HOMECOMERS INVADE CITY TODAY

Troops Fire on Canadian Prison Rioters

Militia Takes Arms Against 110 Prisoners

Officials Blame Convicts Held in 'Overflow' for Disorders

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 20 (AP)—Guards and hastily summoned troop reinforcements opened fire tonight to put an end to a serious riot by inmates of Portsmouth prison, where an outbreak late Monday, lasting several hours, made it necessary for the authorities to call on the militia.

Major Outbreak

But there was plenty of evidence that the prison authorities were combating an outbreak of major proportions. They had called a detachment of 150 members of the Royal Canadian horse artillery from Kingston, 2 1/2 miles away, and an hour after the soldiers arrived three truckloads of machine guns were rushed to the penitentiary.

Center Near Shops

Apparently the trouble centered in the southeast corner of the grounds near the stables and industrial shops. This also was the scene of Monday's disorders.

Take Posts

A moment later they could be seen at their posts on top of the prison walls. Some time after the soldiers arrived there was a brief period of intense gunfire. When this ceased occasionally shots could be heard above the din of the shouting convicts.

Former Iowa City Residents Injured

Continue Picketing

ST. PAUL, Oct. 20 (AP)—Road picketing by farmers continued in Minnesota today, but the number and zeal of participants was diminished by watchfulness of state highway patrolmen.

Frank Elser to Attend First Showing of 'Low Bridge'

First staging of "Low Bridge," a romantic comedy by Frank Elser, will be made at 8 o'clock this evening in natural science auditorium by players of University theater, with Mr. Elser himself attending the premiere.

J. J. Raskob Gives $25,000 to Demo Fund

Party Celebrates Bright Outlook of Group Finances

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—John J. Raskob, whose admiration for "Al" Smith led him to take command of the 1928 Democratic campaign, has contributed $25,000 to the Roosevelt-Garner war chest, it was announced today.

Raskob, James A. Farley, who succeeded him as national chairman, and others interested in Democratic finances held what they called a "celebration luncheon" in a New York skyscraper before the announcement was made.

Pay Off Deficit

He made known that since the present campaign began the national committee has paid off $100,000 of the $300,000 owed to a New York bank as part of the 1928 campaign deficit.

That slash of the party debt was made in four installments, he explained, as a result of "economies at headquarters."

May Give Speech

Campaign leaders later discussed the possibility of Raskob, who had not appeared in the political spotlight since the Chicago convention, now making a speech on behalf of Roosevelt.

They asserted that as a successful business man he would be a logical person to reply to Henry Ford's address on behalf of President Hoover. Raskob himself had nothing to say.

Hunting Season for Muskrats Closes

The open season for hunting or trapping muskrats ends immediately, according to a report received yesterday by County Recorder John Kadlec from I. T. Bode, state fish and game warden.

Because of a great depletion in the muskrat population, the Iowa fish and game commission decided to close the 1932-33 season in order that the supply may increase.

the $120,000 the national committee still owes him from 1928.

Postpones Payment

Raskob has told the committee this $120,000 need not be repaid until more urgent expenses are cared for.

While Farley, Raskob and the other conferees were at the luncheon, Smith sat in his office 10 floors above them and conferred over the campaign with the mayors of Chicago and Jersey City.

During the day Charles Edison, eldest son of the late inventor and president of Thomas A. Edison Industries, issued at West Orange, N. J., a letter to all division managers regarding the non-partisan attitude of the company.

Mayor Testifies in Omaha Liquor Trial

OMAHA, Oct. 20 (AP)—A trio of high city officials, including Mayor Richard L. Metcalfe, testified as government witnesses today in the federal court trial of 59 Omaha men and women on liquor conspiracy charges.

Mayor Metcalfe related, under prosecution questioning, how he sought the assistance of Tom Dennison, local political leader and chief defendant in the conspiracy case, in finding the slayers of Harry Lapidus, wealthy business man-reformer who was shot to death here last December.

The other witnesses include Police Commissioner John Hopkins and Assistant City Attorney Bernard Boyle.

Wallace Pleads Monetary Reform

CEDAR RAPIDS, Oct. 20 (AP)—Henry Wallace of Des Moines, in an address before the Iowa real estate boards convention, today urged a "softening" of the monetary system to lighten the tax and interest burdens on the country's productive power and goods.

Col. C. B. Robbins, president of the Eighth District Home Loan bank in Des Moines, in another address predicted the evolution of Home Loan banks into a cooperative system for rediscounting all Rutstein had been in the kidnapers' hands for five days before he was rescued.

Letter to the Editor

To the editor of The Daily Iowan: It is well known that our people are more contented and happy when they are able to earn their living, than when forced to ask for charity.

We are now entering the season of the year when unemployment and distress therefrom is liable to become very much more than at any other period of the year, and it has become necessary to make an immediate appeal for funds to enable the employment association to set as many of the unemployed as possible to work and enable them to carry on during this time of depression.

It may be well thus to explain how the employment bureau is operated.

Only residents are registered for employment, non-residents are advised to return to their own communities where they can best be taken care of.

All persons are employed and paid at the rate of 25c an hour, by check each week. All work undertaken is for the benefit of the community, and effects quite a saving to the city in taxes as this work will have to be done at sometime and paid from taxes.

It relieves the burden on social service charities to a very large extent and the work is constructive and productive and beneficial to all members of the community.

The wages earned are again circulated in the city so increasing the volume of business among our merchants to that extent.

An emergency appeal is to be made to all our fellow citizens of Iowa City for funds to carry on this work, and it is requested that all our people will on being approached to this end, meet the solicitor in a true community spirit and donate to utmost amount their means will allow of.

Let us be sure there are no hungry and cold families in Iowa City this winter.

Iowa's Next Senator

THIS AFTERNOON at 2:30 one of the state's most colorful political figures will give Iowa City a chance to size him up; his unannounced visit before the June primary was too unexpected to provide the opportunity.

Henry Field of Shenandoah rode to victory in a wave of protest against that arch-protester, Smith W. Brookhart of Washington, in a primary whose outcome most persons expected to be settled later in convention.

