Boilermakers, Hawkeyes to Meet

Purdue Asks Vengeance of Iowa Victory

Hawk Mentor Works on Attack, Defense for Contest

PROBABLE LINEUPS
IOWA PURDUE

Officials: John Getchell (St. Thomas) referee; Otto Strohmeyer (Chicago) umpire.
Time and Place: 7:35 p.m., Iowa field house.
Broadcast: Station WSUI.

By RON TALLMAN
(Assistant Sports Editor)

The Boilermakers will seek revenge; the Hawkeyes will strive to continue as a Western conference title threat; and all in all, a great battle is in prospect as Purdue and Iowa hook up in their second Big Ten basketball engagement of the season.

The Boilermakers are not forgetting that Old Gold quintet, one that had two conference losses chalked up against it in a shaky start, that came through with a sensational rally in the last half of the engagement at Lafayette to turn in one of the big triumphs of the season, a 35 to 23 triumph.

CARS STARTED—FREE

Free starting service for chilled automobiles is the latest move of the University of Iowa athletic department for the accommodation of Hawkeye basketball patrons.

Beginning Saturday evening with the Purdue game, officials will have two service trucks at the parking space south of the field house. If his car fails to start, the driver has only to call the service men.

Coach Ward Lambert's charges will be primed for this return clash not only for the purposes of seeking revenge, but also to get back in winning stride in the present conference race. Purdue rests beneath Iowa in sixth place with a percentage that as a defending champion and the leading offensive team in the Big Ten this winter will strive to better at every possible chance.

While the Boilermakers have been taking a rest from practically all competition since Jan. 16 except for a narrow win over Indiana State a week ago, Coach Rollie Williams has been going ahead improving the defense of the Hawkeyes and building up their attacking power so that now they are one of the most feared combinations in the mid-west.

Four Victories

Since the last game, Iowa has gone on to trim Chicago twice, trample on St. Ambrose and hand Creighton's powerful quintet a 37 to 29 defeat in one of the best exhibitions put on by an Old Gold quintet in recent years. Each of these games has noted improvement in the Hawkeye attack and if the Boilermakers are to gain a victory tonight they will have to turn back a much stronger team than that which beat them almost a month ago.

The game will be a contest between a "race-horse" offense such as Purdue employs and the newly developed and powerful defense of the Iowans. It is with their wild running shots, quick breaks to the basket and many sudden felts that the Boilermakers were in for close in shots and with which they have piled up the best offensive record for the Big Ten so far this season. But the Indians defense will have to take a similar testing for the Hawkeyes employ much the same offense.

Stop Attack

In that first engagement, Iowa stopped the fast Purdue attack and outplayed the home team at its own game of fast breaking ball to overcome a lead that varied from five to 11 points throughout the first half. But Norman Cottom, George Hertzberg and Charles Stewart, veteran forward who usually plays longer than Wheeler who now starts, are all dangerous shots.

How Are the Farmers?

No. 5
Ex-Senator George Clearman explains his views on the farmer's problems. Cancel the debts and make trade agreements with foreign nations, is his solution. He laughs at the feed loan and holds out some hope.

By DON FRYOR
City Editor, The Daily Iowan

Editor's note—This is the last of a series of five articles dealing with the Johnson county farmers, their worries, their hopes, and their politics.

You fall right into Oxford. You never know it's there until you come over the hill on state highway 109 and drop down into the main street.

And there it is, a long stretch of pavement down the side of a hill, rows of building-block stores along the sides, and little hemp ropes of smoke dangling out of chimneys here and there.

And at the bottom of it all is the Hurlzell run, twisting its lazy way along the railroad tracks and south where it loses its identity in the more prosaic Clear creek.

Calmly and not overly perturbed, farmers stand around the counters in the Oxford Mercantile company store and explain the situation.

They talk about the price of things and the reasons for this and that. They wonder why their neighbors went into the city today or why they didn't. And they develop a certain substantial philosophy that keeps them on the road and in the swing.

Pleased

George Clearman sat on a small wooden bench next to the meat counter, seeming pleased to be out of the wrangle of the state senate for the first time in eight years. It was nearly dusk and he was ready to go home.

The ex-senator lives on his 580 acre farm high on the ridge between Clear Creek and Old Man's creek. It is fertile land, stretching acre after acre over the broad ridge, some of it drained north, some south.

Seated by the fireplace in his front room, where one could look far over the dark acres, down the hill and into the sunset, he stretched his hand across the sea and pointed out the reasons why his black soil, with all its bounty, could not produce a living.

"It will have to start in the foreign countries," he said with conviction. "There is no way we can raise prices here unless we can get an outlet for our goods. And as long as we produce a surplus the only outlet we can get is in foreign countries."

But how to go about it, he was

Fear 100 in Death Blast of Gas Tanks

Giant Holder Bursts to Cause Heavy List of Casualties

NEUNKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 10 (AP)—Through an appalling scene of waste and desolation, caused by the explosion of a huge gas tank, relief workers tonight sought dead and injured, fearing the casualties would number more than a hundred.

This city of 40,000 inhabitants in the Saar valley gave the appearance of having been razed by shell fire. Scarcely a window remained intact. Streets were filled with debris and relief workers, rushed from all nearby towns, were hampered in their work.

Definite reports of the number killed and injured were lacking this evening, but estimates ranged from 40 killed to 200 dead and more than 1,000 injured.

A first explosion of a tank 270 feet high and 150 feet in diameter was followed by fire and by a second minor explosion which caused several tottering walls to collapse and result in additional injuries.

The detonation was heard as far away as Basel, Switzerland, 130 miles distant, and northward to Cologne, 150 miles away.

The structure belonged to the Neunkirchener blast furnace works, one of the most modern in the Saar coal region. The tank cover was hurled 2,500 feet.

Through the rich Rhine valley the thunder like roar of the blast reverberated at 6:10 p.m. (11:10 a.m. CST) today. The first explosion was followed by three or four smaller blasts, each increasing the panic among the inhabitants.

Mabie Names Speakers for Next Meeting

Speech Teachers Plan to Gather Here March 3, 4

Speakers and events for a conference of speech teachers in high schools and colleges of the middle-west were announced yesterday by Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the speech department. The gathering will be held March 3 and 4, in conjunction with a meeting of the Central States Speech association.

Teachers from Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan will be included in the two-day meeting, which is under the auspices of the speech department and the extension division.

A debate tournament, in which speakers representing colleges and universities throughout the country will appear, will be a feature of the program. Debaters will argue on the subject of cancellation of war debts, a contest under the sponsorship of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic organization.

Several Sessions

The conference program will be divided into several sessions, and round table discussions, led by faculty members of various universities, will assume an important part in the meetings.

The contribution of scientific studies in speech pathology and phonetics to the teaching of speech will be considered in a series of addresses and discussions.

Among the out-of-town speakers who will take part in this division are Smiley Blake of New York city, Prof. Clarence Simon of Northwestern University, Prof. Bryng Bryngdson of the University of Minnesota, and Gladys Borchers of the University of Wisconsin.

Speakers in the field of public speaking and debating will include Prof. Hoyt Hudson of Princeton university, Prof. H. L. Ewbank of the University of Wisconsin, Prof. W. P. Sandford of the University of Illinois and Prof. W. N. Brigrance of Wabash college.

Dean Dennis to Report

At a conference dinner on the first day of the meeting, Dean Ralph Dennis of Northwestern university school of speech will give a report of the National association convention held recently in Los Angeles, and Maude Scheerer of Minneapolis will present a reading.

In conjunction with this conference, a convention of Delta Sigma Rho will be held in Iowa City. University of Minnesota speakers will meet University of Iowa debaters in a Western conference debate on the subject of guaranteed banking.

The conference will include visits to clinics and laboratories in speech study on the campus, as well as demonstrations of scientific developments in this field.

Four Iowa Citizens Seriously Injured on Rapids Highway

Four Iowa Citizens were injured, one of them seriously, in an automobile accident which occurred about 8 p.m. yesterday on U. S. highway 161 two miles north of Butler bridge.

Most badly injured was Otto Miller, 1304 E. Bloomington street, whose condition was described last night by Dr. George H. Scanlon as being "rather serious." Mrs. Miller's arm was fractured. Both are in Mercy hospital.

The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. August J. Reiland, 825 E. Davenport street, were also in the car at the time of the accident, are likewise confined at Mercy hospital, Mrs. Reiland with a fractured leg, and Mr. Reiland with lacerations.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 10 (AP)—A man believed by authorities, because of a letter in his possession to be Kenneth O'Conner, 28, of Lone Tree, Ia., was injured fatally today when a coal truck in which he was riding plunged into a ditch near Maple Park, Mo. He died in a hospital here.

Conference to Conclude With Oldfather Talk

Classical Teachers to End Meeting at Noon Today

TODAY'S PROGRAM
Senate Chamber, Old Capitol
9 a.m.—Prof. Dorrance S. White presiding.

Latin singing.
The anti-religious element in Lucretius—The Rev. W. P. Lemon.

A professor of education takes another look at Latin—Prof. Forest C. Ensign.

Dramatic irony in Plautus—Lou Bassett.

Rari Nantes—Prof. Calla Guyles. Can we meet the challenge?—Prof. Roy C. Fickinger.

