BREAK, BLACKMER RULED INELIGIBLE

City Council to Draft New Water Rate Schedule

SPORT
Potshots
by EUGENE THORNE

WITH the decision of the eligibility committee yesterday afternoon to declare Eddie Break and Ivan Blackmer ineligible, Coach Rollie Williams and Iowa sports in general took an awful jolting. There has been little but trouble for the Hawkeyes for the last few years, but the coaches, the athletes, and most of the fans have continued to hang right on, working hard to return the Old Gold to its former standing near the top of the Western conference. They will no doubt continue to labor long and hard, but one could hardly blame them if they let down.

It is the second time that Iowa officials have voluntarily banned athletes. The first time there was a wholesale "booting" of all the men who had obtained money from the loan fund. That was done in order that the Big Ten might be convinced that Iowa had "cleaned house," and that nothing like professionalism existed here. But yesterday, not 24 hours after a complaint against Blackmer and Break was made public by the Iowa committee, was fit to disqualify the pair from further competition. Granted that the now famous "Rule 7" concerning outside competition, was violated by Blackmer and Break. It is a minor infraction. The letter of the law may have been broken, but certainly, not the spirit. The two lads are as much amateurs now as they were a year ago, and it is safe to say, as pure, if not more so, as a good many other basketball players that will see action on Big Ten teams this season.

UNDER these circumstances, it hardly seems the thing to do for the Iowa committee to turn on the boys it represents, and bar them from competition. If the Iowa officials are not going to stand up for Iowa athletes, then who is? Surely officials from other schools in the conference can't be expected to go out of their way to see that Iowa's good men are eligible. Other schools go out and scrap for their athletes. And that doesn't mean that they are underhanded or in any way crooked. The committee could just as well have submitted its findings to the Big Ten board, setting forth the facts, and pointing out the mitigating factors. Certainly the conference officials would at least hesitate before taking any such drastic action as the Iowa officials do.

It was nothing new that was uncovered that caused the action taken against Blackmer and Break. That both men played with Albert's Cleaners was common knowledge, and neither man made any effort to hide the fact. There was no reason why Iowa officials should not have known as much about the two men in the fall as they did yesterday when they declared them ineligible. Yet no action was taken. Rollie Williams was allowed to work with both men, use them in pre-season games, and expect them to be available all season. Iowa's officials knew Break had played with the Cedar Rapids club last spring when the conference declared him eligible. Is the "crime" violating the rules, or is it getting caught? With but a week before the start of the conference season, Coach Williams has a job on his hands. The loss of the services of the two men is a severe loss to the squad.

BUT the effect upon the morale of the team is more serious. It will be a struggle to get that squad back up to its former pitch. The men had the idea that they were representing an institution that would back them to the limit. That is what the committee action means to them, even though it is only a sub-committee of the ath-

Economists Train Guns on Findings Held by Technocracy

Unemployment Result of Machinery Only in Small Part

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29 (AP)—Economists, whose science has been described as the "pathology of debt" by Howard Scott, leader of the Technocrats, trained their guns in reply today.

Only a trivial part of the "present unparalleled aggregate of unemployment can legitimately be ascribed to technological improvements in methods of production," Prof. Wilford I. King of the New York university school of commerce said in addressing the American Statistical association.

Three Times as Great

"Everyone knows that the average output per worker employed is now less than three times as great as it was a century ago," Professor King said. "If men displaced by machines had not found other jobs, at least two thirds of the nation's working force would have been idle, even before the present depression began."

The census takers in 1930, he said, found that of all persons reported as usually engaged in factory work, 9.12 per cent were unemployed, and of them, such causes as reductions in labor force, substitution of cheaper labor, advancing age of the worker, introduction of new machines and other phases of industrial policy accounted for only 96,957 idle men out of a total of 2,686,145 reported as unemployed.

Merely Cause Shift

Professor King said his conclusions were that technological improvements merely cause labor to shift from one industry to another, and that technological unemployment usually is temporary.

Recover Last Mine Victims

Rescuers Take Seven Bodies From Shaft at Moweaqua

MOWEAQUA, Ill., Dec. 29 (AP)—Rescuers today recovered the bodies of the last seven of 54 miners entrapped in the Moweaqua coal company's mine Christmas eve.

The recovery ended the possibility that the men might have barricaded themselves safely in the far end of the north tunnel of the mine against the deadly gas which permeated its warrens following an explosion.

The last seven, like those of the others whose bodies have been reclaimed a few at a time daily since the disaster, apparently died instantly.

The bodies were identified by their work tags, embalmed and borne to the surface.

A second tragedy impended for a few moments in the mine today, when a section of roof collapsed behind a squad of rescuers who were fighting their way along the north tunnel.

A second squad was following, however, and the efforts of both succeeded in clearing the channel while the air was clear.

Hoover Comes to Anchorage at Palm Beach for Fishing

WITH PRESIDENT HOOVER IN FLORIDA INLAND PASSAGE, Dec. 29 (AP)—President Hoover headed into an anchorage at Palm Beach tonight, delayed in arrival, but ready to begin early tomorrow his search for sail fish or any other deep sea denizen that will come near his hook.

The presidential cruising flotilla was behind schedule because of rough waters on the Atlantic ocean. How long the Hoover party will remain at Palm Beach, where an anchorage has been arranged off the Sallfish club, probably will depend in part upon the luck enjoyed by the president. Word has come to the presidential flotilla that the fish are biting well.

Coast Guard Hears Message Telling of Saving Ship's Crew

WILMINGTON, N. C., Dec. 29 (AP)—The coast guard late today intercepted a wireless message reporting the rescue of all hands aboard the burning American tanker, Dorris Kellogg, by the steamship Delaware Sun.

The message, from an unidentified source, said the crew had taken to sea in three lifeboats before the Delaware Sun picked up its members.

Leaders Urge Broad Power for Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Undecided upon an immediate program for balancing the budget, house Democrats approached the problem by the economy route today and proposed that broad authority be given President-elect Roosevelt to cut government costs through reorganization.

The Republicans, meanwhile, appeared to be concentrating on a move to enact a manufacturers' sales tax, which the incoming chief executive's advisors say he definitely opposes.

French Grant Austrian Loan

Advance $14,000,000 for Reconstruction Purposes

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP)—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 351 to 187, tonight authorized the government to participate in the projected reconstruction loan for Austria, which will mean an advance by France of approximately $14,000,000.

This action was taken over the objections of a group of deputies who argued that France should not lend money to Austria when only two weeks ago she refused to make the war debt interest payment of approximately $19,000,000 due the United States.

Former Premier Herriot, who was responsible for French policy on the Australian loan question when he headed the government, vigorously defended it before the chamber.

One of the principal opponents of the action was Deputy Hays, who said:

"Two weeks ago we refused to pay 500,000,000 francs to those to whom we owed something. Are we going to give 350,000,000 to those to whom we owe nothing?"

Tolna Man Announces New Plan for Sale of Coming Wheat Crop

DEVILS LAKE, N. D., Dec. 29 (AP)—Dell Willis of Tolna, originator of a hold for "dollar wheat" idea said today a state wide meeting of persons interested in the movement will be held here some time in January, when plans for marketing next year's wheat crop will be discussed.

Willis urged the support not only of farmers but of every profession and industry in making successful the plan, which would be national in scope and operation.

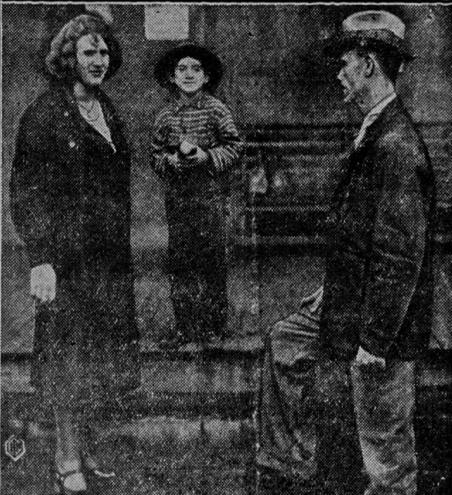

Willis stated he has formulated a plan, as yet unannounced, based on sound principles, which will place agriculture on a par with other industries.

Company Cancels Bills

The company explained it could afford to make the cancellation because business had been good during 1932.

REUNION IN SHADOW OF DEATH

Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, expectant mother, under sentence of death, is shown with her husband, Clyde Snipes, and their son, Clyde Jr., as they were reunited on Christmas day at the South Carolina state prison in Columbia. The reunion was all the more pathetic as the boy is unaware of the shadow of death that overhangs his mother. The boy's father is serving a seven months prison sentence. Mrs. Snipes was condemned to die following her conviction on a charge of slaying a highway policeman. The sentence is scheduled for April, two months after the birth of her expected baby.

Asks $13,483 Reduction for Coming Year

Committee Will Offer Ordinance With New Rates

Dropping their demand for free city water, the city council stopped negotiations with the water company and took the first definite step towards the drafting of new water rates last night.

Meeting in a special session occasioned by the water company's refusal of their proposed reduction of $12,000 plus free city water, the council members passed a resolution approving a rate decrease of $13,483 yearly.