One thing was settled by that June vote: Iowa Republicans had lost faith in Senator Brookhart as a voice of protest. It did not settle whether Iowa Republicans had lost their desire to protest, for Field declared against Farm Board stabilization, for the Goldsborough currency inflation principle, for general tariff reduction, for extended public utility regulation, for freedom of the Philippines—all Democratic or Republican progressive issues.

And the main thing, of course, on which Field was swept to victory was his emphasis of congressional family payrolls. He was nominated as a protest against the ineffective Brookhart variety of protest, contaminated as it was with the suspicion of evidence.

Field's campaign, by radio and by speaking wagon tour, demonstrated showmanship rather than statesmanship, as News magazine Time recognized last week in comparing him with John Brinkley, aspirant to be governor of Kansas.

"Bearing in mind the example of Iowa's Republican Senatorial nominee, independent Henry Field, both of Kansas' regular gubernatorial candidates are unpleasantly aware of the potency of a freak campaign equipped with a private radio station."

Not in degree and in no unfavorable sense but in kind Nominee Field resembles Norman Baker, Farmer-Labor nominee for governor of Iowa, and Mr. Brinkley in being essentially a promoter. His Shenandoah parade was the work of an advertiser, not of a politician. It has resemblances—again without resemblance in his motives or connections—to the showboat campaign of Illinois' Len Small in his attempt to regain the governor's office.

Field is markedly different from Baker and Brinkley in being, essentially, conservative. This is especially true since he came out "100 per cent" for President Herbert Hoover and for the Republican platform. This means that he is no longer, if he ever was, a voice of protest.

Louis Murphy will appeal to Democrats, to wets, and to voters who want some (but less) of the "agin the government" attitude of Senator Brookhart along with cooperative tact, smoothness, and polish. An adept politician in being nothing but wet during the primary because Iowa Democratic strength is concentrated largely in the wet eastern river counties, Murphy has since proved himself adroit in dealing with the W.C.T.U.

But it remains true that Brookhart, for all his inconsistency in stumping Wisconsin for dry Hoover against wet Alfred E. Smith in 1928, in putting his faith in the primary judgment of Iowa Republicans and then running independent—this peculiar individual is still the only genuine voice of protest. He is more Democratic on the tariff than Murphy, who favors farm tariffs; he is less conservative than Murphy.

Many observers say that if Roosevelt carries Iowa—he has already carried the Republican Des Moines Register's straw vote—so will Murphy. This will mean an Iowa senator lacking the flavor of either Brookhart or Field. It is also likely to mean that the oldtime tradition of a protest voice from Iowa in the United States senate will, at least temporarily, have passed into the discard.

1907-1932

JUST 25 years after they participated in University of Iowa football games, seven members of the 1907 varsity grid team will visit the campus this year for Homecoming. And, viewing the great stadium where the games now take place, and thinking back to the campus they knew as students, much of their time will probably be spent in reminiscing.

They will look back to the days when the liberal arts building and the natural science building first reached up and took their places to the right and left of Old Capitol. And they will remember how instead of sitting in stands high above the field, the spectators walked up and down the field with the play.

Then, Saturday afternoon, other memories will come back to them. Instead of 22 men playing the game of 1932 they will see the men of 1907. They will see men in heavy suits lined up for a game of two 30 minute halves instead of four 15 minute quarters. They will see whole teams piling up on the luckless ball carrier, lines of interference running with locked arms, men crawling on hands and knees for the extra yard or so they might gain after being downed. They will see a runner pushed by sheer strength of numbers over the opposing line. And in spite of themselves they may get a little mellow thinking of the "good old days." But although the campus and rules of football have changed, they will find that the other qualities of Iowa, the things that make them want to come back have not changed—that the ideals and spirit of 1907 still are with us—in greater force than ever.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's stand on the bonus question might be compared rather favorably with the German stand on the debt question. Hitler's attitude is that of "won't pay," while von Hindenberg's is that of "can't." But whether the latter would if Germany could be unknown. The same principle might be applied to Roosevelt.

All of which recalls a list of questions suggested to a political science class recently as an aid in studying thoroughly the bonus situation. Here are some of them:

- 1) What is a bonus?
2) What is adjusted service compensation?
3) What is the American Legion?
4) What other veterans' organizations are there?
5) What do they represent?
6) Who is the "Veterans' Committee for Reducing the Cost of Peace"?
7) What has the United States government done up to the present time for its veterans of the World War?
8) How does this compare with what other countries have done?
9) Was the "bonus army's" march on Washington a revolutionary threat?
10) Is the demand for immediate cash payment a demand for class legislation?
11) Should the government treat all lobbyists alike?
12) Under what conditions is class legislation justified?
13) Should the government conscript capital as well as men in war time?
14) Is war ever a good business?
15) Does the victor win? If so, what?
16) What is the annual expenditure for veterans of the World War? For what?
17) Did the adjusted certificates stave off a pension demand?
18) How many families of veterans of the war of 1812 are still receiving pensions today?
19) How did the government treat the railroads after the World War? The manufacturers of munitions? Shipbuilders?
20) Are the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars political organizations?
21) What governmental principles are involved in the bonus controversy?
22) If favorable action is taken on the bonus, where and how can the government get the money? Where would it ultimately come from?
23) Is the bonus justified as a political or social principle? On moral grounds? By patriotic considerations? By historical or foreign precedents? By specific precedent in the action of the government in other connections?
24) Is the demand for immediate cash payment of the adjusted compensation certificates justified?

There is little doubt but that the bonus seekers themselves could hardly answer all the questions. And for that matter, anyone else. Taken in the abstract there is no limit to the length of good arguments on both sides. But taken in the flesh, there is plenty of food for thought.

The general clearing up of the haze that has enveloped Roosevelt's bonus attitude leaves little in the balance of differences between at least three stands of both presidential candidates. Earlier this week the Chicago Tribune contended that there were three main issues of the campaign: the economic situation or expenditure and tax reduction; prohibition; and the bonus. On the first two, Roosevelt and Hoover have been gradually approaching each other's point of view, and now they are in almost perfect accord on the last, but by no means least of the three. All of which leaves only one presidential aspirant, representing a major philosophy in the field, William Z. Foster, who has declared out-and-out for the bonus.

