Homecoming Plans Near to Completion With Making of 200 Torches for Pep Parade

Announce Program for Meeting Before Old Capitol

With almost 200 torches for Friday night's pep parade and mass meeting constructed last night by members of Pi Epsilon Pi following their meeting in Iowa Union, plans for the Homecoming celebration came one step nearer completion. At the same time, general directions for making torches were issued by the committee in charge.

The tentative program for the pep meeting in front of Old Capitol at 7:15 was announced last night by Bailey Webber, L3 of Ottumwa, chairman of the committee.

Hand to Open Meeting The meeting, which will take place following the triple parade of students from the three concentration points throughout the city, will be opened by the university band, under the direction of Dr. O. E. Van Doren.

Cher leaders will occupy the next place on the program. Following the yell, Don Howell, L3 of Iowa City, will be introduced as chairman of the meeting. He will introduce visiting celebrities, including members of the 1907 football team, George E. McLean, former coach of the University of Iowa, Coach Ossie Solem, and others who may be present.

President Walter A. Jessup will then be introduced and will address the group informally. Hildegard Frese, A4 of Readdy, will represent the women of Iowa. The meeting will close with cheers and the singing of "On Iowa" and "Iowa Fights."

Will Tour City In an effort to get all students living in fraternities, sororities, and dormitories out to participate in the parade, members of Pi Epsilon Pi, led in an automobile caravan, will tour the city, visiting all student group residences shortly before parade time at 6:45 p.m. Friday.

Liquor Count Held Against Ed O'Connor

DES MOINES, Oct. 19 (AP)—John S. Bell, justice of the peace, today dismissed a charge of driving while intoxicated against Edward L. O'Connor of Iowa City, and continued until 9 a.m., Monday a hearing on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

O'Connor, Democratic nominee for attorney general, was arrested yesterday after his auto collided with a truck near Mitchellville.

The dismissal of the one charge was made because of lack of evidence on a motion by James Parsons, defense attorney. O'Connor was released on his own recognizance last night after arraignment before Justice Bell.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Berg, who with Deputy Loren Forbes, made the arrest, brought the charge against O'Connor. Berg claimed he found a quantity of alleged intoxicating liquor in O'Connor's car.

Iowa Tax Reduction Probably to Exceed Amount Estimated

DES MOINES, Oct. 19 (AP)—The reduction in Iowa taxes to be collected in 1933 may amount to nearly $10,000,000 instead of about $8,000,000 as was estimated recently, Chairman J. W. Reynolds of the state board of assessment and review said today.

Vanderbilt Sees Landslide Victory for Demo Ticket

Predicting Democratic victory by a margin of 5,000,000 votes, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., author, political worker, and staff writer for Liberty magazine stopped in Iowa City last night. Mr. Vanderbilt has been canvassing the nation on behalf of the Democratic national committee since Feb. 15. His canvass has included coverage of every state in the union once and 37 states a second time. He will leave this morning for St. Louis, where he will join Governor Roosevelt and accompany the nominee's train through the south.

Mr. Vanderbilt, whose canvass includes interviews with newspaper editors as well as with five farmers in every county, said he is convinced only two states, Wyoming and Vermont, will be carried by Hoover. Even Vermont is doubtful, he said, asserting that Sinclair Lewis, who lives only a short distance from Calvin Coolidge, has more influence with the people of the state than the ex-president and could be elected senator if he ran for the office.

"At least 12 new senators and probably 80 new congressmen will be elected in November," Vanderbilt predicted. One of the senators whom he declared is certain of defeat is Reed Smoot of Utah, co-author of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

Mr. Vanderbilt's exploits have led him into every part of the world and into many lines of endeavor. He attended West Point for six months, joined the Foreign Legion at the age of 16, and served in France during the World war.

Singer Wants 'Cloud Lifted'

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Oct. 19 (AP)—Complete exoneration of blame in the fatal shooting of Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir, was asked by his accused widow, the former Broadway torch singer Libby Holman, through her attorney today as the latter awaited Solicitor Carlisle Higgins' reaction to the Reynolds family's suggestion that murder charges be dropped.

Benet Polkoff, the attorney, quoted the black-haired defendant as saying she wanted the cloud over her created by her indictment, along with Albert Walker, Winston Salem youth, "lifted permanently."

Declining to reveal the whereabouts of Mrs. Reynolds, Polkoff said he had talked with her by telephone after a letter had been made public in which W. N. Reynolds, uncle and co-guardian of Smith, had written Higgins that the family would be "quite happy" if the cases were dropped.

Higgins said he had been too busy with his court duties to give the suggestion of Mr. Reynolds serious consideration as yet. He indicated it would probably be some time before he would make an announcement of his decision.

Roosevelt Not Able to Solve Farmer's Problem, Says Field

CHARLES CITY, Oct. 19 (AP)—Henry Field, Republican senatorial candidate, in a campaign speech here tonight declared Governor Roosevelt is not a farmer and referred to the Democratic presidential nominee as "a typical politician of the wealthy class."

"The facts are that Mr. Roosevelt, regardless of his pretensions of being a farmer, has had no training or experience which would remotely qualify him with such understanding as is necessary to solve the problems of the Iowa farmer," Field said.

Envious of Torch Bearers? Don't Be! Make 'em Yourself

No student who marches in the pep parade Friday evening need be envious of the vari-colored torches carried by members of Pi Epsilon Pi and others leading the lines of march. Directions issued last night by P.E.P.'s chief torch-makers tell, in one easy lesson, all there is to know about the process.

Take one small can of "canned heat," removing contents by running blade of knife around inside of can.

Take ordinary steel nail and, placing point in close contact with inside bottom near center, hammer down into the top of stick of wood (broomhandles are excellent). The torch is now complete.

To obtain the pretty colors, take half-teaspoon of following compounds (none others will work as successfully and as harmlessly to clothes and parts of anatomy) and place inside can before lighting with ordinary match:

For blue flame, powdered blue vitriol; for green flame, powdered barium chloride; for red flame, strontium chloride; for yellow flame, powdered sodium chloride; for white flame, powdered black antimony sulphide.

Friday, Oct. 21 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.—Military and band music in charge of Col. Converse R. Lewis and Dr. O. E. Van Doren. Presentation of Distinguished Service cross post humously to Mrs. Hulda L. Prien, widow of the late Corp. Ferdinand H. H. Prien, Company I, 168th infantry, 42nd division.

Government Will Present Posthumous Cross for Distinguished Service to Soldier's Widow, Student at S.U.I.

By PHILIP S. NEWSOM Tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock, as part of the Corn Festival program, the government will bestow a posthumous Distinguished Service Cross on Corporal Ferdinand H. H. Prien. His widow, Hulda Prien, graduate student at the University of Iowa will receive it from the hands of Col. Converse R. Lewis, head of the university military department.

Over the crest of a hill near Veney, France, two machine guns, protected behind their cement barricade, frowned across a little valley to the other side where, held up temporarily in its advance toward Germany, the 168th infantry had taken shelter.

Below and between the two forces a stream, its water red by the blood of allies and Germans alike, meandered through what had on that day been one of the bloodiest battle fields of the war. The date was Sept. 12, and the battle was that of St. Mihiel.

Must Advance No man could advance into the valley. It had been tried once and men had already fallen beneath the hail of bullets from the other side. And yet, that valley had to be crossed. The 168th must fulfill its part in the giant offensive which was to sweep the Germans many miles back into their own territory.

A corporal, a veteran of four other great engagements, was selected as the one who should clear the way for the others. The corporal's name was Ferdinand H. H. Prien. His home, before he left for France, was Mineola, Iowa.

Outline Plan With him were to go two others whom he should select. He called for volunteers. Five men stepped forward. He made his selections and then outlined his plan of attack. The two volunteers were to deploy to right and left of the hill and then engage the enemy position from the sides. He would attack straight ahead across the valley.

The three men separated and Prien left the safety of his position for the death-ridden walls of the valley.

Flays Demo Record "I venture to say, without fear of contradiction," the treasury secretary continued, "that in the long history of American congresses the financial record of the Democratic house of representatives during the last session of the congress is the worst ever made."

"They passed a bill to start the printing presses going; one directing the secretary of treasury and the federal reserve board to manipulate prices; another guaranteeing bank deposits; another putting the federal government into the commercial banking business. They refused to co-operate in a program of economy. They tore their own revenue bill to shreds. They passed measures which would have undermined the credit of the government, upon which the whole edifice of reconstruction was being erected."

Hits at Bonus Bill "On June 15, the bonus bill, costing $2,300,000,000, was jammed through the house with the Democrats supporting it three to one."

"They would have you believe that they are sound, conservative and that under their management the government finances will be in safe hands. But the record tells a very different story."

Mills said that "today the national credit stands on a firm foundation; the integrity of the dollar has been made secure, our banking and credit structure has been saved from the devastating effects of panic and fear." He said President Hoover, "with the help of the right-thinking men of both parties," had achieved the victory which brought security to the nation.

Sneaker Garner's address, Mills said, "endeavors to establish" that

Start Varied Tournaments This Morning

Great crowds of people from all parts of Johnson county are expected to gather in Iowa City today and Friday for one of the biggest celebrations ever held there. A program of events designed to entertain both young and old has been prepared by committees from the local merchants bureau, headed by Vern W. Bales, general chairman.

The Johnson County Corn Festival will be officially opened at 10:30 this morning with an exhibition of horsemanship pitting two state champions, Frank and Hansford Jackson of Kellerton, This and all other scheduled events will take place in the roped off area on Clinton street and Iowa avenue. The platform for the speakers and other events has been constructed on the University of Iowa campus east of Old Capitol.

Offer Many Prizes Many prizes have been offered by Iowa City merchants for winners in the corn husking contest which will start at 1 o'clock this afternoon. This event will be in charge of Joseph Munkhoff and will consist of 25 shocks of corn with 75 stalks in each shock. Following this there will be band music on the platform furnished by the Iowa City municipal band.

Judge John W. Kinsinger of Dubuque, Democratic candidate for the supreme court will speak at 2:30 in place of Edward G. Dunn of Mason City, who had to cancel his speaking engagement here because of the death of a relative.

