Demo, G. O. P. Views Clash on Liquor Bill

Demos Plan to Push Beer Bill in House

G. O. P. Leaders Want Only Repeal of Amendment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Action on repeal legislation at the short session was advocated by Republican leaders today while Democrats laid plans to push a beer bill through the house by Jan. 1.

Meanwhile, a controversy was precipitated by a proposal from Senator Hastings (R., Del.), long a friend of prohibition, that national enforcement be withdrawn from states which do not cooperate in carrying out the prohibition laws.

Declare for Repeal Hastings and Representative Snell of New York, Republican house leader, both declared for adoption of a resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment at the December session. The former said he would not support beer and wine legislation while the latter declined to commit himself.

Speaker Garner expressed the "hope and belief the house will pass a beer bill by Jan. 1." Preparation of a preliminary draft of the beer bill was ordered and hearings are to be opened Dec. 7.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee said that legalized beer would not provide enough revenue without additional taxes and predicted a general revenue bill would have to be enacted.

Will Present Resolution After the disposal of the beer legislation the Democrats plan to present a repeal resolution. This procedure will run into opposition in Senator Borah (R., Idaho), a leading prohibitionist, who said that "orderly procedure" would require consideration of prohibition repeal before proposals for legalizing beer.

Hastings' proposal to withdraw federal enforcement from states that do not cooperate was described by Borah as constituting "open nullification" and added the "national government has nothing to do with the enforcement of state laws."

Senator Fess (R., Ohio), who said he would vote to submit a repeal amendment along the lines suggested by the Republican platform, said he could not agree to the Hastings proposal "because it would be tantamount to nullification."

Senator Dickinson (R., Iowa), however, said he saw "no particular objection" to the Hastings' bill and added, "I think the government would be justified in withdrawing enforcement from those states which are not going to cooperate."

Snell also opposed the Hastings proposal, declaring that he was "not for nullification" but that appropriations for federal enforcement should be reduced in proportion to those for other governmental activities.

Snell predicted that if the present congress adopted a repeal resolution it could be ratified within a short time by the state legislatures, saying that all but four would meet this winter. For ratification the approval of 38 would be required.

Escaped Cat Proves Thief's Downfall in Attempted Robbery

BELOIT, Wis., Nov. 25 (AP)—Joe Spinelli, Minneapolis, arrested at Green Bay recently when he inadvertently released a cat from the basement of a residence he allegedly intended to burglarize was sentenced today to serve a year to 18 months in the state prison at Waupun.

The sentence imposed here by Municipal Judge Chest H. Christensen was based on a charge of breaking into the Elks' club of Beloit on Oct. 15, 1931. He was caught at Green Bay when a cat, locked in the basement, entered the living room and members of the family investigated.

Held as Theft Suspect DAVENPORT, (AP)—Edwin Bell, 21, a Maxwell farm youth, was held here for Galesburg police who want him in connection with the theft of an automobile.

Swimming Mailman Will Raise Chickens

HONOLULU, Nov. 25 (AP)—G. S. Ramsay is quitting his job as the swimming mailman of the South Seas. For 11 years he says his job has been to swim out to ships from the island of Miuafou, in the Tonga group, through surf too rough for a boat to stand, and tow back mail for the island in a 40 pound biscuit can while sharks swam alongside. His "route" was about a mile. Arriving today aboard the liner Niagara, Ramsay said he was on his way to Vista, Cal., to raise chickens.

Brewers Act to Halt Gangs 'Muscling In'

Will Ask Government Aid to Discourage Racketeers

BULLETIN CINCINNATI, Nov. 25 (AP)—A proposal that the American Federation of Labor agitate for an amendment to the federal constitution requiring a six hour day and a five day work week was voted down almost unanimously by the federation's convention today.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25 (AP)—Organized labor united today to blast any hopes gangdom might have to "muscle into" the brewing industry when and if beer comes back again.

The executive board of the United Brewery Workers' Union of America announced that "now, on the eve of victory, with the Volstead act soon to go into the discard, we don't propose to let the Chicago underworld ruin everything."

Threaten Expulsion Immediate expulsion of any member associating with a gangster or racketeer was threatened. An appeal to the federal government to aid in keeping the brewers' ranks clean was decided upon and it was agreed to ask congress for legislation granting brewery licenses only to "citizens of good character and reputation."

"We already have heard inklings of the efforts of the gangsters to infiltrate into the unions with the view of ultimately controlling the whole industry," said Joseph Oberfell, secretary of the Brewery Workers' union. "This nation would not long permit gangster rule of brewing. The nation would soon rise up against it—and we'd be face to face with a second dose of prohibition."

Will Back Unions William Green, president of the Federation of Labor, promised "the federation will stand behind any effort to keep racketeering out of unions."

"The 14 members of our executive board," said Oberfell, "have come from all parts of the United States to attend this meeting. They are all united in the determination to keep the brewing industry out of the clutches of the gangsters and racketeers."

Ask Construction Bids AMES, (AP)—The state highway commission asked for bids on three bridge and culvert construction projects in Butler, Polk, and Wright counties.

Drowns in Cistern HUMBOLDT, (AP)—Mrs. B. Sande drowned herself in a cistern.

Wife of "Iron Man" in Mexico Succumbs

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25 (AP)—Senora Lorente De Calles, wife of Ex-President Plutarco Elias Calles who is known as the "iron man" of Mexico, died today. She was 30 years of age.

Her death was caused by a brain tumor which kept her bed fast for many months. She had been in a coma the greater part of this week. Hundreds of messages of consolation and floral wreaths poured into the Calles home soon after the news spread.

The funeral will be held tomorrow.

WEATHER IOWA—Fair, colder in extreme east Saturday; Sunday probably fair with rising temperature.

Say Payment Involves Huge Rise in Taxes

McDonald Sure Nations to Reach Agreement on Changes

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP)—While Prime Minister MacDonald was expressing confidence tonight that a new debt agreement could be made with the United States, Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain revealed that if Britain resumes her payments Dec. 15 it will be necessary to boost the income tax from 25 to 30 per cent.

The prime minister said he could not believe that a real effort on both sides would fail to result in a solution "to enable Dec. 15 to be passed."

"Insufferable" Mr. Chamberlain, speaking in Birmingham, declared it was "absolutely insufferable" for Britain to be forced to boost the income tax while receiving nothing from her own debtors.

British income tax payers already are assessed five shillings in each pound earned, or 25 per cent. Mr. Chamberlain forecast a tax of six shillings in the pound.

"We never contemplated a state of things in which we might be asked to make payments equivalent to another shilling in the pound on our income tax at the same time we received nothing from our debtors," the chancellor of the exchequer said.

"That would be a position which alike from the point of view of justice and from the point of view of the possibility of maintaining the prosperity of our industries would be absolutely insufferable."

Pound Notes Shump During the day the pound notes of the Bank of England dropped to the lowest point in the last 12 years and within a fraction of a cent of the all-time low record of $3.20 established in 1920.

The American reply to the British request for an extension of the moratorium was passed out to the newspapers tonight. The cabinet will meet Monday to draft the British answer, which may be dispatched some time that day. This note still was expected late tonight to be an emphatic presentation of Britain's case for postponement.

Speculation was growing about what the final answer of the government would be when and if the United States, in reply to the next cabinet note, insisted upon payment. Public opinion seemed to be that if necessary the payment would be made, but voices counselling default were becoming louder.

In approving the present moratorium.

The Grange delegation was chosen today at a meeting in Winston Salem, N. C., and one of the members is Fred J. Freestone, master of the New York Grange.

Denies Knowledge In the same press conference, Mr. Roosevelt was asked if he had been informed that a delegation was coming to Warm Springs to oppose recognition of Soviet Russia. He said he had not been told of any such prospective visit and declined to discuss the subject. Close friends of the governor, however, said he had given considerable thought to the matter during the last several months and had discussed it with a number of persons familiar with it. They said he had found a wide division of opinion among American industrialists about recognition.

Plans Still Formative Plans for the conferences with congressional leaders still are in the formative stage. Mr. Roosevelt said he knew nothing of any plans of members of the house ways and means committee, which would originate revenue raising legislation, in which category might fall legislation to legalize beer, to come to Warm Springs for a talk with him.

The president-elect, however, saw many members of this committee while in Washington as well as talking with Speaker Garner, Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, and Representative McDuffie of Alabama, the Democratic whip. Speaker Garner told newspapermen in Washington today that he hoped the house would pass a beer bill by Jan. 1.

KILLER IN COURT

The arrogant, defiant attitude of James ("Iggie the Bad One") Varea, 17 year old confessed killer and attacker of women, was considerably subdued when he appeared in the criminal court at Chicago to face a charge of murdering Frank Jordan. Judge John Prystalski continued the killer's hearing until December 7. At Varea's left is Deputy Sheriff Felix Bebe.

Farm Relief Takes Place as First Problem for Roosevelt

Will Hold Conferences With Agriculture Groups

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 25 (AP)—Farm relief emerged today as the first problem that Franklin D. Roosevelt will tackle in his series of conferences with congressional leaders at Warm Springs.

Plans were made for the president-elect to confer tomorrow with a delegation from the National Grange and next week he will meet with members of the house agriculture committee in an attempt to work out a program of agriculture relief that may be presented to the short session of congress.

Did Not Indicate Program The president-elect did not indicate the nature of the program he plans to discuss with the agriculture committee members. In the campaign he said he hoped the leaders of the nation's agricultural organizations would get together on a plan to help restore the industry to prosperity. He told newspapermen today he expected to listen to the plan of the National Grange and that he did not know what they would present.