But there is little fear that the Communists can carry any part of the nation on their bonus stand alone. The other issues are of far more consequence and carry far more weight with almost any intelligent voter.

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD —

By HARRISON CARROLL
STUDIO GOSSIP
FILM SCANDAL
SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—In the thirty-second year of her acting career, Alison Skilworth is booming along towards cinema stardom. This veteran actress, who has not quite the pity and warmth of a Marie Dressler but who exudes canny wisdom and a sense of humor, will next delight screen fans as a night-club hostess of London, New York and practical-minded Reno. Her team-mate, and as before it is a younger player, will be the droll Roland Young. These two, and a suitable surrounding cast, will cavort through the amusing episodes of "Good Company," a Paramount picture, of course, and a story specially written for the pair by Nina Wilcox Putnam. Norman McLeod, who knows his comedy, will handle the megaphone. Working with a partially trained dog actor, a movie troupe recently achieved a long shot by hitching wires to the animal and directing his movements by a series of tugs. Returned to Hollywood, a director was telling a friend about the trouble he had with the dog. "Why didn't you use wires?" asked the friend. "The director snorted. "Wires? Ye gods, man, we used so many wires the dog looked like a zither!" BOULEVARD CHATTER That M-G-M-Lily Pons deal looks serious. The songstress spent all Saturday morning taking a second and exhaustive screen test. Big-time director Robert Leonard again supervised proceedings. . . . Novelist Julian Street is in Hollywood with his wife and, so far at least, not to write for pictures. He is busy on a new book. . . . Add to amusing sights: Lewis Stone coming in to lunch and handing up both his Chinese hat and his queue. . . . Come Armistice Day and Honorary Colonel Joan Bennett will throw a dinner at the Ambassador for the entire 24th Field Artillery. Gwili Andree, who turns out to be a little too human to make a good Hollywood mystery woman, has enrolled at a local art school. Like her father, she wants to be an expert at fashion designing. . . . The University of Southern California has asked Hobart Bosworth to deliver a series of lectures on the early history of Hollywood. The white-haired veteran actor played in the first picture ever made in Los Angeles and has kept a diary of every succeeding film engagement. There's a sound-man in Hollywood named H. C. Silent. . . . And one of those trained animal zoos owns the world's only acting hawk. You'll see him in R-K-O's "Men of America." . . . A Chinese motion picture studio wants scenarist Sada Cowan to come over and be assistant to the production chief. Some time ago Miss Cowan lived several years in Shanghai. Most pampered actor on the Fox lot is the Hampshire hog, "Blue Boy," which will be used in "State Fair." When the studio postponed this picture four days to give Will Rogers more time in South America, the flying comedian cabled back: "Will be on the set with my lips rouged. Have the hog ready."

Mellon Backs G.O.P. Tariff, Finance Acts

Hoover Appointee Says President Real Leader

MANCHESTER, Eng., Oct. 20 (AP)—Speaking today at a luncheon of the English Speaking Union, United States Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon gave his complete endorsement to the record of the Hoover administration in its dealings with the economic crisis.

"Real Question"

"The real question (in the American election) is one of leadership rather than of issues. . . more hinges upon it than is apparent on the surface, for it will determine not only whether new men shall be substituted for those directing the nation's policies, but it means also, if the country should vote for a change in administration, that there will be a waiting interval of four months during which the United States and to a certain extent the world will mark time until the new administration takes charge next March."

He outlined the achievements of the Republican administration, describing the Reconstruction Finance corporation, measures for expansion of the power of the federal reserve system, new taxes to balance the budget and other emergency steps.

"Met Every Demand"

"As a result of these measures," he said, "we have been able to meet in full every demand that could be made upon us. We have proved that our financial strength is more than adequate to withstand any shock from the outside world, and that no power outside the country can undermine the dollar."

Mr. Mellon defended the American tariff policy, which he declared, "has not had the adverse effect on foreign trade with which it has some times been credited." The first concern of the American government is to restore prosperity within its own borders, he said, and if that can be done by means of the tariff and if Great Britain can do the same thing for herself by means of the agreements at Ottawa "then let us enter upon a friendly race to see which can do the most for our own people, knowing that in each country increased prosperity must inevitably have a favorable effect on the other."

MIDWEST POLITICS

Both Parties Flock to Farming Centers

already has begun work in the nation's second city. Senator Norris of Nebraska, insurgent Republican who came out for Roosevelt, is touring Illinois. An invitation has been extended to Alfred E. Smith to come also.

Even as intense as has become the presidential campaign throughout the corn belt, it is equalled in several of the states by state campaigns. Illinois, for example, has a traditionally bitter battle in the contest for governor, with Len Small, Republican nominee who has served two terms in the office, and Judge Henry Horner, Democratic nominee and head of Chicago's probate courts, as opponents.

Wisconsin Alters Outlook
The political outlook of Wisconsin, long a hot bed of state politics and fortress of "progressives," was altered to a certain extent, at least, by the defeat of two progressive Republicans in the primary election. For the first time in two decades a LaFollette was defeated. Gov. Philip LaFollette losing in his attempt to be nominated for a second term. The other liberal Republican to drop out of the picture was Senator Blaine.

The governor's brother, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, has come out for Governor Roosevelt, for Democratic Mayor Schwedeman of Madison as governor and for F. Ryan Duffy, Democratic nominee for senator to succeed Blaine.

Find Color in Minnesota
Color aplenty has been placed in Minnesota's state campaign by the contest between Floyd B. Olson, the nation's only Farmer-Labor governor, and Earle Brown, a man of independent wealth who became sheriff of Hennepin county (Minneapolis) because he felt it his duty. The Democratic nominee is John E. Regan, an attorney.

The Dakotas, where speakers of both parties have concentrated on the "discontented wheat farm vote," have their political kettles boiling heartily over state races, with activities toward a third party under way.

Iowa's political activity centers about the campaign of Henry Field, a seed merchant, who came into politics virtually unheralded last spring to defeat the veteran Senator Brookhart for the Republican nomination.

Band Plays

The Iowa City Band furnished the music on the platform from 1 p.m. until the address by Judge John W. Kinsinger. Dubuque was given at 3 p.m. The old fiddlers' contest which was scheduled for Thursday afternoon was postponed until this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Last night a program was held on the platform on Clinton street, near Old Capitol, with band music, LaRoy the Mystic, a dance by Ruthelaine Smith, a reading by Josephine Walsh, and a tap dance by Catherine Grim and Marion Wood.