Fiddlers' contest The program committee has announced that much interest has been shown in the old time fiddlers' concert to start at 4 o'clock. They have arranged a program which will keep moving all the time, with the afternoon entertainment coming to a halt about 5 o'clock. At 7:30 this evening there will be a band concert and a stage show on the platform. This performance will consist of singing, dancing, readings, and magic tricks.

The main features scheduled for Friday are: the presentation of the Distinguished Service cross to Mrs. Hulda L. Prien, widow of the late Corp. Ferdinand H. H. Prien, Company I, 168th infantry, 42nd division; and the address at 2:30 p.m. by Henry Field, Republican candidate for U. S. senator.

Disavowing any intention of making a "party speech" Mr. Ford said, "I suppose I am like most Americans—we never bother about politics until it means something to us. Party politics have never meant nothing to me tonight."

The automobile manufacturer spoke from the engineering laboratory building of the Ford Motor company. He was introduced by Gov. Brucker, Republican candidate for re-election, to whom he also gave his support. He said that "every act of the president has been in the interest of employment, and that he 'kept his head when others lost theirs,' and that 'no act of his has been dictated by panic or politics.'"

Feels Result "And as the result," he continued, "is that we are now beginning to feel the lifting power of his well-thought-out program."

Ford said "the next big job is to improve the money system. I would like to see it done by a man of practical experience like Mr. Hoover." He said he "supported Woodrow Wilson because I expected that he would devote himself to the improvement of the economic machinery of this country... but a sudden change of events compelled him to switch all his energies toward war and international problems."

"It was the same with Mr. Hoover," he continued. "When he was elected he expected to organize the machinery of prosperity. But the sudden turn of events laid upon his shoulders the most terrible depression the world has ever known."

Bishop McDowell to Conduct Vesper Service This Week

The school of religion yesterday announced the program for the vesper service next Sunday evening which will be conducted by Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church of Washington, D. C.

The program follows: Ave Maria (Bach-Gounod)—University string orchestra. Hymn—How Firm a Foundation. Invocation—The Rev. C. C. Gar-

Judge Kinsinger Will Speak; Program in Evening

When Daniel Frohman, "dean of theatrical managers," opens the 1932-33 university lecture series tonight at 8 o'clock in natural science auditorium, he will speak of his reminiscences as the last of the trio of Belasco, Frohman, and Frohman, which dominated the stage for nearly 40 years.

Born in Sandusky, Ohio, he started work in New York city as clerk and messenger on the Tribune, when Horace Greeley was editor. Touring the country as advance agent of old-time shows and minstrels, he became acquainted with one-night stands from Maine to Texas. His brother, Charles, had the same experience.

Belasco Joins David Belasco, brought from San Francisco as stage manager, became their associate in the management of plays, and later wrote for them a number of plays, among them "The Charity Ball," "Lord Chumley," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and "Men and Women."

Daniel Frohman in 1886 established the Lyceum stock company. Charles later acquired the Empire, and these two became centers of theatrical production and training. Both English and American playwrights wrote for them—Pinero, Barrie, Henry Arthur Jones, Clyde Fitch, Justin Huntly McCarthy, "Anthony Hope," William Gillette, and others.

Orchestra President Daniel Frohman brought to America Gabriellwitz, pianist; Jan Kubelik and young Vecsey, violinists; and for three years he was president of Walter Damrosch's New York Symphony orchestra.

Charles Frohman's death in the sinking of the Lusitania, and Belasco's more recent death, leave Daniel Frohman the only surviving member of that trio which once held sway on the American stage.

As president of the Actors' Fund of America, which position he has held for 30 years, Frohman has preserved close contact, both with those whom he used to manage and with those who are newcomers to the stage.

Righter Will Lead Select Music Group

Prof. Charles Boardman Righter of the music department will have at his disposal next spring some of the best high school orchestra talent in the midwest, as the result of the announcement yesterday that he has been chosen to conduct the North Central high school orchestra at Grand Rapids, Mich., April 23, 24, 25, and 26.

Personnel of the orchestra will consist of 150 high school students selected by the north central conference of music superintendents. Included in this conference are 10 midwestern states and two provinces of Canada.

Rehearsals of the orchestra will be held in conjunction with the April meeting of the conference in Grand Rapids, preparatory to a concert with the all-conference chorus and all-conference band. The band will be directed by A. A. Harding of the University of Illinois, one of the judges last year for the Iowa state high school music festival in Iowa City.

Prof. Righter, before coming to Iowa, was conductor of the Lincoln, Neb., high school orchestra in 1929 and 1930 when it won the national high school orchestra contest. He is now conductor of the Iowa all-state high school orchestra which is a feature of the summer sessions at the university.

For the attack, which dropped the sheriff and left him badly dazed for a few minutes, Henry Frye, 55, farmer near Wyoming, was arrested but released immediately on personal recognizance. The sheriff said an assault charge would be brought.

The sheriff arrived as fists were flying in a melee he estimated concerned 25 pickets and 50 men who accompanied 18 livestock trucks which had been stopped.

Smith Asks for Roosevelt Support in Campaign Talk

TAMMANY HALL, NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith told Tammany braves tonight that Democrats should not be satisfied without a complete party victory and the election of the entire national, state and city ticket.

He said that he was speaking for the "rank and file of Democrats" and that every effort would be exerted to bring about "the election of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket."

Cheers resounded through the packed Tammany wigwam at the first mention of Governor Roosevelt's name.

He explained he would speak little about the national ticket tonight because he would do that in a New York speech Monday night and at "the big wind-up in New York city"—a rally a few days before election.

Frohman Will Give Talk on Stage History

Sheriff Injured as Pickets, Truckers Battle on Highway

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 19 (AP)—Another outbreak in Minnesota's intermittent physical combat by farm pickets and truck drivers attempting to run their highway blockades brought an aching head to a sheriff today.

Says Government Can't Stand Additional Expense

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 19 (AP)—In his first statement on the bonus since he was nominated for the presidency, Franklin D. Roosevelt said tonight he did not see how a government two billion dollars behind with its annual expenses could consider the anticipation of bonus payment until it has a balanced budget.

Speaking to many thousands of persons who massed into the triple-tiered grandstand at Forbes field, the Democratic presidential candidate repeated a statement he said had been frequently quoted since he made it last April.

Nominee's Statement The statement said: "I do not see how as a matter of practical sense a government running behind two billion dollars annually can consider the anticipation of bonus payment until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper but with a surplus of cash in the treasury."

"No one, for political purposes or otherwise, has the right in the absence of explicit statements from me to assume that my views have changed," he said. "They have not."

Mr. Roosevelt related that Calvin Coolidge in his recent New York speech had said an early word from the Democratic candidate on the bonus question would have encouraged business.

Interrupted by Applause The candidate was interrupted by frequent applause that tumbled down to him from the grandstand to the platform that had been built on the second base line of the baseball park. He accused the Republican administration of "concealment and vacillation" which he said had prevented congress from balancing the budget and pledged himself to a program of governmental economy. He pointed to a beer tax as one method of avoiding new tax increases.

Speaking under overcast skies to a crowd in Forbes field, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

Must Pledge "Before any man enters my cabinet he must give me a two-fold pledge of: "Absolute loyalty to the Democratic platform and especially its economy plank."

"Complete cooperation with me, looking to economy and reorganization of his department."

New Revenue Continuing, he said he hoped that it would not be necessary "to increase the present scale of taxes, and I call definite attention to the fact that as soon as the Democratic platform pledge is enacted into legislation modifying the Volstead act, a source of new revenue amounting to several hundred millions of dollars a year will be made available toward the balancing of the budget."

"I refer specifically to a federal tax on beer which would be raised through the sale of beer in those states and those states only which by state law allow the sale of beer."

Opposes Saloon "At the same time I reiterate the simple language of the Democratic platform which opposes the return of the saloon."

Mr. Roosevelt said the budget was not balanced at the present time "and the whole job must be done over again at the next session of congress."

"No one who will take the trouble to read that speech (the recent one by Speaker Garner) will doubt that the patriotic determination of a willing congress to balance this budget at any cost was frustrated by the same kind of concealment and vacillation that produced the staggering deficits of the years ending June 30, 1931, and 1932," he said.

Shows Deficit The New York governor said the treasury statement at the end of the first quarter of this fiscal year on Sept. 30 showed an excess of expenditures over receipts of $402,943,002 and that for the corresponding quarter of the last fiscal year the deficit was only $380,495,584.

"There is therefore strong indication that we are in for another stag-

Daughter of Dr. F. C. Titzel Marries Pennsylvanian

Mrs. Kathleen Titzel Calhoun, daughter of Dr. Frank C. Titzel, 232 S. Summit street, and Louis Lee Voigt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lee Voigt of Pittsburgh, Pa., were united in marriage yesterday at high noon at the home of the Rev. Dwight W. Wylie, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of New York city, former pastor of the local First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Voigt was salutatorian of the first graduating class of University high school. She attended the Universities of Iowa, Missouri, and Minnesota, and was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Recently she has been associated with the National Broadcasting company in New York city as secretary to the director of programs. Mr. Voigt is a horticulturist. After a wedding trip through southern states Mr. and Mrs. Voigt will make their home at San Benito, Tex.

Legion Group Plans Relief Fund Drive

Because of the immediate necessity of raising funds, the American Legion Unemployment Relief association decided at a meeting last night to launch an independent drive to carry on the work of the organization until funds are raised by the community chest.

A motion was carried that a committee be appointed by the chairman to approach the merchants, employers of laborers, and citizens in general, for raising emergency funds for relief of the unemployed. This committee and also one for the various projects for unemployment will be announced soon by Charles Kennett, general chairman.

Mr. Kennett added that help can be obtained from the unemployment bureau, and no help hired from the bureau is genuine without the regular card stamped with his name.

Vice Crusader Says Drys to Drop Hoover

Two Attorney General Candidates, Others on Black List

"If I am elected governor, I'll enforce the liquor laws to the last inch" was the challenge of John B. Hammond, prohibition candidate for governor, at a meeting which was opened and closed by prayer by the Rev. E. D. Nelson, pastor of the Nazarene church, last night in the council chamber of the city hall.