Creating the classical atmosphere in the high school—Mary Boxwell. Consanguinity versus politics in ancient Rome—Prof. Franklin H. Potter.

Recent theories of the cause of the decline of Roman civilization—Prof. William A. Oldfather.

Culminating in an address of Prof. William Oldfather of the University of Illinois, the fifteenth annual classical teachers conference will come to a close at noon today, after a two-day session in Old Capitol.

Fourteen addresses, each concerned with some phase of classical lore, were presented on yesterday's program, with a dinner and reception also vying for attention. Keynotes of the program were evening addresses of Prof. George Mylonas of the University of Illinois, and Professor Oldfather.

Professor Oldfather also spoke before the afternoon session, discussing the Greek and Roman elements in Christmas customs. He characterized the present-day Yuletide as "an outgrowth of the telescoping of a galaxy of festivals" of the early Greeks and Romans.

Among the customs which he showed to be direct or indirect descendants of these festivals are the serving of the board's head, the traditional reindeer, caroling, yule logs, masquerading, and the giving of presents.

At the morning session, Prof. Elizabeth G. Pletenop of Central college, Pella, told of the retardation of which 97 per cent of Virgil's epic, the "Aeneid," is composed. Outlining the story of the "Aeneid," she showed how this retardation, which expands the epic without furthering the action, contributes so to the success of the classic.

Edythe Moore, Latin and French teacher at Albia, discussed the emotions shown in the similes of the "Aeneid," for some definite purpose, many serving to furnish the emotional context for the theme.

"Both," said Prof. Calla Guyles in answering the question of her address, "Sight translation—a means or an end?" She outlined the method used in teaching students to translate Latin at sight at her native University of Wisconsin.

"A small roly-poly man, of poor health," was the description of Horace given by Kathryn Daly of Waseca, Minn. She said that simplicity was the essence of his life, that he was not conceited, and, in all, was "a genial observer of the life he interpreted in his writings."

Iowa Citizens who addressed the group included Minnie Keys Fickinger, Prof. Dorrance S. White, and Oscar E. Nybakken, all of the classical languages department; Prof. Norman S. Poerster, director of the school of letters; Prof. Bonno Tapper of the philosophy department; Bruce E. Mahan, director of the extension division; Prof. Helen M. Eddy, head of foreign languages at University high school; and Alpha K. Braunworth, G. of Muscatine.

Prof. H. S. Taylor to Address C. of C. at Monday Luncheon

Prof. Hugh S. Taylor of Princeton university, who is scheduled to deliver an address on chemistry under the auspices of the American Chemical society in the chemistry auditorium Monday night has been secured to address the Chamber of Commerce at its Monday luncheon meeting on the subject of "Science and government."

Professor Taylor specializes in photo chemistry and thermodynamics and is said by members of the local faculty to be one of the country's outstanding authorities on chemical subjects.

State House Resolves for Wage Slashes

Bill Would Affect All College Salaries Over $7,500

DES MOINES, Feb. 10 (AP)—Economy legislation won and lost in the Iowa general assembly today.

The senate killed its first tax reduction bill, voting 30 to 15 against a measure which would have made expenditures for public school libraries optional, and then passed a bill to establish uniform cost accounting systems in the schools.

Meanwhile the house passed a concurrent resolution proposing that no state employee receive a salary of more than $7,500 a year, receiving a resolution to declare a suspension of highway construction, passed two tax reduction committee bills and killed a third.

The senate also approved, by a vote of 36 to 8, an emergency legislation committee bill to increase by $500 the amount of exemption allowed in seizure of debt. As passed, the measure would permit heads of families to hold exempt from seizure this amount in crops, livestock and farm equipment, the total to include $100 in furniture.

Senate Argues

Defeat of the bill to make expenditures for school libraries optional instead of mandatory was accomplished in the senate only after a considerable debate in which the tax reduction program of the interim committee which sponsored the bill was brought under fire.

Coincident with the death of the bill Senator E. R. Hicklin of Wapello, a member of the former committee, issued a statement in which he declared the entire $25,000,000 tax reduction program of the committee is in danger.

"This program is threatened," he said, "unless one of two things occurs. Either the administration will have to reassert itself, or else the people at home will have to send their tax reduction committees here to remind some members of the legislature of the conditions at home."

"Each of these tax reduction measures has its separate coterie of opponents, and the people who are coming here to oppose them are for the most part the tax eaters who have been profiting from these expenditures," he said.

Considerable Reductions

In the debate on the school libraries bill in the senate Hicklin pointed out that the tax reduction program was composed of numerous steps for saving varying amounts and that combined these reductions would effect a considerable reduction in taxes.

At present an expenditure of 15 cents per child of school age is required for library books, or a total expenditure of about $100,000. Members of the senate who opposed the bill contended that the saving would not be material.

The house passed without a dissenting vote the concurrent resolution suggesting that no state employee receive a salary in excess of $7,500. Sponsored by Representatives Hanson of Winnebago, Roe and Strachan, it carried a preamble declaring that people were suffering from low farm prices and pointing out that the governor is receiving only $7,500.

Representative Hanson, in urging

Mayor Signs Ordinance to Effect Slash

Schedule to Take Effect Immediately, Says Committee Head

After seven months of indecision and controversy the city council last night passed, and Mayor J. J. Carroll signed, an ordinance designed to reduce the income of the Iowa Water Service company $13,500 on the basis of its 1931 revenue.

The action was a victory for Mayor Carroll, who has constantly stood flatfooted on his demand for a reduction of that amount. He had previously vetoed two ordinances which he did not feel would effect a sufficient saving.

The ordinance, which was given three readings by the council last night under a suspension of the rules, will take effect on its publication immediately, Ed Sybil, chairman of the water committee, said.

The rate schedule incorporated in the ordinance was prepared by City Engineer Allen Wallen in response to a mandate of the council made Wednesday afternoon at a special session in the mayor's office. According to his report to the council, the schedule follows the recommendations of the Burns and McDonnell Engineering company of Kansas City, who were hired last summer to represent the city in making an appraisal of the water plant.

Recommend Report

Mr. Wallen's report explained that "in the event that the Iowa Water Service company carries this proposition into court it is my opinion that the recommendation of the Burns and McDonnell Engineering company should be followed as their report will contain valuable data and information for the city."

All members of the council, as well as City Attorney Will J. Hayek, expressed their willingness to take the proposition to court if the water company is not willing to accept the reduction.

Two courses were said to be open to the water company, acceptance of the ordinance and the new rates, or court action. If the company disapproves of the ordinance, it is asked to enjoin the city from putting the new rates into effect until the matter has been settled by the courts.

Action Undecided

George J. Keller, manager of the Iowa Water Service company, said last night that he was not sure what action the company would take. He explained that the rates would have to be analyzed by his experts in order to discover just how much the reduction would be.

"This is an entirely new proposition," he said. "I won't know until this thing has been analyzed just what the effect will be. Consequently, I can't say now what our action will be."

The controversy over the water rates has been fluctuating up and down in intensity for more than seven months. From a proposal last spring to buy the water plant and operate it as a municipal project, the proposition has run through a long course of proposals and counter proposals.

An appraisal of the plant was made early last fall to establish its valuation with a view to submitting the scheme of public ownership to the people at a special election. Both the city and the company were represented in the appraisal by two engineering firms and a fifth was chosen by the partial four.

Four-Way Agreement

According to the terms of the company's franchise, however, the agreement of four members of the appraisal commission was necessary to fix the valuation without court action. This agreement could not be reached—the company's men placing the value at about $900,000 and the city's engineers insisting that it was worth little more than $600,000. The matter of public ownership was dropped.

Since then the whole question has resolved itself into an argument as to the amount of the reduction. Resolution after resolution was voted by the council, only to be re-

Well, Anyway They Were Confident in Their Own Ability

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10 (AP)—A grass cutter, a house painter, and a lawyer-health inspector today told the senate committee investigating Representative John H. Overton's election to the United States senate that they were candidates for congress in good faith, and had not filed at the request of Representative F. O. Fernandez as dupes to influence the selection of election commissioners.

Laughter swept the chamber during the testimony of Joe Smith and Charles Suer, who said they entered the race because they thought they would make good congressmen.

Super-Champs Recognized at Big Journalism Frolic

Name Phyllis Michael, Nellie Marie Fordyce, Martha Montgomery, William Ellsworth, Clyde Hutton, Prof. Wickham

The world has its pole-sitting champs, hog-calling champs, pancake, and pie-eating champs. Iowa recognized six super-champs last night when the traditional hook, line, sinker, bumbershoot, corkscrew, and kite were presented to those who, during the last year, have excelled in the lines of endeavor always recognized at Pica Balls.

The winners: Best technic in getting her man—Phyllis Michael, A3 of Ottumwa, hook;

Woman with the worst line—Nellie Marie Fordyce, A2 of Iowa City, line;

Purest woman on the campus—Martha Jean Montgomery, A3 of Boone, kite;

Dumbest man on the campus—William Ellsworth, A3 of Omaha, Neb., bumbershoot; (only champ to retain position for two years);

Man with the most pull—Clyde C. Hutton, C4 of Groversville, N. Y., corkscrew;

Most merciless faculty member—Prof. H. F. Wickham of the zoology department, sinker.