Ask Ordinance
The resolution, introduced by Edward Sybil, asks that the ordinance committee prepare an ordinance with the new rates and present it at the next meeting.

Based on 1931 figures, the new schedule would eliminate the service charge of 75 cents per month as a separate charge, and substitute a flat $1 minimum charge for the first 100 cubic feet used.

For the next 4,900 cubic feet the new rates set the charge at 26 cents for each 100 cubic feet used. The present rate is 29 cents for each 100 cubic feet used out of the first 5,000 cubic feet.

Reduced to 13 Cents
Each 100 cubic feet will cost 13 instead of 14 cents between 5,000 and 45,000 cubic feet, and each 100 cubic feet above 50,000 cubic feet will cost 8 instead of 9 cents.

According to 1931 figures, this will save Iowa City water consumers $13,483. The $12,000 reduction originally offered by the water company was vetoed by the mayor.

City Solicitor Will J. Hayek informed the council that the Theta Xi Building association, denied exemption from city taxes in the district court, has taken their case to the state supreme court.

Following is a summary of the present schedule of water rates, compared with that suggested at a meeting of the city council last night.

Present Rates
Service charge, $75.
First 5,000 cubic feet, $29 per 100 cubic feet.
Next 45,000 cubic feet, $14 per 100 cubic feet.
Above 50,000 cubic feet, $9 per 100 cubic feet.

Suggested Rates
First 100 cubic feet, $1.00.
Next 4,900 cubic feet, $23 per 100 cubic feet.
Next 45,000 cubic feet, $13 per 100 cubic feet.
Above 50,000 cubic feet—$.08 per 100 cubic feet.

R. F. C. Votes $9,743,697 in Relief Funds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Reconstruction corporation voted $9,743,697 of emergency relief funds to three states today, bringing the total allocated since the $300,000,000 fund was established to $103,421,443.

Chicago got two-thirds of today's allotment, $6,770,000 worth of relief bonds being purchased by the corporation. For 27 other Illinois counties, $485,000 was allowed.

The other loans were $2,440,397 for West Virginia and $48,300 for Nevada. The West Virginia funds will be used in 34 political subdivisions of that state and the Nevada money by three undesignated counties. These loans were for the months of January and February while the Illinois loan was for January only.

With today's loan, Illinois came within $12,500,000 of having received the $45,000,000 limit to any one state it has obtained $32,593,228.

Former Resident of Iowa City Succumbs

Mrs. T. Vinke, formerly of Iowa City, died from pneumonia in Cincinnati, Ohio, according to word received here yesterday.

Until they moved from Iowa City last summer, Doctor and Mrs. Vinke were associated with the university. Dr. Vinke was an assistant to Dr. Arthur Steindler in the orthopedics department of Children's hospital, where Mrs. Vinke was a physiotherapist.

Hughes Rites Will Take Place Today

Funeral service for J. Henry Hughes of Williamsburg, who died at his home Wednesday, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Williamsburg Presbyterian church.

Mr. Hughes was an uncle of Judge Harold D. Evans of Iowa City.

Would Abandon Branch Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway petitioned the interstate commerce commission for authority to abandon its 28-mile branch line between Luverne, Minn., and Doon, Iowa.

Omaha Couple Sends Pekingese as Gift to Gov. Roosevelt

OMAHA, Dec. 29 (AP)—A 16 month-old Pekingese, Sun-Yet Sen II, was shipped from Omaha today to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt from Dr. and Mrs. W. Lee Withers of Omaha.

"We trust that you will honor us by accepting this beautiful dog as a new year's gift and hope he will be received in the same spirit with which he is given," wrote Dr. Withers in a letter to Mr. Roosevelt.

The ancestral tree of Sun-Yet-Sen II, boasts 36 blue ribbons, Dr. Withers said. The dog's pedigree is also being sent to the Roosevelts.

Iowa Citizens Killed as Car Leaves Road

George Dauber, Wife Die Near Hickory Grove

Two Iowa Citizens, Mr. and Mrs. George Dauber, were killed yesterday morning when their automobile plunged over an embankment on Iowa primary 161 near Hickory Grove, north of Mt. Pleasant.

Funeral service will be held in St. Patrick's church at 9 a.m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Mankato, Minn.

Following Son's Car
Mr. and Mrs. Dauber were following their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dauber, en route to Starkville, Miss., at the time of the accident. Near Mt. Pleasant Ray Dauber, who had been driving a short distance ahead, missed his parents and turned back to find them.

He drove back to Olds and then started toward Mt. Pleasant again and stopped when he noticed a crowd near a bridge. His parents' car had skidded into the apron approach of the bridge before rolling down a steep embankment into the creek below.

The necks of both Mr. and Mrs. Dauber were broken, causing immediate death. The automobile was upside down, a complete wreck.

Going to Mississippi
Ray Dauber, former University of Iowa athlete and now head football coach at Mississippi A. and M. college, had, with his wife, spent the Christmas holidays in Iowa City. His parents were going to live with him at Starkville, Miss.

Mr. Dauber, who was 67 years old, retired from his position as local agent for the American Railway Express company Aug. 1. At the time of his retirement he had passed more than 46 years continuous service with the company, working in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Iowa. Mrs. Dauber was 57 years old.

Surviving relatives are their son, a daughter, Mrs. D. E. Glenn of Oskaloosa, two brothers of Mr. Dauber, and two sisters and four brothers of Mrs. Dauber.

Participation in Basketball Games Last Season with Albert's Cleaners, an Amateur Team in Cedar Rapids, by both men was the reason for the action of the committee. Although the Cedar Rapids club is a certified A.A.U. team, Blackmer and Break violated Rule 7 of the Big Ten code which states:

Sec. 1. A student who, after matriculation in any college engages in any athletic contest as a representative of any organization primarily athletic in character (as for example an athletic club), shall thereafter be ineligible to represent a conference institution.

Section 2.
(a) A student who, after matriculation in any college, engages in any athletic contest during term time as a representative of any person or organization other than his college, shall thereafter be ineligible to represent a conference institution.

(b) Subject to paragraph (c) occasional games, however, during vacation periods, or in periods in which the student is not in residence, on teams strictly amateur are not forbidden. A strictly amateur team is one no member of which receives remuneration for his services.

(c) In case of football, baseball and basketball, such occasional games as are permitted by the above paragraph must be without admission charge.

At the time he played with Albert's, Blackmer was not enrolled at Iowa, while Break was under suspension in the conference for a violation of Big Ten eligibility rules during the time he was attending Illinois.

The eligibility committee, composed of Dean C. C. Williams, chairman of the athletic board; Prof. F. G. Higbee and Prof. Henning Larsen,

Old Iowa Jinx Takes Toll of Two Regulars

Announcement Follows Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

Rising up once more to strike at the ineligible jinx knifed down on Coach Rollie Williams' basketball squad yesterday and removed two regulars, Ivan Blackmer, towering forward, and Eddie Break, flashy guard, from competition.

The announcement was made following a meeting yesterday afternoon of the eligibility committee of the board in control of athletics following an investigation which has been carried on for the last week.

Coach Williams issued the following statement:

"I am greatly disappointed by the committee's action in declaring Blackmer and Break ineligible for further basketball competition at the University of Iowa, particularly since the decision comes scarcely more than a week before we open our conference campaign against Michigan.

"Had I not been permitted to count upon these two men during the season so far, I would have been much better prepared to meet the present situation. The fact concerning the men's activities with the Albert's Cleaners team, a strictly amateur outfit, at Cedar Rapids last year were known to me and to members of the eligibility committee last spring, and I see no reason why action, if it had to be taken, should have been delayed until this time.

"The violations are purely technical. Blackmer was not in school at the time he played and would be liable to no violation if it were not for the purely technical fact that he had 'previously' attended the university. Break was ineligible in the conference at the time and had no reason to think that he should obey conference rules, even though taking care to protect his amateur standing.

"In previous cases when men have been reinstated in the conference, it has been assumed that all violations prior to the reinstatement were to be ignored. Why should not this precedent be followed in Break's case? Certainly the facts concerning his playing at Cedar Rapids, which were widely printed, were known at least to the Iowa officials who have taken action against him at the time of his reinstatement.

"I am of the opinion that the conference, rather than the university, should have been the one to bring charges against these boys if any were to be brought."

Participation in basketball games last season with Albert's Cleaners, an amateur team in Cedar Rapids, by both men was the reason for the action of the committee. Although the Cedar Rapids club is a certified A.A.U. team, Blackmer and Break violated Rule 7 of the Big Ten code which states:

Glances Back at 1932

3) Things History Will Forget

HISTORY forgets so much. In 1932 there were so many things to be forgotten. But since historians disagree (usually) we can't promise about these:

JANUARY

See end of depression.
Rep. Wright Patman, Texas Demo, suggests that impeachment proceedings be instituted against Secretary of the Treasury Andy Mellon.
Sears Roebuck's philanthropist Julius Rosenwald dies.
U. S. warns Japan to respect "open door" treaties in Manchuria.

FEBRUARY

See end of depression.
Arms delegates meet at Geneva.
Mellon quits to take Dawes' old job.
Japs rout Chinese from Manchuria.
Winnie Ruth Judd sentenced to die.
Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes resigns.
Aviation's Dean Eddie Stinson dies in plane crash.
U. S. Asiatic fleet ordered to Shanghai.