Candidate Hammond takes personal pride because "Iowa is the only state so far as I know to put canned heat on the liquor list" and promises, if elected, to add a ban on hair tonic.

Hitting at Hoover and the Republican administration he said, "Hoover hasn't tried to enforce the liquor laws and there never was a president more responsible to the church people and prohibitionists for his election. He appointed wet men to his cabinet, appointed the wet George Wickersham as chairman of the prohibition investigating committee. In short, the Republicans have made as great a botch of prohibition as they have of financial matters."

"A Trifle Wet" Governor Dan Turner, he continued, "is as great a disappointment as Herbert Hoover and Attorney General John Fletcher is the most lax attorney general in Iowa history. I also hear that the Democratic candidate for attorney general from here is a trifle wet. We have a candidate to offer to the voters who by far surpasses other candidates in ability and dryness, John F. Joseph of Sioux City."

"I know that Iowa City has always had the reputation of being just a little bit wet. I once raided a soft drink parlor here and found a quantity of liquor. I arrested the man and he waived to the grand jury and while he was waiting for the grand jury to convene, mind you, Iowa City elected him to the city council."

List of Candidates
Hammond was Des Moines chief of police from 1922 to 1925 and has been a dry crusader for more than 20 years. He is president of the National Uniform Prohibition Law association, author of the "Red-light injunction" law, and "Digest of federal search and seizure laws." The Prohibition party state ticket includes: R. G. Talmadge of Des Moines, for secretary of state; Mary P. Denny of Council Bluffs, for lieutenant governor; L. G. Mott of Iowa

Pi Epsilon Pi Meets to Formulate Plans

Members of Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity, met last night in Iowa Union to complete plans for participation in Homecoming events. Discussion was held on the submitting of a petition to the board in control of athletics requesting major "I's" for cheer leaders with three years or more of service, and tentative plans were formed for a party Nov. 12.

Cow Eats Barbed Wire

VINITA, Okla. (AP)—Pansy Buttergill, prize milk cow of a herd near here, feeds on strange objects. A veterinary removed from her stomach a wad of barbed wire, the end of which had been pushed two inches into the animal's heart. The operation was successful and the patient recovered.

BOONE (AP)—The annual convention of the Iowa Lions' clubs will be held here June 14 to 16, inclusive.

McNary-Haugen plan as "patent medicine."

Contests Hoover Claims

He also took issue with a claim that he said President Hoover had made that the tariffs on farm products were helping the farmer and at another point referred to the president's claim of keeping the country on the gold standard as "the triumph of bankers in keeping their debtors in an impossible vice." His indictment of the Republican administration, he said, was on the grounds that "no intelligent effort was made to help the United States adjust affairs externally and internally to the post-war situation."

SOMEBODY Gets Taken for a Ride!

Says Robert Manley—"They will!"

Says John Ebert—"They won't!"

And so the bet was made. Here's the situation: Ebert, chief engineer at station WSUI, thinks that Minnesota will defeat Iowa by more than seven points Saturday. Manley, WSUI's assistant announcer and pianist, thinks they won't.

So, if Iowa wins, ties, or loses by less than seven points, it has been agreed that Ebert will load Manley into a wheelbarrow, and push him from the engineering building, radio station headquarters, south on Capitol street to College street—thence north on Dubuque street to Jefferson street—along Jefferson street west to Madison street, and from there down the home stretch to Iowa Union.

But—if Iowa loses by more than seven points, it will be up to Manley to do the strong-arm act, with Ebert just going along for the ride.

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Depositors in the closed Prairieburg Savings bank will receive 100 per cent on their deposits claims plus four per cent interest on claims not hitherto assigned to a receiver.

City, for railroad commissioner; W. E. F. Randolph of Ankeny, for secretary of agriculture; John F. Joseph of Sioux City, for attorney general; and O. E. Brookhart of Des Moines (brother of Senator Smith W. Brookhart "and even drier"), for treasurer; and J. K. Barnes of Des Moines, for auditor.

The meeting was attended by 19 persons, including the chief of police, the Rev. E. D. Nelson, who introduced the speaker, and two reporters.

Dr. Volland Gives Garden to Club in Memory of Wife

Place Flowers on Sale to Raise Prize Funds

In memory of his wife, the late Mrs. R. H. Volland, Dr. Volland has presented to the garden department of the Iowa City Woman's club her garden, which contains varieties of iris and phlox. Mrs. Volland was an active member of the organization and had served as director and co-director of the annual community flower show this year.

Sell Flowers
Flowers from Mrs. Volland's garden and contributions of flowers from Mrs. David Brant will be sold today at a peonie, iris, and lily sale. Proceeds from this sale will go into the fund for awarding prizes in the contest for improving U. S. highway No. 161 between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City. Those who received honorable mention in the scenic highway contest will be awarded plants from gifts of Mrs. Brant and Dr. Volland. Distribution of the plants will be conducted by Mrs. M. E. Gordon, president of the North Liberty garden club, and other club members from North Liberty.

Recently at a luncheon of the Cedar Rapids garden club at the home of Mrs. Carl E. Seashort, 315 N. Linn street, members of the Cedar Rapids group took back with them a clump of iris from Mrs. Volland's garden to be planted in Cedar Rapids in tribute to Mrs. Volland who was interested in the Cedar Rapids organization.

Plan Luncheon
Plans are being made for a luncheon between the two clubs to discuss the scenic highway project of next summer.

Members of the committee in charge of the Iowa City garden club activities are: Mrs. William T. Goodwin, chairman; Mrs. W. L. Bywater, Mrs. L. V. Dierdorf, Mrs. L. E. Clark and Mrs. C. E. Seashore.

Continue Testimony in Trial of Bankers

OSAGE, Oct. 19 (AP)—Arthur F. Brown of Waterloo today continued testimony in the trial of E. H. Martin, A. G. Kammeier and John H. Mueller, former Tripoli bankers under indictment for conspiracy to defraud.

Brown told on the witness stand how he examined the books of the bank and the Shores Mueller company of Cedar Rapids. He also touched on use he said was made of $39,000 claimed to have been paid by Carl Beherends of Waverly for stock in the company.

Judge M. F. Edwards took under advisement the question of whether or not articles of incorporation should be admitted as evidence.

Ames Pastor Elected
SIoux CITY (AP)—The Rev. Walter Barlow of Ames was elected moderator of the Iowa Presbyterian synod at the opening session, succeeding the Rev. E. W. Brown of Cedar Rapids.

Freshman Council President Appoints New Project Heads

Committee heads for various projects planned for the coming year by the freshman council of the Y. M. C. A. were appointed at the council's meeting last night in Iowa Union, by Willard Matthews, Al of Holstein, council president.

Those named are: Ferrill Hamilton, Al of Jefferson, program committee; John McLaughlin, Al of Newton, social; Raymond Latham, Al of Cedar Falls, faculty home visitations; Thomas Miller, Al of Burlington, Iowa City high school Hi-Y club; Mr. Hamilton, University high school Hi-Y; Edward Carroll, Al of Ottumwa, St. Patrick's high school Hi-Y; and Walter Meisner, publicity.

Tri Deltas Hold Lead Position

Delta Delta Delta still maintained a lead of more than 1,000 sales over Alpha Xi Delta, holders of second place, as the second day of the 1932 Homecoming badge sales contest ended. Kappa Delta was still in third place.

A larger sale is expected today, according to Prof. R. A. Kuever, in charge of the campaign, because of the opening of the two-day Iowa City Corn festival.

HOW THEY STAND
Delta Delta Delta 2,670
Alpha Xi Delta 1,375
Kappa Delta 1,053
The campaign still has three days to run before it is officially ended with the starting whistle of the Homecoming game Saturday.

Farm Editor Backs Demo Party Ticket

Wallace Cites Reasons for Needed Change in Leaders

DES MOINES, Oct. 19 (AP)—Disavowing partisan interest, Henry A. Wallace of Des Moines, farm publisher, tonight told an audience that he is supporting Governor Roosevelt because he believes the Democratic presidential candidate has "the proper combination of conservative common sense and progressive action."

He declared that a change is needed from what he referred to as "the arrogant, blinded leadership of the last 10 years," and said that the Republican leadership during that time "has been chiefly in the direction of making our external and internal readjustments to the world situation more difficult."

Believes in Sympathy
Wallace said his support of Roosevelt is founded on the belief the Democratic candidate "has a distinctive personal sympathy for agriculture and the underdog, and because he has an actual grasp of the needs of positive leadership."

Governor Roosevelt, Wallace said, has been classed as a radical by the conservative leadership because he dared to think "that something more can be done for the common man than merely enabling the rich to make more profits in the faith that the rich will deal justly with the poor."

Touching on agricultural issues, Wallace declared Roosevelt has no intention of reducing agricultural tariffs and said he does not regard farm relief measures such as the the trouble. X's father, the head of the family, may be out of work, without a dollar coming in to the family, thus tempting X to steal. We will try to find employment for the head of the family."

TODAY'S TOPICS

BY FRANK JAFFE. Dangling a question mark of uncertainty before an audience sympathetic to his presentation of the Republican case, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur made as able an appearance here as did Josephus Daniels, Woodrow Wilson's secretary of the navy.

1) Did patriotic Republican support of Woodrow Wilson contrast so with Democratic non-support of Herbert Hoover? While we censured the country as no peace event could have, that is not a matter of party superiority.

Neither party in congress has ever been noted for support of an opposition party president. Republicans after the war hoped to make political capital out of Wilson's failure just as Democrats during the depression hoped to make political capital out of Hoover's failure.

2) The 1930 congressional elections were not entirely a "drought belt" protest. This very district elected Jacobsen over Letts largely because he was wet, as did many another.

3) The notion that there is a governmental parallel to the marvelous developments of science and that only Republican engineers understand how to operate the intricate machinery is fallacious.

Walter Lippmann effectively pointed out—before he declared for Roosevelt—that Democrats already run a large portion of governmental machinery.

4) That with the shift from agriculture to industry Jeffersonian democracy has become inadequate is no argument in behalf of the contemporary doctrines of Alexander Hamilton which Hoover largely follows.