Eugene Thorne, J4 of Fredericksburg, was master of ceremonies, and awarded the prizes during the intermission.

Jean Calloway and her 12 Negro syncopators provided the music for more than 600 couples as they danced in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

A huge replica of The Daily Iowan, headlines of which announced that the Associated Students of Journalism were holding their annual festival of fun, formed the background for the orchestra platform. Programs were miniature copies of the orchestral background.

Balloons, serpentine, and confetti added to the carnival atmosphere.

Faculty chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. Frank Luther Mott; Prof. and Mrs. Fred M. Pownall; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bunker; Prof. Fred J. Lazell; Charles L. Sanders; and Prof. and Mrs. Edward P. Mason.

The committee in charge of arrangements was: Mr. Thorne, chairman; Dorothy Comstock, A4 of Auburn; Evelyn Benda, J3 of Iowa City; Laura Koop, J4 of Iowa City; H. Bernard Hook, J4 of Grundy Center; Robert Ingram, J4 of Albia; Don Pryor, J3 of Burlington; and Harold Mitchell, J3 of Iowa City.

Wilhelm Solzbacher to Lead Conference at Union Today

German Youth Leader Will Open Meeting at 9:30 A.M.

Wilhelm Solzbacher, leader in the German youth movement, will lead a student conference and retreat of "European students and the present crisis" today at Iowa Union. The conference, which will begin at 9:30 and last until 4:30, will be held in the women's lounge.

The small German, whose blue-gray eyes twinkle as he speaks, is an executive for the German Fellowship of Reconciliation, for the World Youth Peace Congress, and is international secretary of the World League of Catholic Youth. He has received a doctorate in political and economic studies at Cologne and has written "The Social Philosophy of Walter Rathenau." Mr. Solzbacher is spending five weeks in the United States under the auspices of Adult Educational Council of Chicago, and comes to the campus under the auspices of the Commission on Religious Activities.

"The cultural center of Germany is Cologne and the part immediately surrounding it, but further east there are many Hitlerites," Mr. Solzbacher smilingly said yesterday at an informal tea for workers in the Commission on Religious Activities at Iowa Union.

Dressed in a dark grey suit and wearing an open-throated shirt, Mr. Solzbacher was nervously eager as he inquired about the teaching of German language in the American educational institutions, and explained the European youth movements to further international friendship of youth.

Mr. Solzbacher was a teacher last

Mrs. Harry Moore Smartest of New Jersey Politicians

At Least That's What Governor Moore Thinks

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 10 (AP)—"The smartest politician in New Jersey"—Mrs. A. Harry Moore.

Her husband, the governor, gave her the title. And he has quite a reputation of his own for political acumen in a state which boasts such a strategist as Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City.

But if Mrs. Moore is the smartest politician in the state, only party counsels know her in that role. The electorate of the state, holding her in the same affection as the governor, know her rather as a charming woman who rarely intrudes on the political scene.

The picture of the governor's lady as a smiling hostess has been a familiar one, but it was not until recently that people learned the first lady of the state presides equally well in juvenile court.

Mrs. Moore, as a referee in children's court, is empowered to sit as a judge and usually does in the absence of the magistrate of the court. She has been doing so the last three years, patient, kindly and with an understanding that is apart from legal knowledge and training.

The governor's lady will not talk about her court work. She prefers it to be a closed book to the press and public. No one except the children themselves and the court attendants know what goes on in Judge Moore's courtroom.

This attitude is indicative of the way she does things. She avoids publicity, without ever seeming to shun or discourage it. She is the first lady of the state but bears the honor as if it were secondary to the distinction of being the wife of A. Harry Moore, lawyer.

jected either by the water company or Mayor Carroll.

In the event that the water company rejects the ordinance and seeks court relief, and the city council remains firm in its intention to fight for the reduction, the firm of Burns and McDonnell will be called as expert witnesses.

Their contract under which they represented the city on last summer's appraisal commission, stipulated the city would pay them $50 per day and expenses for five days if the matter were taken into court.

The ordinance was introduced by Alderman Ed Sybil.

Debate Looms on Repeal of Dry Enactment Repealer Will Come Up After Appropriation of War Department

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—A major oratorical outburst, rivaling any in the senate has known in recent years, impended tonight as leaders made for early debate on the Blaine-repeal resolution and proposals to cut enforcement funds and restrict the activity of dry agents.

The repeal proposal is to be taken up immediately after the pending war department appropriation bill is passed. The temper of dry members and the promised attempts to alter the proposed amendment appear to make lengthy consideration inevitable. However, leaders obtained an understanding to lay the resolution aside after a while to consider the appropriation bill carrying prohibition funds.

Dry Funds Stand
This, the measure for state, justice, commerce and labor departments, totaling $102,000,000, was reported to the senate today, with the dry funds standing where the house left them, $5,440,000. The appropriations committee rejected by 12 to 9 the proposal of a subcommittee that the fund be cut 10 per cent.

Reject Fund Cut
A motion by Senator Copeland (D, N. Y.), to cut the enforcement fund to $5,000,000 was rejected by a large majority in the committee, but Copeland and Senator Tydings (D, Md.), served notice they would make another effort to slash the total on the floor.

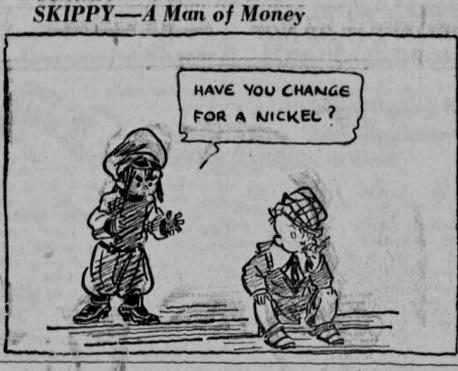

It was Tydings who had succeeded in subcommittee yesterday in cutting the fund 10 per cent. The $5,440,000 figure represents a cut of 15 per cent under current funds for dry enforcement—$10,250,000. President Hoover, in his budget estimates for next year, proposed $9,599,000, but this was cut to $8,440,000 on the house floor.

Compromise Seen on Rule of President
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—A compromise to the extent of power congress will give President-elect Roosevelt to reorganize the government appeared certain tonight after opposition to according him almost autocratic authority had been expressed in a spirited debate by both house Democrats and Republicans. Speaker Garner's proposal to "go the limit" in turning over to Mr. Roosevelt all the power possible within the constitution appeared destined for stiff Republican opposition in the senate.

Orchestra Enrolls 10 New Members, Total Number 78
The addition of 10 new members to the university orchestra was announced yesterday by Prof. Frank Estes Kendrick, director of the orchestra. This brings the total membership to 78.

The new members are as follows: violins—Mildred Prattman, A3 of Manson; Donald Schier, A1 of Ft. Madison; Ruth Waller, J4 of Iowa City; Bennie Brown, A3 of Talladega, Ala.; Julius Fradkin, A2 of Rochester, N. Y.; and Kenneth Sterzick, A1 of Cedar Rapids. Cellos—Edith Swartley, A4 of Iowa City; Margaret Schrock, city high school; and Rollo Norman, Iowa City high school; tympanum, Carl Wiegold, A1 of Ft. Madison.

Reserved Seats on Sale for Symphony Orchestra Concert
Five hundred individual reserved seats for the concert of the Little Symphony orchestra of Chicago here Feb. 17 have been placed on sale at room 1 of the music studio building, it was announced yesterday. It was originally planned to have only a reserved section at the concert, but popular demand has led to the adoption of the idea of individual reserved seats. Unreserved seats are also on sale at the music building, the extension division, and Iowa Union.

Edwards, Bennett Gordon, Louis A. Sullivan, Wilmer J. Nelson, Kenneth J. Gee, Ray V. Bailey, Thomas D. Ross, George T. Bradley, Rollin C. Avenell, and Stanley Bazant.

Archaeologist Tells of Work
Ancient Life Revealed When Grecian City Excavated
Life in the ancient Grecian city of Eleusis, as interpreted through modern excavations, was described by Prof. George Mylonas of the University of Illinois, in a Baconian lecture in chemistry auditorium last night. Though a part of the regular Baconian series, his address was also a part of the classical conference which opened yesterday morning.

Illustrating his talk with slides, Professor Mylonas described the work of excavators on this project. It is often necessary to work at a depth of 45 feet below the present soil surface, he said. Eleusis was for 2,000 years, from 1500 B. C. to the fifth century of the present era, a religious center of Greece. Material uncovered indicates that great pageants were held. Those who had the coveted honor of appearing in the pageant would gather at the Acropolis in Athens, and travel on foot to Eleusis, a distance of 41 miles, the speaker said.

Historical Jesus Interests People
The historical Jesus is of greater interest to people today than ever before, Prof. William A. Oldfather told classical teachers gathered in chemistry auditorium for the evening session of the conference last night. Historical research began into the life of Christ toward the end of the eighteenth century, he told his hearers, but it is only in the last two decades that there has been widespread interest.

foreclosures around here lately," he explained. "Most of the mortgage holders and the farmers have adjusted things without going to the courts. There have been some farmers, of course, who just couldn't keep on. They just signed their places over. Others have made adjustments and are going ahead."

So-called "penny" sales do not meet with his favor. "But you can't help but sympathize with them," he added. "Especially when the holder of the mortgage is unreasonable."