The Grange delegation was chosen today at a meeting in Winston Salem, N. C., and one of the members is Fred J. Freestone, master of the New York Grange.

Resume Hearings Monday on Treaty WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Chairman Borah said today the senate foreign relations committee would resume hearings Monday on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with the probability that Assistant Secretary of State Rogers would be one of the first witnesses.

Having already devoted a week to hearing opponents of the project, Borah said his friends would be heard beginning Monday. An effort will be made, he said, to conclude the hearings by the opening of congress Dec. 5.

Dies at Home of Daughter DES MOINES, (AP)—Mrs. John B. Hammond, 77, wife of a former Des Moines police chief and gubernatorial candidate this year on the prohibition ticket, died at the home of a daughter. Also surviving are five sons.

Budget Costs Climb to New High in Japan

Cabinet Gives Approval Despite Protests of Financiers

TOKYO, Nov. 25 (AP)—Over the protests of influential financial interests, the Japanese cabinet today approved a budget which, as a result of the extraordinary demands of the army and navy chiefly in connection with Manchuria, is the largest in the history of Japan.

The total expenditure for the year beginning April 1, 1933, will be 2,239,000,000 yen—$447,800,000. The budget involves a deficit of 897,000,000 yen—$179,400,000—for which bonds must be issued as the minister of finance, Korekiyo Takahashi, refused to increase taxation.

Increase National Debt Baron Goh, president of the Japan Chamber of Commerce, declared before the new budget was made public that the government policy of depending on bond issues was greatly increasing the national debt and was threatening currency inflation and a further decline in the yen, leading toward a condition similar to Germany's post-war collapse.

The army gets 448,000,000 yen—$89,000,000—in the new budget, and the navy $373,000,000—$74,600,000. In the last normal year, 1930-31, the army appropriation was 184,000,000 yen—$36,800,000—and the navy received 221,000,000 yen—$44,200,000.

Delivered at Dinner Baron Goh's warning against the bonding policy was delivered at a Chamber of Commerce dinner attended by several cabinet ministers, notably General Araki, who has the war portfolio.

General Araki, the vernacular press reported, said in reply to the Baron that economic questions should not receive primary consideration until conditions in Asia had been stabilized.

The combined army and navy appropriations include 185,000,000 yen—$37,000,000—to cover the expenses of another year's occupation of Manchuria, and 237,000,000 yen—$47,400,000—for the "replenishment of arms" of the fighting services.

Judge's Ruling Aids County School Fund In the case of "State of Iowa vs. 19 punch boards; $25 in currency; $9.20 in silver; 1 clear case and other things," Judge Harold D. Evans decided in district court yesterday that the punch boards and two gambling cards should be destroyed, the money confiscated, the prizes sold, and the proceeds turned over to the county school fund.

All the aforementioned articles were taken from Racine's Cigar store No. 1 by state agents about a month ago.

Balzac's Theme Comes True in Real Life as Circus Flotsam Struggles On

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—With tarnished braid still circling her dress, a woman who once was the toast of circus performers has set out for the west with three hungry lions and a determination to sacrifice her life for theirs if necessary.

For months she and her noisy pets lived in Manhattan, half way between Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

Finally she became convinced New York has little interest in lions and circus stars of another day.

The story of her fight to keep her hungry menagerie alive was told tonight by M. W. Colwell, one of those who arranged the national pet show now occupying Madison Square Garden.

30 Children March to Michigan Capitol in Demand for Food

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 25 (AP)—A group of 30 children, ranging in age from two to 15 years, marched to the state capitol today to demand food from Governor Brucker.

Accompanied by Thomas Byrd, older member of the group, the children presented the governor with demands for free medical care, state maintenance of children not employed, and other demands. Three or four mothers accompanied the group of marchers, who said they came from scattered cities in the state.

The governor informed the children that the state "is doing all in its power to bring relief," and when Byrd said he was identified with communist activities, the governor denounced the movement, declaring to the children that "the communists are presenting their demands through your poor little bodies."

Police acted as an escort to the children.

Young Killer to Get Mercy

State Agrees to Ask Leniency in Return for Guilty Plea

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—The threat of the electric chair apparently was removed today for 16 year old Charles Bertrand Arnold, Jr., shortly after he was indicted for slaying his grandmother.

Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburn asked whether the state would recommend leniency in return for a plea of guilty, said:

"Yes, I think that can be arranged."

Holds Conference Ditchburn had just come from a prolonged conference with the youthful slayer's parents.

The murder indictment was voted by the grand jury. "Bert's" stepmother and police of suburban Riverside, who investigated the slaying, were the only witnesses.

Young Arnold later held a tearful reunion with his step-mother, the woman whose mother he slew, and sobbed out his story of the crime.

Plea Undermined David Jacker, Arnold's attorney, said he had not decided what plea to enter when "Bert" is arraigned Monday before Judge Prystalski.

Officials pointed out that if a plea of guilty is entered to the murder charge, the state could recommend leniency and "Bert" might escape with a 14 year sentence. An insanity defense, they said, might result in his incarceration for life in an institution or conviction with a heavy penalty on the charge.

Payment Will Pave Way for New Proposal

Formal Notes Reply to Requests by Nations for Revisions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Pay up on Dec. 15, America has advised her foreign debtors, and thus create a more favorable atmosphere for the reconsideration of the whole war debt problem by a commission which President Hoover will ask congress to authorize.

This was the gist of the notes forwarded by Secretary Stimson in response to the requests of France, Great Britain and Belgium for an extension of the present moratorium and a re-examination of the debt situation.

Has No Authority "As to the suspension of the installment of the British debt due Dec. 15, which is one of the objectives of your note, no authority lies within the executive to grant such an extension and no facts have been placed in our possession which could be presented to congress for favorable consideration," said the note presented to Ambassador Lind-say of Great Britain. Similar passages were contained in the notes to France and Belgium. The communication forwarded to London continued:

"Such importance is attached by our government and people to maintenance of the original agreement in force by the payment on Dec. 15 as to far outweigh any reasons now apparent for its suspension, and by such payments, the prospects of a satisfactory approach to the whole question, in my opinion, would be greatly increased."

Opposes European Currency During the day, Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee opposed payment of the installments due next month in the currencies of the nations making them, as suggested by President Hoover in his statement of last week.

Borah termed such a procedure "a diluted form of moratorium," and added: "I can see nothing to be gained in dealing with this matter in that way or in dealing with it partially and incompletely."

In all three of the notes that went abroad, Secretary Stimson emphasized the fact that congress alone has the power to modify the debt arrangements and his conviction that it cannot be persuaded by approve postponement of the December payments.

Announce Date of Funeral Service for South Dakota Pioneer

DES MOINES, Nov. 25 (AP)—Funeral service for George Ford, 85, who died last night at the home of his son, John Ford, will be held here tomorrow.

Ford, son of a Presbyterian missionary, was born in India. He was educated in Boston, Mass., and came west at 18, settling at Sioux Falls, S. D., in 1865.

From 1878 to 1885 he operated a general merchandise store at Elk Point, S. D. Ox teams brought his merchandise from Sioux City. He later went to the Oklahoma territory and maintained a store at Strang until his retirement.

Survivors include his widow; three sons, John of Des Moines, G. R. of Greenfield, and James of Kansas City, and a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Woodruff of Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

Creek Bursts Into Flames as Lighted Match Hits Water

HAMPTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Thinking to avoid any possibility of a lighted match starting a fire, Ed Brun tossed it into Sprink creek. And here's what happened:

The creek burst into flames which travelled upstream and into a drainage tile. Explosions and flames marked the progress of the fire up the tile.

The tile extends three miles to the gasoline line of the Great Lakes Pipe Line company.

Finding a leak in the pipe line, engineers managed to repair it before the flames had reached the line. Explosions occurred in the tile line for 15 hours before the flames were brought under control.

Lecture on Derby-Hatted Bust Enlivens Wendel Will Battle

Free Art Lesson in Court Featured Hearing, as Sculptor Produced Wendel Image in Bronze to Aid "Heir's" Claim to Millions.

THOMAS P. MORRIS and JOHN G. WENDEL

NEW YORK—All the ideas concerning the abstruse ancient Greek theory of dynamic symmetry made their debut in the surrogate's court here and enlivened the otherwise dull proceedings of the famous Wendel will case.

At first glance, it may puzzle one as to the connection between fine art and a battle for about $40,000,000, which comprises the estate of the late Ella Wendel, and for which there are several contestants. But let us get on with the story and we shall see.

One of the foremost claimants to the Wendel millions, Thomas Patrick Morris, bases his claim on his assertion that he is the son of John Gottlieb Wendel, brother of Ella, by

Fifteenth Milestone Passed by Soviet Russia

Anniversary of October Revolution Marked by Gigantic Demonstration at Tomb of Lenin. President Hoover Subject of Verbal Attack by Red Leader.

MIKHAIL KALININ JOSEF STALIN BEFORE LENIN'S TOMB IN RED SQUARE, MOSCOW

MOSCOW—With the celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the October revolution, Soviet Russia has passed another milestone in the history of the only state in the world ruled, we are told by the workers and peasants. The October revolution, which placed all Russia in the hands of the Bolsheviks is so called because it took place on October 25, 1917, under the old Julian calendar, which corresponds to November 7 by the Gregorian calendar in general use throughout the world.

This year the ceremonies marking the anniversary were the most elaborate since the inception of the Soviet as the great Red day—regarded as the Soviet independence day—coincided with the conclusion of the first Five-Year Plan. As usual, the famous Red Square, wherein lie the mortal remains of the father of the Soviet, Nikolai Lenin, was the center of the gigantic demonstration that was the main feature of the event.

