WILBUR PLEADS FOR 'SAFE' HOOVER

Roosevelt Starts on Second Extended Campaign Tour

Centers Talk on Uncertainty of Opposition

Demo Chief Lauds Smith on Campaign

Says Former Rival Aided "Forgotten Citizen"

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt today linked the name of Alfred E. Smith with the group of men whom he said had worked in New York state for legislation intended to help "the forgotten man and the forgotten woman."

Surely, Neighbor's Kitty Received the Rarest Treatment

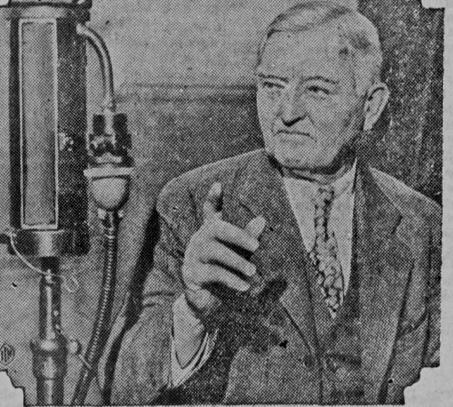

KINGSTON, N. C., Oct. 18 (AP)—The troubles of Malachi Berry—so far as rats killing his chickens are concerned—are over. Rats threatened to exterminate the flock so Berry set a trap. On successive nights he caught: The family cat. A stray dog. A neighbor's cat. A goose out after hours. The neighbor's cat again. Berry threw the trap in a corner of the barn and the next night rats killed the rest of his chickens.

Reduce Rates for University Party Tickets

GENIAL JOHN ON THE AIR

Speaker John Nance Garner of Texas, Democratic candidate for the vice presidency of the United States, is shown as he made his first major campaign address over the radio from a New York studio. Garner's speech, consisting mainly of an attack on the address made by President Hoover at Des Moines, recently, was broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up.

Witness Tells of Threats in Liquor Trial

Former Officer Holds to Story Under Examination

OMAHA, Oct. 18 (AP)—The defense in the trial of Tom Dennison, 74, for 30 years a political leader here, late today began cross-examination of Tom Crawford, former police sergeant and now the government's star witness, but failed to take his story. Dennison and 58 others are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Student Council to Eliminate 'Politics' Under New Scheme

Radical changes tending to eliminate politics and produce more complete representation in the selection of committees for university parties, were effected at the regular meeting of the student council at Iowa Union last night. Under the new plan, in the selection of a committee for the Sophomore Cotillion, every organization on the campus will be asked to nominate one sophomore candidate for selection and to leave his name, with complete qualifications, at the information desk of Iowa Union.

Democrats Dangerous Cabinet Man Tells 500 Partisans

"Better be safe with Hoover than sorry with Roosevelt" was the keynote of a 45 minute address before about 500 persons in the natural science auditorium last night by Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur.

Mine Pickets Halt Activities

Withdraw From Area as Bomb Probe Proceeds

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 18 (AP)—Pickets were withdrawn officially today by the Progressive Miners union from the militia-guarded Christian county mine fields as military officers investigated a reputed plot to bomb national guard barracks here.

Society and Clubs

Four Literary Groups Fete Rushees With Parties, Teas

Women Hand in Slips Sunday to Show Preference

The excitement of rushing began anew this week, when the women's literary societies of the campus sent out invitations to their preferred teas and parties. The societies which are rushing this week are: Erodelphian, Octave Thonet, Hamlin Garland, and Hesperia. Preferences of the rushees will be turned in next Sunday. Until then, on with the parties!

Hesperia entertained at its preferred party yesterday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on the sun porch of Iowa Union.

The program was opened with an informal talk by Mrs. L. R. Spencer of Iowa City, a former member of Hesperia. Katherine Duffy, A4 of Bagley, gave two readings, and piano selections were played by Jean Downing, A2 of Anamosa.

Members of the committee in charge of the party were Mary Jane Gorman, A2 of Davenport; Frances Teeters, A3 of St. Louis, Mo.; Earlene Smith, A3 of George, and Hilda Hartman, A3 of Anamosa.

More than 80 invitations were sent to university women.

Hamlin Garland literary society gave its preferred party yesterday, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in the women's lounge of Iowa Union.

A special dance number was given by Dorothy Kron and Dorothy Helmer, both of Iowa City. Rushees were entertained with bridge and dancing.

Serving tables were decorated with yellow and green tapers and flowers.

Phoebe Benson, A3 of Iowa City, was chairman of the committee in charge. She was assisted by Louise Arn, A4 of Iowa City.

More than 50 women attended the party.

Elks' Ladies Hold Bridge-Luncheon; Two Win Prizes

Mrs. Clifford L. Palmer won first prize and Mrs. Leo Carmody the second prize at the Elks Ladies bridge luncheon yesterday afternoon at the club rooms. Bridge was played at 15 tables. Fall flowers decorated the luncheon tables.

Mrs. G. Lloyd of Evanston, Ill., was an out of town guest. Mrs. Lloyd is visiting Grace Meyers, 311 N. Capitol street.

Members of the committee in charge were: Mrs. J. D. Peters, chairman; Mrs. Fred Miller, Mrs. William Fryauf, Mrs. Albert C. Dunkel, and Mrs. Frank H. Lorenz.

Legion Auxiliary Selects Delegates

Delegates to the first district conference of American Legion auxiliaries were selected at a meeting of the local group, Monday evening. Mrs. George Unash, president of the Iowa City chapter, and Mrs. Rex Day, will be the delegates and Mrs. Robert V. Campbell and Mrs. Gerald L. Schilling, the alternates.

Mrs. Campbell was chairman of the social hour which followed the business meeting.