As for the domestic allotment plan, Mr. Clearman is glad only that the government is at last attempting to do something for the farmer.

"I don't know whether it will do much good or not, but I'm glad to see them try to do something for the farmer. I'd like to see it tried first on just one or two products, though. I don't think it would be wise to upset the whole system all at once before we know whether or not it will work."

He suggested trying the plan only on cotton or wheat until its effect could be determined, then adding other products if it proved successful.

When Day is Done
It was nearly dark. The snow lay stark white in drifts along the ridge. Old Man's creek and the Hartzell run were touched with saffron out of the sky and Oxford lay quiet under the curling smoke. And out of it all one gathered a liking for the farmer. He goes his way without any commotion. He

AID MUSIC TEACHERS

Iowa music teachers and supervisors will hear lectures and demonstrations by three distinguished musicians and one veteran supervisor at the University of Iowa's conference next Friday and Saturday. George Dasch, in addition to conducting his Chicago Little Symphony orchestra, will lecture on instrumental music. The other Chicagoan on the program is Harold Bachman, director of his own band. Educational representatives are Jacob A. Evan-son of Western Reserve university, Cleveland, who is an authority on vocal groups, and Alice Inskeep, music supervisor of Cedar Rapids public schools. Since the conference will prepare the state's teachers, to train their pupils for the huge spring music festival to be held here, almost half of the schools will send representatives.

Prof. Stewart to Take Honor

When a score of scientists from various countries of the world meet in London, England, April 24 and 25 for a symposium on "Liquid crystals and anisotropic melts," Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department, will attend as the only American invited. The meeting is being sponsored by the Faraday society, and is the first at which this subject has ever been discussed.

Professor Stewart will give a paper on "Alteration in the nature of a fluid from a gaseous to a liquid crystalline condition as shown by x-rays." His contribution will be based upon personal research in the university laboratories, research which has in general been concerned with investigation of liquids by x-ray methods.

The meeting will be held at the Royal Institution in London, which is well equipped, not only for lecturing purposes but for demonstrations as well. Eminent scientists from Germany, Netherlands, France, England, Poland, Sweden, Russia, and India will participate in the symposium. The contributions, all of which are invited papers, will be published in the journal of the Faraday society following the meeting.

University Doctors to Attend Medical Congress at Chicago

Four university faculty members will attend the annual Congress on Medical Education and Licensure to be held at Chicago, Ill., Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. John T. McClintock, chairman of the newly created executive council of the college of medicine, will serve as presiding officer at a dinner honoring conference-goers Tuesday evening.

Dr. Everett D. Plass, professor and head of obstetrics and gynecology and a member of the executive committee, will meet with the National Board of Medical Examiners Sunday, and will attend both sessions of the congress.

Robert E. Neff, University hospital administrator, will attend only the Monday meetings of the congress. Prof. Kate Daum, director of nutrition at University hospital, will meet Monday with the executive board of the American Dietetic association, of which she is president, and Tuesday will attend the congress' conference on hospital work.

Iowa Athletics to Receive Support of Commerce Mart Fund

Further support was voted Iowa athletics yesterday morning when the Commerce club decided to turn over proceeds of the Commerce Mart to the Hawkeye baseball and track squads.

The all-university party will be held Feb. 24 at Iowa Union. Announcement of the decision was made yesterday morning by Maynard Dean, C4 of Forest City. The gift follows that made from proceeds of the Junior Prom held last year, and is augmented by dances and other benefits which have been staged by campus groups.

F. D. R.—Another Mussolini?

DICTATOR Franklin D. Roosevelt... That, to all intents and purposes, will be the status of President Franklin D. Roosevelt if house Democrats have their way.

Apparently determined to balance the budget and aware of the fact that the make up of the house and senate is not conducive to budget balancing, the majority leaders feel that the responsibility must be placed on the shoulders of one man if progress is to be made.

Their proposal would give the president power as complete as that of any great ruler in the world today. It would give him authority to reduce pensions, veterans' compensation, abolish major departments and cabinet posts, reduce air and ocean mail subsidies, suspend rivers and harbors and public building programs, hold up and impound appropriations and reduce salaries of all federal officials not fixed by the constitution.

It would, in short, give him power to revise the government's entire structure from top to bottom. It would also place upon his shoulders a burden greater than that ever borne by a president of the United States. It would focus responsibility upon him and him alone.

But he asked for it. Congressional leaders reported that he informed them he was willing to take the responsibility for cutting the expenses of government to balance the budget even if it cost him re-election in 1936.

Given such power, no move he could make to reduce expenses would go free of severe criticism. Powerful interests stand ready to mass their forces against every suggested economy. They will not hesitate to throw abuse at whoever dares to limit the particular branch of government in which they are interested.

This fact itself makes it all the more imperative that responsibility for the reduction be placed squarely upon one man. But it must be a man of courage and steadfast convictions.

To the common observer, the president-elect has increased in stature since his election in November. He is no radical, but he has so far shown no inclination to hang to precedent simply because it is precedent. This is demonstrated by his attitude on Muscle Shoals and foreign affairs.

Although the fearsome conservatism in one says "No," the move seems from all angles to be a good one and the only effective way out.

The Question Is "How?"

AN IOWA faculty member made the statement recently that there is no possibility of the United States collecting another dollar of the war debts due it.

Of course, Great Britain came out Monday with the informal information that her statesmen were working on a plan to make a blanket payment to this country. But there still is the realization, if not the admission, that little of the money advanced to European nations will ever be repaid.

Budget and financial systems, depending upon the validity of these debts, preclude writing them off the books.

Two courses of payment lie open. One is with currency, the other with merchandise and trade. The first makes obligatory an international gold standard.

On that question, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, took occasion Thursday to make it clear that at present his nation is not ready to return to the gold basis, with the consequent elimination of American hope to raise the issue effectively at Washington next month.

The United States and France stand in control of the world's gold, and France refuses to pay. The remaining alternative is extensive international trade, forestalled by tariffs and the dropping of the gold standard.

The Briton selling an article in the United States for the equivalent to the pound receives $3.50 instead of the normal $4.86; in addition, there is the duty charged for getting the goods into this country. It is easy to see why our exports exceed imports, although the reverse is necessary to collect from Europe.

Two solutions are theoretically practical; lowering tariff walls and the international resumption of the gold standard. The big question in either case is still "how?"

Dividends in Satisfaction

ALL THAT came that two men should ever need should come with a successful climb above the top of the world. Chief pilots of an expedition which will attempt to fly above Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, Air Commodore P.M.F. Fellowes and Lord Clydesdale, both of Great Britain, are preparing for the trial in March.

Two airplanes, which the aviators will pick up at the Indian port of Karachi, will be used. The men will journey to the base of the expedition, in the green swampy plains of northern Bengal, 250 miles due north of Calcutta, by air.

The final hop over the crest will mean a flight of 150 miles more before the slopes are reached, with the necessity of ascending to a height of 29,000 feet as the icy tip is passed.

There is no possible landing place between the plains country and the peak, among bare ridges and torrent-swept gorges. The plains themselves are choked with jute and rice, and landing is nearly impossible.

A consecutive series of aerial photographs will be made of scenes which no white man has ever viewed previously.

There should be plenty of fame in store for the adventurers, if they succeed. As well, another triumph will be scored for modern air travel.

As for the value of the pictures that the airmen hope to catch, there is just the fact that they will be the first to see them, and to bring them back for others to see.

That feeling of satisfaction in man's ability to remain superior to any problem which he may find or set against himself is the biggest dividend which the two will pay.

Government—Family Style

WITH all the talk, not heard so much at present, of nepotism in government, there are at least two towns in which the system operates to the perfect satisfaction of everybody.

New Ashford, Mass., lets the White family run its business. A total of 12 town offices finds the Whites listed as follows: treasurer, Clarence; tax collector, Elihu A.; selectmen, William D., and Forrest C.; board of public welfare, Mae, and W. D.; assessor, E. A.; school committee, F. C. (also constable and fire and forest warden); library trustee, Stella; and cemetery commissioner, E. A.

At the same time, in Savoy, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barber are having something to do with town government. Mr. Barber was elected moderator, selectman, member of the board of health, and member of the board of welfare. Mrs. Barber was chosen town clerk, town treasurer, and member of the school committee.

The towns, incidentally, are in pretty fair shape. New Ashford reduced its appropriations $1,242 from last year, because all bills are paid and the town is free from debt. Savoy is out of debt, and has taken over tax titles. Its population is 300.

Of course these towns are tiny; the councilmen likely have no problems greater than the expenditure of a few dollars for conditioning the schools and streets, heating the city hall, or other comparatively small necessities of the small community.

But the highest form of citizenship can be found in the small town where politics is forgotten and civic pride, with consequent operating efficiency, takes its place.

Thinking—Three Dimensional

DR. ANDREW H. WOODS, director of the University of Iowa's Psychopathic hospital, believes that one's attention should be centered on the tasks and opportunities of today. He said so before visitors at the Iowa State college farm and home week program in Ames.

At the same time, one should maintain a sufficient view of future needs and later results of the day's action to aim toward a worthy goal, he said.

Constant feeling of depression, he stated, comes with an unhappy view of future possibilities. He termed worry "diseased foresight."

