1/2 up, oats 1/4 to 1/4 advanced, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents lower.

Unfavorable crop reports from Argentina were a contributory influence toward higher wheat prices.

Evening-up of accounts so as to prepare for tomorrow's holiday assisted the upward trend. Hesitancy which the market here showed at the outset was associated with a decline in British exchange rates. On the other hand, evidence that the Winnipeg wheat market was re-popular government ever entrusted with the guidance of a great nation," Mr. Coolidge said "no government has ever yet been devised that could make the people prosperous all the time. But a bad government will constantly keep the people in distress."

The former president said "some people are saying that as things could not be any worse, we might as well try a change."

Dangerous Principle

"That is a very dangerous principle to apply . . . things are much worse in other parts of the world; they could be a great deal worse here than they are and would have been much worse if it had not been for the vision, the courage and the leadership of President Hoover."

"Before we decide that we want to have a change, we ought to determine what the chances are for securing improvement. We shall be most likely to find progress in holding fast to that which experience has proven to be sound and just and true."

The charge has been made, Mr. Coolidge said, that the Republican party and its candidates do not show any solicitude for the general welfare of "the common run" of people, but are interested only in "promoting the interests of a few favored individuals and corporations."

Replies to Charge

To this charge, Mr. Coolidge replied:

"In the course of our economic progress, we have become a great organized industrial democracy. It has been the theory of the Republican party that the welfare of the people could be best promoted by strengthening and enlarging that system. We have sought to create a condition under which the ordinary man would have the best possible opportunity to find a market for whatever he had to sell, whether of production or labor."

"We have tens of millions of wage earners in this country. The Republican party has never believed that they could be furnished with suitable permanent employment unless someone could derive a reasonable profit from employing them."

"We have advocated strengthening the position of the employer in order that he might pay better wages to his employees, enlarge the consumptive capacity of the people and increase the market for farm and factory. . . always the end has been to improve the well being of the ordinary run of people."

Discusses Jobless Relief

Discussing unemployed relief, the former president said the "fundamental remedy is not some form of pauperism, but a return to the self-respecting, self-supporting and independent existence. . ."

"Since the main causes of our difficulties lay in a failure of the credit, the first objective should be to restore credit. That is the policy which Mr. Hoover has constantly advocated."

Finally, the contractors got around to finishing the iron railing on the stairway in the new post office building. The original railing did not pass the inspectors, so it was torn out.

Grain Prices Gain Ground After Slump

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 (AP)—Stimulated by New York stock market upturn that preceded grain trading, cereals today developed strength after wheat had again undergone low price recede.

Rallies in wheat came after the market went momentarily to more than 6 cents a bushel under the recent high point. Indications that Winnipeg prices were pegged, and that the rural marketing of spring wheat both north and south of the Canadian boundary was diminishing were effective as bullish factors.

Wheat closed firm at almost the day's top, 1-1/2 above yesterday's finish, corn 1-1/2 up, oats 1/4 to 1/4 advanced, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents lower.

Unfavorable crop reports from Argentina were a contributory influence toward higher wheat prices.

Evening-up of accounts so as to prepare for tomorrow's holiday assisted the upward trend. Hesitancy which the market here showed at the outset was associated with a decline in British exchange rates. On the other hand, evidence that the Winnipeg wheat market was re-

show any solicitude for the general welfare of "the common run" of people, but are interested only in "promoting the interests of a few favored individuals and corporations."

Replies to Charge

To this charge, Mr. Coolidge replied:

"In the course of our economic progress, we have become a great organized industrial democracy. It has been the theory of the Republican party that the welfare of the people could be best promoted by strengthening and enlarging that system. We have sought to create a condition under which the ordinary man would have the best possible opportunity to find a market for whatever he had to sell, whether of production or labor."

"We have tens of millions of wage earners in this country. The Republican party has never believed that they could be furnished with suitable permanent employment unless someone could derive a reasonable profit from employing them."

"We have advocated strengthening the position of the employer in order that he might pay better wages to his employees, enlarge the consumptive capacity of the people and increase the market for farm and factory. . . always the end has been to improve the well being of the ordinary run of people."

Discusses Jobless Relief

Discussing unemployed relief, the former president said the "fundamental remedy is not some form of pauperism, but a return to the self-respecting, self-supporting and independent existence. . ."

"Since the main causes of our difficulties lay in a failure of the credit, the first objective should be to restore credit. That is the policy which Mr. Hoover has constantly advocated."