Women Meet at Clark Home

Mrs. L. H. Clark, 518 S. Lucas street, was hostess to the members of the crafts department of the Iowa City Woman's club yesterday afternoon.

The club members studied the art of leather tooling under the direction of Mrs. Forrest Allen and Mrs. J. E. Briggs.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Newly elected pledge officers of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity announced yesterday are: Emmert M. Horning, A1 of Audubon, president; Ronald K. Miller, A1 of South English, vice president; and Harold W. Graham, A2 of Creston, secretary and treasurer.

Chicagoan to Give Address at Dinner for Methodist Men

Robert E. Smith of Chicago, Ill., will speak at a dinner of the Methodist men's club at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the church parlors. Mr. Smith is the national secretary of men's work of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Earle A. Baker, superintendent of the Davenport district, and H. J. Burgstahler, president of Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, will accompany Mr. Smith here for the dinner.

Representatives from Solon and West Branch groups will attend both the afternoon business session and the evening program.

The committee in charge is composed of the executive officers of the club: Dr. A. W. Bennett, president; Merritt C. Spield, vice president; Kenneth Dunlop, secretary; and D. R. Pile, treasurer.

Faculty Club Will Give Dinner Today

The initial meeting of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors will be held in the Triangle club rooms in Iowa Union this evening at 6 o'clock.

An informal dinner is planned, following which there will be an election of officers, a business meeting, and plans discussed for the coming year.

Art Circle Will Meet

The Art Circle will hold a regular meeting this morning at 10 o'clock in the public library. After a business meeting a paper on Carcassonne, a French city of the middle ages, will be read by Mrs. George Ball.

Delta Tau Delta

Delta Tau Delta is entertaining its national secretary, Ted Bergman, of New York city.

Guests for dinner this evening will be: Richard Crayne, A1 of Fairfield, and Richard McCluskey, A1 of Glenwood.

Among the guests to be entertained during the Homecoming week end are: Fred Jarvis, G of Charlton, who is attending the University of Minnesota this year; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Berry of Sioux City.

Eastern Star Holds Memorial

A memorial service open to the public will follow a business meeting of the Order of Eastern Star tonight.

The Rev. Charles A. Hawley of the school of religion will address the group. Musical numbers will be given by Mrs. W. C. Hauer, Mrs. W. F. Merriam and the Welsh quartet.

The regular meeting will begin at 7:30, and the public meeting at 8:30.

A.O.C. Club Plays Bridge

Bridge was played at three tables by members of the A.O.C. club last night at the home of Mrs. W. W. McGinnis, 2213 H street. Mrs. Maurine Pettig was hostess to the group.

Prize winners were: Mrs. Walter J. Sweetman, first; Mrs. McGinnis, second; and Mrs. Glenn P. Wentzel, consolation.

Beta Theta Pi

Dinner guests at the Beta Theta Pi house last night were Herbert Westrate, Harry Kern, and Veri Neitzel, all of Muscatine; and Robert Powell of Cedar Rapids.

Gilmore Says Early Repeal Not Possible

Law Dean Sees Legal Hurdles for Years to Come

"Beer immediately" is an impossibility according to a presentation of legal aspects of the prohibition question before the Kwanian club yesterday noon by Eugene A. Gilmore, college of law dean.

Dean Gilmore took issue with the Democratic platform promise that "Pending repeal of the eighteenth amendment" he favor immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the Constitution.

He said that "existing strict local laws in more than 40 of the states" are a greater obstacle than the Volstead act—local acts that are not within the power of congressional modification. The power of congress under the prohibition amendment is only negative—to prohibit.

"The states still have, within their respective borders, full power over the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor," contended Dean Gilmore. Hence "A 2.75 per cent or 3 per cent or 4 per cent beer, even if exempted from the prohibition of the Volstead act, could be manufactured or sold in only a few states."

Allowed by Six

"A recent compilation shows that there are only six states—New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Nevada, Montana, and Maryland—whose liquor laws are such that beer could be sold therein under a liberalized Volstead act," the dean continued.

This interpretation is based upon a state's justice opinion of the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft to the effect that "We have here two sovereignties, deriving power from different sources, capable of dealing with the same subject matter within the same territory."

Formerly Dry

On that basis the speaker reminded his Kwanian audience that "prior to the eighteenth amendment approved States, geographically, was dry by virtue of local laws. A liberalized Volstead act or a total repeal of the amendment will not make 'wet' these great areas that were 'dry' before the amendment."

Opposition of 33 senators or 145 representatives—or fewer, lacking a quorum—13 or 15 states could block national repeal itself, Dean Gilmore pointed out.

Forced Definition

Hope for more than 1-2 of 1 per cent beer he said had been rendered difficult by the brewery interests themselves in the days before prohibition. Then, anxious to restrain near beer interests, they forced the definition of "intoxicating" to as low a percentage as possible. Now, 1-2 of 1 per cent is the federal and state standard through long precedent.

A liberalizing enactment of congress would still have to run the gamut of court approval, where legislative definition would not be binding. "The strong probability is that in view of the wide prevalence of the existing strict standard, an exemption of 3 per cent or 4 per cent beer from the law (prohibiting intoxicating liquor) would be held to be unconstitutional."

Concurrent Power

Recognition of the "concurrent power" of the states in the national amendment itself is augmented, the dean said, by judicial procedure. Since "a state in enforcing a state law is not exerting a power derived from the eighteenth amendment, but its own original and inherent police power, its courts are not bound by decisions of the federal courts. The United States supreme court would follow the state court's interpretation of the state statute."

Then, in conclusion: "In view of the foregoing it is difficult to take seriously the promise that beer will soon be generally available. The beer bucket parader at the national conventions of a few months ago seems to be the real 'forgotten man' in the present campaign, and he may just as well be forgotten, for there is little hope of immediate relief for him from either national party. He will have to fight his battle for beer in his home state."