Before a saluting stand where stood Josef Stalin and Mikhail Kalinin, the two principal figures of the Soviet, armies of workers, peasants, soldiers and sailors paraded in one of the most impressive demonstrations of man power the world has ever seen. But strangely enough, although Kalinin and Stalin were there in the flesh, seemingly as powerful as ever, it was the unseen presence of the dead Lenin that predominated the celebration.

There are many who have kept a watchful eye on the march of events in Russia who are emphatic in their assertions that the rule of Josef Stalin is weakening. For over a year there has been a growing dissatisfaction with the manner in which he has steered the Five-Year Plan, it being frankly stated that the Soviet is a long way behind the schedule originally mapped out. This they blame on Stalin, who, they say, is not piloting the ship according to the course charted by the great Lenin.

So far, the criticized leader has put down all attempts at mutiny with an iron hand. His critics have been exiled by the hundred, and the one topic that is whispered throughout the land is who will be next to feel the weight of the iron hand.

Although nominally Stalin is but Secretary General of the Central Committee and Interior in rank to Mikhail Kalinin, who bears the title of President of the Central Executive Committee, his is the hand that guides the destinies of the Soviet. His picture hangs in every shop, factory, office and school in the Soviet Union, while that of Kalinin is rarely seen. But for all this apparent power, Stalin is far from being loved by the 150,000,000 Russians over whom he holds powers of life and death. They fear him, but all their affection goes to the dead Lenin.

Proof of this may be obtained any day in the Red Square at Moscow. Beginning at daylight, an endless line of pilgrims from all parts of the Soviet Union passes through the gigantic tomb where lies the embalmed body of the leader. This tomb, which took sixteen months to build, is constructed of ten thousand tons of native granite, hauled to Moscow from every corner of the Union. It is to the Russian what Mecca is to the Moslem, and never a day passes that some thousands of pilgrims do not do reverence at the glass-topped sarcophagus of the man they regarded as the emancipator of the people.

In a speech before the anniversary celebration, Kalinin had some harsh things to say about the United States, regarded as the greatest enemy of the Communist system. "The American President," said the Soviet President, "acts like an illiterate peasant in the fields, waiting for Heaven to send him rain. Hoover waits for prosperity while the present regime only increases the starvation of millions of people." The Soviet chief then stated that while capitalist countries were sinking, the Soviet Government is rapidly achieving the goal aimed at by Lenin—plenty for all.

Nebraska Governor Has Heart Attack

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 25 (AP)—H. B. Porterfield, secretary to Gov. Charles W. Bryan, issued a statement tonight saying that after an illness from pneumonia the governor suffered slightly from heart trouble Wednesday but was better today.

The governor has been ill since he closed a vigorous and successful campaign for re-election Nov. 8.

Rails Show Slight Losses in Earnings

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—The first 21 railroads to report October earnings had aggregate net railway operating income of approximately $25,426,000, a decrease of 1.8 per cent compared with $25,895,000 in the same month last year.

Thirteen of the roads had larger net railway operating income for October this year than in 1931. The rate of decline in October from 1931 showed an improvement over the September comparisons for both gross and net operating income.

Shot in Head Wounds Cousin of Late Smith W. Reynolds

Relatives Refuse to Make Public Any Statement

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Nov. 25 (AP)—Robert C. Critz, a first cousin of the late Smith Reynolds, was shot through the head and seriously wounded in the bathroom of his home tonight.

Relatives and authorities were uncommunicative, the former saying they did not know whether the 35-year-old tobacco buyer and amateur aviator was "accidentally shot or intentionally shot."

Alone in Bathroom
Critz, who is married and has one child, was reported to have been alone in the bathroom when a shot was heard. He did not lose consciousness immediately, but refused to make any statement after being taken to a hospital.

Critz' mother was a sister of the late R. J. Reynolds, tobacco magnate who died several years ago leaving an estate now estimated at $100,000,000 to his four children.

Smith Reynolds was fatally shot at the family home here last July 6 after a birthday party. His widow, the former Broadway singer, Libby Holman, and his chum, Albert Walker, were indicted on a charge of murder. The charge was dropped 10 days ago, with an announcement by the state there was insufficient evidence to warrant a trial.

Acted as Witness
At the inquest into young Reynolds' death, which resulted in a verdict blaming "unknown parties," Critz was a witness. He told of having gone to the Reynolds estate a few hours after the young tobacco heir was found dying with a bullet through the brain on a second story sleeping porch, and described conditions at the scene of the tragedy.

While spectators craned their necks and held their collective breath, this bronze bust, complete with derby hat, mustache and glasses, was exhibited before the astonished eyes of Surrogate James A. Foley as the sculptor of the bust took the witness stand. This gentleman, Julian Boves of New York, then proceeded to give the court a lecture on the principal of dynamic symmetry, which is too involved to go into here, but which Boves insisted is responsible for the accuracy of his work in making a faithful likeness of Wendel.

Talk Stresses Aid for Needy

Rev. L. A. Owen Speaks at Union Service in Legion Building

With representatives of all church denominations in the city present, the Rev. Llewelyn Arnold Owen, pastor of the Congregational church, stressed the necessity of making the current Community Chest drive a success in his address at the union Thanksgiving service in the American Legion Community building Thanksgiving day.

Donations to the "Harvest Home" supply were sufficient to fill 143 baskets of provisions to be distributed to needy families. The offering at the service totaled $140. The cash was given by the ministerial association to the Social Service league to be used in providing additional relief.

The Rev. Mr. Owen said that the very fact that a united service could be held in Iowa City was sufficient cause for thanks giving. All churches, including Catholic, Jewish, and Protestant, participated in the service.

The "Harvest Home" donations were administered by Lucille Bruner, head of the Social Service league office. The baskets were packed by a group of women from the various churches and were delivered by trucks donated by McNamara's Furniture company, Glassman's grocery, and Thompson's transfer.

The use of the Legion building for the services was donated by Ben S. Summerhill, receiver.

DEBT NOTES

Reveal U. S. Attitude on Payments

torium, congress attached a rider declaring against an extension and against any reduction of the sums due. This attitude has been reiterated frequently in statements by individual members and was crystallized only last week when leaders of both parties, assembled at the White House, emphatically opposed the creation of a commission to dig into the debt problem, suggested then by President Hoover.

President-elect Roosevelt also was not cordial to this proposal. He said he believed existing agencies were sufficient to handle the debt problem.

Publication of the notes made it apparent, however, that Mr. Hoover, although well aware of the attitude of congress, has not dropped the idea.

Foresees No Difference

"I confess I cannot see any presentation in your note which would be likely to induce the congress of the United States to act upon the question any differently now from the manner and the principles upon which it has acted in the past," Secretary Stimson informed the British, adding:

"The attitude of the president, therefore is, that for any suggested study of inter-governmental financial obligations as now existing, some such agency as I have referred to, should be created to consider this question individually with each government as heretofore. The president is prepared to recommend to congress that it constitute an agency to examine the whole subject."

Recalls Hoover's Idea

In this passage the note to France added a reminder of Mr. Hoover's idea that world business conditions could be improved by exchanging debt concessions for tariff favors and disarmament.

"As he (Hoover) has several times said publicly, he also believes that some basis might be found for bringing to the American people some adequate compensation in forms other than cash payment," the note said.

Stimson said in his note to Great Britain that he was fully aware of the increased weight of debts because of the fall in commodity prices.

American People Hit

"On the other hand, it must be remembered that these incidents of the depression have also fallen with great weight upon the American people," the note said, "and the effects upon them directly as tax payers otherwise of any modification of an agreement with respect to debts due to this country cannot be disregarded."

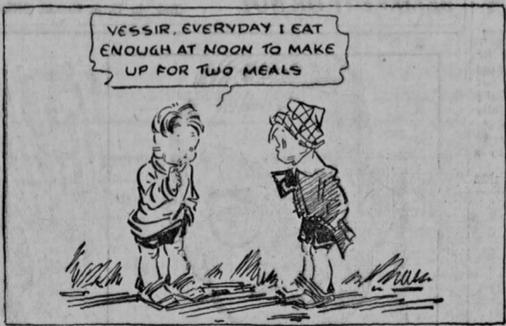

The notes to France and Belgium were almost identical. They differed somewhat from the note to Great Britain in details, but set forth the same principles.

Speaks of Reparation

In his notes to France and Belgium Secretary Stimson went into the subject of reparations and recalled that under President Wilson the United States government took the position that war debts were not to be confused with reparations claims arising from the war.

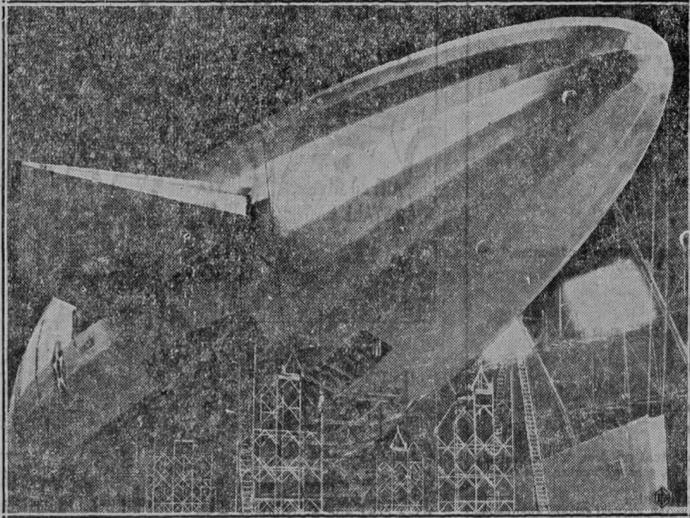

"It is the American government's insistence upon this difference is quite natural in view of its refusal after the war to accept reparations for itself and also in view of its position of a creditor from that of all other nations," the note said. "Not only did this government not receive any compensation in the form of territory, economic privileges, or governmental indemnity at the close of the war, but from the fact that it owed no obligations of any kind to others, treatment of the debts and reparations as though they were connected could only operate to the disadvantage of the United States. Stockholm Accords Welcome to Bride of Prince Adolf

Display of Fireworks Signals Couple's Homecoming

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 25 (AP)—Prince Gustav Adolf, eldest son of the Swedish crown prince, today brought home his bride, Princess Sybille of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and Stockholm accorded them a royal welcome.