Present Medal

The main attractions on today's program will be a military program with Col. Converse R. Lewis and Dr. O. E. Van Doren in charge. This is scheduled to start at 1:30 this afternoon at which time the Distinguished Service cross posthumously will be presented to Mrs. Hulda L. Erien, widow of the late Corp. Ferdinand H. H. Erien, company I, 16th infantry, 42nd division.

At 2:30 Henry Field, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, of Shenandoah will address the corn festival audience from the platform. This is to be followed by a program of piano-accordion music by Mrs. Pearl Bane, and special numbers by Aaron Kipnes, Larry Griswold, Duke Cossman and Clarence Ossen.

Show Pets

The boys and girls of the city will march in a pet parade which is scheduled to start from the American Legion Community building at 4:15. Glen G. Fordyce, local Boy Scout executive, and Ruth Freerich, Girl Scout executive, are in charge of the event. At 6:15 this evening a pep meeting and torch parade by university students and Iowa City residents will be held in the downtown streets. The day's festivities will be brought to a conclusion with a platform program by E. G. "Dad" Schroeder and his "high powered troopers."

The navy, Ingalls, has waged a vigorous campaign on the Republican side against Governor White of Ohio, Democratic candidate for reelection, while in Indiana, Paul V. McNutt, former national commander of the American Legion is the Democratic nominee for governor.

In Michigan, the Republicans got Henry Ford to make a speech for Hoover while President Hoover is to speak at Detroit Saturday night. The Democrats sent in Senator Norris and other campaigners.

In the contest for congress from the midwest states, a new angle has been added by entrance of the American Farm Bureau federation into the campaign. The federation has asked all congressional candidates for their views on Farm bureau proposals for agricultural relief, and has undertaken to inform farmers as to the candidates answers.

Remedies of Hoover Late, Ritchie Says

Governor of Maryland Raps President in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20 (AP)—Replying to President Hoover's speech here last Saturday, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland tonight asserted "Mr. Hoover is confounded by his own statement and his own records."

"He is on the horns of a dilemma," the governor said in his prepared speech. "Either he was unable for considerably more than a year after the depression started to estimate its gravity, or he delayed taking any action long after the time when action should have been taken."

Speaks for Roosevelt

Governor Ritchie, who came here from Chicago in a tour of the midwest in behalf of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, took issue with the president on the Hawley-Smoot tariff and the extent to which the rest of the world may be blamed for America's economic troubles. He delivered speeches at the Moreland theater and Collinwood high school, both on the east side.

"In Cleveland last Saturday," Governor Ritchie said, "Mr. Hoover again stressed his contention that this country is the victim of a world-wide economic collapse resulting largely from the World War which ended almost 14 years ago, and he again repeated his assertion that the collapse first began to affect us in November, 1929."

Asserting "almost every country in Europe has had a hard struggle since the World War," he said: "It would be an amazing thing if all these widely separated forces suddenly and without warning combined in November, 1929, to bring economic chaos to our country, which was so apparently prosperous that Mr. Hoover told the people when he was a candidate in 1928 that, with the help of God and Republican policies, the day was in sight 'when poverty will be banished from this nation.'"

He cited figures by Claude G. Bowers, Democratic keynoter in 1928 saying the unemployed in the United States numbered 11,000,000, in England 3,000,000, Italy, less than 1,000,000, France 300,000 and Germany 5,100,000. Only Germany, he said, has a larger percentage of unemployment than this nation.

DES MOINES (AP)—A second manufacturer charge against Lewis F. Wheelock, Des Moines investment broker, will go on trial Nov. 28. He was acquitted in the first case, which grew out of an auto accident in which three people were killed. He later was convicted of driving while intoxicated.

The new books are: "The Story of San Michele," Axel Munthe; "Old Wine and New," Warwick Deeping; "Tin Pan Alley," Isaac Goldberg; "The Unfinished Symphony," life story of Franz Schubert, by David Ewen; "And Life Goes On," Vicki Baum; "Jean Christophe," Romain Rolland; "State Fair," Phil Stong; "The Mistress of Husaby" and "The Cross," Sigrid Undset.

Brickwork Begins on New Extension to Hydraulics Lab

Brickwork began this week on the new extension to the hydraulics laboratory. The erection of steel will be complete in about a week, according to Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the hydraulics engineering department.

A new steel headgate will be installed in the laboratory soon, to replace the old wooden gate, built in 1919. The old headgate gave way during an experiment yesterday.

Two new projects at the laboratory are a general hydraulic lock, which is now being installed, and a model of the Mississippi river dam at Alma, Wis., which will soon be started. The model of the Bunch lake spillway was torn out this week at the completion of testing.

Name Subject for Argument by Debaters

Taxation reform will be the subject to be argued by the men's teams in the Western Conference Debating league, according to an announcement made yesterday by Prof. J. H. McBurney of the University of Michigan.

Though the question has been favored for some time by most of the universities participating, no official announcement of the wording of the question has previously been made. The report gave the official statement of the question as follows: "Resolved, that at least 50 per cent of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than taxes on tangible property."

No decision has yet been made on the subject of debate for the women's teams. Among the subjects which have been suggested are: immediate payment of the bonus; representation in congress by occupational groups; federal control of water power; state guarantee of bank deposits. Definite announcement will be made in a short time.

Iowa's first debate in the Western conference schedule will be Dec. 9, when speakers from Indiana will appear on the local platform. On the same day an Iowa team will travel to meet Purdue.

Book Circulation in University Libraries Hits Total of 15,057

Circulation of books in all departments of the university library for the month of September was 15,057, it was announced yesterday by Grace Wormer, acting director. An increase was noted in the number of books circulated through the extension division to correspondence students of the university.

During the summer additional sections were built for each of the stacks in the history section of the library. This move was required to relieve congestion in that part of the library.

Professors Choose Officers for Year

Prof. Winfred T. Roof, head of the history department, was elected president, and Prof. Alice Brigham of the home economics department secretary, of the American Association of University Professors at a meeting in the Triangle club rooms of Iowa Union Wednesday evening.

