BELGIUM JOINS MORATORIUM PLEA

State Frees Libby Holman of Murder Indictment

Work? Yes! Food? No!

Russia's 5 Year Plan Successful as People Face Privation.

(Copyright 1932, By The Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Nov. 15 — On the eve of the conclusion of the five year plan—which is being ended in four years—Soviet Russia is struggling with the old and difficult problem of food for its people.

The food situation is bound to be one of the chief problems of the second five year plan, now in the process of drafting. Russians are subsisting on most stringent rations. There is a serious shortage of such commodities as meat, sugar and butter, and in the second plan, by all indications, greater emphasis than ever will be placed on the improvement of general living standards.

Although the state of the country's food supply is admittedly bad—some Russians say it is worse than in 1925, when the five year plan started—no facts are available here to bear out dire predictions heard abroad of widespread suffering this winter. On the contrary, the 1932 harvest is expected to ease present harsh conditions to some extent.

It is too early at this time to compare the actual accomplishments of the first five year plan with its ambitions. But officials contend that, in general, the goal of laying a base for an industrialized country and of establishing the foundation for means of production has been attained.

Fall to Achieve Gains
The country failed last year to achieve planned increases in industrial production, and official figures for the first eight months of 1932 indicate it will fall again this year but 1932 will record appreciable increases over the previous year, in obedience to all precedents.

The total of industrial production already has exceeded 1931 by 14 per cent—although this is less than half the 36 per cent contemplated. Every industry except food, which showed little gain, records extensive increases, notwithstanding the shortcomings of transportation, which still is far behind the needs of the country, and the enormous labor turnover caused by scant food and other unfavorable living conditions in some localities.

Squelch Up
The government's policy of temporarily subordinating the needs of the people to its industrialization drive recently caused another flare-up of the opposition within the Communist party on the part of a handful of minor members who felt the pace was too swift and wanted to return to individual farming and to open industries to foreign capital. They were quickly squelched by expulsion from the party. The once powerful Zinoviev and Kamenev have followed Leon Trotsky into political oblivion, if not into exile.

BULLETIN Former University Law Student Killed in Automobile Crash

Heinrich Elcher, 27, former University of Iowa law student, was killed and two Iowa City women were injured last night when the car they were driving collided with a truck 12 miles east of Oskaloosa, according to an Associated Press report.

Elcher was the son of the late Henry Elcher of Washington, Ia., who served before his death as Democratic member of the Iowa board of education, and the nephew of Edward C. Elcher, newly elected Democratic congressman from the first Iowa district.

Mrs. Virginia Warfel and Mrs. Frank B. Selbach, 232 S. Summit street, suffered cuts and bruises in the accident. Mrs. Warfel, although she was reported as being a resident of Iowa City, could not be identified in the local directories. Mrs. Selbach was said to have left here for Washington Monday morning, planning to return yesterday afternoon.

Elcher, who has attended the university here at various intervals since 1924, was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and was at one time a pledge of Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity.

Pioneer Dies
IDA GROVE (AP) — H. A. Moore, head, who surveyed the site for Ida Grove and built the first house here in 1877, died from heart disease. A son and daughter survive.

Depression Not to Keep Santa From City, Board Rules

No tears will be in evidence at Christmas time because Santa Claus failed to appear. Unhappiness for poor children was ruled out at a meeting of the board of the Social Service league Monday night at the city hall.

A repetition of the "Toy Shop" will be used this year. Everyone with used or slightly used toys will be asked to take them to the Social Service league. A room in the city hall will be arranged to resemble a toy shop, and mothers of the more unfortunate children may come there to choose whichever toys their children need.

Roosevelt Still Withholds Date of Debt Parley

Holds First Conference
With Newspapermen
Since Thursday

EXECUTIVE MANSION, ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—Still in bed at the executive mansion, Franklin D. Roosevelt late today held his first press conference since last Thursday, telling newspapermen he had been suffering from "a slight attack of the flu."

The president-elect was in good spirits and appeared to have nearly recovered from the illness with which he has been confined to the executive mansion for five days.

Sitting propped up in bed clad in pajamas, a white sweater and an old purple dressing gown, Mr. Roosevelt greeted the correspondents with a grin.

"I have had a slight attack of the flu," he related, "and I ached all over, even to the top of my head but I feel all right now, although a little weak."

He refused to discuss national affairs or his forthcoming conference with President Hoover. He said "no further consideration" had been given the conference, and would not be given until he was ready to leave for Warm Springs. His tentative schedule calls for departure early next week, possibly with a visit to a party at Democratic national headquarters in New York Monday and arrival in Washington Tuesday.

There were flowers from his friends in the room, and the bed was littered with telegrams and papers. With the governor were a secret service man and M. Baldwin Fertig, his counsel.

The governor said he believed he contracted his illness on the day about a week before election when he campaigned by automobile from Boston to Albany, traveling all day through a pouring rainstorm.

Brookhart Will Go to Washington Soon

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP)—In a few days Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa plans to return to his congressional duties in Washington although he has not yet fully recovered from a bad cold bordering on pneumonia.

Other officers named are John C. Dinsmore, superintendent of the University of Chicago clinics, secretary, and Dr. H. A. Haynes, director of the University of Michigan hospitals, treasurer.

Case Against Singer Weak, Lawyer Says

Libby, Albert Walker
Exonerated of Blame

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—The state of North Carolina today wiped out the murder charge it had placed against Libby Holman Reynolds and young Albert Walker shortly after the fatal shooting last July of Smith Reynolds, millionaire husband of the former and chum of Walker.

Solicitor Carlisle Higgins not-prosecuted the case, with a brief announcement that a thorough study of the evidence against the erstwhile idol of Broadway and the 19 year old Winston Salem youth convinced him the state would not be justified in pressing the charges. The announcement came as a brief and unostentatious interlude during a petty larceny trial.

Evidence Lacking
"In my opinion," he said, "a trial upon the evidence we have would produce one result only—a verdict of acquittal."

The case was officially ended at 12:20 p.m. when Judge A. J. Stack, presiding in superior court, directed the clerk to enter the order of nol pros, discharge the defendants, and release their $25,000 bonds.

Pair Exonerated
Defense attorneys said the action of the solicitor was acceptable to them. They interpreted it as the most complete exoneration possible under the laws of North Carolina, saying it restored their clients to the status existing before the murder charges were voted by a grand jury August 4.

The final act in the real-life drama that aroused the interest of millions was prosaic.

Neither Libby Holman Reynolds, the torch singer whose husky-throated singing of blues songs had captivated thousands, nor young Walker was in the courtroom. Their attorneys were present however.

Organize University Hospital Executives Club at Conference

Organization of the University Hospital Executives club was announced yesterday by Robert E. Neff, University of Iowa hospital administrator, as the outcome of a conference of university hospital superintendents held in Iowa City last week end.

Membership of the club is to include superintendents of hospitals governed by university boards throughout the United States. The purpose of the organization is to conduct studies and research projects designed to promote efficiency in hospital administration. Next meeting of the group will be held at the University of Chicago in 1933.

Mr. Neff was elected president of the group for the first year, with Dr. R. C. Buerki, superintendent of University of Wisconsin hospitals, vice president.

Other officers named are John C. Dinsmore, superintendent of the University of Chicago clinics, secretary, and Dr. H. A. Haynes, director of the University of Michigan hospitals, treasurer.

Baker Gets Large Johnson County Vote, Results Show

Norman Baker of Muscatine, whose radio station was closed by the Federal Radio commission and whose cancer clinic was closed by court order, received more votes in Johnson county than any other candidate, except Smith W. Brookhart, outside the Democratic and Republican ranks.

Mr. Baker ran for governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket and received 236 votes, while Jacob S. Coxey, running on the same ticket for president, received only 19 votes. Johnson county Communists turned out in full force and cast two votes for their presidential candidate, William Z. Foster.

NEWMAN AWARD TO KELLOGG

Hear Liquor Case Denials

No Association With Capone, Dennison
Maintains

OMAHA, Nov. 15 (AP)—Testifying in his own defense Tom Dennison, 73 year old political leader, today denied from the witness stand in federal court that he had been "royally entertained" in Chicago by Al Capone or that he had returned here with plans to model an Omaha liquor syndicate after Capone's organization.

Dennison, chief among 52 remaining defendants in a liquor conspiracy trial now in its sixth week, smiled broadly as a defense attorney read excerpts from prosecution testimony to the effect that Dennison conferred with Capone two years ago.

"I never met Capone," he testified. "He was in jail at that time." Dennison, a power in politics here for 40 years, denied item by item, the statements of former Police Sergeant Tom Crawford, a government witness who at one point in his testimony said that Dennison once offered him $1,000 to follow Harry Lapidus, Omaha reform leader, to Chicago and kill him there. Lapidus was shot to death here last December.

Robber Sentenced to State Penitentiary on Larceny Charge

Elmer G. Brenneman was sentenced for an indeterminate period not to exceed five years at hard labor in the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison when he appeared before District Judge R. G. Popham yesterday.

Brenneman's trial on a charge of larceny in the night time from a store was to have begun at 9 a.m. However, he changed his plea to one of guilty to a charge of larceny in the day time from a store and appeared for sentence.

The change of pleas was made through his attorney, C. B. Russell. Brenneman was accused of robbing the Piggly Wiggly store at Dubuque street and Iowa avenue.

Seeks Escape From Bad Liquor in Jail

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 15 (AP)—If and when legal beer returns, Joseph West will be waiting for it—but not in a jail cell.

West sought the sanctuary of the local jail to escape speakeasy liquor, he told police. He's stay there until the prohibition law was changed, he declared.

Farmers Plan Campaign for Better Prices

Will Seek Refinancing of Loans at Lower Interest Rates

OMAHA, Nov. 15 (AP)—Refinancing of farm mortgage loans at radically reduced rates of interest will be fought for at the coming session of congress by representatives of farm states, delegates to the annual convention of the National Farmers union were told late today by Senator Lynn J. Frazier, Republican, North Dakota.

At an evening session, Senator Emer Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, outlined his plan for government regulation of farm marketing and urged that "the several farm organizations enlist and cooperate under a unified command."

28 States Represented
Throughout the long session of the 300 delegates from 28 states ran sentiment favoring stringent measures to obtain cost of production for the farmer. This sentiment was expected by many to solidify tomorrow through endorsement of the farm strike activities of the Farmers National Holiday association.

Frazier stated that growing sentiment in favor of his senate bill to refinance the farmer as an emergency measure indicates prospects for early favorable action are good.

Senator Frazier commended the resolution adopted yesterday by the Farmers Union National directors against cancellation of war debts owed to the United States.