Bishop McDowell to Conduct Vespers

Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church, Washington, D. C., who will conduct the vesper service next Sunday evening, will speak on the subject "A man and his life." The Rev. C. C. Garrigue, pastor of the First Christian church, will act as chaplain at the services.

The university orchestra and chorus will furnish special music for the occasion. Their complete program will be announced later.

Dancing Club Holds Party

Forty-four couples attended the Halloween dance given last night at Shadownland by members of Nonpareil dancing club. The Iowa Cavaliers furnished the music.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hurd; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Urbani; and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wieder.

G. O. P. Chief Gives Time to Detroit Talk

Will Leave Washington Tomorrow; Plans Many Stops

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—President Hoover today devoted virtually all his working hours to plans and preparations for his next major re-election speech for Saturday night at Detroit.

A schedule for the trip to Michigan was stamped with tentative presidential approval. It called for as many as eight appearances in West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio cities before reaching Detroit.

The president plans tentatively to leave the national capital tomorrow night, with his first stop at Charleston, W. Va., the next morning. A half hour stay now is scheduled there, and Mr. Hoover may leave his train to deliver a brief address somewhere in the city.

Plans Stops

After leaving West Virginia, the president probably will stop briefly at Ashland, Ky., before continuing to Columbus, Delaware, Marion, Carey, Upper Sandusky, Postoria and Toledo, all in Ohio.

Mr. Hoover was busy throughout much of the day in preparation on his Detroit speech. He received but one or two visitors after meeting in the morning with the only five of his cabinet officers remaining in the capital. Throughout the afternoon he secluded himself in the Lincoln study on the second floor of the White House proper in order that he might work without interruption on his address.

Approves Route

The route tentatively approved by the president would be over the lines of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. He has had under consideration another route, by the Baltimore & Ohio, which would carry him to Parkersburg, W. V., rather than Charleston, but would include stops at Columbus and Toledo.

White House aides, in answer to questions, declined to say what subject Mr. Hoover had chosen for his Detroit speech. Nor was any information made available as to the party that would accompany the president on his third swing in succession into the midwest.

McMichaels Have Son

A 10 pound son was born at University hospital yesterday morning to the Rev. and Mrs. Glen W. McMichaels, 120 N. Dubuque street. The Rev. Mr. McMichaels is university pastor of the Methodist church.

Theta Xi Honors Visiting 'Y' Worker

"Jack" Hart, athlete and religious worker at the University of Pennsylvania, who has been a visiting speaker in Iowa City the last two days, lunched yesterday with the Theta Xi fraternity. Other guests present at the luncheon were Prof. William H. Morgan of the school of religion and Orlo L. Crissey of the graduate college. Mr. Hart spoke informally on the new football system now being employed at Pennsylvania and upon fraternity discussion groups.

He left Iowa City during the afternoon for Manhattan, Kan., where he is to fill an engagement at the University of Kansas.

Thoroughgoing conservatives already have a party—the Republican, Moderate conservatives or conservative liberals seem certain of a party—the Democratic. The question for liberals, who have not turned radical is how seriously Franklin D. Roosevelt meant his New Mexico assertion that "our party is the true representative of progressive democracy."

SPORT Potshots by EUGENE THORNE

DOWN on Iowa field yesterday afternoon there was a scene that harked back to "the good old days" as the Hawkeyes prepared for their game with Minnesota.

Whether or not it was merely a "flash in the pan" or whether the men have found themselves, they drove with power and speed that had been unknown until yesterday.

TWO casualties were suffered last night, one by the varsity, and one by the freshmen. Gerald Preston, reserve center, was assisted from the field with a badly twisted knee, and Ken Smith, one of Coach Bill Boellner's most promising freshman backs, suffered a badly sprained ankle.

Fall Cinder Meet Starts

More than 50 track men will contest eight of the 14 events scheduled in the senior-freshman versus junior-sophomore fall cinder season opener at the field house and the field adjacent, this afternoon at 4:15.

Varsity and freshman candidates have been working intensively for the last four weeks and should face the first intramural contest in fairly good condition.

As an incentive to the contestants, ribbons are being offered for the first three places. Also freshman will receive credits towards their numerals.

The first event on the program this afternoon will be the 60 yard high hurdles. The juniors should take this event handily with Miles Jackson, varsity man, running for them.

At the same time there will be held in the field house the high jump and broad jump while in a space at the south end of the stadium the shot put and javelin throw will also be run off.

Former Hawkeye Captains Tell of Famous Contests With Minnesotans in Past

Reminiscences of famous football games between Iowa and Minnesota have been written by five Hawkeye captains for publication in the official program of the twenty-sixth game.

The memoirs set forth something of the colorful background to the game in which the athletes of 1932 play here Saturday at Iowa Homecoming. Minnesota, first met in 1891, is Iowa's oldest rival.

Authors of the sketches are Frank G. Pierce of the 1891 eleven, first to play Minnesota; Arthur H. Gunderson, whose 1914 team came closer than any of its forerunners to beating Minnesota; Ronald G. Reed, who led the Hawkeyes of 1918 to the first victory; Aubrey A. Devine, personal contributor of four touchdowns in the great rout of the northmen by the title team of 1921; and Willis A. Glassgow, the 1929 captain whose outfit scored the last Iowa triumph.

Those Northern Lumberjacks Pierce, now a resident of Marshalltown, says that the lumberjacks of that 1891 team had Iowa outclassed, winning 42 to 4.

One long Gopher forward pass in 1914 saddened Hawkeye homecomers, relates Dr. Arthur Gunderson, now of Everett, Wash. Iowa played in Minnesota territory during three-quarters of the game, but a fumble on the 10-yard line halted the best chance to score.