After a day of festivities the bride couple were honor guests tonight at a family dinner party at the palace, from the windows of which they could look out upon a great fireworks display signalling their homecoming.

Until late tonight the streets were filled with thousands of cheering Stockholm residents, and everywhere there were flags and bunting. The welcome festivities will extend over several days.

The royal couple, who were married a month ago at Coburg, Germany, rode in a four-horse carriage from the railroad station through streets lined with well wishers.

The top of the carriage was down, enabling the Swedes to get their first glimpse of the blonde lady who some day may be their queen.

King Gustav was at the station when the train came in.

It was an exciting day for Princess Sybille, and she showed it. In response to the reception accorded her during the procession to the concession made in respect to a payment owed to it could either in whole or in part be set off or balance against claims owed by it to any of its creditors.

Would Transfer, Burden

"On the contrary every such concession would result in the inevitable transfer of a tax burden from the tax payers of some other country to the taxpayers of our own without the possibility of recoupment from others."

Dozen Forest Fires Endanger Game, Fish in Northern States

WINONA, Minn., Nov. 25 (AP)—A dozen fires in the bottom land of the upper Mississippi river wild life and fish refuge were reported to headquarters here today and Ray C. Steele, superintendent, said 100 men were used to fight the blazes.

The worst fire was reported in the heavy timbered section on the Wisconsin side of the river opposite Guttenberg, Ia. Other fires were in the Winneshiek area; around Rice lake near La Crosse, Wis., where 1,200 acres burned over; in the Reno, New Albin refuge area, and on Blacksmith island below Homer.

Continued dry weather and high winds have added to the fire hazard, Steele said. He added the much small game had perished.

Immediate Payment of Soldier's Bonus Opposed by Grange

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 25 (AP)—Resolutions opposing immediate cash payment of the soldier's bonus, advocating support of the Volstead act and calling for uniform laws for regulation of motor vehicles were adopted today at the final session of the national grange.

With all business out of the way except secret work in connection with the Grange's fraternal activities, delegates were to adjourn their 10 day annual convention late tonight.

Other resolutions adopted advocated lower commissions for selling livestock and opposed compulsory reduction of crop acreage.

Judge Delays Liquor Verdict

Withdraws Decision on Directed Verdict Until Later

OMAHA, Nov. 25 (AP)—After an afternoon spent in listening to arguments of defense attorneys in the liquor conspiracy trial here, Judge J. W. Woodrough announced he was withdrawing his decision denying directed verdicts for Tom Dennison, political figure, and chief defendant, and four other alleged "higher-ups" in the case, and would wait until all defense arguments were completed before ruling on the motion.

Early in the day attorneys for Dennison, Paul Sutton, former chief of police detectives; Dr. Lee E. Van Camp; Dr. W. J. Adams and Joe Patich, suspended police sergeant, had moved to secure directed verdicts in favor of their clients but Judge Woodrough had denied their motions.

During the afternoon Judge Woodrough heard motions or directed verdicts in favor of numerous others among the 35 defendants and at the end of the day's hearing announced he would consider all pleadings before giving a decision on any one man. In this manner he withdrew his verdict regarding Dennison and the other four men, saying he would rule on their motions along with the others.

Five Michigan Men Drown in Lake Disaster

SENEY, Mich., Nov. 25 (AP)—Five persons were reported drowned tonight when the fishing tug Lydia sank in the channel of Grand Marais harbor, Coast guards have not yet recovered any of the bodies.

SOCIETY QUEENS AT OPERA

Here are two of the society notables who attended the season's opening of the Metropolitan Opera, New York, to hear Lawrence Tibbett, American singer, play the title role in "Simon Boccanegra." At left is Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt of the historic Knickerbocker clan, and at right, Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh, one of Gotham's leading society matrons. The famous "Diamond Horseshoe," scintillated just as brilliantly as if such a thing as depression had never been heard of.

The names of the victims were not immediately learned.

Members of the crew of the Lydia were John Pomkkel of Grand Marais, the engineer; Fred Hayson, Thomas Larson, son of the captain, and Alex Manilla of Grand Marais. Witnesses said the tug was dashed up against a pier and swept over by huge waves which were running into the harbor.

A record number of passengers was carried by Imperial Airways across the English channel in June, 4,311 persons being flown.

Davenport Named to Head DeMolays

MUSCATINE, Nov. 25 (AP)—Eugene Stroben of Davenport today was elected master counselor of the third district of the Order of DeMolay at the semi-annual convention here. Other officers elected were:

Amos Stewart of Maxion, senior counselor; William Martin of Burlington, junior counselor; Vernon Carstenson of Clinton, scribe; Ronald Cochran of Fairfield, treasurer. Dr. F. W. Englund of Muscatine was re-elected district adviser.

The next convention will be held in Davenport, May 11, 1933.

Judge Hubert Utterback of Des Moines addressed the delegates at a banquet tonight, which preceded a dance.

Dismissal Asked in Death Charge

DES MOINES, Nov. 25 (AP)—Claims of former jeopardy were today presented by attorneys in seeking a dismissal of a second manslaughter charge against Louis Wheelock, Des Moines investment broker.

Wheelock was acquitted on a first manslaughter charge in connection with the deaths of three members of the W. J. Tetter family of Prairie City in an automobile accident. He was indicted separately for each of the three deaths.

Iowa Dental Graduate Dies in Seattle, Wash.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Dr. Perry I. Van Winter, 76, graduate of the college of dentistry in the class of 1890. At the time of his death, Dr. Van Winter was a retired dentist living in Seattle, Wash.

Dr. Van Winter began his Seattle practice in 1899, and retired in 1929 after 30 years of active practice in that city.

He is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter, and a brother.

Two Musicians Die in Auto Accident

DURANGO, Colo., Nov. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Vivian McCormick and Fred Titus, Durango musicians, were killed today when their motor car plunged from the Ignacio-Durango highway.

The victims, together with four other persons who were uninjured were returning from Ignacio, where they had played at a dance.

Mrs. McCormick is survived by a daughter, Lillian, a student in Ames, Ia.

You don't want too much Turkish but you do want Enough

that's why Chesterfields Taste Better!

IT'S like this. Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what spices are to food... the "seasoning" that points up the flavor of all the other ingredients.

In your cigarette... as in anything good... you want enough spice. Not too much. In Chesterfield you get just enough of the right kinds of the spicy aromatic Turkish leaf.

It's this "just-right" blending of tobaccos, both Turkish and Domestic, that gives to Chesterfields their better taste and rich aroma.

Cutting Minor Sports THE ATHLETIC council at the University of Illinois last Wednesday announced the withdrawal of its financial support from minor sports—swimming, fencing, tennis, gymnastics, water polo, and golf.

The same matter is a subject of considerable concern at the University of Iowa and in a short time will come before the athletic board for consideration.

As long as athletics continue on the basis of a business proposition, the business must be kept solvent at all costs, even if that means cancelling contests with other schools and cutting expenditures for equipment and other necessities.

There will be ample opportunity to place more emphasis on intramural competition to keep up the standards of athletics in general, and the caliber of athletes in the university.

There need be no decline in general sports activity at the University of Iowa if the cutting of expenditures and re-allocating of funds is done wisely.

State Etiquet PRESIDENT ELECT ROOSEVELT has been quoted by Governor Rolph of California as favoring 19 gun salutes for governors and 17 gun salutes for members of the president's cabinet.

Yes, and a few years ago, Dolly Gann raised a question of order in placings at the dinner table of statesmen which reverberated through the national capital like a thunderclap.

Some time before that, nearly 150 years before, the first congress of the United States debated wildly in the few minutes it had as to whether or not it should receive the first president of the United States by standing, and whether or not the constitution should be heard while seated.

State etiquette seems a trifling matter; but apparently it is of real concern. It might have been of more concern a few years ago, when wealthy, heavily armed nations of central Europe were more in evidence and looking for something to do with their wealth and arms; when a false stroke of diplomacy might have been created from a mistake in social graces which would have led to international strife.

With the world looking to its various peoples for agreement to the end of a meeting a more or less common difficulty, a democracy of nations being the foremost thought of all, there doesn't seem to be room for petty differences of social manner.

Speedy Law LISTENING to the radio nearly all of Thanksgiving day is a quiet sport, but has its thrills, especially if the listener is equipped to hear the central police broadcasting stations in the major cities of the country.

With the ease that one finds his favorite advertising program, he can pick up Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Dallas, and the Michigan state police station.

A listener may hear the direction of a search for a motor bandit, from the time the act is committed until the final report; the bandit may escape pursuit at first, but the radio net turns the law's hunt in new directions until converging elements close on him.

Such was an actual case which occupied three and one-half hours Thanksgiving afternoon, and was broadcast "play-by-play" from the Michigan radio net.

The whole thing, if the listener has a good imagination, is better than any dime novel could hope to be, yet the police sergeants who sit before microphones hundreds or thousands of miles away seem to take it much as a matter of course, and speak with all the enthusiasm of a rural telephone operator.