"Farm Population in Revolt"
Senator Thomas told the convention "the farm population all over America is in revolt and the revolution has just begun. One party has been condemned and another is to be given a trial. Should the second party fail, then the same fate awaits that party soon to assume responsibility for the economic and financial policies of the nation."

The Oklahoman promised that, with the opening of the short sessions of congress, he "will ask that steps be taken to ascertain the cost of manufacture and distribution of necessary farm implements and machinery."

"If the item of costs can be secured," he added, "it is possible that publicity may operate to secure relief against the unconscionable prices now being charged the farmers for the implements necessary for their work."

Thomas declared that no other industry "can thrive or even live under economic and financial policies now applicable to agriculture."

John A. Simpson of Oklahoma City, national president, had previously expressed the need for early enactment of the Frazier bill and the Swank-Thomas bill for regulation of marketing along lines similar to the interstate commerce law.

Injured in Fight
DES MOINES (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Terpsira were in a hospital suffering wounds that police said were inflicted by the woman during a breakfast table quarrel.

Brief Named as Essential
As suggestions for the students in bettering their work, he named a thorough brief of the case as essential, and just as important, a brief of the facts of the case. He added that the lawyer must be well prepared in order that although he may be diverted, he will not lose track of the fundamental facts.

In commenting on the actual presentations, Judge Herrick regarded the four participants' work as well done. He laid emphasis on the fact that perhaps the actual briefs themselves were better than the oral presentation, a happening he had found to be often true in his own hearings at Des Moines.

Charge Bonus Leader With Extortion Plot

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15 (AP)—Simon E. Sobeloff, United States district attorney, tonight said Wayland R. Kerns, former judge advocate general of the bonus expeditionary force in Washington, was arrested by federal authorities in Richmond today on a warrant charging attempt to extort $10 from Mrs. Maude Edgell of Catonsville, Md., and sending a threatening and obscene letter through the mails.

Storm Blast Grips South

Local Mercury Sticks at 20 Degree Mark
During Day

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15 (AP)—Freezing temperatures were thrust southward toward the Gulf of Mexico tonight by a winter storm which swept in from the Canadian Rockies, bringing sub-zero temperatures in north-central states and scattering snow in Missouri and the south-west.

Snows and freezing weather, general over Missouri and eastern and central Kansas today, had extended into parts of Oklahoma by night fall.

Iowa City mercury simply got stuck at the 20 mark yesterday and refused to budge, except for a hardly noticeable two degree rise in the afternoon.

It dropped to the 20 degree mark late Monday night, stayed there until yesterday afternoon, and tumbled back again at 7 p.m. All indications last night pointed to a drop of a few more degrees before morning.

Temperatures plunged 40 and 50 degrees in the course of 24 hours in Oklahoma, and freezing weather was forecast for the north portion of Louisiana and Arkansas, with snow probable in northern Arkansas. The weather bureau expected the snow to extend into Tennessee and parts of Kentucky.

Centers in North Dakota
The extreme cold centered in North Dakota, eastern Montana and northwestern Minnesota where temperatures ranged from 2 to 17 degrees below zero.

Thief River Falls, Minn., reported 17 below, and Duluth had its coldest November day in 61 years with four below. Havre, Mont., reported 10 below, and it was 12 below at Minot, N. D.

The snow was falling rapidly and thickly over a veneer of ice here today, and innumerable traffic jams, scores of collisions and minor personal injuries resulted. The dry, fine wind driven snow began at 5 a.m. and continued until late afternoon.

Gets Sentence
SIOUX CITY (AP)—Floyd Neal, 32, was sentenced to 40 years in the state prison for the slaying of Willard Callcott, seed company watchman, in an attempted holdup July 26.

Riggs, Mabie Select Cast for "The Cherokee Night"

Name 40 Persons to Appear in Play
Dec. 7, 8, 9

Characters for the world's premiere of "The Cherokee Night" were announced yesterday by Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of speech and dramatic arts, and Lynn Riggs, author of the play which is to be produced in University theater Dec. 7, 8, and 9.

The selections were made as the result of casting which has been carried on for the last three weeks under the joint direction of Professor Mabie, who is to direct the play, and Mr. Riggs, who arrived in Iowa City Oct. 23 to supervise preparations for the production.

Second Produced
Another of Mr. Riggs' plays, "Green Grow the Lilacs," was presented as the opening production of University theater's 1931-32 season. It also was produced on Broadway by the Theater Guild.

The play chosen for next month is a story of descendants of the Cherokee Indians, those persons who have been almost entirely assimilated with the white race so that their amount of Indian blood is anywhere from one-thirty-second to one-half.

One Election-One Vote-One Victory

One vote won Herman Altorf for the position of constable to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John Matthews. Altorf got 53 votes and John Snupe got 52. It was announced yesterday by the county board of supervisors who made a canvass of the election books.

Altorf will begin his duties at once and will be replaced January 1 by Snupe.

Adds Request as U.S. Plans New Schedule

Brings Total Unpayable by December 15 to 10 Million

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—While European capitals waited anxiously today for America's answer to French and British requests for a renewed study of the war debts situation and an extension of the Hoover moratorium, a third request for such action was received at the state department, this one from the Belgian government.

President Hoover, meanwhile, was speeding eastward to dig into the problem with his advisers here and to go over it personally and soon with President-Elect Roosevelt. The date of the latter meeting had not been set, but Albany dispatches indicated it would occur by the middle of next week.

Deny Reports
Administration spokesmen denied reports (not carried by the Associated Press) that Mr. Hoover favored another year of the moratorium. It was indicated that the administration believes this country should adopt a more rigid attitude than a free and easy granting of extensions. The view apparently was that while some European nations were in financial difficulties, others were well able to pay the sums due on Dec. 15.

During the day, Democratic leaders expressed dissatisfaction with the Republican administration's handling of the debt controversy and one of them Representative Rainey of Illinois, the party floor leader, asserted that any move to revise the debts would be rejected "in this or any other congress."

The Belgian communication, notable for its brevity, called attention to the French and British notes and said the Brussels government "has the honor to make the same request." Of a total debt funded at $400,680,000, Belgium has made payments to America totaling $52,193,273. The sum of $2,125,000 is due on Dec. 15 and under present arrangements is not postponable.

British and French obligations to this country aggregate more than $8,000,000,000.

Opening with a reference to the British and French notes, the Belgian message called attention also to the Lausanne agreement under which German reparations payments were scaled down effective when and if war debts due the United States are revised.

Asks Cooperation
It said that in "interests of peace and economic recovery" it adhered to the Lausanne agreements and in so doing "consented to make sacrifices which were particularly heavy and which have profoundly affected the financial situation in Belgium."

The Belgian government remains convinced that the difficulties with which the world is faced today cannot be overcome unless the nations pursue a resolute policy of cooperation and mutual assistance.

Await Message
Only congress has power to alter the debt agreements, and it is strongly on record against any further concessions. But President Hoover's message to congress and President-Elect Roosevelt's views are awaited eagerly by diplomats who seek a modification of agreements. "I see no reason why the United States government should give the foreign debtors any more money," Rainey said. "I am against the moratorium and opposed the first one last year. I think it is one of the silliest things ever presented to congress."

"Personally, I would favor a scaling down of the debts if we could get down the foreign countries tariff walls but it is useless to talk about reduction in armaments because the next war will not be fought with the armaments now in use."

In Jackson, Miss., Senator Harrison, Democrat, asserted that "congress will not be bound by any commitments of the president, nor, in my opinion, will it modify its position in regard to these debt payments."

Saying that congress alone must settle the debt question, Representative Black (D. N. Y.), in a statement issued here charged

Talks on Hygiene, Reviews of Books to Head Programs

Local P. T. A. Groups Will Hear Speakers at Meetings

Talks on dental and medical hygiene and book reviews will be discussed by three P.T.A. groups meeting tomorrow night. Representatives of the schools of dentistry and medicine and of the child welfare research station will be the speakers.

The program of the Horace Mann P.T.A. meeting, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., will feature book week. A book will be presented to the room having the most parents in attendance.

Mrs. Youtz to Speak
Mrs. May Pardee Youtz will speak to the group. Beatrice Denton will present several vocal selections accompanied by Mrs. Jacob Van der Zee and the 6A group will sing a group of songs.

Refreshments will follow the meeting.
Prof. Milford E. Barnes, head of the hygiene and preventative medicine, and director of the university health department, will give the Longfellow P.T.A. an illustrated talk on "Unseen defenders of health," Friday at 3 p. m. in the school gymnasium.

Fifth Grade Hostesses
A committee from the 5B and 5A grades will act as hostesses. They will be assisted by the refreshment and hospitality committees.

Members of the refreshment committee are: Mrs. George Gay, Mrs. B. M. Ricketts, Mrs. Guy Chappell, and Mrs. Roy Lewis.

The hospitality committee is: Mrs. Charles Trachsel, Mrs. Edwin Kurtz, and Mrs. Everett Means.

Professor Drain
Prof. Charles L. Drain, acting director of the bureau of dental hygiene, will speak to the Henry Sabin P.T.A. members about dental work, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Music will be presented by Irene Ruppert, accompanied by Mrs. Erich Lindemann, and Sol Glaser.
A social hour of games and refreshments will follow the meeting.

Group Hears H. W. Johnson

Professor of Augustana Speaks to Student Association

Prof. H. W. Johnson, head of the philosophy department, at Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., spoke on "Making the best of things" at a banquet of the Student association of the First English Lutheran church last night. In his talk, Professor Johnson commented on the common tendency today to estimate the worth of anything by size and that we are not justified in regarding anything insignificant because it is small and familiar.

"In order not to miss the best things we must resolve not to be bored by monotony. We must interpret the word thrill and find a thrill in discovering the worthwhile things of life."

Professor Johnson said that in order to appreciate the best of things we must give special attention to the maker. Things must not have more emphasis than persons, the investigator must not be subordinated to the investigation.

Einar Jensen, E2 of Atlantic, was toastmaster and the theme of the toast was "The depression." Toasts were given by Theresa Christensen, A3 of Iowa City; Dorothy Turnbach,

I.O.O.F. to Entertain Members at Party

If You Haven't Been Able to Decide—

If you've been pondering about taking a chance on buying a "bargain price coat" or paying a little more and getting a much better coat—don't let the hue and cry of the cheap price-waving garment lure you away from your better judgment.

Our only suggestion is that when you buy a garment from a stock of merchandise that has a definite known Quality behind it, you're going to profit in the long run. Additional factors such as added style, durability, and customer satisfaction are much more economical for you than mere price alone.

Now, as before, look to Osborn's for Quality Merchandise at the right price.