The informal dinner was followed by a business meeting, the election of the officers, and discussion of plans for the year.

Pontoniers Launch Final Pontoon on Iowa River Today

The final pontoon of a fleet being used by the Pontoniers, honorary military engineering organization, will be launched today, to be moored just above the dam along the east side of the river.

Under the leadership of Cadet Captain Marlon Malcolm, E4 of Iowa City, the boat crew has already had one workout at the oars of the other pontoons. Until freshmen have been recruited, the crew is to be instructed in the handling of boats and oars by boat commanders. Later drill as separate units will continue until the river freezes over.

As soon as the individual men become proficient at the oars, they will learn boat and flutilla drill and will demonstrate the various uses of pontoons, both as boats and as units of portable bridges.

Girl Scout Leaders Elect Officers; Plan Y.W.C.A. Breakfast

Potshots by EUGENE THORNE

It will be the team that executes their plays the better, and not the team with the better system that wins the Iowa-Minnesota game tomorrow...

According to the dope in comparison of last season's records, and the supposed quality of the two squads, the Gophers rate the edge. Thus far, the Minnesota aggregation has failed to click as per expectations...

The game that really has the fans puzzled is this Stanford-U.S.C. game out on the west coast tomorrow. Howard Jones and his Southern California Trojans have ruled the roost at the Pacific's edge for years...

Little Hawks Play Waterloo

Injuries, Inexperience, Lack of Weight Slows Team

Coach George Wells will turn his Little Hawk football team loose against the strong West Waterloo eleven tonight in the fourth conference game of the season. Lack of weight and experience have made the going pretty tough for the locals in their league games...

Waterloo Strong Most of these men have returned to the squad but others are missing now. Brown, Ward, and Ballard have not been reporting this week. Willard who has been treating a bad cold this week will probably start tonight...

Frosh-Senior Track Team Wins; Cretzmeyer Stars

Continued superiority of freshman trackmen was evidenced yesterday in the fall inter-class track meet on the west side track as paired with senior thinclads they added 42 points to their Wednesday's effort of 54 markers...

Freshmen also were responsible for some of the best marks of the day. A. B. Davis, winner of the shot, yesterday won the discus with a heave of 135 feet 5 inches...

A similar meet to this will be held next Wednesday and Thursday. The summary of yesterday's marks follow: 110 yard low hurdles—Won by F. Cretzmeyer (F), M. Jackson (J) second, Loren Heller (J) third, Time 12:04.

Iowa Varsity Takes Holiday; Bierman Hands Gophers Stiff Drill

Solem Uses Varsity Only Short Time

No Changes in Lineup as Homecoming Game Nears

Granting his first string a "half holiday," Coach Ossie Solem put on the finishing touches to the Iowa offense and defense yesterday afternoon for the Homecoming game with the Minnesota Gophers.

Although the rest of the squad continued to drill as usual, the Iowa mentor dismissed the regulars after a short session of defense against a freshman eleven equipped with Minnesota plays, and an equally short signal practice.

The first string lineup remained unchanged from that used earlier in the week, although Solem did some alternating in the line. Ray Fisher and John Miller took turns working left end, and Wilmon Hass and Ed Dolly alternated at left guard.

Leo Samuelson, regular right tackle was still on the sidelines with an ankle injury, but is expected to be ready for action by 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Two Backfields The backfield was again composed of George Teyro, a shifty sophomore at quarterback, Joe Laws and Herman "Scarface" Schneidman at halfbacks, and Bernard Page, 156-pounder, at fullback.

A second backfield composed of Dutch Schmidt and Lawrence Parsons, halfbacks, Marvin Kuhn, fullback, and Howard Moffitt also claimed the attention of Coach Solem, and it is possible that he will use the two units interchangeably.

Rest Today The squad will report at the stadium this afternoon for a short signal drill and a little work on kick-off formations.

After practice today, the men will remain together as much as possible, going into seclusion until just before game time tomorrow.

Coach Wells hopes to grab off a victory for City high tonight. The heavy Clinton eleven had little trouble opening large holes in the Little Hawk line last Friday. After a week of strenuous practice on blocking and tackling the locals look much better.

Uncertain Lineup For a starting lineup Coach Wells will probably call on Huffman and Willard for the end positions. Kirkpatrick may start for Willard. There are several candidates working for the tackle positions.

Coach Wells must find new guards since Ballard hasn't been reporting this week and Mutchler, who started against Clinton last week, will be shifted to the backfield. Bob Barger will probably be on one side of the line and possibly Kirtledge on the other side.

Light, Fast Backs For a backfield the Little Hawk coach will have Marshall, Soucek, Ayers and Mutchler. The local backfield is very light but fast and heady.

The Iowa City high reserves will meet the Waterloo seconds at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Undeclared Blue and White Gridders Play at Monticello

THEY WILL MEET IN PACIFIC COAST CLASSIC

COACH POP WARNER and JACK HILLMAN, STANFORD. COACH HOWARD JONES, U.S.C. ORV MOHLER, CAPT. U. OF S. C.

Above are some of the stars who will clash in Saturday's big game on the Pacific coast—the annual meeting of Southern California and Stanford. The ancient rivals, both unbeaten thus far, will meet at Palo Alto and the Trojans have high hopes of repeating their last year 19-0 victory over "Pop" Warner's Stanford Indians.

Hawkeye Golfers Meet Cyclones in Dual Affair Today

In an off-season dual match, University of Iowa golfers will clash with an Iowa State college foursome at Finkbine field today, play beginning this morning at 8:30.

Coach Charles Kennett's team is made up of the men who were outstanding in the varsity-frosh meet last week. The men named by the Hawkeye mentor for the competition are: Ralph Harman, Roy Vanderweick, Charles Van Epps, and Joe Schlanger.

Indiana Ties Minnesota in Frosh Loop

In the only Freshman league football contest scheduled for yesterday, Indiana and Minnesota fought a scoreless tie. Both teams played hard football, depending on an aerial attack to gain yardage.

Minnesota had the edge on its heavier opponent, completing numerous passes, but faltered before the last white stripe. Late in the fourth quarter Seydel Ersland intercepted an Indiana pass on his own 45 yard line, running back to the Indiana 35 yard line.