5) That "mistakes have become dangerous" is not exact. World mistakes have been dangerous on the part of the framers of the United States constitution? It is true that "the magnitude of error has increased."

6) "There are no majority rules in science"—but there are in Hawley-Smoot tariffs. That time the voice of science, speaking through more than 1,000 economists of the nation, urged a veto.

7) If protest votes represent "blind emotional reaction" why is a man like President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago publicly declaring a protest vote for Norman Thomas?

8) Favoring confidence versus "continental" currency, Secretary Wilbur is on the same side of the fence with Walter Lippmann, who since his declaration for Roosevelt has reprimanded Senator William E. Borah for inflationist views.

9) Arguments against the 1932 Democratic house are best used against members of that house, of whom Roosevelt is not one.

10) President Hoover's public courage has been intermittent. High on the moratorium and on the bonus issue at the Detroit Legion convention, it was not in evidence when the 1932 bonus army marched to Washington.

11) There is no proof that William Randolph Hearst or Huey Long even influence Roosevelt. Lippmann thinks they do not.

12) Concerning future policy Roosevelt has been little, if any, more evasive than Hoover, who stands on past performances chiefly.

So, Secretary Wilbur, the issue is not one of Truth vs. Falsehood, as in your quotation from Lowell. It is between half-truths. And by the way, the United States is not a "democracy."

BEHIND THE SCENES — IN HOLLYWOOD — By HARRISON CARROLL STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Still following his nose towards Hollywood fame and fortune, Jimmy Durante draws one of his biggest assignments to date in "Big Boats," story of American submarines and their intrepid crews. Long scheduled by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, this picture goes into production next week with Robert Montgomery starring and Jack Conway directing. Walter Huston also is slated for the film. As time goes on, Jimmie Durante occupies an increasingly important place in the cinema sun. He is unexcelled as a laugh-getter and in "The Wet Parade" he showed he can do dramatic scenes as well. What sold him more than anything else, however, is the way he took "The Phantom President" right away from George M. Cohan. That, considers Hollywood, was quite a trick. Among the better wisecracks of the week was that one about the serial star who is always getting hurt in his pictures. Hearing of a new mishap, a wag remarked: "The trouble with the fellow is you never can tell whether he is lame or just strutting."

BOULEVARD TOPICS: Rather amusing, that oversight of Douglas Fairbanks. In his rush to get away on the hunting trip, he forgot his elephant gun. They had to ship it air-mail to Vancouver, where it just made connections with a boat bound for the Orient. Doug, incidentally, is still in Shanghai. Most recent word the studio had of him was a cable requesting all the football scores. Eric von Stroheim reached the last scene of his picture yesterday, only a week over schedule, with more than 20 reels of film to be cut down to 9 or less, it still may be a little early for shouting. When he does finish, Von tells me he will take a vacation, maybe to Vienna. His future plans are uncertain, but Fox has bought his story, "Her Highness." It's a drama with incidental music. Wallace Ford and M. G. M. are calling it quits. Colonel H. H. Arnolds, of March Field, will send 100 planes in an air-show today in honor of Bebe Daniels, honorary colonel of the 22 Pursuit Group, girl?

For more than a month, Sammy Lee has been rehearsing a musical comedy sequence for "Cavalcade." It will last 3 minutes on the screen. Samuel Goldwyn will call it "Cynara" after all. The Marquis de la Falaise spends hours on the set these days watching Connie Bennett act. Walter Catlett's son, Richard, has a job as prop-boy at the R-K-O studio. A police radio car, reports Mel Brown, received orders yesterday to go to an address on Hollywood Boulevard. Announcer explained: "There are shop-lifters in the five-and-ten cent store." First-aid to any horror picture, Bela Lugosi has been signed to play the leader of the tribe of "Beast Men" in Paramount's "The Island of Lost Souls." "What with 'Beast Men' and a 'Fanthor Woman' this film almost classifies as an animal picture. When H. C. Wells wrote it, the title was "The Isle of Dr. Moreau." DID YOU KNOW— That Jennette MacDonald started her career as a New York chorus girl?

Scout Troops Compete Here

Varied Events Will Test Skill of Scouts at County Rally

Boy Scouts of Johnson county will hold a rally this afternoon at 4:30 in the roped off section of Clinton street.

The first event will be an obstacle race for all members of each troop. Following this will be a tent pitching contest with two scouts from each troop participating. The third event will be signalling with flags. Each troop will enter one reader, one sender, one receiver and one writer.

O'Grady Drill

For the fourth event all scouts will take part in an O'Grady drill. Fire by friction will be fifth on the program with one scout from each troop in the contest. Two scouts from each troop will next enter a string burning contest. Number seven event on the program will be an egg tossing contest. Two scouts from each troop will come together and toss an egg to each other, after each throw they will take one pace backward.

The eighth event of the rally is scheduled to be a scout pace for one scout from each troop. The boys who qualify with second class requirements will win streamers for their troops. Knot tying will be next with eight scouts from each troop working to tie the seven knots correctly within five minutes. Streamers will be given to the winners.

Exhibit First Aid

First aid work will be exhibited next. Eight scouts from each troop will take part in this event, applying splints and artificial respiration to a patient.

For the final event one scout from each troop will enter a undressing relay. There will be five stations where the contestants must stop and take off one article of clothing. After he has undressed he must go back to the five stations and redress. Six minutes are to be allowed for this race.

MILLS SPEECH

Aims at Money Views of Demo House

"The panic which swept this country beginning last September was not remotely connected with anything that happened in Europe but due solely to the leaking out of information that our government was confronted with a large deficit."

In May, 1931, the treasury secretary said, the largest bank in Austria became insolvent, bringing a critical situation that spread to surrounding countries, including Germany, and making the credit machinery of that nation collapse. Then Mills added:

"From time immemorial London has been the world's financial center. They were the world's bankers."

Suspended Gold Standard
"From the middle of July to Sept. 19, almost a billion dollars of funds were withdrawn from the London market. In spite of liberal assistance in the way of outside credits, Great Britain, no longer able to stand the strain, on Sept. 21, 1931, suspended the operation of the gold standard."

Although the Democratic vice presidential nominee "does not even think this event worthy of mention," Mills said, "it rocked the world from end to end."

"Can any sensible man, in the face of this record, believe that the European situation had nothing to do with the wave of panic which swept this country, and whose beginning coincided with the British collapse?" Mills asked.

Admits Credit Threat
Garner, Mills said, "admits that the 'banking and credit systems were threatened with collapse,' at the same time, the secretary asserted, the speaker 'denies that their collapse would have imperiled the maintenance of the gold standard.'"

"This, on the face of it, is self-contradictory," Mills said. "One must necessarily follow the other... There can be no escape from the fact that a further drain on our currency and gold as large, and increasing as rapidly, as the drain of the previous autumn—coming on top of a prolonged period of great contraction and business demoralization—would have set in motion forces of destruction so great that they might overwhelm any country no matter how strong its financial position might be."

Stopped Avalanche
"Under the leadership of the administration," Mills said, steps were taken which stopped the 'avalanche.' He said the administration obtained measures to impose new taxes, curtail expenditures and 'defeat fatally unsound proposals that were vigorously pressed.'"

"Finally," Mills said, "we come to the third point made in Speaker Garner's address—that the Democratic party in the house was willing to go the limit for the purpose of bringing the budget into balance but was frustrated by the administration."

"Before discussing this fairly tale," Mills said, he wanted to

SHERIFF ENDS LION HUNT

Deputy Sheriff Tom Hotchkiss is shown here with the circus lions he killed after they had been released by Denver Wright of St. Louis, on a Mississippi river island near Commerce, Mo. Wright had planned to stage a lion hunt, but the sheriff killed the animals before the hunt got under way.

"In reply to the criticism of treasury estimates and policies and the concealment of deficits,"

"The latter charge, he said, 'is fantastic.' There was a $902,000,000 deficit at the end of the 1931 fiscal year, he said, and 'everyone knew, from published facts, that there would be an even larger' one in 1932."

"The treasury, its secretary said, is called upon to estimate revenues 'a year or two in advance.'"

"In normal times this can be done with a fair degree of accuracy," Mills asserted. "Under the extraordinary and unprecedented conditions of the last three years, which altered radically almost from day to day, I do not know of anyone who has successfully forecast the course that business would take."

Of government expenditures, Mills said President Hoover recommended a $374,000,000 reduction and a tax increase.

"We had to fight with might and main from December to July to obtain them," Mills said.

The secretary quoted Garner as saying Mills had not supported the tax bill, and answered: "This is not so." He added that Garner's "heroic speech" on the house floor "in favor of a balanced budget" was delivered after the tax bill had been defeated; "after his own party had repudiated its leaders."

Instead of bringing in this bill under a rule which would have forbade amendment, as had been done with the "great pork barrel measure," Mills said, the tax measure "was allowed to be torn to pieces on the floor of the house without the protection of a rule or of a party caucus and with the speaker himself silent."

Professors to Hold "Open House" for Former Students

Returning alumni this year will have a chance to meet the deans of the various colleges, as well as their former instructors, Homecoming morning this year. For the first time since the beginning of the annual Homecoming celebration instructors and deans will be formally at home in their offices or laboratories to meet the returning guests.

Saturday, between the hours of 10 and 11 a.m., has been set aside as the university "open house." Prof. C. Woody Thompson is in charge of the arrangements for this new feature of the annual Homecoming.

Yale Man Conducts Study of New Type Relief Money

Says Iowa Town Only One in Country to Use "Scrip"

HAWARDEN, Oct. 19 (AP)—Dr. Irving S. Fisher of Yale today conducted a study here of a new type of scrip currency issued by the city council of Hawarden to pay for work done on city relief projects.

He termed the plan a "most interesting experiment" and said he believed that Hawarden was the only city in which it is in actual operation.

Put into Circulation

Three hundred dollars in one dollar coupons have been put into circulation by paying them out to workers employed in grading city roads. Each worker is paid partly in scrip and partly in regular currency.