MARCH

See end of depression.
Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., kidnaped.
John Philip Sousa dies.
Aristide Briand dies.
Photographer George Eastman kills self.
German cops put Nazis "on the spot."

APRIL

See end of depression.
Senate investigates stock market.
Alfred E. Smith chooses to run.
Bonus "army" storms capital.
Al Smith, Frank Roosevelt break long engagement.
Four Americans guilty of Honolulu "honor" slaying.

MAY

See end of depression.
House cuts government economy bill from 210 millions to 42 millions.
Honolulu "honor" slayers freed.
Al Capone goes to prison.
Fantic assassinate France's President Paul Doumer.
French acclaim new President Lebrun.
Find body of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.
Irish vote to drop British oath of allegiance.

JUNE

See end of depression.
Dawes resigns from R. F. C.
Field beats Brookhart in primaries.
G. O. P. adopts resubmission plank.
Hoover-Curtis renominated.
Demos vote for repeal in convention.

JULY

See end of depression.
Roosevelt-Garner nominated.
Griffin-Matter start around world via air.
French submarine carries 66 to death.
Florenz Ziegfeld dies.
German ship carries 69 to death.
Ottawa tariff conference convenes.
Hoover calls out soldiers to rout veterans.

AUGUST

See end of depression.
Hindenberg refuses to hand helm to Hitler.
Germany says "can't pay debts."
Flying housewives set new endurance flight record.

SEPTEMBER

See end of depression.
New York's Mayor Jimmy Walker resigns.
Democrats carry Maine.
Germany boycotts arms parity.
Gandhi starts hunger strike.

OCTOBER

See end of depression.
Al Smith-Frank Roosevelt resume long engagement.
See end of depression.
Thirty-nine million vote in U. S. election.
Hoover-Roosevelt confer on nation's ills, 1,000 dead in Cuban storm.
No more moratoriums on debts—U. S.
U. S., Britain, France swap debt notes.

NOVEMBER

See end of depression.
Garner repeat bill defeated as congress

opens.
Herriot resigns, takes cabinet along.
Six nations pay debts, five default.
Paul-Boncour takes French premiership.
House passes 3.2 per cent beer bill.
Illinois mine disaster takes toll of 52 lives.
Sales tax out.
Japan to build up army in Manchuria.

TODAY'S TOPICS

By FRANK JAFFE

This third article in the series of five on Technocracy proposes to deal with the purposes of that organization. But since nowhere are those purposes clearly defined, it may not be out of order to suggest, at times, what they might be, in addition to noting what they seem to be.

The forerunner of Technocracy, the Technical Alliance, has been explained as growing up from a group of engineers who began corresponding about 1913 and meeting to discuss the "inevitable social changes that were even then being brought about by the installation of high powered machinery," to quote Wayne Parrish in the New Outlook.

In 1919, the Alliance was formed, guided by Howard Scott, now Technocrat No. 1. Scott began to conduct research into this vital change in civilization, with the aid of the Alliance. Out of these beginnings developed the Energy Survey of North America, and the Theory of Energy Determinants, upon which that survey is based.

Technocracy is the term used both to denote the group of 350 economists and engineers engaged in the survey, and to express in a term comparable to Democracy, Autocracy, etc., a social state toward which North America is rushing headlong—according to the Technocrats.

Severe critics of Technocracy say the purpose of the group is to frighten the nation into believing in its propositions, to be wheeled into a system of living over which a hierarchy of Technocrats would rule. There are approximately 350,000 experts in America of the Technocratic type, who would be class A of the new order. The rest of us would be graded according to our energy output, regardless of special skills, education, et cetera.

Other critics claim that Technocracy's chief purpose is to promulgate a system of social control for which its Energy Survey would be used as guide. Living according to blueprints is not much to the liking of most people, they point out, and so they berate the efforts of Technocracy without knowing exactly what's what.

Men like Editor John H. Van Deventer of the "Iron Age" have set about picking Technocracy's statistics to pieces. "Business Week" has attacked the findings from a similar standpoint. Some manufacturers, it has been authoritatively revealed, have dropped plans for increasing capacity and otherwise investing large sums of money in their businesses because they are fearful of what Technocracy is about.

It is not the purpose, seemingly, of Technocracy to draw up a Technocratic constitution, convene assemblies of Technocrats to pass laws and judgment, lay down principles of a Technocratic government. Nor is it very likely that they are planning to usurp power over the entire continent and regulate existence on an energy basis, or any other.

Perhaps it would be less confusing to list the suggested purposes of Technocracy, instead of approaching the subject from a negative standpoint. These suggestions have been gleaned from most of what has been written about Technocracy, for the most part; others are original with this writer:

- 1) An exposition of the development of the machine with reference to its displacement of man power.
- 2) A concentrated observation of the trend of an age in which man has achieved potential economy of plenty in the midst of a hodge-podge of debt and unemployment.
- 3) To show, by means of statistics, to what extent the present systems—social and economic—have proved inadequate to cope with the progress of man.
- 4) To present, not as a plan but in the form of observations resulting from a study of the statistical information, qualifications and necessary factors of the new system that it declares inevitable.
- 5) To pronounce a qualified and substantiated doom of the price system.
- 6) To enlighten the world by means of a record of its doings whither it is bound.

There may be other purposes of Technocracy; certainly others can be resolved. The fundamental purpose, when it is revealed, may be found at variance with all of the above. If it is, as has been suggested, primarily a business venture prompted by a selfish desire for individual gain at the expense of a nation, no one ought to be surprised. Such things are not new in America.

On the other hand, Technocracy may be nothing more than an investigative organization dedicated to humanity and a new era. Closely allied with its purpose, the findings of this strange, new group are more interesting than any other phase of the project—more interesting than accurate, its critics contend. Some of these findings will be presented in the fourth article in this series tomorrow.

Book Bits—

(From Hitler by Emil Lengyel)
"Progress and human culture," Hitler said, "are not born of the majority, but of the genius and energy of a real personality."

The real personality is, of course, Adolf Hitler. Out of his head the idea of the National Socialist movement sprang in all its panoplied glory. Hitler shares no honors with anyone in bringing the party to life. He had an inspiration and, lo, the party was there—one of the most remarkable instances of spontaneous creation through the intercession of superhuman power ever recorded since the time Pallas Athene was born!

American Gangster Technique Seen in Cuban Assassination

Plot to Recruit New York Gunmen as Mercenaries in Cuban Revolt Last Year Recalled. Slaying of Bello Was Preliminary Step to Wiping Out Entire Government.

NEW YORK—That the killers who moved down Dr. Clemente Vasquez Bello, president of the Cuban senate, in Havana, with true American gangster technique, were really a group of New York thugs especially imported for the purpose is a theory which is receiving consideration by police heads here.

A year ago it was discovered that opponents of President Gerardo Machado were recruiting an army of plug-uglies from the sidewalks of Manhattan for use as shock troops in a revolt that was being planned. Chief among the plotters on that occasion was a former member of Machado's cabinet, who had been exiled as an alleged traitor.

The New York recruits were promised $500 apiece "enlistment bonus" and all expenses for the duration of the war. Besides this they were to be transported to Cuba gratis.

But the plot was uncovered by an eagle-eyed patrolman in the Times Square section, whose curiosity was aroused by the departure of several bus loads of the unprepossessing recruits from that part of the city. The New York Detective Bureau, co-operating with federal authorities, investigated the affair and the result was the arrest of the greater part of the mercenaries just as they were about to board a ship off the coast of New Jersey. It is now believed that some of the plotters and recruits who escaped the police net on that occasion are the miscreants who brought "tommy gun technique" to Havana and caused the series of assassinations that have shaken the island to its foundations.

However, the slaying of Senator Bello was merely intended as the preliminary step to wiping out virtually the entire government of Cuba, and the plot would have succeeded were it not for woman exercising her traditional prerogative of changing her mind.

It had been planned to bury Senator Bello in the historic Colon cemetery, which is to Cuba what Arlington is to the United States. But the senator's widow expressed a desire that the statesman be interred in the family burial place at Santa Clara. No sooner had the widow made known her decision than it was discovered that practically the whole of Colon cemetery had been mined.

Enough dynamite had been planted in the crypt intended for the Bello remains to blow up the entire funeral procession. Further investigation disclosed that all along the route which would have been taken by the cortege dynamite had been placed in drain pipes, and otherwise hidden, all ready for detonation.

It is difficult to imagine the chaos that would have resulted had the funeral plans not been changed. It is certain that every official of the Cuban government of any importance would be in attendance at the last rites for their assassinated colleague. All would have been eliminated with one fell swoop.

In the meantime the death toll in the capital has been increased by the passing of Representative Miguel Angel Aguiar, who was wounded following the shooting of Senator Bello. Representative Aguiar was a member of the oppositionist group to which belonged the three brothers, Gonzalo, Guillermo and Leopoldo Freyre de Andrade, who were slain.