Much of the matter taken up over the radio nets seems trivial. Fights on street corners, broken windows, suspicious characters, stolen cars, and the like, take up the major portion of the broadcasts through the day.

But when a greater emergency does arise, the system seems to function just as smoothly, as unemotionally.

pened, perhaps even his appearance and the direction of his escape. Maybe the criminal can combat the speed and efficiency of the radio net by bettering his own methods. But there are many men, hardened to crime, who would think long and deeply before they would try to combat an information agency that works with the speed of light.

TODAY'S TOPICS

BY FRANK JAYFF

How to be happy though married has been a problem, it seems, for a long, long time. Now comes the chamberlain to Pope Plus XI who sets out 17 brand new commandments, 10 for the wife and seven for the husband.

Just as though there aren't enough commandments now, written, unwritten, and just whispered, to keep the married folks hand in glove and foot in shoe, as Baron Munchausen so aptly put it the other night, the new rules and regulations are something else again.

- 1—Thou shalt not speak eternally. Thy husband must also be listened to. 2—Thou shalt lovingly prepare good food and keep thy house in order. 3—Thou shalt not embarrass thy husband in business. 4—Thou shalt not amuse thyself spreading unfounded gossip about thy neighbors. 5—Thou shalt not boast of thy husband before other men, but respect him silently. 6—When it is necessary to reprove him thou shalt do it immediately and then forget it. 7—Thou shalt be patient over thy husband's defects, and occasionally exalt his good qualities. 8—Thou shalt not make of thy husband a housemaid. 9—Thou shalt not give all thy thoughts to clothes, since thy first duty is to thy house. 10—Thou shalt remember that sometimes it is good for thy husband to be alone. On those occasions thou absolutely shalt not disturb him.

And for him who wears the pants in your family:

- 1—Thou shalt show thy wife today the same courtesy thou showed her the day of thy wedding. 2—Thou shalt express, by word or gesture, thy approval for the dinner that is brought before thee, since it did not come to the table by itself. 3—Thou shalt remember thy wife, consult her about thy problems, speak to her of thy work. 4—Thou shalt always avoid the appearance of evil, observing the same conduct thou believest reasonable for thy wife. 5—Thou shalt not lie about thy income, because God deems the man culpable who keeps his wife in the dark about domestic finances. 6—Thou shalt remember the birthday of thy wife and of thy children, and thy wedding anniversary. 7—Thou shalt not indulge in heated arguments with thy wife, since thou well knowest that the woman has the last word.

Too true, too true, that last. But there's a limit to everything, and with a grain or two of salt, the foregoing stands as pretty good stuff.

Of course, you can get the same dope, and more too, by consulting Emily Post, but this smacks of the official and authoritative, whereas Emily is just another reformer, methinks. And besides, this is free.

It might be a good idea to pin this list up on the wall over the kitchen sink, but don't paste it because you may want to remove it occasionally. There's a time and place for everything, you know.

Nevertheless, knowing as little about the matter as we do, there's a lot to be said for both sides. Yessir, rules or no rules, the man who can smile when the toast comes up burnt and the eggs hard morning after morning, deserves a special medal.

And, for that matter, the little woman who can smile at ashes on the carpets and mud on the kitchen linoleum ought to get a couple of them.

Book Bits

(From A Son of the Middle Border, by Hamlin Garland) Harriet's devotion to literature, like my own, was a nuisance. If my mother wanted a pan of chips she had to wrench one from a book, or tear us from a paper. If she pasted up a section of Harper's Weekly behind the washstand in the kitchen, I immediately discovered a special interest in that number, and likely enough forgot to wash myself.

OFFICIAL NOTICE To All Students Now Registered in the University of Iowa Who Expect to Enter Either Our Own College of Medicine, or Any Other Medical School in the United States or Canada, for the Freshman Year's Work in the Autumn of 1933:

Last year, under the auspices of the Association of American Medical Colleges, the MEDICAL APTITUDE TEST was taken by 3,173 students of approved medical schools of the United States. This test is required of all applicants for admission to the college of medicine of the State University of Iowa, by virtue of its institutional membership in the Association of American Medical Colleges. (See the university catalog for the current year, at the top of page 76).

The medical aptitude test for the University of Iowa applicants for admission to any medical school belonging to the American Medical Association, for the year 1933-34, will be given promptly at 3 p.m., Friday, Dec. 9, 1932, in the chemistry auditorium.

Each such prospective applicant is notified to call at the office of the university secretary within ample time preceding the day of this test, in order to pay the prescribed fee of $1 which goes to the Association of American Medical Colleges for the purpose of meeting the expenses of conducting the examination, reading the manuscripts, tabulating the outcomes, and making these outcomes available to the respective medical schools.

The secretary's office will issue to each student who thus pays the fee a card certifying that the fee has been paid; and this card is to be presented by each student as he enters the chemistry auditorium just before 3 p.m., Friday, Dec. 9, 1932. An attendant will take up these cards as presented. H. C. DORCAS, registrar

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD -

By HARRISON CARROLL FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—His renown having preceded him, Edward Everett Horton is going to see Europe at the expense of the British Gaumont Film company. Writing to friends in Hollywood, he tells of being signed to play a leading role in "Soldiers of the King," a picture starring the English comedienne, Cicely Courtneidge.

After paying London a brief visit, Eddie had proceeded to Paris and then to Germany when he received a telegraphic offer from Maurice Elvey, who is directing the British picture. He accepted and will be five weeks on the engagement.

What with another offer from UFA and with his frankly expressed enjoyment of the trip, Eddie may be extending his stay for several months. There is small chance of his being back here for Christmas dinner, as originally planned.

And even if he does come back to this country, John Golden is dangling a tempting offer to do a play on Broadway this season.

For misplaced enthusiasm, Stuart

Erwin would award the prize to a saleswoman in the toy department of a local store.

Recognizing Stu as a movie star and not even inquiring his child's age, the girl commenced to sing the praise of an expensive fire engine. "This toy really works," she beamed. "You see this pressure tank with the hose running through it. Well, the child can attach one end of the hose to the bath-room faucet and this little nozzle at the other end will shoot a stream of water 75 feet."

HOLLYWOOD PARADE

Newly back from Europe, Billy Bakewell is the first of the young Hollywood blades to affect the pantalon trousers introduced in London by the Prince of Wales. He turned up at the Brown Derby the other evening with drooping checked plaid trousers and a double-breasted black coat. True, there were a couple of hoots of laughter, but all pioneers must expect hardships. . . . Since Joan Blondell has moved into her new home, she has Peter the Hermit for a neighbor. They share a hill-top north of Hollywood. . . . Someone sent Mervyn Leroy a 24-foot cigar from Havana. He started smoking it last week and expects to be out of the weeds by Christmas. . . . Buster Keaton is back from a hunting trip to Arizona. He has sent the land-yacht to the garage to be de-sanitized. . . . Yesterday was Bob Armstrong's birthday and his mother gave him a party. . . . Leo McCarey wires that he will be back here in a week of 10 days now. . . . And Ralph Farnum flew in today. While in New York he arranged for Mitzel Green to do two radio broadcasts a week.

A tour of the late-spots the other evening discovered Elsie Janis and husband, Gilbert Wilson, dancing to Ted Dahl's music at the Beverly Hills hotel. Another party that included Irene Brown, Joe Mollie, Louis Wilson, and Charles Beverly. . . . At the Frolies the same evening, H. B. Warner and his wife made one of their rare excursions into night life.

Chicago Sees Annual Stock Exhibit Begin

Boys, Girls Open Show With Noncollegiate Judging Tilt

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—The huge amphitheater at the Union stockyards bustling today with all the activity of a movie premiere, and the headliners of the thirty-third annual international livestock exposition awaited their curtain calls.

In the barns adjoining the "big top," exhibitors watched their charges receive last-minute touches preparatory to their parade before the judges. The cream of American herds—cattle, sheep, swine and horses which have already won blue ribbons at state and regional fairs—were ready to compete before the supreme court of American agriculture.

Present Opening

Youth presented the unofficial opening act today with 48 boys and girls representing 16 states participating in the non-collegiate stock judging contest.

Winners of the contest will receive agricultural scholarships offered by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The results were to be announced late tonight.

While the farm animals were being washed and curried for the show's formal opening tomorrow, leaders of farm organizations were assembling for a series of meetings to discuss the problems of the industry.

Will Last 10 Days

The exposition will last for 10 days. Tomorrow the collegiate livestock and crop judging contest will occupy the center of the stage. Other high lights of the program:

The parade of 4-H club members and presentation of national championships as a feature of the horse show program Monday evening.

Selections of the grand champion steer Tuesday, with Walter Biggar, fat cattle judge of Dalbeattie, Scotland, awarding the purple ribbon for the eighth consecutive year.

Hear Expert in Coin Case

Wisconsin Man Refutes State Testimony in Slaying

DAVENPORT, Nov. 25 (AP)—The testimony of Prof. J. H. Matthews, University of Wisconsin ballistics expert, most of which was demonstrated by stereoscopic slides, held the attention of jurors today in the trial of Louis Spridgen of Muscatine for the murder of Nick Coin, former local liquor chief.

Matthews refuted the testimony by two state's experts that at least one of the shells found at the scene of the Coin killing came from the shotgun seized at Spridgen's home in Muscatine. He will be cross-examined by the prosecution when court convenes at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

State's attorneys objected to almost every point in the testimony and photographic demonstration given by Matthews, but most of the objections were overruled.