The scrip is accepted by merchants in trade. Each person using a dollar of scrip must affix a special three cent stamp sold by the city for that purpose. When 36 stamps have been affixed to the piece of scrip, it is redeemed in a dollar of currency.

"The city meanwhile has received this redemption from the sale of the 36 stamps," Dr. Fisher explained, "with eight cents to spare to cover expenses of printing. It is a sort of self liquidating emergency money."

Stamps Affixed

"A very similar experiment is now being tried in the town of Weir, Ia., but in this case the stamps, instead of being affixed at each transaction are affixed every month. The result is that the holder of the scrip naturally tries to get rid of it before the date arrives for a new stamp. In this way it promotes the rapid circulation of the scrip and acts as a stamp tax on hoarding."

"As an emergency currency stamped scrip seems to be an important aid in several ways," Dr. Fisher said. "It saves the city the need of immediate cash for paying its employees, it helps absorb the unemployment and it discourages hoarding. It also puts new purchasing power in the hands of the consumer where it is needed in order to start up trade."

Merchant Suggests Plan

"The Austrian method seems to have more advantages for speedy action than the Hawarden plan, although reports locally show that the currency scrip thus put into circulation has had rapid circulation to date. There is no reason why it should not be tried in any place or by the federal government," he concluded.

The plan was put into operation here through the efforts of Charles J. Sylstra, a local merchant. Sylstra has advocated scrip as a medium of exchange for several years.

Officials Say Bus Driver's Arrest to Make Test of Law

DES MOINES, Oct. 19 (AP)—Arrest of a driver of a Jefferson Transportation company bus driver near Leon was expected by state officials to bring a test of a state law interpreted as providing that operators of buses carrying more than 20 gallons of gasoline into the state shall be classed as distributors.

State Treasurer Ray Johnson's office announced the arrest of the driver, C. R. Wells, who agents said was released under $500 bond for hearing Oct. 24. It was claimed he filled his bus with 90 gallons of gas at Bethany, Mo.

An attorney general's opinion recently held that under the state law operators of buses carrying more than 20 gallons of gasoline on entering the state should be classed as distributors and pay an Iowa tax.

Phenomenal hearing; Esteban (Istvan) Janky, the Hungarian boy, possesses auditory organs so excessively developed that it enables him to hear the proverbial drop of a pin. A pin hitting the floor in the midst of a noisy gathering within 60 feet from where Istvan may be standing will affect him in the manner of an alarm clock. At 150 feet he can distinguish every word of a quiet conversation. At 300 feet he can still distinguish sounds normally indistinguishable.

Late Trading Gives Stock Market One to Four Point Rise

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—After some hesitation, stocks became bolder in the late trading today and closed with an assortment of 1 to 4 points net gains.

An earlier advance, led by rails, had been largely forfeited when wheat took a sudden spurt at Chicago. Its last minute rally of a cent a bushel net was reflected quickly on the stock exchange where quotations renewed their rise in more active trading. Turnover in the last 50 minutes was about 600,000 shares.

Selling of the tobacco again threatened, at one time, to upset the advancing trend, but shorts in those stocks covered when the market made its final turn and losses were regained.

Lions Club Hears Professor Bush on European Problems

Members of the Lions club were told of the economic conditions of European countries by Stephen H. Bush, professor of Romance languages at the University of Iowa, at their noon meeting yesterday in the Jefferson hotel.

Having made many trips to Europe, Professor Bush said that he does not see how Germany can ever pay her foreign debts as long as present conditions exist. He told of the many riots that are taking place in the cities of Germany, Italy, France, and England.

The speaker said he believes France is one of the foremost countries in western Europe as to willingness to cooperate with other nations.

THOSE who have had heart failure on Saturday afternoons when Red Cagle was chased all over the field before he finally connected for a long pass can feel better now. Red finally got caught. In a pro game Sunday he was on the receiving end of a successful forward pass that had gained seven yards at the instant of completion. With his usual disregard for direction, Cagle twisted all around and finally ended up with a 15 yard loss on the play. A little drive might help or maybe we're wrong.

The records show that Duquesne was the first team to win a game this year by the margin of a field goal—that Butler won the first one point victory—that Normal college won its first game 8 to 7—that Junonia won its opener 3 to 2—that, well, anyway—

Sig Eps Get Victory, 18-0

Pass Attack Stumps A.T.O. Eleven; Batty High

Led by Batty, who garnered 19 points and high honors in scoring, Sigma Phi Epsilon, yesterday afternoon, trounced the Alpha Tau Omega eleven, 18 to 0, in the second game of the inter-fraternity speedball tournament.

The game lacked some of the spectacular play that was witnessed in the first encounter, partly because the losing team could muster but seven men to fill 11 pairs of shoes.

The Sig Ep team displayed some fine co-operation and plenty of scoring punch. Points were made by field goals, touchdowns and a drop kick executed by Mason. Previous experience as last year's soccer champs, a half brother to speedball, stood the winners in well in the passing department, their team retaining control of the ball most of the time. Weeks and Morgan were outstanding for Alpha Tau Omega.

A feature of the tussle was the field goal booted by Linquist, when the ball emerged from a wild scramble in a corner and came lobbing over toward the goal. It was a perfect setup and he met it fairly in front of the crossbar with a knee, to count on a freak play.

The game was again refereed by Joe Mowry who, by the way, has been placed in complete charge of the tournament. He said that he got lots of running back in the little world series but likes the scampering up and down the field among the Greeks, looking for proper interpretations of the rules.

This afternoon finds Delta Tau Delta matching tricks with Sigma Nu in the first game for each of them: The game starts at 4:15 on the field house grid.

Fraternity tennis progressed another step yesterday when the Kaufman brothers of Phi Beta Delta eliminated last year's doubles winners, Phi Gamma Delta, 6-1, 6-0. The Fijls were represented by Lindquist and Morlan.

In the singles, Phi Beta Delta again clobbered, M. Kaufman defeating F. Bockman (Beta Theta Pi) 6-0, 7-5. Oilman trounced Williams (Beta Theta Pi) 6-1, 7-5, and Newman swept Snyder (Sigma Chi) 6-3, 6-0.

Saturday is the deadline on this round.

Frosh League Halted By Ossie—He Needs Scrimmage Material

Play in the freshman football league has been disrupted temporarily by Ossie Solem's plan to give the varsity plenty of scrimmaging against the yearlings. Today's game between Indiana and Minnesota was halted at the end of the first quarter to enable the teams to aid the varsity.

Inasmuch as scrimmaging is in order daily for the rest of the week, Earl Greene, supervisor of practice teaching, has not made any assignments for league games tomorrow. In the event that play is possible, the contest between Indiana and Minnesota will be continued.

Defense Work Against Gopher Plays Occupies Hawkeye Gridders

Coach Solem Leaves First Team Intact

Leo Samuelson Only Missing Lineman; Has Bad Ankle

Ways and means of stopping Minnesota's offense Saturday were studied in detail by the Iowa Hawkeyes yesterday afternoon as Coach Ossie Solem continued building for the Homecoming game.

The workout was comparatively light following the grueling session Tuesday. The Hawkeyes tried their hand at smothering Gopher plays used by a freshman eleven most of the time, and devoted the rest of the period to perfecting the execution of their attack in a touch scrimmage against another yearling team.

The Iowa defense worked effectively most of the time, although the backfield experienced difficulty in covering pass receivers. Samuelson Out Apparently satisfied with the performance of his first string, the Iowa mentor made no voluntary changes, although Leo Samuelson was forced to temporarily give up his position at right tackle because of a bruised ankle. He is expected to be in shape by Saturday. Don Dorsey, a newcomer, worked Samuelson's position.

The backfield was composed of George Teyro, quarterback, Joe Laws and Herman Schneidman, halfbacks, and Bernard Page, fullback. Coach Solem also worked two other backfield combinations, although he indicated that Teyro's quartet would probably get the first call.

Another Scrimmage Today Ray Fisher and Bob Loufek were at ends, Dorsey and Zud Schammel at tackles, Tom Moore and William Hass at guards, and Capt. Marc Magnusen at center. Another scrimmage is scheduled

Frosh-Senior Track Team Takes Lead as Yearlings Chalk Up 50 Points

MID-WEST TO SEE THESE GRID THRILLERS

The football fans of the midwest is in for a busy week end with several major clashes set for Saturday. Notre Dame meets Carnegie Tech at South Bend and promises to better its last year's victory over the Pennsylvanians. Pug Rentner will lead his Northwestern Wildcats against the strong Purdue squad at Urbana. The Boilmakers defeated Northwestern last year 7-0 and expect to repeat. Chicago will play host to Indiana with hopes of squaring the Hoosiers' last year's 32-6 victory. That's the program, go to it.

for this afternoon, with the time about equally divided between offense and defense. With the exception of Samuelson and Gerald Preston, substitute center, the squad is in good shape, and today's session will probably be rather light, Coach Solem not wishing to run chances of further injuries.

Frank Crosetti, rookie Yankee shortstop, has driven in around 60 runs this season. He came up from the Coast league.

Coach Solem Will Broadcast Tonight

Coach Ossie Solem will be interviewed over radio station WSUI tonight at 7:30. He will answer questions concerning the Homecoming game with Minnesota here Saturday.

This will be Solem's second appearance over WSUI, he having broadcast earlier this fall in connection with the "On Iowa" banquets held in various sections of the state.

Will Run Off Final Events in Meet Today

Panther Outstanding in Day's Competition; Wins Javelin

Scoring 50 of their team's points, Iowa freshman trackmen ran wild over an inter-class field of 52 fall thinclads as yearlings and seniors were arrayed against juniors and sophomores yesterday at the field house and west track in eight of the scheduled 14 prize events.

With the seniors contributing but four points, the winning combination bettered the junior and sophomore team by a 54 to 18 score. The remaining six events to decide the championship will be run off today.

Mark Panther, a freshman, was the most outstanding performer of the day as he hurled the javelin 169 feet 6 inches. He far outclassed the field and was conspicuous in a day of only average and below average track marks.

The half mile run, the 110 yard low hurdles, the 220 yard dash, the pole vault, hammer throw, and discus will be run off today. The jumps will be held in the field house while the weights will be contested at the ground south of the stadium. Football men may make their throws between 3 and 4 o'clock.