It is said in Havana that the slaying of government sympathizers as a reprisal for the assassination of Senator Bello. The machine friend statesman was an intimate friend of President Machado and was generally regarded as the leading candidate for the presidency in 1934. He was head of the Liberal party.

Representative Aguiar was a Conservative and bitterly opposed to Machado. Last year he was one of the leaders of the revolt against the government.

Cuba has been in a state of political turmoil for the last two years. Several attempts have been made to assassinate President Machado, who, under the economic stress of the country, received power to suspend constitutional guarantees and used this power to strike at his enemies through censorship and other methods. Since last summer there has been much agitation against the 1928 amendment to the constitution which extended the term of the president to six years and thus kept Machado in power.

The little girl, a sufferer from infantile paralysis, choked to death while undergoing treatment at the hands of the evangelists.

BEHIND THE SCENES — IN HOLLYWOOD —

By HARRISON CARROLL
STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Here is a story that comes to me through an operator in a Hollywood beauty parlor. Several days ago, two wan looking young men appeared at a nearby restaurant and asked to work for a meal. They looked so different from the usual type of transient and were so insistent on working for their food that the restaurant proprietor was impressed. He spoke of them to the girls from the beauty shop.

Two days later, the boys returned and someone found out they were sleeping in the Hollywood Hills. Their only protection from the weather was a pair of blankets which they cached in the daytime.

Bit by bit, the rest of their story came out. They came here from the east to work their way through law school, but found no jobs. Money finally gave out and they had to live from hand to mouth. But they refused to beg.

On the afternoon that they told their story, Joan Crawford happened to come into the beauty shop. The operator told her of the boys while doing her hair. Joan was interested.

And though I'm sure she would not like me to print the story, here is what happened. She had her secretary investigate the case, found it worthy and then went to the principal of a local law school. She gave him enough money to pay tuition for both boys for a year, with enough left over for incidental expenses. Then she had her secretary outfit the pair in new clothes.

She did all this without revealing her identity.

It strikes me as a fine way to spend money.

What's this? Elsa Maxwell, famous English hostess, comes right out and says that Hollywood's exclusive Mayfair Club gives dull parties.

Miss Maxwell, who knows everybody there is to know in Europe, is out here to give RKO pointers on throne-room procedure for Connie Bennett's new picture, "Our Betters."

As one whose entertainments are the talk of London, she speaks with some authority. And she says of the last Mayfair:

"To my great surprise, it was an uninteresting party. No one seemed to have a really good time. And there were definite reasons for this. In the first place, at a large ball of this kind, people should never be seated at long tables. There should be no more than six to a table, and the tables should be round, so guests can circulate and so the waiters won't be falling over you."

"In the second place, the music should be absolutely continuous. Those waits between numbers bring a dinner dance to a dead stop."

DID YOU KNOW—
That Franchot Tone, new acquisition from Broadway, was president of the dramatic club at Cornell university?

That Marian Nixon and Charles Farrell both got their start in the same picture, Mary Pickford's "Not a Girl But a Gun"?

County Heads Receive Gifts From Aides

Employees, Officials in Annual Party at Courthouse

J. M. Kadlec and Charles L. Berry, whose offices as county recorder and clerk expire in 1933, were presented with gifts at the annual party held last night by employees and officials of the Johnson county courthouse.

Fifty-two persons attended the event, which was held at Youde's inn. Dinner tables were decorated in a Christmas motif, with red and green tapers and miniature Christmas trees. A bowl of red and white winter chrysanthemums centered the speaker's table, at which were seated Judge R. G. Popham, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. George Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Kadlec.

Mr. Olsen presided as toastmaster, and Judge Popham gave a short talk. Presentation of the gifts, gladstone bags, was made by Mr. Griffith.

A variety of games was played during the evening. Winners of prizes were Mildred Parizek and Mrs. Olsen.

Committees in charge were: Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Olsen, and Mrs. Peters, dinner, and Addie Shaff, Ella Kelley, Nelson Miller, and William Kanak, entertainment.

Romance of U. S. Viscountess Ended Despite Wealth—Title

Lady Furness, Seeking Freedom from Titled Shipping Magnate, One of Morgan Twin Beauties. Friend of Prince of Wales.

LONDON—The surprise filing of a divorce suit here by Lady Thelma Furness recalls the aura of glamor that surrounded the celebrated American beauty, formerly Mrs. Thelma Morgan Converse, and her twin sister, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, a few years ago when they were acclaimed as the rarest American beauties of the century. When the lovely twins were debutantes making the rounds of South American and European capitals they could have had their pick of the world's eligibles, but they made choices that brought them only grief—one by the death of her husband, the other by the alleged infidelity of her choice.

For it is on the grounds of unfaithfulness that Lady Furness is seeking freedom from her nobleman husband, Lord Marmaduke Furness, head of the great shipping line that bears his name. The American beauty married the British peer in London in 1926 and since then she has been prominent in British society. She is one of the favorite dancing partners of the prince of Wales, who prefers the society of young married women to that of designing debutantes who might, by some miracle, deprive His Highness of his cherished freedom.

Lady Furness is a daughter of Harry Hays Morgan, of New Orleans and New York, retired U. S. consular official, whose last post was as consul general at Buenos Aires, from 1923 to 1925. When only 16, the girl who is now Lady Furness met James Vail Converse, grandson of a president of the Western Union Telegraph company, an extremely wealthy broker. They were married in haste and almost immediately began to repent. Their brief marital voyage was bitterly unhappy, and it surprised no one when the lovely Thelma divorced Converse in Los Angeles in 1925.

Mrs. W. D. Cannon, Jr., Honors Sisters With 1 o'Clock Luncheon

Mrs. Wilbur D. Cannon, Jr., was hostess at an informal 1 o'clock luncheon and bridge yesterday afternoon at her home, 602 S. Summit street, for her sisters, Mrs. A. C. Schmidt of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. Horace J. Barton of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

A Christmas motif prevailed at the luncheon table, which was set for 16 persons. A bowl of red and white flowers formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. Schmidt and Mrs. Barton are guests at the home of their mother, Mrs. H. B. Newcomb, 314 S. Summit street. Mrs. Schmidt plans to leave for her home today, while Mrs. Barton will continue her visit in Iowa City for a week.

Double Murder, Suicide Ends Story of Studebaker Employee

Ends Life After New Will Cancels Bequest

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—The story of Peter Peterson and his wife and daughter ended today in double murder and suicide.

It began 29 years ago when Peter went to work for Clement Studebaker, Jr., as footman. Studebaker was one of the South Bend wagonmakers then.

As wagon making turned to automobile manufacturing, Peter became the family chauffeur. He stayed at that job 21 years, long enough for Pauline, the daughter of Peter and Anna, to grow into a 29 year old senior at Northwestern university with high scholastic standing.

Find Later Will
Clement Studebaker, Jr., of late years a leader in public utilities, died. And in a will he left $5,000 to the faithful family chauffeur. But yesterday a later will was found, leaving Peter Peterson nothing.

Peter had grieved for his employer and counselor. He had brooded over the loss of his life's investments. This will was the finish.

He walked into his daughter's bedroom this morning, placed a revolver at her temple and fired.

He walked to the sunparlor where his wife lay slumbering and sent a bullet into her temple.

Mildred Redman Holds Party

Jury May Receive Martin Case Today

MUSKOGEE, Mich., Dec. 29 (AP)—The case of James Regis Martin, 35 year old Iowa City, Ia., youth who is charged with murder, probably will reach a circuit court jury late tomorrow.

The defense, which admits the boy killed a gasoline station proprietor in a holdup last month, contends he is insane. The last of the defense testimony, most of it from four physicians who said they believed the youth insane, was presented today.

III, "he went all to pieces when dad died. He had always gone to dad for advice. Father treated both Peterson and Miss Thurman (his secretary) as members of the family. Recently Peter told me that he didn't know if he would be able to send his daughter to school. Once before my father's death he told me it 'things got too tough' he would end his life."

Two Army Couples Die as Negro Private Runs Amuck

One Seriously Injured Before Man Killed by Guard

FORT HUACHUCA, Ariz., Dec. 29 (AP)—Capt. and Mrs. David A. Palmer and Capt. and Mrs. Joseph R. Wesley of the 25th infantry, United States army, were shot to death and Lieut. Harvey R. Matthews was injured seriously by a Negro private who ran amuck here today. The Negro was killed by the guard while in the act of shooting Lieutenant Matthews.

Identification of the Negro private, other than that his name was Abernathy, had not been released by post officers.

No Reason Learned
They said the reason for Abernathy's attacks had not been learned.

Captain Wesley, post officials said, drove up to the army gasoline service station, where Abernathy was in charge, to have his motor car serviced.

The Negro shot him down and then took the car, drove to Captain Wesley's home and killed Mrs. Wesley.

His next stop was at the home of Captain and Mrs. Palmer. He shot them to death.

Outside, he shot down Lieutenant

Prof. E. H. Lauer, director of athletics, had nothing to say regarding the matter except that he was sorry that the committee found it necessary to declare the men ineligible. He also said that he had made no recommendation to the committee regarding what action it should take.

