HOOVER, ROOSEVELT CONFER TODAY

City Council Asks $7,000 Saving in Water Rates

Request Same Sum for Cost of Appraisal

Moves Come as Result of Special Session Yesterday

Asking for a $7,000 annual reduction in water rates beginning Jan. 1, 1933 the city council in a special meeting yesterday at 1:30 p.m. offered its terms for rate settlement to the Iowa Water Service company.

The resolution which was moved by Alderman Kenderline, seconded by Alderman Scherk and passed by the council was:

"That it be the sense of the council that the council will accept a rate effective Jan. 1, 1933, which will produce $118,000 from the sale of water to meter users, provided that the company pay in addition, at once, the sum of $7,000 to the city to reimburse them for the appraisal, said $7,000 not to apply on rates in the future."

Makes Same Terms

George J. Keller, manager of the water company, in a letter read before the council Friday night made the same terms except for the payment of the appraisal of the water company by the city: "This company proposes that it will make a reduction of its rates to metered customers, which will, when based on the consumption by metered consumers for 1932 reduce the income from the sale of water alone from $125,000, which was the income in 1931, to $118,000 in 1932."

Mr. Keller last night intimated that his company would refuse to pay for the city's appraisal but was in sympathy with the rate reduction. He said that one of the owners of the plant, which is a part of Peoples Light and Power company, which, in turn, is a part of the Tri-Utilities system in New York, would be here next week to take up the matter of rate reduction with the council.

See Excess Revenue

The report of the city appraisers, Burns, McDonnell company and Charles A. Hanks, both of Kansas City, which was read before the council Oct. 17, stated that on the basis of replacement value the company made an excess revenue in 1931 of $19,809 and suggested an $18,000 yearly reduction in revenue.

Wait Five Days? We'll Call It Off!

BOSTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Gilda Gray, the dancer, and Arthur Jarrett, the singer, applied for a marriage license at the Boston city hall today, but when informed they could not get the five day law waived without the sanction of a judge they abandoned their plans—for the present at least.

When told they would have to see the judge to get the waiver, Miss Gray turned to Jarrett and said: "Well, you're not going to cry, are you?"

Robins Back to Normality, Doctor Says

Amnesia Victim Sees, Recognizes Wife, Nephew

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—Col. Raymond Robins was reported by his physician to have recovered his memory and recognized his wife and nephew late today.

The prohibition leader, who was apparently suffering from a lapse of memory when he was identified in the Great Smoky mountains Friday after being missing more than two months, had previously denied knowing Mrs. Robins and John Dreier, the nephew, and insisted he was the victim of mistaken identification.

Memory Restored

Mrs. Robins went this afternoon to the hospital where her husband had been placed for medical attention under Dr. Mark A. Griffin, psychiatrist. A short time later Dreier was called into the room. A few minutes later he came out and issued a statement which he said was authorized by Dr. Griffin.

The statement said that Robins' memory was "apparently restored," and that "he seems well on the way to normal health."

Knows Wife

"Colonel Robins recognized his wife in their meeting this afternoon and greeted his nephew by name a short time later."

"With his memory apparently restored, he seems well on the way to normal health."

"Colonel Robins is still in need of rest and will not be disturbed."

Mrs. Robins spent virtually the entire afternoon with her husband. They ate dinner together in the colonel's hospital room.

Sister 'Overjoyed'

Hospital attaches said Robins recognized his wife a few minutes after she entered his room.

"I am overjoyed," Mary Dreier, sister of Mrs. Robins, quoted the latter as saying.

Miss Dreier added that the family considers the recognition a most happy ending to the case.

Beard Shaved

Early this afternoon a barber was called to the hospital to shave off the two months growth of beard which all but hid Colonel Robins' features. The noted social worker was clean shaven when his wife arrived at the hospital to begin her visit. He was wearing his overall jumper suit, however.

Dr. Griffin, who said he was up all of last night, declined to amplify on his original short statement for the present.

Hold Man for Assault

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Police were holding Mike Brislawn, 40, of Central City, for assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. The charge grew out of the alleged stabbing of Leo Holub of Prairieburg in a quarrel over some money.

Complete Arrangements for Union Thanksgiving Service, Distribution of Provisions

Congregational Pastor Will Give Main Address

With the completion of final plans for the union Thanksgiving service of all Iowa City churches, the Rev. C. C. Garrigues, pastor of the Christian church and chairman of the committee on arrangements, was hopeful yesterday that the affair would prove to be one of the largest of its kind ever held here.

"Public interest in the service," he said, "continues to increase and the unanimity of thought and action among the service clubs, the church groups, and the citizens generally is most inspiring."

Expect Donations

A great store of all kinds of food-stuffs and other provisions is expected to be on hand at the American Legion Community building in time for the social service league to sort it and distribute it to needy families Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

Ask for Food

All donations to the "Harvest Home" supply will be left at the American Legion Community building today, tomorrow, or Thanksgiving morning. Gifts of any kind of food-stuffs not of a perishable nature will be gladly accepted by the committee.

A special cash offering will be taken at the Thanksgiving service. Both the "Harvest Home" donations and the cash offering will be administered by the social service league for the benefit of needy families.

The Rev. Richard E. McEvoy, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church and president of the Iowa City ministerial association, will preside at the service and the Rev. Evans A. Worthley, pastor of the Unitarian church, will lead the singing.

South Dakota Police Hold Two Suspected of Escaping Anamosa

SIOUX CITY, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two men, believed to have escaped from Anamosa reformatory Nov. 13 are being held in South Dakota, according to information received here tonight.

The men, believed to be Alvin Millage, 29, and Reuben Rush, 27, both of Sioux City, were identified by South Dakota police as the men who escaped the Iowa prison. Rush also is known as Jack Harrison.

Together with B. May, 30, they were arrested at Winner, S. Dak., in connection with an alleged attempt to rob Vern Sankey, farmer in Gann, S. Dak.

Millage and Rush waived preliminary hearing on the robbery attempt charge and are held for the grand jury under $2,000 bonds.

Boy Slayers Await Trial for Murders

Varecha, 17; Arnold, 16, Seek to Enter Insanity Pleas

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two teen age boys, caught in the tolls of a law that forbids murder, waited in cells tonight for the punishment of the killer.

The one bold, boastful, conscienceless—James "Iggy" Varecha, twice an inmate of a state institution for epileptics and now, at 17, the confessed marauder who shot to death Frank Jordan in a midnight gun spree and then, it is alleged, abducted and attacked the niece of a deputy police commissioner.

The other slight, mild mannered, 16 year old Bert Arnold—self contained as he admitted hammering to death the grandmother who chided him; wailing under the protective arm his father laid, comforting, about his shoulders.

Justice moved more swiftly to put away Varecha, the fugitive from a state hospital.

Evidence Withheld
Indictment for the crimes of murder, assault to kill, shooting, and robbery came at noon. Evidence of the alleged attacks upon the girl he kidnaped Wednesday night was withheld, ostensibly because she was not yet able to confront a grand jury with her story.

At 2 p.m. Varecha went before Chief Justice Prystalski in criminal court. Yesterday it had been: "Take my picture lighting a cigaret to show how calm I am." But braggadocio was gone now, and before the judge stood the cringing lad, hands fidgeting a grey cap, lips mumbling answers to the routine questions of the court.