Solem Drives Hawkeyes Through Toughest Scrimmage of Season

General Play Improves in Offense Drill

Line Charges Faster; Teyro Back in First Team Position

With Coach Ossie Solem doing the stoking, Iowa's Hawkeyes really began steaming up yesterday afternoon as the offense to be used against Minnesota in the Homecoming game Saturday started to take on definite shape.

It was the longest as well as the most severe drill Ossie has dealt out to his charges this fall, and perhaps the most gratifying. Scrimmaging a husky freshman eleven, the varsity started in rather listlessly, but before the Iowa mentor called a halt, they were charging through the frosh for gain after gain.

Page at Fullback Although there were several changes in the first string personnel early in the practice, the greater share of the work found almost the same combination as that which started against Indiana.

Bernard Page got the call over Marvin Kuhn, who appeared to still be having trouble hanging on to the ball, and Don Dorsey alternated for a time with Leo Samuelson at right tackle. Otherwise the lineup was the same, with Bob Loufek and Ray Fisher at the wing posts, Zed Schammel at the other tackle, Wilton Hass and Tom Moore at guards, and Capt. Marc Magnussen at center.

Teyro Calls Signals George Teyro called signals in the first backfield, with Joe Laws and Herman Schneidman at the halfbacks, and Page at full. The second combination was composed of Wilbur Wallace at quarterback, Norris Dickerson and Schneidman at the halfbacks, and Kuhn at fullback.

The Hawkeyes will be confronted with a typical Minnesota eleven Saturday. The Gophers have six seniors in the first string, an experienced line, and a battering fullback, Jack Manders, all-conference man last year.

A driving runner, Capt. Walt Hass, leads their ball carriers, and the passing combination of "Pug" Lund to Brad Robinson is rated as a dangerous threat.

The Old Gold must show continued improvement throughout the week if they hope to stop the powerful Minnesota thrusts. In every game so far the Iowa pass defense has proven weak, and it is to this that Solem must also look.

Bierman in Quest of Attacking Power

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—One promotion and a short scrimmage headlined Minnesota's drill today. Frank Larson, sophomore, was placed at left end as Coach Bierman tried to find better attacking power with his forwards. Reluctant after the heavy scrimmage he directed Monday.

When, in 1918, two giant tackles, Slater and Synhorst, appeared, Coach Howard Jones publicly announced that this was Iowa's year to "take" Minnesota, Reed declares. Iowa worked constantly on a defense for Dr. Williams' terrifying Minnesota shift, and in the game the maneuver failed to gain much ground.

Steady plunges by Iowa backs, a long pass, and the Hawkeyes reached the Gopher 3-yard line. On the third down, Fred Lohman lunged through for the touchdown which meant victory for the jubilant Iowans protected the 6-0 lead and cracked a 27-year hoodoo.

"We could not do much with the Minnesota line in 1921," relates Aubrey Devine, all-American quarterback who now is a Los Angeles attorney. "So we ran the ends and with great interference by Craven Shuttlesworth and Glen Devine, Gordon Locke and I made great gains. Iowa made six touchdowns to one by Minnesota."

Iowa Wins in Final Minutes Willis Glassgow, all-American halfback, now a law student in the university, remembers the 1929 Iowa victory as one of the brightest spots of his career.

How he made a field goal and how that three-point lead stood up until the third quarter when Nagurski broke through for a 41-yard run and touchdown is told by Glassgow.

"Near the end of the fourth quarter we made three first downs in succession and reached Minnesota's 6-yard line with two minutes to play. Jensvold called Pape on a week side end run—the blocking was perfect, and it seemed that Pape flew around that end for the winning touchdown," writes Glassgow.

Kappa Sigma Weakens in Closing Stanza; Wilson Kicks

With a spurt that netted five counters in the closing moments of the game, Delta Chi yesterday afternoon nosed out Kappa Sigma, 11 to 10, in a hard fought, though erratic, speedball encounter. It was the first trial the sport has had in intramural competition here.

The winners, led by Wilson on the scoring end and Jans in the field, were pressed hard to advance the win. The Kappa Sigas having drawn first blood and holding the lead until there were but six minutes to go.

Musgrove and Schultenheimer, varsity baseball luminaries, were outstanding for the losers, both in the field and from the point gaining angle.

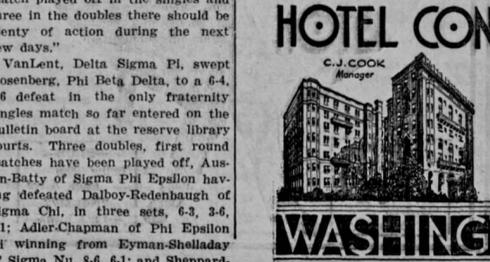

The play was generally quite bunched with little attempt at team work although there were some instances of that unknown quantity at times. True to prediction there was lots of fun for the observers as well as the players.

Method of Scoring Points are gained by field goals, 3, touchdowns, 2, penalty kick, 1, and drop kick, 1. The field goal must be a ground ball, kicked under the cross bar. A touchdown is a pass over the goal; a penalty kick, from 10 yards directly before the goal; and a drop kick, over the bar from any angle or distance.

Report Four Club Deal Unfounded, But All Seek Talent

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Even though all hands deny that the Braves, Cubs, Giants and Reds already have hooked up in one of the biggest of all baseball trades, managers all over the National league are tugging at the trunks of rival clubs like thieves in an apple orchard.

There seems to be little foundation at the moment for Boston reports that Wally Berger, clubbing center fielder, and Babe Herman of the Reds ultimately will land here with the Giants to team with Mel Ott in one of the major league's outstanding outfields.

Beats Gehrig by Decisive Vote Margin

Poles 75 Out of 80 Possible Votes in Committee

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Jimmie Foxx, new home run king of the major leagues, is the choice of the experts as the American league's most valuable player for the 1932 campaign.