Spridgen was subjected to an hour's cross examination this morning, during which he testified he had "bootlegged a little" but denied any dealings with Coin by which the state might have shown a motive for the killing.

H. M. Bartlett, attorney for Spridgen, followed him to the stand, bolstering the defense alibi with testimony that he had a telephone conversation with Spridgen at exactly 6 a.m. May 25, a few minutes before Coin was killed.

Fire Rescue Revealed Alleged Death Plot

Saved from Nailed-Up Room in Blazing House, Wife Charges Mate and Son with Attempt to Burn Her Alive as Climax to Long Period of Brutality.

MRS. B. E. DILLARD in "FIRE TRAP." ARROW SHOWS NAILED-UP DOOR.

ATLANTA, Ga.—An amazing story of marital discord that almost ended in tragedy was told here when Mrs. B. E. Dillard of this city, was snatched from death by firemen who hacked a path through the flames that consumed her home, to the room where the woman was trapped, and carried her to safety.

Following her rescue, Mrs. Dillard told police that she had been the victim of a murder plot on the part of her husband and their 16-year-old son, Earl, who, she said, had deliberately locked her up in the room to die in the fire. Questioned by the authorities, the firemen who rescued the woman said that both doors leading to the room where they had found Mrs. Dillard had been bolted on the outside, and that the fire had originated in a pile of kindling set off beneath this room.

Following the arrest of Mrs. Dillard's husband and son, who were found, fully clothed, among the spectators who were watching the fire, the rescued woman told police that the alleged attempt upon her life was the climax of long years of brutality. Two years ago, she declared, her husband cut her off from the rest of the family by forcing her to take up quarters in a makeshift room in the rear of the house, nailing up the only door that communicated with the main part of the dwelling. To leave and enter this room, Mrs. Dillard was obliged to go through the back yard.

Here she was compelled to shift for herself, denied food and clothing. As the room was without heating or bathing facilities, she suffered.

According to her story, Mrs. Dillard was compelled to depend on kindly neighbors for the bare necessities of life, her husband refusing to contribute any money towards her support. Once, during her two years of virtual banishment, Mrs. Dillard says, she attempted to enter her own house but her husband caught her and beat her severely. After this, she said, she began to fear for her life and it was only recently she swore out a peace warrant against her husband and son because of alleged threats.

The mystery of the affair lies in the fact that there is no motive apparent for the marital discord. Mrs. Dillard is emphatic in asserting that she has always tried to be a good and faithful wife. "After he beat me," she said, "I would go back to him. I felt that I had worked as hard as he had for our home and felt it was as much mine as his."

To all his wife's charges Dillard issued a vigorous denial. Held without bail pending an investigation of the fire, he says he was asleep when the boy, Earl, woke him. They smelled smoke and dressed as quickly as possible, but before they could reach Mrs. Dillard's room to get her out, the firemen had come upon the scene. Admitting that he had been separated from his wife for two years and had cut her off from the main part of his dwelling, Dillard denied the statements of firemen who assert that not only was the connecting door locked, but that the only other means of exit from the woman's room—the door leading to the back yard—had been fastened with heavy nails and staples.

Questioned as to why he kept his wife locked up in the first place, Dillard told the authorities that he thought it was better than throwing her out.

Neighbors of the Dillard's came forward to testify that it was their charity that kept Mrs. Dillard alive through the bitter cold of last winter. They gave her food and clothing and an oil heater which provided a meager amount of heat in the miserable room where she was imprisoned.

Pound Drops to New Low

Brokers Blame Debts for Uncertainty of Money

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Reflecting what brokers called the "debt uncertainty," the pound sterling closed today at $3.21 1/4, the lowest it has reached since Britain went off the gold standard in September, 1931.

Newspapers contained much editorial comment about the refusal of the United States to suspend the Dec. 15 war debt payment and some of it was bitter. But in Birmingham Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, advised the nation against adopting "any hasty attitude."

"I am very glad to see that President Hoover recognizes that our request for a fresh discussion on the difficult debt subject is a reasonable one and that he is apparently not adverse to some means whereby it may once more be the subject of conversations," Mr. Chamberlain said.

The Manchester Guardian said England will "pay the December instalments if she is forced to do so," but presented a detailed argument that harmful results would follow.

"Default, the thing that was unthinkable 10 years ago, becomes almost a duty now," said the Liberal Star.

With Self-Reliance as Watch Word University Architect's Office Designs New Buildings for Campus at Iowa

"Self-reliance" is the watch word of the university architect's office, which goes about its work quickly and gets a great deal done.

Up until three years ago, the department was not particularly active. But then the university began to design its own buildings, and ever since that, business has been rushing in the old dental building where the architects have their headquarters.

Surrounded by T-squares, triangles, and discarded sketches and blue-prints, these men carry on their work.

The key man of the organization is George L. Horner, graduate of the University of Illinois, who bears the title of university architect. His assistants are George Parizek and Harold Finch, University of Iowa graduates, and C. S. Braymer, former student of Allegheny college.

Since Mr. Horner began his creative designing for the university, he has made plans for the mechanical engineering laboratory, the addition to Children's hospital, the music building, and the hydraulics laboratory. He is now designing the new fine arts building, to be erected north of Iowa Union.

Mr. Parizek has designed the university heating plant and a heating plant for the State School for the Blind at Vinton.

The architect's first work, when a building is proposed, is to prepare preliminary sketches. If these are approved by the state board of education, they proceed to make detailed drawings, specifications, blue-prints, and models of the building.

The office then supervises construction of the new building until it is completed.

Mr. Horner is also in charge of alterations and repairs about university buildings, and looks after landscaping to some extent. He designed the walk running up to the Quadrangle, which was built last summer.

All in all, it's a pretty busy department. Its employees make all their own equipment, from preliminary drawings to specifications and plaster-covered wooden models.

When they get through with a building, all that's needed to complete it is a little cement and some manpower.

Here are two pictures of Colonel Raymond Robins, well-known Chicago dry leader, and personal friend of President Hoover. At right, the dry leader is shown as he appeared when he was found masquerading in denim overalls as "Reynolds Rogers," a prospector, near Asheville, N. C. Colonel Robins, apparently the victim of amnesia, at first failed to recognize his wife and friends, but now he has recovered his memory.

Vesper Speaker to Remain for Second Talk at Iowa Union

Sherwood Eddy, vesper speaker tomorrow night and lay religious and social leader, will remain over until Monday afternoon to discuss conditions at the present time in Europe.

This second talk will be given in conjunction with a luncheon in the river room of Iowa Union Monday noon.

Faculty, students, and townspeople are invited to be present, and to make their reservations by 10 a.m. Monday at the campus religious organizations office in Iowa Union. Those who cannot come to the luncheon but who wish to hear the talk may come at 12:30 p.m.

Three Bank Officers Named in Indictment

BURLINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Three officers of the closed American Savings Bank and Trust company, under indictment for receiving deposits when the bank was insolvent, were given until Tuesday to enter pleas when arraigned in district court today.

Defense counsel indicated a demurrer will be filed attacking the legality of the indictment. The defendants are T. W. Kriebbaum, president of the bank; A. F. Andersen, cashier, and E. W. Wischmeier, assistant cashier.

Railroads Reopen Fight to Escape Government Tax Bill

Nation Claims Profits Made in Excess of Six Per Cent

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 25 (AP)—A new effort of American railroads to escape paying the government's bill for profits in excess of six per cent was started today in federal court.

Upon the ultimate verdict of the courts there probably rests the disposition of nearly $360,000,000 in excess earnings of 450 railroads claimed by the federal treasury under the recapture clause of the transportation act of 1920.

Reopen Issue in Illinois
Dormant since the supreme court decided the famous test case of the St. Louis & O'Fallon railway, the issue was reopened by another small midwestern line, the Illinois Terminal railroad, operating a network of steam and electric lines in Illinois as a subsidiary of the Illinois Power & Light corporation.

The Terminal railroad asked for an injunction against the United States and interstate commerce commission to prevent collection of $875,450 for excess profits from March 1, 1920 to Dec. 31, 1924.

Charges Confiscation
Telling of its losses in the "depression" years since 1929, the company contended the assessment of all profits above six per cent in better years would be confiscatory. It charged also that the interstate commerce commission improperly assumed the roles of plaintiff, prosecuting attorney, prosecuting witness, judge and jury in the hearings that resulted in fixing the Terminal line's excess earnings bill, and that it erred in finding the railroad's property valuation.

The suit was filed before U. S. District Judge Walter C. Lindley in the eastern district of Illinois.

Rules Error

In the O'Fallon case appeal, the supreme court ruled that the interstate commerce commission erred in determining property values, basing earnings computation on prices prevailing from 1916 to 1914, the recapture order went back to the commission for revision of property value figures.

With many of the leading transportation systems today borrowing funds from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to meet demands at a critical moment in their history the carriers still face a staggering debt to the government if the recapture clause is sustained.

A bill to repeal the clause was introduced in the last session of congress but the rules committee of the house failed to bring it to a vote. During the hearings before the interstate and foreign commerce committee of the house Joseph B. Eastman of the interstate commerce commission testified few

EXPLANATION OF WEDNESDAY'S CARTOON

Oyster trees: Until they are about 18 days old the oyster larvae are in a free floating condition. Later they attach themselves to any stationary clean object. They have been observed attaching themselves to the mangrove trees growing on the banks of the salt water lagoons in Sierra Leone, West Africa. When the water recedes the natives harvest the oysters "growing" on the mangroves, and feast on them to their great delight.