"Not guilty," he murmured to the indictment for murder. Had he a lawyer? No, nor relatives in court, although his mother had been notified to come. The court appointed a public defender. Assistant State's Attorney Butler expressed a wish to try Varecha at once. "The boy was led away to his cell. Wednesday he will be arraigned for trial."

What quirk of mind impelled these youngsters to kill?

Alienists Testify
Alienists stood by as they confessed. "Iggy," swaggering, had said he'd get 99 years, never the "chair," for hadn't he been sent up to the state hospital twice?"

Alienists watched as young Arnold was brought back from Mt. Carroll, Ill., to a broken hearted father and step mother who could scarcely speak the comfort they meant to impart. In their embrace, unprotesting, he sobbed bitterly. It seemed that only then he began to realize the tragedy of which he was the center.

"A superior boy," a Riverside minister said.

BROKE HUBBY'S FLIGHT RECORD

A minimum of baggage was carried by Amy Johnson, famous British aviatrix, as she left Lympne airport, England, on her long flight to Cape Town, South Africa. Here Miss Johnson is shown just before she boarded her plane, The Desert Cloud. Although delayed by oil trouble in West Africa, Miss Johnson, who in private life is Mrs. James A. Mollison, bettered by more than 10 hours the four-day, 17-hour record of her husband for the flight to Cape Town. Map in insert shows the route flown by the intrepid woman, over jungle and desert.

Lowell Resigns Position as Head of Harvard University

One of Nation's Leaders in Education Held Post 23 Years

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21 (AP)—Abbott Lawrence Lowell, one of the world's foremost educators and for the last 23 years president of Harvard university, resigned today.

Lowell found Harvard a comparatively small institution of 3,882 students and an endowment of only $22,716,753 when he took office on May 19, 1909. As the twenty-fourth president of this country's oldest college, he will leave it with more than 8,000 students and the largest endowment of any institution of higher learning in America, $123,415,390.

He leaves it richer, too, because of many revolutionary departures from educational tradition which have made Harvard one of the most widely discussed universities in the world.

No Reason Given
No reason was given for Dr. Lowell's resignation in a tersely worded announcement. Attention was called, however, to the fact that he will be 76 within a month and that it has long been known he desired to continue to hold office only until the recently created house plan was in smooth operation.

The fellows of the college and the members of the board of overseers to whom Dr. Lowell submitted his resignation accepted it with regret.

Saying he had talked of possible beer legislation to the chief executive, but declining to give any direct reaction by the president, the Illinois representative nevertheless told newspapermen gathered around him that "New Year's will be celebrated in real beer rather than poor wine."

Several hours after Britten had returned to Capitol Hill, Theodore Joslin, secretary to the president, said at a press conference that "the president declined to discuss the subject with Mr. Britten."

When informed of this statement, the Illinois legislator, long an advocate of modification of the Volstead law, replied:

"I do not wish to enter into a controversy with Mr. Joslin," he said, "but as he was not in the room when I talked with the president he is thoroughly unqualified to say what really transpired during our conference."

Completion of Bridge Allows Traffic Over New Pavement Strip

Through traffic on U. S. highway 6 was routed over the new strip of pavement behind University hospital yesterday following the completion Saturday of the new Woolfe avenue bridge over the interurban tracks and the highway.

The new pavement was opened to local traffic nearly two months ago, but was not officially opened as a part of the through highway because of construction work in progress on the bridge.

The portion of the bridge over the highway was constructed by the state highway department and is built of steel girders and concrete. The remainder, above the tracks of the interurban, was built by the railway and is of wood piling.

Hitler Named to Form New Cabinet Body

Delays Action Because Hindenburg Terms Not Liberal

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP)—After nine years of striving, Adolf Hitler today received a mandate to form a cabinet, but it was under conditions which, immediately at least, he could not accept.

The Nazi leader had a 15 minute interview with President von Hindenburg in which, a government communique said, "he declared himself most emphatically to the president of the reich that his party could cooperate only in a government led by himself."

The president handed him a written memorandum setting forth that certain things in the reich must not be tampered with if the Nazis took over the government, and late tonight Hitler replied with a letter in which, it was understood, he emphasized that the restrictions expressed by President von Hindenburg were too narrow.

The contents of the Hitler letter were not made public, but it was learned that the Nazi leader did not close the door. The way for an authoritarian presidential cabinet under Hitler leadership still could be established, he said.

Remain Hopeful
The Nazi leader's advisers remain hopeful that President von Hindenburg would consider wholly reasonable their chief's demand, as the head of the largest party in Germany, to be invested with the highest political power in the reich.

One of the conditions set forth in the Von Hindenburg memorandum was a declaration that there must be no tampering with the reichswehr, the government's emergency decrees, the federal commissioner-ship over Prussia, the foreign policy, and article 48 of the constitution, which provides the government with drastic powers to deal with emergencies.

Hands Bound
It was Hitler's belief that no statesman with his hands thus bound could assume responsibility. The question, therefore, reverted once again to President von Hindenburg, whose answer to the Hitler letter tomorrow is awaited with greatest interest by all Germany.

In today's interview the president also insisted that a Hitler cabinet would have to be backed by "a majority or almost a majority" of the reichstag. This demand entailed the question of negotiations with other political parties, as the Nazis, although the strongest party in the reichstag, are considerably short of a majority.

Will Consider Disarmament
It was taken as certain, however, that Mr. Hoover will speak of European disarmament in close connection with his talk of debts. The possibility was voiced unofficially that this might be a counter proposal to foreign debtor requests for relief, involving his own proposal for a one third slash in world arms.

Still another allied subject probably will be discussed.

Faculty Members Discuss Phases of Spinoza's Life

The philosophy department of the University of Iowa will sponsor a program today commemorating the Spinoza tercentenary. The program has been entitled, "An hour with Spinoza," and is to be given at 4:10 this afternoon in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Various phases of the life of Spinoza will be presented by faculty members of the philosophy department. Spinoza the man, the moralist, and the contemporary thinker are to be the topics of Professors Herbert E. Martin, Bono Tapper, and Herbert Feigl, all of the philosophy department. In addition, Prof. Moses Jung of the school of religion will discuss Spinoza's contribution to religion.

Will Attempt to Settle U.S. Debt Policies

President Prepared to Put Up Definite Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Prepared for tomorrow's momentous debt talk with Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Hoover tonight held ready to place upon that conference table a definite program, possibly to include recommendations for revival of the war debt commission.

Even as the chief executive rounded out his plans in a series of parleys with his seconds and advisers, however, renewed opposition to the re-creation of the debt commission resounded on Capitol Hill.

John Moratorium Dies
Meanwhile, also, another twist was added to the already complex debt problem as Czechoslovakia deposited at the state department—alongside those of Great Britain, France and Belgium—a note asking suspension of its $1,500,000 payment due December 15.

Secretary Mills, who will assist the president tomorrow, conferred twice with him today. Whether Mr. Hoover may abandon his previous sponsorship of re-establishing the debt commission in the face of heavy congressional opposition, the treasury secretary would not say. Interrogated by newspapermen, he said, smiling:

"Such an organization would be very helpful right now . . ."

Mills said that "of course the president has his own definite ideas on this whole debt question and I suppose they will be talked over with Mr. Roosevelt."

Await Roosevelt's Ideas
"The interesting thing, however," he said, "is what Mr. Roosevelt is going to do, and what his ideas will be."

Mills foresaw three possibilities arising from tomorrow's meeting, a joint program evolved by the president and the president-elect, a program sent to Capitol Hill by Mr. Hoover, or suggestions given by Mr. Roosevelt to Democratic leaders and enacted by congress.