Probably there is no other race which thinks less of yesterday and tomorrow than the North American Caucasian.

Europeans have developed that art of thinking to a little better quality than the Americans. Not the art of thinking in itself, but the ability to think of what happened a day ago, or a week, or several years, and to point from that basis to a future course.

There will be an end some day to the stress of depression. There may be another inflation follow. Whether investment will run wild as it did in the case of Iowa farm land, for instance, will tell whether or not something has been gained in the shape of reckoning from past happenings.

Of course, an advantage is naturally Europe's. The history of the continent runs so much further back than does that of America's that it offers more object lessons. But America could profit from those of the last 300 years.

More Help Coming

MORE HELP was voted to Iowa athletics yesterday morning when the Commerce club decided to pledge proceeds from the Commerce Mart to the support of baseball and track squads during the coming spring.

Added to the totals reached through Junior class contribution, the dances planned by athletes themselves, the Dolphin show, and other aids which have been given to the support of athletics, the picture is fairly rosy.

It is at least far more rosy than it was last fall, when gloom over curtailed budgets permeated everything, and the ultimatum of self-support or no games had to be given.

There is no debate coming as to whether student support has been placed behind the squads. It was suggested editorially some months ago that an organization on the pattern of Purdue's Gimlet club, which operates only for the financial benefit of athletics, might be a good thing for Iowa.

The organization as such seems not to have been formed, but the action necessary has been taking place with clockwork regularity, and after all, that is the biggest point.

Will Meet Hawkeyes in Second Cage Game

(Continued from page 1) game, Purdue is not so powerful, ranking seventh in the conference as it does at present with an average of 29 1-2 points per game scored by the opposition. Iowa's defense rating is third and has been improving with every conference appearance. Coach Lambert has spent considerable time lately, though, in tightening the defense with 6 foot 3 inch Parmentor as the key man. While Howard Bastian, 6 foot 5 inch Iowa center and now leading Hawkeye scorer, will have a big advantage over his 6 foot rival, Dutch Fehring, and should control the tip handily, the rest of the Iowa team will probably be under the Purdue average in height. The addition of Johnny Barko, 6 foot 2 inch forward, to the lineup has considerably added to the Iowa height and given added scoring power at close range. STUDIO GOSSIP FILM SCANDAL SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—Between acting and etching, Lionel Barrymore undoubtedly would choose the latter, yet he will tear himself away from his hobby to answer an important studio summons. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has chosen him for one of the leads in "Service," a big department store picture which Clarence Brown is starting very soon for the Culver City studio. Other players whom you will see in this film include Lewis Stone and M-G-M's two new English actresses, Elizabeth Allen and Benita Hume. Always interested in etchings, Barrymore has improved his technique in the last two years. His dressing-room is a complete studio and he spends hours working over the copper plates. Exhibiting here a short while ago, the actor found a brisk demand for his etchings; now he will be one of the first to show for the New York Etching society. These honors seem to mean more to him than the critical and box-office plaudits of his acting. But, being a Barrymore, he can't get away from the old craft. Best wide-crack of the week must be credited to Ely Culbertson, the bridge expert. Receiving a summons to report to the front office at R-K-O, he flipped: "I never know whether I'm being called to discuss my contract or theirs." Hollywood has its quota of long faces, but all the studios are humming with plans for the new year's program. Universal has made so much money out of the Zasu Pitts-Slim Summerville comedies that Carl Laemmle, Jr., has set Tom Reed to work on "Chicken Rancho," another vehicle for the popular pair. It's an original story by Dale Van Every and will have a California setting. Junior also has signed Kathleen Shepherd, former newspaper woman, to do a screen treatment on Mary Synon's novel, "The Good Red Bricks." Great enthusiasm prevails at the moment over their latest foreign acquisition, "Be Mine Tonight." British Gaumont made this picture and Universal calls it the best musical yet turned out in Europe. It features Jan Kiepura, a young Polish tenor, and was photographed in Lucerne, Switzerland. HOLLYWOOD PARADE "Friends-of" Eleanor Boardman and King Vidor are greatly interested in the renewed interest these two are showing in each other. It began when King took his estranged wife to Tom Gallery's bicycle races. Recently the pair have spent several evenings dancing together at the Beverly Wilshire... Billie Dove and Larry Brennan also seem partial to Gus Arnheim's music... And the pretty girl with George Raft was Irene Ware. Florence McKinney and Nat Goldstone made it a foursome. DID YOU KNOW— That Director Irving Cummings once worked as a bank clerk at Forty-second Street and Fifth Ave.

389 Schools Seek Honors in Music Tilt

Contestants Will Meet Here After District Tournaments

Competition for state music championships lies ahead of pupils from 389 Iowa high schools.

This total was announced yesterday as the official registration in the Iowa High School Music association. It is a decrease of only 11 from the 1932 mark.

University of Iowa officials will be host to the festival contestants May 3, 4, 5, and 6, after the field is reduced by March sub-district contests and April district affairs.

Heaviest Enrollment
The north central district has the heaviest enrollment, with 81 schools, followed by the northwest, with 78. Other enrollments are: northeast, 66; southwest, 65; southeast, 56; and south central, 49.

Popularity of the association's contest among schools of class C is indicated by the fact that 256 of the registrants will perform in that division.

Seek 51 Championships
The contestants of 1933 will seek 51 championships, more than ever before. Thirty-three events, the same number as last year, actually are on the program, but the greatest number of titles is caused by the addition of a new class, AA, for larger schools.

Aid to music teachers and supervisors will be given by the university next Friday and Saturday with a conference on contest topics.

One Death Added to Cold Weather Toll in Temporary Break

DES MOINES, Feb. 10 (AP)—One death was attributed to the cold in Iowa as the state today experienced what weather officials said was only a temporary break in the week's abnormally low temperatures.

Neighbors, puzzled by absence of smoke from the chimney of the Albert Holmes residence near Monticello, found Mrs. Holmes frozen to death in her bed yesterday. Mrs. Holmes, 54, was an invalid.

Her husband, who had been ill, was taken to a Monticello hospital suffering from exposure.

Sioux City, Charles City and Duquesne were the coldest spots in the state, each reporting a temperature of 6 below zero. Keokuk, with 6 above and Des Moines with 12 above, were high.

South Dakota Asks Iowa Extradition

PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 10 (AP)—Gov. Tom Berry today announced he had requested extradition from Iowa of Nile Cochran of Merville, Ia., in connection with a milk strike gun battle in which one person was fatally shot.

Cochran was arrested and released on bond in Sioux City after the shooting near Stevens, S. D.

R. D. Markell of Elk Point was fatally injured in the shooting and two of his sons were seriously hurt when the Markell milk truck attempted to run a blockade, allegedly set up by opponents of Markell in the milk strike.

Ripley Explanations

Explanation of Yesterday's Cartoon
A Slightless Overseer—Though totally blind, Louis Panzer oversees the entire harness department of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, and does everything required in his trade as well as when he had his sight. Eleven years ago he lost his vision, but he still cuts, stitches, and operates his own bench, as well as supervising and laying out the work of his three assistant harness makers. Every piece of the huge stock of circus harness passes through his hands for his judgment on repairs and materials.

Mr. Panzer is now 50 years of age, and may be seen at his work bench every day, either at the winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla., or while the show is on tour during the summer months.

The Mushroom—The mushroom that we generally see is but the fruiting body of the fungus, while its vegetative body, corresponding to stems and roots of a plant, rests underground. This underground part of the mushroom is called mycelium, or spawn, and consists of numerous thin white threads which rise from the soil. Small knots developing upon the surface part of these threads, then grow into mushrooms.

Graduates Conquer Z. T. A. for Second Consecutive Victory

Once more the Graduates, women's basketball team, won a sweeping victory when they defeated the Zeta Tau Alphas, 47 to 3, in a game played at women's gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The first game won by the Graduate team in the women's intramural basketball tournament was Wednesday when they defeated the Kappa Deltas, 36 to 4.

The game between Kappa Delta and Currier hall teams, which was to have been played yesterday, is postponed until next week.

The next two games will be played Monday: Zeta Tau Alpha vs. Kappa Delta, and Delta Delta Delta vs. Alpha Chi Omega.

Authorities Probe Omaha Fire Deaths

Question Witnesses on Casualties After Blaze

OMAHA, Feb. 10 (AP)—A score or more witnesses paraded to the stand here today as city, county, state and insurance company authorities opened their investigation of the Millard hotel fire that Wednesday night resulted in the death of seven firemen—but the results were practically gainless as far as uncovering the cause of the fire.

The stories told by some witnesses were conflicting and only served to make the situation more confused.

Assistant Fire Chief W. M. Hartnett, a leading witness, testified that the fire had been burning at least 10 minutes and possibly 25 minutes before firemen arrived on the scene.

He said that nowhere in the building was there evidence that the sprinkler system was operating. The system, he said, was not in operation on the second and third floor, center of the early fire, when he made a tour of these floors shortly after arriving at the hotel.

Fire Inspector Clarence Urban, trapped in the basement when four floors and the roof collapsed, died in an attempt to check up on the sprinkler system to see if the valve in the basement was turned on, Hartnett said. He testified that Urban entered the building against his advice.