The first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, by polling 75 points out of a maximum of 80 in the vote conducted by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, beat his New York rival, Larruping Lou Gehrig, by a decisive margin.

Although nosed out within the last week for the batting championship by Dale Alexander of the Red Sox, Foxx enjoyed his greatest year despite the slump of the A's as a team. The big first sacker, with 58 home runs, set a new major league record for right handed batsmen and came the closest of any one to touching Babe Ruth's high mark of 60. Foxx also lead both leagues in runs driven in, with 147, and wound up with a batting percentage of .351.

The result of the American league poll put a premium on slugging. Foxx, Gehrig, Helme Manush of Washington and Earl Averill of Cleveland finished in the top four places, in order, with Lefty Gomez, Yankee southpaw pitcher, fifth.

By EDWINA L. MACDONALD
COPYRIGHT, 1932 BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Patricia Braithwait adored her father so much that she was willing to sacrifice love and happiness to insure his future independence by marrying middle-aged Harvey Blaine for his wealth. It was Aunt Pamela who suggested that Pat marry wealth, warning that "the glamour of love wears off." Pamela spoke from experience; her own marriage to handsome Jimmie Warren, a young lawyer, was becoming dull. Jimmie, furious at Pat's engagement, awakens to the realization that he himself, cares for her. Pat, with youth's optimism, hopes in vain that the young camper whom she only knows as "Jack," and saw only once, will rescue her from Blaine. Jimmie finds her in the garden, sobbing. He takes her in his arms and, in despair and hungry for love, she permits him to kiss her. Next day Pat breaks her engagement. Pamela is suspicious when, immediately following Pat's broken engagement, Jimmie offers to loan Pat money to study art. Pat's father declines Jimmie's offer, saying his insurance (which he would not touch for himself but felt justified in using for his daughter's career) was adequate for her needs. He plans to take Pat to Paris. One minute Patricia feels she cannot leave Jimmie, and the next, she loathes him for the kiss experience of the previous night. Pat shrinks from the thought of facing Pamela.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

When the dinner hour actually arrived and the four of them were seated in the spacious dining room of the Warren winter home, lights gleaming on silver and priceless glass, an impeccable butler holding silver platters of rich food on one's left, filling glasses, removing crested plates, Patricia was amazed by her own reaction to their situation.

She felt as if she were an actress playing a part while her baby was dying at home or something. It was rather thrilling to think, while she and Aunt Pam were chatting of inconsequential things, that only last night she and Aunt Pam's husband had kissed. And maybe at the same time he was thinking about it and wishing to kiss her again right while he sat there beside his wife.

It made her feel worldly, a little blasé. She saw herself as one of those beautiful vampires who go around breaking up homes, then breaking the hearts of the poor fools who loved them. To speak to Jimmie was another matter. Not till the fruit cocktail, the soup and entrée had been disposed of did she achieve it.

"How was the golf today, Jimmie?" she asked, engulfing her brain for something brilliant to say. "Didn't play," he said quite calmly. "Started to, but took a walk instead."

That silenced her. But maybe he didn't walk alone. This worried her. Finally she said: "Who'd you walk with?" She was instantly furious at herself. Maybe he'd think she was jealous. And Aunt Pam would think she must be awfully interested to quiz him like that.

"Went alone," he replied.

Her heart sang. He went so he could think of me. . . . But maybe he was thinking of what a little fool I was last night, and afraid I'd expect him to kiss me again, and he didn't want to.

Her face burned at this thought. She hated him as she never supposed she could hate anybody—not even a snake.

She began talking to Pamela about her after-lunch walk, mentioning freely the boys who were along, recounting the conversation of one of them as if it were a masterpiece of brilliance and wit.

Presently she caught her father studying her as if he heard not one word she was saying. She turned to him: "Smatter, Pop?" Her eyes assumed a wide and reproachful stare, her laughing eyes went solemn, but with dimples dancing at the corners of her mouth, as was her way when teasing him.

His face relaxed. Observing her spurts of rather wild gaiety, her silences, he had sensed her disturbance. Her sudden return to the old repressed whimsicality relieved him. "I was thinking of giving you a dose of quinine to reduce your voice," he smiled. This was as near as he ever came to reproving her. "Am I as bad as that?" she demanded.

"Quite as bad."

She laughed, but in her natural low tones: "I saw some Indians today. Maybe I'm getting Indian fever."

Oh, heavens, what a thing to say! Jimmie Warren will think I'm hysterical over him. "I don't want any desert," she said, rising. "I promised the crowd I'd meet them right after dinner. Arthur's coming for me. Time for him now. If you'll excuse me, I'll leave you old people."

She stopped, stricken. Too late she realized that the insult aimed solely at Warren had included Pamela. Her father was old and didn't mind. But Aunt Pam—

She swooped down upon Mrs. Warren, flinging her arms around her neck. "Oh, Aunt Pam, I didn't mean that. I'm a beast. And you are the most beautiful woman I ever saw. The most beautiful in the world. And young. I only wish I was as young and beautiful," she added hysterically.

Pamela laughingly patted the clinging arms and said, "You are quite as beautiful, my dear, if not so young. And I don't hold you responsible for all the pain of the past twenty-four hours. He had let a married man kiss her; then the married man had not bothered to speak to her all day; nor even to dance with her. She had been made a fool of—all because Jack hadn't come last night—as he should have.

She saw his face quite clearly in the opalescent moonlight, all its gay twinklings washed away. "You told me not to come. Said goodbye, as if for always."

She flared up. "Do you always take a girl at her word? Don't you know she doesn't always mean what she says? You weren't so easily rebuffed when you wanted to talk to me there on the beach."