During the day White House aides shifted plans for the reception to the New York governor. The scene of the meeting was changed from the executive offices, and set instead for the Lincoln study on the second floor of the White House proper.

May Go Direct to White House
Thus Mr. Roosevelt, after his train arrives at 3:30 p.m. can drive directly to the mansion. An elevator is located near this driveway entrance which could carry the president-elect close to the conference room.

Details of the chief executive's plans for dealing with the foreign debt tangle were as closely guarded as ever during the day as he conferred more than two hours with Secretary Stimson and even longer with Mills.

"Lots of hard work," Stimson remarked to newspapermen as he left the executive offices late this afternoon, carrying a bulging brief case and accompanied by a secretary. But he would say no more.

Will Consider Disarmament
It was taken as certain, however, that Mr. Hoover will speak of European disarmament in close connection with his talk of debts. The possibility was voiced unofficially that this might be a counter proposal to foreign debtor requests for relief, involving his own proposal for a one third slash in world arms.

Still another allied subject probably will be discussed.

Dean Gilmore Discusses 18th Amendment in Law Review

In the November issue of the Iowa Law Review, which appears today, Dean Eugene A. Gilmore of the college of law in his article, "Liberalizing the Volstead Act," writes that beer cannot be made generally available until the state laws pertaining to the prohibition of intoxicating beverages are liberalized.

"Even granting that the federal courts would accept a liberal definition of intoxicating liquor by Congress, the state courts would still be free to adhere to the more strict standard now fixed in their own statutes or recognized in their own decisions, and presumably they would continue to do so," the dean says in his article.

States Protected

In writing of the effect that would be produced if some of the states did pass legislation, with the liberalizing of the Volstead act, Dean Gilmore explained that even though there are a few states which have already liberalized their laws, and assuming that others may do so, those states which are dry and desire to remain so, would be protected from having liquor brought in from wet states by the Wilson act, the Webb-Kenyon act, and the Reed amendment.

"These federal laws, so long as their prohibition features are not inconsistent with the amendment and the Volstead act, are still in force, he asserts.

Legal Effect

"In closing, the dean says: "... it would seem that a liberalized Volstead act, if sustained by the United States supreme court, would have legal effect only in the federal courts and in places under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States. Its effect elsewhere would depend upon the extent to which it was adopted by the states and sustained by their courts."

Dean Herbert F. Goodrich of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, formerly a professor in the college of law here, has contributed one of the book reviews in this issue.

Donald D. Holdrege of the law firm of Stipp, Perry, Bannister, and Starzinger of Des Moines, is also the author of a book review.

Self-Segregation Policy Should Go, Says Root of U. S.

That the United States can no longer afford to carry on the self-segregation policy she maintained during the period of her growth from 1750 to the beginning of the twentieth century was the opinion expressed by Prof. Winfred T. Root, head of the history department, in a lecture yesterday morning.

The talk was given before Prof. George G. Andrews' class in European history, in the course of which Professor Root traced the forces which caused the separation of the American colonies from the European nations.

Professor Root showed how a fortunate chain of circumstances, all collaborated to lead to the great rise of the American nation in so short a time. He noted how the distance of the colonies from Europe led to their exercising a considerable degree of self-government though supposedly under the control of England. A separation in ideals, the persecuted of Europe settling America, helped to further this distance between the continents.

Wants Insurance for Jobless, Six Hour Day, Beer

CINCINNATI, Nov. 21 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today launched what its president termed its "sternest struggle" against want.
"The eyes of the masses of the people are upon us," President William Green told the delegates in outlining the federation's problems at the opening of the fifty-second annual convention.
He spoke from a marble dais in the luxuriant hall of mirrors of a downtown hotel. Before him, more than 300 representatives of millions of workers listened from chairs at long tables.
"Work for Worker"
"We are here to work for the worker. We hope to make a valuable contribution here toward the reconstruction of our impaired capitalistic structure," he declared.
He said the executive council already had suggested steps looking toward the "improvement of conditions," one the six hour day and a five day week, the other compulsory unemployment insurance. Of the latter, he declared:
"We will go out and call upon the legislatures of the various states to enact proposed unemployment insurance into law."
Outline Plan
The plan, the council specified, would be adopted in every state, paid for by employers, and administered by a state commission. Its benefits would not be denied to those "out of work because of a trade dispute, or if non-membership in a labor union was a condition of employment."
Many other subjects were covered in the report. The council expressed the opinion action to legalize "real beer" will be taken at the short session of congress, convening Dec. 5.
Urges Program
The report voiced opposition to a sales tax; urged a seven point economic program by the government to obtain "more equitable distribution of income"; advocated restoration of former wage scales of government employees; asked modification

St. Pat Pupils Honor St. Cecilia

The music department of St. Patrick's school presented a program last week in the school auditorium in honor of St. Cecilia.
The students taking part in the concert were: Mary Catherine Roberts, Mary Frances Regan, Margaret Lenz, Dolores Hess, Edmund Gates, Mary Elizabeth McCollister and Margaret Ann Love. The orchestra and the first year girls presented several selections.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE PILGRIM'S FIRST WINTER

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Herbert Rouse, celebrated painter...inspired by the bitter hardships endured by America's first settlers in their conflict with raw, wild nature (1620). "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

their one most important effort was to avoid the mistakes of the French revolutionists. If human progress is more than a myth, the accumulated experience of mankind should be one of its great storehouses.

Better Arbitrate

WHETHER or not some lone student's money-making scheme that ended in disaster for all concerned will result in the curtailment of all-university parties for the rest of the year is a matter of considerable speculation.

Nothing can be gained by the dissenting factions boycotting university parties, leaving the latter functions "in the hole" to the extent of the non-participation. And by the same token, nothing can be gained by the student council in continuing present policies.

We hear that the Republican party is dead, or that it must be reorganized, or that it will not win again for 29 years. But the Republican party will not die so long as the Democratic party lives.

TODAY'S TOPICS

Now in this matter of war debts: In the first place, the United States loaned something like $10,338,000,000 to foreign nations, 41 per cent of which went to Great Britain, 33 per cent to France, 16 per cent to Italy, and the rest to a lot of others.

In the second place, the borrowers agreed to pay, principal and interest, about $22,188,000,000; 50 per cent from Great Britain, 31 per cent from France, 11 per cent from Italy, and the rest from the lot of others.

In the third place, the borrowers to date have paid something like $2,328,000,000; 73 per cent by Great Britain, 18 per cent by France, 4 per cent by Italy, and the rest from the "all others," which leaves, as can readily be seen, a lot of money still due.

When President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt meet in conference today to round out a definite plan of action on the war debt situation, they will be confronted with a set of inescapable facts pertinent to their problem.

In December, the lame duck session of the seventy-second congress will convene, probably adverse to cancellation. In March, the U. S. will inaugurate a new president, who can call a special session of the seventy-third congress that will be friendly toward his proposals.

Barring the probability of a lame duck session support for his plans, Roosevelt might well place before Hoover the proposition of a six months moratorium on war debts, giving the president-elect an opportunity to confront his own legislative body with whatever plan is finally evolved.

Roosevelt's proposal for tariff reduction to give foreign debtors an opportunity to pay their debts out of money saved on duties is more in line with the taxpayer's interests than the Hoover opposition to non-cancellation.

The situation eventually narrows down to a question of whether U. S. taxpayers will shoulder the debts in the form of increased levies, or whether U. S. investors will take the loss incurred by inevitable reduction if the tariff plan fails.