Court Opens Murder Trial

Jurors Hear Opening Statements in Stewart Case

CHARITON, Nov. 15 (AP)—A jury of seven men and five women was selected and opening statements were made today in the trial of Ralph Stewart, who is alleged to have confessed the murder of Mrs. L. A. Botkin, 73, here last September.

Stewart's plea, as indicated by C. C. Stuart, defense attorney, will be that he signed a confession to shield his former sweetheart, Helen Botkin, 18, adopted daughter of the woman, and Mrs. Sylvia Youg, wife of Mrs. Botkin's son by a former marriage.

Accused of Brutality
Stuart accused State Agents Ray Scott, Byron Johnson and Carl Gaughenbaugh of using brutal methods in forcing the 20 year old youth to sign a confession. He charged that Stewart was denied food, the right of counsel and the right to see his parents.

The defense attorney said evidence would be introduced to show that Mrs. Young and the Botkin girl beat Mrs. Botkin fatally with a claw hammer and that when Stewart learned of the act he went to the Botkin home and hid the weapon.

Witness on Stand
Three days after the youth confessed, the state agents announced, although the text of his confession was not made public.

The first state witness, L. A. Botkin, drayman, husband of the slain woman, took the stand and identified himself as court was adjourned. A crowd of 300 persons witnessing the proceedings filled the courtroom and overflowed into the hall. The jury was ordered segregated.

Professor Shambaugh Conducts Round Table

The usual Friday morning classroom round table discussions will be done away with this week in the political science department. Instead, Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh will conduct a round table in the house chamber of Old Capitol, open to the public.

The discussion will be from 9 to 10 a.m. In this period Professor Shambaugh will discuss "The scientific approach to a liberal and cultural education," one of the six approaches to his campus course.

Debate Coach Hung in Effigy; School Heads Wonder Why

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Nov. 15 (AP)—School officials today puzzled over reasons for the hanging, in effigy, of John L. White, dean and debating coach in Abraham Lincoln high school.

Students this morning found a dummy on which a placard bore the name of White, who was known to be a socialist and pacifist, and an opponent of school fraternities.

Principal G. W. Kirn said he did not know the reason for the episode. White could not be found, American Legion officials last week asked the school board to investigate the dean's views, but board members said White could express, but not teach, his opinions.

He will also show his collection of the ballots used in some 41 different states and discuss the methods of voting in general.

Seventy-Six Freshmen Selected for English Honors Groups; Will Have Broad Opportunities to Develop Skill

New and broader opportunities for development of base and skill in writings are opened to freshmen in liberal arts this year by the inauguration of what are known as freshman honors sections in English.

The move is in keeping with the trend of the times toward increased freedom and greater individual responsibility. Prosaic routine and stereotyped assignments are reduced to a minimum.

Selected on Achievement

Thirty-one students were selected at the beginning of the year on the basis of achievement in the general university entrance examinations and papers written during the first two weeks. They were placed in three classes of 10 each, under the instruction of Seymour M. Pitcher and Harold Cooper, instructors, and Prof. J. C. McGalliard, the latter having general charge of the group.

Only one year of prescribed English is required of these students, the year's work being a combination course based in part on the regular freshman and sophomore English course.

Second Section

Another honors section of approximately 45 students ranking next highest is required to take two years of English. These students are divided into classes of about 15 each under the instruction of Alma B. Hovey and Lewis M. Morton, instructors in English, and Hubert H. Hoeltje, associate in English.

Discussing the new system, Professor McGalliard explained: "The placing of a student in one of these groups is to be regarded as an honor, and carries certain definite privileges as well as responsibilities."

Class Omitted

"One class a week is occasionally omitted, and this time is taken up in individual conferences. In fact, the whole plan combines some features of the tutorial system with the usual classroom procedure. The system is very flexible, and any student's classification may be changed whenever his achievement warrants it.

"It is hoped that students allowed greater freedom and privileges will be led to explore more deeply into fields of their own interest than they could otherwise. We are trying to get away from themes that superficially cover a subject and then lay it aside to go on to something else next week."

Name Freshmen

The freshmen of whom only one year of English is required are: Aaron D. Abel, Center Junction; Mary M. Ayers, Iowa City; Arthur M. Barnes, Eagle Grove; Earla A. Blaine, Hampton; Janet E. Buehler, Dubuque; John D. Cahalan, Harpers Ferry; Marjorie Chamberlin, Humboldt; Donald M. Foerster, Iowa City; Lloyd R. Hershberger, Kalona.

Mildred L. Hoffman, Sikourney; Lois C. Hough, Battle Creek; John F. Kanealy, Cedar Rapids; Lucy Elizabeth Kuhl, Iowa City; Raymond W. Latham, Cedar Falls; Jeanette Lee, Davenport; J. Edward Lundy, Clarion; John F. McLaughlin, Newton; Parnell H. Mahoney, Sioux City.

Walter H. Meizer

Water H. Meizer, Charles City; James T. Mooney, Iowa City; James A. Norman, Iowa City; Annis Helen Ogilvie, Le Mars; Hyman L. Oleck, New York, N. Y.; Margaret E. Olsen, Iowa City; Rollin M. Perkins, Iowa City; Donald S. Schier, Ft. Madison; E. Isabelle Smith, Iowa City; Lenore M. Snitkey, Humboldt; William F. Thill, Dubuque; Robert F. Vane, Cedar Rapids; and James L. Whitney, Ft. Madison.

Start Murder Trial

DAVENPORT (AP)—Selection of a jury Wednesday morning will open the trial of Louis Spridgen of Muscatine, who is under indictment for the killing of Nick Coin, Davenport liquor czar, here May 25.

Select Final Cast of First Juvenile Play

Second Game of Hockey Tournament Ends in 1-1 Tie

A hockey match between the senior and junior physical education majors played yesterday afternoon on the women's athletic field ended in a 1-1 score. Bertha Helen Anstey, A4 of Masseña made the goal for the seniors, and Edith Musgrove, A3 of Iowa City, scored for the juniors. This was the second game of the class hockey tournament.

The first match held Monday afternoon was a victory of the graduates over the freshman red team. The winners' seven scores were made by Thelma Keneffick, G of Eagle Grove, 4; Esther Darnier, Bula, G of Iowa City, 2; and Bernice Eversmeyer, G of Muscatine, 1. Hazel Vincent, A1 of Des Moines, made the only score for the losers.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock, the graduate team will play the sophomores.

Intra-Squad Debates Will Decide Western Conference Teams

Selection of speakers for the Western conference debates with Purdue and Indiana will be made on the basis of intra-squad debates to be held tonight and Friday, Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of university debate, announced yesterday.

The subject of taxation reform will be argued by the speakers tonight at 7 o'clock in liberal arts auditorium. The question is: "Resolved, that at least 50 per cent of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than taxes on tangible property."

In the first debate this evening, John Moon, A2 of Ottumwa, and Roswell Johnson, A2 of Ottumwa, will uphold the affirmative against Tom Yoseloff, J3 of Mason City, and George Palmer, A1 of Omaha, Neb.

Following that debate, a team composed of John Hawkinson, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Fred Morain, A2 of Jefferson, and Collman Yudelson, A2 of Council Bluffs, debating the affirmative, will meet James Brown, A3 of Newton; John Harrison, A3 of Oakland, and Clinton Moyer, A3 of Iowa City.

Wesley Players Give Play in Cedar Rapids

"The Color Line" was presented last night by the Wesley players of Iowa City Methodist church, at the Trinity Methodist church in Cedar Rapids. The play was given in connection with the convention of the Woman's Home Missionary societies of the Davenport and Cedar Rapids districts.

Members of the cast were William Lueck of Iowa City; Elmer Bladow, A4 of Iowa City; Mrs. Elmer Bladow, A2 of Iowa City; Paul Hellwege, A1 of Pilot Mound; Wilma Darby, and Dorothy Martin of Iowa City.

Porter Will Address Young Men's Club

Herring and Economy

Eloquent promise of his sincerity about cutting down the tax load which burdens Iowa property owners was expressed by Clyde Herring via C. C. Clifton in Monday's Des Moines Register.

The governor-elect, as a Democrat, has no inertia binding him on state jobs. He proposes to cut them in number on every side. Those who know the situation at Des Moines realize that this is possible without serious loss. Wastes and accumulations of years are exposable and prunable most while the pressure of economic difficulty spurs the taxpayer to complain.

After a while, however, Mr. Herring will have cut out about all the jobs he thinks he can without giving the taxpayer the relief he is demanding. Then he may find some services the state can do without so long as 3 cent hogs and 10 cent corn provide tax money. And, finally, he may decide that even then some of the burden must be shifted to other backs than those of the farm and home owner.

This may mean an income tax, as advocated by the present governor. To conservative Mr. Herring it is more likely to mean a sales tax like that in Mississippi, like those proposed by fellow partisans John J. Raskob, Alfred E. Smith, and William Randolph Hearst.

This places him in the Smith-Raskob wing of his party, as opposed to the Roosevelt-Walsh wing of convention time. It places him with the Hooverites who voted against Dan Turner, but not with the G. O. Progressives who deserted their governor.

It is too early to judge what Mr. Herring will do about crossing these bridges to which he has not yet come. That he shows a disposition to see what other states have been doing—as such portions of the previous administration as the board of assessment and review (taxes) and the interim committee have done—this is hopeful.

And in times like these even non-conservatives can find satisfaction in promise of "economy and a business administration." It may be time enough after the immediate crisis has passed through its low point to think of remedies for future and more permanent relief.

A Worthy Example

REMARKABLE indeed is the American system of government. It is not without reason that the Buenos Aires La Prensa points to the United States and says "Look, South America, there is a nation where revolutions are even more decisive than ours, but where there is no bloodshed and where the victor and the vanquished meet in common counsel at the end of battle and work for the common interest."

President Hoover's message to Governor Roosevelt Sunday and the governor's reply Monday represent a procedure virtually without parallel even in this country. If the conversations are carried out in the same spirit in which they began it will be heartening testimony to the integrity of American politics.

The move was probably dictated by necessity; the success of the coming world economic conference, the soundness of current armament negotiations, and, in fact, the stability of the already shattered world credit structure depend in large measure upon the action of the United States within the next few months.

President Hoover's action has only two precedents in United States history; both came at times of similar strain, when the need for enlightened and determined leadership was paramount to the nation's interests.

President Wilson, in 1916, planned to clear the way for the succession of Charles E. Hughes should he be defeated, and President Lincoln, seeing possible defeat at the end of his first term, planned to call in his successor for cooperation during the final period of his administration. Both were re-elected and their plans were left in the formative stages. It was left for President Hoover to carry through.