He also testified that he distinctly heard an explosion before the north wall collapsed, burying five firemen under tons of bricks, but said he could give no reason for the explosion. He said the entire north end of the building was "afame from the second floor to the roof within a few minutes after the firemen arrived."

Otto Maurer, day engineer at the hotel, testified the sprinkler system had been turned off all day Tuesday and up to 5 p.m. Wednesday for repairs, but that he had turned it on at 5 p.m. Wednesday when he went off duty. The fire broke out about 10 p.m. Wednesday night.

Some guests of the hotel, called as witnesses, testified the alarm bells, attached to the sprinkler system, were ringing; others testified they heard no bells.

Walter R. Hutson, fire inspector, said he inspected the hotel on Jan. 13 and found the wiring in a store room on the north side of the building, "so bad that I marked it no good." He said he did not know of action being taken on the basis of his report.

Governor Herring Withdraws Proclamation on Farm Relief

Says Measure Passed by Assembly Supplants Statement

DES MOINES, Feb. 10 (AP)—Governor Herring today withdrew his proclamation asking voluntary suspension of farm mortgage foreclosures, pointing out that the relief bill passed this week by the general assembly supplanted the proclamation.

The emergency relief bill went into effect today and provides in effect for a moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures until March 1, 1935.

Rescinding Proclamation
Governor Herring's proclamation today, rescinding the previous one, reads as follows:

"Whereas, I, Clyde L. Herring, governor of the state of Iowa, did issue a proclamation on the nineteenth day of January, A.D., 1933, calling upon all holders of mortgages or other liens upon real estate or personal property within the state of Iowa, to forthwith refrain from and discontinue the enforcement of said liens on real estate or personal property, or from taking possession of the personal property covered by said lien, and to discontinue and refrain from the prosecution of any suit or proceedings heretofore instituted for the foreclosure or sale of such property, save and until the respective legislative bodies having the power so to do, have reasonable opportunity to enact legislation to meet such emergency and

Becomes Law
"Whereas, the forty-fifth general assembly of the state of Iowa now in session has passed emergency debtors' relief act, house file No. 193, which act became a law of the state of Iowa on the tenth day of February, A.D., 1933, and

"Whereas, there is no further need for observance of the former proclamation

"Therefore, I, Clyde L. Herring, governor of the state of Iowa, do, with the authority vested in me as chief executive of the state of Iowa, do hereby proclaim that the proclamation issued by me on the nineteenth day of January, A.D., 1933, is no longer in force and effect from and after the tenth day of February, A.D., 1933."

Two Confess to Kidnaping

Police Ponder Angles in Abduction of Woman

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10 (AP)—Whether two men accomplices were imaginary or real was one of the unsolved angles today in the kidnaping of Mrs. Mary B. Skeele, to which police said Miss Luella Pearl Hammer, 28, and W. P. Howard, 41, have confessed.

Howard, an ex-convict, shouldered the whole blame as instigator, but said two men, whose identity he would not reveal, guarded the 65 year old victim during her 24 hour imprisonment in a Pasadena home.

Former Student
Miss Hammer, former music student of Prof. Walter F. Skeele, dean of music at the University of Southern California and husband of Mrs. Skeele, said she and Howard managed the whole affair and there were no accomplices.

Mrs. Skeele told police that though blindfolded she judged by the conversations that three men and one woman were involved.

Simulate Conversations
Police expressed the belief, Miss Hammer and Howard simulated conversations to terrify their victim with the thought there were four kidnapers.

The county grand jury today indicted Miss Hammer and Howard on charges of kidnaping. District Attorney Fitts announced bail would be fixed at $100,000.

Herring Will Deliver Address on Lincoln

DES MOINES, Feb. 10 (AP)—Governor Herring will deliver the Lincoln day address in Springfield, Ill., Feb. 13, at the invitation of Governor Horner of Illinois.

The Iowa governor also announced today that he will leave here March 1 for the conference of governors with President-elect Roosevelt in Washington March 6.

Major General M. A. Tinley, commander of the Iowa national guard, and Adjutant General Charles Grahl will accompany Governor Herring to Washington.

Former Iowan Threatened With Jail in Fraud Case

Seek Better Testimony in Investigation of "Side Deal"

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP)—John J. Homan, former Alton, Iowa, storekeeper, was threatened with jail today unless he gives more willing testimony in the federal mail fraud trial of Otto E. Goebel and eight others.

Homan, who now lives in Glendale, Cal., is a brother-in-law of Goebel.

Professes Ignorance
Homan professed ignorance of an alleged "side deal" by which the government claims the treasury of the National Diversified corporation, sponsor of "clean motion pictures" was bilked of more than $100,000.

When Homan continued to insist he knew nothing of any alleged participation by Goebel in the deal, Assistant United States Attorney J. J. Rosenblum said:

"You seem to know more about this than you are telling. I'm going to stay here all day until I find out about it."

"All He Knows"
When defense counsel protested, Judge John M. Woolsey said "I quite agree with Mr. Rosenblum. This man has got to testify and if he doesn't I'm going to put him in jail."

"I'm telling all I know," Homan protested.

"I don't believe it," the court replied.

Homan was president of the Los Angeles County Realty company, through which it was charged the funds of the National Diversified were diverted.

SPORT
Potshots
by EUGENE THORNE

ONE of the best basketball games played on a local court this year took place last night down at the Irish gym when St. Pat's lost to a great St. Ambrose five. Outplaying and outfighting their opponents all the way, the Green lost when Moran got loose in the third period for eight points. Every man on the team played at a high pitch and displayed probably their best form of the year. It was a tough one to lose, but it was to a worthy opponent and who knows what may happen at the tournament.

City high seems to have the "tournament smell" and is settling down to play real ball again. Touted all year long as a team that was better than it was showing, the Red and White five had been disappointing until it decided to make things tough for the opposition and now has won five out of its last seven games. Big, fast and dangerous from far out on the court, the Little Hawks should play some great ball from now on, especially since the tournament will be here.

AND speaking of the tournament, did you notice that the Little Seven will be heavily represented? University high, which lost a game last night to West Branch but showed improvement, West Liberty, Tipton, and West Branch will all be here and set for winning. However, it will be a safe bet that it will be the Class B fight that will draw the crowds, with Sharon, Cosgrove, Kalona, and Lone Tree all appearing, the crowds will flock from all over the county to see a continuation of the county tournament which will be held next week at the University high gym.

Wrestlers at Chicago for Meet Today

Pfeffer's Presence Will Strengthen Team for Second Dual
By DON SAN GIOVANNI
Somewhat strengthened, after a number of unexpected reverses, by the addition of LeRoy Pfeffer to the team, Hawkeye matmen travel to Chicago today to meet a well balanced Maroon wrestling team.

Coach Mike Howard named the same squad which acted against Minnesota last Saturday to compete again today with the exception of Pfeffer in the 118 pound class, who displaced Wayne Deegan for the position in a tryout Thursday.

Pfeffer Weighs Only 111
Although weighing but 111 pounds and having been out only four times this season, Pfeffer is expected to be a mainstay to the team. In 1927 he won the National A.A.U. 112 pound title, but since then has only been in school intermittently and has never completed his final year of competition. Expecting to graduate in June he has decided to give his services to the team this season.

His opportunity return in some measure makes up for the blow dealt to the team when Burt Dull was declared ineligible and Rollo Parmenter failed to return to school. The meet will be his first real test and fans are anxious to see whether or not he can stage a come-back upon such short notice.

Rookies Lead
Winners at the meet with Minnesota are expected to repeat today and are being heavily counted upon for points. These are Bill Minkel at 135 pounds, Loren Heller at 145, and Randall Whinnery at 155 pounds. All three are rookies.

Several veterans will attempt to break into the scoring columns when John O'Leary, 175, and Capt. "Swede" Johnson, 165 take on their respective Maroon opponents. Captain Johnson will have another co-captain to face in Heide of Chicago. Last year Heide administered Captain Johnson his only dual defeat of the year.

Righter May Score
Iowa's diminutive heavyweight Pat Righter will again function in his role of "Jack the Giant Killer." Narrowly beaten out by the Minnesota goliath, "Bull" Appaman, Righter is considered clever enough to have all of an even chance against the average heavyweight.

George Ahrens will hold down the 126 pound assignment and with decided improvement shown during the week is given a chance to break into the scoring.

Midgets Triumph by 15 to 12 Score
St. Pat's Midgets obtained sweet revenge for a 34 to 9 licking at the hands of St. Ambrose earlier in the season by rallying in the last half to score a 15 to 12 win.

Behind 6 to 4 at the half, the Irish went into a lead in the third period. Led by Capt. Drew McNamara, they led 9 to 7 at the third quarter and then stood off a rally that came within one point of tying the score. Two free throws by Kessler in the last minute clinched the victory for the local team.

Famous Prof. Says Iowa Looks Plenty Good-to-Win 37-31

It's three shirt weather over here in Pekin but here is some red hot dope straight from the good right shoulder of the one and only Prof. Jitters.
Iowa looks plenty good to me and ought to down the Boiler-makers before the biggest crowd the field house ever saw.
Two other knock down and drag out battles are due with Illinois favored to knock off Wisconsin while Minnesota is losing its ninth straight game to a badly battered Indiana team.
Scores will run something like this:
IOWA 37; PURDUE 31.
ILLINOIS 32; WISCONSIN 26.
INDIANA 38; MINNESOTA 28.