The summary follows: 60 yard high hurdles—Won by Miles Jackson (J); F. Cretzmeyer (F), second; J. G. Parker (F), and R. W. Latham (F), tied for third. Time—$91.

100 yard dash—Won by R. P. Henry (So.); Lamar Smith (F), second; Miles Jackson (J), third. Time—11 flat.

300 yard dash—Won by R. P. Henry (So.); Lamar Smith (F), second; M. Westerhof (F), third. Time—44.08.

1 mile run—Won by Sidney Melnick (F); C. H. Block (F), second; N. L. Cuthbert (F), third. Time—5:41.

High jump—Won by F. Cretzmeyer and K. W. Higgins (F) at 5 feet 9 1-2 inches. J. W. Shaffer (So.) and R. P. Henry (So.) tied for third.

Broad jump—Won by R. Hemingway (F); F. Cretzmeyer (F), second;

R. P. Henry (So.), third. Distance—20 feet 9 inches.

Javelin—Won by Mark Panther (F); T. H. Lee (F), second; F. Cretzmeyer (F), third. Distance—169 feet 6 inches.

Shot put—Won by A. B. Davis (F); W. Massey (Sr.), second; John Barger (Sr.), third. Distance—40 feet 10 inches.

Manders May Not Play in Entire Game

Frank Larson Gets End Post; Line Due for Change

(Big Ten News Service)
MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—Following their narrow squeak against the strong Nebraska team, the University of Minnesota eleven is due for several changes in the lineup against Iowa, Saturday.

The Gophers, below their playing form of the Purdue game, evidently did not take the Cornhuskers too seriously, despite the efforts of Bernie Bierman to impress the necessity of being at a keen mental and physical edge for the contest.

Just what change will be made is not certain as yet. In the line two or three shifts likely will be made. Big Frank "Butch" Larson, 190 pound sophomore, did a nice job at end while he was in the game and it is likely that he will be ready to start against Iowa.

Relieves Manders
A change in the backfield Monday involved Jack Manders, when Carl Tengler, sophomore fullback was kept at the crashing post during the major part of the long workout. Tengler relieved Manders against Nebraska after the latter had scored all of the Gopher points and it is almost certain that he will see some action against Iowa.

Tengler did some heavy line smashing on his own account after he had replaced Manders and he also used his 190 pounds effectively as a blocker.

Francis Lund, who did some excellent punting against Nebraska, despite the fact that he was rushed considerably, likely will remain at left half for the Iowa game. The Rice Lake, Wis., sophomore has been a mainstay in the Gopher backfield in his first three games. While his punting was slightly off color against Nebraska, his punting kept pace with the form which held Paul Moss of Purdue even on the previous Saturday.

Capt. Hass Keeps Post
Walle Hass, at right half and Gerry Griffin at quarter, probably will keep their posts. Both players did fairly well against the Cornhuskers.

From tackle to tackle, the line may get a general shaking up this week. Bierman was not at all pleased with its play and did not hesitate to make this fact perfectly clear Monday. Roy Oen at center and Milton Bruhn, sophomore guard, were the only two Gopher linemen who performed up to expectation last week. Unless considerable improvement is noted before Thursday, a vastly changed line may face Iowa Saturday.

The game with Iowa, which will mark the twenty-first Hawkeye Homecoming, will be the eighth time the Gophers have helped the Iowans celebrate this event. Five previous occasions have been real celebrations for the Hawkeyes as they sent Minnesota home on the short end of the score. Last year the teams played at Minneapolis and the Gophers won, 34-0.

Coaches Minnesotans
Both rival coaches, Bernie Bierman and Ossie Solem, are new to the Western conference and both are Minnesota alumni of the days of the late Dr. H. L. Williams' teams. Two native Iowans, Captain Walt Hass and George Champlin, diminutive halfback, also will celebrate the Homecoming, but they will celebrate it as members of the Minnesota squad.

Harriers in Preparation for Gophers

Varsity cross country men took time trials yesterday in preparation for their meet with Minnesota on Finkbine field Saturday morning. Norman Rosenberg copped first honors in the two mile run, nosing out Bob McElroy who took second. Dick Mitvalsky surprised with a third while Verne Schlaser and Jack Schapiro took fourth and fifth respectively.

The Hawkeyes showed improvement over their appearance last Saturday against Cornell when they lost, 22 to 32. It is anticipated that with the racing distance against Minnesota three miles instead of two, the local hill and dalers will have more strength this week than last. Against Cornell the men all finished fresh, showing that they were unable to expend their energy over the short distance.

The men will have to improve considerably if they are to avert a severe thrashing at the hands of the Gophers for Minnesota boasts five returning major letter men while the Old Gold has but one returning minor letter man, Leo Caspi.

Last week Minnesota scored a decisive win over South Dakota over a three and a half mile course.

Ancients Tame Antelope
CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Study of the ancient rock pictures near Arlington on the Columbia river has prompted John B. Horner, head of the department of history at Oregon State college, to suggest that residents of the stone age domesticated antelope as both beasts of burden and as milk "cows."

Electrical Engineers Start Construction of Homecoming Tower

Work of erecting the electrical engineering Homecoming decoration on Iowa avenue west of Old Capitol began yesterday, under the supervision of Arnold J. Shradel, E4 of Riverside, chairman of the committee.

The structure will be in the form of a castle, with towers at the north and south ends. From windows in these towers will flash the letters, I-O-W-A and M-I-N-N. The center panel contains the letters I and M intertwined. These will be illuminated alternately.

Colored cellophane will be used in getting light effects. The two identical faces of the castle, one facing east and the other west, are painted old gold and black.

Gophers Hold Wide Margin

In Number of Wins in All Time Series With Iowa

Iowans nearly abandoned hope of beating Minnesota in football before Fred Lohman, Hawkeye fullback, pounded over the Gopher goal line from the 3-yard mark on the third down one November afternoon in 1918.

Hawkeye homecomers watched that team protect its lead, nullify the notorious Minnesota shift, and break that long losing streak, for every one of the 12 previous games had gone to the Gophers since 1891, some by such scores as 67, 75, 41, and 39 to 0.

But with the ice once broken, the Iowans took seven of the succeeding 12 games. So the 1932 teams enter Saturday's game at Iowa City, the twenty-sixth, with Minnesota leading 17 to eight, but with Iowa on top in contests won since the war.

Two of the most sensational games in the entire long series marked the last appearances of Minnesotans at Iowa City. A dropkick decided the 1928 contest when Irvin Nelson lofted the ball between the posts after Oran Pape's 67-yard dash for a touchdown late in the final quarter with the Gophers leading, 6 to 0.

When last Minnesota played in Iowa stadium, 1929, the Norsemen had a 7 to 3 lead with two minutes to play because of Nagurski's 41-yard touchdown dash after Iowa had played most of the afternoon in Gopher territory.

A long forward pass, several swift line-thrusts, and the ball was on the Minnesota 6-yard line in Iowa's possession. Then Pape darted around end as blockers moved down Gopher tacklers. His touchdown won the game, 9 to 7.

No game was scheduled in 1930 but in 1931 Minnesota power and speed was too great for a sub-standard Iowa team.

Stagg's Successor

Following the retirement of Alonzo Stagg, veteran athletic director of Chicago university, Thomas Nelson Metcalf (above) has been named as his successor. Metcalf has tendered his resignation from a similar post at Iowa State college to accept the new appointment. Stagg's retirement, the result of a university age limit statute, will be effective next June.

Eight Teams Win in Debate

Eight teams remain in the all-campus debate tournament at the conclusion of the second round eliminations. More than 50 speakers entered the contest which began last Friday, each team being given an opportunity to debate in two rounds.

Eliminations made on the basis of rankings in the two preliminary rounds leave the following speakers:

Affirmative: Carroll Johnson, A3 of Clinton; Robert Meeker, A1 of Iowa City; Philip Mitchell, A1 of Iowa City; Arthur Barnes, A1 of Eagle Grove; Ed White, A3 of Harlan; Vernice Gilje, A3 of Elkader; Lorine Lenth, A3 of Elkader.

Negative: George Palmer, A1 of Omaha; Bob Rosenfeld, A1 of Council Bluffs; Tom Yoseoff, A3 of Mason City; Arthur Sternberg, L1 of Woodbine; John Moon, A2 of Ottumwa; Roswell Johnson, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Coleman Yudelson, A2 of Council Bluffs.

The third round in the elimination will be held next Monday night in liberal arts building. The two teams which survive the preliminary rounds will meet in a final debate Nov. 3, on the question, "Resolved, That the American voters of 1932 should elect Hoover rather than Roosevelt as president."

German Professor to Give Illustrated Talk Here Wednesday

Prof. Johannes Hemple, professor of the Old Testament at the University of Goettingen, Germany, will deliver an illustrated lecture in the chemistry auditorium next Wednesday at 8 p.m., on the subject "Images of Jahve." His visit on the campus is under the auspices of the school of religion.

Professor Hemple is the author of a number of books and pamphlets, and has traveled extensively in Palestine. He is at present making a lecture tour of America, speaking in Boston, Mass., New York city, Baltimore, Md., Chicago, Ill., and other cities.

During his stay in Iowa City, Professor Hemple will be the house guest of Prof. and Mrs. Charles A. Hawley, 311 E. Ronalds street. Professor Hawley and Professor Hemple were formerly associated in Germany.

Discussion Group Will Meet Today

The Freshman Coed discussion group will meet this afternoon at 4:15 in Prof. William H. Morgan's office at Iowa Union. Professor and Mrs. Morgan will lead the discussion, which will concern such topics as etiquette, men-women relations, campus politics, fraternities and sororities, use of time, and anything else which the group wishes to discuss.

The group will meet every Thursday at this time hereafter. The meetings will last about one hour. All freshman men and women are invited to attend.

Aspirants for Seals Club Try Out Today

Tryouts for the Seals club will be held this afternoon at 4:15 in the women's gymnasium. Another tryout will be held next Tuesday, at the same hour.