Looming on the international horizon is another factor of deep importance to the conferees, a matter that Hoover has taken into consideration in formulating his plans for today's meeting with his successor. The world monetary and economic conference, the date of which is still undecided, will probably convene before March and last until some time later.

If a six months moratorium is arranged, the problem of war debt payment can be met at such a conference, giving each nation an opportunity to air its views, and giving the U. S. delegates an opportunity to size up the situation at first hand.

In some manner the position of the taxpayer and the investor must be equalized, if either of those groups are to be satisfied or justly met. Some method whereby debtor nations may meet reduced obligations—if only to enable them to meet any obligation at all—may be the logical way out.

At any rate, whatever results are reached by the president and president-elect after today's conference must necessarily meet with the wholehearted support of those directly in the line of influence. Ratification of the U. S. plan should be made by a special session of the congress more nearly in accord with the desires of the people.

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD - By HARRISON CARROLL

STUDIO GOSSIP. FILM SCANDAL. SCREEN COMMENT. HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Though both star and director are maintaining a policy of silence, Hollywood whispers that an important development impends in the affairs of Marlene Dietrich and Joseph von Sternberg. Ostensibly, work progresses on the story they are scheduled to do for Paramount, but the starting date is not definite and December is almost here. As both contracts expire this year, it will be necessary to make special holdover arrangements if the picture is made. This, of course, is a fairly ordinary procedure and certain studio officials predict that such a move will be made. Questioned on the subject, or in fact upon anything connected with the scheduled picture, von Sternberg replies there is nothing to say. I haven't talked to Miss Dietrich, but her attorney, Ralph Blum, is equally uncommunicative. As a matter of fact, the only thing known about the picture is that von Sternberg flew to the South Atlantic coast in a supposed attempt to photograph a hurricane.

Questions that Hollywood is asking itself are: (1) What is the mysterious story upon which so much time is being spent? (2) What is back of the silence of von Sternberg? (3) Will the pair sign a new contract with Paramount? A certain producer is noted for going into a state of fitters whenever bad weather or unforeseen difficulties hold up one of his companies. The other day he burst upon a set where a harassed director had been trying all day to get a single scene with some animals. "Look here," shouted the producer. "You know you not only are ruining me financially but are destroying my health as well! I can't sleep at night. I pace the floor. Just this morning, my wife told me I am looking all drawn." The director eyed him vindictively. "You mean overdrawn, don't you?" he snapped. A cable from M-G-M's "Pig Boats" troupe in Hawaii says that they will arrive home at noon on Thanksgiving day. This means that Robert Montgomery, Jimmie Durante, Robert Young, Eugene Pallette and Jack Conway will eat turkey with their families. Gloria Stuart is back from that personal appearance trip to New York and very disappointed because the air journey east was too foggy for her to see land more than a couple of times. Incidentally, did you know that this blonde Universal actress is married to Gordon Newell, the sculptor? Estelle Taylor writes that she will be in the east for some time to come. Meanwhile boyfriend John Warburton was lunching at Al Levy's Tavern yesterday with Julia Faye. "Saw Grant Withers there, too, talking to Lilian Roth. Bob Armetronn packages that Buddy Rogers is a real boy who made good." Unable to accept an invitation to address a New York university class on screen adaptation, Howard Estabrook sent 140 records into which he spoke the entire script of "Cimarron."

Experts Give Testimony in Coin Slaying

Identifies Death-Bullet as From Gun of Suspect

DAVENPORT, Nov. 21 (AP)—Harold Gesell, ballistic expert of the Iowa state department of justice, occupied the stand this afternoon in the trial of Louis Sprigden of Muscatine for the murder of Nick Coin, former Davenport liquor chief.

Gesell said that in his opinion at least one of three shells found near the scene of Coin's slaying was fired from the .12 gauge automatic shotgun seized at Sprigden's home following his arrest.

Defense attorneys attacked the competence of the witness as an expert on the ground that he had been in the work only three years and had never before testified in a case involving the examination of a shotgun.

Introduce Evidence
The three shells, photographic evidence of the tests and photographs of the shells enlarged 75 times were introduced as exhibits over the objections of defense attorneys.

Seth Ward, Northwestern university ballistic expert, gave testimony similar to Gesell's at the morning session. The report of Ward's conclusions was admitted only after many objections by the defense.

Attorney H. M. Bartlett cross-examined the witness, attacking the certainty of the theory and tests to the effect that every gun leaves distinctive markings on shells fired by it.

"No Two the Same"
"In about 400,000 guns of the same kind," Ward was asked, "do you, having seen only about 50, maintain that no two are the same?"

"I believe they are not," the witness replied.

Further testimony from ballistic experts is to be heard tomorrow.

Design Proficiency Medal
The military department is now working on a medal to be awarded basic cadets for proficiency in the manual of arms. A general order will be issued shortly giving the requirements necessary to win this medal, according to Lieut. Col. Converse R. Lewis, professor of military science and tactics.

The net loss of Michigan farmers keeping records in 1931 averaged $767, as compared to $263 in 1930 and a profit of $885 in 1929.

After College WHAT?

Journalism?

Thomas W. Gerber of the executive staff of the United Press says: "Seeking, reporting, interpreting and distributing news is today a complex business, an exciting profession, a responsible career. It is a field only for serious-minded, clear-thinking men and women. The day of romantic, adventurous assignments is largely over."

There's no more "newspaper game." Today, it's a business—still exciting, but calling for all-round resourcefulness. That's why newspaper men agree with college men in choosing a pipe as their favorite smoke. A pipe helps a man organize his mind for clear thinking.

Why did college men choose Edgeworth as their favorite smoking tobacco? Because it's individual! A blend of fine old burleys that's different. But the proof of the pudding is in the eating. So drop a line to Larus & Bro. Co., 188 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va., and let them send you a free sample of Edgeworth to try before you buy. You'll like it!

A recent investigation showed Edgeworth the favorite smoke at 42 out of 54 leading colleges.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Kissing Burglar

Edna Berg, 15 year old burglar of Randolph, Mass., is shown in Boston after her arrest as she confessed to police that she had committed 40 robberies, single-handed. Questioned, the young girl admitted that her total score might be nearer 100. On one occasion, she said, she was trapped in a young man's apartment but kissed her way out of an arrest.

Students Will Take Medical Exam Dec. 9

Those young men or women of the University of Iowa who now have vague ideas about starting the study of medicine next fall soon must decide definitely about their plans for the future.

For it was announced yesterday by Registrar H. C. Dorcas that the medical aptitude test, required by the Association of American Medical Colleges, will be given here Dec. 9.

Successful candidates will become eligible to begin work in the fall of 1933, either in the Iowa medical college or in any other member of the association.

The test will determine whether the student is fitted to enter the exacting medical course. One of its purposes is to eliminate those persons who possess little talent for the study and are unlikely to succeed. Nearly 10,000 persons in the United States underwent the test a year ago.

Textbook Art Lost Since Erasmus, Says Prof. J. C. McCalliard

Erasmus was the first professional scholar in the modern sense, Prof. John C. McCalliard of the English department told his audience in a lecture on "Humanism in the north" given yesterday in Old Capitol.

The northern humanists differed from the earlier Italians in that they sought to combine religion and scholarship in a Christian humanism, he said. Erasmus was the foremost of these northern scholars—the representative man of the Renaissance.