The Blue warriors from University high fought gallantly and well last night, but not quite well enough for the strong West Branch aggregation returned home with a 29 to 17 triumph. The score is representative of the comparative strength of the two teams as the entire game was a hard fought battle.

U. high had difficulty in making follow-up shots and there hangs the tale of their defeat.
The game started off with Myers dropping a pretty field goal through the net, putting the Blue into an early lead. McCabe scored from the side to even the count, but Zimmerli scored on Douglas' foul to show the Kistlermen out in front again only to have Gibson make it shine all on a converted free throw. Jessup whisked one through the net on a gratis shot to place his team in the lead for the last time during the entire game.

U. high counted points in every eye and turned in the only slam of the meet when "Skeets" Halton, Frank Cretzmeyer and Bob Hemminger shut the Maroons out in the broad jump, which went to Halton with a winning jump of 21 feet 8 1/4 inches.

Coach Ted Swenson's team showed good all round strength with the greatest emphasis coming in the hurdles, jumps, and dash. In the 11 events, Old Gold competitors were first eight times and tied for a ninth one. They scored firsts in both jumps, the dash, the high hurdles, and tied in the lows. Other events in which the Hawks finished ahead of the Chicago team include the half, the mile, the two mile, and the shot.

Cretzmeyer, with two firsts, a tie for another and a tie for second in the broad jump led the scoring, accounting for 16 points. Dick Crayne was second with a first and two thirds. Berwanger, former Dubuque star, was the leading Chicago scorer, turning in two seconds, which, added to his tie for first in the low hurdles, gave him 10 points.

The summaries:
60-yard dash—Won by Crayne (I); Hemminger (I) second; Mahey (C), Yoder (C), and Siegel (I) tied for third. Time—30.5.
60-yard low hurdles—Cretzmeyer (I) and Berwanger (C) tied for first; Crayne (I), third. Time—07.4.
60-yard high hurdles—Won by Cretzmeyer (I); Berwanger (C) second; Latham (I), third. Time—07.8.
440-yard dash—Won by Wattis (C); Nicholson (C) second; Pavloek (I), third. Time—54.

Frosh Track Team Opens With Win Over Chicagoans

Take Easy Triumph in Telegraphic Meet, 67 1-3 to 31 2-3

More than doubling the score on the Chicago freshmen, the University of Iowa's yearling track team came through with an easy win in its first indoor telegraphic meet of the year, the victory margin totaling 67 1-3 to 31 2-3.

Iowa counted points in every eye and turned in the only slam of the meet when "Skeets" Halton, Frank Cretzmeyer and Bob Hemminger shut the Maroons out in the broad jump, which went to Halton with a winning jump of 21 feet 8 1/4 inches.

Visitors Force Little Hawks; Superior Basket Shooting by Locals Wins Valley Struggle

Soucek Leads Scoring of Game; Rhue, Newlin Pace Clinton

By RON TALLMAN
(Assistant Sports Editor)

Forced all the way by a fast breaking and scrapping Clinton five, Iowa City high's Little Hawks were not to be outdone last night as they came through with a 42 to 31 victory in a Mississippi Valley contest, keeping the large crowd thrilled with their accurate basket shooting.

Only the efforts of Capt. Dick Rhue, second leading scorer in the conference and one of the smallest men in the game, saved the visitors from complete rout as he made frequent fast breaks to the basket and led Newlin, his running mate at forward, often enough that the two accounted for 11 points apiece, all on close range shots.

Soucek's Top Scoring
With Fred Ballard, starting guard last night and an outstanding player during the first half and into the second, Dale Marshall and Capt. Henry Soucek hitting on their long shots, the Little Hawks couldn't be checked in the first half in which they piled up a 24 to 16 lead. Most of the scoring came after the Clinton five had held the City high boys even, 11-11, at the first period.

Soucek, who has been showing a remarkable return to form, led the scoring for the game with 12 points. Marshall went scoreless in the last two quarters after getting four in the first half, but Christensen started dropping them in the third period to tie Marshall with eight. Ballard got seven points, being replaced by Willard shortly after the second half opened. Chapman's seven points, all on follows, completed the Iowa City scoring.

First Period Even
Newlin sent Clinton into the lead on the first tip throw and McKinley added a free throw before Marshall's field goal and Chapman's charity toss knotted the count. McKinley made another free throw before Rhue came into the game and then Ballard and Marshall slipped in long shots and Soucek followed on his own to give the locals a big lead. Johnson converted on a free throw and Ballard's follow down Iowa City leading 11-5. Newlin, Rhue and Jackson tied the score before the bell.

Ballard made another long shot and Newlin slipped in close to tally before the end of the first period.

Sophomores Win by 26-16 Margin
An overwhelming 19 to 2 lead at the half was more than sufficient to make up for loss of a basket eye in the second half and the Iowa City sophomore team downed the Clinton five for the second time this year, 26 to 16.

Although outscored in the last half, the locals were still the best club but just couldn't hit.

Soucek scored from deep in the corner. Rhue converted a free toss and Marshall sent the count to 20-14 with two rapid baskets. Lorenz got his only basket of the game and Soucek and Christensen scored before the half.

Rhue, Christensen Score
The third quarter was marked by the play of Rhue and Christensen, as the score was tied once, 26-26, and in which the visitors outplayed the winners, 10-8, only to trail 32-26. Rhue made three baskets in this period while Christensen made two. The last period saw the Little Hawks again control matters, Coach Wells sending in a complete new team in the last minutes.

Broadcast to Honor Vets of Foreign Wars

Will Initiate 50,000 by Radio in Course of Evening

Iowa City Veterans of Foreign Wars and members of the ladies' auxiliary will listen tonight to a nationwide radio broadcast, which will feature leaders of their organization. The program will come over a hook-up of the National Broadcasting company from 10:30 to 11:45 p.m.

During the evening more than 50,000 veterans throughout the country are to be initiated into the organization by radio. The obligation will be administered by Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of Veterans of Foreign Wars, to initiate standing before the radios.

Originates in Washington

The program will originate in Washington, D. C., opening with a banquet for war veterans in the vicinity of the capital.

Mrs. Consuelo P. DeCoe, national president of the ladies' auxiliary, will describe the service and welfare activities of her organization.

Senator Arthur R. Robinson of Indiana, a member of V.F.W., will summarize his congressional arguments in favor of the immediate cash payment of the adjusted service certificates and other legislation to aid war veterans.

Speaks From Chicago

Capt. William P. Wright, commander-in-chief of the G.A.R., will speak from Chicago, dedicating the program to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. Floyd Gibbons will describe the initiation ceremony to the radio audience.

Musical entertainment is to be furnished by the orchestras of Paul Whitman, Jack Denny, and Vincent Lopez. The Pickens sisters will give a series of vocal numbers.

The local post, No. 2581, of V.F.W. was organized last May. J. I. Johnston is the present commander and John Fielding is vice commander.

Other officers are: E. Olney, junior vice commander; R. V. Campbell, quartermaster; W. Dickens, officer of the day; G. Reha, chaplain; E. Kern, sentinel; T. McGovern, B. Huffman, and J. J. Sitka, trustees.

Given 3 Months for Manufacturing Liquor

DES MOINES, Feb. 10 (AP)—Clifford Rigby and W. E. Hopkins, both of Burlington, were sentenced to three months in Polk county jail for manufacturing intoxicating liquor when they entered written pleas of guilty in federal court here today.

Rigby was arrested near Burlington Dec. 20 in possession of a still and a quantity of liquor, court records stated. Hopkins was arrested Dec. 16 under similar circumstances, the records indicate.

Ford Introduces Larger and More Powerful Car

The Burkett-Updegraff motor company announced last night that two models of the new Ford V-8—a "DeLuxe Fordor" sedan and a "Standard Tudor" sedan—will be on display at their show rooms at College and Capitol streets this morning.

New and larger bodies, with distinctively streamlined design, faster acceleration and increased power and speed, together with greater roominess and comfort are some of the features claimed for the new automobile.

The car is built on a longer wheelbase—112 inches—and has a motor said to develop 75 horsepower. A special feature of the new engine is an aluminum cylinder head, which is said to permit higher compression, increased speed, power and smoothness, faster acceleration, and added fuel economy.

Special stress is given to the unusual sturdiness of the new frames, which are of the double channel, double drop X-type. It is claimed that the new frame construction lends the car unusual rigidity.

PRINCIPAL RADIO SPEAKERS

Three speakers on the "Hello America" program, to be broadcast under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., over an N. B. C. network, on February 11, at 11:00 P. M. (E. S. T.)—United States Senator Arthur R. Robinson, Indiana (left), Commander-in-Chief Admiral Robert E. Coontz, Washington, D. C., and National Auxiliary President Mrs. Consuelo DeCoe, Sacramento, Calif. Commander-in-Chief Coontz will give the obligation of membership to a class of 50,000 recruits via the radio in a nationwide mass meeting of 3,000 V. F. W. local units.

Plane Finds Rescue Party

Members Hunting for Youth Who Had Come Home

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 10 (AP)—Ten persons aboard the 30 foot fishing schooner Saugatuck who set out in search of a youth Wednesday night were sought themselves when they did not return for two days, were found safe today at anchor off Middle Ground Light.