The human-faced crabs: There is a curious Japanese legend to explain the masklike appearance of the Japanese crab. It is traced to the historical battle of the Heike and the Genji in 1185. The forces loyal to the Japanese emperor were defeated, and the survivors led by the seven-year-old Emperor Antoku, committed suicide by leaping into the Sea of Yachima. The crabs are believed to have fed upon the corpses so long that they began to resemble the fallen warriors.

4 Irish Get Positions on Second Team

Three Little Hawks, Four U. Hi Boys Also Named

By HARRY BURRELL

The final whistle has sounded on the local gridirons and all football equipment has been stored for another year—the season is at hand for the selection of all-teams.

In selecting the 1932 all-city team, The Daily Iowan sports staff has carefully considered the offensive and defensive strength of the candidates for the positions on the team, as well as their individual value to their teams.

No school can point with special pride to its record for the year but at the same time there is no need for any of the followers of any team in town to be ashamed of the record of their particular team. From St. Pat's, which finished with the highest average, to City high, which had its poorest season since 1918 when sickness took more than half the players from the squad, the local schoolers have played the game to the limit despite injuries and losses through ineffectuality.

Team Play Stressed

The season did not produce any outstanding stars, but rather developed a fine group of players who worked as teams rather than sparkling because of sensational individual efforts.

Final selection of the team finds an equality of numbers from the three local schools with seven each from City high and St. Pat's and eight from University high. The first team choices give four to the Red and White and the Blue while three Irish gridirers make the eleven.

Following the general trend throughout the country, the line furnished the most trouble when the selections were made. Several good men played this year but it is impossible to point out any one line star. The backs were somewhat easier, although, the last last season spurts of some of the men tightened the race for the first team honors.

For this reason it was necessary to make several shifts in the lineup of the players and the final result finds two changes in the positions.

Willard, Gough Selected

Beginning with the ends we find that four men were definitely in the running for the jobs and it was not an easy job to decide which were first and second team men.

Jack Willard and Earl Gough were finally selected and appear fully capable of defending the wings against all contenders.

Willard, City high senior, failed to impress his presence until midway in the season when he snapped out of his mediocre form and beginning with the U. High game was definitely on his game. A fast man with punts, a fair pass smasher, a good offensive man, he showed his greatest worth on defense. Playing all season against opposition that towered over him, he usually held his own and his team plenty of help. He was fast enough to play in the backfield on offense but always shifted to the line on defense.

Gough Steady

St. Pat's had two ends of equal ability and the choice was hard until the last game of the year when Earl Gough, another senior, turned in one of the best games of the year to take the position. Fairly tall and slim, the Irish wingman was a steady player, shining neither on defense nor offense but playing a steady game all the time.

The second team end posts were given to Osborn Pinney and Henry Soucek who rank plenty close to first team jobs. Pinney was a tall end who sometimes played tackle and it was he who won the first game of the year for his team when he galloped 55 yards with an intercepted pass for the only score of the game against Clinton.

Soucek was probably the best end in town, but injuries permitted his appearance in less than half his team's games—the standard set for a first team position—and therefore he was named on the second team. A smart player, both off and on the field, he was seldom in the wrong spot while he was playing.

Emanuel at Tackle

For tackles it was necessary to shift one man around to get a running mate for Dennis Emanuel, Green and White lineman, Paul Mutchler, who played the line and backfield for George Wells, was picked for the position.

Emanuel makes the Iowan team for the second time and must be ranked as the best lineman ever turned out at St. Pat's. Big, fast, and experienced, he made it plenty tough for the opposing backs when he turned loose on them. His greatest performance came in the game against St. Joseph's of Rock Island when he made a majority of the tackles and then climaxed his work by blocking an attempted dropkick in the last second of play.

Iowa Cagers Prepare for Bradley Tech

Resume Drills After Day Rest; Work on Fundamentals

Iowa's promising basketball squad, following one day of vacation, returned to the task of preparing for the opening game of the season with Bradley Tech a week from tonight at the field house yesterday afternoon.

Fundamentals continue to be the main line as Coach Rollie Williams drives his proteges through daily workouts, striving to smooth out of offensive work and build a working defense.

Bradley Tech's coming invasion is causing Coach Williams no small amount of worry for it was this same Illinois college that upset the Hawkeyes in opening games of the last seasons—a formidable outfit to engage even in mid-season.

It appears now that the lineup which the Iowa mentor has been working with for the most part since the opening of regular practices, will be called upon to start the Bradley game. Howard Moffitt and Ivan Blackmer, both Iowa Citizens, were again at the forward posts; Howard Bastian, the Eldora 6 foot 5 inch star, was at center, and Johnny Grim, former St. Mary's luminary, pairing with Ed Break of Chicago at the back court positions.

Ramblers to Play Oxford

Hope to Hit Stride in Second Game of New Season

St. Mary's Ramblers, defeated in their opening game of the season but only after an overtime struggle with St. Mary's of Riverside, still have prospects of a thoroughly good season. Coach Francis Suplee and his boys, hoping to realize such, are now busy preparing for their second game, that with Oxford high here Monday night.

The Blue and White quinter put up a strong battle in its first engagement of the new campaign, but a natural nervousness, plus the shooting abilities of "Dutch" Dautremont, Riverside star, spelled downfall.

Consensus Improves
Vic Belger, acting captain in the opener, Joe Maher and Bob Bradley, all of them veterans, played good games as did little Dick Lundden and Consensus. Particularly, was improvement noted in the game of the latter over his last season's form. He has accomplished considerable in the way of overcoming his former awkwardness and before the present season is concluded should be a top-notch pivot performer.

Adrian Rittenmeyer, for the short time he played in the second quarter, showed that he will be heard from before the season is over.

Speed Up Game
Coach Suplee's biggest task at the present is developing sufficient reserve power to allow his regulars much needed rest in the course of a game. The Ramblers, always a fast-breaking team, have stepped up their speed even more this year to overcome a height handicap and at the same time account for the speed necessary to play under the present "non-stalling" rules.

Pitt Panthers Play Stanford

Jock Sutherland Plays Old Teacher, Pop Warner

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25 (AP)—The gridiron stalwarts of Stanford and Pitt were on edge tonight for their battle in the stadium tomorrow.

Both teams are primed for the game—primed by coaches who would give a lot to beat each other. "Pop" Warner, the Indian mentor, taught Jock Sutherland, director of the Panther's football destiny, quite a bit about football when the "old fox" tutored Pitt in the early 20's. Sutherland was an apt pupil and now he finds his team at grips with that of his old teacher.

Pitt Favored
Pitt, undefeated but tied twice, is the favorite.

Sutherland has Reider and Sebastian—big two crack backs—to worry about. Reider, hurt several games ago, has not responded to treatment and is a doubtful factor in tomorrow's game. Sebastian has a severe cold and is tucked away in a hospital so that he'll get the proper care.

Warner's first and second string fullbacks—Hillman and Baker—are not feeling very pert.

While gate receipts in almost every other sport were falling off during the last season, tennis enjoyed a bumper financial crop, drawing better both here and abroad than in many years.

Although no one man was outstanding, Marshall and Brown, in the back field, turned in good performances and Soucek and Willard, who divided his time between end and halfback, played the best games in the line.

In Grinnell Territory
With the exception of the third period, when the second team was playing, Iowa City played on equal terms with the winners and stopped all their running plays before they could get too dangerous. The entire first quarter was played in Grinnell territory as was the second except for that one scoring drive.

A light and inexperienced City high line played the big line of the victors on a par and stopped the power drives of the second team after falling back to their own goal line. The backfield showed plenty of power when given a chance to carry the ball.

Grinnell Gets Narrow Win Over City Hi

Little Hawks Force Heavy Opponents to Limit

Grinnell can still boast of its perfect record in Thanksgiving day games but it is safe to say that it will never want to have another opponent as hard to beat as was Iowa City high.

Entering the game as overwhelming favorites, the Black and Orange team managed to squeak out a 6 to 0 win when the Little Hawk defense let up for one play in the second quarter and a forward pass ending in a lateral to "Pug" Brown was good for 23 yards and a touchdown.

It was the scrappiest Red and White eleven that has played this year and it turned in its best game as it tried desperately to overcome that slim margin. Twice they threatened but a fumble on the 20 yard line and an intercepted pass on the 23 stopped them.

Willard intercepts lateral
The fourth period marked the greatest effectiveness of the losers and furnished some of the best football seen around Grinnell this year. After allowing the Grinnell second team to shove them back to their five-yard line as the third period ended, the Little Hawks turned back the threat and then punted short to the first team. That threat was ended when Jack Willard broke through and intercepted a lateral pass and carried it back to the 40 yard line.

Here the Iowa City team completed three passes mixed with running plays to bring the ball to Grinnell's 23 yard line where Mason intercepted one of Marshall's tosses.

80,000 Will See Clash of Great Rivals

Stanford Meets Pitt in Intersectional Combat

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Nov. 25—Among a scant dozen outstanding games left in a college football campaign fast drawing to a dramatic finish, the stand of two of the east's most rugged regiments, Army and Pittsburgh, against famous intersectional rivals features tomorrow's sectional warfare.

The soldiers will play Notre Dame before a sellout crowd of 80,000 in the Yankee stadium, the biggest of the season, while Pitt's Panthers close their spectacular season at home against Stanford in an east-west struggle of Warner formations. Both eastern teams, reversing the usual circumstances, are favored to win and round out a football season in which this ancient sectional rivals features tomorrow's sectional warfare.

WHAT about the Rose Bowl? Well let's look around and see. First on the Pacific coast there appears to be no doubt about the western representative. With a record of 18 straight victories, eight of them this year, the selection of Howard Jones' Trojans seems inevitable. Starting slowly and a little uncertainly, Southern California has kept rolling along and now ranks as one of the four major unbeaten-untied teams of the country.