It was not the body or the soul, but the mind, which most interested Erasmus, although he did not deny the others their just due, Professor McCalliard said.

Erasmus influenced his age in three ways: by his energetic personality as a scholar; by his textbooks, which did much to change existing ideas; and by his creative work in the field of "belles lettres."

"The art of writing textbooks which are also literature has apparently been lost since Erasmus," Professor McCalliard declared.

The famous scholar had a keen distaste for ritual and dogma, and

Welfare Division Enrollment Increases Six Times Since '28

Has Become Integral Part of Extension Department

Beginning with a few courses offered in the college of commerce in 1928-29, the social welfare division has grown to a point where its enrollment is six times as great as when it was started, and where it is recognized as an integral part of the extension division.

Originally the division had only part-time workers, but as it grew it became necessary to call in workers from the extension division, and to have at least one full-time worker, as well as several part-time workers. E. M. Sunley joined the staff as full time case worker. Prof. Ina T. Tyler and several others devote part of their time to the work of the division. Prof. T. Dale Yoder heads the staff.

Extends Work
At the outset it was intended that training would be given for family social work. Later the course was expanded to include students in psychiatric social work. In the near future, the division hopes to offer special courses in medical social work, with the cooperation of the University hospital, and training for parole and probation workers.

Students in psychiatric social work spend a little more than half their time working at Psychopathic hospital. Only graduate students are enrolled in this type of work.

Undergraduate students are given training in case work in the local social service league and the local probation office. These students work under the joint supervision of Lucille Bruner and Mrs. Mable Evans, in charge of the respective organizations, and Mr. Sunley.

Graduate students do field work on cases in 22 county organizations and Des Moines social service agencies. Their work is supervised by Mr. Sunley and Professor Tyler.

Some of the students work in cooperation with the child welfare station when they are most interested in child reclamation and the problems of child welfare.

More Women
Women are in the majority among the more than 90 students in the division. Paradoxical as it seems, there is less difficulty in placing men in positions after they receive training, and men usually get more lucrative positions, according to Professor Yoder.

The importance of social welfare workers was recognized when a report by a state legislative committee on means of reducing the budget urged that every county immediately appoint a social worker to handle poor relief. Although such a step would involve hiring another person in many communities, the committee believed it would really be an economy measure.

The importance of social workers has grown since the beginning of the depression. The amount of work they have to handle has increased greatly. Because of the help they have been able to offer, they have become of much greater value than ever before in the schemes of each county for aiding the needy.

The husk covering of an ear of corn often is an important indication of the character of the seed, often overlooked by judges, agricultural authorities now declare.

attacked abuses of the religion and learning of his time. Much of his work has been absorbed in the advance of learning of the last three centuries.

EXPLANATION OF SUNDAY'S CARTOON

The state of Jefferson: On Nov. 6, 1858, the "Pike Peakers," after organizing the new county of Arapahoe in what is now Colorado, petitioned the government of Washington, D. C., asking for the establishment of a separate government under the name of the "Territory of Jefferson."

The demand was later amended by the request to give the new unit the status of a state, without passing through a territorial form. In October, 1859, the elected delegates met at Auraria and adopted a constitution, drafted by the region, provided for a legislature, and in the end elected R. W. Steels governor of Jefferson. Due to conflicting claims on the part of the surrounding territories, the state of Jefferson had only a brief life. On Feb. 28, 1861, President Buchanan signed the Colorado bill, in which the new unit was given the status of a territory under the name the state bears today.

President Walter A. Jessup reported on a recent meeting of the North American Board for the Study of Religion in Higher Education, an organization of which he is a member and which is actively interested in the university's school of religion.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, administrative director of the school, gave a report on the work of the school during the present school year.

Debaters Will Start Practice

Freshmen, Women Will Meet Tonight in Auditorium

Meetings tonight at 7 o'clock in liberal arts auditorium will open practice for the freshman debate squad and the women's teams in Western conference debate.

A conference will be the feature of the women's meeting. Each woman will be prepared to discuss briefly either the affirmative or the negative of the Western conference women's question:

"Resolved, that the federal government should own and control all radio broadcasting stations."

An attempt will be made to analyze the question from the viewpoints of both sides.

Debate Topics
Freshmen will debate on the subject: "Resolved, that at least 50 percent of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than taxes on tangible property."

A series of 20 minute debates will be held, one speaker upholding each side of the question. The speakers, as announced by Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of university debate, are as follows:

George Palmer, A1 of Omaha, Neb., vs. Ansel Chapman, A1 of Iowa City, 7 o'clock; Jack Siddens, A1 of Council Bluffs, vs. Harry Kotler, E1 of Davenport, 7:30.

Speakers
Bob Rosenfeld, A1 of Council Bluffs, vs. Arthur Barnes, A1 of Eagle Grove, 8 o'clock; Loyal Keir, A1 of Sioux City, vs. Purnell Mahoney, A1 of Sioux City, 8:30.

Teams for freshman intercollegiate debate will be chosen from these speakers on the basis of their showings in these preliminary debates.

Professor Pearce on International Board

As one of the four Americans, Prof. James N. Pearce of the University of Iowa now is serving on the international board of editors of the Journal of Physical Chemistry.

Professor Pearce was chosen for the position by the American Chemical society, sponsor of the publication. The board consists of eight men, including four cooperating British chemists.

Four Juniors Debate Case

Law Students Appear Tonight Before Trial Court

Arguing their case before Judge J. G. Patterson of the sixth judicial district of Okaloosa, who is himself a graduate of the law class of 1901, four juniors will present the third of the series of four law club practice trials at 7:15 this evening in the court room of the law building.

Floyd E. Ensign of Hawarden, Fred M. Hagen of Ames, Leonard S. Nelson of Boone, and Harold F. Reynolds of Dubuque are the attorneys in the case, which concerns the ownership of two pieces of property in Des Moines.

Wrote Deed
Cyrus Matthews, the case states, made out a deed purporting to convey the "city property which I own in the city of Des Moines, Iowa."

This deed he gave to Oscar Plum with the instructions that it should be given to Alfonso Matthews upon the death of Cyrus, unless prior to that time Cyrus should recall the deed. Alfonso took possession of the property on Cyrus' death.

Rudolph Matthews, son of Cyrus, sought the title to the property, he being the direct heir. A trial court found in favor of Alfonso, and Rudolph now appeals to the Supreme court.

Asks Reversal
Rudolph, in asking for this reversal, bases his objections to the decision of previous trial on four grounds: that the trial court erred in holding that the description of the property in the deed included all of Cyrus' property within Des Moines; that it erred in holding that the placing of the deed in the hands of Plum constituted sufficient delivery; that the court again erred in holding that the retention of control over the deed by Cyrus did not invalidate it; and that it erred still again in giving operative effect to an instrument void under the statute of wills.

Ensign and Hagen will serve as attorneys for the son, Rudolph, while Nelson and Reynolds will represent Alfonso.

Twenty-Seven Candidates Report to Coach Rollie Williams for Cage Drills

SPORT

by EUGENE THORNE

BACK from Northwestern safe and sound, and convinced that Coach Ossie Solem should have had "Maggy" toss two shoes over the goal posts Friday night. At least, the Hawkeyes didn't get any breaks, although they played some good football, and had an offense that gave the Wildcats plenty of trouble. It was a tough way to end the season, but Ossie still has the confidence of both players and Iowa fans. Already they are forecasting better times for next year, and I'm with 'em.