The fact that the president's action was dictated by necessity merely is another tribute to the flexibility and effectiveness of the American political system.

It is a system which has received, and undoubtedly deserves, a great deal of abuse. It is top heavy and awkward; it is scandalously and outrageously expensive; it is wasteful and extravagant; it is in many ways foolish.

But as long as it allows the masses to rise in revolt as they did Nov. 8, without bloodshed or violence, as long as it tolerates and respects all kinds of political convictions, and as long as it offers an avenue for co-operation and concerted action in times of crisis, there is yet hope.

Sportsmanship From "Ding"

NOT LONG ago THE DAILY IOWAN pleaded with its Democratic community for sportsmanship toward Herbert Hoover, president-elect.

Now J. N. "Ding" Darling of the Des Moines Register and New York Herald-Tribune syndicate, cartooning for a Republican audience, says graphically that a good Republican "is one who fought to defend his government when it was in power"—"but will fight just as desperately to give the new government a chance to function!"

The Franklin D. Roosevelt presented here is a man with set jaw and rolled up sleeves, menaced by "minority obstruction," "insurgency" and "destructive criticism."

It is to be hoped that Cartoonist Darling will retain his Republican loyalty—that much can be taken for granted—and be critical of the new Democratic administration's shortcomings. But his gesture in this week's cartoon, with the good humor of many a cartoon among his obviously partisan campaign drawings, should go far to retain for him the high respect that has made "Ding" a household name elsewhere than in Iowa. Sportsmanship is an indispensable quality in men so high in public leadership.

Purpose is Apparent

(From the Mason City Globe-Gazette)

Louisiana will in the future have an intelligent class of voters if a law the supreme court has held constitutional is strictly enforced.

The statute provides that any voter applying for registration must be able to interpret any clause in the Louisiana constitution upon which he may be questioned.

Interpretation of constitutional clauses has long been a severe task that is usually only well done by attorneys of a most studious temperament. We fear that the voters of Louisiana will be reduced to a mere handful if requests for constitutional interpretation is carried to great length.

By many it will be surmised that the extent of the quizzes on constitutional questions, of voters applying for registration will largely be governed by their complexion.

On its face the Louisiana statute bears a strong resemblance to the grandfather laws which have been adopted by some other southern states to prevent a ballot expression by Negroes.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

They say it's going to be lots easier to enforce a law that appeals to the great mass of the people but from all advance dope it seems that any light wines and beer legislation will be in pretty much the same situation as prohibition.

The way the Chicago liquor gangs are reported to be sewing up the breweries and saloons (speakeasies to you) bespeaks no end of fun for the officers of the law who try to keep the drinking industry on the up and up.

The bartenders, past and present, are already being herded into unions dominated by gangsters, and ruled by a set of by-laws that include definite stipulations as to who should be taken for what ride because of violation of which article in the code, and as to how much a "muscle" man may retain as his fee on every barrel of beer that goes over the counter.

There may be expected to remain in existence every form of corruption now extant under prohibition when, and if, repeal comes along, and more besides. The legalized drinking will be no more divorced from the curse of gangland than the kind we now enjoy.

And if it is going to cost the government as much to enforce a light wines and beer law—because there has to be a law even about that—we might just as well go on the way we are. And if the abuses of prohibition are any indication at all of what might be expected under liberalized drinking conditions, then there's little sense of changing.

There is little reason to believe, on the other hand, that those who abstained from drinking under prohibition will not continue to abstain under any other condition, and since those who profited from prohibition will have the same customers to deal with—although perhaps less directly—their incomes will not mount appreciably. So maybe there isn't so much to envy them for, after all.

Just as the speculation as to the outcome of the national election, it will be interesting to note which of the many repeal forecasts is correct. Will it come by Christmas, Washington's Birthday, or Easter? At least, it is certain that it won't come in time to gulp great goblets-full of 4 1/2 per cent beer between mouthfuls of Thanksgiving turkey. In fact, if we have beer by Thanksgiving we can have beer and turkey, if we have any turkey. In fact, all we can be quite sure about is Thanksgiving.

But while the Canadians are downhearted and the French and Italians jubilant over the prospects, at least one American is letting his enthusiasm run riot. He has written to Governor Roosevelt, urging him to allow farmers to convert surplus grain into industrial alcohol—a "still on every farm"—as a means of overcoming the agricultural depression. Next, we'll have advertisements advocating beer for every ailment, from the well-known athlete's foot to what four out of five are supposed to have.

Although it is almost certain that no repeal or modification of the Volstead act is in sight unless Roosevelt calls a special session of congress—and then not certain—there is sure to be an unprecedented amount of pressure brought to bear on all congressmen.

To quote the chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform: "... With this in mind our organization will continue its work and increase its membership in order that we may talk to these gentlemen in the only language which they seem to understand—votes."

And that, after all, is something.

Book Bits

(From Hatter's Castle, by A. J. Cronin)

Outside, the pavements tilted slightly as he walked, moving like the deck of a liner in a mild swell; yet, cunningly, he adapted his balance to this gentle, regular roll so that his body swayed slightly from side to side—but nevertheless maintained its upright poise.

General Notices

To All Students Who Expect to Graduate at the Close of the Present Semester, Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1933

Each student who expects to receive a degree or certificate at the university convocation to be held Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1933, must have made his formal application, on a card provided for the purpose in the registrar's office, in university hall, on or before Saturday, Nov. 19, 1932.

It is of the utmost importance that each student concerned comply with this request immediately; for otherwise it is very likely that a student, who may be in other respects qualified, will not be recommended for graduation at the close of the present semester.

Making application for the degree, or the certificate, involves the payment of the graduation fee at the time the application is made, the payment of this fee being a necessary part of the application.

Call first at the registrar's office for the application card.

H. C. DORCAS, registrar

Students' Local Addresses

A very large number of students who, at registration time, had not yet determined their places of residence in Iowa City, and a very considerable number of other students who have changed their addresses since registration, have not yet notified the registrar's office of their exact, complete, present local addresses. We are asking that every such student forward to the registrar's office, or leave at the counter thereof, at the earliest possible moment, his complete present address in Iowa City.

BEHIND THE SCENES

— IN HOLLYWOOD — By HARRISON CARROLL

STUDIO GOSSIP

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Here's one for the book. In spite of all that furor over "An American Tragedy," Theodore Dreiser last night was on the verge of selling Paramount the talkie rights to his novel, "Jennie Gerhardt."

For several days, it develops, the author and B. P. Schulberg have been negotiating the deal. They are expected to reach some sort of a conclusion within 24 hours.

If Dreiser relents, and allows another of his works to be made into a film, the starring role will be taken by Sylvia Sydney, who gave such a fine performance as the unhappy shop-girl heroine of "An American Tragedy." Chances are she will make it as soon as she finishes "Madame Butterfly."

Meanwhile Hollywood is intrigued to see whether the fiery author will let by-gones be by-gones. Echoes of his last year's blast are just dying down hereabouts.

They tell it as happening on the day of Will Rogers' return to the Fox lot.

"What's that?" he asked, pointing to a freshly completed structure.

"Why, that's the new writer's building," someone explained.

"Neuritis," snapped Rogers. "They've all got it. Not an idea in a carload."

HOLLYWOOD PARADE

Kay Francis' stay in Hollywood will be of record brevity. Arriving here by plane, she signed a new contract with Warners and will leave immediately on a return trip east. After spending a couple of weeks with Kenneth McKenna, another studio call will bring her home again. If there was ever any doubt about Kay's box-office standing, it was dispelled with the two pictures she made as a Warner star. Both of them brought profitable returns. More profitable, I imagine, than the studio expected.

Last word we had was that Kathleen Burke, Paramount's "Panther Woman," had refused to let the studio dictate how much time she spent with Glen Rariden, her fiance from Chicago. Now, it seems, Mr. Rariden has removed any possible cause for controversy by going back east. But while he was here the two young people won their point.

Today will probably see Ann Harding back at work after an absence of six days caused by the flu. . . . The dove of peace seems to have settled permanently over the Greta Nissen-Weldon Heyburn household. They were at the Proles together last evening. Harry Langdon was there again, too. Wonder he doesn't move in. . . . And one of my scouts reports (I'm a little squeamish about boats myself) that red-headed Roberta Gale took a 6-hour trip to nowhere on the S. S. La Playa with A. C. Reed, Jr.

Plans are afoot at R-K-O to reproduce Louisa M. Alcott's home for the talkie version of "Little Women." To this end, Hobe Erwin left New York last night to make sketches of the original in Concord, Mass.

Committee to Cooperate in Paring Taxes

Governor-Elect, With Officials, to Cut Expenses

DES MOINES, Nov. 15 (AP)—The interim legislative committee on reduction of governmental expenditures in a letter to Governor-elect Clyde Herring today assured him of its desire to cooperate with the new administration in paring taxes.

The committee commented on the announcement made after a meeting Sunday at the home of Governor-elect Herring in Des Moines that the newly elected officials would seek to reduce state expenditures and would give careful consideration to the legislative committee's report.

Sends Copy to Herring

Secretary Ed R. Brown sent Herring a copy of the preliminary report which was filed with Governor Turner as to its investigations and recommendations and said he would forward a supplemental report when it is completed.

After the conference Herring announced he would leave on a trip to other states to study their reorganization of state departments, commissions and bureaus. He supported a reorganization plan in his campaign.

In this connection the legislative committee explained that it had been making an investigation but was not able to make a complete report.

Include Recommendation

"For this reason and others we have included in the report our recommendation that a committee similar to ours be authorized by the 46th general assembly, with enlarged power and authority, to make a full and complete analysis of the government and the reorganization thereof, and make its recommendations to the next session of the legislature," the committee explained.

The letter to Herring continued: "Our committee, as you know, is non-partisan, there being two Democrats and four Republicans on it. The question of politics or the effect of our report from a political standpoint, has never been discussed or any time considered in our deliberations."

Tax Program Vital

"Every member of the committee feels that the program of tax reduction is so vital and important to the welfare of the people of this state that politics should play no part in the consideration of the subject."

"We feel confident that the state officers elected and the members of the 46th general assembly will place the tax reduction program on a high plane of patriotic service."

"We wish to assure you that all the data which our committee has gathered and any information which it has as bearing upon the subject of tax reduction, is now and will be available to you and to the other state officers and to the general assembly."

"While our committee, by virtue of its appointment, ceases to function at the time of the convening of the 45th general assembly, yet as private citizens we will be glad to cooperate in any way possible to bring about relief to the taxpayers of Iowa from their present burdens."