He caught both her hands in those strong strange hands of his. "I wanted to come. I sat on the beach all evening wanting to worse than I'd ever wanted anything in my life. But I thought you were—well, not like other girls. That you were free of their poses and pretenses. I went over every word you'd spoken, every little gesture and inflection of your voice, and I couldn't make it out. You seemed to—like me—to like being with me—Didn't you, Pat?"

"Yes. Oh, yes, but now—" She tugged less strongly against his firm hold. She was very near to tears.

"I thought and thought of the perfect day we'd had," he continued. "Then of your inexplicably final goodbye. And the only sense I could make of it was that you must be married—to someone you didn't love. That you'd stolen a little moment of dreaming. Then come awake. I've thought of nothing else all day. Tonight I had to know. I couldn't stay away any longer without knowing. You aren't married, are you, Pat?"

She laughed. A bitter little laugh. "Oh, what a muddle life is! No, I'm not married. I thought you must be married. I was sure of it when you didn't come. And so I—buried you. I'd put on my prettiest dress for you. And I buried you."

He too laughed now, but softly, tenderly, gladly. "You wanted me as much as that? Well, here I am, and here you are. The moon is waiting. And the sea. And we've so much that we must tell each other."

mean to have a very serious talk with her. I've never pressed her confidence; but there are things—that I feel I must look into. She may reserve her confidence; but when asked, she won't lie to me, even though she may for a moment resent my prying."

"Well, if she doesn't lie to you," thought Warren, "you'll probably shoot me before you leave." Adding with quizzical grimace, "I'd like to undertake your defense. I'd get you off scot free. Unfortunately, though, I'd be out of the legal practice."

As twenty-four hours earlier Patricia had waited for a dark face to greet her at each touch on her shoulder, she now waited for a fair face and smiling blue eyes.

Finally when she thought she must surely expire if Jimmie didn't claim one dance, someone touched her on the arm—and Jack's brown face smiled down at her. His arms went around her strongly.

"Let's get out before somebody snatches you from me," he whispered, swinging her over to one of the long windows and out on the veranda. "My carriage is waiting on the sand."

Angrily she tried to draw back; but tucking her hand in the crook of his arm he hurried her down the steps and along the short palm avenue toward the beach.

At the end of the walk she stopped, like a small child dragging back against an older person who pulled it on against its will.

"I don't want to go," she said. "Why didn't you come last night, when I expected, and—wanted you?" Unreasonably she held him responsible for all the pain of the past twenty-four hours. He had let a married man kiss her; then the married man had not bothered to speak to her all day; nor even to dance with her. She had been made a fool of—all because Jack hadn't come last night—as he should have.

Farm Pickets Continue With Road Patrols

Pickets in Minnesota Spend Peaceful Day

ST. PAUL, Oct. 18 (AP)—Farm pickets, peaceful with one exception despite spirited arguments with truck drivers, were on patrol duty on most principal highways, serving the twin cities.

The break in the routine of halting vehicles and urging drivers not to go to market came at an intersection near here. A plank was thrown at a speeding truck by a picket, breaking cab windows. The truck went on.

Stop Mail Truck

In nearby Washington county, where a mail truck was delayed yesterday, many drivers were stopped and held up, in some instances for several hours. All were allowed to proceed after conferences with picket leaders.

Farmers Holiday association members in Dakota county, in which the South St. Paul livestock market is located, voted to inaugurate picketing late this week.

Ehlers Heads Group

Their chairman, A. H. Ehlers, said efforts to increase prices by curtailing marketing would be restricted to peaceful persuasion.

Postal inspectors investigating delay to the mail truck near Stillwater were told by pickets the vehicles bore no markings and they believed it belonged to a farmer. Front tires were punctured by nails in a plank placed on the road.

Assure Peace

A rail shipment of livestock was allowed at Madison, Minn., after a Cooperative Shipping association manager assured 100 farmers it would be the last during the sellers strike proclaimed by the National Farmers Holiday association.

Ellis Herman, charged with threatening to shoot a man in connection with picketing near William, Minn., pleaded not guilty and was freed on $100 bail. He will be tried Nov. 4.

Clubs Urge Campus House Decorations

Fraternities and sororities who would vie for the two cups being offered by the Lions and Kiwanis clubs for the best decorated houses at Homecoming should have their decorations completed by tomorrow morning.

Although the university's celebration does not begin until Friday, campus groups were urged yesterday in an open letter to finish their decorating a day early in order to cooperate with the plans of the two-day Iowa

Woman Gets Life Sentence for Homicide

ANAMOSA, Oct. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Tilda Miner must serve a life sentence for the slaying of her husband, a district court jury ruled today in the second trial of her case.

She fainted as she walked down the courthouse steps sobbing at the conclusion of the trial. She was rushed to the county jail for treatment.

The jury's verdict of first degree murder was returned at 2 p.m. after it had deliberated the case for 22 hours. It carried the provision for life imprisonment.

She was first convicted two years ago of giving her husband, Ed Miner, poison in capsules which had contained headache medicine. After serving two years of her sentence, the Iowa supreme court granted her appeal for a new trial.

Albert Hartwig, a widower, was acquitted of alleged complicity in the poison plot.

City Corn festival which begins tomorrow.

Decorations should remain on the houses through Sunday, the letter stipulated.

Britain Drops Trading Pact With Soviets

London Mobs Riot as Parliament Holds Meeting

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The spirit of empire prevailed in Westminster as parliament reassembled today and heard from Dominion Secretary J. H. Thomas that Great Britain had abrogated her trade pact with Soviet Russia in accordance with the imperial policy formulated at the Ottawa economic conference.

Later Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, described the Ottawa agreements, the purpose of which is to consolidate the empire with emphasis on trade and commerce.

But just across the Thames in ancient Lambeth, a poorer class section, battalions of unemployed converged to protest their plight before the legislators, and before their demonstration had got very far it broke out in a riot that brought many casualties.