Because the good Professor Jitters who so kindly and efficiently took charge of the column over the week end, had a hemorrhage and failed to remind any readers of this column that the dead line on all-Iowa stadium team selections must get into the mail by midnight last night, the said dead line has been extended so that any selections that are in the office by 6 o'clock tonight will be accepted. The final choice, which will be by consensus of the fans' teams, will appear in tomorrow's paper, and the person who came the closest to naming the correct eleven will get, as announced, his two tickets to any basketball game on the Iowa court.

INTEREST in basketball is greater than usual this season. The rumor has gone around that Rollie Williams has got a lot of good boys that should make it tough for any team in the conference, and the fans are finding out for themselves. Although practice only got under way in dead earnest yesterday afternoon, the north side of the court was lined with addicts, watching the squad work. There are some of the men that look almost in mid-season form all ready when it comes to flipping in shots. The ball was swishing through the net from all angles, propelled from almost every position. It looks now as though Rollie will have a plenty good team this year. Hope instructors, the Big Ten officials and all others who have been causing Iowa teams trouble don't find it out.

Irish Complete Cage Schedule

Coach Conner Works on Offense in Drill

With his squad list reduced to 15 men, Coach Dick Conner sent his proteges through their first offensive drill last night. The combination which saw the most work consisted of Al Burger and Bill Smith at forwards, Joe Pugh and Joe Glenn at guards, and Ossie Pinney at center.

Three men who are counted on to produce a good brand of basketball this winter are laid up temporarily. Dennis Emanuel and Ray Floerchinger, guards, have had colds and Vince Weirich, forward, is still bothered by his injured foot which he received in basketball.

Emmett Wilkinson who served as head football coach this season is now helping Coach Conner as assistant coach.

The schedule has been completed with the exception of an open date on Dec. 20. The first game of the season will be played on the home court with the alumni, Dec. 5, while the first game with another high school is with St. Mary's of Clinton, here, Dec. 13.

- Following is the season's schedule:
- Dec. 5—Alumni, here.
 - Dec. 13—St. Mary's, Clinton, here.
 - Dec. 20—Open date.
 - Dec. 22—St. Pat's, Cedar Rapids, here.

Cross Country Men Compete in Medley Run at Field House

Rollie Plans Heavy Drills Until Opener

Prospects Appear Good for Hawkeyes This Winter

Basketball practice got under way in earnest for the Iowa dribblers yesterday afternoon as 27 candidates for the varsity quintet reported to Coach Rollie Williams for a long drill on fundamentals.

The session was devoted mainly to work on offense, with several combinations trying their hands at working the ball through for setups.

With less than two weeks before the opening game of the season, Coach Williams plans intensive work from now on in order to whip his proteges into shape.

Competition Keen
As yet the mentor has selected no "teams," and, with what is rated as the finest material in several seasons, the competition for places on the first string promises to be keen. The squad is rangy and fast, with several exceptional passers and dribblers. Bradley Tech, rated as one of the best cage teams among the small schools in the middle west, will oppose the Hawkeyes on the field house court Dec. 3, in a game which will mark the opening of a 17 game season, 12 of which are Western conference encounters.

The Squad
R. L. Wellstead, Howard Moffitt, Harold Swaney, Phil Thurtle, Jack Kotlow, John Miller, Ivan Blackmer, Ed Break.

60 Freshmen Report to Boelter

More than 60 freshmen turned out yesterday at the field house in response to Coach Bill Boelter's call for basketball candidates. The session was the first of the season, with practice continuing daily at 4 o'clock. Fundamentals were stressed in the opening trials, and Coach Boelter expects to continue along the lines of simple drills in shooting, passing, and team play, for the next two weeks. At the end of that time, he plans to divide the squad into sections, and match them in a freshman basketball league.

Coach Boelter was highly pleased at the size of the turnout, and expressed the belief that the yearlings would come up to the high standard set by the freshman football team. Among the candidates is the usual number of all-state and all-city players.

Teyro, Laws, Ash Leading Ball Carriers

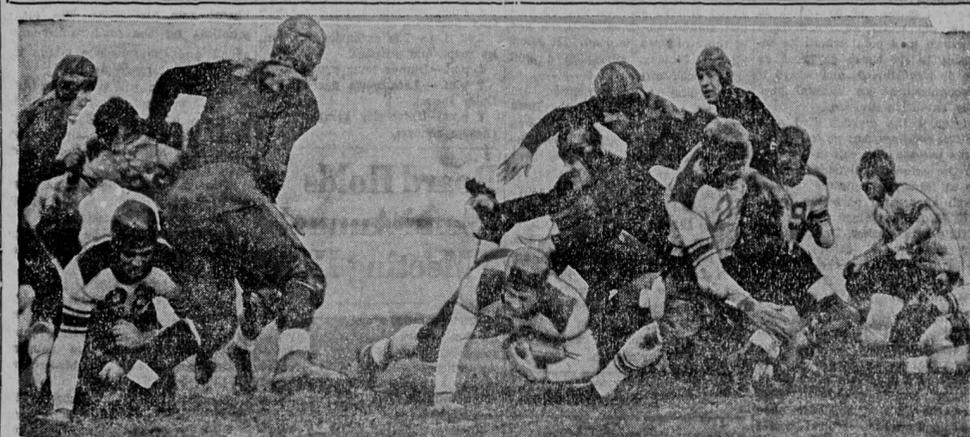

As University of Iowa football players checked in equipment at the end of the season Monday, these facts about the personal achievements of the backs were written into the records:

- (1) George Teyro, sophomore quarterback, made the greatest number of yards from scrimmage—256 in 84 trials for an average of 3 yards per try.
- (2) But William Ash, another sophomore, has the best average, 5.1 yards because he gained 264 yards in 40 attempts.
- (3) Joe Laws, senior half-back, is the leading scorer, his three touchdowns and a goal thereafter for 19 points, edging out Ash, who made 18 markers. Laws gained 4 yards per play, his figures being 231 in 57 efforts.

These are the men who have more competition remaining: ends: Harold Swaney, Voris Dickerson, Ray Fisher, and John Miller; tackles, Francis Schammel, Fred Radloff, Don Dorsey; guards, Lumir Kouba, Wilmon Hass; quarterbacks, George Teyro, Howard Moffitt; halfbacks, Herman Schneidman, Wilbur Wallace; and fullbacks, Bernard Page, William Ash.

Championship Contests Hold Grid Spotlight

Brown-Colgate Struggle May Decide Entrant in Rose Bowl

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—The half dozen standout college football games on this week's climax slate, most of them on the eastern front, in addition to their championship angles will likely decide the recipient of the much coveted invitation to the Rose Bowl classic and help settle three- or four much mooted places in the mythical all-American lineup for 1932.

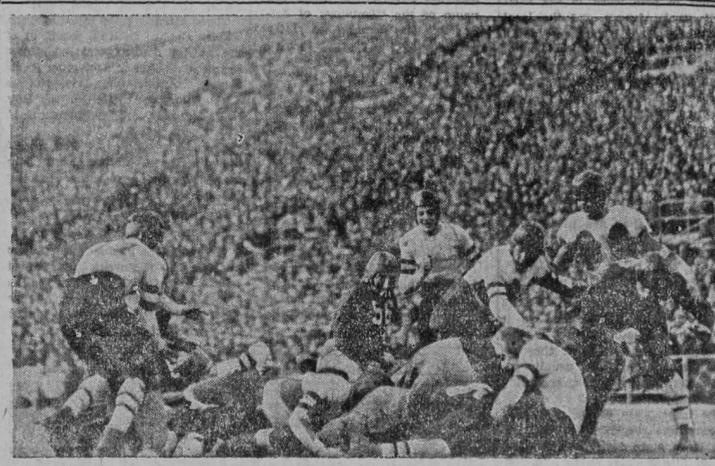

Despite an unexpected intimation that Michigan, Big Ten champion, might be in a receptive mood to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of its conquest over Stanford at Pasadena, Cal., in 1902, the chances are the Rose Bowl nomination will go to the winner of the Brown-Colgate game or to Pittsburgh, if the Panthers overthrow Stanford's Indians Saturday by a decisive margin.