By BIG TEN NEWS SERVICE

Add Sales Resistance

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Fraternity rushes at the University of Minnesota are going to have more "sales resistance" to smooth-talking rushing chairmen next January with the aid of a new service by the interfraternity council and the Y.M.C.A. An information bureau has been established giving recent and impartial information on fraternities. A series of talks on fraternities will also be given this fall by former campus fraternity leaders who now reside in the Twin Cities.

Power to Independents

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—To give independent men in the University of Illinois a greater part in student activities, the cabinet of the Illinois Union has been reorganized to include 10 independent men as co-chairmen with fraternity men in the several union departments. All cabinet members are juniors, and are eligible for election as president of the union in the spring.

For Small Towns

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—College graduates who find themselves out of work should retreat to a small town where they can live cheaply until the depression begins to lift, was the advice advanced by Prof. A. D. Moore of the college of engineering of the University of Michigan.

Professor Moore is in charge of procuring positions for the University of Michigan graduates who desire engineering jobs, but he expressed an opinion that many engineers will be forced to take jobs in other fields before they will be able to find one in their own line.

Since most colleges maintain an employment service for their graduates, it is necessary for all students who want to get jobs to have a copy of their records on file with their school, Professor Moore said.

Freshmen Know More!

EVANSTON, Ill.—The present freshman class at Northwestern university is comparatively high in intelligence and may rise above the usual position in the upper one-tenth in the national intelligence ranking, according to Edward L. Clark, director of admissions at Northwestern university. The present class intelligence averages 200 as compared to the 189 average of the 1931 class; this rise is in keeping with the freshman intelligence trend throughout the country, Mr. Clark said. Mr. Clark explains the trend in this manner: "I believe that the comparative

Loan Grants Double

CHICAGO, Ill.—Total loan grants to students from July 1 to Nov. 1 have more than doubled since the corresponding period last year, according to William J. Mather, University of Chicago bursar. In the first four months of the fiscal year $24,801.93 was lent to needy students, while $56,182.85 was given out during the same period this year.

Quick Service!

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Action came in a hurry recently at Purdue university when a humorous "Student Comment" called to mind the fact that the campus clock's face was getting dirty and might well be illuminated to boot. While the "to boot" portion hasn't come true as yet, the former has. On the afternoon of the day in which the story appeared the head of the chemical engineering school, on whose building the clock resides, sent an order to the university service man to paint the clock's face "Old Gold and Black."

Professor's Article Appears in Magazine

A Shakespearean study by Prof. J. W. Ashton of the English department appears in the current October issue of the Journal of English and Germanic Philology, published quarterly by the University of Illinois at Urbana.

"The wrath of King Lear" is a study of an important aspect of one of Shakespeare's famous tragedies. Professor Ashton is on leave of absence for a year, having been gone since late summer. He is working at the Huntington library, California, in the field of sixteenth century literature.

Committee to Make Study

Group Will Investigate Teaching of Native Language

The appointment of an interdepartmental committee to investigate the teaching of native language and literature in European countries represents a new departure in the school of letters this year.

The object of the study is to secure new light upon the teaching of English in this country, Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, said yesterday.

The committee includes: Prof. Raymond Brugere of the Romance languages department; Prof. Erich Funke, acting head of the German department; Harold Cooper, instructor in English; and Prof. Millington Carpenter of the English department.

Professor Brugere, a native of France, will deal with the problems of teaching language and literature in his home country. Professor Funke, from Germany, and Mr. Cooper, from England, will represent their countries in the discussion and study. Professor Carpenter, who teaches in University high school, brings to the committee an intimate knowledge of the American teaching situation and its problems.

It is hoped, Professor Foerster said, that from this study of American educational conditions in the light of European experience new means of improvement in teaching English will be derived.

The ball will be given at the American Legion Community building with Lanky Neals and his 11 piece band providing the music. All proceeds will go to charity. How the proceeds are to be distributed will be decided later by the organization.

George T. Bresnahan, university track coach, spoke on the 1932 Olympic games at the dinner.

Life's Most Difficult Periods Pointed Out by Psychologist

The high school age, when rapidity of physical and emotional growth is confusing to adolescents, and the period near the sixtieth year, when vitality and power begin to decline, are two of life's most difficult periods.

That is the belief of Prof. Frederic B. Knight, University of Iowa psychologist and educator, who has stated that adjustments during both of those crucial times are troublesome.

Should Force Maturity

Parents usually have a tendency to hold a child back during the high school age, when in reality he should be forced ahead to maturity as quickly as conditions permit.

This period is one of acute self-consciousness, when boys and girls take themselves far too seriously, and when they become extremely sensitive, according to Professor Knight. Proper handling requires the utmost tact, patience, and thoughtfulness on the part of parents and teachers.

Fail to Recognize Condition

As the person nears the age of 60, a contraction process sets in, when energy begins its descent. Then it is the tendency to persuade one's self that there is no loss of vitality, that a man is as good as he ever was.

Such an adjustment as admitting a contraction of faculties is a severe wrench to the individual, but a revised outlook is absolutely necessary, Professor Knight asserted.

SPORT
by EUGENE THORNE

WHILE browsing (great word) about not long ago, the following piece came to my attention, and the suggestion was made that almost every football coach in the country would put his O.K. on it at some time or other. Here it is for field coaches, sideline coaches, and Berry Wood's now famous "Monday morning quarterback":

"Being somewhat of a sports writer by profession, I would like to make it clear that nothing does me more good than to give some deserving boy a nice write-up in the paper, provided his system can stand it.

"All too often, however, the athlete in question believes all that the newspapers and fans say about him, resulting in a 14-karat case of swelled head, and the ruin of what might have been a first class football player.

"Consequently, I am going to reveal actual meaning of the sports writer's lingo, in order that no more athletes may be ruined by it.

"1. When they call you a 'flash,' they mean you're a 'flash in the pan,' so don't get swelled about it.

"2. When they say you're 'fast,' they mean you're 'fast to the ground,' or 'tad.' (See your dictionary).

"3. When the papers call you a triple threat man, it is because you are expected to stumble, fumble and fall before the play is over.

"4. If they call you a 'matspring,' it's because you run in one place too long.

"5. Never believe anyone who says you are a 'whole team in yourself,' think how silly you would look out there if the other 10 men went home!

"6. Don't get chesty just because you 'looked good in practice'; if the subs were half your size they would probably tear you to pieces, you big ape!

"7. If they tell about your 'change of pace,' it means that sometimes you run slower than usual.

"8. Don't get cocky when you hear about the good passes you throw; after all, it's a good thing you've got some fast receivers who can get under your bum heaves. And that goes for the receivers, too; if the pass hadn't dropped right into your hands you probably wouldn't have caught it.

"9. Pay no attention to the way the newspapers interpret your style of play, but take your problems to your coach; chances are you'll never make a football player anyway, but if anyone can do it, he can.

"10. Don't tell the other men on the squad how good you are; be a sport and let them guess."

The writer probably was aiming mostly at high school lads, for they are pretty young to stand publicity, but now and then there is a college man who might read the above and profit.

HOW are the all-Iowa stadium teams coming? They are beginning to drift in now. Better get in and try to pick up a couple of tickets to an Iowa basketball game. All Iowa and visiting players of this season are eligible for the team. Here is Purdue's squad list:

- Ends — Moss, Lowery, Merz.
- Tackles — Fehrlins, Ungers, Heidt, Husar.
- Guards — Letsinger, Janecsek, Febel, Huggins.
- Centers — Oehler, Westerman.
- Quarterbacks — Pardoner, Peele, Keegan.
- Halfbacks — Hecker, Purvis, Riblett.
- Fullback — Horstmann.

Adolf Jacobsmeier, yearling splasher from St. Louis, Mo., was leading the field with a 100 points by virtue of a win in the 50 yard free style swim yesterday as the all-university swimming pentathlon got under way.

Jacobsmeier, in copping the event, hung up a time of 24.7 seconds, or two-tenths of a second better than the intercollegiate record for the distance made by Wright in the field house pool.

The event was the first of five to be run off from now till Dec. 2, the objective of which will be the naming of a grand champion and the winning of ribbons for the first 10 grand place winners. The other events in prize affair are the 100 yard back stroke, 220 yard dash, 100 yard breast stroke and 100 yard free style. Possibly a sixth contest a 300 yard medley swim, will be added to the others.

Trailing Jacobsmeier in second place was Jack Sieg while third was copied by Joseph Ernst. The other placers in order were Steve Nielson, Jack McQuire, Harry Haskins, Auggie Anderson, Chester Mohl,

Freezing Temperature Fails to Halt Preparations of Hawkeyes

Frosh Teams Present N.U. Plays in Drill

Coach Solem Allows No Contact Work in Session

Despite the biting wind and freezing temperature, the Iowa football squad swung into the midst of preparations for the Northwestern game yesterday afternoon.

Two freshman elevens, coached in Wildcat plays, gave the varsity some work on defense, although only touch scrimmage was employed, Coach Ossie Solem refusing to take chances with his men on the frozen gridiron.

The yearlings were generally unsuccessful in working Northwestern passes through the varsity secondary defenses, while the regulars employed their running attack with fair success, although several fumbles resulted from numbed fingers.

Lineup Stands

It appeared yesterday that the same lineup that started against Purdue last Saturday would get the call for the final game of the season. The team came through with nothing but minor injuries, and the entire squad is now expected to be in shape for the Evanston contest.

The Hawkeyes hope to perfect their pass defense, a phase of the game which has cost them touchdowns directly or indirectly in every clash this season. The Wildcats, whose running attack has been crippled by the loss of Pug Rentner, ace halfback, are expected to turn loose their passing offense, the attack which gained them a tie with Purdue. Oison, Potter, and Auguston all are expert passers, and in Manske and Fencil, Dick Hanley has a pair of receivers that are hard to beat.

Schammel at Fullback

As the Hawkeyes lined up yesterday, John Miller and Bob Loufek were at ends, Wilmon Hass and Fred Radloff were at tackles, Leo Samuelson and Lumir Kouba were at guards, and Capt. Marc Magnusson remained at center. The backfield was composed of George Teyro, quarterback, Joe Laws and Herman Schmedman, halfbacks, while Bernie Page and Zud Schammel alternated at fullback. Schammel was later returned to his old position of tackle.

It will be a varied attack that Coach Solem hopes to use against the Wildcats, and he is expected to devote much of the time this week to seeking a steady attack. Thus far, the Hawkeye offense has been spotty, although the defense has been fairly steady.

Wildcats Fail to Get Defense Drill

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 15 (AP)—The elements drove the Northwestern squad indoors today, upsetting Coach Dick Hanley's plans for a defensive scrimmage against Iowa plays. The Wildcat coach said Northwestern would need a strong defense Saturday, because the offense, built largely around Pug Rentner, will not be particularly powerful.