In the midst Michigan stands alone as the only unbeaten or untied eleven. It is improbable that the Wolverines will meet the House of Troy on New Year's day and all because of the work of Fielding Yost. It was the veteran director of athletics who led the fight for the rule against post-season games for conference schools and now it is his own school that is receiving the bid. It would not be the first trip for the Yost teams for he led his great point-a-minute team west and soundly trounced the best on the west coast. It would be a great battle between the alert midwestern team and the tricky Californians.

ALTHOUGH Colgate ranks at the top in the east it would not be surprising to see Pittsburgh go west next month. The Red Raiders boast a record not equalled since Texas A. & M. was unscored upon in 1919. Unbeaten, untied and unscored on through a nine game schedule, Coach Andy Kerr's boys are the logical choice against any team the west wants to put against them. Pitt's greater national reputation may swing the vote to Panthern town for this Rose Bowl game is frankly out to make money and will always get the biggest drawing card.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute, better known as Auburn, ranks in the south as the favorite choice but the fact that most of the teams in the last few years have come from below the Mason-Dixon line may cause the selection of an eastern or midwestern team. The Plainsmen from Auburn are the only Southern conference team to administer a defeat to Tulane in four years and pack a powerful and quick-striking offense. Led by Jimmy Hitchcock, they have swept through all opposition to keep their safe clean. They may drop their last game to a traditional rival for they have lost six regulars to the ravages of influenza and that includes Captain Hitchcock. But that game isn't until Dec. 3 and the last players may be in condition

Wooden, one of the greatest individuals in the history of collegiate basketball, the lad who set a new scoring record last season with 154 points in 12 Big Ten games, is no more as far as Purdue basketball is concerned, and Coach Ward Lambert, who has developed title contenders with startling regularity at the Boiler-maker institution, is faced with a real problem in finding a candidate who can come anywhere near filling his shoes.

Stock Market Prices React With Grains

Selling Furnishes Main Occupation in Day's Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—American commodity markets were chilled by weakness of the British pound today and stocks reacted in sympathy.

With December wheat touching a new low at 41 1/2 cents and cotton making fresh minimums for the season, it was probably inevitable that share temperatures should have fallen. Professionals stayed with the selling side, where they had stood on Wednesday, until the late trading, when some recovery took place and extreme 1 to 3 point losses were considerably reduced. Turnover was 1,005,860 shares.

Not Inspiring
The descent of sterling was hardly inspiring, nor did the action of commodities held dispel recent uncertainty.

The closing advance in stocks, while sufficient to reduce the average net loss to six-tenths of a point, was repurchased by the short interest on the strength of wheat's late recovery. Rail shares, however, were fairly steady even against the downward tide in the morning and several carriers made net gains. Wall street anticipates a rise of around 30,000 cars in tomorrow's loadings report.

Closes Unchanged
U. S. Steel closed unchanged. American Telephone halved a drop of something more than 2.

Corn Products, Coca Cola, Case, American Tobacco "B" and Standard Brands showed losses of 1 to nearly 3, the last named being adversely affected by a dividend cut. American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, General Motors, Montgomery Ward and Consolidated Gas were down less than a point. Homestake, McIntyre Porcupine and Alaska Juneau flourished. The U. S. Steel issues sold under 70.

Mrs. Poland Dies at Home in Iowa City

Mrs. Nancy E. Poland, 82, 328 S. Dubuque street, one of the early residents of Iowa City, died at her home at 2:30 a.m. yesterday after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Poland had lived at the same address for the last 52 years. Born in 1850 in Ohio, she came to Iowa City with her parents, Zachariah and Jane Clark, when she was a child. Her husband was the late James H. Poland, Civil war veteran.

Mrs. Poland was active for many years in club and church work, being a charter member of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church, the Women's Relief corps, and the American Legion auxiliary.

In addition to six grandchildren, she is survived by one daughter, Edna. Her husband, a son, and a daughter preceded her in death.

Funeral service, which will be in charge of the Rev. Harry D. Henry, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the McGovern funeral home. Burial will be at the Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Miller Leads Greenwalt by Total of About 2,514 Votes

DES MOINES, Nov. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Alex Miller's lead over G. C. Greenwalt, Republican incumbent, in the recent general election race for the secretary of state's office was around 2,514 votes, a recheck showed today.

Reports from county auditors to the Associated Press placed the total vote for Mrs. Miller, Democrat, at 460,142 and that for Greenwalt at 457,628.

Because of the closeness of the race as indicated by the unofficial returns there has been much interest in the final totals. The state executive council will meet shortly to canvass the vote for the various offices.

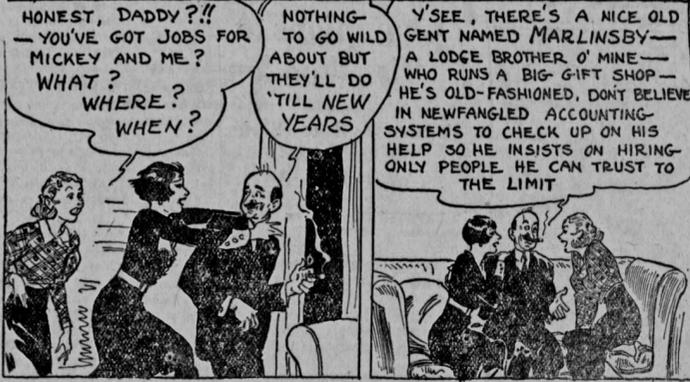

Judge Harold Evans Grants Divorces to Irma Novy, Brotchie

Cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion were the ground upon which two divorces were granted by District Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday in district court.

A divorce, the custody of her son, and $15 a month for his support were awarded to Mrs. Irma Novy when she charged her husband, George Novy, with cruel and inhuman treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Novy were married in Cedar Rapids Aug. 15, 1928, and lived in Big Grove township. Wilson, Clearman, and Brant were her attorneys.

Charging his wife with desertion, William Brotchie was granted a divorce from Eva Brotchie. They were married Nov. 1926, in Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Brotchie was represented by Wilson, Clearman, and Brant.

Authorities Continue Search for Millage, Rush; Offer Reward

GANN VALLEY, S. D., Nov. 25 (AP)—Authorities here continued their search for Alvin Millage and Rubin Rush, escaped convicts from the Iowa state reformatory farm at Anamosa.

Held for Iowa officers the two men broke out of jail here while Sheriff Frank Henriksen and his deputy were out at lunch. Officers said they believed the break was engineered from the outside. Millage was serving a five year sentence for larceny of domestic animals and Rush 10 years for burglary when they escaped from the Anamosa farm. Both were sentenced from Sioux City. Iowa officers arrived today with $100 reward money which had been offered for the capture of the men.

Bond Prices Suffer Slump

Foreign Loans Figure Among Principal Losers

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—Foreign war loan clouds again drifted over the bond market today and prices generally displayed a receding tendency.

Semi-speculative issues and some foreign loans were the principal sufferers. At the same time the highest grade investment bonds of all categories were steady to firm.

Bonds of Great Britain, Canada and Australia were particularly heavy as the pound sterling slumped to its lowest rate since 1920. Loans of Germany, Belgium, Finland, Poland and Cuba declined a point or more.

Domestic rail securities failed to cheer up on a car loading prediction and losses of 1 to 2 or more points were registered by Chesapeake and Ohio, Burlington, Chicago, Great Western, Rock Island, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific.

United States treasury bonds were only moderately active and fractionally higher while Liberty 2 1/2's and first 4 1/4's eased.

A heavier turnover in the foreign section brought total sales to $8,233,000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate bonds decline 2-10 of a point.

Wheat Plunges Down; Climbs Back Slowly

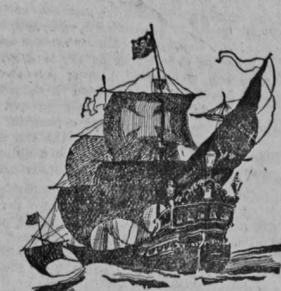

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—Staggered temporarily by collapse of British exchange rates, wheat plunged down today to prices never heretofore reached in the history of any organized grain exchange.

A complete recovery of wheat values followed, however, when a wild rush of selling that took place at the start was ended. After reaching a new bottom price record, 41 1/2 cents a bushel for December contracts, wheat trading suddenly came almost to a standstill, and then the market slowly climbed back in meager dealings to where it was before Thanksgiving.

Developments regarding European efforts for reduction of war debt payments to the United States were generally taken here as chiefly responsible for the action of British exchange and for the furries selling of wheat and other grains.

Wheat closed nervous at a slight reaction from the day's top, unchanged to 5-8-3/4 under Wednesday's finish, corn 3-8-5/8 down, oats 1-4-3/8 off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Demoralization of prices quoted for the British pound sterling had preceded the commencement of today's wheat trade here, and brokers in the wheat pit were overwhelmed with orders to sell out and stop losses.

The BLACK SWAN

BEGINS
SUNDAY
in

The DAILY IOWAN

"First With The News"

DID YOU KNOW
That the pirate Henry Morgan (one of the characters in this story) massacred 1,400 persons when he took Panama?
That the king rebuked him for his cruelty and then made him Sir Henry Morgan, Governor of the Island of Jamaica?
That an expedition is now searching Cocos Island for pirate treasure?
That it is doubtful if Captain Kidd was ever guilty of piracy?
That there was a girl pirate who concealed her sex until she was captured? She was hanged on Execution Dock, London.

Historically authentic details of pirate lore, captains, ships and fighting methods make the buccaneer days live again for you in Sabatini's THE BLACK SWAN.