Brown, Colgate Considered
Brown and Colgate, the east's only remaining untied and unbeaten arrays, both have been sounded out on the subject of making the long trip to the coast, depending on the outcome of their eastern title scrap Thanksgiving morning. Naturally, they have declined to jinx themselves by engaging in any preliminary discussion. The same thing goes for Pittsburgh, which is anxious for another crack at Southern California, if it can be arranged. Meanwhile, Southern California must dispose of Washington's Huskies, at Seattle, to clinch their place as the west coast's selection for the New Year's day classic, besides which the Trojans have Notre Dame to worry about on Dec. 10 in Los Angeles.

Stars Tested
Nothing that happens after this week, however, will have any effect on the big scramble for all-American honors. The experts, if they aren't already groggy from this annual furor, will at least be satisfied to let the results stand on what develops in such climax games as Brown-Colgate and Penn-Cornell on Thanksgiving day, Notre Dame-Army and Pittsburgh-Stanford on Saturday.

Vidal Sensation
Vidal has been the sensation of the eastern season, especially as he leaped into the limelight at West Point unheralded. This is his last season but he was never beyond the substitute stage until Army's battle with Pittsburgh. Since then he has been unstoppable. To Harvard and Yale coaches he looked as good or better than Ray Stecker or Red Cagle.

Cornell's stalwart captain, Bart Viviano, will be closely watched in his last game against Pennsylvania by experts who rate him the finest blocking and defensive back in the east. His line plunging for two straight years carried Cornell to victory over the Quakers.

Sidway Gets Test
Stanford will offer a decisive test for Joe Skladany, Pitt's all round end, as well as the backfield capabilities of Warren Heller and Mike Sebastian.

Meanwhile Michigan's Harry Newman, a vital factor throughout the season in the Wolverine's unbeaten march, appears to have clinched his place as all-American quarterback.

Ramblers All Set— Junior's Loss Gives Severe Jolt to Hawks

Coach Mike Howard Expected Star as Main Strength

A final shock was given Hawkeye wrestling hopes for the coming year when Capt. Clarence "Swede" Johnson, Junior Cherokee mat flash, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at the University hospital yesterday morning. He came through the operation safely, but will be lost to the team for the season. The stunning loss is the third and severest which the team has sustained this year. The first one came when Rollo Parmenter failed to register and the second when it was announced that Randall Whinnery, Ft. Dodge grappler who was the most outstanding yearling last year, would not compete this season.

Lost One Match

The only sure point winner on the squad, Captain Johnson was counted on as the mainstay of the team after the other setbacks which the mat men had been given. Last year he won in all but one dual meet, and that to Chicago when he was obviously sick. Minnesota, Cornell, Illinois, and State Teachers all fell before him.

In the conference meet he garnered a third place and then came back nettled at his failure to win, to take second in the state meet at Ames to Spade Harmon, who later in the year won a third in the national A.A. U. During the summer "Swede," before setting out on a hike to the west coast, entered the national Y.M. C.A. meet and topped third place as well as qualifying for the Olympic final tryouts.

Disgruntled at remaining underweight so long, for he was wrestling at 145 pounds, "Swede" decided to go up out of his class, but the opposition at 160 pounds, proved too heavy and he did not reach the finals.

Showed Improvement

On top of this record, for which he was rewarded with the captaincy by his teammates, "Swede" in the few times that he has been out showed decided improvement over his form of last year and Coach Mike Howard was satisfied that he would be hard to stop for first place contenders. His only falling before had been Ramblers All Set— For Season's Opening Game With Riverside Tomorrow.

St. Mary's Ramblers will conclude their heavy preparation for the long 17 game schedule tonight when they taper off for the opening contest of the year, that with St. Mary's of Riverside at the City high gym tomorrow night.

Taper Off Tonight

Coach Francis Susspehl has been drilling his men at a fast pace since the middle of October, and though his team will be lacking the size that Leo Gaulocher and Ralph Lumsden, graduated stars, provided last winter, he hopes to have a team on the floor that will more than make up in speed.

Nothing is known of the Riverside team's strength except that it has four returning regulars who have played through school together.

Probable Starters

The Rambler mentor will probably pick his starting lineup from the following six men: Vic Beiger and Dick Lumsden, forwards; Joe Maher, center and forward; Con-sannus, center; and John Vogt and Bob Bradley, guards.

Yearling Harriers Race in Hawkeye 2 Mile Run Today

The annual Hawkeye cross country run officially terminating the outdoor season for the year, will draw the attention of about 30 harriers this afternoon as the thin clads vie over a two mile Finkbine course for the coveted first place cup and the second and third place medals.

Something of the color of the race will be lacking this year as for the first time the runners receive medals instead of the customary turkey for first place, goose for second, duck for third, and chicken for fourth.

Lytton Report Draws Fire in Geneva Parley

Japs, Chinese Clash on Conditions as Seen in Manchuria

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 21 (AP)—Examination by the League of Nations council of the Manchurian problem in the light of the Lytton report began today with a sharp duel of debate, in which Japan's spokesman denied that his government had broken any of its international obligations and the representative of China declared that as a result of Japanese invasion "the ruthless slaughter of Chinese citizens and the wanton destruction of Chinese property are still going on."

From special reserved seats the Lytton commissioners heard Yosuke Matsuoka, for Japan, reject their findings that Japan's military action in Manchuria was unjustified, while Dr. Wellington Koo, for China, upheld their conclusion. General Frank McCoy, American member of the commission, sat with his colleagues.

Plead for Patience

The Japanese spokesman pleaded for patience and for acceptance of Japan's policy. The Chinese delegate appealed for "redress of China's wrongs."

Mr. Matsuoka denounced China as a land of disorder, and Dr. Koo replied that Japan had consistently interfered with China's efforts toward unification.

Mr. Matsuoka condemned the Chinese boycott of Japanese goods as economic warfare. Dr. Koo said it was legitimate defense against armed aggression.

Claim Self-Defense

The Japanese spokesman said that in the Mukden attack of Sept. 18, 1931, (the incident which precipitated the conflict) the Japanese acted justifiably in self-defense. Dr. Koo agreed with the Lytton commissioners that this was not so.

The establishment of the independent state of Manchukuo to rule Manchuria was a spontaneous movement by the people of Manchuria, Mr. Matsuoka said. Dr. Koo supported the commission's view that it was entirely the work of the Japanese.

Disorderly China Blamed

The council adjourned until Wednesday afternoon to permit the members to study the Chinese and Japanese declaration.

Responsibility for the whole Manchurian conflict was laid by the Japanese spokesman upon what he described as a disunited and disorderly China which, he declared, had provoked trouble by failing to respect Japanese rights and by its inability to give an orderly administration in Manchuria.