Aspirants for entrance into this honorary swimming club are required to swim 20 yards in 15 seconds, at three strokes for form, and four dives.

Albee Sherbon, instructor in the women's physical education department, is in charge of the meet.

Librarian Visits Here

Joanna Hagey, librarian of the Cedar Rapids public library and president of the Iowa Library association, visited the University library Tuesday. During her stay, Miss Hagey conferred with members of the staff on matters concerning the state association.

Professor Tyler Works on States Conference

Arrangements for the program of the joint Iowa and Nebraska state conference on social work at Omaha, Neb., now are being conducted by Prof. Ina T. Tyler of the bureau of social welfare at the University of Iowa.

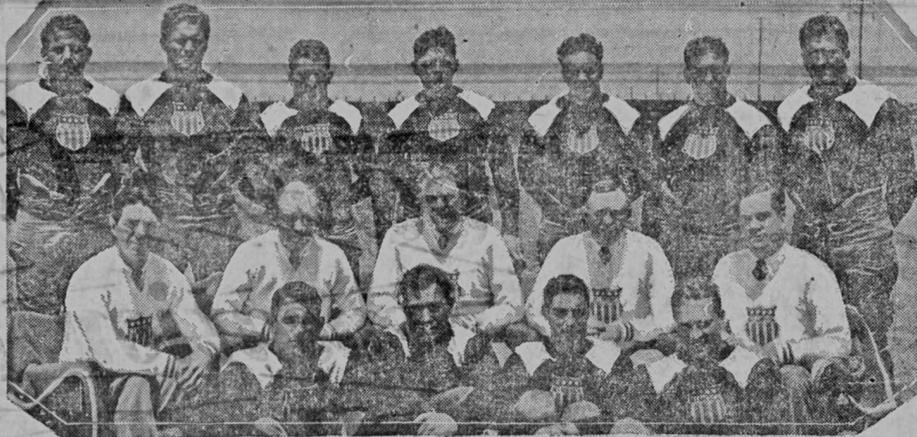

Professor Tyler also is in charge of the Iowa group which will participate in the program. The affair is scheduled for Oct. 26 to 29.

Another University of Iowa staff member, Emil Suley, field representative in social administration, will be one of the official speakers.

Dental Bureau to Hold Two Exhibits

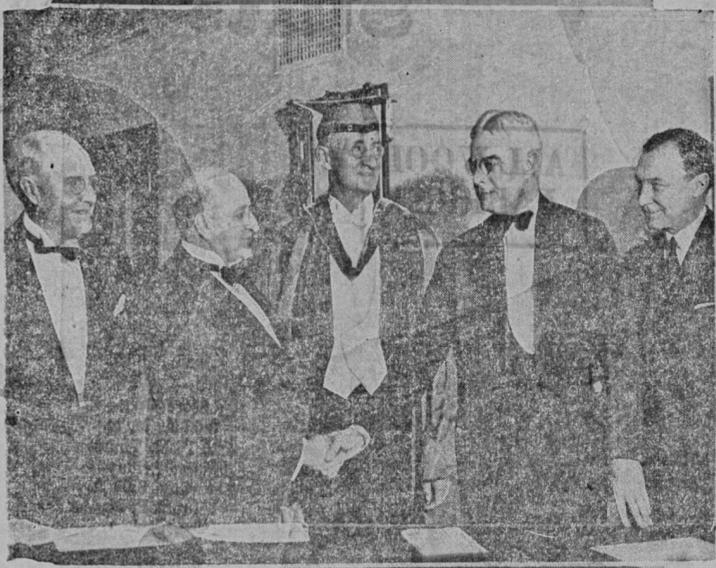

Nov. 1 and 2 are the dates set for the university's bureau of dental hygiene exhibit at Cedar Rapids. Edith Holmstrom of the bureau of dental hygiene and Dr. Charles L. Drain, professor in the college of dentistry and director of the bureau, will appear on the program in the public health nursing section.

The bureau will also have an exhibit at the state teachers meeting in Des Moines, Nov. 3, 4, and 5.

Never before in the history of sports has an All American football team been assembled, much less given an opportunity to play a game of football. This All American football team was assembled for the moving picture, "The All American." The photograph above shows this team and the All American Board of Football which selected them from the outstanding players of every college in the United States. Harper (Athletic Director of Notre Dame) and Christy Walsh, who comprise the All American Board of Football. Seated (front row) John Cain (Alabama), Gaius Shaver (U.S.C.), Marchmont Schwartz (Notre Dame), Fern Pinkert (1930 All America, playing for Rentner of Northwestern). The picture "The All American" opens tomorrow at the Strand Theatre.

RITCHIE-ALLEN DEBATE

For the first time in the national campaign, the merits of the rival presidential candidates and their policies were debated from the same platform by responsible spokesmen of the two parties. Left to right, Silas H. Strawn, former Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas, who spoke for President Hoover; President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, who spoke in behalf of Governor Roosevelt, and Melvin A. Traylor. The debate took place Monday night at Thorne Hall on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university at Chicago.

gering deficit," he said. "If the present rate continues, the true deficit as of June 30 near year will be over $1,600,000,000, not as large as it was in the unprecedented fiscal year of 1932, but so great that it makes us catch our breath."

False Appeal

"I regret to say that the appeal of this administration for applause for its soundness and courage last winter is simply not based on facts."

He argued that "under repeated insistence that the budget was being balanced, congress gave our treasury—without hesitation or limit—every cent of revenue it asked for and that, at the end, the administration assured congress and the country that the task had been accomplished.

Hides Facts

"I have already shown how unreliable these constant assurances are," he added. "It is not seemly to conjecture motives but I think it is fair to say the whole record of administration policy in the last four years reveals that it has been afraid to trust the people of the United States with the true facts about their affairs."

"While the president claims that he did finally recommend new taxes, I fear that his courage came two years too late and in far too scanty measure. It explains 'prosperity around the corner.' It explains two complete concealments of deficits and the insufficiency of the action taken last winter."

Error of Weakness

"It is an error of weakness and an error which I assure you I shall not make."

"The candidate said 'our federal extravagance and improvidence' in addition to imposing a tax burden on individuals and business could not bear, because of 'the unorthodox federal financing' impaired the whole credit structure."

"Instead of financing the billion dollar deficit of 1931 in the regular way," he said, "our government simply absorbed that much of the leading capacity of the banks and by so much impaired the credit available for business."

Finance Deficits

Most of the newly-created government credit, he said, "has been taken to finance the government's continuing deficits."

He quoted from a document he said had been published a week ago and signed by both Alfred E. Smith and Calvin Coolidge:

"All the costs of local, state and national government must be reduced without fear and without favor."

Mr. Roosevelt said that "for my distinguished opponent" 1931 was the year when all "his distinctive 1928 economic heresies seemed to come home to roost together," adding that foreign loans to expand export trade could no longer be made, retaliation arose against the tariff, and debtors abandoned specie payments.

Desert air is wet . . . by comparison!

Making telephone equipment presents many an interesting problem to the engineers of Western Electric—manufacturer for the Bell System.

A case in point is the drying of telephone cable before putting on the protective lead sheath. This step is of utmost importance, for the tiny copper wires cannot carry your voice properly unless their paper insulation is thoroughly dried. To this end, Western Electric engineers devised special drying ovens in which the air is thirty times drier than desert air!

The same ingenuity and thoroughness go into every step of making cable, telephones, switchboards and many other kinds of telephone equipment. The dependable apparatus that results is one reason why Bell System service is dependable.

HEART STRINGS

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Patricia Braithwait adored her father so much that she was willing to sacrifice love and happiness to insure his future independence by marrying middle-aged Harvey Blaine for his wealth. It was Aunt Pamela who suggested that Pat marry wealth, warning that "the glamour of love wears off". Pamela spoke from experience; her own marriage to handsome Jimmie Warren, a young lawyer, was becoming dull. Jimmie, furious at Pat's engagement, awakens to the realization that he, himself, cares for her. Pat, with youth's optimism, hopes in vain that the young camper whom she only knows as "Jack", and saw only once, will rescue her from Blaine. Jimmie finds her in the garden, sobbing. He takes her in his arms and, in despair and hungry for love, she permits him to kiss her. Next day Pat breaks her engagement. Pamela is suspicious when, immediately following Pat's broken engagement, Jimmie offers to loan Pat money to study art. Pat's father declines Jimmie's offer, saying his insurance (which he would not touch for himself but felt justified in using for his daughter's career) was adequate for her needs. He plans to take Pat to Paris. One minute Patricia feels she cannot leave Jimmie, and, the next, she loathes him for the kiss experience of the previous night. Then Jack arrives. Pat thinks—if he had only come yesterday, for, today, he is too late and it is Jimmie she wants. Jack explains he stayed away because her "good-bye" seemed so final.

"Oh, you adorable infant!" he exclaimed, as he drew her swiftly down to the white beach.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Eagerly leaning toward her, all the strong fine markings of his face in clear outline, he appeared substantial, dreamlike, at the height of the quality of the tropical night that would vanish with the rising sun.

That odd sense of unreality, which had enthralled her the previous day, again enveloped her like a fog. There was something fabulous about the tall waiting form, the bare head like polished ebony, the clear shining eyes like dark fires glowing.

A vague panic stirred in her lest she awaken before the end of this poignant dream was reached. She wanted to go on with it; to discover the elusive and troubling charm of this man who gave one an exciting sense of familiar strangeness, and breathless waiting over a chasm of revelation.

A pulsing quality of adventure in ambush reached ghostly arms to her. She felt flattened out, indifferent to all the past, all the future save an urgency to discover the secret point of strangeness that sank and settled over her, at once numbing and exhilarating, sapping her will, and daring her to reckless activity.

"I don't know you," she said. "I never spoke with you before yesterday; yet somewhere, some time I feel as if I knew you, with perhaps another voice. It's absurd. And outrageous to run away to sea with a man whose very name is unknown to me. You may be a bandit who will carry me away for ransom. Though if you are a clever bandit you must know that there's nothing but a caving bit of land with a pitiful shack on it to offer in return for me. Perhaps you are Louisiana's legendary LaFitte, who, it is said, never married and never died; just disappeared over the sea from which he first appeared to romantic Creoles. But it doesn't matter who you are or what you are, or if you are. I fell asleep yesterday on the beach; or was it last year, or years ago in my childhood? And I made you up out of dream stuff. Somebody awakened me before the dream ended. I have again fallen asleep and the dream has come back to me. I must find out the end this time—before you vanish forever."