Neither has lost in conference play thus far. The Trojans won from Washington State 20-0, and from Oregon State, 10-0. Stanford defeated Oregon State 27-0. While victory will place either team in an enviable position in the dash toward the title, each has a tough schedule to complete.

Title Game—Coast Classic

Warner, Jones Battle Vocally as Trojans, Indians Prepare

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 20 (AP)—While the two rival coaches did a bit long distance verbal sparring, Southern California's Trojans and Stanford's Indians went through final tune ups today preparatory to the football classic here Saturday that may determine the Pacific coast conference championship in the middle of the season.

Before leading his Trojan regulars aboard a northbound train, Howard Jones told interviewers he had heard Stanford's backfield had been violating the "in motion" rule and he may have officials hold a stop watch on the ball carriers.

May Use Watches From his Stanford stronghold, Coach Glenn Warner replied he was agreeable to the stop watch plan to apply to "both teams" and he especially wanted the officials to "see that U.S.C. has even men on the line of scrimmage when the ball is put into play."

Both Undeclared Neither has lost in conference play thus far. The Trojans won from Washington State 20-0, and from Oregon State, 10-0. Stanford defeated Oregon State 27-0.

Annual Golf Meet for Iowa Alumni, Students Planned

University of Iowa alumni, students and faculty members who are followers of the great Scottish pastime, will engage in the annual 18 hole golf tournament tomorrow morning at Finkbine field.

Charles Kennett, golf coach, announces that three prizes are to be awarded during the morning's competition in such a manner that not necessarily winners will receive them. The meet is to get underway at 9 o'clock.

Minnesotans Favored for Harrier Meet

Iowa's football team will not be the only underdog to Minnesota tomorrow, for the Hawkeye cross-country team will meet a veteran Gopher outfit at 10:30 in the morning.

With five returning lettermen and a decisive win over South Dakota to its credit, the invaders rank a heavy favorite.

The Old Gold team has improved with the week of practice since its loss to Cornell last week and should make a better showing. The addition of the extra mile will also help them as the shorter two mile distance is seldom used by university teams.

University Hi Seeks Win in Loop Opener

Favored to Beat Foe, Lost to Monticello Last Year

By HARRY BURRELL University high's undefeated football team will open its drive for the Little Seven title today when they travel to Monticello to meet one of the two teams that beat them last year. It will be the first game away from home this year.

Last year the Blue team met the Monticello gridders under practically the same circumstances, the only difference being the site of the game. After playing on even terms during most of the game Monticello connected on a long pass that took them to the U. high three yard line where they smashed it over in three attempts.

Polish Offense Determined that his offense shall not bog down as it did a year ago, Coach Joy Kistler has sent his men through several tough scrimmage sessions this week. He eased up last night and polished up on high powered scoring plays.

Although the host team will present a more experienced front, the fast-developing Blue team ranks as a favorite to continue in the undefeated class.

Speed and Power The lack of power to aid their deceptive style of offense cost a victory on more than one occasion last year but that weakness has been remedied with the conversion of Larry Fuhrmeister into a fullback. The "Big Horse" was a tackle last year but has been starring at his new post all season.

Line Stronger Passes may play a large part in the U. high offense with Bob Myers on the receiving end of most of them. The easy Blue and White quarter is the best pass snatcher on the squad and can grab anything that comes close.

A green line that is no longer green will receive its hardest test of the season when it tries to stop Bugil, veteran halfback, and Clark, who is a third year quarterback. The middle of the line, Lehman, Rarick, Robinson, Justice, and M. Schnoebelen, all had some experience last year and have shown improvement with each game.

Test for Ends With a freshman, Jim Barron, and a made over guard, Martin Warren, holding down the ends it is expected that the offense of the enemy will be directed at them.

Coach Says Starters Are Not Certain

Minnesota Team Fails to Impress Bernie in Workouts

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 20—Monday's driving workout at Minnesota was followed by hard drills Tuesday and Wednesday as Bernie Bierman, far from satisfied with the Gophers, gave them the stiffest practice sessions they have had this year.

The rapidity with which replacements were made during the first three drills of the week gave proof to Bierman's promise to the squad that all positions were wide open and that each player must prove his right to his position or remain on the sidelines.

Ends, Fullbacks Alternate Three sophomores are staging a merry battle at left end with big Frank "Butch" Larson apparently holding the edge over his two classmates, Bob Tomner and Al Papas. Following Thursday's scrimmage the Gophers left immediately for Cedar Rapids, Ia., where they will remain until Saturday noon just before game time. Friday they will work out at Coe college field. Thirty-three players will make the trip, accompanied by Coaches Bierman, Bert Baston and George Hausler.

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Patricia Braithwait adored her father so much that she was willing to sacrifice love and happiness to insure his future independence by marrying middle-aged Harvey Blaine for his wealth. It was Aunt Pamela who suggested that Pat marry Blaine, warning that "the glamour of love wears off". Pamela spoke from experience; her own marriage to handsome Jimmie Warren, a young lawyer, was becoming dull. Jimmie, furious at Pat's engagement, awakens to the realization that he, himself, cares for her. Pat, with youth's optimism, hopes in vain that the young camper whom she only knows as "Jack", and saw only once, will rescue her from Blaine. Jimmie finds her in the garden, sobbing. He takes her in his arms and, in despair and hungry for love, she permits him to kiss her. Next day Pat breaks her engagement. Pamela is suspicious and, immediately following Pat's broken engagement, Jimmie offers to loan Pat money to study art. Pat's father declines Jimmie's offer, saying his insurance was adequate for her needs. He plans to take Pat to Paris. One minute Patricia feels she cannot leave Jimmie, and, the next, she loathes him for the kiss experience of the previous night. Then Jack arrives. Pat thinks—if he had only come yesterday, for today, he is too late and it is Jimmie she wants. Jack explains he stayed away because her "good-bye" seemed so final. He tells her his name is Jack Laurence.

"I was half mad," she said, "or I'd have known that things didn't happen like that in real life."

As brown as a native, Patricia cried out in demand for another? What malicious spell had drugged her senses into a false peace? Last night when she might have been saved from the torment of awakening, this man had stayed away. Now, too late, he had come.