Coulter Leads Sig Chi's to 37-20 Victory

Eleven baskets by Coulter contributed a lions share to Sigma Chi's defeat of Phi Beta Delta, 37 to 20, in the freshman basketball last night. Parker contributed seven markers and Panther performed well on the defense. Evansky and Horwitz were outstanding for the losers, contributing eight and six points respectively.

Delta Upsilon won its game with Phi Beta Delta with Brown chalking up well with 13 points. Chapman for the losers made eight points to his team mate, Bookers, three. Gallagher and Zimhof added four marks apiece for the winners.

Sigma Nu launched a versatile attack led by Durian with 16, Sloan with 12, and Everett with 10 and tripped Phi Kappa Psi, 28 to 19. Latham, a high scorer last week, was held to three baskets for the losers and was supported by Stevenson with two.

Blanks are being prepared for class A basketball in the fraternity competition and will be away to the managers shortly.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Burleigh Grimes, the Cubs spitballer, will undergo an operation here tomorrow for removal of his appendix. Dr. Robert F. Hyland, the Cardinal club physician, will perform the operation.

200 Fraternity Men Will Compete in Cross Country Race Today

WILL CLASH IN WEST GRIDIRON CLASSIC

Though both have been beaten several times there is no falling off of interest in the annual gridiron clash of California and Stanford. This is the game of games in the San Francisco area and seventy thousand are expected to jam the Golden Bears' bowl at Berkeley when the whistle blows for the battle next Saturday. Hank Schaldach, sensational halfback, is California's hope to down their rivals from President Hoover's home town of Palo Alto. Gus Castro and Bud Williams lend strength to the Bear's backfield. Stanford, in last place in the Pacific conference standing, has players of outstanding ability in Jack Hillman, fullback; Ernie Cadell, halfback, and Bill Corbus, guard. The experts favor California.

Teyro Leads Ball Carriers

Piles Up Total Gain of 261 Yards in 81 Trials

Nothing short of a miracle can prevent George E. Teyro, University of Iowa sophomore quarterback, from placing his name in the official football records as the leading 1932 Hawkeye ground-gainer by rushing.

For Teyro, with one game yet to play, now has 261 yards to his credit after carrying the ball 81 times. He has worked himself twice as hard as any of his backfield mates, but his greater number of attempts also is attributable to the fact that he has spent more minutes in the game.

In average yards per play, however, Teyro ranks behind William Ash and Joe Laws, who have 5.7 yards and 4.2 yards, respectively. The young quarterback's average is 3.2 yards.

Laws, by his gains in the Purdue game last Saturday, placed himself second to Teyro in total number of yards. He has an aggregate of 157 yards in 37 trials.

Because each made more than 100 yards in the Bradley Tech game which opened the season, Howard Moffitt and Ash are close behind Laws, who was out of early season games with injuries. Moffitt has 153 yards in 40 trials, for a 3.8 average, and Ash's total is 150 yards in 26 attempts.

Bernard Page, the 152-pound fullback, has accumulated 110 yards in 42 efforts. Most of his gains were laboriously compiled by crashing big lines.

up well with 13 points. Chapman for the losers made eight points to his team mate, Bookers, three. Gallagher and Zimhof added four marks apiece for the winners.

Sigma Nu launched a versatile attack led by Durian with 16, Sloan with 12, and Everett with 10 and tripped Phi Kappa Psi, 28 to 19. Latham, a high scorer last week, was held to three baskets for the losers and was supported by Stevenson with two.

Coach Armbruster to Start Regular Drills Tomorrow

Regular daily practices for Hawkeye varsity swimmers will begin tomorrow, Coach David Armbruster announced from his office in the field house yesterday. The men heretofore have been working out but three days a week, but the swimming mentor indicated that with the approach of the season, conditioning would begin in earnest.

No definite schedule has been decided upon as yet but a tentative meet with Carleton college is being lined up for December 17 when Iowa engages the Carls in basketball. The Midwest A.A.U. meet will take place January 19 and 20 at Ames.

About 40 men have been reporting so far this season.

Little Hawks Prep for Last Home Contest

With the conference games out of the way Coach George Wells will prepare his Little Hawks football team for the next game with Washington at Shrader field, scheduled for Friday afternoon.

The Red and White men were improved last week against the strong Washington high outfit of Cedar Rapids. They are running against an equally strong team again this week but probably not as well coached. Lack of weight and experience in the line has been the big handicap of the locals this year and although the latter has been remedied to a certain extent the former can not be remedied this year and it plays a very big part in football.

Coach Wells' backfield looked much better in last week's game and will give the Washington defense a test Friday. Mutchler at fullback turned in a good game in spite of the cold weather and weight advantage by his opponents.

Mat Mentor Drills Squad

Large Group of Men Report as Cold Sets In

The sudden cold snap of weather that has depleted the ranks of thin-clad and other outdoor athletes has sent a flock of men to answer Coach Mike Howard's first call for the current wrestling season. The squad has been meeting in its new quarters on the west side of the locker room at the field house.

Only a few of the varsity candidates have reported to date as some are still out for football but a large group of freshmen and rookies have started the conditioning which they will need before the university championships roll around in December.

Coach Howard is counting on the following men from which to choose his varsity material this year: Wayne Deegan, Clarence Donnelly, William Sedleck, LeRoy Pfeffer, William Story, Willard Minke, Loren Heller, Burton Dull, Capt. "Swede" Johnson, Don San Giovanni, Randall Whinnery, Pat Righter, John O'Leary, Wilmon Hass, and Earl Richardson.

Several freshmen have already flashed enough to almost assure them of berths next year and they will give the varsity plenty to worry about during the present season. Best of the yearlings seems to be Bob Larson of Ft. Dodge, who took runner-up honors in the national interscholastic meet this year. He is a 135 pounder. Another yearling that has been showing up well is Earl Chism of Ames, a 155 pounder.

Other freshmen who are out for greenie titles this year are Bill Hawkins, Ken Wagner, Leroy Walter, and Henry Mortenson.

Purdue's powerhouse, tied only by Northwestern, should negotiate the Indiana barrier to maintain an unbeaten slate. Texas Christian, having disposed of the powerful Texas Longhorns, figures to overcome Rice and Southern Methodist but there's a good chance here for another upset.

Unbeaten List Changed From Last Season's

U. S. C., Tenn. Elevens Only Outfits to Hold Pace

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—With the noteworthy exception of Tennessee and southern California, the ranks of the major contenders for national football honors have undergone a remarkable turnover within a year comparison of today's pace setters with those of the battle of 1931 reveals.

The U.S.C. Trojans, as a matter of fact, were not on the unbeaten list at this stage of the season a year ago yet they came back so convincingly, after losing their first game to St. Mary's, that there was no hesitation in handing them recognition as national champions.

The Comparison

Here's how the two unbeaten lists compare for this date of each season:

1931 Unbeaten and Untied	1932
Tulane	Colgate
Tennessee	Auburn
Southern Methodist	Centenary
Oklahoma City	U. S. C.
Harvard	Michigan
	Brown

1931 Unbeaten but Tied	1932
Notre Dame	T. C. U.
Northwestern	Tennessee
Fordham (twice)	Purdue
Bucknell (3 times)	Pitt (twice)
	Vanderbilt (twice)

The two ranking eastern outfits, Colgate and Brown, fight it out Thanksgiving day at Providence, Michigan and Centenary face foes which have a habit of springing upsets. The Wolverines close with Minnesota for the "Little Brown Jug" this Saturday. Centenary's Gentlemen must meet Arkansas, which captured a six point decision last year from the crack Shreveport eleven.

Southern California has two difficult hurdles, Washington on Thanksgiving day and Notre Dame on Dec. 10 at Los Angeles. The Irish still will have two weeks' rest after their battle with the Army in New York on Nov. 26 and they probably will need it.

Auburn Faces Two More Auburn's chase after Southern conference honors also involves two more barriers, Georgia this Saturday and South Carolina on Dec. 3. Meanwhile Tennessee and Vanderbilt have a chance to stay in the race by beating traditional foes, Kentucky and Alabama, respectively.

Purdue's powerhouse, tied only by Northwestern, should negotiate the Indiana barrier to maintain an unbeaten slate. Texas Christian, having disposed of the powerful Texas Longhorns, figures to overcome Rice and Southern Methodist but there's a good chance here for another upset.

Despite its two scoreless tie with Ohio State and Nebraska, Pittsburgh holds high rank because of the Panther conquests of Notre Dame and Army, a pair of teams otherwise unbeaten. The Cadets, if

Frosh Harriers to Compete Today for Numeral Awards

Now that the varsity cross country season has been sealed for the year frosh hill and alders will put on the final touches to rining out the season as they participate in a two mile numeral run tomorrow afternoon.

The yearlings who have been working out with the varsity throughout the fall will have something to shoot at tomorrow as numerals are being offered to the first six place winners and also those completing the distance under 12 minutes.

The green thinclads will also elect an honorary captain in their last meeting of the year.

Irish Cagers Begin Drills

Five Lettermen, 19 Others Report to Coach Conner

Five lettermen of last year and 19 other young men who are hopeful of later being called the same thing have reported to Coach Dick Conner for this year's basketball squad at St. Pat's.

With those five experienced men and the good material available, Conner should develop a team even better than last year's which was able to twice defeat its rivals, St. Mary's, who later played good enough basketball to go to the national Catholic tournament.

Although Conner is a new leader to the Green team aspirants, he is no neophyte in coaching Irish teams, having coached here for three seasons in 1926, '27 and '28.

Smaller Schedule

A smaller number of games has been scheduled this year, but the men will be able to put out more in tournament play, Conner believes. The schedule to date includes 14 games. Last year, with a bigger schedule, the men seemed to grow stale before the tournament and had a let down.

Monday night was the first night of practice for the squad, it being devoted mostly to fundamentals and limbering up exercises. Last night Conner gave the men a talk with most of the session being devoted to an explanation of the type of defense to be used this year which is a combination zone and individual defense.

Five Lettermen

The lettermen who are back include Ozzie Pinney, forward; Joe they can duplicate their 1931 conquest of the Irish, and then beat the Navy, will have to be considered in any debate surrounding the West Point is the standout team of the country so far.

Annual Event Attracts Men of 10 Groups

Starter's Gun Will Start Mob Scene at 4:30 Today

By ART HANNES

They are usually referred to as thinclad events, these cross country races, but as nearly 200 fraternity harrier contestants line up this afternoon at 4:30 in the sixth running of the annual Greek "mob scene," overcoats are expected to supplant quite completely the accepted hill-and-dale costumes.