Dr. Koo, on the other hand, asserted that "Japan's policy of wanton aggression, expansion and conquest" was at the bottom of the whole question.

Cites Mexican Expedition

Japan's representative cited the American punitive expedition of 1916 in Mexico as a fair precedent for Japan's attack "in legitimate self-defense" in Mukden in September, 1931.

"We have violated neither the covenant of the League, nor the Nine Power treaty, nor the Pact of Paris," he continued. "I ask of the council a little patience. If the western world will bestow upon us a fraction of the tolerance it has so generously bestowed upon China, it will be gratefully received."

"Ain't it a Shame?"

"For years, Mr. Reich has thought and planned new ideas to beautify his cafe. These lights and other fixtures show that. A month ago two tall beer steins disappeared. Who can the vagrant be?"

Yes It's a Shame

In answer, it is not hard to agree that it's a shame, but it will have to be left to better sleuths to determine who the vagrant might be.

William Holets applied at the office of the Clerk of Court Walter J. Barrow yesterday for a license to marry Albena Kucher. Both live in Johnson county.

Sheriff on Stand

Don McComas, Johnson county sheriff, went to Davenport yesterday to appear in federal court as a witness against Andrew Gaze, who escaped from jail here in September with two other prisoners. Gaze is accused of stealing a car here and driving it into Illinois. He was captured by police in La Salle, Ill., and the car was recovered.

Jury Picking

The jury commission, composed of Emma Harvat, Ed Koser, and F. E. Volklinger, went to work at the court house yesterday compiling the panel of grand and petit jurors for the county for the next two years. The names are taken from the poll books and the cards signed by Iowa City voters this year. The task usually lasts for about 10 days.

Scientific attempts to locate oil near Iowa City and the general problems connected with oil prospecting were the subject matter of a talk by Prof. A. C. Trowbridge at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the American Legion Community building yesterday noon.

Business, Agriculture Meet for Financial Aid of Farmers

Ponder Plans to "Put Farmer Back on His Feet"

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Bib business and organized agriculture met at a conference table today and discussed means of "putting the farmer back on his feet financially."

Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP)—Bib

was intended to draw up a plan of agricultural rehabilitation by legislation and application of sound business principles.

Present were representatives of finance, manufacturing, railway transportation, milling, publishing, the grain trade and the farmer himself.

Sympathize With Farmer

"We believe," said Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears Roebuck and Company, chairman of the meeting, "that prosperity would come to all of us if the farmer could get some of it."

The conference was held behind closed doors and President H. H. Harriman, of the Chamber of Commerce, who called it, explained at length that the representatives planned to map out no "hard and fast" program for agriculture.

Its findings will be submitted to the three national-wide farmer organizations—the American Farm Bureau federation, the National Farmers union, and the National Grange.

Attend Conference

Advocates of the domestic allotment, equalization fee, and export debt-reduction plans of increasing farm prices were at the conference, and it was predicted some recommendations as to those legislative proposals would be made to the farm organizations.

The Farm Bureau, the Grange, and the Farmers union all have announced their intentions of "laying down the law" regarding farm relief to the next session of congress.

Proposals for tax reduction, loosening of farm credit, control of surplus, and monetary stabilization were among the subjects on today's agenda. "No announcement came from the conference room about the deliberations, probable recommendations, or the time length of the meeting."

Supplement Farm Leaders

"We hope our deliberations will supplement the work of farm leaders," Harriman said. "We are seeking practical measures, legislative or otherwise, to increase farm prices and extend the farmer's margin of profit."

Present at the conference in addition to Mr. Harriman and General Wood included Burton F. Peek, vice president of Deere & Company of Moline, Ill.; F. A. Thies, vice president of the Simonds-Shields-Foundry and Machine Company of Kansas City; Prof. M. L. Wilson of Montana State college; R. R. Rogers of the Prudential Life Insurance com-

Dean Graham Gives Speech

Packer, Hawley Talk at Recognition Service

Joint responsibilities of the congregation and the minister of a church in carrying out a plan of united action and mutual support were stressed Sunday night at the recognition service for the Rev. Llewellyn Arnold Owen, new pastor of the Congregational church.

Dean Thomas Wesley Graham of the Oberlin college graduate school of religion, speaking before a capacity audience, predicted a bright future for the church under the Rev. Mr. Owen's leadership.

Need of Religion

Dean Graham dwelt at length on the need for religion in these days of unusual social stress. He recalled the expression of a few years ago that "It won't make any difference 100 years from now," and said that the sentiment has changed recently to the more sinister "It won't make any difference now."

He proceeded to show that what he called "the elemental human drives, the vital urges of life" can be satisfied only by religion. He insisted that, without religion, life is really not worth living.

Greets Minister

Concluding his talk on "What men live by," Dean Graham said "I bring the greetings of the Oberlin school of theology under whom Mr. Owen received part of his training for the ministry of the church."

Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education of the University of Iowa, who gave the charge to the congregation, outlined the history of Newark, N. J.; H. A. Wallace, editor of Wallace's Farmer of Des Moines, Ia.; and D. L. James, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce committee on agriculture.

U.S. Court's Decree Ends Radio Trust

Rules Allied Industries Restrained Free Competition

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 21 (AP)—The government today broke up what it characterized as a combination in restraint of competition in the radio industry.

In a consent decree signed in the United States court for Delaware, complete divorcement was ordered of the General Electric company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company from the Radio Corporation of America.

Prevented Competition

These concerns, the government charged, prevented competition in the radio and other closely allied fields by means of intercorporate agreements and an involved system of cross-licensing of radio patents.

The decree, terminating more than two years of effort looking toward a settlement of the suit without trial, ordered the General Electric and Westinghouse companies to dispose of one-half their stock in the Radio corporation to their common stockholders within three months and the balance of it within three years.

"Will Continue"

What effect the decree will have on the management of the concerns involved could not be learned. However, in a statement to stockholders, David Sarnoff, president of Radio corporation, stated:

"In separating from the General Electric and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing companies, the Radio corporation, through its established subsidiaries and their present personnel, will continue to function as heretofore in transcontinental communication, ship-manufacturing, industry, in broadcasting, and in the entertainment field."

In consenting to the decree the defendants wanted it understood that they were not admitting they had violated the federal laws. The government, in a statement, asserted that facts it alleged were true and that the defendants had violated the anti-trust laws.

The two electric companies were enjoined from acquiring stock in the Radio corporation in the future.

Hummer Flour DeLuxe

We again desire to call attention to Hummer Flour DeLuxe. In this sack you will now find the highest quality flour it is possible to buy. This result is obtained by using strong glutenous wheat and milling what is known as a short patent flour. By short patent is meant the rejection of the first and second clear flours, which may roughly be compared to the second and third pressings of the grape. Nationally advertised flours are always short patents. Our only objection to these flours is the fact that their manufacturers not only demand the cost of this advertising, but sometimes ask a large profit in addition.

We guarantee Hummer Flour DeLuxe to equal any advertised flour at any price. We invite you to give this superlative flour a trial. Just compare it with any flour at the same price. In order to make your trial an easy purchase we offer this week the following low price—

BIG MOMENTS come often when you eat Shredded Wheat! Try it and see! Every one of those golden-brown biscuits is packed with energy, for Shredded Wheat is 100% whole wheat, Nature's own energy food. Nothing added, nothing lost. Duck a couple of these big golden biscuits deep into a bowl of milk! Then wade in after them! Delicious mouthfuls... and by that we mean 100% good to eat.