"That if a young man, or an old one should one day go about inquiring for a young lady named Pat—just Pat—Mostly Pat—he might find himself locked up by a vigilant police officer to protect people from the insane."

"You are irrefragable!" she laughed. "In books people who have had troubles make it a business and a duty to gloom about them all the time."

"And in life they make it a business and a duty to forget them as much of the time as possible. But don't try to turn me aside. I insist—your police identification, I'll vouch for it."

"I think I'll move over," he chuckled. "I feel the call of civilization."

He was looking down into her face and she saw again that strange hunger. . . . The sharp sweetness of that moment in his tent flooded her memory. "It must be after one o'clock," she said hastily.

"What difference does that make, really? Don't you know I love you, Pat? I want you to be my wife."

"Exactly." "And they couldn't find you in all that time?"

"They didn't. I served almost two years on a rock quarry chained to one of the men who'd taken me."

Taken at first for ransom, his captors had been unable to claim the offered reward. In hiding from their own government they had to be wary of revealing themselves. They planned to get across the border, made several attempts, but always had to get back to cover.

Then in the general upheaval in Mexico they had been thrown into prison and he had gone with them as a matter of course. He had tried to bribe his new captors, but they were too busy with their own affairs to pay any attention to the ravings of a ragged tramp who was

IN TRAGEDY OF ETERNAL TRIANGLE

Here are the husband and children of Mrs. Jean Phillips of Woodmere, L. I., whose love for the man she married drove her to kill herself and her children so that her husband would be free to go to the woman she believed had won his affections. At left is Guy Phillips, the husband, an English actor and dramatic coach; center is Christopher and at right Norma Phillips. After a conference at the Phillips' home, in which the husband, wife and the "other woman," Mrs. Theresa Seltzer, discussed their problem, but without reaching a satisfactory solution, Mrs. Phillips turned on the gas and killed herself and her two children.

Autos Confiscated
DES MOINES (AP)—The prohibition department announced that federal agents had confiscated 27 automobiles in the southern district of Iowa and 15 in the northern district during September. Twelve stills and 1,075 gallons of liquor were seized in the northwest district and 3 stills and 1,558 gallons of liquor in the southern.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

She sat up sharply. "Jack Laurence! No wonder he had seemed so amazingly familiar. Oh, indeed! How could she have forgotten!"

"When did you get back?" she asked. "I'm surprised I hadn't read about it."

"There's never so much fuss over the solution of a mystery," he grinned. "But anyway, I'm not officially back. My father knows. I asked him not to give it to the papers. I sort of had a feeling that I must have a little while to get myself together before I had reporters descending upon me. You see, Dad's rather prominent, and he made such a staggering stir when I disappeared."

She laughed softly. In a flash had come back all those pictures of three years ago. In papers. On the screen. College pictures, most of them. A famous quarterback in action. All the yards of film resurrected to help in the world-wide search for him. He had started for Mexico to look after some oil lands belonging to his father. And had dropped off the earth. All trace of him had been lost in El Paso.

"But where on earth were you?" "The most obvious place you can imagine. Guess."

"Were you in America all the time?" "All the time."

"Well, if you'd been in a hospital you'd been located—or in a prison—unless a Mexican prison."

"Exactly." "And they couldn't find you in all that time?"

"They didn't. I served almost two years on a rock quarry chained to one of the men who'd taken me."

Taken at first for ransom, his captors had been unable to claim the offered reward. In hiding from their own government they had to be wary of revealing themselves. They planned to get across the border, made several attempts, but always had to get back to cover.

Then in the general upheaval in Mexico they had been thrown into prison and he had gone with them as a matter of course. He had tried to bribe his new captors, but they were too busy with their own affairs to pay any attention to the ravings of a ragged tramp who was

Union. Homecomers dance is scheduled for tomorrow evening as the last event, but some of the visitors may remain over Sunday to hear Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church, Washington, D.C., vespers speaker.

Distinguished visitors, many of them alumni, will be present, according to the official list released yesterday. Among them are supreme court justices, state government officials, United States representatives, and at least one federal government dignitary.

George H. Carter, a graduate of 1898 who now is public printer for the United States government, will come from Washington, D.C., and so will Mr. MacLean, who was president of the university for 11 years.

Some of the other well-known guests will be three U.S. representatives, Cyrenus Cole of Cedar Rapids, Lloyd Thurston of Osceola, and B. M. Jacobson of Clinton; John Fletcher, attorney general of Iowa; G. C. Greenwalt, secretary of state; Arch W. McFarlane, lieutenant-governor; R. E. Johnson, treasurer of state; M. G. Thornburg, secretary of agriculture, and three supreme court justices, Henry F. Wagner of Big Horn, Trainor S. Stevens of Hamburg, and W. L. Bliss, Mason City.

Only two troops, two and five, entered the first aid event, which consisted of artificial respiration, and demonstrating various bandages. None of the troops entered in the string burning contest qualified within the five minutes time allotted them.

Man Pleads Guilty to Attacking Iowan
MILES CITY, Mont., Oct. 20 (AP)—Ehmer Webb, transient, pleaded guilty today to attacking Vernon Younglove of Cushing, Ia., while the two were riding in a freight car Oct. 3. He was sentenced to a year in prison.

Younglove said Webb robbed him of a small amount of money, then tied his arms and feet and taped his mouth. Railroad men found Younglove in the freight car,

Local and county government on the whole is good in Iowa and there is no special need for wide or sweeping reforms in this field of government, declared Prof. Kirk H. Porter of the political science department in a speech before the League of Women Voters in Des Moines yesterday.

He stated that there was a real need for professionally trained men and women in the county government field, especially in the office of poor relief director. Better cooperation with the state government would also aid in correcting many of the faults of the county and city governments, Professor Porter believes.

Classical Club Elects Officers for Year
Helen L. Everall, A3 of Monona, was named president of the Classical club for the coming year at a meeting yesterday afternoon in Helderberg building. Dorcas F. Howard, G of Des Moines, was elected vice president, and Norma A. Miller, A3 of Iowawee, Ill., was appointed secretary.