Ripley Explanations

YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
The northernmost tree—Though Hammerfest, Norway, is the most northerly town in Europe, is situated 300 miles north of the Arctic Circle and its inhabitants never see the sun from Nov. 18 to Jan. 23 each year, the vegetation found there is truly remarkable. But the locality doesn't have the frigid climate that we ordinarily concede it to have.

The northernmost tree, a small birch growing on the outskirts of the city, can retain its title until another is planted directly north of it, because nowhere else on the globe will a tree grow at 71 degrees north latitude.

A buttonless sect—The Amish are a branch of the Mennonites and have been so-called after their bishop, Jacob Amon of Switzerland, who separated from his brethren in 1692 and founded a new sect. The Amish are forbidden to wear buttons of any kind, neither may they shave their beards. In the days of Bishop Amon, buttons were made of animal bones exclusively, which conflicted with the sect's determined stand against animal slaughter. The Amish, who emigrated to America in the eighteenth century, were "conscientious objectors" during the war, and from their aversion to buttons were known as "Hook and Eye Mennonites."

Iowa City High to Meet West Waterloo Here Tonight

Local Cagers Fight for Win in Conference

Game Marks Second Appearance on Home Court

Scrapping to break into the win column of the Mississippi Valley conference standings, Iowa City high will meet West Waterloo's fast-traveling basketball team at the City high gym tonight.

The game, which marks the second appearance of the Red and White on the home court this season, lines up as a tough one.

The invaders have won two games this season, defeating Clinton and Washington high of Cedar Rapids, and lost one, a 23 to 22 affair, to East Waterloo.

Had Early Start
The Waterloo team had the advantage of getting away to an early start as most of the squad was not out for football, and began work several weeks before Coach George Wells could get his cagers under way.

The epidemic of flu, which kept several members of the Iowa City squad out of uniform for some time, has let up, and only one regular, Dale Marshall, will be unable to start.

Sharp Shooters
The Waterloo team is reported to be a rangy, sharp-shooting outfit with a short, fast passing attack.

Coach Wells wound up preparations for the game yesterday with a light workout, polishing off offensive and defensive tactics.

The Iowa City sophomore quintet will renew their drive for top honors in a preliminary tilt with the West Waterloo aggregation.

Some of the boys whipped up a trifle last night and consequently there are some new names in the individual honors class.

Gasoline Alley was most consistent as a team for the whole engagement and counted 2,735 sticks.

Jefferson Hotel absorbed three game punishment from Gas Alley, while the other franchises were two and one affairs with The Daily Iowan and the Recreation quintets on the long ends.

The next session of league bowling will be held next Tuesday instead of Monday, as originally scheduled.

Marriages in Wisconsin decreased from 15,218 in 1930 to 14,784 in 1931, while divorces increased from 2,506 to 2,643.

Many Purses Cut
These were the high spots of a year of financial setbacks for the racing associations—a year which brought curtailment of dates and purses on many tracks.

C. V. Whitney, with Equipoise as his chief money winner, won $402,551, slightly under his 1931 figures but nearly $200,000 more than E. R. Bradley's earnings.

East, West Teams Drill for Contest

Eastern Forces Take Scrimmage; West on Pass Defense

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9 (AP)—Scrimmage for the eastern forces and a long drill on pass defense for the western stars were the highlights of the practice programs today in the east-west preparations for the annual charity football game here Jan. 2.

The eastern representatives charged against an opposing squad composed mainly of former Stanford players. While the scrimmage was not as heavy as the one a couple of days ago when Harry Newman, Michigan quarterback, injured an ankle, it was sufficiently rigorous to put the east squad on edge.

Coaches Andy Kerr and Dick Hanley welcomed the return to action of Joe Crowley, Yale halfback, who has nursed a wrenched knee since arrival at the Stanford training camp.

The other combination saw Jack Manders, Minnesota, at quarter; Gil Berry, Illinois, left half; Pug Rentner, Northwestern, right half, and Roy Horstmann, Purdue, fullback.

1932 Racing Season Hurt by Finances

By ORLO ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, (AP)—Phar Lap, the big "Red Terror" from the land of "Down Under," streaked around the Agua Caliente race track to write turf history in one burst of speed and top the performances of the equine comets on the American turf in 1932.

Equipoise, another giant red speedster, whirled to a new world's competitive record of 1:34.2 for one mile; Burgoon King, a little bay with none too strong legs, outstepped the pick of the three-year-olds to win the prized double of the Kentucky derby and the Preakness; Kerry Patch, a rank outsider, flashed to an unexpected victory in the richest of American races, the Belmont Futurity.

Gusto, a three-year-old grandson of the mighty Man O' War, won financial honors with $145,940. Fairno came back after an indifferent start to be recognized the champion three-year-old; Ladysman paraded to a financial victory over an indifferent field of juveniles, earning $111,435.

The Walker Cup team romped home with an easy victory, sweeping all four of the Scotch foursomes, winning four, losing one and tying three in the singles.

In the wholesale division of important titles in 1932, Somerville, Fischer, Tommy Goodwin of Monroe, N. Y., and Gus Moreland of Dallas, Tex., led the amateurs; Maureen Orcutt, New York, and Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, topped the women, with Sarazen, Dutra, Deansmore Shute and Walter Hagen leading the pros.

Police Arrest Two as Robbery Suspects

GRAIN VALLEY, Mo., Dec. 29 (AP)—Two of three men who fled from a motorcar when it was halted by state highway patrolmen here tonight were arrested as suspects in the robbery of the bank of Lone Jack, Mo., of approximately $1,000 late today.

Fairno, owned by William Woodward, won the Belmont Stakes, the Dwyer, the Saratoga and Hawthorne handicaps and Lawrence Realization. Morton L. Schwartz's Gusto won only four races in 18 starts, but three of them were the $50,000 American Derby, the $70,000 Arlington Park Classic and the Jockey Club Gold Cup.

GOLF THRILLS—OF 1932

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series of eight stories on golfing thrills and human interest sidelights from the 1932 campaign.)

By PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)
CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Out of perhaps the wildest free-for-all championship race in a decade, a race that saw 63 important titles divided among 41 campaigners, Gene Sarazen surged forth on the tide of two rousing performances abroad and at home to become king of golf in 1932.

Carrying on the nine-year American sweep in the British Open, the pudgy ex-caddy from New York leveled the traps and bunkers of ancient Sandwich with a record-breaking 72-hole total of 283 to capture that prize and followed through at Fresh Meadow, New York, with a sensational 66-stroke finish to add the American National open to his record.

Then to show he was human he started the world of golf by falling to qualify for the American professional championship, which was won by his only serious rival of the year, Olin Dutra, the par-busting tereodora from California.

It was Dutra who provided one of the greatest golfing thrills of the year by shooting 44 consecutive holes of tournament golf in 38 under par to sweep the Metropolitan, Chicago North Shore, P. G. A. and Southern California open championships and miss the Western Open by one stroke.

Sarazen Supreme
In winning one half of the mighty Kingdom of golf surrendered by Bobby Jones in 1931 Sarazen was supreme. At Sandwich, his war clubs cashed in with rounds of 70-69-70-74—283 to better Jones' winning mark of 1927 by two shots and beat his closest rival, MacDonald Smith of New York, by five more.

At Fresh Meadow, he stormed in with par-crashing rounds of 70 and 68 to snatch the National Open from Bobby Cruikshank and T. Philip Perkins with a 72-hole total of 286.

The comeback of Virginia Van Wie, after two previous routs in the final round, to defeat Glenna Collett Vare in the National Women's championship, the successful invasion of Canada's persistent Ross Somerville in the National Amateur and victories for America over England in the Walker Cup and women's team matches all provided exceptional punch to golf in 1932.

Somerville was crowned amateur champion of the United States in the fight at Flye Farms, Baltimore, which saw the veteran campaigner, Francis Oulmet of Boston, beaten in the semi-final round by young Johnny Goodman of Omaha.

Because of her two previous one-sided defeats by Mrs. Vare, everyone expected Miss Van Wie to lose again as the two met in the National Women's final, but the Chicago girl rushed out with an amazing morning round of 71 and sailed home with a shocking 10 and 8 victory.

American Teams Win
American women had a harder time winning their team matches against England than the Walker Cup team, but came through, 5 1-2 to 3 1-2. Mrs. Leona Cheney of Los Angeles made the greatest fight for the British women's crown, falling in the semi-final round to the long hitting Enid Wilson.

The Walker Cup team romped home with an easy victory, sweeping all four of the Scotch foursomes, winning four, losing one and tying three in the singles.

In the wholesale division of important titles in 1932, Somerville, Fischer, Tommy Goodwin of Monroe, N. Y., and Gus Moreland of Dallas, Tex., led the amateurs; Maureen Orcutt, New York, and Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, topped the women, with Sarazen, Dutra, Deansmore Shute and Walter Hagen leading the pros.

C. V. Whitney, with Equipoise as his chief money winner, won $402,551, slightly under his 1931 figures but nearly $200,000 more than E. R. Bradley's earnings.

Fairno, owned by William Woodward, won the Belmont Stakes, the Dwyer, the Saratoga and Hawthorne handicaps and Lawrence Realization. Morton L. Schwartz's Gusto won only four races in 18 starts, but three of them were the $50,000 American Derby, the $70,000 Arlington Park Classic and the Jockey Club Gold Cup.