Although there are but 10 fraternities entered in the "breath-taker" this year, there will be a full starting lineup and the competition promises to be strong. Phi Kappa Psi, winner for the last two years, will be there in good form although lacking their two mainstays in the last victories, Harrison Cole and Charles Van Epps.

Numerous Awards

Should the trophy come back to that house again this year, it would be the third time in six years, the Sigma Phi Epsilons having taken it the first three times. Twenty teams started the first run and the list has been increasing each year since and for the first time is being lowered.

High point counters in the participation will receive a trophy nearly a foot high and individual place winners will get medals in the form of a pendant inscribed with the intramural title and a gold hawk imposed upon a black background.

Use Washers

The starting gun will be fired at exactly 4:30 and all starters must have been on their marks at that time and grouped by fraternities. Signs will be posted at the start with the respective fraternities names in plain sight. Washers will be distributed by team managers. Judges at strategic points about the one mile course will make sure that foot tripped participants do not accidentally cut across and fudge on the opponent.

The system of using numbered washers will again be used this year and the final ranking will be determined by the order in which the washers are deposited in the funnel at the finish.

All contestants must be across the finish line within 10 minutes after the starting gun in order to count toward participation.

Glenn, guard; Ray Florchinger, center; William Smith, forward, and Dennis Emanuel, guard.

Others to report are: Joe Pugh, J. Francis McNamara, Bill Burger, Drew McNamara, Irving Roberts, John Hanlon, Ralph Dvotsky, Newman Toomey, Michael Maher, Michael Fitzpatrick, Murie Neubaur, Donald Elberts.

Francis Boyd, Vince Wetrich, George Florchinger, Bill Love, John Gordon, Bob Healy, and Bill Kessel.

Predict Minnesota to Take Post Held by Wisconsin as Testing Ground for Politics

Farmer-Laborites See Social, Economic Experiments

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Minnesota may replace Wisconsin as the nation's political laboratory. Assured of control of the state government, Farmer-Laborites today outlined proposals they hope to write into the state constitution and statute books making Minnesota an experimental ground in the field of social and economic legislation.

In the 14 years since its birth, the Farmer-Labor party has repeatedly gone across the upper Mississippi into its neighboring state to obtain fundamentals of its political philosophy. Many of its specific legislative proposals with public ownership a dominant note have come from the progressive republican ideology of the LaFollettees.

Gained Mighty Army Now with the LaFollette forces stripped of state power in Wisconsin's turn to the Democratic party, Minnesota's swing to the left provides Farmer-Laborites with a mighty legislative army for the first time. Its program, long pigeon-holed for such a day, will come out for its first thorough airing at the next legislative session opening in January.

State control came with re-election of Governor Floyd B. Olson, election of a lieutenant-governor, attorney-general, railroad commissioner, and a majority of the state house of representatives with an even split in the state senate, most of whose members are holdovers.

Possess Powerful Offices Five of the state's nine representatives in congress will be members of the party also represented by United States Senator Henrik Shipstead and mayors of three of the state's largest cities, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Rochester.

The party is pledged to work for a constitutional change to permit introduction of the Ontario system of public development and administration of electric power and light. Its platform advocates this project as "a means to make the source of power of the future, man's servant and helper and not his oppressor and master as is now the case."

S. A. Stockwell, veteran Minneapolis state representative, said he will re-introduce a bill in the legislature calling for expenditure of $50,000,000 as the first step in development of a publicly owned power system. Defeated before when conservatives dominated the legislature, Stockwell said he looks for success this time.

Public Ownership Public ownership of all natural monopolies will continue to be urged by the party which has also promised support for legislation authorizing municipalities owning power plants to distribute current to farms and adjacent villages outside of its borders, now prohibited.

In the field of unemployment in-insurance, strongly advocated in its platform this year, prospects of a bitter legislative fight center in which the third party does not expect unity. Its farmer wing is opposed to financing any part of the plan out of the state treasury which some members of labor favor. The party is also on record in favor of greatly increased allowances under the states old age pension law and increased aid for the unemployed.

It supported a proposed constitutional amendment authorizing a state income tax which was defeated when its candidates were swept into office last week and the party is pledged to favor its resubmission.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 15 (AP)—When Frank Lloyd Wright, famous architect, returns from New York this week end to Tallies, his beautiful home near Spring Green, Wis., he will be accompanied by a bodyguard to protect him against a threatened kidnaping. The news that Mr. Wright had received a letter from an extortionist on Nov. 5, demanding money under the threat of being abducted and held for ransom leaked out here today. Madison police are searching for the author of the letter, which was postmarked from this city on November 4.

Steel Officials Sued for Misuse of Funds

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—A stockholders suit for an accounting today charged officers and directors of the Bethlehem Steel corporation with paying themselves "large and excessive and unauthorized amounts as so-called bonuses," amounting to $87,087,417 in 20 years, and with misuse of $20,353,615.50 of the corporation's funds.

The suit, filed in supreme court by the Standard Investment company and Irma W. Jackson, as stockholders, asked that the amount of the corporation's alleged losses be determined by the court and assessed against the defendants.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

Pat had ceased entirely to think of her own problem. She and Dadums would go to Jacksonville. She didn't care to think any further than that. She'd know by that time what she was going to do. It was the way of her mind to fallow, apparently in abeyance for a time, then sharply to unroll the pattern of its subconscious workings, complete to the last detail, clear and unalterable.

The pattern unrolled between the high diving board and the water. With the water coming up to meet her, she made her decision. Settled the entire question.

She swam to the top, climbed out and went to her locker, put on her traveling clothes. Their trunks were already at the station. She dressed hurriedly, her mind entirely cleared of the debris of battle. Indecision gone—A perfectly simple plan—A perfectly simple plan—Obviously the only possible decision.

"My heavens! Why didn't I think of that in the first place? As Dadums says, indecision is a devil of the mind. Decide—and the whole thing clears up. And, of course there's never anything to decide because there's only one right way. I knew what was right. I'd have saved myself a good deal of agony if I hadn't battled. I'd probably have thought right away of this. Her father was sitting on the veranda. She went to him with a little skipping walk.

"Mr. Braithwait, sir," she said, "I'm sailing on the Majestic for Paris on the fourteenth and I'm looking for a gentleman companion—refined, gentle nature, good character—would you like to come along?"

"You pay all expenses?" he asked calmly, eyes twinkling. "All expenses. But I require references." "May I refer you to Miss Patricia Braithwait, in whose service I have been for twenty years?"

Their first battle had ended in their accustomed banter. Several mothers seated on the veranda listened smilingly to the flippant conversation, having their opinion, however, of a girl who ordered her father to Paris without a note to Jimmie, addressing it to The Flamingo. She was going to Paris, she told him. But as soon as Aunt Pam got her divorce he was to come for her.

She explained about the money question, adding: "Of course when I'm your wife he can't object to my taking your money, nor can he refuse to keep his own."

She felt a perfect fool that she hadn't thought of this in the first place. Dadums came to say it was near train time.

The station being separated from the hotel only by its own magnificent grounds, guests stroll down to the afternoon train to see if any friends from Miami are on their way north. The platform was crowded. Patricia's crowd was there. And Pamela, lovely, indolent, smiling. Everybody was asking about Jack Laurence.

The train pulled in—and Jack stepped off. He was immaculate; but a dark bruise decorated one eye. He had an ugly cut on the chin and one jaw was noticeably enlarged. But he looked happy—with the happiness of long gone ancestors, which even Patricia's departure could not dim.

The younger crowd fell upon him. Demanding to know what had happened. "I was out in a car with a chap in Miami," he grinned. "We had a little accident. Nothing hurt."

"Wasn't the other man hurt?" "Some. But he'll recover." Patricia was mad. She was mad at Jack for hurting Jimmie. Also, she was mad at Jimmie because

"Mr. Braithwait, sir," Pat said, "I'm sailing for Paris on the fourteenth—would you like to come along?"

Jack had hurt him. But she couldn't help smiling. To be revenged, however, she did not confide her change of plans to him till she was on the train.

"Maybe we'll see you in Paris, Jack," she called from the car window. "Dadums and I are sailing on the fourteenth."

All at once, his face looked like a battered lighthouse. Patricia fell to laughing. "Pronto," he called. The train was moving. Everybody waving.

Almost beside Aunt Pam and Jack stood Mrs. Brownley, a picture in sand. Patricia's gaze traveled from Jack's happy battered countenance to the face of the woman, serene and smiling; on to the charming dark beauty of Aunt Pam.

The train was gathering speed. Patricia strained to see them. Jack was no longer looking. His dark head was down bent to Mrs. Brownley as if he were speaking to her. A sharp premonitory flash, an inexplicable uneasiness assailed the excited girl—to be dramatically recollected a year later.

"Countess, will you open the door, please," said Patricia to an oldish woman in young attire and much paint who sat near the door. "It's probably Jack."

The Countess, an American ex-wife of a Russian Count, rose from the floor with as much exuberance as was permitted by her four feet two of one hundred and fifty pounds (in spite of meals restrained by finances).

"Hello, Jack!" they called in the chorus of an established entente cordiale. "Come get a cup of tea," said Patricia. "The biscuits are all gone."

"No thanks. Too near dinner time. I came to carry you off to the Cafe Madrid for dinner. It's a perfect night for dinner in the open."

"Hear the words of the filthy rich," groaned Pendleton, corresponding to the Herald. They demanded to know if Jack had ever eaten dinner at the Cafe Madrid. Had he just robbed a bank or what. "I'll have to change my dress if we are going to the Madrid," Patricia said. "Don't go, anybody. Stay as long as you like, and slam the door as you go out."

Captain D. W. Bray Appointed President of S.U.I. Rifle Club

Capt. Dillard W. Bray of the organized reserve corps and chief accountant in the university business office, has been appointed president of the University Rifle club, it was announced yesterday by Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis, head of the military department.

Captain Bray, who has spent some time in military camps and on rifle marksmanship work, will be associated with Capt. E. F. Paynter of the military department in management of the club. Captain Paynter is coach and director of marksmanship for the department.

Clyde C. Hutton, of Gloversville, N. Y., is secretary and treasurer of the club. Previous to this year a student has been chosen as president, but it is expected, according to Lieutenant Colonel Lewis, that with the club under Captain Bray's direction, a better organization and unity will be possible.

The club is affiliated with the National Rifle association, and is opening its year's program at present. All university students are eligible for membership.

Murphy Says War Debt Should Wait

DUBUQUE, Nov. 15 (AP)—Louis Murphy, Democratic senator elect, tonight wired Governor Roosevelt the suggestion that war debt revisions should await the outcome of the world economic and disarmament conferences.