Oscar E. Nybakken, instructor in classical languages, told the club of his experiences while attending the summer school of the American academy of Rome, Italy, last summer.

Three Streamers Awarded to Best Boy Scout Troops
Troops eight and 14 of the Johnson county Boy Scout organization were each awarded three streamers in the rally held Thursday afternoon in the roped off section on Clinton street. Dan Dutcher was in charge of the events.

Troop eight was awarded streamers for placing first in the obstacle race, the O'Grady drill, and the egg tossing contest. Troop 14 took first place in the tent pitching and knot tying events, and in the undressing relay.

Only two troops, two and five, entered the first aid event, which consisted of artificial respiration, and demonstrating various bandages. None of the troops entered in the string burning contest qualified within the five minutes time allotted them.

Colonel Lewis Will Award Service Cross to Widow of F.H.H. Prien at Ceremonies

Citation From President Hoover Authorizes Honor to Corporal for Extraordinary Heroism in France in 1918

For the bravery of her husband 14 years ago at the battle of St. Mihiel, Hulda Prien, graduate student of the university and widow of Corporal F. H. H. Prien, will receive today from the hands of Colonel Converse R. Lewis on behalf of the United States government a posthumous Distinguished Service Cross.

High officials of the university and of Iowa City will gather at 2 o'clock on the outdoor platform east of Old Capitol for the ceremony.

The entire program will be conducted by the Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion, under the direction of Commander J. E. Gatens. Officers of the Legion who will assist the commander in the ceremony are: W. H. Bender, vice commander; Capt. R. V. Rickard, adjutant; E. D. Crawford, chaplain; D. M. Sample, finance officer; and Frank J. Mezik, historian.

Guests on Platform
In addition to city and university officials, the following guests will be seated on the platform: all Gold Star mothers, all Civil war veterans, the commander and adjutant of the president and secretary of all military veteran organizations and auxiliaries, all patriotic civil and service groups, Boy Scout and Girl Scout groups, and ranking officers of the national guard, organized reserve, and regular army.

Five hundred chairs have been arranged in front of the platform for persons who are members of these groups. A special group of chairs has been arranged for members of the Roy L. Chopek post of the American Legion and the auxiliary of the post.

Special request was made yesterday for as many members of the various military organizations as possible to appear at the ceremony in full uniform.

Colonel Lewis urged that citizens of Iowa City turn out to pay respect to Corporal Prien. A representative crowd is expected.

Citation From President
The wording of the citation from President Hoover authorizing the cross on Aug. 15, is as follows: "For extraordinary heroism in action near Evancy, France, Sept. 12, 1918. While advancing with his platoon, Corporal Prien located a well defended enemy machine gun nest manned by 14 men. With utter disregard for his own safety, he fearlessly advanced through heavy machine gun fire and singlehandedly attacked the machine gun nest, killing or capturing the entire crew."

Corporal Prien was born at Mineola, after serving in France, he returned to the United States April 15, 1919, suffering from poison gas.

He married Hulda Glammeyer in Omaha, Jan. 29, 1920 and died of tuberculosis contracted as the result of his gas wounds, July 31, 1920.

The entire program follows:
1—Bugle call, "Attention," followed immediately by advancement of the post colors from the rear of the platform.

2—Dr. H. C. Parsons will lead, accompanied by the band under Dr. O. E. Van Doren, in singing the first stanza of "America."

3—Chaplain E. D. Crawford will read a prayer.

4—Post Commander J. E. Gatens will read the preamble to the constitution of the American Legion.

5—Dr. H. C. Parsons will recite "Flanders Fields."

6—Presentation of the Distinguished Service Cross to Mrs. Prien.

7—The university band will play the national air under the direction of Dr. O. E. Van Doren.

Chinese Bandits Deliver Captives to Authorities

NEWCHWANG, Manchuria, Oct. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Kenneth Pawley and Charles Corkran, English subjects who were kidnaped 44 days ago by Chinese bandits, arrived in Newchwang today under an escort of Manchukuo and Japanese soldiers. The bandits handed them over to the Japanese authorities at Panshan, 40 miles north of here. The terrible hardships had left their mark on Mrs. Pawley, who was taken to the hospital operated here by her father, Dr. Phillips, a missionary.

Stocks Show Drop Despite Rally Attempt

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—A rally in rail shares was sidetracked in today's stock market while industrials and utilities refused transportation to higher levels, and the list averaged about a point lower at the close.

Carrier issues obviously offered the most attractive medium for an advance, since current freight movements are running against seasonal trends, but their gains of one to two points or so largely disappeared. Volume amounted to only 1,055,260 shares.

Regain Heaviness
Tobacco stocks regained the heaviness that has characterized that group this week; presumably their action had an adverse effect on industrials generally. American Tobacco "B", under quiet pressure, lost more than 3 net. Liggett & Myers "B" dropped 2 1/2.

Reports that several railroad presidents had conferred with the ranking executive officers of U. S. Steel relative to possible purchases of track and other materials by the lines were followed by the announcement that at least one large rail maker had cut its price to $40 a ton from $43. It was assumed this action represented a move to stimulate business. Absence of railroad buying has been severely felt by steel manufacturers.

Shifty Market Closes With Approximate Point Loss

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—A gain of nearly $10,000,000 last month in the total of commercial paper outstanding received favorable comment.

The weekly banking figures were rather impressively favorable. Member banks of the federal reserve system again were able to pare down their discounts, this time cutting such obligations by $14,000,000. Currency circulation dropped $30,000,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP)—Spiking of rumors that Henry Ford was to finance the shipment of a large amount of wheat to China sent grain values spinning downward today.

Wheat equalled the season bottom price record, and corn fell to quotations the lowest since 1897. Rallies failed to hold well in the face of large Argentine reports of rains where needed.

With the market changeable, wheat closed 1-4 to 3/4 down, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline. Sharpest setbacks in wheat prices

Yielded one to two points net. In this group fell U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, General Motors, Du Pont, Harvester, Nash, Montgomery Ward and Case. Santa Fe and Union Pacific railroads, up about two at one time, had to be content with fractional improvement on the day.

There were also minor advances for New York Central, Pennsylvania and Chesapeake & Ohio. Inactive Norfolk & Western was up 2, crossing par.