BABE'S UP HIGH

"Babe" Didrikson, noted girl athlete from Texas, who recently announced her plans for a professional career, is shown here as she indulged in a workout in a Chicago club. In two workouts she won the praise of the coach for her skill in gymnastics, a sport she was unacquainted with heretofore. She stated she would leave shortly to fulfill radio, film and writing contracts.

Pitt Begins to Taper Off

Signal Drills, Passing, Calisthenics for Rest of Week

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 29 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Panthers launched the final phase of their training for the Southern California game at Pasadena Jan. 2 with a short workout in their desert rendezvous today.

The drill, which was radically different from the previous work, inaugurated what Coach Jack Sutherland termed the "tapering off process." It will be continued Friday and Saturday.

The player spent a good part of the morning with calisthenics, threw passes for a while and finished with a short signal drill.

The Panthers were still evading colds or other illnesses and the slightly injured were rapidly rounding into condition.

Pixlee Linked as Successor to A. A. Stagg

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Jim Pixlee, athletic director of George Washington university, said tonight he was one of several coaches under consideration to succeed Alonzo Stagg as coach of the Chicago university football team.

Pixlee was approached informally, he said, in New York the past week but only to the extent of being asked whether he would consider the change. He has coached George Washington teams for four years and has lifted the Colonials to a much higher level in the football world. During the past fall his eleven won six games, lost two and tied one.

Plan Bill to Slash Iowa Farm Products

DES MOINES, Dec. 29 (AP)—Reduction of the production of oats, corn and hogs by cutting the taxes on lands retired from use is contemplated in a bill Representative-elect John Spidel of Washington plans to introduce in the next general assembly.

Explaining his bill, Spidel said he had believed for some time that the state should aid the farmer to readjust production and cut down the acreage of grain. The taxes should be cut enough to induce

Griffith May Head Collegiate Athletics

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western conference, was among the candidates most prominently mentioned tonight for the presidency of the National Collegiate Athletic association for 1933, succeeding Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton.

Dr. Kennedy, who retired this year as chairman of the board on athletic control at Princeton, was understood to have declined to consider re-election to the position he has held for two years.

Hogan Goes Back to Post With Braves

Leaves Giants to Fill Catching Berth at Boston

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Francis J. Hogan of Somerville, Mass., bulky, shrill-voiced catcher of the New York Giants, today went back to the Boston Braves, the club which traded him to the Giants four years ago.

The deal was announced as a straight cash transaction but as they gave out the news the Giants dropped a few hints which indicated further shifts were in order which might bring one or more Boston players to New York before the entire matter is cleaned up.

Mind Faster Than Eyes?

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29 (AP)—Coach Howard Jones of Southern California lightened the practice burden which rested today on the shoulders of the unbeaten Trojans.

He sent the squad through a shortened workout with very little dummy scrimmage included in the preparatory exercises which were open to newspapermen.

The semi-secret drill was a direct departure from other years when the gates of Harvard field were closed to all comers before important games such as the impending contest with Pittsburgh at Pasadena Jan. 2.

When questioned about possibility of information getting out which might tip off some of the new formations to the opposition Coach Jones enjoyed a good laugh.

"I've changed things around a little," he admitted, "but I'll bet none of you fellows can tell me what the difference is and I didn't hold back anything either."

There was no one willing to deny the statement. After a moment's hesitation he added, with a broad grin: "Don't let that bother you. Some of my assistants who have been out there all the time haven't figured out several of the changes either."

Girl Swimmer Lays Claim to Three New National Records

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—Katherine Rawls, 15 year old member of the 1932 Olympic woman's swimming team, today laid claim to three new national records in one dash through the waters of the Miami Biltmore Country club pool in the first day of a meet of Olympic and national swimming team members.

The young Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., girl, claimed the national records of Agnes Geraghty of New York, in the 300-yard, 400-yard and 440-yard breast stroke swims after a race against time.

She was clocked by Florida A. A. U. officials on the 300-yard distance at 4 minutes, 37 1/5 seconds. Miss Geraghty's mark was 4 minutes, 52 2/5 seconds. Katherine was timed at 6 minutes, 53 seconds for the 400 yard distance, as against the 6 minute, 29 3/5 second record of Miss Geraghty.

Eddie Gordon, George Saling Garner Titles

First Hawkeyes to Earn Olympic Crowns; 5 Teams High

By Hawkeye fans, 1932 will be remembered as the year when two University of Iowa athletes, Eddie Gordon, hurdler, and George Saling, broad jumper, won Olympic championships.

No Old Gold man previously had won an international title, although Iowa had four athletes in the 1924 Olympiad and three at Amsterdam in 1928. Two entrants, two championships was the perfect record last summer at Los Angeles.

Sensational as they were, however, the record-breaking hurdling of Saling throughout the season, when he broke world's and Olympic marks, and the amazing win of Gordon over two former world's champions did not entirely overshadow noteworthy feats of other Hawkeye individuals and teams.

Hawkeyes Remember
So Iowans, perhaps, will recall how the basketball team gave Northwestern, defending champion, its first upset of the year. . . . the astonishing fourth quarter comeback of the football team against Nebraska. . . . how the baseball nine led all others in the conference in hitting. . . . the university's rank of fourth in the National A.A.U. track championships and sixth in the national collegiate meet.

No teams won Big Ten championships, but the swimmers were third, the baseball nine tied for third, the track team became the state indoor and outdoor champion, the golfers were state titlists, and the wrestlers were runner-up for state team honors.

Titles Won, Marks Fall
In two sports, track and field and swimming, Iowans won a total of 36 individual and relay team championships, exceeding the victories of 1931. With Saling earning 14 titles, track and field men accounted for 27, with 10 records, from Olympic to state, broken; 6 established, and 2 equalled.

Until late May the baseball team was a contender for the championship, but finally won three of five games to tie or third. It led the league in hitting with a .356 average, while perfect fielding records were possessed by Christian Schmidt, catcher; Marshall Riegg, outfielder; Herman Schultebehr, second baseman; Franklin Stempel, pitcher; and Glen Baker, first baseman. Stempel was one of two undefeated Big Ten pitchers.

Ossie Sojen: New Coach
Appointment of Ossie M. Sojen as head football coach for a three-year period occurred in March. His 1932 team, with at least six sophomores in the lineup most of the time, failed to win a conference game but, gave numerous exhibitions of courage against impossible odds of physique and experience. Teammates chose Joe Laws, halfback, as the player of greatest value.

Wentworth Lobdell won the Big Ten fancy diving title for the third time, becoming the only man ever to achieve that distinction. He also took high and low board diving titles of the Mid-Western A.A.U. to rank next to Saling in number of championships.

Major "T" to 109 Men
A record number of athletes, 109, became winners of the major letter, Christian Schmidt, with major letters in football and baseball and a minor "T" in basketball, was the only man to win three varsity awards.

Just a few more bits of the Hawkeye sports panorama of 1932: Marcus Magnusson's valiant comeback after two years of football inactivity; the superlative defensive play of Herman Schneidman, sophomore halfback; Howard Moffitt's 55 points for fourth place among Big Ten basketball scorers; and the record victories of the shuttle hurdles relay team at the Kansas and Drake games.

Proper Training Given as Means of Preventing Many Football Injuries

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Evidence that proper training and close attention to physical condition can do much to decrease football injuries was presented to a discussion group of the National Interscholastic Athletic association today by Fritz Crisler, head coach of football at Princeton.

Crisler said that a series of knee exercises worked out by himself and Dr. Joseph E. Rayeroff of the Princeton medical faculty, and used by candidates for the football team in conditioning preparations, was so effective there had been no injury to that fragile joint during the 1932 campaign.

Crisler said injuries in football could be grouped into four categories, physical condition, equipment, proper teaching and just plain accidents for which no precautionary provision could be made.

Rail Shares Take Lead in Trend to Higher Levels

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Stocks rallied with better success today, thereby celebrating the conclusion of all but last minute tax sales for the year.

Unlike yesterday's session, which saw a late relapse, this market was higher all day and closed at its best prices in the largest turnover since Nov. 11. Rail stocks ran along in the vanguard, but other groups did equally well, especially during the uplift that characterized final dealings.

Crop Reports Add Strength to Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Wheat prices turned upward today on the strength of official reports of precarious prospects for winter crops in a large section both of Kansas and Nebraska.

The gains were made despite the Liverpool market's failure to reflect yesterday's price upturn here, and the fall in British exchange rates. Helping also to strengthen wheat were New York stock market rallies and better export demand from Canada.

Wheat closed firm, 1-4 off to 2-8 up compared with yesterday's finish, corn at 1-8-1-2 advance, oats unchanged to 1-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2 cents.

Mississippi river points reported sales of No. 1 hard winter wheat at prices equal to 3 cents over May, delivered in Chicago, or an advance of 2 cents. The primary movement of domestic wheat was small. Winnipeg also reported meager receipts. Relative weakness of the Liverpool market was ascribed to big offerings of wheat from Argentina.