Following was the text of the message: "I venture to suggest that action on the requests of European governments for revision of their debts to the United States should await the outcome of the pending world economic conference and approaching disarmament conference."

"The opening of European markets to our agricultural products on more favorable terms than now exist is of vital importance to the revival of America's prosperity and should be a condition precedent to any revision of existing agreements respecting debt payments."

A machine which enables paper-hangers to place wallpaper smoothly and quickly by a roller method has been developed in Great Britain.

Elected to Senate

John H. Overton, wet Democrat, who was swept into the United States senate by the citizens of Louisiana as part of the great Democratic tidal wave that washed over the G. O. P. Overton's colleague in the upper house is Senator Huey P. Long, who was one of President-elect Roosevelt's most enthusiastic supporters.

Stocks Waver as Rails Gain High Position

Hold to Price Average in Fluctuating Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Stocks teetered today, but the net result of their generally narrow fluctuations was a fairly even break.

The price averages closed unchanged, although a number of leaders, especially in the rail group, were slightly higher.

It was still, brokers said, a "trading market," with professionals providing the chief impetus on either side. Around midday prices were fairly firm; then they turned easier, only to improve again in the final dealings.

Small Changes

Between debt and dividend uncertainties, operators who were interested enough to maintain trading positions appeared undecided as to market policies and were probably content with the small changes pending better light for cloudier corners. Coca Cola again softened, losing 2-7/8 net, while Drug, Inc., was sold, presumably as an aftermath of the receivership petition against a retailing subsidiary. Elsewhere, features were hard to find. Transactions dwindled to 1,048,980 shares.

Declaration of the regular dividend for Chesapeake & Ohio common stockholders came late in the session and coincided with the firmer tone of rail shares. With the exception of Union Pacific's 1-1/4 net advance, improvement was mostly in the nature of minor fractions in the carrier group.

Closes Higher

American Telephone traded erratically, but Wall street's impression that the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 would be noted tomorrow carried considerable weight and the shares closed a point higher. United Aircraft, American Can, Montgomery Ward, American Tobacco "B," Consolidated Gas, Case, Public Service of New Jersey and Du Pont showed something on the plus side. The U. S. Steels, Westinghouse, Western Union, Goodyear and Norfolk & Western were off on the day, steel preferred losing 1/4. Preferred stocks of American Power & Light and Electric Power & Light lost 3/4 to more than 6 points on dividend uncertainties caused by halving of the dividend on United Gas company's senior issue yesterday. These companies are members of the electric bond and share group.

New Canada Sales Force Wheat Down

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP)—Unsettled by enlarged rural deliveries of Canadian wheat and the new British tariff handicapping shipments from this country, all grain values here averaged lower today.

Preferences amounting to 6 cents a bushel on Canadian wheat consigned direct to Great Britain went into effect today, and Winnipeg reported arrivals of wheat from the hands of Canadian growers amounted to 1,224 cars compared with 1,296 a week ago, and 1,471 at this time last year. Instability of the New York stock market and of wheat prices at Minneapolis were contributing bearish factors.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1/4 under yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 1/2 down, oats unchanged to 1/2 off, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents decline.

Giving an added jolt to the wheat market was 2 points setback in British exchange. Meanwhile, southern hemisphere advices indicated likelihood of the largest Australian wheat crop in recent years.

Transient rallies in Chicago wheat prices accompanied a spurt of buying for houses in connections east, the market here rising to more than a cent a bushel from the early bottom figures, but only to fall afterward lower than before, and finish at the day's bottom.

Corn and oats followed wheat. A sale of about 400,000 bushels of corn to starch manufacturers in the east had no lasting market effect. Provisions went lower with hog values.

Closing indemnities: wheat—Dec. 4 1/2, 4 1/4 to 1/2; May 4 1/2, 51-51 1/2; July 5 1/2, 52 1/2. Corn—Dec. 26 1/2, 26 1/2; ay 18, 31 1/2; July 33 1/2, bids.

Son Comes to Pearsons

An eight pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pearson, 830 Walnut street, at 6 p.m. yesterday. The child's name is James William Pearson, Jr.

Legionnaire Dies

WINTERSET (AP)—John C. Gorman, 36, who was active in American Legion affairs here and in several northern Iowa cities, died from an internal ailment. Funeral service will be Wednesday. The widow and a young son survive.

WAR DEAD HONORED AT TOMB OF "UNKNOWN"

While a guard of honor stands rigidly at the salute, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, representing President Hoover, is shown as he placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arlington national cemetery during the Armistice day ceremonies. The event also marked the formal dedication of the shrine, which was completed this summer. Inset is Private Eddie Gossnell, official of the B.E.F., placing flowers on the grave of William J. Hushka, World war veteran, who was killed by police during the bonus riots on Pennsylvania Avenue last summer.

AROUND THE TOWN with DON PRYOR

Old Red Flannels

Iowa City's poor are badly in need of flannels and woollens and cottons and things of that sort, according to reports from the American Legion Unemployment Relief association office. Most seriously needed are shoes—men's shoes, women's shoes, girls' shoes, and boys' shoes, both under and over.

May We?

Esther Gierlich of Washington county applied at the office of Clerk of Court Walter J. Barrow yesterday for a license to marry Chris M. Miller of Johnson county.

You May

Clerk of Court Walter J. Barrow issued a marriage license yesterday to John E. Sladek and Rose A. Evorsky. Both live in Iowa City.

Rose in the Sunset

Iowa City stopped for a moment yesterday evening and gazed a little wistfully toward the west at the rose-dappled sunset. From the airport came a loud rumbling and Iowa City watched a long, sleek plane roar low across the horizon and disappear.

Transient Scout

Earl B. Moore, regional executive of the Boy Scout organization, at Lincoln, Neb., visited with Glen G. Fordyce, local scout executive, yesterday en route to Clinton.

More Time

Carl Bock, charged in a grand jury indictment with driving an automobile while intoxicated, will not have to stand trial until the November term of court. The decision was made yesterday in district court. His attorney, appointed by the court, will be M. Hirschburg. He was indicted May 20, appeared in court June 13, and his case was continued until the present term.

Speedy Work

The board of supervisors completed their canvass of the election vote yesterday. G. C. Greenwalt, candidate for secretary of state, gained 15 votes in the shuffle and Mrs. Alex Miller, his opponent, lost six. The result for this county is: Greenwalt, 5,690; Miller, 7,568.

Four Quarters Equal

Fourth quarterly reports of the receiverships of the Johnson County Savings bank, the Iowa City Savings bank, the Farmers Loan and Trust company, and the Citizens Savings bank were filed at the court house and approved by District Judge R. G. Popham yesterday.

Missouri Youth Named as Star Farmer of America

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 15 (AP)—Clarence Goldsberry, 22, whose agricultural achievements in the Missouri Ozarks amazed Harvey S. Firestone, rubber manufacturer, tonight was awarded the title "the star farmer of America" and a $1,000 prize.

Firestone was a member of the committee which selected the Houston, Mo., youth as the winner in competition with vocational agricultural students of Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Colorado.

The prize was awarded by the Weekly Kansas City Star. "It doesn't look possible for a boy to have done what he did and still be in high school," Firestone said after studying the record of Goldsberry. Goldsberry's achievements included 15 projects carried as part of his vocational agricultural institution, 19 supplementary farm jobs and skill in 12 farming operations. The committee found he also displayed leadership ability and proved an asset in his community in Texas county, in south central Missouri. Other awards went by states to James McGinnis of Maryville, Mo.; Leo Paulsen of Concordia, Kan.; Arvel S. Stafford of Driggs, Ark.; Harry Bolinger of Brush, Colo.; La Verne Newton of Iowa Falls, Ia.; Orle M. Sowards of South Bend, Neb., and Clinton McCarthy of Quinlan, Okla.

Present Final Trial Evidence

Final evidence in the trial of Elmer Brogla, charged in a grand jury indictment with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, was presented in district court yesterday afternoon.

Witnesses for the state called by County Attorney F. B. Olsen were C. Emerson Brant, Leo T. Kessler, Jacob Hess, M. S. Bales, Grace Price, L. P. Hess, and Sheriff Don McComas. E. A. Baldwin, attorney for the defense, called as witnesses Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brogla, and Mr. and Mrs. William Grablin.

The trial began yesterday morning, District Judge R. G. Popham presiding. The case will probably go to the jury this morning, after closing

Kay Talks to Kiwanis Club Gives Illustrated Talk on Iowa's Geological Development

An illustrated lecture describing the geological development of Iowa was presented by George F. Kay, state geologist and dean of the college of liberal arts of the University of Iowa, to the members of the Kiwanis club following their noon luncheon Monday in the Jefferson hotel.

As an opening to his address Dean Kay explained that Iowa provides some very interesting material to the geologist in his research work. He said Iowa formerly contained vast rocks everywhere, and massive, wild animals, now extinct, roamed over the state.

"The change which has taken place in this state was produced by a series of glaciers which moved down from the northlands and, melting, left vast glacial deposits. Five glacial movements came down from the north but only the first covered all of Iowa. The last glacier came into Johnson county only as far as near North Liberty.

"Because of the fact that a number of the glaciers passed over only sections of the state, Iowa is rich in geological manuscript. The winds played a great part in the present fertility of Iowa's soil when it picked up the rich particles of soil pushed south by the glaciers and covered the rocky surface," said Dean Kay.

"The future of Iowa is assured," said the speaker, because of its fertility, the sunshine and rainfall, if the young people of the state are educated and taught to take advantage of the many natural resources which nature has given to the people of the state.

Guests at the meeting were Harry W. Hoover of Harrisburg, Pa., W. H. Cobb of Iowa City, controller of the University of Iowa, and Dr. Harry Bay of Laurel, Miss.

Four Scouts Get Awards

The court of honor of the Johnson county district of the area council of Boy Scouts presented four Boy Scouts of this district advancements in rank at the Methodist church Monday evening.

Boys receiving the awards were: Richard Nall, second class scout of troop No. 2; DeWitt Henry and Waldo Thomas, first class scouts of troop No. 14; Staten Browning of troop No. 14, merit badges for animal husbandry, first aid to animals, and reading; he was also awarded the 25 hour service badge.

Troop No. 5 received a streamer for first aid, and troop No. 14 received streamers for tent pitching, first aid, knot tying, and undressing relay.

Persons serving on the court were: D. H. Pile, the Rev. Harry D. Henry, Coach David Armbruster, Scout Executive Glen G. Fordyce, and Maynard Meacham. Coach Armbruster and Irving Weber displayed pictures which they took at the Olympic games this summer in Los Angeles, Cal., following the court ceremony.