Police reserves, however, prevented the demonstrators from disturbing the calm of historic Westminster, and parliament proceeded with its work while the battle raged a few blocks away. The lawmakers had long since concluded their deliberations for the day, however, before the rioting had ended in Lambeth. Quiet was not restored there until 11 p.m.

Irish Break

In the empire panorama that was laid before parliament, there appeared one smudge. It was the breakdown in negotiations between the government of the United Kingdom and President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State for settlement of the land annuities dispute. This agreement has led to a tariff war between the two countries.

HOME COMING

Plans Near Completion; Arrange Parade

day will signal the start of the three parading groups. They will converge at the campus at approximately 7:15 when the pep program will begin.

George E. MacLean, former president of the university, is expected to address the group in the series of short, informal talks that have been planned to include several alumni and Coach Ossie Solem. University songs, including the new Iowa Victory Song, and yells will round out the program. The complete program will be announced tomorrow.

Possibility of attracting a large number of townspeople as well as visitors to the Corn Festival was for the most part responsible for the change of plans. It is expected, too, that the torchlight parade and outdoor pep meeting will attract more students than could be accommodated in Iowa Union lounge.

Honor Scouts Get Official Recognition

Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity, has been given official recognition on the University of Iowa campus. It was announced yesterday following action by the university social committee.

The fraternity first made its appearance on this campus in 1930.

Charge Violation

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Kenneth D. Umberhower of Des Moines was charged with violation of the Dyer act after his arrest while driving a car alleged to have been stolen from a Des Moines rental agency.

Program for Corn Festival Complete; Affair Will Open Tomorrow With Varied Tilts

Horseshoe, Cornhusking Contests; Speeches by Dunn, Field; Concerts, Parades, Listed in Two Day Event

Tomorrow and Friday are Corn Festival days in Iowa City. Preparatory plans for the event have been completed, and the stage is set for two full days of celebration for Johnson county residents.

The program committee under the chairmanship of William L. Davis, has announced horseshoe pitching contests, corn husking contests, speeches, band concerts, parades, and other events to entertain the crowds of people who are expected to be here these two days.

Committee in Charge
The general committee in charge of the affair is: Vern W. Bales, chairman, Kenneth W. Bowman, Charles F. Behm, Jay J. McNamara and D. Richard Pile.

Two main features will be the talk by Edward G. Dunn of Mason City tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.; and that of Henry Field, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, Friday at 2:30 p.m. These speeches will be delivered from a speakers' stand to be erected in front of Old Capitol.

Clinton street will be roped off from Washington to Jefferson streets, and Iowa avenue from Dubuque to Clinton streets.

Announce Parade Plans
Glen G. Fordyce and Ruth French, G. of Danville, in charge of the pet show which will be held Friday at 4 p.m., have announced that the first 100 children to enter pets in the contest will receive theater tickets. The boys and girls are to gather just south of the American Legion Community building where the parade will start. Prizes will be given for the largest and smallest dog and cat, the funniest looking cat, the best decorated dog and cat, the largest Persian cat, and the most unusual pet entered.

Besides the prizes offered in the corn contest, about 20 other local business concerns have offered prizes to winners of the other events to be held as part of the program. It was announced yesterday by Harold L. Hands, chairman of the prize committee.

Name Winners
The names of the winners in the corn contest were announced Tuesday after specimens of corn had been judged by Paul Tomlinson of Iowa City, and County Agent S. Lyle Duncan. Clint Stimmel of Oxford was awarded first place for the best five ears of yellow corn, Carl Holden of Williamsburg was given first place for the best five ears of white corn, and Mrs. O. B. Brown of Lone Tree, won first place honors for her popcorn entries.

Frank Urbanek of Hills displayed the tallest stalk of corn, which measured 15 feet six and a quarter inches. The ear of corn entered by Phil Gough of Oakdale was 14 inches long and received first prize in that section. A freak ear of corn entered by Ed Kadera of rural route No. 2, was awarded first place in the freak section. It was a large ear with five small ears growing from the end of it. The entry of a 6 year old boy, Howard Amish of Hills, placed second in this section. An ear weighing 29 ounces was judged as being the heaviest ear on display. It is owned by Roger Reeve, living on rural route, No. 1.

All ears of corn entered in the contest will be placed on display in the downtown business house windows during the week end celebration. The Boy Scout troops of Johnson county will give an exhibition of their scout work at 4:30 p.m. Thursday. They will show how the various types of knots are tied, how fire is made by friction, how first aid treatments are given, and many other instructive and entertaining exhibits.

Nine Testify in Rape Case

Continued testimony was presented in district court yesterday in the case of the State of Iowa vs. David Roberts, charged in a grand jury indictment with rape. The court room was filled to overflowing with spectators.

Nine witnesses were called by County Attorney F. B. Olsen. They were Charles Hahn, Anna Hahn, F. A. Stroup, Lawrence P. Gaylor, Gladys Rummelhart, Dr. H. R. Jenkinson, Sheriff Don McComas, Florence Hahn, and Mrs. Mabel Evans, probation officer. Several witnesses were cross examined by Defense Attorney E. A. Baldwin.

Roberts was indicted by the grand jury in June, following a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter.

Court adjourned at 5 p.m. yesterday, and will open again at 9 o'clock this morning. District Judge R. G. Popham is presiding.

NOTICE TO BOND BUYERS:
The City of Iowa City, in Johnson county, Iowa, will offer for sale at nine o'clock A.M. on the 29th day of October, 1932, at the office of the City Treasurer at the First Capital State Bank of Iowa City, Iowa, Six Hundred Ninety Nine and 58-100 Dollars Sidewalk Improvement Bonds.