Corn and oats responded to scantiness of rural offerings. Indications of damage to the new Argentine corn crop had a little effect. Provisions averaged lower with hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December 42 1-2, offers; May 43 3-4—7-8, 44 5-8—3-4; July 43 3-4—7-8, 44 5-8—3-4. Corn—May 25 7-8—26, 26 1-4—3-8.

American Can, Allied Chemical and American Tobacco, New York Central, Santa Fe, Consolidated Gas of New York, Woolworth, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Corn Products and Public Service of New Jersey were among the leaders up 1 to about 2 points, while Socony Vacuum, Du Pont, Texas corporation, Union Carbide and North American gained major fractions. Union Pacific gained 3. Volume aggregated 1,606,439 shares.

The dedication of the film playhouse was attended with many of the same elaborate ceremonies which marked the opening of this amusement center, which had its debut Tuesday night.

Male Manicurists to Milady Newest Depression Profession

NEW YORK—When the history of this depression comes to be written, it ever, not the least of the things for which it will be given credit is the innovation of the male manicurist.

Oh yes, indeed. The male cuticle cultivator is already with us. Some shining genius weary of waiting for prosperity, like the moon, to come over the mountains, began asking himself why, if men design milady's millinery, gowns and other lady mysteries; if the male of the species is competent to build milady's crowning glory into the gorgeous structure of whirligigs that fashion demands, then why should he not be equally successful as the beautifier of the hand that rocks the cradle?

This was born another plan to silence the snarl of the wolf at the door. The new field of endeavor was formally opened at the American Beauty and Styles Exposition in New York, when six male nail-pruners made their debut in the professional hand-holding industry, and huddle us they went over big—with the ladies.

For weeks the young men had been undergoing a course of training in the use of the fragile manicure scissors, files, buffers and nail polish at the beauty culture academy of S. A. Bander in New York who, incidentally, was the man who thought up the idea of the male cuticle cultie to provide beauty parlors with a new romantic note.

The men, chosen for their appearance, personal grooming, good looks and manners, were not in the least bit timid or afflicted with stage fright on the occasion of their debut. They went about the job of pruning and polishing the nails of their clients in a business-like manner that compared favorably with the efficiency of their colleagues of the weaker sex. And the lady customers seemed to enjoy having a good-looking young man apply that carressing touch with buffer and orange stick—especially as there was no charge for first treatments.

It is easy to understand a woman's preference to having her hand held by a half-file adonis rather than by one of her own sex. After all, not many men would bother visiting a nail-bobbing parlor if the prunings were not being done by a pretty girl, so why not milady have her little thrill?

While the experiment is brand new in this country, fashionable women abroad have long professed their approval of the male manicurist. It has always been the continental theory that since women primp for the opposite sex, the men are best equipped to lead them along the road to attractiveness.

The six men who formed the advance guard of the army of male cuticle cultivators that it is predicted will soon scatter over this broad land are from many walks of life. There's an ex-actor who could double for John Gilbert; a six-foot blond artist who turned his talents from slapping paint on canvases to incarnadining milady's nails; a sculptor and dancer, who could make a living posing as a model for Adonis; a handsome interior decorator; an appealing accountant, well-versed in figures, and a former United States marine, who is also an ex-actor.

One wonders how the female manicurist regards this invasion of her field of activities. It is hardly likely that she will lose any of her male trade, which is the most remunerative. Men are said to be much more generous than women when it comes to tipping.

However, it is about time that the lordly male reared up on his hind legs and hit back. Too long has woman been allowed to invade his fields of business and sport with impunity. Now she'll have to take a dose of her own medicine as man turns his natural penchant for holding hands into a source of income.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

He was flinging out of the cabin in a passion of suddenly aroused suspicions when the corpse-like Bundry seemed to come to life.

"Whither away, Captain?" The cold, harsh voice checked the other's haste. Bundry was probably the only man amongst them all with power to do that. There was something oddly compelling about this cold, emotionless, calculating shipmaster.

"I am going to put it beyond Charley's power to play any of his tricks on us."

Bundry was on his feet now. "But ye'll remember that we depend upon him to bring us to the Spaniards?"

"It's not like to forget ought that matters."

And so it fell out that, as dinner was coming to an end in the great cabin of the Centaur, the door opened and Captain Leach walked in upon them unannounced.

He stood a moment within the doorway of the cabin observing them. His dark glance lingered on the neat virgin figure of Priscilla, and passed on only to be constantly returning to her, until she grew conscious of it and uncomfortably under its bold scrutiny which held her for something which if indefinable was nevertheless horrible and chilling. This, however, did not happen all at once.

Looking out over the water to the beach where all was now activity. Then again he turned and came slowly back. At last he threw up his head with a shrug and a laugh, like a man who has found what he was seeking.

"I don't understand at all," said the Major at last. "Stab my vitals, if I do."

De Bernis flung him a glance like a blow in its undisguised contempt.

"What is there to puzzle you? The dog feared that I should corrupt the crew he had put aboard here. He perceived the possibility which you had not the wit to perceive, else you would have spared me your discourtesies awhile ago."

For once in his profound amazement the Major forgot to be resentful of an offensive tone. "As heaven's my life!" he ejaculated. "D'ye mean it was in your mind?"

De Bernis answered him in a tone made hard by impatience.

"It's not my mind I am disclosing to you. But Tom Leach's, and it's not a nice mind. Not at all a nice mind."

Monsieur de Bernis surprised Captain Leach by following him almost immediately ashore. To the buccaner's questions he rendered a ready account of his purpose.

"Since your timorous suspicions constrain Madame de Bernis to leave her quarters aboard, I will at least see that those prepared for her ashore are suitable. She is a delicate health."

"I marvel, then, ye should have brought her roving wif' ye." De Bernis answered him impatiently. "Heaven mend your wit! I told you it was my intention to leave her in Guadeloupe, in her brother's care. Could I have left her in Jamaica, when I don't intend to return there?"

Leach perceived the reasonableness of this, and became amiable. Let de Bernis make what arrangements he accounted fit.

The Frenchman went amongst the men, and issued his orders. They were to build a log hut at the southern extremity of the beach, where the reef began, placing it just within the shelter of the trees. In his neighborhood they were to place a tent for Madame's brother and another for de Bernis's servant, Pierre. At that distance from the buccaner encampment, with practically the whole length of that long beach between, Madame should be reasonably safe from disturbance.

Going to work with that speed which their numbers and experience made possible, all was ready before sunset. The timber, felled on the very edge of the jungle, made there an embayed clearing among the trees in which, by de Bernis's instructions, the hut was built.

Thus it was screened from view except directly in front. The two small sailcloth tents were placed one on each horn of this little bay.

Some furniture brought from the ship: a table, four chairs, the day-bed from the poop, a tarred sheet to spread upon the ground, a couple of rugs wherewith partly to cover this, a slush-lamp to hang from the rafters that carried the palmetto thatch, and some other odds and ends by means of which the cabin's single room was rendered reasonably inhabitable.

Miss Priscilla, despite her anxieties, displayed pleased surprise when she stood there that evening, and expressed her gratitude to Monsieur de Bernis for the pains he had taken to ensure her comfort. The quarters provided for her were so much better than anything that she had expected.

Homer W. Anderson, Graduate of Iowa, to Take Up Duties as Head of Omaha, Neb., Schools

Takes New Post After Serving in Denver Position

Duties as superintendent of Omaha, Neb., public schools will be assumed Jan. 1 by Homer W. Anderson, University of Iowa graduate and for several years closely associated with schools of the state.

With his appointment marking another step in his advancement as a national figure in educational administration, Mr. Anderson goes to the Nebraska city from Denver, Colo., where since 1923 he has been deputy superintendent in charge of public school internal administration.

Professional training was gained by Mr. Anderson at the state university. In 1915, he received the master of arts degree and 10 years later became a doctor of philosophy. He won the bachelor of arts award at Highland Park college, Des Moines, in 1910.

Included in his background of experience is service on the Iowa summer session faculty of the college of education, four years as research assistant to Detroit's superintendent when he aided in the reorganization of the school system, and two years at Omaha in a similar position which also included duties of assistant superintendent.

Morning Sun and Dubuque are the Iowa schools with which Mr. Anderson has been associated. Between 1910 and 1913, he rose from the position of assistant principal to superintendent at Morning Sun, and after receiving his master's degree he was assistant superintendent and statistician at Dubuque.

Held for Extradition
DES MOINES (AP)—Police were holding William Sinnott, 40, for arrival of Mobile, Ala., officers with extradition papers. Sinnott was wanted on an indictment for assault with intent to commit murder. He refused to waive extradition.

HOUSE DEMOS Urge Wider Powers for Roosevelt

Gugin (R. Kan.), to kill the agriculture department bill on the ground that no more funds should be expended until there is sufficient revenue, was defeated 52 to 1.

Majority Leader Rainey told newspapermen that in forming whatever revenue legislation the Democrats plan to propose "we can't trust the estimates of the treasury department as to the income of the federal government." He added: "The Republican treasury department will have to be cleaned out so we can get some reliable information."

He charged that the "policy of the present administration and the Republican leaders is apparent" and that they "intend to block every effort of the Democrats for economy at the short session."

Rainey said that already $425,724,000 had been cut by the house on the first three supply bills—treasury, post office, and agriculture—as compared with the present fiscal year's outlays. He added this was $33,637,000 below the budget.