The party, included Mrs. Alexander Hauser, mother of Edward Connolly, 19, who disappeared in Long Island sound Wednesday night and has since returned safely. They were located by the pilot of an airplane who reported the ship commanded by Capt. John Mulhaley was covered with a heavy layer of ice, but could tell nothing of the condition of those aboard.

Police arranged to send a power boat after the party to return them to this city and planned to return them to Westport by bus. In addition to Mrs. Hauser and Captain Mulhaley, the party included three patrolmen from the Westport police department and two newspapermen.

Credit Bureau Will Hear Talk at Dinner

A talk on present day collections and a round table discussion will follow a dinner of the Iowa City Credit Bureau, Inc., at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 14, in the American Legion Community building.

Chris Yetter, president of the organization, has announced the reservations for the dinner should be phoned to 4184.

AROUND THE TOWN with DON PRYOR

Even the Bar

Members of the Johnson county bar left dignity at home as far as headress and overcoats were concerned when they gathered in the Jefferson hotel Thursday night for the regular quarterly meeting. Some wore con skin caps, one a boy's aviator cap, and several resorted to sheep lined coats that nearly dragged the floor.

Without Palm Trees

So balmy was yesterday's weather in comparison with the three previous days that some persons even ventured out without overcoats.

Vas You Der Again

The pipe smoking bulldog who attracted so much attention last week was seen again yesterday, strutting nonchalantly along Duquesne street.

Rather to Jail

George Kost went to jail yesterday to serve a five day sentence instead of paying a $10 fine and costs when he was brought into Police Judge C. L. Zager's office on a charge of intoxication.

Better Register

City Clerk George J. Dohrer gave notice yesterday that all persons who wish to vote in the city election must register by Feb. 17.

Students in Puppet Show

A puppet show, "The Enchanted Princess," was given before the junior primary classes of the University elementary school Thursday afternoon.

The puppets were made by a class of Miriam Taylor, instructor of physical education, and put under her supervision with the following women assistants:

Geneva Best, A3 of Glidden; Margaret Crooks, A3 of Boone; Martha Jilly, A3 of Clinton; Bonnie Jones, A3 of Iowa City; Florence Middleton, A3 of South Bend, Ind.; Edith Musgrove, A3 of Iowa City; and Myra Sullivan, A3 of Donahue.

Set Hearing

Meanwhile, to suit the convenience of Assistant U. S. District Attorney Parsons, and to allow the prisoners to obtain counsel, U. S.

Commissioner Fox set a hearing for next Monday.

Announcement from Washington at noon that the federal government would take charge of the case and conduct the investigation recalled President Hoover's word that the investigation into the kidnaping and slaying of the first Lindbergh child would never be relaxed. It was less than a year ago that Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen from the Lindbergh home in the isolated Sourland hills of New Jersey.

Government Takes Trio in Custody

Investigation of New Lindbergh Plots Under Way

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 10 (AP)—The United States government today took custody of two young men and a woman arrested here in a plan to extort money from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as a sweeping investigation was launched.

Several more leads were being followed by police in their endeavors to assemble evidence against the trio while John M. Keith, special agent in charge of the Washington district for the federal bureau of investigation, was ordered here to direct the far flung efforts of the government.

Police Continue Efforts

Roanoke police willingly turned the prisoners over to the United States authorities, but they continued their efforts in the case. The details were not divulged, but it was learned that major attention was being centered on the handwriting of the notes sent to Col. Lindbergh threatening to kidnap his second child unless $50,000 was paid, and on notes exchanged at a hollow stunt post office with the would be extortionist by a detective posing as a Lindbergh emissary.

Joe Bryant and Norman Harvey, the young men held, took service calmly from federal officials, but Mrs. Harvey, wife of Norman, fainted when informed in the United States commissioner's office that she too was charged with conspiracy. The men were charged with both conspiracy and sending threatening letters through the mails.

Bond for the men was fixed at $12,500 each while the woman was placed under bond of $5,000.

Harvey said his mother could at least furnish the $5,000 bond for his wife, asserting that she was ill. T. N. Stephenson, federal officer, offered to drive to the Harvey home in the country near here to bring the mother to Roanoke.

Meanwhile, to suit the convenience of Assistant U. S. District Attorney Parsons, and to allow the prisoners to obtain counsel, U. S.

City Clerk Urges Voters to Register for City Election

Persons wishing to vote at the city primary election Feb. 27 and who have not yet registered properly were urged yesterday by City Clerk George J. Dohrer to do so.

Those qualified to vote who have changed their address since last Nov. 8, must sign a removal notice at the office of the city clerk in the city hall not later than Feb. 17. Women voters who have been married since the November election or persons who have become of age since then, must also register by Feb. 17 if they expect to vote.

Voters who are correctly registered in the permanent registration system for the election last November and reside at the same address will not have to register.

Police Chiefs Ask for Negative Vote

WATERLOO, Feb. 10 (AP)—Police Chief Frank M. Shores, president of the Iowa Association of Chiefs of Police, today wired the Iowa legislature, urging their opposition to a bill which would abolish civil service commissions.

Passage of such a bill, he declared, would make the police department a "political football."

Engineering Society Elects J. R. Mayer

DES MOINES, Feb. 10 (AP)—J. R. Maher of Eldora was elected president of the Iowa Engineering society today to succeed George M. Griffith of Iowa City. Vice presidents named were O. W. Crowley, Des Moines, and R. E. Robertson, Mason City, and John S. Dodds of Ames was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Commissioner Fox set a hearing for next Monday.

Announcement from Washington at noon that the federal government would take charge of the case and conduct the investigation recalled President Hoover's word that the investigation into the kidnaping and slaying of the first Lindbergh child would never be relaxed. It was less than a year ago that Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen from the Lindbergh home in the isolated Sourland hills of New Jersey.

Chicago's 39 hours of subzero weather ended with the mercury

Spirits Soar When Mercury Moves Upward

All Except Mountain Regions Relieved From Cold

(By The Associated Press)

Temperatures rose and spirits kept the upward pace with them Friday throughout the nation except in mountain areas.

The southern Rockies reported the lowest readings and several were all time lows, in the sub-twenties. The rest of the country thawed out considerably from similar temperatures of Wednesday and Thursday although "zero" was a familiar phase on both sides of the Appalachians.

The week end will be colder in the middle west, the government predicted.

Meanwhile, the Atlantic shore learned what could happen when the west's worst blizzard of three years struck the ocean.

Tides Wreck Damage

A high tide washed a dozen Newfoundland villages out to sea, destroyed hundreds of fishing boats and nets, a saw mill and other waterfront property, and delayed trains by washouts on the Western Division railway.

The fishing schooner Saugatuck disappeared in Long Island Sound with two women and eight men on board, but later was reported safe.

Fires flourished as cold and winds handicapped firemen in half a dozen cities. One of the oldest churches in Boston was swept by flames. A St. Paul fireman died in a fall from a roof. Seventeen Chicago firemen needed medical care after a $1,000,000 blaze of a grain elevator.

A Toledo theater was lost with $150,000 damage. Buffalo, N. Y., firemen were tied up three hours with a lumber yard blaze. A Johnstown, Pa., hotel burned.

Freezes to Death

Mrs. Albert Holmes froze to death in bed at Monticello, Ia. She was an invalid.

The southeast was comfortable, especially when assured Florida fruit crops were out of danger. Rain succeeded the cold wave at many points.

Chicago's 39 hours of subzero weather ended with the mercury rising to 17 above. Omaha had 9, St. Louis 23, Louisville 9, and Rapid City, S. D., 14 above, an average of 20 degrees warmer than Thursday. But it was still -5 in Duluth, Minn., -16 in Flagstaff, Ariz., and around -20 in Modena, Utah, the coldest spot Thursday night.

New York's 10 above, coldest of the winter, became 15 as the day wore on.

Government Fights Commission Claims

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—The federal government started an offensive today against commission merchants accused of collecting from railroads inflated claims for damages to perishable freight.

Six merchants and three commission houses here were indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of defrauding the Wabash railway company of $1,000,000.

Indicted were Gust and Alex Relias, William Shapiro and the Shapiro Brothers Distributing company, Lee W. Wolfe and the Northern Fruit and Produce company, of which he was president, L. W. Christensen, Abe Rafelson and company, Inc., and Louis Feinstein.

Firemen Answer 2 Morning Calls

Firemen answered two fire calls yesterday morning. A roof fire at the County Juvenile home, 528 S. Gilbert street, at 9:55 a.m. destroyed part of the roof. It started from sparks from the chimney.

An Essex coupe belonging to Frank Unrath, 931 E. Market street, caught fire at 11 a.m. when he was thawing the car out with a blow torch. The car was badly damaged.

People know it..

Chesterfields are Milder

WHEN you ask a Chesterfield smoker why that's his brand—he generally comes right out flat-footed and says... "It's because They're Milder!"

So we're going to keep on doing everything we know how to keep them that way.

That's why we look for and buy the mildest and ripest tobaccos we can get. That's why we age them in our warehouses till they're mellow and sweet.

We believe that even the shredding of the tobacco... and the quality of the paper it's rolled in, have a lot to do with the even-drawing, mild smoke that people enjoy in Chesterfields.

You can bank on this... every method known to science is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette that satisfies.