A low chuckling laugh escaped him. Whereupon the wind sprang up as a cue. The dark garden behind them shook out its foliage in whispering laughter. The little watchmen in the sky wagged their pinpoint lanterns at the big lazy moon. And the sea raced gaily over the sand.

"Oh, you adorable infant!" He drew her swiftly down to the white beach. "But I must warn you," he said, "this dream has no end. It began with creation and its end would be chaos."

He helped her into the boat, then poling clear of the shallows he shipped the oar and bent over the motor. With a loud sputter the boat headed straight out from land, tearing into breakers, flinging up curtains of spun glass on each side.

Languorously deep in bright cushions, their colors vivid in the moonlight, Patricia rested heavy with content. The emotional cataclysm through which she had passed, the doubt and torment, the shock of Jack's coming when she had ceased to expect or even wish for him—had left her spent, empty of all feeling, all thought save an intense awareness of the night's fantastic and improbable beauty.

She thought fleetingly of Jimmie and her brief hour of madness as of something that had happened long ago. Back there in the ballroom she had been sick with pain and shame over his failure. And now it was all gone.

Spray stung her face like flying particles of snow. A throbbing, vibrancy tingled along her relaxed body. Where were they going? And who was this man who drew her away from all known things into the realm of dreams where moonlight roofed one's world, and the unstable sea floored it? This unknown man who piloted her through the vast unknown toward an unknown end; who had power to command her, yet, who stirred in her no emotion for himself. She turned this over in her mind, fingering it, trying to explain it, indifferent to explanation.

She watched the lean cat-like grace of him, crouching over the motor, sending the dory nose up

Two Run for Court Posts

Demos, C. O. P.'s List Candidates to Fill Vacancy

DES MOINES, Oct. 19 (AP)—The names of George Claussen of Clinton, Republican, and former Judge Hubert Utterback of Des Moines, Democrat, will go on the November general election ballot as the nominees of their respective parties for the supreme court vacancy caused by the death of Justice E. A. Morling.

Claussen, prominent Iowa attorney, was selected by the Republican state central committee in a meeting here today, while Utterback was chosen by the Democratic committee earlier in the week and announcement of the selection was withheld until today.

Governor Turner is expected to appoint the Republican nominee to the supreme court bench for the period until the November election. Then the candidate selected by the voters will fill the remainder of Justice Morling's term, ending Dec. 31, 1936.

With the announcement of the selections the secretary of state's office began preparations for certifying the names to county auditors. Printing of ballots has been held up in many counties and in others where the ballots already have been printed the names probably will be added by the use of stickers.

The death of Justice John M. Grimm leave five places on the supreme court bench to be filled at the general elections as the terms of three justices expire Dec. 31.

Dental Health Expert to Talk at Maquoketa

Edith Holmstrom of the bureau of dental hygiene will appear on the Jackson County Teachers Institute program at Maquoketa tomorrow. "Iowa plan for dental health education" is the subject of Miss Holmstrom's talk.

During the last week, Miss Holmstrom has given talks on dental hygiene in Kossuth and Muscatine counties.

'MOST BEAUTIFUL CO-ED' TO WED

Ruth Wenter (left), who was voted "the most perfect and beautiful coed at Northwestern university," has announced that she will wed the university's "ideal" man, Paul Cummins (right). Miss Wenter, whose home is in Evanston, Ill., has received many stage and screen offers, but has declined them all. Cummins, whose home is in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is a first year law school man. He is 22 and Miss Wenter is 20.

Six 1907 Football Players to Return Over Week End

Just 25 years after they engaged in gridiron battles for their alma mater, six members of the 1907 university football team will return to Iowa City this week end and will be re-introduced to the campus between halves of the game Saturday.

Formations and selections by the university band will complete the between-halves program, which is under the supervision of Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division.

Members of the 1907 team who have signified their intentions of being present are: I. C. Hastings of Garner, who was center on the team; Charles Hazard of Arlington, all-American fullback; Charles Kirk of Davenport, halfback; Walter Stewart of Des Moines, quarterback and now a member of the Iowa athletic board; Will Knowlton of Chicago, Ill., halfback; and Isaac Stutsman of Greeley, Colo., tackle.

Mr. Stutsman is the father of John P. Stutsman, A4, tackle on the present team.

Sale Rumors Aid Prices in Grain Market

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Wheat advanced sharply at the close today, with unconfirmed rumors afloat that Henry Ford would tonight announce a 75 million bushel purchase of wheat for China. The rumors were authoritatively denied later, but not until after trading had ended.

There was not much volume to wheat transactions and the rise of values came about in considerable degree because of absence of selling pressure.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top, 3-1 cent above yesterday's finish, corn a shade to 1-4 up, oats 1-4 to 3-8 advanced, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Before being contradicted, rumors of big wheat purchases for China on a long term credit basis were chiefly influential as disturbing factor among traders who had been speculative sellers.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat and as a result of proposals for emergency export rail rates on corn. Export purchases of 150,000 bushels of corn for France were noted.

Provisions averaged lower with hog values.

Closing indemnities: wheat—Dec. 48¢-1, 51¢, May 54¢ to 1-4, 56¢-3; July 55¢, 57¢. Corn—Dec. 25¢-1, 26¢-1; May 30¢, 31¢-1.

Henry Bush Rites Today

Funeral service for Henry O. Bush, 1018 Friendly avenue, who died early Tuesday morning, will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Oathout chapel with the Rev. E. E. Dierks officiating. Burial will be at Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Bush has been employed by the Iowa City Light and Power company for the last 17 years and had been superintendent of the gas plant for the last 11 months.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Arlene and Gertrude; three sons, Earl, Henry, and LeRoy, all at home; his mother, Mrs. Margaret Johnson of Sterling, Ill.; five sisters, Mrs. Harry Doerflinger and Mrs. Walter Coakley of Chicago, Mrs. William Meyers of Morrison, Ill., Mrs. Paul Struckman of Savannah, Ill., and Mrs. Ralph Struckman of Sterling, Ill.

Police Get Call
Police were called by the Delta Delta Delta sorority again yesterday afternoon to inspect the house. Two window latches had been broken and holes punched in some of the windows sometime during the last two days. No robbery was reported.

Blackstone's Law Publication Placed on Exhibition Today

A first edition of Blackstone's "Commentaries," 167 years old, will be placed on exhibition today in the foyer of the college of law. It was on Nov. 2, 1765, that the first of the four volumes in the set came off the Clarendon Press at the University of Oxford, England.

The four represent a part of the historical law collection given to the law library by William G. Hammond, chancellor of the college of law from 1869 to 1881.

Blackstone was appointed to the chair of English law at Oxford in 1758. He gave a series of lectures which later, beginning in 1765, was published as "Commentaries on the Law of England." The fourth volume of the collection was published in 1769.

Following the publication of these volumes, he became a member of parliament, bench of the Middle Temple, and solicitor general to the queen of England. Later he was knighted and made a justice of the court of King's bench and the court of common pleas. He died in 1780 at the age of 57.

AROUND THE TOWN with DON PAYOR

All Set
Iowa City is all ready for the start of the corn festival and homecoming celebration, which begins this morning. The speakers' stand has been built on the campus, where Henry Field of Shenandoah and Judge John W. Kinsinger of Dubuque will tell the populace why the Republicans could win and why the Democrats should win.

Mixed Bridge

has aroused more interest than any case since the trial of James "Slim" Campbell for murder last winter. At least a dozen persons called The Daily Iowan last night to learn if the jury had made it verdict or not.

Too Bad
Two pounds of Swiss cheese (holes included), one dozen men's socks (holes not included), one case of near beer, and one box of candy bars were stolen Tuesday night from the O. L. Rees Oil station at Clinton and Benton streets. Entrance was gained through a broken rear window.

net. Eleven others surrendered to Jim.

It is that act which won for him the Belgian Croix de Guerre. And it is for that act that his government will tomorrow bestow its award upon him.

For that act too he received the following letter from his division headquarters:

Praised by Commander
"I am directed by the division commander to inform you that your conduct in action against enemy forces on Sept. 12, 1918, near Boney, when you, advanced alone on two machine guns in position, manned by 14 men, killing three and taking 11 prisoners, has been brought to his personal attention, and he considers your performance of duty on this occasion worthy of the highest commendation. He regards your actions in the face of the enemy, gallant, an example to your comrades in arms, and the characteristic of that splendid standard upon which the traditions of our military establishment are founded.

(signed) James E. Thomas, Captain, U.S.A., Adjutant General.

Other Stories
No one can ever know of most of the heroic deeds performed by the Americans in France. But other stories, too, followed Corporal Prien to the United States.

It is told how, when becoming lost from his company, he came upon a squad broken and demoralized by the loss of its corporal. Prien took command and that point in the allied line remained unbroken.

Captured 20
Another story is told of his activities during the "mopping up" period following the St. Mihiel attack. Hearing a commotion in a supposedly abandoned dugout, Corporal Prien stepped to the entrance and informed the occupants that he was investing the town with a company and that he was ready to grenade all dugouts. Twenty Germans fled out with hands overhead. Prien, who was alone, told them not to mind his little joke.

"I know you fellows like a little camouflage," he said.

At the time of his discharge from the army Nov. 16, 1918, he had served in five major offensives of the war. They were: Lorraine sector from March 14 to June 19, 1918; Champagne sector, July 5 to July 18, 1918; battle north of the Marne, July 25 to Aug. 2, 1918; St. Mihiel offensive, Sept. 12, to Sept. 15, 1918; and the Verdun sector, Sept. 29 to Oct. 5, 1918.

Suffering from the results of gas he returned to the United States, and Jan. 29, 1920, he married Hulda Gammeler in Omaha, Neb. Six months later, July 31, he died from the tuberculosis contracted as a result of gas wounds in France.