With the passage of the beer bill and the continuation of the gasoline tax, and economies to be effected, he said, he hoped it would not be necessary for the Democrats to propose any "irritating taxes" and said he did not believe the sales tax could pass either in this or the coming congress.

In a letter to Chairman Cochran, Representative Griffin (D. N. Y.), asked for a hearing on his bill providing for a special tax of one cent on each dollar of gross income of individuals and corporations. He estimated it would yield $1,000,000,000 annually.

Roosevelt Favors Reorganization

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—President-elect Roosevelt, it became known today, is ready to take the full responsibility of the proposed reorganization of the federal government as a means of effecting major economies.

Mr. Roosevelt believes that the proposed reorganization will be an insurmountable task, it was learned, unless the authority and responsibility for the reorganization are centered in the chief executive.

This attitude of the president-elect was made clear by his advisers two days after he had rejected the proposed general manufacturers sales tax program advanced in congress as a means of balancing the federal budget.

While Mr. Roosevelt declined to say yesterday whether he believed the budget could be balanced by further economies and extension of the present selective sales tax, his advisers made it clear today that he is willing and believes "his shoulders are broad enough" to take the responsibility for consolidation of various governmental units in order to reduce governmental costs.

Rotary Hears Dr. Houghton

Describes Moral Issue as Fundamental Problem

Goodwill must flourish on the earth, believes Dean Henry S. Houghton of the college of medicine, before our culture can ever flourish or survive.

Speaking before the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon yesterday, Dean Houghton declared that "I have no solution to the present situation. The economists, ultra-socialists, and technocrats, believe they have. However, I am certain that the fundamental issue is a moral one."

He pointed out certain social trends he believed were hopeful signs for the future of civilization. "One of these," he said, "is the passion for the mass of men in Russia. The concern for the welfare of a great body of people rather than for individuals is a striking social situation."

Dean Houghton pointed to the church as a factor in holding modern civilization together, "if it can find sure footing by dissolving its inconsequential differences."

Introduced by Dr. A. H. Woods, head of psychopathic hospital, Dean Houghton expressed regret at leaving the Rotary club Jan. 1, when his new duties at the University of Chicago are scheduled to begin.

Members of the organization arose in tribute to Harry N. Holdsworth, a charter member of the club, who died Wednesday.

Guests at the meeting were: T. C. Green of Iowa City, W. L. Watters of West Liberty, Dr. Ell Rockwood, J. H. Isham of Iowa City and Henry Mercer of Ottumwa.

Indict Pair for Slaying

Polk Grand Jury Holds Two for Killing of Officer

DES MOINES, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Polk county grand jury today returned murder indictments against Ray Kinney, 45, and Edward J. Farrant, 29, in connection with the killing of Detective Harry Booton here Dec. 10.

Booton was slain as he and Detective George Cessna stopped to question two men while they were seeking the "kidnap bandits" who recently held up numerous motorists.

Booton on his death bed identified Farrant as the man who shot him. The two men also were indicted for assault with intent to commit murder in connection with the slight wounding of Cessna and for robbery with aggravation in the holdups of two downtown drug stores.

Prior to his arrest for the Booton slaying, Kinney had been sought on two other robbery aggravation charges. He was identified last week by Ralph Griffith of Anamosa as one of two men he shot and wounded in an attempted oil station holdup June 11, 1931.

The grand jury also indicted Clyde McMurray, inmate of the Minnesota state prison, for the murder of Walter Todd, Des Moines grocer, during a holdup in November, 1931. McMurray is serving 20 years for 21 holdups in St. Paul this summer. Todd's widow and Leona Ore, a clerk, identified him as the holdup man.

Recover Body of Cedar Rapids Man

CEDAR RAPIDS, Dec. 29 (AP)—The body of Rudolph Walstrand was recovered from the mill race of a local power plant today a few hours after his hat and coat were found on the bank with a note saying "man overboard."

Mrs. Laura Wright, in charge of a rooming house where Walstrand lived, told police he had been dependent since the death of his wife last summer.

Bryan Suffers Heart Illness

Confined to Bed, But Still Transacts Business

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 29 (AP)—Three physicians attending Gov. Charles W. Bryan today announced the governor is suffering from coronary artery disease and must be kept quiet.

It was the first official statement permitted from doctors since the governor became ill election night, Nov. 8.

The statement: "Governor Bryan is suffering coronary artery disease (arteries of the heart). It is necessary for him under the circumstances to remain under the circumstances to remain quiet but the transaction of important business is not forbidden."

It was signed by Dr. John C. Thompson, Dr. H. L. Lehnoff and Dr. Charles H. Arnold. Dr. Arnold said the physicians could not tell how long it would be before the governor could be active, but said the disease did not preclude Bryan's recovery. He said the governor would have to remain in bed.

Funeral service for H. W. Chehock, 55, who died Wednesday night at his home at 213 S. Capitol street, will be held in the Oathout funeral home at 3:30 this afternoon.

Mr. Chehock was state field representative for the Red Cross until three years ago. He retired from the office after a stroke of apoplexy and had been in poor health since that time.

He was born in Plymouth, and received his education at Coe, State Teachers, and Central Wesleyan colleges, at Drake university and the University of Iowa.

He was superintendent of schools at Perry, Anita, Clear Lake and Marion, and taught at Coe college and Drake university during the

Longley Gets New Chance at Piece of $1,000,000 Fortune

Case Sent Back Into Circuit Court for New Trial

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Brown-eyed George Adair Green Longley was given a further opportunity today to prove that he was the son and heir of a blue-eyed father, the late Albert W. Longley—millionaire hat manufacturer.

Three appellate judges remanded the case back to circuit court for re-trial, asserting that they believed a verdict against Longley by Circuit Judge Michael J. Feinberg a year ago constituted "a substantial injustice."

Son by First Wife
Pressing a claim to a share in the manufacturer's $1,000,000 estate, George Longley contended he is the son of the thrice married millionaire and his first wife. He was born, the suit states, 18 months before his parents were married 84 years ago.

The case became famous two years ago when the Mendellian law was brought into the trial and scientists argued that George Longley could not have been the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Longley because of the color of his eyes. The eyes of both Albert Longley and his first wife were blue.

Scoffs at Mendellian Law
Judge Feinberg said, however, that the Mendellian law—discovered by an Austrian monk in 1859—had nothing to do with his decision against Longley.

"Such a theory, striking at the very roots of domestic tranquility, should never have been discussed in court," the judge said after hearing nine weeks of testimony, most of it by scientists.

"I believe his mother was Alice

Hall, the first wife of Albert W. Longley. I do not believe that Longley was his father."

The elder Longley died at Pasadena, Cal., on Oct. 29, 1928. Until about that time, George Longley, a resident of Los Angeles, had been known as Green—the name of his mother's second husband.

Heard by Jury
Ruling that the case should now be tried before a circuit court jury, the appellate judges criticized Judge Feinberg for excluding evidence concerning alleged undue influence brought upon the manufacturer by his third wife during the last year he lived. Albert Longley drew up his will during that time.

"The paternity and undue influence issues are inextricably woven together," the appellate judges' opinion said. "The court erred in allowing a motion for trial on the one issue. The whole record discloses the result was a substantial injustice to George Longley."

Depositions and affidavits filed in the case showed Albert W. Longley was married in 1878 to Alice Hall of Woodstock, Ill., mother of a son. They were divorced in 1900 and he later married Ellen Therese, who died in 1919. His third wife was Mary Caroline Gilpin, a school teacher of Bishop, Cal.

Concerning the alleged undue influence, evidence was introduced at the circuit court trial that for a year before his death Albert W. Longley and his first wife were aware that George Longley claimed to be a son, that letters from George o Albert Longley were suppressed, and that George Longley was excluded from the manufacturer's home and denounced as an impostor.

Judge Feinberg said in his ruling that he did not believe the letters to have the tone of letters from a son to a father.

Altoona Bank Holdup Nets Total of $1,304 to Unmasked Gunmen

ALTOONA, Dec. 29 (AP)—A total of $1,304 was obtained by two gunmen who today held up the Shaffer bank here and escaped after locking Vice President Lewis Heller in the vault.

The men, who were unmasked, entered the bank shortly after it opened for business at 9 a.m. Heller, who was alone at the time, was locked in the vault after the men had obtained all the available cash.

Heller was released by L. O. Shaffer, bank president, who arrived about 10 minutes after the bandits had fled.

The vice president said both of the gunmen were about 27 years old, poorly dressed and each weighed about 150 pounds.

Officers from Des Moines and agents of the state bureau of investigation were seeking traces of the bandits on highway 6. The men used a Ford car which they had parked outside the bank.

Two Disputed Posts Settled After Recount

DES MOINES, Dec. 29 (AP)—Two contests growing out of the November general election had been decided today.

At the conclusion of a recount in Tipton, W. W. Christian, Democrat, was declared elected sheriff of Cedar county having a plurality of 26 votes over E. M. Hemingway, Republican, who contested the election.

Edgar A. Traeger, Republican incumbent in the Fayette county farmers to take some land out of cultivation, he said.