AROUND THE TOWN with DON PRYOR

The Mob
The court room at the court house was overcrowded yesterday at the second day of the trial of David Roberts for rape. The crowd filled the court room and then some. Even standing room was taken up before the afternoon was over.

Colored Touch
A contrast to the dried corn along the streets was offered in the decoration scheme in front of the stores between Iowa avenue and Washington streets on Clinton street yesterday. Some of the merchants had tied large bunches of brilliant oak leaves on the fronts of their buildings.

All Ready
A marriage license was issued by Clerk of Court Walter J. Barrow yesterday to Floyd L. Robertson and Leona H. Fink. Both are of Iowa City.

More Clothes
Applications have been sent in to the National Red Cross headquarters for underwear and hose for men and women and coveralls for men and small boys. These articles are expected to be in Iowa City in two or three weeks.

New Member
A new member appeared yesterday in the family of Prof. Charles A. Hawley, 311 Ronalds street. The son was born at Mercy hospital.

The Unemployed

Legion Unemployment Relief association can be used as an accurate measurement, 519 men and women are out of work in Iowa City. Two enrollments yesterday brought the total up from 517.

Too Long
Vernon Sharp and Martin McGovern were fined $1 apiece yesterday by Police Judge Charles L. Zager for overtime parking.

Grain Prices Tumble With British Drop

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Jolted by a big break in British exchange to the lowest point since last January, wheat, and other cereals reacted sharply from advances scored today.

An unsettling influence was the fact that government-sponsored supporting operations at Winnipeg appeared to be confined to May wheat contracts, with the December delivery left to shift for itself. On the other hand, indications of better export demand for the United States hard winter wheat developed just before the close, 100,000 bushels being bought at the best premiums on the crop.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to a lower, corn 1-3/4 off, oats at a shade decline to an equal advance, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents down.

Failure of the wheat market to hold strong price rallies was ac-

Stocks Tend Higher With End of Trade

Monday's Loss Almost Canceled; Rails Show Gain

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Stocks refused to be smoked completely out of an early rally by late selling of the tobacco shares today, and the market closed generally higher, nearly cancelling Monday's losses.

Trading was again dull, although leveler than yesterday; it also had a highly professional appearance. In bonds, U. S. governments looked best with an assortment of new 1932 highs. Commodity markets celebrated by downturns of quotations at Buenos Aires and by favorable crop reports from Argentina. Dry weather complaints continued from a large part of domestic winter wheat territory west and southwest, with some reports indicating that winter wheat acreage may be adversely affected. Corn and oats were upheld by excellent shipping call for corn, and by new export inquiries.

Provisions went lower with hog values. Closing indemnities: wheat—Dec. 47 1/2, 48 1/2; May 52 1/2 to 1-4, 55-55 1-4; July 55 1/2, offers. Corn—Dec. 25 1/2, 25 3/4; May 30 1/2, 30 3/4.

were virtually unchanged at the close.

Net gains of 1 to 3 points in the rail, industrial and utility groups made the tobacco look especially soft, although they finished above their lows. American Tobacco "B" and Liggett & Myers "B" were down nearly 4 at one time, closing 2 1/2 lower.

The market opened firmly and did rather well up to early afternoon. Gains of 1 to 4 were largely cancelled, coincident with the special selling just noted, but a late buying flurry stiffened quotations all along the line. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American, Allied Chemical, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Harvester, Consolidated Gas, Woolworth, New York Central and Southern Pacific were about 1 to 1 1/4 net higher. American Telephone, American Can, Union Pacific, Case and Santa Fe gained 2 to 3. Transactions totaled 1,029,400 shares.

British Pound Weak
Weakness of the British pound provided an outstanding feature in financial developments outside the security markets.

Steel production, on the basis of preliminary reports, appears to be about holding its own this week, with perhaps a narrow margin on the side of improvement.

Union Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio reported the results of September operations and the figures made favorable comparisons with a year ago, reflecting the good lift in car loadings.

DES MOINES (AP)—Injuries received Saturday in an automobile collision resulted in the death of Floyd Mead, 49.

Varied Program to Feature Unitarian Meeting for Today

Today's program of the fifty-fifth annual conference of the Iowa Unitarian association will continue with discussions, talks, meetings and luncheons.

Leaders and speakers scheduled are Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department; M. L. Townsend of Iowa City; the Rev. Raymond B. Bragg of Chicago, Ill.; and the Rev. Edna Bruner of Waterloo.

The conference opened Monday evening and will adjourn at 3:30 this afternoon.

Visiting ministers have been invited to attend a luncheon of the religious workers of the campus this noon on the sun porch of the Triangle club at Iowa Union. The

Place New Books on Shelves of Law Library This Week

A number of new books will be placed on the shelves of the law library during the week, according to Helen Moylan, librarian.

The books include texts on law procedure, history of law, reports, and new events in law problems. Titles are: "The Evolution of International Public Law in Europe since Grotius," Simons; "Systematizing an Attorney's Office," DeLavant; "Proving and Defending a Lawsuit," Longenecker; "English Law and its Background," Fifoot. "Chicago Police Problems," Citizens' police committee; "The Federal Anti-trust Laws, a Symposium Conducted at Columbia University," Handler; and "Commentaries on the Revised Penal Code of the Philippine Islands," Guevara.

A foreign report, "Recueil des Decisions des Tribunaux Arbitraux Mixtes Institues par les Traités de Paix," from the Librairie de la Societe du Recueil Sirey of Paris, France, will also be ready for circulation.

Answers Charges

FT. DODGE (AP)—Richard F. Mitchell, Democratic state chairman, answered the charge of Fred E. Hade of Harcourt that the Iowa farmer is being misled by "high salaried Democratic leaders," with the assertion that none of the Democratic leaders in the state is receiving "one single penny for services rendered the party."
